Virtual Radio: Is It Coming To An Air Shift Near You?

by Jeff Silberman and Phyllis Stark

The use of multi-market automation, or Virtual Radio, continues its march across the deregulated radio landscape. Jacor, a longtime advocate of sharing voice-tracks between different markets via ISDN, has officially rolled out its previously reported Ohio-based Buckeye Country Network and launched a live oldies night shift based in Las Vegas.

With Virtual Radio's spread continuing, Airplay Monitor talked to officials at Capstar, Citadel, and Jacor (which uses the same Prophet computer program as Capstar's Star System) about the inner workings of the new services, which may be coming to an air shift near you sooner than you think.

Jacor, like Capstar and other previous advocates of such automation, insists that the main benefit of voice-tracked dayparts is bringing major-market air personalities to small-market stations that couldn't otherwise afford such talent. "Jacor has a high concentration of stations in Ohio, and [Jacor chief] Randy [Michaels] is a big believer in synergy, so the idea is to use the strength of our cluster and import the best talent, share it, and improve the product of all of our stations for our listeners and our advertisers," says "Smilin' Tom" Fridley, PD of WCOL Columbus, Ohio, which serves as the "hub" station for the Buckeye Country Network.

Yet once the costs of hardware and infrastructure are assimilated, it's inevitable that another result will be, at the very least, considerable savings from using fewer night and overnight air talents. Indeed, PDs from other radio groups claim they've noticed an influx of recently beached Capstar and Jacor jocks.

BUCKEYE NETWORK BOWS

Jacor's Buckeye Country Network launched Jan. 19 when WLSN Dayton, Ohio, which had been stunting with an all Garth Brooks format for about a month, became the network's first affiliate with new calls WBKI. The new network kicked off at noon with the sound of a heartbeat, followed by a baby's cry. The following day, the station's new morning show debuted.

Jacor director of country programming Jaye Albright says WIMT Lima, Ohio, will join the network next, with six or seven additional stations coming on board at a rate of one every two weeks for the next few months. All stations will have their own morning shows; some will also have local midday and, at a couple of stations, afternoon talents. But voice-tracking will rule nights and overnights. PDs at the individual stations can choose the dayparts and the jocks they want from the network, according to Fridley.

At WBKI, the music is being scheduled exclusively for Dayton, according to Albright. The shifts are voice-tracked by WCOL MD John Crenshaw and other WCOL personalities. Those jocks will customize the voice-tracks for each participating station.

"They are in Columbus, so they know how to pronounce all the Ohio town names. They've been to Dayton and know what it's like and can really talk about it," says Albright. "We think if you listened in Dayton you wouldn't have any idea that it's not totally local and live. All the air shifts are done in pretty close to real time, within 20 minutes or so, and never more than a few hours away. And we're capable immediately, if a news story should break, of going on the air live right away."

Jacor national program coordinator Sean Compton says, "The [local] PDs have to ensure that [the voice-tracks] sound localized, so they have to work with the talent to make sure they pronounce the names of area towns and landmarks correctly, mention events going on in their market, and so on. One thing Randy Michaels taught us as we moved forward with this is to never forget to wrap your arms around the community."

Decca A Casualty Of Universal Cuts

The long-expected announcement of layoffs related to the consolidation of PolyGram and the Universal Music Group finally came Jan. 21. A&M, Decca, Geffen, Interscope, Island, MCA, Mercury, and Motown suffered losses in what is expected to be the first wave of what may total 1,200 layoffs by the end of the year.

In Nashville, Decca has closed its doors. Senior VP/GM Shelia Shipley Biddy and VP of national promotion Rick Baumgartner are among the dozen staffers exiting. Mark Wright, Decca's senior VP and head of A&R, is expected to be retained by MCA Nashville. Decca Southwest regional Enzo DeVincenzo shifts to that region for MCA, replacing Darlene Edwards, one of a half dozen MCA staffers who reportedly exit.

Decca's roster included Rhett Akins, Gary Allan, Mark Chesnutt, Rebecca Lynn Howard, Chris Knight, Danni Leigh, Delbert McClinton, the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, Dolly Parton, Shane Stockton, and Lee Ann Womack. Only Allan, Chesnutt, and Womack are expected to be absorbed into the MCA roster. Ironically, Howard, McClinton, the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, and Parton were all picked up by Decca last year after their previous Universal-affiliated label, Rising Tide, closed its doors.

Mercury, meanwhile, released one staffer and three artists. Gone are senior marketing manager Kristi Brake and artists John Anderson, Rodney Carrington, and Jenny Simpson.

Chancellor Puts Itself On Block

In a surprise move, Chancellor Media put itself up for sale last week. Specifically, the group announced it was hiring an investment banker to sniff out leads to "maximize shareholder value." Those alternatives "may include, but are not limited to, the sale, merger, or consolidation of one or more of the operating divisions."

The front-runner to buy Chancellor is Clear Channel Communications. "We are certainly going to pursue it," Lowry Mays told The Dallas Morning News. Even so, names like Microsoft and Disney/ABC cannot be discounted, say analysts. Hicks, Muse, Tate & Furst CEO Tom Hicks told the paper he's keeping his Chancellor stock.

Elsewhere on Wall Street, Entercom goes public, with its IPO scheduled for this week. Pricing is set for Jan. 28, with stock sale set for the next day. No word on an employee buy-in or benefit program . . . Arbitron's parent company, Ceridian, will split its stock Feb. 10.

Deal of note: Radio 2000 NC is buying country KNCY-AM-FM Lincoln/Omaha, Neb., for $710,000 from Sunrise Broadcasting.

FCC: NO PAYOLA FIRE, COULD BE SMOKE

Although he is still reviewing a congressional request asking the FCC to look into connections between record companies and radio groups, FCC Enforcement Division Chief Charles Kelly tells Airplay Monitor he does not believe there has been any violation of federal payola statutes. But that does not mean there was no wrongdoing, says Kelly. "There are inferences that there may have been some understandings between the record companies and the radio stations." In the case of the Bryan Adams deal between Chancellor Media and A&M Records, Kelly says, the broadcaster may have been obliged to disclose the arrangement to listeners.

The FCC will set the wheels in motion this month to allow low-power "microradio," announcing what it would like to do with the service, which the National Assn. of Broadcasters—as well as most broadcasters—strongly opposes. Meanwhile, FCC Chairman Bill Kennard has moved a hearing on radio-ownership rule changes to Feb. 12.

Clancy Woods Joins Chancellor Phoenix

Clancy Woods is named to the new position of market manager for Chancellor Media's eight Phoenix stations, including KMLE and KISO. He most recently was president of the Radio Marketing Group and previously was VP of radio for Nationwide Communications.

Former KYNG Dallas PD Dan Pearman joins ABC's Radio Disney children's network as assistant OM.

Cody Carlson is named PD/MD/ p.m. driver at KIXQ Joplin, Mo. She was MD at AC sister KJMK. Former KIXQ MD/afternoon jock J.C. Walker recently exited for a job in Des Moines, Iowa.

Jackson Increases 'Mileage' Again

As Alan Jackson's "Gone Crazy" bows at No. 53 on our airplay chart, he's tallied 46 chart weeks with singles from his "High Mileage" album. Since "I'll Go On Loving You" began the streak in the July 24, 1998, issue, those singles have spent 17 of those 46 weeks in the top 10.

"I'll Go On Loving You" slid from its peak at No. 3 to No. 4 in its 12th chart week, the same week his "Right On The Money" entered. For nine weeks, both singles charted. This issue, "Right On The Money" dips 4-7.

ON JAN. 21, as details emerged regarding Nashville fallout from the Universal Music Group's acquisition of PolyGram, Music Row was saddened to learn that the venerable Decca imprint would disappear under the new corporate structure, once again placing one of country music's most historically significant labels in mothballs. In saying goodbye to Decca, many in the industry will undoubtedly reflect upon its resplendent history in country music.

The first country artist to record for the label was Stuart Hamblen, who waxed "Texas Plains" in 1934, followed less than a week later by a recording from the Sons Of The Pioneers. Early label executives actively scouted rural country talent nationwide, resulting in sessions with such genre-defining acts as the Delmores and the original Carter Family.

In 1940, Decca welcomed Ernest Tubb into its fold, an association that would last more than 35 years, and recorded Jimmie Davis' classic "You Are My Sunshine." Davis rode his popularity into Louisiana's governor's mansion in 1944.

Decca was the first label to record its artists in Nashville, beginning in 1947 with sessions in a downtown hotel. Decca's postwar label chief, Paul Cohen, hired WSM Nashville MD Owen Bradley to arrange and produce sessions. Among the artists Bradley and Cohen worked with were Kitty Wells and Webb Pierce, who dominated country throughout the '50s.

In 1956, Buddy Holly was one of the first Decca acts to record in Bradley's storied Quonset hut studio. Bradley also supervised the session that yielded Patsy Cline's first hit, "Walkin' After Midnight," in 1957. Cline remains a formidable catalog entity for MCA Nashville. Her cumulative album sales as of the Jan. 30 Billboard would add up to a comfortable slot in the top 10 if those sales came from one new album.

Decca's roster in the '60s included hitmakers the Wilburn Bothers, Loretta Lynn, Bill Anderson, Jan Howard, the Osborne Brothers, Jack Greene, and Conway Twitty. In 1973, Decca was swallowed by parent company Music Corporation of America. Decca's closing gave birth to country powerhouse MCA Records, where several Decca artists, including Anderson, Twitty, and Lynn, remained active.

In January 1994, MCA Nashville resurrected Decca, making longtime MCA executive Shelia Shipley Biddy the first woman to head a major Nashville label. Under her direction, MCA's Mark Chesnutt moved over to become Decca's flagship artist. In 1996, Shipley Biddy and A&R chief Mark Wright focused the label on traditional country, scored three chart-toppers for Chesnutt, broke Rhett Akins with the No. 3 song "That Ain't My Truck," hit No. 1 with Akins' "Don't Get Me Started," and introduced Gary Allan with the top 10 hits "Her Man" and "It Would Be You." More recently, Decca launched the career of traditionalist Lee Ann Womack with six top 40 songs, three of which peaked at No. 2. Currently, Chesnutt's "I Don't Want To Miss A Thing" has dominated the Top Country Singles Sales list for three consecutive weeks.

Of all the Nashville labels that opened during the first half of the decade, Decca was the only one to possess such a rich history. Shipley Biddy and Wright inherited a vast legacy of creative vision, innovation, and accomplishment and were lauded on the rededication of the label by Bradley and a group of former Decca artists, including Wells and Brenda Lee, in a special edition of TNN's "Prime Time Country."

Decca staffers who were ousted in the recent merger walk away with more than just another résumé entry. They leave knowing that they worked for a label that has been held in the highest regard by those in the know about country record labels in Nashville.

Personally, I'd prefer not to say "goodbye" to Decca but to bid it a simple "farewell for now." There may be some truth to the old adage "The third time's the charm," even yet.

New Columns Get Down To Business

This week, Country Airplay Monitor gets down to business, charts the business of on-air promotion, and turns the spotlight on country artists with three new columns.

Capital and Capitol, by Frank Saxe, is Airplay Monitor's first weekly column devoted to business and regulatory issues. Saxe, who joined Monitor earlier this year from Radio Business Report, will cover broadcast transactions, the Federal Communications Commission, the Justice Department, digital satellite radio, and all the other issues that now affect radio programming in the post-deregulation era.

Promoganda, by Jeff Silberman, will showcase the creative efforts of successful promotion directors in all formats. Besides providing a weekly rundown of topical, new promotional ideas centered around relevant topics, Promoganda will feature the Topical Barometer, the first-ever top 10 list of top-of-mind promotion topics. (See page 4.) Before joining Top 40 Airplay Monitor last year as managing editor, Silberman was editor in chief at Network 40, where he wrote the promotion section for six years. He also did similar promotion coverage at trade magazine Hitmakers for two years.

In addition, Country Airplay Monitor launches the column Access: Nashville, by managing editor Phyllis Stark. This column will feature the artist news that previously appeared in the column On the Row, which will now be devoted exclusively to music-industry news.

ON THE ROW

Kyle Young Named Director Of CMF

Kyle Young is appointed director of the Country Music Foundation. Young had been acting director since Bill Ivey's departure last year to become chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts. He was the foundation's associate director.

Buzz Ledford is named creative director of the Woodshed, a multipurpose entertainment complex for showcases, rehearsals, live recording, and video and TV production. He previously was VP of national promotion for Step One Records.

Longtime Nashville booking agent Stan Barnett has opened a new booking agency, IMA Inc. (It's My Agency). He will continue exclusive booking representation for longtime clients Buck Owens and Rhonda Vincent and recently added Bill Engvall, Jeff Foxworthy, and Ken Mellons to his roster. He previously was president of McFadden and Associates.

Initial ballots for the Academy of Country Music Awards will be mailed to voting members Feb. 5. Final ballots will mail to members March 22. The awards show is set for May 5 in Los Angeles.

Jill Schultz is promoted from special projects assistant to agenda and special projects coordinator at Country Radio Broadcasters (CRB). Erica McKown joins the CRB as administrative assistant and registration coordinator. She previously was with King Lizard Music. The CRB is seeking applicants for the D.J. Hall of Fame. Nominees must have 25 years of service to country radio and must have contributed to its growth and development and contributed to the preservation and enhancement of country music. Contact the CRB office in Nashville for applications.

A memorial service was held Jan. 23 in Nashville for Chic Doherty, who died Jan. 9 of complications from emphysema. Retired from MCA Records in 1984, Doherty spent 38 years in the music business beginning at the age of 23 at Decca Records in New Orleans.

Songwriter Clay Davidson has signed with Big Tractor Music.

Letter: Keep Tradition In The Mix

To the editor:

Recent new acts all seem to have several things in common.

• Most are too young, with little (if any) true life experience to draw from.

• Most are too attractive but in many cases not all that talented. Seems labels continue to be more worried about video than audio.

• Most aren't really true country music fans and talk about their rock and pop influences. They have no heart or soul in "real" country music. (Several cite Garth [Brooks] as an influence. Give me a break!)

• Most are pretty forgettable, with no really memorable or distinctive voices or sounds. Pretty face, pretty voice, pretty boring.

Where are the stylists, the ones who'll pave the way to the next century? Are we cursed with Garth and Shania wannabes from here on out?

Also, what's the deal with programmers who refuse to play "real" country music like Vince Gill's "Kindly Keep It Country"? If we continue to only feature the homogenized, sanitized, anemic stuff (for folks who really don't like country music to begin with), the future of this format will be bleaker than ever. It's variety that made country great to begin with, but the traditional stuff needs to be part of the mix.

Super Bowl, Valentines Dominate Promo Chart

As the new year begins, the nation's top promotion directors have quickly focused on the Super Bowl and Valentine's Day as topics of premier interest to their listeners. The exclusive Monitor Topical Barometer poll also shows inclement weather, Internet use, and the Golden Globe Awards as choice topics for promotions.

With the big game just days away, stations of all formats have set up high-profile Super Bowl events. Country KYGO-FM Denver's Should I Stay or Should I Go? offers contest winners the choice of staying in town and getting a complete entertainment center with big-screen TV and a fully stocked Super Bowl party with celebrity visits or a complete package for two to the game, including tickets, limo, hotel, parking-lot party, and $500. Garret Doll helped formulate the question.

Then there's Super Bowl Bingo, from Barbara Luchsinger of triple-A KKZN (the Zone) Dallas: "Create 10 different cards with things like, 'Aikman throws pass,' 'Anderson kicks field goal,' instead of numbers," she says. "It's a great bar promotion. The key is to be very specific. Beer makes folks argumentative."

Rhythmic top 40 KLUC Las Vegas' Vanessa Thill gave her target-demo football widows $2,500 spending sprees at local malls, with grand-prize sprees in other cities.

Top 40 WPXY Rochester, N.Y., rented out a twin-screen movie theater—one to show the game on the big screen, the other to let the winning widows see "You've Got Mail" and "At First Sight." Naturally, a tailgate party in the parking lot will precede the festivities.

THE FINE PRINT: The Grammys' spotlight on female artists should be of greater interest to modern ACs, top 40s, and other female-targeted formats . . . VW Beetles, Hummers, and SUVs are highly popular giveaways, but so are electric cars at the traveling auto shows . . . PROMO OF THE WEEK: INTERNET/E-MAIL CONTESTING

The success of "You've Got Mail" only underscores the growing interest in and use of the Internet and E-mail. Which raises the question: Should radio get promotionally involved in Internet/E-mail contesting and/or dating?

Definitely, said the majority of our panel. In fact, 45% of the stations are doing it or have done some Internet promotion, while 37% who haven't done it are considering it. Only 18% of the stations aren't considering it. Here are some points they brought up:

• Not surprisingly, World Wide Web site contests are best done during office hours on weekdays, says classic rock WAXQ New York's Paul Miraldi.

• "They can be very effective in building a mailing list with qualified listeners," adds WKRQ Cincinnati's Scott Colebrook, citing the Q102 E-mail club.

• "It would be cool to tie in [the contests] for Internet service sponsorship," says country WPOC Baltimore's Sheila Silverstein.

On a cautionary note, WSTR (Star 94) Atlanta's Dan Bowen warns not to go overboard on them. R&B WJTT Chattanooga, Tenn.'s Wayne Collins and country KNIX Phoenix's Vicki Fiorelli note that most people still don't have Web access. "Listeners without computers think it's unfair," says country KEEY Minneapolis's Diana Buckmann. WPXY Rochester N.Y.'s Tristano Korlou suggests making those contests open via fax or phone as well. But country WYNY New York's Jason Steinberg advises that the contests be exclusive to Net surfers and not mentioned on-air at all. "Do them regularly , so people know to check back often," he says. "Make sure you call all winners by phone, not just E-mail. Our last E-mail contest got a 99% attendance ratio at the event."

As far as an E-mail dating service, WXKS-FM (Kiss 108) Boston's Maria Toufas thinks there are "too many dating services already," and several others thought it would conflict with their own 800-number dating lines.

