UMG, AOL To Launch Internet-Based Label

The Universal Music group (UMG) and Internet service provider America Online (AOL) will launch an Internet-based record company called FarmClub.com. Bloomberg reported. An earlier story about MP3.com (CMJ issue #642) stated that UMG was planning to host a Web site as a vehicle for A&R purposes. UMG Chairman Doug Morris and co-Chair of the Interscope Geffen A&M label group Jimmy lovine will lead the company. AOL will own 3% of the new company. The online giant will also provide the company with its infrastructure.

An industry source told Bloomberg that visitors to FarmClub.com (a.k.a. Jimmy and Doug's Farm Club) will vote for their favorite acts. The most popular acts will appear on an hour-long television show, which, thanks to a separate tie-in deal, will air on the USA Network. The deal will allow Universal to expose emerging and amateur musicians to the online public. However, it will also minimize the production and promotion costs that are traditionally associated with the finding and breaking of new talent. Viacom's MTV and VH1 cable channels have agreed to help promote FarmClub.com.

RIAA Wins Judgment Against Music Piracy Ring

The Recording Industry of America (RIAA) has been awarded $13.7 million in its lawsuit against Global Arts Production. The RIAA claimed that the company had been illegally licensing various pop luminaries' back catalogs via fake licenses and bogus masters. The figure is the largest monetary award ever received by the RIAA in this type of lawsuit.

Global Arts, a Florida-based company, enabled companies worldwide to replicate and sell music by the likes of Frank Sinatra, ZZ Top, the Doors, (Continued on page 12)

FOO FIGHTERS There Is Nothing Left To Lose (Roswell-RCA)

Having released two platinum-selling, arse-stomping albums, Dave Grohl's Foo Fighters are a legitimate power-pop force, refusing to look back or devolve into a tamer, de-fanged version of Nirvana. The band's third album, There's Nothing Left To Lose, recalls the emotional weightiness of its predecessor, 1997's The Colour And The Shape, on which Grohl vented while discarding some of the sonic intensity he exhibited on the Foo Fighters' 1995 self-titled debut. On the new record, the band ropes in the fullthrottle immediacy that characterized its earlier songs such as "This Is A Call" and "Monkey Wrench," but the group also pays more attention to dynamics and variety. Grohl finally reveals his songs' melodic, almost soft-rock core, which glows brightly on the penetrating "Gimmie Stitches," and softens the album's most hummable song, the dreamy "Ain't It The Life." Radioready gems such as the sizzling single "Learn To Fly" and the unabashedly retro-poppy Year" are more refined than the Foo Fighters' past glories, but somehow, they still pack a mighty - Glen Sansone wallop.

DISMEMBERMENT PLAN

Emergency And I (DeSoto)

The Dismemberment Plan prides itself on sounding like both everything and nothing in your CD collection. The quartet's unique, kitchen-sink spin on DC post-punk fearlessly downplays the act's emo roots with fuzzy organ work, hints of funk, quirky effects-pedal manipulations and synthesized atmospherics. Having endured a short-lived, fruitless tenure on Interscope Records, the Plan recently returned to the solace of DeSoto Records, the label run by ex-Jawbox members Bill Barbot and Kim Coletta, to release its most ambitious work to date. Emergency And I is a schizophrenic chameleon of a record, bolstering aggressive rock with dazzling musicianship and odd-time signatures, striking a steady balance between springy, complex rhythms and smooth melodies. This successful fusion resides in a place where the anthemic pop of "What Do You Want Me To Say?" can shares space with the frantic, wirey "81/2 Minutes," without ever flinching.

NO. 2 No Memory (Chainsaw)

The now-defunct Northwest act Heatmiser learned as much from Beatles albums as from Minor Threat 7"s. The baroque pop-meetspunk of the group's final album is evident in the work of its previous members Elliott Smith and Sam Coomes, the former of whom is a solo star, the latter of whom fronts Quasi. Having seen his ex-bandmates find indie rock nirvana, guitarist Neil Gust founded his own impressive outfit, No. 2. Rounded out by Gilly Ann Hanner (Consolidated) and Paul Pulvirenti (Atomic 6), the band is a more realized extension of the Apple/Dischord Records hybrid once orchestrated by, well, Heatmiser. But the No. 2's debut achieves its own gorgeous, pitch-perfect balance between acoustic Simon & Garfunkel-ish harmonies and a post-British Invasion power pop punch, as it sways with all the candor of Gust's old band. The moving, mid-tempo ballad "Never Felt Better," on which Coomes plays bass, glimmers with the same recipe that earned Smith a Grammy nomination. Other tracks, such as "So Long" and "Nobody's Satisfied," pin rock-solid hooks on weeping melodies with the aptitude of the finest Lennon-McCartney education. The half-hour No Memory may be short on time, but it's endless on soul. — Ron Hart

Horse

(Pussyfoot/Palm Pictures-Rykodisc)

Solo producer Howie B and Naked Funk's Jeremy Shaw are two of a rare breed of electronic music producers. This new strain of grooveriders defies the conventional constructs of beats and samples, using an emotive, expressive style to woo listeners with a captivating blend of alien soul and space-age funk. Shaw and Howie have collaborated on numerous projects, but Horse - released under their Daddylonglegs moniker - is their first complete-sounding collaborative vision. The pair cobbles together a rural ambiance from bucking bass lines and galloping backbeats, which decorate a centerpiece of analog melodies, grainy guitars and techno backwashes. The equestrian songtitles — e.g. "Pony Express," "Bareback," "Black Beauty" — also smack of pastoral obsessions. The record is slightly dustier than the producers' solo releases (note how acoustic guitar undercurrents turn "When Betty Comes To Town" into a showdown at sundown), but it never abandons the trademark funk. The acid-soaked "The Cobbler" and the scratchy "They Shag Horses Don't They?" will remind you that these men, ultimately, want to move your booty while you enjoy a superbly executed and truly original techno-funk album.

Justice Department Investigating Radio Stations Bribed By Fonovisa

The Justice Department is investigating the nearly 80 American and Puerto Rican radio station programmers who took pay-for-play money from Fonovisa, the nation's largest Spanish-language music label and home to such performers as Enrique Iglesias. This investigation into the Fonovisa payola scandal has been ongoing for two years. The label admitted to paying radio station programmers up to $1 million. Investigators report that, for the first half of 1997, Fonovisa-signed acts regularly held 14 of the top 40 spots on Billboard magazine's Latin chart, according to the AP. When the bribes came to a halt, these figures were cut in half.

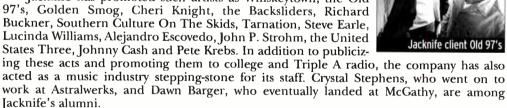

Fonovisa's owner, the Mexican media company Grupo Televisa, cooperated with authorities and confessed to the misdeeds. "As in any other bribery investigation, what we are doing is following the money, and we plan to follow where it leads," Richard Robinson, a Los Angeles assistant U.S. attorney, told the wire service. Many Latin music companies reportedly involve themselves in similar, legally dubious goings-on; the Justice Department would not name names.

Last week, Jesus Gilberto Moreno, Fonovisa's VP of Promotions, paid a $50,000 fine and was sentenced to two years' probation, the Billboard Bulletin reported. The Fonovisa scandal is the first reported instance of music biz payola to occur after the passing of anti-payola legislation, which was initiated following the scandals of the 1950s. Fonovisa President Guillermo Santiso was also fined $200,000 and sentenced to two years' probation on related charges of income tax violations.

Jacknife Enterprises Shuts Down

Jacknife Enterprises, the Austin, Texas-based, alt-country-centered, independent radio promotion firm, will close on November 23. The company opened in 1995. Jenni Sperandeo, who formed the firm, told CMI that the decision was made because her partner, Chris Roldan, had been accepted to the University of Texas at Austin's film program. As Sperandeo put it, "A two-headed monster cannot survive when one of its heads is cut off." She herself "is currently weighing [her] options and looking for a new challenge."

Jacknife has promoted such artists as Whiskeytown, the Old 97's, Golden Smog, Cheri Knight, the Backsliders, Richard Buckner, Southern Culture On The Skids, Tarnation, Steve Earle, Lucinda Williams, Alejandro Escovedo, John P. Strohm, the United

Individuals who are interested in maintaining contact with Sperandeo and Roldan can reach them through Jacknife's existing email addresses and phone number, both of which will remain operational. Current business matters will be transferred to Brad Hunt.

Zomba Reported To Possibly Leave BMG

According to an article in the Los Angeles Times, the Zomba Group may abandon the BMG stable. Zomba's contract with the corporate behemoth expires in June of next year. Jive, the group's label imprint, is the home to such bubblegum-pop acts as Britney Spears, the Backstreet Boys and 'N Sync. Zomba chief Clive Calder is reportedly negotiating potential deals with other major labels. Strauss Zelnick, BMG's President/CEO, is allegedly suing the group over the purported move. Phone calls to both Zelnick and Zomba were unreturned at press time.

Zomba has been fairly active in the nation's courtrooms. In October, shortly after 'N Sync left BMG arm RCA and signed to Zomba-owned Jive, BMG and Trans Continental Records, the label owned by the boy band's svengali Louis Pearlstein, sued the act for $150 million. The suit claims that the fresh-faced youngsters broke their contract with RCA and Trans Continental. The labels are seeking to derail the band's forthcoming record on Jive. 'N Sync countersued, claiming that Pearlstein was greedy and hypocritical, and that he cared little for his clients' best interests.

Family Values Tour Grosses $10.6 Million The second annual Family Values tour, which featured the likes of Korn, Limp Bizkit, Filter Primus, grossed $10.6 million in revenues, according to Billboard. Last year, the event reportedly grossed $6.5 million. The tour made 27 stops. It earned an averaged of $393,796 per show. Average attendance totaled 11,779. Last year, the tour earned a pershow average of $240,418. Average attendance totaled 9,022. Korn, along with the Metropolitan Entertainment Group and management company the Firm, presented the event. Metropolitan's John Scher, who co-promoted the Woodstock '99 festival, claimed that the outing would return next year. "We've unquestionably created a franchise," he said.

