Indecency's Effect On Ratings, Revenue

■ by Bram Teitelman

A total of $1.6 million in indecency fines has been levied by the FCC in just four months. That's almost four times as much as the $440,000 in fines levied for all of 2003. It's also a far cry from 1995, when only one fine was levied, for a total of $4,000. But are indecency fines what the public wants?

An exclusive Airplay Monitor poll conducted by Promosquad HitPredictor asked regular radio listeners how they felt about the recent indecency fines levied against Clear Channel Communications. The radio group was fined for airing sexually explicit comments on stations that carried Howard Stern's show, as well as Bubba the Love Sponge's.

EXCLUSIVE AIRPLAY Monitor POLL

The poll respondents were music fans ages 13 to 50. It is the same pool of people that the company uses for song testing.

The respondents were asked the questions "Do you think that controversial radio hosts such as Howard Stern should be removed from the airwaves because of indecent content on their shows?" and "The FCC has decided to fine Howard Stern over $500,000 for obscenity on his radio show. Do you agree with that decision?" (See sidebar, page 39.)

Out of 1,364 respondents, 20% thought shows like Stern's should be removed from the airwaves. Fifty-two percent had no objection to content on shows like his. Twenty-seven percent said that shows with potentially offensive material shouldn't

Diversity Dispels Top 40's Doldrums

■ by Chuck Taylor

Winter was a ratings wonderland for many mainstream top 40 stations, suggesting that the format may be heating up after a two-year case of the doldrums.

The winter 2004 Arbitrons reveal impressive gains at the top two mainstream top 40 powerhouses: WHTZ (Z100) New York catapulted from a 3.7 share to a 4.7, while KIIS-FM Los Angeles spiked 3.2 to 3.8. Both outlets finished at No. 4 in their respective markets with 12-plus listeners.

Likewise, top 40 stations in markets as diverse as Washington, D.C.; Miami; Las Vegas; Fresno, Calif.; New Orleans; Columbus, Ohio; Jacksonville, Fla.; San Antonio; and Milwaukee posted notable gains.

While the format is still reeling from tough knocks in numerous markets, and simply reclaiming lost ground in others, some programmers and industry experts say the music has regained a balance that has been lacking for at least the past 18 months. They also herald the return of

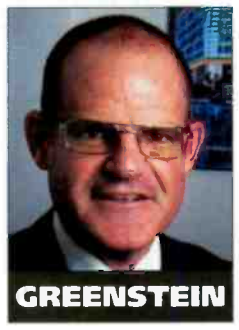
Who's The Boss? Sirius Picks Greenstein



GREENSTEIN

Sirius Satellite Radio has turned to a veteran film executive to lead its programming and marketing. Scott Greenstein was named president of entertainment and sports May 6.

Greenstein was already working with Sirius on a consulting basis before the appointment. He helped the service cut a deal with the National Football League to carry games and had brought "Little" Steven Van Zandt and his garage-band show to the company.

Prior to his work with Sirius, Greenstein was an executive with such major film outlets as Miramax, USA Films and October Films. He worked on such releases as "The English Patient," "Traffic" and "The Apostle."

He spoke with Billboard news editor Marc Schiffman a day after the announcement.

Greenstein says his film background gives him the ability to work with talent and writers and help develop new ideas for the programming and marketing of Sirius.

But he allows that parts of his film résumé simply do not apply to the radio world. "I'm here to look at everything fresh," Greenstein says.

The Sirius programming department already has a fresh perspective following internal executive shifts and channel changes during the past year.

Greenstein likes the team he has inherited, with executive VP of programming Jay Clark and VP of music programming Steve Blatter reporting to him.

He touts his industry relationships, citing strong ties to talent and major-label executives that will allow him to develop new programming ideas and connect those people with Sirius. Van Zandt's involvement with Sirius is a good example of that.

Greenstein envisions getting that kind of talent in the door to "hand over to an extraordinary programming department so they can make great radio."

He adds, "I intend to make this a very artist-friendly place."

He acknowledges that elements of that were already present before he took the helm. "Meg Griffin here has relationships with any artists that have ever played a guitar," he says, citing just one of several examples among the staff.

Sirius' national reach allows the company to offer the same kind of niche programming that consumers get in their homes through cable. Greenstein says that "is the kind of thing that grew cable television."

Although Greenstein does not see any pacts in the near future that will have the same economic size of the NFL deal, he says he is working on some music-focused endeavors that will make a big impact.

He also hints at working on deals that will merge the worlds of sports and music.

"There's an awful lot of people in this world who listen to music and watch sports," Greenstein says. "They are the same people." He looks to go after that intersection of interests in the coming months.

Greenstein is coy on whether the growing concern in Washington, D.C., about indecency might net his company such high-profile controversial talent as Howard Stern, Opie & Anthony or Bubba the Love Sponge.

"We're a logical place for everybody to discuss the purest example of freedom on radio," he says. "We'll see how that develops."

Satellite radio itself has been stirring controversy with the National Assn. of Broadcasters. Both Sirius and rival XM offer locally targeted information on several of their national channels. The NAB maintains that in doing so, the services are acting outside of their charter and are competing unfairly with terrestrial radio.

For instance, a listener can get weather and traffic reports for Boston or 20 other major markets. But Greenstein insists satellite radio is still a national service. He likens it to the weather map that USA Today prints in its paper. "We're not doing local for local. We're doing national for the major cities, like USA Today [does]," he says.

Sirius Satellite Radio has also named James Meyer president of operations and sales. Meyer previously was president of Aegis Ventures, where he provided consulting services to Sirius, among other companies. He is a 25-year veteran of the consumer electronics industry.