QUICK HITS

WPXY's Korlou got his hands on 50 Furbys last September, so the station could give them away during the holidays. How did he know the Furby would be so hot? "I called [area] toy stores around September and asked what's going to be hot for Christmas," he says. "If a handful of toy stores tell you the same thing about what they think will be very hot during the holidays, most likely they'll be correct. The store managers are always pretty honest on what will be hot and what won't be."

With spring training less than 30 days away, put this in your to-do file: KNIX staged a Kids Run the Bases at the Arizona Diamondbacks' luxurious Bank One Stadium. Vicki Fiorelli notes that KNIX offered winners' kids the first chance to run the bases at the park before a game, with Diamondbacks manager Buck Showalter high-fiving them as they crossed the plate.

Kudos to WAXQ and Paul Miraldi, who snagged tickets to the Broadway smash "The Lion King," which is sold out until the summer of 2000. Initially, they were going to give them away over the holidays, but when three New York firefighters lost their lives, WAXQ held an on-air auction, raising $13,000 for the Firefighters' Widows and Children's Fund.

work's hub station will bring him and the jocks involved, Fridley says, "We [hope we're] not talking about a lot. The equipment is unbelievably sophisticated. The goal is to not have to put in a whole lot of extra hours to make this happen."

SEEING STARS

Capstar's Star System, which serves a variety of formats, including top 40 and country, has hubs in Austin, Texas, and Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to service mainly stations from Capstar's Gulfstar division and a few owned by the Southern Star division. The stations decide how many shifts they want tracked. Lead time for voice-tracking can be anywhere from a few hours to two days in advance. The jocks can change the tracks on the fly as well, in case something important happens in the market.

What's different: The jocks who do the voice-tracking work only for the Star System and not at any other Capstar station. "Some [jocks] can track four to six shifts at once," Capstar senior VP of programming Jack Taddeo says. "It depends on the station's format. A jock can do six to eight stop-sets at the same time for stations that do 10 in a row but not as many for the more interactive, personality-driven stations."

(Another slight difference: While each Capstar station programs its own music, Buckeye affiliates have the option to air music programmed from WCOL. But, Fridley says, "no one [in the network] will run our programming as we run our programming. They will have the benefit of our research, musical knowledge, and music library, but they will not be simulcasting. They will not run the same song at the same time" as WCOL.)

Taddeo estimates cost savings to small-market stations of about 20% over using local air talent. However, he also notes the high cost of the Prophet system. "There's a considerable upfront investment to build a studio, hire the air talent, and procure the Internet servers to build a wide-area network," he says. "The [bottom line] doesn't look that good at the end of the first year, but this is a long-term project."

Although he won't discuss what the network is charging stations for the voice tracking, Fridley concedes the cost is far less than paying a full-time jock. But, he says, "the No. 1 goal is to increase the quality of the product, not to save money. Saving money is a secondary benefit."

Compton says that, so far, most of those affected by the Buckeye Country Network will "assume other duties. We can shrink the jock's shifts. Instead of doing four- or five-hour shifts, they'll do two-hour shifts and spend more time doing remotes and promotions."

BABY STEPS QUICKLY

Jacor's other new project, tentatively titled the Kool Network, is made up of seven oldies stations in the West tied to a hub at KQOL Las Vegas. A live, four-hour show will broadcast from 7-11 p.m. PST from the Stratosphere hotel/casino.

All music will be programmed in Las Vegas, although the host will take requests from all stations via an 800 number. "We couldn't do this a few years ago, because the satellite cost was prohibitive," Compton says. "Now that we own NSN satellite, we can afford to uplink our program and deliver it."

Paralleling the Jacor oldies show is Citadel's recent decision to use Dandalion, the overnight host of country WRKZ Harrisburg, Pa., on five other regional country outlets (see Monitor Profile, this page).

The oldies and country networks are not the first, nor will they be the last, steps in Jacor's long-term plans to streamline and exploit its programming. "Kool Oldies is the first non-talk live network programming we've done," Compton notes. "We have already been very successful with a gardening and home-improvement talk show in Ohio; we're starting the same thing up in Colorado and Wyoming. A lot of talk stations struggle to find quality talent for weekends. So last year, we began rotating talent, such as Roger Hedgecock from KOGO San Diego and Bill Cunningham from WLW Cincinnati, for nationwide weekend shifts. We're putting our best local talent on a national stage.

"1998 was the year we experimented with talk stations; this year we're going to experiment with everything else. We might try something for our top 40 stations, although nothing is definitively planned just yet. We have to be careful. We're going to take baby steps quickly."

Educating PDs on how to use the Prophet system is also key. Both Jacor and Capstar programmers travel to the Prophet Academy in Ogallala, Neb., a two-hour drive east of Denver, where they train for two to four days. There can be additional training back at their stations.

CITADEL ADMITS VOICE-TRACKING

Citadel has been voice-tracking dayparts for as many as 50 of its stations for up to five years, according to VP of product development Scott Mahalick. Although most of the voice-tracking was done within each station using DAT technology, classic rock KGGL Boise, Idaho, did use the Virtual Radio services of the Research Group; then, following the Research Group's much-publicized recent difficulties, it started handling all of its voice-tracking internally.

That Citadel would use any multi-market networking might seem a little surprising since Citadel honcho Larry Wilson has long been a vocal advocate of local talent. And Mahalick himself is quick to note that Citadel still "believes live and local personalities will beat automation every time. We're very selective about where we track. It has to be the right competitive conditions. Tracked work still lacks the heart and soul of live talent. As far as the technology has progressed, we're still a few years off from seeing it perfected."

Any increased use of syndication is sure to revive fears of staff cuts and future talent shortages. "Inevitably, something gives when areas that typically went to newcomers in the business become fewer," Mahalick says. "Yet we still have plenty of part-time opportunities and new positions in our company that were created from this consolidation. There are other ways to get exposure, be it in production or promotion.

"In some ways, those people are learning more and advancing their careers a bit faster than those who start in overnights," he adds. "People in night shifts don't get as much attention as those who work during the day, who learn more about the business by working in a variety of areas. Some positives are manifesting themselves in this new environment."

'Dandalion's Cat Country Network' Is An Overnight Musical Education

An eclectic, free-form overnight show aimed at truckers and third-shifters may sound like an unlikely candidate for syndication, but Dandalion's all-night shift at WRKZ (Cat Country) Harrisburg, Pa., has been so successful for so many years that on Jan. 4, parent company Citadel Communications began simulcasting it on a regional network of co-owned stations.

Dubbed "Dandalion's Cat Country Network," the show is now heard on six Pennsylvania stations, including WCTO Allentown, simulcast trio WCTD/WCTP/WEMR-AM Wilkes-Barre/Scranton, and WHYL Carlisle, which simulcasts all of WRKZ's programming. Citadel VP of product development Scott Mahalik says there are plans to expand it further on a regional basis, although, Dandalion says, "I just hope we don't get too big, because [we] will lose the uniqueness of it. I don't want it to be like these [nationally syndicated] guys saying, 'It's 10 minutes past the hour.' "

The host is as unusual as the show. A Pennsylvania native, Dandalion has been married for 42 years and is the mother of four and the grandmother of six. She attended college at the age of 30, majoring in government and political science, and got into radio in a roundabout way after working for the U.S. Postal Service for almost 20 years. Her round-trip commute to her night-shift post-office job was 110 miles, so she bought a CB radio and began communicating with truckers en route. She started freelancing for a Pennsylvania-based trucking magazine and subsequently wrote a book about truckers and their humor. To promote the book, she began appearing on some of the all-night trucking shows on various clear-channel stations. That resulted in a friendship with WRVA Richmond, Va., overnighter John Trimble, who invited her to fill in for him when he took a two-week vacation. The post office wouldn't give her the time off, so she quit, began looking for a full-time radio job, and soon landed at WIOV Lancaster, Pa., in 1979. In 1981, she moved to WRKZ, where she added MD duties about a year later. She is the only woman to have ever won the Academy of Country Music's air personality award.

'My love of country music is more obsession than anything'

Since the program's network launch, Dandalion says, she hasn't changed a thing about her show, nor has Citadel asked her to. The only difference now, she says, is that the phone lights up nonstop from midnight to 5 a.m., when before there may have been an occasional lull.

She calls the show "a total mixture of everything in country music: traditional, bluegrass, Cajun, Western swing, and today's country. There is probably not another show in the country like it on FM. Everything I do is themes. If I play a male cheating song or love song, the next one is a female song."

Dandalion says the only show prep she does is planning in her head on her 10-minute drive to work at night. Although her program is request-based, she never puts callers on the air and doesn't do much talking herself. "My idea of an all-night radio show is that it's my job to entertain with music; my job is not to talk," she says. "I do talking that is necessary, [but] my talent is how I put the music together."

The show features segues like Bill Engvall's "I'm A Cowboy" into Michael Martin Murphey's "Cowboy Logic," C.W. McCall's "Wolf Creek Pass" into Garth Brooks' "It's Your Song," "Little" Jimmy Dickens' "The Preacherman" into Reba McEntire's "Wrong Night," and Steve Wariner's "Every Little Whisper" into Bobby Bare's "Streets Of Baltimore."

Here's a sample 3 a.m. hour from a recent show: Alan Jackson, "I Don't Even Know Your Name" and "Right On The Money"; Dixie Chicks, "You Were Mine"; Garth Brooks, "Ain't Going Down (Til The Sun Comes Up)"; Waylon Jennings and Willie Nelson, "Good Hearted Woman"; Jennings, "I've Always Been Crazy"; Shania Twain, "That Don't Impress Me Much"; the Browns, "The Three Bells"; Travis Tritt, "Where Corn Don't Grow" and "Foolish Pride"; Bryan Bowers, "The Scotsman"; T. Graham Brown, "Wine Into Water"; Flatt & Scruggs, "Worried Man" and "Till The End Of The World Rolls Round"; and Garth Brooks, "What She's Doing Now."

Dandalion says she is careful about the music mix. "As much of a traditionalist as I am, I'm not a dummy, and I would never allow old music to dominate my show," she says. Instead, she uses her show as an opportunity to introduce and test new music. "My job as an MD is to sort of educate my listeners," she says. "I should give them a chance to hear that music. Most radio stations don't have that opportunity or that privilege. I do. Management has always given me the opportunity to play new music on my show, [and] who am I going to hurt? Are you going to turn me off in the middle of the night because I'm playing a new artist?"

Because she's on the air at night, Dandalion handles her MD duties at home, making her "probably the only MD in the country returning calls in a nightgown."

Her success, Dandalion says, "is not because I'm 23 years old and blond. I'm 61 years old and overweight. It's because I'm real and touchable on the end of the phone line.

"I don't think I'm a great air personality. On the board, I'm pretty sloppy a lot of times. Some mornings I'm funny, some mornings I'm not. My talent is not how good I talk on radio or running a tight board; my talent is how I share my music."

It also helps that she is so passionate about her job. "There is not a night I go to work and say, 'I wish I didn't I have to do this.' I'm like a kid in a candy store for five hours a night," she says. "My love of country music is more obsession than anything. If you want to be a country jock, you ought to know something about country music. People know if you have a passion for this music and when you don't.

"I'm so positive about this industry, I get upset when I hear negatives," she says. "I guess I'm Mary Poppins, going around with my little umbrella thinking everything is fine. I think we take things too seriously in this industry."

In an age when radio programmers are playing it safe, Dandalion was surprised and delighted that Citadel would choose to network her rather atypical show. "Radio listeners should have the opportunity at some point to experience the kind of radio I do," she says. "Can it be so wrong if it's so successful? Citadel offered me the opportunity of a lifetime at an age when most other people are getting the cold shoulder from their employers."

Asked how long she'd like to keep working in radio, Dandalion says, "As long as my voice don't get crackly and I don't have to come to work in a walker." PHYLLIS STARK

If two records are tied in number of plays, the record being played on more stations is placed first. Records below the top 30 that are decreasing in plays are removed from the chart after 20 weeks.

Do Label Setup Cutbacks Leave PDs In The Dark About New Acts?

by Phyllis Stark

With an estimated cost of $750,000 to $1 million to set up a new artist, and few recent breakthrough artists who have provided any return on that investment, it shouldn't be surprising that some labels appear to be cutting back on the advance setup of new acts.

While many labels don't readily admit to cutting back, perhaps for fear of angering managers or artists themselves, many do allow that they're rethinking the traditional promo tour/fly-in showcase strategy in light of radio's greater conservatism. And some PDs have noticed a definite trend. In recent months, they say, numerous artists seem to have been sprung on them with labels going for airplay before the artist's name was even familiar.

Among the artists mentioned in this context are RCA's Andy Griggs, Giant's Springer!, Asylum's Monte Warden, and Warner Bros.' Chad Brock, although it's worth noting that for each programmer who mentioned one of these acts, there was an equal number who said that same act had been properly set up. And it is important to note that only Brock's first single was released with no setup whatsoever.

The difference in programmer perception about these acts may come from the fact that many labels are now embarking on their radio tours much closer to the add date of the artist's debut single and continuing the promo tour well after the single has gone to radio, meaning some programmers have not yet seen these artists in their markets.

Labels used to start radio tours about 12 weeks before the add date, giving each regional two weeks with the artist. But RCA director of national promotion Keith Gale says that strategy was losing its impact in the cluttered field of new artists, because a programmer who saw an act 12 weeks in advance had also seen eight other acts in the ensuing weeks before the airplay date.

For whatever reason, some PDs say that they simply don't know who some of the acts are that they are suddenly being expected to play.

"There hasn't been any new artist setup lately," says WYRK Buffalo, N.Y., APD/MD John Paul. "The one thing that attracted me to the format was the artist/radio relationship. There was a personal connection between the artist and the PD or MD. It seems recently that is gone. I know nothing about Chad Brock, Monte Warden, or Claudia Church. I know their music but beyond that nothing. I like to know backgrounds, influences, personal tidbits, etc. How can we sell the music to the listener if we are not sure what, or who, we are selling?"

WYRK PD Justin Case concurs. "I've received records from some labels that are going for adds with only a week or two warning," he says. "The setup is, 'We're coming with our new artist—fill in the blank—on the 14th. Great stuff. Look for it on your desk.' I guess the thinking is, Because it's on 'fill in the blank' label, I'm supposed to like it."

WYYD/WJLM Roanoke, Va., PD Robynn Jaymes says, "Some of the artists are getting showcased and, bam, the single is there. We seem to be back at that phase—everything being cyclical—of 'let's throw it out there and see if it sticks.' Who the heck are all these new people? What is the label commitment? Is it a showcase, a single or two, and then on to the next flavor of the moment?"

ECONOMICS AND TIMING

Not every programmer agrees that there is less setup for new artists. WMIL Milwaukee OM Kerry Wolfe says, "We're lucky enough to have some great record reps in this region who take the time to get us familiar with the music before the official add dates."

WGRL Indianapolis PD John Q. Morris says, "For every artist whose first single is sprung on radio, there are artists who are nurtured by the label

Citadel To Sell 25 Outlets To Marathon

Citadel Broadcasting has agreed to sell 25 of its small-market stations to Chicago-based Marathon Media for $26 million. The deal is expected to close in the second quarter. Country stations included in the deal are KBUL-AM/KCTR Billings, Mont.; KAKT Medford, Ore.; KKTT Eugene, Ore.; and KORD Tri-Cities, Wash.

Separately, the FCC has delayed approving Citadel's proposed purchase of Wicks Broadcasting's five Binghamton, N.Y., stations, including country WHWK, citing concentration concerns. The $77 million deal was announced in November and included eight stations in Charleston, S.C., and three in central Indiana.

The Los Angeles Times reported Jan. 14 that both Sen. Paul Wellstone (D-Minn.) and Rep. John Conyers (D-Mich.) were calling on the FCC to investigate whether recent deals between group broadcasters and labels skirt payola laws. Last month, the Times, following Top 40 Airplay Monitor's lead, reported a $237,000 promotional deal between A&M and Chancellor Media on behalf of artist Bryan Adams. Now, Conyers says, "the idea that radio stations may have invented new ways of accepting pay-for-play confirms my worst fears about merger mania."

For his part, FCC mass-media bureau enforcement chief Charles Kelly tells the Times, "We have not made a decision yet as to what course we will follow, but this is certainly an area that we could pursue."

The Times article also touches on the exclusivity deal between Cumulus Broadcasting and independent promoter Jeff McClusky. Following last week's Monitor Profile on the controversial deal, Jefferson-Pilot VP of programming Don Benson called to take issue with McClusky's assertion that J-P previously had some form of group deal with an independent. "At no point in Jefferson-Pilot's history have we had any kind of group deal with an independent," he states. "Individual stations may have had and may still have relationships with certain independents but nothing on a group level."

'Stand Beside Me' Overtakes A 'Spirit'

An intense No. 1 battle on our Country Airplay chart ushers in Jo Dee Messina's third consecutive chart-topping single, as "Stand Beside Me" outpaces Randy Travis' "Spirit Of A Boy, Wisdom Of A Man" by just 48 spins. With more than 42 million estimated audience impressions, Messina gains 438 plays to rise 4-1, while Travis increases 260 plays to hold at No. 2 with more than 40 million (see National Airplay by Audience, page 19).

Meanwhile, Tim McGraw's "For A Little While" gains 503 detections and moves 4-3 on our spin-only list. "For A Little While" inks more than 41 million impressions.

Each of the top three titles turns in airplay at 161 monitored stations.

Up 850 plays, George Strait's "Meanwhile" takes the biggest gain on the Country Airplay chart to shoot 32-21, followed by Brooks & Dunn's "I Can't Get Over You," up 638 to move 34-31 (see Gainers, page 8).

SALES AND AIRPLAY: After a 21-week stint with Faith Hill's "This Kiss" at No. 1 on Billboard's Top Country Singles Sales, Mark Chesnutt's "I Don't Want To Miss A Thing" now dominates that chart for a second week. During its first week at the top (Billboard, Jan. 16), Chesnutt's song finished with more than 20,000 units, compared with approximately 16,000 units of "This Kiss." In its second week at the top, "I Don't Want To Miss A Thing" scans approximately 15,000 pieces, while "This Kiss" finishes with more than 9,000. And both artists garnered their best-ever Hot 100 showings as a result of their recent hits.

