The Price Of Violence

A beer can was thrown at a member of Black Sabbath out of the audience at Madison Square Garden, stopping the show briefly and causing injury. Not serious but it made a point. . . . ZZ Top in another New York gig were forced to appeal to their audience to cool it with the fire cracker throwing inside the hall. . . . A smash success at the Madison Square Garden, the Disco Dance Party was marred by insistent warnings that purse snatchers were alive and working in the audience.

It goes on. Not just in New York, because there are reports of the same activity in Chicago, and on the west coast.

It is an undercurrent of violence that appears to surface perhaps briefly but more and more of late. It may have always been there but lately at the big rock concerts it is showing itself more.

Cash Box's recent examination of the world of rock music promoters showed that they are mindful of the problem of security and violence at rock events and the corrective policing of same.

It was a subject that was broached at semi-official meetings when some promoters stated bluntly that if the situation was not either curbed or controlled it might mean the demise of rock events in certain areas throughout the country.

And the people running the arenas and the major halls are flexing their muscles. As money apparently becomes tighter, and fewer and fewer rock acts are filling the halls to capacity, they look not so lightly on the damage to equipment in the hall the increased costs of increased policing.

It is a situation that must be stamped out before it gets out of hand. The rock superstars must not turn their backs on it, stating that it is not their problem.

The problem is a problem for everybody. At present great care must be taken over the merchandising of rock music — and this merchandising starts at ground level, the live concerts. City officials may be on the lookout for the rock dollar at their halls and arenas but rock music is not exclusively their bag.

It is the music industry's.

Two Million Dollar November Tops Hot Casablanca Quarter

Sept./Oct./Nov. Sales Exceed $5,000,000

HOLLYWOOD — In an extension of an outstanding sales quarter, Casablanca Records' November figures went beyond the $2,000,000 mark for the first time. Further, according to label president Neil Bogart, "the outlook for December, with the first week's sales in already, could even surpass that of November."

Product responsible for these highly active three months were the Kiss "Alive" and Donna Summer "Love To Love You Baby" LPs along with initial response to the first album released by Angel. A major marketing campaign is underway for the months of December and January, with Casablanca projecting Kiss and Summer recordings to reach platinum status by January. A television campaign, with 30- and 60-second spots, will begin next week on both LPs.

Scheduled for January release are Parliament's "Mother Ship Connection," Buddy Miles' "The Spirit of '76 — The Bicentennial Gathering of the Tribes" and Hugh Masekela's "Colonial Man." In addition, debut albums by Doris Troy, Margaret Singana and Jeannie Reynolds are also scheduled for January. Planned for February release is the new Kiss studio album, produced by Bob Ezrin; a new Donna Summer album, again produced by Pete Bellotte and Giorgio Moroder for Oasis Records; and a new John Baldry album, produced by Jimmy Horowitz and Rod Stewart."

Bogart also said plans will be announced within the next couple of weeks regarding Cecil Holmes' new Chocolate City label.

FRONT COVER

The Bay City Rollers have exploded here with their first single and album ever released in the states bulleting to the top of the charts. Their first Arista single, "Saturday Night," is an unqualified smash. The group, already a sales phenomenon in England and throughout the world, attracted front-page attention with a string of six consecutive chart-topping singles and two platinum albums on the British charts this past year, and have now made their initial major impact here.

First exposure here came when the Rollers performed via live satellite broadcast from England on network television — and the reaction at the sales, radio and audience level was immediate. The tremendous excitement generated by this national exposure led to a star appearance on Ann-Margret's recent NBC network special in addition to a full-hour documentary special on the group filmed in England by NBC and currently slated for broadcast in cities throughout the country.

In England, the Rollers' unparalleled popularity continued to grow with the group's next British album certified gold two weeks before its release and advance orders for their new single already over 500,000.

AVI To Purchase GRC Records, Publishing

LOS ANGELES — AVI (American Variety International) has confirmed that it had entered into negotiations to purchase the assets of GRC's (General Recording Company) record and music publishing companies. The announcement was made jointly by Seymour Heller, president and Ray Harris, executive vice-president of American Variety International (based in Hollywood) and Oscar Fields, vice-president and general manager of GRC (located in Atlanta).

Following weeks of negotiations, the buyout includes the record catalog featuring such artists as Sammy Johns, Loleatta Holloway, John Edwards, Law, Ripple and The Counts. Included, also, are the five music publishing catalogs comprising copyrights of Sam Dees, Sammy Johns and others.

"I am very pleased to see AVI make this acquisition," said Fields, "as it ensures the continuing flow of product by GRC's artists."

Although, AVI does have its own record and music publishing companies, it was emphasized that the GRC record label would continue and be distributed in the USA and internationally.

Harris further pointed out that AVI would honor all current GRC foreign record licensing and publishing agreements as well as the pacts currently being negotiated. Bobby Weiss and One World of Music agency continues as the foreign label and international liaison for the GRC record and music publishing companies. GRC product is currently being distributed in Australia, New

Motown, Universal In Co-Production Pact

Motown To Develop, Produce TV Projects

HOLLYWOOD — A co-production agreement has been announced between Universal Television and Motown Productions, according to Frank Price, president of Universal Television and Michael Roshkind, vice chairman of Motown Industries.

The deal will have Motown Productions develop and produce television programs exclusively for Universal.

Roshkind said the projects under active consideration "are not only variety and musical programs, but comedy and dramatic series and specials as well."

Price describes the agreement as "a most promising advance in Universal Television's production planning. We look forward to the subjects Motown will develop in the areas of drama and comedy. We can also now look ahead to exploring television's musical and variety possibilities with the expertise of the Motown organization which has made exceptional strides in the fields of music and variety."

Rob Cohen, vice president and head of Motown Productions, produced "The Bingo Long Traveling All-Stars and Motor Kings," a forthcoming Universal release starring Billy Dee Williams, James Earl Jones and Richard Pryor. Cohen is also the producer of "Mahogany," directed by Motown Industries chairman, Berry Gordy.

BMI Asks CBS For Decision

NEW YORK — Broadcast Music Inc. (BMI) has issued a memorandum stating that there is "no just reason for delay" in the final judgment, asking for a hearing with regard to the retroactive adjustment on the interim fee to BMI paid by Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS). The memorandum was submitted last week to the U.S. Southern District Court in New York. A complaint filed by CBS in 1969 alleged that the present system by which BMI and ASCAP issue blanket licenses for the right to perform their copyrights in exchange for a flat annual fee violates the Sherman antitrust act.

The complaint was dismissed in September last year but CBS filed notice of appeal.

BMI's memorandum stated that the society will suffer "undue hardship" unless final judgement is entered at this time. BMI's right to license its music at a price determined by market forces and BMI's right to a retroactive adjustment of the interim fee are suspended until entry of final judgment.

Comedy LPs — 1975: Out Of The Closet, Onto The Charts

HOLLYWOOD — A decade ago, the record business had two huge comedy markets. One over the counter, one under the counter. There were standard (clean) comedians who sold large amounts of records using only their wit. These were the days of the Smothers Brothers, Bob Newhart, Bill Dana (Jose Jimenez), etc. But it was also the days of going up to the counter of one's favorite record store and saying, "I'm having a party tonight — how about some 'party records'?" The storekeeper would discretely reach under the counter, pull out a selection of LPs recorded on labels nobody had ever heard of, and wrote you out a bill sometimes up to $50 apiece for them. These records were the best of street humor, four-letter laughs, locker-room conversational topics — in short, "dirty records."

This under the counter had its own "top 100" selling artists. There were the old standbys like Redd Foxx, Nipsey Russell, Belle Barth and Pearl Williams. There were also reliable, hot-selling catalog items that sold for over a decade and are still selling today — royalty free. There was a classic LP, known to connoisseurs of the "schmutz lines" called "Creptation Contest" — strictly bathroom humor. By conservative estimations, this one LP has sold in excess of five million copies. Originally released as a series of three 78s, the disk was later marketed as three 45s, then as a long-playing 12 inch disk, first without cover art, then with it. And, unbelievable as it may seem, there were five cover records of the disk, and they all sold well. The other outstanding catalog LPs were bootleg tapes recorded at Friar Club roastings. These consisted of three separate releases in all. They were sold as 12 inch LPs only with plain white labels. They consisted of recordings of some of the biggest male stars of the day roasting their fellow performers, utilizing nearly every vulgar expletive in the English language. These LPs, in total sales, are estimated to have sold in excess of three million copies.

Today, the counter-top has eroded considerably, partially due to the evolu-

Greatest Hits Packages: A Perspective

LOS ANGELES — The measurable presence of greatest hits product on the market this time of year is by no means a new phenomenon, but the proliferation of such albums on the Cash Box chart once again focuses on the original intent (and sales success) of this type of packaging.

The greatest hits package was originally designed to attract consumers who did not fit the "die-hard fan" classification for a particular artist. In other words, the consumer familiar with an artist through radio airplay who did not actively collect all LP catalog product by that artist. The success of "Chicago IX" (number 1 with a bullet on this week's chart) is indicative of an economic relevance as well. Of the previous Chicago LPs, one listed at $7.98, two at $9.98 and another at $13.08.

Though the Columbia recording group has enjoyed phenomenal success with all of its albums, it is difficult for all Chicago fans to purchase each release, especially the higher priced packages. It is this group, as well as that familiar only with AM radio hits, that buys the greatest hits package.

An additional reason for greatest hits success is the mass merchandiser who, due to the space limitations of his locations, cannot display as much product as he might like. It is virtually impossible for a rack with limited space to stock the full catalog of all top artists. The greatest hits package obviously affords him an alternative.

Dick Clark: Expanding The Legacy Of Rock & Roll, TV, & New Year's Eve

HOLLYWOOD — Dick Clark has watched the development of rock and roll, and its growth in the television medium, from a somewhat patriarchal perspective in the past twenty years. Clark occupies a historic, knowledgeable, and continually evolving position in the growth of popular music in this country. When Dick Clark Productions entered L.A.'s Coconut Grove last week to tape the fifth consecutive year of "New Year's Rockin' Eve" with Melissa Manchester, Freddy Fender, KC And The Sunshine Band, Average White Band, and Neil Sedaka holding down the hosting spot, another chapter in Clark's contribution to the industry was laid down on videotape.

Clark describes his involvement in the midnight New Year's Eve spot as designed to bring a prime time special to the midnight market to provide an alternative to Guy Lombardo and Johnny Carson, whose programs will compete for the lion's share of viewers who peer in to watch the mania of the year's end.

During this exclusive interview the phone rang almost uninterruptedly — artists and managers confirming TV appearances, network conflicts — all these things a matter of daily fare for Clark. Through it all, one seems to sense that he's grown used to the pace, accepts it, but moreover, thrives on continuing and expanding the role of television in exposing rock and roll to the American masses.

"I think the proliferation of rock television shows is sad," Clark told us, "I want to prove a point with the New Year's shows, which is to make contemporary music available to an otherwise neglected viewing audience in that time period. Actually, it's a bit hard to understand — for years, people have been screaming for rock and roll on New Year's Eve, but we consistently get killed on ratings. Guy Lombardo is the king of New Year's Eve, and he's been quoted as saying that when he goes, he's going to take it with him. That's a little hard to deal with!"

The suggestion that those interested in rock music might either be out at a concert that night, or using the TV as background at a party, with viewers tuning in at midnight to watch the globe of the Allied Chemical Building in Times Square descend to the sidewalk for the millionth time might be a factor in reducing total viewing on a New Year's special. "We're aware of that interest," replies Clark. "We'll be cutting from the taped segments of the show live to New York periodically during the first half hour of the show to maintain the excitement of counting down to midnight."

Whatever the challenge of competing with two other shows during the time slot, Clark's involvement in television is such that the production, airing on ABC, should be an exercise in the sort of excellence that has typified his projects since his entrance into television in July 1956. Simply, Clark wrote the book on rock TV — his seniority and stature is based on the fact that his expertise, ear, Denver's "Rocky Mountain Christmas" album is the first Christmas album in history to go gold on initial orders, according to RCA. The album is currently over the one million unit mark. His other current release, "Windsong," is at the two-million unit mark. A gift package, which is contained in a holiday wrapping, includes both albums.

In addition to in-store displays, another marketing tool has been in in-store tape made up of three one and a half minute segments featuring Denver's music. The idea was devised by RCA's regional managers.

GRT Corp. Announces 2nd Quarter Results; Loses 60¢ Per Share

NEW YORK — GRT Corporation has reported a net loss of $2,177,000 or 60 cents a share for the second fiscal quarter ended Sept. 30. The loss includes $2,107,000 in non-recurring charges related to the sale of Chess Records and the extensive restructuring of the Phonograph Record division and a $700,000 loss from record division operations.

In the same period last year GRT reported a net income of $220,000 or six cents a share.

Second quarter revenues, reflecting higher sales of music tapes, increased to 8,296,000 from 7,951,000 for the comparable quarter of the prior fiscal year.

For the first six months of fiscal 1976, GRT had a net loss of $2,393,000 or 66 cents per share on revenues of $15,588,000 compared to a first half net income a year ago of $672,000 or 19 cents a share on revenues of $16,648,000.

The loss for the first half is due to non-recurring charges of $2,393,000 from the sale of Chess and the record division reorganization, and an operating loss of $1,200,000 in phonograph records.

GRT initiated the reorganization of the Phonograph Record division in June following a large loss in the company's record operations in the last fiscal year. The sale of Chess, acquired in 1969, completed the restructuring program. GRT's sale of prerecorded music tapes accounts for 75% of the company's volume.

The fee for a basic three-hour session under the new arrangement goes from $100 to $110; and for a special 1½ hour session from $66 to $72.60. Gains were also made in the area of health, welfare and cartage.

RCA spokesman predicted that following the show, millions of Denver albums will be sold across the country, as has been the case with his previous TV out-and influence with artists, management, network execs, and music has been developed over a period of time that itself embodies the entire history of rock and roll in the U.S.

Beginnings

Clark himself is aware of the nature of his accomplishments in the music business. He began his career, first as a news-weather reporter for the "Rural Radio Network" in upstate New York, then, at twenty years of age, did television news for a station owned by a competitor of his father's (who owned a TV station in New York) in Utica. From "Cactus Dick and The Santa Fe Riders," however, it was not until 1952 that Dick went to WFIL in Philadelphia to begin his "Caravan Of Music" show. When Bob Horn, who emceed the local TV dance program, was unable to continue the show, Clark took his place in front of the camera.

"Horn really couldn't relate to kids, or music," Clark related. "You have to remember that at that time, the music business was, and still is, created and controlled by young people. Rock was merely an extension of the music business that began in the vaudeville era, or up in the Catskills. The business in the fifties was a little like the Oklahoma land rush," Clark continued. "You had children, and I mean children, sitting down and writing hit records. Carole King, Frankie Lyman, Little Richard — the exhilaration that existed in those days is to a large extent missing from today's business. But I believe that the business today is healthy. Our problem is that we keep looking for a new messiah, a new Beatles, a new Dylan, or what have you. I think that today's musical tastes have become so stratified and diverse, that to expect one figure to emerge as the leader is unjustified."

Dick Clark has years of films of early American Bandstand shows in preparation for a feature-length motion picture, which he's been working on steadily for the past three years, as well as plans for a

Atlantic Sets Midler Promo

NEW YORK — Atlantic Records has planned an extensive cross-departmental marketing campaign centered around Bette Midler's new release "Songs For The New Depression." The national release date for the album, Dec. 8, coincides with the opening dates of a 20 city 80 performance North American tour. (The tour is slightly delayed by illness, but is expected to commence Dec. 21.)

An exhaustive five part campaign has been formulated to ensure the album's early exposure. The plan includes national and local promotion emphasis focusing on service of the album to all radio stations, concentrated early distribution and sales to generate consumer awareness; music trade and consumer press advertising on national and local levels; specially designed four color on-counter display units and hanging mobiles based on the new LP graphics (also featuring the first two Midler albums); and a continuing schedule of publicity/press activities involving trade and consumer press.

RCA Catalogs Classic Vocal

NEW YORK — RCA Records has begun distribution of a new consumer-oriented catalog, listing all operas currently available on the Red Seal and Victrola labels as well as other important classical albums of a vocal nature. Entitled "Opera & Vocal Catalog On RCA Records and Tapes" the two color foldout is meant to add strength to a pre-Christmas campaign on classical vocal product.

The catalog has been inserted in every vocal album package in the company's warehouse for consumer access. It covers European opera from the golden age to present.

BMI Asks Speed Up From CBS continued fr 7

"There is no just reason for further delaying the entry or the retroactive adjustment of the interim fee," says the memorandum.

Freezing of BMI's license fees for the use of an ever increasing repertory "must certainly cause economic harm to BMI and its affiliates," states the society.

According to BMI, CBS will continue until final judgment to enjoy the "shelter of an interim license ... at a fee rate barely above that rejected by BMI as inadequate in 1969" in spite of the fact that CBS' claims have been determined to be without merit.