BUSINESS & MANAGEMENT

Clear Channel Communications president/COO Mark Mays has been named interim CEO. His father, Lowry Mays, the company's chairman/CEO, is taking some time off to recover from a recent surgery to remove a blood clot in his brain. He is expected to make a full recovery.

Clarke Brown, president of Jefferson Pilot Communications' radio division, will be awarded the National Assn. of Broadcasters' Radio Award Oct. 8 at the NAB Radio Show in San Diego.

artists that top 40 can champion over a playlist palette that has, for much of the decade, been shared with R&B/hip-hop stations.

Radio consultant Alan Burns, CEO of Alan Burns & Associates, isn't convinced that the winter ratings add up to an across-the-board upturn for top 40's woes. However, he agrees that the music is paving the road to recovery.

"Top 40 has always done best when it's at the center of the contemporary arena, crossing formats on all sides and not leaning too dramatically in any one direction," he says. "I would agree that there has been too much sound-alike hip-hop at the format recently. Sometimes there has been too much rock, sometimes too many teen records, sometimes too much hip-hop. For the format to do well, it needs to be on the biggest records from a number of genres.

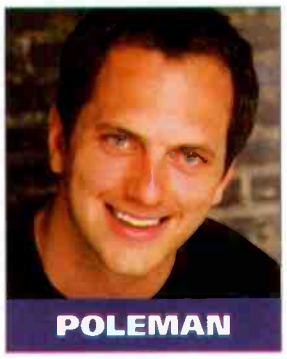
"Take a look at what Z100 was playing in January," Burns explains. "You had OutKast, Nickelback, No Doubt, Jessica Simpson, Trapt and Linkin Park. In February, there was Britney Spears and Usher, and in March, Evanescence and Maroon5. This is a great mix of sounds, and it shows why they had such a good book. KIIS was also playing a great variety of music, and it made the difference."

SEEN THIS MOVIE BEFORE

Tom Poleman, senior VP of programming for Clear Channel/New York and PD at Z100, says, "We've seen this movie so many times in top 40, where we get too hyper-focused on one genre and the ratings start to diminish. We're never going to beat a hip-hop station if that's where we're focused. It can be a huge component of Z100, but not the sole component.

"If you look at the styles of music that were available this last quarter, we had the rock bands—Evanescence was enormous, Trapt, Linkin Park—along with the pure pop sound returning. Britney Spears' marriage at the beginning of the year was a great pop culture event, and then she gave us 'Toxic.' Jessica Simpson is the girl that so many of our listeners can identify with. And Hilary Duff [is] another pure pop artist.

"That's not to say we didn't have decent hip-hop songs," Poleman says, "but the balance allows us to play to the strengths of what top 40 is supposed to [do]—emphasize that variety position and get all of the hits on one radio station."



POLEMAN

Poleman also credits a "top-to-bottom re-examination" of the station for its victorious full-share increase, which one analyst valued at a cool $10 million in potential revenue.

"It's really about everything going right at the same time," Poleman says. "Everything was tweaked in some way: The personalities are at peak performance, honing in on what the listener is looking for; we put a new jingle package on for the first time; and we revamped our music system.

"We also did unbelievable things with marketing, introducing a new TV campaign first with Britney Spears and then Jessica Simpson. That co-branding allowed us an enormous cume bump, from 2.3 million to 2.5 million listeners a month, by the end of the quarter. Everybody came together and executed the plan flawlessly."

KIIS THIS

Likewise at KIIS, PD John Ivey credits his station's improved ratings to a well-rounded balance of the elements.

"Through this several-year period, a lot of us have been digging in, trying to get these top 40 records to work," he says. "Justin Timberlake was there, but you can't make it work with one or two artists—you need a handful. That's turning around now. You can feel the momentum building in the format again."

Ivey also believes that winter was the first ratings period in some time where there was a natural order in the market, allowing the format to flourish. "The first kicker was 9-11. Then in California, we had wildfires and a gubernatorial recall. [In] every book there was something that took normal listening away from top 40. Couple that with getting whammied because the music is outside of a hot cycle, and you've got issues.

"Now, it feels like we're on the front end. I think it's our turn again," Ivey says.

FIRE RETURNS TO THE FORMAT

Other markets are also feeling the format approach a warming trend, thanks to the return of musical balance.

"Anytime top 40 can play a song that a mother can sing with her kid, and when you can own a song or an artist that urban can't play, you're on your way to a comeback," says Michael Yo, APD at mainstream top 40 WHYI (Y-100) Miami. "From a year-and-a-half ago, I think we're starting to see things turn around."

Y-100 saw its 12-plus scores rise from 3.1 to 3.3 in winter—not a huge uptick, but a definite improvement over its 2.9 share last summer, traditionally a strong season for top 40.

"You can see the change, with Britney, Jessica, Beyoncé, even Usher, who I think is a core top 40 act," Yo says. He also attributes high passion scores to the uprising of Dirty South hip-hop. "A year ago, it was all about Ashanti and Nelly and Ja Rule. Now we've got Lil Jon and the crunk movement. That's helping pop."

Sometimes the foundation can be laid with one genre-defining hit. Programmers point to OutKast's "Hey Ya!" as the song that sounded a rallying cry for top 40's resurgence.

"A lot of top 40 stations have to thank OutKast," says Brian Kelly, OM of WXSS (Kiss 103.7) Milwaukee, which surged 3.9 to 5.4 12-plus in the winter book.

"They led the charge with 'Hey Ya!' and had a back-to-back hit with 'The Way You Move.' That was so perfect for top 40. From there, we had Jessica, Hilary, Usher—yes, the music is definitely starting to come back."

