ACTUAL TIGERS

Gravelled & Green (Nettwerk America)

As Homer Simpson once noted, making teenagers depressed is as easy as shooting fish in a barrel. That said, making young people happy is much harder — but Seattle's buoyant Actual Tigers try their damndest. The group (whose former name Willis was nixed due to legal sandtraps) rolls through the savvier neighborhoods in pop history, reinterpreting the street-smart, heart-dumb balladry of Badfinger, Paul Simon and Ben Folds without succumbing to their wince-worthy cheese anthems. On "Yardwork in November," singer/guitarist Tim Seely employs the same quickie phrasing Simon used on "Late In The Evening" — a feat that could easily scare off all but mommy's Tupperware pals. But when coupled with the utter charm of the song's hand-thumped percussion and whimsical, New Orleans-warm chords, his voice sounds so friendly, you'll wish you could play with him and Julio down by the schoolyard. The single "Standing By" could've been an AM radio nugget, while the lilting jam and handclaps under the hood of "Bad Day" makes even an old Squeeze tune seem pessimistic. It's not all rainbows and kittens, but rather a more realistic world view filtered through a cerulean lens; on the percolating piano soundscape of "Halfway House" (Gravelled & Green's best ballad) Seely muses, "Catch the falling cosmos in my hat/ I used to think I'd do great things like that." If the Tigers keep writing tight, milkshake-sweet melodies, they just might. — Kristy Martin

JOE STRUMMER AND THE MESCALEROS

Global A Go-Go (Hellcat-Epitaph)

Joe Strummer has inspired countless music fans and musicians alike. As a member of The Clash, his place in the punk pantheon is obviously set in stone, but Strummer is one of those rare political musicians who thinks and acts globally. Jamaican music had a distinct influence upon The Clash, and from there Strummer went on to work with Irish pub-punk heroes the Pogues and also wrote songs for the likes of reggae vocalist Horace Andy. As with 1999's Rock Art And The X-ray Style (which marked Strummer's return to active duty and the debut of the Mescaleros), Global A Go-Go doesn't do much punk preaching or preening, instead espousing an integrationist world music view. "Johnny Appleseed" and the epic-length "Minstrel Boy" have an uplifting, folky Celtic feel, complete with fiddle, acoustic guitar, mandolin and flute. Things veer a little more off the beaten path on "Gamma Ray" and "At The Border, Guy," both of which manage to gracefully integrate Afro-Cuban percussion and rhythms with a dubby bass and production aesthetic. There are also modern touches of mechanized percussion and the occasional adult contemporary nod, but overall, Global A Go-Go retains a concise musical vision that's as challenging as anything you'd expect from this longtime innovator. — Tad Hendrickson

GIGI Gigi (Palm)

For a virtual nobody on the world music circuit, Ejigayehu Shibabaw's (nickname: Gigi) Palm debut is stacked with an impressive guest roster of modern music greats, among them Herbie Hancock, Wayne Shorter, Pharoah Sanders and Bill Laswell. And yet, even without the magical touches of such established musicians, Gigi is a joyous adventure in modern African pop. Fluent in Afro-Asiatic fusions and pan-African styles, Gigi's world beat is irrigated with jazz, soul and gospel, over which this diva-in-waiting sets her soaring, devotional vocals. Singing in her native Amharic, Gigi composes songs rooted in Eastern African celebration music that (even without an understanding of her lyrics) evokes earthy and ancient spiritual themes. Kenyan guitar pop and the bassheavy benga, in particular, are the most obvious sonic elements, while Laswell's dub/reggae production hand doesn't go unfelt. Ethiopia and its neighbors were influenced by Indian film music, colonial military brass and Christian choir music, hence the rattling tablas (thanks to star percussionists Aïyb Dieng and Karsh Kale), muffled horns honking and occasional church organ lines. The irresistible dance numbers "Tew Ante Sew" and "Aynama" — Afro-funk replete with horn section squalls and bombastic bass thumps — inspire Fela Kuti comparisons, where the virtuosity is in Gigi's voice rather than in a wailing saxophone. After this debut gets out, Gigi won't be a nobody anymore. — Enrique Lavin

MERCURY REV

All Is Dream (V2)

Long live American psychedelia! Today that doesn't just mean the sounds invoked by San Francisco's halcyon days and the art-psyche freak-outs of the '80s paisley underground, but all-expansive rock created by followers of Walt Whitman's search for freedom in New World consciousness — those who adore the landscape and are aware of its place in the cosmos. Mercury Rev is one of modern American psychedelia's poster groups, having followed a long, strange musical dream filled with departed band members and stylistic dead-ends, finally arriving at a timeless sound as appropriate for navel-gazing trips as it is explorative in nature. Following 1998's self-redefining Deserter's Songs, All Is Dream goes beyond its predecessor's Music From Big Pink vibe, blossoming into a broader Technicolor bloom. The symphonic crescendo that studio-bound Rev member Dave Fridmann pastes onto the opening of "The Dark Is Rising" is but a hint of the heretofore-unseen sonic glories to come; singer Jonathan Donohue's poetic pastorals soon become filled with melodic undercurrents and big production-enabled asides. The guitar jams that are psychedelia's staples don't come into play until the closing "Hercules," when the album-long buildup combusts in a refined, Crazy Horse-like maelstrom. But by that point, the proof's already in, the big sky's aglow with a Fourth of July fireworks salute, and the lemonade is dosed. All you need do is take a sip and dream. — Piotr Orlov

X Marks The Spot For Rhino

The original members of seminal but influential Los Angeles punk band X — vocalist/bassist John Doe, singer Exene Cervenka, drummer DJ Bonebrake and guitarist Billy Zoom — will regroup for a series of upcoming West Coast performances beginning Aug. 17 at the Roseland Theater in Portland, Oregon, and wrapping up at the House Of Blues in Anaheim, California on Nov. 1-2.

X's reunion will support the Rhino Records reissues of the legendary band's excellent first three albums: 1980's Los Angeles, 1981's Wild Gift and 1982's Under The Big Black Sun. The trio is scheduled for release Sept. 18.

Domino Arrives Stateside

U.K.-based label Domino has announced plans for a U.S. expansion. The move will provide an outlet for the imprint's British roster in the U.S.

According to Daniel Kessler, who will be heading up Domino's New York City office, Revolver USA will handle North American distribution for the label. U.K. acts already licensed to select U.S. indies like Drag City, Merge and Up Records will not be affected by the expansion.

Already in the pipeline are upcoming releases from Clinic (Internal Wrangler, out Sept. 10), Four Tet (Pause, out Sept. 24), Pilote (Do It Now Man, out Oct. 22 and Future Pilot AKA (Tiny Waves, Mighty Sea, out Oct. 29).

Razor & Tie Goes Nashville

Razor & Tie announced a new distribution deal with Nashville-based Dualtone Music Group, home of Radney Foster, David Ball and Hayseed Dixie. In addition to handling distribution for both upcoming releases and Dualtone's existing catalog, Razor & Tie will provide marketing support via traditional and direct television outlets. Razor & Tie is responsible for many of the compilations advertised on late-night TV: Monster Ballads, Goin' South and Monsters Of Raps. The first albums to be released under the new deal are Chris Knight's Pretty Good Guy (Sept. 11) and David Ball's Amigo (Oct. 9).

In other R&T news, the indie joined the ranks of the majors on Aug. 10 when it filed a copyright infringement lawsuit against Napster. On Aug. 7, the RIAA asked a judge to skip a trial in its lawsuit against Napster, instead requesting a ruling against the file-sharing company. That move would advance proceedings directly to the damages phase, enabling record labels to collect their money sooner.

The End Of Webcasting?

On Aug. 1, a district court judge in Philadelphia upheld a U.S. Copyright Office decision made last year that requires radio stations to pay royalties to record companies for music played via webcast.

