A Timely Congratulations

Fifteen years ago today, on October 13, 1962, the following item appeared in Cash Box:

"Hollywood — Jerry Moss, previously a top indie promotion man on the coast, and Herb Alpert, the successful indie producer and trumpeter, have entered into a full partnership in a label and pubbery setup.

"Pair has formed A&M Records in Hollywood, the first single being 'The Lonely Bull' by the Tijuana Brass, which is reportedly hitting in the San Francisco area. Alpert, who has cut such clicks as Jan & Dean's 'Baby Talk' and Dante & The Evergreens' 'Alley-Oop,' is also the featured trumpet on the date. Also formed by Moss and Alpert are Almo Music (ASCAP) and Irving Music (BMI).

"Next release by A&M, due early next month, will debut a new group, the Kenjolaires.

"Moss' promotion firm, Jerry Moss Productions Unltd., represented some top indie labels, including Scepter, Cadence, Dimension, Old Town, Cameo and others."

Cash Box would like to congratulate Herb, Jerry and the entire A&M staff on their 15th birthday, and wish them the best for the next 15.

Denny Greene the singer.
"Denny Greene" the album.

As one of the original members of Sha-na-na, he's had a lot of time to develop his own sound. Criss-crossing the nation on tour, he's already amassed a large following of fans. Now add to that the exposure he's going to be getting weekly on the coast to coast Sha-na-na TV Show, and it's easy to see that Denny Greene's sound is going to be heard.

Denny Greene the writer.

Denny Greene the actor.

He has a featured role in one of this fall's biggest box office attractions, "Greased Lightning," and an upcoming role in the movie version of Broadway's longest running hit musical, "Grease."

The single from his debut album is "Closest Thing to Heaven." But bank on it, Denny Greene has already arrived.

RCA Creates 2 Sales Posts; Sales Mgrs. Get New Titles

NEW YORK — Two major new sales positions have been created by RCA Records, one in Chicago and the other in New York.

Larry Gallagher has been named director of national accounts, and Frank O'Donnell was appointed national sales operations manager.

Mario DeFilippo, division vice president of sales for the label, said the personnel expansion was due to "the tremendous growth in our sales operation over the last few years."

Operating out of Chicago, Gallagher will be responsible for coordinating all sales and advertising activities of national accounts. He joined RCA in 1965, working in the order service and inventory control section at RCA's Indianapolis plant. Later he was a salesman in Dallas, sales manager in Memphis, and head of country sales in Nashville. For the past two years, he has been RCA's north central regional sales manager.

O'Donnell, who will be based in New York, will be doing liaison work with the field sales force, coordinating sales quota attainment activity and developing airplay and sales relationships. He will also be involved in setting up sales and sales/promotion activities, and tying these to artists' tours.

O'Donnell who has been with the company for 31 years, has held a number of positions there. He has been editor of an RCA consumer magazine distributed through record outlets; advertising manager of the Custom Record Department; and New England field sales representative. In 1967, he was named RCA's eastern regional sales manager.

In related developments, DeFilippo announced that RCA's five regional sales managers have been appointed directors. The promotions affect Bill Reilly in the eastern region; Charlie Hall in the east central region; Fred Love in the north central area; Warner "Pug" Pagliara in the west central region; and Bill Graham in the western region.

Three new branch sales managers have also been named. They are Mike Duggan in Detroit; Bob Heatherly in Washington, D.C.; and Jerry Silhan in Miami.

by Ken Terry & Phil DiMauro

NEW YORK — "We're concerned about two things at our company," stated Al DeMarino, director of artist development for Epic Records and the CBS Associated Labels. "The sale of product, number one and obviously the long-term growth potential of our artists."

As DeMarino saw it, his department's most important function with regard to these two goals is "making certain that management and agencies are working in cohesion with us for the development of artists in so far as tours are concerned." In addition, Epic artist development serves to facilitate the efforts of the publicity, promotion, sales and marketing departments in breaking acts.

"What we'd like to do is capture the moment and the excitement of a young artist's development and then nurture it in a regional pattern from that one centering point, and hopefully develop it further into a national pattern," DeMarino said. "That is usually best accomplished with an artist or group on tour, at which point we do our best to put our marketing and promotion impetus behind the artist."

When he came to Epic 15 months ago, DeMarino recalled, there was neither an artist development nor an artist relations department at the company. "At that time, everyone was doing a small portion of those functions. Now the business has become so competitive, and it's become so difficult to break new artists, because radio has

by Joanne Ostrow

WASHINGTON, D.C. — As the books, papers and paraphernalia were boxed and carted out of Tom Brennan's office in the Russell Senate Office Bldg., to be ready for him at the Copyright Royalty Tribunal office (in the Vanguard Bldg., 1111 20th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20026), the man slated to become chairman of the five-member Tribunal discussed a couple of issues of concern to the record industry: taping and possible remedies for unauthorized duplication of records on home recording equipment, and the continuing question of performance royalties.

One term on the Tribunal "will suffice" Brennan thinks, and the taping problem is liable to dominate the start of that seven-year term.

Until recently, record companies and music publishers have been too preoccupied by other industry issues to go after a long-standing concern: home taping. The proliferation of home recording equipment has always been a problem for producers of tapes and records and now, with Sony's Betamax video-recorder, film producers and TV stations airing the films are drawn into the argument.

Home Taping

In the 1971 House Committee Report, Congress passed legislation to give copyright protection to records and tapes.

There had been widespread piracy before then; on February 15, 1972, Federal anti-piracy provisions for sound recordings went into effect and Congress gave sound recordings partial copyright recognition.

The bill, which originated in the Senate under John McClellan (D-Ark.), was amended by the House Committee in a paragraph that said the law was not intended to interfere with home taping for personal pleasure. The significance of that paragraph was not clear then and remains questionable today.

In 1976, the new report afforded protection for records and tapes but included no statement on home taping. Whether this

WCI Group Posts Record Revenues For 3rd Quarter

NEW YORK — The Warner Communications Inc. Record Group has reported the best third quarter in its history, with sales up 30% over last year. Revenues for the first nine months of 1977 rose 27% over the comparable period of 1976, the company reported.

The WCI Records Group comprises Warner Brothers, Elektra/Asylum and Atlantic Records, as well as WEA International and Warner Brothers Music.

The domestic companies contributed a 26% sales hike over 1976, the company said, with each of the three labels posting record quarterly gains. WEA International posted a 48% revenue increase over last year.

The solid third quarter results were attributed to sales of Fleetwood Mac's "Rumours" LP, already past the five million-unit mark, and debut albums by Shaun Cassidy and Foreigner, which have reached platinum status. Established WEA acts contributing to the third quarter performance included the Average White Band, George Benson, the Eagles (with two top charted LPs), Crosby, Stills and Nash, Yes, Linda Ronstadt, the Rolling Stones, and Neil Young. Newer artists achieving substantial sales during the quarter were Firefall, Andrew Gold, Leo Sayer and Bonnie Raitt.

Don Davis Expands Musical Career With Tortoise Records

by Dave Fulton

LOS ANGELES — The formation of Tortoise International Records by producer-songwriter Don Davis is the "culmination of a producing career" and an opportunity for him to expand into other areas of the industry.
Davis, born in Alabama and raised in Detroit, has diverse musical roots which he has pursued in his work. He wrote and produced the million-selling single, "Disco Lady," for Johnnie Taylor and recently produced "In City Dreams" for Robin Trower.
The artist roster at Detroit-based Tortoise houses a wide range of music and reflects Davis' interest in a variety of music.

Citro joined Capitol in 1972 as a territory representative in the Los Angeles sales office and later was promoted to special accounts manager in Los Angeles.
Krutsinger came to the label in 1971 as territory manager in the Detroit area and later became the Seattle special accounts manager.
Reynolds began working for Capitol in 1975 as special accounts manager in the San Francisco branch office.

"When I was growing up, there was no such thing as black radio, maybe an hour a day. If you loved music, you'd turn to another station. I was ready to absorb anything . . . gospel, Frankie Laine, top 40, Bing Crosby and all of Elvis Presley's work."
Davis continued, "After getting into the record business, I narrowed down to my church influences. But, at a point some years ago, I realized that this wasn't all I could or wanted to do. There were melodies and lyrics that black music couldn't get involved with that I really loved."
Johnnie Taylor's "Reflections," released in August, was the first of the Tortoise product. Scheduled for Oct. 12 is "The

SESAC Raises Songs Payments, Based On Charts

NEW YORK — Songs licensed by SESAC in the country, pop and jazz fields will be eligible for increased royalty payments under a new rate structure recently unveiled by the firm.

The new royalty rates are based largely on chart positions, which are utilized by SESAC to determine performance payments. "We rely on the performance of the three trades," explained Albert Ciancimino, vice president and counsel for SESAC, "and we equate a position in the chart with a certain performance value."

In contrast, ASCAP and BMI, the two largest music licensing organizations, employ their own staffs to monitor performances of songs on radio and television stations, as well as at nightclubs and on wired music systems.

For country singles, the low royalty payment, represented by a #100 chart position, has been increased from $500 to $1000. The high royalty payment, based on the #1 chart position, has been raised from $20,000 to $25,000.

For country albums, the low royalty payment per cut, pegged at the #50 chart position, was upped from $50 to $100. The high royalty payment per cut was boosted from $200 to $300.

For pop singles, royalties were increased from $300 to $400 for release; from $150 to $200 for a trade magazine pick; and from $250 to $300 for a cover version of the song by another artist.

Jazz albums, a new SESAC category, will generate royalty payments starting at $150 for a newly released album. A trade magazine pick will be worth $50, and a low chart-based royalty, pegged at the #50 position, will also be worth $50, while the high chart-based royalty will be $200.

Potashner, in addition to the two new operations, will have responsibility for several other RCA subsidiaries, including Banquet Foods Corp., Coronet Industries, Inc. and Oriol Foods Group.

Potashner, a veteran of over 20 years with RCA, succeeds Howard Hawkins, who retires after 31 years with the firm.

New Federal Unit For Arts-Related Industries Planned

WASHINGTON, D.C. — One more governmental agency with a mandate for pulling together certain arts projects has been established within the Department of Commerce. It is to be headed by Louise W. Wiener, who was named special assistant to the secretary for cultural resources.

The newly created Office of Cultural Resources will guide Commerce Department activities affecting profit and non-profit arts-related industries. According to Secretary of Commerce Juanita Kreps, "The accelerating growth of the leisure industry, and of culturally-related activity within that industry, represent a vital economic potential that we should recognize . . ."

Louise Wiener was deputy director of the Washington Issues Office for the Carter/Mondale campaign and staff coordinator for the arts and humanities task force. She was later policy analyst for arts and humanities on the transition staff.

Manufacturers Benefit From Try 'Em, Buy 'Em Program

by Mark Mehler

NEW YORK — Sam Goody's 27 stores will reinstitute their "Buy 'Em And Try 'Em" campaign after Christmas to break new artists at retail.

The promotion, initiated by Goody officials last summer (Cash Box, June 4), offers between eight and ten LPs per month at the usual Goody sale price, with the option of returning the records if the buyer finds them musically unsatisfying. Executives from CBS and A&M, among other labels, were extremely pleased with the results of the two-month experiment which substantially boosted sales on such LPs as Pablo Cruise's "A Place In The Sun" and Southside Johnny's "This Time It's For Real."

"We dropped the promotion in August and September, because the companies didn't have that much new product that they wanted to promote," said Sam Goody president George Levy. "And all the companies have their own special Christmas promotions. I wouldn't have room in the stores for any others during the holiday."

Label executives noted that Goody has been given virtually unlimited return authorization on all the buy 'em and try 'em albums. With all the problems of exposing new artists at the radio level, they said their companies are more than willing to accept possible heavy returns in return for the benefit of high visibility at retail.

Returns in June and July ran an estimated 20-30%, but many of those were defective albums, Levy said.

Calm In Atlanta
In Atlanta, where Turtle's and Oz have both opened new outlets within the past two weeks, a New York-style price war seemed to be brewing (Cash Box, September 10).
Last week, Turtle's held a grand opening all-label sale on $6.98 list LPs for $3.77, while Oz sold all $6.98 LPs for $3.49, and all

$7.98 list albums for a very low $3.99.

As of October 4, however, those sales have ended, and both stores have returned to business as usual, according to Oz spokesman Steve Libman. Libman noted that neither Oz nor Turtle's really wanted to battle each other with low prices, and both regretted that they had found it necessary to kick off their new stores in that manner.

"We know Al very well (Al Levinson, manager of Turtle's)," said Libman. "There's no big problem between us."

Capitol, Columbia Face Recognition Problem In Growing, Competitive Blank Tape Market

by Charles Paikert

NEW YORK — The consumer blank tape market, growing at an estimated annual growth rate of between 15% and 20%, has been dominated in recent years by such well-known brands as TDK, Memorex, Maxell and BASF. Columbia Records and Capitol Records also have divisions which manufacture blank tape lines, however, they have yet to capture a significant share of that market.

Ironically, the main problem these record industry giants have in the blank tape area is lack of name recognition. Jeff Levy, accessories buyer for the 27-unit Sam Goody retail chain, explained it succinctly: "The consumer knows the Capitol and Columbia name in records. They don't know the names in tapes, and that is a big difference."

That recognition problem proved to be so troublesome that, within the past year, both Capitol and Columbia have abandoned their attempt to solve it by way of massive national advertising campaigns in national magazines.

"A year ago," explained Oscar Arslanian, national sales manager for Capitol Magnetic, the company's blank tape division, "we were pumping thousands of dollars into consumer-oriented advertising. It just ain't the way to go."

Howard Aronson, director of national consumer sales for Columbia Magnetics, reached a similar conclusion. "We made a very strong effort to develop a consumer interest in the product via national advertising. It was not successful."

Instead, both companies have shifted their emphasis in the blank tape market to a closer co-operation with the retailer, resulting in more in-store displays, custom promotions, and co-op advertising dollars.

"I'm getting more direct benefit for my money," Arslanian said, "by going with and supporting the retailers' program."

"We turned our national advertising costs back to the retailers," Aronson stated. "Now we don't run consumer ads, with very minor exceptions."

Both companies have recognized the traditional reputation of blank tapes as impulse items, and have been offering attractive in-store promotions to retailers.

'No Frills Program'

Columbia, Aronson said, has developed a "no-frills marketing program. We have eliminated factory-designed promotions to reduce the cost per unit, but we do make up custom promotions for accounts." These promotions, Aronson said, included providing retailers with custom banding of tapes, as well as counter and floor displays.

Capitol has shifted from quarterly retail promotions on blank tape to a promotional approach that is updated only once a year. "We take the four best-selling tapes," Arslanian said, "put them in promotion packages, and offer those promotions to the retail trade throughout the year. It's much more simplified than before, and helps to keep our focus totally in-store."

Similarities

While Capitol and Columbia have evidenced many similarities in their recent approach to the blank tape market, several distinctions remain. For example, Columbia has discontinued its Soundcraft budget tape, while Capitol has continued to market its "Capitol 1" budget line. In addition, Capitol Magnetic has much closer ties with Capitol Records than Columbia Magnetics has with Columbia Records.

"We've got the entire Capitol record sales force out there selling tape," Arslanian said. "We are a division of Columbia Records," Aronson commented, "but the Columbia record people do not sell our product in the field."

Close Link With Records

Arslanian claimed that the close association of his division with Capitol Records, has aided blank tape sales. "There are a number of major record accounts that we are in because of our association with the record company."

However, not all retailers believe that either Capitol's or Columbia's identification with records has necessarily been an advantage.

"I don't see any advantage whatsoever," exclaimed H. W. Daily, secretary-treasurer of Daily Distributors, a Texas distributor and owner of the two-store Cactus chain in Houston. "It's a real battle to establish themselves against the TDKs or Memorex. They just haven't put out the concentrated effort that some of their competition has done."

Advantage

"The only advantage," commented Jeff Levy of Sam Goody's, "is that they have people they already know in the industry." George Paoletti, accessory and special product buyer for Peaches, disagreed. "I don't think it gives them an advantage," he said. "They have a reputation as having a lot of great artists, but they're not well-known by the consumers as being tape people."

NARM, Electronics Industry Reps To Discuss Interests

SAN FRANCISCO — Representatives of the recording industry will meet with a committee of the Electronic Industry Association on October 11 at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco. The record industry group will include both merchandiser and manufacturer members of the National Association of Recording Merchandisers (NARM).

Record industry participants will include Bob Fead of A&M Records; Don Dempsey of Columbia Records; David Lieberman of Lieberman Enterprises; Scott Young of the Pickwick Retailing Division; and George Souvall of Alta Distributing Co., the president of NARM.

Consumer electronics participants will include Jack Wayman, president of the Consumer Electronics Division of EIA; William Boss, vice president of RCA Corp.; and Ry Steiner, president of Sony Corp.

The meeting, initiated by NARM president Joe Cohen, will focus on cross-merchandising of records and audio equipment as a means of increasing business for both industries.

Kansas Launches Tour

LOS ANGELES — Kirshner/Epic recording group Kansas will launch their World Tour 1977-78 on October 21 with stops planned in some 50 U.S. cities. European and Asiatic tour plans for 1978 are currently in the works.

RCA-Licensed Mail Order Package Is Set To Feature Elvis' Greatest Hits

by Charles Paikert

NEW YORK — Elvis Presley-related material continues to be released at an unprecedented rate, two months after the singer's death in August.

The latest additions to the Presley releases are "The Elvis Presley Story," a five-album compilation package put out by Candlelite Music, Inc., and "The Elvis Tapes," an interview with Presley conducted by Canadian radio personality Red Robinson in 1955. The album is being released on the Great Northwest Music Company label.

Candlelite, a firm that specializes in mail order marketing compilation albums of 1950s rock artists, had originally planned the Presley albums three years ago, according to Wesley Wood, president of Candlelite. A three-year licensing agreement with RCA Records was concluded in June, 1977, Wood said.

The Candlelite albums comprising a greatest hits package that spans Presley's career, sell for $24.95. Ads for the package have been placed in several magazines, including TV Guide, The National Enquirer and Redbook. "We appeal to middle-aged Americans, people in their 30s and 40s who don't rush out to buy new releases," Wood said. "In fact, record stores are like Mars to them."

"The Elvis Tapes" carries a $6.98 list price, and was transferred to album form shortly after Presley's death. "Granted, people are making money off of Elvis' name," a Great Northwest Music Company spokesman commented, "but there is such a demand for the product, that in a way, it's almost a service."

Tape rights for the 22-year-old interview have been obtained by GRT, Inc.

New Faces To Watch

Libby Titus

"I have always been more of a singer than a writer," explains Libby Titus, who added that, since she has gone out on the road, writing has become more and more a "matter of necessity." As Libby relates it, it's usually after a show, when she's spending some quiet time alone, that she'll tend to think. "What can I put in this spot? Then I think: I don't want to go to a publisher's office and go through 7,000 tapes. Maybe if I'm lucky I can write something."

Libby's first album for Columbia Records reveals that she's done her share of songwriting, and has avoided tedious tape-sifting wherever possible by going straight to the masters. Two songs are by Carly Simon, one of her favorite writers, with whom she collaborated on "Can This Be My Love Affair." Other selections include Lieber & Stoller's "Kansas City" and Cole Porter's "Miss Otis Regrets."

As a writer and as a singer, Libby Titus' history always seems to include talented and devoted friends. Born and raised in Woodstock, New York, she has fond memories of trips to New York City, where she frequently had enjoyable visits with her musically inclined aunt, a composer who always encouraged her to sing. As she grew into her early teens, she began associating with the Woodstock music crowd. At this time she met Eric Kaz, who would figure in her life much later on as the co-writer of her "Love Has No Pride," which was recorded by Linda Ronstadt.

Other influential friends included Maria Muldaur, Kate McGarrigle and Richard Green, formerly of Seatrain, who is now the keyboardist and musical director of Libby's touring band. It was after an unsuccessful album that she became involved with members of the Band. "Robbie (Robertson) and I would always talk about music," she recalls. "Little did I know then that he would be producing my record someday."

Columbia first approached Libby two years ago. "I had a couple of false starts," she explains, referring to the many recording sessions on the new album that just didn't work out, "at which point my friends started to help me." Paul Simon, Carly Simon and of course Robbie Robertson are among the friends who produced certain tracks, along with Phil Ramone.

"They helped me very gracefully," Libby explains with gratitude. "In other words, they gave of their time and their brains, and they did it more than professionally."

Artists On The Air

Sumner & Stamp, Presley's backup vocalist and group; Alan: A Tribute To Elvis and film footage from a Dick Clark interview with Presley in Germany.

Marilyn McCoo & Billy Davis, Jr. will host Burt Sugarman's Midnight Special on Oct. 14. Others featured on the show will be Rod Stewart, Eric Carmen, Randy Newman, Johnny Rivers and comedian Kip Addotta.

Chick Corea will appear on the Oct. 13 edition of the Merv Griffin Show.

Shaun Cassidy is the guest for a Rona Barrett interview on "Good Morning America" on Oct. 10.

The Hudson Brothers have a new syndicated television show which is set to air later this year.

David Castle

The coming of the Beatles served as a unique experience for millions of young people in a variety of personal ways. For singer-songwriter David Castle, the Beatles had an immeasurable effect that proved fateful in his career.

For a teenager with a strong classical influence, the Beatles showed Castle that pop music and classical music could be synthesized into one art form. "The Beatles were the first group that impressed me in terms of popular music. They were really the ones that got me interested in pop music because before that, there wasn't much music on the radio that I liked," Castle recalls.

Born in Texas and the son of a minister, Castle was playing the piano by ear at age three. His first concert recital was at five and a half, and only six years later he was accomplished on the cello and clarinet as well as composing his own classical pieces. He also became involved with the Texas Boys Choir (the U.S. equivalent of the Vienna Boys Choir) to sustain his classical interests.

At 18, Castle left home and came to Los Angeles to pursue his musical career. He met his mentor-manager Janet Gross at this point who helped to score him a staff writer position at United Artists. He wrote songs that were recorded by Helen Reddy, Bobby Vinton, The Lettermen among others, but deep-down still longed for an opportunity to interpret his own material on vinyl.

The opportunity came when producer Joe Porter was searching out material for Dionne Warwick, and was impressed with a Castle tune, "You Are The Answer To A Prayer Of Mine." Gross suggested to Porter that he consider Castle as a performing artist as well as songwriter. "His belief in my talent was strong," said Castle, and Porter took the demos to Russ Regan and his newly-founded Parachute Records.

A deal was finalized, and the result is "Castle In The Sky," the first Parachute album to be released. The songs included are sensitive and emotional contrasted with some witty, lighthearted tunes.

"Everything is happening so fast. I'm just totally excited and grateful for it all."

At 24, Castle feels fortunate that his career has come together much quicker than other artists. "This album is a realization that some people think I warrant recording, and that's an incredible vote of confidence."

Manager's Series:

Peter Long Discusses Black, White Polarization Problems

by Jeffrey Weber

LOS ANGELES — Before Mellow Management director Peter Long entered the entertainment industry some 24 years ago, he sold refrigerators to pay for his wine. "I began my career as a classic alcoholic and worked at it diligently for 11 years. I was the romantic kind — I slept on the street for three years and had any number of jobs, including a sand-hog, working underground."

In addition to his duties in running Mellow Management, a firm composed of Quincy Jones, Long, and Ed Eckstein, Long's primary responsibility has been managing the Brothers Johnson.

Long explained that if he had not chanced to hook up with a group of show business people erecting a tent for a performance, his "love affair" with the industry (beginning at the age of 31) would never have blossomed. As his knowledge of the field grew, Long became a stage manager, a producer of jazz concerts, and a press agent. His friendships with some of his clients grew to the extent that while not officially a manager, he ended up doing the managerial chores for many of the great jazz artists of the early '60s.

Long's major concern with management is the continuing social prejudices that still invade the music industry despite the barrier breaker that music is reputed to be. "The polarization of the audiences concerns me greatly because you, as a manager, can only bring a black act to a certain point. Then it becomes another business that you are not allowed to enter."

Audience Polarization

"The biggest problem is that white people just do not show up at black concerts and vice versa. That kind of polarization is an asskicker because you cannot take your group all the way. The challenge, aside from the social conditions, is the fear that whites may have even in attending a so-called 'black' concert. It is a racial fear." Long believes that if a "white" concert is scheduled there may not be the same kinds of disturbances or disturbances motivated by the same kinds of reasons, but that there will nevertheless be some kind of disturbances, either outside or inside the concert hall.

"During the time when jazz concerts were the thing to do, jazz concerts were fully integrated. I am suspicious that the people who listen to jazz are more sophisticated and are better prepared to handle social situations. Maybe body music, known as R&B, comes out of a different kind of gut motivation for people to appreciate."

Long wondered if "it is possible to design a way to have white kids feel comfortable with black kids and vice versa. Are we just a victim of all the other racial conditions of this nation? I deplore the terms 'white' music and 'black' music. They are merchandising terms that have no place in music." An additional question that plagues Long is whether there are more white kids enjoying black music or whether there are more black kids enjoying white music. "No one wants to talk about this because when the growth of the music industry gets to the point of recognizing the contribution of black music in this country, some of the prejudice will disappear. There are two separate businesses in this country. There is black show business and there is white show business. Both are run by the white

MCA Inc., Philips Ready Videodisc To Ship In Fall

NEW YORK — MCA Inc. and Philips have announced the joint development of an optical videodisc, which plays for at least one hour and utilizes both sides of the disc. Company officials said the new disc has an above-average thickness of about two millimeters, creating a need for modifications which are currently underway at Philips and at Magnavox, a subsidiary of North American Philips.

Field tests and user tests on the new system will be extended for several months to insure performance and reliability, Philips and MCA reported. Magnavox will begin regionally marketing the disc players, and MCA Disco Vision will begin marketing the discs themselves, in the fall of 1978.

EAST COASTINGS — BLUE FRIDAY — As ambitious a project as it might have seemed, the "Foghat Blues Tribute" which took place last week at the New York Palladium was a relatively smooth-running event which reached several peaks of excitement. The concert was a benefit, designed to raise money for the New York Public Library's collection of rare blues recordings. At the same time, as guitarist/vocalist Dave Peverett revealed in an interview prior to the show, the band hoped to expose their fans to some of the music that influenced Foghat, as well as Savoy Brown, the classic British blues band of which Peverett and drummer Roger Earl were members.

The night was kicked off in fine style by Eddie "Bluesman" Kirkland, a figure on the current Chicago scene, who exploded into a rousing rhythm guitar passage to end his set, inviting Peverett and slide guitarist Rod Price to cook along. Kneeling, rolling on the floor, and even going into a somersault while still playing his axe, Kirkland revealed a knack for showmanship that more than pleased the audience, which had come largely for Foghat. The crowd was respectful toward Honeyboy Edwards' slightly mellower approach toward electric slide, which was reminiscent of the late Elmore James' work. On acoustic, Edwards recalled the style of the late Delta bluesman whom he once accompanied on tour, Robert Johnson. The pace quickened as Otis Blackwell, one of the true fathers of rock 'n roll, performed "Don't Be Cruel" and "Whole Lotta Shakin' Goin' On," revealing that he not only wrote many of the songs that Elvis Presley made famous, but influenced Elvis' singing style as well. John Lee Hooker was impressively mysterious in his entrance, growling through numbers like "Serves Me Right To Suffer," and "Crawlin' Kingsnake," which he played with Paul Butterfield on harmonica. Johnny Winter played a short set next, after which he was joined by Muddy Waters, who was an immediate crowd pleaser with his opening number, "Hoochie Koochie Man." The night was capped by a grand jam session featuring just about everybody, centering around Foghat's favorite blues-rock number, "I Just Wanna Make Love To You," which we all should know was written by Willie Dixon.

WAVE FORMATIONS — In the issue dated September 24, 1977, Great Britain's Melody Maker ran a cartoon depicting long-haired figures of Kelth Emerson and Rick Wakeman with arms outstretched, as if to halt the progress of a breaking tsunami. Riding the crest of the tidal wave are caricatures of a spike-haired Johnny Rotten and freckled Rat Scabies, among other thin-tied, leather-jacketed representatives of the new wave movement. Results of Melody Maker's annual Readers' Poll reflected less of a new wave influence than might have been indicated by the previous year's record sales. Genesis was chosen best band, while members of Yes took top honors in many of the instrumentalist categories of the poll's international section. The "brightest hope" category was the only one that was dominated by new wave acts, with the Stranglers topping the list in the British section, and Television taking it in the international section (open to non-British acts). The best new wave showing was made by the Sex Pistols' "God Save The Queen," which came in second in the best single category, right below ELP's "Fanfare For The Common Man."

RINGERS AND UNSUNG HEROES DEPT. — It's just like the good old days all over again. Now that the Sex Pistols' singles have been rocketing to the top of the British charts with regularity, rumors have begun to circulate regarding manager Malcolm McLaren's role in studio production. The scuttlebutt is that McLaren, in order to assure himself that the records will sound just right, has been secretly bringing studio musicians in for some of the band's crucial "A" sides, such as "Anarchy In The U.K." The name most often mentioned is that of guitarist Chris Spedding.

MAY THE FORCE BE WITH HIM — Meco Monardo, the man behind the disco version of John Williams' theme of "Star Wars," is presently aiming to "beat the curse." Since 1965, no artist scoring a big single hit with an instrumental record has been able to follow up with anything near equal magnitude the second time around. Meco's magic weapon, his second album for Millennium, will be titled "Meco's Time Machine," a science fiction journey that will take him through eight different historical periods through music. All music, save for "Crazy Rhythm" and "Topsy," will be original compositions, covering music from prehistoric times up to the 20th Century. Meco warns that he couldn't afford a new time machine, and it was a malfunction in his used model that caused an inadvertent stopover under the Antarctic icecap. For the future, Meco has been talking about scoring a film himself, a project that could be facilitated by Millennium's association with Casablanca Record and FilmWorks.

PLAYING AROUND — The last concert of Fleetwood Mac's recent American tour, at the Spectrum in Philadelphia, was capped with a unique appearance by former band member Bob Welch, who is now being managed by none other than Mick Fleetwood.

Welch joined the group in a 10-minute version of "Hypnotized" . . . Eddie & The Hot Rods have officially changed their name to the Rods, and they will definitely be in the United States by November 10, when they begin a three day engagement at Max's Kansas City. To follow up their last LP, "Teenage Suicide," which featured a cover picture of a youngster putting a pistol to his head, the new album, "Life On The Line," will have a photo on its cover of one of the band members being hung . . . The new lineup for the Coryell/Mouzon group is a basic trio, featuring Larry Coryell on guitar, Alphonze Mouzon on drums, and a resurfaced Miroslav Vitous playing bass. The trio will perform acoustical as well as electric material . . . Two Broadway shows, "The Robber Bridegroom" and "Chapeau," will be touring the nation in road companies through the spring of 1978.

Capitol's Promotion Department Practices Weekly Priority Policy

LOS ANGELES — The establishment of priority records is a top priority item for the promotion staff at Capitol Records. The label has adopted a priority policy designed to maximize the effect that national airplay can have on career and sales momentum.

Each week promotion executives at the label huddle with directors of the sales and A&R departments to determine what releases should be given priority when Capitol's staff of 23 promotion men make their rounds in their respective regions across the country.

"I think one thing that Capitol has going for them is organization," says Bruce Wendell, Capitol's vice-president of national promotion. "The promotion staff is not running off in different directions on priorities other than what has been directed."

Assisting Wendell in the coordination of record priorities at Capitol are Steve Meyer, national promotion manager, and Ray Tusken, AOR promotion director. The department is headquartered in the Capitol Tower building in Hollywood.

"If a promotion man is walking into a station in a major market now and he's carrying four records, his chances of getting all those records on are nil and the chance of his getting two on is slim," says Meyer. "The chance for one is good in a major market so we key in on one record. We have a priority list so that we all work the same thing together. We work as a team on the same record to maximize its impact and generate chart action."

Priorities are determined each week by sales and chart action in the case of records that are already on the market, Wendell says. "If things are happening, that's the priority," he explains.

As an example, Meyer points to the Little River Band's album.

"Little River Band is a priority for us now because it's in the top 100 charts in all the trades and the album is approaching gold. Now our objective is to take the album over the gold mark and close the single out so the next single becomes easier."

But with program directors becoming increasingly attuned to research methods and with playlists getting tighter, Wendell says, it often requires as much effort on the part of the promotion department to get airplay for an established group or artist.

Pressure On Follow-Up

"An established artist needs just as much attention and priority as a new artist," Wendell says. "Actually I think a new artist is easier to promote if the hit product is there. I think the pressure on a follow-up is often greater than on a new act because you are immediately expected to develop a good foundation and show a lot of activity on them. If you don't, people wonder why there isn't more happening on the record and they get turned off. If they see a new act building gradually, then they're not quite as critical, while with a major artist you've got to come right out of the box and get it on the board first."

Another measure of an artist's sales potential which Capitol utilizes to determine priorities is press response.

"There are times when we find that an artist has tremendous press and his retail doesn't equal his press," says Meyer. "In this case when we feel the artist deserves the shot, we will choose to concentrate on him in certain markets where there has been airplay generated because of the press."

