UNSIGNED ARTIST PROFILE HOGGBOY

Members: Tom Hogg (vocals/guitars), Bailey (bass), Richy Westley (drums), Hugh Smith (guitar)

Base Of Operations: Sheffield, England

Formed: 2001 in Sheffield

Releases: Or 8? (U.K. debut album, iting their major influences as "booze, fags 'n' women," the members of Hoggboy live life (or attempt to) in true classic rock 'n' roll fashion. The Sheffield-based combo may only be a couple of years old, but its leather-and-liquor drenched sensibility already fits the band as perfectly as its own skin.

Mixing glam rock melodies with dirty guitar riffage and plenty of street-fighting jams, Hoggboy is the perfect band to play any party — as long as you don't mind having your windows smashed and your girlfriend stolen at the end of the night, that is. The band's U.K. debut album, Or 8?, features production work from fellow Sheffield guitar hero Richard Hawley (Pulp) and Sex Pistols producer Chris Thomas, and was enough to get local press raving and local fans drooling.

But don't think the album resulted in all fun and games. The band knows that there's a lot of work that goes into becoming successful, and it isn't resting on its laurels. "We've made 48 flights since January of this year, touring the world on an indie label and playing 100 gigs or so," reveals frontman Tom Hogg.

Not that he's complaining. "For us, the best thing about this is that we got up off our own arses and traveled the world all year, playing 12 countries. And we just finished recording our second album, so I suppose it's going to be the same next year. What a fuckin' laugh."

If that second album is anywhere near as good as Or 8? — which features songs with huge hit potential, like the hand-clap riddled barroom stomper "Upside Down" and the reflective U2-esque "Don't Get Lost" — Hogg probably has the right idea. This is the kind of stuff people just won't be able to get enough of, meaning that it's only a matter of time before the right U.S. label catches on, as well.

In the meantime, the band has already been getting enough attention to prove how well it can show grace under pressure. And the most important factor there is a sense of humor — which came in handy when the quartet gathered for its first NME photo shoot. "It was a below-freezing day in Sheffield in winter, and we had the photo shoot at night," remembers a shivering Hogg. "Our manager (who has suffered many times) got us to stand on a table in the yard of the local pub and pictures were taken — for an hour — while he and Richard Hawley threw buckets of freezing cold water at us and sprayed us with a hose pipe. The pictures are fucking ace, but now the manager suggests we follow the theme with photos of us setting each other on fire..."

Well, no one ever said rock 'n' roll (or "erotic rock 'n' roll" as the band was once dubbed, to its bemusement) was supposed to be safe.

One last note of distinction: when asked what makes Hoggboy different from other bands in its local scene, Hogg is quick to invoke the name of another well-known Sheffield act. "None of us have shagged a member of the Human League," he claims.

Then again, with drinking, smoking and shagging so high on the priority list, you never know...

the lost trailers EP

LOST TRAILERS

EP (Self-Released)

The Lost Trailers are all about mixing it up — meaning that the Atlanta-based band's powerful self-released EP will move you in many different ways. It may tug at your heartstrings ("Walking Blind"); it might inspire you to start a country line dance ("Averly Jane"); or, it might make you chuckle: the sardonic "Horse" drowns itself in an immensely dry wit, combining the chorus of "Fuck you and the horse you rode in on" and a less-than-cordial Limp Bizkit namedrop with a genuinely sweet country-tinged tune. However, even with its

Winston-cigarette-smoking country-music leanings, this six-song release doesn't get mired down in an overly twangy good-ol'-boy sound; maintaining wide appeal, the band has been known to rouse audiences while opening up for acts ranging from Sugar Ray to Willie Nelson, and from Dispatch to the Allman Brothers. Plus, with names like Stokes Nielson (vocals/guitars) and Ryder Lee (keyboards/vocals), the Trailers almost seem genetince music sales first started to slide, P2P has always been the convenient whipping boy. At the time, however, there really weren't any practical alternatives to Napster or any of the other sites that popped up in its wake. Web sites that offered label-sanctioned MP3s tended to be too expensive, difficult to navigate and have too small of a music collection to compete on the same level. It was generally accepted that digital music would be the format of the future, but no one could seem to make it work.

This month, however, all that looks like it's about to change.

Napster (www.napster.com) has announced that, on Oct. 29, its retooled service will allow PC-users access to over 500,000 songs (more than any other service) for streaming, downloading and burning. Users can either download tracks for 99 cents apiece, or they can subscribe to a premium service for $9.95 per month, which offers unlimited listening and downloading, 40 online radio stations and the ability to Email tracks to friends. Even non-customers can visit the site to watch music videos, listen to music clips and read the site's online magazine, Fuzz. Perhaps best of all, Napster allows users to import other music files into the service so people can manage their entire online music library from one station. And, of course, since no music service would be complete without its own MP3 player, Napster has partnered with Samsung to present the YP-910GS Digital Audio Player, which features 20 GB of memory to hold over 5,000 songs, a built-in FM transmitter that allows users to transmit playlists to a nearby FM radio, and the ability to encode MP3s directly from a CD player into the player without having to go through a PC.

Meanwhile, Apple (www.apple.com/itunes) has finally launched the PC version of its iTunes music service for Windows users. The PC version features the exact same music catalogue (almost 400,000 songs) and features that are available on the Mac version; the only real difference is that, now, 95 percent of the computer-owning public is no longer excluded from using the music store. Indeed, eager with anticipation, it only took Windows users three-and-a-half days after the announcement to buy more than one million songs from the site. Additionally, the site also announced the availability of Email-able gift certificates and a new "Allowance" feature that allows parents to automatically deposit money into their children's music fund each month, providing an incentive for children to steer away from illegal downloading.

CEX "My Head" (Jade Tree) A precursor to his Maryland Mansions LP (his second album in six months), indie-rock's token hip-hopper, Cex (a.k.a. Rjyan Kidwell), lets this uncharacteristically sparse ballad fly amid dark 'n' gloomy orchestration and gothic rhythmic textures, while talking his way through a wide-eyed soliloquy on the mental strains of struggling up through Hip-Hop's rings of success. Overall, while Cex doesn't show off anything new lyrically, the beats and production are beautifully simple and straightforward enough to hopefully make some new fans put down that Eminem CD and branch out into more adventurous territory.

DENALI

The Instinct (Jade Tree) For its sophomore release, Richmond, Virginia's Denali progresses from the swirling atmospherics and icy, digitized torch-fest of last year's self-titled debut to a more straightforward rock approach that melts away all the glacial analogies. The band still manages to weave robo-pulsed blips into its silken minor-key blanket of Rhodes-rimmed indierock, and singer Maura Davis's fallen-angel coos still penetrate straight to the soul, but instead of passive-aggressive brooding, The Instinct instead finds Denali on the aggressive, battling the angst with a steady barrage of reverb-soaked guitars and syncopated snare-snaps. From the opening "Hold Your Breath," which finds erratic rhythms strung together by Davis's velvety vocals and a digital squawk, the disc shines as a demonstration of how the group has matured. "Surface" perhaps best encapsulates Denali's cool dynamic — ethereal guitar lines floating between synth dabs and desolate wails crash into a beautiful bass 'n' drums cacophony. Meanwhile, the title track and "Normal Days" each build from a simple sequence into a monstrous crescendo that, like Denali itself, appeals to the inner recesses of human intuition. — Louis Miller

Logic Will Break Your Heart (Vice)

If there's one thing we've learned this year, it's that it's no longer cool to make fun of Canada. Not when it's given us phenomenal records from the likes of Metric, Stars, Broken Social Scene, and now, the debut album from Montreal-based quartet the Stills. Marked by enviably creative arrangements, hyper-enveloping guitar textures and some of the smoothest vocals this side of Morrissey, Logic Will Break Your Heart joins Stellastarr*'s self-titled debut as one of the defining moments of exactly what this whole new wave revival has been leading up to. "Still In Love Song" is a deliciously dark sonic tapestry that falls over you like a shroud; "Let's Roll" is an epic Pixies-in-slow-motion boat cruise on the River Styx; and (hyperbole be damned) "Gender Bombs" — with its sagely lamenting chorus, "The girl will school you" — is simply the best song you're going to hear all year. True, if they slowed it down a bit, the Stills could easily pull off an un-ironic cover of Modern English's "I Melt With You" — but that's exactly what makes them so great.