Burns adds, "Even though it was also played heavily at rhythmic, 'Hey Ya!' is just a flat-out fun pop record that everyone . . . can like. It was enormous for top 40."

CAREER CROSSROADS

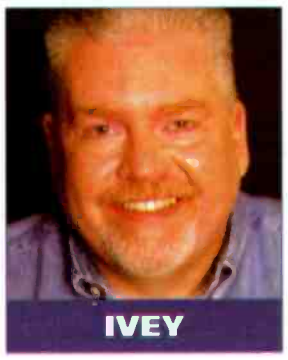
Kelly notes that a number of the current core artists at the format are reaching a crossroads in their careers.

"You look at some of the acts whose careers were arguably in flat spins before this book, and they've pulled up nicely. Britney's 'Toxic' is certainly bigger than the previous 'Me Against the Music,' which no one will ever hear again. Jessica had 'The Sweetest Sin,' which had little impact, followed by 'With You,' which was huge. Evanescence and Hilary are definitely at turning points with second hits. It's interesting to see that so many of these artists really came back with their second singles.

"Some of these artists came out with albums that were supposed to be a savior for top 40—and they weren't," Kelly adds. "But, fortunately, radio stuck by them, and surprise, the second singles were huge."

Programmers predict sunny skies for the upcoming spring book.

"I think top 40 will get healthier," Burns says. "If I was going to bet on any one book, it would be spring. It's the right season for the format, and there's a nice variety of sounds out there."



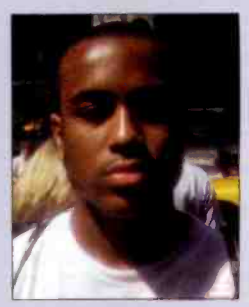
IVEY

Ivey adds, "This just needs to continue. We need to keep getting good product and trying to develop artists and embrace our heritage. It's all about finding stuff that's just ours."

Poleman says, "I think the future is very bright for top 40. We need to celebrate what's great about the format. Some stations were afraid to be associated with anything but hip-hop for a while, and I recommend the complete opposite. Now is the time to be really excited about top 40 and what it should be—the larger-than-life contests, exciting marketing tactics. I'm looking forward to a great report card."

Q • What's your take on today's top 40 radio, and how has it changed during the past year?

Mix, 19



"I listen for the music and for news, which helps keep me up to date, especially when I'm away from school. I think radio has gotten more popular, because there's something for everybody now. It seems like it's working harder to play different kinds of music."

Kyle Heinen, 22

"I usually listen in the mornings while I'm in my car driving, if I get bored with my CDs. I'll switch between Howard Stern and top 40. I've noticed that the music is changing a little, away from the bubble gum and now more punk, more emo/alternative-style music.

Tim Engle, 36

Top 40 radio comes and goes. Usually, when it gets warmer, radio lightens up and plays more pop music, which I prefer. I still wish it played more variety. It's hard to tell R&B from top 40 most of the time.

Sophia Sequera, 20

I listen to radio less and less since hip-hop has taken over as the be-all, end-all of the music industry. I feel like the airwaves are just saturated with a lot of R&B and rap, and though I like those in small doses, I've started listening more to CDs. I like top 40, classical and country, but radio in general is more homogenous.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ◯ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ◯ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ◯ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ◯ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ◯ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ◯ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet. If its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

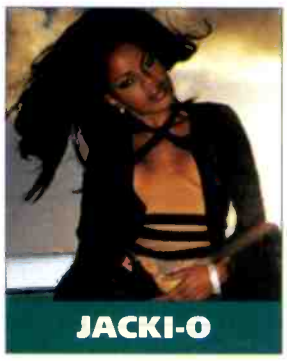
Indie Artists Attract Major Label Attention On R&B Radio

Major labels have long mined the A&R resources of independent labels to find emerging talent. With the recent breakout success of indie artists like Jacki-O and Nina Sky at mainstream R&B radio, they now have another avenue to explore.

Jacki-O made her mark on the radio with her debut track, "Nookie." Promotion for the title, released by Miami-based Poe Boy Entertainment, was spearheaded by Poe Boy president Alvin Prince and director of operations Wallace Marshall.



JACKI-O

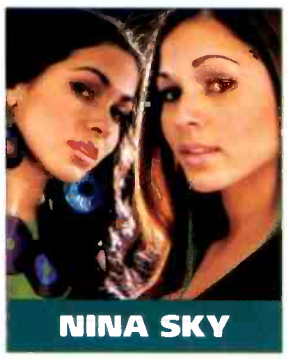
"The initial campaign for Jacki-O, as it is for any artist we do here at Poe Boy, is based on a commitment," Marshall says. "That commitment is to break those artists on all levels. We try to [launch records] around impact dates—dates that are influential in terms of targeting certain types of consumers. Whether it be Memorial Day weekend, NBA All-Star weekend, Super Bowl weekend or the Fourth of July. We target events that can actually impact the market in a way that we can hit the consumer, and then allow them to take the product or artist and spread it."

Poe Boy launched "Nookie" during Memorial Day weekend last year, one of Miami's busiest tourist seasons.

"Our mix-show person worked with DJs [in Miami] to get commitments on spins, so that going out of the Memorial Day weekend we wanted to not only create a buzz but see some [Nielsen] BDS activity as well," Marshall says. "We came out of the box with 37 spins."

Launching the single in Poe Boy's hometown had its advantages.

"We got a lot of hometown support from all three of the local radio stations—99 Jamz [WEDR], Power 96 [WPOW] and 103.5 the Beat [WMIB]," Prince says. "With that hometown support not only from the radio DJs but from the club DJs, we were able to penetrate this market first and then spread it throughout the Southeast via word-of-mouth."