"This Kiss" provided Hill with her first solo top 10 track on the Hot 100 when it peaked at No. 7 in the July 19, 1998, issue. That chart feat was accomplished prior to a recent Hot 100 methodology change (outlined in the Dec. 5, 1998, issue of Billboard) implemented at the beginning of the chart year. The Hot 100 was revamped to include airplay from a number of monitored formats, including country, that hadn't previously been as much of a factor on the chart. Before country airplay was added to the Hot 100 formula, country singles performed exclusively on sales points unless there was airplay on top 40 or AC stations, as was the case with "This Kiss."

If you're a Hot 100 chart watcher, you've already observed a more conspicuous presence for country titles due to the new chart formula. Chesnutt's song has risen as high as No. 19 on the new Hot 100, his first entry on that chart in a career that spans nearly a decade. The chart success of both Chesnutt's cover and Aerosmith's original version makes for a situation that was familiar to chart junkies through the early '70s but hasn't been seen much since—the chart presence of two versions of a song within a few months of each other from different genres (i.e., both R&B artist Freddie North and Johnny Paycheck charting with "She's All I Got" in 1971 or Wilson Pickett's cover of the Archies' 1969 hit "Sugar Sugar" a year later).

The Oak Ridge Boys have signed a recording contract with the Nashville-based country division of Platinum Entertainment. The group will reunite with producer Ron Chancey for its debut Platinum album, due this spring.

Aaron Tippin was diagnosed with a hemorrhagic polyp on his vocal chords by doctors at the Vanderbilt Voice Clinic Jan. 13 in Nashville. The polyp was brought on by strain, and doctors advised Tippin not to speak for seven days. Tippin begins touring next month.

Wade Hayes has become engaged to Danni Boatright, who appears in Hayes' current "Tore Up From The Floor Up" video.

The talent lineup has been set for the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, set for Feb. 19-March 7. Country acts scheduled to appear are Hank Williams Jr., Neal McCoy, Clint Black, Faith Hill, Shania Twain, Reba McEntire, Alan Jackson, Wynonna, John Michael Montgomery, Emilio, Brooks & Dunn, Vince Gill, Sawyer Brown, Kenny Rogers, Lonestar, and Clay Walker.

Vince Gill and Randy Scruggs will perform "A Soldier's Joy" together on "Late Show With David Letterman" Feb. 1. The instrumental performance features Scruggs on acoustic guitar and Gill on electric guitar. Shania Twain will appear on Letterman's show Jan. 28. Billy Ray Cyrus will be a guest on the syndicated "Donny & Marie Show" Feb. 8 and will be a passenger on "The Love Boat" Feb. 20.

Kmart has signed on as title sponsor for the Judds' reunion concert Dec. 31 in Phoenix, and the Judds will serve for two years as spokespersons for Kmart's Big Kmart super-stores.

The Warren Brothers have been selected to perform at an invitation-only acoustic showcase of live music held during the Sundance Film Festival Jan. 25 in Park City, Utah. Lyle Lovett and John Hiatt are also on the lineup.

MONITOR PROFILE

KSON's Dimick Drops The Barriers For Country's Casual Listeners

Coming from a top 40 background, John Dimick had a unique perspective on the country format when he joined KSON San Diego as PD last September. "When I was programming top 40, I lived in constant fear of the country stations," he says. "With the cume they are able to create, they can be very dangerous. Sometimes country radio may feel [like] a stepchild, and that's crap. Country is not anybody's stepchild. County is a great format, a current format, and one of the few things that is uniquely American. It just boggles my mind when people say we can't win because the music's bad.

"Country is not in trouble," adds Dimick. "The music is in great shape, but its PDs have got to get smart about how to make the format compelling to listeners—and not just the hardcore P1 listeners either. The whole reason country grew is because country, from a music standpoint, got very interesting to a coalition of people that couldn't find meaningful lyric content and easy-to-listen-to music anywhere else on the dial. A few other formats got smart and [put] that kind of music on the air, and then country started losing its listeners back to [their old] formats. We've just got to figure out how to keep those listeners engaged and energized with our station above and beyond the music.

'I'm playing stuff until it's crispy out here'

"Radio stations are three-dimensional entities. If you are relying on music to make your radio station win, then you are leaving yourself at the whim of what songwriters and record producers and artists put out. Show me where it's written in the radio-law handbook that as the record industry goes, so should go radio stations. That is not the case. Everything goes in cycles, so if the music is not particularly hot—which I don't agree with at the moment anyway . . . you have to find other things that engage people with your radio station. The competition now has gotten too fierce."

Almost immediately after his arrival at KSON, Dimick instituted several changes, including back-announcing songs and artists. "Not coming from country, one of the first things I found disturbing about KSON was that it almost took an act of Congress to say the name of the artist and the song they were singing," he says. "I have to learn how to like country, because I'm programming a country radio station, and my very own radio station I'm programming is not helping me out, and I want to learn it, so what are we doing to the people that just want to occasionally come by and hear things? We need to be sure we are making the radio station as accessible to as many people as possible. Artist and title is . . . one of those things that drops the barriers between casual listeners and a radio station."

Although he made no major changes to KSON's music, Dimick did some tweaking as part of his effort to broaden the station's appeal. "We've just really tightened up," he says. "When we find a record that works, we're going to play the hell out of it. We have to get back into developing stars and realize that stars don't develop in 10 weeks on a chart. I fully anticipate playing songs in heavy for 20, 25, 30 weeks. I'm playing stuff until it's crispy out here. I'm going to play it into the ground. That's the only way you build recurrents and oldies. If it's testing top nine or top seven, it's going to get pounded, I don't care how old it is."

But Dimick may also add a new music show or time slot to his lineup, so "we might be able to get an early bead on some things. While we're tightening up our playlist to play only solid hits, we are also looking for ways to expose new music to our listeners, so we're not cutting off our nose to spite our face," he says.

KSON plays about 60% currents and recurrents and 40% gold, which goes back to the mid-'80s for select cuts. Dimick says, "I don't feel a time line for adding new music other than my own. Just because a record has gone No. 1 on a chart somewhere doesn't mean I should add the next single."

Here's a recent 10 a.m. hour on KSON: John Anderson, "Seminole Wind"; Martina McBride, "Wrong Again"; Alan Jackson, "Little Bitty"; Vince Gill, "Pretty Little Adriana"; Jo Dee Messina, "Bye Bye"; Steve Wariner, "Every Little Whisper"; Collin Raye, "Love, Me"; Trisha Yearwood, "Perfect Love"; Diamond Rio, "You're Gone"; Shania Twain, "(If You're Not In It For Love) I'm Outta Here!"; Lonestar, "You Walked In"; Mark Chesnutt, "I Don't Want To Miss A Thing"; George Strait, "True"; Travis Tritt, "Tell Me I Was Dreaming"; and the Kinleys, "Somebody's Out There Watching."

KSON was No. 5 12-plus in the Arbitrons when Dimick arrived, but he set his sights higher and landed the No. 1 spot in the just released fall '98 book with a 5.0-6.2 gain. For motivation, he keeps a T-shirt in his office that says, "Second place is the first loser." Says Dimick, "Why get into this game if you don't want to win?"

Although KSON has the format to itself, Dimick says he is 100% prepared for any potential rival. "I have a saying, 'If you want to take KSON on, that's fine, but pack a lunch, because it won't be over by noon,' " he says. "KSON is battle-ready. We act every day like there is a country station coming on the air."

Dimick says San Diego is a tough market, because "it's very difficult to reach people here. There is so much to do, so it's kind of hard to build a sense of community around any one element. It's a very large city, and the noise floor is incredible, so you've got to be pretty loud to make an impact. We're working very hard at shaking hands and kissing babies."

Dimick's goal with promotions and community outreach is to attract enough attention to persuade people who don't normally listen to country to give KSON a try. "I'm convinced if I can just get someone to listen for 30 minutes, two days in a row, I'll hook 'em," he says.

"I don't like it when I hear [that] we're going to have to be happy with smaller numbers because the [country] life-group is diminishing. Bullshit. Go out and find some more. I'm after trying to grow the category, making country music and country radio more appealing to people. Come listen to us and be entertained. This is a fun format.

"I'm not trying to give 'em what they want; I want to make them feel something—happy, sad, angry," says Dimick. "I love it when I get complaint calls, because at least I know I made them feel something. Entertaining doesn't always have to be funny; it's being compelling and giving them a reason to come back."

Like many self-described "radio geeks," Dimick started in radio at the age of 15 in 1979, when he "pedaled his bike through the snow in Logan, Utah," to work at KBLQ/KLGN. His previous country experience came at KQOL Salt Lake City in 1990. That led to programming jobs at oldies KERN-FM Bakersfield, Calif., then rock 40 KBER Salt Lake City, hot AC KISN Salt Lake City and KPLZ Seattle, and top 40 WNCI Columbus, Ohio. PHYLLIS STARK

Instant information on Country's new artists

Claudia Church

"WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH YOU BABY" (REPRISE)

Church grew up primarily on her grandparents' rural North Carolina farm because her father, a Green Beret in the Army, traveled to remote places, and his family usually was not allowed to accompany him. The family had no TV set for most of her childhood, so she spent a lot of time listening to the radio, particularly "The Grand Ole Opry." After she graduated from high school in Colorado, Church went to college in Dallas and began performing at various oprys on the weekends, including "The Louisiana Hayride." After graduation, she made her first trip to Nashville with a demo tape in hand but soon returned to Dallas and became a professional model, later moving to Paris to continue her modeling career. In 1988, she moved to Nashville and began singing on demos and acting in music videos for Steve Wariner and Ricky Van Shelton and in Rodney Crowell's 1992 video for "Lovin' All Night." She married Crowell last September, and he produced her self-titled debut album and had a hand in writing half its tracks.

Andy Griggs

"YOU WON'T EVER BE LONELY" (RCA)

This Monroe, La., native took up singing and learned how to play guitar after his brother passed away. He eventually took his brother's place in a band and began playing festivals and churches and later toured with gospel duo Jerry & Tammy Sullivan. Upon arriving in Nashville in '95, Griggs got work singing demos for producer David Malloy. He was working at a local greenhouse when he got the call telling him he'd landed a record deal with RCA. He co-wrote four of the songs on his self-titled debut album, due Feb. 9.

Shane McAnally

"SAY ANYTHING" (MCG/CURB)

This 23-year-old Mineral Wells, Texas, native moved to Nashville in 1994 and began working as a bartender after spending a year at the University of Texas in Austin. McAnally, who plays guitar and piano and is an accomplished songwriter, performed often in the Dallas/Fort Worth area prior to his move to Music City. His hobbies include weight lifting, water- and snow-skiing, tennis, and inline skating.

Charlie Robison

"BARLIGHT" (LUCKY DOG)

A sixth-generation Texan, Robison grew up on his family's ranch in Bandera. At 15, he began gigging around town as a drummer in a band that played rodeos and high school dances. He played alongside his brother Bruce, who is also signed to Lucky Dog as a solo artist. Charlie eventually switched to guitar and started singing. After a stint at Southwest Texas University, he headed to Austin, where he fronted the band the Millionaire Playboys. Going solo in 1995, he recorded his indie debut, "Bandera," and later made a follow-up album for a major label. His debut Lucky Dog album, "Life Of The Party," was recorded in just 10 days, with himself and Lloyd Maines producing. Bruce Robison and his wife, Kelly Willis, contribute backing vocals on the album.

Randy Scruggs

"IT'S ONLY LOVE" (REPRISE)

Although he's been part of the Nashville music scene for decades, this is Scruggs' first charted single as a solo artist. It features Mary Chapin Carpenter on vocals. Scruggs is the son of renowned banjo player Earl Scruggs, part of the legendary Flatt & Scruggs, and he has had success as a producer, songwriter, and session musician. He played on his first Flatt & Scruggs record at the age of 13. After high school, he teamed up with brother Gary to form the Scruggs Brothers and recorded a couple of rock albums for Vanguard Records. Later adding younger brother Steve, they became the Earl Scruggs Revue. In 1980, Guitar Player magazine named Scruggs one of the nation's top guitarists and he opened his own studio and production company. In 1989, the Country Music Assn. named him producer of the year, and he earned a Grammy Award for best country instrumental.

South Sixty Five

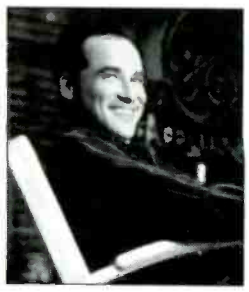
"A RANDOM ACT OF SENSELESS KINDNESS" (ATLANTIC)

Named for the Nashville highway that led them to the recording studio, this group is made up of five men, all in their early 20s: Jerimy Koeltzow, Lance Leslie, Doug Urie, and brothers Brent and Stephen Parker. The group was founded by Trijon Entertainment CEO/president Delious Kennedy, who is also a member of the quartet All-4-One. Kennedy took South Sixty Five to Atlantic Nashville president Rick Blackburn and executive-produced its self-titled debut album.

Monte Warden

"SOMEDAY" (ASYLUM)

Warden began performing in his hometown of Austin, Texas, when he was 14 years old. He became the front man of former A&M Records act the Wagoneers and later recorded two solo projects for Watermelon Records. His Asylum debut album, "A Stranger To Me Now," is due March 9.



Airborne features those artists who are making their debut chart runs in Country Airplay Monitor.

Do Label Setup Cutbacks Leave PDs In The Dark About New Acts?

with plenty of setup. Shane McAnally springs to mind."

But the majority of programmers contacted for this story say they have definitely noticed a decrease in artist setup. Most believe the perceived lack of setup is a matter of economics, time constraints due to increased competition, or both.

"Record companies simply have less time to develop hit artists quickly," says WWWW (W4) Detroit PD Tim Roberts. "Since it costs a million bucks, minimum, to launch an artist's career, the quicker the product gets to market, the better it is from a simple economic standpoint. Also, the nature of competition increases the speed of delivery."

"More labels, more acts, less time for promotion, less time for songs to get and stay on the chart," says WIRK West Palm Beach, Fla., PD Mitch Mahan. "Everyone is in a major hurry, because they are afraid the other guy will break first. The competition is higher than I have ever seen it for airplay, and the new guys need to hit fast or they are done."

THE LABEL SIDE

Despite the perception of some programmers, most of the acts whom programmers cite as not having been set up were, in fact, set up. RCA took Griggs on a radio tour before the single hit, is continuing that tour now, and did a small showcase for programmers in Los Angeles. Warden, too, did some radio touring both before and after impact day and is still on the road visiting stations. Giant hosted a showcase for Springer! in New Orleans. Church was set up with both a showcase in Lake Tahoe, Nev., and an ongoing radio tour.

Only Brock was truly launched with absolutely no setup, despite having been in development at the label for about four years. The lack of setup was a fluke, says Warner Bros. VP of promotion Brad Howell. The label had a plan on the books to spend three months launching Brock but ended up rush-releasing his first single, "Evangeline," in July, three months before Brock was scheduled to be launched, to capitalize on the song's summer theme. Although that song was not a hit, its follow-up, "Ordinary Life," is performing much better, possibly due to the fact that Brock later embarked on a radio tour to promote it. (Ironically, because the rush-release meant there were no photos of Brock accompanying the promotion of "Evangeline," Howell says, many people in the industry assumed the label was deliberately using the no-setup approach in order to create some mystique around Brock.)

RCA's Gale says, "What we've done [with Griggs] and the strategy we'll employ in the future is just a more focused, music-intensive setup. The days of being able to get people excited with the smoke and the mirrors and the wine and dine are gone. What matters is the music. The days when you could get 75 stations on a record because of the good time they had at a showcase are gone."

Gale says the less-setup approach labels are taking is a byproduct of radio consolidation and shrinking playlists. "These guys are going to play the best of the best. They are being extremely selective," he says. "We are going to put the music out with what we feel is a well-thought-out plan to give that artist the best possible chance to succeed."

Asylum's national promotion manager, Nancy Tunick, says that while her label is doing what she calls a "normal" setup for Warden and for newcomer Chalee Tennison, she has noticed a trend toward labels spending less money on artists immediately following their launch. "After the setup, we're seeing less money spent as the record progresses," she says. "There is less money to prop up a record" that may not be a hit, because "people aren't willing to spent the kind of money they did [previously] and see nothing for it."

Giant head of promotion Denny Mosesman says that while setup remains important, showcases may not be the way to go. "From things I see and hear, I have to assume that the big blowout showcase is no longer getting the results that we at the record companies would hope for," he says. "I'm not sure the climate is conducive to getting the result of somebody falling in love with your act, going back home, and adding the record." He believes radio tours remain vital for artists who "can walk into a radio station and, by themselves, leave a [good] impression," as hit act the Wilkinsons did last year. Giant will shortly begin a radio tour with its new artist, Georgia Middleman.

NO MORE COFFEE MUGS

Not every programmer is sorry that there are fewer radio tours and showcases. KSCS Dallas APD/MD Linda O'Brian would prefer to dispense with the big setup campaigns. "If I've told my reps once, I've told them a thousand times, all I really want is a copy of the music and a quick one-page bio," she says. "I don't need any more videos, T-shirts, [or] coffee mugs. My priority is just spending time with the music."

Although KCYY San Antonio, Texas, PD R.J. Curtis admits, "I don't know who Andy Griggs is, or Shannon Brown, or Shane McAnally, or South Sixty Five, or Chad Brock," he also says it doesn't really matter. "Shouldn't we judge the music on the music? I'm sure Chad Brock is a great guy, but it doesn't really matter if the music isn't there. I'm a great guy, but does that mean someone should hire me? Shouldn't I be hired based on my ability?"

WPOC Baltimore PD Scott Lindy compares the situation with new artists to movie previews. "You know those movie trailers you see on TV and you can't wait to see the movie and it turns out to be a sucky film? Or the movies you never hear about until everyone is buzzing about it? That's the way I see promotion of these acts," he says. "Several publicists and labels are quite talented in the way they set up an artist. You expect Elvis to walk through the door. I, as all good programmers will do, wait to hear the song to make an evaluation. Then hear it again, alone, with no label people around."