WHEAT

Per Second, Per Second, Per Second... Every Second (AWARE-Columbia)

Wheat records are like a shy friend — they're not really at their best in a group; it's when you get them alone that they open up and shine. After the unexpected success of its 1998 debut, Medeiros, Wheat chose producer Dave Fridmann (Flaming Lips, Mercury Rev) to produce its sophomore effort, Hope And Adams, a collection of new Daydream Nation national anthems. Back again, Fridmann finds the "heat" in "Wheat" and helps the band fill in all the haunting gaps with a progression forward, while still extending an invitation to gaze. Cerebral and less nonchalant than previous releases, Per Second... rolls in like a chill to heighten your senses, then waits for you over in the corner, like your shy friend; but this time, it wants to mingle. The band is a little louder than before ("Can't Wash It Off"), some of the tunes move a little quicker ("Closer To Mercury"), and there's an old favorite ("Don't I Hold You") lurking around, but, remaining true to its namesake, Wheat still flows like amber waves in the wind. — Brad Maybe

DISTILLERS

Coral Fang

(Hellcat-Sire-Reprise) Many people would like to credit the Distillers' success to raccoon-eved Australian frontwoman Brody Dalle's association with Rancid's Tim Armstrong. True, Armstrong "discovered" his ex-wife and nurtured her career, only to be unceremoniously and rather publicly dumped. But let's debunk the myth, ignore the gossip and dabble in reality, shall we? The Distillers really achieved success thanks to a fervent commitment to edgy, femme, frothing punk rock — which is fully exemplified on Coral Fang. The singer's smoky, raspy, sometimes-cracked vocals will likely elicit more than a few comparisons to fellow diva Courtney Love, but while Love tends to propagate and believe her own hype, Dalle prefers instead to knuckle down on her guitar and spit out her rants. Despite being the band's major label debut, there's not one iota of corporate or faux punk residing on this disc; "Drain The Blood," "Love Is Paranoid" and "Dismantle Me" all cling to the power chords, the street cred and the integrity that the Distillers have amassed since day one.

SHINS

Chutes Too Narrow (Sub Pop) After nearly a decade of 7-inches, the Shins released Oh, Inverted World in 2001, warming the hearts of many with a pop record that was equally catchy and personal. Making for perfect mixtape material, the quartet now returns with a quieter sophomore effort — one that suits the hunger for a soft, melodic album to provide comfort in the privacy of bedroom listening. Most of the recording was done in singer/guitarist James Mercer's home basement studio, giving the production an element of nostalgia akin to the familiar cracks, snaps and pops of an old record. The upbeat rhythms of "So Says I" and "Turning A Square" don't break the calm that "Saint Simon," "Those To Come" and "Young Pilgrims" pave over the 10 tracks here; the result is clean and catchy without sacrificing its sincerity or mature resonance.

Whereas the Shins' first record was something appropriate to share with others, Chutes Too Narrow has a more internal pull, weaving a unique and consistent pattern for you alone. — Vicki Siolos

NIK FREITAS

Heavy Mellow

(Future Farmer)
Growing up in California, Nik Freitas cut his artistic teeth as a staff photographer for Thrasher.
Today, Heavy Mellow sees him ably expressing his creativity musically; Freitas plays all the instruments on the album (with the exception of the solos), he co-produced it with his friend, Aaron Estes, and, most impressively, he mellifluously transitions between bridges (remember those?) and the rest of the song. "Penny," with its bouncy piano playing, stabbing Stax-style guitar spikes and Stones-y solo, works around a classic circular bassline; an apparent victim of a one-night-stand questioning the whereabouts of a lost lover, the ode sees Freitas steering clear of the alt-country ideals often associated with his record label. In fact, as a rule, Heavy Mellow follows up the neo-psychedelic power pop meanderings of Freitas' debut, Here's Laughing At You, with a more taut songwriting style. Channeling the melodies (and instrumentation) of Magical Mystery Tour-era Beatles and the prowess of labelmate

Howie Beck, he has peppered the disc with catchy and simple, yet emotional, introspective songs.

U.S. MAPLE

Purple On Time (Drag City) Whether U.S. Maple's music is tagged as Jazz soaked with penetrating rock 'n' roll or mindbending psychedelia, one thing is certain: the Chicago-based musicians at work here are confident in their art. Each track on Purple On Time, the group's newest genre-twister, swerves in and out of control fast enough to leave those with an untamed ear dizzy with motion sickness. Singer Al Johnson's sloweddown death metal rasp may seem out of place beside the deeply Jazz-rooted instrumentation displayed by the rest of the band, and the lyrics are often unintelligible and independent of each other, but the clashes nicely serve the freeform nature of the performers. An exploration in sound that contains all the fundamental elements of music — for those who are unaccustomed to such freedom from structure — Purple On Time also provides aural pleasure for the hungry fans that have awaited U.S. Maple's return to the studio. Bridging the gap between the two audiences is a subdued version of the twangy Dylan classic "Lay Lady Lay," as it was never meant to be recorded.

R.E.M.

In Time: The Best Of R.E.M. 1988–2003 (Warner Bros.) R.E.M. was once the flagship college band, but sometime around 1988, the group went from sullen coffee-shop student favorite to bona fide cultural currency — from the template for indie rock bands everywhere to Top 40 rock sensation.

Fifteen years later, In Time collects all the hits from when Michael Stipe and co. hit the stratosphere and beyond. From the ubiquitous "Stand" to the underrated "Imitation Of Life" and "All The Way To Reno," hearing all these tracks on one collection makes it pleasingly apparent that this is one of the very few commercially successful bands that have maintained quality songwriting throughout its career without selling out once. Plus, the two brand new songs here, the slice of Green-era power pop, "Bad Day," and the Monster rock burst of "Animal," are just as good as the older tracks — showing that R.E.M. has still got it. Be sure to check out the Special Edition of the release, which includes a second disc of live tracks, rarities and Bsides, including many of the band's soundtrack appearances.

This could be the best unsigned band in New York... and don't expect Aerial Love Feed to deny it.

ith the recent explosion of the new New York City music scene, it may seem like any band in the metro area with the style and the songs could find itself on the path to glory in a matter of months. Yet, despite all the attention that's been focused on the Big Apple, there are still some great acts out there slipping under the radar, struggling to be heard. Aerial Love Feed is one of those bands — but if it has its way, the struggle won't last much longer.

Combining electronic elements and Hip-Hop beats with storming, layered rock 'n' roll, the band sits nestled in between its diverse influences of the Jesus And Mary Chain, Curve and latterday Primal Scream. It draws regular capacity crowds in both NYC and Boston and has fans as far away as California, despite the fact that it has yet to embark on a full-scale tour. Not to mention that the band claims many of its own contemporaries as fans — the members of Stellastarr*, for example, have been known to frequently namedrop ALF when talking about their hometown scene.

So why the delay of the spotlight? In large part, it has to do with the many transitions the band has been through. Although Aerial Love Feed has been around since 1998, the group is an almost entirely different musical entity today then when it started out. In fact, only two of the original members, frontman Wade Settle and bassist Gerry Rustic, remain in the current lineup. Since starting out, the band has also worked with a number of different producers, broken up and reformed, and dramatically changed direction.

Do a Google search for "Aerial Love Feed" and you'll discover pretty quickly that the band originally gained attention as an act to look out for on the still-thriving underground shoegazer scene. With groups like Slowdive and (older) Spiritualized serving as inspiration, Settle and the original ALF crew sought to soothe their listeners with huge, but gentle, washes of guitars and vocals. They recorded an EP with producer Keith Cleversley that went out to radio in 2000 and scored them an instant fanbase — one that soon included current guitarist John Kapp, who arrived in the picture just as things began to change.

"I saw Aerial Love Feed three times before joining, and they were my favorite shoegaze band," remembers Kapp. "And I was like, 'Oh cool, I'm gonna join!' But then, when I was in, I realized, 'Well, OK, I'm not joining that band. It's a whole new thing.' But it turned out better."

It's easy to see why he feels that way, when listening to — or rather, getting knocked over by — songs like the unstoppable "Pedestal" and the full-frontal assault of "CB," tracks featured on the band's most recent demo EP. Still, the question arises of just how things went from one end of the mellow-vs.-aggressive spectrum to the other so quickly. Surprisingly, instead of the usual vague allusions to artistic progression that bands are so fond of using, the answer is quite simple this time.

"A lot of songs I had were very slow," confirms Settle. "But a few years back, we saw Primal Scream at [NYC's] Hammerstein Ballroom — and after that, we had to do something exciting. It totally changed our perspective. It changed my perspective."