Grammy Ballots Are Distributed

NEW YORK — First round ballots for the 18th annual Grammy awards along with copies of this year's pre-nomination list have been mailed to all of the recording academy's voting members. The list, consisting of a variety of entries recommended by Academy members and record companies, has been screened to ensure that all of the close to 5,000 entries have met eligibility requirements and have been placed in their proper musical categories.

Ballots are due at the independent accounting firm of Haskins and Sells by Jan 2 for tabulation. Second round ballots and lists of this year's finalists will then be sent to members. Their second round of voting will determine this year's winners, which will be announced on Sat., Feb. 28, on "The Grammy Awards Show," to be telecast on the CBS network.

Wes Farrell Music Signs Dee Ervin

HOLLYWOOD — Dee Ervin has been signed to an exclusive writer-producer-artist contract with the Wes Farrell music group. According to president Steve Bedell, Ervin will begin work on his own album immediately, with a January release anticipated.

Ervin also did a&r work for Canyon Records and Tangerine Music. He will base his office in the Wes Farrell Organizations' Los Angeles office.

Midler Recovering

HOLLYWOOD — Bette Midler is recuperating from an appendectomy undergone at Century City Hospital in Los Angeles, according to Dr. Stephen F. Shapiro.

According to Aaron Russo, Ms. Midler's personal manager, the hospitalization has caused only the cancellation of the first three dates of the tour — Seattle (10-12), Portland (13-15) and Vancouver (17-19). Allowing normal recovery from surgery, she will begin her concert tour Dec. 21 in Berkeley, California, at the Berkeley Community Theatre, and continue with her schedule across the nation. Current plans call for the tour to end Feb. 20-24 at the Orpheum Theatre in Boston.

PLATINUM PARTY FOR TEXAS' 'LITTLE OL' BAND' — ZZ Top was feted recently by London Records with a "Platinum Party" in the Versailles Room of the St. Regis Hotel in New York. Clark Expands Legacy continued fr 10 book, which he's currently writing, to be tentatively titled "Good Old Rock And Roll," which will span the time from 1955-1965. "The film should be a permanent record of the history of rock and popular dance — sort of the 'That's Entertainment' of rock," Clark told Cash Box. "Already, we can see that the film would be of great interest not only to nostalgia and rock fans, but to sociologists and contemporary historians interested in the metamorphosis of rock music."

Clark and American Bandstand represent to most Americans of this generation and of the last an important element of their childhood and adolescence; for many, their first exposure to rock music. The show was the scene for some historic premiere appearances. Like the time that Stevie Wonder, at the age of thirteen, came on Bandstand to play "Fingertips Part Two" for the first time on TV. "Stevie is one of the finest gentlemen in this business, above and beyond being the musical genius that he is." Other moments, like Dionne Warwick's first appearance, or the first emergence of the "twist," are memorable for Clark.

"I remember one show we did," recalls Clark. "I noticed that in the far corner of the dance floor two kids were doing a dance that I had never seen before. It looked vaguely obscene, but not overly, so I immediately called upstairs to our producer. I wanted no camera shots of those kids until I asked them what it was."

SENSATIONAL TURN OUT — The Sensational Alex Harvey Band recently completed four sold out weekend shows at the Roxy in L.A. Among the crowd were Bad Company, Manhattan Transfer and Abba. In addition to the Roxy gig, the group taped a segment of Don Kirshner's "Rock Concert," the air date of which is to be announced. Shown in the Roxy dressing room are (l. to r.) Mountain Management president Bill Fehilly, Harvey and Atlantic's west coast general manager Bob Greenberg.

After the show, we discovered something called the twist. We got together with Chubby Checker, an old Hank Ballard song, and everyone knows what happened after that."

Clark feels that not only is "crossover" not a new phenomenon ("country roots crossing over were responsible for rock's birth," he says), but that it is not musical trends which determine dance styles.

"A prerequisite for a song being played on American Bandstand is its danceability," Clark emphasizes. "But people dance the way they want to. Commercial people follow it up with records and music that match that popular demand. People were doing the hustle before there were hustle records, just as people were doing the twist before there was Chubby Checker's recording."

Record rating by young people on American Bandstand has always been an important segment of the show, although the record's ultimate success has never been fairly indicated by those ratings. For example, Clark tells us that among the lowest rated records in the history of the show, were "The Chipmunk Song" (by David Seville, or Ross Bagdasarian) and "She Loves You" by the Beatles. "The Chipmunk record got a 35 and the Beatles rated in the low seventies. Bagdasarian was another highly talented man, whom I miss very much," Clark told Cash Box. "You can never rely on initial opinions to judge a record's ultimate success. Only time and mass response can do that."

After twenty years of making music history, Clark continues to write new chapters in the book of music programming on TV. The phrase "I like the beat, I'll give it an 84," has become almost universally identified with a man whose contributions continue with the growth of the business itself. "Where The Action Is" is where you consistently find Dick Clark.

Robbins Re-Signs With Columbia

NEW YORK — Marty Robbins has resigned with CBS Records. Robbins first joined Columbia in 1957 and earned gold records for his singles of "A White Sport Coat" and "El Paso." His latest release is a budget-priced collection of singles never available on LPs and is entitled "No Signs Of Loneliness Here."

station breaks

After the long Dallas out recently it appears that Texas music, as southern music, will break out of Texas with great force in the coming year. While the market remains centered for the most part around Austin, the fact that quality studios are already present in Dallas will continue to draw the technical and business ends. The spectrum between MOR country music and rock and roll (exclusive of those extremes) will continue to develop with a great deal of help from radio. KOKE-FM in Austin and KFM-FM in Dallas in particular. KOKE was the first to program a consistent diet of progressive-minded country oriented music and KFM is the first major market/major wattage (100,000) station to do so. Judging from what the local listeners told me, KFM's programming provides a needed alternative to rock and roll and traditional country as those forms exist today. It is that middle-ground hybridization of forms that draws upon pre-1955 country and rockabilly as the base, with contemporary experiences and instrumentation overlaid. The energy behind the movement is vast and the Lone Star state, as big as it is physically, will not be able to contain that energy much longer. An indication of this will be the fall ARB results for the Dallas TSA, which will be released in January. It will be an important book; people will be interested in the outcome.

Shortly before my visit to the Big "D," KFM threw a birthday party for Ray Wylie Hubbard on the same day his first Warner Bros. album was released. The celebration was held in the station's 4-track recording studio and David Allan Coe joined Ray Wylie and the Cowboy Twinkie Band for the live broadcast. Before cutting the 50-pound cake, which is not a mass of frosted Twinkie as you may suspect, Warner's Murray Nagel, Ray Wylie, Capricorn's Danny Nowack, David Allan Coe, and KFM program director Chuck Dunaway lined "up against the wall, redneck mothers" for a photo.

And speaking of rednecks, David Allan Coe performed "Long Hair Doesn't Hide A Red Neck" for the first time in public at the party; the tune's lyrics are, in the literal senses of both words, truly outrageous, and will be released as David's next single very shortly. KFM is already programming the live party version while waiting for the single.

Steve Fromholz, one of the artists who will break out of Texas next year, kicked off his new weekly hour-long KFM broadcast with Rusty Wier, another artist bound to bust out this year. Fromholz' show provides interviews and songs with fellow artists involved in progressive country with an artist's viewpoint, and the first show was very well-received by listeners. KFM additionally is co-sponsoring Willie Nelson and his band in concert at Dallas' Sportatorium on Dec. 7. Dunaway, the man who was very successful in top 40 and hung it up to go back to Texas, is behind KFM's involvement with the music and its artists, said that the station will tape the concert for broadcast New Year's Eve. If you would like a copy of his playlist or have any other questions, Chuck will be more than happy to answer them. Give him a call.

The King Biscuit Flower Hour for Dec. 14 will present Labelle in concert; that set features an extended version of "Lady Marmalade" that reportedly has the power to curl toes. The same evening Roxy Music will be presented live and that set includes R.M.'s big British single "Love Is A Drug." Future dates will be set for concerts by Dave Mason, Janis Ian, Sparks, Queen, and individual concerts by three bands who represent the tastiest in Southern fried rock and roll — the Allman Brothers, the Marshall Tucker Band, and the Charlie Daniels Band. New Riders of the Purple Sage, Armadillo World Headquarters (Austin) adoptees, are also upcoming; future dates to come as they are set. D.I.R. Broadcasting enters into its fourth year after the first of January with a few changes: the number of stations on the syndication roster has grown from 175 to 186. Mary Travers is working other phases of her career and will no longer be hosting "With Mary." Conversations with WNEW's Dave Herman will be broadcast on the fifth Sunday of each month in 1976 containing the extra Sunday; D.I.R.'s Pat Cox told me that interviews with the individual Beatles are on Dave's 1976 agenda. Herman interviewed Roger Daltrey last week on his show.

In addition to producing the D.I.R. syndicated shows, D.I.R. president Bob Meyrowitz and vice president Peter Kauff are working on the production of a documentary that will consist of 14 hour-long segments designed for broadcast over a 12-month period. "The Way It Went Down" offers a socio-cultural view of the sixties' music and the events that made that decade one of insight and turmoil, peace and war. The loose history features authentic newscasts from the period, includes segments of the 1963 Newport Folk Festival, and segments of speeches given at the Washington Memorial at the culmination of the Poor People's March on Washington D.C. Because of the social commentary present in many songs of the sixties, the events and music are intertwined, the documentary's structure ties the events and music together during the course of the broadcast. D.I.R. is negotiating with WNEW's Scott Muni currently for his narrative services.

The Earth News segments for the week beginning Dec. 15 will feature George Harrison in an interview with Earth News' Lew Irwin. Harrison's discussion ranges over the phases the Beatles travelled in their years together as well as current and future Harrison projects. Earth News is widely distributed; check your local listings for airtime.

The late Ralph J. Gleason was interviewed by Studs Terkel for Berkeley's Pacifica station KPFA in 1970; a 30-minute edit of the original 3-hour interview is available from Fantasy Records (where Gleason was a vice president) on reel to-reel for a $3 tape-dubbing charge. Gleason comments on many of the artists he wrote about in his posthumously published book "Celebrating The Duke & Louis, Bessie, Billie, Bird, Carmen, Miles, Dizzy, and Other Heroes," published by Atlantic Monthly Press/Little Brown. Contact Terri Hinte at Fantasy Records, 10th and Parker, Berkeley, Ca. 94710.

WHCN in Hartford, in conjunction with Warner Bros., asked listeners to name Little Feat's "Last Record Album" in exchange for a trip to Washington D.C. and a date at the Watergate with Feat's Lowell George. WHCN's winner was Janet Booth of Hartford; her entry was "Barbi and Ken Sing Songs For Young Lovers." WHCN program director Mike Shallet and Warner Connecticut promotion manager Pat Rustici accompanied Ken and Barbi on their Watergate date.

Wanda Ramos has been promoted to the music directorship at WLIB and WBLS-FM in New York by station owners Inner City Broadcasting; Wanda has been at WLIBS-FM for the last three years.

Over 600 college students and radio and record industry people attended the 6th Annual Loyola National College Radio Conference in Chicago Nov. 21-23. The attendees participated in several college radio panels, exchanged information, and scrutinized new broadcast equipment on display.

The Loyola University conferences were sponsored by Loyola stations WLT (Lewis Towers campus, Chris Kusiak, coordinator) and WLUC (Lake Shore campus, Jann Lawson, coordinator) and was the largest conference so far, according to Loyola sources.

Among the subjects discussed at the symposium were public affairs programming, the duties of radio station general managers, remote broadcasting pointers, progressive programming, black programming and the F.C.C. Representatives from Earth News, the F.C.C. and record company executives joined the staffers of college radio stations nationwide to discuss college radio and how to move from college radio to commercial radio.

Among the speakers at the "careers in broadcasting" session held Sun. Nov. 23 were WBBM general manager John Catlett, Arista's Mike Klefner, WXRT-FM disk jockey Mitch Michaels and WLS disk jockey Bob Sirott, who discussed the various ins and outs of gaining access to and developing careers in broadcasting. The vast majority of the students attending the symposiums held album-oriented progressive radio as their main interest.

The dates for next year's conference have been set for Nov. 12-14.

Allison Steele and Bobby Womack greeted each other warmly as Bobby stopped at WNEW-FM in New York on part of his promotional tour in support of "Safety Zone," his most recent album on United Artists. While he was in New York to promote Bobby's album, a Thanksgiving party was given for UA album promotion director Billy Bass and Starship/Hot Tuna manager Bill Thompson, who was in New York for a date with some Hot Tuna. UA's Stu Sank held the bash at his house and Jodie Tausag from UA publicity co-hosted. Attending were UA's Walter Paas, Arista's Aaron Sixx, Bearsville president Paul Fishken, Buddah vice president Tom Cossie, Patrina Wells and Mark Shulman of Atlantic, GRT/Janus' Dick Wingate, Sire Records' Lenny Schaffadi, MCA publicist Kathy Schenker, RCA's Karen Williams, producer Jerry Love, WNEW-FM's Dennis Elsas, Country Music's Patrick Carr among many other friends and associates.

Pacifica's listener sponsored outlet KPFK in Los Angeles will present its International Merrie Christmas Fair at the Santa Monica Civic Dec. 19-23 from noon to 11 pm. KPFK functions are usually a lot of fun and the admission — $3 for adults, 50¢ for kids under 12 — helps keep the non-commercial station going. Tickets are less expensive by advance mail order; send $2.25 per ticket to KPFK Fair Tix — Box 8639, Universal City, Ca. 91608 before Dec. 10.

Last week a postcard arrived for me at Cash Box from Pete Moore of the Miracles; the postmark was Osaka, Japan. The Miracles are having a very successful tour in Japan and Pete reports that their "Love Machine" single "is going great guns on JOQR in Tokyo and also on the Armed Forces Network with C.J. McMurray." Many thanks for the card, Mr. Moore.

STATION BREAKS FROM NEW YORK — Ron Thompson, program director of WWVA AM/FM, has opted a new policy concerning records with profanity or distasteful. Thompson "If possible we will edit and play a hit record. Should the title not pass our code of ethics, or an edit be impossible, the record will not be aired." ... The incessantly active WLIR in Long Island has broadcast yet another live tape, this time it was the inventive Dr. John, recorded at Ultrasonic Studios in Hempstead ... WNEW-FM has announced that their annual Christmas concert featuring Peter Frampton and Eric Carmen has sold out in less than a week, the fastest sellout in the concert's history ... WNEW-AM in New York is offering all kinds of goodies to the lucky winner of their "Big Sport" contest, to be determined by random drawing. Among the prizes to be given, overnight at the Essex House including meals, tickets to the Wiz, and tickets to New York Knick basketball game ... This week's prediction is from Barry Neal at WLIB in Long Island. Neal feels quite strong about "Wake Up Everybody" by Harold Melvin And The Blue Notes. Neal: "The whole production really has a message and it's a beautiful message."

PAUL SIMON (Columbia 3-10270)

My Way To Leave Your Lover (3:29) (Paul Simon — BMI) (P. Simon)

What sounds like the title to the gigolo national anthem is actually a clever, commercial song about the elasticity of love, how easy it is to pull away and equally easy to snap back with it. Paul Simon's love affair with the buying public will not be complicated. If this single doesn't reach the number one position, this reviewer will turn it over to Lee. Flip: No info. available.

THE BEE GEES (RSO SO 519)

Fanny (Be Tender With My Love) (3:26) (Casserole — BMI) (B., R., & M. Gibb)

Cover versions of this tune have already hit the marketplace, indicating its potential popularity. But, as the man said, there's nothing quite like the real thing. The Bee Gees wrote this soulful composition, part of their tremendously successful "Main Course" LP. "Fanny" appears to be the third monster single in a row for these pop masters, after "Jive Talkin'" and "Nights On Broadway" from the same album. Flip: No info. available.

SPINNERS (Atlantic 45-3309)

Love Or Leave (3:28) (Mighty Three/Blackwood — BMI) (C. Simmons, B. Hawes, J.B. Jefferson)

Another high-energy production from one of the most popular groups performing today. The Spinners spin a melody line full of dancing energy as usual and, even more importantly, one that's simple enough to sing along with, which is half of this group's appeal. Phil Wynne adds a distinctive vocal touch to ice this sweet piece of hit-bound cake. Flip: No info. available.

NEIL SEDAKA (Rocket PIG 40500)

Breaking Up Is Hard To Do (3:12) (Screen Gems-Columbia — BMI) (Sedaka, Greenfield)

Several seconds of introduction in the form of the earlier, up-beat "dom-dobie-doo-dom-dom" version of "Breaking Up" set an effective counterpoint to Neil's contemporary approach to his own classic. Grown-up ballad, piano-bar style: a metamorphosis into a true torch song. Lovely song, lovely delivery. Much airplay already. Flip: No info. available.

GEORGE HARRISON (EMI P1885)

This Guitar (Can't Keep From Crying) (3:49) (Ganga — BMI) (G. Harrison)

More emotional workout from the guitar that gently wept once before. The former Beatle treads in the same musical direction that he has for the last couple of years: bending the strings so that they whine in an inflated blues style instead of screaming/squealing like some of Harrison's wilder-minded contemporaries. George's vocal is very complimentary and the words are gently serious. Flip: No info. available.