NINA SKY

As the song grew in the Southeast, Poe Boy decided to increase its exposure by taking Jacki-O and her single to a broader audience.

"We then moved to national DJ conferences like the Technitions Conference and the Mix Show Power Summit, where we applied the same type of activity in both the marketplace and these conventions," Marshall says. "Out of that, 'Nookie' received 152 spins, which landed the record on the R&B/hip-hop chart before the add date."

"The way people reacted to it, [programmers] really didn't have a choice," Prince adds. "It's the type of song that gets an instant reaction from whoever hears it. It was something that the DJs wanted to play and were going to play anyway."

TVT GETS SOME 'NOOKIE'

With the single gaining attention nationwide, it wasn't long before labels came calling. Jacki-O soon signed to Warner Bros. through a deal with Poe Boy and SoBe Entertainment. However, when that deal fell through, TVT VP of A&R Bryan Leach saw an opportunity to add the Miami-based rapper to his roster.

"The biggest thing I pay attention to is the street success, but the radio success played a role because I saw the dots starting to connect," Leach says. "All of the success that we're having in the streets began to roll over into radio."

Leach says the success of "Nookie" at radio gave him the opportunity to talk to programmers who were already familiar with Jacki-O.

"We were able to research the record by talking to different stations that had played Jacki to make sure it was real," he says. "We were able to see how the record performed for those stations and make a better judgment as to whether to sign her.

"Plus, going into this new single ["Slow Down"] that we're about to drop, she already has awareness at radio," he adds. "So, I wouldn't expect it to be as hard as selling an artist that they had never heard of."

SKY IS THE LIMIT

For Nina Sky, whose single "Move Ya Body" rests at No. 31 on the R&B/hip-hop chart, it didn't hurt to know people in high places like WQHT (Hot 97) New York. The New York-based twin-sister duo of Natalie and Nicole is co-managed by WQHT's Cipha Sounds and partner Jamal through their Jack Moves Entertainment.

"I'm lucky that I had the ability and the relationships to get something started at the ground floor," Sounds says. "It just so happens that my ground floor reaches millions of people. I have relationships with all the mix-show DJs. The thing about this project is that I've never asked for anything, so this is the first favor I ever asked for so no one could deny it."

It also helped that "Move Ya Body" samples the infectious Coolie riddim currently used in a few popular dancehall songs.

"I told the girls, 'Let's do something familiar' so that I could play it on the radio without it sounding foreign," Sounds says. "It was just supposed to be a buzz record to get their names out there."

However, after playing the song on WQHT, Sounds saw an immediate reaction.

"The first couple of weeks people kept telling me they liked the record. So I realized that this might blow," he says. "I had to sit [the group] down and explain to them what might happen after that. I was surprised, because that shit just took off."

While the song was just beginning to build a buzz at radio in New York, Sounds and Jamal were already negotiating to have Nina Sky signed to Eddie O'Loughlin's Next Plateau Records. O'Loughlin, better-known as Eddie O., serves as president/CEO of the Universal-distributed imprint.

"The demo became a record within a week or two, and it started getting some mix-show airplay before we finalized the contract," O'Loughlin says. "That certainly motivated us to move at the fastest pace possible.

"We knew we were on to something," he adds. "We also had the full support from [Universal president] Monte [Lipman] and [senior VP] Avery Lipman to make it happen immediately. They made it a priority, and people just focused on it every day to get it done. So, the airplay certainly expedited things."

For Sounds, who worked with O'Loughlin when he was co-head of A&R at Tommy Boy, the executive was the right person to get the single more exposure.

"He has the ability to get it in other markets via his promotional people," Sounds says. "We brought it to him early, and while they were trying to get the sample cleared and everything, the song started to take off."

While Sounds says he was approached by a host of labels, including Def Jam, Arista and Sony, Next Plateau and Universal were the right partners for the job.

"It was half-loyalty, half-respect," Sounds explains. "We had already done the deal. It wasn't like I was going to pull out if there was a better offer. We trusted Eddie from the get-go to do it, so it wasn't even an issue."

With the two labels on board, the single has continued to grow, thanks in large part to the mix-show format.

"The response from mix-show [to the single] was so strong throughout the whole country that we decided to just promote to mix-show and thought about nothing else," O'Loughlin says. "We tried to garner as many spins as we could each week. So when the record finally got [added], we were pulling the record up rather than pushing it.

"We had great support from the Universal promotion staff, who wanted to go faster, but we asked to pull it instead of push it," he adds. "They were able to pull it out of mix-show to concentrate on getting the song added to their panels. As a result, this is one of the most-added records in the country for the past number of weeks."

For Jacki-O and Nina Sky, both labels first concentrated on breaking the single in their home market. It's a method that Prince says is of the utmost importance for an indie.

"Try to impact your home market first," Prince says. "If they don't care about you in your own hometown, why would anyone else want to give you a shot? You definitely want to try and get the support of your hometown radio station and grow from there."

For O'Loughlin, the success of these singles is not rocket science.

"It's basic rudiments of the record business," he says. "It was a record that started off as a simple single and has exploded into a big album and video."

Songs ranked by number of detections. ◯ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ◯ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ◯ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Cotter's Bumpy Rise On The Row

Brad Cotter is using his win in this season's "Nashville Star" talent contest as a platform to speak out on behalf of the hundreds of unsigned artists languishing in Nashville.

Until very recently, he was one of them.