And the most marked way in which that perspective was altered (courtesy of the Scream's XTRMNTR tour) was in the realization of just what kinds of extreme results can be achieved by adding samples and electronics to a rock music template. "After Primal Scream, that really took effect on me," remembers Settle. "I think, at first, we were making up for lack of sound, or what was missing in the group. We started out just adding samples with drum machines. But after a while, we started using movie dialogue and sound effects — until, for a time last summer, I reached a point where I was writing mainly on computer; it was solely just samples of drums and sound effects, and I would take the songs to the band almost finished."

With the most recent members of the band, guitarist Derek Hawkins (who did time with industrial rock act Stabbing Westward) and drummer Drew Thomas (who was just brought in to take over for original member Tracy Thompkins) in place, the latest incarnation of Aerial Love Feed is rapidly also becoming the definitive one, with the evolution of the band's sound reaching its natural peak.

"It's funny, because some of the songs are songs that I wrote seven years ago, that stayed in my head," reveals Settle. "But, eventually, you finally get the whole sound of the band, and then you know you can easily do it. You get a new drum machine beat, or whatever, and it just comes out. Like this new song, 'Cut Down' — I wrote that in college. And it only just got to the point where it was like, 'Right now, this sounds exactly like what we want."

"A couple of the songs from that first demo are also being reworked," adds Kapp. "Because the structures are so good; the songs are great. We're just changing the context of them a bit and bringing them up to speed with what we do now. So those songs are going to exist in a couple of different genres — but that will just show you that a good song is a good song, no matter what genre you put it in."

For proof of that, one can turn to a real world example: Despite a lack of physical presence in the area, Aerial Love Feed has already made a splash in Ohio, with both of its signature sounds, old and new — and it has commercial alternative station WOXY/Cincinnati, OH to thank for that. "We first became aware of Aerial Love Feed with their debut EP from 2000," says WOXY Music Director Matt Shiv. "We played the tune 'Angelika' on one of our specialty programs. Then, this year, we added the track 'Pedestal,' from the NY: The Next Wave compilation on Kanine Records. While the older stuff seemed very shoegaze-inspired, I almost thought that 'Pedestal' was a Placebo track at first. It was a song that all of us on the programming staff were fond of, but it started in light rotation. Over the course of several weeks, however, the song ended up in heavy rotation here, and has consistently reacted well with our listeners."

Of course, the fact that an unsigned band without a proper release has been able to chart a six-minute song on a commercial radio station is a pretty startling feat. But if there's one thing that Aerial Love Feed has learned, it's that good things start to happen when a band takes its success into its own hands.

"A mistake that I think we made at first, or the closest to one, was not being aggressive in putting together the team that's going to get it done," says Kapp, when asked what advice he would offer to other unsigned acts. "For example, we always thought that a manager would fall into our lap, or find us. We didn't necessarily expect stuff to come to us, but you have this perception that with some bands, stuff just falls into their lap — and it's not necessarily so. If you go out and get one piece of the puzzle, then 12 pieces of the puzzle come with it — but you've got to be aggressive about getting that one. Go out and get the manager. Go out and get the people that you want to have close to you, and everything else will start to fall into place. Don't just sit back and be like, 'I'm in the greatest band in the world. I write these great songs; the industry should come to me.' It's not quite going to work that way."

And in this case, you're looking at a band that's glad it doesn't work that way. Looking back to his shoegazing days, Settle has no doubt that he's in a better place now than he would have been if things had gone differently. "If we were signed back then, I'd be embarrassed now," he says. "Because we've learned, and we've done so many different things that I'm more proud of now.

"Even the recent parting with our drummer — if that happened at any other point in time, we wouldn't have the drummer we have now," adds Kapp. "It totally made me believe in fate. So now I don't feel bad about everything that didn't happen in the past, because I want it to happen now. Because this feels right; it feels like it's the right time for it to happen."

He pauses for a moment, before finishing with one final, bold statement of intent: "This is the thing that we want to present to the world now; whereas before, it felt like a work in progress. It felt like an unfinished painting. Still the best one in the city — but it wasn't done."

Anyone got a pen? There's going to be a dotted line in need of signing. NMR his week, Death Cab For Cutie's Transatlanticism takes its rightful place at No. 1, pushing Belle And Sebastian down a notch after a twoweek stint in the Top Spot. Meanwhile, Joe Strummer And The Mescaleros are making significant progress; after debuting at No. 23 last week, Streetcore hurdles to No. 5*, joining David Bowie's Reality in this week's Top 10 entries. Further down the chart, there are a slew of artists making more forward moves than Kobe Bryant (OK, that hasn't been proven); Yo La Tengo (114-23*), Ted Leo And The Pharmacists (176-29*), Coheed And Cambria (48-32*), Iggy Pop (97-35*), Teenage Fanclub (54-40*), Beth Gibbons And Rustin Man (71-44*), the Thrills (56-46*), Hey Mercedes (66-47*), Azure Ray (69-48*) and Kid Koala (169-50*) all advance this week. As for debuts, it was a quiet week, though Rachel's joined the fun at No. 62*. Also this week, Travis's third fulllength, 12 Memories, landed No. 1 Most Added honors, picking up a respectable 140 stations. We'll be keeping a watchful eye on that one. On a completely unrelated note, the new Ryan Adams disc, Rock 'N' Roll (Lost Highway), is a work of undeniable brilliance. Please Ryan, remain as socially dysfunctional as possible, stay the hell away from AA meetings and keep doing what you're doing.

CMJ ON AIR VOLUME 1

The brand new CMJ On Air CD is out now, and while you're checking out the all the music on the big double-disc from acts including Magna-Fi, the Rapture, Low Flying Owls, Memento, Bettie Serveert and Coheed And Cambria, be sure to check out the station airchecks from WERS/Boston,

WWVU/Morgantown, WV, WSOU/South Orange, NJ, KCSU/Fort Collins, CO, KLSU/Baton Rouge, LA and WRFL/Lexington, KY. Each station submitted three-to-four minute collages of its production — except for KCSU, because Abby Berendt doesn't know how to follow instructions. If you would like everybody to hear what your station sounds like, then get your best legal IDs, promos and sweepers together and Email Brad Maybe at bradm@cmj.com.

DUCK, DUCK, GOOSE

WWVU/Morgantown, WV is planning what could very well be the world's largest game of Duck, Duck, Goose. The proposal has been pitched to the fine folks at Guinness and the date is set: hundreds of thousands of WWVU listeners (well, they're hoping for 1,000) will descend on the West Virginia University's Mountainlair (the school's student union) and play the game on Nov. 8, as part of the school's "Mountaineer Week."

WWVU will be doing live drops from the event that's sure to set a new world record — or at least be somewhat fun to watch.
Students are busily working on turning the event into a drinking game. So far, drinking every time somebody says "duck" seems to be the best idea.

HAPPY 28TH BIRTH-DAY TO KJHK

KJHK/Lawrence, KS just turned 28, and, to celebrate, the station threw a birthday bash on Oct. 17. Prefuse 73, Beans and Nobody all played at local venue the Granada. Tickets for the show were just $10. The station is also currently accepting DJ submissions for "Wax Clash," the DJ contest held each semester. The next event is coming up on Nov. 19 at Lawrence's Liberty Hall. Fifteen DJs will be selected to compete in what is one of the station's more popular events.

KRCC SHOOTING FOR $135K

KRCC/Colorado Springs, CO is looking to raise $135,000 during its fund-raiser, which began on Oct. 20. Twice a year, the station sets its goal and doesn't end the fund-raiser until it hits its mark. KRCC was hoping to hit that goal by the following day, so it wouldn't have to solicit donations for longer than two days. In other station news, KRCC is going to start posting its playlists on its Web site in real time — hopefully within the next week — at www.krcc.org.

KXLU RAISES SOME DOUGH

KXLU/Los Angeles just wrapped up its annual "Fundrazor." Running from Oct. 3–10, the station was able to raise an impressive $122,000!

CMJ SILVER SALUTE

Throughout 2003, CMJ will salute one classic College Radio album per issue in celebration of our 25th Anniversary.