LEON RUSSELL (Shelter SR 40483)

Back To The Island (3:37) (Skyhill — BMI) (L. Russell)

"Back To The Island" is a sneaky cut that literally grows on the listener the first time through. Utilizing ocean sounds, Hawaiian guitar and growing jungle drums as a foundation, Russell lays in his highly distinctive voice, allegorical lyrics and a windy island chorus of female voices, birds and animal chattering to sap and soothe the listener. An FM album cut for many months, this incredible production is a re-introduction to the genius of Leon Russell. Flip: Little Hideaway (3:57).

RUFUS FEATURING CHAKA KHAN (ABC 12149)

Sweet Thing (3:18) (American Broadcasting — ASCAP) (T. Maiden, C. Khan)

Rufus, notably through the handiwork of vocalist Chaka Khan, has many strong inroads into the AM pop music scene. Few singers can match the sounds that emanate from deep inside Chaka as demonstrated here. Rufus provides a keyboard-based background as she pours forth with a ballad, braiding harmony tracks with herself. A lover's wishing song. Flip: No info. available.

THE OZARK MOUNTAIN DAREDEVILS (A&M 1772)

If I Only Knew (2:55) (Larry Lee-Steve Cash/Log Cabin — BMI) (L. Lee, S. Cash)

Light and bright, the Daredevils play at a trotting pace in the footsteps of Harry Nilsson. A celeste and woodwind vibrato dip "If I Only Knew" into the chocolate vat for the sweet-tooth-ears of young, young listeners, while laid back sax chords add an appealing touch for the older pop crowd. Flip: No info. available.

COMMODORES (Motown M1381FA)

Sweet Love (3:20) (Jobete/Commodores — ASCAP) (L. Richie, Commodores)

Lots of physical allusions within the lyrics for less creative listeners to grasp and picture. All shaped, of course, through close, colorful, harmonious vocal lines and smooth, flowing musical arrangement. Flip: Better Than Never Before (3:48).

RAY STEVENS (Barnaby B 618)

Young Love (3:48) (Lowery — BMI) (C. Joyner, R. Cartey)

Ahhh, Ray Stevens, the musical man of a thousand voices is at it again, this time as a straight singer and, once again, right on. Here is a re-make of a blockbuster hit from the fifties. Not as campy as "Play Misty For Me" or "Indian Love Call." Instead, "Young Love" allows Ray a pure vocal which fits him like his skin. Flip: Deep Purple (3:12).

ERIC CARMEN (Arista AS 0165)

All By Myself (4:22) (C.A.M.-U.S.A. — BMI) (E. Carmen)

Ex-Raspberry Eric Carmen proves himself to be a highly talented individual with this first outing since leaving the semi-successful group he came to be known as lead singer of. Perhaps, as time will tell best, he may be a major talent. Here he captures the vocal power of at least two of the three Bee Gees and seems also to have tapped the lyric capabilities of a Paul McCartney. He may have a huge hit to live up to. Flip: No info. available.

EDWIN STARR (Granite G 532 A)

Abyssinia Jones (3:57) (ATV/Zonal — BMI) (E. Starr)

Edwin Starr, who is gaining an international reputation, digs into a haunting number that sounds more right for a Halloween release than December. This one could help exorcise 1975 once and for all, however, and help break Mr. Starr hot and hard in '76. Eerie enough to give a lot of people the "Abyssinia" jones. Flip: No info. available.

BEN E. KING (Atlantic 45-3308)

I Had A Love (3:32) (Nick-O-Val — ASCAP) (N. Ashford, V. Simpson)

Ben E. King is a standard artist on r&b market shelves and turntables, having performed as a member of the legendary Drifters, singing "Stand By Me" and more recently turning out a large hit, "Supernatural Thing." Quite a natural thing. Atlantic has made Ben a high-priority item on their roster as of late. Flip: No info.

LITTLE RICHARD (Manticore MA 7007FA)

Call My Name (2:58) (Ren Rob — ASCAP) (J. Booker, R. Penniman)

Little Richard dives into the discoscene mouth first with a syncopated, gospel-esque piano assault. About time the original King of modern rock hopped back into the limelight. Flip: No info. available.

ROD STEWART (Warner Bros. WBS 8170)

This Old Heart Of Mine (4:04) (Jobete — ASCAP) (Holland, Dozier, Holland)

Maggie seems to be the basic object of Rod Stewart's musical affections. First it was "Maggie Mae," which really brought our singer to pop prominence. Now, Rod turns out his special gritty version of "This Old Heart Of Mine" — a Holland/Dozier/Holland hit with a lady at the core of the lyric (Maggie).

ROGER WHITTAKER (RCA JH 10447)

Durham Town (The Leavin') (3:08) (Arcola — BMI) (Whittaker)

Roger, a super writer in England, delivers another nostalgic song about leaving. Folk-pop in the vein of "The Last Farewell," his relaxed, Perry Como approach fills a universal appeal every generation craves to round out its emotional sense of well-being. Flip: No info. available.

REO SPEEDWAGON (Epic 8-50180)

Reelin' (3:08) (Murphy-Nutt — BMI) (M. Murphy)

Red-hot piano followed by driving drums as soon as the needle drops into the groove. Good growly voice and a guitar break that doesn't give in to lengthy self-indulgence. A boogie tune that you've got to move to. "Reelin'" could vault this cult band into chart recognition. Flip: No info. available.

ATTITUDES (Dark Horse DH 10004-S)

Ain't Love Enough (3:12) (Kengorus — ASCAP/Cotaba — BMI) (D. Foster, B. Gordon, B. Russell)

Dark Horse's newest entry is an r&b effort, and a fine one. A moving montage of rhythm and spirit throughout; contained vocal frenzy when the singers hit those high parts. Attitudes sound like they'll be around for a long time to come. Flip: The Whole World's Crazy.

MAMA'S PRIDE (Atco 45-7040)

Blue Mist (3:14) (Hustlers — BMI) (P. Liston)

Sweeping background somewhat akin to the Moody Blues production pieces. Mama's Pride lets go with some heady guitar and vocal coloration making their performance a piece of art worthy of Christmas wrapping. Long version (4:06) available also. Flip: No info. available.

TIM WEISBERG (A&M 1765)

Street Party (3:00) (Almo/Elusive — ASCAP) (T. Weisberg, L. Blessing, D. Anderson, T. Robinson)

It flows, it's charged, it's mellow, it's dreamy, it's hard to put Tim's beautiful/happy flute performance into words. It's compelling, also jazzy and pop and great. We can only say the tune lives up to its title. Flip: No info. available.

DON CORNELIUS (Soul Train JH 10467)

Spectrum (Short Vocal Version) (3:35) (Spectrum VII — ASCAP) (A. H. Myer, R. Boyell)

Beautiful oral reading by Don Cornelius, host of the Soul Train TV syndy. Set to popular strings, flute, drums, bass and female choral background, Cornelius speaks in rich tones, defining the colors of the rainbow, one by one, with emphasis on the fact that "there is no black/there is no white."

BIDDU ORCHESTRA (Epic 8-50173)

I Could Have Danced All Night (3:00) (Chappell & Co. — ASCAP) (A.J. Lerner, F. Leowe)

Liza Doolittle never had it so good. As Lerner & Leowe adapted "My Fair Lady" from George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," the Biddu Orchestra takes one of the hit tunes from the musical and discotizes it. The discs will be dancing all night to this sweet classic. Flip: No info. available.

PENNY McLEAN (Atco 45-7038)

Lady Bump (2:49) (Meridian-Siegel/Butterfly — BMI) (S. Levay, S. Prager)

Penny should soon be bumping her way up the chart numbers like bullets, thanks to her funky song styling and some hot congas for the disco crowd to touch bumpers to. Punctuating her vocal lines with vibrating screams, the Lady Of Bump seems to be totally in control. Flip: No info. available.

GARY WRIGHT (Warner Bros. WBS 8167)

Dream Weaver (3:15) (WB — ASCAP) (G. Wright)

Gary weaves some swell dreams allright, combining heartbeat drum/bass with spacey synthesizer, strings and an especially strong vocal recorded as though performed in a cold, empty room. Between the stark lyrics and the slight echo, "Dream Weaver" gives Gary (or Gary gives the song) a touch worthy of pop consideration. Flip: Let It Out (3:25).

GUY FINLEY (Tom Cat JH-10438)

Let It Show (3:04) (Jobete/Sun Country — ASCAP) (G. Finley, B. Gaudio)

From the album "Ignis Fatuus" (The Show), Guy Finley presents a soft, sensitive, high-register ballad having to do with the proposition of letting our love show through. Fine production and vocal interpretation keep this within the realm of a strong pop possibility for rock and roll relief. Flip: No info. available.

STEPHANIE MILLS (Motown M1382F)

This Empty Place (3:21) (Jac/Blue Seas/U.S. — ASCAP) (B. V. Bacharach, H. David)

Burt Bacharach and Hal David produced this tune that they wrote some time ago for Dionne Warwick. Stephanie Mills translates the melody into an updated disco cut with a sweet vocal over dark, sweeping strings, wah-wah guitars, bass, drums and brass accents. Flip: No info. available.

RALPH CARTER (Mercury DJ 440)

Extra, Extra (Read All About It) (2:40) (Brookside/Ceberg — ASCAP) (R. Whitelaw, N. Bergman)

Rattling, jangling streetcorner newssong from boy to girl. Hand-clapping, foot-stomping, fast-moving, hard-hitting disco record aiming to pull in subscribers and start the presses for a second issue. Flip: No info. available.

pop picks

LIVE — Stephen Stills — Atlantic SD 18156 — List: 6.98

The true genius that is Stephen Stills' music is best appreciated in a live setting and on "Stephen Stills Live" these attributes spring full blown. Divided by intensity the electric and acoustic sides show off equally well as pronounced riffing and emotional vocals share a strong sense of projection. Top cuts include "Rocky Mountain Way," "Change Partners," "4 + 20" and a classic rendition of "Wooden Ships." All cuts available for FM late at night with an outside shot at the AM game. "Stephen Stills Live" is the musician in his element.

NEW YORK CONNECTION — Tom Scott — Ode SP 77033 — Producers: Tom Scott and Hank Cicalo — List: 6.98

Tom Scott's penchant for mixing jazz with latin and soul influences has always been a joy to know and on "New York Connection" Tom and his talented backing unit continue in this vein. Instrumentals on all cuts make the maximum use of subtle shadings while the overall feel of the album is conducive to jazz and soul as well as heavy FM play. Top cuts include "Looking Out For Number 7," "You're Gonna Need Me," "Time And Love" and "New York Connection." "New York Connection" is a heavy album that will hit the airwaves where they live and breathe.

PICK UP — Brian Protheroe — Chrysalis CHR 1090 — Producer: Del Newman — List: 6.98

Brian Protheroe's "Pick Up" is an interesting mix that straddles a fine line between commercial and progressive. Through his songs run various shades of pop, honkytonk, calypso and something that is best described as very English. Protheroe's vocals range the length of the emotional spectrum, striking just the right timbre for each composition. Just the thing for FM outlets and AM possibilities for a programmer with guts. Top cuts include "Running Through The City," "Scobo Queen" and "I Spy Lady." "Pick Up" is a good listening ride.

ROYAL BED BOUNCER — Kayak — Janus JXS 7023 — Producers: Gerrit Jan Leenders and Kayak — List: 6.98

Kayak takes the best aspects of a whole lot of progressive styles for "Royal Bed Bouncer" and the resultant mix works on all levels. Edges of classical, rock and a parting aside to Yes oriented future dynamics dart in and out of intelligently crafted passages while haunting vocal treatments buoy up the proceedings. Instant FM acceptance on all fronts. Top listens include "Chance For A Lifetime," "My Heart Never Changed," "If This Is Your Welcome" and "Moments Of Joy." Progressive music you can listen to.

SECOND CHAPTER — Danny Kirwan — Amherst DJLPA-1 — List: 6.98

"Second Chapter" by Danny Kirwan is a decidedly non-rock mixture. Running through each song are strains of laidback folk, dixieland moves and just a slight touch of pop. Kirwan's vocals prove a free flowing natural as taut instrumentals and the intelligent use of strings make for an easy listen. A good AM chance as well as middle of the road possibilities. Top listens include "Love Can Always Bring You Happiness," "Fallin' In Love With You," "Ram Jam City" and "Hot Summer's Day."

LIVE — Ray Scott — Elka LP-601 — Producer: Tony C. Wright — List: 6.98

Ray Scott is from the down and dirty school of comedy. He elicits laughs from comedic riffs that cut through the bull right to the honesty. In most cases it's funny. In some cases it isn't. But it's always there. This live recording captures Scott at his biting best as society of the street gets a going over. Top side splitters include "Stop Smokin' In Five Days," "Knee Grows," "I Like Freaks (Peep Freaks)" and "Love Thy Neighbor." Ray Scott live is comic commentary that hasn't been said before.

TIME FOR ANOTHER — Ace — Anchor ANCL 2013 — Producer: John Anthony — List: 6.98

There's a decidedly downhome country base to the music of Ace and, on "Time For Another," it is made most evident. Light blues, bottom rockers and reflective laidback moments benefit from this Texas like backbone and the crisp instrumentals while vocals take on a dart and run quality that serve each composition well. Good AM and middle of the road shots here while a birth on a country playlist should not be ruled out. Top cuts include "I Think It's Gonna Last," "Ain't Gonna Stand For This No More" and "Sail On My Brother."

RATTLESNAKE — Ohio Players — Westbound W-211 — List: 6.98

This re-release of The Ohio Players in their recording infancy gives an early indication of the sound they would soon evolve. While the r&b and funk elements are more subdued the overall thickness of sound (a Players' trademark) is already emerging. Shades of jazz adds texture to the proceedings and help the full-bodied feel of each song. Good for soul outlets as well as AM and middle of the road possibilities on some of the mellower cuts. Top cuts include "Rattlesnake" and "Hollywood Hump." "Rattlesnake" is The Ohio Players then.

OLD NO. 1 — Guy Clark — RCA APL-11303 — Producer: Neil Wilburn — List: 6.98

Guy Clark has an easy-going style about him. There's nothing forced and everything flows smoothly. On "Old No. 1" Clark combines strains of folk and country with a laidback vocal drawl for a dimensional, yet listenable musical walk. Clark makes maximum use of lyrical strength on all songs as definitive stories are told and nary a word is thrown in as fluff. Good easy listening and country shots while a not-too-stringent playlist could allow for some AM exposure. Top cuts include "She Ain't Goin' Nowhere" and "Instant Coffee Blues." Good Guy Clark is.

BLESS THIS HOUSE — Gladys Knight and The Pips — Buddah BDS 5651 — List: 6.98

"Bless This House" by Gladys Knight and The Pips is a seasonal package that does not suffer from expectedness. A series of standards gets a polished, distinctive going over as the group's vocal stance does musical right on all fronts. Seasonal AM and middle of the road airplay is the route this album will go. Top listens include "Do You Hear What I Hear," "The Night Before Christmas," "Away In A Manger" and a classic cover of "Silent Night." "Bless This House" is the music of the time of the season.

THE BOBBY VINTON SHOW — Bobby Vinton — ABC ABCD 924 — Producer: Bob Morgan — List: 6.98

This soundtrack from Vinton's hit television show reflects the climate of Vinton's stage presence and talent most effectively. His interpretations of recent pop standards are full of spirited energy that transcend all idioms for a clean, good listen. Definite AM possibilities here as well as middle of the road slots for some cuts. Top cuts include "Help Me Make It Through The Night," "Killing Me Softly With His Song," "When Will I Be Loved" and "And I Love You So." Bobby Vinton. Pick up on him.

TESSIE HILL — Tessie Hill — ABC PLP 59222 — Producer: Eddie Robinson — List: 6.98

Tessie Hill has come up with a gospel/soul package that moves from the opening cut. Ms. Hill's vocal shadings bring a nightclub aura to her blues numbers while the aforementioned gospel taint moves at a lightning pace. Sparse instrumental backing puts the voice in effective relief and allows for maximum singing projection. Good soul station fodder while gospel and r&b stations will also benefit. Top cuts include "Never Let A Day Go By," "Show Me What You Want" and "A Friend The World Needs."

AVI To Purchase GRC

Zealand, Japan and the Philippines. Negotiations are currently underway for England, Scandinavia, Holland, France, Germany, Switzerland, Austria, Italy, South Africa, Brazil and others.

Commenting on GRC's acquisition, Heller, stated, "We are extremely proud and pleased to be able to take this giant step forward in our record and music publishing business. Pending completion of the GRC deal, AVI will strengthen its position as one of the leading independent record and music publishing companies. It is our intention to give our fullest attention to GRC's roster of talent and we shall begin to schedule new releases at once. Our sales and promotion staff will be meeting with Oscar Fields in conjunction with all of the artists and their managers in the next week or so. In addition, our sales and promotion staff will meet with GRC's record and tape distributors and detail our marketing plans for GRC and its artists."