The National Association of Broadcasters believes the ruling is unreasonable and unfair considering that radio stations currently do not pay royalties to record companies — only to songwriters and publishers — for music played over traditional airwaves.

The recent ruling could mean the end of webcasting for smaller (community and college) stations, many of which are barely able to cover operating costs and licensing fees to performer rights organizations like BMI and ASCAP.

The winners continue to be the major record labels, which will not only receive extra dough collected from royalty fees but will also control most of the music streamed over the Internet. Now that the majors have taken over Napster, could Internet radio be next?

Just A Bite...

Mindless Self Indulgence is looking to replace recentlydeparted bassist Vanessa YT with a 20-something, drug-free female who is "completely crazy," according to the band's website, www.mindlessselfindulgence.com. Hopefuls are encouraged to send in video auditions to P.O. Box 1468, Stuyvesant Station, New York, NY, 10019, or email punkgirlbass@yahoo.com. · Cypress Hill and House Of Pain producer Muggs has signed with Epitaph Records' Anti imprint. Muggs' debut for the label is scheduled for release in spring 2002.

CMJ FILMFEST celebrates the collaborative efforts among filmmakers, musicians and composers and explores the relationship between film and music with a distinctive slate of independent features, shorts and documentaries as well as major studio premieres.

My favorite CMJ moment was at the 1984 convention. Johnny Lydon was on an artist panel and yelled at a kid who mentioned MTV to him: "Don't even acknowledge that it exists!!!" At that moment, i felt like we were the ENTIRE music industry, it was our music industry and that this was good for us, for America. It's happened every year since too, in one way or another.

BENDOWN SOLONG TLOOKS LIKEUP TO ME

With his latest, Sparklehorse mainstay Mark Linkous finds gentle beauty on the other side of pain.

Story Colin Helms • Photos Bob Green

ive years ago, Mark Linkous nearly died. He then spent over 12 months in a wheelchair, struggling with chronic depression and a crippling reliance on painkillers, and subsequently found, or so the story goes, that he couldn't remember how to write songs anymore. This year he's found the means — credit spiritual rebirth or the blackest sense of ironic humor — to not only create his most affecting Sparklehorse recording to date, but to brazenly dub the album It's A Wonderful Life.

"If I've learned nothing else, it's that I should at least try to notice one little thing every day," he offers. "Whether it's not getting eaten by a bear, or seeing a little kid smile at you on the street. Before I go to bed I say 'I'm glad I didn't wake up dead today."

The infamous day Linkous nearly woke up dead — the aftermath of a night in a London hotel room during which too many Valium and antidepressants were consumed — may have put a damper on Sparklehorse's output in the time since, but it seems to have changed Linkous's life (and life-work) for the better. Wonderful Life's scarred and cracked sonic façade strongly resembles that of 1995's Vivadixiesub-marinetransmissionplot and 1999's Good Morning Spider, but it's a gentler, somehow lighter collection, populated by horse heads and tiger hearts, fat babies and yellow birds. Polly Jean Harvey, the Cardigans' Nina Persson and Tom Waits counter his haunted whisperings with vocal and songwriting contributions that lend new emotional texture to his shimmering barnyard hallucinations. Linkous's eccentricities are intact, but he's happily conceding to outside influences.

"On this record I didn't want to be in charge of everything all the time, I didn't want to have everything be my idea and me playing everything, and me being behind the console the whole time. I [had been] limiting myself, wasn't really progressing aesthetically," he notes.

In addition to the helping hand of Linkous's admirers, part of his forward movement on Wonderful Life can be credited to both a change in recording environment and the people manning the boards. Unlike his past releases, which Linkous largely recorded by himself in his backyard smokehouse-cum-studio, Wonderful Life was recorded in upstate New York, Brooklyn and Barcelona, with the help of producers Dave Fridmann (Mercury Rev, Mogwai) and John Parrish (PJ Harvey). For the typically reclusive Virginian it was a considerable change, but one he found unavoidable — especially after his main advocate at Capitol Records, label president Gary Gersh, had left the building.

"Gary left Capitol, and the guy that replaced him really didn't understand me at all," Linkous laments. "I never even met the new guy. He came to one of my shows and left. Anyway, he kicked all of these bands off the label and then kinda gave me this guilt trip like, 'Well consider yourself lucky. You're not getting dropped, but we really don't want you to make another record in your smokehouse.' They wanted me to use a producer and everything, which I wanted to do myself anyway. So that kinda pushed me over the hump and I went ahead and did it, and I'm so glad it happened."

Despite the happy accident that was Linkous's foray into the world of big studios and somewhat big-name producers, he recounts one recording experience that wasn't so positive. "I learned a big lesson with [the 1999 Sparklehorse single] 'Happy Man.' That was before my contract changed. I was making records at home and keeping the rest of the money. It was never really a lot, but enough to go to the dentist and buy motorcycle parts. [Capitol] wanted to have 'Happy Man' remixed for the radio, if nothing else to spend $10,000 to have some hotshot modern rock remixer put his validation stamp on it. So they got this guy, Jack Joseph Puig, and I was like, all right, this is a test. I'll spend $10,000 of my money. I'm not going to buy this motorcycle I've wanted my whole fucking life and we'll see what happens. And it fucking died in the water. I was out 10,000 bucks, and I let this guy remix my song who represents everything that I despise in the music industry. I will stab myself in the head with a steak knife if I let, you know, those people that listen to KROQ in the control room [again]."

"BEFORE I GO TO BED I SAY I'M GLAD I DIDN'T WAKE UP DEAD TODAY."

Having taken the requisite step toward catering to commercial radio's fickle tastes, Linkous seems content to focus on expanding his scope as a musician and producer (he produced Persson's forthcoming solo debut), and simplifying the way he approaches his work. "I have racks full of shit in the smokehouse in my backyard. It's that kind of thing where the more you have the more it weights you down. Just like the more motorcycles you have, the less you ride," he laughs. "And I have a lot of motorcyles." NMIR

AMERICAN ANALOG SET

Know By Heart (Tiger Style) In American Analog Set's hometown of Austin, only three things are important during the dog days of summer: shade, good music and a nice, mind-altering substance to wash away the heat. Though the psych-rockers turn down the drone (and lose the farfisa) on Know By Heart, it opens up a cool new space for AmAnSet to inhabit. Singer/guitarist Andrew Kenny sets up his pool chair amidst lounge-pop tones that writhe with sleek vibes and dazzling chlorine chords; check out the Stereolab Jr. snap-on groove in "The Only One" and spare, Low-like percussion of the title track, and you'll forgive the band its electro-bravado. Kenny's cardigan-friendly vocals are top notch, whether he's musing about receiving a postcard from Japan ("Million Young") or co-narrating the tale of a lonely mailman with Death Cab For Cutie's Ben Gibbard ("The Postman"). Like I Can Hear The Heart Beating As One before it, the album's jazzy, airy jams provide the perfect comedown after a long, buzzing summer. — Kristy Martin

BLACK BOX RECORDER

The Worst Of Black Box Recorder (Jetset)

The title of Black Box Recorder's compilation album (which features B-sides, remixed tracks from their previous two albums, '70s covers, a previously unreleased track and four videos) should give listeners an indication of the Brit trio's wry, dark approach to pop music. What do you expect from the band that penned the lyrics "Life is unfair/kill yourself or get over it" (from "Child Psychology")? With The Worst Of... Luke Haines (of the Auteurs) and John Moore (ex-Jesus And Mary Chain) again prove their natural talent for creating a hauntingly twisted world (depression, suicide and sex are central themes) populated by lush, dub-influenced arrangements and the sleepy, ethereal voice of Sarah Nixey. From the eerie covers of Terry Jacks' "Seasons In The Sun" and Althea and Donna's "Uptown Top Ranking" to the group's UK-charting synth-pop take on sex ed in "The Facts of Life" (remixed by Pulp's Jarvis Cocker and Steve Mackey), The Worst Of... is mopey yet sophisticated. In short, it's Black Box Recorder at its, well, best.