New artists, therefore, are often given priority in those regions of the country where the act has received favorable press reviews. "You usually get your initial starts on a new artist in certain regions and then build support from there," says Wendell.

and Claudia Jones. Ms. Jones was hospitalized in serious condition as a result of the auto accident that killed Bolan, and her recovery has been slow thus far. . . . Bob Marley is now resting comfortably in Miami, Florida, following the foot operation and skin graft that preempted his American tour. He probably will not be performing for some time, and will be unable to meet the October "Saturday Night Live" engagement that was scheduled in late summer. On Don Kirshner's Rock Concert for October 29, a special tribute to Marley will feature a few numbers videotaped at his recent London concert. . . . Recording is now complete on the first album by a new band that features former Rascals Gene Cornish and Dino Danelli, ex-Strawberry Wally Bryson, and relative unknowns Lex Marchesi and Frank Vinci. The album was produced by Eddie Kramer and Ron and Howard Albert, and the band, which previously was known as Dancer, has now officially changed its name to Fotomaker.

SHORT & SWEET — Robin Lumley, keyboardist of Brand X, has been chosen to produce the first solo album by former Yes drummer Bill Bruford. . . . Melba Moore returns to Broadway in a musical, "Timbuktu," which premieres December 14 at the Mark Hellinger Theater. . . .

POINTS WEST — AS THE EAGLE FLIES — The long-shouted rumor has now been officially confirmed — Timothy B. Schmit has joined the Eagles replacing Randy Meisner who left the group last month. . . . Meanwhile rumors continue to fly concerning that Byrds reunion, in spite of heated denials from several corners. But it does appear to be true that Roger McQuinn and Gene Clark will soon embark on an acoustic tour. . . . If Jimmy Buffett doesn't get the bends from his dizzying "changes in latitudes" he appears to have a bright future. Following his recent marriage, Buffett was feted at a Washington D.C. party by members of the WH staff and presented his platinum album award by CBS newsman Ed Bradley. After the party was over, Buffett's Coral Reefers challenged all the President's Men to a softball game. (No score as we go to press). . . . Bev Bevin of ELO is working on his forthcoming book with rock critic John Mendolson. Expected out in time for the fall tour, the book is being touted as a "wry look at rock". . . . L.A. will get the first chance to see what all the fuss is about when The Jam holds their first-in-a-series of press conferences as we go to press (7th). Other scribes will get their chance in San Francisco (10th), Boston (13th), and New York (17th). . . . Strange happenings at Jacksonville N.C.'s WXQR. Seems they debut new albums at midnight and had just finished side one of Piper's latest when lightning struck the station, killing the signal. But four hours later fans were still calling to hear the second side. To pacify the loyal they re-did the entire album, a first for the station, which makes you wonder just what kind of force is behind those sly rockers. . . . Another less subtle force was at work in Australia recently when dj Gary Watling was forced at gunpoint by a masked fanatic to play Alice Cooper records for a full 90 minutes, after which, the gunman left without a word. No more mister nice guy?

ON THE SILVER SCREEN — Gary Busey, who has never wanted to be just an actor or rock musician, will finally get a chance to do both at the same time when he begins shooting Nov. 14 as the star of "The Buddy Holly Story." To his credit he will be playing and performing all of the film's music which should surprise no one who knows him as rocker Teddy Jack Eddy who gained his best exposure as part of the Leon Russell show. . . . Chuck Mangione will make his film score debut as the composer for the film "The Children of Sanchez," which has just finished shooting principal photography on location in Mexico. . . . Grammy award winners Mike Post and Pete Carpenter have been set to write the music for the Joan Rivers comedy, "Rabbit Test," a clever little tale profiling the life and times of the world's first pregnant man, set to open in February. . . . RSO's Paul Nicholas has been tabbed to play the starring role of Dougie Shears in "Sgt Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band," which began shooting Oct. 11. . . . David Shire's name has been added to the list of musical contributors to "Saturday Night Fever," due around Christmas, which already contains tunes by principal contributors The Bee Gees as well as material by Yvonne Elliman, Tavarez, Kool & The Gang, Walter Murphy, The Trammps, M.F.S.B., Ralph McDonald and K.C. & The Sunshine Band. The RSO soundtrack is due out Nov. 1. . . . Marlena Shaw does the anthem tune to the forthcoming "Looking For Mr. Goodbar." . . . "Buried Alive," the Janis Joplin biography, has been acquired by producers David Permut and Mark Travis who plan to begin shooting their movie version of the singer's life early next year. . . . Producer Edward S. Shaw has acquired the rights to the life story of Josephine Baker, the black singer/dancer who raised eyebrows as the nude headliner at the Casino de Paris and Folies Bergere and sold 20 million records in her six-decade career. Shaw plans to start shooting late next year with an estimated $10 million budget and an extensive talent search for the starring role.

VINYL VIGNETTES — Ronnie Montrose and Edgar Winter at work in town on the former's upcoming Warner Bros. album titled "Open Fire," (as in guns, not wienie roasts) and the word is that it's mostly an instrumental affair. It's due early next year. . . . The tentative title for Joni Mitchell's next album, due next month, is "Don Juan's Reckless Daughter". . . . Tim Weisberg is three weeks ahead of schedule on his next album but is postponing his fall tour to jet to Denver to work on a collaboration with Dan Fogelberg. . . . Rod Stewart's ironically titled next LP, "Footloose And Fancy Free," is due at the end of the month. . . . The long-awaited Boz Scaggs album will ship Nov. 1. . . . As Warner Bros. is out to make abundantly clear, the title tune to the movie "You Light Up My Life," Debby Boone's #1 single, is not sung by her in the movie or on the soundtrack just released on Arista. But, it is part of her album due out this week. . . . Capricorn will release in November a compilation of Martin Mull's (Barth Gimble to you TV addicts) best-loved tunes. Culled from four previous albums, the new package is titled "No Hits, Four Errors". . . . Emmylou Harris takes a look at honky-tonk life in her next LP titled "Quarter Moon In A Ten Cent Town". . . . Bonnie Bramlett has picked some sure-fire winners for her next album due in January. Two we've heard about are Blind Faith's "Can't Find My Way Home," and the Beatles' classic "I've Just Seen A Face". . . . CBS has delayed both Boston and Springsteen till December and are holding off till January for Art Garfunkel's next LP. . . . The final mix has just been completed on Bruce Roberts' debut LP due Oct. 19 on E/A. Bruce will also join Bette Midler on a tune they co-wrote when Bette's album comes out in December. . . . Roberta Flack's next one will also be out just in time for the Christmas tree. . . . Stephen T's debut on Dream

THE FLOATERS (ABC 12314)

You Don't Have To Say You Love Me (3:15) (Miller — ASCAP) (Wickham, Napier-Bell)

Drifting in after scoring an impressive top-five success with their last single, The Floaters offer their treatment of this 1966 Dusty Springfield oldie. The emphasis is on female and falsetto vocals. Once again, a promising ballad for R&B and pop stations.

MEAT LOAF (Epic/Cleveland International 50467)

You Took The Words Right Out Of My Mouth (Hot Summer Night) (3:40) (Edward B. Marks/Neverland/Peg — BMI) (Steinman)

Meat Loaf has surfaced as a recording artist in grand style with the help of producer Todd Rundgren and a cast of musicians that includes members of Bruce Springsteen's E Street Band and Edgar Winter. A classic rocker from its Spector-esque drum sound to the capella coda with handclaps, this is a perfect rock synthesis for album or single-oriented stations.

ATLANTA RHYTHM SECTION (Polydor 14432)

Georgia Rhythm (4:53) (Low-Sal — BMI) (Buie, Cobb, Nix)

A poignant "on the road" song that describes the mixed feelings of homesickness and the joyful excitement of playing one's music in one town after another. Pretty guitar work all around, and a hook that really kicks out with each chorus. Classy southern rock from "A Rock And Roll Alternative."

DAVID BOWIE (RCA 11121)

Heroes (3:29) (Bewley/Fleur/E.G. — BMI) (Bowie, Eno)

This title cut from Bowie's forthcoming album reveals that he has taken a direction that is more commercial than the general tack of "Low." At the same time, the influence of co-writer Brian Eno is evident in the swirling synthesizers that envelop each soulfully rendered verse. With its stirring close, this record will be added instantly at album-oriented stations.

AL GREEN (Hi/Cream 77505)

Belle (3:58) (Jec/Al Green — BMI) (Green, Jordan, Fairfax)

Green's conflict is between human and religious love, and he delivers the lyric with all the real emotion created by tension between the two forces. This is Green's first record under a new distribution agreement, and his first self-production as well. A spiritual ballad with the sound for an initial break at R&B stations.

PHOEBE SNOW (Columbia 10626)

Never Letting Go (3:08) (Stephen Bishop — BMI) (Bishop)

The unmistakable voice of Phoebe Snow is a more than appropriate vehicle for the jazzy changes of this title cut from her recently released album. The record builds up to an exciting peak as she takes off on vocal improvisations, but it never loses the flavor that will help it cross pop/easy listening boundaries.

THE STANKY BROWN GROUP (Sire 10007)

Confident Man (3:14) (Frankly Stanky/Bleu Disque/Apple Cider/Music Of The Times — ASCAP) (Brown)

Accessible rock with a progressive edge from this east coast-based ensemble. Signalled by an introductory riff from the organ, this record offers a richness of musicianship while supplying the pop hooks necessary to woo top 40 stations.

GOLDEN EARRING (MCA 40802)

Radar Love (Live) (4:42) (Fever — ASCAP) (Kooymans, Hay)

The song that is most often identified with this rock band from Holland here in a tightly executed live version. With the dramatic entrance of each chorus, as well as two lead guitars that work together perfectly. This single should draw attention to the new live album.

MARY McCASLIN (Philo 101)

Things We Said Today (3:00) (Maclen — ASCAP) (Lennon, McCartney)

An extremely pleasing, folksy version of the familiar Beatles' song. The haunting quality of the original is preserved through careful harmonies, while the guitars and accent of the vocal add fresh touches. This label is not known for its singles, but they just might have one here.

NORTON BUFFALO (Capitol 4473)

Eighteen Wheels (3:02) (Moon Valley) (Buffalo)

A frenzied train song from Buffalo, who is featured as vocalist and harp player with the Steve Miller Band. This single has shades of the Dan Hicks sound, and it allows

FLEETWOOD MAC (Warner Bros. 8483)

You Make Lovin' Fun (3:31) (Gentoo — BMI) (McVie)

Christine McVie is the writer/vocalist of this latest offspring of "Rumours." Her magical words are complemented by angelic backing vocals, strident guitar melodies, and the pulsating backbeat reinforced by her own electric keyboard. Bound for the upper reaches of the singles chart.

BOZ SCAGGS (Columbia 10606)

Hard Times (3:50) (Boz Scaggs — ASCAP) (Scaggs)

Scaggs' new single combines the contemporary R&B influences of his recent successes with the more blues-oriented elements of his earlier efforts. This sparsely orchestrated record concentrates on the haunting quality of his vocal. Loaded with crossover potential, and an enticing taste of the forthcoming album, "Still Falling For You."

THE STEVE MILLER BAND (Capitol 4496)

Swingtown (3:27) (Sailor — ASCAP) (Miller, McCarty)

Paul Simon is back with the quiet melodies he uses so well, this record centers around an infectious drum/bass riff. The other hook seems to be a non-verbal, vocalized melodic phrase that is repeated by synthesizers toward the close. Sounds like the next high-charting single from "Book Of Dreams."

PAUL SIMON (Columbia 10630)

Slip Slidin' Away (4:43) (Paul Simon — BMI) (Simon)

Paul Simon is back with the quiet melodies he uses so well, backed by gently strummed guitar and gospel chorus. The emotionally complex lyric works around the title, which serves as the song's memorable chorus line. Already a giant FM airplay item, this single is now preparing the top 40 audience for the album, "Blatant Greatest Hits."

DENNY GREENE (Midsong Int'l/RCA 11135)

Closest Thing To Heaven (3:32) (ATV — BMI) (Leng, May)

Greene's name might not be well known at this point, but he has been seen by millions as Sha Na Na's only black member. This record, however, should not be construed as any 1950s revival. It's a romantic ballad, and Greene handles it in a crystal-clear tenor. From his forthcoming solo album.

RICK NELSON (Epic 50458)

You Can't Dance (2:57) (April — ASCAP) (Ryan, Yeomans)

The first single from Nelson's album "Intakes" poses the familiar problem of what music is danceable and what isn't. The solution all seems to rest with the dancer, but there's no doubt that this up-beat record could get happy feet tapping in any situations. Aimed right for top 40.

DETROIT EMERALDS (Westbound/Atlantic 55404)

Set It Out (2:55) (Bridgeport — BMI) (Tilmon, Baine, Crane)

The second single from this group's recently released album concentrates on a hotter rhythm track and a stabbing horn section, as the vocalists steadily intensify their repeated chant of "Set it out." Several memorable hooks set this one up for a strong initial shot at R&B station adds.

CHIC (Atlantic 3435)

Dance, Dance, Dance (Yowsah, Yowsah, Yowsah) (3:42) (Cotillion/Kreimers — BMI) (Lehman, Edwards, Rogers)

A record that has already managed to create some excitement at the disco level. The lyric would be standard lingo, save for the amusing insertion of "Yowsah, yowsah, yowsah," as heard on the commercial for therapeutic shoe innersoles.

SHIRLEY CAESAR (Roadshow/UA 1085)

Slow Down (3:24) (Desert Rain/Sky Tower — ASCAP Desert Moon/Willow Girl — BMI) (Stokes, Johnson)

One of the few gospel artists to successfully cross into the R&B market, Ms. Caesar has returned with her most commercially viable record yet. The song employs Biblical themes in a universal treatment, and her singing voice is irresistible as she reaches high energy levels.

MARK LINDSAY (Warner/Curb 8479)

Little Ladies Of The Night (2:59) (Fire In The Middle — BMI, Perryvale — ASCAP) (Lindsay, Botkin)

The ponytailed wonder has gone funky with this single, co-written by Perry Botkin. It's based on a recurring bass riff, with lots of freaky sound effects and disco drumming to round out the sound. All done with a great sense of humor, and great fun for top 40 playlists.

LONNIE LISTON SMITH (RCA 11098)

Sorceress (3:55) (Cosmic Echoes — BMI) (Smith)

Smith has managed to carry the percussion and melodic influences of his jazz roots to a much more accessible musical style. In this live number, his velvet vocals and a dulcet saxophone carry the melodies. A ballad that is proving its R&B and pop potential.

THE GREEN BROTHERS (Tortoise Int'l/RCA 11130)

Lack Of Attention (3:46) (Groovesville/Poets — BMI)

(Jamison)

The first release on a new label formed by Don Davis. one of the craftsmen of Johnnie Taylor's modern Memphis sound. The vocals here call Curtis Mayfield to mind, with a smoothly flowing bass line providing the right framework for bluesy guitars and horns. The right message for R&B airplay.

RORY BLOCK (Chrysalis 2176)

Help Me Baby (3:40) (Brown Foot/Red Admiral — BMI)(Block)

The first release under a new label affiliation for this artist is a bouncy, rhythmic number that is more than suitable for disco play. Her delicate vocal is well executed, and the chorus hook is catchy, but it's difficult to see the necessity of the spoken sections. For pop or R&B airplay.

ROBIN MCNAMARA (Rocky Coast/TK 19769)

You Are My Life (3:33) (Pronesti — ASCAP, Critique/Sherlyn — BMI) (Domenico)

Minor key melodies are used effectively in this ballad as interpreted by McNamara, a member of the original Broadway cast of "Hair." His performance here is heavily influenced by theatrical styles, and the record is programmable in pop or easy listening formats.

ROSETTA STONE (Private Stock 170)

Sunshine Of Your Love (3:24) (Casserole — BMI) (Brown, Bruce, Clapton)

A new band formed under the same management that brought you the Bay City Rollers. Aiming to win the hearts of young females with their pretty young faces, Rosetta Stone offers an extra twist in this electronically disco-fied remake of Cream's decade-old classic.

TONY GALLANT (GP 570)

A Dream Of You (2:58) (Galaxia/Terry — ASCAP) (Gallant)

Gallant is a deep-voiced crooner who is capable of handling the heavy orchestral backing of this original composition. There's a tragic note in his voice in this single that will receive its first airplay from easy listening stations.

SYLVIA (Vibration/All Platinum 570)

Lay It On Me (3:52) (Gambi — BMI) (Keith, Moore, Tate)

Singing in a sultry, whispering tone, Sylvia summons up echoes of Andrea True in this single from the album "Love Is Strange." With a spoken voice section interspersed, this record exhibits R&B radio and disco potential.

RARE EARTH (Prodigal/Motown 0637)

Is Your Teacher Cool? (3:46) (Jobete — ASCAP) (Gaye, Stover, Harrison, Knight)

Hard-driving boogie from this long-lived pop-rock ensemble. A lot of sectional changes for a single, but the guitars and gruffly delivered chorus could turn ears this group's way.

TOMMY ROE (Monument/Phonogram 228)

Your Love Will See Me Through (3:17) (Lowery — BMI) (Oliver)

Captivating changes mark this ballad from Roe's latest album for the label. With a light feeling in the string and backing vocal arrangements, this record could have an impact at pop or easy listening stations.

ALBUM REVIEWS

ELVIS IN CONCERT — Elvis Presley — RCA APL 2-2587 — Executive Producer: Felton Jarvis — List: 13.98

Of all the Elvis albums, this one especially captures the King just as he was in some of his final performing moments. The King is here a man, one who forgets his lines but ad libs with humor and gives his all to the crowds that flocked to his shows wherever he appeared. Comments from fans and a few touching words from his father, Vernon, make this album, taken from the CBS TV special and a June 1977 tour, more than a collector's item, more correctly a piece of music history.

POINT OF KNOW RETURN — Kansas — Kirshner/Epic JZ 34929 — Producer: Jeff Glixman — List: 7.98

After over a year on the charts, Kansas' last album will now have some new company with the release of yet another tightly executed work of startling originality and visionary style. As we've come to expect, the compositions are finely crafted and artfully constructed with an even greater emphasis this time on acoustics, multi-layered textures and vocal gracefulness. With a blockbuster tour set to begin, look for this one to be another monster at the retail counter — and deservedly so.

STARTING ALL OVER — Philippe Wynne — Cottillion/Atlantic — Producer: Philippe Wynne — List: 7.98

When you are with a group as successful as the Spinners it's not so easy to step out on a solo jaunt, as Wynne candidly tells us right at the outset of an album that should dispel any doubts he or his detractors might have had. Wynne's been a busy man on this project, writing seven of the nine tunes, arranging the rhythm charts and producing the whole affair. The soulful vocalist struts right out on this one with a steady self-confidence that is shown to be well-founded by the ample evidence contained in the grooves.

WHAT A LONG STRANGE TRIP IT'S BEEN — Best Of The Grateful Dead — Warner Bros. 2W-3091 — Executive Producer: Paul L. Wexler — List: 11.98

Deadheads rejoice, this is the one you've been waiting for. Though the Dead are comfortably at home with their new label, it's reasonably safe to say that most Dead fans first became addicted when the Dead recorded for Warner Bros. But even those newcomers without long memories should know that some genuine classics, some of which are hopelessly out of print, are included in this Dead LP, a collection of 18 memorable tunes and some of the best music they ever made, either live or in the studio.

RACE WITH THE DEVIL — Black Oak — Capricorn SPN 0191 — Producer: Deke Richards — List: 7.98

Yes, there are more changes here than just the shortening of the band's moniker. The most noticeable shift is away from J.D. Mangrum's lead vocals, in a mix that favors the fieriest guitar runs this band has ever produced. Mangrum's voice, always colorful, is less affected this time out giving him a chance to test new variations untried to this extent in previous works. A greater emphasis on harmony and an all-round nice choice of material gives this band enough breathing room to realize their full potential.

MARK FARNER — Atlantic SC 18232 — Producer: Dick Wagner — List: 6.98

Since the chief engineer of the Grand Funk Railroad parted company with his former chums, most music fans were at least curious about what Farner's solo direction might be. The first thing to remember is to forget the past. Mark's sensitivity comes through dramatically not just in his emotion-laden vocal treatments but also in his compositions, which stress acoustic sounds and grand arrangements. A fine album and a genuine sound surprise.

FRONT PAGE NEWS — Wishbone Ash — MCA MCA-2311 — Producer: Ron & Howard Albert — List: 6.98

The Wishbone Ash flair for layered music both vocally and instrumentally is once again the dominant feature of this classy quartet's latest. The slower tempo of half of the tracks throws the spotlight squarely on Martin Turner's lead vocals and gives more attention to the graceful guitar interplay. But there's still plenty of fire under the languidly curling smoke that weaves a hypnotic aura around this polished production.

ALAN PRICE — Jet/United Artists JT-LA809-G — Producer: Alan Price — List: 6.98

Few rock and rollers can boast the kind of multi-faceted career that Price has fashioned as a singer/songwriter, instrumentalist, actor and member of the legendary and reformed Animals. His versatility gives him such crossover potential that you're just as likely to hear him on a soft or hard rock station as on a top-40 outlet. But in spite of his varied background, Price remains a rocker who even tells you the scene has such appeal for him on the wry closing tune of this elegant new release.

A BAD CASE OF LOVE — Joe Simon — Spring/Polydor SP-1-6716 — Producer: Teddy Randazzo — List: 7.98

The rich gospel background that gave birth to Joe Simon's style is only one of his influences, even though quite possibly the strongest. It is what makes his vocals crackle with quiet sincerity and emotional conviction. But producer Randazzo, who wrote most of the material here, knew exactly the best kind of instrumental background to underscore Simon's voice, and it is that collaboration that makes this album shine so brightly.

ELTON JOHN'S GREATEST HITS VOLUME II — MCA 3027 — Producer: Gus Dudgeon — List: 7.98

As witnessed by his ability to fill two volumes with solid hits, Elton shows that he has been perhaps the most successful at doing in the 1970s what the Beatles did in the 1960s: that is, consistently making commercially acceptable yet creative records. This album covers the six years since "Levon" came out in 1971 and contains four singles never included on any of his studio LPs. This should be a solid seller well into 1978.

TRUE TO LIFE — Ray Charles — Atlantic SD 19142 — Producer: Ray Charles — List: 7.98

Ray and his Crossover Records Company are back on Atlantic and his first work for the label contains nine songs by songwriters such as Rodgers & Hammerstein II, Sammy Cahn, Lennon & McCartney and Johnny Nash, among others. The funky disco/reggae treatment given Nash's "I Can See Clearly Now" makes great listening and his sensitive version of "Let It Be" brings out the best in the song while giving it the unmistakable Charles sound stamp. Welcome back, Ray.

NIGHT AFTER NIGHT — Nils Lofgren — A&M SP-3707 — Producer: David Briggs and Nils Lofgren — List: 8.98

Fans of Nils Lofgren's guitar virtuosity know full well the unleashed ferocity with which Nils attacks his repertoire in front of screaming audiences, an experience as far removed from his studio-perfect works as the Rockefellers are from poverty. Now, for the first time outside of bootlegs, authorized or otherwise, Nils is captured in a live setting that is as fresh as tomorrow's bread. With his last release, A&M gave out "Nils is Next" buttons. With this one, he means it.

MIDNIGHT BAND — Charlie Daniels Band — Epic PE 34970 — Producer: Paul Hornsby — List: 6.98

As evidenced by the mostly instrumental title track, Charlie Daniels can still kick up the dust with the best of them. But as the mood changes to southern-styled jazz, then to Saturday night party music, then to a sweet ballad, followed by a tale of illicit love Spanish style and an apologetic tribute to the Red man's rip-off, you know that this is an ambitious project even for a band as talented as these fine gents. Ambition doesn't overwhelm their style here, it only expands the artistic possibilities on this, their most sociologically significant and musically pleasing work.

MARIN COUNTY LINE — New Riders Of The Purple Sage — MCA MCA-2307 — Producer: Jim Ed Norman — List: 6.98

Though they haven't entirely abandoned the truckin' and progressive country style they have so carefully nurtured over the years, there is a new sound from these Bay area boys. It's a mite mellower and a lot more attentive to vocal harmonies and, instead of the customary tune or two dedicated to counter-culture themes, this album includes a genuine blast against the perils of downers. All in all, a quite satisfying volume of tracks that show that this band is not content to rest on past formulas, however successful.

IS IT TIME FOR PETER ALLEN — Peter Allen — A&M SP-3706 — Producer: Peter Allen & Ed E. Thacker — List: 8.98

This deluxe two-record set is one of the cleanest sounding live albums available by anyone and shows brilliantly the wit and performing flair of one of Australia's greatest exports since the boomerang. Allen's quivering vibrato and delicate tenor voice are perfectly suited to his sensitive lyrics, and his piano style, which encompasses the power of Elton John with the emotional grace of Randy Newman, is one of the highlights of this many-sided LP. If there is a flaw, it's only the lack of a lyric sheet.

CHASING RAINBOWS — Jane Olivor — Columbia PC 34917 — Producer: Tom Catalano — List: 6.98

At last the public may be ready to launch this powerful vocalist on to the next level of her career. She is certainly ready. Blessed with one of the most dramatic and evocative voices around, she has even been compared to Streisand by some critics. Indeed, she has the same potential for greatness because of her range and the strong appeal of her multi-faceted vocal treatments.

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT — Dionne Warwick — Warner Bros. BS 3119 — Producer: Steve Barri and Michael Omartian — List: 6.98

Dionne's searing vocal strength, which the world has not been able to forget in eighteen strong years of recording, has not flagged with passing time but instead gained maturity and confidence with each release. Her distinctive vocal style, one of the most easily recognizable around, provides a romantic, heartfelt treatment on anything she warbles. Even she alludes to her growth which has given her the musical depth to reach this new "older but wiser" phase.

BAT OUT OF HELL — Meat Loaf — Epic PE 34974 — Producer: Todd Rundgren — List: 6.98

This album is destined to be an instant hit with AOR programmers looking for some spice for their stuffy playlists. In a very dramatic work, Meat Loaf creates settings around their songs, sometimes with introductory dialogue, sometimes with suggestive instrumental passages. It is a lush and sometimes brilliant work and for sheer variety and romantic imagery, it is one of the brightest releases of the year, featuring thoughtful lyrics and perfect instrumentation.

Disconet Readies Its First Release; Feedback From Discos Is Requested

by Ken Terry

NEW YORK — A new programming service named Disconet is readying the first in a weekly series of disco records which will consist of selected new releases and will be sold on a subscription basis to discotheques, disco dj's and mobile discos across the country. The album is slated for release October 24, with shipment to follow on October 28.

Featuring between six and ten disco-length cuts chosen from the 40 to 50 new disco tracks released each week, each LP in the series will be approximately 30 to 40 minutes in playing time. The selections are being made by three well-known disco dj's, Tommy Savarese, Bobby DJ Guttadaro and Kevin Guilmet. According to Mike Wilkinson of Disconet, "These dj's have been able to pick 80% to 90%, eight weeks ahead, of what will be in the top 10 (of disco)."

So far, Wilkinson said, the New York-based firm has lined up 300 of the 2,000 subscribers it is promising to deliver in licensing agreements with record manufacturers. However, only TK Productions and Audiofidelity/Image/Hidden Sign have thus far licensed Disconet. In addition, the company is currently negotiating with Atlantic, and has received tentative commitments from both Motown and Casablanca, according to Wilkinson. He suggested that difficulties with the labels are simply the result of skepticism about a new, unfamiliar approach. "Once you've done a couple of programs, they will realize what this is about," he predicted.

Alternative To Airplay?

Besides paying $250 for a 13-week program, Disconet's subscribers are being asked to promise that they will play the week's programmed LP at least twice a night. Since Disconet has no intention of checking up to see this is done, the only reason for the stipulation, Wilkinson said,

Debby Boone LP Due

LOS ANGELES — Debby Boone's "You Light Up My Life" LP, containing the title single, is set for release soon on Warner/Curb Records.

Joy Of Cooking Duo Reunited On Fantasy

LOS ANGELES — Fantasy Records recently signed Terry Garthwaite and Toni Brown, former members of The Joy Of Cooking, and has released the duo's first LP titled "The Joy."

The Joy Of Cooking did several albums for Capitol before Garthwaite and Brown recorded solo LPs for Arista and MCA, respectively.

"is to implant the thought that we don't want people to subscribe unless they're actually going to use it. Because I don't want to be just dumping this as a collector's item onto somebody's record shelf."

If the approach works and if Disconet obtains its projected number of subscriptions, Wilkinson claimed, about two million disco customers weekly will be dancing to Disconet's albums. Comparing this audience to that of a major market AM radio station, Wilkinson suggested that his company's service could become an important alternative to radio airplay. In addition, he noted, Disconet's nationwide distribution could help to combat the regionalization that is often seen in disco play. For example, he said, Andrea True Connection's "You Keep Me Dancing" has been hot in Austin, Texas for some time, but none of the New York discos will touch it.

Another possible benefit to record manufacturers are the postpaid report forms which go out with each new Disconet release. Subscribers will hopefully rate the cuts on each album and mail the reports to an independent research firm. Wilkinson noted that this feedback could help record companies in their market planning.

Finally, while Wilkinson stressed the fact that Disconet programs only the best new cuts being released, he asserted that the service will help expose cuts that might not otherwise be played so early. "There are certain cases where the record has a song on it that not everyone is going to recognize as a winner," he commented, adding that this may have delayed the progress of many deserving tracks in the past.

As an example, he said, "When Donna Summer's 'Love To Love You Baby' first came out, nobody in New York clubs would play it except Bobby Guttadaro. People wouldn't dance to it then, but he kept playing it, anyway. After a week of intensive indoctrination, they started dancing to it. If he hadn't played that twice a night, maybe Donna Summer would still be cleaning rooms in Philadelphia."

Mendes Celebrates His First U.S. Performance

LOS ANGELES — Elektra/Asylum recording artist Sergio Mendes recently celebrated the 15th anniversary of his first U.S. appearance by performing at the same site, New York's Carnegie Hall. Mendes, who first performed at the hall as part of a Bossa Nova show that also featured Stan Getz, Joao Gilberto and Cannonball Adderly, is currently touring in support of his E/A album "Sergio Mendes And The New Brasil '77."

K-tel's Profits And Sales Drop Off In Fiscal 1977

LOS ANGELES — K-tel International, Inc. last week reported decreases in sales and profits for both the fourth quarter and full year of fiscal 1977 compared to its 1976 figures, which resulted in net losses for both the fourth quarter and the fiscal year ending June 30, 1977.

Sales for the quarter of fiscal 1977 were $13.1 million in the fourth quarter of 1977 down $13.1 million, or 50.2%, from sales of $26.2 million in 1976's final quarter.

K-tel also posted a net loss for the quarter of $1.46 million, a decrease of $2.56 million, or 267%, from the company's net income of $994,000 in the fourth quarter last year.

Revenue figures for the year saw similar decreases, with sales of $103.7 million for fiscal 1977, down $11.5 million, or 10%, from sales of $115.2 million in the last fiscal year.

Loss For The Year

Net income also dropped, resulting in a loss of $653,000 for the year. This is $4.7 million, or 116%, less than 1976 net income of $4.06 million.

Philip Kives, president of K-tel, said sales and operating results for the fiscal year were significantly below what had been expected initially.

The K-tel report stated that "during fiscal 1977, consumer demand held well during the pre-Christmas period, but dropped sharply after the holidays reflecting, to a large degree, declining consumer spending and soft economic conditions in most of K-tel's major markets across the world."

"Consumer spending declines after Christmas caused K-tel to significantly alter marketing plans for the final quarter of the year," the report said.

Umbrella Records Adds Two New Direct Discs

FAIRLAWN, OHIO — Violin sonatas and big band jazz are offered on two new direct-to-disc recordings on the Umbrella label, distributed exclusively in the U.S. by Audio-Technica U.S., Inc., Fairlawn, Ohio.

A disc of "Father & Son Sonatas" devotes one side to the "Violin Sonata in G Minor" by Efreim Zimablist Sr., and another one to a work by his son, Efreim Zimablist Jr., entitled "Violin Sonata." Both works are for violin and piano. The violin played on the album is the well-known "Duke of Windsor" Stradivarius.

In a bigger, louder vein is "Big Band Jazz" by Rob McConnell and the Boss Brass, a two-record set. The first three sides offer original and standard tunes; the entire fourth side is a suite from "Porgy & Bess." McConnell, an accomplished trombonist, leads the band through selections offering solo opportunities for virtually every instrument.

Nostalgia Lane Starts New Label, Dedicated To Radio Show LPs

NEW YORK — Nostalgia Lane Records, co-owned by Lee Halpern and Nina Joan Matikow, is launching a new label devoted to making available recordings from the "Golden Age of Radio."

The first release, scheduled for this month, will number 11 LPs and will feature such names as Abbott & Costello, Fibber McGee & Molly, Sherlock Holmes, Superman and the Shadow. All product will be available on eight-track and cassette tape, as well as on LPs.

Herb Goldfarb Associates, Inc. has been commissioned to handle sales, distribution and marketing for the new label. New product will be released on a quarterly basis, and the projection is for a minimum of 100 LPs within the first three years of the label's operation.

Vee Jay Planning 25th Anniversary Campaign

LOS ANGELES — In celebration of its 25th anniversary Vee Jay Records is re-activating its entire jazz and gospel catalogs, the best of its blues and pop catalogs as well as newly compiled albums of previously unreleased material. Also, the label's "Oldies 45" singles series will be made available again for the first time in years. A special silver catalog containing the 192 albums available has been printed to kick off the anniversary.

In addition, Vee Jay has scheduled four new albums for late October release: Gary Bartz' "Love Song"; "Wynton Kelly In Concert"; Ken Glenn's "Good For The Garden" and Putter Smith's "Lost And Found."

Country Music Month
October, 1977

As a native of rural America, I grew up with country music and join with great enthusiasm with all those who celebrate Country Music Month.