The Automator Up To More Tricks

Dan "The Auton" Nakamura is up to his usual collaborative hijinks, according to Allstar. The producer has formed Deltronic, a trio with Del Tha

Funkee Homosapien and Kid Koala. Recently, Nakamura has worked with with Prince Paul under the name Handsome Boy Modeling School. The Automator also plays a part in the new project the Good Band & The Ugly, which features Dust

Brother Mike Simpson.

Both Del and Kid contribute to the Handsome Boy Modeling School's Tommy Boy release So... How's Your Girl? Nakamura also assisted in the production of Kid Koala's forthcoming Ninja Tune record, Carpal Tunnel Syndrome. The Deltronic project is currently without a label, but its record should arrive in stores during the summer of 2000.

Orton, Keinig To Pay Tribute To Buckley

On November 17, Beth Orton and Irish singersongwriter Katell Keinig will help pay tribute to the late Jeff Buckley during a show at New York City's Angel

Orensanz Foundation Center for the Arts. Former Buckley bandmates and musical friends Michael Tighe, Parker Kindred, Daniel Harnett and Sandy Bell will also play at the event. Merri Cyr's photographs of the singer will also be displayed at the venue, alongside Buckley memorabilia. November 17 would have been the artist's 32nd birthday.

That same day, fans can bid on additional Buckley-related artifacts at Amazon.com's auction site. The auction, which was organized by the singer's estate, will benefit Road Recovery, a charity that promotes substance-free living.

On May 29, 1997, the 30-year-old singer, who was the son of the late '60s folk singer Tim Buckley, drowned in Memphis while swimming in the Mississippi River. He had been working on the follow up to his 1994 full-length debut, Grace. In 1998, the partially finished material appeared on the two-disc Sketches (For My Sweetheart The Drunk). The songwriter's Live At Sin-é EP, which captured one of his acoustic performances at the now-defunct New York City club, brought him to national attention in 1993.

Apple Meddles On Behalf Of Periled Pet

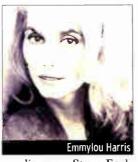

According to Rolling Stone, Fiona Apple recently interrupted a photo shoot so she could rescue an unlucky dog. On October 28, the singer spied two New York City cops wrangling with a German wirehaired pointer. Perhaps to relieve the celebrity tedium of her photoshoot, she strode over to the officers and inquired about the situation. The police had apparently found the abandoned dog in a subway car; they were preparing to take the animal to the pound. Apple asked the officers to give her the dog. She dialed PETA on her cell phone and asked the animal rights organization to help her house the pet. PETA complied; it's currently finding a loving family for the pooch. In related news, the 23-year-old tormented soul recently released When The Pawn..., the follow-up to her 1996 debut Tidal.

Emmylou Harris Organizes Anti-Landmine Benefits

Singer-songwriter Emmylou Harris is organizing five California concerts to benefit the nonprofit Campaign For A Landmine Free World. The shows will take place from December 1-5, at various locations, with various lineups. Steve Earle will join Harris for all five dates. Bruce Cockburn, Patty Griffin, John Prine, Gillian Welch & David Rawlings, Willie Nelson and Kris Kristofferson are among the remaining featured performers. The location of the benefits is as follows: 12/1: Stanford

GRADE

By Amy Sciarretto

Our hockeycrazed neighbor to the north, Canada, is not exactly notorious for producing raging emocore bands. However, Toronto's passionate Grade shatters that notion and puts its motherland on the hardcore map. Victory recently released Under The Radar, the brilliantly bi-polar debut by these intense Canucks. CMJ spoke to bassist Matt Jones "aboat" everything from hockey to David Lee Roth.

You've covered "Panama." Are you guys huge Van Halen fans?

I always loved Van Halen. 1984 was one of the first albums I heard. The kid next door used to babysit me and he was a total Van Halen freak...I totally got into Van Halen, but only with David Lee Roth.

I'm not a Van Hagar fan myself. "Me Wise Magic" is the best song they've done in years because Dave's on vocals. It ain't Van Halen without Diamond Dave. You made "Panama" sound like a Grade song.

That's my favorite song off that album, along with "Hot For Teacher" and "Jump." But the other two have parts that wouldn't have translated too well into the hardcore style. "Panama" fits the Grade style. "Jump" has keyboards and stuff we couldn't pull off.

What's the hardcore scene like in Toronto? It's good. We're 45 minutes from the U.S. border. We go to Buffalo and to Hamilton, Ontario. It's like one scene. We've always been into Snapcase, Slugfest, Despair, and Buried Alive, all from Buffalo. It spreads across. Bands from all over the States come up and play both places.

Do you guys play hockey before band practice?

No, no one in our band plays hockey!

When I think Canada, I think rabid hockey obsessions.

I can't even skate. I watch it on TV. Hockey is like religion here.

Bono Urges Congress To Forgive Third-World Debt

During the week of November 1, Bono visited Capitol Hill in an effort to convince Republican congressional leaders to forgive Third World debt, SonicNet reported. The U2 singer was lobbying in support of Jubilee

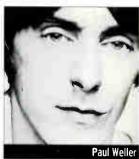

2000, the organization that asks world leaders to waive the financial oweings of poor nations. Bono's trip was well-timed; Congress will imminently vote regarding the budget for U.S. foreign aid. During a press conference, the vocalist explained, "My job is to get people to force themselves to...take a fresh look at this, to do something about it...I like to think that music keeps the heart from hardening."

While Bono may or may not win the hearts of America's elephant contingnent, his activities on behalf of Jubilee 2000 did impress Dublin's Lord Mayor, Mary Freehill, who also applauded U2's enduring commitment to charity and Irish culture. Early next year, the mayor and Dublin's city council will award the band the Freedom of Dublin honor, past recipients of which include Nelson Mandela, Mother Theresa, John F. Kennedy and Bill Clinton.

Jam Tribute Album Due Next Year

On January 27, Epic Records will domestically release Fire And Skill: The Songs Of The Jam. On November 6, Ignition Records issued the UK version of the tip-of-the-hat to the influential post-punk band. The album features such Yanks and Limevs as Garbage, Ben Harper. Everything But The Girl, Reef, Gene, Heavy Stereo and Silversun. Standout cuts include "Carnation," covered by Oasis's Liam Gallagher and Ocean Colour Scene's Sieve Cradock; "To Be Somcone," a Noel Gallagher effort; "Start," by the Beastie Boys; and a bonus track, "No One In The World," performed by Cradock and the man himself, Paul Weller, However, the American indie Youth Explosion! Records has already beat out the Brits. Earlier in the year, the label issued When You're Young, a Jam tribute featuring Dynamic Truths. Down By Law, Skinnerbox and a host of other punk, indie and emo acts.

On December 11, the BBC's Channel 4 will begin airing That's Entertainment: The Jam Then And Now, a documentary about the making of the new tribute album. The program will feature archival footage and interviews.

Smithsonian Folkways Inks Deal With Musicmaker.com

Independent heritage label Smithsonian Folkways has entered into a three-year licensing agreement with custom-CD compiler Musicmaker.com. Thanks to the agreement, the label's catalog of 35,000 tracks will be available at Musicmaker.com, which plans to install kiosks at Smithsonian museums in Washington, D.C. The devices will allow customers to create their own custom compilation discs containing music from the Smithsonian Folkways catalog.

Musicmaker's catalog currently boasts 500,000 tracks. The kiosks will house music in the MP3, Liquid Audio and Windows Media formats.

The Smithsonian Institution acquired Folkways Records in 1987. Moses Asch and Marian Distler founded the label in 1948. "Folkways' agreement with Musicmaker.com will make our vast catalog of tracks from around the world available to a much wider audience," said Michael Maloney, Product Manager for Smithsonian Folkways. "The walk-up kiosks will also enhance our ability to market to consumers in the highly trafficked museums in Washington, D.C."

Muscle Shoals Studios To Launch Label

Muscle Shoals, the famous Alabamabased recording studios, will launch an Internet-based record label, according to the Billboard Bulletin. LAXrecords.com, which will focus on new, independent artists, will sell digital music downloads in the Liquid Audio format. The company also plans to give each of its bands an individual Web site. Liquid Audio currently maintains affiliate relationships with 300 online retail outlets. In addition, LAXrecords is currently negotiating a traditional distribution deal with several major music companies. The new label's first release will be a compilation of music by amateur artists, proceeds from which will benefit Habitat For Humanity.

Juna Strikes Distribution Deal With Koch

Juna Records, the independent world music label, has made a distribution deal with Koch International. The debut record by R&B trio Too Bad and the sophomore effort by Côte d'Ivoire-based Afro pop act Les Go will christen the company. On the former's record, entitled Back To Our Roots, drummer Alfredo Alias, keyboardist Bernard Wright and bassist Damon Banks cover '70s classics by James Brown and Stevie Wonder. The Les Go affair is entitled Dan Gna. Both releases are scheduled to arrive in stores on February 8.

Spin Records Signs Deals With SoCal Bands

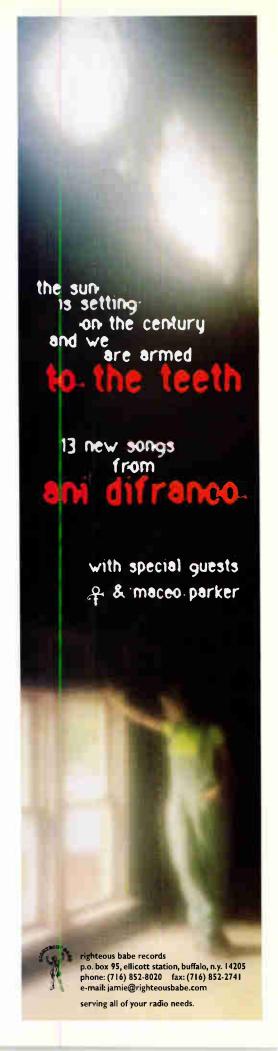

Online record company Spin Records.com has signed Southern California bands Kenochamp and The Color Red. Unlike major labels, SpinRecords.com offers bands a 60% royalty rate and assists them with album production, in exchange for the acts' digital distribution rights and the musicians' aid in promoting their works.

