Music City's New Years Celebrations

The year may end on December 31 for the rest of the country, but in Nashville, the New Year celebration takes place in January. Last week, the CMA doled out their annual awards at the Nashville Songwriters Assoc. in their Hall of Famers, BMI, ASCAP and SAC spotlighted their top writers — these were just a few of the happenings in Music City. You can find an article about the CMA Awards on page 5 of this issue, and next week we'll spread out some pictures of the week's events for you to look through.

In the meantime, here is a recap of who got what when last week.

RIAA To Drop Non-Music Video Certifications

By Gregory Dobrin

LOS ANGELES — The Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA) has decided to discontinue RIAA/Video Gold and Platinum certifications for theatrical and non-musical videos, with the exception of non-musical music videos, as of December 31. The decision is due to the enormous increase in genres of videos other than music in the last several years, which has taken the association's certification tasks too far from its record industry function.

"We're in the record business, not the video business," an RIAA spokesperson said. "The video category is filled with movie trailers, How To Play Golf or Kathy Smith's Workout, and that's just not the business we're in. We will continue to certify music videos."

The association's move away from non-musical video certification has been building for some time. In fact, video membership to RIAA was discontinued last year. "This was a natural second step," the spokesperson said.

RIAA certifications for videocassettes began in 1981, when the video business was in its infancy. At that time, Gold certification was awarded to tapes which sold in excess of 25,000 units, or $1 million, while Platinum certifications went to tapes which sold more than 50,000 units, or $2 million. "Who knew back then that VCRs and movie rentals would become the big business that it has in just a few years," the spokesperson remarked.

Today, RIAA Gold and Platinum video certifications vary from category to category. For theatrical videos, Gold means at least 75,000 units ($3 million) and Platinum means at least 150,000 units ($6 million). For non-theatrical tapes, Gold means at least 30,000 units ($1.2 million), while Platinum means at least 60,000 units ($2.4 million). Music video, whose standard remains at the 1981 level, will continue to be certified Gold at 25,000 units and Platinum at 50,000 units.

Industry speculation now points to the International Tape/Disc Association to take the lead in theatrical and non-theatrical sales certifications. The Motion Picture Association of America, once viewed as an obvious RIAA successor for theatrical video certifications, has reportedly decided not to certify videocassettes.

Azoff Receives Martell Award

LOS ANGELES — Irving Azoff, president of MCA Music Entertainment Group, has named the 12th annual recipient of the T.J. Martell Foundation for Leukemia and Cancer Research, it was announced today by the foundation's chairman of the board, Glinert, and their founder and president, Tony Martell. The award is in recognition of Azoff's continuing and active participation in aiding numerous humanitarian causes. The 12th Annual Humanitarian Dinner in his honor will be held Saturday, April 11, 1987 at the Sheraton Hotel in New York City.

At the announcement, Glinert said, "The future scientific research of the T.J. Martell Foundation will be greatly enhanced by the compassionate dedication and humanitarian involvement of Irving

Tony Martell said: "Irving Azoff has supported our foundation from its very inception. He has not only supported us with his funds, but with his time and his personal energy. I am also aware of his philanthropic endeavors. It is only fitting that we honor him in 1987."

Azoff said: "I have always deeply appreciated and applauded the work of the T.J. Martell Foundation. It has been my honor to be associated with their efforts in the past, and I am extremely honored to receive this year's award. I can only hope that adding my name to their annual drive will result in an acceleration in their progress toward finding cures for cancer and leukemia."

Nearly 16 million dollars has been raised by the T.J. Martell Foundation since CBS Records vice president Tony Martell promised his son, T.J., who was terminally ill with the disease, he would help find a cure for leukemia and cancer. It is the music industry's largest charity organization, and its pioneering work now spans two continents, including Mt. Sinai Medical Center in New York, the Neil Bogart Memorial Laboratories at Children's Hospital in Los Angeles, the Boston-based Cancer and Leukemia Group B and the European Organization for Research and Treatment of Cancer.

This past year's Humanitarian Award went to Quincy Jones. The previous year's honorees include Willard Alexander, Dick Asher, Clive Davis, Terry Ellis & Chris Wright, Ahmet M. Ertegun, Gil Friesen, Bruce Lundvall, Tony Martell, Scott Muni, and Walter R. Yetnikoff.

Majors See Bountiful CD Christmas

By Lee Jeske

NEW YORK — "Phenomenal," was the one word that MCA's Harold Sulman used when asked how this Christmas season's CD picture looked. "We'll be able to meet demand by early November because we're getting production of over a million CDs a month for October, November and December — about five times as much as we were getting last Christmas."

In a spot survey of four of the major labels last week — Warner Bros. and Capitol were unavailable for comment — a rosy CD Christmas was predicted across the board. After a couple of years of hand-wringing — are CDs going to catch on? where can we get the production from? — the labels contacted seem ready to meet the Yule season — and the expected post-holiday boom — head on.

"How are we doing in terms of supply?" said CBS' Jerry Shulman. "We're doing excellently, that's why our 'Buy One Get One Free' promotion is under way. Obviously we feel quite confident that we can fulfill all of these additional sales that we're going to generate from it. Without question, we feel that we have not only been able to satisfy our accounts — and I think our fill is overwhelmingly the best in the industry — but we also feel that we have been able to stockpile enough CDs in anticipation of this program, so we can satisfy the customers who buy five and then expect to get one free."

"As far as we're concerned, our supply is good and is going to continue to be good," said PolyGram's Harry Anger. "We've had good fill so far, through the whole growth of this project, and we believe that it will continue to be good."

None of the labels contacted would commit to any Yuletide promotions — a la CBS' package — but everybody suggested that possible deals were in the offing. "We will be running significant promotions with our CD product," said RCA's Rick Dobbis. "We treat the CD as a front line configuration, meaning that we believe that it is a part of our product line that has to be dealt with as we deal with LPs and cassettes."

Dobbis joined the other labels in predicting adequate supply, but cautioned, "As always with CDs, the concern really is for any projects that are really explosive where you can't project sufficiently. We believe we'll have an adequate supply, but you can never tell just how explosive any particular project might become. You're in the position where you don't want to be out of anything, but there is one good reason to be out of something — the record explodes. That we can live with. We won't be happy about it, but we'll live with it."

As for anticipated hot items, all the labels bubbled forth. Dobbis pointed to Bruce Hornsby as a front-line CD mover for RCA, and also expressed confidence in the success of Novus and Bluebird, RCA's foray into jazz, which will debut early next month with simultaneous LP, cassette, and CD issues. Shulman fingered the Bruce Springsteen live set as CBS' big number, saying, "that's occupying weeks and weeks of our production." He also pointed to the release in early November of 14 Rolling Stones titles — LPs previously on Atlantic — on CD.

PolyGram, of course, will be in the November Stones CD sweepstakes, with their reissues of the band's London catalogue on CD. Beyond that, Anger said that, for the most part, "What we're finding is the hot items are the items that are selling well in all formats. Things like Bon Jovi, Cinderella, the Moody Blues, and Emerson, Lake & Powell." MCA's Sulman suggested that MCA's big titles would be Boston's "Third Stage" and "Miami Vice II." He also mentioned "the Impulse stuff — there's a second set coming — will do real well, and we've got about 20 classical titles. But the biggest stuff is going to be the rock and roll hits."

All the labels rued the fact that CD production demands still forces the digital format to lag about a month behind LPs and cassettes in release scheduling — though on less trend-oriented material (jazz, classics, rock reissues), the tendency seems to be to hold up the LPs and cassettes until the CDs are ready.

"It's a self-fulfilling prophecy," said CBS' Shulman about the anticipated CD crush before, and just after, Christmas. "There are five times more people with CD players, so there's no question that it's going to be gangbusters."

Moss Music Introduces CD "Wallet"

NEW YORK—The Moss Music Group has introduced a new package for CDs, which it calls the CD Wallet. Moss has created a new classical label, Vox Prima, which will utilize the packaging.

The CD Wallet is a cardboard box, measuring about 5" by 11 1/4" by 1/8". After the consumer takes the package home, a cardboard stiffener is removed from the box and the box folds into the same size as the standard jewel box. The CD Wallet, before it is folded, is about the third of the width of a long cardboard box with an enclosed jewel box. According to Ira Moss, president of the Moss Music Group, "The consumer is currently paying at list price between two dollars and four dollars for a CD package that is relatively unsatisfactory to many purchasers. The CD Wallet affords consumers packaging at a lower price..." The CD Wallet will be made available through licensing to all labels through Berkley Marketing.

Vox Prima, the new Moss classical CD label, will record new performances as well as reissue items from the catalogue of the Vox label.

Home Taping Addressed By CISAC Congress

NEW YORK—CISAC (the International Confederation of Authors, Composers and Publishers) addressed the issue of home taping during its recent 35th annual Congress, held in Madrid. Dennis De Freitas, chairman of the British Copyright Council, on behalf of the U.K. copyright organizations PRS/ICPS, called for CISAC to call upon all governments whose countries recognize the value of the copyright system to take steps without delay to introduce schemes to provide remuneration for authors and other interested persons whose works are subject to extensive home taping. According to De Freitas, a U.K. study showed that in 1983, 66 million hours of music were taped, approximately six times more hours of music taped than bought.

Jean Loup Tournier, the general manager of French copyright societies SACEM and SDRM, said, "The public must understand that by paying only a small amount for each cassette it obtains...guarantees...a continuous flow of new cultural and amusement products." Gerry Willemsen, the general manager of BUMA/STEMRA, the Dutch copyright organizations, bemoaned the fact that the Netherlands still do not have any legislative provision covering home taping.

Austrian pop star Falco sent a message to the Congress, encouraging it to continue to fight for a levy on blank tapes. "The best things in life are not always free," said Falco, "that is why I want to be paid for the use of my songs."

Bennett Named VP Promotion for MCA

Irving Azoff, president of the MCA Music Entertainment Group, has announced the appointment of Bill Bennett as vice president of album promotion for MCA Records. In the position, Bennett will be responsible for album oriented radio (AOR) airplay for all MCA artists on a national basis.

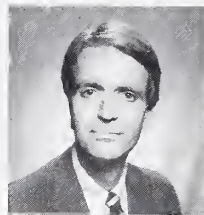

Azoff says, "I've long known and respected Bill Bennett, at it's always wonderful to have your best competitor join your team." Executive vice president of marketing and promotion for MCA, Richard Palmese, says, "We're extremely pleased to have Bill Bennett, the best AOR promotion man in the business, come to MCA. Album radio is not only important to our established artists, we believe that the AOR format will develop the new rock artist of today into the star of tomorrow. We look forward to Bill's contributions on both of these fronts."

Bill Bennett joins MCA after 13 years with

CBS Records, the last three as vice president, national album promotion for Epic, Portrait, and CBS Associated Labels. He joined CBS as a Salesman in 1973 and spent 10 of the next 13 years in various promotion capacities and two as product manager.