Anyone who has spent time living and working on a farm or touring the rural areas and small towns of our nation has learned to appreciate the musical legacy of this part of our country. It embraces the joys, sorrows, experiences and hopes of daily life. It echoes the greatness, goodness and diligence of hard working men and women.

Along with millions of fans, I salute the creative genius of those to whom country music owes its ever-growing popularity.

Dear Tom,

It's been almost two years since Mo and I visited you at your digs in Fox Hollow. At that time you advised us to put up a neon sign since nobody knew we were in town. We took your advice and now everybody knows!

Country Music, Country Radio Losing Identity?

Nashville Music Scene Bullish Amidst Significant Changes

by Lola Scobey

NASHVILLE — Is country music losing its identity? If it is, is that good or bad?

Interviews with Nashville music executives and national country radio executives reveal that these questions express the most pressing issues facing country music and country radio in 1977.

1977 has been praised as a year marked by an unusually high number of country records crossing over to the pop charts, with artists such as Waylon Jennings, Crystal Gayle, Ronnie Milsap, and Kenny Rogers having been happily branded as "crossover artists." But while dollar revenues are up, and Nashville is seen to be expanding as a creative center, some nibbling doubts have arisen about the effect of the crossover trend on Nashville as an autonomous business center.

The crossover trend, some believe, could mean the loss of "country music's identity." Jerry Bradley, head of RCA's

Nashville operations, pinpoints what loss of identity means by referring to country radio. "Today you usually have to listen to three or four songs on a station, before you can even tell if it's a country station," Bradley says. "Country music's identity is changing, and RCA is staying on top of the change; but personally, I believe there is strength in specialization. I mean, how much chocolate ice cream can everybody eat? I hope country doesn't do what the big bands and jazz did — escape from an identifiable radio format altogether."

Larry Baunach, head of sales and promotion at ABC/Dot, defines country's loss of identity through semantics. "So many stations don't want to use the word 'country' anymore. They are trying to get listeners from the MOR and rock stations. And because rack jobbers don't want to market mainstream country product, marketing programs such as ours and the one at CBS, don't even want to use the word

'country.'"

Although many feel that country music is becoming more and more integrated into music as a whole, no one is willing to come out at this point and say whether the overall effect on Nashville and on country music will be good or bad. However, all concerned have definite opinions on specific effects of the crossover trend.

What are some of the positive and negative effects of the current tendency for country music to become more like pop?

Positive Effects

POSITIVE EFFECT: CYCLE BREAKER. Some prognosticators believe the crossover trend could prolong the boom which country music, and country-influenced music, is currently experiencing. Music, of course, moves in cycles; and Nashville has certainly had its lean periods — in the early rock and roll days, for example. Although country music is currently ascending an upward curve of popularity, musical wisdom says that eventually this must start curving down. By injecting pop influences, however, and actually changing or mutating the musical form, some feel it may be possible to expand and change the audience so that the normal downward trend will be delayed.

POSITIVE EFFECT: PROFITS. The music business being a business, the bottom line is dollars. And records on the pop charts definitely mean more sales and more dollars flowing into Nashville and country music coffers. Mac Evans, president of Masterfonics mastering studio, stresses that, "the Nashville music scene is changing, but this in no way has lessened billings in Nashville or Nashville's impact on the total music scene." Labels such as United Artists, which have strong crossover talent (Crystal Gayle, Kenny Rogers), report significantly increased grosses for the Nashville division. "We are making more money," flatly states UA head of promotion Jerry Seabolt. "This was a record year for us, our biggest year ever. We had our first gold record ever, and consistent top ten and number one records."

POSITIVE EFFECT: COUNTRY RADIO. Les Acree of WKDA radio in Nashville, reports that, in his experience, periods of crossover music are a "shot in the arm" for country radio. This was true, he believes, during the early '70s when records like "Rose Garden" and "For The Good Times" were crossover hits. "It makes people not just aware of country music," he says, "but aware that country music has changed. When people hear country records on their favorite station, then they have a tendency to listen to more country radio." Again, this boils down to profits: more listeners means more advertisers which means more dollars.

POSITIVE EFFECT: CREATIVE FREEDOM. The Grand Ole Opry did not allow drums on its stage for years, and country music has been known as a music with strict limitations on the type of instruments which could be used in its productions. This was felt to insure the identity of country music. "Seven or eight years ago, if you had five instruments on a country record, it would make it," observes RCA's Bradley. "Then along came Billy Sherrill, then along came Waylon." Now, says RCA producer Roy Dea, "we can put more elements of other music into our records than ever before. And I can sign a different type artist — not just your 'silver throats,' but an

RCA Country Division Achieves Successes

NASHVILLE — The streamlining and modernization begun by RCA's Nashville country division in 1973 has paid off handsomely in 1977 with RCA fielding a large and strong Nashville record operation, earning a solid reputation this year for expertise in crossing over country product to the pop charts.

A lion's share of the year's country and crossover success was provided by Waylon Jennings. Riding the crest of the wave that began with his platinum "The Outlaws" album, Waylon's "Luckenbach, Texas" single debuted in the trade magazines at the highest number ever accorded a new addition, and once it reached the coveted number-one spot, it held the position for six straight weeks. His "Ol' Waylon" album debuted at number one and owned the spot for 17 consecutive weeks.

Dolly Parton's "New Harvest — First Gathering" album was also widely received, and greatly furthered her reputation as an artist and writer of the first magnitude. The year also furthered the career of Ronnie Milsap. With two number-one singles, "Let My Love Be Your Pillow" and "It Was Almost Like A Song," and a number-one album, "Ronnie Milsap, Live," Ronnie has definitely proved himself to be one the leading artists in the industry. His "It Was Almost Like A Song" held the number-one chart position for three straight weeks, and was nominated on the final ballot of the 1977 Country Music Association Awards for both "Song of the Year" and "Single of the Year," an honor it shares with Waylon's "Luckenbach, Texas."

Waylon and Ronnie aren't the only RCA acts to be among the Country Music Association's Awards finalists. In fact, for the third year in a row, RCA artists dominate the major award categories, with 3 of the 5 finalists for "Entertainer of the Year" (Dolly Parton, Ronnie Milsap and Waylon Jennings), 2 of the 5 for "Single of the Year" ("Ol' Waylon," "I Don't Want To Have To Marry You," and "Ronnie Milsap, Live"), 2 of the 5 for "Male Vocalist of the Year" (Waylon Jennings and Ronnie Milsap), and 2 of the 5 for "Vocal Duo of the Year" (Jim Ed Brown and Helen Cornelius and Waylon Jennings and Willie Nelson). In addition to these nominations, the following RCA artists were among the finalists for: "Female Vocalist of the Year" . . . Dolly Parton, "Vocal Group of the Year" . . . Dave & Sugar, "Instrumental Group of the Year" . . . Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass, "Instrumentalist of the Year" . . . Chet Atkins. In all ten categories, RCA was represented by at least one artist, a statement no other label can make.

Other Releases

1977 is the year that introduced Floyd Cramer's "Keyboard Kick Band" album, the band consisting solely of Floyd demonstrating his versatility on 7 separate keyboard instruments. The year also saw the release of Chet's "Me And My Guitar," with Chet both singing and playing the James Taylor title song. The year has seen Dave & Sugar develop from a promising vocal trio into a polished, professional act, and added a second album to their RCA catalog. 1977 also marked the release of the 104th album by the legendary Hank Snow, "Hank Snow #104 — Still Movin' On," and move it did, attracting both public and industry attention. Jerry Reed, too, has enjoyed renewed success with the release of his "East Bound And Down" album. Jerry has also furthered his screen career with his latest movie, "Smokey And The Bandit," and expanded his field of interest to include his own nightclub that was recently opened near Opryland.

CBS Marks 2nd Anniversary Of Country Marketing Division

NASHVILLE — CBS Records, who with the coming of this month celebrates the second anniversary of the Nashville marketing team, is enjoying several marketing "firsts" initiated and established during the past 12 months. CBS Records' commitment to the development of its artists' careers and its dedication to the growth and betterment of the Nashville music industry is strong.

This company posture has given CBS Records a Nashville-headquartered marketing division. Now housed in a new marketing facility, the division's departments handle every aspect of artist career development. In the past year, under the guidance of Rick Blackburn, vice president, marketing, CBS Records, Nashville, the company, with its sophisticated marketing faculty, has harvested a string of industry firsts.

CBS Records became the first record company to appoint a Nashville-based marketing vice president to spearhead its entire country music thrust. Several CBS Nashville music industry firsts have accompanied that appointment; the first company to institute Nashville-based product management departments, with Dan Pinckard, Columbia Records' Nashville product manager, and the recent appointment of Jim Kemp to the post of Epic and CBS associated labels product manager; the first company to have a Nashville-based artist development department, currently piloted by director Gene Ferguson; the first company to house a Nashville-based creative services department, now under the guidance of Bill Barnes, assisted by Cheryl Pardue; the first company to institute a Nashville-based press and public information department, directed by Mary Ann McCready with the recent appointment of Susan Binford to the position of manager; the first company to provide a Nashville-based and nationally-placed responsibility for country music exclusively with regional country marketing managers Jay Jenson in the southwest, Larry Wall in the midwest, Dan Walker on the west coast, and Zim Zemarel in the southeast; the first company to inaugurate a broad-based field force with country music specialists at each of the 20 CBS Records branch sales offices across the country.

With Blackburn at the helm and Joe Casey, director, sales and promotion, Columbia country product, and Roy Wunsch, director, sales and promotion, Epic and CBS associated label country product, the company has the most in-depth and trendsetting Nashville-headquartered marketing squad in the country music industry.

Still more country music history "firsts" were pioneered by Blackburn and his team in the last 12 months. The company's innovative and highly-successful "Box Lot Blitz" was unveiled in early 1977. The "Box Lot Blitz" became an effectively-timed artist and music promotion involving all levels of retail customers, heavily supported by advanced planning with every department a total media advertising blitz, and individual artist-oriented point-of-purchase materials included in the merchandising staples. Phonogram/Mercury Country Division Continues Growth

CHICAGO — Phonogram, Inc./Mercury Records had a banner year for country music, bolstered recently by the addition of Monument Records for distribution, which includes several top selling country artists (see separate story).

Led by the Statler Brothers, Tom T. Hall, Johnny Rodriguez, and several new names, many albums and singles were released during the year.

Best Year Ever

The Statlers enjoyed what has to be the best year yet in their career, scoring their first gold album with "The Best Of The Statler Brothers," which was certified in February.

Additionally, the quartet had three charted singles taken from their "The Country America Loves" album. Their latest, "Short Stories," is already one of the biggest LPs of their career and has spawned one hit single, "Silver Medals And Sweet Memories." The Statler Brothers also celebrated their seventh successful Fourth of July, America's Birthday, picnic in Staunton, Va. The event drew nearly 50,000 fans.

Tom T. Hall's single releases included "Fox On The Run," taken from the "Magnificent Music Machine" bluegrass album, and "Your Man Loves You Honey" and "It's All In The Game," both taken from his current "About Love" LP. In his outside activities, the celebrity golf tournament "T" holds each spring was a smashing success again this year.

Johnny Rodriguez' version of the Eagles' "Desperado" was a hit earlier this year and his latest album, "Practice Makes Perfect," has already produced one single, the title track, written by Monument artist Larry Gatlin, incidentally. Rodriguez' latest single is an all-Spanish version of the former pop hit, "Eres Tu." A new Rodriguez album will be released in mid-October.

Also in October will be a greatest hits compilation from Jerry Lee Lewis entitled "Country Memories," which will also include some newer material as well.

Debut Albums

During the summer months, Mercury released debut albums by three artists: Reba McEntire, Nick Nixon, and Jacky Ward.

The Phonogram/Mercury country division looks like this: Jerry Kennedy, vice president/A&R, Nashville, along with Jerry Gillespie, A&R/country music, handle the producing chores, while Frank Leffel, national promotion/country, oversees his field staff in promotion. A recent addition to the Nashville staff has been Janet Rickman, publicist/south, for Mercury.

MCA Country Roster Grows; New Artists Include Haggard

NASHVILLE — With the addition of Merle Haggard, Vassar Clements, and Hoyt Axton, MCA Records this year added to its list of country talent which already included such artists as Bill Anderson, Jerry Clower, Joe Ely, Bill Monroe, Ronnie Sessions, Cal Smith, Kenny Starr, Mel Tillis, Tanya Tucker, Mary Lou Turner, Conway Twitty, and Loretta Lynn.

New talent added to the roster included David Frizzell, brother of Lefty Frizzell, Jim Glaser, Dan McCorison, Geof Morgan and Ernest Rey.

Twitty Bird Productions, a company owned and operated by Conway Twitty, has also brought to the label Jesseca James, Nat Stuckey, Joni Lee, Charlie Tango, and Peggy Forman.

MCA-sponsored showcases at Fan Fair and the annual Disc Jockey Convention, both held in Nashville, are always popular. In addition, MCA sponsored a showcase for the National Academy of the Recording Arts and Sciences (NARAS) which was termed by NARAS officials as the most financially successful showcase to date. Highlighting the event was the debut of the all-new Bill Anderson Show featuring Mary Lou Turner and his new band, "The Po' Folks."

The company increased its commitment to its country operation with the addition of personnel in the areas of promotion, marketing, and publicity. While Chic Doherty, with over 30 years experience at MCA Records, continues his duties as vice president of operations, Nashville, John Brown was named country marketing director, Jeff Lyman assumed the duties of country promotion director, and Kelly DeLaney had his responsibilities increased to country publicity director.

Under the direction of Brown, the country music specialists at MCA have initiated several successful marketing campaigns during 1977, with more planned for the coming year.

Highlighting the list of campaigns were "Spring Blossom," centering around the release of Loretta Lynn's album entitled, "I Remember Patsy," a tribute to the immortal Patsy Cline; "Good 'N Country" in conjunction with Conway Twitty's new album, "I've Already Loved You In My Mind," as well as a marketing campaign for the annual Conway and Loretta duet album, entitled "Dynamic Duo."

MCA Records remains firmly committed to country music and points not only to its achievements in 1977 but also the goals it has set for 1978.

ABC/Dot Aims Country Music Beyond Traditional Borders Warner Bros. Records Boosts Nashville Operation, & Staff

NASHVILLE — The focus of the efforts exerted by ABC's Dot Records in 1977 are best described by the slogan "Beyond Country Limits." It was a year in which Dot made concerted attempts to spread country music beyond its traditional borders while still producing recordings from a wide variety of artists.

A "Beyond Country Limits" product campaign in the spring kicked off the marketing year with special sales, marketing, merchandising and advertising programs on top new country product and on the ABC Collection series, which featured previously-released product from several country music artists. Additionally, specially-priced pre-packs of many ABC/Dot and Hickory Records country LPs were assembled for the campaign. Included in the marketing program were a number of special merchandising aids, including large, point-of-purchase floor displays and a country music sampler display featuring 13 of Dot's top country acts.

Live Concert Series

As part of its effort to take country music into new markets, ABC/Dot cooperated with radio station WMAQ in Chicago in presenting country music in a live concert series. The first performance was in January and featured Billy "Crash" Craddock and Don Williams in two shows from the Ivanhoe Theatre. In addition, Billy "Crash" Craddock's performance was recorded and released as a live album on Dot.

Carnegie Hall Concert

New York was next on the list of metropolitan areas in which a major country music merchandising program was spread. In May, Roy Clark, Freddy Fender, Hank Thompson and Don Williams invaded prestigious Carnegie Hall for a sold-out performance presented by the Jim Halsey Company of Tulsa and New York promoter James Nederlander, in cooperation with New York radio station WHN. The four Dot artists shared a bill which brought an evening of country entertainment not only to those in the hall, but to a worldwide radio network as well.

Approximately 40 major country stations around the nation carried the show live, with another 20 carrying a taped, delayed broadcast on later dates. Armed Forces Radio and the Voice of America were also part of the network for the show, carrying the broadcast to 27 foreign countries.

While in New York, the four artists involved were subjected to a two-day schedule of radio, television and print media interviews. A double-pocket album and tape of the show, produced by Dot president Jim Fogelsong and Huey Meaux, was released in late summer.

Performance Counts

However, it was the performance of Dot's roster of artists which provided the foundation for the company's efforts to spread country music to new audiences.

Don Williams charted new territory this year when his appearances in England attracted such stars of pop music as Eric Clapton, Pete Townshend and Van Morrison. Don's "Visions" album shipped gold and he also received silver-disc awards for his "You're My Best Friend" and "Harmony" albums.

As Roy Clark had done the previous year when he became the first country artist to headline his own show in the Soviet Union, Barbara Mandrell opened Saudi Arabia to country music. Late in the summer, she and Tommy Overstreet made the second foray into New York City by Dot artists when they headlined a show sponsored by Exxon at Lincoln Center. The show was also carried live on WHN radio.

In November, Freddy Fender picked up his second consecutive "Record Of The Year" award from the Music Operators of America for "Wasted Days And Wasted Nights." Roy Clark was again named country "Picker Of The Year" by the readers of Playboy Magazine, and Clark, Barbara Mandrell, Don Williams, The Oak Ridge Boys and Jimmy Buffett were all named finalists in the balloting for the coveted

NASHVILLE — Warner Bros. Records has continued to expand its country music operation during the past two years. Andy Wickham, WB' Burbank-based director of country music, is more than enthusiastic about the company's performance over the last year and its plans for the future. "It's always difficult when a new company comes into Nashville and enters the country music field. You have to go through a period of adjustment and acceptance, not only with the music community, but with those people who buy country records. It hasn't been easy, but our persistence and hard work has paid off. We feel we have a well balanced roster of stars and artists we feel are potential stars. The period of adjustment is definitely over."

Wickham credits Stan Byrd, director of country sales & promotion (based in Nashville), and his regional promotion staff for an exceptional year. 26 country singles have been released so far this year... over 90% have charted... 50% of the releases went Top 30... and 25% of all releases went Top 10.

Reduced Size

In a year when several of the major record companies reduced the size of their country operation, Warner Bros. demonstrated its support to the country market with the additions of Sam Cerami (Midwest promotion and sales), Dave "Mack" McClellan (southeast), Ann Tant (west coast), and Mike Sirls (secondary markets). Frank Anderson continues to cover the southwest region in sales and promotion. Warner Bros. also expands its country operation with the newly created artist relations and publicity department directed by Bonnie Rasmussen.

UA Posts Nat'l, Int'l Success With Several Country Artists

NASHVILLE — 1977 was a record-breaking year for United Artists' Nashville division. Under the leadership of Lynn Shults, director of Nashville operations; Jerry D. Seabolt, national country promotion director; Carolyn Gilmer, A&R coordinator; Hylton Hawkins, assistant to national promotion director, and Gerri McDowell, southwest regional promotion director, the year was highlighted with eight number one singles, one gold single, one gold album and record-breaking sales figures. Working with independent producers exclusively, UA has been especially successful with the work of Larry Butler and Allen Reynolds.

Rogers Success

Kenny Rogers re-established his status both in the pop and country field with his number one country and Top 40 single, "Lucille." This hit single and the LP, "Kenny Rogers," which is approaching one year in the album charts, received gold discs in the United States and Canada. Rogers' new single, "Daytime Friends," a number one hit in the country field, is closing in on the top slot in the "Top 40" market. The Country Music Association has nominated Rogers in four categories for this year: "Entertainer of the Year," "Single of the Year" for "Lucille," "Album of the Year" for the LP "Kenny Rogers" and "Male Vocalist of the Year."

Crystal Gayle had three number one singles this past year ("You Never Miss A Real Good Thing," "I'll Do It All Over Again" and "Don't It Make My Brown Eyes Blue") and presently has three albums on the country charts, of which two have maintained this status for over one year. Gayle's new album, "We Must Believe In Magic," hit the charts in two weeks and her most recent number one country single, "Don't It Make My Brown Eyes Blue," has launched her career into the pop market as it presently climbs the Top 40 charts. For the second year, Gayle has been nominated for "Female Vocalist of the Year" by the Country Music Association.

Billie Joe Spears

Billie Jo Spears continues hitting the country charts with three number one singles this last year ("Never Did Like Whiskey," "I'm Not Easy" and "If You Want Me"). Currently Spears is closing in on the top position with her current single, "Too Much Is Not Enough."

One of the most popular ladies in the country field, Dottie West continues to build her chart activity this past year with three "Top 30" records ("When It's Just You And Me," "Every Word I Write" and "Tonight You Belong To Me").

Watsons

The association of Doc and Merle Watson has been strengthened with the Nashville office, and the duo maintain their popularity in the LP market.

Versatile entertainer Del Reeves remains a mainstay on the country roster along with Bobby Wright, Melba Montgomery, Jack Blanchard, Misty Morgan and David Wills. The UA staff foresees exciting times ahead for all of these artists.

artist with a distinctive feel." Consequently, Dea, speaking from the creative perspective, says country music losing its identity "doesn't bother me. I can't use some formula, that's the business approach. I'm more into particular artists, than any musical form as a whole."

Target Weeks

POSITIVE EFFECT: BROADER MARKETING CONCEPTS. In the past, the month of October, and particularly the week of the Grand Ole Opry Birthday Celebration, were target weeks to introduce new country product. The market was flooded with product at that time, generating a highly competitive situation in which many good records were buried. Labels, however, are now marketing country product on a year-round basis. "Country music is simply not a seasonal world anymore," asserted MCA head of country marketing, John Brown (Cash Box, October 1, 1977). "Due to the increasing sophistication of the country market, we are now trying to market our country product just like we do any other product." This approach is borne out by organizations that master country records and review country records. "We normally receive a flood of country product around this time," said Glenn Meadows, vice-president of Masterfonics. "We certainly did last year, but we haven't this year." Also, in contrast to last year, when Cash Box ran a full page of album reviews in its Country

Capitol's Country Strength Backed By Diversified Roster

NASHVILLE — In the past year Capitol Records has continued to strengthen its country division with a restructuring of the staff and several important additions to the artist roster, but the label's position in the field of country music is rooted in the diversification of its artists' styles. According to Frank Jones, vice president and general manager of the country division, "Many artists who have emerged from Capitol in the past year have found strong acceptance not only within the country area but their appeal has taken on universal acceptance."

During the last year Capitol has had success with many of the new talents that have joined the label. Kenny Dale scored high on the charts with his first single, "Bluest Heartache Of The Year," and he quickly followed the success with the current hitbound "Shame Shame On Me," both taken from his best selling album, "Bluest Heartache." Mel McDaniel has had five Capitol singles released since mid-1976 and each one has done well on the country charts — "Have A Dream On Me," "I Thank God She Isn't Mine," "All The Sweet," "Gentle To Your Senses," and "Soul Of A Honky Tonk Woman." His current album, "Gentle To Your Senses" was released September 12.

New Artists

Other artists new to Capitol include Marcia Ball, whose "Big River" single was just released, and the Dusty Chaps, a swinging eight-piece band out of Tucson. There are also a number of acts that have both country and pop appeal, including Michael Clark, whose "Free As A Breeze" debut album was released in August; Pam Rose, whose self-titled debut album came out in July and whose "Midnight Flight" single hit the charts; Lonnie Mack, whose second Capitol album will be out in October; Juice Newton And The Silver Spur, whose first Capitol album, "Come To Me," was released September 12; Linda Hargrove, whose sensitivity and skill as a singer-songwriter is again portrayed on her third album for Capitol, "Impressions"; and Norton Buffalo And The Rhead Brothers.

Capitol also has a long list of established stars who continue to maintain their popularity each year: Glen Campbell with his "Southern Nights" album and single as well as his "Sunflower" single; Anne Murray, who appeals to music fans of all tastes; Asleep At The Wheel, which remains the one of the most promising of the new generation of western swing bands; and the original Texas Playboys. Other Capitol artists who continue to maintain their strong following include Freddie Hart, Gene Watson, Ray Griff, James Talley and Jessi Colter.

Division Restructuring

Frank Jones states that Capitol Records recently restructured its country division. Vince Cosgrave, formerly with MCA, moved into a newly created position as director of country A&R/marketing, in which he will assist in west coast A&R, help assemble product presentations, and help coordinate country product marketing. Chuck Flood, formerly special projects director, has been named director of talent acquisition, Nashville. Flood will work with Jones on A&R functions. Ed Keeley was appointed national country promotion manager and will be based in Los Angeles. This will allow Keeley and others to have more input in the promotional and marketing departments quartered in the Tower. Keeley will be right on hand with the marketing and sales force. Jones also notes, though based in Los Angeles, Keeley will be visible in and out of Nashville. Cathy Roszell will be based in Nashville and has assumed the recently created position of southeastern press and artist relations coordinator.

Frank Jones states the restructuring is a tremendous strengthening move all around. Capitol Records has made a firm commitment to the country market, says Jones. Its recent new addition of artists to the roster plus its already established artists will enable us to continue to maintain our position as a leader in the country music market.

Elektra/Asylum Campaign Is Kicking In The Country

NASHVILLE — The past year was one which saw Elektra/Asylum become more firmly established as a viable country label in Nashville. Eddie Rabbitt has become one of the most consistent recording artists in country music, and the label broke Stella Parton and Vern Gosdin as serious country artists both in airplay and sales.

E/A country has developed a progressive attitude over the past years in the release of their product. In July of this year they released an album by artist Even Stevens aimed at the FM stations. Jan Rhees was quoted as saying, "Just because an artist records in Nashville doesn't necessarily mean that the product is country."

There have been several top ten hits such as Eddie Rabbitt's recordings of "Two Dollars In The Jukebox," "I Can't Help Myself" and "We Can't Go On Living Like This." Vern Gosdin has scored with "Hangin' On," "Yesterday's Gone" and "Till The End." Rabbitt's album, entitled "Rabbitt," got into the top ten as well. In recent months he has also been receiving significant airplay on pop stations.

In June Mike Suttle, marketing director, and Jan Rhees, who is involved in sales coordination and artist development, along with the entire Nashville staff at E/A country, initiated E/A Kicks In The Country, the first major sales and promotion campaign for the label. Five albums were released simultaneously: Eddie Rabbitt, "Rabbitt"; Stella Parton, "Country Sweet"; Hargus "Pig" Robbins, "Country Instrumentalist of the Year"; Vern Gosdin, "Till The End" and Sammi Smith, "Mixed Emotions." The catalog on Eddie Rabbitt and Sammi Smith was part of the campaign. There was total support from WEA distribution on the radio level and with the rack jobbers at the one stops.

Turning Point

E/A Kicks in the Country represents a major turning point in the three-year history of E/A Country. The campaign succeeded in establishing the label firmly in both the radio level and in store merchandising. The campaign dramatically demonstrated that E/A is behind the artist and product. They are willing to make the effort and spend the money properly in order to sell the product.

The staff of E/A Country also includes Jim Malloy, director of country music; David Malloy, director of A&R; Norm Osborne, national promotion; The Brokaw Company, public relations, and Betty Miller, secretary of operations.

Gatlin, McCoy And New Dist. Lead The Way For Monument

NASHVILLE — With artists such as Larry Gatlin, Charlie McCoy, Grady Martin, Connie Smith, Tommy Cash, and others, that should be enough to make any label happy. But Monument Records, in August of this year, found another reason to be happy: the label signed an agreement with Phonogram, Inc. to let that firm market their records.

Larry Gatlin

The agreement came just as Larry Gatlin's "I Don't Want To Cry" was peaking on the charts (peaking because you can't go much higher than number one) and prior to the release of his new album, "Love Is Just A Game," which coincidentally happens to be the title of his current chart climbing single. This year certainly seems to be the year that Larry Gatlin takes his rightful place among the most successful country singers of this era. He has also been nominated as male vocalist of the year by the Country Music Association.

Charlie McCoy also has a new album out, aptly titled "Country Cookin'," his ninth for Monument. One of the Nashville session men for over a decade, this year Charlie was again nominated by the CMA as instrumentalist of the year for his now-legendary harmonica work. A consistent album seller ("The Real McCoy" album is closing in on gold status), he is also consistently on the singles charts.

Connie Smith

A recent Monument acquisition has been Connie Smith, who scored her first time out on the label with "Coming Around," which preceded her first Monument album, "Pure Connie Smith," released in August. Although hardly a new name, Grady Martin had his first LP in several years released on Monument in September entitled "Cowboy Classics." For years, Grady has been one of the session guitarists in Nashville. And while Tommy Cash doesn't have an LP out yet, his "The Cowboy And The Lady" single did very well on the country charts during the summer.

Screen Gems Looks To N'ville For Pop And Country Acts

NASHVILLE — Paul Tannen, general manager of the Screen Gems-EMI Music/Colgems-EMI Music Nashville operation, feels that there are three important aspects of today's publishing business: new songwriters; the catalog; and writers who are recording artists. For example, Screen Gems has entered into a production deal with Polydor Records for Max D. Barnes, who is an exclusive Screen Gems writer. Barnes currently has his second Polydor release on the market, receiving good reaction at the radio level.

Danny Davis

Danny Davis, vice president/director of national exploitation, based out of L.A.; and Michael Steele, director of southeastern promotion, have been co-ordinating promotional efforts very closely with the Polydor staff.

Jim Valentini and Frank Saulino

(professionally known as Val & Birdie), are the newest writer/artists that have been signed by Tannen. They are contemporary writers, which continues Screen Gems' policy that there are good "pop" writers to be developed out of Nashville.

Other exclusive writers are Mark James, Bettye Pierce, Michael Clark, Gail Davies, and Jeff Pollard. The Jeff Pollard Band, a rock and roll band, from Baton Rouge, La., is preparing to record its first album for a major label.

Screen Gems-EMI Music Inc./Colgems-EMI Music Inc. this past year, introduced Volume I of a promotional album entitled "Country Gold," in order to further exploit its country catalog. The album features 14 of the company's country standards including "He'll Have to Go," "Suspicious Minds," "Together Again," "Dream Lover."

New Signings, Releases For Polydor's Country Division

NASHVILLE — In a move to become a major force in the country music market, Polydor Incorporated has signed long-term agreements with two significant country artists, Mel Street and Bob Luman. "These signings represent the inauguration of another phase in our vitalization of our Nashville department," said Irwin H. Steinberg, president of Polydor and the Polygram Record Group, announcing the acquisitions. "Street and Luman are two of country music's most respected talents. They'll add greater dimension to our roster, which is already progressing well in developing relatively new talent."

Virginian-born Street, best known for "Borrowed Angel," "Lovin' On The Backstreets," and "Smokey Mountain Memories," debuted on Polydor with the single, "Barbara, Don't Let Me Be The Last To Know," from his just-released first album on Polydor, "Mel Street."

Bob Luman has completed his first single for Polydor, "Honky Tonk Woman's Man," which is currently in release, and is presently in the studio at work with Polydor's Nashville director of A&R, Jim Vienneau, preparing a second.

Recently Signed

Also recently signed to Polydor is Bill Rice of the writing team Foster and Rice. Rice will debut on Polydor in October with a single in which he and fellow Polydor artist Lois Johnson duet. Bill will also record future singles on his own for Polydor, produced by Larry Butler.

Discover New Artists

Polydor's plan is to discover and build new artists and to sign acts like Bob Luman, Mel Street and Bill Rice. Variety is also a priority, as evidenced by the signing of Alvin Crow And The Pleasant Valley Boys, a country swing and rockabilly act that manages to be authentic and progressive at the same time. Crow and the boys are currently on an east coast tour and Polydor plans to release more Crow product in the near future.

Selective Releases

Polydor is selective about the country product it releases, according to Jack Pride, director of country promotion. "We don't release ten records a week and hope some stick," he says. "We release the best possible song by each artist and focus our energies on them. We believe we're bound to be successful because we only sign artists that display superstar potential. We're trying to put out quality records so that radio comes to regard everything we give them as worth playing."

Polydor Incorporated began revamping its Nashville arm, which it inherited from MGM Records, about a year ago. It pared down a large and unwieldy roster of artists to a select handful and began building on that base. And then it started searching for artists who met its standards.

In addition, the label is continuing its revitalization of the musical resources contained in the Polydor/MGM catalog.

Tree International Growing, Experimenting With Country

NASHVILLE — Tree International, the music complex, had a record-breaking year, according to its chairman and chief executive officer Jack Stapp. The company announced plans for the construction of a major studio in its building, the formation of a group called Equinox, who is entering the pop music scene, and an expansion of its writers roster with the addition of 20 new writers.

New writers added this year include Jerri Kelly, Myke Jackson, Sonny Throckmorton, David Shannon, Angela Wilson, Marcus J. Mitchell, Chris Dodson, Rock Killough, Dan Eckley, Lynn Holloway, Alan Rhody, Bill Usery, Mike Hedrick, Donna Koplan, David Osborn, James Gorin, Tim Hubler, Orsa Lea, Cindi DuVall, and Robert DeLaGarza.

Stapp announced the studio plans in early September, with the structure to be within the Tree confines. The 2,800-square-foot studio will be modern in every phase and will give Tree writers an opportunity to be creative in other areas, as well as writing. Tree's vice president Don Gant said the studio will be equipped with 16-track and on a par with any in the city. It will be used exclusively for Tree writers. Construction began in early September, with completion expected around January 1, 1978.

Equinox

Cliff Williamson, Tree professional song plugger, was largely responsible for putting together a sophisticated high-energy rock group named Equinox. According to Williamson, he put the group together from staff writers who were into the rock scene and wanted to work together. To date, Tree has invested more than $50,000 in Equinox and feels the investment is well worth it. The group has made one public appearance for the industry and was well received by all. Williamson expects to be able to take the group into the studio before too long and along with Tree President Buddy Killen, hopes to make Equinox a major act. Both Stapp and Killen are planning to keep their country image, but hoping also to add some pop to it, too. Equinox is a beginning in that direction.