But thanks to his May 1 win on the USA Network series, Cotter now has a recording contract with Sony Music Nashville. His first single, "I Meant To," debuts at No. 42 on the country airplay chart this issue. His first Sony album will be in stores July 13.

Cotter's story is remarkably similar to that of last year's "Nashville Star" winner, Buddy Jewell. Both artists kicked around Nashville for years trying to get a deal. Both had promising opportunities that went south, and both made their living as demo singers.

COTTER

Cotter, 33, moved to Nashville from Auburn, Ala., nine years ago. Since then, he says, he has been rejected by every label in town at least five times. That includes Sony, although he was passed on by his new label home under a different regime.

Often, Cotter says, he was told he didn't have "star quality." But the "Nashville Star" viewers and judges thought otherwise.

A humble Cotter says there's "nothing like a wardrobe budget, makeup and a million-dollar production to make you look like a star."

While he claims that he doesn't have an axe to grind, Cotter says, "I'm just trying to speak up for some of the other artists and musicians in town that don't get a break."

Cotter says of Nashville's A&R executives, "Some of these people need to do their jobs."

Cotter was appalled when he was told by a "Nashville Star" producer that the show had a difficult time prior to the first season finding a label partner to award a record contract to the winner. The producer said he was told by label reps that "if there was any talent in this town, we would know about it."

He says this kind of arrogance is a chronic problem on Music Row.

"There are a lot of people in town so scared that they're going to lose their Mercedes, their parking space and their job, that they're afraid to sign anything," he says. Consequently, "there's a lot of horrendous music getting released out of Nashville that gives us all a bad name.

"You have these people that are trying to put as many gold bars in their pocket as they can before they lose their jobs."

Told that he's unusually candid for a "new" artist, Cotter replies, "I'm not smart enough to be fake about it. I've been wanting to say these things for a long time because I've been really frustrated."

Like Jewell last year, Cotter was a fan favorite on "Nashville Star" right from the beginning. He was not one of the 10 finalists chosen by the judges in the first episode, but he was voted back on by viewers in the second.

Those kinds of ups and downs have typified Cotter's career. He has had three publishing deals in the past nine years. Ironically, he was dropped from his last deal at Warner/Chappell two months before the "Nashville Star" auditions began.

And while he says Warner/Chappell "threw me out on the street" with some discernable anger in his voice, having a publishing deal would have made him ineligible to compete on the show.

In the 1990s Cotter had development deals with RCA and Mercury that went nowhere, as well as a similarly dead-end production deal with EMI. He admits that kind of experience "beats you down after nine years of it, but obviously it didn't beat me all the way down."

Since his win, Cotter's life has been hectic, and it's only going to get busier. He has a single to promote, an album to rush-record and a manager to hire. Then he'll embark on a summer tour with "Nashville Star" runner-ups George Canyon, Matt Lindahl and Lance Miller.

"I think I'm tied up from now until the end of September," he says.

Cotter will work with his songwriter friends Rick Giles and Steve Bogard to produce the album. Sony A&R executives Tracy Gershon and Mark Wright will executive-produce.

The tour will include about 30 dates, beginning June 18. It will play theaters, large clubs, sheds and fairs.

In many markets, local radio will be involved in the dates through "Nashville Star, Too!" promotions. Local contestants will vie for a spot in the regional finals for the third season of the TV show.

The "Nashville Star" tour will present few challenges for Cotter, as he has spent much of his life on the road.

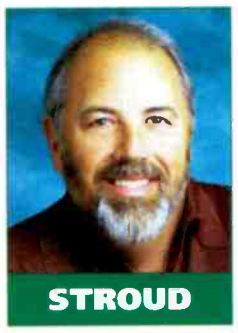
From ages 11 to 17 Cotter toured with his preacher father and sang gospel music. In his youth he recorded five gospel albums, one on his own and four for independent labels.

He describes his adolescent self as "more of a carnie than a prodigy. There wasn't a whole lot of glory to riding around with a van and a trailer singing. We didn't make any money. We lived off love offerings. We were doing it strictly as a ministry."

Additional reporting by Billboard senior touring writer Ray Waddell.

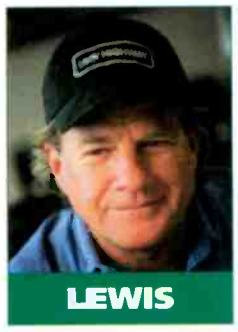
DreamWorks, UMGN Merger Affects Staffs

As first tipped in Airplay Monitor last week, DreamWorks Records has merged with Universal Music Group Nashville. The move follows Universal Music Group's recent purchase of DreamWorks. James Stroud, who was president of DreamWorks' Nashville operation, will become co-chairman of UMGN, sharing duties with current UMGN chairman/CEO Luke Lewis. The label group includes MCA Nashville, Mercury and DreamWorks.



STROUD

Eight staffers have lost their jobs as a result of the merger. They include MCA/Mercury executive VP of A&R David Conrad, UMGN senior VP of promotion and artist development Michael Powers, DreamWorks publicists Summer Harman and Tricia Cramer, MCA Nashville publicist Heather Bohn and UMGN promotion manager Diana Klein.



LEWIS

The merger also gives several staffers additional duties. UMGN executive VP/GM Ken Robold adds those duties for DreamWorks. Scott Borchetta, senior VP of promotion and artist development at DreamWorks, adds those duties for MCA and Mercury. UMGN senior VP of sales and marketing Ben Kline adds those duties at DreamWorks, where Johnny Rose remains VP of sales and marketing.

UMGN VP of media, artist relations and creative services Jason Owen adds those duties for DreamWorks. Allison Jones, VP of A&R for DreamWorks, adds those duties for MCA and Mercury.