BUTTHOLE SURFERS

Weird Revolution (Hollywood)

Despite predating (and certainly influencing) Beck by over a decade, it seems that the Butthole Surfers have just now caught up with Mr. Hansen's ability to make the eclectic accessible — for better or for worse. Sure, Weird Revolution is odd by mainstream standards, but is by no means as confrontational and psychotically inventive as earlier Butthole outings (no pun intended). Without question, the record's alt-hip-hop formula has as much potential for crossover success as the group's 1994 hit single, "Pepper," complete with acid-burnt hooks and Gibby Haynes's signature spoken word association. As a whole, Weird Revolution is extremely consistent, if not at times predictable. Haynes's twisted humor rears its mutated head with some extra flair on both the title track and "Jet Fighter," while "Dracula From Houston" has a poppy chorus that takes a page from Everclear's radio-ready songbook. Although the Buttholes have been sampling trip-hop flavors for a while now, Weird Revolution's electro-pop engine hums, resulting in the group's cleanest record — both in production quality and content — to date. — Matt Greene

GALACTIC

We Love 'Em Tonight (Live At Tipitina's) (Volcano)
Galactic is nothing if not a galvanizing live band, so it doesn't take a rocket scientist to figure out that its new live album is a good thing. Recorded in front of a sweaty and decidedly raucous hometown crowd at Tipitina's in New Orleans, the band's fat-bodied grooves easily translate outside the studio. The influence of the Neville Brothers and the Meters is obvious in the band's own highly danceable musical gumbo, which is chock-full of syncopated R&B rhythms, burnin' blues riffs, slammin' organ jazz grooves and bombastic rock. Moreover, Galactic has hardened its chops via steady touring on the jam band ciruit, where its funk workouts, acid-jazz panache and a penchant for the absurd makes it a favorite. More than a greatest hits collection played live, We Love

'Em also features unreleased tunes "Moog Marmalade,"
"Lumpology" and "Shipbuya," and there's even a bit of the silliness in the band's R&B-ish take on Black Sabbath's "Sweet Leaf." All in all, a most satisfying live snapshot of one of the best bands on the scene.

IVORY COAST

Clouds (Polyvinyl)

Sensitivity and shoegazing manifested in the form of angular music is not a revolutionary concept in the indie rock and emo hemispheres. But Ivory Coast's mellow, almost comforting Clouds does the ambitious art-rock thing sans all the drama, snobbery and pretense, instead focusing on the music's blend of sentient, creamy-smooth vocals and Washington D.C.-bred post-core harmonics — the kind that would make the folks at Dischord crack a smile. The players in this Boston quintet are extremely competent musicians, able to slip into acoustic form seamlessly. As Ivory Coast adds layers upon layers onto its guitar-noise base by deftly employing synthesizers, Clouds attains an extra charge and oomph without coming off like a millennial prog-rock band.

(The largely instrumental closing track "There Will Be Clouds" spotlights the band's ability to mold its songs into mini epics.) Despite all its added flourishes, Clouds still sounds extremely lo-fi, uncluttered and, thankfully, under-produced.

JUDE

King of Yesterday (Maverick) Jude's follow-up to 1998's No One Is Really Beautiful could be the soundtrack to an identity crisis. Aided by producers who have molded albums by modern rock shape-shifters like Beck, No Doubt and Lifehouse, Jude mixes genres gleefully, bouncing willy-nilly from driving melodic rock to Casio chords and trippy backbeats to spare acoustic arrangements. Jude, a former philosophy major, is no slouch in the lyrical department, either. "Teenage Girlfriend," an upbeat, tongue-in-cheek ode to mallrats, breaks into a spoken-word stud-jam so vapid that you half expect him to start rambling about girls who wear Abercrombie and Fitch. The poetic "Indian Lover," on the other hand, turns sinister as Jude drones, "If you wed another, I would have to kill you" (among other murderous and exceptionally creepy threats). Even his image has done a 180-degree turn, going from handsome, brooding singer/songwriter to leisure suit-wearing sardonic prankster. The only constant is Jude's simple, awshucks voice; occasionally arcing into stunning upper-register gymnastics, his warm, inviting tones are the dependable port in an otherwise tumultuous musical storm.

LAPTOP

The Old Me Vs. The New You (Trust Me-Parasol) Seven months ago, New York-based musician Jesse Hartman (a.k.a. Laptop) grabbed our attention with his sardonic full-length debut, Opening Credits. It was a sharp left hook of new-wave ruminations and biting lyrical wit that also mocked its own melodrama and somehow made tacky '80s synthesizer tones and solemn, Sisters Of Mercy-style vocals sound cutting-edge again. Hartman remains lost in the era of the mop-top hairdo on his new album, The Old Me Vs. The New You, but it sadly fails to pack the punch of its predecessor. This time, Hartman is a new romantic trying to rekindle the magic with lost loves ("Back Together"), searching the world for his soul mate ("Whole Wide World") and addressing his own emotional shortcomings ("Not The Right Time"). Songs like "I Can't Say Hi" and the ironic "The New You" recall the sad bastard of yore, but all too often, Hartman forgets the punch lines that made his former work such a devious delicacy. Dammit, Jesse; did you have to grow up so fast?

MOVIOLA

Rumors Of The Faithful

(Spirit Of Orr)

For five years, Columbus, Ohio's Moviola has honed its organic porch-pop through a careful process of home recording and democratic creation. All members take turns on lead vocals, and the resulting coat of many colors is a richly varied — but never sloppy — album from four friendly, bearded fellows whom you'd want for neighbors. From the smoky Americana of the title track to the Palace-style banjo ballad "Misdirected Brother," Moviola stretches its four-man acoustical jam to the limits, imbuing the music's folksy foundation (handclaps, accordions, pedal steel) with a modern, lo-fi pop twist. Each track sounds painfully familiar, whether it's the bittersweet yearning of the ultra-catchy "Exit Pearl (Paddington Platform?)" or pokey, saloon sing-along feel of "John Butler Train" — these tunes are all a little bit Neil Young mixed in with a dash of your favorite hometown indie rock group. "I gotta feeling I might live to 105," Scotty Tabachnick muses when he takes over the mic on "Old Town East"; if Moviola keeps up its thoughtful, timeworn approach to making music, the group could easily outlast its clock-watching indie peers.

MURDER CITY DEVILS

Thelema (EP) (Sub Pop) Between Spencer Moody's injured bellow and the haunting organ permeating each song, the Murder City Devils might easily be described as a modern day Eric Burdon And The Animals — except for the multiple cadaver references.

The band's latest release, Thelema, has the tear-out-your-hair, gnaw-at-your-flesh intensity of classic creepout "House Of The Rising Sun," but with lyrics like "Dead in the hull, tied to the wheel/ this ship of death is landing," the Devils take the tearing and gnawing a bit more literally. There's not a song here that isn't both lyrically and musically way over the top, including an homage to Philadelphia's infamous Mütter Museum (just think formaldehyde and you've got the picture) and "364 Days," a tearful ode to Saint Nick's year-long arctic isolation. Though the latter is more than a slight variance from the Devils' metal-plated garage punk, its strange beauty makes it the EP's highlight; be sure to keep it on hand for those anti-holiday compilations.