Production Deal

Killen signed a major production deal with Epic Records this year and Tree will be able to see many of its writers become recording artists because of it. Joe Tex was the first to be signed to Epic through the deal; Tree Productions and Killen produced the sessions. First time out, Killen and Tex scored with "Ain't Gonna Bump No More," which became a worldwide hit and sold more than a million copies. Tex and Killen had been high on the charts in years past and now they're back in the charts again. Also signed to the label were Ed Bruce, produced by Killen, and Killough and Eckley, produced by VP Don Gant. Killough and Eckley have a style all of their own and all indications from the excitement generated by CBS and Epic over their new album, soon to be released, indicate they're a big plus for Tree. Also signed to the label were L.E. White and Lola Jean Dillon. Their first record out was a chart climber entitled "Home Sweet Home." It enjoyed great success abroad as well as in the States, and plans are to record an album in mid-October.

Teamed Up

Another successful venture for Tree this year was Killen teaming up with MCA artist Bill Anderson. Killen and Anderson have had both hit singles and two albums. Anderson's sales have soared this year and the combination seems to be a successful one. Killen also signed to produce the duet team of Anderson and Mary Lou Turner. Three new staff members have been added to the Tree Family this year with Judi Littlefield, receptionist, Terry Choate in engineering, and Chris Dodson, general office duties.

Dan Wilson

Dan Wilson, Tree's newest professional member, reports that chart activity is ahead of last year's. Tree has been represented on the charts this year with more than 54 charted songs. Wilson has been responsible for many major cuts and was a tremendous addition to the Tree staff. Don Gant, who was responsible for bringing Wilson to the Tree staff, has headed a very successful effort to put Tree well over the top in record sales. Gant, Williamson, and Wilson have given Stapp many hit singles this year and the future looks even brighter.

Halsey Festival Emphasizes Intl. Scope Of Country Music

NASHVILLE — Jim Halsey, director of the artists management company bearing his name in Nashville, Los Angeles and Tulsa, has become one of the most influential conveyors of country music worldwide.

With established divisions overseeing music publishing, commercial, television and film production, television booking, publicity, promotion, artist development and the buying and selling of talent dates, Halsey has broken traditional barriers in bringing wider acceptance for country music in nearly every entertainment medium. The efforts of his firm have affected not only the Halsey roster of 21, but country performers in whole.

But the soft-spoken Halsey believes that his recently staged International Country Music Festival (Sept. 9-11) in Tulsa was his most ambitious project thus far.

The concept of Halsey's annual fall gathering of major talent buyers and promoters from the U.S. and abroad jet-tisoned this year with the inauguration of the festival which hosted some 32 country entertainers, foreign and domestic. Buyers were treated to top country talent throughout the weekend, all for their consideration as bookings for the upcoming calendar year, and while this year's effort worked handsomely, Halsey feels the festival's future will undergo considerable refinement.

'Festival Atmosphere'

The Jim Halsey Company plans more of a festival atmosphere, according to executive vice president Dianna Pugh. It will include day-long performances to complement the nighttime acts, all shortened in length.

The company plans to bring in more specialized talent from other countries (i.e. Russian dancers) and is considering a songwriting contest to coincide with the weekend. In '78 the festival will be held in late October so that more fair and rodeo talent buyers can attend — those who have been tied up with their respective events earlier in the fall season.

Pugh said they will have more national sponsors and more national awareness of the International Music Festival next year. Plus, the city of Tulsa will aid even more extensively to promote and coordinate the festival with Halsey's staff.

Sherrill Finds New Talent To Delight Country Audiences

NASHVILLE — In the past year, no producer of country music has fathered more national hit records than Billy Sherrill, vice president, A&R, CBS Records, Nashville. A noted producer, songwriter, musician, and talent-scout — Sherrill's track record is evident in his expanding stable of stars.

Charlie Rich's "Rolling With The Flow," Tammy Wynette's "You And Me," Marty Robbins' "Among My Souvenirs," George Jones and Tammy Wynette's "Near You," and Johnny Duncan's "Thinkin' Of A Rendezvous" and "It Couldn't Have Been Any Better" reached the top of the national country charts this past year.

George Jones' "Her Name Is," Johnny Paycheck's "Slide Off Your Satin Sheets," Tammy Wynette's "Let's Get Together," Johnny Duncan's "Song In The Night," and Marty Robbins' "Adios Amigo" are further examples of Sherrill's penchant for turning out hit records.

Other Hits

More Sherrill-produced hits of the past year include Barbara Fairchild's "Mississippi," Freddy Weller's "Liquor, Love, And Life," Johnny Paycheck's "11 Months And 29 Days," Bob Luman's "How Do You Start Over," Charlie Rich's "Road Song," David Houston's "Come On Down To Our Favorite Forget About Her Place," Weller's "Room 269," Paycheck's "I Can See Me Loving You Again," Fairchild's "Cheatin' Is," Rich's "Easy Look," Weller's "Merry Go Round," Paycheck's "I'm The Only Hell My Mama Ever Raised," George and Tammy's "Southern California," Tanya Tucker's "You Are So Beautiful," and Jones' "If I Put Them All Together (I'd Have You)."

Since 1966, Sherrill has written over 100 hit songs. Just some of the Sherrill-penned songs include: "The Most Beautiful Girl," "Stand By Your Man," "My Elusive Dreams," "I Don't Wanna Play House," "Sweet And Innocent," "I Love My Friend," "The Door," "Soul Song," "A Very Special Love Song," "Woman To Woman," "Your Good Girl's Gonna Go Bad," "There's A Song On The Jukebox," "Every Time You Touch Me (I Get High)."

Billy Sherrill has turned the switch for numerous artists' careers; many of his artists have achieved gold and platinum status. Further, he is consistently credited as a force who continues to expand the base of country music. His talent can be seen in his unfaltering ability to marry the artist, the song, and the arrangement into a hit-making blend, subsequently enhancing all of them.

Industry Awards

Moreover, he has received virtually every industry award and honor that is available in the field of music. The benefits of Sherrill's works are felt worldwide, as his productions have reached over 27 countries of the world.

His aims remain the same: to entertain the audience, to make hits, to discover and build artists.

180 ASCAP Songs Land On '77 Cash Box Country Chart

NASHVILLE — "The record-breaking growth which began in ASCAP's Nashville office in the late sixties has produced something like a continuous 'goldrush' for us annually, as reflected by our 12 #1 country songs in the trade charts this year," observed Ed Shea, ASCAP's southern regional director.

"I am extremely proud of all the nuggets and gold dust which our members have won for themselves this year," Shea stated. "Even against a background of growth for us in the country music field, this year has been exceptional," Shea continued, "both in terms of chart activity and membership expansion."

Pointing out that ASCAP has charted an unprecedented 180 songs in Cash Box this year, Shea predicted that the ASCAP Awards Banquet on October 12 will honor more than 100 "Chart Buster Songs" for 1977, an increase of 15% over last year's record-breaking performance. The scope of the society's awards reflects continued recognition of ASCAP's "old pros" as well as the success of its growing stable of new writers.

Biggest Year

Among the "pros," Foster and Rice have again outdone themselves, and ASCAP writer-performer Ronnie Millsap enjoyed his biggest year ever in chart successes. Meanwhile other writing teams also proved equal to the challenge of past performance. Writing several hits in '77 were: Royce Porter and Bucky Jones, Rory Bourke, Gene Dobbins, Johnny Wilson, and Guy and Susanna Clark.

Richard Leigh wrote another #1 hit for Crystal Gayle, "Don't It Make My Brown Eyes Blue," as a fitting follow-up to his '76 award winner, "I'll Get Over You." Jerry Wallace's "I Miss You Already" and Bill Justis' scoring of the movie "Smokey And The Bandit" stand out as highlights in a year which saw outstanding achievements continue for such established writers as: Ray Griff, John Schweers, Bob Morrison, Jim Mundy, Milton Blackford, Bud Reneau, Bobby David, Mel McDaniel, Billy Deaton, Jim Weatherly, O.B. McClinton, and Sheb Wooley. Another veteran, John Prine, excelled again this year and migrated to Nashville to add more country flavor to his recordings.

New Writers

"In terms of new writers signed by our office, it's hard to imagine a better year," Shea continued. Mari Wilson's "Telephone Man" was a superb beginning for her, while David Chamberlain and Jim Vest's "I'm Not Easy" established them immediately. Archie Jordan (teamed with Hal David) busted through with "It Was Almost Like A Song," while Joe Ely joined ASCAP and MCA's new artist roster. Mark Germino, Rob Stanley, Val and Birdie, Mark Damon, Con Hunley, Kevin Young, Betty Jean Robinson and Don Schlitz were other new members who showed great promise.

International Growth Marks Productive Year For CMA

NASHVILLE — Since one of the long-range goals of the Country Music Association is the expansion of Country Music throughout the world, 1977 was a very productive year.

A Foreign Development Committee, set up within CMA's framework, met with a nucleus of music industry leaders from around the world in Cannes, France during MIDEEM. The meeting produced an International Country Music Development Committee which is now at work in Australia, Belgium, England, Germany, Holland, Italy, Sweden, Japan, Africa, Norway and New Zealand.

The international thrust actually began in the fall of '76 when CMA sponsored a two-hour country music show for an international audience of well over 800 registrants at MUSEXPO '76. The success of this show prompted the CMA International Committee to produce a country show at the 1977 IMIC on May 17. Again, another well received show with an added benefit: The show was taped and later televised by TROS-TV in Holland.

Then, during this year's Fan Fair, CMA brought together top country acts from seven countries to perform before a very receptive audience. The show was taped in its entirety and aired on WDCN, Channel 8, in Nashville on September 11.

Articles, Documentaries

In the course of the year, CMA also worked with foreign journalists and television networks in the preparation of several major foreign magazine stories and television documentaries. One documentary, three hours in length, covered the entire country music industry and was shown on Swedish, Norwegian and Danish TV. It will also soon air in Northern Ireland and Switzerland.

Fan Fair '77 was held June 6-12 and was the biggest and most successful ever. A record-breaking crowd of over 13,000 registrants from the United States and ten foreign countries was on hand for the festivities. Next year's Fan Fair is set for June 5-11.

In March, a new CMA Radio Station Broadcaster's Kit was sent to member radio stations and organizations in the United States and Canada. An organizational membership bonus, the kit provides radio stations with the latest ideas and statistics in the areas of sales, promotion and programming.

A special Arbitron study, analyzing income, household, and buying characteristics of those people who listen to country music in 26 major markets was commissioned by the CMA for the benefit of organizational members. Copies of the study were mailed during August 1977, and reports indicate that this study has become one of the single most important sales tools in the hands of member radio stations.

Another 1977 project was the development of three new film cassette presentations entitled "Country Music Today." Com-

by Bob Campbell

NASHVILLE — David Van Cronkhite, president of a Texas-based public relations firm specializing in political and bond campaigns, in recent months has applied his skills to the music business by opening his own artist-management company, DVC, Inc., here.

An admitted novice to the music business, the 30-year-old Van Cronkhite feels there is considerable similarity between public relations work and music management.

"It is a natural transition," Van Cronkhite said. "There are very few differences in selling a candidate or program and promoting an entertainer. The problems I have had have been in areas such as finding out which people in town can help me and which people can hurt me. However, my association with such men as Owen Bradley and Harold Bradley are invaluable."

Encouraged By Bradley

Van Cronkhite met Owen Bradley nearly a year ago on his first trip here. Bradley advised and encouraged Van Cronkhite, and they now share a music row office from which Van Cronkhite directs his three-person operation. David House, who has been working with Van Cronkhite's Texas firm, is serving as vice president of the Nashville operation.

BMI Stresses Full Community Involvement

NASHVILLE — BMI has increased its involvement in all aspects of music and community life in Nashville. And beyond that, it has — via key executives, through calendar year 1976 and extending into 1977 — participated in activities within Music City all over the country and abroad.

Frances Preston, BMI vice president and head of the Nashville southern region operation, characterizes the company's commitment to and interest in a variety of pursuits. She has devoted a large portion of her time to bringing BMI to all that is musical and cultural and communal in Nashville and beyond the city limits, as well.

Since last year at this time, she has traveled as far as Nice, France, to attend MIDEM in the cause of music and BMI. She and BMI president Edward M. Cramer played a major role in the formal opening ceremonies of the Songwriters Hall of Fame in New York. With BMI assistant vice president Roger Sovine, she set up a BMI booth and exhibition at Musexpo in New Orleans.

Information, Seminars

Because BMI feels any and all people connected with music, or interested in it, should receive a complete view of the inner workings of the industry, Preston has encouraged her associates to move out into the field and bring information about music and BMI and culture in general to all who desire it.

Recently, Preston, Roger Sovine, Del Bryant, Jerry Smith, Helen Maxson and Patsy Bradley have given seminars at the University of Texas, the University of Miami, the University of Tulsa, North Alabama State, Belmont College, Peabody College, Vanderbilt Law School, Memphis State. And they've also spoken at the Southern Educators Conference and before the Memphis Songwriters Association.

Preston recently was selected as one of 13 most influential executives in Nashville music business by Country Music Magazine. And one of 10 of the most powerful Nashville business executives by Nashville Magazine. In addition, she attended a White House briefing given by President Carter this year.

Community Action

Within the Nashville community, Preston and her staff have stepped up their activities in line with BMI's belief that contributions should be made on all levels of life in the city.

Preston has served on the board of directors of the Country Music Association, the Country Music Foundation, the Nashville Songwriters Association.

Roger Sovine was recently elected president of the Nashville chapter of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences (NARAS). He also is a member of the Nashville Forum, a once-a-month panel group which discusses music and the music business. In addition, he is engaged in "Leadership Nashville," a local project organized to involve key Nashville executives in community decision making.

Helen Maxson serves on the Gospel Music Association board of directors. She has been instrumental in raising funds for the proposed Gospel Music Hall of Fame and continues to be active in all areas of gospel music.

Patsy Bradley is a board member of the American Women in Radio and Television organization. She also works with station WPLN's Talking Library, which tapes books for the elderly, the sick and the blind.

The company itself co-sponsored a copyright seminar locally at Vanderbilt University at which Edward M. Cramer spoke. Another copyright seminar was given under BMI auspices at Belmont College in Nashville. The prime subject discussed at this gathering was "The Effect of the Copyright Law on the Music and Recording Industry."

Educational Drive

BMI's educational drive has picked up great momentum of late, particularly since the passage of the Copyright Law, which goes into effect January 1, 1978. This is in answer to the increasingly obvious need for information about that and other aspects of the music business.

The educational thrust has taken the form of company-sponsored seminars at music centers, in key cities and on college campuses, featuring BMI representatives and leading people from various areas of music. Frequent lectures and talks are also given by BMI staff members and officers at colleges, high schools, at business functions, wherever there is a need.

BMI is now the largest performing rights organization in the world, with 47,000 writers and publishers, 21,000 of those in the southern region. It is a potent force in all areas of music.

Reschen Wins Clients' Trust With Unconventional Means

by Charles Paikert

NEW YORK — At first, it seemed like an unlikely combination: an accountant from New York managing Willie Nelson and Waylon Jennings, two of country music's most popular artists.

But the accountant, Neil Reschen, is as dedicated to the music business as his clients are to their music. Back in 1962, he knew that he wanted to become a personal manager. After doing tax work for record company executives, he obtained the necessary introductions and began to find clients, primarily in the rock and jazz fields.

In the late '60s, Reschen moved to Nashville and eventually became the personal manager of Jennings, Nelson, and Jessi Colter. Nelson and Jennings, who have a reputation for doing things in an unconventional manner, found their managerial match in Reschen.

"I don't have a contract with any artist," he says. "We make a handshake agreement based on trust. If either one gets unhappy with the other, we can leave."

The advantages? "You never have to renegotiate," Reschen answers. "Also, you know if your artist is happy with you, because if he isn't, he quits." And, Reschen adds, "I've saved a lot in legal fees."

Besides contracts, Reschen also doesn't believe in booking agents. "We help the artist book his own dates," he explains. "This way, we know the venues are proper, what the lighting and sound will be like, and we know the promoter. And the artist will be making five to six times what they would have otherwise."

Neither will Reschen seek a TV appearance for one of his artists. "I'm not particularly interested in TV," he claims. "In my opinion it shortens the life of the artist. You're giving away for free something that you're trying to sell."

The exposure TV gives the artists, he says, has little value "when I've had an act that's been touring for 20 years."

In fact, one of the phenomena of the music business has been the success of long established country artists like Jennings and Nelson in crossing over and becoming million-selling pop artists. "We didn't cross over," Reschen responds. "The audience crossed over, because of promotion and exposure. The audience simply began to appreciate what the artists had to offer them."

Reschen considers promotion a key to his job as manager, so much so that he has hired his own promotional team to go across country and promote his artists' product. In addition, he coordinates all public relations and publicity activities of a hand-picked in-house staff.

Reschen feels that this expanded approach to the music business has been absent from the Nashville scene until recently. "You'd have old-fashioned, conventional country artists. They were managed by a country manager, booked by a country booking agent, and promoted by a country promoter. They were happy to stay that way, and there was a vested interest for Nashville in keeping the artist a country artist."

Yet Reschen does not approve of another, more current trend. "There's the other type," he says. "Managers come rushing in from the north or the west because Nashville looks like a big gold mine. And they're trying to make every Nashville artist a contemporary artist."

Reschen, ever the maverick, is thinking way beyond contemporary with the careers of Waylon Jennings and Willie Nelson. He wants to create instantly recognizable, living legends.

"We no longer refer to either one by their last name," Reschen says. "We've purposefully dropped them, like Elvis, like Frank, like Miles. People should know who they are."

And if some people don't? "That's the whole purpose," Reschen responds. "It's going to create a mystique."

Twitty Bird Music Continues Growth With 600 Songs

Nashville-based Twitty Bird Music Publishing Company, headed by Conway Twitty, continued in 1977 to set a fast pace for both its publishing and production company.

L. E. White, administrator of Twitty Bird Music Publishing (BMI) and related companies, started when the catalog contained only six songs, and today reports the catalog contains over 600 copyrights. In addition to Conway and L. E., other writers include Jimmie Peters, Mickie McNair, Jollie Hollie, Jack Dunham, Galen Raye, Buddy Green and Larry Locke.

Twitty Bird's SESAC publishing arm is Hello Darlin! Music with writers that include Peggy Forman, Raymond A. Smith and Michael White, with a total of 18 song awards from SESAC.

Neverbreak Music, a division also of Twitty Bird, is their ASCAP publisher with writers that include John Riggs, Jerry McBee, David Barnes, Larry Jenkins, Jim Mundy and Aleene Jackson, who also serves as assistant administrator for the successful Twitty Bird group of companies.

Gene Kennedy Enterprises Hits The Charts

NASHVILLE — When Gene Kennedy left the security of a weekly paycheck to launch his own business, little did he realize that it would mushroom into one of the most thriving music complexes in Nashville.

But it has and even Gene is a little surprised at the magnitude and diversity Gene Kennedy Enterprises has realized since its inception in 1975.

Kennedy, a former entertainer turned top-notch promotion man of many hits by such as Loretta Lynn, Jerry Wallace, Conway Twitty, Cal Smith, to name a few, was more than a little apprehensive when he borrowed $7,500 to kick off his business.

He had enjoyed the security of being national promotion director for MCA Records, Ace of Hearts Records as well as national promotion director and sales manager for 4-Star Records. Throughout his efforts and under his direction, most all of their records hit the top of the charts.

With 18 years as an expert promotion man under his belt, Kennedy could have had his choice of jobs. Instead, through the encouragement of his wife, Kennedy opted for his own company.

Two-Room Basement

"We started out in a two room basement office that rented for $125 a month," Kennedy said. "I began in independent promotion, but my ultimate goal was to produce. I knew that would be slow in coming, but the promotion work would keep the door open."

The first independent promotion work for Gene Kennedy Enterprises was for Loretta Lynn. Then followed Bill Anderson, Jeanne Pruett, Cal Smith, Kenny Starr and the boom was on.

Kennedy had produced previous hit records, but not to the degree that he wanted to. Promotion work did open the door for producing and the first act Kennedy produced as an independent agent was Joe Brock on Roni Records. The record charted. Other acts began coming to Kennedy for production. He signed as exclusive producer for Linda Cassady and Rick Smith. Placing both of them on Cin-Kay Records, Kennedy produced four chart records on Cassady and two on Smith.

Kennedy's skill as a producer was becoming well known. He put together two young college graduates, Jim Taylor and Jerry Stone and recorded them as a duet. Both artists had come to Kennedy with song material and as potential recording artists.

"I was impressed by the type of material they were doing. Each wrote the same kind of melodies and lyrics as the other. They began working together on songs and then demoing them together. We wanted to record Taylor and Stone so that opened the door to start a record company," Kennedy said.

The debut of Taylor and Stone also marked the debut of Door Knob Records.

Publishing

In the interim, Linda, a novice at publishing, and one of the few women running a publishing company, was working to get their fledging publishing complex off the ground. Their publishing complex includes: Door Knob Music and Bekson Music, both BMI; Chip 'N Dale Publishing, Kenwall Music, Elixir and Don-Lin Music, all ASCAP.

With Gene Kennedy Enterprises headed in the direction of being a complete operation for their artists, only one area was left uncovered. But when Kennedy signed personal management contracts with Cassady, Smith and Taylor and Stone, that completed the diversification of his organization.

"We were working hard, putting in like 18 hours a day, seven days a week, but we were moving slowly in putting together a solid company. Suddenly it all mushroomed on us. Everything began falling into place and started moving so fast, it was unbelievable," Linda said.

Door Knob Records grew into an entity of solid stature with good recording acts like Peggy Sue, Sonny Wright, The Singing Blantons, Mary Lou Boggus, Nancy Rudd, and of course, Taylor and Stone.

In addition to his own labels, Kennedy is the exclusive producer for BMA Records, whose artists are Ken Shelton and Jerry Wallace; Chaplain Records whose major artist is Bob Harrington; and Friday Night At Home Records, owned by Taylor and Stone.

Purchased Company

Gene and Linda strengthened their promotion area earlier this year when they purchased World International Group (WIG), an independent promotion/distribution company.

Nashville NARAS Holds Showcases

NASHVILLE — This year the Nashville Chapter of NARAS introduced The NARAS Showcase, held in cooperation with local artists and record labels. The proceeds from the Showcases provide supplemental revenue to further develop and expand the Nashville Chapter activities and membership benefits.

The following record labels and their artists have already participated: Playboy Records, RCA Records, ABC/Dot Records, United Artists Country Records and MCA Records.

On September 27, the Nashville chapter presented the first annual WORST (World's Oldest Rock Singers Together) Showcase. Artists participating included Bob Beckham, Jimmy Bowen, The Champs featuring Dave Burgess, The Crickets, Jimmy Gilmer and the Fireballs, Bill Justis, Gene Kennedy, Carl Mann, Charlie McCoy and the Over-The-Hill Gang, Gary Miles, Bob Moore, The Newbeats, Carl Perkins, Johnny Wilson, and others.

For the first time since the formation of NARAS, associate members are represented on the local chapter board of governors. Two associate members were elected to the board of governors, Chick Doherty of MCA Records and David Pack, a prominent Nashville attorney.

Active NARAS members participate in the annual Grammy Awards voting. The Grammy is given in recognition of outstanding creativity in the recording industry.

Talent And Enthusiasm Key To Con Brio Records Plans

NASHVILLE — Con Brio Records has been operating now for just over two years. Based in Nashville, Tennessee, like most businesses, it has suffered the growing pains of learning to put the right people in the right position, when to say yes and when to say no, when to go with instincts and to make the decision and never look back.

Over the past year under the direction of Bill Walker, president and A&R director, whose close supervision and involvement with the artists includes choosing material, arranging and producing and performing on the sessions, and taking an active role in the day-to-day running of the company, Con Brio has had numerous chart successes with its artists Don King, Jan Howard, Dale McBride and Lori Parker.

The artists on the label represents a broad cross section of talent and also include two new additions to the roster, Debbie Grebel and Reg Lindsey, who recently received good national exposure with Con Brio releases.

The People

Apart from Bill Walker, who is president and A&R director for Con Brio, there are several people behind the scenes. Arriving in Nashville from Sydney, Australia in December 1974, Jeff Walker was the main catalyst in formulating Con Brio's path to solid credibility. He holds a bachelor of economics degree, with a major in accounting and mathematics, from the University of Sydney (Australia), and is also a member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants (majoring in law). Jeff is also a registered tax agent, and before arriving in Nashville, spent several years as an accountant for the Australian Certified Public Accountants firm of Touche-Ross Accounting.

Biff Collie is the promotional director of Con Brio Records. Born and raised in San Antonio, Texas, Biff began in "country radio" over 30 years ago. His creative contributions are recognized as key factors in the monumental growth and universal acceptance of country radio. Biff's long experience and background in radio and promotion served him well after his arrival here in Nashville, for Biff is now one of the most sought-after promotional men in town.

Biff also authors Con Brio's weekly Dateline, which goes to over 500 disc jockeys, music industry people and local newspapers, keeping them abreast of happenings at Con Brio. Rex Peer is the publishing director of Con Brio. Rex has had a long and distinguished career in the music business as a performing musician.

Rex's experience as a performing musician and his knowledge of all phases of the music industry bring an important ingredient to the vast potential present at Con Brio publishing.

Holding a bachelor of music and master of arts degree, he has performed throughout the world with many varied groups, from jazz to country. His most proud moments came while performing as featured jazz soloist with the great Benny Goodman Orchestra. Jeanine Walker is publishing co-ordinator and artist relations consultant for Con Brio Music. Jeanine holds a music education degree from the University of Mississippi and during her years at "Ole Miss," she developed into a top-notch singer. Her credits as a background singer would fill many pages; but let it be known that Jeanine has sung on many of the hit records to come out of Nashville. This unprecedented experience greatly qualifies her in judging both talent and song material, so essential to the success of a company such as Con Brio. Other members of the Con Brio staff include: Colin Walker (A&R assistant), Edie McCroskey (promotion assistant), Carrie Templeton (administration), Jeff Raymond (public relations), Lisa Demontbreun (receptionist/secretary) and John Golden (publicity).

The Distribution

Nationwide Sound Distributors of Nashville is the firm which handles distribution and marketing for Con Brio Records. Such essentials as sales, mailing, promo record copies and radio station contacts are provided by Nationwide, and these factors, when combined with the efforts of the Con Brio machine, have ensured a strong growth path in the last few months.

The Publishing

There are three publishing companies at Con Brio: Con Brio Music, BMI; Wiljex Music, ASCAP; and Concorde Music, SESAC. In January 1977, it was decided that expansion and dedication were to be brought to the publishing arms of Con Brio. The catalog of song titles now contains more than 400 in number, with a complete cross section of all types present. Country, country-MOR, pop, gospel, religious/sacred, pop rock, and all the types of songs are "pitched" with regularity to outside recording artists.

BEST WISHES — United Artists recording star Kenny Rogers and Marianne Gordon, currently starring on the television series "Hee Haw," were married October 2 in a private ceremony at Rogers' West Los Angeles home. Pictured following the ceremony are (l-r): John Davidson; Glen Campbell; Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Rogers; and John Denver.

Peer-Southern Is Now A Major Music Force Worldwide

NASHVILLE — Southern Music Publishing Co., Inc. was founded 50 years ago by Ralph S. Peer to complement his work as a field recording engineer in the southern United States. Thus it became the first link in the now worldwide Peer-Southern Organization.

While Southern Music remains PSO's flagship ASCAP firm, other Catalogs have come into the fold over the years, including Charles K. Harris, LaSalle Music, RFD Music and Panther Music.

Among the standards in PSO's ASCAP firms are: "Winchester Cathedral," "Return To Me," "You're Nobody 'Til Somebody Loves You," "Mockin' Bird Hill," "Waiting For The Robert E. Lee," "Soul Coaxing," "Lazybones," "An Old Christmas Card," "Stars In Your Eyes," "Down Yonder," "The Great Pretender," "Fascination," "Always In My Heart," "Lisboa Antigua," "J'Attendrai," "Down T' Uncle Bill's" and "Parlez-Moi D'Amour." Contemporary southern music artists include Meisburg & Walters (Casablanca) and Jeri Faktor & The Backporch Symphony (AVI).

In addition to the popular music catalogs, Southern Music has an extensive concert music repertoire and operates the Southern Library of Recorded Music, which now comprises 1200 hours of material. Among the library's many TV and radio themes is the "Mary Hartman/Forever Fernwood" song "You Have Never Been In Love."

New Publishing Company Formed: Ovation & Terrace

NASHVILLE — Dick Schory, president of Chicago-based Ovation Incorporated, and Al Jason, president of Terrace Enterprises, recently announced a new joint publishing venture in Nashville. Ovation Records, a relative newcomer to the country field, has their first hit in The Kendalls' single and album, — "Heaven's Just A Sin Away," a song published by Al Jason's Lorville Music.

The new publishing venture plans to sign several new staff writers and also will be negotiating for the purchase of existing copyrights and catalogs. The day-to-day operations of the Nashville office will be managed by Brien Fisher.

Ovation Records Riding High; Kendalls' 45 Tops CB Chart

GLENVIEW, ILL. — It's taken the Kendalls eight rough years in Nashville to finally find the right spark but now they're lighting up the country music scene. Their current single, "Heaven's Just A Sin Away," is currently one of the most requested country songs in the country and number one on the Cash Box Top 100 country chart.

The main ingredients igniting the Kendall's success are producer Brien Fisher and Ovation president Dick Schory. Earlier this year, Fisher came along looking for a strong act to kick off Chicago-based Ovation Records' move into country.

Fisher and Schory unearthed an old country standard, "Making Believe." Ovation believed that country listeners were ready for the Kendalls' sound and felt that they could have a smash with the song. The assignment for breaking the record was given to Nashville-based Joe Sun, Ovation's national country promotion director. After the session, everyone involved was confident that the record was a hit. Ovation quickly released it, only to discover that

Festival/Calliope Reaffirms Country Effort

NASHVILLE — As Festival/Calliope Records continues to burgeon forth on the contemporary scene, country music remains one of the cornerstones of the company, according to president Heyward Collins. "Our initial thrust in the record industry was based on country product because of the principles' close association with the style," he said. "Before Calliope ever branched into the pop field, we were committed to make sure that country music would remain one of the key foundations in the company."

Indeed, since its initial release of product by Chad Everett and Rebecca Lynn, Calliope has seen fit to pursue the field with vigor and commitment. The commitment was underscored by the signing of country favorite Dorsey Burnette. "Dorsey's been one of our most rewarding acquisitions," remarked vice president Rick Donovan, who heads up all the label's promotion in both the country and pop area with Julio Aiello, director of national promotion.

Burnette Album

Calliope's success with Burnette's "Things I Treasure" single boosted all the firm's releases. Burnette has followed up the single with an LP including the single, as well as freash interpretations of his standards "Tall Oak Tree" and "Hey Little One." The latest single, "Soon As I Touched Her," is also included on the album LP as well.

Barbara Wyrick, a petite young lady who hails from Muscle Shoals, is following Dorsey's footsteps. The composer of hits for such artists as Donny Osmond ("Little Bit"), Candi Staton ("Lovin' You, Lovin' Me" and "What Would Become Of Me"), Connie Cato ("Yes"), and Sami Jo ("Tell Me A Lie"), Barbara is well on her way to establishing herself as a major talent. The experience she gained as Engelbert Humperdinck's backup singer should prove invaluable when she takes to the road to promote her latest LP, simply titled "Barbara Wyrick."

Although Calliope has a barrage of country product coming out in the imminent future — including Don Miller's novelty gem "Disco Redneck," Mike Boyd's "Stop And Think It Over," and lovely Rebecca Lynn's "Bicycle Morning," — The label is mounting a campaign to promote a series of country releases playfully titled "Hit Kickers." The line of product will include tasteful packaging of vintage material by such top-selling artists as Freddy Fender, Ronnie Milsap, Mickey Gilley, Doug Sahm, Moe Bandy, Dale McBride, Tommy McLain, Doug Kershaw, and B. J. Thomas.

Publishing

In a recent expansion move, the label enanother top-selling pop/country act had recorded the same song and was planning to release it as a single.

Flip Side

Therefore, Fisher and Schory quickly decided to release a second single from the album. This second single, "Live And Let Live," was well received but several stations were reporting strong request action on the flip side. Schory flipped the disc to "Heaven's Just A Sin Away," and Joe Sun worked it all the way to the top.

After a period of trial-and-error, start-and-stop, the Kendalls and Ovation Records found each other in 1976. Jerry Gillespie's song, "Heaven's Just A Sin Away," is a direct result of that meeting which now firmly entrenches Ovation Records in the country music field.

Ovation has great plans for the Kendalls and a growing list of country artists. The label is in country music to stay and, judging by their first effort, they'll continue to be an important part of the country music scene.

tered the publishing field with the establishment of two budding pubberies: Tri-Song (ASCAP) and Tarugo (BMI) Music. Under these divisions, Calliope has been able to acquire publishing rights to such accomplished writers as Kenny Nolan, Burnette, Ronnie Turso, and Skip Sodie.

Festival president Jack Levy feels that with Calliope's continuing growth, the label will be able to present new country talent. "Working together with Heyward Collins, I feel our company has unlimited potential."