But others believe this interaction between programmers and artists is vital. "In my mind, there is no substitute for the artist tour," says WYRK's Case. "When you can sit down with someone and look into their eyes and listen as they present themselves, you learn if they are sincere and passionate. You can easily recognize people with star quality because they are genuine. These are the people we need to cultivate and support, because they will likely have the same effect on listeners and the media. I've met several artists I knew would be stars and others who should be selling insurance. I'm more likely to support an artist I connect with than a name on some fax."

WGRL's Morris says radio tours are "a great opportunity to size up an artist—we present a lot of station concerts, [to] let him get to know your station and to get tons of station liners from someone who could be the next superstar."

KNIX Phoenix VP/general program manager Larry Daniels is a fan of showcases, calling them "terrific opportunities for us programmers to really understand what an artist is all about. I've had instances where, after seeing an outstanding act, I called Phoenix-area nightclub owners to alert them to someone who I felt had great potential. If that act gets booked, we have a better opportunity to help the audience connect with an artist whose music we're playing. Name and face recognition is so low with today's country acts that we need to take advantage of any opportunities. Showcases are one way to get the process started. The right acts will cut through.

"Does a showcase or promo tour have any affect on our opinion of their music? Obviously, bottom line is what's on the CD; that is what's most important, but having an opportunity to see an artist live, either in the station or at a showcase, gives us an opportunity to really judge whether an artist is likely to be around for the long term," adds Daniels.

Finally, not everyone thinks the lack of setup reflects poorly on a project. "I don't consider the decrease in showcase and station-visit traffic to reflect negatively on the labels or artists, says WESC-AM-FM Greenville, S.C., PD Ron Brooks. "I think they're being more responsible in how they spend their money, and that's good for the whole industry."

Monument Savors Setup Of Dixie Chicks

While other labels may be cutting down on the setup they do for new artists, the label with the most successful new act of the past 18 months proved that an extensive setup can still pay off on occasion.

Sony's Monument Records had the task in 1997 of not only introducing its debut act, Dixie Chicks, but also reintroducing Monument as a brand-new label. While having to simultaneously launch an act and a label posed a bit of a challenge, it also afforded the Monument staff the luxury of a lot of lead time. In that time, the promotion staff did what VP of promotion Larry Pareigis calls "an extensive setup" that included a lengthy radio tour and showcases for programmers in Albuquerque, N.M., and Asheville, N.C., where the band performed on the veranda of the Biltmore Mansion; its performance was followed by fireworks.

Dixie Chicks

In addition, Monument staged a Dixie Chicks show for the music industry at Nashville's legendary Ryman Auditorium and brought a few programmers and consultants into town for that. Plus, there were dinners with the act for programmers at the St. Jude Radiothon training seminar in Memphis and at the regional Country Radio Seminar in Sacramento, Calif., where the group also performed.

Pareigis says, "There were a lot of opportunities for radio to get to know the ladies, both on the road and at the showcases."

Despite the effort and expense, given the chance to do it all again, Pareigis says, he would do exactly the same thing, even as other labels are seeming to be paring down their setup efforts. "From the minute you sign an act, it's like taking a $750,000 loan against the act's good name and hoping that you post a return for both them and the company," he says. For Monument, the "loan" paid off, and the setup seems to have been well worth the effort. Dixie Chicks have sold 4 million copies of their debut Monument album, "Wide Open Spaces."

◯ Records showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. Airpower awarded to those records that attain 3,000 detections for the first time. If two records are tied in number of plays, the record being played on more stations is placed first. Records below the top 30 that are decreasing in plays are removed from the chart after 20 weeks.

As Country Labels Choose Monitoring, Counterparts Offer Transition Advice

by Phyllis Stark

Late last year, a coalition of country label heads decided on a promotional policy of no longer working stations that were not monitored by Broadcast Data Systems. Addressing a group of artist managers, the label heads announced their intention to shift their focus away from the traditional chart methodology of reported playlists and toward monitored airplay.

In announcing their intention, the Nashville labels become the last group to embark on a transition made over the course of the past decade by both country radio programmers and by the country labels' counterparts on the pop, rock, and R&B sides of the business. That transition required a period of adjustment for even the staunchest advocates of modern airplay.

Here, in their own words, label promotion executives in other formats offer their thoughts on BDS and advice to Music Row labels on how to smooth the transition and get the most out of monitored airplay.

Certainly for those reps, the landscape and the nature of their jobs have changed. Label execs in other formats echo Mercury Records senior VP of promotion Steve Ellis, who calls BDS "a reality check. You find out really when your records are being played [and] how many times they're being played. It's such a reality check to find that you may have 22 spins on a radio station and 15 of them are in the all-night show. It makes it easier to address any problems that you're having with a record and put more marketing and sales programs into those markets [where] you have real, legitimate airplay."

In the past, Ellis says, "there were times people put money and effort into projects based on other charts where there was no airplay in the market [other than] constructed airplay. [With] BDS, at least you know exactly where your airplay stands, and you can identify any problems immediately if you pull your BDS on a daily basis."

Universal Records senior VP Monte Lipman says, "Record promotion is still about selling your records to a radio station. The difference is the vocabulary has changed. We now talk about rotations. We talk about dayparts. We talk about research. Ten to 15 years ago, we talked about getting the adds and reports. So in a lot of ways this has forced us to get into the heads of programmers."

V2 head of promotion Matt Pollack says, "We're in a reality-based business now. At the end of the day, every record person has to have accountability. BDS is far from infallible. It's not without flaw, but the bottom line is it's reality-based.

KDDK (K-Duck) Little Rock, Ark., awarded backstage passes to a Clay Walker concert to listener April Holt, who showed off her pierced tongue to Walker. Getting in on the slurping action, from left, are PD Chad Heritage, Walker, Holt, and night jock Chris Taylor, who apparently thought they wandered into a Kiss concert by mistake.

Young-Olsen Added To McClusky Efforts

Chicago-based independent promoter Jeff McClusky & Associates, which recently signed a group deal with Cumulus Broadcasting, has retained Nashville's Young-Olsen & Associates to handle promotion of Cumulus' country stations (see Monitor Profile of Jeff McClusky, page 6).

Former Jones Radio Network president Eric Hauenstein is named GM of Citadel's six-station cluster in Salt Lake City, including country KUBL.

Capstar will spin five stations it wanted to buy in Wichita, Kan., to win Justice Department approval of its $190 million purchase of Triathlon Broadcasting. Capstar will keep album KRZZ, top 40 KKRD, country KZSN, and AC KRBB. On the block are oldies KEYN, jazz KWSJ, sports KQAM, N/T KFH, and N/T KNSS.

At KCLR-FM Columbia, Mo., Ron Covert is upped from GSM to GM, replacing Don Leech, now at KYKX Longview, Texas. Gary Greenwood joins KCLR for p.m. drive from sister KJMO Jefferson City, Mo.

Robert Griffith joins the Radio Advertising Bureau as senior VP/stations, replacing Lynn Christian.

Thomas McMillin is upped from senior VP to CFO at Chancellor Media Corp., replacing Matt Devine, who resigned. Deborah Jacobson joins Chancellor as senior VP of investor relations from LIN Television, where she was VP of corporate development and treasurer.

USA Digital Radio (USADR) scored a major coup, as 12 of the largest radio groups have joined CBS in holding a stake in USADR, one of three developers of the digital system. Among the groups jumping in are Chancellor, Citadel, Clear Channel/Jacor, Cox, Cumulus, Emmis, Entercom, Heftel, and Sinclair.

FORMATS: WDWG/WYOK FLIP

As first tipped here last year, classic country WDWG Mobile, Ala., and R&B WYOK have flipped frequencies, with WDWG moving from 104.1 to 104.9 FM. It will apply for new calls. Also, director of FM programming Kit Carson's title changes to director of programming as he adds responsibility for AM N/T stations WNTM and WKSJ-AM.

Jacor has put a name on one of its regional hub-and-spoke talent-sharing networks. The Cincinnati Business Courier reports that Jacor is launching the Buckeye Country Network, based in WCOL Columbus, Ohio, which will include six or seven smaller stations in the region.

Satellite country WZZI Roanoke, Va., flips to modern rock under new owners.

KRPM Seattle, which had been simulcasting hot AC sister KBKS, will split off to do satellite-programmed classic country in February or March, according to The M Street Daily. It will simulcast sister KMPS' Ichabod Caine morning show.

KXXL Reno, Nev., debuts as Cat Country in an LMA with Citadel, owner of crosstown KBUL.

As expected, WGAP-FM Knoxville, Tenn., flips from country to hot AC as Mix 95.7 under new owner South Central. WGAP-AM, which had simulcast the FM, remains country but is put into an LMA-to-buy with Metrowest Radio, owner of crosstown WESK, reports M Street.

AC WHFB-FM Benton Harbor, Mich., flips to country, targeting South Bend, Ind., as Hot Country 99.9, under an LMA with the owners of crosstown WSBT/WNSN.

John Fulton (aka Shotgun Kelly), who recently joined KATP (Cat Country) Amarillo, Texas, as GM/morning host from crosstown Tejano KQFX, is revamping the hot country station, bringing more '70s and '80s country into the mix. Former PD/morning host Steve Balton returns to his native Virginia to open a funeral home.

Americana station KHYI Dallas is awaiting FCC approval on a signal upgrade from 25,000 to 50,000 watts, according to The Dallas Morning News.

PROGRAMMING: MERCER EXITS

WPZM Huntsville, Ala., PD/midday jock Tim Mercer exits. VP/GM Keith Parker is looking for a replacement and wants T&Rs.

KEKB Grand Junction, Colo., hires Ron Petersen as PD/afternoons from KZKX Lincoln, Neb. He replaces Glenn Noble, now at KRKT Albany, Ore. KEKB morning hosts Mitch Micheau and J.P. exit the business.

Jim O'Brien returns as PD to KIOK (Thunder Country) Tri-Cities, Wash., where he was APD/MD five years ago, when it was top 40. O'Brien, who will also host an undetermined air shift, most recently was PD at KAAK Great Falls, Mont.

PEOPLE: SHIFTS AT KIX

Morning host Morgan Thomas exits WKIX/WKXU Raleigh, N.C., just a few weeks after the departure of her co-host, Travis Moore. PD Mike Sleyman wants T&Rs.

Former KDDK Little Rock, Ark., morning man Kevin Clay joins crosstown sister KQAR for that shift.

KKYR Texarkana, Texas, picks up Capstar's syndicated Wilhite and Wall show for mornings, replacing Ron West, who exited for p.m. drive at WXCL Peoria, Ill.

WACO Waco, Texas, middayer John Elliott moves to afternoons, replacing Glenn Michaels. Michelle Lee will do middays via Capstar's StarSystem. David Hodges joins for morning news from sports sister KKTK.

KORD Tri-Cities, Wash., night jock Garth Bridges exits for the production director job at KLLL Lubbock, Texas. PD Tim Cotter is looking for a replacement and wants T&Rs.

Midday jock Brian Lee is named interim APD/MD at WCTO (Cat Country) Allentown, Pa., replacing former APD Shawn O'Brian.

Jody Pollard joins KAGG Bryan, Texas, for nights from swing at crosstown rival KORA.

WHYL Harrisburg, Pa., GM Lincoln Zeve and his wife, Deneice, became the parents of daughter Amelia Covert Zeve Jan. 8.

Former WXBM Pensacola, Fla., OM Bruce Clark's World Wide Web site, CountryRadio.Net, is preparing to do a national study of country radio and country music. Clark is soliciting potential survey questions from the country music community. Survey results will be available during Country Radio Seminar in March.

'Wrong Again' Is Right On Top

WITH AN INCREASE of 740 plays, Martina McBride's "Wrong Again" prompts a changing of the guard atop our Country Airplay chart, displacing Alan Jackson's "Right On The Money." But Jackson's single, which reigned for just one week, could still reclaim the top spot. Although "Right On The Money" dips 1-2, it increases a substantial 372 spins.

Should Jackson make the unusual move of recapturing the No. 1 slot, it would recall a similar situation that occurred more than five years ago, when Brooks & Dunn's "Little Miss Honky Tonk" bumped John Michael Montgomery's "I Can Love You Like That" from No. 1. Montgomery's ballad stood aside for just one issue, then returned to dominate for an additional week.

On our National Airplay by Audience tally, "Wrong Again" controls No. 1 with more than 42 million audience impressions, while "Right On The Money" slides 1-3 with more than 40 million impressions. Although both titles gain audience impressions, Jackson's single is not awarded a bullet due to a decrease in rank (see legend below chart, page 18).

IN THE ORANGE GROVES: Following the University of Tennessee football team's Jan. 4 national championship win, the team's official song, "Rocky Top," by the Osborne Bros., turns in 42 plays at six monitored stations.

"Rocky Top" first appeared on Billboard's country singles chart in the Feb. 3, 1968, issue and peaked at No. 33. The song amassed 10 chart weeks that year.

In the autumn of '96, Decca repackaged the single for retail distribution as "Rocky Top '96." The newer piece, which includes a dance remix, spent 11 weeks on the Top Country Singles Sales chart, where it peaked at No. 16. Decca senior VP/GM Shelia Shipley-Biddy says retail product is still available in select markets.

The song was written during an impromptu 1967 writing session that lasted a scant 10 minutes, according to composers Felice and Boudleaux Bryant. The Bryants were the first professional songwriters to move to Nashville for the sole purpose of writing songs. At the urging of publisher Fred Rose, the couple went to Nashville in 1950, where they eventually wrote such huge crossover hits as the Everly Brothers' "Bye Bye Love" and "Love Hurts," recorded over the years by Roy Orbison, Linda Ronstadt, British rockers Nazareth, and Jim Capaldi.

Meanwhile, Kenny Chesney's "Touchdown Tennessee" football anthem gains 24 plays to rise 72-65 on our Country Airplay chart. Chesney's single is detected at 15 monitored stations (see Impact! page 17).

HOLD THE ICE: Due to weather-related reception problems, airplay data from WGRL Indianapolis do not appear on the charts this week.

ON THE ROW

Katie Pareigis Joins CRB In Sales Role

Katie Pareigis is named manager of sales at Country Radio Broadcasters, effective Jan. 25. She replaces former manager of marketing and promotion Todd Cassetty, now Northeast regional at Giant/Reprise. Pareigis is currently national productions coordinator at the Hard Rock Cafe and previously worked at Harlan Howard Songs.

Jeff Hackett exits his position as VP at MCG/Curb Records. He is looking for a new opportunity and can be reached at 615-352-7330. Gerrie McDowell remains VP of promotion at MCG/Curb.

Virgin Records Nashville has finalized its promotion staff. Terri Clark's latest video, "Everytime I Cry," addresses the issue of domestic violence. The video spotlights three types of abuse—physical, verbal, and mental—using actors from different cultures and backgrounds to show that abuse is not exclusive to a particular ethnic or cultural group. It includes an 800 phone number for the National Domestic Violence Hotline.

Shannon Brown

"I WON'T LIE" (ARISTA NASHVILLE)

Brown grew up in tiny Spirit Lake, Iowa, where her parents owned nightclubs and restaurants. By the age of 17, she was performing and waiting tables at one of her parents' clubs. When a club owner from Worthington, Minn., heard her sing, he offered her a regular gig at his club, 45 miles away. After a year at that club, Brown and her parents spent the next 4½ years playing one-nighters throughout the Midwest and building up a following. Her mother ran the spotlight, her father ran the sound, and they all pitched in booking dates, maintaining mailing lists, and selling merchandise, including two record projects Brown funded to sell at her shows. She moved to Nashville in 1994 and began singing songwriters' demos while continuing to fly back to the Midwest to perform an average of 160 dates a year. Three days after a development deal with another label ended, Brown was signed to Arista Nashville. Her debut album for that label is titled "Tour Of My Heart."

Claudia Church

"WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH YOU BABY" (REPRISE)

Church grew up primarily on her grandparents' rural North Carolina farm because her father, a Green Beret in the Army, traveled to remote places, and his family usually was not allowed to accompany him. The family had no TV set for most of her childhood, so she spent a lot of time listening to the radio, particularly "The Grand Ole Opry." After she graduated from high school in Colorado, Church went to college in Dallas and began performing at various oprys on the weekends, including "The Louisiana Hayride." After graduation, she made her first trip to Nashville with a demo tape in hand but soon returned to Dallas and became a professional model, later moving to Paris to continue her modeling career. In 1988, she moved to Nashville and began singing on demos and acting in music videos for Steve Wariner and Ricky Van Shelton and in Rodney Crowell's 1992 video for "Lovin' All Night." She married Crowell last September, and he produced her self-titled debut album and had a hand in writing half its tracks.

Andy Griggs

"YOU WON'T EVER BE LONELY" (RCA)

This Monroe, La., native took up singing and learned how to play guitar after his brother passed away. He eventually took his brother's place in a band and began playing festivals and churches and later toured with gospel duo Jerry & Tammy Sullivan. Upon arriving in Nashville in '95, Griggs got work singing demos for producer David Malloy. He was working at a local greenhouse when he got the call telling him he'd landed a record deal with RCA. He co-wrote four of the songs on his self-titled debut album, due Feb. 9.

★ Shane McAnally

"SAY ANYTHING" (MCG/CURB)

This 23-year-old Mineral Wells, Texas, native moved to Nashville in 1994 and began working as a bartender after spending a year at the University of Texas in Austin. Stockton, who plays guitar and piano and is an accomplished songwriter, performed often in the Dallas/Fort Worth area prior to his move to Music City. His hobbies include weight lifting, water- and snow-skiing, tennis, and inline skating.

Charlie Robison

"BARLIGHT" (LUCKY DOG)

A sixth-generation Texan, Robison grew up on his family's ranch in Bandera. At 15, he began gigging around town as a drummer in a band that played rodeos and high school dances. He played alongside his brother Bruce, who is also signed to Lucky Dog as a solo artist. Charlie eventually switched to guitar and started singing. After a stint at Southwest Texas University, he headed to Austin, where he fronted the band the Millionaire Playboys. Going solo in 1995, he recorded his indie debut, "Bandera," and later made a follow-up album for a major label. His debut Lucky Dog album, "Life Of The Party," was recorded in just 10 days, with himself and Lloyd Maines producing. Bruce Robison and his wife, Kelly Willis, contribute backing vocals on the album.