American Variety International, Inc. is in the business of the design and construction of technical audio facilities and equipment, personal management, music publishing, record production, recordings for motion pictures and television, and is the owner and operator of leading sound recording studios.

Harris noted that certain operations of GRC will be shifted to AVI's home office in Hollywood. Various sales, promotion and advertising activities will continue from Atlanta. Harris also stated that a number of recordings will probably continue to originate at The Sound Pit, GRC's existing Atlanta studio. Others may be recorded in Hollywood at AVI's own studios, Producers Workshop I & II.

Heller mentioned that AVI's existing plans for an eastern office in New York, scheduled for the early part of 1976, may now be shifted to Atlanta with the acquisition of GRC.

Greatest Hits

Greatest hits also create additional sales for previously released material by an artist. The consumer who purchases such an item doubtless gets greater insight into the music of a given act and therefore may be won over as a fan who will then seek additional catalog. Radio familiarity, though it does stimulate sales, reveals only one side of an artist's talent.

Because impulse buying is an undeniable part of any sales picture, prominent display of any item, particularly a greatest hits package, makes it an excellent spur of the moment purchase. Many successful retailers display such items close to the entrance of their establishment or adjacent to the check out counter for just such a reason. Often a customer in search of another record will buy a greatest hits album in addition to, or instead of, his original quest.

Is the greatest hits package an ideal gift? The overwhelming success of such product on the CB album chart this week reflects the obvious answer. Following is a guide to greatest hits on the CB chart: "Chicago IX" #1, bullet; "America's Greatest Hits" #6, bullet; "Seals & Crofts' Greatest Hits" #12, bullet; "Shaved Fish" John Lennon #21; "Barry White's Greatest Hits" #29, bullet; "Carly Simon's Greatest Hits" #33, bullet; "Helen Reddy's Greatest Hits" #36, bullet; "Gord's Gold," Gordon Lightfoot #42, bullet; "Elton John's Greatest Hits" #58, "Ringo Starr's Greatest Hits" #59, bullet; "John Denver's Greatest Hits" #82; "Paul Anka's Greatest Hits" #96, "Simon & Garfunkel's Greatest Hits" #101, bullet; "Allman Brothers' Greatest Hits" #137, bullet; and "Frankie Valli's Greatest Hits" at #158, bullet. Additionally, Earth, Wind & Fire's "Gratitude" LP (#9, bullet) and "Spinners Live" (#128, bullet) contain many hits, though they're in live form.

r&b ingredients

The Spinners are hot. The group which is celebrating its 20th anniversary in show business this year never stops working because they really enjoy performing before their loyal fans across the country. Billy Henderson, Pervis Jackson, Henry Fambrough, Bobby Smith and Philippe Wynne currently have another future gold LP out entitled "Spinners Live." This is a two-record set. The guys last week were on the west coast doing a gig at the Circle Star Theatre and then flew down to do the Dinah Shore Show. On the show the guys did their latest single on Atlantic "Love Or Leave." Also the Spinners are set to do another Cher show the early part of next year.

Nancy Wilson who appeared with the Spinners at the Circle Star engagement is also riding the crest of another hit. Her newest on Capitol is "Don't Let Me Be Lonely Tonight." Spoke with Nancy over the weekend and she told me that Gene McDaniels will be producing her next LP with the work commencing the early part of next year. Gene by the way is in demand these days having recently completed co-producing Roberta Flack's new LP besides penning several tunes on the LP. No release date has been set on Roberta's LP. . . . Willie Hutch is busy as a beaver these days. Willie has been touring the country doing concerts and clubs. His next date will be Boston at the Sugar Shack. Even with this hectic schedule Willie still got into the studio to help produce some material for Jermaine Jackson's forthcoming LP on Motown. . . . Bumped into Rick Wilson M.D. and Wolf Wilson of Mandrill at the New Birth show in Long Beach. The guys have been back east working doing gigs and finishing up their next LP. Their new LP will be out Dec. 29 and is entitled "Beast From The East." Rick said some of the tastier cuts on the LP include "Rachet (Como Se Va La Cosa)," "Disco Lyppo," "Honey-Butt" and "Love Is Happiness." Wolf added the LP is loaded with more new interesting African and South American rhythms. . . . Major Harris is at it again — another #1 record with his latest single "I Got Over Love." The intro is a killer and Major's smooth and silky voice are hard to beat. His new LP will be entitled "Jealousy" and will be released the middle of January.

Want to clear up a misinformed press story regarding Harold Melvin and the Bluenotes. Rumors on the streets all across the country said the group was breaking up. Yours truly got into it and found out that these rumors were not true. Sources close to the group said yes there have been differences, but the group will remain together. Everything has been worked out and the group will continue to perform as a unit. A reliable source ran into Theodore Pendergrass the other day and Teddy Bear told him that the group will stay together and keep making those gold records. Their new LP on Philly International "Wake-Up Everybody," is a monster.

Hosea Wilson, vice president of 20th Century Records r&b division was selected as the honorary chairman of the second Annual High Blood Pressure Awards Benefit Dinner and Show. Barry White also participated in the event for the foundation. Other guest celebrities included O.C. Smith, Brenda Lee Eager, Lincoln Kilpatrick, The Knockers, Esther Rolle, Ja'net Dubois, William Marshall, Abbey Lincoln, Gloria Hendry, Stack Pierce, Richard and Willie and Vivian Bonnell. . . . Martha Reeves is set to go in Reno Sweeneys. Martha has a hot new record out on Arista entitled "Higher And Higher." The show should be something as Martha has put together a whole new act including some great new costumes. . . . It's the holiday season and David Gest threw a party for one of his main men Willie Mitchell last week. Willie made one of his rare west coast appearances because he always producing hit records in Memphis. Willie took time out to warm up in California along with Freda Payne, Lamont McLemore, Ron Townsend, Lynn Moody of "That's My Mama," Scherrie Payne of the Supremes, Lou Gossett, and Jeff "Skunk" Baxter and Mike McDonald of the Doobies. Also on hand was Wendall Bates of London Records.

Quincy Jones has been quite busy these days with his hit record "Is It Love That We're Missin'" and all those personal appearances. Quincy's production company has a new release coming on a couple of guys that are going to blow everybody out. They are known as the Johnson Brothers. Both are guitarists and George is known as "Lightnin' Licks" with Brother Louie known as "Thunderthumbs." Both guys are young and very bad on their guitars. Their LP will be released the middle of January and will be entitled "Get Da' Funk Out Ma' Face." Quincy is already at work on a special two record set which will be on the evolution of black music. As of yet the LP is untitled but it is due late March. Pye Records has released a special 12 inch 33 1/3 rpm version of "I Am Somebody" by Jimmy James and the Vagabonds. It's a screamer. Bumps Doogan, my L.A. disco man said "I Am Somebody" is killing everybody in the discos around town.

Back to New Birth. . . . It was nice seeing Tony Churchill, Austin Landers and Londée Williams and the rest of the group. They've been on the road for a while and Tony said it was great being back in L.A. where the group lives. "We like to be out here when the weather gets cold back east," he chuckled. Tony also said that there are going to be some interesting changes coming next year for the group regarding shows and their next LP. "We are going to show everybody some more surprises. We tried to get an LP out before for the first of the year, but we were on the road so much that we didn't have the proper time that I felt we needed to put out an LP. We'll have one out the early part of the year." It was very groovy being backstage and seeing all those crazy New Birth costumes close up. They are really something.

Also on the show was Natalie Cole. Natalie was fantastic and when she did her latest single on Capitol "Inseparable," the Long Beach Arena audience loved it. Backstage Natalie and yours truly talked about her European promotion tour. "I didn't get to see anything but radio stations, TV stations and concert halls. The next time I go I'm going to really see Europe." But like all women Natalie did say that she sneaked in a few shopping trips and brought back some goodies. "The customs guys caught me with everything." Natalie also said that everywhere in Europe people were calling her Natalie "Queen" Cole. It totally knocked her out because she never knew she was that popular with European audiences. Natalie had several amusing incidents while in Europe. Natalie said she isn't the world's best flyer, so while flying over the Atlantic the airline was showing the film "Jaws." "All the time we were flying, I was praying." One of her more interesting trips was when she and her group were aboard Footer Friendship airlines in Germany. While in Germany the thing that freaked Natalie out the most was when she was in one city and to honor her they had a statue of her made out of butter. Another incident occurred while in France when she was doing a photo session. Natalie got so enthusiastic that she fell backwards and knocked the background down. "It didn't matter though because the session was fabulous."

Avco has a hot new single and new group on its hands. The group is called the Endeavors and their latest single is entitled "Tighter And Tighter." Buddah is at it again to bring more pleasure. Gladys Knight and the Pips have a Christmas label out which features them doing standards and gospel tunes especially for Christmas. James Cotton also has a new single out which has potential to be a double sided hit with "James Theme" on side A; "What The Weatherman Said," on side B.

Hodges James & Smith gave a preview of their new play at the Aquarius Theatre last week. The play, "I Heard That," was sensational. More details to follow.

Gary Gotham, my New York disco man is very excited about a record which he feels will be one of the biggest disco records to date. It is called "Merry Go Round," by a group called Morning Glory. Gary said it is super. . . . Met two lovely ladies last week who are involved in some nice projects. Their names are Delores Jones and Carol Taylor who head up the Spinners Fan Club on the west coast. This year with cooperation of the Spinners for the fan club is involved with underprivileged children, people in convalescent hospitals, youth correctional facilities and women's prisons. They are giving away LPs, singles and pictures of the Spinners and people will be able to purchase records at discount prices. The address for the Spinners west coast fan club is P.O. Box 4067, Inglewood, Calif. 90332.

Betty is currently hot on the charts with her latest single "Slip And Do It." An LP is due very shortly for the "Clean-Up Woman." Cuba Gooding and the Main Ingredient will be working the Christmas holidays through the new year at New York's Apollo Theatre. The group is hot again with their latest single and LP, "Shame On The World."

Everybody loves sweets and two very sweet records are out this week. The Commodores latest single is entitled "Sweet Love," and Chaka Khan and Rufus have a new one out off their LP "Sweet Thing." Both of these sweet pieces of vinyl will be monsters. Freda Payne will not be appearing with Ramsey Lewis at the Roxy Theatre as previously mentioned. . . . Tiny Tavares youngest of the five Tavares brothers has announced he will be taking a five week leave of absence from the group in order to be treated for cysts on his vocal chords. Tiny is currently receiving chemical treatment and is expected to fully recover and rejoin the group. We at Cash Box hope Tiny is back doing his thing with the brothers sooner than that.

Pete Moore of the Miracles sent yours truly a postcard from Japan. The group is currently on tour there and Pete said that the people of Japan can't get enough of their latest LP "City Of Angels." Pete also said the kids over there are into Afro wigs and clothes and really dig all the old Miracles material plus the new stuff "Don't Cha Love It," "Gemini," Pete added that "Love Machine" is a complete smash over there.

Gil Scott-Heron called in from Windy City and said if you come to Chicago be sure to bring an igloo. Gil has been super busy of late as he and Brian Jackson have been working on the musical score to the film "Baron Wolfgang Von Tripp." Gil said the film should be released sometime this Easter. By the way Gil was recently placed among the top five male vocalists in the 40th Annual Downbeat Readers Poll. His latest LP and single "From South Africa To South Carolina," and "Johannesburg," are continuing to move up the charts. Gil told me that the interesting background rhythm on "Johannesburg" single was done on an instrument called a Chinese drum. Gil said the rhythm used on the single is called gambot. "It is a rhythm the miners in South Africa use when they work."

K.C. and the Sunshine Band were in town this week doing a lot of TV. The group appeared on Merv Griffith where the guys worked out on "That's The Way I Like It." The single has been #1 on the Cash Box charts for three straight weeks. Also the guys taped Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve. The guys are keeping super busy touring across the country with K.C. set to produce an additional five albums for Henry Stone's T.K. Productions. K.C. said that even though he is busy he loves what's happening and is tickled over the success he and the Sunshine Band are having. "It's been my dream for years to have this to happen and I have to thank the people out there who buy records for their support of me and the group."... that's soul.

WOL, Washington, D.C. comes out of the "Count 'em for Cash" contest having distributed $5,000 in cash and a grand prize of 1,000. Cortez Thompson, pd reported the station cutting back in total news programming slightly, while moving to a more "easy-going" news format, with feature stories and bylines. In the meantime, WOL will continue giveaways of LPs and tickets, while programming new and old Christmas music. Cortez also made official a shift switch: Chuck McCool is now on from 7 to 12 p.m.; Nat Washington is on the air 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Neil Sedaka

TROUBADOUR, L.A. — It was one of his fans, a young boy named Mark, who opened the musical portion of the evening, taking the stage to introduce "the best singer in the world... my father!" He may have been stretching it, but not by much. If Sedaka is the consummate singer onstage, imagine how he must sound singing in the shower.

A bit overweight, but happy as a mosquito in a nudist colony, Neil joined a choice backup band composed of David Winter (bass), Andrew Steel (drums), Richie Zito (guitar), Jim Horn (saxophones and flute), David Foster (keyboards) and singers Dianne Bellis, Rene Armond and Carolyn Buchanan, demonstrating just what his son meant.

Sedaka commanded the air for a good ninety minutes with a wide variety of brightness from his recent albums, "Sedaka's Back" and "The Hungry Years." He delivered songs that have kept the public humming for the last three years or so, songs that have been covered by a number of other popular — and a larger number of striving — artists: "Laughter In The Rain," "That's When The Music Takes Me," "New York City Blues," "The Immigrant," "Solitaire," "Love Will Keep Us Together" and more. No two album packages have spawned as many hits over the last two dozen months, save efforts from Paul McCartney. In fact, it appears that Sedaka/Greenfield, Sedaka/Cody compositions have assumed the expansive range of popularity that Bacharach and David commanded a few years ago. Unlike McCartney, Sedaka has a listenership that spreads across generations of listeners.

Of course Neil's popularity within the musical subconscious goes back to the late fifties when he was a teenage whiz-kid, churning out hits like "Carol," "Stairway To Heaven," "Hey, Little Devil," and "Calendar Girl," tunes that brought smiles to the faces of tonight's audience, a portion of which displayed receding hairlines and thinning crowns. This golden oldie material was popular with the more youthful elements of the audience, too, as evidenced by a small but active contingent of groupies near the stage during "Happy Birthday, Sweet Sixteen."

Sedaka is more the singer/songwriter than he is the master showman. While he was on his feet for "Bad Blood" and did some burlesque schtick with a towel during "Sad Eyes," his true power came forth through his piano and the high confidence and execution of his vocal performance.

As we said earlier, Neil Sedaka is a consummate singer. He drove the concept home again and again throughout the evening, finally bringing a docile audience to its feet with an intimate, growing version of his updated "Breaking Up Is Hard To Do."

This reviewer offers silent thanks to whatever force brought Elton John and Neil Sedaka together. For although the genius of Sedaka had not been totally overlooked in recent years, there's no telling how much longer it would have taken for his re-entry into the tight playlists of the American pop scene without Elton's willingness to go out on that proverbial limb. Beyond the obvious personal benefits to sponsor and artist, the entire recording industry has received a shot in the arm with the return of Neil Sedaka. The bottom line, however, is that it took the power of a hot superstar to convince the airwaves to take another chance on proven/talent. Our only question is how many other Neil Sedakas are still at their craft with little hope of public exposure? s.f.

The Kinks

BEACON THEATRE, NYC — The Kinks, one of the most perennially creative British bands, returned once again to these shores to be greeted by signs of what seems to be their ever-growing popularity. While they have never broken into mega-stardom, as have most of the original British invasion bands who are still around, they tirelessly continue to produce some of the most vital and energetic rock of any working band.

Their latest album, "Schoolboys In Disgrace," their best and most accessible in a few years, provided the framework for the show, which was opened with a few of the Kinks standards, such as "Lola" and "You Really Got Me," their initial U.S. hit of at least ten years ago. They then ventured into the material from the new album, with the story line theatrics transferred from the stage show of their "Soap Opera" extravaganza to an ably-done film presentation starring the band and their three female vocalists. The band, which several years ago had a reputation for sloppiness, was even tighter than ever. Leader Ray Davies was not in his best voice, but more than compensated with his enthusiasm and showmanship. The seemingly sold-out show, and the strong album, which has several contenders for the singles charts among its tunes, seems to portend the Kinks' best concert and chart success ever, at long deserved last.

Opening the show for the Kinks was Steve Harley and Cockney Rebel. Harley, backed by an excellent band, went through a variety of lyric-dominated songs which were hindered by his somewhat strident vocals and unnecessary stage effects. They are, however, well worth keeping an eye and an ear tuned to. e.r.

Savoy Brown/Libra

THE STARWOOD, L.A. — The blues British style has always been an interesting musical strain to observe. On one level it's an inward turning genre that seems to move to a certain point and no further. On the other it is a constantly restructuring form that redefines the classic progressions in creative ways. The latest incarnation of Savoy Brown showed a recent Starwood audience both levels in motion.

Led by guitarist Kim Simmonds Savoy Brown (a London boogie) put blues rock in proper perspective via some churning as well as laidback outings. From "Tell Mama" on their set turned into an exercise in chord manipulation as progressions familiar to purists took on tighter or looser forms as each song demanded.