CMF Expansion Highlighted By Hall Of Fame And Museum

by Douglas B. Green

NASHVILLE — 1977 proved to be a year of unparalleled growth and expansion for the Country Music Foundation with the completion of the $1.2 million expansion which doubled the size of the Hall of Fame and Museum, and doubled the area of the Country Music Foundation Library and Media Center beneath it. The opening dedication and ceremonies were held May 6, and since that time visitors have come in record numbers to visit the magnificent new building.

Highlights of the expanded museum include a "country music backstage" area; a display of country instruments from homemade banjos to some of the rarest guitars ever made; a new theater in which Jimmie Rodgers' only film, a 13-minute 1929 short called "The Singing Brakeman," is shown regularly; an art gallery; an exhibit of country entertainers' costumes; a new film in the old theater area, "The Making Of Thomas Hart Benton's 'The Sources Of Country Music'"; and a touring entertainer's bus, complete with an explanation by a talking mannequin who calls himself Hank.

Presley's Cadillac

An exhibit of immediate popularity proved to be one of particular poignancy with the death of Elvis Presley in August: his 1960 "solid gold" Cadillac, long touted as his favorite among his many cars. Aglitter with gold-plated record player, shoe shiner, television set, comb and brush kit, bar, and other luxuries, it has attracted the attention of thousands of visitors.

Less visible to the public, but as important to the Foundation, was the expansion of the area beneath the Hall of Fame. Much of it provided new stack area for the Country Music Foundation Library and Media Center, which has been adding materials to its vast archives at such a rate that it has rapidly outgrown its stack area. The collection of records alone now amounts to over 65,000, and there are extensive holdings of printed materials (books, periodicals, and photographs), tapes, and films.

Expansion of the basement area also increased office space for the growing staff, storage for the museum, and new work rooms for various phases of Foundation activities.

Public Views Studio

Less than two months after the grand opening, the Country Music Hall of Fame took yet another unprecedented step when it opened RCA's studio B to the public on July 1, the first museum attraction apart from the Hall of Fame and Museum itself. Located a block and a half south at 17th and Hawkins, the studio (which continues to be a working studio at night, a part of its appeal), has become a popular tourist attraction in addition to the regular tour of the Hall of Fame and Museum.

On July 21 the Foundation Library and Media Center was presented with a collection of Roy Acuff materials accumulated over the course of some twenty-five years by Elizabeth Schlappi of San Diego. The collection, which is housed in a separate area of the stacks, consists of records, films, correspondence, printed materials, and memorabilia. Present at the ceremony was an obviously pleased Roy Acuff, who was inspired by Ms. Schlappi's donation to donate a wealth of materials from his personal collection to the Roy Acuff Collection at the Foundation Library.

Gallery Named

On September 8 yet another public function was held. This time to formally name the new art gallery at the Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum the Beverly Briley Gallery, honoring the ex-mayor of Nashville for his numerous efforts while in office toward making the dream of such a building as a Hall of Fame and Museum a reality. The gallery itself will feature rotating exhibits of country music-related art, and is dominated by the massive mural "The Sources Of Country Music," the final work by the reknowned Missouri artist Thomas Hart Benton.

As an indication of the growth of the Country Music Foundation, the size of the staff has expanded to some 27 people on the full-time payroll. Additions to the museum staff have included an assistant curator for the education department, an assistant curator for the Museum and the appointment of Jon Jager (formerly of Nashville's Cumberland Museum) to the newly created post of art director.

Other Country Music Foundation departments continue to grow as well: the fledgling education department has become a full-time job for Kyle Young — who also has taken over editorship of the Foundation's semi-scholarly quarterly The Journal of Country Music — as it attempts to reach and engage the youth of the Nashville area.

The Country Music Foundation Press will publish its sixth book in November, "Truth Is Stranger Than Publicity: Alton Delmore's Autobiography," an original work by the late Mr. Delmore of the legendary Delmore Brothers. More works, both reprints and original, are planned for next year.

In addition, the Country Music Foundation inaugurated a press information service to better inform both the industry and the fan of its many activities and remarkable diversity.

Laurel Tree Studio Gets A Facelift

NASHVILLE — Six months ago there wasn't a Laurel Tree Studio. Actually, there was a studio but the name wasn't Laurel Tree.

Laurel Tree Studio, located at 1526 Laurel Street across the street from the Hall of Fame Motor Inn in Nashville was renamed in May of this year after being purchased by Daniel Hsu. Renovations began immediately after the purchase.

The outside of the building was renovated to give it a rustic look as outside wood panelling was added. Inside, the front offices were completely remodeled to make it both interesting and "homey."

New personnel were added with Paul Richmond taking the reins as manager, Al Gore stepping in as chief engineer, Jim Rediker as assistant engineer and Wylene Francis being named office manager.

Paul Richmond was with Monument Studios, later Studio One, for seven years. Before that he worked as a mastering engineer for Mastercraft in Memphis where he mastered records for acts such as Led Zeppelin, Isaac Hayes, The Staple Singers and Johnnie Taylor.

Al Gore was formerly engineer at Fireside Studio before joining Laurel Tree. Prior to that he served as engineer at Music City Recorders and Starday.

At Richmond's direction, the studio room was tuned and the monitors completely altered. The studio has a 16 track Stephens board, two Studer two tracks and a Sphere console. It also has guitar amplifiers, grand piano, electric piano, drums, organ and vibes in-house. Laurel Tree also purchased a lathe for future installment.

Laurel Tree also features a tape copying service, transferring the recording at 30 i.p.s. for maximum noise reduction.

Tom T. Hall

It is difficult to add something new to the reams of paper that have been used to write compliments about Tom T. Hall and his unique songs. His singles in recent years have made the country music Top 10, many climbing to number one. And his albums are always Top 10. Which almost puts Hall into the living legend category. Almost, except that if it happened, Hall would probably laugh himself silly, and proceed to tear down that legend. He's that kind of guy.

His entrance into the music business came as a songwriter, and he was earning a nice living with such songs as "D.J. For A Day" and "Hello Vietnam." But in 1967, he decided to try recording his own songs, signing with Mercury Records.

He still continued writing for other people occasionally, with one of the songs being "Harper Valley P.T.A.," recorded by Jeanie C. Riley. The single eventually sold over two million copies. The result was an even heavier demand for Tom T. Hall-penned songs. In a few months, Hall's songs for other people occupied as many as six spots on the country charts.

Eventually Hall was so busy writing for himself that songs for others became few and far between. But it meant more hits for him. Songs like "The Year Clayton Delaney Died," "Old Dogs, Children, And Watermelon Wine," "I Love," "Sneaky Snake," and his more recent, "Faster Horses" and "Fox On The Run." In fact, the hits by Tom T. have been frequent enough to fill two best-selling greatest hits albums.

Republic Records Celebrates First Year Of Reactivation

NASHVILLE — In April 1977 Republic Records celebrated the first anniversary of its reactivation by Gene Autry.

The label, under the direction of Dave Burgess, has marketed sixteen single records in the year, along with an album featuring Kathy Barnes, and another by David Rogers. At the one-year mark, Burgess announced that Republic had set up direct distribution of all product. And in September an LP release project was begun.

This marketing project will be accomplished over an eight-week period and will consist of six albums. Two of the LPs feature Gene Autry. One, having never been released, is the first Autry gospel album, "Gene Autry Sings Songs Of Faith"; the other, "Gene Autry Classics" is compiled of the extraordinary standards of the Singing Cowboy.

The other LPs are David Rogers' "Lovingly," Ray Sanders' "I Don't Want To Be Alone Tonight," and Kathy Barnes' "Kathy Barnes Sings Gene Autry." Muench, R.R.'s pop group, will have its LP titled simply "Muench."

A single which has just been released is Kathy Barnes' "The Sun In Dixie."

Crystal Gayle

Take a little pop, country and blues — put them all together and you've got Crystal Gayle — an artist whose country feel is definitely apparent, yet because of her varied musical tastes, her own style is hard to categorize.

Crystal was born in the small eastern Kentucky town of Paintsville, where singing immediately became a part of her life since all four brothers and three sisters were involved with music. At the age of four, Crystal and her family moved to Wabash, Indiana where she actually got her first taste of performing live. And it was during her high school years that she performed in church, for charities and other civic organizations.

After graduation Crystal signed her recording contract with Decca Records, now MCA. Her first single, "I've Cried (The Blue Right Out Of My Eyes)" hit the top twenty on the country charts.

Ms. Gayle's musical roots are wide and varied, ranging from country to opera. She was also greatly influenced by the pop stars of the early sixties, such as Brenda Lee and Leslie Gore.

In January 1973, Crystal signed with United Artists Records. Her first UA single, "Restless," received heavy airplay and was a top 40 chart item. Through the success of "Restless," Crystal found herself performing in many of the top nightclubs across the country and appearing on major TV shows. She also performed at the 1976 Country Music Awards Show.

Burgess is assisted at Republic by Arnie Theiss, sales manager; and Gary Branson heads up the promotion department. Arlene Wey is office manager.

Republic artists are Kathy Barnes, David Rogers, Ray Sanders, Nate Harvell and Muench.

Burgess said, "It has been an exciting year . . . and next year will bring #1 records for Republic."

Singletree Music

Singletree Music will be four years old on January 1. Many copyrights have been added to the catalog by the efforts of staff writers Don Pfrimmer, Rick Klang, Gary Branson, and Dave Burgess, himself. A number of copyrights have become a part of the catalog by contracting of songs by free-lance songwriters. Singletree continues with administration of the Glen Campbell catalog, Fullness Music (Jerry Fuller), Bocephus Music, Inc. (Hank Williams, Jr.), the very broad Gene Autry catalogs, and Singletree's property, the Sage and Sand copyrights.

Progressive Artists Management, a division of Burgess-Hale, expanded further this year when R. David Ludwick became a full partner in the firm.

THIS AD IS IN HONOR OF AN AWARD.

The award we're saluting is a piece of paper that's 25 years old. It's been that long that BMI has been honoring the world's greatest Country writers and publishers.

We're proud to have been the first organization to recognize Country music with economic rewards. Twenty-five years ago we made our first Awards of Achievement to such talented people as Hank Williams, Marty Robbins, Boudleaux Bryant, Mitchell Torok, Faron Young, Ray Stevens, Bill Carlisle, Martha Carson and Chet Atkins...to name a few.

When we give out our awards this week—for the 25th year in a row—the names of some of the winners may be a surprise.

But the fact that you find them on a BMI award won't be.

Metropolitan Country Friends Educates New York On Music

NEW YORK — Now entering its fifth year, Metropolitan Friends Of Country has proven to be a most positive force for country music in the Metropolitan New York area.

Metropolitan Friends Of Country is the non-profit arts corporation dedicated to the cultivation of country music in the Metropolitan New York area. This organization works under the assumption that country music is actually alien to many native New Yorkers (if you grew up in New York you didn't grow up listening to "Grand Ole Opry" — in fact, until a few short years ago there wasn't even a major New York radio station playing country music) and goes to wherever New Yorkers congregate — schools, parks, shopping centers, museums and Lincoln Center For The Performing Arts — to present free professional country music productions. The organization is also aiding in integrating country music within the mainstream of Metropolitan culture.

The first concert featured local talent working without compensation and promoter Richie Allen paying expenses out of his own pocket. With the help of WHN radio the program was a success and civic organizations soon began contacting Allen to arrange similar concerts in other communities. This was the first free public country music presentation in New York City in almost a quarter of a century.

Promotional Vehicles

The free country music concerts presented by Metropolitan Friends Of Country now proves to be an excellent advertising and promotional vehicle for commercial interests. Three concerts have now been sponsored by the Exxon Corporation, three by the Lincoln Savings Bank, three by the Sunrise Mall, one by the Bergen Mall and many by civic and cultural organizations. Tens of thousands of people have thus far attended these concerts.

With the cooperation of ABC/Dot, Acuff-Rose, American Management, Atlas Artists, Buddy Lee Attractions, Capitol Records, Circle T Talent, Hickory Records, Polydor, Sunset Management, Top Billing and the individual artists, many major national attractions have now performed in this free concert series. Already participating have been Brook Benton, Bobby Borchers, Johnny Carver, Tommy Cash, Country Gentlemen, Paul Evans, Don Gibson, Freddie Hart, Barbara Mandrell, Tommy Overstreet, Chip Taylor, Merle Travis, Ernest Tubbs, Eric Weissberg, Kitty Wells, Bobby Wright and Johnny Wright.

Metropolitan Friends Of Country is governed by a distinguished and impressive board of directors whose members include Leonard de Paur (Lincoln Center For The Performing Arts), Richard Frohlich (ASCAP), Edward Salamon (WHN program director), Russell Sanjeck (BMI) and Charles Scully (SESAC & Country Music Association). The secretary is Pam Green (WHN music director), treasurer is Fred Wenzler (club owner) and vice president is Lee Arnold (WHN air personality). All concerts are booked, promoted and produced by Metropolitan Friends Of Country's president and promoter Richie Allen. The organization enjoys an excellent relationship with WHN radio, which provides extensive promotion and has WHN air personalities host these performances.

OAS Music Group Builds Publishing, Studio Activities

NASHVILLE — The OAS Music Group, a publishing company headed by Steve Singleton and Dave Bryant, consists of three publishing companies and a four track studio. The three publishing companies are Onhisown, BMI; Arian Publications, ASCAP; and Shadowfax, BMI.

Onhisown has exclusive writers Billy Ray Reynolds and Charley Sauls. During the past year there have been songs in the company recorded by Tanya Tucker and Barbara Fairchild and on a special album presented by National Geographic entitled "Westward Ho!" Country Artists Profile

Donna Fargo

Hectic tour schedules, constant songwriting, recording sessions sandwiched between the two — they're all constant companions to Donna Fargo. Sometimes, it must seem as if her golden Grammy hit records are mere incidents of a whole career which must be attended to diligently, nurtured constantly.

Since her arrival on the country scene in 1972 with the dual country-pop smash "The Happiest Girl In The Whole USA," the pretty singer-songwriter has demonstrated her talent repeatedly. A long string of successful, thoroughly enjoyable records and a growing national following are almost more than the former Mt. Airy, North Carolina, girl could have hoped for a few years ago. The release of her debut album for Warner Bros. in the spring of 1976, followed by "Fargo Country" and "Shame On Me" in 1977, left little room for speculation about the future directions her career would take; toward an even wider acceptance and higher respect.

While Donna describes herself in childhood as a "tomboy," it's clear that by adolescence she'd blossomed into an attractive young woman full of optimism and confidence. Surprisingly enough, music was not her foremost preoccupation. After high school she entered college, graduated and moved to southern California. There she began a relatively sedate life as a high school English teacher. Until she met Stan Silver.

Silver taught Donna to play guitar and became her first songwriting critic and, eventually, her producer. What had begun as a diverting sideline soon grew into a part-time avocation, then a full-time profession. Donna was still teaching high school, but performing country songs.

Ronnie Milsap

It is hard to believe that someone can sing country music for only two years and be named Country Music Association's Male Vocalist of the Year — but then, it is hard to believe someone could have as much talent as Ronnie Milsap.

Born in Robbinsville, North Carolina, a farming community with a population of 600 near the Tennessee-Carolina border, Milsap was blind from birth. At the age of five he was sent to the State School for the Blind in Raleigh and there discovered an aptitude for music. A violin virtuoso by the age of seven, at eight he played the piano and by twelve had mastered the guitar. Now he plays most of the keyboard, stringed, percussion, and woodwind instruments.

By 1966, Ronnie has formed his own band and gone to work, regularly playing the Playboy circuit and at colleges. He recorded for Scepter Records.

In 1969, he and the group moved to Memphis and started work at T. J.'s, a popular club there. They played all sorts of music — country, rock and jazz — and experimented with films and lights. Ronnie continued to record, turning out such hits as "Denver" and "Loving You Is A Natural Thing."

Still experimenting and searching for the right musical idiom, Ronnie began recording with Chips Records, and then with Warner Brothers. And though his records were successful, they were still not exactly what he wanted. "The only music I heard for the first six years of my life was country. It's hard to get away from those early influences. I have played, and can play, any kind of music, but you must do what your heart feels is right, and to me, that's country."

GRT Country Plans Show Early Success Says McEntee

NASHVILLE — Most of the projects advanced by GRT Records in 1977 have met with success. Some have met with extreme success, the label reports.

"We went into 1977 with a determined effort to expand our horizons," states national promotion director Tom McEntee, "and with that objective in mind, it was critical to our game plan that we show early success."

In April the company re-released "I.O.U." by Jimmy Dean. At the same time, GRT released a comedy LP, the politically satirical "Trust Me," featuring Hans Petersen impersonating President Jimmy Carter.

Before the dust had settled on both of these projects, GRT released "Telephone Man" by Meri Wilson, which is looming as the label's second gold record of this year. The first to reach the million-selling mark was Ronnie McDowell's single, "The King Is Gone."

At the same time, the label is working to develop two younger country acts; Johnny

Lee, the better known of the two, has already had two Top 20 records in the country charts this year with "Rambling Rose" and "Country Party" and the label expects even stronger response to his forthcoming single, "Dear Alice."

The second of the newer country acts is a group called Alabama, whose first single is "I Wanna Be With You Tonight."

Beyond its drive to establish new country acts, the label is also looking to become a figure in Top 40 and MOR areas with the forthcoming releases of WHAM, Shadrack, the Murphys, and David & Gayle, all of whom are predominantly pop-oriented.

With a label and staff as small as ours," says McEntee, "planning to develop this many acts at once is a highly ambitious goal. But we are truly excited about all of the product which is coming. We know it will take an enormous amount of blood, sweat and tears from everyone on the staff, but, by the same token, there's a greater feeling of pride with every inch of success and every new mountain we overcome."

IRDA Begins Fourth Year Of Nat. Independent Distribution

NASHVILLE — Now in its fourth year of national distribution for independent labels, IRDA has in the past year charted 18 singles and three albums. Randy Barlow's "California Lady" on Gazelle Records was the fifth successive chart record for that artist, and his latest release, "Walk Away," has all appearances of becoming number six. Among other chart records were "Tell It Like It Is" and "When A Man Loves A Woman" by John Wesley Ryles on Music Mill Records; "Music Matic" by the hit R&B group, Brick; "Dancing Free" by Hot Ice on Rage Records (a disco hit); and four chart singles by David Rogers and four by Kathy Barnes, both on the Republic label. There were also two chart albums by Gene Autry on Republic.

Shepherd Quote

The company's executive vice president, Mike Shepherd, says, "We are proud of our knowledgeable staff, including promo men

Keith Stewart and Bill Arnold, and our relationship with the radio stations has never been better. We have been even more discriminating about the records we will accept for distribution and have cut our release schedule down to no more than two to three records a week." In the past year the company has been involved in promotion of its product through radio contests, TV time buys, and direct sales through country music magazines, as well as normal promotion and sales channels. Records distributed by IRDA have been released throughout the world resulting, among other things, in a hit album for Stella Parton in Ireland and Australia. Shepherd further states, "Our future in this rapidly changing and complex industry is secure because of our proven expertise in promotion, sales and marketing." IRDA will shortly be announcing plans for distribution of a new major album line.

G. Hill & Co. Spots Range From Coke To U.S. Governm't

NASHVILLE — When country was just beginning to come into its own as a major popular music form Gayle Hill anticipated that Nashville would be the mecca of country and established a combination PR/jingle production firm in the music city in 1970, christening it G. Hill and Company. Through the ensuing years of the firm's development, it evolved into a purely musical production business, which has created spots for accounts from Coca Cola to the U.S. government.

G. Hill and Company won the Clio Award for the Coca Cola "Country Sunshine" spot which was produced by G. Hill and Company, in association with Billy Davis of the New York-based agency, McCann-Erickson, Inc.

During the past year, G. Hill and Company has been busier than ever, writing and producing audio spots for such accounts as Stouffer's American Family Bakery, which will begin airing nationally this fall; Rubbermaid's entire '78 TV campaign, slated to run next spring; the CMA's "Country Music Month" promotional spots to be run during the month of October on country radio stations across the nation; and various public service spots.

In fact, the commercial produced for the Hope Gas Company of West Virginia won the first place award for the top spot in all advertising media for a public utility in the United States. This award was presented to G. Hill and Company this past January.

Commissioned By VA

The firm was recently commissioned by the Veterans' Administration Public Information Offices in Washington, D.C., as a media consultant. In that capacity, the company will be doing a series of radio public service spots dealing with V.A. benefits.

Other accomplishments for this year include campaigns for Miller Beer, International Scout, Pittsburgh National Bank, and Coca Cola. Gayle Hill, the founder and driving force behind the company, is completely involved in all phases of production. Along with co-writers Cathy Manzer, Dennis Morgan, Mike Heeney, and Rod McBrien, she formulates the spots; then, with assistance from production head, Faye Hawkins, Gayle blends top Nashville musicians, singers, and recording facilities into a finished product.

G. Hill and Company is headquartered in its own building, on Music Row, at 1206 17th Avenue South in Nashville.

Nashville Mfg. Back In Business After Dec. Fire

NASHVILLE — Nashville Album Productions, Inc., 617 7th Ave. S., Nashville, offers a record manufacturing service to artists, independent record labels and recording studios in Nashville and across the nation. Co-owners June C. Black and Mary Farr report that the plant is back in full operation after a fire in December 1976 which destroyed their offices, art department and printing plant.

The plant has facilities for record manufacture and packaging, plus a complete art department for phototypesetting, design and layout of the album jacket in full color or black and white.

Eddie Rabbitt

While already established in country music circles as a proven songwriter of major hits, Eddie Rabbitt traces his "country roots" to Brooklyn, N.Y., where he was born November 27, 1944. Moving to East Orange, N.J., the following year, Rabbitt grew up with rock 'n' roll and his father's classic Irish fiddle music, as well as the country classics that would shape his own writing.

Eddie's first involvement as a musician began with his scoutmaster, an avowed "C&W freak" whose impromptu picking while on a hike led to Eddie's love affair with guitar. Soon, Rabbitt was teaching himself on his first guitar, soaking up the classic songs of his early favorites, Hank Williams, Johnny Cash, Roy Orbison, Buddy Holly and, of course, Elvis Presley.

As a teenager he formed a band to play the circuit of small Jersey bars where country music was a staple. Tiring of "just picking," he began writing as well, and soon began looking for a publisher, though he "didn't know a song publisher from a McDonald's stand." Yet by the end of his first day the professional manager of a major publishing house offered Eddie his first writing job, earning the princely sum of $25 a week.

That first modest stint helped him to meet other writers and performers. He continued his writing and made periodic visits to New York, where he met Dick Heard, then with a major publishing house. Heard was working with fledgling country performers, and his Greenwich Village apartment became a rallying point for Rabbitt.

That interest in country led Eddie to Nashville. Arriving on Music Row in 1967, Rabbitt was still struggling, spending his first night in a fleabag hotel. That evening he summed up his predicament in a new song, "Workin' My Way Up To The Bottom," that ironically proved his first breakthrough as a country writer. Roy Drusky heard the song and liked it, recording it to give Eddie his first exposure to Nashville writers and performers.

Rabbitt signed a songwriting contract with Hill & Range Music in 1968 and shortly thereafter Elvis Presley recorded his "Kentucky Rain," which became a major hit. His stature as a writer was now established as two more Presley recordings of Rabbitt songs followed.

More recording activity followed, as pop artists like Tom Jones, O.C. Smith and Lee Hazelwood recorded Rabbitt songs like "The Bed" and "Sounds Of Goodbye"; at the same time, his acceptance among country artists continued to build, now extending to the new breed of performers like Willie Nelson. More chart success followed as the list of believers grew to include Mel Street ("Lovin' On Borrowed Time," written with Street and Dick Heard), Terry Stafford ("Captured," written with Rory Bourke) and Ronnie Milsap ("Pure Love").

By 1973, Eddie had begun recording his material with the help of a youthful but imaginative engineer, David Malloy. Eddie himself had long been at home recording his own backing tracks, overdubbing all instruments,

Jessi Colter

Jessi Colter took her professional name (with a slight spelling change) from Jesse Colter, her great-great-uncle who was an outlaw and counterfeiter in the 1870s with the Frank and Jesse James gang. Jessi's outlaw blood is manifest in her music and the only shooting she does is up the charts.

Jessi is married to the number one musical outlaw and renegade, Waylon Jennings, and she shares his ability to transcend musical boundaries and categories while refusing to be pigeon-holed or limited. The couple fights for what they believe in: the right to perform the music they choose the way they want.

Her fourth Capitol album is "Mirriam," produced by Ken Mansfield and Richie Albright. Her previous Capitol albums are "I'm Jessi Colter," "Jessi," and "Diamond In The Rough." All three hit the Top 10 on the national country charts and crossed-over onto the pop charts as well.

Jessi's first Capitol single, "I'm Not Lisa," was an across-the-board hit. It went to No. 1 on the country charts and hit the Top 5 in the pop listings. Her next single was a double-sided hit. "You Ain't Never Been Loved (Like I'm Gonna Love You)" (which she wrote three days after meeting Waylon) was backed with "What's Happened To Blue Eyes" and together they hit the pop charts as well as the country charts where they ended up in the Top 5. Her string of hits has continued with "It's Morning (And I Still Love You)" (Top 10 on the country charts), "Without You" and "I Thought I Heard You Calling My Name" (a Top 30 country hit).

On the cover of her latest album it reads: "Mama Named Me Mirriam; I'm Jessi For A Song." She was born Mirriam Johnson in Phoenix, Arizona, where she was raised, the sixth of seven children. Her father was a race car builder, a mechanical expert, a mining engineer and an inventor (with several patents to his name). Her mother was in the cosmetic business and ran a hotel before being converted and saved at the age of 27 and becoming a minister. Jessi became the church pianist (and sometimes accordian player) when she was 11-years-old. At that age, she decided she would center her life around music.

Jessi first saw Waylon Jennings perform in a Phoenix club called JD's. Soon after he invited her into the studio and she sang a duet with him while standing on a box to reach his microphone. By that time she had already written songs for Dottie West, Don Gibson, Nancy Sinatra and others.

Less than a year later they were married. She recorded an album, "A Country Star Is Born" for RCA and several singles, some of which were repackaged on "The Outlaws" album which earned her a Gold Record Award. Through the early seventies she concentrated on raising her child and helping Waylon with his career (including singing on several of his albums). Finally she resumed her career by signing with Capitol and establishing herself once again in music as a solo artist.

"I think I just relate with dramatic music a lot of things that every woman has felt about some man somewhere," she says.

Nashville Is Going Through Changes

Special, this year the Nashville office received only a light influx of country albums in October.

POSITIVE EFFECT: LESSENING OF NASHVILLE'S COUNTRY STIGMA. Due to its cheek to cheek relationship with country music, and worldwide reputation as "The Capitol of Country Music," Nashville has been branded with a country stigma. That is, artists have been afraid to record in Nashville for fear of being labeled country. Although artists like Ray Stevens, Elvis, and Bobby Goldsboro have recorded openly in Nashville, many pop acts that come to Nashville to record, maintain a very low profile while in the city, refusing to allow any publicity on the fact that they record in Nashville.

Recently, however, with the new crossover energies, some pop talent is coming to view Nashville as the creative center of the future (in addition to finding the less hustle-bustle atmosphere of Nashville more creatively conducive than larger cities). Last year pop stars Dr. Hook moved their entire operation to Nashville, hit pop writer Roger Cook recently moved his operation from England to Nashville, and Nashville studios seem to be experiencing an upswing in pop business.

At Lee Hazen's Studio by the Pond, where Ron Haffkine, producer of Dr. Hook, works exclusively, and where Kyle Lehning, producer of England Dan and John Ford Coley, does his sessions, they have also been recording Parker McGee, Tom Powers, and Marie Cain. Quadraphonic Studio, long the pop bastion of Nashville, continues to draw acts such as Jimmy Buffett and Dan Fogelberg. Buzz Cason's Creative Workshop was the site of the latest Dave Loggins album project, and Chaps Moman's American Studio has become headquarters for pop and country talent that centers around Waylon Jennings. Glaser Studio, Jack Clement's Studio, Sound Stage Studio, Woodland Studio, and Sound Shop Studio, are also all involved in recording pop talent.

Negative Effects

NEGATIVE EFFECT: LOSS OF AUTONOMY. In the last year or two, significant decision making powers have been shifted from Nashville to head offices at at least three labels — MCA, UA, and Capitol. Interestingly, however, apprehension over possible loss of autonomy tends to be expressed by Nashville executives who currently have high levels of autonomy in their Nashville operations.

Historically, Nashville record operations have obtained decision making authority from L.A. or New York home offices by staking out a claim to be the most expert decision makers regarding country music. "If you look at the labels who have moved their decision making processes from Nashville to home offices," says ABC/DoT's Baunach, "I believe you will find the reasoning that, if the action in country is in crossover (i.e. pop) material, then the L.A. office feels they know more about pop than the Nashville office does." Such decision making transfers, Baunach says, hurt Nashville's "bed of authority" and mean that "the strength of the country music business in Nashville is being attacked."

RCA's Bradley says he feels labels are "making a horrible mistake" to move decision making out of Nashville. The proof of this, he feels, is that some of Nashville's most successful operations are those with the most autonomy. "You take the success of RCA and Columbia," he notes. "Then look at those who were in here with strength. They are going downhill. Elektra, on the other hand, has been letting more decisions be made here recently, and they are doing well.

"Nobody," he asserts, "can make a decision about country music better than the people who have the roots and the feel for it. I have operated the other way — the 'we send you the money and you send us the tape' way — and it's not good at all."

On the other hand, some feel Nashville has actually gained in overall autonomy in the past few years. "Up until very recently," says longtime Nashville promotion man Frank Mull, "business decisions were made in L.A. for all labels. It's only recently that you've seen decision making powers put into Nashville at labels like RCA and CBS."

Straight Artists Slighted

NEGATIVE EFFECT: OLDER ARTISTS IN A DILEMMA. "The straight country artists are being slighted by everybody," says ABC's Baunach. Pushed aside by country radio's reach for broader demographics, many straight country records "are too country to be played on country radio," he ironically notes.

Underlying this trend, Baunach sees a fundamental change in the criteria of country music programming. Formerly noted for loyalty to its artists, country radio would play record after record by an artist who had had only one major hit, but who was near and dear to country listeners. That day is no more. "Stations have changed their criteria of programming from the familiarity of hit artists to the familiarity of hit records," Baunach says. "Today a country artist is only as good as his current hit."

Furthermore, Baunach sees a prejudice against main-line country acts. "I'd much rather work a new artist without any image at all," he asserts, "than an old artist with a cold image."

Where does this put old warhorse labels, such as MCA, who are heavily laced with straight country acts such as Loretta Lynn and Conway Twitty? The feeling seems to be that if you have enough strong straight country artists, then by combining them all, a label can still function well. Also, if it has enough old masters on the artists, then the label can repackage old product and make money. "But the economic future for straight country music is not there," Baunach maintains.

NEGATIVE EFFECT: BASTARDIZATION OF COUNTRY CHARTS. Due to crossover action, records tend to stay at number one on the country charts for more than one week due to pop, not country airplay, Baunach asserts. As for the album charts, he believes they are so intermingled with pop influence, they should simply be called the Crossover Charts. Some also feel that as labels move advertising on country artists into the pop sections of trade magazines, in an attempt to cross the act over, this has a tendency to weaken the country sections in the national trade papers. Overall, this results in a loss of influence for country music.

Country Radio

As the preceding strongly indicates, the identity of country music is unalterably pegged to the direction of country radio. Loss of identity by country music and loss of identity by country radio go hand in hand. It is a continuous feedback cycle: the type of music produced influences the type of programming, and the type of programming influences the type of music produced.

During the past year, country radio has continued a strong move to broaden its demographic base. As UA's Seabolt says, "A country station is no longer competing with another country station down the block; it's competing with the rocker down the street."

This is partially an outgrowth of what Stan Byrd, head of country promotion at Warner Bros., refers to as "a confused top-40 picture." AM radio is currently under serious attack from FM radio on two fronts. On the one hand, it is losing its hold on the 12-30 age bracket to whom FM is cool, hip, and where the progressive rock action is. On the other hand, mellow-music FMers have strong appeal to the more adult, crucial, 25-34 age bracket. With AM stations tending to relinquish the teens to FM, a terrifically competitive situation has been created in the AM market for the critical 25-34 group. (Why is this age bracket so important? "The 45-60's have already bought everything," explains UA's Seabolt "The 12-18 year olds don't have any money, so the prime buying group are young couples and career people. And they seem to enjoy what I call 'country-like' music.")

In the pursuit of "country-like" music, AM pop and rock stations are reaching over into country radio for softer sounding country music with a pop feel (Waylon, Crystal, Ronnie, et al.). Meanwhile, country radio, which wants to extend its traditional top-heavy 30-54 demographics to the broader, more purchasing oriented 25-54 age bracket, is reaching over into rock radio for soft, country-influenced pop music (Tom Jones, Engelbert Humperdinck).

Thus, overall, AM radio is becoming increasingly more homogenized.

"They play ours, and we have to play

World Wide Music Designed To Fill Needs Of Small Labels

NASHVILLE — World Wide Music, Inc., was founded in October 1976 by Clyde Brown to provide a legitimate independent promotion and distribution firm that had stable financial backing for small labels with quality product and good artists.

"We saw a critical need for a good promotion/distribution company that would and could financially take care of any small label that had a hit record. To say that we didn't go into the business to make a profit would be untrue — we did. But we saw a need and felt that we could meet it," Brown said.

Under the umbrella of WWM, Brown established True Records, a label devoted entirely to building good recording artists; and Tackhammer and Wee-B-Music Companies in the publishing division.