Michael DesBarres: Good Luck Streak Continues With New LP

By Paul Iorio

YORK — "A couple of years ago I was the street," says Michael DesBarres. "I'm on a fabulous street in a new neighborhood and it's so extraordinary the way it is."

His good fortune started with a San Diego gig in 1984. "I was in this band called Chequered Past and we supported Duran in San Diego. John and Andy [Duran] saw that show and—I never met them—but a few months later Robert [DesBarres] left the band and they thought of me and called me," he says. "So how do you do something like that? I guess you do something like that by saying that whatever you play or whatever you do, do it a hundred per cent every time because one Tom Parker may be in the audience."

DesBarres gave his first Power Station performance at Live-Aid in 1984 and it put him into a veritable teen idol. For one who had been gigging with mixed results for more than a decade, this was an unexpected welcome turn of events.

"Every fantasy I ever had was fulfilled by the limos, our own jet—it was hilarious," he says. "And it kind of got it out of my system. Because when I was first getting into music I was more inspired by newsreels of the Beatles getting on and off the plane than I was by the music. So I've always been a dilettante, always been into the whole thing. That's why I've always had such an affinity for John Taylor because we're exactly the same. He'll tell you that the right earring is as important as the right hair. DesBarres's style-consciousness stems from his roots as a seventies glitter-rocker. His stint with The Power Station allowed him to act out and, consequently, purge his need to live the role of a 'decadent pop star.' The first thing that got purged was his particularly bad cocaine habit. DesBarres kicked it and is now helping others through an organization called Rock Against Drugs (RAD) which he co-found with Gold Mountain Records president Danny Goldberg. "In a sense I'm just so glad that I went through the whole drug thing because it taught me an enormous amount. And now of course we've founded RAD," he says. "Don Johnson is involved with RAD. The whole idea is to cut a bunch of public service announcements featuring Bruce Willis, Madonna, Cyndi Lauper, Steve Jones, Andy Taylor, Belinda Carlisle, Phil Collins, and others."

DesBarres's new album, "Somebody Up There Likes Me" (Gold Mountain/MCA), represents his resurgence as an individual and a recording artist, and, as such, is a powerfully personal document. "This record is about me. It was like a floodgate of all sorts of personal emotions," he says. "Everything else I had written before was objective—about something—as opposed to what I was feeling, so all this pent-up stuff came out. I had been suppressing these feelings in the past and they just came out on the album."

"The majority of the stuff that I had done before used to be written for an audience I thought existed, by an artist that I had created," he says. "I abandoned the artist I had created because he was fueled by the drugs, the myth of the melodramatic decadent rock star."

On this album, DesBarres veers from stock rock whenever the emotional content demands it. "Somebody Up There Likes Me" includes a moving ballad ("Too Good To Be Bad"), a Stoneish title track, the Wilson Pickett-styled "Locked In The Cage Of Love" (written by Eurhythmic's Dave Stewart), several cuts backed by The Tower Of Power horns, and a personally appropriate cover of Johnny Nash's "I Can See Clearly Now."

"I heard 'I Can See Clearly...' on the radio and said that sounds good for the record," he says. "I've always loved the song, I love the lyrics"—he pauses—"and it seemed appropriate for me now that all the obstacles have disappeared."

Scorsese Mixes Blues Into The Color Of Money

by Peter Berk

LOS ANGELES—The film: Touchstone Pictures' The Color Of Money, a much-anticipated sequel to the Paul Newman-Jackie Gleason classic from 1961 in which Newman reprises his Oscar-nominated role as billiards master 'Fast' Eddie Felson. The picture, directed by Martin Scorsese, also stars Tom Cruise as Felson's pool playing protégé.

The soundtrack: an MCA release just now being shipped which features cuts by Don Henley, Eric Clapton; Robert Palmer; Willie Dixon; Mark Knoffler; Warren Zevon; and B.B. King, as well as pieces from the film's score; composed by Robbie Robertson and arranged by Gil Evans. The likely first single (and video from The Color Of Money will be Clapton's "It's In The Way You Use It."

Well, although this seems yet another prominent motion picture joined at the hip to yet another pop-laden soundtrack, there's actually far more at work, and at stake, here. In reality, The Color Of Money marks a serious, and long overdue effort to shed more light on a unique style of music which is too often relegated to the shadows, namely, the blues. After all, Scorsese obviously reasoned, what other genre of music could so perfectly reflect the moody, smoke-filled pool halls in which so much of the picture's action takes place?

In a three-way conversation last week, Chris Montan, Touchstone's director of creative affairs, music; and Robin Garb, the studio's vice president of music, motion pictures and television, discussed The Color Of Money soundtrack with Cash Box. "The great part of this project," Montan first commented, "was that Martin Scorsese really knows music. He has a tremendous feel for it and very much envisioned a somewhat bluesy score from the jump. In fact, he basically hand-picked the artists involved and, because of his stature as a director, was able to attract a level of talent you rarely get on one album."

Concurring, Garb added, "These artists not only recognized they were getting the opportunity to work with Scorsese on a sequel to a classic, but also, I think, realized we weren't simply trying to grab on to their success and talent in order to just get a hit record." According to Montan, the director

"approached the artists as being the best in their field, and in essence said to them, 'I want you to make my movie better, based on your skill, not on your fame.'"

In most cases, when 'poptracks' are being assembled, the musicians who are brought in are simply asked to contribute songs which are later cut in to the body of the film. For The Color Of Money, however, the tact was quite different. Each of the songs was not only recorded specifically for the film, but the artists were, for the most part, 'assigned' individual scenes to tackle musically. In this way, each of the songs (although Knoffler opted to compose purely orchestral material for his scene) ties in stylistically and structurally with what is happening on the screen.

Describing the music in The Color Of Money, Montan said, "The mood of the film, as we've mentioned, called for a bluesy, urban sound. And what I like most about the final soundtrack is that the songs blend in so well with the score. It's very coherent in that sense. Eric's song is one of the most outgoing things he's written in years and he's very excited about it. Robert Palmer wrote a fabulous seven minute piece (one of two songs he recorded for the movie) which is very different from what you might expect, since it's not as uptempo as

THE BENEFIT WAS BOSS—Last week's Bridge School benefit might well go down in rock history as one of the most monumental benefit events ever staged, featuring, as it did, the reunion of Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young and Bruce Springsteen's only show of 1986. Fans flocked to Northern California's recently opened Shoreline Amphitheatre from as far away as New Jersey, and helped raise over $1/4 million for physically handicapped youngsters with speech impairments. The event was organized by Neil Young and wife Peggy, whose two sons are victims of cerebral palsy, and also featured such artists as Tom Petty, Robin Williams, Don Henley, J.D. Souther, Timothy B. Schmit and Nils Lofgren. As you might easily imagine, over 60,000 requests for tickets (at $21 a throw) were received for this one-night-only show, with a sell-out final attendance tally of 17,213.

BACK ON TRACKS—After four years in absentia, Iggy Pop is going back on the road for a world tour in support of his recent A&M Records release, "Blah Blah Blah." The LP, which is solid Pop (if a mite unadventurous) has received mostly favorable reviews, and its first single, "Cry For Love," has had a strong reception from radio - the strongest for any single in Pop's lengthy career.

STAR BROS.—The Everly Brothers (pictured with presenter Tom Petty) finally got a star on Hollywood Blvd. recently.

So it's tour time again for the glitter original, and the tour is worldly indeed: Beginning October 29 at Oscar's in Santa Barbara, CA, Pop is off for a string of club and medium-sized venue dates, including (among others) The Palace in Hollywood, The Metro in Chicago, Philadelphia's Trocadero and The Ritz in New York. From there it's Europe, and then back to the states again for what his publicists call a "more extensive tour." Japan and Australia are scheduled after that.

AT RCA, L.A.—You've probably heard about how RCA Records has gone and "invited" its employees to quit (with generous compensation, especially for long-term workers). That was several weeks ago. Well, it just so happens that RCA's L.A. offices are located a few floors below the Points West word processor. Glory be! So we did some unofficial snooping, and here's what we found out: At least four West Coast staffers have taken RCA up on the offer, and several more remain tentative. Those who inside sources said are definitely leaving include general manager Ed Sherlock - a 40-year RCA veteran; director of a&r administration Joan Deary (who doesn't leave until the end of November); News and info head Mort Fleischmann (he stays 'til January); and receptionist Betty Fergit, who's been with the company for 25 years. The word is that more resignations will be made firm when Bertelsmann formally takes the reigns in early December. Incidentally, RCA is throwing a party for the first raft of departing staffers at Don Wardell's house October 24.

BRUCE HELPS OUT—Bruce Springsteen made his only concert appearance of the year at the recent Bridge School benefit in Northern California.

PLAINSMAN—Vocalist Steve Walsh has rejoined '70s supergroup Kansas, after pursuing his own career for the past five years. The band's debut recording for MCA Records is due at retail October 22. Entitled "Power," it was recorded in just about every major city on the globe, but mixed in L.A. at Lion Share. Kansas also has a brand new band member, Steve Morse. (Morse, by-the-way, has been inducted into Guitar Player magazine's "Gallery of Greats" - he's been voted Best Overall Guitarist for 5 years running by their readers poll. Past Gallery inductees include Eric Clapton and Eddie Van Halen).

IN PARTING—Lionel Richie is sponsoring a full scholarship for UCLA's two-year Professional Designation in Songwriting program, for which recipients are chosen by a faculty/industry advisory committee. . . Johnny Winter, now signed to Alligator Records, has two forthcoming Southern California dates: The Palace in Hollywood October 23, and The Coach House in San Juan Capistrano, October 24. . . The Country Club has gone after a new look and revamped promotion. Barbara Davies has been appointed entertainment coordinator and in-house promoter for the venue, working in conjunction with Pacificoast Entertainment promoter Steve Powers. Aside from helping to weed out the best local acts, Davies will install an "open" guest list policy for music biz folk and VIP seating with green room access. The club is also undergoing redecoration, to be completed by the first of the year. . . Santa Monica's At My Place plays host to such diverse acts as Daddy's Money, Nile and The Rubes on the evening of October 23. . . Lost Arts Records has signed Arizona avante-garde quartet Caterwaul. A new LP, "The Nature of Things," is due in November.

Gregory Dobrin

"The musical communication among the members is amazing considering the short period of time we've been together," says Peter Mclan of his new band, The City.

Although Peter Mclan's name is probably not immediately familiar, the many artists he has produced or written songs for, Men At Work, Pat Benatar, and Barbara Streisand, are. Although The City is mostly the brainchild of Mclan, a tall, bearded affable sort who has had an extremely well-rounded musical career as a bandleader, solo artist, songwriter, string arranger and A&R man, "this band," Mclan told Cash Box, "was set up to get five people who enjoy playing together."

Because Mclan spent so much time working down under, many assume he Australian. "Contrary to popular belief, I'm not Australian," Mclan says.