In Savoy Brown's experienced hands the tried and true look on new life as "Looking In" and "Raw Sienna" blasts from the past mixed with newer material for a head bobbing session of thinking man's blues.

But the overall impression was as simple as the music itself. The blues and Savoy Brown, based on this gig, will most certainly survive.

Second billed Libra proved an exercise in diverse stylings as racing elements of jazz, rock and distorted soul fragments did a futuristic mixing that gave each element its solo chance as well as allowing for a comprehensive cohesion of each. A particularly strong bass anchored the more stable passages while the overall meshing of sounds made for a liberal, yet controlled flight of musical fancy. m.s.

David Crosby & Graham Nash
With The Electric Band

ANAHEIM CONVENTION CENTER — In the wake of an exceptionally important album representing the continuing artistic progression of Crosby and Nash (individually and collectively) as songwriters and singers, the former Byrd and the former Hollie presented their newest songs with the core of artists who helped to create "Wind On The Water" — the Electric Band.

It is significant that "Wind On The Water" has been extremely well-received in the relatively short time since its release. Equally significant was the introduction of their new material early in the set, and that the audience went beyond tolerance of new Crosby and Nash material; the audience was actually in a state of great anticipation.

The music and songs of David Crosby and Graham Nash mellow and age as the years pass. Both artists have very colorful personal and musical histories and both artists have the ability to translate their experiences to songs and lyrics that ask questions and explore answers aware people by their very nature must seek. Their songs relate incidents, but deeper than that, in most cases the incidents are described and scrutinized on an array of levels simultaneously. The liaison of these two formidable talents has created more music to play for our children and grandchildren in the years to come, music that wins the test of time.

The Electric Band is an homogenous conglomeration of true artists who are able to perform with a very high degree of feeling, taste, and technical precision whether in or out of a studio. Tim Drummond played point/counterpoint bass in synch with drummer Russ Kunkel to provide the sound's tight bottom, which was beneath layers by fiddler/lap steel-slide/guitarist David Lindley, electric keyboardist Craig Doerge, and smokin' Danny Kootch on lead guitar; Crosby played 6 and 12-string acoustic and electric guitars, and Nash played 6-string acoustic and electric guitars, harp, and baby grand piano. The entire band operated as a solid unit by integrating leads and rhythms, and worked together at every possible turn in the development of the passages to their fullest extent.

The vocal interweave practiced by Crosby and Nash is a concept each began to develop years ago — Crosby as a Byrd and Nash as a Hollie. The most recent tour shows that C&N continue to represent the development of a multi-voice vocal style to the highest degree of quality, a degree met by few artists, past or present. Their first album together (Atlantic, 1972) was recorded after their continued development in multi-voice harmonization with Stephen Stills and Neil Young and showed the seeds of what has blossomed today on the new album and in this concert tour.

Crosby, Nash, and the Electric Band debuted their new electric songs in the early part of the set, including "Take The Money And Run" (written by Nash for an unscrupulous manager out of the past), which was one of the many tunes that featured Lindley on lap slide, and Crosby's "Low Down Payment." The integration of energies was particularly evident when the band carried the off-beat accentuation through "Low Down Payment's" extended bridges to explore ranges rarely reached, and without losing human metronome; his timing is impeccable. "Wooden Ships" featured long and spine-tingling bridges by Kootch, Lindley, Crosby, Nash, Doerge and Drummond; each took 16 or 32 bars in rotation, and took the song on journeys into jazz, country, and blues giving a new and very tasty delivery to that well-known ode to the aftermath of atomic war.

During the acoustic set, Crosby was beside himself (and so was the audience) with satisfaction at his delivery of what truly was the most forcefully beautiful reading of "Triad" I have heard him or anyone do, notwithstanding the classic Airplane version on the "Surrealistic Pillow" album. As Nash returned to the stage to join voices with Crosby on "Guinevere," David spent a few minutes tuning as he verbally communicated with the audience; his warmth onstage effectively controlled the restlessness of several thousand people during a task that is not often well-received by non-musicians in audiences. After two false starts, Crosby's guitar was still slightly but painfully out of tune; Nash reached over, twisted the errant string's tuning key a hair, and immediately locked it in

Blackmore's Rainbow

SANTA MONICA CIVIC, L.A. — Whether he's meant it or not Ritchie Blackmore's very being has, over the years, personified the unbridled aggression necessary for an effective practitioner of the rock and metal arts. His classic riffs and even classier public displays of mood all fuel the fire. You may not always agree with him but you kind of get the feeling he's probably right. For Ritchie Blackmore Deep Purple was the cocoon. Blackmore's Rainbow at the Santa Monica Civic proved the metamorphosis.

Blackmore's Rainbow (a Polydor thunder lizard) is, first and foremost, a band. To be sure the Blackmorian influence is there but, throughout the course of the set, you never lost sight of the fact that there was a band performing.

Blackmore's lead riffs were in the true metal mold but his new musical surroundings have taken their toll. Blues and straight ahead rock runs played a major part in Blackmore's axe disgorging as his solo progressions transcended the seeming predictability of hard as nails devotees.

The overall feel of Rainbow's music harkened back to a haunted hinterland where Poe closing a musty book at midnight and things that go bump in the night is the order of the day. This musical eeriness was buoyed by the frantic then pleading vocals of Ronnie James Dio and the strictly primordial bangings of drummer Cozy Powell.

An extended "Man On The Silver Mountain" showcased a truly bizarre mixture of hardrock and some deep rooted classical influences as Dio's lyrical distortion and Blackmore's tortured runs played off each other in a manner that carried with it a grand guingoi majesty as opposed to rock for rock's sake.

The band's assault on diversified roots continued on an improvisation laden "Still I'm Sad" as Blackmore and company dragged The Yardbird's classic — kicking and screaming into the musical now via some coldly calculating, yet creative, licks.

Two and a half hours latter the curtain came down. No encore despite the cries of more from the glutinous horde. Rock's heavymetal bard had ascended on the Santa Monica Civic. And having made his point slipped away. m.s.

Stephen Stills & Neil Young

Poco

PAULEY PAVILION, UCLA — The home of the UCLA Bruins basketball team became the home of the almost-extinct three-act-for-five dollars concert last Sunday night; the show started at approximately 8:15 p.m. and lasted until nearly 2 a.m. The house was packed to near its 10,000 seat capacity and fully 95% of the audience (average age approximately 20) stayed glued to their seats for the musical marathon. Ten years ago Flo and Eddie were Turtles, and later Mothers. Stephen Stills was less than a year away from joining with Young, Furay, Messina and Dewey Martin to form Topanga's historic Buffalo Springfield. And a few years later Messina and Furay joined with Rusty Young and George Grantham to form Poco. Ten years later, today, the present incarnations of three of the finest groups to emerge from the local canyons are, with best apologies to Paul Simon, "still creatin' after all these years."

It must be stated, however, that the p.a. system's quality was also circa 1965; little bottom, muddled midranges, and too much treble made the vocals hard to follow at times, except during the acoustic songs.

Aside from the lack of vocal clarity, the concert ranks among the very best of the year. Stephen Stills headlined with his backup band and special unannounced guest Neil Young took the stage with the group amidst tumultuous ovations; they opened with "Love The One You're With" and followed immediately with "Johnny's Garden"; "... it's clean and it's quiet/only trouble was I had to buy it..." The band sounded tighter and more coherently energetic than the Manassas band a few years back and was excellently complemented by Young; though he was not fully rehearsed, to say the least Neil was quite familiar with the music. "This is the new Buffalo Springfield!" Stills exclaimed as he and Young launched an electric version of "Wooden Ships." We have heard it was there that Stills (playing a Gibson Firebird), Young and Donny Dacus (both playing Gibson Les Pauls) crystallized some of the best guitar interplay we've heard since "Southern Man" from the Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young tour album "Four Way Street."

Stills' backup band this time around was manned by Tubby Zeigler on drums, Joe Lala on congas, timbales and percussion, and George Perry on bass; both Lala and Perry are from Florida and show that even though Stills lives in Colorado, his days recording for Atlantic at Criteria Studios in Miami have had a lasting influence, particularly evidenced by the excellent Cubano-flavored percussion Jerry Aiello was the keyboardist and was exceptionally tasty in his solo bridge during "Wooden Ships."

After a short break, two stools were set at center stage for Steve and Neil, who made no bones about their desire for quiet during their acoustic set; the portion of the crowd seated festival-style on the floor of the Pavilion took a full five minutes to sit down and be quiet. After picking a little banjo lead with Young on acoustic rhythm, our spines tingled at the opening notes to "On The Way Home"; Neil's vocal on his song belied the fact that he's recovering from a throat operation — clean and pure. Stills reached for his Dobro and picked a new song titled "Tree-top Flyer," a beautifully bluesy ballad about a gun smuggler running the Mexican border flying low through the canyons to avoid detection.

Neil sang lead on a song he wrote for

Flo & Eddie

"the first car I ever had, and my last old lady" called "Long May You Run"; Stephen did some quick-pickin' on Robert Johnson's "Crossroads" before playing Fred Neil's "Everybody's Talkin'." After commenting that he wished he'd written the song, he played with so much feeling the result was as if he actually had written it.

Stephen Stills was lambasted a few years ago for singing social and political protest songs belong the sixties by critics who believed that contemporary music's social consciousness was restricted to that decade; indeed we need it more in the complacent seventies than we did then. In keeping with that, Stills rededicated "Word Game" to presidential aspirant Ronald Reagan (when written it was dedicated to Spiro): "Can you imagine that turkey being president?"

Another very short break preceded the last electric set, which Stills started off with about two minutes of fed-back guitar soloing, and with the advent of Jimi's birthday last week the solo was probably an impromptu tribute to the immortal energy and spirit of Jimi Hendrix; "Old Times, Good Times" live on every day. Immediately following was "The Loner" from Young's first post-Springfield solo album; Neil's fiercely intense but tasteful leads were so high that past songs of junk and death were completely left behind. "Turn Back The Pages" followed and was introduced by Stills, as "the single that nobody bought."

Stephen Stills' beautifully paced concert closed with Flo and Eddie assisting with vocal harmonies on "Suite: Judy Blue Eyes" as the first encore, and as the never-say-die audience swayed under the weight of 2 a.m. eyelids, Stills, Young, Flo and Eddie were joined by the band for an acapella "Find The Cost Of Freedom."

Opening for Stills was Poco, which after a few personnel changes since formation in early 1969 has maintained and improved upon the high-quality vocal harmonics developed in those days; original member Rusty Young continues to show why he is one of the very best — and one of the very first — pedal steel players in rock and roll. Tim Schmit plays bass and his lead vocals and top-end harmonizations are signature Poco. Original Poco drummer George Grantham and Paul Cotten, who joined the band in 1970, layer their backup with technical Poco excellence and the entire band projects the positive good-time energy that has given phenomenal longevity to the band both on vinyl (seven albums) and in live performances. Rusty got out from behind his pedal steel to front "Bad Weather" playing a slide guitar with a wedge-shaped neck which gave an effect combining the sounds of steel and slide on one instrument, and with a phaser, no less. Excellent set by one of the very first and foremost country-rock bands.

The evening began with a reasonably well-paced set of Flo and Eddie's parodies, "Turtle's Gold," and exemplary material from their "Illegal, Immoral, and Fattening" album; Howard Kaylan and Mark Volman maintain the ability to lampoon themselves as well as others. The nicest surprise was the new material, including "Kama Sutra Time" and "Livin' In The Jungle," which shows without a doubt that Flo and Eddie are writers of quality songs today as well as in the past, and that they will continue to be in high demand as long as they continue to perform.

Patti Smith

THE ROXY, L.A. — In the beginning there was the word. The means of expression. The tool of the poet. The vocal way of the wise man and the fool. Then came the mixing of media as the elements of sight and sound and the word was important but not quite as before. But the word as prime mover came full circle last week at the Roxy as Patti Smith gave forth with the best argument in the world for the ten thousand words being worth more than a picture.

Patti Smith's very being is rock and roll in the most poetic sense. During the course of her set she force-fed a steady stream of savage rock sound and street conscious lyrical runs that drove home a lifestyle weaned on the consciousness of Kerouac and the fire of Hendrix.

Quickly evident in her performance was a mid-sixties mentality and stance that relied on the harshness and simplicity of basic rock as a springboard for her lyrical assault. Typical of this approach was her interpretation of "Gloria" and "Land Of A Thousand Dances" as a driving ground gave way to desperate snatches of thought. To Patti Smith it was intensely. Express yourself or perish.

The street consciousness continued as her between song rap turned quickly into a poetic duel with the audience. It was being cute and barbed; spitting on the stage and drinking from a patron's scotch. A theatrical naturalness. Planned but not quite so.

A strong factor in favor of Patti's poetry approach to music came out in the projection of her lyrics as their speed of light flow allowed for instant comprehension as instantly formed tales took the spotlight only to be nudged aside in favor of the next. It was as if mass communication had been instantly reduced to a one on one level.

Every once in awhile you get a feeling about a performer and their chance for success. It's the vibes or a chill at the base of your spine. In the case of Patti Smith it was a feeling of the past meeting the present and auguring for the future.

For as Patti Smith left the stage a vision of influences made itself felt. It was the vestiges of Morrison and Hendrix, and Kerouac. They were looking down on The Roxy stage and smiling.

This bitch poet was doing it right.

Iron Butterfly
Baby

THE STARWOOD, L.A. — Over the years the brute force aspect of rock and metal has been magnified as the major appeal of the music to audiences. You know the trip; volume plus seventy story riffs over self-indulgent feedback equals instant acceptance. In their "In A Gada Da Vida" and "Unconscious Power" days The Iron Butterfly were often accused of such lava spewing but, at their recent Starwood gig, the latest incarnation showed that there's always been a method behind the madness.

The Butterfly (an MCA spawn) relied, this night, on a strong mixture of blast furnace riffing and alternating keyboard runs to turn in a set that ran down progressive alleyways while maneuvering in some classic power stances.

The backbone of the band's rock musculature centered around the interaction between lead guitarist Erik Braunn and keyboard man Bill De Martines. Both factions took turns at lead passages before leaping to a supportive, but strong adjunct to the progressive goings on.

The long savored Iron Butterfly fallout and rock rain was presented in the driving antics of drummer Ron Bushy. Bushy's animated thumpings mirrored the sweat stained persona of the rock drummer in its finest sense while providing a riveting net from which the music played.

The Iron Butterfly at The Starwood was proof that it is possible for a band to look musically backward and forward at the same time.

Proving a non-stop show opener were rock and roll's answer to hit and run, Baby (a Mercury carnivore) laid down an aggressive rock assault as the better results of riffs colliding were much in evidence. A solid base of Texas blues was solid mortar for a continuous exercise in glass shattering raunch. Baby, the byproduct of being raised on rock and roll.

Joe Stampley

THE PALOMINO, L.A. — The more creative elements of country music have gotten that way by incorporating a whole lot of foreign influences into the genre while maintaining a firm grip on all the things that make good country and western music what it is. Joe Stampley's recent Palomino gig was a prime example of how country cross pollination can be made to work.

Stampley (an Epic the bus is out back), during the course of his set, searched out the country oriented facets of rock, soul and minute edges of jazz and blended them into a vocal stance that succeeded beyond the expectedness of his performance by adding that fine touch of exotic to the proceedings. In this area the jagged remains of the black man's burden fit Stampley's singing like a glove as his forays into introspective and laidback moments took on an immediate soulfulness.

Stampley's fusion of country and rock worked by virtue of a couple of strong outings as an Elvis cum Jerry Lee rock pounding moved in and out of some class country poses for an all around even flow of both. Add to this a most unobtrusive backbone of swing and Stampley's quest for musical balance was reached, no pain no strain.

Stampley's board presence waxed easy to take this night as an easy audience patter and some barbed exchanges with his band opened up some non-self-indulgent holes in the crowd's reception.

Joe Stampley at The Palomino showed off the true potential of being creative and entertaining at the same time.

Singletree Music Picks Up Campbell, Fullness Music Pub. Co.'s.

NASHVILLE — Less than two years ago, Singletree Music, headed by Dave Burgess, set up its publishing interests in Nashville with those copyrights retained by Burgess on the Four Star Music partnership settlement in California.

Burgess was a new breed on the Nashville scene and immediately set about signing writers and getting records cut.

A few months later, Singletree obtained exclusive administration and management of Gene Autry Music Enterprises, numbering several publishing companies and hundreds of copyrights.

On Nov. 28, Burgess announced an agreement between Glen Campbell and his Glen Campbell Music Publishing Company, under the terms of which Singletree will administer all of that company's copyrights as well as seek new writers for this catalog. Burgess added that his office will be listening for material for Campbell's recording sessions. This business agreement is a blending of a longtime personal association between Campbell and Burgess, that goes back to the time when Campbell picked with an instrumental group led by Burgess called The Champs.