To head up World Wide Music, Inc., Brown selected Howard A. Knight, Jr. as his executive vice president. Within months, Brown made Knight president and turned the reins over to him totally.

"It didn't take long for me to know that I had the best man for the job and I just wanted to give him head and let him go. We haven't regretted this decision," said Brown, who stepped up as chairman of the board of directors.

With Knight at the helm, the company began to move in a positive direction. More emphasis was placed on building a record label with a selected roster of good commercial artists, and less on promoting and distributing for other labels. Eventually, Knight phased out this division altogether, taking his promotion/distribution staff into a concentrated effort solely on True Records.

Knight co-ordinated a "recognition advertising campaign to let people know what we were doing and who we were, that we had good saleable product and were able to back up our artists all the way." This campaign was conducted in the music trades, consumer press and on major radio stations.

In search for good commercial artists who were also exceptional performers, Knight selected and signed to True Records Claude King, Leon Everette, Dave Conway, Tiny Tim and Gloria Glore.

Knight was the first producer in Nashville to cut a tribute record to Elvis. He was already in the studio recording Everette's first session for True when news of Presley's death reached them. Knight had Everette to cut "Goodbye King Of Rock 'N Roll" within hours. Less than 48 hours later the records were in radio stations.

"Leon's record did not chart, but to date it has sold more than 100,000 copies. We have just released Leon's first album, titled 'Goodbye King Of Rock 'N Roll,' but it is not a tribute album to Elvis. We just titled it after the single due to the heavy sales on it. We just moved the release date up on the LP also," Knight pointed out.

True has also released two other albums. "Claude King's Greatest Hits Volume One" was the first. "We went into the studio and cut 10 of Claude's greatest hits, capturing the original sound as much as possible. In fact, some of the songs came off better than the originals," he added.

The third LP, just released, is Nathan David's "Prairie Tales" album of songs of the prairie, most of them written by Nathan.

Knight declined to discuss the progressive merchandising and marketing system he has devised for True. "I don't want anyone else doing it. I will say this, though — the system has worked exceptionally well for us in the past six months and we will be going into greater depths with it in the next few months," he stated.

'Innovations'

"There are many innovative and progressive changes taking place within our company. We are in the business to make money, to build artists and to build a respected company that will be here for a long time. We feel that we are on the right track, doing things the right way, and we are very happy with our direction.

"I think we have assembled one of the most competent staffs in the music business. Along with Jerry Hayes, our promotion director who is completely in charge of our promotion staff, we have Debi Ward, director of the sales staff; Shirley Sans, a top-notch executive secretary and accountant; and LaWayne Satterfield, who is in charge of public relations for our company.

"With the record company well on its way to becoming a major, we'll be giving more emphasis to our publishing division," Knight added.

Working in the area of publishing also is Spider Rich, who wrote Boots Randolph's hit, "Yaxety Axe."

some of theirs," says Joe Ladd of KIKK in Houston. (KIKK programmed recent Tom Jones, Engelbert Humperdinck, and Rita Coolidge records.) "However," he complains, "I think they are able to play more of our music than we are of theirs. For us, the record must have a little country identification in the lyrics or instrumentation. Generally, we cannot play records with horns or black backup singers, although I believe I could have broken Paul Simon's 'Love Me Like A Rock.'

Listening To Rockers Too

"I know my country audience is listening to rock stations, too," Ladd admits. "Plus," he points out, "sometimes the rock audience is fooled. On rock stations, artists like Waylon and Crystal are not identified with country. Rock listeners don't really understand where these artists are coming from."

These swapping dilemmas, plus a growing contingent of "switch listeners," that is, listeners who tune in to more than one type of station (see article on Arbitron survey in the regular country section of this issue), has led to the growth of the country station which many in country music don't feel is a country station at all. These stations, generally using a tight top-40 format, program a mix of pop, rock, and country.

"There is no country radio," states Warner Bros. Byrd, "really, it's just radio. We're looking at WHN's (New York City) and WMAQ's (Chicago). They're not country radio, but maybe they don't try to be. They're just trying to be well-programmed stations."

Relatively speaking, Frank Mull sees hybrid stations like WHN as a definite plus to country radio. "Compared with what we had before, in New York," he says, "this is a country station. It has broadened country's appeal." Frances Preston at BMI agrees. "Before WHN, you could not sell a country record in New York City," she says. "It has opened doors."

Competition for the softer-music oriented 25-34 age group has also resulted in some changeovers by rock stations to a country format. Most notable in the past year was the switch of 50,000 watt WDDY in Minneapolis, a former top-40 station. "They had previously been a very conservatively managed station, a Storer station," said Byrd, "and for them to make such a radical move is very significant." KLVJ Radio in Beaumont, Texas, which changed from a rocker into a "modern country" station this year, has experienced tripled ratings and a 25% increase in ad revenue, despite competition with three other country stations in that market.

The "new" country disc jockey is also a significant factor in the growth of homogenized radio. As pop and rock DJs pass age 30, "they are getting out of rock, because they can no longer stand the noise," says Ladd at KIKK. Although these disc jockeys are genuinely attracted to the softer country sound, they are also bringing their pop tastes with them. This, some feel, makes them susceptible to a more pop sounding country record. Consequently, it is said, country producers, who know their first audience is the disc jockey and not the public, are producing their records to appeal to the DJ's pop-oriented ear.

"Producers are making records for programmers rather than people," asserts WKDA's Acree. "And some programmers are not wanting to play records that country listeners are willing to go out and buy." Conversely, Acree asserts, among the records that do get programmed, are records the public will not buy.

There is also increasing criticism that country DJs are not willing to play many records the public would want to hear, if they were ever given a chance to hear them. This is the problem of increasingly tight top-40 style playlists on country stations.

Promotion men unanimously agree that it is becoming harder and harder to break new artists on country radio. Not only because of tight playlists, but also because of conservatism — more and more, stations will only play records already established on the national country charts. A vicious cycle is created: you have to be on the charts to get played, and to get played you have to be on the charts.

"Some stations are afraid of anything that hasn't been proven," asserts Ladd, stating that his station has been responsible for breaking "15 or 16 acts in the past five or six years." (Freddy Fender, Mickey Gilley, Roy Head, Randy Cornor, Gene Watson, Frenchie Burke). If a station is only going to play what is already on the national charts, then "all that fancy research they do, what is it for?" Ladd asks. "I think they are cheating their own particular market and audience. We are looking for our own sound, and, frankly, couldn't care less what is happening in Milwaukee."

Acree, whose station programs 50 records and does play uncharted artists, sees the conservatism of playlists extending down to the distributor level. "We go on a new record, artist, or label, and the shops won't stock it," he reveals. "The stores don't want to take a chance. Nobody wants to take a chance."

Stations want record labels to prove a record is "a growing national hit before they will play it," says Baunach. "A growing national hit used to be 70 with a bullet, then it became 50 with a bullet, now it's got to be in the 30s or 40s with a bullet."

As for how to break this cycle, no one seems to really know. "It certainly is a problem, isn't it?" Frank Mull sighs. "You can't really go to secondary stations, because they are so spread out, you can't develop any strong marketing base. So, you still have to hammer away on the big guys."

Amidst the musical change and re-definition, Nashville, as a music center, appears to be in a bullish condition — growing and expanding into more diversified musical areas.

Gospel Music

In addition to the growth in pop recording, gospel music is having a strong effect on Nashville — both dollar-wise and in terms of creativity. At Masterfonics, for example, often considered pop oriented, gospel accounts for a full 50% of their business.

The days of the southern gospel quartets having passed, much contemporary gospel music sounds virtually identical to top quality rock and pop music. Lyrically, gospel has given rise to a whole new interpretation of the phrase "double meaning." In gospel music, this now means lyrics — such as "loving him" — which can be interpreted both secularly and in Christian terms.

Gospel records are now being promoted pop. In a letter promoting a new album on artist Evie, Word Records announced "the biggest promotion in Word history" and requested a pop review on the record. In Nashville, there seems to be a movement toward producers being simultaneously involved in both pop and gospel, or in pop, gospel, and country. For example, long-time pop hitster Gary Paxton ("Monster Mash") now produces gospel as well as country acts like Vern Gosdin. Pop and country session guitarist Chris Christiansen is producing gospel as well as pop product on B.J. Thomas.

On the worldwide front, BMI vice president Frances Preston cites strong international moves country music has made in 1977, spearheaded by the Country Music Association's international push for the year. "There has been a strong English interest in Nashville this year," she says, "with Roger Cook moving here and hit songwriter Barry Mason coming here to record. It seems every day in our office, there's another Englishman walking in." Preston also reports interest in Nashville from Japanese and German writers, attracted to the city by country music and the "calm and informal" atmosphere in Nashville studios.

Among their international activities, the Country Music Association, for the first time this year, staged a country music showcase at Musexpo; and this year the CMA board of directors held a quarterly board meeting at the MIDEEM conference.

Preston also sees a broadening of the types of creative activities in Nashville, particularly in terms of movies which are shot in Nashville, feature Nashville talent, and utilize Nashville music. In addition, she notes an increase in Nashville songs being used as television background music. "Each day," she states, "we receive more interest from the coast in Nashville music."

Alongside the musical developments, although probably entirely separate from them, Nashville has undergone a huge boom in tourism. It is a mecca for travelers who want to see the capital of country music. Two strongest evidences of the increasing dollars in tourism were this year's total remodeling and expansion of the Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum, and the completion of the 800-room Opryland Hotel complex at Opryland.

Amidst all the growing, change, perplexity, and optimism, one fact stood out undeniable, yet sad. What was the most important development in country music this year, Cash Box asked Tree Publishing vice president Don Gant. He replied without hesitating. "Elvis died."

Acuff-Rose Strong After 35 Years

The year was 1942 — Roy Acuff's popularity was soaring as a performer, Fred Rose was becoming one of the most popular and successful songwriters of all time. Between the two, Acuff-Rose Publications, Inc. was consummated on a handshake, a signal achievement in the music industry. Four years later Fred Rose persuaded his son, Wesley, to join the company as general manager. Wesley still holds this position and is now co-owner of this vast empire of music enterprises.

Ten years later, Acuff-Rose started their own recording company, Hickory Records. Some of the early successes were "Good Deal, Lucille" by Al Terry, and "Louisiana Man" by Rusty & Doug Kershaw. Hickory has enjoyed some pop success with the 1961 Sue Thompson hits "Sad Movies," "Norman" and others. The Newbeats scored with "Bread and Butter." Hickory is now bigger and better than ever through its new affiliation with ABC Records. It is now Hickory/ABC and continues to grow.

From its inception Acuff-Rose has enjoyed remarkable success in merchandising sheet and printed music through some 35 to 40 jobbers. The sales of the first Roy Acuff songbooks contributed substantially to the income at Acuff-Rose in its infant years. Another big seller was the Chet Atkins guitar method followed by the Floyd Cramer songbook, The Everly Brothers and many more. "Tennessee Waltz" has sold over one-and-a-half million copies of sheet music. "I Can't Stop Loving You" and "Last Date" have done almost one-half million. The four Hank Williams songbooks have been tremendous sellers for 25 years. The current best seller, sheet music-wise is Linda Ronstadt's revival of Roy Orbison's "Blue Bayou."

In 1959, the Acuff-Rose Artists Corporation was formed. Howdy Forrester and Ron Woolman head the organization which handles the bookings of Roy Acuff, Don Everly, Bill Monroe, Mickey Newbury, Roy Orbison and Sammi Smith, some of the world's finest talent.

Moving competitively and innovatively, veteran music man, Ed Penney, just recently joined the Acuff-Rose professional staff. Ed has a wide range of experience in all facets of the music business. Don Powell is now in charge of the promotion department, and Bob Jennings has been named public relations director.

Chart Songs

For the last few years, Acuff-Rose has had from 45 to 50 chart songs per year. As this story goes to press, almost 40 Acuff-Rose songs have hit the national charts already this year which promises to make 1977 one of the most successful in recent years.

After 35 years in business, the Acuff-Rose owned companies now catalog almost 8,000 copyrights. Many of them have been hits, many award winners. Our current staff of approximately 30 writers are bringing in new material daily. Songs from two of the greatest catalogs, Fred Rose and Hank Williams, continue to be recorded over and over again, and the momentum continues to build at Acuff-Rose, A People Company.

Columbia Relies On Its Large Roster Of Country Artists

NASHVILLE — "With a roster full of incomparable explosive talent," emphasized Joe Casey, director of national sales and promotion, Columbia country, "Columbia Records this past year saw sales rise to an all-time high, as we continued to produce and market product that appeals to the total spectrum of the country music-buying audience."

One of the foremost examples of "explosive" Columbia talent is Willie Nelson, who during this past year's CMA Awards Show added numerous awards to his credit. Nelson has seen both phenomenal album and singles successes this past year with his "If You've Got The Money Honey (I've Got The Time)" single, as well as his spiritually-flavored "Troublemaker" album. "Uncloudy Day," Nelson's hit single from the "Troublemaker" LP landed top five, and already having attained the number two position is Nelson's "To Lefty From Willie" album. His "Sound In Your Mind" LP reached gold status. Nelson's current single, "I Love You A Thousand Ways," is following his consistent hit pattern. Again this year nominated with Waylon Jennings for vocal duo of the year, Nelson's "Red Headed Stranger" LP is now platinum.

Johnny Duncan

"During the course of less than one year, Columbia recording artist Johnny Duncan has experienced a popularity explosion at both country radio and sales levels," according to Casey, "that has resulted from the culmination of carefully selected recording material, extensive airplay, and a widely-increased and expanded touring schedule." Duncan's recent success has been led by hits "Stranger," "Thinking Of A Rendezvous," and "It Couldn't Have Been Any Better," all of which received substantial MOR and top 40 airplay.

Epic Emphasizes Its Roster Development And Crossover

NASHVILLE — In the past 12 months, Epic Records has pioneered multi-format development of the diverse musical talent existing not only on the roster, but in Nashville. Roy Wunsch, director of national country sales and promotion for Epic and CBS associated labels, commented on the progress attained in this area: "Epic has demonstrated relentless effort to enhance the super prominence of its 'mainstays' while at the same time developing new talents which have served to strengthen Epic's hold on the ever-broadening musical spectrum. Subsequently, the result has been the emergence of a roster with an incomparably high energy level."

Epic's number one success story of this past year has been country music's "First Lady," Tammy Wynette. "This past year saw Tammy make a strong mark on contemporary audiences," Wunsch commented, "without losing popularity in the mainstream of country music." With such #1 releases as "You And Me" and "Let's Get Together (One Last Time)" Tammy climbed to new heights, and with the release of "One Of A Kind," the Wynette musical explosion is gaining momentum. Now well over the 19-million mark in record sales, according to Epic, the country superstar keeps rising.

Charlie Rich

With success of his "Rollin' With The Flow," Epic entertainer Charlie Rich gained marked recognition from not only country radio, but top 40 as well. This past year saw Rich's "Very Special Love Songs" album reach the gold status while his "Silver Fox" LP is approaching the same gold sales rating.

Johnny Paycheck won critical acclaim for his #1 record, "Slide Off Your Satin Sheets." The Epic artist then repeated his hit-producing formula with "I'm The Only Hell My Mama Ever Raised," and with its success saw his audiences explode in numbers.

"Sat. Nite Dance," starring Epic artist Joe Stampley, advanced his album sales level to the highest of his career. With continued brilliance in production with cohort Norro Wilson, Joe's endeavors this past year have brought him multiple chart successes such as "There She Goes Again" and "She's Long Legged."

The legendary, traditional appeal of George Jones continues to make him one of the most sought after of all country entertainers. With such chart-topping singles as "Her Name Is," "O! King Kong," "If I Put Them All Together, I'd Have You," and his "George Jones Greatest Hits Volume I" and "I Wanna Sing" album success, Jones has maintained his consistent history of fine recordings. The "Greatest Hits Volume I" LP features a collection of 10 newly-recorded Jones classics spanning his first 14 years of recordings. The LP is the first collection of its kind.

CBS Records "Blitz" was a well-received marketing venture for the country music industry and increased the sale of both new and catalog product releases far beyond forecasts, CBS said, as well as into markets never before penetrable. The campaign was further refined by CBS through market research for their subsequent May, August, and October album programs. This CBS program was, thereafter, adopted by other record labels with different campaign titles.

CBS Records became the first to sponsor a national debut of a country album when over 60 radio stations throughout the U.S. simultaneously programmed Johnny Cash's album "The Rambler" in its entirety July 17.

The company was also the first to host a seminar specifically for the labels' country artists, their producers, managers, and agents, to define and discuss the sales, promotion, merchandising, graphics, press and artist development facets of country music marketing.

Another country music first occurred when CBS teamed efforts with Dallas-based KBOX Radio and major record accounts in the Dallas region in a single records merchandising plan. The nature of this "Divider Cards Program" has boosted country music singles sales at retail, country radio station ratings, and the availability of country singles to consumers. By design it provides a venue for singles availability at retail locations which had not previously stocked country selections or had not provided a broad selection. The tangible success of the "Divider Cards Program" in Dallas has spurred CBS to coordinate the program's adoption in Los Angeles, Cleveland, and Fort Worth. Blackburn said, "The proof is there; the old excuses that country singles do not sell is being proven false. This program was initiated by CBS, but benefits the industry's country singles sales for every record label."

One of the most unique artist development campaigns ever undertaken in the country industry occurred when CBS/Nashville and King's Island family entertainment center in Cincinnati joined forces. The venture centered around a double weekend of CBS country artists' concerts at King's Island.

Discount Coupons

Utilizing new and catalog Columbia and Epic album product, discounted park admission coupons, national and local ad dollars with dealer and radio involvement, artist press conferences, and in-store merchandising, CBS' Cincinnati branch sales office tripled its sales volume in a four-state territory; park attendance rose over double that of any previous year. Blackburn noted that "paid artist performances were converted into a timely merchandising endeavor. This first was so successful that the park arranged its own 'Country Days' promotion for an expanded time period. CBS has plans for even more involved ventures of this kind in 1978."

Associated Labels

In a 1977 focus upon growth, CBS Records advanced its market share in acquiring the marketing and distribution of Playboy Records.

Also this year, an associated label agreement with Cleveland International Records brought CIR's first country product to the CBS/Nashville Family.

World International Enters 2nd Year Of Indie Promotion

NASHVILLE — World International Group (WIG), one of Nashville's largest independent promotion and distribution companies, is beginning its second year of operation under new ownership and keyed to a more concentrated effort on behalf of its clients.

WIG was founded in July 1976 by a small group of independent record label executives who saw a critical need for a solid promotion/distribution outlet geared to helping the smaller labels.

The original guiding force in bringing WIG together was Joe Lucas, WIG general manager. "It was my belief that by combining our strength we would be more forceful in the area of promotion and distribution. By doing this we would be able to do a better job for all concerned," Lucas said.

In June 1977, the controlling shares of stock in the corporation were purchased by Gene and Linda Kennedy. Kennedy, president of Door Knob Records, was one of the original investors in WIG.

WIG was recently retained by Pinnacle Records, the new label formed by Bill Blackwell and Tommy Overstreet, to promote and distribute all of their product.

Distributes BMA

In addition, WIG also promotes and distributes BMA Records, whose artists include Jerry Wallace and Ken Shelton; Door Knob Records, the label Peggy Sue and Sonny Wright record for; Taylor and Stone's Friday Night At Home Records; Bob Harrington's Chaplain Records and Society Records.

Among the records charted by WIG this year are: "I Miss You Already" by Jerry Wallace, BMA Records; "I Just Came In Here (To Let A Little Hurt Out)," "Every Beat Of My Heart," and "Good Evening Henry" by Peggy Sue on Door Knob Records. Heavy radio action was garnered on Taylor and Stone's "Where Are They Now" on Door Knob Records.

In addition to heavily promoting chart singles, WIG, Inc., also promoted and distributed these albums:

- Bob Harrington, Chaplain of Bourbon Street, Goes "Cross Country" on Chaplain records.
- Peggy Sue featuring Sonny Wright on "I Just Came In Here (To Let A Little Hurt Out) on the Door Knob label.

- The Walking Tall Sheriff "Buford Pusser" Talks With W. R. Morris. This Compass Records LP features live interviews with the legendary sheriff while he was still alive.

- The Singing Blanton Family, a gospel LP on Door Knob Records.

- Jerry Wallace, "I Miss You Already" on the BMA label, his first album release in more than two years.

WIG, Inc., is very selective in the product it takes for promotion/distribution. The product must be good, commercial and marketable. "We don't accept just any record; it must meet our criteria," Kenndey said. "We have turned down 37 records in the past year which would have brought into the company $74,000. We believe in quality, not quantity."

Shelby Singleton Provides Roof For Indie Labels Trio

The Shelby Singleton Corporation located at 3106 Belmont Blvd. houses three independent record labels, a large music publishing company, a production company, a recording studio and a management company.

Shelby S. Singleton, Jr. is president and general manager of the corporation and produces most of his artists for the three labels: Plantation, Sun, and SSS International. John Singleton is in charge of Shelby Singleton Music Company and Royce Clark is head of independent production.

Planation Records began its new year with a "Breakaroo" album following the single "C.B. Savage" by Rod Hart.

Other Albums

Other albums released were by Gordon Terry, James O'Gwynn, a duet LP by Webb Pierce and Carol Channing.

John Wesley Ryles, David Allen Coe, Lois Ann Struck, Little Jimmy Dempsey, Paul Martin, Rufus Thibodeaux, Leroy Van Dyke and other LPs by various artists were also released.

ABC Continues Its Successes

Country Music Association awards.

Additionally, a team composed of Barbara Mahdrell, Tommy Overstreet, O.B. McClinton and Narvel Felts represented ABC/Dot in competition on the "Anything Goes" television show to air this fall. In December, Barbara, Tommy, Johnny Carver and Red Steagall headlined a benefit show in Nashville in cooperation with the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences. Proceeds were funneled into a "Toys For Needy Children" program.

Other Artists

In addition to those artists already mentioned, Johnny Carver, Billy "Crash" Craddock, Roy Head, Hank Thompson and Buck Trent contributed significantly to Dot's performance this year, as did John Wesley Ryles and The Oak Ridge Boys.

Signed in midyear, The Oak Ridge Boys — under the production of Dot vice president of artists and repertoire Ron Chancey — completed their move into mainstream country music with their first Dot Release, "Y'all Come Back Saloon." Others signed this year and from whom much is expected in the future include Tom Bresh, John W.

Conlee, Allen Frizzell, George Hamilton IV, O.B. McClinton and Randy Gurley.

In late spring, Steve Diener was named president of Dot's parent company, ABC Records, Inc., in Los Angeles. In Nashville, Larry Baunach was named to the newly-created post of vice president of sales and promotion for ABC/Dot in a move calculated to enhance the communication between the sales and promotion functions of the company. Leslie Huey was also named national sales coordinator and will report to Baunach, as will national promotion coordinator Jeannie Ghent.

Realignment

In light of the realignment of staff positions and the ascension of Diener to the top of the ABC Records masthead, Dot president Jim Fogelsong said, "The communication with the parent company under Steve Diener is the best it has ever been. It is continuing to improve in all areas. I'm really high on what is happening with our artists. We're getting more help with our artists from the Los Angeles office than we've ever gotten before. If we continue to perform on our end, I see next year as one of our best."

CMA Continues In Country Forefront

pleted in August, these audio/visuals were designed for showing to record merchandisers, advertising agencies, and the news media.

Board Meetings

The first quarterly CMA board of directors meeting was held in New York on January 18-19. The meeting was adjourned to Cannes, France, where many of the CMA board members attended MIDEM and took part in business discussions with the newly appointed members of CMAs Foreign Development Committee.

Tulsa, Oklahoma was the site of the CMA's second quarterly meeting on April 20-21, and the third meeting took place on July 12-14 in Seattle.

The fourth quarterly CMA board meeting will be held in Nashville on October 11 during the "October Is Country Music Month" celebration.

This year's activities will officially begin on October 7 with the convening of CMA's sixth annual Talent Buyers Seminar at Nashville's Hyatt Regency Hotel. The 1977 edition, which runs through October 10, will be the most comprehensive and innovative seminar ever, CMA says.

The 11th annual CMA Awards Show, hosted by Johnny Cash, will be telecast live on October 10 on the CBS-TV Network. Sponsored by Kraft Foods, the 90-minute show will take place at the Grand Ole Opry House.

CMA's annual membership meeting is set for October 13 at Opryland. The artist/dj tape sessions will take place on October 15 at the lower level of the Municipal Auditorium. The annual CMA Anniversary Cocktail Party, Banquet and Show is scheduled for October 14 at the Municipal Auditorium. The winners of this year's CMA DJ Awards will be announced during the Anniversary Show.

Epic Emphasizes Radio Crossover

"In the last 12 months, the combined talents of Wynette and Jones have given us the most successful duet records in sales and chart activity in the history of country music, with 'Golden Ring' and 'Near You' scoring #1 and 'Southern California' a tremendously successful record."

Further emphasizing the wide variety and diversity representative of the Epic roster, Wunsch stated: "This multi-format representation is clearly evident with such artists as Tom Jones and ASCAP award nominee Tina Rainford." Jones' "Say You'll Stay Until Tomorrow" had success on both the national country and pop charts, and its success revitalized his recording career. CBS International artist Tina Rainford achieved similar recognition with the European hit "Silver Bird." Subsequently released in the U.S. by Epic, "Silver Bird" reached the upper category of the national country charts.

Charlie Daniels Band

The Charlie Daniels Band presented "High Lonesome." The LP's multi-format airplay, combined with their live performances, has enhanced the CDB's solidification in the southern musical crossover movement. Highlighting their '77 performance schedule, the CDB performed in Washington D.C. at President Jimmy Carter's Inaugural Ball for the Georgia delegation and the Carter staff. "Midnight Wind" is the CDB's forthcoming album.

Adding further to the Epic list of successes have been Bobby Goldsboro, Engelbert Humperdinck, and Michael Murphey. As a mark of continued commitment toward both high energy and diverse talent, Epic is looking strongly to Dave Loggins, Marshall Chapman, Killough & Eckley, Marcia Routh, and Ed Bruce.

RCA COUNTRY LINEUP — Country artists on the RCA roster include (top row l-r): Dottie, Floyd Cramer; Eddy Arnold and Porter Wagoner. CASH BOX RADIO

Promotion In Motion

NAKED LUNCH — As 15 top record executives were meeting privately with the President of the United States to discuss matters of interest to the music industry, no more than a few hundred yards from the Oval Office a group of White House aides were hatching a plan that could rock the very foundation of the business. What they proposed to President Carter was an end to tax deductions for business lunches; this has since become part of Carter's comprehensive tax package, which will be submitted to Congress shortly.

As he promised during the campaign, the President is taking a hard look at "loopholes" in the tax structure, preferring, when possible, to replace them with substantial tax rate reductions for businesses and families.

Informed sources indicate that the President has rejected the suggestion to entirely eliminate lunch deductions, but apparently favors limiting the deduction to half the price of the meal. What's more, the New York Times reports that Carter will probably take an even harder line on "entertainment expenses," such as show tickets, by asking Congress to prohibit these deductions completely.

Should Congress agree to eliminate entertainment and meal deductions, promotion people, particularly independents, whose watchword is "Let's have lunch," may be severely affected.

"No question," worries a New York promotion rep for a major company, "if he (Carter) puts this through, it's going to create some problems. . . . You know, I used to like the guy."

Noted another New York local rep, "Theoretically, of course, his (Carter's) point on business lunches is absolutely right. If I take a radio programmer to lunch, why should my lunch be covered, too? Last week, I was eating with a radio guy and two other promotion people joined us at the table. Only one-fourth of that lunch was actually business, but, obviously, everyone submitted the bill on his expenses. Nobody has ever asked any questions. Now they might."

The overwhelming opinion of those questioned was that most record companies would find other loopholes. "You guys," said a promotion man to a colleague in the finance department, "will find a way to get around this. They can't do this in the record business."

Self-employed independents will probably be able to compensate by having their client labels pick up the 50% difference. "An independent can go the company and say, 'During these lunches, I got such-and-such a record for you.' And he'll get paid for that," said another source.

Still others believe that because business lunches are such a staple of the entire entertainment industry, and because hotel and restaurant owners and their unionized workers wield some heavy muscle on Capitol Hill, these particular tax revisions are unlikely this year, anyway.

But just the very thought of such a move brought out negative feelings. On his way to his own "business lunch," a promotion representative, asked his opinion on the issue, responded, "Well, you've just spoiled my meal."

ON THE STREET — Janus reports Charlie's new single, "Johnny Hold Back," building momentum rapidly. "Raindances," the new LP by Camel, being shipped to stations this week. . . . Meanwhile, a lot of things happening over at 20th Century, according to national promotion man Barry Goldberg. Barry White single added and numbered almost everywhere, with entire catalog starting to move. Kenny Nolan single establishing a solid secondary pop base with strong nationwide A/C sales. And Keane Bros. sales showing results of their network TV summer series.

RANDOM NOTES — Former Warners local rep Peter Kane is currently in training for the New York City Marathon. . . . In Issue No. 447 of Screw Magazine, there is an article by one "Billy McFisto." McFisto, pseudonym for a New York promo rep, discusses a somewhat bizarre rendezvous with a lady in Miami. A Screw editor, in accepting the story for publication, questioned McFisto on the identity of the Miami maiden. "I've been having nightmares that it was my wife," the editor explained. . . . Howard Rosen of Casablanca recently broke his right foot during a backyard football game with Donny Ienner. Rosen has been known for his injuries, none of which have kept him from his appointed rounds. The day after the accident, he was reportedly driving around town, using his left foot on the pedals. "Some guys," quipped a competitor, "will do anything to get a record played." . . . Perry Cooper left a party at P.J.'s to find his car had been stolen. But it was recovered later at Gracie Mansion, the mayor's abode. . . . Louis Lewow, national secondaries rep for the Associated Labels of CBS, moving to local spot in Atlanta. . . . To promote Millennium's new release, "Brooklyn Dreams," promotion man Alan LeWinter delivered a real, live Brooklyn tree to the offices of WNEW-FM in Manhattan, where trees are likewise a precious commodity.

DO CLOTHES MAKE THE MAN? — Once upon a time a promotion man burst into the Cash Box office dressed only in a rain barrel. Nobody knew why, but it created a lot of excitement and a lot of laughs. That same man has been known to show up at record conventions with his entire body painted gold, or dressed as George Washington astride a horse, or in a Pittsburgh-Steeler uniform, or. . . . Bob Sherwood, now vice president of national promotion for Columbia, described his various escapades over the years as a means of "getting the people in the field excited. Keeping it (the business) from ever becoming sterile."

Normally, the costumes were tied to a particular artist's product. The gold paint, for example, was in connection with a James Bond promotion. After becoming vice president, Sherwood secretly hoped someone else in the department would take his place as the master of costumes. To date, no one has, but that could change. Sherwood emphasizes that his own basic personality has not changed with the new title. He still remembers fondly some of his more outrageous stunts. "There was the time I went to the '21' Club dressed in a tuxedo, with tails, a top hat and cane, and a Mott The Hoople T-shirt. . . . the guy at the door took one look and said 'No Way.' But I had fun, and so did the other people here."

On Jazz

Legendary drummer Max Roach is stepping up his club schedule. He is at Storyville in New York through October 22, and will appear at Keystone Korner in San Francisco early next month. Also of interest is the fact that Roach has sold some tapes of his current group, featuring Clifford Brown, to a Japanese firm.

More on the King-Federal-DeLuxe Vintage Vault series: additional albums of jazz and blues interest involve Bill Doggett, Earl Bostic, and Freddie King. Their LPs — like the Ray Charles reviewed last week — are $6.98 list, not the $4.98 listed in the review. Let's hope for some Benny Carter, Leo Parker and Billy Eckstine big band!

The weekly shipment from Inner City features Clifford Jordan, "The Highest Mountain," and "Surge" by the New York Jazz Quartet, with Roland Hanna and Frank Wess.

From ECW comes "The Survivor's Suite" by Keith Jarrett and "Solstice, Sound And Shadows" by Ralph Towner.

A new label, Production of Kharma, has two LPs available with which to launch their line: "Charred Earth" by The Untouchable Factor and "Doctor Too Much" by Frank Lowe.

Outside alto saxophonist Arthur Blythe has his first LP on India Navigation. Titled, "The Grip," it was recorded live at a New York club, The Brook.

Atlantic has arrived with three knockouts: "True To Life," homecoming for Ray Charles: "I Cry, I Smile" by Narada Michael Walden and "Eye Of The Beholder" by Ray Barretto.

Writer Stanley Dance continues to chronicle the activities of the jazz giants. "The World Of Earl Hines" (Charles Scribner & Sons) is his latest.

On October 14, Kenny Burrell will receive a medallion in conjunction with being named an Ellington Fellow. The ceremony will take place at Yale. Kenny's new trio, featuring Reggie Johnson on bass and Sherman Ferguson on drums will be very busy with concerts at the Berkeley School of Music, the Catamaran Club in San Diego, the Bottom Line in New York and Cafe Concert in California all in the near future.

Lenny White is now on Elektra and his first LP for the label, a concept album, will be produced by Al Cooper along with White. Look for the rock-fusion package in January.

Paul Horn stopped by the west coast office and told of his theories on how the pyramids were built. Paul's album, "Inside The Great Pyramid" was recorded in one of the caverns with all the natural room echo preserved on the disc. Paul is moving in different directions nowadays with his next LP on Mushroom to be a studio number with strings. Paul would like to have Claus Ogerman do the charts. In the concert vein, Paul will be into more of a total experience with his music, utilizing projectors and video equipment to round out the sensations.