BLOOD, SWEAT AND TEARS

Child Is Father To The Man (Columbia)
Al Kooper, the organ-pounding frontman on Blood, Sweat And Tears' momentous 1968 debut, never had a chance to relish in his band's success. After the album's release and only a handful of gigs, Kooper left the group — leaving behind a timeless legacy as he went. Like a mad scientist breathing life into his creation, Kooper nurtured a commanding lineup of musicians to create the rawest sound that had ever been attempted by a bunch of white city-boys at the time. Packed between the "Overture" and "Underture" on Child Is Father To The Man is a massive collection of soul, blues, lounge, Jazz and rock tracks that become downright chilling when Kooper and company reach their peak. A powerful horn section blaring alongside a stunning arrangement of strings and some of the fiercest organ playing that either side of the Mississippi has ever seen — this masterful work of genre fusion sits on a pedestal that few have been able to ascend to. — Greg Winter

Important Notes About RAM Charts:

RAM Charts are weighted to more accurately reflect the relative impact of airplay on actual listeners. Station Power, Broadcast Radius, Market Size, Daypart and Airplay Reach (the number of stations playing a particular Album or Song) are all factored to determine the weighted impact of the airplay. Chart details, with or without weighting applied, can be accessed at ram.cmj.com.

Due to the limited number of stations currently included In the construction of RAM charts, a statistically reliable sample may not always be guaranteed and certain chart anomalies may result.

RAM monitors airplay via terrestrial broadcasts, webcasts, satellite, cable and with active station participation.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT

BURNING UP: The Fever recently paid a visit to Radio K, where the band performed all five songs off of its debut EP, Pink On Pink. But the highlight of the visit was when bassist Pony (second from right) showed everyone how to do the classic "school class photo" pose. (Left to right) The Fever's Achilles, Radio K's Peter Lansky, the Fever's Sanchez Esquire, Radio K's Alison "A-Bomb" Stolpa, the Fever's Geremy Jasper, Pony, and J.

READY FOR TAKE-OFF: "Hey guys, when can we start drinking and smoking again?" asks Jet's visibly prepared Mark Wilson, after the Aussie band's performance in Minneapolis. "As soon as the flash goes off mate," replies the band. "As soon as... now!" (Left to right) Jet's Mark Wilson, Chris Sester and Cameron Muncey, Tinderbox's Krista Vilinskis and Jet's Nick Sester.

SHELBY COMIN' ROUND: It's a good thing everyone got all bundled up when Shelby Lynne got to WDET. This image was captured just seconds before a freak blizzard broke out in the control room of the Detroit station's studio. (Left to right) WDET's Martin Bandyke, Lynne and Capitol's Steve Nice.

TWISTED PICTURE: What can we say? Good things come to those who join the Syndicate. Gillian Murray just signed on, and she's already hanging out with Dee Snider. Even though this was on Murray's birthday, it wasn't easy getting this picture; you see, the rest of Twisted Sister had the camera, and the guys just kept insisting, "We're not gonna take it!" (Left to right) Murray, Snider and Victory's Mike Jakubow.

hio's thoroughly bruising Premonitions Of War is in the studio recording Left In Kowloon, its Victory Records debut. The album, due out in January, is named after a thriving, insular society in Hong Kong. • Finally! It's about effing time! One of CMJ Loud Rock's favorite bands in the world, Martyr AD, has recorded its label debut for Victory, titled On Earth As It Is In Hell. With members leaving left and right, the band is finally ready to unleash this slab of metalcore vengeance on the world. Also, congrats Tara (bass) and Charlie (guitars), who recently got married. Quite the metalcore marriage, wouldn't you say? • Need more Slayer in your life? Duh. Who doesn't need more Slayer? It's like Vitamin C — you require a daily

"ammo box" will include four CDs — the extra disc will be a full-length concert CD from 2002's God Hates Us All tour, packaged in a blood-pack sleeve with faux blood and floating skulls — and a single DVD. This chunk of nuclear war metal will be released on Nov. 25, just in time for the Thanksgiving holiday! You must give thanks to the Heavy Metal Gods for allowing us such a treat as this, which contains digitally remastered tracks dating back to 1986, rare import-only cuts, a dozen rarities and a DVD of live performances culled from the last 20 years. The deluxe edition also includes a wall banner and a commemorative backstage laminate. This is indeed the box set for the end of the world. Long live metal. Long live fuckin' Slayer! • Mudvayne will be

LOUD ROCK PICK OF THE MONTH!

PANTERA

Far Beyond The Great Southern Cowboys' Vulgar Hits (Rhino–Elektra) First of all, how the fuck can you call it a Pantera "best of" while excluding "Fucking Hostile"? Was someone asleep at the wheel when this collection was conceived, composed and confirmed? Now that we've gotten that out of the way, get off your ass and go purchase Far Beyond The Great Southern Cowboys' Vulgar Hits. The disc kicks off with "Cowboys From Hell" and "Cemetery Gates," where frontman Philip "I Will Crush You" Anselmo hits high notes as though he were the spawn of Rob Halford and Bruce Dickinson. The usual suspects — "Mouth For War," "Walk," "This Love," "I'm Broken," "Becoming," "5 Minutes Alone," "Goddamn Electric" and "Revolution Is My Name" — are all over this bad boy! There's also a live rendition of "Where You Come From," as well as the band's cover of Ted Nugent's "Cat Scratch Fever." Also included in the package is a bonus DVD that collects videos from the CFH's career, along with live footage of "Domination" and "Primal Concrete Sledge." While most red-blooded Pantera fans are already in possession of most of this material, this "best of" houses everything a casual fan needs under one roof. For our money, the photos nail it; seeing Anselmo with his shaved head, when he was at his drill sergeant best, before the drugs overtook him, is bittersweet. Whether or not the final chapter on Pantera has been written remains to be seen, but for now, this collection reminds of us what we love about this band and why Pantera joined Metallica and Slayer in the unholy metal triumvirate. Walk on home, boy.

DevilDriver (Roadrunner-IDJMG)

Even though Coal Chamber frontman Dez Fafara has an unsavory reputation among his peers (hello, Sevendust!), his new musical venture, DevilDriver, temporarily absolves his sins. On this, the band's debut, Fafara ditches most of the nü-metal shenanigans of Coal Chamber; instead, he opts for an impressive brew of black metal and metalcore that has more in common with Cradle Of Filth than the tired, down-tuned riffage of KoRn and Rob Zombie. For most, a move like this would appear to be a desperate attempt at saving a floundering career, but Fafara took the risk and made it work — in fact, DevilDriver is a pleasant surprise, an extreme musical makeover that's daring, strong and deep. Impressively, this disc manages to squeeze something in for all metal fans: tight production ("Swinging The Dead," "Nothing's Wrong?"), calf-burning double-bass (check out those triplets on "Meet The Wretched"), ultra-thick guitar rhythms ("The Mountain," "Devil's Son"), and an interchanging mix of shriek-sing-growl vocals that rival Dani Davey and Jesse Leach (the impressive "Die (And Die Now)"). Now that we have such an impressive Devil behind the wheel, let's hope the Coal remains permanently locked in the Chamber. — Kevin Boyce

Bright Flashes (Victory)

Bright Flashes is a B-sides release, but in typical Snapcase fashion, it's not the least bit "traditional." Just as Snapcase has always steered ahead of the hardcore curve with its music, the Buffalo quintet does the same with this disc, which is more of a "companion" to last year's End Transmission than anything else. Instead of creating a predictable B-sides collection of demos, rarities and live tracks, Bright Flashes features songs recorded during the End Transmission sessions — songs that were part of the End Transmission concept, but didn't make the cut at the time. That's not to suggest that these songs are lesser throwaways, as the highbrow Bright Flashes moves with ambience and texture. Check the spacey, Snapcase-ified covers of Helmet's "Blacktop," Devo's "Freedom Of Choice" and "Gates Of Steel," and Jane's Addiction's "Mountain Song," as well as remixes of Transmission's "Believe, Revolt" and "Exile Etiquette."

MY RUIN

The Horror Of Beauty (Century Media)

Few people, if any, are aware of My Ruin frontwoman Tairrie B's humble beginnings as a gangsta rapper affiliated with late N.W.A. founder Eazy-E. But we're not "outing" Miss B.; she isn't ashamed of her past. That type of balls-out honesty translates in My Ruin's music on The Horror Of Beauty. My Ruin walks the razor's edge between subversive femininity and pro-womanhood, and The Horror Of Beauty is the most dirt-encrusted rock Miss B. has ever attempted, as it commences with a sludgy, Southern riff that would make Down smile in approval, then launches into a punk-sludge hybrid not unlike Motörhead. The divine Miss B. throws a big middle finger to sugar 'n' spice on "Made To Measure," "Get Pretty" and "SpitFire."