PULLMAN

Viewfinder (Thrill Jockey)
Any musical offering with the tag "acoustic side project" can summon negative connotations, but Pullman's Viewfinder proves that you can't always judge a band by its bio — due in part to the fact that the band is neither traditionally acoustic nor a true side project. Although its members are better known for work in other bands (Tortoise, Rex, Directions In Music, Come), this is the group's second release, and on it Pullman strays from its exclusively acoustic format by gaining both a drummer and a knack for tasteful electric and slide guitar accompaniment. With the exception of more standard post-rock fare like "Felucca" and "Narrow Canyon," the songs tend to revolve around simple, intricately knit melodies, funneled through an arpeggiated guitar style that gives the album a pleasant autumnal pace. As with all seemingly good mood music, Viewfinder makes for a great soundtrack to a long, lazy car drive. "Same Grain With New Wood" and the magnum opus

REDUCERS SF

Crappy Clubs And Smelly Pubs (TKO)

Reducers SF have one goal in life: to achieve fist-pumpin' raucity. And if you're putting any amount of thought into whether or not raucity is a word, then you're clearly not as drunk as you should be when listening to the San Francisco quartet's second release, Crappy Clubs And Smelly Pubs. Reducers S.F.'s sound is derived from the punchy quirkiness of early L.A. punk bands, a good bit of U.K. oi! and a whole lot of cheap beer. There's more melody in the one-string guitar solos than in Glen McHenry's vocals, but his intimidating presence as a frontman (as well as his apparent tone deafness) approaches Danzig caliber, coaxing listeners to chant along on choruses of "Wide Eyed Kids" and "Empty Bottles" — both of which invite the ruckus as much as the wonderfully melodramatic ballad "Screwed Again" invites beer-induced tears. Reducers S.F. aren't quite a one-trick pony act, but they're certainly not dynamic. Then again, that's not something you worry about when you're as ripped as you should be when listening to this album.

hings have been relatively quiet on the John Coltrane front as of late — strangely quiet, considering that the mighty Mr. Trane's 75th birthday would have been Sept. 23. That will change in the next few months, however, because the fine peeps over at Verve have the keys to the Impulse! vaults.

A strangely tentative first step, The Very Best Of John Coltrane, came out July 24. The 10 tracks include "Lush Life," "Crescent," "Acknowledgement," and "My Favorite Things"; one wonders if this selection is appropriate to mark such a milestone as a 75th birthday — the only people who are going to mark the day are the fans and they probably aren't looking for a greatest hits collection. The label will issue Standards on Aug. 21, which collects Coltrane's terrific takes on popular tunes. Songs in this 10-track collection include "Greensleeves," "All Or Nothing At All," "Softly, As In A Morning Sunrise," and "Lush Life." Again, nothing new for the serious Coltrane fan. The third in this series of compilations is Spiritual, which will obviously focus on the more metaphysical side of Trane's playing. Material for this one includes "Dear Lord" and "Song Of Praise." This compilation will have liner notes by Alice Coltrane, the saxophonist's widow and final pianist. Release is scheduled for Sept. 25.

Something that will definitely be of interest to hardcore Coltrane fans is The Olatunji Concert (The Last Live Recording). Never officially released, it documents one of his final live performances, which was recorded April 23, 1967. The performing band that night was comprised of Pharoah Sanders (saxophone), Alice Coltrane (piano), Jimmy Garrison (bass), Rashied Ali (drums) and assorted guest percussionists. Two excellent tunes from the gig include "Ogunde" and "My Favorite Things." The package features liner notes by noted iournalist David Wild and an essav taken from an interview with Bernard Drayton, who recorded the concert at Coltrane's request. Olatunji is tentatively scheduled for an October release.

Lastly, there are plans for an as-yet untitled four-CD box set retrospective that will cull material from Impulse! as well as Trane's other labels. The logistics are still being worked out, but the packaging is said to be in the shape of a Bible, with the pages of the liner notes formatted to look like those of someone's old, dog-eared copy of the good book. Definitely cool. Release date for this is tentatively listed as Oct. 23.

Δ&Ω

EST (ESBJÖRN SVENSSON TRIO)

Esbjörn Svensson Trio is just hitting here in the States with its domestic debut, Somewhere Else Before, but the eight-year-old jazz trio is already well-established in its Swedish homeland, where it's even managed to garner some pop chart success. We caught up Svensson in New York, the day after the trio's great set at Lower East Side club Tonic.

I like the fact that you guys were playing to the audience.

That's one of the things that we try to do. From the start we've realized that there was an audience out there, and we want people to listen to what we are, so we reach out to them.

You guys have done an album of Monk tunes. What attracts the trio to his songs?

He wrote so many fantastic compositions, really hip songs. It's simple, and I mean that in the most positive way. He wrote with the least number of notes possible, but still created great music. There are no unnecessary notes, and the rhythm is just perfect. It's like Mozart or something.

Keeping things simple in a good way. You seem to do that with your own music.

We try to make music that is hummable.

Did you guys grow up with jazz?

The music of our youth was rock 'n' roll and pop music from the '70s [like] Slade and Sweet. Abba too, but it wasn't that hip; that was music for girls. My father was a huge jazz fan. So [trio drummer] Magnus [Öström] and I listened to a lot of Charlie Parker and stuff and learned how to play some of the tunes. And it just went from there. We listen to a lot of classical music, and folk and all this stuff now, like techno, jungle and drum 'n' bass.

How do you decide where to add the #### electronic stuff that's on the album?

If it's natural and fits in, then we use it. We don't think in terms of, "We should use this or that." We see what kind of compositions we have and then do the best with it. If we need a drum 'n' bass rhythm, then we use it.

How's jazz music different over in Europe?

I have a limited perspective because I haven't been in the U.S. that much, playing at festivals. But for me the American scene is more traditional, more mainstream. European jazz is... well, more freaked out. There is a fusion between different types of music in European jazz. There are people in Sweden like Nels Petter Molvær who are using lots of electronic rhythms and playing jazz over it, and it works very well.

Where does E.S.T. fit into that?

We're more on the traditional end of things. We try to keep it acoustic, we try to keep it a piano trio. It's hard for me to say where we are, but of course we have one leg in the piano trio tradition of Bill Evans and Keith Jarrett. But we also have another leg in the future. Chances are there will be a radio sampler from the box, while Verve is talking about doing a Coltrane campaign of the same magnitude as the one that surrounded the Classic Quartet box set (expect posters and giveaways). There is also talk of a deluxe reissue of A Love Supreme and other surprises. Stay tuned; you'll hear when we do.

On a related note, an album of tunes by Coltrane pianist McCoy Tyner entitled Tyner Plays Trane is set for an Oct. 16 debut. The album features seven tracks recorded live during Tyner's week-long stand at New York's famed Village Vanguard in 1997. • Folks out in Colorado, or nearby, looking for something to do on Labor Day Weekend (Aug. 31-Sept. 3) take heart: The Janus Jazz Aspen At Snowmass weekend festival has a nicely varied list of performers, though with the word "jazz" in the moniker, one could expect a better survey of the genre than just three acts - Maceo Parker, Deep Banana Blackout and Soulive. Undoubtedly all three bands will help the 10,000 or so daily audience members get their groove on, and that isn't a bad thing. This is the festival's 11th year. #### ROY CAMPBELL

It's Krunch Time (Thirsty Ear) Roy Campbell's Ethnic Stew And Brew knocked people out with its inspired, organic take on African and Far Eastern music mixed with heady jazz improvisation. On It's Krunch Time, Campbell changes directions to create a moody, more urbane and traditionally jazzy take on the music. Campbell is in fine form here, spitting out affable lines with the rapid-fire velocity fans have come to expect from the trumpeter after three decades on the New York and world jazz scenes. Criminally under-recorded vibest Khan Jamal is the real secret weapon here, however, creating both swirling clouds of echoing notes and sharp, articulate melodies that are as bold as Campbell's. The band does an interesting, fun version of Monk's "Bemsha Swing," but things get a little weird when Campbell does a surreal solo version of the "Star Spangled Banner" — which he dedicates to President Bush. All in all, another fine album from an artist whose star continues to shine.