A 15 day domestic tour with additional dates set for Paris, Munich, Tokyo and London has been set for Chick Corea and Herbie Hancock. The dates will consist of the two pianists without any accompaniment, and will begin in January of 1978.

The first performance of the Quincy Jones Workshop took place last week in Los Angeles with a show featuring a cast of 40 singers, dancers, musicians, and actors. The workshop was started in 1976, dedicating itself to the need in the Los Angeles area to develop the talents of those who would like to achieve a career in the entertainment business.

bob porter/jeffrey weber

LA CATEDRAL Y EL TORO — Joe Farrell — Warner Bros. BS 3121 — Producers: Ralph MacDonald and William Eaton — List: 6.98

Despite the fact that a picture of Joe with sax in hand appears reversed on the album, there is nothing backwards about his blowing — it is straight ahead and spicy. With nimble alterations from soprano to tenor sax to flute, the six tunes are rendered with adequate verve and intensity. Arrangements are smooth with Joe sitting in front of one of the heaviest groups around including Eric Gale, Dave Grusin, Ralph MacDonald, Steve Gadd, Stanley Clarke and Anthony Jackson. Polished and precise.

RUBY, RUBY — Gato Barbieri — A&M SP-4655 — Producer: Herb Alpert — List: 7.98

For those who thought "Caliente" was hot, don't throw away your fire extinguishers. Gato's latest features much of the same heat as his last hit. Arrangements are well rounded and despite strings and a bevy of studio pros, Gato still has plenty of room to roam about with his tenor at full steam. Latin flavors abound in a tasty offering.

NIGHT TALK — Doug Richardson — AVI AVL 6013 — Producers: Michael Lewis and Laurin Rinder — List: 6.98

In an extremely satisfying and welcome addition to jazz collections, Doug offers plenty of down-home foot stomping numbers. Perhaps the highlights of the album are the arrangements which allow Doug to surround himself in a rich circle of exciting players while allowing him to jump out of the circle time and time again on flights of his own.

JAZZ ALBUM PICKS

SOMETHING YOU GOT — Art Farmer — CTI 7080 — Producer: Creed Taylor — List: 7.98

Farmer's big band, arranged by David Matthews, features his flugelhorn and the swaggering tenor sax of Yusef Lateef. Apart from the title track, which has a nice R&B groove to it, this is special Farmer sounding more aggressive than in recent outings. Clifford Brown's "Sandu" and Chick Corea's "Spain" are handled nicely and Matthews has a couple of originals that work quite well. In all, the most impressive album from Farmer since his return to the U.S.

THE FINEST OF OSCAR PETTIFORD — Bethlehem 6007 — List: 6.98

If not quite the album the title implies, this is excellent music, nonetheless. The late bassist leads an octet through a nine-tune program, including four originals. Donald Byrd, Jerome Richardson and Bob Brookmeyer are stickout soloists, and the jazz quality is high throughout. "Stardust" is a duo performance with pianist Don Abney and contains marvellous work by the leader. Part of a new group of Bethlehem reissues — the first in some time.

THE ESSENTIAL JO JONES — Vanguard 101/2 — List: 7.98

This is fine mainstream music featuring the great drummer in two different settings. The first disc has a finely honed sextet featuring Lucky Thompson, Penny Green and Emmett Perry. Count Basie sits in for a couple of tunes and the blowing quality is exceptional. The last two sides feature Jones' late '50s trio and has sparkling piano from Ray Bryant. Of special interest here is the original version of Bryant's hit, "Little Susie." The first two sides are in phony stereo. Would Vanguard reissue classics this way?

ARB Study Of Country Music Fans' Buying Habits Analyzed

by Bob Campbell

An Arbitron (ARB) Radio Study commissioned by the Country Music Association (CMA) in October, 1976 which determined that buying habits and income level of country-music radio listeners are basically identical to other radio listeners is probably accurate according to Richard Peterson, doctor of industrial sociology at Vanderbilt University. However, Peterson, who has done considerable research on the Nashville music industry, said the survey failed to distinguish the casual listener from the hard-core fan.

Income Rise

"This survey could be accurate if the listeners were sensitively selected, because from ARB and other polls I've seen done on a regular basis I would expect this survey to reflect a rise in income," Peterson said. "The survey is accurate in one sense, but the rise in income doesn't necessarily mean the listeners are doctors and lawyers. I would say it reflects a large cluster of well-to-do working class. But the problem is that they probably aren't hard-core fans. You have to know how much they listen to country radio. From my experience I would expect the income level to drop as you progress from casual listeners to hard-core fans."

This premise might explain the contrast between income level derived from the ARB survey and the income level reflected in a questionnaire poll taken at Fan Fair here in June, 1976 in which a high percentage of fans placed their income level in the 0-$10,000 range. According to Ray Pradines, CMA public relations director, this survey was inaccurate. "We wouldn't dare show anyone this poll. It has no statistical relevance," Pradines said. "It couldn't prove anything. It was such a random system that it was completely discarded."

But Peterson said this poll might reflect a certain type of country-music fan.

"The person who goes to Fan Fair is a super fan," Peterson said. "This may be their big shot, for say, an autograph of Dolly Parton. Also, you and I might not take the time to fill out the form. For instance, I doubt if fans of Waylon Jennings would fill it out. In my experience, people who fill out questionnaire forms such as these tend to have conformist-type personalities."

Dispels Misconceptions

The ARB survey which was conducted in 26 markets across the country and utilized interviews from 1,087 households, maintains a greater number of country-music radio listeners own their homes, own or lease a car, drink more beer, soft drinks and milk and own more recreational vehicles than other radio listeners. According to the CMA, this study dispels "the misconceptions regarding country-radio listeners' income and purchasing habits."

"There had not been an accurate study done before so the true audience is not known," Pradines said. "But it's true that in the '60s there was some prejudice by advertisers and so forth on the buying power of country-music listeners."

If, as it seems, evidence indicates a certain prejudice in the past against the country-music listener, and if that audience, in fact, has become more sophisticated, Peterson believes a subtle change in radio format is responsible.

"The modern format is a definite reason for more sophisticated listeners," Peterson said. "The whole sound of country-music radio is more like pop radio. You have your quick-talking DJ's, names such as metro-country, and the DJ's are including more and more cuts that are pop or rock-derived."

CRS Holds Agenda Committee Meet

NASHVILLE — The Country Radio Seminar agenda committee met here September 29 and 30 to discuss plans for the 1978 Country Radio Seminar. According to an announcement by radio industry chairman Terry Wood, the theme of the seminar, to be held March 17 and 18 at Nashville's Airport Hilton, is "The Future of Our Country."

The agenda committee set up a wide range of topics for the two-day March sessions, including: "What You Are Now Is Where You Were Then," "On Record: The Next Generation — The Future of the Recorded Industry," "Building Tomorrow's Audience/Reading Today's Book," "Country Radio/Sell It With Merchandising," "Country Radio/Sell It With Promotion," "Country Radio/Sell It With Pride," "Programmers: Up Your Bottom Line," "Working And Winning Together," "Building Tomorrow's Audience/Methodology Makes The Difference," "Building Tomorrow's Audience/Ask ... They'll Tell You What They Want," "The Fully Loaded, Semi-Automatic, Digital, Laser, Googlyphonic, Dream Machine — Miniaturized/Engineering Your Future," "Music: Eliminate The Guesswork," and "The Great Brain Robbery — Contests and Promotions To Go."

Format Change

Announcing a change in format, the committee said there will be concurrent sessions held at various times during the two days. This will enable the radio personnel to meet on a one-to-one basis, which the agenda committee feels has been lacking in previous seminars. Speakers and panelists for these sessions will be announced as they are confirmed.

Committee members present for the meetings were: Terry Wood, WONE; Bob Young, WMC (radio industry co-chairman); Al Greenfield, KIKK; Jim Walton, WITL; Don Boyles, WSUN; Richard Holcomb, WTCR; Bob Holtan, WAXX; Ed Salamon, WHN; Les Acree, WKDA; John Chaffee, WHK; Lee Phillips, WOKO; Ted Cramer, WDAF; Mac Allen, Sonderling Broadcasting; Marie Ratliff, Record World; and Jim Sharp, Cash Box. The record industry was represented by Stan Byrd, record industry chairman; Roy Wunsch, record industry vice chairman; and past record industry chairmen, Nick Hunter and Frank Mull.

DOTTIE WEST (United Artists UA-XW1084)

That's All I Wanted To Know (3:05) (Chappell Music — ASCAP/Pi-Gem Music — BMI) (E. Penney/H. Moffat)

MARTY ROBBINS (Columbia 3-10629)

Don't Let Me Touch You (2:48) (Mariposa Music — BMI) (M. Robbins/B. Sherrill)

DICK HAMMONDS (SCR SC-149)

Late Night Country Lovin' (2:48) (Roz Tense Music Pub. — BMI) (Johnny Duncan)

Although this small Texas label has appeared on the Cash Box country charts before, none of its releases have gone as far up as this one should. Johnny Duncan wrote the tune and Dick Hammonds handles it very well in his own style.

THE CHARLIE DANIELS BAND (Epic 8-50456)

Heaven Can Be Anywhere (3:15) (Hat Band Music — BMI) (C. Daniels)

Something different and unusual for the band, as Charlie proves that there is indeed some refinement within his clan. The melodic string arrangements and all around good production make this a sure chart topper across the board.

Cash To Host

The CBS network show will be hosted by Johnny Cash. Presenters and/or performers include: Bill Anderson, Chet Atkins, June Carter, Johnny Cash, Roy Clark, Jerry Clower, Dave And Sugar, Danny Davis And The Nashville Brass, Mac Davis, Crystal Gayle, Merle Haggard, Loretta Lynn, Barbara Mandrell, Ronnie Milsap, Dolly Parton, Minnie Pearl, Charley Pride, Jerry Reed, Kenny Rogers, The Statler Brothers, Mel Tillis, Conway Twitty, Don Williams and Tammy Wynette.

Anderson TV Show Finishes Taping

NASHVILLE — Lynn Anderson has completed the taping of her first television special scheduled for airing later this year. It is the first time a television special or network pilot has been Nashville-taped and has combined the music of established entertainers from every musical field. In addition to Anderson's co-host for the show, Tina Turner, her guests will include Dean Martin, Chet Atkins, England Dan & John Ford Coley, Bob Hope and Eddie Rabbitt.

Monument Artists To Headline FICAP Show

NASHVILLE — Monument recording artists Larry Gatlin, Connie Smith, Tommy Cash and Charlie McCoy will be featured entertainers at the second annual FICAP Banquet and Show October 14.

RONNIE McDOWELL — The King Is Gone — Scorpio GRT-8021 — Producer: Slim Williamson — List: 6.98

Although he has enough "Elvis" in his voice to appeal to Presley fans, Ronnie McDowell is not an Elvis imitator, but a singer with an excellent voice of his own. Simply because the album contains "The King Is Gone" and because of buyer curiosity over McDowell, it should do well. Many of the McDowell-penned songs, however, do not measure up to his voice; he needs a strong selection of outside material to insure future success.

MEL TILLIS — Loves Troubled Waters — MCA MCA 2288 — Producer: Jimmy Bowen — List: 6.98

Tillis has got the hoss for this album — a top five single that's still rising. Although the songs are basic Tillis fare, he has become one of the coterie of Nashville artists produced by Jimmy Bowen of "Rhinstone Cowboy" production fame, and this album contains some thumping, pumping productions like "It's Been A Long Time." (And Mel really sings out on this one, too.) While "Working Woman" has lukewarm lyrics, "Woman You Should Be In Movies" is strong.

SESAC Ups Rates On Chart Position

NASHVILLE — SESAC, which in part relies on chart position in paying performance royalties to its writer and publisher affiliates, has announced a major revision in these "incentive program" rate schedules.

The biggest boost is in the area of country chart payments, where the new rates reflect up to a 25% increase for singles and up to a 100% increase for albums. For example, a single that charts at number one under the SESAC system will jump from $20,000 to $25,000 total publisher and writer performance money. All other chart positions have been upgraded proportionately.

Under the new payment schedule, release, cover and pick money for both country singles and albums remains the same.

Although the pop single and pop album chart payments remain the same, a substantial upward revision of up to 33-1/3% was made in the cover and pick money categories. Rate schedules for the category of rhythm and blues were recently updated also.

Jazz Rate Card

The licensing firm also announced, for the first time, the establishment of a jazz rate card which reflects the significantly increased interest in this area of music in recent years. In announcing the newly-established rates for jazz, Albert F. Ciancimino, vice president and counsel, said: "In this rate schedule, we are recognizing the growing importance of jazz as a form of musical expression. It is our hope and our belief that in the months ahead, jazz will continue to play an important role in our nation's musical heritage, and that with this jazz rate schedule, we will be able to make proper payment to jazz writers and publishers for their creative efforts."

Commenting on the overall rate change, SESAC president, A. H. Prager said: "Our new rate schedules for writers and publishers bring us to a more than highly competitive level within the industry, and is in keeping with our standard policy of a constant and periodic review of performance values in music."

Country Music Fans' Buying Habits Analyzed

Country music is getting far away from the more traditional sounds of artists like Hank Williams."

Peterson added that only 16% to 18% of all records sold are country records and this survey could be a slight delusion even though it reflects a degree of buying power equal to other radio listeners. He also said the fact that country-music listeners own their own automobiles is probably because country fans are older than the average person listening to pop or middle-of-the-road stations.

B. Lee Attractions Taking Country To Vegas Hotels

NASHVILLE — The first part of 1977 was a busy time for Buddy Lee Attractions, Inc., with the agency providing talent to a number of Las Vegas hotels.

In addition to the agency's artists, acts booked included Jerry Lee Lewis, and the legendary Roy Orbison in the Aladdin Hotel. In June, recording pianist Floyd Cramer joined the Buddy Lee roster, combining booking representation with his longtime friend, Danny Davis. Both Nashville Brass and Floyd Cramer are among the concert acts working from Nashville.

More recently, exclusive representation for fairs was signed with Ray Charles, in association with SMADA Artist Mgmt.

Other notable units available exclusively for the next fair season are Frankie Avalon; Brenda Lee; Atlantic Records' artists The Spinners, of "Yesterday, Today & Tomorrow" fame; Steve Allen; Soupy Sales; The Peter Marshall Show, host of The Hollywood Squares TV Show; Jerry Lee Lewis, in conjunction with Jerry Lee Lewis Enterprises; and The Hamid-Morton Circus. Buddy Lee Attractions, Inc. will be representing these and other artists, in addition to their regular roster of artists, from branch offices in New York, Los Angeles, Chicago and Kansas City, in addition to the home office in Nashville, Tennessee.

Overstreet And Blackwell Form New Record Label

NASHVILLE — ABC/Dot recording artist Tommy Overstreet and label executive Bill Blackwell have formed a new recording company called Pinnacle Records.

Nashville-based, Pinnacle Records will concentrate strictly on building new artists, according to Blackwell, who is president of the company.

Overstreet will serve as Pinnacle's director of A&R. Eddie Jackson, of Jackson & Jackson, will be the label's financial consultant and advisor.

Exclusive promotion and distribution will be under the direction of Gene Kennedy's World International Group (WIG).

Artists already signed to Pinnacle Records are Susan St. Marie, Ermil Flatford, Darrell Dodson, Brian Shaw and Wayne Mooneyham.

Pinnacle's first single will be "I'll Be Around" by Ermil Flatford.

The label's first album will be by Overstreet and The Nashville Express. The LP, titled "There'll Never Be Another First Time," was recorded by Overstreet and his road band approximately one-and-a-half years ago when he was between contracts with ABC/Dot.

Country Roundup

The arresting, sunburnt, sea-washed lyrical beauty of the music of ABC/Dot's Jimmy Buffett must appeal to the musically conscious President Jimmy Carter and his staff. Staff members representing the President honored Buffett Oct. 3 with a party at Tinker's Club in Washington, D.C. Buffett has been touring the southeast and appeared the day before at Towson St. College in Maryland and American University in the capital city.

Rockabilly great Carl Perkins is busy recording a history of rock 'n roll concept album for Jet Records. Produced by Felton Jarvis, the record will feature songs by Buddy Holly, Bill Haley and other rock pioneers. Perkins, who wrote and recorded "Blue Suede Shoes" for Sun Records years ago, will record several of his own tunes.

Billy Swan, who last week signed with A&M Records, has recorded his first album for the label. Booker T. Jones, of Booker T and the MG's fame, produced the album.

Johnny Bush has signed an exclusive recording contract with Gusto/Starday Records. His new single, "You'll Never Leave Me Completely," will be released soon. Bush's former producer, Tommy Hill, now Gusto/Starday's A&R director, will again produce the veteran artist.

A collection of slightly worn and torn old rock 'n roll singers performed at George Jones's Possum Holler Club here Sept. 27 in what was billed as a WORST Show (World's Oldest Rock Stars Together). There was great fun and a few gray hairs mixed with a little nostalgia as Jimmy Gilmer (remember the old Fireballs) recaptured the feel of "Sugar Shack," Gary Miles (now producing under his real name Buzz Cason) glided through "Look For A Star" and The Newbeats pumped out "Bread And Butter." Most of the former rockers now work in various Music Row endeavors.

Former English model Twiggy, a little heavier than in her skinny '60s heyday, has been recording here with producer Papa Don Schroeder.

RCA superstar Waylon Jennings will kick off an extensive fall tour Oct. 18 in Charlotte, North Carolina. His wife, Jessi Colter, will travel with him and share the bill at most concerts. Hank Williams, Jr. will also appear with Jennings in three of the shows.

Mercury artist Jerry Lee Lewis is keeping his nose to the grindstone this fall. Lewis will make a rare Nashville appearance during CMA/Grand Ole Opry's Birthday Celebration Week Oct. 10-15 at George Jones's Possum Holler Club. He has also taped a segment of the upcoming "Rolling Stone Magazine Tenth Anniversary."

Under the leadership of original group member Bob Shane, The Kingston Trio has recorded a new album after a 10-year absence for Mountain Creek Records and will play as many as 250 road dates in the upcoming year. Chuck Glaser, head of A&R for Mountain Creek, said the trio's original producer Ray Gilmore came out of retirement for the album. "Ray Gilmore produced all the early hits of the trio such as 'Tom Dooley,' 'MTA' and so forth. And he and the group picked new material and recorded this album in Los Angeles two weeks ago. The sound is close to the sound of the original group, but I think the vocals, if anything, are much stronger." The other two group members are Roger Gambale and George Groves.

Columbia singer/songwriter Katy Moffatt will tour Europe this fall for the first time. Along with guitarist Leo Kottke, Moffatt kicks off the tour Oct. 25 in Hamburg, Germany. Produced by Glen Spreen, Moffatt's second CBS album, "Kissin' In The California Sun," will be released this fall.

Epic artist Charlie Rich has teamed with pert, little canine-movie star Benji in an hour-long ABC network television special "For The Love Of Benji" to be aired next February. Rich had previously recorded two songs, including the title song "Benji's Theme," in the popular children's movie "For The Love Of Benji."

MCA's singer, songwriter, producer Hoyt Axton has more than wrought irons in the fire these days. Axton has just completed a new album "Free Sailing" and Oct. 7 he joined Gordon Lightfoot, Arlo Guthrie, Joan Baez and other stars at the Berkeley, Ca. Greek Theatre in a benefit for the families of prisoners — a "Bread and Roses" organization. The multi-talented Axton, son of songwriter Mae Boran Axton ("Heartbreak Hotel"), in the near future will begin work on a new movie starring Peter Fonda. And Axton soon leaves for Italy where he has an aging role in a new Francis Ford Coppola movie, "Black Stallion." Axton will also star in an upcoming television special featuring Ronee Blakely, Emmylou Harris, Dennis Weaver, John Stewart and Jerry Lee Lewis.

Truth Tours Jamaica

LOS ANGELES — Truth, the 18-member Mobile-based contemporary gospel group, returned recently from an eight-day benefit concert tour of Jamaica. In seven appearances across the island, Truth reportedly performed to more than 10,000 people in Kingston, the mountain community of Mandeville and Montego Bay.

A crowd in excess of 3,000 attended an open-air concert on the grounds of Vale Royal, the residence of Jamaica's deputy prime minister.

During their stay on the island, Roger Breland, director of Truth, and the entire touring party conferred with the U.S. ambassador to Jamaica and the governor general, Britain's liaison with the Caribbean nation.

New Gospel Duo In Concert Debut

LOS ANGELES — Contemporary gospel group Andrus, Blackwood And Company will make its initial "Grand Opening" concert appearance October 18 at 8 p.m. in Massey Auditorium, Belmont College.

The group consists of Sherman Andrus and Terry Blackwood, whose backgrounds are rooted in gospel music. Both have been singing gospel music for most of their lives.

The concert is being sponsored by the Belmont College Reasons in cooperation with radio station WWGM 1560.

Publisher Sues Word In A Royalty Dispute

NEW YORK — Counterpart Music BMI, a music publisher, has sued Word Records, the gospel arm of ABC Records, alleging copyright infringement, interference of contract and non-payment of publishing royalties. The plaintiff seeks in excess of $20,000 in damages.

Counterpart, owned by Howard Lovdal and Shad O'Shea, claims that Word entered into an exclusive worldwide distribution agreement with Joel Chernoff, in violation of an existing contract between the plaintiff and Chernoff.

Counterpart has also filed suit against the musical group, Lamb, formed by Chernoff and Richard Coghill. That suit also seeks in excess of $20,000, alleging copyright infringement and non-payment of royalties.

Chernoff and Coghill have filed a counterclaim against Lovdal and Counterpart Creative Studios, alleged to be the parent company of Counterpart Publishing.

was an oversight, as some claimed, or a significant departure from previous drafts is also in question.

Brennan, who as Senate Copyright Subcommittee counsel was a prime architect of the revise, said while the discussion in the committee report dealt with authors and book publishers, one can make a plausible legal argument for applying the same restrictions to home taping of audio/video works. Copying an entire musical work (a four-hour opera was his example) relieves the person doing the duplicating of any incentive to buy the legally manufactured version of the opera. The question of "fair use" (Section 106 of the new law, effective Jan 1, 1978) involves a four-fold test, including what portion of a work is being copied and for what purpose, and whether there would be an injurious effect on the market. The opera example would obviously not pass the "fair use" strictures.

But what makes sound legal theory poses nightmarish enforcement problems. How could a law preventing unauthorized duplication in the home ever be fairly enforced? "It's something of a trade secret that the record companies are developing a process to prevent records from being copied," Brennan said, "but it's fair to conclude (since no device has surfaced yet) that they haven't come up with anything workable."

All the industry has come up with so far is a figure of nearly one billion in losses estimated from worldwide home taping ripoffs.

Taxes European Style

There are those on the Hill and in the industry who think the solution lies in taxes on home taping equipment. Such laws are in effect in several European countries. West Germany has a statute on the books requiring a tax on taping machines, the income from which goes to copyright interests. Great Britain is considering putting a royalty tax on blank tapes (a recommendation of the national copyright body, not yet in force.)

Major blank tape manufacturers in the U.S. don't believe such an alternative is viable here. James Walker of BASF Systems, Bedford, Mass., said, "When a tape recorder is sold, you can't assume it will be used for re-recording a phonograph record... it's not necessarily so." Imposing a tax on the equipment "would penalize the consumer," he said. The hardware groups will certainly fight any such proposal, Walker added.

Watching Case

To be sure, Brennan will be watching the Universal/Disney vs. Sony Betamax case carefully, as it makes its way through federal court in Los Angeles. "If a person can tape a movie in his home, doesn't that jeopardize the independent TV stations which rely heavily on movies" for their programming, he asks rhetorically. His involvement in the future will be "only far down the road" — if and when public policymakers conclude there should be compensation, then the Tribunal will get involved to collect and distribute royalties once rates and regulations are decided.

The still controversial topic of performance rights is not a major concern of Brennan's, because he sees little question in the eventual outcome. "I think there is great justification for it but no practical prospect of the Senate adopting it," he said. The opposition of well-organized broadcast interests, as well as jukeboxers, is simply too great to overcome. Some copyright interests, as well as jukeboxers, is simply too great to overcome. Some copyright interests are also opposed: "They think if broadcasters begin to pay money to recording artists, that might mean less money will go to publishers." The report Copyright Register Barbara Ringer must file with Congress by January 3 is, according to Brennan, "purely an academic exercise." Even if President Carter endorses it (which is likely since the Democratic Platform did), the performance royalty is "an idea whose time has not arrived and which never will arrive; it's unfortunate," Brennan said.

Briefing Sessions

While Brennan isn't worried about the lack of copyright experience on the part of the four other Tribunal appointees — he has said before that good judgment and powers of arbitration were more important — he does think it might be a good idea to have three or four day-long briefing sessions to let interested parties and industry "experts" present their views and outline their functions to the Tribunal. This "painless educational process" as he sees it will likely be scheduled sometime before Thanksgiving.

A REAL MOTHER FOR YA — Jane Weintraub, Jerry's missus, was honored as the first recipient of the "Mother of the Year" Award given by the Reiss-Davis Child Study Center at a Beverly Hills fund-raiser Oct. 1. The benefit on behalf of the child psychiatric center featured performances by Frank Sinatra and John Denver who capped their individual solos with a duet medley of Sinatra Classics. The center's former president, Dr. Simon Wile, then announced that the center's research facility, which will house the largest special collection of reference materials in the field of child mental health in the western United States, will be named the Jane Weintraub Research Library Building... Levon Helm's 50 city tour kicks off Oct. 26 in St. Paul following the release of his album on the 15th. The road band he has assembled will be a killer. Epic Records' Artist Development Discussed

DeMarino's efforts often overlap those of the managers and agents he deals with, and he acknowledged that this "can be a very delicate situation. But I approach them in such a way that I give input in a very positive, almost demure kind of way. I don't totally agree with every agent or personal manager representing our artists. But more often than not, we have a meeting of the minds..."

Improving Acts

While stressing the fact that artist development works with "all the key attractions on our roster," DeMarino noted that "as director of artist development, my major concern in our younger acts. A young act with a new agency affiliation or a young manager will need the input I'm capable of giving."

A case in point is Epic's most phenomenal success story of the past year, the group Boston. When Boston signed with the label, they had never performed a professional engagement together. After they played at the Bijou in Philadelphia, DeMarino recalled, artist development gave Boston some constructive points on how they might be able to improve their show. In addition, the department helped put together that first mini-tour, carefully choosing venues where the act would stand the best chance of success.

"We timed it so that the tour came exactly four weeks after release of the product. It so happened that the timing was ideal. By the time Boston began hitting places like the Agora in Cleveland, Bogart's in Cincinnati and the Auditorium in Chicago, radio was so crazy about the product that there was immediate consumer response in selling out." DeMarino added that the tour concentrated on the midwest's "true rock 'n roll cities" because "we felt that they (Boston) were much too young to try a New York engagement at that point."

Credit To Managers, Agents

The artist development director also gave credit to Boston's managers and booking agents for the superb planning of the group's tours last year. "Come late last fall, or early winter, Boston could have headlined easily anywhere in the country. But what their management, Paul Ahern and Charlie McKenzie, did with their input and of course, the great input of Frank Barsalona and Barbara Skydell at Premier Talent, was to carefully plan their steps. Instead of having them headline at that time, we sent Boston out as special guest star to acts like Black Sabbath, Robin Trower and Foghat. Then come late winter when Boston went out on their own headline tour, they returned to a number of cities where they had been special guest star, and they ended up selling out their own headline dates. We moved more product as a result; they came out with excellent reviews, because they were growing with each passing month; and we all came out winners."

Wait For Album

DeMarino explained that tour planning must always take into account the availability of product. For example, he said, Ram Jam, one of Epic's hottest new acts, could have gone on the road in July, as soon as their single, "Black Betty," began to hit. Instead, however, he and Ed Kleven, the group's manager, chose to delay the tour until Ram Jam's album was released, despite the many calls which he said were received from concert promoters.

"I frankly did not want Ram Jam to go out as a one-single smash group," DeMarino commented. "The best way to tour today is with true album impact."

Of course, the impact of any album, no matter how strong, depends largely on the efforts of the promotion and publicity departments, and later, on the work of sales and marketing personnel. In many cases, these departments can help artist development create a groundswell for new artists.

One example recalled by DeMarino was that of Cheap Trick, whose debut Epic album, "In Color," is currently bulleting at #83 on the Cash Box Top 200 Album Chart. Recently, he said, he and Susan Blond, publicity director for Epic and the Associated Labels, set up a date for Cheap Trick at New York's Yorkville Palace, a ballroom which can accommodate about 700 people. At the same time, Epic's promotion team, coordinated by Jim Jeffries, Rick Swig and Harvey Leeds, promoted the LP heavily at the radio level, with the result that WNEW-FM began to play it. Publicity posters went up all over the city, and the merchandising department, then under Bruce Harris' direction, ensured that the product was prominently displayed in retail stores.

According to DeMarino all this activity culminated in an overflow crowd at the concert; additionally, he said, reviews of the show were excellent. And, as a direct result of the concert's success, coupled with the success of Cheap Trick's album, the group will be playing the Palladium, a much larger venue than Yorkville Palace, in November.

Finding A Manager

Another thing that artist development can do to help a young act, DeMarino pointed out, "is help them get with the proper management companies. A number of acts come to us through an attorney or a producer who's not in management, so we have to jump in immediately and help the act find the proper management."

Marshall Chapman, a young singer who found a berth with a major management company through DeMarino's intervention, has already played well-received dates at Reno Sweeney's and The Other End, both in New York. Now DeMarino may soon be getting her a gig on NBC-TV's "Saturday Night Live," which has become a much sought-after show, even among established acts.

In general, DeMarino said, TV is beginning to become a more important focus for artist development. Not only the established rock shows like "Midnight Special" and "Don Kirshner's Rock Concert," but also other popular shows like the Mike Douglas, Merv Griffin and Dinah Shore hours are "starting to see the impact of the pop culture artist, and are beginning to accept them more."

Tour Support Requests

DeMarino emphasized the point that not every act which requests tour support warrants it. There are several reasons for this: The group's product may not be doing well; they may have spent too much money in the studio; or it may be judged that the time is not yet ripe for touring.

"I help to set up the proper tour support request," DeMarino explained. "What I do is sit down with the agency and the management and determine if the act is hitting the proper markets, depending on the input from Al Gurewitz in sales and Rick (Swig) and Jim (Jeffries) in promotion. I decide whether the timing of the tour makes sense, if they're being packaged properly, if they're hitting the right venues. If these factors are in order, then I will make my recommendation for tour support. If the amount is proper and it meets the needs of the band, I do my best to get that amount approved and pushed through."

"In the past, there was no one giving this kind of area a direction; a request might have been made to one of two people and left hanging. But, since touring has become so vital in the music business, someone has to properly prepare a tour support request,

Rockets," a rock band with a various musical repertoire. Other artists on the Tortoise label include Green Brothers described as a contemporary Sam And Dave; First Fire, a California soft rock band; Bill Mueller, a singer-songwriter in the Bob Seger tradition, Legacy and the Skyliners.

In his role as president of Tortoise, Davis will continue in a creative capacity while Rick Ungar, vice president and general manager, will assume most of the administrative responsibilities. According to Davis, "My background is one of music, not administration. I'm going to be a president that's very involved in music."

After the inception of Tortoise, Davis made the rounds to coordinate affiliation with a larger record label, but found it to be frustrating. He noted that it is hard to find a "mediocre" deal for a black producer, but is pleased with the association at RCA.

The road to Tortoise for Davis has been an involved one. Producing since 1968, Davis purchased United Sound Systems, Inc. in 1972 and expanded the facilities. Located near Wayne State University, the recording facility has attracted artists like Gladys Knight And The Pips, David Ruffin and the Four Tops.

Another facet of Davis' operations is Groovesville Productions, Inc., the publishing division of Tortoise Records.

Davis' musical background began in the late '50s playing guitar at local clubs and working in the studio with Martha Reeves, Jackie Wilson and the Miracles. After a while, he moved to Indianapolis and then later to Memphis where he became infatuated with the kind of music that Stax Records was producing. His first production was a single for Carla Thomas which did well enough for Stax to hire him as a staff producer.

On the first collaboration between Davis and Johnny Taylor, the result was "Who's Making Love?," which sold two million

During his stint at Stax, Davis worked with other artists like Booker T And The MGs, Bobby Blue Bland, J.J. Barnes, Carla Thomas and the Dramatics.

In 1972, he left Memphis for Detroit and formed Groovesville as a production and publishing company. It was at this time, that he also purchased and expanded United Sounds. His independent productions projects included Parliament, Mavis Staples, Patti LaBelle And The Bluebells, the Dells, Ben E. King, Larry Santos and Jeannie Reynolds.

Producer Davis notes: "I like to hear the material before committing myself to producing an album. My purpose is to enhance a direction so I like to see if the songs are legitimate to begin with. I like to put my impressions on anything that I think I can help."

Concerning the unusual association with Robin Trower, Davis said that Trower approached him because he had been so impressed with "Eargasm." Davis saw this as an opportunity to experiment with new lyrics and rhythms.

The result was "In City Dreams," recorded in under two weeks in Miami's Criterion Studios. One of the things that had impressed Trower in the first place was how quickly Davis works in the studio. "Eargasm" had been produced in 10 days, and the key to this speedy process is no interruptions and total immersion in the project according to Davis.

"As a producer, you become a fine lens that focuses, not a painter that changes things," explains Davis.