WSOU ROCKS THE BOAT

On Oct. 3, WSOU/South Orange, NJ successfully hosted the S.S. SOU VI, a boat cruise up and down the rivers of Manhattan that featured live performances from My Chemical Romance, Haste and Sick Of It All. While many people struggled to stave off seasickness (namely Haste bassist Brandon Thrasher), it was a smashing good time, not to mention a nice divergence from the run-of-the-mill venues in which you'd typically see a show like this. The wind was blowing, the Loud Rock was rocking (and loud) and people packed the boat like sardines from stem-to-stern. It never ceases to amaze us, though, as to why kids try to mosh on a boat with no real stage parameters. We were just waiting for someone to do a windmill in the pit, lose their equilibrium and go sailing overboard into the sewage below! Kudos to WSOU for a fine event, and we're looking forward to next year's seaside mosh-o-rama!

CHICAGO LEGENDS HONORED

■ he Chicago Chapter of the Recording Academy will honor such local Jazz icons as saxophonist Von Freeman, Delmark label/Jazz Record Mart storeowner Bob Koester and blues legend Buddy Guy, as well as children's music artist Ella Jenkins. The four will be honored at a V.I.P. dinner and performance on Nov. 6 at the School Of Art at the Art Institute Of Chicago. Singer Kurt Elling, who is an Academy Vice Chairman, will be among those who will make a presentation.

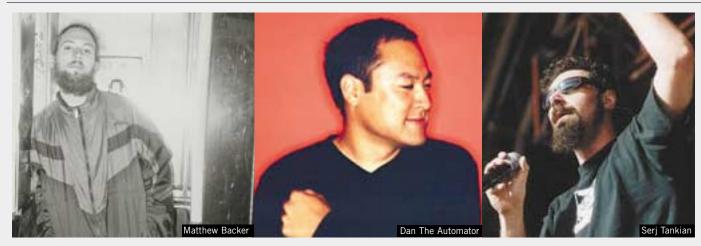

"The Recording Academy is pleased to recognize the achievements of the leaders of Chicago's music community through its annual Chicago Heroes Awards," said Recording Academy President Neil Portnow, who will also be on hand to present. "The Honorees not only represent the talent, strength and uniqueness of Chicago's vibrant music community, but also embody the finest qualities of all esteemed music makers. Each of the honorees has given back to the national music family and public at large with gifts of song and leadership."

It's been a big year for Koester. His legendary Delmark label turned 50 this year and the label staff has been busy releasing a steady stream of new collections (50 Years Of Jazz And Blues, For Jumpers Only, Bop Lives, etc.) to mark the milestone. Delmark is one of the oldest independent labels still owned by its founder, which is saying a lot in this era of music industry mergers and acquisitions.

Now past 80, Von Freeman has been playing since the '50s. Unlike many musicians, Freeman opted to stay put in Chicago for the most part — even if he did have the talent to make the national scene. But fame came anyway, thanks to the recognition of a number of important musicians and students (including his son, Chico Freeman) who still frequent Von Freeman's regular open mic gig (now at the New Apartment Lounge) to pay their respects and pick up a few pointers. Freeman has recorded for Delmark, Premonition, Steeplechase and Atlantic (where Rahsaan Roland Kirk produced him).

Congratulations to all four honorees!

JAZZ Q&A: MATTHEW BACKER

Producer Matthew Backer has tickled some and offended others as the creative force behind the new Bird Up: The Charlie Parker Remix Project. As part of CMJ Jazz's ongoing look at remixing in Jazz, Backer talks about his approach toward the project and the ramifications of working with Bird.

Was it hard to get Savoy to do Bird Up?

They were very gung-ho to do it, because it was very clear that my approach to the project was driven by my [desire to] preserve the integrity of Bird, but also dealing with Bird from a youthful and energetic angle, which is kind of akin to where Bird was coming from in the early-'40s. They took it into their world and acknowledged his impact on them.

Did everyone know his work?

Everyone knew who Bird was. Some artists were much more aware of Bird's body of work than others. There was a lot of discovery along the way. "Rebirth" was a word I heard a lot in response to the experience. Bird was something of a shaman for people involved with the project.

How did you pitch this to people?

I would talk to them ahead of time and make it clear that this was not a chance for the remixer to make the song their own. It was about the spirit of what Bird was all about and sort of to be able to fly with him in his flight that still won't quit.

Didn't that scare people?

Hell no. No one on this project was timid. Everyone who came to this project came with a revolutionary head of one sort or another.

Why weren't more Jazz artists used in this project?

A priority of this project was to bring Bird to light within the circles where he's not already revered. If you bring Matthew Shipp into the project, it's not going to have as great an impact or exposure as if you bring in Serj Tankian of System Of A Down. It's more important to expose people to this music who might not have listened to it otherwise. This isn't about pleasing the Jazz community. But anyone who knows what true Jazz is about should be very pleased.

How conscious were you of the commercial aspects of the project?

Only enough that people would look at the CD and want to buy it. But I didn't tell someone like Dan The Automator to build me a hit. If someone picked up the CD and saw all the people on it, they'd want to check it out. Plus, even if they don't know who any of those people are, they see that it's Charlie Parker. Charlie Parker is like Buddha: people may not know what Buddhism is or its defining characteristics, but they know it's important. They know that Charlie Parker is important.

BLUE SERIES CONTINUUM

The Sorcerer Sessions (Thirsty Ear) Pianist Matthew Shipp has allowed his classical music leanings to come out from time to time, particularly in his stringed trio efforts that feature Mat Maneri. Now, with Shipp going under the aegis of his Blue Series Continuum project, the pianist delivers the classical-leaning The Sorcerer Sessions, which utilizes producer Flam, Bang On A Can's Evan Ziporyn on clarinet and classically trained violinist Daniel Bernard Roumain, in addition to Shipp's regular jazzmen. As with other Blue Series Continuum efforts, the source material is twisted into new shapes while still retaining the character of the players. Yet the combination of the austere source material, found sounds, ambient recordings and Flam's post-production work (which has improved immensely since Shipp's NuBop) brings the album into the realm of modern classical avant-garde. Fortunately, the music and sounds are compelling enough that you don't need a music degree to follow all the action. While Shipp and company continue to push the envelope with each release of this landmark series, The Sorcerer Sessions is the Continuum's most groundbreaking recording yet.

VIJAY IYER

Blood Sutra (Artist House)

While Iyer's other new album with Mike Ladd, In What Language, is a modern multi-faceted concept effort that mixes Jazz, poetry, politics and Hip-Hop, Blood Sutra's only concept is to highlight the strength of this hard-driving, forward-thinking quartet. With formidable saxophonist Rudresh Mahanthappa, bassist Stephan Crump and the hard-hitting drummer Tyshawn Sorey on board, the pianist leads the group through complex and constantly shifting compositions that are gracefully rendered by a band that's spent time really playing together. Even better than the critically acclaimed Panoptic Modes, Blood Sutra's angular rhythms and ringing harmonies announce Iyer's arrival as a musical force to be reckoned with.

ISSI ROZEN

Dark Beauty (New Step)

Israeli-born guitarist Issi Rozen has been making a name for himself in the Boston area with a great quartet. Now, with Dark Beauty, his third album, Rozen proves that he's ready for national and international stages as well. Rozen's compositions are set firmly in the modern post-bop tradition while bringing in the circular elements of Middle Eastern and Jewish folk music as well. His clean guitar lines dance and parry with vibrancy, and the band responds splendidly, providing solid support throughout, particularly from pianist Gilad Barkan.

RPM Q&A: CHICKEN LIPS

aking dance genres even more complicated, England's Chicken Lips (Andy Meecham, Dean Meredith and Steve "Fella" Kotey) has created a popular new style of music that has been tagged "disco-dub." While you might not have heard of the group by name until recently, Meecham and Meredith are production veterans, who first gained notoriety in the early '90s, when they released several U.K. top 10 singles in the group Bizarre Inc. Since Chicken Lips' inception in 1999, the act has put out a debut artist album, Echoman, licensed its original productions to a slew of popular mix CDs, released its own mix CD, Body Music, and remixed top-name artists like FC Kahuna, Infusion, Playgroup, Stereo MC's and Underworld. However, in pulling together and mixing a collection of tracks from the '70s to the present — and from all over the musical map — Chicken Lips' new DJ Kicks mix might be the most daring venture the trio has undertaken. CMJ spoke with Lips' resident Kotey about the new disc and the drunken origin of his group's name, among other things.

Your music sounds just like your name — kind of funky and sometimes silly. Is that what you were going for?

Definitely. The name doesn't mean anything musically. It's an English thing — like when you go out and get absolutely drunk, and then, in the morning, you and your friend are talking shit and you're like, "Ahhh yeah... fuckin' yeah, yeah, yeah." That's Chicken Lips [laughs].