Tickets.com Raises $78 Million In IPO

On November 4, online ticket retailer Tickets.com sold 13 million shares and raised $84 million in its initial public offering. The amount exceeded the company's expected IPO goal of $75 million.

Due to investor demand, Tickets.com raised its asking price from $7-$9 to $10-$12 per share. The stock opened at $28 and traded as high as $32. The company hopes to use the influx of funds to promote brand awareness, establish an online entertainment community, and expand its marketing strategy. In addition, Cox Interactive Media and Excite@Home recently completed a $85 million investment in Tickets.com. The deal promotes cross-promotion between Tickets.com and the media properties helped by Cox and Excite.

Hip-Hop Represents In Rock Hall Of Fame

On November 10, the Cleveland-based Rock And Roll Hall Of Fame launched Roots, Rhymes & Rage, a long-awaited three-floor exhibit dedicated to hip-hop music and culture. Public Enemy, Nas, Slick Rick, Doug E. Fresh, Outkast and Grandmaster Flash performed at the launch party for the exhibit. Roots, Rhymes & Rage is divided into five sections: the Block Party; the Roots; the Golden Era; Controversy, Outrage & The Rise Of Gangsta Rap; and Pop Goes The Culture. The artifacts on display include the outfits worn by the Beastie Boys in their "Intergalactic" video, and the FBI's August 1, 1989 letter to Priority Records, which expressed disdain for gangta rap pioncers N.W.A. The exhibit will run through August 2000.

Putumayo To Change Distributor

In January, world music label Putumayo will change its distributor. The company will trade Distribution North America for a deal with Koch International, according to Billboard Bulletin. Putumayo had been allegedly seeking new distribution for a long duration of time. Koch offered the sweetest deal to the globally minded enterprise.

INCUBUS INVADES 'SOU: The loud rockers of Immortal-Epic act Incubus recently invaded WSOU, where the band and the staff discussed the New Jersey metal community's reaction to racial profiling. They also talked Nets basketball and discussed the city of Kearny's unmistakably foul odor. L-R: Samantha (WSOU), Lillian (WSOU), Julia (WSOU), Jose (Incubus), Kilmore (Incubus), Brandon (Incubus), Tom (WSOU).

WHAT ARE THESE PEOPLE THINKING?: L-R: Robert Schmerler (CMJ) ponders the possibility of booking a full-page, back cover Melanie C ad; Glen Sansone (CMJ) wonders who's buying the next round; Jaime Mathur (Planetary Group) can't decide which part of his midriff would be most conducive to a tattoo; Dan Connelly (Virgin) can't decide if he should get the 12K or 24K gold tooth; Melanie C. has no idea who these people are; Moose (The Syndicate) wonders if Mel needs a new fanclub president; Crystal Stephens (Astralwerks) would like to know if the Chemical Brothers are available to remix the next Spice Girls album.

Portland, Oregon, may have Quasi and Elliott Smith, but Portland, Maine, has the Rustic Overtones, which happen to be one of David Bowie's favorite new acts. Arista Records has serviced college radio with a promo-only, sixsong EP featuring four new tunes from the group's upcoming full-length, which is due out in January of 2000. Two previously unreleased demos round out the mini-album. On this effort, the band's music takes on an edgier tone and an extra layer of crunch. The Thin White Duke himself sings backup on "Man Without A Mouth" and Funkmaster Flex scratches up "Smoke." For more information, contact Chris Elles (Arista) at 212.830.0717; email: chris.elles@bmge.com.

When Pure Evil comes aknocking to wage an apocalyptic war on mankind, who — other than Arnold Schwarzenegger — will you call upon to save your mortal soul? Aw, forget it. You'll never be able to hear the thunder of doom over the soundtrack to the pre-millennium action adventure film End Of Days (Geffen), which stars the former bodybuilder and onetime Terminator. The album contains heavy shards of rock by acts such as Korn ("Camel Song"), Everlast ("So Long"), Rob Zombie ("Superbeast") and Creed ("Wrong Way"). The dozen-cut set also features Guns 'N Roses' spankin' new cut "Oh My God," a blazing, shrapnel-laden song that perfectly suits the overall mood of the movie.

Rounder Records' Select imprint continues to churn out titles in its series of indigenous world music reissues. Sacred Flute Music From New Guinea, Vol. 2 and Music From Yeman Arabia have been packaged with comprehensive liner notes and useful historical information. The text will help you hop from continent to continent and understand the significance of these fascinating, centuries-old musical traditions. During your digital journey, you'll hear Gomkail and Buaraning flutes or perhaps a beautiful North Yemenite marriage song. These two sets were originally released in 1976 and 1973, respectively. For more information, contact Matt McGlinn (Rounder) at 617.218.4442; email: mattm@rounder.com.

Ann-Margret and Paul Anka, you're so money and you don't even know it! Yes, kids, just when you thought you were safe from all that cigarchomping and martini-swilling retro hoopla, here comes "more music from and inspired by the hit motion picture Swingers." Yes, it's Swingers Too! (Hollywood), which is actually low on the cheese. thanks to the inclusion of cuts by Dinah Washington Brook Benton, Lambert, Hendricks &

Ross, and Willie Nelson. The unbelieveably wobbly rendition of "Staying Alive," performed by real-life lounge act Marty & Elayne, is especially swank. For more information, contact Will Knapp (Hollywood) at 818.560,2807; email: will.knapp@disney.com.

What's that garbage-disposal racket coming out of your little brother's bedroom? Why, he's probably getting his ya-ya's out, growling along with the MTV Celebrity Deathmatch soundtrack (Interscope), which includes new tracks by Marilyn Manson, Eminem and Sevendust. Powerman 5000, Bif Naked, Kool Keith, Primus and Rob Zombie have also contributed some music to the project. For more information, contact Lenny, Joanna or Mark (Interscope) at 800.992.6553; email: rad@interscoperecords.com.

Alt-country singer-songwriter Robbie Fulks has teamed up with super-producer Steve Albini. The unlikely pair has sewn together 14 of Fulks's finest and rarest tunes to comprise The Very Best Of Robbie Fulks, which spans the performer's 10year recording career. Albini, incidentally, had engineered one of Fulks's earliest singles, as well as his Bloodshot Records debut, Country Love Songs. Geffen issued the twang darling's most recent album, the 1998-released Let's Kill Saturday Night. For more information, contact Nan Warshaw (Bloodshot) at 773.604.5300; email: nan@bloodshotrecords.com.

Columbia Records and Sony Music Soundtrax have released the soundtrack to director Michael Mann's forthcoming movie The Insider. The flick, which stars Al Pacino, Russell Crowe and Christopher Plummer, is based on a Vanity Fair article about a tobacco industry exec whose life comes undone when he refuses to keep quiet about the industry's shady practice of lying about the risks of smoking. Lisa Gerrard, formerly of Dead Can Dance, and her new collaborator Pieter Bourke wrote most of the film's score. Graeme Revell and Massive Attack also appear on the soundtrack. For more information, contact Howard Wuelfing (Columbia Records) at 212.833.8891; email: howard_wuelfing@sonymusic.com.

OOPS!

In issue #644, in our review of the band's record And Reason Flew, we printed incorrect information about 100 Watt Smile frontwoman Carrie Bradley's previous gigs. In addition to playing violin for the Breeders and playing sessions with John Wesley Harding, the Red House Painters and Love & Rockets, Bradley was also a member of Ed's Redeeming Qualities. We apologize for the confusion.

The Who, Neil Diamond, Dean Martin and the Mamas & the Papas; these artists were signed to such labels as A&M Records, BMG, Capitol, Elektra, MCA, Sony, PolyGram and Warner Bros., which are represented by the RIAA. Global Arts actions resulted in the piracy and sale of one million CDs. The International Federation of the Phonographic Industry (IFPI) and the FLAPF, the Latin American RIAA, assisted the RIAA in uncovering the international piracy ring; all three organizations are presently tracking the participating companies.

The RIAA presented the Florida court with 500 instances of infringement. However, the organization only sought awards and damages for 137 of those cases, half of which involved music that was recorded prior to 1972. Material dating from that period is immune to copyright law.

The court awarded the RIAA the maximum statutory damage of $100,000 per song, retgardless of whether or not the material was subject to the copyright law. Commenting on the significance of this ruling, Matt Oppenheim, VP of Civil Litigation for the RIAA, said in a statement, "This case sets a precedent for awarding maximum statutory damages in cases of blatant music piracy."

"This judgment should send a shock wave through a community of back catalog music pirates who created businesses out of selling music licenses," said RIAA President/CEO Hilary Rosen in a statement. "It's an enormous victory for all artists, and especially this group whose music continues, decades later, to shape culture around the world."

from a pot of $200,000. Throughout November, the company will give money to the most popular artists on the site. In order to qualify for an award, an act must have created music that is subject to 20 or more downloads per day.

One MP3.com artist, Beston Barnett, said, "This is great news for MP3.com's artists. I get to make money by connecting with fans through my music. Basically, MP3.com has given me the opportunity to effectively self-market my music directly to fans and profit from the results." Michael Robertson, Chairman/ CEO of MP3.com, said, "The greatest thing about Payback For Playback is that the amount of cash the artist receives is up to the fans."