The band consists of Mclan on Keyboards and vocals, lead-vocalist Billy Trudel, former Men At Work drummer, Jerry Speiser, Stuart Mathis on guitar, and bassist, Wade Biery.

On their Chrysalis debut album, "Foundation," the City provide a bright, catchy kind of pop with plenty of textural guitar work and swirling keyboards, but most obvious are the soaring vocal harmonies which the listener might associate with Men At Work. "Men At Work," Mclan explains, "had never done harmonies before we started working together and it's a sound that I've always liked so it was incorporated. It's consistent with other records I've been involved with." Although Mclan's production and writing touch is felt, the overall sound of the City is a collage of all the band members collective influences including, Sam Cooke, the Police, Phil Collins, Genesis and Big Country among others. "Every record is a cooperative enterprise," says Mclan.

While Mclan's immediate impetus in forming the City was an "outlet for writing," creatively, Mclan wants to be a band member. "Wherever the idea comes from, the band wasn't set up as an exclusive vehicle for my writing."

This is also evident in Mclan's decision to find someone other than himself to do the lead vocals. Although Mclan is a lented vocalist, he says "For me, singing is more a function of writing. I never thought my own instrument was as good as if someone else were singing the song. Billy (Trudel) has a better voice than I do. He brings to the song what I had envisioned happening with them. He has the range, the power to do what I hoped would be done and just can't." Trudel, possessor of a silky tenor, lists Sam Cooke and Steve Perry as influences. "Foundation" is Trudel's vinyl debut and he says working with the City "has been a dream come true." Trudel was chosen from over 200 demo tapes Mclan had listened to.

Although Mclan wrote all the lyrics for this album, thematically accessible portraits of everyday concerns, the music was often co-written and Mclan expects that lyrics will be co-written in the future as well. "I really didn't want to make grand gestures. I wanted to write about things that were pretty close to home," Mclan explains. "'Walkaway,' for instance, came about because of all the jobs I've been in, the jobs we've all had working in factories or lugging cop downstairs."

The album was recorded in a relatively short period of time in Mclan's home studio. "There was very little in the way of drum machines and sequencers," says Mclan. "We pretty much played live. We all wanted it to be as live sounding a record as possible." Mclan described the atmosphere in the studio as very comfortable. "There seemed to be a real cohesive unit right from the start, everybody seemed to listen to everybody else and that's rare...unusual."

Brian Kassa

most of his recordings. 'The Old Bluesman' is an original Willie Dixon song which he co-wrote with Robbie Robertson and recorded with a five piece band for the film. You don't hear records like this being made anymore. . . it's really special. Also, 'Standing On The Edge Of Love' may end up being another hit for B.B. King, and you can't have a blues-oriented score without something from him on it."

In addition, Montan and Garb mentioned, Palmer performed a twenty-five year old tune called "My Baby's In Love With Another Man," which he recorded with just stand-up bass, acoustic drums, guitar and voice. "When we tracked down the songwriters (Larry Lucie and Hermans Brightman), they couldn't believe it," Montan recalled. "Mrs. Lucie answered the phone, and when we told her we were interested in using song, she yelled out, 'miracles do happen!'" Rounding out the soundtrack is von's "Werewolf Of London," which will be released as a single by Elektra/Asy when the label releases a "Best Of Zevu" LP in the near future.

Summing up The Color Of Money soundtrack, Garb said, "I think the music, actively speaking, serves as an ideal counterpart to the picture. These artists knew we weren't just interested in the commerciality. The Color Of Money, in fact, would be sensational and popular even without a soundtrack supporting it. I think we've perhaps made a step forward toward making soundtracks which are the film, and we couldn't be more pleased with the way it turned out."

Toto Holds The Line

By Brian Kassan

Not many bands have achieved gold and platinum status with every album they released with the release of their sixth Columbia album, "Fahrenheit." Toto endure despite detractors (mostly critics) who dismiss them as "slick studio" musicians. Their fans the globe, but more importantly, their perseverance, backgrounds and attitudes have built about them.

The current lineup includes drummer Jeff Porcaro, his two brothers, keyboardist Steve Lukather, bassist Michael, vocalist/guitarist David Lukather keyboardist/vocalist David Paich and their newest member, lead vocalist Stephen Williams who makes his vinyl debut on "Fahrenheit."

"Fahrenheit" spoke with Jeff Porcaro and Steve Lukather at Leeds studio where they are rehearsing for a year-end tour of Japan and Europe. They will tour here the latter part of 1987.

The new album features songwriting by all six members of the band. "There are finally six guys who are completely equal in carrying their own weight basically," says Jeff, one of the founding members, "and the force for the band, and generally considered to be one of the finest drummers in the world."

Another, who later clowned around by being put into the "Girl From Impanema," says, "During rehearsal, says, 'We had 17 or 18 different kinds of music for the new album. All different kinds of music. We just put together the album that we thought was the strongest and most diverse. That's what people liked about us the last album and Toto IV. We don't consciously go in the studio and say this album is going to be different than the last one, but over the songs we write at the time is what's selling we're in at the time.'

After the Toto VI album which received a Grammy including album and record of the year, the band tried their hand at movie soundtrack and underwent a personnel change. "During the course of writing 'Isolation,' (their fifth album) we decided that Kimball wouldn't be in the band anymore," says Jeff. "We took on the 'Isolation' project thinking, we can do some Toto type music that isn't rock and roll and at the very inception of the movie, it didn't like it would be a fun thing, it ended up being a nightmare and taking forever."

David Paich with finding a new lead singer, finished the album and tour, they made a temporary choice with Fergie Frederiksen. "Fergie is a great rock and roll singer," Jeff explains, "but, in all honesty, Fergie was well versed in certain musical things we wanted to do into that he was either unfamiliar or uncomfortable with that we had to bypass the isolation album." The "Isolation" album, Lukather says was more "one idea" and a harder sound, although the band tried to do some more R&B flavored material. "When all is said and done," Jeff says, "we saw limitations that would take 40% of our music."

Besides new lead singer Joseph Williams (composer John Williams' son) whose silky tenor pervades new album, an impressive list of guests including, Miles Davis, Don Henley, Michael McDonald and David Sanborn all lend a hand to their new effort. "Instead of trying to do something that sounds like Don Henley or Michael McDonald," says Lukather, "why don't we just call the real guys to do it."

It's no secret that both Jeff Porcaro and Steve Lukather who have played separately for the likes of Steely Dan, Bozz Scaggs, Randy Newman, the Tubes and many others, have been two of the busiest, most sought after session players in the business, but it's interesting to learn that they weren't child prodigies who holed themselves up in their bedrooms practicing to be virtuosos.

Jeff recalls growing up under a semi-musical environment. "My dad plays (percussion), my mom plays but when I reflect on it, music was around as much as for anybody. It wasn't like there were a lot of musical instruments around the house. My dad had one drum set that would be at the house once in a while if he wasn't working. It wasn't like chimes and percussion everywhere. I was just a fan of music. I didn't study drums per se. I took lessons for two years when I was nine and 10, but I couldn't stand reading music and practicing. The rest was just social, just digging music and saying, I can play somewhat, let's play with some other musicians."

It was doing Bar Mitzvahs and wedding receptions on weekends with Paich where he honed his drumming skills. "Doing casuals, you didn't play a lot of Top 40. You had to know country tunes, bossa novas—all the standards." He also would "sit in" with stage or big bands at Valley Junior college where he would play after "cutting class" at a neighboring high school. Considering himself a poor musical chart reader, when playing with that band after hearing the "figures" once, he would get them correct the next time. "A lot of my early sessions were just, what do you call, shukin' and jivin'." "I've made a career of it myself," Lukather joined in. Jeff lists Jimi Hendrix as a major influence.

Similarly, Lukather just learned to play by playing. "I started when I was seven. I didn't have any musical training at all. I taught myself. Older guys would teach me chords or a couple of licks." He finally took some lessons for two years in junior high, learning how to read music. "You can only go so far teaching yourself and at that point, I really wanted to do sessions." While Lukather is now well versed in many guitar styles, they came later. "I was totally into rock and roll. I hated jazz, black music and soul music when I was a kid. All I wanted to listen to was stuff that was cranked up and burnin', guitar stuff, because I was a guitar player. I was very naive, and I wish I had gotten into that stuff, but later in life I got

HOT 'LANTA—The Georgia Satellites's CBGB's show (10/10) proved beyond a doubt that they are the best new country-rockers since Jason and The Scorchers. Their reckless, unshaven barroom style blows away the whole roots 'n' roll movement with a sound that smacks as much of The Del-Lords as it does Lynyrd PEACHY DEBUT—The latest export from the ever-fertile Peach State is Elektra's The Georgia Satellites who recently played sizzling debut gigs at Maxwell's, The Cat Club, CBGB's, and The Ritz. All in one week too.

Skynyrd. With various forms of '70's rock coming back into style, it was inevitable that the Satellites's brand of southern-boogie revisionism would happen and happen big. It was somewhat ironic, though, that they were so well received at CBGB's, since CBGB's was the place where dinosaurs like Skynyrd were debunked more than a decade ago. But, then again, that was more than a decade ago. Since then, the new guard has gotten older and the old guard sounds fresh by comparison. Face it: roots modernists like The True Believers and Rank and File have never written or recorded a song as substantial as Skynyrd's "What's Your Name" or Marshall Tucker's "Twenty Four Hours At A Time." But The Satellites have—in no small part because they could give a damn about market fashion. "Battleship Chains," with its dramatic chord changes, sounds destined to become a standard, and "Keep Your Hands To Yourself," which is already getting plenty of AOR airplay, recalls Bob Dylan circa "On The Road Again." In concert, the band gets progressively tighter, looser and more drunken-sounding as they play convincing covers of "Maybelline" and "Route 66" alongside songs from their stunning Elektra debut album. The Georgia Satellites succeed because they have re-evaluated the southern-rock genre, informed it with the lessons of punk, and blown the whole thing sky high, as opposed to just eight miles high. (The Satellites will tour with Jason and The Scorchers later this fall.)

CLUBLAND RELOCATES—Clubs in the Times Square area are beginning to book rock acts, taking up a slack caused by the closure earlier this year of several downtown venues. The Southern Funk Cafe (330 W. 42d St.) offers live rock music on Saturday and Sunday nights and they intend to expand bookings to include weekdays. A "neighborhood bar" called Tin Pan Alley (220 W. 49th St.), while not booking rock bands at all, features performances by experimental or politically oriented musicians. In the past, Mofungo and The Ordinaires have played there.