You Englishmen have a lot of words for that kind of feeling, don't you?

Yeah, definitely — because it happens quite a lot in the U.K.!

Since your style is really all over the place, you've probably been able to reach crowds that normally wouldn't be into electronic music.

I think Chicken Lips stuff crosses so many different genres of music; I think what Chicken Lips does is take what people think about these genres and break it up a bit and say, "Whatever." The music doesn't have to be timed; it doesn't have to be to the groove; and it can be a monotonous acid loop going around and around. It's just a bit of fun, really.

Tell us about your new DJ Kicks mix.

For us, it's not really like a DJ mix, in terms of what we play out in clubs every week. When they [!K7] approached us, we thought about what's happened with the last couple of DJ Kicks and how we could do something different. The Tiga one and the Trevor Jackson (a.k.a. Playgroup) one are really cool and very "now," so we wanted to do something that was different, but also have the same kind of clarity of what's behind it. We went heavy on the classics front, but it's more about what's inspired us to make music. What inspires Chicken Lips to make different sounds should be visible, or audible, from this CD.

How hard was it to mix the CD?

It was fairly problematic, in terms of making a CD with all the gaps and everything that there usually are. The only real problem was the computers and shit like that — as usual, not so much the music [laughs]. We also put some extra effects and keyboard sounds into the mix and Dean and I actually mixed it.

Will there be a live incarnation of Chicken Lips?

I don't think so. We were thinking about doing something with keyboards and live synths, along with a DJ set, but I think we'll just eventually become a production outfit and produce for other people. I think that's the next step after the album.

ESSENTIAL CHICKEN LIPS:

Echoman (2000, Kingsize) • DJ Kicks is at radio Nov. 10.

ESSENTIAL IMPORT

UNKLE Never, Never, Land (Mo Wax-Island U.K.)

Although it's not yet available domestically, a trip over to the import section of your favorite retailer (and an exchange of coin) will get you a copy of UNKLE's much-anticipated new album, Never, Never, Land. Producers James Lavelle and Richard File (note: DJ Shadow exited after the group's first record, 1998's Psyence Fiction) don't sway all that much from the formula established last time around — a tour-de-force of rugged beats, heady samples and top name collaborations — this time allowing Queens Of The Stone Age's Josh Homme, Pulp's Jarvis Cocker, Brian Eno, Graham Gouldman, former Stone Roses singer Ian Brown and Massive Attack's 3D to all bring their signatures to the record. Highlights include the cold and trance-y "In A State" (with Cocker on keys), the alt-rock "Safe In Mind" (with Homme on vocals), the Joy Division-sampling "Panic Attack" and the sublime "Reign" (featuring Brown on vocals). Since much has changed since Psyence Fiction, it's probably best to not compare that disc with Never, Never, Land. However, this is a worthy follow up for UNKLE that only slightly misses the mark previously set for it.

ILS

Y4K (Distinctive Breaks)

Now that you've gone completely Ape over Soul Trader, the artist album from Ils (a.k.a. Ilian Walker), it's time to sample his turntable skills. Filling Y4K is a wealth of Walker's own productions, like "6 Space (Next Level)" and Evil Nine's metallic remix of "Music," as well as his remixes of Roni Size/Reprazent's "Lucky Pressure," Lavo And Bushwacka!'s "Deep South" and FC Kahuna's glorious "Hayling." Dropped in-between is the perennial breakbeat favorite, Tsunami One and BT's "Hip-Hop Phenomenon," along with "Kick In A Hole" from Forme (a.k.a. UNKLE's Richard File), Evil Nine's "Cakehole" and Dynamite MC's "Can't Copy." Further on, the mix develops a really phat old-school vibe with Pixie featuring Rhalia's "It Don't Come Easy" and Rkidz and Noize's "Passion," before closing out with 10 Sui's "Deeper" and Christian J's remix of chill-out master Chris Coco's "Albatross." Equally stellar behind the decks as behind the board, with this mix, Ils further proves himself as a multifaceted breakbeat star.

BUGZ IN THE ATTIC

Fabriclive 12 (Fabric)

Fabric has established one of the best DJ mix brands in the business by pressing the vibe of its fabulous London club nights onto CD. Now, with an eye towards the future, it has called on hot new collective Bugz In The Attic to mix together its latest portable party. On Fabriclive 12, the Bugz take the whole Jazz/house/soul-thing and somehow make it sound better than just about anyone else could. The record starts off on a decidedly jazzy tip, but quickly turns in favor of more up-front and aggressive sounds with tracks by Seiji, Artwork and Daluq — before moving on to Bugz' own remix of Vikter Duplaix's "Looking For Love" and the Neptunes' reconfiguration of Daft Punk's "Harder, Better, Faster, Stronger." Solid stuff.

MURK

Murk (Tommy Boy)

You may be most familiar with the Miami house legends in Murk, Oscar G. and Ralph Falcon, through the massive hit they recorded under their Funky Green Dogs guise, "Fired Up." One of the most recognizable songs of the mid-'90s electronica explosion, it's remembered both for its huge chorus and for being played at clubs (both quality and cheesy) to the point of painful repetition. Murk's new CD continues down the path of worryfree anthemic house, reflecting a steamy night of clubbing in Miami hotspots. Crammed with pounding tribal drums and the vocals of artists like Kristine W and Stryke, this record perfectly represents Murk's commercial-friendly sound.

o anyone with a knowledge of college music from the early and mid-'90s, Greg Dulli is a man who needs no introduction. As frontman for seminal Cincinnati alt-rock act the Afghan Whigs, Dulli became a hero to the hard-drinking, self-loathing, lovelorn masses across the land. With a series of critically lauded and adored albums under their belt, the Whigs sadly called it quits in 1999. Dulli, however, quickly moved on to form a new vehicle for his work, the Twilight Singers. Every bit as dark and soulful as the Whigs' recordings, but additionally utilizing mellow grooves and electronic influences, the Singers' 2000 debut album didn't leave too many fans disappointed. Now, after a three-year wait, Dulli is back with a new Twilight Singers disc, Blackberry Belle. CMJ caught up with the man to see just where his head is at these days — and it's not where you might suppose.

It's been three years since the last Twilight Singers record. Why the long wait?

Because it's more of a side project. I'm a businessman now. Over the years, music has become more of a hobby.

What kind of business are you in?

I own a bar and I'm in real estate.

Word has it you've written a screenplay.

Yeah, I've written a couple

Is that something you'd like to pursue?

Yeah. The one I'm working on now, I think I'm going to shop it... I didn't mean to be so pissy when I said music was my hobby now; music has been an all-consuming thing with me, and I just had to expand. I wasn't "getting rich" with the band, so I had to cast my net wider.

Any plans for an acting career?

No, I've done acting, and I've got to tell you, I've been in enough movies and seen enough "stud" actors and actresses. I don't think I'd even pretend to deface that art form by meddling around in it. I think it's something you have to take seriously and with some reverence. To me, acting is something that, if you commit your life to it, that's one thing, but I'm not going to hustle my fucking headshot around to try to get auditions with people who don't even know who I am, just so I can take some shitty part and stand in the back.

SPOTLIGHT THE TWILIGHT SINGERS

What movies were you in? I know you were pretty involved with Beautiful Girls.

[Director] Ted Demme was one of my best friends. I worked with him on Beautiful Girls, and on this other movie, Monument Ave., which I had a small acting role in; small, but crucial. I kill people and — not to spoil it, but — I get killed. So that was exciting.

You grew up in Ohio — did that have an influence on your music?

For sure. The Afghan Whigs never would have come together if I hadn't met John Curley in the drunk tank in Athens, Ohio, during one of their huge Halloween parties. Those were good times. As a musician... nobody really pays attention to Ohio. Trends come and go, but in Ohio you have to really want to like music. When I was young, I used to have to send away for Creem and Trouser Press and other magazines I'd want to read. I'd have to get NME sent over to me and they would show up six or seven weeks late. I had to search for the music I loved. In Hamilton, where I grew up, there was a great AM radio station that had a pretty open format. They would play Al Green, Patti Smith, Led Zeppelin, Booker T. And The MG's. I didn't really pigeonhole or put music into genres. It was just music and it sounded good. It didn't get as standardized as it does today on mainstream radio.

You've spent time on both major and independent labels. Where did you have the best experiences?

I had good experiences both places, but I'll tell you this: it seems that when an indie tells you something, it's a little less of a lie than when a major tells you something. It seems like when somebody at a major tells you something, they're protecting their expense account and their huge salary. If you're talking to an indie, they're talking to you because they want to, not because they have to.