Randy Scruggs

"IT'S ONLY LOVE" (REPRISE)

Although he's been part of the Nashville music scene for decades, this is Scruggs' first charted single as a solo artist. It features Mary Chapin Carpenter on vocals. Scruggs is the son of renowned banjo player Earl Scruggs, part of the legendary Flatt & Scruggs, and he has had success as a producer, songwriter, and session musician. He played on his first Flatt & Scruggs record at the age of 13. After high school, he teamed up with brother Gary to form the Scruggs Brothers and recorded a couple of rock albums for Vanguard Records. Later adding younger brother Steve, they became the Earl Scruggs Revue. In 1980, Guitar Player magazine named Scruggs one of the nation's top guitarists and he opened his own studio and production company. In 1989, the Country Music Assn. named him producer of the year, and he earned a Grammy Award for best country instrumental.

South Sixty-Five

"A RANDOM ACT OF SENSELESS KINDNESS" (ATLANTIC)

Named for the Nashville highway that led them to the recording studio, this group is made up of five men, all in their early 20s: Jerimy Koeltzow, Lance Leslie, Doug Urie, and brothers Brent and Stephen Parker. The group was founded by Trijon Entertainment CEO/president Delious Kennedy, who is also a member of the quartet All-4-One. Kennedy took South Sixty Five to Atlantic Records president Rick Blackburn and executive-produced its self-titled debut album.

Monte Warden

"SOMEDAY" (ASYLUM)

Warden began performing in his hometown of Austin, Texas, when he was 14 years old. He became the front man of former A&M Records act the Wagoneers and later recorded two solo projects for Watermelon Records. His Asylum debut album, "A Stranger To Me Now," is due March 9.

There is a lot of smoke and mirrors and perceptual in what we do in the game of promotion, and the bottom line is, it's 1999. We have stockholders that we have to answer to, and we have to have reality to show accountability.

Adds Pollack, "The cliché of micro-managing or micro-marketing really applies" with BDS. "You can sit there and actually look at a station that's giving you a shot if you're trying to create a story in one market and measure the success between piece count and SoundScan and spins and BDS. The downside is if you're out there just trying to create a call-letter-soup scenario. A good promotion staff can go out there and get a lot of adds. At the end of the day though, it's not where you start, it's where you finish, and if you're sitting with basically no profile on the BDS end after a couple of weeks of being out with a record and you have all these call letters on it, well, what does that say? That's the worst signal in the world you can send to radio and internally to your own record company. It's like, 'Well, that's not a real record. They went out there and just manufactured that.' In the old days, if you were out there just chasing call letters, and there was no reality behind it, you wasted money and wasted time for everybody."

BUILDING A STORY

Noting that it takes longer to build a story on a record with BDS than it did in the reported airplay era, the principal advice other promoters give Music Row is to be patient, advice that will likely be welcomed by country radio programmers who have been urging labels to slow down for years.

"The old game was based on creating, moving, and sustaining a story through artificial means," says Atlantic Records senior VP of promotion Danny Buch. "Now, you might not see increases in spins for weeks, and it's taught us to stay after things longer, because you don't have all that artificial junk to keep things going. A record might read flat. It might take longer to kick in since you don't have artificial support systems holding things up. Reality might not be as obvious, but in the end it's actually more obvious."

Label reps in other formats cite numerous examples of records they continued to chase, and ultimately scored with, because they could see a story building in BDS that would have been undetected under other reporting systems.

Mercury's pop division, for example, worked Shania Twain's "You're Still The One" from Jan. 5 until last July. "We could just see the BDS build every week, and we knew that we had to keep attacking the project," says Ellis. "We saw that the people that stuck with the record and put it in regular rotation were getting call-out."

Buch cites several examples of records that took "excruciatingly long" but kept being worked because he could see something building on BDS. Everything But The Girl's "Missing," for example, is "a record we consistently saw spins on [that] would have disappeared [under the old system]. It took forever, and we got it." Edwin McCain's "I'll Be" took close to two years. "The length of time working a record takes much longer in the real world than it does in the reported-spins world," he says.

Lipman cites Billie Myers' multi-format hit "Kiss The Rain" as a record that benefited from BDS. "We watched that like a hawk every day, and as long as we saw an increase in spins on a daily basis, we kept chugging along," he says.

DON'T BE THE BDS POLICE

One mistake label reps in other formats say they made in the early days of BDS was to become the BDS police, calling stations and asking them to justify discrepancies between their monitored airplay and spin counts reported elsewhere. In retrospect, they say, that was a mistake.

"We had to be careful that comparing notes wasn't taken in a confrontational way or [in a way that would] cause aggravation," says RCA VP of R&B promotion Michael Johnson. "We were very careful not to confront people with 'I'm seeing seven plays; you said I got 30. What's going on?' because PDs will get defensive. We try to use the information in a more qualitative [way]. We look at the dayparts, which are really helpful in seeing where our record is playing to increase our audience and to help us move up the chart. That's proved effective."

"One of the things I learned is that if something is off by five spins, don't panic, it's not the end of the world," says Ellis. "It could be special programming over the weekend," or there could be any number of reasons for the discrepancy. "You learn very quickly not to panic over five or six spins lost. You learn not to startle or alarm PDs every time you go down three or four spins. Once you start crying wolf on all those, it gets very annoying to the PDs."

"Take heed of those formats that have already made the transition," says Pollack. "It's the best thing to do; you just have to do it carefully and give people always the benefit of the doubt, because we're in a relationship business, and by putting people on the defensive, you're only going to weaken those relationships."

Nashville labels "will find as they make the transition over to BDS, there is going to be some deception and wrongdoings that are going to be easy to detect. But for the most part, as I saw when we made the transition on the pop and rock side, there wasn't a tremendous amount of it," says Pollack. "It existed, it always did, and it still does, but [BDS] really helped to eliminate that."

DO IT DAILY

Finally, some label reps say the best way to get the most out of BDS is to look at the data daily, not just weekly. "One thing I would recommend to anybody who is using BDS is to pull not only the weeklies but the dailies, so if [the station] played [a record] four times yesterday and only once today, [you can think] What's the problem? For us, that's a very important tool," says Ellis.

"The key to this is having the information daily," says Lipman. "If you don't use it daily, then you're not taking full advantage."

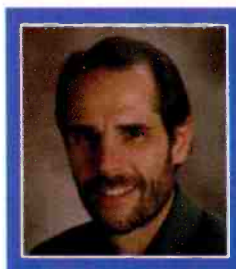
MONITOR PROFILE

As Industry Consolidates, McClusky Does Too, With Eyebrow-Raising Cumulus Deal

As radio's major groups appoint group PDs to oversee a growing number of stations, some independent promotion firms are tweaking the way they do business to secure access to the groups' decision makers, something that became clear late last year when Jeff McClusky & Associates announced an exclusivity deal with fast-growing Cumulus Media.

Coming on the heels of smaller deals by JMA and Citadel Broadcasting, Capstar's Gulfstar, and Clear Channel, the Cumulus deal caused a stir in the industry for several reasons. It gave McClusky a presence in both country and R&B radio, formats where label execs have resisted the exclusivity-pact concept, especially with outside indies. Then there are the particulars of the deal, which include having McClusky work the format consultants at Cumulus' Stratford Research arm, not individual PDs, something that struck a nerve with some promo execs who have long feared any sort of centralized music decisions by the new mega-groups.

McClusky started his firm 18 years ago, specializing in top 40 stations, then branching into album and modern rock a few years ago. JMA has 32 staffers divvied up among its offices in Chicago, Los Angeles, and Atlanta, with more hirings in the offing.



Jeff McClusky
Jeff McClusky & Associates

'We want to deal with the decision makers'

He's not the first indie to consummate group deals. Jacor and Jefferson-Pilot have engaged in similar ventures. "The real difference in the Cumulus deal is that it's the first one that covers all formats," McClusky says. "At this point in time, broadcast companies are looking for promotion and marketing partnerships, and they're more comfortable working with firms involved in all formats."

Now working with 30 Cumulus stations, eight Citadel, nine Gulfstar, and nine Clear Channel outlets, McClusky sees his deals as part of radio's changing landscape, although he notes that "we still do business with Infinity, Emmis, and the others on an individual station, market-by-market basis. At the same time, we certainly hope to do more business with Capstar's other regional groups."

The group deals, McClusky says, reflect a changing atmosphere at radio. "Everybody's looking for access to PDs, so they can influence their perspective. The industry thrives on it. Broadcasters understand this and are asking themselves how best to use their access time. Even PDs in medium and small markets are running two or three different stations at once; they don't have time to talk to everyone. So the groups decide who has access. For my business, I better be able to get to the decision makers, because the labels are paying me to spread my passion for their music to the right people."

By contrast, McClusky recalls, "in the early '80s, all you needed to do was have a relationship with stations and the labels, and you could have value just by promoting music to the PDs. I've always been in the business of marketing partnerships. When we started, we first went to an FCC attorney to see if we could take a portion for our income and create a promotion fund for broadcasters. That would have more value than some guy hawking records over the phone. So we created promotion funds to give stations access to concert flyaways and things that can help their ratings.

"Obviously, we've tweaked [our operations] tremendously since then. We hired Tom Barsanti, who really understands the needs of broadcasters. We started a real broadcast promotion department, where we'd be responsible for getting plane and concert tickets and booking the hotels. We have to super-serve radio."

McClusky says he's cognizant of the industry buzz generated by the Cumulus deal, the first one where he's specifically not dealing with the PDs of individual stations. "The main thing that raised eyebrows was where we supposedly asked Cumulus PDs not to talk to the industry about music," he says. "This goes back to Cumulus' music system, which involves conference calls between PDs and the people with the final say, the group's consultants. We also have weekly meetings with the consultants; they are Cumulus' point people when it comes to music . . . In every [business relationship], we want to deal with the decision makers, and with Cumulus, that happens to be their consultants."

Asked if that raises the specter of group adds and thus music homogenization, McClusky says, "That's something you have to ask the broadcasters. At Cumulus, there's still a lot of individual adds at the various markets. It obviously serves their best interest to have PDs in Toledo, Ohio, and Amarillo, Texas, speak up and say, 'We need to play his record,' and the consultant needs to respond to that. I don't believe the consultants have a dictatorial relationship with their PDs."

McClusky's Cumulus deal also touches on another sensitive area, the presence of outside independent promoters in both R&B and country. A proposed deal between a pop indie and Radio One's R&B reporters dissolved shortly after its announcement in fall 1996. And last year, Bill Hard's Hi-Impact Marketing announced a deal with several Atlantic Star country stations. Under pressure from the country community, some of those stations quickly renounced the deal.

McClusky, himself, had started a Nashville branch in the early '90s. "I hired Eddie Mascolo and Bobby Young, and it took them a year to build a solid operation there," he says. "However, they left after being offered twice the money to start River North Records. I couldn't find suitable replacements, so I shut it down.

"Now we're back, working in conjunction with an established country independent, [Young-Olsen & Associates, co-helmed, ironically, by Young]. It's only a matter of time before we hire our own staff as well. Believe me, we're already getting calls from country stations."

McClusky is using the same M.O. as he launches his R&B division. Expect to hear of a tie-in with an R&B-based music company within weeks. Soon thereafter, he'll recruit an in-house promotion staff, including the hiring of someone, he says, with label senior VP of urban promotion-level experience. Although McClusky admits that he'll likely still meet some resistance in those formats, to succeed [in the new group deals] "we have to not only be involved in all formats, but in new media, concert touring, and every level of artist development."

As both radio and the music biz consolidate, McClusky wouldn't be surprised if other indies do the same. "I'd definitely be interested [in acquiring another independent] as long as it's compatible with our company," he admits. "We want to open an office in New York. Would we be interested in merging with a New York-based indie, management company, or music-related firm? Absolutely. There are some great companies out there, and we'd love to be involved with them."

JEFF SILBERMAN

DERYL DODD

"This is one great album. The single, "A Bitter End", is one of the best I've heard all year, and his in-person performance just killed me."

-Bob Kingsley, American Country Countdown

"Country music doesn't get any better than this because this is why it exists. Deryl Dodd-- do it!!!"

-Kimmy Wix, country.com

"I was drunk the first time I heard it and loved it. I listened the next day when I was sober and still loved it. "A Bitter End" is obviously the perfect country record drunk or sober."

-Bruce Logan, WSSL

"Billy Bob's has witnessed the evolution of a star - from the front stage, to the big stage as a sideman, and now as the headliner. Deryl's pre-show ticket sales rivaled those of many well known national acts. Deryl Dodd delivers!"

-Robert Gallagher, Billy Bob's Texas

Proud of Our Country!

Dear Radio Partners,

The purpose of this open letter is to discuss the approach Capitol Records is following regarding the development of new artists and our relationship with Country Radio.

As we look to 1999 we are trying to match the needs of a major record label with the changing needs of Country Radio. As you know we did not believe that 1998 would be a good year to introduce new artists and so we didn't introduce any.

However, we have spent significant time and money talking to your listeners about what they are looking for in music and from the artist. I'd like to outline a few of the key findings that will provide you with a snapshot view of our approach:

1. TALENT OF THE ARTIST - Your listeners are looking for entertainers. We believe that, at this time, we should only introduce artists with spectacular singing and/or musical skills.

   IN SHORT, RADIO NEEDS GREAT VOICES!

2. SONGS THAT HELP GROW YOUR CUME - We plan to continue to work with songwriters throughout the country who have proven track records of writing new music that your listeners relate to.

   COUNTRY NEEDS SONGS FROM AMERICA'S GREATEST SONGWRITERS!

3. MULTI-MEDIA AWARENESS - We need to commit to a program of artist/song promotion and development that capitalizes on all forms of media, not just radio.

   OUR SONGS NEED TELEVISION AND MOVIE EXPOSURE!

In the next few weeks we hope to introduce you to our first new artist for 1999. Her name is Susan Ashton.

1. I know from conversations with many of you that you are already familiar with the outstanding quality of her voice. If you have not heard Susan yet, I promise you greatness.
2. Her first single, "Faith of the Heart," was written by one of America's greatest writers of all time, Diane Warren. Imagine an artist having her first single written by Diane Warren.
3. "Faith of the Heart" is the theme song from Robin Williams' #1 box office smash PATCH ADAMS. The A/C version is sung by Rod Stewart. Susan is singing the country version. It is huge!

As a way of ending this letter, let us thank everyone at Country Radio for a great year in 1998. Capitol Records understands and appreciates the importance of your support for all of our artists. On behalf of Garth, Trace, Deana, Steve, Chris, Suzy and Billy we thank you. This week we feel especially happy that, together with you, the Grammy Committee has recognized both our #1 artist Garth Brooks and the newest member of the Capitol Family, Steve Wariner, with 5 Grammy nominations. We believe that Country Radio has every reason to be as proud of this accomplishment as we are. Without your support we'd still be going door to door selling our music.

We look forward to working with you in an effort to grow both of our businesses.

Best wishes for a great 1999,

Pat

President

◯ Records showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. Airpower awarded to those records that attain 3,000 detections for the first time. If two records are tied in number of plays, the record being played on more stations is placed first. Records below the top 30 that are decreasing in plays are removed from the chart after 20 weeks.

PDs Expect Stable Ownership In '99, But Brokers Think Otherwise

by Jeff Silberman

If you agree with the 85% of the programmers polled in Airplay Monitor's 1998 year-end survey who believe their stations will have the same owner in 2000 as they do now, maybe you should take some Prozac before reading any further.

According to several brokers who find and help consummate radio station acquisitions, their business will be as good, if not better, in 1999. Even if no mega-deals materialize this year, the majority of these brokers foresee plenty of sales in medium and especially small markets. Even the "big three"—CBS, Clear Channel/Jacor, and Chancellor/Capstar—are expected to be busy swapping stations to meet FCC/Department of Justice guidelines and expanding in ancillary areas such as outdoor advertising and international acquisition.

Unless the economy takes a major—and they mean major—downturn, the radio acquisition business will continue to be robust, because a bevy of new parties still wants to get into ownership at a time when available quality stations are few and far between.

"The pace [of station acquisitions] in 1999 looks to be on par with '98," says Kelly F. Callan, VP of Kalil & Co. "Radio and TV have been resilient to economic downturns, and that will continue this year, which should make '99 an even better year than '98."

"This affects not only radio but related industries down the line," adds Robert K. Whyte, VP of Daniels & Associates. "Every time radio groups merge, spinoffs flourish, be they new consultancies or service businesses. People come up with new and better ways to run their businesses. Because of that, even if there's not a huge boom in radio acquisitions in 1999, the growth in the industry will continue."

If anything is slowing in corporate radio, it's the incidence of major group buyouts. "The majority of big-time consolidation has occurred," contends Gary Stevens of Gary Stevens & Co.

"There will be a few trades here and there, where the majors fill in some markets [up to FCC/DOJ-mandated levels]," adds Larry Patrick, president of Patrick Communications. "There's just not as many stations out there to buy."

But the trio of titans won't be sitting on their hands either. "The big

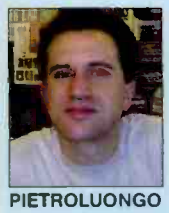
Pietroluongo, Saxe Join Airplay Monitor

It was a busy holiday break for the Airplay Monitor publications. While others vacationed, the Monitors named two new staffers to key positions, naming Billboard veteran Silvio Pietroluongo chart administrator and broadcaster/trade journalist Frank Saxe writer/reporter. Both appointments are effective immediately.



PIETROLUONGO

In his newly created position, Pietroluongo will oversee all aspects of Monitor's chart system, working closely with the existing chart managers and directors. Among his tasks will be the development of new chart features and the institution of procedures designed to streamline Airplay Monitor's entire chart efforts.

A 10-year veteran of the Billboard chart department and winner of parent company BPI's President's Award, Pietroluongo joined Billboard as a report-taker in 1989 and most recently held the position of senior manager/retail charts and archive research at that publication. A Fordham University graduate, Pietroluongo also worked in radio at WFAS-FM White Plains, N.Y. He will remain based in New York and will report to publisher Jon Guynn.