But more than any other Times Square club, Nirvana (One Times Square Plaza) is actively seeking to fill the gap in clubland. Alan Dranow and Frank D'Amico have organized a Wednesday night showcase series that spotlights unsigned or newly signed bands. "With all the clubs that have closed, there was no place for bands to play," says Dranow. "So we came up with the idea to give these bands a place to play." And what a place: bands perform in front of a window that provides a 16th floor view of the heart of Times Square (take note video directors). "We really don't have a headlining slot," says Dranow. "We have a prime showcasing slot and we require that a major label or a major agency or management company request that they be seen." Recent showcases have featured CBS's Shy Talk and an unsigned band called The Backsliders. "While we are able to satisfy as many requests as possible, I don't think it's going to fill a vacuum," he says. "There are a lot more bands than there are clubs willing to give them a showcase."

BLACK UHURU—Black Uhuru plays two shows at The Ritz October 29.

CONCERTS IN BRIEF—A-ha came to Radio City October 11 for a show that caused more female screeches and shrieks than any concert since Adam Ant's recent one here. Lead singer Morten Harket could do no wrong as he crooned his way through upbeat versions of songs from their new "Scoundrel Days" (Warner Bros.) album and their "Hunting High and Low" debut. A-ha played a diversity of material that included an acoustic ballad and some raucous rock as well as their patented brand of Euro-pop. Unexpected highlight: "Looking For The Whales." Casablanca's A=440 opened, creating much excitement with a mini-set of songs from their self-titled debut... Cinderella opened for David Lee Roth at MSG October 4 as part of a tour that is coinciding with the band's rapid commercial ascent. The reason for their popularity is clear: While other metal bands get pompous and operatic, Cinderella gets down to basics. Vocalist Tom Keifer has the gritty vocal style of a Steve Marriot or Brian Johnson and when they slam into songs like "Nobody's Fool" the band has a great brooding intensity. At Tavern On The Green October 10, PolyGram threw a luncheon celebrating the gold certification of the quartet's debut album, "Night Songs" (Mercury), which has become one of the big chart successes of '86 and bodes well for a platinum follow-up.

UK BUZZ

The Average White Band, set to record a new album in New York in December, recruited unknown British singer John Wilson. Wilson, brother of British R&B singer Mari, was introduced to the band through their drummer Steve Ferrone, currently working on the next Duran Duran album. Wilson was recording his upcoming solo album at Maison Rouge Studios and he impressed Ferrone with his voice.

Though excited about the project, Wilson hopes he can run his budding solo career simultaneously. "Having those guys behind you is like someone giving you a big push from behind.

"We hope to tour some time in 1987," he says. Next week he releases a new solo single, a cover version of the classic Walker Brothers hit "The Sun Ain't Gonna Shine"...

The Icicle Works have an infectious new single called "Who Do You Want For Your Love?" Singer Ian McNabb bemoans Liverpool. "You can't go anywhere to relax. You can't escape the music business because everyone on the bus wants to talk about drum rises, mixes, and studio rates. The trouble with Liverpool bands is they all sound the same. They all emulate The Bunnyman, they never have anything new. For instance, we've never had an original idea in all of our lives. But we've got lots of enthusiasm." At this time of home truths, he also confessed, "I still have to sleep with the light on, and I'm terrified of cockroaches"...

One of the bands he praises on the Liverpool scene is Black, whose single "Wonderful Life" is creating a buzz in indie circles. Black is actually just one person, Colin Vearncomb, who dresses all in...black. The rest of his band is made of up people who play in other bands: Here's Johnny's bassist and Grown Up Strange's guitarist. Colin sings opera in his spare time and practices running marathons...

The latest London hip hop act to break through is Faze One. They are Stepski, Genio, and DJ Chinn, and they are Streetwave's answer to Run-DMC. Chinn and Stepski are cousins who lost contact for seven years and met again when Stepski and Genio attempted to raise the week's rent by entertaining tourists in Covent Garden. Dave Ogrin, who has worked with Real Roxanne, UTFO, Kurtis Blow, and Grandmaster Flash, has produced the debut single, "Laying Down a Beat/Stronger Than Strong." The layers of sound are compelling enough in themselves, but record company boss Morgan Khan sought to bring out an attention-grabbing alternative mix featuring lots of swear words. The band themselves thought this was a bit boring and, says Chinn, "We don't want little kids swearing. It's not good for them." They are about to be signed to a major label in the US, where they will complete a new tour in November...

FAZE ONE

Neil Tennant of the Pet Shop Boys says he'll stop fronting his own group soon and "instead we'll change the line-up every year or so—suddenly there will be four 16-year-old boys as the Pet Shop Boys and then the next thing you know they will be replaced by two 35-year-old Elaine Paige types. We'll be fed up with it all by then, so we'll just write the music. We'll be able to spend our time doing nice things like going to bed early. We won't have to have our photograph taken or be asked why we are called the Pet Shop Boys."

Japan

Kitaro, the exotic Japanese synthesist who is regarded as one of the Orient's foremost modern musical forces, has released his first album of new material since signing with Geffen Records. The album, "Tenku," was performed and produced by Kitaro whose six previous recordings were released by Geffen in the fall of 1985.

"Tenku" is a Japanese phrase comprised of two words, "ten" meaning heaven, and "ku" meaning sky. This reflects the open-air environment of his home studio in the Japanese Alps where Kitaro records his hypnotic, textural compositions. "I open up the windows when I record and let everything in—the air, the sounds of birds and rustling leaves," Kitaro notes. "Nature informs music, and the music travels outdoors to inform nature."

A&M Recording artist Joe Jackson resumes his international "Big World" tour this month with a show at Festival Hall, Osaka, Japan. The tour will make four additional stops in Japan before continuing through Australia, Germany, Spain, France, Switzerland, Italy and Austria. Earlier this year, the "Big World" tour received accolades from fans and critics throughout North America and Europe.

SIGNING MILTON—Brazilian superstar Milton Nascimento (l) has signed a long-term agreement with CBS Records International. Here, at the signing, Milton is joined by Hans Beugger, managing director, CBS Records Brazil (c), and Robert Summer, president, CBS Records International.

CLASSICS—I wonder if the young fan knows how lucky he is? As rarely as 10 years ago, there were a striking number of certified jazz classics of print. Seminal recordings by the likes of Miles Davis, Charlie Parker, Thelonious Monk, Duke Ellington, and many, many other jazz titans were available through collector's out—usually at a whopping premium. In 1986, the mind boggles at what is available. As far as the first three names mentioned above, virtually everything the three gentlemen ever recorded—anything—is readily available in a stocked record store. I mean, you can have Miles Davis soup to nuts for a hundred bucks. And now that RCA is back on the stick—their new Novus Bluebird releases (including essential Ellington, Mingus, Rollins, and Orneman Hawkins—the latter ring to print, finally, Hawk's groundbreaking "Body and Soul")—it seems the jazz reissue surge is only just beginning. If a young—or not-so-young—it's all there for the exploring. What brings this all to mind is the issue, by Fantasy Records, of "The Riverside History of Classic Jazz," a record boxed set of early—read: Swing Era—jazz styles. Originally released some 30 years ago, "The Riverside History" is a splendid introduction to the roots of every note of jazz—all way down to the most synthesized fusion—being played today. Produced by Bill Grauer and Orrin Keepnews—and including a useful inth essay by jazz historian Charles Edward Smith—"The Riverside History" does quite handily what not even the thickest jazz reference book can—it gives you the sounds and helps to make the musical connections itself. The set is broken down into sets: Backgrounds (African vocals, spirituals, crude blues and brass recordings, etc.), Ragtime (Scott Joplin, James Scott, et al), The Blues (Bessie Smith, Big Bill Broonzy, et al), New Orleans Style (King Oliver with Louis Armstrong, Jelly Roll Morton, etc.), Boogie Woogie (Jimmy Yancey, Meade Lux Lewis, etc.), South Side Chicago (Johnny Dodds, Lovie Austin, et al), Chicago Style (Bix Beiderbecke, Benny Manone, et al), Harlem (Duke Ellington, Fletcher Henderson, et al), New York Style (Muggsy Spanner, Yank Lawson, etc.), and New Orleans Revival (Bunk Johnson, Kid Ory, et al). The set devotes about one to each artist, which makes it a wonderful sampler of jazz's traditional roots, but which makes it seem as if anybody represented is equal in importance. That, as Smith's essay makes clear, is, of course, not the case. What is the case is that the styles represented in these five albums are all part of what makes up jazz—and, frankly, rock and roll and numerous other indigenous American musical forms—today. Close listening here reveals palpable connections flowing throughout the sides—how the music represented by the Backgrounds set is so much a part of everything that follows. There are many jazz boxed sets now available—and several more pending before Christmas—but most appeal, quite naturally, to those with specific tastes in jazz. "The Riverside History of Classic Jazz" is the one set that should interest everybody and is the perfect Christmas item for anybody with even a passing interest in American music.

Landmark Records—owned, by the way, by the same Orrin Keepnews—has just added a couple of items to this year's reissue roster: Volumes Four and Five in "The Cannonball Adderley Collection," which gathers some of the great altoist's LPs for various labels under one roof. Volume Four, "Cannonball Adderley and the Poll-Winners," is a '60 date featuring Wes Montgomery, Ray Brown, Victor Feldman, and Louis Hayes; Volume Five, "At The Lighthouse," is a '60 live session featuring Adderley's working Quintet—Nat Adderley, Sam Jones, Victor Feldman, and Louis Hayes.

Also just out are three new Atlantic double-album compilations that are not really jazz records, but are certainly—at least two of them—related to jazz. "Joe Turner: Rhythm and Blues Years" and Esther Phillips' "Set Me Free" are sets of R&B recordings by a pair of vocalists who always kept a toe dipped in jazz waters; in fact, the Turner set completely blurs the line between the small band jazz of the early-'50s and early rock and roll (which is why Turner was just elected to the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame as a regular inductee, rather than, like Louis Jordan, as a "pioneer"). The other Atlantic set, "Aretha Franklin: 30 Greatest Hits," needs no endorsement here—it ain't jazz, but, mmmmmm, is it good.

X CALIBRE—Anthony Davis (c) was feted following the recent world premiere of his opera, X, at the New York City Opera. Celebrating with Davis are (l-r): Christopher Davis, who wrote the opera's book; librettist Thulani Davis; and Frances Richard, director of ASCAP's Symphonic and Concert Music Department.

BERLIN, BERLIN II—Last week I discussed the upcoming Berlin Jazz Festival. I neglected to mention that that schizophrenic city actually has two jazz festivals running cheek-by-jowl during the same week (10/31-11/2). The Total Music Meeting, generally a festival of the avant-garde, is this year called Trombone Music, and if you like your 'bones you'll want to leg it to Berlin—many slide bearers'll be there.

JAZZ FEATURE PICKS

ALTERNATE TAKES—Sonny Rollins—Contemporary C-7651—Producer: Lester Koenig

Those who cherish the great Rollins' two Contemporary LPs—particularly the landmark "Way Out West"—will rush to get this set of alternate takes. Although these six tracks were rejects, they drip with inspiration.