In the promotion departments, John Ettinger continues as VP of national promotion for Mercury. Royce Risser and Bruce Shindler keep their corresponding duties at MCA and DreamWorks, respectively.

Sister labels Lost Highway and Universal South are unaffected by the merger. Lewis remains president of Lost Highway. Universal South continues to be helmed by senior partners Tony Brown and Tim DuBois.

Made You Look

Broken Bow Records national director of promotion Tony Benken showed his dedication to Craig Morgan's new single, "Look at Us," by jumping out of a perfectly good airplane at 13,500 feet, apparently in an effort to get people to look at him. It was Benken's first jump. He is pictured in front with his jumpmaster, Igor.

ON THE ROW

New Label Homes For Chesnutt, Pony

Mark Chesnutt has signed with Nashville-based Vivaton Recording Artists Group. Chesnutt previously recorded for MCA Nashville, Decca and Columbia. He has placed 35 singles on the Billboard Hot Country Singles & Tracks chart, including eight No. 1s. He has four platinum albums and one gold album to his credit.

Chesnutt is currently in the studio with producer Jimmy Ritchey working on his Vivaton debut, tentatively slated for a Sept. 21 release. A single is due in mid-summer.

Trick Pony has signed with Asylum/Curb Records on the heels of its departure from Warner Bros. The act's self-titled debut album is certified gold. Its 2002 follow-up, "On a Mission," did not fare as well. On the country airplay chart, the group has scored four top 20 hits. The most successful, "On a Night Like This," peaked at No. 4 in 2001. Trick Pony's first album for Asylum is due in the fall.

J.D. May will exit his position as executive director of the American Music Assn. in Nashville when his term ends at the end of the year. He is in his fourth year with the trade group and is leaving for an as-yet-undisclosed new job.

WSIX Nashville was named radio station of the year in the 39th annual Academy of Country Music Awards. Syndicated overnight jock Blair Garner of Premiere Radio Networks' "After MidNite With Blair Garner" won in the on-air personality category. They are among the winners announced prior to the May 26 telecast of the ACM Awards show from Las Vegas.

HitPredictor Spots The Trends In Country Music

■ by Rick Bisceglia and Guy Zapoleon with Bob Smith

Since launching the country HitPredictor chart in Airplay Monitor in February, several interesting trends have emerged in the numbers. These trends say as much about country music as they do about the chart.

Like the format in general, the country HitPredictor dances to the beat of a different drummer than that of other formats.

Country scores overall have fallen into a pattern similar to those of other "passion" formats. The passion formats are those with a clearly defined listener base of active fans.

While the scores for top 40, adult top 40, modern rock and other formats that HitPredictor has been tracking are balanced by wide-ranging listener tastes, passion format listeners have far less deviation from the core. So those formats, which include R&B/hip-hop, active rock and now country, experience higher peaks and deeper valleys in their respective charts.

One only needs to look at the recently tested country songs for an example of this. Nearly every song on the list has a score of 90 or higher. On the top 40 mainstream chart, a score that high is an anomaly. This suggests that country fans' tastes are more homogeneous.

Radio mirrors this. The top 40 charts are dotted with songs from every other genre. But except for the occasional Sheryl Crow title, that type of cross-pollination typically only works one way in reference to country.

The content of country music is always changing. HitPredictor has been an early witness to some of the changes the format is now experiencing. For instance, we saw early indicators of the surge in popularity for female singers in the format. Current hits that we accurately predicted—such as Terri Clark's "Girls Lie Too" and Gretchen Wilson's "Redneck Woman"—are perfect examples.

Similarly, we saw a new batch of drinking songs—a country format staple—scoring consistently well before they took hold of the country charts earlier this year. Current tracks like Brad Paisley's chart climber "Whiskey Lullaby" and Toby Keith's "Whiskey Girl" are just two examples of boozy hits that HitPredictor anticipated.

Rick Bisceglia, Guy Zapoleon and Bob Smith are executives at Promosquad, which compiles Airplay Monitor's HitPredictor charts.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ◯ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 20 weeks.

POWER PLAYLISTS™

FOR WEEK ENDING MAY 9, 2004

AIRPLAY Monitor®
Nielsen Broadcast Data Systems

Songs ranked by number of detections. Playlists are listed in order of TSA weekly cume, beginning with the highest-cuming station. Cumes are updated twice yearly following the release of the spring and fall Arbitron surveys. The number of stations shown each week varies depending upon space.

Airplay Adds (AA) denotes songs with 6 or more detections at station for first time this week.

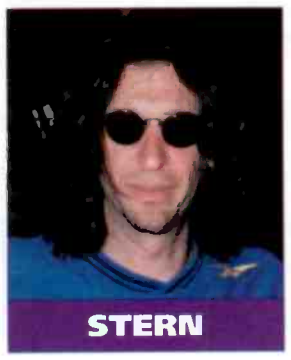
be removed from the airwaves but should be more carefully monitored for indecency.

That one in five radio listeners thinks shows like Stern's should be removed illustrates a larger consensus than people in the music and entertainment industries, who have been almost universally supportive of Stern.

The company whose actions have spoken the loudest about the FCC's indecency fight has been Clear Channel. Its Responsible Broadcasting Initiative, launched Feb. 25, has resulted in the dismissal of Stern from the six CC stations that ran his program. It also brought about the termination of Bubba the Love Sponge Clem from four of Clear Channel's Florida stations, as well as the departure of Larry Wachs and Eric Von Haessler, better known as heritage rock WKLS (96 Rock) Atlanta morning duo the Regular Guys.