DAVE HOLLAND

Not For Nothin' (ECM)

Bassist Dave Holland seems to have been everywhere over the last couple of years, racking up Grammy nominations, topping readers' and critics' polls and even receiving an honorary doctorate from Berklee. Much of the recent hoopla is due to the slammin' quintet Holland has been working with, most notably on 2000's Prime Directive. Featuring Chris Potter (sax), Robin Eubanks (trombone), Steve Nelson (vibes) and Billy Killson (drums), the band creates an accessible yet sophisticated take on straight-ahead jazz. Bassist Holland leads from the back line, setting the mood, creating a foundation and urging on his players. Potter, Eubanks and Nelson respond with explosive but relatively compact solos as well as thoughtful accompaniment. This is a great follow-up.

KAHIL EL'ZABAR/BILLY BANG

Spirits Entering (Delmark)

Billy Bang scared the shit out of the jazz world with his solo on the title track to Kahil El'Zabar's Ritual Trio's Big Cliff. A decidedly different situation than the aforementioned, Spirits Entering is a jazz hoedown that sounds as if it was done in Africa rather than Chicago. There's a folky, laid-back lyrical tone that's very approachable and melodious. As expected, the music is jazzier when El'Zabar plays his traps. When he plays hand drums, the music takes a more interesting and earthy turn — one that is hypnotic, soulful and unique.

oadrunner has signed Five Pointe O • Chevelle has signed to Epic Records and will begin recording a new album this September • Korn is reportedly working on its latest album, scheduled for a November (translate: holiday rush) release through Epic • I keep hearing rumors that the Universal conglomerate wants to sign Hatebreed. I'd love to see them get on a major and just rip the mainstream to shreds. And while no one says it, everyone knows the Connecticut thugcore band has stalled on releasing a new album because they want to get out of its contract with Victory • Escape Artist has signed In Pieces. In other EA news, Anodyne will release The Outer Dark at the end of the year • W.A.S.P., Dog Fashion Disco and Mushroomhead are headed out on the road together. What a freak show. Blackie Lawless combined with DFD's Todd Smith and the masked maniacs in M-Head will surely make a spectacle. Lock up your daughters • I reported on it last week, but it appears that Kittie guitarist Fallon Bowman has indeed left the band. The split is said to be amicable and a permanent replacement has yet to be named, but sources say the band wants to replace her with an older male to deemphasize Kittie's youth and female-ness • Alice Cooper will be appearing on ESPN's Two Minute Drill Sept. 4, so check him out. His new album Dragontown will hit stores in October, just in time for Halloween. Did you expect anything less from the originator of shock rock? • Despite decent success on the Loud Rock College and Crucial Spins chart, Few Left Standing is breaking up due to the pressures of trying to maintain a family and a band. We wish the band members well. • Über-Jonah Matranga fan that I am, those Jade Tree darlings gave me a CD-R of New End Original's Thriller. While this might work best with your station's alt-music director, the album contains filled-out, retooled versions of Onelinedrawing songs like "14-41," "Better Than This," "Halo" and "Lukewarm." Jonah is a genius. • Some track titles for Soilent Green's forthcoming A Deleted Symphony For The Beaten Down (Relapse) are "Swallowhole," "Afterthought Of A Genius" and "She Cheated On You Twice" • Some track titles for Will Haven's forthcoming Carpe Diem (Revelation) are "Dolph Lundgren," "Alpha Male" and "Moving To Montana." • Dark Symphonies is re-releasing Novembers Doom's Amid Its Hollow Mirth, as well as Maudlin Of The Well's new double disc Bath and Leaving Your Body Map. Symphonic doom metal at its finest.

CAUGHT LIVE

Bon fucking Jovi played two sold-out, wild nights at New Jersey's Giants Stadium at the end of July. In attendance were plenty of mullets, femullets and folks who apparently haven't looked in the mirror or a fashion magazine in quite some time. Jovi is apparently going on hiatus while sexy-bitch-of-a-frontman Jon Bon Jovi heads for Hollywood to pursue his movie career. I dunno about you guys, but I thought Moonlight And Valentino and that submarine movie JBJ made were both bombs. He should stick to shakin' his ass on stage. Nevertheless, Jovi performed its parade of hits, everything from "You Give Love A Bad Name" to "Born To Be My Baby" to "Wanted Dead Or Alive" and "Blaze Of Glory." Cheers to the Garden State's hottest export since The Boss and Dionne Warwick • Remy Zero might not be metal, but I want to mention them anyway. An alt rock band of the highest order (and my favorite non-Loud Rock band), they played a stuffed-to-the-gills showcase at the Knitting Factory on Aug. 2. It was more fans than industry people, which made it rock even harder.

PEACEVILLE SNEAK PEAKS

The lovely Paula Hogan, who is handling the press side of Peaceville/Candelight Records in the U.S., slipped me a super advance of what is said to be Emperor's final album, Prometheus: The Discipline Of Fire And Demise. It's definitely a change in direction for metal's most notorious cache of black metal blasphemers. Frontman Ihsahn sounds like he took singing lessons as his vocal capability is fully realized here. Also, it doesn't stick within the black metal limits of keyboards and shrieking. This is literally "The Last Emperor," as the band will not be touring in support of this record nor will they make any future records. The Discipline Of Fire And Demise will land in early October, with promotional duties performed by The Syndicate and Bullpen. I also received Akercocke's Goat Of Mendes. Any metal album with a reference to the almighty black goat of the woods is well-received by my (recovering) Catholic soul. It's ugly, evil death metal with inhuman, immortal and immoral vocals and drum work. If Night Of The Living Dead needed a real soundtrack, this would be it. If there was a bomb to be dropped on all mall metal bands, it would be Goat Of Mendes. This will be landing in your blackened, blood-stained hands shortly. Bullpen will handle radio promotion.

INDUSTRY NEWS

Sources say that Necropolis Records is going out of business due to bottom line problems. Speculation abounds that the label, home to the likes of Circle Of Dead Children and Impaled, ran out of money and lost some of its European distribution • Escape Artist Records is one of the underground's finest labels. It has partnered up with Lumberiack Distribution, which should make the releases much easier to find in stores. Artists on the label include Keelhaul, Time In Malta and the late, great Burn It Down • Transport League and Pavement Music have parted ways • Alien Ant Farm's Anthology and Drowningpool's Sinner have been certified Gold in the United States. See what happens when your songs are on the radio every five seconds? You sell records.

CRUCIAL SPINS PANEL UPDATE:

After a brief lapse, KYYI/Tim Mac (Wichita Falls, TX) is back on the panel. Communication/server issues were at fault for its lapse in reporting. WMFS/Memphis, TN is now a crucial spins reporter, effective immediately. Jake Cook will be reporting his thoroughly post-core show, "Sixteen Songs." Thanks to Eric Cole at Concrete and Eric Peltier at The Syndicate for bringing the station to the panel. Also, KXFX/Santa Rosa, CA is a new crucial spinner, effective immediately. Thanks to Doormouse for bringing him on board. KZRR/ Albuquerque cancelled its metal specialty show in the wake of Tom Servo's departure. Currently, the Crucial Spins panel is up to 110 reporters, roughly 65 commercial specialty block shows and about 50 college stations. Note to all crucial spinners: if you are faxing your playlist, send it to my eFax number: 413.638.9211. This number applies only to Crucial Spinners.

ROLODEX UPDATE:

Steve Woitasec is leaving the metal radio promotions department at Concrete Marketing. He's moving to Portland, Maine to work for Mass Concerts, where he'll help book and promote only the finest in East Coast hardcore.