THE TONIGHT SHOW BAND WITH DOC SEVERINSEN—Amherst AMH 3311—Producer: Jeff Tyzik

Doesn't it bug you when The Tonight Show comes back from a commercial and Johnny is sitting kvelling over the band and you've only heard the last two bars? Well, this is the album for you: crisp, clean, never-subtle big band smoke.

LOST IN THE STARS—Joe Sarda—Catch My Drift DR 1111—Producers: Bill Wagner, Joe Sarda

The debut LP of a veteran mainstream vocalist who's got a swinging way with a lyric.

ROOTS OF BLUE—Muhai Richard Abrams—RPR 1001—Producer: Muhai Richard Abrams

Muhai Richard Abrams is one of the finest composers, pianists and thinkers in contemporary jazz. This set of duets with bassist Cecil McBee is filled with intelligence, wit, and swing—three things too often missing from jazz of late.

PUMP IT!—Jeff Berlin—Passport Jazz PJ 88017—Producer: Jeffrey Weber

Highly-polished fusion from an electric bassist with frighteningly fast fingers and a band that keeps step. The only LP of the year with nods to Robert Johnson, Johann Sebastian Bach, and Joe Frazier; at least the only one Buddy Miles sings on.

GLOBAL VILLAGE—Night Shift—Syntax SR-80808—Producer: Al Weissman

Al Weissman is the auteur behind this effective, diverse pan-global fusion effort.

HIGH PRIORITY

The Rott single, "Dance," from one of the hottest LPs going, has a tremendous album base and is flying out of the stores. It's ready for top 40 with a video on the way. The album is past gold already.

New Genesis single, "Lord Of Confusion," released this week at radio Monday. Sold out tour and double platinum album.

Glorio Loring follow-up single to the smash "Friends and Lovers" will be a multi-format record. Due Monday, it's called "Don't Let Me Change The Way You Are."

Also get ready for first release of single and 12" on Meat Loaf's "Getting Away With Murder." It's targeted perfectly for AOR and CHR formats.

VINCE FARACI
Atlantic

Robbie Nevil gets absolute fantastic response from radio. The record has garnered immediate phones.

Gloss Tiger single "Someday" will be on everyone's desk this Monday. This could be a #1 record and was heard as early as February when the label signed the band.

Groce Jones single ships November 3. Produced by Nile Rogers, it's a multi-format record that is totally accessible for radio.

ON THE CIRCUIT

START OFF WITH A BANG: On Oct. 26, Power 106, (KPWR-FM) in Los Angeles, CA, sponsors POWERHOUSE 2, a dramatic fireworks-synchronized-ta-music Skyshow, at the Queen Mary/Spruce Goose in Lang Beach. Max Headroom will host the following dance party, featuring live performances by Nu Shaaz, Stacey Q, Nice N' Wild plus other artists to be announced. A portion of the proceeds will go to Long Beach D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education).

FOR HIS 35TH ANNIVERSARY: America's most listened-to radio personality signed an exclusive seven-year contract with the ABC Radio Network. Paul Harvey has broadcast his daily coast-to-coast news and commentary programs on the ABC Radio Network since 1951. He is heard on approximately 1,290 stations across the nation, plus an additional 400 stations of American Forces Radio around the world.

"BRITISH WAX MUSEUM": Don't expect replicas of the King and Queen—this museum, released by Radio International, is a daily 5 minute calendar chronicling British music events, and is hosted by British television and radio personality "Whispering" Bob Harris. Producer Paul Sexton sees the program as a way to satisfy America's fascination with the British invasion. He also looks at "Rock Over London" (A weekly new music showcase, heard on over 200 stations across the U.S.) as a very strong selling point. "British Wax Museum" will be available on a barter basis to radio as of Jan. 5. Interested? Contact Joe Trelin (212) 302-1670.

WHILE WE'RE OVERSEAS... The Entertainment Network's 2-hour "Christmas In Montreux Rock Special" is scheduled to go into nationwide syndication Dec. 11-24. Taped in the snow covered Swiss resort of Montreux, the special boasts the likes of The Eurythmics, Genesis, Queen, Billy Ocean, Julian Lennon, A-Ha, Level 42, E.L.O., INXS, Elvis Costello and Art Of Noise. Already sold in 80 markets, some of the stations to air the special are WNBC/NY, KABC/LA, WTAF/Philadelphia, KBHK/San Francisco, WFTY/Washington, KDFI/Dallas, WOIO/Cleveland, KTHT/Houston, WPTT/Pittsburgh and WATL/Atlanta. Put this one on your X-mas calendar.

98.5 NCX TAKES OVER WGLC: Beginning Oct. 22, Cleveland will start a new fashion—98.5 NCX (WNCX). Heading up the best dressed list will be John Gorman-VP/Ops. Mgr., Denny Sanders-PD, and Rhonda Kiefer-MD/Asst. PD, all of whom are alumni of WMMS. Runners-up are News Director Charlie Seitz, Paul Papie, Kenny Campbell, Nancy Alden (WKDD in Akron), "Spaceman" Scott Hughes, (WMMS), and engineer Steve Church. The style and format will be Adult/CHR. Metrapolis Broadcasting closed the deal Oct. 14. Best of Luck!

DID YOU MAKE AN APPOINTMENT?: KIIS-FM/AM (L.A.); Lynn Anderson-Powell, a seven-year veteran of the CHR outlet, was named VP/General Manager, after a six-month tenure as acting VP/Station Manager. Peggy Schiavo, who has served as acting General Sales Manager since July, is now named VP/General Sales Manager. ABC Radio Networks; Philip J. Giordano, appointed Senior Vice President. He has been with ABC since 1972, and now will be responsible for Finance, Planning and Administration, with an involvement in all areas of the Network's operations. Robert Kulka recently joined ABC as Director of Sales Presentations, and Jo Ann Newberry will be the new Controller, in charge of all financial functions at the Network. 64 KFI-AM/KOST 103FM (L.A.); Howard Neal has been named VP and General Manager. He was previously General Sales Manager. Taking his place will be Luz Erdmann who joined the station in 1980 as an Account Executive. Under Luz's direction, national sales more than doubled in 1985. Operations manager Jhani Kaye has been promoted to Station Manager and will continue to serve as Program and Operations Manager for KOST-FM. Under his direction, KOST-FM has become the #1 Adult Contemporary station in Southern California.

THE NEW YORK MARATHON: WABC Talkradio 77AM, the station which has shown the most extensive commitment to the running field through coverage of numerous New York City marathons and The L'EGGS Mini-Marathon, is gearing up for the prestigious November 2nd road race. According to Mark Mason-PD for WABC and Exec. Producer of the station's coverage, "In this, our 7th year of exclusive radio coverage of the NYC Marathon, we're looking forward to expanding to a full 4 hours...". Fully equipped with a remote unit at the finish and a special transmitter system in the pace car, WABC is literally on top of this exciting event.

IT'S STILL OCTOBER...and October is National Liver Awareness Month! American Comedy Network has donated its comedic services to help educate its 25 million daily radio listeners across the nation with a public service announcement about why they should "love their liver." ACN creates and syndicates radio humor for over 155 top radio stations in the U.S., Canada and Guam. The 6-member comedy think-tank is noted for its topical humor and biting satire. They wanted to use this humor to send out an important message about a major organ that's the most overworked, abused and misunderstood organ in your body. For more information contact: American Liver Foundation, Cedar Grove, NJ, 07009—(800) 223-0179. —Krista

MARK SHANDS
95.1WZ—WINZ RADIO

Take a radio station whose corporate structure has made a major financial commitment towards a total station renovation and what do you come up with? WINZ in Miami Florida. And who's right there ready to jump on the band wagon? Who else but—Mork Shands, assistant program and music director at WINZ.

Mork's been ready since his lucky break at the beginning of his broadcasting career. He was "picked up off the streets by none other than Bill Tonner in Starkville Mississippi." Mark credits Tonner for launching his radio career; "He was a good teacher" and Mork's broadcasting profession has taken off from there.

He started in radio right out of high school and fine-tuned his radio skills during that ever nostalgic Woodstock era when radio careers were built on the basis of the love for rock n' roll.

His timing was right to begin with. He started in radio at a time of social and political innovation and individualism. There was a lot of room and support for experimentation. It was also an era of what one might say—a massive population growth. Therefore, participating in the baby-boom era he couldn't have helped but develop a unique perspective about this vibrant generation.

Mark's seen this generation grow up, raise families and become more 'mellow.' They are the 25 to 50 niche in our society today. "Each drives to work every day and paints their house on the weekend" besides being actively involved in social and community events. They are the target audience of WINZ. A special portion of our country that Mork feels, "are more musically interested and in-tune today." He would even go as far as saying that they're the niche WINZ thinks will tip the competitive scale.

In the least, one can say they are of incredible interest and fascination to this Miami based station. Enough so that the corporate structure and radio staff are putting their money where their mouth is in backing a campaign to target this market. Mostly because of their radio philosophy of responding to the audience's lead.

The major changes in the market Mork's seen since the 60's and 70's has been audience awareness and the development of a discerning perception of the media today. "People are aware of hype now," they're cautious of 'get em and grab em promotions' or superficial programming techniques. Mork and WINZ don't believe in the 'shave it down their throat' hard sell. WINZ, with complete support from Gannett, is embarking on a non-stereotypical radio crusade.

Last December, Gannett brought forth a proposal to implement a plan that would take WINZ beyond their already strong stand in the ethnic/urban market of Miami. They now want the "whale Sha-Bang." They're spreading their wings beyond south Florida from Dade county to the Florida Keys.

The station is re-locating, changing format and expanding their station promotions. They've recently completed a radio/television advertising campaign and have moved the station from downtown Miami to the Dade County line.

They're looking at the whole market instead of focusing solely on the Miami area. What does this mean for the station in general? A lot more freedom to experiment with their radio product.

Is this too risky? No, not in the least. WINZ is willing to take risks and expand their product developing their proposal in a very intelligent and creative way. They're not locked into the conservative business mode. The basics of radio programming (experimentation and elimination) is what this team is courageously attempting to do.

For a start, they've developed some of the most extensive market research of any station in the area. Processing 30-40 calls a week in local retail record stores, they "see the stuff they're playing—selling." They also trade sales information freely with their sources which gives them the extra edge in music programming.

The industry needs an additional technological change that will be a long time coming according to Mark. It's a change that would raise technological sophistication in ratings research in order to relieve some of the pressure on programmers to increase their ratings through extensive research. This would free them up to do more creative work with their radio product. "The radio business can't be so pre-occupied with the ratings to the point where their product suffers." The radio industry "has lost a little bit of it's zing since we've all grown up and become business people. We're not apt to take chances because of the pressure to produce ratings." This corporate paranoia has also robbed the radio industry of the creative chance taking process involved in radio programming—resulting in a less entertaining medium."