But while the company's actions appear to have been heard by the commission, they've also resonated with fans of the popular programs. While the full effect won't be seen until the spring Arbitron book rolls out in July, trends for the month of March—the first without Stern and Clem—show a dramatic drop-off in mornings at the stations that had carried them.



STERN

Active KIOZ (Rock 105.3) San Diego went from a No. 1 12-plus in February with an 8.9 share to an 0.7 in March, putting it in 27th place. In men 18-34, KIOZ went from a 20.6 to a 0.8. In Tampa, Fla., morning ratings for active WXTB (98 Rock) fell from a 10.3 persons 12-plus in January to a 2.7 and dropped from a 22.9 persons 18-34 to a 6.1. In comparing winter books from last year with this year, modern WXDX (the X) Pittsburgh's morning ratings have fallen from a 7.1 12-plus to a 3.6.

"Clear Channel got up there and made lots of great gestures in a public congressional forum, and at the end of the day, look what it got them," Wachovia Securities director Bishop Cheen says. "These . . . general managers are going to have to figure out how to replace the ratings and the revenues because of this . . . public gesture that [Clear Channel] made."

Yet CC's overall earnings have increased for the first quarter. While much of that is because Clear Channel encompasses much more than just radio, revenue was up 6.9% for the quarter at the radio division, with March the strongest month of the quarter.

IS THE BOTTOM LINE AFFECTED?

Analysts agree that ultimately, Clear Channel's bottom line won't be affected by its decision to drop Stern, Clem and the Regular Guys. "Clear Channel has 1,200 stations, and they were airing Stern on six of them," says RBC Capital Markets director of equity research David Bank, who covers Clear Channel. "So the decision to take Stern off of six of 1,200 stations, and not even in a lot of top 10 markets, the financial impact, in the grand scheme of things, is going to be extremely limited.

"Clear Channel has come under a tremendous amount of regulatory pressure—as has the broadcasting industry in general—for the backlash of the consolidation that has happened over the past decade," Bank continues. "This was a relatively easy way to appease the regulators on an issue—indecency—and not have a particularly negative impact on the bottom line. So while they've lost some ratings, as far as the parent level, I don't think it really moves the dial."

Cheen says, "We're talking about [10] stations, some of which you need an atlas and a flashlight to find . . . Is this really going to impact Clear Channel's securities? I think not. But it's high profile, and it's great armchair sport for media watchers."

STOCK DOWN

One place where Clear Channel might be seeing some backlash from the indecency flap is the stock market. While the market, as represented by the S&P 500, has remained steady since the beginning of the year, Clear Channel is down 15.8% from its year-end 2003 closing price. The broader market, as indicated by the S&P, is a little more than 1% year to date. In late March, CC stock was down as much as 16% from its closing price at the end of 2003. That roughly corresponds with the time that Stern took his crusade against Clear Channel on the air, suggesting to shareholders that they dump their CC stock.

"You read in the press about indecency issues and Clear Channel dropping Howard Stern, even though everyone knows what a big talent he is," Bank says. "That probably creates noise for investors, so . . . they're not really seeing it impacting the bottom line, but they sure see a lot of headlines, and that creates noise.

"Radio growth has been slower over the past few years than it was prior to 2001. Until relatively recently, radio hadn't been participating in the economic recovery, and that has probably hurt the radio group as a whole more than anything else. But the noise that often comes up in the media, with respect to regulatory issues such as indecency or ownership concentration, hasn't really helped, either."

Cheen doesn't think the indecency effect is playing into Clear Channel's stock performance. "Does any of this have to do with politics [in the wake of] Janet Jackson's breast exposure at the Super Bowl?" he asks. "No. This is the economics of radio dealing with itself after consolidation. One issue Clear Channel has labored under is the slow start of radio, and even with Clear Channel's earnings up, the radio numbers were the weakest of all the divisions or [had] the smallest growth," Cheen says. "But [looking at] the top-line growth, they beat the market by about 80 basis points over the quarter, or 4.8%. That means that if the industry grew by 4%, then Clear Channel grew 4.8%. They did better than the rest of the industry on the revenue line."

Cheen says that the 1996 Telecom Act has created unrealistic expectations for growth. "Everybody went gaga on radio from February 1996 to the start of the real recession in mid-2000 because of the consolidation," Cheen says. "You were constantly moving the parts and constantly cutting costs . . . But, as with any ecosystem, adaptation takes place, and your competition learns how to sell around you.

"Growth is measured year over year. Without consolidation driving this, if your performance is 21% growth one year, that's hard to top. Then you throw in Sept. 11 and a cyclical recession, and the whole world has changed."

The U.S. House of Representatives has approved a measure to hike fines for indecent broadcasts, proposing penalties of up to $500,000 per incident. It would also require the FCC to consider revoking a station's license after three indecency violations.

The Senate bill proposes a maximum fine of $275,000 for an initial violation, $375,000 for a second infraction and $500,000 for subsequent violations.

Lawmakers on Capitol Hill would have to work out any differences before the legislation could go to President Bush for his approval.

Survey Says . . .

Following is a sampling of poll respondents' answers to the question, "The FCC has decided to fine Howard Stern over $500,000 for obscenity on his radio show. Do you agree with that decision?"