AMERICAN HEAD CHARGE

The War Of Art (American-IDJMG) It's almost ironic that American Head Charge is on American Recordings. These Midwestern monsters have been burning flags all summer long on Ozzfest's second stage; and you thought Midwestern boys were supposed to be nice and gentlemanly, huh? Well, this Minneapolis-based seven-man sideshow throws manners, courtesy and politeness in a bonfire on The War Of Art. Causing a ruckus before it even releases an album, American Head Charge not only torches the stars 'n' stripes, band members beat each other up onstage. How can you not already like this band for its rebellious, devil-may-care attitude? The War Of Art aims its cannons, grenades and shotguns at pointblank range. Singer Martin Cock (don't even go there) sounds like Pro-Pain's Gary Meskill engaged in fisticuffs with Powerman 5000's Spider. The War Of Art is spliced with programming and aggro geetars much in the same vein as Slipknot. You'll hate kittens, puppies and babies after listening to "A Violent Reaction" and "Americant Evolving Into Useless Psychic Garbage."

CROWBAR

Sonic Excess In Its Purest Form (Spitfire)

It's easy for a metal band to be heavy, hard and fast. What's not so easy to achieve is to be hard, heavy and slow all the time. Crowbar has mastered the art, however. The band's doomy hard rock is like running though a swamp, diving head first into mud, quicksand and maple syrup and then trying to swim a few laps in the murky muck. Crowbar is a textbook case of NoLa rock — a sluggish, grim form of hard rock popular in New Orleans. On Sonic Excess In Its Purest Form, Crowbar's sludge moves at the same glacial pace as all the records in the band's catalog. With songs like "To Build A Mountain," "Thru The Ashes (I've Watched You Burn)" and "Repulsion In Its Splendid Beauty," Sonic Excess In Its Purest Form is most definitely an exercise in patience. The production here is slightly cleaner than past Crowbar efforts, but don't fret; it's still like wading through a mud bath.

VARIOUS ARTISTS

Twisted Forever (Koch)

Dee Snider once asked a very, very important question of Loud Rock fans all over country: "What do you wanna do with your life?" The resounding, rebellious response was, of course "I wanna rock!" A generation of metal-and punk-loving fans banged their collective heads. Kids who were air guitarin' to big arena rock anthems like "I Wanna Rock," "We're Not Gonna Take It" and "Can't Stop Rock 'N' Roll" started their own bands that might not have sounded like Twisted Sister, but the influence was all there. On Twisted Forever, a tribute to Long Island's music gods, bands spanning the entire rock spectrum offer their rather loyal renditions of Twisted Sister tunes. Lit's "I Wanna Rock" is a near duplicate of the original, while Joan Jett kicks your ass with "We're Not Gonna Take It." Not surprisingly, some of rock's great rebels contribute, including Vision Of Disorder, Motörhead, Anthrax, Nashville Pussy, Fu Manchu and Sevendust. Covers by Chuck D ("Wake Up the Sleep"), Hammerfall ("We're Gonna Make It"), and Cradle Of Filth ("The Fire Still Burns") really turn heads. Stick around for "Sin City," the new TS track, and bang your head.

BEAUTIFUL CREATURES

Beautiful Creatures (Warner Bros.) For some members of the population, the 1980s never ended. In fact, the decade of excess is still in full swing — despite being chased by the fashion police for their skintight acid wash jeans, high-heeled boots, big hair and mullets, the music that defined the decade never went away.

For Beautiful Creatures, the art of the guitar solo has never been lost as they firmly-grasp '80s arena-bound cock rock, like Poison without the lipstick. Beautiful Creatures has air-guitar chops, swagger, flamboyance and rock 'n' roll flair. Don't believe me? Crank up "Ride" or "Kick Out," with its showoff, make-Eddie-Van-Halen-take-notice riffs. If that's not ample proof, then yank out a Bic lighter and relax with the slightly more mellow power ballad "Wish."

ALTAR

Red Harvest (Crash)

Altar's Red Harvest contains several genres of metal in one, nine-song disc. Working within the genre as opposed to stepping into rap and hip-hop territories, the group keeps a true and pure metal vibe that's rare these days. At times, Red Harvest sounds like vintage Max Cavalera-era Sepultura. (In fact, the singer recalls "Biotech Is Godzilla" on the opening track "Sick.") At other times, Altar works its metal magic like Pantera getting a groove on with In Flames's saucy, tantalizing Swedish melodies. Rip the paint off the walls with "Sick," "The Stress Factor" and "On The Throne."

■ ly Guerra admitted she was a bit nervous at ■ her second New York appearance Aug. 9 at Queens Theater At The Park. The sexy Mexican indie-pop chanteuse performed a stunning two-hour set for a select audience that included a handful of industry folks. Heavy hitters in attendance were Arista's Jerry Blair, Virgin Associated Label Group's Jose Bonilla, New York Times music critic Jon Pareles, Virgin Megastore's world music buyer Ben Kelly and Palm Pictures' marketing consultant Rafael Ramos. Guerra is an artist about to burst from her cocoon and soar like the proverbial butterfly.

Her band, Los Elys Guerras, demonstrated an intimate fluidity with its Brazilian-inflected lounge-y, jazz-pop sound. Biting, autobiographical tales of love and longing were underscored by her agile vocals, which would spring out of the trip-hoppy, bossafied fare that would appeal to fans of Cowboy Junkies and Portishead. She culled tunes from all three of her albums, including her latest Lotofire, which was recorded here in New York with Andres Levin and Marc Ribot, among others. Misunderstood by her label, EMI Mexico (they weren't expecting a rock record from a woman with a model's looks), she's become the Aimee Mann of Mexican rock.

Unable to get proper promotional backing, Guerra's been seeking to break from EMI Mexico so she can work with other labels that are eager to release her work, according to manager Juan de Dios Balbi.

During his visit, Balbi, who also manages Café Tacuba, took the opportunity to provide an update on Mexico's fab four. The group is scheduled to release a "best of" album on WEA Latina this fall, although a day earlier I was told by someone inside MCA that they were signed by the big label. Balbi wouldn't confirm it as a done deal. Still, it seems the deal is oh-so-close, and would add the Tacubos to a roster that includes not only the bilingual salsametal foursome Puya, but the other-worldly, other-language post-rockers of Sigur Rós. Speaking of other-worldly postrock, Balbi slipped me music by Rita Cantalagua (Ruben Albarran's most recent alias) and his band, Villa Jardín, and an art collective Los Nena. Villa Jardín, which is looking for a deal, sounds a lot like tropical outtakes from Reves; swelling with twangy guitars, symphonic strings and distorted melodies that run into locomotive and stroll-in-the-park beats. Contact Balbi at balbi99@hotmail.com.

FERMIN MUGURUZA

FM 99.00 Dub Manifest

(Piranha-Harmonia Mundi) Iberian punk/dub star Fermin Muguruza is the Basque region's most visible international alternative music export. First with the radical, Latin-tinged, punk groups Kortatu and Negu Gorriak, and then later with offshoots (DUT), Muguruza's prolific career — including the creation of his hip label Esan Ozenki has rendered him a hero in his homeland and one of Latin alt's most innovative rebel rockers. After establishing a Latin-ized electronicaheavy, genre-hopping dub sound on his monumental solo debut Brigadistak Sound System ("Solidarity Brigade"), on which he collaborated with such luminaries as Manu Chao, Todos Tus Muertos and Tijuana No!, Muguruza comes back with an Euskadi dub-reggae that is as transcendent as The Clash's punk and as current as Joe Strummer's recent integration of Afro-Cuban rhythms. On FF 99.00 Dub Manifest, the multilingual singer (who makes a point not to sing in Spanish) puts on his insurgent leader cap as Comandante Muguruza to lead a global radio revolution of dub sound systems. Bursting into uplifting, reggae celebrations, FF 99.00 Dub Manifest runs through the barrios of Europe, the Middle East, Asia, and Latin America blaring bouncing bass lines through boomboxes as an army of horns blast and an international legion of MCs (Brazil, France, Algeria) and DJs cut the beats. Like most of his recordings, Muguruza's album liner notes are written in four languages (Spanish, English, French and Basque), adding multiple dimensions to his cries for social justice, pro-immigrant policy, anti-McDonald's-ized economies, global peace, etc. Dub or death, it's revolution time again.