The secret to successful programming is; to delegate authority well and "not second guess your radio staff." This inspires on individual responsibility among any programming staff. Allowing for this exciting self expression makes a radio station tick. If a radio team feels this equal trust among their corporate structure or peers, the atmosphere can't help but be inspirational.

How many radio stations can you name that have the corporate support that would allow them, or even encourage them, to completely expand their radio product? Back up new ideas in radio programming to the extent of laying big bucks on the table to process a complete station overhaul? Can't get past the pointer finger? Neither can I which makes WINZ an exciting and challenging new radio project to watch for.

This has been a great year for Columbia and breaking new artists like Oran "Juice" Jones whose single "The Rain" hit #1 on the charts and album is Top 10 and rising. Other success stories include Lisa Lisa, Gregory Abbott, Rebbie Jackson, Denise Williams and Surface. Isaac Hayes is back with his new smash "Ike's Rap/Hey Girl."

THE BEAT

A CASHBOX FIRST—Ladies and Gentlemen specifically involved with black music, it is a pleasure to present you with our first issue of "The Black Contemporary Section" of Music Times. I sincerely thank you for your support, and in making it conceivable to provide the most extensive coverage ever benefacted to black radio and music through a major publication. The support has been excellent and I hope that it continues to flourish. In order to create a viable situation in our new section, I will need information about the activities of your radio station and record company. Therefore, let us seize the opportunity to let it be known what is happening, and who is stimulating these activities, through this vehicle in which you can disseminate your information. Please take a few moments to critically analyze these pages in order to aid me in the process of creating an ongoing situation in which "we" can further expose blacks in the realm of entertainment.

FUTURE MEGA STAR—Vesta Williams, in case you have not heard, will soon be a commonplace name in your home. This brilliant young artist from the midwest, has the charisma, and show-biz savvy it takes to reach the top. Even at the young age of 25, she doesn't lack the necessary experience, having worked with such prolific stars as; Jermaine Jackson, Bobby Womack, Jeffery Osborne and Miles Davis. Despite working as a back up for some of the aforementioned she knew she would soon capture the spotlight as a solo artist. Her talents extend further than singing, as she is equally adept in songwriting, having co-written her first single release "Once Bitten, Twice Shy" on her album titled "Vesta", on A&M Records. Vesta believes her musical awareness originated in her mother's womb. During her pregnancy, Mrs Williams enjoyed listening to such stars as Sarah Vaughn, Nancy Wilson, and Aretha Franklin. According to Vesta this inspired her, even as in a fetal conception. Vesta idolizes Sarah to this day. Vesta Williams, at age 25, is truly exemplary of what the words, hardwork, belief and determination, truly represent.

YBPC—The Young Black Programmers Coalition Inc., will hold their ninth annual national meeting, Friday, November 14 through Sunday 16th 1986, at the Hyatt Regency Hotel, Houston, Texas. The theme of this year's gathering will be "Where Do We Go From Here?" Also, such interrelating topics as; Record Promotion, The New Ballgame, The Changing Format and Polishing Your Image In The Industry. We hope you came out and support "our" organization in any way possible. Think of the power you have as an individual, and try to perceive the limitless possibilities if we stand together.

INDUSTRY ACTIVITIES—ED

ECKSTINE, whose career originated with Quincy Jones at age 19, graduated to the position of vice president of A&R at Arista Records. Ed will now move to Casablanca/Wing Records as senior vice president/general manager/chief operating officer. Best wishes to this talented young man! Bunny Sigler who has written and produced many hits over the years for some of the top stars, is currently in the studio collaborating with the O'Jay's. Richard Mack, president of Catawba Records, currently enjoying success with R. Justice Allens' single, has a forthcoming smash an Sandra Feva. The renowned brother and sister team at Klique, Deborah Hunter and Isaac Suthers, have recently formed D.E.I. Records, and will soon release their first single, "Waiting For Ya Genie". Continued success to all of you!

PROFILES

Verna S. Green
Vice President/General Manager
WJLB, Detroit

In April 1982, Verna S. Green, without any previous broadcasting experience, became the General Manager for FM98 WJLB in Detroit. Since then, she has achieved for WJLB not only consistently high ratings, and triple digit increases in national advertising sales, but high recall audience promotions like the FM98 Tune Up Card, the Motor City Break and the FM98 Strang Songs Man. In other words, since Verna S. Green has joined the team, WJLB has been a consistent leader in the radio market.

How did Verna achieve such phenomenal success with no radio experience? Well, she certainly didn't come empty handed. She brought with her the knowledge obtained from Michigan State, and from a former position she held as the Organization Specialist at General Motors. It was there that she learned any organization is a system of interdependent parts. As Green puts it, "I am a systems oriented manager. I was simply fortunate enough to be able to assemble these contributions into what is now a well-honed marketing machine...if any part of the system is touched, there is an effect on all parts."

Green attributes much of her station's turnaround success to her associates, and to the support from many caring friends in the industry.

The "Greening" of WJLB has begun. Green's committed staff and consultants have joined forces to "improve and win". There activities have paid off, as WJLB FM98 continues to grow even more, get even greener.

"Far away up in the clouds are my highest aspirations. I may not reach them all, but I can look up, see their beauty and follow where they lead." V.S.G. Claudia Eaton

James Alexander
Operations Manager/PD
WJLB, Detroit

James Alexander started his brilliant radio career with WCIN Cincinnati, Ohio at age 17, while attending Walnut Hills High School. Because of his age, WCIN had to get a special work permit for him. Needless to say, his incredible voice, talent and the fact that he was still in high school gained James rapid notoriety as he was known back then as Jimmy Wander, "The Teenage Ball of Thunder."

After spending several successful years with WCIN, James transferred to WDAO Dayton where he very quickly became the program director. Subsequently, having scored successes in his native midwest, he moved on to WBOK, New Orleans, retaining his title as program director.

He then decided to try his hand at announcing for WBMX Chicago, Ill. where he later became program director. During his tenure at WBMX James directed the station to major successes in the ratings. After several years in the windy city, it was back to WYLD AM/FM New Orleans to be assistant program and music director. After this James made a brief stop at KRLY Houston, Texas.

Then, in 1982, Verna Green placed a call that led James to his most current position at the top rated WJLB Detroit. Verna, who just recently had been appointed WJLB's general manager, was aware of James' many successes and wanted him on the team.

Upon his arrival in the motor city there were seven stations carrying Black/Urban formats. Today there is only one. WJLB, under the guidance of James Alexander, one of the industry's best programmers, has maintained consistently high ratings. All of them have been in the top three including a recent #1 in Detroit.

Congratulations to a true professional. Judie Haymes

Dorothy Brunson, President
Brunson Communications, Inc.
Baltimore

Ms. Brunson is making her name in the world of broadcasting, media and communications and has admitted that she is out to "build one of the major communication conglomerates in America". As president of Brunson Communications, which owns WEBB Radio in Baltimore, WIGO Radio in Atlanta, Georgia, and WBMS Radio in Wilmington, North Carolina, she is well on her way.

After growing up in Harlem, she went on to earn her Bachelor's degree at Empire State College in New York. She joined the broadcasting in 1964 and by 1969 was assistant general mgr. of radio station WWRL in New York City, where she increased advertising billings from a mere $75,000 to a whopping $4million in six years.

In 1973, after working a short time in advertising, she served as corporate vice president and corporate general manager of Inner City Broadcasting. In '79 she left Inner City to purchase the then failing WEBB-FM in Baltimore. (The first of her three Brunson Communication acquisitions.) In three short years, she brought the station out of the red and into a share of the city's listening audience. After 23 years in radio, Dorothy says that she knows how to make a station work.

She has also lectured and spoken on business, economic development, affirmative action, communications, women's rights, religious and human issues throughout the nation. On several occasions she has been a guest in Africa where she spoke on the need for greater input by women into business and industry. Concurrently, Ms. Brunson serves on boards of three cities, New York, Atlanta and Baltimore, many of which emphasize economic development for women and minorities. In addition, her credentials include a most impressive list of awards reflecting her dedication, concern and enthusiasm. Bravo Dorothy!

Ron Ellison
Vp Black Music
Warner Bros.

Ron Ellison, one of the most respected and hardest working individuals in the record industry, was recently appointed vice president of black music, Warner Bros. and is working out of the Burbank office.

Prior to his various positions in promotions and marketing, Ron, who is also an outstanding drummer/musician, spent several years as a studio drummer recording for the late Leonard Chess. He gives a lot of credit to Leonard who gave him an opportunity to pursue his dream of being involved in music.

During that wonderfully creative recording period, he was sharpening his skills to become the outstanding record executive he is today.

Ron's first break came from De-Lite Records when they selected him to handle local promotions in Chicago. He then took a similar path with Warner Bros. where he was soon elevated to regional promotion manager. After establishing himself as one of the real pros in the business, Ron moved to PolyGram as national promotion director where he enjoyed a highly successful tenure. From there, he was appointed vice president for Maurice White's ARC Records.

In 1982 Ellison formed his own company, Effective Music Marketing, which handled the national promotion and marketing responsibilities for top record labels and their artists.

Ron's present position at Warner Bros. has reunited him with V.P. Tam Draper and with many of the field representatives who were there during his previous affiliation. The Warner Brother's Bunny still runs with the hits. Congratulations to a pro's pro Ron Ellison.

NASHVILLE FORUM

Oh, sure, you guessed 'em all right, I suppose? Sure you did. Well, I'm the only guy who put my guesses in print, and then sent them around the entire globe (except maybe to Russia or China. I don't think we have any subscribers there?!)

So, okay, let's just see how the bigmouth mode out.

Song of the Year—I picked "On The Other Hand," as did the majority of the CMA voters, so let's mark that up as one for the "Win" column.

Single Of The Year—We scored another winner here. I quote from this some forum two weeks ago, "...we think Dan Seals and writer Poul Davis caught us with our nostalgia down with this deceptively simple piece of product." Obviously, the voters agreed.

Album Of The Year—Oh, well, nobody's right all the time. Our column said that "...Milsop's 'Lost In The Fifties Tonight' package is also strong, but maybe not flashy enough for the voters." We then went out and chose the Judds' "Rockin' With The Rhythm Of The Rain." The voters didn't agree, of course, but you'll never hear me fount them for being wrong. (Don't worry, Naomi and Wynonna, I'm asking for a recount!)

serious case of misjudgment here, on the part of a certain columnist. I'm afraid I thought Rebo was in over her head in this category, so I picked Willie. Apparently the lady is more than just another pretty Female Vocalist of the Year, she's top-of-the-line all the way. My hat's off to the new Champ.

Male Vocalist Of The Year—Bingo! Chalk up another win for the good guys. Let's see all the hands of those who picked George Strait. As we said in the column, "Male vocalist will be George Strait. Consistency is the key here." And consistent he is, as those with the ballots were quick to pick up on.

Vocal Group Of The Year—"Vocal group of the year will probably be the Judds, based on their record product, although we think they should actually be over in the Vocal Duo category and win over there," says the column. And the envelope, please. The winner—the Judds!! Score one more for our side.