Burgess stated that he had just closed a deal wherein he had signed an agreement with Jerry Fuller for sole Nashville representation of his Fullness Music. Fuller, a widely acclaimed producer, has made records with O.C. Smith, The Union Gap, Andy Williams, Johnny Mathis, Al Wilson among many more, to merit over forty million sales.

Singletree Music has also just completed the purchase of the established Sage and Sand catalog out of California. This particular catalog is brimful of invaluable copyrights, including "Burning Bridges," "Hillbilly Heaven" and "Lorena."

Stevens vs. Pierce: Appellate Court Rules Parking Ramp OK

NASHVILLE — A lawsuit involving entertainers Webb Pierce and Ray Stevens was settled in the Court of Appeals of Tennessee last Nov. 28; the court ruled in Pierce's favor.

A dispute between the two entertainers developed when Pierce obtained permission to build a parking ramp on his property located on Curtiswood Lane for Tour buses to park and avoid congestion on the much-traveled street.

Stevens filed suit in Chancery Court to stop Pierce from building the ramp. The court ruled in Pierce's favor, but Stevens took it to the Court of Appeals where it upheld the Chancery Court decision. Pierce now has permission to begin construction on the ramp.

Tom T. Off Road Until April 1976

NASHVILLE — Phonogram/Mercury singer-songwriter Tom T. Hall will be off the road for approximately four months beginning December 15. He'll return to his performance activities sometime in April, 1976.

"He's into several major creative projects which require long periods of undivided attention," stated Hall's career manager, Bob Neal, director of the William Morris Agency office in Nashville. "The only type of engagements we're scheduling for him during those first four months of 1976 will be related to promoting a book he has completed and is now turning over to a New York publisher," adds Neal. The publisher was not named.

LORETTA WITHIN REASON-ER — A country music fan comes out from behind the mike and camera at ABC News in New York — anchorman Harry Reasoner was visited by Loretta Lynn, who was taping a guest spot on a Bill Cosby special in the same building. Reasoner enjoyed the visit and revealed that he digs "the coal miner's daughter."

Country Artist Of The Week Tommy Overstreet

From Hit To Hit — Deciding early that hard work is the only magic to make dreams come true, Tommy Overstreet set out to pattern a career after his cousin, the late Gene Austin, widely known for the hit "My Blue Heaven." After a short affair with the piano, he selected a $12.50 Harmony guitar instead.

A year later, when he was 14, he replaced Tommy Sands as a singer/personality on a radio show in Houston. Then in Abilene he juggled guest appearances with being cameraman for the Slim Willett TV Show and continued school. A few local bands, high school graduation, radio and TV production courses at the University of Texas later, his efforts were rewarded by an offer from his cousin Gene to join him on the road.

In 1967 Tommy moved to Nashville and signed a recording contract with ABC's Dot Records. At that time he also doubled as a professional manager and producer, handling other ABC/Dot artists' careers.

He abandoned this job when his own career attracted attention in 1970 with "If You're Looking For A Fool," which rode high on the music charts for 14 weeks. "Gwen, 'Congratulations,'" was his break, making number one in the nation in the country music field. Since then he has had twelve top ten singles in a row, with five going to number one.

He and his five-man band, The Nashville Express, travel on the road in a 40-foot Silver Eagle bus. The traveling "family" members include Darrell Dodson, keyboard, Bob McCracken on drums, Smiley Roberts on steel guitar and dobro, and Big Al Cunningham on bass. Rounding out the sound is Bob Rippy on lead guitar.

Tommy transcends categories, appealing to a wide range of audiences while remaining country. In December 1973 he and country music made their debut at the Hacienda Hotel in Las Vegas. Since then he's been going as a guest star on such TV shows as "Hee Haw" and "Country Music USA" as well as taping his own TV special. His name is synonymous with country music in the U.S. and "Heaven Is My Woman's Love" received two gold disks in South Africa. His popularity in Europe has led him to be called "Mr. Country Ambassador," an honor born from believing.

"From Woman To Woman" is Tommy's current ABC/Dot release which this week is number 8 on the Cashbox Country Chart.

All production is under the direction of Ricci Mareno, with booking by the Jim Halsey Company.

Jimmy sings his own song with a good progressive sound and a Cuban beat. From the upcoming LP, "Havana Daydreamin'," it's produced by Don Gant and is a "wide awake" chart contender. Flip: No info. available.

LARRY GATLIN (Monument ZS8-8680)

Broken Lady (2:37) (First Generation — BMI) (Larry Gatlin)
A Larry Gatlin song, with Larry Gatlin singing it, is always a musical treat, and this one, about the "Broken Lady" who is waiting to be mended is another fine example of this artist's exceptional talent. Produced by Fred Foster, it's a top chart choice. Flip: No info. available.

RED SOVINE (Starday SG 101)

Phantom 309 (3:03) (Ft. Knox — BMI) (Tommy Faile)
The original "Phantom 309" rolls again. It's a Sovine recitation and opens with Big Joe pickin' up a hitcher in his big rig called the Phantom 309, and closes with surprise impact. It's a box choice and one truckers will request. Flip: No info. available.

FAITH O'HARA (Columbia 3-10252)

He Loves Everything He Gets His Hands On (2:41) (Brougham Hall/Proud Bird/Country Bumpkin — BMI) (G. Richey, R. Bowling, D. Wayne)
Faith delivers a genuine quality country vocal on this slow-moving genuine country tune. Produced by Norro Wilson, it's strong box and chart material. Flip: No info. available.

radio roundup

Tom McCall at KYAL in Dallas says "Convoy" is the hottest single in his listening area this week

John Carraway has been in radio for 18 years and 12 of that has been with the Christian Broadcasting Network. In that 18 years John has introduced more gospel records than any other gospel music d.j. on the east coast. John has just received an award for being the first d.j. to play CBN's House Top Records' first release, "Naturally Beautiful" by Cathie Taylor. This award was presented by Eric Aucoin, general manager and director of radio for CBN and Bill Brook, director of CBS's music division. Bill Brook produced the album.

A special extended play 45 rpm record containing four tracks from the two recent Statler Brothers gospel albums has been issued by Phonogram, Inc./Mercury Records to all country radio stations as well as a special selected list of gospel music stations round the country. The LP features two tracks from the two albums on either side. From the "Holy Bible - Old Testament" are "Noah Found Grace In The Eyes Of The Lord" and "Song Of David"; from "Holy Bible - New Testament" are "How Great Thou Art" and "There's A Man In Here." The tracks for the EP were selected by Jerry Kennedy, vice president/a&r in Nashville and Frank Leffel, national promotional, country. The two albums have already been the subject of much airplay at gospel and country music stations. Many stations have already aired the albums in their entirety back to back and invited discussion of the LPs among local religious leaders and lay persons.

The Herb Jepko "Night Caps" show from midnight till 3 a.m. has proven to be a great success for Orlando's WHOO radio. Now being carried by the Mutual network throughout the country, Herb was added to the WHOD all night line-up. The two-way conversation with callers remains uncontroversial and just plain lighthearted and entertaining.

Country music star Webb Pierce helped launch the grand opening of Truck Stops of America in Knoxville, Tenn. recently. Midnight traffic jocks Charlie Douglas of WWL in New Orleans and Buddy Ray of WWVA radio in Wheeling, West Virginia, were on remote there broadcasting live on their powerful stations. Pierce, accompanied by his record producer, Shelby Singleton, and artist James O'Gwynn, talked on the air back and forth on both stations until the wee hours of the morning. "The Good Lord Giveth And Uncle Sam Taketh Away," Pierce's hit song on Plantation Records, was played by both deejays for their listening public several times during the night. Pierce gave all the truckers who stopped by a bumper sticker bearing the title of his hit song.

Mighty Fine, Mighty Fine — Joe Stampley rolled his big mama onto the stage of North Hollywood's Palomino last week, and CBS field sales manager Jack Chase (left), Stampley, KLAC's Carson Schrieber, and Stampley's manager/publisher Al Gallico got together backstage to celebrate the SRO gig.

International Promotions, Ltd., Nashville's newest record distributing company announced the signing of a distribution pact with NRS Records and Tapes. The label is currently on several radio charts with two releases. One by the harmonica duo of Dom & Tony Sgro with "Peg O' My Heart," a revival of the gigantic hit of the '50s. The other single is by Jim McGinnis of Knoxville, Tenn., entitled "What A Way To Go." Both artists are scheduled for appearances on WMNI Country Calvacade in Columbus, Ohio.

Webb Pierce will be among several artists who will perform at the Astrodome in Houston, Texas for a Christmas charity show sponsored by KENR in Houston on Dec. 7-8. An estimated 50,000 people are expected to attend the two-day event, topping last year's attendance of 35,000.

Chattanooga Pickin' & Fiddlin' Contest To Be Annual

CHATTANOOGA — The first "Pickin' & Fiddlin'" contest to be held in conjunction with Chattanooga's "Annual Fall Color Cruise & Folk Festival" was very successful, and contest coordinators indicate it will become an annual event.

The contest attracted bands, banjo players, mandolin players, guitar pickers, fiddler and buck dancers from all over the area to compete for cash awards totaling $2,000.

Captain Dennis Trone, of the Sangamon Packet Co., has posted another $2,000 as cash awards for the 1976 event which will take place again on the last two weekends in October.

In addition to the contestants, free entertainment was offered by John Hartford, Roni Stoneman of "Hee Haw," Dr. Nat Winston, Bluefield, The White Country Square Dancers, the Scenicland Cloggers and many others.

Hundreds of boats participated and thousands of other people arrived by car to enjoy the free fun and the southern scenery in its autumn colors.

Competition was broken down into seven categories; winners in the competition were as follows: bands: Hamilton County Cut-Ups; banjo: Ed James; mandolin: Chester Lacy; guitar: Paul Wallace; buck dancing: Chip Thomas; senior fiddle: Uncle Bob Douglas; junior fiddle: J.T. Perkins.

In the fiddle-off, J.T. Perkins edged 75 year-old Bob Douglas by 1/2 point to become the grand champion and earn an additional $200.

Further information regarding next year's event can be obtained from the Chattanooga area Convention & Visitors Bureau at 399 McCallie Ave., Chattanooga, TN 37402. Phone (615) 266-5716.

CHIP TAYLOR (Warner Bros. WBS 8159)

Circle Of Tears (2:35) (Blackwood/Back Road — BMI) (Chip Taylor)

From the album, "This Side Of The River," Chip's self-penned, self-produced "now" sound, and the sharp steel surrounding it, indicate that "Circle" should be spinning round for chart action. Flip: No info. available.

Show Biz Readies 'Dolly' For Syndie; To Air Sept. '76

NASHVILLE — "Dolly," a new large-budget music/variety half-hour starring Dolly Parton, will be produced by Show Biz, Inc. for the start of the 1976 television season next September.

In making the announcement about "Dolly," Bill Graham, president of Show Biz, Inc., said that the prime access program series will be shot at Opryland and in other locations in and around Nashville. Set design is by Rene Lagler, who is responsible for the look of "Dinah!" and "Tony Orlando and Dawn" on CBS-TV.

"What we have in mind is different from anything on the air today," Graham said. "This is a show structured entirely around Dolly. Just as she is a country singer with appeal in both big cities and small towns, so is our program."

Graham pointed out that Porter Wagoner, who has played a major part in guiding Dolly Parton's career, was the first one to call his attention to Dolly's multiplicity of talents as an entertainer. The Porter Wagoner show is one of the longest continuous programs in the history of television having been produced by Show Biz for 16 straight years. Other Show Biz properties include "Pop! Goes The Country," "Nashville On The Road" and "The Bobby Goldsboro Show."

Reg Dunlap, Show Biz executive vice president and line producer for "Dolly," said plans call for location shooting in such Nashville areas as the night spots in Printers Alley, the recording studios on Music Row, on campus at Vanderbilt and other Nashville colleges, etc. "These remotes," Dunlap said, "will become an integrated part of the show through a set design that gives us an opportunity for smooth chromakey segues from the Opryland Auditorium studio to the location site."

Guests on the show will be major talents of country music and stars such as Linda Ronstadt and Ray Charles who have created some of country music's biggest hits.

The pilot for "Dolly" will be shot in Nashville during the period January 12-17. This show will be screened by Show Biz at the National Association of Television Programmers in San Francisco in February. Gary Jones, Show Biz vice president for station sales, and Neika Brewer, executive vice president, estimate that the program will be seen on approximately 150 stations during the 1976 season.

COUNTRY SOUL ON ICE — During the taping of the "Mac Davis Christmas Special" in Los Angeles, guest stars Roy Clark and Olympic skating champion Peggy Fleming joined Mac on the rink built by NBC for the special. Roy was on ice for the first time in 15 years, and Mac needs a little more schooling from Peggy before he'll qualify for the Olympics. Air date for the special has been set for Dec. 14. Clark and Davis survived the ice without breaking any bones.

Murphey Winds Up Southern Tour; Gets Gold Record

NASHVILLE — Epic recording artist Michael Murphey has just completed a successful sixteen-date southern tour that included Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, Louisiana, South Carolina and Texas.

The tour was launched just as Murphey's "Blue Sky/Night Thunder" album, his first for Epic was on the verge of going gold and his new Epic album entitled "Swans Against The Sun" was being released.

"Michael Murphey Day" in Dallas held twofold honors for the artist. As Dallas mayor Wes Wise honored the native Murphey with a day of his own, Ron Alexenburg, vice president and general manager for Epic, flew to Dallas to inform Murphey that "Blue Sky/Night Thunder" had gone gold. Presentation of the gold record took place following Murphey's performance at the Dallas Convention Center.

Simms Hinds of Concerts West, a major promoter for Murphey's tour, commented: "Exceptional! This was one of the finer shows I have seen, and Murphey has the best rapport with an audience I have witnessed in a long time."

POINTS WEST — Dr. John recently completed a series of dates at The Electric Ballroom in Atlanta. Among those in attendance were members of The Who... A real sleeper on the in progress Bob Dylan tour is turning out to be a talented member of Dylan's band, Stephen Soles... Taking over the managerial reins for The Sylvers is Al Ross... Howard Scott of War recently forked over a thousand dollars to cover the care and feeding of his cat while he was on tour... Tim Weisberg got some of his early classical training at Cal State Northridge.

In his dues-paying days Kenny Rankin was the recipient of a myriad of paychecks from a whole lot of diverse sources. Among these gigs was a stint as session singer on Bob Dylan's "Bringing It All Back Home" album and, on a slightly less dramatic scale, staff songwriter for a publishing company... Among those in the audience for Joe Stampley's weekend at the Palomino were Al Gallico and Carson Schriber... Spanky and Our Gang are set for an upcoming tour with Willie Nelson?... Capitol has a whole slew of acts in the recording stages. New acts in the studios include Bux (produced by Aerosmith knob turner Jack Douglas), Fantasia, and The Side Of The Road Gang... Jeffrey Comanor is hot at work on a new album. Helping out on the in studio proceedings are Joe Walsh and members of the Eagles.

Steeleye Span will do a thirty city tour of Russia beginning in May. The group currently has its first top ten single in England... Dan Levitt, late of the Beau Brummels, has joined Spanky and Our Gang. Dan, word has it, plays some tasty guitar and banjo... Melissa Manchester is set for a New Year's gig in Hawaii... The last Capitol Grand Funk album will be released in January... Jimmy Rabbitt is putting the finishing touches on his album in Nashville. The release date is set for late January or February.

The title of the next Pure Prairie League album is "If The Shoe Fits"... Sammy Hager, formerly of Montrose, is recording a solo album in San Francisco... February is shaping up to be a mother concertwise for the west coast. On tap are concert appearances by David Bowie, Cat Stevens and Kiss... Members of Cat Stevens band include Allan Davies, Jean Roussel, Gerry Conway, Bruce Lynch, Mark Warner and Chico Baters.

Jethro Tull is recording their next album in a Belgium recording studio. A tour is scheduled for mid '76... The hot rock licks of Rory Gallagher are tearing up the midwest and east... A live Robin Trower album will strike pavement in January with a subsequent tour set for April... A most unusual setting for an interview was this reporter's last week as yours truly got together with Patti Smith and Tom Waits in a corner booth of The Ski Room bar on Sunset and Bronson. The results of said talkaround will appear in an upcoming insight.

One of the hottest live packages to hit the racks is the double shot by The Spinners. With the right push their spontaneous rave up on "Mighty Love" could be a hit all over again... On the other side of the coin the latest by Bachman-Turner Overdrive "Down To The Line" is a decidedly cliché effort that just isn't there. The flip side, though, "She's A Devil" is a ballsy rock and rauncher that has gold written all over it. Programmers: play the B side.

GOING TO THE DOGS — Veteran performer Andy Griffith is joined in the recording studio by singing/talking dog Heidi. Griffith, who recently signed an exclusive recording pact with Capitol Records, is currently working with writer/producer Christian Wilde on a new record, titled "My Dog Under Dog," which features Heidi singing backup vocals.

vocal work for The Giants is Laurie Kaye Cohen who was flown in from Guatemala for the occasion.