- "I'm not a fan of his by any means, but I still believe in freedom of speech. And didn't the incident in question happen a long time ago? The FCC has gone way too far."
- "If people were really offended by Stern, they would have stopped listening to him years ago and he would not be on the air."
- "He says some stupid stuff, but he has been on [the air] for years and they never did anything about it before."
- "It doesn't affect me. While I don't like Howard Stern, I don't see the big deal with obscenity if we're allowed to watch people kill each other on TV."
- "It's really hard to define obscenity anymore these days. I may not agree with stuff that's said on the radio or shown on TV, but I have the option of changing the channel or station."
- "He has gone too far in the name of free speech."
- "I think Howard Stern is a very disgusting man, and I think he should be taken off the air for good."
- "It's about time somebody did something about indecency on the radio. Now they have to work on movies and TV shows."
- "There are a lot more things out there that need to be fined. Howard Stern was just expressing his freedom of speech. Fine Britney [Spears]. Her obscenities are offending me."

Songs ranked by number of detections. ◯ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ◯ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Compiled from a national sample of data supplied by Nielsen Broadcast Data Systems. 41 heritage rock and 21 triple-a stations are electronically monitored 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Songs ranked by number of detections. ▭ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks. © 2004 VNU Business Media, Inc. All rights reserved.

Songs are blind tested online by Promosquad using multiple listens and a nationwide sample of carefully profiled music consumers. Songs are rated on a 1-5 scale; final results are based on weighted positives. Songs with a score of 65 or more are judged to have top 10 callout potential, although that benchmark number can fluctuate based on the strength of available music. New Releases are songs that have been recently serviced to or impacted at their respective formats; Recently Tested Songs are the songs tested during the past month with the highest score. Top 10 Trifecta For Usher

Usher is the first lead artist to have three titles simultaneously within the top 10 of the R&B/hip-hop chart. His "Confessions Part II" advances 14-10 while "Burn" holds at No. 1 and former No. 1 "Yeah!" slips to No. 9. "Confessions Part II" is shaping up to follow the other tracks to the top, as the title earns Greatest Gainer honors with an increase of 757 detections.

The only other artist to have come close to accomplishing this feat was Ashanti, who had three songs in the top 10 for two weeks in March 2002. However, one appearance was as a featured artist on Fat Joe's "What's Luv?"

BEYONCÉ'S 'NAUGHTY' UPS DANGER LEVEL

Beyoncé has her third rhythmic top 40 No. 1 from her multi-platinum "Dangerously in Love," as "Naughty Girl" (SUM) leaps 4-1. She is only the second artist to place three songs from one album at No. 1 on the rhythmic list. Mariah Carey took "Fantasy," "One Sweet Day" and "Always Be My Baby" from her 1995 album "Daydream" to the top.

Beyoncé now has a total of four solo No. 1 songs at the format—including a featured appearance on Jay-Z's "'03 Bonnie & Clyde"—to go alongside three chart-toppers as a member of Destiny's Child. The seven combined No. 1s would unofficially top Carey, Nelly, P. Diddy and TLC, all of whom are tied atop the list with five chart-toppers.

FLATTS RISE RETURNS GROUPS TO TOP OF COUNTRY CHART

For the first time in nearly a year, a group tops our country chart, as Rascal Flatts' "Mayberry" (Lyric Street) gains 328 detections and rises 3-1. A group has not dominated the chart since Lonestar led in the July 18, 2003, issue with "My Front Porch Looking In."

RASCAL FLATTS

The nostalgic ode to small-town innocence is the second chart-topper for Rascal Flatts, which first rose to No. 1 with "These Days" in November 2002.

Elsewhere on the country list, second-season "Nashville Star" victor Brad Cotter storms the chart at No. 42 with "I Meant To" (Epic). The track posts detections at 86 of our 122 monitored stations (see story, page 33).

Cotter's bow is the highest in the 14-year Nielsen BDS era for a new artist's debut single. First-round "Star" winner Buddy Jewell previously held the distinction, as his "Help Pour Out the Rain (Lacey's Song)" entered at No. 44 in the May 16, 2003, issue on its way to its No. 3 peak last fall.

CROWS SOAR ABOVE COMPETITION

Counting Crows earn the highest debut on the adult top 40 chart in more than two years, as "Accidentally in Love" (Geffen) bows at No. 24. The previous track to match or beat that entry was "Standing Still" by Jewel, which debuted at No. 23 in October 2001.

"Accidentally," which appears in the highly anticipated movie sequel "Shrek 2," also posts an impressive first-week rank on the modern AC chart, coming in at No. 23. Dido's "White Flag" was the last track to debut that high, entering at No. 23 in July 2003.

On the AC chart, Clay Aiken makes his sixth appearance in less than a year (including holiday tracks), as his remake of "Solitaire" (RMG) bows at No. 27. The track was written and originally recorded by Neil Sedaka in 1972 and became a No. 1 hit for the Carpenters in August 1975.

Since the beginning of 2003, no other artist has placed more than four songs on the AC chart. Celine Dion, Michael Bublé and Rod Stewart all trail Aiken by two tracks during this period.

AUDIOSLAVE, INCUBUS, BEASTIE BOYS ROCK ON

Audioslave's "What You Are" (Epic) moves 14-10 at active rock, making the group the first act at the format to have five top 10 tracks from one album. All four prior top 10s from "Audioslave" reached the top three, with "Cochise" and "Like a Stone" hitting No. 1.

Incubus' "Talk Show on Mute" (Epic) climbs 12-10 at modern rock, giving the band its eighth straight top 10 track. That matches Green Day for most consecutive top 10 tracks. Incubus, Green Day and U2 are tied for the fourth-longest streak of consecutive top 10 hits. The Smashing Pumpkins earned 16 straight modern top 10 tracks between 1993 and 2000.

The Beastie Boys match the highest chart position of their career, as "Ch-Check It Out" (Capitol) moves 14-4 at modern rock in its second week on the chart. The group's only other top 10, "Intergalactic," needed 14 weeks to reach No. 4 in September 1998.