Horizon Award—Here's what we said: "The Horizon Award will go to Rony Trovis. Period." How about that for going out on a limb, huh? With all due respect to the other nominees (whom I happen to hold in high esteem), was there really another choice?

Female Vocalist Of The Year—We said "Rebo or Rossonne," so I guess that's only worth half a point (or whatever else may be the prize in all of this.) Once again, Rebo shows me how strong she's become, and it's awesome!

As for the other awards, we didn't hazard any guesses. So our total score comes to 5 1/2 correct and 2 1/2 incorrect, for a percentage of 66 2/3. (I don't know if that's real good or real bad when it comes to guessing award winners, but if I had had that kind of percentage when I used to bet on the pro football games, I'd probably be ruler of my own island kingdom by now.)

However, right or wrong as the guesses might have been, the winners were all truly the right one and there's not one among 'em who didn't deserve to win. So let's have one big final round of applause for all of this year's winners before we start laying down the foundations for next year.

Bravo, all!

COUNTRY PROMOTION OF THE WEEK

CITY—GONZALES, TX

STATION—KCTI—JIM PERKINS PD/MD

PROMOTION—KCTI ATHLETIC FOUNDATION

A station promotion to tap the untapped resources of a community, in support of local athletics. KCTI formed an athletics foundation with 5 levels of participation.

Benefactors, patrons, supporters, and commercial and non-commercial businesses, based on their level of participation, are mentioned during sporting events. The foundation grants two scholarships each year to the most athletic boy and girl, plus gives letters of commendation on outstanding performances in each week's games.

COUNTRY PROFILES

NICKUS—Music Director
KIXZ—Turlock, CA

TURLOCK, CA—"People sometimes say that living in Modesto or Turlock is like living in the sticks, but since someone invented television, we've been living in New York..."

Not only does he have such at-home decades as TV had a major "broodening" effect on his listeners, but, says Nickus from his vantage point as music director for KMIX in Turlock, he has the proximity of such a major cosmopolitan center as San Francisco. A lot of his listeners, during the week, are doing just what you might expect rural Americans to be doing—fishing, taking care of the pickup truck or chewing on a straw or two. "But on the weekend they're never in San Francisco getting sophisticated."

With that in mind, Nickus operates from what he refers to as a "lifestyle format"—one that springs directly from the highly-diversified tastes of his audience as well as from the direction given him by management: gain listeners, core target 25-49. His listener-going format incorporates a broad spectrum of styles and sounds, all under an umbrella of being "country." From his perspective, "a lot of things fit into a format as it's evolving."

His first gig was up in Yakima, WA with a playlist comprised of Andy Williams, Patti Page, etc. Unfortunately, Uncle drafted him and he wound up in the Navy on a helicopter carrier. Citing the fact that the ship had 1400 men and that they had broodcast potential on board, he managed to smooth-talk the captain into building a low-cost record library (LPs in the Orient were going for about a quarter apiece) and having music broodcast throughout the ship doily, until lights out. A born radio man, it would appear.

Ed has continued in radio for ten years, with his first country job being at KAER in Sacramento. Eventually he was hired as music director at KFIV (later called KZUN), changing it to a country format, and in June '85 went to KMIX as music director and mid-day man.

He has developed a "very personable" relationship with the station's listening audience. "I'm a regular guy. I talk about regular things, things that people do every day. I try to relate as their nextdoor neighbor."

CHRIS TAYLOR—Program and Music Director
KIXZ—Amarillo

AMARILLO, TX—There are songs about being the seventh son of a seventh son, but how about being the adopted son of an adopted son? Better yet, how about being a radio man who's the adopted son of a radio man who's the adopted son of a radio man? (You could almost say that radio is in the bloodline, except...)

Anyway, for Chris Taylor it was originally outo mechanicsville. That was where he had stoked his claim. He studied it, he worked at it and generally intended to stay with it, until he developed what was diagnosed sometimes as an orthritic condition and mechnicking became too difficult to handle. So he went back to college (as a business major) and, because of dad's and granddad's backgrounds, decided to check out the college station. Except for a short time when he quit school and went to work selling automotive parts, he's been part of the radio community ever since. As a career, it started on a part-time basis up at KYSM-Monocato, MN (a job followed by the aforementioned foray into automotive parts), and later over to KOLM in Rochester for summer work. Then it back to Monocato where he earned his full-time wings. The string continued over to WMAD in Modison, WI, through KNNN in Omoho for six or seven years and then on to KSO for a short period. He ultimately landed in Amarillo 3 years ago.

Early family influences once again had some significance for him, in that what little knowledge he claimed to have about music was generally more than what the other air personalities had. The result was that he's been official or unofficial music director almost ever since he started.

Over that period, he learned that adult audiences don't want to hear the same things over and over. Thus he favors a long playlist approach to country broodcasting. With last week's CMA awards still echoing in the air, he offers that "it's time that Nashville wakes up to the fact that people want traditional country music."

HIGH PRIORITY

Frank Leffel — National Country Promotions Director—Polygram/Mercury Records

Kathy Mattea coming off her smash, "Love At The Five And Dime," is moving out smartly with "Walk The Way The Wind Blows" (which is also the title of the new LP). Perennial favorites, the Statler Brothers are extremely strong, as usual, and we're expending tons of energy in developing Larry Baane.

Very exciting initial response to both Danna Farga's and Jahnnny Paycheck's latest singles.

Jack Weston — Sales Director, RCA Records Nashville

Our highest priority continues to be Restless Heart's "That Rock Won't Roll," which shows every sign of being their first tap-of-the-chord record. Early indications are that Michael Jahnsan may have Song of the Year with "Give Me Wings." Stations that have legitimate research indicate the record could be a giant—drawing tremendously heavy female phones already.

Alabama, the Judds and Pake McEntire continue on a streak.

DISPLAY CONTEST—Living Music, purveyors of distinctive, organic music from saxophonist Paul Winter, pianists Paul Halley and Denny Zeitlin, and cellist Eugene Freisen, is giving both retailers and consumers a chance to win a whitewater rafting trip down the Colorado River through the Grand Canyon! Retailers across the country were sent materials for displaying the consumer sweepstakes. Retailers must send two photos of their creative display to Living Music in order to qualify. They will be judged on originality and creativity, store position, ability of display to generate sales and use of product in display. Other prizes include, SONY D-7S DISCMAN portable CD players and customized satin jackets. Living Music told Shop Talk the response from stores across the country has been phenomenal with 833 stores participating at press time. The deadline for consumers is October 31, and for retailers, November 15. Call them collect at 707-468-5559 to register and receive the packet of merchandizing materials if your store wants to participate.

WANNA CAR?—CITY-1-STOP is giving away a car, a trip to Las Vegas and other prizes to celebrate another year's anniversary. Each business day during the month of October, a gift will be given away to one of the many independent record and video store accounts which buy product from CITY-1-STOP, culminating with a new Hyundai Excel three-door coupe which will be given away in a drawing at the end of October. From each business day's invoices, one slip will be drawn to determine which account will win that day's prize. Daily prizes include a two day expense-free fling in Las Vegas, CD Players, concert tickets, VCRs, pre-recorded audio and video tape, and assorted audio and video hardware.

NARM WHOLESALERS MERGE—Rack Jobbers, one stops and independent distributors and manufacturers will now be able to discuss items of mutual concern at the 1986 NARM Wholesalers Conference. The conference which is not retail oriented, will combine three individual conferences. Rack jobbers and one stops may request a "One on One" schedule with manufacturers, which will provide an opportunity for rack jobbers and one stops to exchange information on a direct basis. George Hocutt of California Record Distributors, chairman of the Independent Distributors Advisory committee, says the combining of the three conferences at one location should have positive results. "I am glad, as an independent distributor, to see the rack jobbers and one stops will be there. We need the cooperation of rack jobbers and one stops. I think we will be having much more meaningful discussion." Among the issues Hocutt expects to be discussed are the "de-emphasis of buying black vinyl—and discount." One stop committee chairman Jason Blaine of The Music People says, "the hot topics will be compact discs and the question of what is happening to vinyl as opposed to cas-ettes." Rack jobbers are concerned with standardizing cassette package size, according to Rack Jobber committee chairman Don Weiss of Arrow Distributing Company. "Packaging will be a major issue at the rack jobbers meeting just as it was at the recent retailers meeting," he says.

MAX APPEAL—Karl Lorimar Home Video is offering a sweepstakes in conjunction with the release of the "Max Headroom—The Original Story" videotape which is now in stores. The grand prize is a trip for two to London (Max's birthplace). All Max aficianados must submit a post card to an address given on the video with answers to four questions that are asked of them at the end of the cassette. Cards received containing the correct answers will be pooled and a drawing will be held on January 1, 1987. Additional sweepstakes prizes will include posters, tee shirts and calendars. The 60-minute feature which details the creation of this unique, cynical, computer-generated talk show host is highly recommended by Shop Talk. The suggested retail price is $29.95.

VIDEO NEWS

AUDIO/VIDEO

CORPORATE SHUFFLE—RCA/Columbia Pictures Home Video is giving the boot to its MusicVision music video staff, effective at the end of this year. Seems music video hasn't lived up to company expectations, and while MusicVision will remain a leading music video label, its staff will be jettisoned (possibly to be absorbed into the RCA/Columbia staff). The cuts reportedly include senior product manager Bob Mercer, product manager Robert Knight, national sales manager Jim Crowley, regional sales manager Lynn Temenski and a secretary. MusicVision tasks will be handled by general RCA/Columbia staffers after the phase-out. Does the shuffle spell bad times in the music video biz? Not necessarily. A shift in focus—away from music—is more like it. Also, the company says it's expanding in other areas. Still, publicly held video industry stock has had a pale complexion for some time, languishing at low levels. Reports say a bad rep for video is afoot, due partly to recent CBS/Fox Video layoffs, the demise of Video Associates and Prism Entertainment's recent jilting by prospective buyer Fries Entertainment. More than this, some insiders say the industry is currently experiencing that long-awaited, and virtually inevitable "levelling off" period discussed by many a video seminar panel in recent years, the likes of which only a boom industry can undergo.

STEREO STATS—Stereo TV continues its gains in the television marketplace, and according to the most recent statistics from the Electronics Industry Association (EIA), not only have the major broadcast networks made major commitments to the stereo signal, at least one network, NBC (the leader in stereo broadcasts), says it will begin broadcasting commercials in stereo beginning this month. By year's end, the EIA expects some 500 affiliate stations to be broadcasting in stereo, as compared to the 300 now doing so (stereo signals already reach over 80 percent of the homes in this country). Stereo TVs will make up approximately 20 percent of the 17.3 million color TVs expected to be sold in the U.S. by the end of 1986—100 percent over last year—a figure that should jump to around 30 percent by the end of next year. The EIA also says that as consumers become more aware of the availability of stereo TV, radio simulcasts will soon be history. Incidentally, prices on stereo sets begin at around $450, but the EIA says prices are already coming down, and stereo decoders for regular TVs can be had for about $120.