Devonshire Sound is set to open a new 24 track studio in March of next year... The Sylvers will perform a free concert for the winning high school of KDAY radio's Christmas Toy Drive Concert... The first annual Rock and Roll Arm-Wrestling Championships have been postponed until further notice. It seems defending champion Randy California of Spirit threw something out... In attendance at Savoy Brown's recent Starwood gig were members of 10 cc.

A record you might have missed is a driving jungle stomper by Black Blood. Perfect for the back to nature in you. Doing his recording thing at The Total Experience Recording Studios is Bobby Wilson. Producing is Vernon Bullock. Sitting in with Wilson are Larry Nash, David T. Walker, Gary Coleman, Henry Davis, Larry Farrow and James Gatson.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK: From a total purist who wishes to remain nameless. "Without the artist there would be no business, but without the business there would still be the artist."
marc shapiro

TRIUMPH — That's Randy California of Spirit (right) about to take the measure of "Mr. Missouri," Joe Adams, thus cementing his position atop the rock arm-wrestling heap. It set the stage for the First Annual Rock and Roll Arm-Wrestling Championships in Los Angeles, set for December 5 at The Troubadour, but subsequently postponed when Randy suffered a severe case of complex catalepsy, brought on by rigorous training for the title defense.

EAST COASTINGS — "I never blame a record company or a manager... it's always the album. The safest attitude is to blame yourself, to concentrate on the product." Manfred Mann and his Earth Band passed through New York recently, and the rock veteran stopped up at the Cash Box offices. The latest edition of the Earth Band was formed just before the tour, with Chris Thompson and Dave Flett replacing exiting Mick Rogers, and Mann is looking forward to working on a new recording with this band. In the period that Mann had 16 hits overseas, four made it in the U.S. and over the years, the Warner Bros. artist has developed some definite ideas on the proper route for his group and music at this point. First off, Mann has lost faith in the concept of doing "enormous venues for promotion and exposure," but sees rather that playing in a club, with fans as well as dj's and other music business individuals present is a better atmosphere in which to build an act. After recent "Chapt. III" and Earth Band productions, Mann feels that the new band is capable of making singles again — "good music is good even if it's only three minutes." As for his reputation as an interpreter of other writers' material ("Mighty Quinn," "Spirit In The Night"), Manfred notes simply that "I have a good ear for songs," but stresses that his interpretation is not a copy, but has his own stamp on it in any case. We look forward to continuing presence of this important figure on the musical scene.

THE PICTURE OF SOLITUDE — Bill Wyman takes a few moments away from the raucous Rolling Stones in preparation for his upcoming solo album which will reportedly feature an all-star cast.

NAUGHTY BITS — Island's Betty Davis made her Bottom Line appearance last week, and among the notables present were Atlantic's Ahmet Ertegun, Nesuhi Ertegun and Jerry Greenberg, plus Gil Evans, and a high society sort... Howard Stein reports that Renaissance's two Felt Forum dates recently were his highest gross at the venue this year... 10cc are doing a Revlon commercial in New York... Hear that Springsteen is using "Santa Claus Is Coming To Town" as a seasonal encore (How does it sound? — "Like a Springsteen song," our source tells us)... Russ Ballard has completed work on his second solo LP, self-produced as well as written, with the ex-Argent member on guitar and keyboards... Former Santana drummer Michael Shrieve is reportedly going to England to work on an album with Steve Winwood and Stomu Yamashta... Capitol has apparently signed Paris, the new band formed by ex-Fleetwood Mac person Bob Welch and ex-Jethro Tull, Wild Turkey bassist Glen Cornick... Thanksgiving eve party given in honor of U.A.'s album promo director Billy Bass and Grunt Records' Bill Thompson, thrown by U.A.'s Stewart Sank and publicist Jodie Tausign, with numerous music biz notables in attendance.

PROFESSOR ENO — Brian Eno, commonly known simply as the latter, is engaged in an unusual activity for an artist of some note. He is on a lecture tour of Britain's universities and colleges, using an open-ended format which apparently consists of the showing of a series of slides, the playing of a piece of modern music, followed by a discussion of it and of how music and the arts have influenced his life. The program concludes with an open discussion with the audience. By the way, Eno and comrade Robert Fripp have their second solo work out soon overseas, called "Evening Star." One of the pieces is described as having one of the slowest (if not the slowest) rates of change of any piece of music, getting only slightly louder and more intricate over many minutes... "The World's Biggest Discotheque," held at Madison Square Garden recently, was sold-out with 13,460 paid admissions (the Garden floor was seatless for dancing)... Look for new LPs, via the Columbia/Epic organization, in the not too distant future, from David Sancious, Miles Davis, Jeff Beck, Miroslav Vitous and Boz Scaggs (in addition to those noted a couple weeks back).

A BIT OF THE OLD ULTRA... We won't call it a trend yet, but in recent months there has been a notable increase in purse-snatching, general rip-offs, fireworks (not produced by the performers) and other sorts of dangerous activities occurring at certain sorts of shows in the area. Notable offending shows have been the Garden discotheque show mentioned above, where the show was stopped for a purse-snatching warning, the Isley Brothers and Graham Central Station, with rip-off problems; and ZZ Top and Black Sabbath were notable for their pyrotechnic displays, not to forget the gashing of a Sabbath's head by a can thrown from the audience. We'll keep you posted... In less traumatic news, we hear that Dave Lawson, a co-founder of Greenslade (with Dave Greenslade), will be departing said band at the end of the year, following completion of their new LP. The split is well-considered and amicable, and a new Greenslade will be on the road in Feb. While we're on the subject, Greenslade is one of those bands that never seemed (as yet) to garner sufficient, well-deserved attention stateside. Their first album (on Warners, complete with Roger Dean cover) is an original, impressive work, and the following three LPs (one unreleased here, two on Mercury), are worthy developments of a unique fusion music style. The remaining combination of keyboardmen Greenslade, drummer Andy McCulloch and bassist Martin Briley is a base of great strength, and hopefully the band will be able to finally capture the U.S. success that has eluded them thus far.

Comedy LPs cont. fr pg. 7

tion and progression of social standards in society. What consumers were once paying $50 for now sells for $6.98 at any retail record store. Instead of going up to the owner of a store and being forced to ask in a hushed voice for favorite party records, consumers can now find them prominently displayed along with the top selling musical artists. In the comedy record field today, anything goes — everything sells. A quick look at the charts bears out this observation.

Artists like Richard Pryor (this week at 118 and 196 on the Cash Box top LP charts) are putting out LPs that are just as hard-core, if not more so, as the old under-the-counter LPs.

Pryor, however, does not stand alone in his field. George Carlin is a good example, through his latest release, of the close competition Pryor faces today. Other artists that have made a sizable contribution in sales figures are Burns and Schreiber, Bob Klein, Proctor and Bergman (formerly of The Firesign Theater) — and let us not forget the man who really pioneered it all — Lenny Bruce.

But hard-core comedy is by no means the only product selling well today. You don't necessarily, of course, have to be dirty to be funny. Cheech and Chong and Monty Python — Britain's celebrated comedians, would be the first to agree. In the end, if a record can make you laugh, it can sell extremely well. The sales figures on comedy LPs prove that the purveyors of such disks themselves are laughing, too — all the way to the bank.

Allied Opens New L.A. Pressing Plant

HOLLYWOOD — Allied Record Company, in its forty-first year of operation in Los Angeles, has completed a move into a new, modern pressing and warehousing facility in the Commerce Distribution Center. The plant is the first new pressing operation constructed in L.A. in the past fifteen years.

The new location increases Allied's 7" pressing production by 50% and storage warehousing for customer-owned product by 100%. The expansion plans also call for the installation of the newest 12" pressing equipment.

The new 36,000 sq. ft. facility lies 10 minutes east of downtown L.A., located in a 200,000 sq. ft. building in an industrial park development with over 2 million sq. ft. of new buildings. Allied's building is fully sprinklered for fire protection and has its own internal security system as well as a 24 hour a day security patrol. Railway siding adjacent to the building enables raw materials to be shipped in bulk.

Allied's president and owner, Daken K. Broadhead stated that Allied has installed additional 7" injection molding presses, a new United Sound audio quality control system, and new palletized shelving for customer-owned inventory storage.

Operations manager Jack Wegner said the move enables Allied to realize new operating efficiencies for the purpose of stabilizing pressing prices, despite inflationary pressures in the economy.

as the audience tuned into the taste of impromptu high comedy. Nash sang a few of his classic songs from the stool and later from the baby grand, including "Simple Man," the new "Fieldworker," "I Used To Be A King," and was joined by Crosby leaning to the piano vocal mike for harmony on "Our House."

As the years pass, the lasting quality of Nash's songwriting becomes increasingly apparent; his vocal delivery retains the ebullience of several years ago while showing a mellowing of voice that will continue to improve in quality. At this point the vocalizations of both Crosby and Nash have improved beyond the high points of the first Crosby, Stills & Nash album (summer 1969).

The evolution of their vocal styles was most evident on "To The Last Whale," one of the tunes on which Carole King joined voices with Crosby and Nash later in the set at the Anaheim concert. The song was written by Nash as he and Crosby sailed David's boat north to San Francisco, watching the northbound whales off the California coast, and is destined to become a classic appeal for the world's remaining whaling operations to find other sources for perfume and oil.

During the recording of the "Wind On The Water" album, Carole King was in the same building recording her new album, which will be titled "Thoroughbred," and the three exchanged vocal services on a few cuts per album. Carole additionally learned harmonizations for a few of Crosby and Nash's new songs (including "Carry Me") and joined them for four shows in Berkeley, and for the Anaheim concert. The three highly respected songwriters were having the time of their lives singing each other's songs, including the beautiful "High Out Of Time" from Carole's new album. It appeared that the three were on the stage of the 250-seat Troubadour in the best tradition of a living room concert; indeed, they had as much fun, if not more, than the thousands of people who watched, listened, and absorbed the fact that musical history had claimed another excellent concert. s.p.

Audiofidelity O'Connor LP

NEW YORK — Soon to be released on Audiofidelity is Carroll O'Connor's "Carroll O'Connor Sings For Old P.F.A.R.T.S. (People Favoring A Return To Sentiment)." The name was chosen to represent both the "Archie Bunker Common Man Ideal" and O'Connor's true singing ability according to the label's president, Herman D. Gimbel.

The album will be a selection of old standards, produced by Peter Matz, due for January release.

Over Production In Games: Part One In An In Depth Study From A Distributor's Viewpoint

HOLLYWOOD — Cash Box recently interviewed a cross-section of coin machine distributors asking the question: "Are there too many new games being introduced to the market today?" In each case, the answer was yes, but distributors' responses and suggestions for handling the problem differed greatly from one another.

Chris Loumakis of Pico Indoor Sports told Cash Box: "Too many game manufacturers are just releasing too much product, and what makes matters worse is that the new product being shipped to us is, in many cases, inferior in quality and does not hold up well once installed in locations."

Loumakis cited an example of a shipment of ten new games that had just come into his operation that morning; after inspecting them, he found eight of the ten to be defective — simply, 80%. He feels that the ultimate victim is the operator who in order to keep up with the competition must buy too much new product too fast, to realize any substantial profit, then is faced with badly constructed machinery that are always down and waiting to be serviced.

Loumakis' proposed solution is that his company is becoming more selective in their buying practices — and he will only sell quality, not quantity. He further feels that the manufacturers should put less product out, and to compensate, work on a higher margin of profit.

Cash Box posed the same question to Hank Tronick, vice president of C.A. Robinson, one of the biggest distributors in the country. Tronick feels that this is an ill of every industry. "If Volkswagen introduced a car that was an overwhelming success, then next year every car manufacturer would be coming out with the same style. Game manufacturers are no different. What Chris Loumakis is looking for is a panacea that will never exist in our industry or any other industry, for that matter."

Tronick also feels that the operator is the most deeply affected by inadequate, inoperative equipment, and would like to see the establishment of industry-wide quality controls. He feels that the manufacturers that C.A. Robinson represents are the best in the business, enabling them to purchase their equipment and not get hurt. However, he did admit that his costs for service and repairs are five times higher than what they were five years ago. "It's up to the distributor and operator to know their limitations and buy accordingly, regardless of what the manufacturer puts out," Tronick said. He further stated that "the companies I represent don't pressure me to buy product, subsequently all my buying is a matter of judgment." In some instances, Tronick noted, C.A. Robinson underbuys, and in some cases they overbuy. "But if you do your job," Tronick notes, "it all evens out. We judge our buying by operator response and public response. This type of judgment will never incur losses."

Asked about handling new product by new manufacturers, Tronick said, "We approach this very carefully. We will inspect the product before accepting it in the house, then take it on a consignment basis and test it with operators, also on a consignment basis. If it works out well for us and our operators, then we'll purchase it," Tronick stated. He further noted that there are too many new manufacturers putting out inferior product that he (Tronick) would not sell. Some of these companies, Tronick observed, will bypass the distributor and go directly to the operator. But in almost every case, Tronick said, the operator has gotten "burned," and has become a little poorer and a little wiser. "After all," Tronick commented, "we stand behind our product and the operator knows it. If we take in bad product and sell it, we're the ones that get hurt. We have to pay the manufacturer and then wait to get paid from the operator. If the machine doesn't work, how can we get paid by the operator? There are fewer distributors and more manufacturers today than ever before, so the distributor and the operator must be aware of their limitations and must be tuned into the marketplace," Tronick concluded.

The same question was posed to Bob Portale, owner of Portale Automatic. Portale feels his operation is unique, hence the reason for his firm's success. "Greed (by the distributors) is responsible for over-production, not manufacturers," Portale told Cash Box. Portale explained that he won't buy every item released by the manufacturers he represents; rather, he is selective. "I only buy what I feel is good and saleable. I cannot afford to hurt my customer," he emphasized. He further stated that there are really not many customers for a distributor. In order to keep them satisfied, Portale handles only main line manufacturers, buys his merchandise selectively and works at giving his customers fine, high-quality service.

Portale feels that the operator doesn't lose money with his company. They may put a game in a bad location and have to change locations, but with good product and good service the operator will make money on the item involved.

Asked about rising costs in service, Portale said, "Because of the way I run my business, my service costs haven't increased in twenty years."

Regarding being overstocked with trade-ins, Portale noted, "I have less inventory on games today than I've ever had, however, I can't say that's true regarding video games. I am overstocked on video tables and games, but this field is comparatively new, and we're not quite sure where it's going yet." Portale is optimistic, however that this overstock will move down nicely.

C.A. Robinson and Co. recently held a post MOA convention show at their Pico Blvd. facilities to display the new products for 1976. Bob Kaiser, sales manager of Mirco Games, Inc., was on hand to demonstrate the "Spirit of '76" with its unique micro-processor which enables the operator to run his own diagnostic tests with a tip of a pencil.

Also on display were Midway's "Gun Fight," Allied's "Fire Power," Bally's "Hi Deal," Chicago Coin's "Shoot Out," Sega's "Bullet Mark," Ramtek's "Trivia" and Atari's "Jet Fighter," "Steeplechase" and their "Crash 'N' Score" which caused as much attention as the "76" next to it. The over 300 operators, manufacturers representatives and other coin industry related guests were in attendance, and as usual the Bettelman's were the perfect hosts with an abundance of fine foods and other refreshments on hand to make the afternoon even more enjoyable. Frank Ballouz came down from Atari's Los Gatos headquarters to try to out-do Gene Lipkin's performance on their "Indy 800" video unit and seen here with Al (far left) and Sandy Bettelman (far right) of C. A. Robinson it seems as if he did as good a job playing the game as it is doing for operators. And of course the always cordial Hank Tronick, seen here with Cash Box's Mel Albert (far left) and Mary Kenny (far right), made sure that everyone had a pleasant and informative afternoon.

The Rock-Ola 464. Anything else is less.

When you order a jukebox, you have a clear-cut choice. You can order a Rock-Ola 464. Or you can order something less. Because, until we start work on next year's model, the 464 is as good as jukeboxes get.

Its neon-inspired graphics grab the customers' attention. Its blinking, colorful selection/control panel makes playing easy and exciting.

And the 464 sounds as good as it looks. Because inside, a specially-designed acoustical chamber disperses the music properly. Nothing stays trapped inside to vibrate and muffle.

Being a Rock-Ola, the 464 is unaffected by dirt. Dust.

Greasy air. Grime. Hard use. Liquids. And time. It's built to take it all and keep right on playing, while other machines overheat, overwork or just plain wear out.

Besides all that, the 464 helps you count your take. An optional computerized change counter (Model 2181) keeps track, and even gives you a complete printed record.

So, it comes down to your choice. You can have Rock-Ola 464, with features other machines can only copy. Or you can have something less.

But then that's always been true of Rock-Ola.

Heavy Distrib Turnout At IAAPA; New Orleans Site For '76 Conv.

ATLANTA, GA. — The 1975 IAAPA convention held at the Marriott here, Nov. 20-23, drew an attendance of about 5,100 persons and unsurpassed representation from the ranks of coin-operated amusement equipment distributors. Exhibitors, numbering 203, displayed their wares in a total of 385 exhibit booths, of which about 50 to 55 were hosted by distributors for the display of arcade type equipment.