In related news, MP3.com has made a $13.3 million investment in Cinram International, a Canada-based manufacturer and distributor of CDs, cassettes, CD-ROMs, DVDs and VHS tapes. Cinram markets its products to record companies, publishers, movie studios and software companies. Under terms of the deal, Ciram will manufacture the CDs utilized by MP3.com's Digital Automatic Music (DAM) program. The deal encompasses custom compilation CDs, as well as music recorded by the 31,000 acts that participate in the online music company's program. DAM-affiliated performers may sell and market their music without start-up costs. When product is sold, the performer receives 50% of the proceeds. Cinram is the second company to have received MP3's investment dollars since July, when the download giant's IPO raised more than $340 million. In October, MP3.com invested in San Diego, California-based Colleges.com, the Web site of which provides various services and diversions, among them free email, games, forums and personal sections, to students. At press time, MP3.com's market cap totaled approximately $4.2 billion.

to super-serve their fans. Everyone was ready for another Korn record and they were ready, too. They are definitely going to make a lot of music as a band. They turn records around pretty fast. That's what they're about."

At first, rumors of the existence of a new Korn album seemed like hype. The band has maintained a hectic touring schedule since the release of its 1998-issued, multi-platinum Follow The Leader. That successful work featured several experiments with hip-hop form, and an array of guest performers, among them Fred Durst and Ice Cube. Issues is more stripped-down; it doesn't contain a single star cameo. Saturn says, "It's a classic Korn album."

One day prior to the record's street date, Korn will participate in a live satellite broadcast, which is expected to be one of the largest of its kind. The rockers will perform songs the new album, in its entirety, at the Apollo Theater in New York. Radio will broadcast the event live, worldwide, at 10 p.m.

The quintet often skirts convention. To debut their current single "Falling Away From Me," the band members "appeared" as characters on a recent episode of South Park.

According to Saturn, "The single was Fed-Ex-ed to radio the next day. With less than a week of airplay, it debuted on every alternative, active, and mainstream rock charts right away." Korn is definitely a force to be reckoned with on commercial rock radio. But Epic will initially Issues's worth and marketability metal and college radio. Korn does not forget its roots.

Saturn says, "Every format is being worked and serviced. When the band got a plaque for selling 10 million albums worldwide...at the Sony meetings, Jonathan thanked all the college reps because that's where it all started. He's very loval to that."

But Korn, which has been known to name songs after its friends, holds its rabid fanbase in higher esteem than any specific demographic, market or award. Working with MTV, the act participated in a special album-artwork promotional campaign. Saturn explains, "They had a contest where you could send in artwork to a PO Box. Korn went through all the samples and picked the artwork for the album. The person who won is going to appear live on MTV's TRL. There are three finalists and one cover contest winner. There is going to be four album covers of the album, a short run of the album with covers by the other three finalists; there will be limited edition copies of the three runners up. They're all incredible."

Issues goes for Loud Rock adds on November 22. Korn will embark on a tour sometime after New Year's.

Chart information is based on combined airplay reports from CMJ's panel of college, commercial and non-commercial radio stations. Statistics are compiled from point totals tabulated from positions (1-30) of artists on airplay reports, then multiplied by station code factor (based upon market size, market impact and market reach). © 1999 College Media Inc., 11 Middle Neck Road, Ste. 400, Great Neck, NY 11021-2301.

RAGE AGAINST THE MACHINE

Radio 200: #30 debut Adds: #1 with 135 reports Loud Rock: #32 debut Loud Rock Adds: #1

Rage Against The Machine's third album, The Battle Of Los Angeles (Epic), is by far the band's most artistically and philosophically intense album to date, and CMJ's college radio panel knows a great record when it hears one. Despite a lack of support at Core stations, Rage makes impressive debuts on the Radio 200 and Loud Rock top 40, and commands the number one position on both of those sections' Adds charts. With SoundScan numbers showing that the firey quartet sold 430,000 copies of this album in its first week in stores, making it the #1 album in the country, you can expect The Battle... to dominate all forms of radio and press throughout the winter of '99/2000.

FOO FIGHTERS

Radio 200: #56 debut Adds: #2 with 112 reports Triple A Adds: #2

Dave Grohl's Foo Fighters make their RCA debut with There Is Nothing Left To Lose (Roswell-RCA), which does well despite massive competition on its November 2 release date. On the CMJ charts, the Fighters make a strong debut on the Radio 200 and come in right behind Rage Against The Machine on the Adds chart, again without the help of Core radio. As one of the few power-pop bands to ever see notable commercial success, it's a good start for an album that will make-or-break the band's status as a major band of the '90s and perhaps pull Grohl even further out of the shadow of Nirvana. There Is Nothing ... also scanned 111,000 copes in its first week, marking it as the #10 album in the country.

World Radio History

ANI DIFRANCO Radio 200: #59 debut Triple A: #15 debut Triple A Adds: #1

Ani DiFranco's commercial success may be smaller in numbers than that of some of the other bands in this week's Chart Activity, but the accomplishment is certainly sweeter if not more impressive. Though her newest effort, To The Teeth (Righteous Babe), won't hit stores until November 16, non-commercial radio is as quick to champion their underdog hero as ever, regardless of the barrage of great new releases hitting their desks just in time for the holidays. Ms. DiFranco hits the Triple A chart at #15 in its first week out, while simultaneously scoring the most Triple A Adds, as the Radio 200 sees the folk-rocker land at #59.

COUNTING CROWS

Radio 200: 152-61 Triple A: 32-30

Though the Counting Crows may not be the ultimate "college radio" band, they are without a doubt an essential "college" band. You won't find punk rockers and electronica fanatics swaving along to the ballads and anthems on This Desert Life (DGC-Interscope), but college kids are lining up to hear the latest from Adam Duritz and company. Those Birkenstock-wearing renegade college programmers move the album 91 positions up the Radio 200 this week while Triple A continues its support of the album. And not insignificantly, 129,000 scanned copies went out the doors of retail stores in the hands of satisfied customers in the album's debut week. putting it at #8 on the Billboard chart.

GrooveTech originated in 1995 to serve the international, underground dance music community. From its studios in Seattle, GT Radio broadcasts the finest in underground electronica, featuring everything from deep house and breakbeat to trance and drum 'n' bass. From 10 a.m. to midnight, seven days a week, the station broadcasts live music from a host of underground DJs including J. Malik & MC MC (drum 'n' bass), DJ Delerium (breakbeat) and Lux (experimental). GrooveTech archives its recent shows and features them in the wee hours of the night. GrooveTech is taking advantage of the latest technology in digital music delivery. The company utilizes the newly released RealPlayer 7, RealNetworks' next generation, high-end streaming media player, to greatly enhance the quality of broadcasts. In addition to the studio broadcasts, the site features weekly, live broadcasts of DJs spinning at Seattle nightclub Aro.space, San Francisco's 1015 Folsom, South Beach's Groove Jet and others. Recent performances included Les Rythmes Digitales, DJ Lars, Ivan Ross and David J from Love And Rockets. Groove Tech also features a Listening Lab, its own online music store where site visitors can purchase vinyl and CDs of music they've heard on GT Radio. And with records coming from both sides of the Atlantic, the selection is globally diverse, featuring all genres of electronic music. Other site attributes include a bulletin board, a chat room, a space to sample DJ mix tapes, plus links to technology sources, label sites and dance culture resources. - Bill Konig

Jupiter Communications Experiences Q3 Revenues Increase

Internet research Jupiter Communications, Inc. annotunced its revenues for the third quarter, which ended on September 30. The company reported earnings of $12.7 million, up 147% from the $5.1 million it earned during the same period in 1998. Jupiter's net income for the period totaled $788,000, up from the reported $24,000 reported by the company in 1998.

Gene DeRose, the firm's CEO said, "Our performance in this period truly demonstrates the demand for the services we provide." Some of the company's most successful research initiatives address the costs associated with Internet commerce implementation, executive strategies and vertical market opportunities.

Jupiter helped build its core research business by holding three successful industry conferences during the quarter.

AMERICAN GIRLS

Like The Movies, Only Slower (Trauma)

Perhaps the only thing more surprising than discovering that the American Girls are an all-male quintet is finding that they aren't from Britain. The Portland, Oregon outfit's fourth time around refines its cheerful U.K.-enthused melodies. It would be too easy to write off Like The Movies, Only Slower as just another pop album chock full of catchy choruses, striking guitar strums and driving grooves, but, thanks to the arresting trumpet of Gus Baum, the record truly soars. "Simply Most Loved" kindles enough garish electricity to light up a small city, but that infectious brass turns the song, and the better part of the album, into a blissful — Bill Konig

APPLIANCE

Manual (Mute)

"Mardi Gras," an oil painting by minimalist Jason Martin, graces the cover of Manual. To his carry out his work, the artist decorates an aluminum panel with one single sweep of a customized brush, producing a hypnotic wave of color and movement. To make its music, Appliance employs numerous, far more complex tools, but the U.K.

trio's results are no less absorbing. The group's full-length debut thrives on the flutters and pulses of rigged keyboards and guitars, grounded by a straight-ahead drum kit and perfectly detached vocals. On "Heroes Of Telemark," the band flanges, distorts and delays its six-strings, resulting in rhythmic sheets of quavering analog hum. When common pedal effects won't do the trick, Appliance crafts its own appliances, among them the "tritone" and the "thripler" tone generators, the burblings of which intensify this sinewave symphony.

BACKYARD BABIES

Total 13 (Scooch Pooch)

Following in the footsteps of Swedish rock brethren the Hellacopters, the hard-hitting Backyard Babies are beginning to cause a stir in America. The 'Copters comparison is an obvious reference point — guitarist

Dregan was once in that band - but the Backyard Babies have carved their own rocky niche, nestled between the highoctane legacy of fellow

Swedish garage rockers like the Nomads and a big-rock roar that mixes Motörhead's metal snarl with Bad Religion's tuneful punk. Total 13, the Babies' 15-track domestic debut, is filled with taut, hard rock chops and spiraling solos. Furthermore, the English lyrics are packed with enough sexual innuendoes, curses and drugs references to please the crudest Yankee trash.