Saxe joins Monitor from the industry trade publication Radio Business Report, where he covered radio from a Washington perspective—including the FCC, Congress, and the Justice Department. He also wrote a monthly radio advertising column for RBR. Prior to that, Saxe spent seven years in radio, most recently as a news reporter/anchor for N/T WROW Albany, N.Y., and state capital reporter for N/T WCBS-AM New York.

SAXE

Saxe will be based in New York, where he'll contribute to all four Monitors with a special emphasis on enhancing Monitor's coverage of business and regulatory news. He replaces Dana Hall, who was promoted to managing editor of R&B Airplay Monitor in 1998.

Chancellor Said To Be Forming Own Label; Young Country Reaches For The Stars

When the Los Angeles Times shook up the radio industry Dec. 15 by reporting on the Chancellor/A&M/Bryan Adams marketing deal under the headline "Radio Conglomerates Skirt Payola Laws, Critics Say," it contained a confirmation of the long-rumored news that at Chancellor, owner of country stations WMZQ Washington, D.C., KEEY (K102) Minneapolis, KKBQ (93Q) Houston, WWWW (W4) Detroit, and KMLE Phoenix, among others, there exists a "very good chance that we will begin signing artists to our own record label," according to senior VP John Madison. Top 40 Airplay Monitor reported the Chancellor/Adams deal, in which stations that had already committed to Adams' "On A Day Like Today" single also embarked on a marketing program that included Adams appearances at some station holiday concerts early last month.

PROGRAMMING: DALLAS' NEW STAR

KYNG (Young Country) Dallas has been repositioned as the New 105.3 FM, Superstar Country. The station's new slogan is "superstar hits and a young country attitude." Morning man Stubie Doak and p.m. driver A.W. Pantoja swap shifts. MD Jim Verdi is also part of mornings. Anna deHaro shifts from mornings to nights.

Former WRBT Harrisburg, Pa., PD Kevin King is the new PD at WKHK Richmond, Va., effective Jan. 18. He replaces Bob Sterling.

Veteran programmer Dave Dillon, a VP of programming at Capstar since that company bought his previous employer, SFX Broadcasting, last May, joins Journal Broadcast Group in the new position of VP of radio programming.

WWXY (Y107) New York changes calls to WYNY, which were the call letters of New York's former country station, now top 40 WKTU.

As first reported here last September, WRKZ (Cat Country) Harrisburg MD Dandalion is simulcasting her overnight show on five more Citadel country stations in the region, including WCTO Allentown, Pa., and simulcast trio WCTD/WCTP and WEMR-AM Wilkes-Barre/Scranton, Pa. WRKZ's programming is already simulcast on crosstown WHYL. In other WCTO news, APD/midday jock Shawn O'Brian exits. P/T Brian Lee moves to middays. Sam Malone moves from nights to production director for WCTO and sister WLEV, replacing Freddie Frederick Jr. P/T jock Wild Joe Tyler replaces Malone in nights. Former overnighter Rebecca Lynn moves to Nashville.

NBG Radio Network picks up syndication rights to "The Top 30 Countdown With Charlie Tuna" from MediaAmerica.

FORMATS: CLASSICS MOVE TO AM

Country oldies station KRAK Sacramento, Calif., flips to classic hits/AC and reclaims the Arrow name that was previously on crosstown KDND. The classic country format and staff moves to oldies sister KOME (1470 AM).

Country WPTR-FM Albany, N.Y., flips to mainstream R&B, the market's first-ever such station, as Jamz 96.3.

KWLW Salt Lake City ends its temporary simulcast with Jacor oldies sister KODJ to go classic country, according to The M Street Journal.

MANAGEMENT: CHRISTIAN EXITS RAB

Lynn Christian exits his position as senior VP/stations at the Radio Advertising Bureau to become an international radio management consultant.

Sorry to report that former KVOO Tulsa, Okla., VP/GM Jack Kresse died Dec. 22 at the age of 77, according to press reports. Kresse, who retired in 1987, was president of the Oklahoma Assn. of Broadcasters, national director of the Academy of Country Music, and state chairman of the National Assn. of Broadcasters in his career.

PEOPLE: STEVENS NEW WCTK MD

Sam Stevens is upped from evenings to MD/middays at WCTK Providence, R.I., replacing Tiffany Hill, now at crosstown oldies WWBB. Stevens previously was MD at WOKO Burlington, Vt. Sue O'Neill joins WCTK for nights; she arrives from Nashville, where she did syndicated work.

KUZZ Bakersfield, Calif., MD/nights Kelly Erickson exits to join Premiere Radio Networks in the newly created position of MD/promotion director for the country division, where she had been working as a P/T music assistant in addition to her KUZZ duties. Former KZLA Los Angeles morning man Shawn Parr joins Premiere as fill-in vacation relief for the network's weekend programming.

WJLM Roanoke, Va., MD/morning man Slam Duncan exits. Lisa Jo Elliott joins as MD/mornings from the MD/midday jobs at top 40 WAEZ (Electric 99) Johnson City, Tenn. She will also be assistant MD at sister WYYD. Also at WJLM, Rick Leighton is upped from middays to afternoons. Shay Stevens joins for middays from WPSK Blacksburg, Va. PD Robynn Jaymes still seeks a morning sidekick/newsperson for WJLM.

Former WRBQ Tampa, Fla., MD Wanda Myles is named APD/MD and morning co-host at WCTQ Sarasota, Fla. She replaces former morning host Morgan Blake, now at KHKI Des Moines, Iowa.

WCOS Columbia, S.C., APD Bill West joins WJCL Savannah, Ga., as APD/MD, replacing Jay Morgan, who exited before the holidays.

WBWN Bloomington, Ill., morning man Mike Tyler joins WEZL Charleston, S.C., for mornings, replacing T.J. Phillips.

Barry West joins KHKI Des Moines as morning co-host from classic hits KGND Joplin, Mo. He joins previously announced co-host Morgan Allen (Country Airplay Monitor, Dec. 18, 1988).

Former KORD Tri-Cities, Wash., morning host Ed Dailey returns to radio and his old job. He replaces Jesse James, now at sister WCTD/WCTP Wilkes-Barre.

Holiday Programming Ends, And Bullets Are Back

OVER THE BREAK: On last week's unpublished Country Airplay chart, reflecting airplay during radio's special programming season, only 31 titles were awarded bullets for increasing in plays, and seven of those were either new titles or chart re-entries. But with those holiday titles gone, this issue's scorecard is virtually peppered with bullets. Of the 75 titles on the chart, 68 show gains, and 19 of those re-entered or appeared there for the first time. Terri Clark's first No. 1 song, "You're Easy On The Eyes," which hit the top of the chart in the Dec. 18, 1998, issue, continued to control that position during the two subsequent weeks in which our charts were unpublished. Those charts are available from our archive research department. Call 212-536-5054 or E-mail research@billboard.com.

THIS WEEK'S ACTION: With a gain of 678 plays, Alan Jackson's "Right On The Money" shoots 4-1 to dominate the chart during our first published tally of the new year. Arista Nashville gets not one-dozen but two-dozen roses this issue for Jackson's No. 1 and for Brooks & Dunn's Hot Shot Debut with "I Can't Get Over You," which pops on at No. 49.

This isn't the duo's highest opening week. "My Maria" set that career benchmark when it opened at No. 30 in April '96. "I Can't Get Over You" enters with airplay at 79 monitored reporters (see Impact! page 16).

FOR THE RECORD: The top label recap that appeared in our "Best Of '98" issue (Airplay Monitor, Dec. 25, 1998) had a key piece of information missing. The label listed as No. 8 appeared as Reprise rather than Giant/Reprise. All Giant and Reprise titles are worked at radio by the Giant/Reprise promotion collective, and the total number of titles (22) reflects each charted single on both the Giant and Reprise imprints. The corrected chart is printed here.

ON THE ROW

Reeves Leaves Exec VP Post At Warner/Reprise

Eddie Reeves has stepped down as executive VP of Warner/Reprise Nashville. Reeves will continue to serve as a consultant to the label. He will not be replaced.

Tim McGraw and Dixie Chicks will embark on a 40-date tour July 1 in Reno, Nev. Both acts are also booked on the George Strait Country Music Festival tour, set to begin this spring. Tentative plans call for McGraw to tour with his wife, Faith Hill, in 2000, according to Amusement Business.

Dwight Yoakam will tour this year for the first time in several years, according to Billboard Bulletin. He'll be out from late June until Labor Day.

Pam Tillis will make her touring debut in Australia beginning Jan. 15. The 10-day, six-city Endless Summer tour concludes with an appearance at the Tamworth Country Music Festival.

Lee Ann Womack welcomed her second child, daughter Anna Lise, Jan. 3 in Nashville.

Curb Records VP of A&R Chuck Howard exits the label. Howard tells Billboard that for the immediate future, there are several acts at other labels he would like to produce. He recently started Striker Records, which is affiliated with Curb, and produced a Christmas single for the label by John Berry. Howard co-produced LeAnn Rimes' "How Do I Live" among many other records at Curb. He says he will continue to work with Curb artists.

Lorrie Morgan and Sammy Kershaw have recorded another duet, "Maybe Not Tonight," which will appear on new albums from both artists and will be the first single from Morgan's album, due in the spring. They previously cut "Good Year For The Roses" for Morgan's "War Paint" set.

Gaylord Entertainment Co., a 51% owner of the Wildhorse Saloon restaurant and entertainment venues, is purchasing the remaining 49% interest from partner Levy Restaurants for an undisclosed price.

Clint Black and Steve Wariner will be among the celebrities participating in the annual Stars to the Rescue benefit for St. Louis Cardinals manager Tony LaRussa's Animal Rescue Foundation Jan. 8-9 in Walnut Creek, Calif.

In addition to performing a previously announced duet with Trisha Yearwood during the American Music Awards Jan. 11 on ABC-TV, Garth Brooks will host a tribute to Award of Merit honoree Billy Joel. Rimes will also perform in honor of Joel.

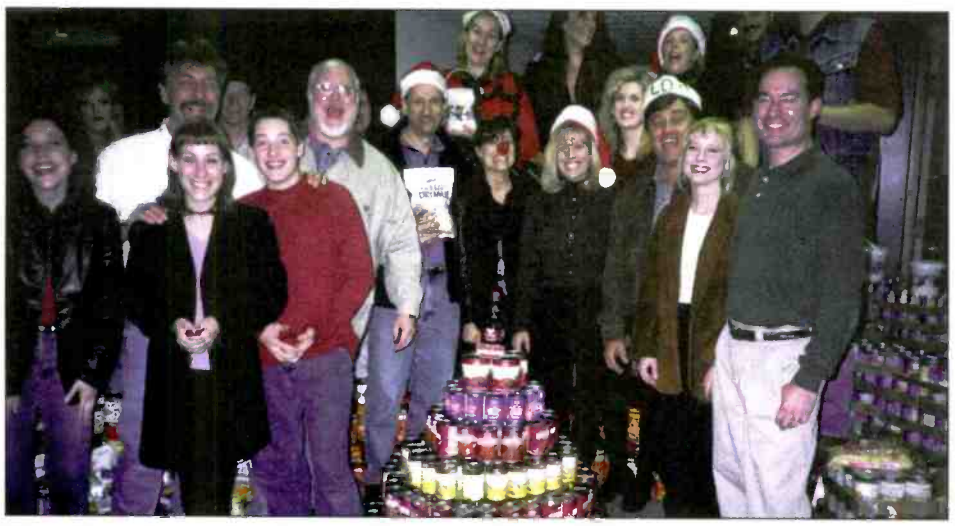
A Giant Donation



Giant Records was the winner in the annual Charts With Hearts food drive for Second Harvest Food Bank, co-sponsored by Country Airplay Monitor, Gavin, Music Row magazine, and Radio & Records. The label donated 5,369 pounds of food, more than any other Nashville label. Pictured with some of the haul are staffers of all four publications, along with Giant employees and artists, including newcomer Georgia Middleman, left, and Amanda and Tyler Wilkinson, second and third, respectively, from left.

Holmes Has A Heart

BANG II Records artist Monty Holmes helped out in the annual Charts With Hearts food drive for Second Harvest Food Bank, which netted nearly 12,000 pounds of food from Music Row labels. ★ Claudia Church

"WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH YOU BABY" (REPRISE)

Church grew up primarily on her grandparents' rural North Carolina farm because her father, a Green Beret in the Army, traveled to remote places, and his family usually was not allowed to accompany him. The family had no TV set for most of her childhood, so she spent a lot of time listening to the radio, particularly "The Grand Ole Opry." After she graduated from high school in Colorado, Church went to college in Dallas and began performing at various oprys on the weekends, including "The Louisiana Hayride." After graduation, she made her first trip to Nashville with a demo tape in hand but soon returned to Dallas and became a professional model, later moving to Paris to continue her modeling career. In 1988, she moved to Nashville and began singing on demos and acting in music videos for Steve Wariner and Ricky Van Shelton and in Rodney Crowell's 1992 video for "Lovin' All Night." She married Crowell last September, and he produced her self-titled debut album and had a hand in writing half its tracks.

Andy Griggs

"YOU WON'T EVER BE LONELY" (RCA)

This Monroe, La., native took up singing and learned how to play guitar after his brother passed away. He eventually took his brother's place in a band and began playing festivals and churches and later toured with gospel duo Jerry & Tammy Sullivan.

Upon arriving in Nashville in '95, Griggs got work singing demos for producer David Malloy. He was working at a local greenhouse when he got the call telling him he'd landed a record deal with RCA. He co-wrote four of the songs on his self-titled debut album, due Feb. 9.

★ Monte Warden

"SOMEDAY" (ASYLUM)

Warden began performing in his hometown of Austin, Texas, when he was 14 years old. He became the front man of former A&M Records act the Wagoneers and later recorded two solo projects for Watermelon Records. His Asylum debut album, "A Stranger To Me Now," is due March 9.

★ Denotes first appearance. Airborne features those artists who are making their debut chart runs in Country Airplay Monitor.

Letter: Why Charge For Web Listeners?

To the editor:

I think it is pretty outrageous that the music licensing agencies are charging radio stations extra for having the station audio on their World Wide Web sites. If a listener is hearing the station locally, the music that is exposed would be counted in the ratings, just like listening on any additional radio set. If the listener is listening from a distant location, out of the station's service area, the listening doesn't count in the ratings, and therefore, the station couldn't derive any advertising revenue from such audience.

Moreover, a distant listener would be monitoring the station for news from back home and other non-music reasons. If the [listeners] just wanted a music service, they would listen to stations located closer with much better audio quality than that capable of being heard from Web transmission. So, the idea of charging stations extra for use of songwriter's property is not based on realistic principles. KEAN Abilene, Texas, took audio off the Net after receiving a bill from one of the licensing agencies.

Where does the radio industry stand on this?

PDs Expect Stable Ownership In '99, But Brokers Think Otherwise

three would still like to get bigger," Callan notes. "They'll find a way to do that, even if it means going into medium and smaller markets. Consolidation there will go at a pretty fast clip."

"There will be plenty of opportunities for the big to get bigger," adds Michael Bergner of Bergner & Co. "They'll acquire spinoffs from majors that divest themselves of stations in markets to meet ownership caps. Now they'll buy into smaller markets, getting tremendous multiples on the stock in exchange for the cash flow."

"There seems to be a propensity among the remaining behemoths to trade directly with each other," Stevens notes. "That, in effect, makes the broker a rep for the buyer, instead of a facilitator for both parties."

STUCK IN THE MIDDLE

Beneath the big three are such major groups as Emmis, Greater Media, Saga, Susquehanna, and Jefferson-Pilot. Could one or more of them merge and become the fourth major in '99? "I don't see it," Patrick says. "If you just look at the numbers of stations and revenue, it might make sense on paper. But there are major philosophical differences in how they run their companies. There's the question of who runs the merged entity. These 'mergers' are never a merger of equals; someone has to win and someone has to lose. Why would a Jeff Smulyan want to play second fiddle?"

All the brokers note that the midlevel players are exceptionally well-run. "These companies can prosper indefinitely, because they have great management, good balance sheets, and put great products on the air," Whyte says. "Emmis is totally plugged into New York and Los Angeles. They're making great money; there's no reason to lose their independence."

"There's always a belief that at some point, some of the remaining independents will conclude that it'd be better to sell out," Stevens says. "The big question will be, Just what constitutes a critical mass? Jerry Lee's WBEB Philadelphia does very well. Emmis doesn't have a lot of stations, but what they have are doing well in the right places."

"If a company can build a cluster in just one market, it doesn't matter if it's anywhere else," Bergner adds. "It's the king of that market, and it'll easily prosper."

SMALL-MARKET CLUSTERS AND STAND-ALONES

Expect most of the action in 1999 to be in the smaller markets. "You're going to see more Cumulus-type companies emerging," Whyte says. "They'll be developing on a regional basis. I'm talking to guys in the Northeast who want to do what Bud Paxson did in Florida, amassing a lot of little stations to build a platform, then going from there."

"Because the major and most medium markets are pretty sewn up, midlevel groups such as Citadel, Saga, and Connoisseur are looking to build new clusters in small markets," Patrick adds. "That's why Saga went into Bellingham, Wash. By the end of '99, there will be fewer mom-and-pop owners in the small markets, and many stand-alones will be picked off as well. They'll be cashing out with good numbers."

One debatable subject is the future of stand-alone stations, such as Emmis' WKQX (Q101) Chicago and KPWR (Power 106) Los Angeles or Susquehanna's KRBE Houston. "Even in this consolidated world, stand-alones in major markets can prosper," Callan says. "If they're run by good operators and carve out a niche in that market, they can still do quite well."

Patrick is less bullish. "Stand-alones can survive, but it'd be better if they had partners," he says. "Susquehanna is constantly looking for partners for KRBE; in fact, they're close to setting one up" in Anniston, Ala., [with current stand-alone] WNNX Atlanta.

"In the short term, a stand-alone can do well, but the long term isn't as promising," he says. "There's less room for error at a stand-alone. A station that's part of a cluster can lose a major air talent or programmer and not be devastated. But if important personnel left a stand-alone, it could have a detrimental impact."