Davis feels that he is at a plateau in his producing career, and that is part of the reason for organizing Tortoise. While he will continue to produce, he now describes himself as a "talent eye" and with his own record company, he has a vested interest in the talent that he searches out.

Gilreath Appointed WB Sales Manager

LOS ANGELES — Ed Gilreath has been appointed national sales manager, black music for Warner Brothers Records, it was announced last week.

Formerly serving Warner Brothers in the capacity of national album marketing director in New York, Gilreath's new position will require him to relocate to Warners' Burbank office. His responsibilities will entail sales, advertising, and overall marketing for all black oriented product from Warner Brothers and its affiliate labels.

Commenting on the appointment, Tom Draper, vice president and director of black music marketing, stated, "Ed's move to Burbank represents a tremendous plus for our entire operation. We're confident his vast experience in the sales field will give added depth to our overall marketing efforts."

Prior to his New York position, Gilreath held the southeast regional marketing manager and southeast regional promotion manager positions for Warner, working out of Atlanta. He came to Warner Brothers after working with Motown Records in Detroit in the promotion area.

Reflections 'N Black

Nick Ashford And Valerie Simpson will embark on a mini-tour this week of several east cities with a major date at the Symphony Hall in Newark, New Jersey on October 14. Other cities include Detroit, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Atlanta and Indianapolis. Their fifth Warner Brothers album, "Send It," was recently released and the title cut is also their latest single.

The O'Jays will debut at Radio City Music Hall on October 21 and 22, and because of the overwhelming ticket sales, a third show will possibly be scheduled for the 23rd. The group's latest album "Traveling At The Speed Of Thought" has been certified gold.

Natalie Cole, who is expecting a baby at the end of this month, recently completed recording a new album in collaboration with producer/husband Marvin Yancy which will be released on Capitol Records in November. A live album is also in the planning stages and a CBS television special is scheduled to be aired in March.

Earth, Wind And Fire's latest album is scheduled for a November release. The single from the album "All In All" is "Serpentine Fire." The group will be going on a national tour from east to west beginning October 31, covering over 90 cities. Deniece Williams, who will be touring with the group, has a new release this month; the album is entitled "Songbird."

The Jacksons latest album "Going Places," produced by Gamble & Huff on Epic Records, will be in the stores this week. The group is indeed going places; they will be hosting a nightly disco at the Soulful Wheels Custom Auto and Cycle Expo '77, which will be at the Pasadena Exhibition Center, October 7-9. There will be album giveaways and will feature custom autos owned by Redd Foxx, Edwin Starr and Sammy Davis, Jr., to name a few.

VSOP, consisting of Herble Hancock, Wayne Shorter, Ron Carter, Tony Williams and Freddie Hubbard, recently released their live album . . . Santana's double album release "Moonflower" contains live material from their recent tour and also some new studio recorded material. Other albums scheduled for release this fall are Patti LaBelle's first solo effort, on Epic; "Straight From The Gate," by The Headhunters on Arista and The Pointer Sisters, "Havin' A Party" on ABC.

The Commodores will begin working on a new album in December; meanwhile they continue to tour the states along with the Emotions. They have been touring since June 30 and are currently performing at Madison Square Garden. Next stop . . . Michigan State University, Buffalo, Baltimore and Texas . . . and then hopefully back to L.A. to polish up "Too Hot To Trot," the tune for the Motown/Casablanca FilmWorks production "Thank God It's Friday" in which the group performs along with Donna Summer and actor Ray Vitte. A live album is also in pre-production stages while the latest album has been certified triple platinum.

Four Named For Musexpo Workshop

NEW YORK — Four record industry executives have been chosen to head the first International Development of Black Oriented Artists and Records workshop at the upcoming MUSEXPO '77 international convention in Miami Beach. The event will be held October 28-November 1.

Heading the workshop will be: Jim Tyrrell, vice president of Epic, Portrait and the Associated Labels of CBS; Ron Moseley, vice president of merchandising for RCA; Steve Gold, vice president of Far Out Productions; and Wendell Bates, R&B promotion director of MCA Records.

The seminar will cover several topics of interest to black people in the music industry, including the "viability of black song promotion"; "foreign exploitation of domestic artists and domestic exploitation of foreign artists"; international tour packaging; and charting the development, marketing and timing of artists' careers.

entertainment industry."

In order to overcome this problem, Long stated that he has talked to the promoters, the booking agencies and just about everyone involved with in person engagements and for the most part, no one knows what to do. "There are certain promoters who are willing to experiment and take a chance to put it together. It may be good business to have a black and white act on the same bill. You would then have the best of both worlds.

Barrier Breakdown

Long stated that music is not the barrier breakdown that is so widely assumed. He did say that it is probably the leader but that prejudices within the industry are prevalent and are a reflection of the times. Although Long indicated that these types of prejudices also infect black managers, they are of a different style. "It is apparent to a lesser extent in management because you are in bed with so many other people. You simply do not cut your bed partners' throats. You try to get along. There is a tremendous truce here and because of it, you see a healthier situation."

Long explained that the question broadens out to the spatial inquiry "What do we want to become as human beings? I do not think the world can exist too much longer with the all too apparent social prejudices. Music may be a fine common denominator, but it is what we do with the music that counts. While music may indeed be the universal language, the dialects are still too concise. Until I find a way to solve this problem, I will never consider myself a successful manager."

LOS ANGELES — The Summer Jazz giveaway contest, sponsored by Atlantic Records in conjunction with eight major radio stations across the country, came to a close last week with the winners being announced on September 27 by Ron Granger, Atlantic Records director of R&B promotion.

Grand prize winners in each market received Sony portable cassette decks, and daily winners each received a six-pack of cassettes consisting of contemporary Atlantic Jazz releases which included Stanley Clarke's "School Days," Larry Coryell and Alphonse Mouzon's "Back Together Again," and Don Cherry's "Three Or Four Shades Of Blues."

The contest lasted for six days and required listeners to telephone radio stations in order to identify the artist/title of the song played. One winner was named daily and from these, the grand prize winners were selected. The listener response in each market was monumental.

Stations which participated in the campaign were WRVR-New York, WHAT/WDAS-Philadelphia, WHUR-Washington, WJZZ-Detroit, WBEE-Chicago, KBCA-Los Angeles, KRE-San Francisco, and WXAP-Atlanta.

Sega Reports Sales, Earnings Figures For Fourth Quarter, 1977 Fiscal Year

REDONDO BEACH, CA — Sega Enterprises, Inc. reported fourth quarter earnings of $273,000 or 14 cents per share, on sales of $7.8 million. This compares with $534,000, or 27 cents per share, on sales of $6.4 million for the similar period in 1976.

Net earnings include a foreign exchange translation of $151,000, or eight cents per share, in the fourth quarter ended June 30, 1977 and a foreign exchange translation gain of $22,000, or one cent per share, in the restated 1976 quarter.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1977, net earnings were $347,000, or 18 cents per share, on sales of $29.9 million. This compares with net earnings of $1.9 million, or $1 per share, on sales of $24.2 million in fiscal 1976.

Net earnings include a foreign exchange translation gain of $432,000 or 23 cents per share, in fiscal 1977, and a foreign exchange translation loss of $226,000, or 12 cents per share, in the restated fiscal 1976.

Manufacturing Loss

The declines in net earnings primarily reflect costs associated with the company's manufacturing operation in the United States, coupled with disappointing sales in the United States amusement game market, according to Sega. As a consequence of the weaknesses in United States operations, the company lowered selling prices and reduced the carrying amount of game machines in inventory.

Operations in Japan, the company's principal market, were profitable in fiscal 1977, but year-to-year operating income declined due to lower gross profit margins and increased selling, administrative and general expenses.

Sega Center

In the United States, Sega opened three new family-oriented amusement centers under the Sega Center name during the fourth quarter, adding to the first Sega Center opened earlier in the fiscal year. The company expects to open two additional Sega Centers during the first quarter of the new fiscal year.

Sega manufactures and distributes coin-operated amusement games and large-screen television projection systems. The company also distributes other entertainment products for home and commercial use and operates amusement centers.

Chip Carter Buys Bally 'Fireball' Pin For The President's Home In Plains

CHICAGO — A Bally "Fireball" pinball machine was recently installed in the Plains, Georgia home of President Carter. It was purchased from Lee Martin of Martin Amusement Co. in Macon, Georgia, by the President's son, Chip, who is occupying the home while attending to his father's peanut business.

He and his wife, Caron, are avid pinball players, and when they decided to have a unit of their own, contact was made with Lee Martin and their expressed choice was the Fireball. The model was delivered on September 15, accompanied by full TV coverage.

"I am forwarding a copy of the news tape to CBS' 60 Minutes program in the hope that it will be used as a follow-up to their recent program on pinball," Martin said. "I consider this to be an important event in the history of pinball and excellent exposure for our entire industry."

Asked whether a pinball machine is presently in the White House, Chip replied,

"No, but if I move back to Washington I'm taking this one with me."

Bally To Sponsor Two-Day Service School In Chicago

CHICAGO — Bally Manufacturing Corp. has scheduled its second major service school program in the Chicago area. It will consist of two full days of instruction on electronic pinball machines, conducted by four instructors from the Bally staff, under the supervision of the firm's field service manager Bernie Powers.

All classes, running from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day, will be held at the Howard Johnson Hotel, located at Irving Park and Mannheim Roads in suburban Schiller Park, Ill. The dates are October 26-27, chosen in conjunction with the October 28-30 AMOA convention.

In a mailing to Bally distributors, informing them of the schools, Powers stressed that enrollment would be limited to 100 persons and requests would be handled on a first come first served basis.

This past May, Bally launched a seminar program of major proportions in the Chicago area. It encompassed a series of three-day courses held at weekly intervals over a three weeks period and attracted individuals from throughout the U.S. as well as from Canada and Europe. At that time Powers indicated that a second program would be arranged if response warranted it.

Also pictured are Lynn Rabin, vice-president of TRG Communications, Inc., a New York-based sales promotion and marketing organization, and Dick Gilman, vice-president of TRG's client, Bally Mfg. Corp. TRG has been retained by Bally as their sales promotion agency, handling coin-operated and home pinball machines, and also representing Bally subsidiary, Aladdin's Castle, a chain of 106 coin-operated entertainment centers in major malls in the United States and Canada.

Super Spin offers a scoring potential of up to 199,000 and bonus scores can be advanced to 15,000. There are two targets for scoring the extra ball feature and a variety of skill shots to stimulate player interest. The model is convertible to add-a-ball.

CALIFORNIA CLIPPINGS

The San Jose-based Time Zone game arcades are proving that advertising and special promotions can increase business significantly. Two recent winning promotions included a pinball tournament, co-sponsored with popular radio station KLIV, and a $5,000 foosball competition October 7-9 at the San Jose Holiday Inn. Contributing greatly to the success of both promotions, as Time Zone president Ted Olsen explained, was a saturation advertising blitz, which proved most effective in bringing new players to the arcades. Olsen said Time Zone intends to continue pursuing an aggressive advertising policy, utilizing various media. "We use a lot of radio, some newspaper and even TV to keep our name before the public and build a reputation as the finest game centers in the county," he said. He noted further that the main objective of Time Zone's efforts in the area of advertising and special promotions is to project the image of game arcades as wholesome, family entertainment centers.

AN OPEN INVITATION to all operators, distributors and manufacturers to attend Portale Automatic Sales' open house celebration October 10-14 at its San Francisco showroom was extended by executive vice president Tom Portale. Tom Higdon, general manager, will be hosting the week-long affair, with the help of Portale personnel from Los Angeles and San Francisco. Naturally, there will be a tempting variety of complimentary food and refreshments.

VISIBILITY is the catchword at Atari this week as company execs continue meeting the demands of their globetrotting schedules of major industry-related conventions and exhibitions around the world. At the moment Gene Lipkin, vice president of marketing, is in Tokyo attending the Japan exhibition; while Don Osborne and Ed Boasberg are in New Orleans for the Best Western Motor Inn franchise operators' convention.

LOOK FOR A very exciting new game to be premiered by Cinematronics, Inc. at the AMOA convention — and that's the good word from the firm's Bob Sherwood.

SCHOOL IN SESSION — A total of 70 operators and service people were in attendance at the two-day Bally-Midway service school, sponsored by United Dist. in Wichita, Kansas, September 15-16. The opening day's session was devoted exclusively to Bally electronic pins and it marked the first solo class conducted by Darrell Blendowski, who recently joined the Bally organization as marketing field service engineer. Midway video games were spotlighted at the September 16 class, with the factory's service manager Andy Ducay fielding questions on TV monitors, logic boards, power supply, cabling, and explaining all of the specifics of isolating a problem and correcting it. In the top photo, Blendowski is shown explaining service procedures for Bally's Evel Knievel pinball game. In the bottom photo, Midway's "Laguna Racer," video game is surrounded by (l-r): United's Mark Blum, Jr.; Blendowski; United's Mark Blum and Mel Hammers; and Midway's Andy Ducay.

CHICAGO CHATTER

Seeburg field engineer Ed Urgitis is mapping out an itinerary for a grand-scale tour of the northwest portion of the country, to conduct a series of phonograph service schools. Among the stops scheduled thus far are Portland, Spokane, Seattle and Anchorage, Alaska.

ALSO ON THE SUBJECT OF SERVICE SCHOOLS, Midway's service manager Andy Ducay just confirmed a date with Lieberman Distg. Co. in Minneapolis for a Midway session. Class will be conducted on Friday, October 14 — and with Andy's track record, you can bet there'll be a full house in attendance.

ATTENTION PHONO OPS: Received word from Lee Stollar of L S Records in Madison, Tenn. that the Cristy Lane single "Let Me Down Easy" is fast developing into a juke box favorite.

NICE HEARING FROM Lee Martin of Martin Amusement Co. in Macon, Ga. who noted that the recently formed Georgia Amusement & Music Operators Assn. got a big publicity boost from TV coverage of Chip Carter's purchase of a Bally "Fireball" pin. Martin said the local station publicized the successful effort of Georgia ops in organizing a state group while focusing attention on the President's son and his new pinball machine — which was purchased from Martin Amusement Co.

TOP PRIORITY ITEMS at the Williams Electronics Inc. factory at present are the "Argosy" four-player pingame and "Cherokee" shuffle alley. Bill DeSelm said quantity shipments are in progress to distributors — and both pieces are being very well received.

HEARTIEST CONGRATS TO Tom Nieman, of Bally, and his lovely wife, Sally, who are the proud parents of a baby girl, Elizabeth Arbor. The little miss arrived on October 3 and tipped the scale at eight pounds.

JOHNNY FRANTZ OF J. F. Frantz Mfg. Co. reports increased home market sales of his popular "U. S. Marshall" gun, which he began marketing for home consumption several months ago. John said he'll be displaying the piece at both the NAMA and AMOA conventions.

WE WISH A speedy recovery to ad agency exec Billy Perry who is undergoing surgery at Rush Presbyterian St. Lukes Hospital in Chicago.

EASTERN FLASHES

At presstime last week Wurlitzer's C. B. Ross was in Spain attending the annual Deutsche Wurlitzer international distributors meeting, during which the new Wulitzer phono line was to be revealed. U.S. audiences will be viewing it at the AMOA convention in Chicago, Oct. 28-30. Among company execs who'll be traveling from Germany to attend AMOA will be Messrs. Klaus Telgheder and Friedel Pott — and C. B. indicated that the Wurlitzer exhibit will be quite outstanding this year. . . . It seems like only yesterday — but, the Belam Florida Corp. operation in Miami celebrated its first anniversary in July of this year — and Bob Halm of the R. H. Belam parent firm says it's been a very productive year for the new branch. During his recent attendance at the FAMA convention Bob observed further evidence of the firm's growing strength in So. Florida, he told us — and they couldn't be happier about it. Between now and AMOA time Bob, his brother Marc and Shane Brakes will be doing quite a bit of domestic as well as overseas traveling, with Bob making a trip to the Far East which will include his attendance at the big Japan show in Tokyo; Marc heading for Chicago to attend the NAMA convention and Shane departing for Europe to be on hand for the London previews and the Italian trade show. As for what's sellin' big overseas, from the Belam product roster, Gremlin's "Depth Charge" and "Hustle" seem to top the list. . . . The recent Bally-Midway service school, sponsored by Robt. Jones Intl., Syracuse was an outstanding success in every respect — full attendance, excellent presentation and, most importantly, as Jack Shawcross pointed out, the sessions "helped relieve the apathy of most operators" with regard to electronic pinball machines. They learned a lot more about them, he added, and are now buying unhesitatingly, as evidenced by the ever increasing demand for the Bally "Evel Knievel" model. At this point, Jack said he can't wait for the release of the Bally "Eight Ball." He also expressed enthusiasm about the Atari "Starship I" and the latest series of Hurricane Tournaments, being spotted throughout the territory as a prelude to the biggie scheduled for this coming November in Syracuse.

TALENT ON STAGE

Murray McLauchlan Caldston & Thom

BOTTOM LINE, NYC — Hitting the Big Apple for the first time, Murray McLauchlan And The Silver Tractors seemed a bit self-conscious as they opened their set. By the show's end, however, the Canadian rockers and their audience had warmed to each other considerably.

While he has yet to achieve much recognition south of the border, McLauchlan has already established a solid reputation in Canada. Prior to his latest LP, "Hard Rock Town," the Island recording artist had already made six other albums, and had garnered a gold record, as well as three Juno awards (the Canadian equivalent to the Grammy). Five of those earlier albums, however, showcased McLauchlan as a solo performer with various studio musicians backing him. Now he has his own band, the Silver Tractors.

Onstage, McLauchlan's voice sounded husky, yet penetrating, with a timbre that recalled Billy Joel. But McLauchlan's brand of lyrics and the working class chords he struck in songs like "Poor Boys" and the title cut of "Hard Rock Town" were more reminiscent of Bruce Springsteen. And, in perhaps the most commercial cut from that album, "Love Comes And Goes," the band sounded very close to Golden Earring in "Radar Love."

Without too much harmonic inventiveness, but forcefully projecting the basic rock idiom, McLauchlan's group created bright, sharp, hard-driving music which complemented the singer's voice rather well. This was especially true in a beautifully vicious number titled, "He's The Man Who Sings The Blues," and in "Hard Rock Town," where Jorn Anderson's drumming provided a perfect counterpart to McLauchlan's percussive phrasing.

Unfortunately, the set was somewhat uneven. "When The Taxman Comes," a McLauchlan original with incredibly authentic-sounding blues lyrics, was revved up too much, sounding more like pop than blues. And "Well, Well, Well" was less effective in an up-tempo version than it is on the album, where flutist Kathryn Moses lends a mellow touch to what is essentially a reflective song.

Alan: A Tribute To Elvis

THE TROPICANA, LAS VEGAS — The effect is chilling. As the seven piece band fills the air with the rising opening strains of the "2001" theme, Alan slips onto the stage, and as the lights come up, launches into a spirited rendition of "Shake, Rattle & Roll," just like the King of rock and roll would have done it. Though the King is dead, a flattering and touching tribute to his spirit exists in the person of Alan, a man who has quite literally and with absolute sincerity recreated in song what no television documentary could accomplish — a loving and almost reverent salute to the giant who once walked among us.

Alan flinches at the suggestion that he is an imitator or impersonator. Unlike the rash of performers who have rushed to release "tribute" recordings in the wake of Presley's untimely death, Alan was doing his tribute long before death visited the Graceland mansion. Though his personal appearance and vocal similarities to Elvis are startlingly analogous, Alan has never pretended to be anything but a super-fan who simply hopes to impart to the world at large his respect for Presley's talent.

It is an incredibly touching show, eighty minutes of Elvis' songs presented in chronological order while Alan relates McCABES, SANTA MONICA — Bill Monroe refers to Tennessee and Kentucky, the states where bluegrass music was first heard, as "my country" — but that's not to say that anything about Monroe or his music is foreign to the west coast.

Welcomed to the stage by a standing ovation, Bill Monroe, the gray-haired patriarch of bluegrass music, proceeded to lead his four-piece band, The Blue Grass Boys, through a toe-tappin', knee-slappin', hand-clappin' good time in front of a packed house at McCabes during one of his all-too-rare visits to California.

"Just because we're back in Tennessee and you folks are out here doesn't mean we've left you," Monroe told an enthusiastic crowd at Santa Monica's intimate guitar shop/coffee house.

Elected to the Country Music Hall of Fame in 1970, Monroe is the man who sowed the first seeds of bluegrass back in 1939 when he debuted his homegrown music on the Grand Ol' Opry radio show. And since then, Monroe's backyard has proved fertile soil for the genre as such bluegrass virtuosos as Vassar Clements, Earl Scruggs and Lester Flatt have sprung from past collections of The Blue Grass Boys.

Monore's current ensemble, consisting of Kenny Baker on fiddle, Wayne Lewis on guitar, Butch Robbins on banjo and Randy Davis on bass picked, strummed and fiddled their way through such original classics as "Muleskinner Blues" and "Blue Moon Of Kentucky" with each solo punctuated with hearty applause. One tune which was especially appreciated was "The Grey Eagle," which featured Baker's mellifluously fiddling fingers. As usual, Monroe's mandolin and vocals were in fine form throughout the show.

Halfway through the second show Monroe coaxed former Blue Grass Boy Richard Green out of the audience and onto the stage to join the band for a few tunes. Green, whose electric fiddle-work became the trademark of the country/rock group Seatrain in the early seventies, sounded like he'd never left the lineup as he sawed historical embellishments that add to the impact. It is hard to select the best of the nearly 400 Elvis tunes that Alan has committed to memory. But the twenty songs that Alan presented this evening covered most of the territory, spotlighting the string of pop hits but not neglecting the songs from Elvis movies, an American trilogy that pointed up Elvis' patriotism and a dramatically moving version of "How Great Thou Art," an example of Presley's deep religious convictions.

Throughout the show the audience is respectful and attentive while Alan is alternately hard-driving and soft-spoken. There is never a doubt about audience contact because Alan frequently sings one-on-one with hand and eye contact with women sitting or standing close to the stage. But there is always the gentle reminder that there will never be another Elvis and that the man who sounds so uncannily similar and whose demeanor is so suggestive of the legend himself is only a replica, but undoubtedly the closest representation and the most authentic of the host of more than 80 people who imitate Elvis for a living. It is one of the most unique acts ever presented, and Alan's goal is as noble as his show is entertaining.

Bankrupt Retailer To Sell Records When Solvent Again

by Mark Mehler

TOLEDO, OHIO — Grinnell Brothers, a music retail chain with 24 stores in the midwest, is hoping to get back into the record and tape business after it has been reorganized under Chapter XI of the Federal Bankruptcy Code.

Michigan jewelry magnate David Rose, who purchased Grinnell in 1976 from American Music Stores, almost immediately encountered serious financial problems. Consequently, he filed a bankruptcy petition for Grinnell last August 11. Presently, however, the company is operating fairly smoothly; vendors who have supplied the firm for many years are still extending it credit.

A number of key changes have been made in Grinnell's operation, including a tighter, more sophisticated inventory control system, more competitive pricing, and store management personnel shifts. For example, Ron Sweet, department merchandise manager for Grinnell, noted that computer inventory printouts are now available two days after the end of each month, and daily sales figures are also available for the first time.

Used To Sell LPs

The 99 year-old chain, specializing in musical instruments and sheet music, got out of the record business entirely in 1976. It had previously done about 15% of its business in LPs and tapes.

"We originally left the record area because we couldn't compete (price-wise) in our various markets," Sweet said. These markets include major cities in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, where specialty record chains like Recordland and Disc were beginning to sprout up quickly a few years ago. Grinnell was supplied by the Handelman rack, and was paying more for hit product than its competition was charging at retail. In addition, hit product was not always in the stores fast enough to take advantage of peak airplay.

"Obviously, when we get back into records, we're going to buy centrally and direct (from manufacturers)," asserted Sweet. "Records would be a traffic builder. We'll deal almost exclusively in the hits. And in selected stores, with particular clientele, like one of our outlets that's in a Polish area, we'll stock some ethnic product."

Sweet suggested that, even if the profit is not as great on records as on sheet music or instruments, LPs and tapes present great opportunities for in-store cross-merchandising. Likewise, Sweet hopes to run extensive print and radio record advertising, tied to concerts in college areas like Ann Arbor, Michigan, where the chain has established a strong presence.

Sweet concluded that, while the aftermath of bankruptcy had left some ill will, primarily in the local press, in actual practice it has been "business as usual." In the long run, he said, the stigma of Chapter XI will wear off, and the chain will become financially healthier than ever.

"The Retail Explosion"

The first Utopia Records and Gear store covering 1,500 square feet, has opened on the Southwest Freeway strip in Houston. Two other Utopia stores are slated to open over the next 12 months, according to owner Becky Tonahill. Their sites have already been selected, she said.

The stores will stock about 60% LPs and tapes, primarily Top 40, and a wide selection of accessories and paraphernalia. Located near such major outlets as Sound Warehouse, Cactus and Evolution Records, Utopia last week advertised a grand opening sale on selected albums for $3.79, slightly below Houston's usual price. A store spokesman described the consumer response as excellent.

The Richter and Phillips general discount chain in Cincinnati has decided to beef up its record and tape department, increasing the size of its display racks by 50% and changing distributors. At present, other mass merchandisers like Swallen's and Twin Fair dominate the city's record retail market. There are a few significant specialty record stores, however, including Sight & Sound and Globe Records.

Earl Moore, vice president of the Richter and Phillips Corp., said that over the past four years, two of the three R&P units that carry records have handled only Top 20 LPs, plus some jazz and MOR product. The two stores will now carry a much larger inventory, heavily weighted with Top 100 albums.

Australian News

AUSTRALIA — Yamaha, the largest musical instrument manufacturer in the world, and Australian band Daniel, have just signed the most exclusive and prestigious sponsorship deal of its kind ever signed in this country.

Exclusive not only because of the large sums of money that will be invested in Daniel by Yamaha, but also because this is the first deal of this nature ever signed between a relatively new Australian band and a Japanese company — Yamaha being established in Japan in 1887.

Yamaha will sponsor and supply Daniel with a full range of stage equipment and extras for a two-year period in return for Daniel's endorsement and promotion of Yamaha equipment.

Yamaha had been specifically looking for a musician's band as opposed to a band that concentrates on the lighter aspects of entertainment, to fully complement the range of equipment and to use it to the best advantage. They had no hesitation in signing Daniel after having only seen the band perform once.

Daniel are currently enjoying success with their first single "Are You Listening," and are in the process of recording their forthcoming album produced by Michael Rudd on Image Records.

UA Canada Has Best Third Qtr. In Its History

TORONTO — Stan Kulin, president of United Artists Records, Canada, recently announced the best sales quarter in the Canadian company's history, as well as the best September ever for billings.

Commenting from UA's Toronto headquarters on the label's outstanding Canadian sales performance, Kulin remarked, "I think our success in Canada can be attributed to three of UA's most successful acts. First, ELO, whose 'New World Record' has attained double platinum status here.

"All three singles from the LP, 'Livin' Thing,' 'Do Ya' and most especially 'Telephone Line' have met with a phenomenal sales and airplay here.

"Second, Kenny Rogers, whose 'Lucille' LP has recently been certified platinum. Both the 'Lucille' single and Kenny's latest 'Daytime Friends' have both gone well over gold status and it looks like the trend will continue.

"Lastly, Crystal Gayle has been coming on very strong during this last quarter, bolstered by her chart success with 'Don't It Make My Brown Eyes Blue.' Other UA product that has been making a strong showing in Canadian markets are the Animals, Tim Weisberg and the soundtrack to 'The Spy Who Loved Me.' We have also been doing very well with catalog sales by such acts as the Ventures and Johnny Rivers," Kulin said.

Commenting on the comparisons between U.S. and Canadian markets, Kulin said, "Canadian sales have traditionally represented 7 to 10% of American sales. This pattern has held more or less steadily through the last fiscal year. If there was any area of divergence, it would have to be in country music. Both Kenny Rogers and Crystal Gayle have shown slightly better sales patterns over the 10% ratio."

Asked to forecast UA Canada's coming year, Kulin expressed optimism based on a dynamic fall release schedule. "I think the coming year will far surpass even last year's showing. With the new ELO double LP, as well as new Kenny Rogers material, I think we will be doing very well by any estimation. Also, I am quite excited about the new LP from Lonnie Donegan, set for fall release, as well as upcoming holiday sales for the entire ELO catalog. And, of course, everyone here at UA Canada is sure that Crystal Gayle is about to explode into a star of major proportions, both here and in the U.S."

FM Listening Up Arbitron Reports

NEW YORK — FM listening in the top 10 radio markets is up 12 percent over last year, according to an Arbitron study of the April/May radio sweep. Also, FM listening has increased 122 percent since Arbitron's first analysis of the relationship between AM and FM shares in 1970, the company reported.

The study showed that FM listening increased over last year in all Arbitron markets except Boston, which experienced a one percent decline. In four of the markets analyzed (Philadelphia, Detroit, Washington, D.C. and Dallas/Ft. Worth) FM listening was greater than AM, while Dallas/Ft. Worth and Washington, D.C. continued to have the greatest share of FM listening with 54 percent and 53 percent, respectively.

Markets which experienced the greatest growth in FM listening were: Chicago, which increased its FM shares 25 percent; Pittsburgh, which showed a 19 percent increase; Philadelphia, which showed a 15 percent rise in FM listening, and Los Angeles, which rose 12 percent.

Epic Records' Artists Development Discussed

and make sure the acts are out there properly."

DeMarino added that choosing among these requests can be a very delicate matter. The bottom line, he stressed, is product, "It always gets back to the grooves, and what the artist is presenting us with."

Even in the case of established record sellers, proper touring arrangements are of such crucial importance in today's industry that DeMarino is often called upon for advice on an artist's total touring picture. He brought up the example of the Jacksons. "Here's a dynamic act that appeals to fans young and old, but it's my opinion that their touring situation has been weak."

DeMarino has already suggested several ways in which the Jacksons' tours might be improved. "I personally believe that more time has to be given to each of their promotions," he said. "I also think that they can be better packaged than they have been of late."

"Because so many acts are now passing through major cities," he explained, "support talent has become so vital. Each and every show has got to be packaged properly. What may be packagable in one area of the country bears no value in another area of the country. So it's becoming more and the more the norm where a headliner will take one act in a package as support talent for one area of the country, and go a different route for another area."

Marketing Approach

DeMarino further elucidated the specialized approach that must be taken with all touring artists in today's industry. "It's become a more demanding situation, one in which a more involved marketing approach has been necessary. It's got to be handled region by region, in many cases market by market."

One prime example of market-by-market thinking for an Epic artist is the current national tour of Ted Nugent, who is the subject of constant dialog between DeMarino and Leber-Krebs, Nugent's management. "We're constantly keeping them up to date as to the markets that we think Ted should replay, or if he's not hit virgin territory, how soon we'd like to have him hit that particular area. David Krebs has been very cautious and particular about when and where Ted comes into New York. He's done that because he wants to be absolutely certain that the marketplace is properly prepared, and we're totally in agreement. So, although New York is the key market, we've been cautious about Ted coming into the city until the timing is right."

The same held true in the case of REO. "This summer, even though we had a great national pattern happening for REO, and were close to gold on their live album at that point, we still did not have a stronghold for REO in the city of New York," he explained. "We knew they should come in, yet they weren't quite ready to sell out at a top ticket price." Promoter Ron Delsener and DeMarino worked out the best package for the New York Palladium engagement, devising a plan by which tickets could be sold at the low price of $3. On a Monday night, the show sold out, and the band's performance before a full house seemed to go over well with the New York rock press, which previously had not been terribly enthusiastic about the group.

Coaching Superstars

Brothers, whose last album, "Go For Your Guns," has sold some 700,000 units over the platinum mark, according to CBS figures. DeMarino sat down with the group before their concert tour, advised them to play some of the cities where they had the best concert acceptance on last year's tour, and encouraged them to broaden their base following with dates in the deep south. According to DeMarino, this was the most successful tour the Isley Brothers have ever done, with 90% to 100% capacity crowds on all their dates.

In the case of Teddy Pendergrass, an artist on Philadelphia International, an Associated Label, DeMarino maintains contact with Tony Martell, vice president and general manager of the associated labels, as well as with promotion director Gordon Anderson. He also has daily dialog with Philadelphia International and William Morris, Pendergrass' booking agent, asking questions like "Where are we going with Teddy? Is that situation right? When should he initially hit Las Vegas?"

Faith

Once again, he referred to Ted Nugent. This artist had released many unsuccessful albums on other labels, but key people on the Epic staff felt that his live show revealed the makings of a successful artist. Due to their faith as much as to Nugent's talent, his last two albums were recently certified platinum.

Bill Monroe

through "Pandhandle" and "Sitting On Top Of The World."

At evening's end, Monroe and his band, ever the country gentlemen, took turns thanking the audience and ensuring everyone that with continued support bluegrass music would remain true to its traditional standards.

Barry Solomon and Tom Sauber, a bluegrass duo that features some fine flat-picking and fiddling, kicked off the show by setting a festive atmosphere with tunes such as "Waynesboro" and "Mississippi Shores."

Caldston And Thom, the opening act, were a real surprise. While their highly produced debut album on Warner Bros. gave the impression that this was just a mainstream pop act, Caldston & Thom turned out to be a hard-rocking band in concert. Lead singer Peter Thom projected a charismatic persona, while showing great vocal agility. Joined by co-vocalist Phil Galdston on "Why Don't We Live Together," with layered harmonies from other band members, Thom gave the song the strong R&B treatment it richly deserved.