CHEATER SLICKS

Refried Dreams (In The Red)

The Cheater Slicks once kicked up such a shrill, manic and painful din that they made White Light/White Heat-era Velvets sound like muzak. However, Refried Dreams is a lot friendlier than previous outings by the Columbus-by-way-of-Boston trio, which is now delving into the twisted psuedo-blues of early-"70s Rolling Stones and toying with bongos and a bit of saxophone.

Tom and Dave Shannon still bash out gnarled chords of psychedelic clamor, but thev're longer hiding behind their distortion boxes. And Slicks' the wavering tempos simply refuse to go away; drummer Dana Hatch continues to speed up the songs, winningly jolting and adrenalizing the choruses and breaks. Refried Dreams, one of the better albums of the band's decade-plus career, tags a newly located sense of bluesy melancholy onto the Cheater Slicks' beloved ramshackle beat. Tad Hendrickson

BILLY CHILDISH & HOLLY GOLIGHTLY

In Blood (Wabana)

So how does Billy Childish, a man whose prolific output of gutbucket rock 'n' blues trails back to the late '70s, outdo himself? Record an entire album using only one chord, of course. On In Blood, Childish, joined by fellow lo-fi practitioner Holly

Golightly, once issues unflinching argument for the merits of garage primitivism, reducing crude blues and rockabilly forms to a primordial grind and twang. With appropriately simple backing by the Medway Delta Revue, the two musicians play and sing in tandem, creating a hypnotic stomp from the unerring repetition of a single, dirt-clumped riff and a similarly basic, but effective, lyrical sentiment (e.g. "Step out of your dress, little girl/step out of your dress, into my world"). The album's title says it all. - Colin Helms

EDALINE

I Wrote The Last Chapter For You (Law Of Inertia) Since the day it rose from the ashes of Santa Rosa, California's three-band punk scene, Edaline has found its own place in new the school of emo. Influenced by such groups as Hum and Sunny Day Real Estate, the band relies on the genre's patented tension-and-release aesthetic. However, its punkier leanings make its music more explosive than the work of some of its more sentimental peers. Unfortunately, I Wrote The Last Chapter For You is the group's final release. But Edaline hardly went out with a whimper. This full-tilt swan song rages, as the quartet squeezes every last drop of energy out of its instruments, one last time.

HANG UPS

Second Story (Restless)

On their third release, Second Story, Minneapolis' Hang Ups have truly climbed to a higher level. Co-founder Jeff Kearns has switched from bass to lead guitar, and the group has taken on the spikey new rhythm section of bassist Aaron Lundhom and drummer Chad Nelson. Producers Mitch Easter and Don Dixon, who hadn't collaborated since the sessions for R.E.M's 1984 album Reckoning, accentuate the quintet's pop propensities, but they never obscure the songs with unnecessary layers of polish. The title track develops wonderfully, soaring from soft serenade to spirited melody. The no-nonsense, stripped-down rocker "Party" proves that the band's music sounds equally engrossing when the studio controls aren't fiddling with a damn thing. Fans of unadulterated power pop won't have a single hang-up about enjoying — Bill Konig Second Story.

HI-STANDARD

Making The Road (Fat Wreck Chords)

Hi-Standard pretty much sets a new standard for the well-worn subgenre of melodic, West Coast-style, skater-friendly punk. The eight-year-old Tokyo act doesn't exactly redefine popcore, but its simple-but-effective playing, barely-there Japanese accent and sudden lunges into blinding, double-speed tempos add touches of wackiness and forcefulness to its anthemic music. Making The Road, the group's third American album, is identical to previous

Hi-Standard outings, but the record's diversity and velocity more than make up for its conventional nature. The trio's daily-grindlyrics, which occasionally lapse into weirdness like "What's the fuck/If I wore tight pants/You wouldn't be listening to this song," and its sense of humor — note the cover of "Green Acres" — will even appeal to non-athletic individuals who think that a boneless-180-no-comply is some sort of sexual position.

LORD HIGH FIXERS

Is Your Club A Secret Weapon? (Estrus)

During the intro to Is Your Club A Secret Weapon?, lead Lord High Fixer Mike Carroll warbles and chokes a refrain from the Bob Dylan '60s classic "The Times They Are A-Changin'." The move initially seems like a spoof on the order of Kris Novoselic's massacre of the Young-bloods' "Get Together" on Nirvana's "Territorial Pissings," but, as this sophomore album picks up speed, the motion seems like complete sincerity. The Lord High Fixers, who used to be a simple garage rock band of very high order, have certainly done some changin'. Is Your Club... is a political manifesto that mixes Gil Scott-Heron and Allen Ginsberg samples into familiar bursts of gritty, soulful rhythm 'n' blues stomp. The album, which is topped off with a feedback-laden, lightning-quick version of Alice Cooper's "Eighteen," rethought as a mildly homicidal political declaration, is custom-built for the proletariat rock 'n' roller. — Cheryl Botchick

MELANIE C Northern Star (Virgin)

By day she's Sporty Spice, the Spice Girl who, thanks to her kick-boxing antics and her tomboyish attitude, style and physique, stood out from the rest of the spice rack. By night, she's Melanie C, who is trying to become a solo Northern Star on her sassy, charming pop album of thumping beats and introspective ballads. While the Spice Girls undergo a pregnant pause, Mel is striking out on her own, alive and kicking. With the exception of the star herself's saccharine yet endearing vocals, there's nary a trace of that Spice-y, tooth decay-promoting bubblegum on her debut album, but those friendly dancefloor romps will still get old fans aroused and keep the Top 40 fires burning. Like their fellow countrymen Millencolin, the Satanic Surfers have already built a massive fanbase in Europe, thanks to a relentless touring schedule and releases on Euro hardcore label Burning Heart. Word of the band's hyper-speed melodic punk has spread to the States, leading to this debut release for E p i t a p h (Theologian also released a domestic Surfers album in 1996). Despite any geographical barriers, Going Nowhere Fast is quintessential SoCal-inspired punk. The group takes its cues from the NOFX/ Pennywise faction, but plays its songs at a breakneck pace to generally amp up the formula. The Surfers' interesting metallic undertones contrast the punk orthodoxy of their peers: The riffing of guitarists Fredrik and Magnus owes more to Judas Priest than it does to Black Flag, although singer Rodrigo's serious, mildly political lyrics derive from straight-ahead American hard-core.

SALLY TIMMS

Cewboy Sally's Twilight Laments For Lost Buckaroos (Bloodshot)

If you're expecting the latest affair from monumentally cheeky Mekons singer Sally Timms to be a record full of rowdy, randy cowpunk, well... don't. The follow-up to her 1997 Bloodshot release, the Cowboy

Sally EP, is more suited to campfire contemplation than saloon brawling. Timms avoids belting out her songs, instead coating them with fairy-dust fragile vocals. The backing cast, which consists of fellow Mekon Jon Langford, Tortoise drummer John Herndon, Pine Valley Cosmonaut Tom Ray, and Grievous Angel Jon Rauhouse, provide Timms with understated, almost delicate, traditional country arrangements. The album's standouts include a beautiful cover of Johnny Cash's "Cry Cry Cry," Langford-Timms's surreptitiously sneery "Dark Sun," and the creepy, Robbie Fulks-penned, Fairport Convention-like ballad "One Bright Day In Bristol Town."

BLUE HIGHWAY

Blue Highway (Ceili Music)

Blue Highway has become a hot bluegrass ticket, in part because of several of its members' tenures playing behind Ricky Skaggs and Alison Krauss. Resumes aside, this ensemble's own work is some of the finest new bluegrass around. This self-titled release, the band's fourth overall, displays the act's outstanding musicianship and its engaging, heartfelt repertoire. "Clay And Ottie," a slow ballad fashioned from a touching family tale by guitarist Tim Stafford, exudes warmth and sincerity. But Blue Highway can also reel off lightning pickin' with the best of them, despite the fact that the group is wise enough to allow gospel, country and the blues to inform its rich sound. The band even uncovers the essence of Sting's morality tale "I Hung My Head" by giving it a rollicking bluegrass spin. — Steve Ciabattoni

VARIOUS ARTISTS

Warp 10 (Warp-Matador)

Historical context is crucial to enjoying the last 15 years' worth of cerebral, minimalist dance music. This statement certainly applies to the monolithic Warp 10, which consists of three, separately sold double CD/quadruple LPs chronicling the late-'80s Influences, early-'90s Classics and brand new Remixes orbiting around Warp, the pioneering, decade-old, Sheffield, England-based electronic label. Influences, which includes material by ancient house acts A Guy Called

Gerald and 808 State, sounds awfully dated and conventional now, but during acid's heyday in the factorial wilds of northern Britain, the work's contents defined a fairly daring underground movement. In 1999, these proto-Warp tracks' main appeal is their blueprint relationship to Warp proper's first four years of Classics. A couple of the company's collectible singles have aged poorly, but many of them, such as Sweet Exorcist's tough and primitive "Testone" and Nightmares On Wax's percolating, beautifully anonymous "Dextrous," have survived intact. The varied and smart Remixes, however, ingeniously skirts dance convention to encompass mood rock (Mogwai remixing Link), kitsch (Jimi Tenor camping up Sweet Exorcist) and robotic abstraction (Jim O'Rourke scrambling Autechre). Warp 20's sure to be a real mindbender.