IAAPA, which signifies the International Association of Amusement Parks and Attractions, is composed largely of parks owners and managers whose participation in the association's annual convention is reflected in the very significant attendance recorded each year. Previous shows have attracted some distributor representation, but on a very limited scale by comparison to the number participating as exhibitors, and observers, at this year's convention. This increase in distributor interest is attributable to the tremendous growth of arcades in amusement parks, as indicated by IAAPA's executive secretary Bob Blundred, and to the park owner/manager's recognition of the importance of the distributor's role in the total arcade operation.

"The typical owner/manager of an outdoor amusement facility is beginning to realize that the distributor is a qualified, responsible service element for his arcade operation," Blundred said. "A distributor not only offers a full line of arcade equipment, but a staff of qualified, experienced mechanics who are capable of servicing the equipment, and with the emergence of the solid state influence, this is a very important factor. The distributor's expertise is also an asset in the selection of equipment; and his judgment can be relied upon, on a consultant basis, to suggest the newest, most popular pieces for placement in arcades. Preceding our 1975 convention, we strongly publicized the fact that our business program would include an Arcade Workshop, moderated by Marshall Caras of Rowe International, and this workshop, which drew an overflow crowd, was one of the highlights of our entire program."

Addressing himself further to the rising importance of arcade operations, Blundred said, "Arcades have actually added a new dimension to the parks industry, manifested in the quality and diversification of today's arcade pieces. Many of the new computer quiz, and similar models, have educational as well as entertainment value to appeal to all ages, all sexes. We must remember that children are generally accompanied to the park by adults, and can you imagine a 40-year-old man finding amusement in a ride for children! The arcade equipment provides that 'something to do' for mom and dad while the kids are enjoying their own park attractions," he concluded.

The schedule of events during the IAAPA show included a "What's New Theater," "Games Workshop," "Themed Attractions Workshop," "Tri-Organization Report" and "Ride Workshop" on Thurs., Nov. 20. On Fri. (21) the trade show exhibit floor was officially opened, to remain so for the entire day, and a ladies' tea was hosted from 2:00-4:00 pm. Sat. (22) functions included a "Food Workshop," "Retail Workshop," IAAPA Membership Meeting, "Employee Workshop," "Entertainment Workshop" and "Smaller Attractions Workshop." A "Marketing Workshop" was held on Sunday (23) preceding the 3:00-5:00 p.m. "Arcade Workshop"; and the annual banquet and floor show were held that evening.

Newly elected president of the association is Roger J. Shaheen of Shaheen Enterprises in Salisbury Beach, Massachusetts.

The 1976 IAAPA convention will be held Nov. 18-22 at The Rivergate in New Orleans, Louisiana.

IUC Reports Loan Agreement

CHICAGO — Interstate United Corporation reported that it has reached preliminary agreement with three insurance companies for long term loans of $12.5 million.

Wagner Van Vlack, chairman of the food service firm, said that the preliminary agreement involves the private placement of 15-year promissory notes by Interstate United at a proposed rate of 11 1/4%. He said that proceeds will be used to refinance certain existing short term and long term bank debt, with the remainder representing an addition to working capital.

The agreement, as announced, is subject to completion of necessary documentation and final approval by all parties.

Van Vlack also reported that Interstate's directors authorized the company to purchase, from time to time, a total of 53,750 shares of Interstate common stock on the open market, for future utilization in the company's recently adopted Employee non-qualified stock option plan.

Williams School At O'Connor Dist.

Leonard Nakielny, field engineer for Williams Electronics Inc., gets down to the basics as illustrated in this photograph, and proceeds with a step by step service presentation covering the entire electro-mechanical structure of a pinball machine. In the process, operators and service personnel in attendance are free to ask questions while the session is in progress. "We prefer a relaxed atmosphere during a class," Nakielny said, "so that participants may feel free to inquire about a particular point at the time it is being covered in the demonstration." The accompanying photo shows a portion of the large operator/service personnel turnout for the school, which was held Nov. 6, at the headquarters of O'Connor Distributing Co. Inc. at 9030 Director's Row in Dallas, Texas.

equipment and all types of service equipment requiring reliable count totals. The Spartan line features large 5/32" high white numerals on jet black wheels, set close to a molded in, taper proof window for dependable, easy readability. For design versatility the counters are available in AC or DC voltage and in panel, base, top or bottom mounting configurations. Spartan counters are economically priced and designed for applications where count speed to 600 CPM and a life of several million counts are required.

'Fascination 600 Handicap'

DES PLAINES, ILL. — Robert Runte, president of Fascination Ltd., announced the release of an innovative new cocktail TV game called "Fascination 600 Handicap." "This game is the culmination of marketing research, and site research," Runte said, "plus the ingenuity of the Fascination engineering department. We feel we have produced the 'Rolls Royce' of the industry in Fascination 600 Handicap and, because it is in such large demand, we have been able to price it competitively," he added.

The model features three different games programmed into the logic system. It incorporates the popular tournament speed feature allowing the players to choose their option; and the handicap feature provides a new twist involving a growing paddle. These features virtually guarantee replay after replay, as Runte indicated. "The part that we are most proud about is the rugged but jewel like construction of the game," he continued. "It can stand abuse without sacrifice of accuracy."

CHICAGO CHATTER

Main topic of discussion in area coin circles this past week has been the recently concluded IAAPA show, which was held in Atlanta, Georgia (Nov. 20-23). The show has always been a large, very well attended event from within the parks industry but this year's edition, while attracting an overflow crowd of 5,100 (surpassing last year's total attendance by about 600) also drew a more than significant number of coin machine distributors. As IAAPA's executive secretary Bob Blundred pointed out to us, with the growing number of arcades in major parks across the country, the association's membership of parks owners and managers have welcomed the opportunity to establish a line of communication with coin machine distributors; and he anticipated an acceleration of this IAAPA-distributor rapport, culminating in an even greater distribution participation next year. With this in mind, Blundred and the IAAPA's newly elected president Roger Shaheen will be expanding their traveling schedules during the next twelve months.

AMONG DISTRIBUTORS WHO HAVE ANNUALLY exhibited full scale at the IAAPA convention (for many years prior to this one) is Empire Dist. Inc. Their award-winning display this year was housed in eight booths, featuring a splendid array of equipment including arcade pieces, pingames, foosballs, coin sorters, kiddie rides, et al. Representing Empire at the show were Joe Robbins, Arnie Goldberg, Ben Rochetti and Leonard Zeitman.

MORT LEVINSON OF NATIONAL COIN said he showed an assortment of about fifteen pieces at the IAAPA — and wrote up plenty of business! Definitely a "buyer's show," he said.

FRED SKOR OF WORLD WIDE DIST. has attended quite a number of IAAPA conventions but was especially impressed with the noticeable increase in distributor participation this year. "It looks like this will be a very important show for the future," he commented — and this seems to reflect the consensus of opinion among area coin people we spoke with this week.

FOR YOUR NOTIFICATION: Milton Hobbs, president of the North Carolina Coin Operators Assn. Inc., items that the state group, in association with the North Carolina Beer and Wine Retailers Assn. and the ABC board, formulated the following regulation which was adopted on Nov. 24, 1975: "Definition of a pool room or billiard parlor is a commercial, social, fraternal or patriotic establishment wherein one or more pool tables or billiard tables are located. Provided, however, a grade "A" restaurant engaged primarily and substantially in the preparation and serving of food will not be considered a pool room or parlor if it has no more than two pool or billiard tables located on premises. An establishment holding on premise wine permits which meets the above criteria may hold wine permits and have up to two pool tables on premises."

ON THE SINGLES SCENE: Among current releases scoring with area ops, according to Lormar's Joe Ceddia, are "Convoy" by C.W. McCall (MGM), "Nursery Rhymes" by People's Choice (TSOP), "Feelings" by Morris Albert (RCA), "I Write The Songs" by Barry Manilow (Arista) and "Love Rollercoaster" by the Ohio Players (Mercury).

EASTERN FLASHES

In the aftermath of the Nov. 20-23 IAAPA convention in Atlanta, we'd like to acknowledge the fact that the huge (about 2600 sq. ft.) display hosted by Rowe International distributors and the manufacturers they represent from across the country was singled out for the association's Fred W. Pearce award "for the most meritorious exhibit!" So, take a bow, please, Marshall Caras, who spearheaded Rowe's extensive participation this year, and Walter Koch, who did the fine layout, decorations and design of the exhibit! Marshall also conducted an "arcade workshop" which drew a packed house! Rowe's Dan Denman said the display attracted heavy traffic each day — and this year's total IAAPA convention was super event! . . . International Billiard Corporation is a recently established firm out of Plainfield, New Jersey whose product line includes home and coin-operated tables. Company president Joe Velluzzi tells us he is currently in the process of lining up a domestic and foreign distribution network, and arranging to display product at some of the upcoming trade shows to be held overseas. . . . Millie McCarthy is getting the Games Tournament Board off the ground with a mailing to the "charter member" manufacturers who were on hand for the GTB's initial meeting in Chicago last October. More details later.

London Report

Magnet Records recently welcomed twenty worldwide licensee representatives to London for the combined purpose of attending the Peter Shelley debut concert at the Royal Festival Hall and an international coordination meeting. Delegates came in from Epic USA, Ariola Germany, Musik Edition Discoton Germany, Ariola Spain, Ego Musicale Spain, Fonit Cetra Italy, Ariola Holland, Inelco Belgium, Ariola Scandinavia, CBS Sweden, Oy Finnlevy Finland, AS Disco Norway and AEG Dansk Denmark. Managing director Michael Levy welcomed the delegates and said that during 1976 Magnet would be putting special emphasis on the overseas markets.

Bronze Records is backing up the new Uriah Heep album "The Best Of..." with a sixteen date UK concert tour. In cooperation with Island Records the company is flying in licensees from all over Europe to attend the first concert at Hammersmith Odeon. Window displays, radio commercials and press interviews at each venue will also be undertaken.

Canadian singer Bill Amesbury in London to promote his current Power Exchange single "Every Girl In The World Tonight."

Britain's largest nylon manufacturers, Brentford Nylons, have entered the record business and will distribute in their chain of retail outlets, "Can I Wish You A Merry Christmas" by 19 year old Damon.

Steeleye Span Set For Russian Tour

HOLLYWOOD — Steeleye Span has been set for an unprecedented concert tour of Russia in June, it was announced by manager Tony Secunda.

Secunda will be a guest of the Soviet government within the next six weeks to finalize the exact dates.

In making the announcement, Secunda said the main reason he began negotiating with the Russians for the tour was the "inflation in England. I was looking for new areas for Steeleye Span to play. First, I thought of Brazil. Then I heard about eight new FM radio stations starting in Russia.

"So I contacted the Russian delegation at the Embassy in London and was able to work out the details on a cultural basis."

To coincide with the tour, Secunda is also hoping to release the group's current Chrysalis label album, "All Around My Hat," in Russia. The LP, just released in America, is number seven on the British pop charts, while the single of the same name is number five.

Sinatra International: London, Middle East Benefit Appearances SRO

HOLLYWOOD — Frank Sinatra has wrapped up a three-nation, 14-concert tour, all performances of which were sold out completely.

Sinatra appeared with Count Basie and Sarah Vaughan at the London Palladium, where tickets had been depleted since the announcement of the date last August. Popular demand necessitated the scheduling of two additional shows. The engagement marked the three stars' first appearance together anywhere.

Claydon To Share Production Credits With Lieber-Stoller 1st Co-Billing For Duo On Glyder Product

LONDON — Mike Collier is delighted with the reaction to the new band Glyder, signed to Peterman Music as writers, CMS Records (the recording division of Carlin Music) as artist and released by Warner Bros. for the world excluding North America. Collier is currently negotiating for this territory. Glyder's first album "Glyder" is now on release and their first single, "Pick Up And Go" is now being remixed by Mike Stoller and Jerry Lieber. The famous duo heard a rough mix of the single and said they would like to have a shot at the final mix. Mike Claydon will be the first producer in the world with whom Lieber and Stoller have shared credits. Glyder members write all their own material; between them, the six male members play forty musical instruments. Billed as "The Band For 1976" it looks like they have a great year ahead of them.

Webb Becomes Chelsea U.K. Managing Dir.

HOLLYWOOD — Chris Webb has become managing director of Chelsea Records' U.K. office. Webb, who will assume the position formally Jan. 1, formerly headed promotion for RCA in England. He replaces Mike Beaton, who has held the Chelsea post for the past year.

In making the announcement Wes Farrell commented that Webb, "being involved in publishing for a number of years, coupled with his success in record promotion and artist development adds another dimension to further enhance our English operation." Farrell will go to England in January to make a number of announcements at that time concerning European expansion.

Webb has worked in the promotion departments at both EMI and Polydor and for four years was the professional manager of KPM Music, working on catalogs of Neil Diamond, Lambert-Potter and Bob Crewe, among others.

European Music Market: An Independent's View

Independent music publisher Jan Olofsson paid a visit to the Cash Box Hollywood office recently. A shade older than thirty years of age, Olofsson has been involved in various facets of the industry more than half his life. After settling in Britain, from his native Sweden, Jan became part of the ground floor of the highly successful Green Light Records. Through Green Light he first distributed Young Blood product, then moved into that organization to head up their international division. After a half-dozen years of invaluable experience with Youngblood he has decided to go independent once again. In the following two-part interview, Olofsson discusses his experiences and philosophies concerning the European music market.

CASH BOX: Could you fill us in, briefly, on your Green Light and Youngblood days?

OLOFSSON: My partners and I began Green Light with a business license in one hand and a tape in the other. Our first record, Desmond Decker's "Israelite," went directly to #1 in Holland. A second release by The Family Dog went to the three spot. The next three also made the charts. I picked the hits in London while my partner did the promotion in Holland. Things just happened. Then I met Micki Most and began taking care of his international business. I set up distribution in Holland, France, Germany, Italy, Spain and Scandinavia. Within a year we were the hottest independent record company in England — especially within the European market, because we managed to get hits in Europe without having hits anywhere else.

CASH BOX: Hits out of England?

OLOFSSON: No. You see, most people's attitude in England is "we've got to have a hit in England, then it'll make it in Holland... but if you haven't got a hit from England, then forget it." Well, our approach was in a different way. We said, "here is a record which is good for Holland — forget about anywhere else — just try and make this a hit in Holland. Or France. Or Germany."

CASH BOX: In order to do this, you had to sacrifice money, did you not?

OLOFSSON: Not necessarily. While America is considered the "ultimate" market, most people in this business are not aware of Europe, the importance of France, Germany, Holland. They think in terms of America. Aside from the money, the ego is much greater: you've made it in America; you've made it in England. Yet, if you have a big hit in Germany, the money is a lot more, percentage-wise than here. Very comfortable. Oh, you have the normal taxes all over, you can't get away from that. But we're talking about money. A couple of years ago we had a very big record in Germany that sold over a million copies. And some of our European hits eventually did sell very big in America — "Joy" and "Indian Reservation," among others.

CASH BOX: What about getting the large percentage return? Are there problems in Europe?

Alligator Pacts With Trio Records

NEW YORK — Alligator Records of Chicago and Trio Records of Tokyo have finalized a three-year licensing agreement for the release of Alligator albums in Japan.

The contract was negotiated by Alligator president Bruce Iglauer and Trio representative Masa Nakas. It calls for the initial release of four Alligator albums. The first LPs to be released are records by Hound Dog Taylor, Fenton Robinson, Big Walter Horton and Koko Taylor. Trio will also release a promotional 45 by Robinson.

OLOFSSON: Just as you have ASCAP and BMI in the states, so you have MCPS in England, SESAM in France... a complete monitoring network. From a publishing point of view, you're sure to get your money.

CASH BOX: So how is it you go about your business?

OLOFSSON: Now I'm based out of London. A few record companies in Europe are backing me to find them product. Carrere, in France, has a girl singer that's sold about twenty-two million records in the last ten years. I am involved in a publishing company with Carrere. All the big writers like Roger Greenaway and Ken Martin know the strength of having a song with one of Carrere's artists. Like Sheila. She sells close to two million dollars a year. So if I get a good song, I've got a place to take it. I've got an option on a song. If Sheila records it as her next single, it's guaranteed 300,000 copies. So, you're making money, providing you can find the right material. Now I'm sitting in London and I've got people feeding me material from all over the world, since I've been associated with a number of hits.

CASH BOX: Are you ever tempted to write, yourself?

OLOFSSON: That's interesting. About a year and a half ago I was speaking with someone on an airplane who asked me the same question. I said I believed I had an ear for a commercial song but I'd never tried it. It got me thinking, though. In the past I'd placed 23 hits with Holland. I'd just had one go to number three there. Why not try? I was on an airplane, on holiday. Summer romance. That was it, a song about a girl in Italy who falls in love on holiday. I added lyrics to a classical piece and it sold 25,000 copies in Italy. Now it's been done in Spanish for Holland.

CASH BOX: Are most European hits sung in English or translated into the language of the market?

OLOFSSON: Well, right now only six of the top forty songs on the French chart are sung in English; the other thirty-four are in French. But it goes beyond language. You've got to know your market.