BILL JONES

Panchpuran (Compass)

Panchpuran, Bill Jones's sophomore release (and U.S. debut) is a record of wonderful surprises — not the least of which is that Bill is actually a woman, short for Belinda. Her keyboard-based take on mostly traditional English folk music comes from a very individual perspective, so that even a well-known song such as "The Tale Of Tam Lin" avoids the beaten path by using dissonant chords and a string quartet behind her warm voice. There are glimpses of her own material, especially the powerful title cut, which offer an unvarnished insight into her Anglo-Indian background, and a loving cover of the Brill Building classic "Goin' Back" to lighten things up. Based on evidence presented here, Eliza Carthy and Kate Rusby will just have to make room on the folk-babe pantheon for Jones.

outh African Solomon Linda, who originally wrote and recorded "Mbube" (a.k.a. "The Lion Sleeps Tonight") never saw any royalties from the many versions of his 1939 song and died penniless in 1959. His family, however, will finally see some cash as his versions — along with covers by Ladysmith Black Mambazo and the Elite Swingsters — are issued on CD. In the U.S., folk singer Pete Seeger re-titled the song "Wimoweh" for a 1951 hit, a feat repeated 10 years later by the Tokens.

The annual WOMEX gathering of world music professionals take place Oct. 25-28 in Rotterdam, Holland, and will feature showcase performances by 35 different artists from around the globe. Among those invited to appear are Gigi (Ethiopia/ U.S.), Ifang Bondi (Gambia), Frédéric Galliano (France), Los De Abajo (Mexico) and the reformed Orchestre Baobob (Senegal). The conference also features a trade fair and multiple presentations.

World and roots music will flood Seattle as part of the high-profile Groundwork 2001 fundraising event. Running from Oct. 14-22 and designed to raise money for food in order to reduce global poverty, the event will feature such artists as Afro Celt Sound System, Blind Boys Of Alabama, Emmylou Harris, DJ Cheb I Sabbah, Joe Strummer And The Mescaleros, along with Femi Kuti And The Positive Force, who will share the final night with rock luminaries Pearl Jam and R.E.M.

Violence marred the Sumfest reggae festival (held in Montego Bay, Jamaica) for the first time in the event's nineyear history. An ongoing rivalry between dancehall stars Beenie Man, Bounty Killer and Merciless turned ugly during the latter's set on Aug. 2, with the crowd throwing bottles and rocks as he insulted the other two performers. The remainder of Sumfest was peaceful, however, with appearances by Shaggy, Freddy McGregor and American rapper Snoop Dogg, among others.

VARIOUS ARTISTS

Darker Than Blue: Soul From Jamdown 1973-1980 (Blood And Fire) Think sweet soul music is an American preserve? Think again. The music was a major inspiration for Jamaican musicians, and their covers can run with the big boys from either Memphis or the Motor City. From Carl Bradney's funky take on War's "Slipping Into Darkness" to Lloyd Charmers's version of the Curtis Mayfield political paean "Darker Than Blue" (Mayfield was an icon to many ska and reggae artists), this is a series of musical delights. Ken Boothe's pop-reggae prowl through the classic "Ain't No Sunshine" might not have the ache of the original, but his "Is It Because I'm Black?" is a powerhouse cut. Lastly Welton Irie fuses toasting with Sugarhill Gang on the protorap "Hotter Reggae Music," which comes across as a precursor of dancehall. Reggae definitely got soul.

UBERZONE

Faith In The Future (Astralwerks) Uberzone, the alter-ego of Californiabased breakbeat maven Q, doesn't just work with his musical machinery; he crawls right inside of the system, becomes one with the gears and the gizmos, and produces brazenly futuristic songs that contort hip-hop, electro, rock and techno into sci-fi maelstroms of sound. Faith In The Future, the album Q has been threatening to make since he provided the blueprint for the nu-skool breaks scene in the mid-'90s, delivers on all counts. Tempos and temperaments fluctuate throughout the album's 12 tracks, moving from the laidback, cyber-funk prowl of "Frequency" (featuring Helmet's Page Hamilton on vocals), the stony, raga-tinged romp of "Science Fiction" (Beenie Man provides the quick-tongued toasting), the twisted turntablism of "Bounce" (Dave Dave rides the wheels) and the kinetic breakbeat pounce of "Black Widow" (with Rennie Pilgrim). The diversity of the tunes not only highlights Q's production prowess, it also allows the work to gel with surprising cohesion, resulting in the first great album of the nu-skool breakbeat era.

VARIOUS ARTISTS

Electro Lounge 2 (The Right Stuff-Capitol)

It's a foolproof formula: take some of the sweetest, sultriest lounge classics from the '60s and hire a host of current electronic composers to update the vibes for modern times. It worked on 1999's Electro Lounge compilation — regarded as one of the most essential releases of the lounge-revivalist movement — and the second volume of the series is destined to follow the success of its predecessor. Here, a host of luminaries such as Martin Denny, Les Baxter and Elliot Fisher find their work twisted into the trip-hop, house and breakbeat frameworks of remixers such as Mocean Worker, P'Tahh, Justin Robertson, Rob Playford, Plaid, Banco De Gaia, The Light and others. The flavor's just as sweet the second time around.

TAMAKA

Sundown (Open Source Music)

You may remember Tamaka, the Washington D.C.-based production duo Christopher Rischard and Hakim Morsli, from its deliciously downbeat contributions to last year's Walking On Pennsylvania Avenue compilation. Sundown, the pair's full-length debut, continues on the same course as its earlier work, exuding chill vibes to cool and calm your disposition during summer's dog days. Infusing subtle trip-hop grooves with dashes of jazz, dub, Latin and ambient devices, the album is a sensual, serene affair, highlighted by the delicate hues of tracks like "Samba In Paris," "Nature's Way" and "Swinging Trumpets."

THE COUP

Party Music (75Ark)

In this day and age, it's comforting for hip-hop purists out there to know that a group like The Coup can prosper. Consisting of vocalist/producer Boots Riley and DJ Pam The Funkstress, this Oaktown duo has been making amazingly funky, incredibly intelligent and politically provocative music for the better part of a decade. Their fourth full-length makes it clear that they haven't mellowed with age; musically, Boots chiefly favors pure Urban Dancefloor Guerillas-era P-Funk, and it makes for a strange mix considering how radical his lyrics are. You can hit random play and come up strong with all 12 selections, but standouts include the groovy, pulsing lead single, "5 Million Ways To Kill A CEO"; the Black Panthers-influenced anti-police harangue "Pork And Beef" (with guest vocals by T-Kash); the strangely tender wisdom of the slower "Wear Clean Draws" (an open letter to Boots' daughter); and the gospel-flipped don't-turn-the-other-cheek message on "Heaven Tonite." One of the most important and interesting hip-hop albums of the year, no doubt.

INFAMOUS MC

Attitudes (12") (My Man Recordings-ABB)

The Left Coast underground continues to be a well of dope MCs, a fact proven by this debut offering from oft-praised freestyle master, The Infamous MC. With help from L.A.-area producer/MC Oh No (who happens to be Madlib's brother), Infamous MC blazes through his verses — sounding at times like a calmer version of ex-Arsonist D-Stroy — spitting brags and dope similes at every turn with help from Oh No, Sauna and Bio (a.k.a. Kali Wild) on "Attitudes." On the flip, "Bring The Ruck" meanders a bit without biting, but the also-Oh No-produced "Affirmative Action" will coax radio spins, pitting quicksilver lyrical flourishes over a calm, strolling beat.