CAMBER/KID BROTHER COLLECTIVE

"The Long Goodbye"/"Sketches Of Spain" (7")
(Doom Nibbler)

Camber and Kid Brother pour out Vesuvian amounts of emotion on this split 7" full of sensitive rock. Camber's emo-pop gem, "The Long Goodbye" recalls Get Up

Kids with a dash of Mineral, while Kid Brother Collective's jangly, assured guitar playing and graceful piano figures carry "Sketches Of Spain." These indie rock bands would be right at home performing in a packed church basement to an audience of backpack-toters. — Amy Sciarretto

RANDY WESTON

The Spirits Of Our Ancestors (Antilles, 1992)

For me, it doesn't get much better than watching Randy Weston work. He's a giant figure at the piano, rattling both poles of the ivory with a mixture of percussive outbursts and rippling melodies. But what really overwhelms me is the way his music channels Africa. I can't help but feel there's some universal, ancestral tug that lures us all back to that cradle of music. As an Italian-American, I suppose I should be hearing the call of musical ancestors like Antonio Vivaldi, but I'm uncommonly drawn to musicians like Weston, Ernest Ranglin and Taj Mahal, who look to traditional African music for rhythmic, melodic and spiritual inspiration. Brooklyn-born Weston lived abroad in Africa for several years in the late-'60s/early-'70s, and that experience clearly helped to underscore the African elements of his style - a penetrating mixture of Monkish bop and Ellingtonian grace. If a documentary were made about Randy Weston, The Spirits Of Our Ancestors would be its soundtrack. Weston (aided by ace arranger Melba Liston) fills the double disc with profound African-American tales, which are bookended by solo pieces. Pharoah Sanders, Dizzy Gillespie and several North African musicians join in, creating a big bang of free-jazz frenzy, Afro-Caribbean cool and haunting Moroccan trance. Percussionist Big Black and drummer Idris Muhammad drive the rhythm, but Weston stirs the beat as well. On "African Cookbook," he pounds out wild, jubilant splashes as if he were swept up by the fury of Sanders's cathartic sax wails. In a word: heavy.

- Steve Ciabattoni

For Fans Of: Abdulla Ibrahim, Mulgrew Miller, Art Tatum Bio Fact: Randy Weston's latest album is Khepera (Verve); Antonio Vivaldi hasn't done much since 1741.

LES SANS CULOTTES

Les Sans Culottes

The sans-culottes were the rabble-rousing poor who helped mount an insurrection during the French Revolution. Les Sans Culottes, the band, consists of seven New Yorkers who perform as a faux French group under cover of pseudonyms such as Jean Luc Retard. This mob is far too busy making a sublimely goofy retro racket to carry out any kind of revolt, but the group will certainly overthrow your notions of what constitutes pop. Les Sans Coulettes' brand of garage-hewn yé-yé, which is driven by ragged guitars and keyboards and sweetened by chanteuses Gigi Soleil and Kit Kat Le Noir, possesses a psychedelic swagger that could take down the Bastille. Frontman Clermont Ferrand's louche, guttural Barry White-meets-Serge Gainsbourg impression makes wonderful sense on these covers of obscure songs originally penned by classic French popsters. The lyrics about body builders, fatal LSD hits and cacti make this work of high kitsch even more irresistible. — Carlene Bauer

BANE

It All Comes Down To This (Equal Vision)

It All Comes Down To This will incite marathon moshing. The album is righteous, old-school, Northeastern hardcore rife with breakdowns for those who love picking up change in the pit. Bane's style is more melodic than metallic, with a musical breadth and depth that far surpasses many of the quintet's amateurish peers. Guitarist Aaron Dalbec (also of vicious noisemongers Converge) breaks out of his cocoon to show off his knack for melody with this side-project. The album's robust sing-alongs also provide a communal atmosphere, while the lyrics center on issues of life and death.

Animatronic (Nuclear Blast America)

Kovenant, formerly Covenant until a band with the same nom de plume necessitated the change in spelling, are leading the charge of forward-thinking European metal bands. Animatronic is an ambitious, lush tapestry of black metal, industrial and techno. Spooky keyboards. screechy vocals, grandiose beats and operatic female backing vocals lace this metal symphony. Kovenant's pedigree is awe-inspiring (drummer Hellhammer, a.k.a. Von Blomberg, smashed the skins in black metal pioneer Mayhem), and his skills help keep Animatronic confident and well-executed, instead of a messy mish-mash.

Nothing suits Halloween like a Type O Negative gig. On October 29, the gloomy goth-metal act, which never takes itself too seriously, filled NYC's

Roseland with its doomy hard rock. Incidentally, that date is the birthday of Incredible Hulk-sized frontman Peter Steele. His deep, moody voice taunted the crowd, asking them why they still supported Type O and its self-proclaimed "mediocre metal" after all these years. The kick-ass show, which began with "My Girlfriend's Girlfriend," included "Kill All The White People," and ended with "Black No. 1," made Steele's question seem purely rhetorical. Type O's new album, World Coming Down, contains the lyric of the year: "I love myself for hating you." The legions of latex-clad and costumed geeks in the crowd only heightened the drama...Kid Rock blew through town again, this time with DDT and

Detroit techno innovator and Planet E label head Carl rpm news Craig has been commissioned to compose an exclusive soundtrack to accompany "Le Détroit," a new multimedia installation by acclaimed Canadian visual artist Stan Douglas. Craig's Planet E label describes the soundtrack as "a further continuation of [Craig's] current musical explorations into futurism, experimentation and soundtrack scoring." Douglas presented Craig with the concept and a script for the film installation, the subject of which concerns urbanity's threat to nature. Craig then wrote a minimalist score based on notions of "modular sound sculpting and architecture." The music was then programmed and included in the multimedia installation. Subliminal Minded: The E.P. (Bar/None)

Solvently One Listens (Suction)

Jason Amm's (a.k.a. Solvent) adoration for bubbly techno-pop is apparent on his second full-length, Solvently One Listens. Using ancient analog machinery to compose dense, robotic lullabies, Amm emits early-'80s vibes with a 21st century outlook. The album is alternately jubilant and restrained, vet consistently soothing throughout, often suggesting early Depeche Mode as interpreted by Autechre.

EURYTHMICS Peace (Arista)

Today the image of a dominatrix with an orange crew-cut singing over synth-pop may seem passé, but it was delightfully shocking in 1983 when the Eurythnics hit #1 with "Sweet Dreams (Are Made Of This)." Lennox's powerfully expressive voice and Stewart's production brilliance still carry the duo on Peace, their first album together in a decade. The Lennox/Stewart team's ability to write interesting, uncommonly heartfelt songs is re-ignited on tracks such as "I Saved The World." The lush ballad may have an upbeat chorus, but its lyrics about thriving in a world with hungry people puts an ironic twist on the sunshine.

KEN VANDERMARK'S SOUND IN ACTION TRIO

Design In Time (Delmark)

One of the most significant reedman of his generation, Ken Vandermark is joined by his regular skinsman Tim Mulvenna and Sun Ra's original drummer Robert Barry. Because of the two drummer accompaniment, Vandermark is allowed to wander melodically while adding an emphasized rhythmic wrinkle to his play. While tackling four Vandermark originals, the trio also covers material by Ornette Coleman, Don Cherry, Albert Ayler and Thelonious Monk their version of "Green Chimneys" is one of the best re-imaginings we've ever heard. Surprising subdued and melodic, this unique setting has produced one of Vandermark's best albums.

Jazz At Lincoln Center held its fourth Annual Awards Gala and Benefit concert on November 1 at Lincoln Center's

Avery Fisher Hall. The musical program for the evening, entitled "Love You Madly," was in keeping with JALC's year-long tribute to Duke Ellington. Pianist John Lewis received the JALC Award for Artistic Excellence. When the pianist got on stage, he quickly accepted the award and jumped over to the piano to lead the Lincoln Center Jazz Orchestra in a version of "C-Jam Blues." Other stars in attendance included Bobby McFerrin, who performed spellbinding version of "Prelude To A Kiss" and "Caravan," which benefitted from a dose of McFerrin's vocalese. Harry Connick, Jr. contributed takes on "Perdido" and "I Got It Bad And That Ain't Good." CBS newscaster and IALC board member Ed Bradley hosted the evening. Philanthropist and JALC benefactor Irene Diamond received the Award for Leadership. Verve Records founder Norman Granz received the Bobby McFerrin Award for Lifetime Achievement. The 81-year-old Granz couldn't make the gig because of his fragile health, but pianist Oscar Peterson stepped up to accept the honor, praising Granz for making a commitment to desegregating music fans before the civil rights entered the national discourse... The International Association of Jazz Educators Conference is set for January 12-15 in New Orleans. The 2000 edition, which will be the biggest jazz convention in the world, will feature performances by such jazz heavies as Joshua Redman, Nicholas Payton, Ellis Marsalis, Benny Green with Christian McBride and Russell Malone, Steve Turre, Jimmy McGriff/Hank Crawford Quartet and Ramsey Lewis among others. In addition to the performances, there will be seminars, clinics, workshops, lectures and paper presentations for jazz educators, broadcasters, journalists and fans. new world news

The name Bob Marley is on the tip of everyone's tongue these days. A four-CD retrospective entitled Songs Of Freedom (IDJMG) hit the stores on November 16. Originally released as a limited-edition boxed set in 1992, Songs... has been re-issued in four slip cases and a brickshaped box. The collection contains a wealth of rare material, including an acoustic medley and a live version of "Redemption Song" from Marlev's last show. Also forthcoming is Bob Marley: Chant Down Babylon, a remix album produced by son Stephan Marley. As reported earlier in this column, the album will feature an all-star list of reggae, rap and rock musicians, among them Lauryn Hill, Busta Rhymes, Steven Tyler and Erykah Badu...Israeli singing legend Chava Alberstein will reunite with downtown klezmer band the Klezmatics to perform a handful of gigs in celebration of the Hanukkah season. The singer and group previously collaborated on 1998's The Well and also played some live dates together. This year they will perform in Hull, Canada, on November 30, Toronto on December 1, Upper Montclair, New Jersey on December 4 and Queens College in New York City on December 11 and 12...The Mapleshade label, known for putting out well-recorded releases from some of jazz's most authentic voices, has signed its first reggae artist. Midnite is a politically-minded band whose music is firmly rooted in the pre-digital reggae of the early '70s. The band's debut is entitled Ras Mek Peace, the label's Wildchild arm will release the record.