BUYING OUT OF THE STATION

Most of the brokers are also involved in the majors' interest in ancillary businesses. "Outdoor has been a hot topic for the past three years," Callan notes. "In their pursuit for critical mass, they're also looking into magazines, air traffic systems, and the Internet. The major groups will continue to branch out globally. They have built some very well-oiled machines. It doesn't matter if a station's in Indianapolis or Moscow."

Stevens has some misgivings about such international expansion. "It's a completely different business," he says. "I spent a lot of time with broadcasters in the U.K., and they're not on the same wavelength as us."

"Foreign business is our Wild West frontier," Whyte says. "Some firms are putting on their six-guns and buying anything that radiates. Governments want our expertise while protecting their own culture. Granted, Americans didn't have success in England for a variety of reasons, but they're doing well on the Continent and in Australia."

EVERYONE WANTS TO PLAY

Adding fuel to the acquisition fire is the demand from outside parties to get in on the action. Infinity's recent IPO saw its stock sell like Furbys. "About 140 million shares went at $20.50 a crack, and you couldn't find the stock anywhere," Whyte says. "Everybody wanted in on the deal. Why? Where else could you find a business with 55% gross profit margins? The only business with better margins is outdoor, which the big players are already into."

In fact, 1999 is shaping up to be the perfect time for new owners. "Right now, the major players are on the sideline," Bergner notes. "Chancellor has to absorb Capstar, ditto Clear Channel and Jacor, and Cumulus bought a lot last year. They'll spend most of '99 digesting what they bought. This creates a window for new players to get deals. I've been working with entrepreneurs who don't mind picking up turnarounds, move-ins, and upgrades. They can even get their foot in the door with AMs, then broker the time."

"In addition, we'll see a lot of fallout from people who made wild-and-woolly purchases over the last three years, trying to stay ahead of the acquisition spree," Whyte says. "Now they realize that they have to manage these puppies and create something everyone forgot about—shareholder value. When that fruit falls from the trees, some pretty good opportunities will fall into the hands of local operators, from GMs looking to own to car dealers wanting to get into radio."

That's why most brokers believe that '99 will be an even busier year than '98 and that no mere recession can stop this momentum. "Everyone's bullish," Bergner says. "True, forces out of radio's control can drive stock prices down, but radio itself is healthy."

"If you asked [about stock-market impact] last September, when the market was down 15%, I might have a different answer, but following the election, the market rebounded and the industry is doing fine," Patrick says. "If the impeachment and Iraq bombings create a 20% drop in the market, then I'll worry. But right now, the market is strong."

"What recession?" Whyte asks. "Granted, radio can't control the international impact on the market and our economy, but radio financing is a lot different today. During radio's last downturn in '91 and '92, acquisitions were financed on debt. Now they're financed with equity.

"Does this mean the big three will get much bigger? Not until they demonstrate the ability to deliver shareholder value, in the form of station profits," he continues. "Jacor and Capstar will sell some stations to figure out what they are, then they'll do very well."

"[The majors] are writing the book on [managing hundreds of stations] as they go along," Stevens adds. "There's no manual on that. But unless we go into a deep recession, they'll find a way to make it work."

And if that happens, Whyte declares, "the question for the year 2000 will be, Who will buy the mammoth broadcasters?"

WMIL's Moo Crew Charges Into Milwaukee's Herd Of Morning Shows

It's not easy launching a new morning show in Milwaukee, where radio listeners are unusually loyal to their favorites, including album rock WLZR's Bob Madden and Brian Nelson, classic rock WKLH's Dave Luczak and Carole Caine, and adult top 40 WKTI's Bob Reitman and Gene Mueller. So when country WMIL morning man Bill Whyte exited last year for WFMS Indianapolis, successor Karen Dalessandro knew she had a tough job ahead.

Dalessandro joined the station March 1, where she was partnered with veteran WMIL morning co-host Scott Dolphin and producer Joe "Jocephus" Bellante in a team that was christened "the Moo Crew." Surprisingly, the team began seeing success almost immediately. In its first full Arbitron period, the spring '98 book, the Moo Crew rose 6.1-7.7 from the winter and finished the summer book with a 7.6 12-plus share, capturing fourth place in mornings. In its target 25-54 demo, the Moo Crew was up 5.5-6.2-7.9 from winter to summer '98.

"We were really lucky," says Dalessandro. "Scott and I seemed to click really quickly." She says the fear of not having chemistry with her new partner was "a big concern for me personally because you never know what you're going to get, as Forrest Gump used to say. Coming here, I was really freaked out. I didn't know the market, and especially in Milwaukee, you really have to know the city."

Dalessandro says that listening to WMIL's morning show should be like watching a film. "When you really get into the movie, you start to care about the characters. It's the same with radio," she says. "If they care about us, they will get into the show."

Dalessandro says she learned her current style of radio while working at WYCD (Young Country) Detroit from 1993 to '95. (She also borrowed the Moo Crew handle from that station.) "I learned a kind of radio that I hadn't done up to that point, which is that there were absolutely no rules at all," she says. "It gave me a chance to experience radio outside of liners. My whole thing has always been [making] a connection with the listeners and . . . revealing enough of yourself that they feel connected to you. I tend to go in that direction a lot of times, whether it be [talking about] shopping or Aaron Tippin's hunky biceps . . . I don't want listeners to turn [the show] on and hear radio people. I want them to hear real human beings."

Of her style, Dalessandro says no one will ever call her an "announcer," adding that "English teachers cringe when sentence structure is slaughtered. PDs tend to cringe when some of the radio basics go out the window. Formatics and structure often give way to entertainment and communication. I've been scolded by PDs in years past about my English, but the reality is that's how [listeners] talk."

The show is targeted to a 42-year-old female listener. Dalessandro does most of the show prep. Dolphin says that he serves as "a sounding board" and that his role includes "reeling in" Dalessandro from time to time. "We do a good job of balancing each other," she says.

Bellante describes his role as that of "a big goiter hanging off the neck of the show." He is also the show's resident stunt boy. On national tuba appreciation day, he was positioned downtown with a tuba and a cup for tips. Another day, he was soaked in cologne and sent to ride an elevator and ask fellow passengers, "Do you smell that?" Another time he was covered with pagers while Dolphin and Dalessandro read the numbers for beepers on various body parts over the air and asked listeners to call them. Bellante was also one of the broadcasters who accompanied Lyric Street artist Lari White on a USO-style tour of military bases in Bosnia and several other countries for nine days in late November and called in live reports with service men and women from the area.

The team hosts an unusually long five-hour shift, starting an hour earlier than most morning shows. Asked why it's not the more customary four hours, Dalessandro says, "That's what I'd like to know." Quoting OM Kerry Wolfe, who insists on the five-hour program, Dolphin says, "This is an early-rising town. Research shows we have as many listeners at 5 a.m. as we do at 8 a.m." The 9 a.m. hour is more music intensive than the rest of the show, as it becomes more difficult to keep the momentum going into a fifth hour. "Kerry's mentioned to us that we're going 65 miles an hour and at 9 o'clock we turn into a soft AC morning show," says Dolphin.

Dalessandro says Milwaukee is similar to Detroit in that both cities are "extremely loyal to their morning shows and it takes a long time to get them to crack and to feel loyal to you," although "they did seem to take me in very quickly." Adds Dolphin, "We'll always face the constant, uphill battle here because [other morning shows] have been on the air over 10 years. That's something we'll always be battling."

Regular features on the Moo Crew show include visits from characters Muka and Ano, who Dolphin says "use a lot of localisms that you'd have to be from here to understand." There are also daily reports from Nashville, plus several artist interviews a week. During football season, there are daily reports from Green Bay Packers wide receiver Robert Brooks, and Dolphin's 4-year-old daughter does Monday-night football predictions weekly.

The morning show's biggest charity event is a four-day, 17-hour-a-day radiothon to benefit the local Child Abuse Prevention fund. This year's event raised $230,000 for the charity and included appearances by country artists each day.

A 15-year radio veteran, Dalessandro grew up in the blue-collar Detroit suburb of Trenton, Mich. She joined WMIL from the afternoon slot at WWWW (W4) Detroit and previously hosted mornings and afternoons at rival WYCD, mornings at WKQX (Q101) Chicago, middays and nights at top 40 WDFX/WDTX (the Fox) Detroit, and middays and nights at top 40 rival WHYT.

Dolphin, who doubles as WMIL's APD, started in radio in 1984 in the Quad Cities. In 1986, he moved to KTOM Monterey, Calif., where he did afternoons, then mornings, during his seven years there. He then spent a year and a half at top 40 KXXX and oldies KFRC, both in San Francisco, and spent a few months at WYZM Madison, Wis., before joining WMIL in 1994.

Radio will "Say Anything"

LANCE TIDWELL, PD
KTOM (Salinas) -
There just aren't very many artists in our format who can sing like that. He has great country presence and some magic in his voice, that brings a new modern sound to country. I think he's one of the best new artists I've seen in years!

Mitch Morgan & Kerry Wolfe WMIL, Milwaukee

Mel McKenzie WWQM, Madison

MAC DANIELS, PD
WMZQ (Washington D.C.) -
A fresh voice that you feel from the inside out. It's this kind of stuff that excites me about the future of country music!

CHUCK GEIGER, PD
WCTO (Allentown) -
Shane performed his new unreleased single "Say Anything" and by that Friday morning it was the most requested song on the radio station. A lot of new artists have come by and visited WCTO, but none have had this kind of instant response to a record like Shane. I can't wait to get the single.

COYOTE COLLINS, MD
WBEE (Rochester) -
Shane McAnally is really cool! All his songs were great! And I look forward to his single, "Say Anything". Great new country music for the next century!

Pam Shane & Gerrie McDowell

about Shane McAnally!

DENNIS HUGHS, PD
WAYZ (Hagerstown) -
Hearing Shane unplugged and then hearing the mastered single, "Say Anything" what a refreshing sound! Can't wait to play it! Shane McAnally is great new country for the next millennium.

TRAVIS MOON, MD
KEEY (Minneapolis) -
I can't think of anything to say about "Say Anything" except to say that its 'sing factor' is off the scale.

MEG STEVENS, PD
WBBS (Syracuse) -
Shane McAnally is the best new artist of the coming year. I loved all the songs he wrote on the album. And they didn't suck! I look forward to his project in early 1999.

Buzz Jackson & Rhonda Golff
WROO, Jacksonville

Smokey Rivers
KPLX, Dallas

SHADOW STEVENS, MD
WWKA (Orlando) -
I just called the psychic hot-line and "Shane is the star of the future."

Consumer Press Still Tough Sell For Country Despite Crossover Boom

by Phyllis Stark

For country music, 1998 was one of the format's most visible years since its late '80s/early '90s boom. Garth Brooks was not only touring but doing a lot of TV and some radio appearances to promote his live album. Dixie Chicks, designated by the mainstream media as the hot act du jour, were ubiquitous. Hit TV drama "Touched By An Angel" featured plenty of country music on both the show itself and a soundtrack album. Shania Twain was touring and playing awards shows, and Twain, Brooks, LeAnn Rimes, Faith Hill, and Martina McBride all had some pop crossover success. Even Alan Jackson attempted a crossover.

But some Nashville publicists say none of that has really helped country's profile with the mainstream media, where new and mid-level country acts remain a tough sell, just as they were when we first examined this topic two years ago (Country Airplay Monitor, Nov. 22, 1996). For the most part, they say, talk-show bookers are only interested in chart and sales numbers or a hot "story" and are not driven by any kind of a passion for the music in making booking decisions. And the fact that a whole new slate of talk shows has launched this year hasn't really helped country's cause either.

Most publicists contacted for this story concur with Janet Bozeman, Sony Music Nashville's director of media/publicity, who says, "It was tough a year ago, and it's tough now. You're going to have to be a superstar to get on those national shows. As far as bookings go, they will tell you when you call to pitch that they want superstars, especially if a show is new. It's really a shame because country has so many good artists and so much talent. I wish they would open that up a little bit."

Marion Williams, director of media marketing at RCA Label Group, says, "The same few artists can get on the shows—Trisha [Yearwood], Faith, Garth, Shania. The shows like to come back to the people they've had a good experience with.

"It's hard for the rest of the artists, [even though] the bookers and consumer press are always looking for something new, because the public is always looking for something new, what's hot and fresh. Country music now is competing with everybody," says Williams. "It's not like we get a certain number of slots. We're competing with every genre of music—with 'N Sync and Mariah Carey and Whitney Houston—not just with each other."

Wes Vause, director of publicity at Asylum Records, says, "I still see the established and bigger name artists on the television shows. [For] the younger artists, as always, it's a battle. I don't know that these shows are necessarily against country music as much as it's just so much new music that you are competing against. We're all in there fighting for a piece of the pie. Country music is just a little tougher sell. With new artists, we could do better. With established artists, we're doing good."

'GREAT STRIDES' BUT NO COASTING

Jessie Schmidt, owner of Nashville-based Schmidt Relations, says, "Even though Garth and Shania have had such great crossover success, it still comes down to a per-artist basis as far as the national media is concerned. You strictly have to rely on each act as its own entity when you're pitching it. You can't coast on [the fact] that Garth has done all the national television outlets. He had broadened the horizons for the genre—there is no doubt about that—and maybe because of that more people do look to country music or know the artists, but they still want to know what the accolades are for each act."

Mike Crawford, manager of media at Atlantic Records, says, "It's certainly not five years ago when country was the hip, cool thing and you could get through to 'CBS This Morning' with one phone call." But Crawford believes country "made some great strides this year, and the mainstream media may be looking at us more closely.

Country Airplay Monitor Returns Jan. 8

Talent Tops List Of PD Concerns

Programmers are worried about finding qualified air talent, radio's heavier-than-ever spot load, and the time-management problems created by consolidation. They're not particularly worried about threats to radio from new technologies, such as digital satellite radio and Internet listening. Two-thirds of them expect a mega-corporation such as Microsoft or AT&T to make a run at radio ownership. And despite the optimism displayed by their bosses at the recent National Assn. of Broadcasters convention, the majority of them expect the economy to have a negative impact on radio over the next year.

BEST OF '98

Those were just a few of the findings from Airplay Monitor's first survey of broadcasters in all the formats it covers. PDs were queried on a multitude of topics ranging from the quality of available country product and budget cuts in marketing and promotions to the health of their format overall. The results appear in the annual year-end combined issue of Airplay Monitor, which mails with this, the year's last regular issue of Airplay Monitor.

In addition to the year-end survey, Monitor's "Best Of '98" issue also features the top songs, artists, and labels of '98; interviews with the hitmakers of the year, including Dixie Chicks, Celine Dion, matchbox 20, Backstreet Boys, Brian McKnight, Usher, Fastball, Creed, Next, and Semisonic; and conversations with the promo execs behind the year's most successful labels. For the third year, "Best Of '98" also features hundreds of year-end Power Playlists from individual Monitor reporters. It's our thank-you for making this Airplay Monitor's most successful year ever.

While Airplay Monitor's offices will remain open through the holidays, this is the last regular issue of Country Airplay Monitor until the Jan. 8, 1999, issue. Because Broadcast Data Systems continues to monitor airplay throughout the publishing hiatus, the first charts of the year will reflect airplay between Dec. 28-Jan. 3, while "last week" chart numbers will refer to airplay from the week before.

Despite 'Bullet Mentality' Some Hits Persevere

As part of a continuing effort to highlight case studies in which technology-based airplay data has shown a more accurate picture of individual song activity than reported airplay, this week we take a look at some instances when struggling titles have survived during consecutive weeks with minimal airplay gains, or defied the industry's "bullet mentality" and backward chart moves on their way to becoming significant hits.

John Michael Montgomery's 1995 hit "I Can Love You Like That" experienced one of the most interesting comeback stories when it peaked at No. 1 in its eighth chart week, then was bumped back to No. 2 by Brooks & Dunn's "Little Miss Honky Tonk," with just four detections separating the two titles. Following Brooks & Dunn's one-week reign at the top, Montgomery's ballad encored not once but twice at the top of the page. During the song's third week at No. 1, it led despite losing 66 spins.

Tracy Lawrence's "If You Loved Me" entered the chart in mid-December '95 with consistent airplay gains throughout the following eight weeks. However, in its eighth and ninth chart weeks, the song held at No. 16. In its second week at No. 16, "If You Loved Me" gained just 21 plays. The song maintained its bullet due to the increase but finished the following week with a 13-spin deficit and was pushed down to No. 17 with no gain and no bullet.

"If You Loved Me" sprang back to life in its 11th week, rising 17-12, up 211 spins. With subsequent increases in the 200-300 spin range, Lawrence's song peaked at No. 4 in its 15th chart week.

Paul Brandt's '96 breakthrough single, "I Do," posted a gain of just two spins in its fifth chart week, followed by a 69-spin increase. During the seventh week, "I Do" gained 67 plays. Brandt's song peaked at No. 2 in its 20th chart week, when it held with a 35-play increase the following week. At that time, it was almost unheard-of for any title to post consistent gains for that many weeks, let alone a title by a new artist. "I Do" was one of the early indicators that the format would soon begin allowing more time for developing artists' hits to break, which led to the '98 recurrent-rule change discussed here last issue.

Later in '96, Rick Trevino's "Running Out Of Reasons To Run" reached No. 20 in its 11th chart week. The following week, Trevino's song held at No. 20 with an astounding 394-spin decline, again with no increase and no bullet.

During the song's 13th week, a 689-play gain fueled a 20-18 jump on the chart. "Running Out Of Reasons To Run" controlled the No. 1 slot in its 19th week.

Finally, Kenny Chesney's poignant "That's Why I'm Here" will no doubt go down as one of technology-based data's paramount country music success stories. After mixed reviews from programmers because of its story line, which involved a repentant alcoholic in a 12-step program, Chesney's song bowed on our airplay chart in the Feb. 27, 1998, issue. It rose to No. 17 in its 11th week, with a track record of healthy weekly gains in the triple-digit range. However, during the 12th chart week, "That's Why I'm Here" was pushed back to No. 18 and gained a comparatively disappointing 78 plays.

With the help of committed programmers and a tenacious promotion team, the song rebounded by shooting 18-11, up 481 spins. After that, Chesney's ballad eventually spent seven consecutive bulleted weeks in the top 10, peaking at No. 2 in the July 3 issue.