"I've heard from various sources that I am, indeed, the Prince of Darkness. I love that one. I'm not going to step in and say I'm not"

— The Twilight Singers' Greg Dulli

Over the years, there's been a lot of gossip about you — about the Whigs and you, in particular. How do you deal with that, and what's the best rumor you've heard about yourself? Well, as long as they say my name right, I don't really care what the fuck they say about me. I'm not sure who said it, but I think it was Oscar Wilde: "The only thing worse than if people talk about you is if no one talks about you." I've heard from various sources that I am, indeed, the Prince of Darkness. I love that one. I'm not going to step in and say I'm not, 'cause it works out for me. It gets me to the front of the line sometimes.

TOUR TIDBITS

The Voodoo Music Festival is happening in New Orleans from Nov. 1-3, and this threeday event is going to be huge. Among the acts scheduled to appear are the White Stripes (pictured), 50 Cent, Staind, Godsmack, the Roots, Gov't Mule, RJD2, Queens Of The Stone Age, Mos Def and A Perfect Circle. For a full list of performers, ticket and lodging information and directions, go to www.voodoomusicfest.com. You may have to wait until next summer for another Bonnaroo, but this should more than hold you over until then.

The "Tell Us The Truth Tour" is sure to get under the skins of republicans this fall.
Featuring folk/punk artist
Billy Bragg, grumpy altcountry mainstay Steve Earle and Audioslave/ex-Rage Against The Machine guitarist Tom Morello, the road show is seeking to get the word out about various leftwing causes and get young people involved in the political process. The tour gets started Nov. 7 in Madison, Wisconsin at the National Conference on Media Reform (perfect place to start, wouldn't you say?), and ends Nov. 24 at the 9:30 Club in Washington, D.C. (um, perfect place to end, wouldn't you say?). Keep checking www.tellusthetruth.org for updates.

We were as surprised as anybody that ass-kickin' old school blues-rock could be played by a pair of Akron, Ohio white boys. See for yourself and be converted when the Black Keys play your town. The next show on the itinerary is Oct. 30 in Iowa City. Head over to www.theblackkeys.com for more details.

Synth-bashing feminist electro-pop act Le Tigre (featuring the legendary Kathleen Hanna) is also out on the road. Traveling under the "Bands Against Bush Tour" banner, the band will have a table at each U.S. show where concertgoers can register to vote. Take a look at the full string of dates at www.letigreworld.com. Come for the danceable synthpunk, stay for the political involvement.

HART OF THE MATTER

ctober 16, 2003, San Francisco: As I sit in a room full of label and corporate execs, Apple rank-and-file, media and its glad-handing personalities, it's as if we're all experiencing some parallel Zoo TV universe; less parallel perhaps than inverted, Bizarro—where Apple's Steve Jobs, remote control in hand, is playing Bono to... well... Bono, MacPhisto to the Fly or, more appropriately, Bono to President Bono, the Fly to our first President Bush.

This gathering of dearly beloved is assembled because, in Jobs's own words, "Hell has frozen over!" This he tells us, not with the sobriety of a pastor, but with the mischievous grin of a Cheshire cat. And, well, I don't really skate, but hell's now-ice-covered pond looks promising enough.

Before Apple's announcement last week that iTunes was now not only available to Windows users, but that it was also "the best [and Apple's first] application ever written for Windows," they were more than new kids on the music block. Pre-launch, Apple owned 70 percent of the legal-download market and were No. 1 in both revenue and market share for portable MP3 players with their iPod. When Apple kicked off iTunes on April 28, their goal was to sell one million songs in six months. They sold them in a week. Pre-Windows, iTunes had sold 13 million total—and all this to Mac users. In less than a week post-Windows launch, Apple's racked up nearly two million more singles, and shows no sign of slowing. New partnerships with AOL Music, Pepsi (two-month campaign kicking off with Super Bowl XXXXXVCMIIVLXMV) and an eye/ear-catching commercial ad blitz don't bode well for iTunes or Apple naysayers.

Apple has found a way to meet a very basic pop cultural need millions of consumers have felt an almost inalienable human right to satisfy with singles. Brick-and-mortar retail has been clamoring for the format years on end, especially pre-JumpSTART pricing—a cry that has, for the most part, fallen on deaf ears since labels pulled back from the single, leaving it for dead like Uriah in hopes of winning Bathsheba. In the absence of singles, and behind the growing dominance of big-boxing, indie retail had to learn how to survive while giving hit title sales up to the competition. They've survived by focusing on consumers' shopping experience, unique artist development programs, deeper catalog, local consignment, etc. So far the impact of Apple's single sales has not really been felt on traditional retail album sales, but that's also because Apple has come out of the gate chasing the big box hits. Dealing primarily with the Majors, iTunes has only slowly been adding independent labels to their iShelves. But they are coming, and where catalog may have been their weakest launching link, it's quickly building.

So how does traditional retail compete? For now, Apple has only scooped up what labels had abandoned and Napster exploited. Smart. Apple's biggest challenge though, even as its catalog stretches "toward infinity and beyond" will be in creating a community that reaches beyond its standard computer market share and beyond the scope of this next-generation iTunes. iTunes hatched in the nest of Triple A; its content and latest features (iTunes Allowance, for example) geared as much or more toward parents as the kids they're trying to wean off the illegal downloading dole. Apple has always excelled at understanding their users, and it will continue. Good retail has always succeeded for the same reasons. Whether Apple can make an E-generation of kids feel like iTunes is not just a big box warehouse alternative to P2P remains to be seen. And we'll all be watching.

SPEAK OUT

Carl Singmaster

President, Manifest Discs And Tapes Columbia, SC

If anybody hasn't realized this yet: the day of being able to retail single CDs for more than $15 is over for most of us. Our customers expect and are asking daily for lower prices. They are walking out when the disc costs too much. Ask the labels who ran huge discounts on catalog titles through the fall how many units they have sold post-discount and you'll figure this out.

And since I'm not smart enough to figure out how to buy them (except on huge volume titles) for $11-$12.50, sell them for under $15 every day without any soft dollars to help reduce the price, while still paying the bills to keep the doors open, I have a problem. The labels—and the indies with their heads in the sand better pay the most attention—must realize that, come 2004, the day of being able to wholesale CDs for over $10 is over. Done. Forget about it. The consumer expects the retail price to be $10, so even $15 is a tough sell. UMVD realized this, and we certainly hope everybody else is ready to take the necessary plunge early next year.

In response to customer desires, we are changing the way we decide which CDs to display on endcaps at Manifest. We've got lots of endcaps and we display tons of titles for no charge. But from now on, no CD priced over $15 will be allowed to have more than two facings, and these titles must be displayed on the bottom half of the endcap. But titles selling for under $15 can have tons of display and be right on top. Of course you can achieve this pricing by buying into a program that includes sale pricing. Or by simply selling your CDs for sensible wholesale prices. Not on a one-off deal, but every day so we can reduce the everyday selling price!

This means UMVD will probably get more even than they asked for when it comes to our display space throughout the Christmas holidays. Not because they demand it, but because they deserve it. Their CDs will have prices closer to what our customers believe is a value.

New York Times: "An excellent, uneasy collection of country songs that toy with roots-rock conventions."	Transcendent British dance/house band noted for previous single (and monkey-laden video) "Where's Your Head At" from 2001's Rooty. Kish Kash features wide variety of guests: Siouxsie Sioux, Me'Shell NdegéOcello, Dizzee Rascal, J.C. Chasez and the BellRays' Lisa Vennum-Kekaula. Postcards, flats and stickers available. Contact: Scott Hueston, Scott.Hueston@astralwerks.com.	At a mere 24 years old, Kid606 is one of the most subversive and dangerous acts in the IDM pseudo-genre—mixing a cheeky sense of humor with deadly scuzz, attention deficit disorder-addled breaks and the most unpredictable beatcraft this side of an 808 and a laptop fighting in a washing machine. In-store play copies and posters available, contact rai@ipecac.com.	From his borscht-belt infamy on Late Night With Conan O'Brien and the VMAs, Triumph has finally recorded an album of interviews, sketches and songs, featuring Kurt Loder, Conan O'Brien, Vincent Pastore, lann Robinson, Maya Rudolph, Adam Sandler, Horatio Sanz and Jack Black. With enough scatological ditties to make Snoop Dogg blush, Triumph finally has a disc for his loving fans for him to poop on.

ven though the story may sound ■ familiar—pun intended—Mike ■Smith is the kind of mensch who still believes that the proverbial keys to the indie retail kingdom are good customer service, product knowledge and lower prices. "A lot of the people who work here have been here for years," Mike says. "We always put a lot of emphasis on building a relationship with customers." For example, Hootie And The Blowfish frontman Darius Rucker, who worked at the store for six years, and former Green Bay Packers wide receiver Sterling Sharpe still come in and hang out. "You have people like that just come in and talk about music," Mike says. "Everybody's just regular folks."