KEPA JUNKERA Bilbao 00:00h (Alula)

The music of Bilboa in the Basque area of Spain is a strongly rhythmic, exciting music driven by the accordion, vibrant percussion and the Spanish-inflected acoustic guitar. On this ambitious double-CD recording, master accordionist Kepa Junkera blends the traditional sounds of Basque music with music from around the globe, including contributions from Bela Fleck, members of the Chieftains and Radio Tarifa. It's a musical vision that is contemporary and global in its outreach, but never commercialized, saccharine or watered-down.

For Fans Of: Gipsy Kings, Astor Piazzolla, Chieftains Recommended Tracks: "Del Hierro A Madagascar," "Fali-Faly" (with Bela Fleck on banjo), "Zugarramurdi Dantza"

Prettyboy frontman Spider dropped the "F" bomb at least a thousand times while he addressed the crowd. Kid Rock, decked out in the whitetrashiest white fur coat, did his thang, opening with his biggest hit, "Bawitdaba," and tossing in a few Hank Williams, Jr.style county romps, as well as several bluesier numbers. His sidekick, Joe C. — 3'9" with a 10-foot dick — was notably absent. Mr. Rock announced that lil' Joe was grappling with health issues; no, henchman and his boss have not had a falling out. You gotta respect the Kid, who, on the title track, of Devil Without A Cause declared, "I'm going platinum." Platinum he went. And then some...If you're despairing about what to get your metal compadres for Christmas, fret no longer. Slipknot's new home video Welcome To Our Neighborhood contains music clips, along with behind the scenes footage of the masked men...Thank the metal gods! Century Media has signed Shadows Fall. The Massachusetts band is currently recording a full-length, which will arrive in stores in March. Attention clueless ones: ex-Overcast drummer Brian is the singer in this death-y outfit...Orange 9mm has canceled its remaining tour dates. The band, which has undergone several line-up changes over the past year, is - you guessed it retooling its line-up. Orange 9mm will remain dormant until early next year, when it hopes to re-emerge with a new tour and a new record...In early 2000, Eclipse Records will drop Panther, a tribute to groove metal masters Pantera. Pissing Razors ("I'm Broken,"), Step Kings ("Good Friends And A Bottle Of Pills"), Murder 1 ("I'm Broken,") Disarray ("Cowboys From Hell"), Drained ("By Demons Be Driven"), and - the one that will make it all worth the price of admission — A.C. ("The Great Southern Trendkill") will appear on the album...CMC International has inked a deal with Canada's Annihilator. The group's got a thrashy groove going on...Attention all ye who aspire to be the next Lars Ulrich or the new Neil Peart! Drum educator Chuck Silverman and ex-Slayer skinsman/current Grip, Inc. and Fantomas drummer Dave Lombardo have written Power Grooves: A No Nonsense Approach To Hard Rock, Thrash, And Heavy Metal Drumming. The tome is available at bookstores nationwide...P.O.D. was deemed San Diego's best metal band at the San Diego Music Awards...Forget the Valentine's Day Massacre. Cannibal Corpse, God Dethroned, Hate Eternal and Diabolic will spread carnage across the globe, when they embark on their Death Metal Massacre 2000 tour. The slaying begins in February.

gunshots while sitting at a traffic light in Kennington, South London, last July. Though a bullet struck Westwood, and came within inches of hitting his heart and spine, early reports claimed that a fellow passenger was actually the target of the shooting. The police still have not made an arrest in the case, but are now keeping in mind that the DJ was actually the target of the gunmen while they conduct their investigation.

in the Louisiana Superdome and New Orleans Hyatt Regency Hotel, is estimated to draw more than 6,000 people. Be there or be square... Things are hopping over at the Knitting Factory. Not only is the company opening a sister club in Los Angeles in the next few months, but Knitmedia has announced plans for a new reissue label entitled Knit Classics. The label will acquire jazz catalogs from archive stashes and defunct labels. The first 30 titles will draw upon material from Rashied Ali's Survival Studio label, Ronald Shannon Jackson's live performances from the Decoding Society archives, and music produced by Alan Douglas, who worked with the likes of Dizzy Gillespie and the Modern Jazz Quartet. The titles will be available on the Web at www.knittingfactory.com beginning December 1. Expect them in the stores around the spring of next year. Knitmedia has also inked a deal with BET's Jazz Channel to produce 19 episodes of a program that combines performances from the club with laid-back interviews. The first show will feature the Charles Gayle Trio and Gil Scott-Heron. The second one will feature Curtis Fowlkes's Catfish Corner and Sex Mob doing the songs of Little Richard. Sun Ra Arkestra, Deep Rumba and a trio featuring Ronald Shannon Jackson, Vernon Reid and Melvin Gibbs have also been scheduled to appear.

the MC's poems, which he wrote prior to the release of his 1992 solo debut 2Pacalypse Now. The verses were compiled by the artist's mother, Afeni Shakur, and by his former manager, Leila Steinberg. The Rose That Grew From Concrete contains two printings each — one in type and another in the author's handwriting — of 72 2Pacpenned poems...The Roots are pretty damn busy. Their hot new live album, The Roots Come Alive, hit stores on November 2. On Halloween, the band performed at the Voodoo Music Festival in New Orleans. The group has also mapped out a two-month U.S. tour, which will wind down during the week of New Years' Eve, when the Philly crew plays a three-night stand at the 9:30 Club in Washington, D.C. The Roots also dipped into the studio, where they recorded an urbanized version of the Bob Dylan classic "Hurricane." The track will appear in the upcoming biopic based on the case of middle-weight boxing great Rubin "Hurricane" Carter. Dylan's 1976 epic detailed the wrongful conviction of the pugilist, who, in 1966, was sentenced to life in prison on charges stemming from an alleged triple murder. The original song actually helped inspire officials to review the case two times. The reviews resulted in a mistrial; the fighter was freed in 1988. Special guests Dice Raw, Mos Def and Common will rap alongside Black Thought on the Roots' version of the cut. Rumors claim that Dylan himself might make a cameo on the cover. Melky Sedeck, K-Ci And JoJo, MeShell N'Degéocello and Black Star — the latter of whom blessed the project with "Little Brother," a reworking of the Gil Scott-Heron anthem "The Revolution Will Not Be Televised" donated music to the film, which stars leading man Denzel Washington. Norman Jewison (Moonstruck, Jesus Christ Superstar, ...And Justice For All) directed the picture. Etta James, Ruth Brown and Ray Charles are among the classic performers whose period material will appear on the soundtrack. The film will open in select theaters on December 28; it will open in nationwide markets on January 12... Eminem, the Wu-Tang Clan, Kurupt with Kid Frost and Lil' Zane have contributed tracks to Next Friday, the follow-up film and follow-up soundtrack to Ice Cube's comedic cult hit Friday. Cube's track on the album is his current radio single, "You Can Do It," which features Ms. Toi and Cube's Westside Connection partner Mack 10. Next Friday open in theaters Christmas...On November 2, NYC club Brownies played host to the benefit show for Gravediggaz lyricist Poetic, who, in April, was diagnosed with colon cancer. Non-Phixion, the Poor Righteous Teachers, Heltah Skeltah, Tekitha, and fellow Gravediggaz RZA and Fruitkwan showed up to support their friend. Profits from the event were donated to the rapper, who is currently paying medical bills of over $4,000 a month. National healthcare, where you at when we need you?

RETURNS BOLDER & BETTER ON RHYTHM AND STEALTH

Releasing a successful follow-up to an acclaimed debut album is a daunting task for any artist. But how do you deal with the pressure of writing and recording your second body of work when your first effort has become a touchstone for an entire generation of musicians?

When many consider your When many consider your first attempt to be one of the pinnacles of your chosen genre?

If you're Paul Dailey and Neil Barnes of Britain's Leftfield, you take a four-year hiatus, start from scratch, and touch on your original opus while you build an all-around rougher, tougher, bigger and badder beast.

"You get your whole life to make your first album, but then your second is supposed to be done in six months," Barnes says. "The reality is that when you're successful, people want more of what you've got, so the pressure is bound to be worse. Plus, a lot of people held up [the debut] Leftism puts pressure on you to recreate the same thing. That's just the name of the game, though. I'm sure every successful recording artist has felt that pressure."

Leftfield's newest document, the diverse and deviant Rhythm And Stealth (Hard Hands/Higher Ground/Columbia-CRG), was obviously created by the same four hands that concocted 1995's ground-breaking and influential Leftism. Both albums feature an array of rock and soul vocalists, and both works boras their all-time favorite album, and that row the best bits of dubby reggae, funky house, straight-up techno and cuttingedge rock and soul to create an enthralling listening experience that varies in tempo and intensity. Where Leftism purred, however, Rhythm... roars. Where the former seduced you with its sultry sound, the latter whips you into submission with its melancholy mood and in-your-face fury.

"I think both of [our albums] have their own identities," Barnes says. "They both sound brilliant loud and they're both designed to be played in a club environment. I think that's the big similarity between them, but stylewise they're very different because they were made at very different times in our lives. There's four years between them, and I think that Rhythm And Stealth is definitely a record for the next millenium. It's made for the future."