Chesney's ballad generated volumes of listener mail to radio stations and his record label. Many of those positively affected by the recording bore testimonies of resolutions to kick the habit and to realign life priorities. I'm especially grateful at this time of year to have watched such a song battle negative perceptions and to have ultimately changed so many lives. I hope the impact of Chesney's song continues to resonate peace, joy, love, and commitment.

I wish you all the warmth and blessings of the season, and a prosperous New Year.

EFFECTIVE THIS ISSUE, KVET Austin, Texas, is no longer a reporting station; this change brings the total number of stations on our country panel to 162.

ON THE ROW

Giant Led Music Row In Food Drive

A huge thank-you to Music Row, which raised nearly 12,000 pounds of food for Second Harvest Food Bank Dec. 10 during the second Charts With Hearts food drive, sponsored by Country Airplay Monitor, Gavin, Music Row, and Radio & Records. For the second year in a row, Giant Records collected more food than any other Nashville label and won a free strip ad in all four publications as a prize, thanks to a 5,369-pound donation. Mercury came in second, with 1,176 pounds. Warner Bros./Reprise was third. MCA took fourth place. Every Nashville label, as well as the Country Music Assn., participated in this year's drive. Among the artists who were on hand at their respective labels to assist with the donations were Claudia Church, Clint Daniels, Gil Grand, Monty Holmes, Springer!, and the Wilkinsons.

Two Warner Bros. Nashville labels are closing their doors, according to Billboard Bulletin. Warner Gospel will close Dec. 18. No word on where the acts or five-person staff will land. Warner Western will close Dec. 22. GM Jeff Skillen is headed to Valley Entertainment in Santa Fe, N.M. Three other staffers are looking for jobs. Warner Western is a joint venture with Real West Productions, which is looking to sell the company's specialty distribution arm to Boulder, Colo.-based Four Winds, according to managing partner Kerry O'Neil. Four Winds will continue to work Warner Western releases.

David Breen, a longtime William Morris Agency agent, has left the company to form the Breen Agency as a division of Emerald Entertainment Group.

Capitol adds comedian Tim Wilson to its artist roster. His first album, "It's A Sorry World," is due in February.

Congratulations to Arista Nashville senior director of national promotion Dave Dame and his wife, Laura Dame, on the Dec. 8 birth of daughter Caroline Elise Astor Dame.

The Crown Royal Untamed & True 2 Tour, produced for the second year by Nashville-based Moore Entertainment Inc., kicks off Jan. 20 as the year's first major country tour. This year's lineup is Mark Chesnutt, Gary Allan, Chely Wright, and Keith Harling. The 40-city tour opens at Nashville's Ryman Auditorium. The tour will be promoted with a CD compilation of hits from all four artists to be distributed at clubs and restaurants. A portion of tour proceeds benefit the anti-hunger organization Share Our Strength.

Country Radio Broadcasters is seeking 2½-minute tape or DAT airchecks from stations for a sampler CD, not 30-second airchecks as reported last week. Deadline for submissions is Jan. 4. The CD will be distributed at the Country Radio Seminar in March.

Steve Wariner will perform on "Donny & Marie" Dec. 17.

Shannon Brown

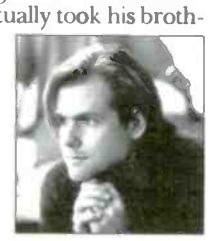
"I WON'T LIE" (ARISTA NASHVILLE)

Brown grew up in tiny Spirit Lake, Iowa, where her parents owned nightclubs and restaurants. By the age of 17, she was performing and waiting tables at one of her parents' clubs. When a club owner from Worthington, Minn., heard her sing, he offered her a regular gig at his club, 45 miles away. She accepted and went from singing four songs a night to singing nearly five hours a night, six days a week. After a year at that club, Brown and her parents spent the next 4½ years playing one-nighters throughout the Midwest and building up a following. Her mother ran the spotlight, her father ran the sound, and they all pitched in booking dates, maintaining mailing lists, and selling merchandise, including two record projects Brown funded to sell at her shows. She moved to Nashville in 1994 and began singing songwriters' demos while continuing to fly back to the Midwest to perform an average of 160 dates a year. Three days after a development deal with another label ended, Brown was signed to Arista Nashville. Her debut album for that label is titled "Tour Of My Heart." Brown's hair caught on fire during the filming of the video for this single in Saugas, Calif.

Andy Griggs

"YOU WON'T EVER BE LONELY" (RCA)

This Monroe, La., native took up singing and learned how to play guitar after his brother passed away. He eventually took his brother's place in a band and began playing festivals and churches and later toured with gospel duo Jerry and Tammy Sullivan. Upon arriving in Nashville in '95, Griggs got work singing demos for producer David Malloy. He was working at a local greenhouse when he got the call telling him he'd landed a record deal with RCA. He co-wrote four of the songs on his self-titled debut album, due Feb. 9.



★ Charlie Robison

"BARLIGHT" (LUCKY DOG)

A sixth-generation Texan, Robison grew up on his family's ranch in Bandera (pop. 940). At 15, he began gigging around town as a drummer in a band that played rodeos and high school dances. He played alongside his brother Bruce, who is also signed to Lucky Dog as a solo artist. Charlie eventually switched to guitar and started singing. After a stint at Southwest Texas University, he headed to Austin, where he fronted the band the Millionaire Playboys. Going solo in 1995, he recorded his indie debut, "Bandera," and later made a more commercial follow-up album for a major label. His debut Lucky Dog album, "Life Of The Party," was recorded in just 10 days, with himself and Lloyd Maines producing. Bruce Robison and his wife, Kelly Willis, contribute backing vocals on the album.

★ Randy Scruggs

"IT'S ONLY LOVE" (REPRISE)

Although he's been part of the Nashville music scene for decades, this is Scruggs' first charted single as a solo artist. It features Mary Chapin Carpenter on vocals. Scruggs is the son of renowned banjo player Earl Scruggs, part of the legendary Flatt & Scruggs, and he has had success as a producer, songwriter, and session musician. He played on his first Flatt & Scruggs record at the age of 13 and remembers being pulled out of middle school to record an album with Waylon Jennings. After high school, he teamed up with brother Gary to form the Scruggs Brothers and recorded a couple of rock albums for Vanguard Records. Later adding younger brother Steve, they became the Earl Scruggs Revue. In 1980, Guitar Player magazine named Scruggs one of the nation's top guitarists. That same year, he opened his own studio and production company. In 1989, the Country Music Assn. named him producer of the year, and he earned a Grammy Award for best country instrumental. His new album, "Crown Of Jewels," includes guest appearances from Vince Gill, Emmylou Harris, John Prine, Bruce Hornsby, Trisha Yearwood, Travis Tritt, and Rosanne Cash, among others.

South Sixty-Five

"A RANDOM ACT OF SENSELESS KINDNESS" (ATLANTIC)

Named for the Nashville highway that led them to the recording studio, this group is made up of five men, all in their early 20s: Jeremy Koeltzow, Lance Leslie, Doug Urie, and brothers Brent and Stephen Parker. The group was founded by Trijon Entertainment CEO/president Delious Kennedy, who is also a member of the quartet All-4-One. Kennedy took South Sixty Five to Atlantic Records president Rick Blackburn and executive-produced its self-titled debut album. The group recently kicked off a tour of malls throughout the United States with an appearance at the Mall of America in Minneapolis.

The Warren Brothers

"GUILTY" (BNA)

At their first Nashville club gig in 1995, Tampa, Fla., natives Brett and Brad Warren cleared $14 and ran up a bar bill of $20. Less than two years later, they were one of Music City's hottest live acts, and by the end of 1997, they had a record deal with BNA and were in the studio with producer Chris Farren. Brett, 27, sings lead vocals and plays rhythm guitar and harmonica. Brad, 29, sings harmony vocals and plays lead guitar and recently became a first-time father. The brothers have written more than 500 songs, including all of the cuts on their debut album, "Beautiful Day In The Cold Cruel World," which was released Oct. 27.

Some of the crossover stuff might help us out."

Susan Niles, VP of publicity at Warner Bros./Reprise, also believes the media has taken note of the format this year. "I think they're well aware of country music now," she says. And while "not every artist is going to be on every television show," some of her artists, including Hill and the Lynns, have been welcomed by the media. Still, she says, "it's per artist, per success story. Every [show is] different, [but] there's still 60 minutes in an hour." The difference now, she says, is that bookers will listen to a pitch from a country publicist and "don't just say no without hearing you."

ALL IN THE NUMBERS

Publicists say TV-show bookers pay close attention to sales data and chart numbers and also evaluate artists based on their "story" and how they fit into the show's overall image. Niles calls the bookers' criteria "success-oriented."

Vause says "Late Night With Conan O'Brien" is one of the few remaining shows in which artists can get booked strictly on the strength of their music, not their numbers. Everyone else, he says, is "looking at numbers big time."

Williams at RLG thinks Sony act Dixie Chicks got so many bookings this year because "they had hit singles, started selling records," and are "three beautiful, talented women who have something different and exciting."

Vause says print media is an even tougher sell than TV because "there is so much sameness in the music that there is nothing extraordinary for these people to write about." On TV, he says, an artist can get booked on the strength of sales and chart numbers. Print media, on the other hand, is looking for something a little more substantive. Vause says that while People, Entertainment Weekly, and Request are good about doing reviews, "if you get one to do a feature article, you do handstands and back flips."

Every once in a while, a TV-show booker or mainstream magazine writer may select an artist to feature simply because they like that artist's current song, but Bozeman calls those "fluke bookings."

The fact that mainstream media, to a large extent, doesn't keep up with country can also work in an artist's favor. Mary Chapin Carpenter, for example, can still get bookings and press attention on name value and reputation, despite having had a tough couple of years in terms of radio airplay. A recent media dinner for Carpenter in New York attracted representatives from TV Guide, Dateline NBC, and Rolling Stone Online, among others.

MIXED REVIEWS FOR NEW SHOWS

The launch of several new TV talk shows hasn't really helped country's visibility either. With "The View," "The Howie Mandel Show," "Roseanne," and "Donny & Marie," on the scene, the latter featuring a former country chart regular, it would seem there are more potential outlets, but these shows have given country a mixed reception.

Williams says she thought "Mandel" and "Roseanne" would be more "country friendly" than they have been, but she calls "The View" very country friendly and notes that "the hosts don't box us in to being strictly country." WB's Niles also calls "The View" very music friendly. Atlantic's Crawford has been surprised that "Roseanne" hasn't booked more than a handful of country acts."

One publicist who wishes to remain anonymous has been disappointed with "Donny & Marie" and questions the value of appearances on that show. "I was hoping with Marie's roots in country music she would have fought a little harder to have more country on there," says the publicist. "I also think the show will go away pretty quickly."

But Asylum's Vause says that " 'Donny & Marie' is definitely open to having country artists on." As for "The View," he says, "you have to have the right angle to get on so it's a more specific sell."

As for existing shows, "Live With Regis & Kathie Lee" remains a big supporter of country music. "The Tonight Show With Jay Leno," "Late Show With David Letterman," and "The Rosie O'Donnell Show" remain the most-sought-after bookings.

A BOOKER'S PERSPECTIVE

Tisi Aylward moved to Nashville two months ago to be producer of TNN's "Prime Time Country." Previously, she was director of talent at E! Entertainment Television in Los Angeles. She says many of her fellow talent bookers questioned her decision to move to Nashville and work exclusively in country music.

Aylward says it remains a mixed bag among her fellow talent bookers, where you will find some "who are really high on [country music] and will actually listen to a pitch from a publicist" and "other bookers who have never listened to a country music CD." But, she adds, "I hope that with the crossover success of Faith, Shania, and Dixie Chicks that a lot more of the bookers are paying attention to what's going on."

When she lived in L.A. and was invited to a country show, Aylward says, she always made a point of bringing some friend who worked in the business but didn't like country music. After hearing the music and meeting the artist at the show, Aylward says, "10 times out of 10" the friend walked away a fan.

MONITOR PROFILE

Songwriter Chuck Cannon Balances The Creative And Business Sides Of Publishing

He believes the term "music business" is an oxymoron, yet Chuck Cannon has chosen to be involved in both the music and the business sides of the industry. Part of the day, he is a creative songwriter. The other part, a business-minded music publisher. Unlike most hit songwriters who are staff writers at big publishing operations, Cannon chose to form his own Wacissa River Music, which means that after creating his songs, he administers his own catalog and sets up appointments with producers and A&R reps and pitches the songs himself.

Cannon says he decided to do his own publishing partly because he's "an independent cuss" and partly because it means he gets twice as much money for his songs by not having to split royalties with a publisher. "I may not get as many cuts as I would if I had a whole covey of pluggers out there, but it's working out for me," he says. "I enjoy doing the publishing thing."

A Myrtle Beach, S.C., native, Cannon began playing in coastal South Carolina clubs at the age of 17 and, like many songwriters, moved to Nashville in 1984 with the hope of landing a recording deal. "I just knew when they heard me sing they'd wonder where I'd been, and all they wondered was why I didn't just go on back," he says.

Wacissa River Music

'I want to know everything possible about how to exploit that song'

In 1989, he instead embarked on a professional songwriting career that has resulted in the hits "That's My Baby," "That's How You Know When You're In Love," "Me Too," "We Were In Love," "Dream Walkin'," and the current Toby Keith single, "Getcha Some." But, Cannon says, "the one that brought me to the dance" was the Country Music Assn. song of the year, "I Love The Way You Love Me," first recorded by John Michael Montgomery and currently a top five British pop hit for the Irish act Boyzone. Cannon wrote the song about his wife, Lyric Street artist Lari White. He has four new singles slated for release in the first quarter of 1999 by Keith, Lonestar, Sawyer Brown, and new Mercury artist Shane Minor.

Unlike many songwriters, Cannon understands how radio programming works, even if he is sometimes frustrated by it. He follows charts religiously, and his conversation is peppered with terms like "rotations" and "dayparts" not usually found in a songwriter's vocabulary. But while he may understand them, he is not always happy with the decisions that programmers make. For example, he says that "Getcha Some" is one of Keith's "top album-moving singles of all time," yet "we have stations saying, 'We have 9% negatives on it, so we're not going to play it.' " At the same time, he says, "if I was running a radio station, I'd drop the fool out of songs that were getting negative [reactions]. I don't have a bone to pick with those [radio] guys. I think they do an incredible job getting the diversity that they do. [But] I have a whole different take on a song than do [PDs]. It's a heart issue with me. It's a matter of passion and emotion, and it's a business decision for them.

"I don't for a moment pretend to think I know the tip of the iceberg of what all goes on [at radio], but it's important to me as a songwriter," he says. "I want to know everything possible abut how to exploit that song. I want to know where the money's coming from, how it flows. That's all just cold business stuff."

Because he is his own publisher, Cannon says, "I have to learn more about every aspect of the business than if I was going to write a song, turn it in, and have the publishing company demo and pitch it. If that were my job description, I wouldn't bother learning about the charts, what trends are, call-out research, and radio consultants." However, he says, "I sometimes think that it adversely affects me as a songwriter. It's a time issue. There's so much that fills up my time—my wife, my daughter, keeping a publishing company, finding out who's cutting, what they're looking for, all the artist's little idiosyncrasies, things they wouldn't say in songs, what their producers like and don't like. All those things are the purview of a publisher, not necessarily of a songwriter."

The positive side is that having so much on his plate makes Cannon "more expedient" as a writer. "Instead of writing a whole bunch of songs that aren't going to get cut, I go to artists, find out what they're looking for, and try to write that." And while those songs may be more likely to pass muster, "the real joy is writing something from my heart and [having that] get cut," he says.

Although many of his songs have become hits, Cannon says he tries not to think about radio when he's writing. Doing so, he says, would be "a commercially fatal choice. I still am really hell-bent on trying to write the best song that I can and not necessarily write the best radio song I can." Consequently, he says, "all of my favorite songs don't make any money."

Cannon describes his job as a songwriter as "having to make up something that 10 million people will like" and says his measure of success is how good he feels about his work and how the public responds by buying it, rather than by chart numbers. "When people vote with their pocketbook, I know I've done something good," he says.

Cannon believes his songs are "all gifts from God. My biggest job is getting myself out of the way and really avoid trying to bend it in any way to be commercial. If it ends up commercial, that's just icing on the cake."

In a typical pitch meeting, Cannon says he will try to play "something a little quirky and something right down the middle of what the artist has been doing. I don't waste their time of going in and trying to play everything I've written. When I pitch, I want to do it with an extremely light touch. I keep my eye on who's cutting, when they're cutting, and I like to see someone—the producer, A&R people—when they are within a couple of weeks of cutting."

Like many writers, Cannon believes some of his best stuff has never been cut. He'll remedy that in 1999 by recording those overlooked songs for his own independent album to be sold at writer's nights and other appearances.

Concerned about the Fairness in Music Licensing Bill recently passed by Congress, Cannon recently organized and led a delegation to Washington, D.C., to meet with fellow South Carolina native Sen. Strom Thurmond to present the songwriters' case. The bill "forced creators of songs to allow any restaurant under 3,750 square feet—which is over 80% of the restaurants in the U.S.—to play those songs for free," says Cannon. "The precedent that it sets is enormously detrimental to creators of songs." And while, he says, "we, unfortunately, did not prevail, it's not dead yet. It's just a flesh wound. Suffice it to say we are not done with this. It is a situation where political expediency prevailed over justice. The restaurant lobby has a much stronger lobby than songwriters, and restaurants employ more constituents than songwriters."

What country programmers all over America are saying about Retro Country USA

"RETRO COUNTRY USA is more than great country music and a great radio show with a great host! It's entertainment – great entertainment! Reaction to the show in Charlotte has been astounding – by long term listeners and new listeners alike! Keep up the good work guys!"
Paul Johnson, PD, WSOC Charlotte

"No syndicated show I have EVER carried has had the immediate impact of RETRO COUNTRY USA. Three weeks into the show, a focus group in Kansas City identified the show unaided! KFKF targets adults who love country music and exciting radio - this show does the job!"
Dale Carter, PD, KFKF Kansas City

If two records are tied in number of plays, the record being played on more stations is placed first. Records below the top 30 that are decreasing in plays are removed from the chart after 20 weeks.