VARIOUS ARTISTS

Mush Filmstrip (Volume 1) (Shadow–Mush)

As Company Flow and the Anti-Pop Consortium basked in the glow of their '90s underground status, there was an even more subterranean movement forming: a group of bookwormy, collegiate hip-hop fans fed up with the macho bam-thud of both the mainstream and so-called underground. Works from New York's fascinating Mush label (which were previously extremely hard to obtain) dating from '97 have been collected here, showcasing instrumental and vocal hip-hop by a crew of artists you might not have heard before, but will certainly dig: cLOUDDEAD, J. Cru, So Called Artists, Boom Bip, Doseone and even the soon-to-be-lauded Aesop Rock.

ALISON KRAUSS AND UNION STATION

New Favorite (Rounder) Lucky for Dan Tyminski that George Clooney doesn't have any of Auntie Rosemary's singing talent. If ol' George had been able to carry a tune for his role in O Brother, Where Art Thou?, the Union Station singer/guitarist never would've been called in to become the lead voice for the film's soundtrack — which went on to become the year's biggest sleeper hit. Tyminski's newfound fame can only help bring notoriety to his veteran group's soulful bluegrass harmonies; anyone who knows all the words to the Soggy Bottom Boys' "I Am A Man Of Constant Sorrow" should snap up Tyminski's woodsy hymn "Bright Sunny South" and sprightly anthem "Momma Cried." Union Station is, however, first and foremost a communal effort, constantly providing talented fiddler/vocalist Alison Krauss (who's also a core part of O Brother's Appalachian echo) with a failproof backdrop. Nowhere is the ensemble stronger than on "The Boy Who Wouldn't Hoe Corn," a traditional folk tune that grows fuller and spookier than a low, fat harvest moon. — Kristy Martin

LUCY KAPLANSKY

Every Single Day (Red House) Lucy Kaplansky's ethereal vocals blow through her songs like a cool breeze on a San Francisco beach. On her fourth album, Kaplansky mixes smooth popfolk with a dash of twang to create a soft, flowing sound that dances on the ear. The songstress deftly blends her heartfelt lyrics and velvety voice with the delicate sounds of pedal steel, mandola and cittern (not to mention some excellent acoustic guitar work), creating a batch of captivating, emotive songs that will touch even the coldest of hearts. Four beautiful covers (including Steve Earle's "You're Still Standing There" and the Louvin Brothers' "The Angels Rejoiced Last Night") plump up the record, but Kaplansky's vibrant original works stand tall on their own. "Written On The Back Of His Hand" and "Guilty As Sin" are soulful pieces reminiscent of the work of her former singing partner, Shawn Colvin, fearlessly exploring the pain that lovers are willing to suffer for one another. On Every Single Day, Kaplansky delivers a riveting and sorrowful array of songs straight from her heart. — Jill Goslicky

CMJ MUSIC MARATHON 2001 PANEL HIGHLIGHTS:

CREATIVE DIFFERENCES: Artists Talk About Their Creative Process

Some can't work in the morning, others need to have a drink in their hands, still others like to get their inspiration from the pigeons in the park. Cozy up for a nice chat with our creative minds, and discover how they do what they do.

PEER-TO-PROFIT: Can Companies Make Money From Peer To Peer File-Sharing? How?

It's the buzz phrase for the new millennium, but what does it mean, and can anyone truly do it?

NO MAPS FOR THESE TERRITORIES: Re-Envisioning Of Intellectual Property

Is it overstating the case to say that the current era is as revolutionary as when Guttenberg started cranking out Bibles on his printing press? How is ownership and creation of art changing in this radical time?

I FOUGHT THE LAW: Raves And Law Enforcement

Cities and towns across the country are banning electronic music gatherings. Is it because of the drugs, or those enormous pants? Ravers and promoters come together to address the concerns.

DISENFRANCHISED, DISGRUNTLED AND DISGUSTED: The Music Industry Disses (Cranky Panel III)

If bitching were an Olympic sport, some of our panelists would be gold medallists.

WIRED FOR SUCCESS: Internet Marketing

People say they've had success doing this, but do you know one band which has broken on the Internet? Okay, besides that one. Find out the tricks of the trade from our panel of wired-in experts.

CMJ PANELS, MENTOR SESSIONS AND DEMO SESSIONS

HOW ARE THE CMJ CHARTS COMPILED?

GETTING THE MOST OUT OF A MUSIC INDUSTRY CONVENTION

WHEN DO YOU NEED A LAWYER?

WHAT DOES A MANAGER DO? WHEN DO YOU NEED ONE?

WHAT IS THE DMCA. AND IS IT IMPORTANT?

*topics subject to change

5 CURRENT FAVORITES

How long have you been and how long will you be MD?

I've been MD for about a year now and will be until they drag me out of here kicking and screaming. This is best job I've ever had and probably will ever have. I can't do it forever, though; I want others to have a chance to do it.

What do you do to build your station's audience?

We have three huge remote broadcasts a year. We do a "first day of school" one where we spend the entire day outside of the student union building, give away prizes and generally spread the word to new students. We also do Halloween and Valentine's Day broadcasts. Or, I'll go to people's parties, dig through their CD collection, laugh at their Seven Mary Three collection, give them a CD and a bumper sticker and then get kicked out.

Who are you most proud of bringing either to the station or to your campus to perform and why?

I got Spoon to come. They were incredible and came back to my house to party afterward. It's hard to get bigger bands to come here, I guess because West Virginia has a totally inaccurate reputation for being un-hip.

What's the most fucked-up thing that ever happened to you while you were on-air?

We had a pumpkin carving contest during last year's Halloween remote broadcast. One of the contestants said, "I just want everybody to come down to the VFW tonight and watch me beat the fuck out of a bunch of guys during the boxing contest." I told him he should probably keep his mouth shut and concentrate on carving the pumpkin. He looked at me like he was gonna beat the fuck outta me in front of all the students. He later apologized, but he was one scary dude.

What's the worst line a promoter ever used on you to get you to play a record? If you want, tell us who it was.

Melissa from Hollywood Records told me she would suck my toes if I played her records more. I told her we would have to see how the cookie crumbled. Her response was "Fuck your cookie, play my god damned records!" She's very zany but gets the job done, I have to say.

What's the best promo item you've ever received? The worst?

The band Starlight Mints and Team Clermont ordered me a pizza from Georgia and had it delivered to the station while I was on office hours. The worst was a giant sheet of orange industrial netting I got from the Damage Manual. I love that band, but what the hell was that and what do you do with it?!

What's the best use for a CD other than for storing music?

I don't have a hand mirror at home so I use the reflective side to trim my sideburns.

Every station has that one old dude from the local town that's been doing a show since anyone can remember. Who is it at your station, what kind of show do they do, and what's their deal?

We have Orville Weale. He takes care of the local music shows and does a lot of archiving and promoting of local artists. He's a very sweet guy, but his dog comes to the station sometimes and poops in the library.

Why did you get into college radio? Free CDs?

I actually didn't sign up on my own. One of my friends who worked here said I should I try it and signed me up, and now I can't leave. I love it. It's just too much fun playing music and hanging out with the people who work here. The free CDs came later and boy are they nice... keep em comin'. You don't have to suck my toes or anything. A copy of the record will do nicely.

What's your major?

I just finished school. It was English and education. So I guess when I decide to grow up I'll be a mild-mannered English teacher. Right now I'm trying to make it with my band Sandra Black like so many other bands.

If you could see anyone in concert (dead or living), who would it be and why?

My Bloody Valentine... Kevin Shields, please come back! The Who circa 1970 would have been nice. Have you heard Live At Leeds? Amazing. The Clash, The Pixies, Hüsker Dü... the wish list goes on.