Perhaps pre-millenium tension is the main guiding force behind Leftfield's newest creation, but numerous, more accurate impetuses have also helped form the duo's heavier, decidedly different aural vision. Progressive house, a souped-up, technofied version of the classic house sound, is a style embraced by countless DJs that simply didn't exist until Leftfield composed such early-'90s milestones as "Release The Pressure" and "Song Of Life." That marriage of rock and electronic dance, a method now embraced by musicians on both sides of the fence, was a rare occurrence, until Leftfield asked ex-Sex Pistols/PiL frontman John Lydon and Curve's Toni Halliday to sing over the unit's electronic undercurrents. Leftism invented formulas that became the norms of new house. With its harsher textures, soulful ambiance and unrestrained eclecticism, Rhythm

And Stealth simply and successfully ups the ante on the innovations.

When they were recording the new album, Barnes and Dailey decided that the first thing they needed to rethink was their employment of guest vocalists. Rather than hire the usual cast of rockers, as they had done in the past, the men enlisted the talents of Afrika Bambaataa, who drops science on the electro-breakbeat monster "Afrika Shox," as well as newcomers such as Roots Manuva, Rino Della Volpe and Nicole Willis, who turn the rapturous "Swords" into the record's sultriest moment.

"We deliberately didn't work with rock-styled vocalists this time since everyone else is doing it and we thought it would be new not to," Barnes explains. "We just thought we'd try and do something a bit braver. We could have worked with far more well known people, but we decided to work with people just for the quality of their voices and because they were good at what they did."

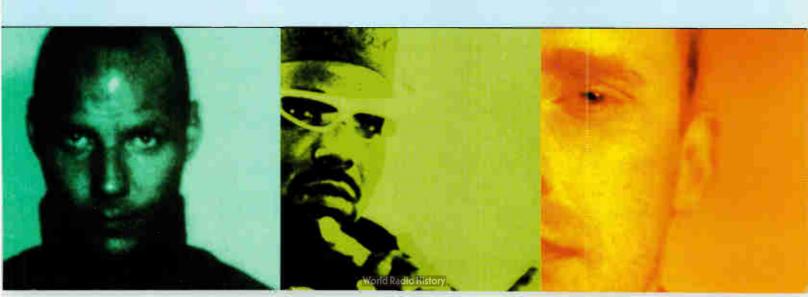

"We tend to think of the person we want to work with and then write a backing track we feel [they] would be comfortable with in order to get the best out of them," he continues. "Once we've gotten it, we go in when they're not around and work on the backing track. Often they're quite surprised with what they actually hear in the end, because during the initial session, they can't hear what we can hear." The duo has been hearing the difference since the release of its earliest singles. Lengthy hiatuses sometimes mean sudden death for artists — especially in the rapidly advancing world of electronic music — but Rhythm And Stealth's rampant success is a testament to the fact that Leftfield isn't disappearing anytime soon. Barnes and Daily haven't lost their innovative edge. The duo remains a forward-thinking, influential force, committed to challenging and developing the conventions of modern electronic music.

"We will spend five months on just one track," Barnes says. "That is an amazing amount of time and effort. You can't really put more into what we do. The important thing is that we keep doing what we do and force the marketplace to change to our style. I think if we started changing our style to accommodate a fickle audience, then we'd have a problem."

INDUSTRY PROFILE

Interview by Cheryl Botchick

Fans of underground rock have been familiar with the poster art of Frank Kozik for years. His colorful, explosive, and sometimes propagandist-looking designs have been an earmark of the scene for over a decade. In 1995, Kozik started his own record label, Man's Ruin. Four years and 200 releases later, he finds himself at the center of a stoner metal/hard rock resurgence, while his label begins a new production and distribution deal with Artemis Records.

The Man's Ruin catalog is filled with great releases from nearly every notable band in the hard rock/stoner metal scene. How did you develop such a superb roster?

I'm lucky, in that I do artwork too. I've been doing posters for rock bands for almost 20 years, and I have had the same string of good luck there. If you look at the poster catalog over the years, every band that became huge is in there, so I got this reputation. People wanted to work with me, because it seemed like it was somehow a lucky charm. I mean, I started hanging around the punk rock scene around 1980, so I've been friends with a lot of cats for a long time, and a lot of them turned out to have really killer bands. To tell you the truth, the larger bands on the roster are all friends of mine. It was like, "Oh, you're starting a label? Cool, we'll start giving you records." It was always my dream to have a musicians' label, you know? Bands want to be on the label, they turn me on to bands they like. It's a very, very mellow process. And everybody [involved] makes money. Our bands make money. It's not hard to do, really.

How do you approach running the everyday business of Man's Ruin, since your first line of work is visual art and design, and not being a label owner?

I've applied what I learned from my art thing to the record label. I'm not structured like a label, I'm structured like a publishing company for an artist. So there's that,

FRANK KOZIK

Owner/Founder, Man's Ruin Records

"It's all based on rhythm and blues, which is based on, like, 20,000 years ago, when people were sitting around after a big meal banging rocks together to get worked up to have a good screw."

combined with the fact that I'm into leaving a band completely alone. I've never had a problem with a band, because I just say, "Look, here's the deal: Here's how much money you're going to make if we sell this many records or that many records. Here's your budget. When you bring me back a finished record, it comes out on day 'x.' I don't go to the studio with them, I don't try and tell them what to record. If they want a lot of input, I give it; If they're like, "leave us alone," I leave them alone. And I keep getting these really good records and the bands always deliver on time... My whole thing is, when someone hires me to do a job, well, you're hiring me to do a job, so leave me alone. So that's what I do with the bands, and it's had sterling results. Out of 200-odd releases, only one or two of them have really been failures and lost money. And that was early on... As far as spending money on a project goes, I'm very pessimistic. I just figure, OK, I can sell 1,000 CDs of anything. So no matter what we do, it's very realistic. I'm shooting for a break-even. And usually what happens is we make money because there's a better reaction than I think there's going to be.

The label is also a stand-out in that it truly serves as an imprint. There's a kind of brand-name identity with Man's Ruin, so that fans of heavy rock know that anything on the label is likely to be up their alley.

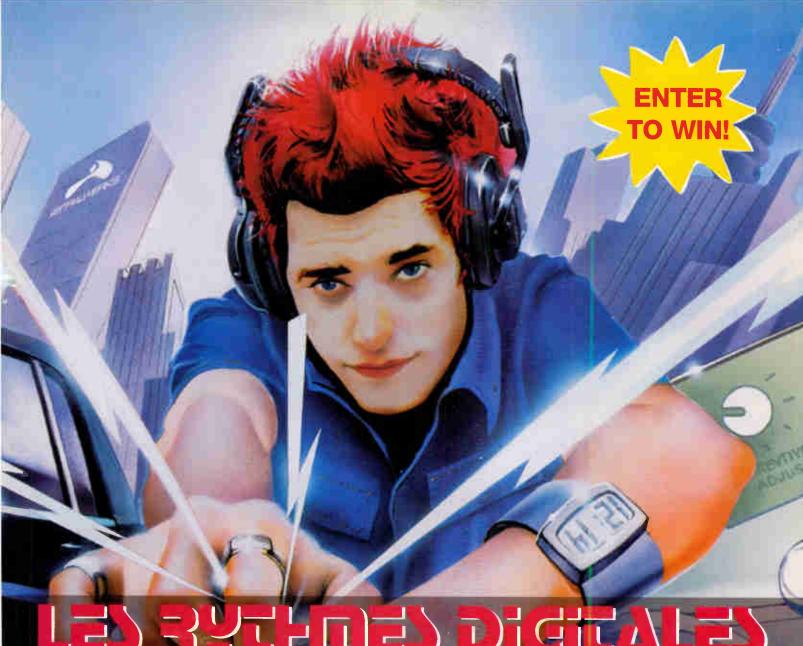

You know, I do interviews for these really politically deep magazines all the time, and they're like, ideology-this and ideology-that. And I'm like, "Dude, it's rock music. It's fucking music." It's about sex. It's all based on rhythm and blues, which is based on, like, 20,000 years ago, when people were sitting around after a big meal banging rocks together to get worked up to have a good screw. That is the basic premise of this form of music. It's not an intellectual enterprise... It sounds retarded for a grown man to say this, but it either rocks or it doesn't. We're not putting out punk records to make a political statement against class oppression, man. That's not my scene. If you want to do that, go get involved in politics or work for the poor or whatever. I like to ride around in my car and listen to rock music that makes me want to drive fast. So that's what I put out on my label... And now, lo and behold, there's a revival in so-called "hard rock" music, there are tons of amazing bands. There's a really cool scene going on that reminds me of the punk scene. It's rad. I'm totally into it. And it's not draining. When I go home at night, I can just go to sleep. It's not that "important." I have a lot of very heavily invested punk friends from years gone by, and it got to be such a joyless drag. It got to be such a political, moralistic, weird, fucked-up deal... I mean, I love an intellectual exercise, but to me, that's what literature is for. Or studying systems or semiotics. Music should be totally visceral. That's what I loved about punk rock. I'd go to a show and get loaded and get in the pit or try and pick up a girl or get in a fight. That's what it was for — that release.

Seeing as Man's Ruin has not only a Kyuss record in its catalog, but also records from all the band's posthumous offshoots (e.g. Queens Of The Stone Age, Unida), do you have any inside info on whether or not fans can ever hope to see a reunion?

I have had long discussions with every single guy who was ever in Kyuss over the last couple of years. I actually made a chart of the comings and goings of that band, and it's incredibly convoluted. It was the same sort of revolving cast of characters. But there was such a weird problem - there was a core problem with that band that they endlessly tried to resolve by switching people around... I got within 24 hours of them reuniting the original line-up and going in to record, and they had another drunken fight. And it didn't happen. That was last year. Seriously, we had the studio time booked for the reunion record. After years of me sweettalking those dudes, it just didn't happen. And now, forget about it. The whole thing with Fredo leaving [Queens Of The Stone Age]? Basically, both original drummers refuse to ever do it again. Everybody else is malleable, but the two original drummers? Neither of them will ever do [Kyuss] again. So it's not gonna happen.