Having managed and worked at the South Carolina-based chain since 1980 (owned and operated by Pete Smollen since its inception in 1976), Smith's tenure in the music biz has taught him that even as co-op cash fades and Big Box, Inc. buys more real estate, it's best to follow the rules of the old school.

Q&A with Mike Smith, buyer, Sounds Familiar

What local press affects sales most?

The State, which is Columbia's daily newspaper. There's a weekend entertainment rag featuring concert and CD reviews, and that seems to be what drives sales. We've got some free publications, like the Free Times, but that doesn't seem to affect us. It's sort of a poor man's Creative Loafing. [We advertise in the Free Times] and hopefully we'll continue if the labels keep doing co-op.

What radio station affects sales most?

WNOK, which is Top 40; WMFX which is "dinosaur rock" and WARQ, our alternative station. We have a good college station, WUSC, but like most college stations it seems like the jocks play whatever they brought from home—but every once in a while we'll sell something off of there too.

Sounds Familiar

Do you have in-stores?

We only really do small, local artists. Guys that work here bring in their own PAs. We do about a couple a year. We do a fair amount of things with House Of Blues, as far as signing parties go.

What is your most effective program?

Listening stations. We've always maintained the policy that we'll open anything up for people to hear. It helps on both ends: it helps the customer get what he wants and we don't have to take back product they didn't like.

What other programs do you offer? Are any of them discretionary?

The first two weeks a release is out, we put it on sale. We also run our Top 25 on sale, all the time. We started that when the big boxes opened here. When the Sunday papers come, we take a look at what they're trying to sell and we adjust our prices. [We] try to match it as best we can.

What types of non-traditional promotions have worked best?

We used to do a lot more of them in the past. For Valentine's Day, any CD with "love" in the title would be on sale. We tried midnight sales, but they kind of became commonplace and didn't pan out for us anymore.

What display materials work best for you? Pretty much your basic stuff—posters and flats.

What records are your current and alltime favorites?

Audioslave's debut and Allman Brothers Band At Fillmore East.

What's the first record you bought and where?

An 8-track of Blue Öyster Cult's On Your Feet Or On Your Knees. It was at a Franklin's Music store in Atlanta.

What's the best concert you've attended?

That I can remember? [Laughs] I would say the Pixies in '89 or '90 in Atlanta, at a place called the Roxy. Also Tommy Tutone—they played about four versions of "867-5309/Jenny."

NEWSWORTHY

The last two years have been lessthan-Desirable for two-decadesplus-old Dearborn, Michigan CD chain Desirable Discs. Their Garden City store burned to the ground on a starry July night, their Telegraph Road store closed due to the usual big box pressures last June and now, on September 30, the final Desirable Discs store closed its doors forever. The ultimate day was a bittersweet one indeed—celebrated with a huge party, complete with live performances by employee bands and giveaways of Culture Club keychains. The always-outspoken Anne Garbus—Desirable's owner/prez, former DMRC viceprez and one of the most vocal and adamant supporters of CMJ Retail since its inceptionreflects on the final days.

So, why are you calling it quits?

You can't stay in business just selling CDs. You have to be like a Newbury Comics because there is no profit margin in CDs. Making two-to-four dollars per unit? It doesn't pay the bills. You'd have to move at least 500 CDs a day if that's all you were doing. I hadn't been paid since February and I said, "This blows." I just put too much money into it and it's time to say, "That's enough."

What's your next move?

Since I'm unemployed, I'm looking for a job as a crack whore. I got a part time job as an accounts payable clerk at a marketing firm and I do that two days a week. I went and signed up for unemployment on Monday. You know, that's not a good place to meet men.

Because I owned my business, I'm only going to qualify for seven weeks of unemployment. Doesn't that blow? So I'm looking for a job.

We could try to get you a job through the retail section...

OK. Use the adjectives "outspoken," "single" and "hot." Keep Anne off the street. Either send her promos or give her a job. Right now, I'll pretty much Anne Garbus take anything as long as the money's right.

Are you still going to be the VP of the DMRC?

No. I don't even think they'll even have anyone else take my title.

Well, you're just so irreplaceable, right?

That's right! That's what I tell my first two ex-husbands. [This is] going to dramatically affect my date pool—because, you know, no more customers.

What happened on the very last day?

We had a month-long blow-out sale. I never really said this much to my customers' faces, but what this really boils down to is loyalty. There is no—quote me—fucking loyalty anymore. People are just out for themselves to get the best deal. To some extent, I don't blame 'em. But then they still come in: "How come you don't have this?" Buddy, if you would stop getting your stuff at Best Buy and Target, then I would be able to carry all this stuff.

There's no loyalty. I'm involved with the city-they didn't even call to say goodbye to me, those assholes. I volunteer at the Dearborn Animal Shelter, I'm on the Downtown Development Authority. I've been on it for years, and no one from the darn city called to say, "Oh, I see you're going out of business, I'm sorry." It's like, "Hey, make sure you clean the parking lot before you leave."

Not one person from a record label came [to our closing night party]. Two guys from Uni told me they couldn't make it, but no other reps came.

Well, at least you had a party. You know what? I can't be upset about this 'cause I got a life to live. I'm a single parent, I have an 11-year-old daughter. I need to feed her, clothe her and she doesn't need to be worrying about the bills. She told me, about a month ago, "Mom, how 'bout if I start mowing lawns so I can raise us some money." Right then, I said "That's it."

I'm tired of worrying about it. I was tired of wondering when the next shoe was going to fall. I was also tired of waiting for something to change positivelyand it sure as hell ain't this Uni thing. And I'm waiting for that husband to walk through the door. [Laughs]. I was thinking I either have to win the lottery or find some man to marry me.

Maybe the labels can find you a husband or something.

I wouldn't get involved with anyone in the industry... your job's not real secure. But then again, what is secure? In Michigan, unemployment is at an all-time high of 7.6 percent. Ha! I'm a statistic!

You know what I'm gonna miss most of all? The correspondence from the prisoners at the Saginaw Correctional Facilities. They had a picture of me in the newspaper, 'cause they were doing an article about the downtown area. [An inmate's] first letter was, "When's the release date for Mary J. Blige? And who's the artist on your T-shirt?" I wrote the guy back and said, "This is the release date and it's Bob Marley on my shirt." The guy writes me back again—he wanted to get friendly. He did a homemade card and said that I have "jazzy hair" and "luscious lips." He wanted me to be his bitch! He was doing 10 years.

What was he in for?

I don't know. I don't want to find out, 'cause I didn't write him back!

REPORTING DATES Oct. 17 - Oct. 21

CMJ REPORTING HOURS

6 a.m. Friday – 2 p.m. Tuesday EST www.cmj.com/reporting/

NOTE TO REPORTERS: Printed playlists reflect airplay reported to CMJ two weeks prior to the magazine's cover date. The number of station playlists printed each week in CMJ is randomly determined by available space.

CMJ REPORTING GUIDELINES

CMJ Airplay Reporters must submit reports weekly, via the online interface located at www.cmj.com, prior to 2 p.m. (ET) every Tuesday afternoon, abiding to the following guidelines:

- "Adds" are the new and current albums that a CMJ Airplay Reporter makes available for airplay and reasonably expects will receive airplay during the forthcoming week.
- Albums reported in a CMJ Airplay Reporter's Top 30 playlist must represent the 30 most played current albums on the station during the preceding week. Because we are a "new" music publication whose charts are album-based, reporting re-currents (or recordings more than a year old) or singles is not necessary.
- · Airplay reports that do not correlate with actual airplay, also known as "paper adds," are not permitted under any circumstances.
- . When CMJ cannot vouch for the accuracy of an artist and/or recording on a station's airplay report (we do so by investigating our own internal database, searching the Internet and/or consulting with online music retailers), the listing in question will remain in its position on the playlist — however, it will be preceded by an asterisk, as in *Beatles, to designate that it could not be verified at press time. CMJ will then utilize all available resources to verify the unverified listing either prior to the week's reporting close or before the next week's reporting period commences.