HOME VIDEO REVIEW: Head—RCA/Columbia Pictures Home Video—$69.95 Those yearning for a hike back to the psychedelia of the late '60's need look no further. This feature-length music movie from the Monkees was written and produced by Jack Nicholson and Robert Rafelson (who also collaborated on Five Easy Pieces), directed by Rafelson, and features an intriguing array of cameo appearances—everyone from Annette Funicello to Frank Zappa—in a bizarre, seemingly drug-induced cinematic romp. Head is vintage 1968 longform music video, now considered a pioneering effort in the genre. There is no plot to speak of, nor is there much of a story. The movie is an adventure of the mind, utilizing the sets and sound stages of a staggering late '60s Hollywood film industry for backdrops to sheer flights of directorial fancy, spotlighting America's greatest TV band in fashionably quirky sequences set to highly derivative psychedelic rock (some of which was co-written by Carole King). A "trippy" environment is affected throughout, in what appears to be the pre-fab band's last ditch effort at actual artistic acceptance once their TV series had floundered. In retrospect, however, especially since the Monkees' emergence as an MTV generation novelty, the tape is a fascinating example of mainstream '60s "drug culture" filmmaking.

ALBUM REVIEWS

WILLIE NELSON—Partners—
 Columbia C 39894)—(Producer: Chips
 Moman)

Something old, something new, something borrowed, etc. Nobody got tired, but Chips Moman and Willie Nelson partners to put this LP together. Moman produced the soft-spoken album, wrote a couple of the cuts, accompanied a guitar, and helped engineer something old: "Remember Me,"
 "Thirteen." Something new: "So Much Like My Dad" (it's a gotta-hear) and "Partners After All." Something borrowed: "When I Dream," "Heart Of A Lion."

KATHY MATTEA—Walk The Way The Wind Blows—(Mercury
 422-830 405-1) (Producer: Allen
 Reynolds)

Just looking at the credits (Tim O'Brien of Hot Rize, Bela Fleck and Pat Flynn of New Grass), and knowing Mattea's vocal quality, might lead you to expect a folk album. And you'd be right. But around "Leaving West Virginia," "Plant Your Fields," etc. is a sprinkling of other musical styles, too. "Evenin'" is a "blues-grass" tune, Vince Gill helps out on a contemporary ballad, "Reason To Live," and a horn section livens up "Train Of Memories."

FEATURE PICKS

DAVID ALLAN COE (Columbia 38-06394) Son Of The South (3:53) (Irving/
 Willie Nelson - BMI)(R.Brooks, H.Tipton, T.DeLuca, D.A.Coe) (Producer:
 B.Sherrill)

ZZ Top musta slipped in and put down an electric guitar track behind DAC's lyrics to zap out the familiar-sounding Southern rocker.

STEVE EARLE (MCA MCA-52920) Someday (3:46) (Goldline - ASCAP)
 (S.Earle) (Producers: E.Gordy, Jr., T.Brown)

This slow builder could slowly build into a real chart climber, if younger listeners get ahold of it. Many frustrated teens scattered across rural-town America will see themselves in Earle's audio mirror.

JOHNNY PAYCHECK (Mercury 888 088-7) Don't Bury Me 'Til I'm Ready
 (3:22) (Songmedia/Bugshoot - BMI) (J.Moffat) (Producers: S.Cornelius, H.M.Cornelius)

Paycheck is sending strong messages to the outside - somebody's been slipping him some good material.

JILL HOLLIER (Warner Bros. 7-28559-A) Sweet Time (3:30) (Minisa/Warner-Refuge/Somebody's/Flying Cloud - ASCAP/SESAC/BMI) (G.Baker, S.Longacre, Q.Powers) (Producers: S.Dorff, J.Leo)

The new kid on the WB block gets off to a sweet start with a song that's definately radio-friendly.

THE OSMOND BROS. (EMI/America P-B-8360) Looking For Suzanne (3:58)
 (Irving - BMI) (P.Kennerley) (Producers: T.Choate, D.W.Wilson)

What this contemporary release is really seeking is not Suzanne but a new placement for the boys in the minds of the radio audience.

WILD CHOIR featuring GAIL DAVIES (RCA 5011-7-RAA) Heart To Heart
 (3:47) (Lilly Billy/Lucrative - BMI) (J.Hiatt, F.Koller) (Producers: G.Davies, P.Pendras)

Gail is back and she's not playing around. She gets right to the heart of the matter - and does it well.

INDIE FEATURE PICKS

THE BULLETZ (Studio South LSR-262) Mississippi (3:30) Blue Stream — BMI (K.Pittman, M.Dodaro)

The Bulletz may not know how to spell, but they do know how to harmonize. We reviewed the A-side, but here's a hint for a DJ Discovery: try out side two.

ROCKINHORSE (Long Shot U-14187) Let A Little Love In (3:12) (April/Dune Grass/Swallowfork — ASCAP) (D.S.Hair) (Producer: T.McMillan)

Those Rockinhorse boys ar back in the saddle and you can bet this thumping ballad will send 'em riding on up the chart once more.

LANIER MCKUHEN (Soundwaves SW-4781-NSD) When I'm With You (2:20) (MCS/Phono — SEP/SESAC) (Y.Hooker) (Producers: J.Gibson, J.Payne)

CB reviewers tried out both sides of this release and the Crash-Craddocky tune won by about 2 cents, so flip flop it for yourself.

BUCKY ALLRED (Man-O-Steele) Looking At The One (2:41) (Warner/Tamerlane/Flying Dutchman — BMI) (M.Clark) (Producers: H.Steele, C.Brooks)

Not only is this a good ong, but Bucky's vocals have a uniuqe quality that make the release one that radio may be looking for, too.

LEONA WILLIAMS (Loveshine LS 2) No Love Line (3:19) (Tree/Cross Key — BMI/ASCAP) (D.Kirby, W.Robb) (Producer: D.Kirby)

The song may have a few weak spots, but Leona's voice isn't one of them, and the hook is good.

INDI SPOTLIGHT

GRESHAM (Compleat CP-159) Two Kinds Of Crazy (2:50) (Hall-Clements — BMI) (J.L.Wallace, K.Bell, T.Skinner) (Producers: J.L.Wallace, T.Skinner)

It's rhythmic, it's infectious, and it scores the highest points of the 25 or so indie records we've heard this week. In sound, there's a strong dash of similarity to another group you all know and love, nonetheless we think audiences will like it a bushel and a peck.

INDIE LP REVIEW

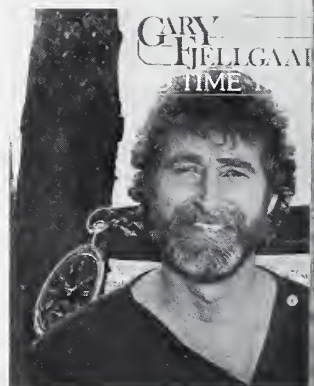

JIM & JESSE—Some Old, Some New, Some Borrowed, Some True—(MSR-LPS-19861)—Producer: L.C.Parsons

Deep in the heart of tradition, in the land of the two-step and the home of bluegrass, the Opry boys play on. This LP was custom made for standard-country enthusiasts. Mingled in among the bluegrass offerings are a couple of solid country two-steppers ("I Wonder Which One Of Us Is To Blame," "Until My Dreams Come True") and a classic country blues tune, "Blues Stay Away From Me." For a fiddle fling, try "I'm Happy Every Day I Live."

GARY FJELLGAARD—No Time To Lose—(Savannah SRL-9826)—Producer: H.Vickers

Since the Canadian indie label entered a distribution agreement with RCA/Canada, we've gotten a herd of LPs from up north. This one is a soft, easy-to-enjoy release that is almost a tribute to another Canadian artist named Lightfoot. Although the quality is reminiscent of the balladeer, Fjellgaard's poetic lyrics are more western tasting, dwelling on the mountains rather than the railroads. But don't disregard the one cut written by producer Howie Vickers called "Bless You Jess."

COMPLEAT WITH A TOAST TO SUCCESS—Compleat Records recently expanded roster, adding Ronnie Sessions, Gresham and Sherri London to the label. Above, Sessions managers and Compleat execs celebrate with a toast to the future. Elwyn Raymer's Gospel News and Views WE HAVE WORK TO DO

By Robert J. Jones

In industry, we are moving forward. The proof exists and has been cited many times over. The challenge before us now is to create demand. The supply of talents with well-produced products exists. The gap comes in education. More than 60,000,000 "born Christians (our predictable majority) as well as moving beyond the ability to touch our entire culture and society.

The potential impact of gospel music in our society is astounding. Simultaneously approaching both groups is the key and the key is effectiveness. A dilution of our effectiveness is our motivation level. Perhaps we are not reaching necessary motivation levels. The bottomline financial success is present, as profits always determine whether or not we can continue. Yet, our compelling motivation needs to be what our music can have, to make a difference in this world.

We have the Truth all packaged in the time of today. The spectrum of music is represented in Christian music and enough to almost completely cover the variety of musical tastes within society. Multitudes of thousands of covers can find something within our industry...southern gospel, jazz, instrumental, meditative, soul, rhythm & contemporary, pop, AOR, MOR, rock 'n' roll. We have it all! Our society is troubled. People want answers and they search for life's meaning through alcohol, drugs, sexual promiscuity, abortion, idol worship, humanism, materialism, cult and demon worship. We are not totally without results. Thousands gather from all walks of life to hear the "message music," and they respond. The artists DeGarmo & Key saw 5,000 teens make decisions in their 90 city "Tour of the Light Brigade." Carman shared his gospel message with more than 25,000 on the debut weekend of his fall tour. Trumpeter Phil Driscoll just returned from a musical mission to Honduras where he ministered to people in a different culture. These successes should drive us all to action.

This is a nation, a world, if you will, of lonely, hurting, and needy people. They are inside and outside of the church. Shouldn't our motivation come by just knowing that our music does affect lives; it does affect society, it does speak (sing) the truth, it does encourage believers, it does cause people to think, it does make a difference?

We are communicating eternal truths through a universal language—music—in many dialects and styles. That should be our bottomline motivation. Let's get busy. We have work to do! Please set the following underneath the picture of Robert J. Jones:

GOSPEL LP REVIEWS

RUN LITTLE BROTHER—DMB Band—(Greentree RO3960)—Producer: R. Scruggs—

DMB BAND

RUN LITTLE BROTHER

This album from the DMB band showcases their progressive style of Christian country music. Their second release on Greentree, "Run Little Brother" is definitely worth more than just a few spins around the turntable. Some choice cuts are: "Two Of A Kind," "For So Long," which is the first single release, and the title cut. Producer Randy Scruggs lent his creative pen to many of the songs here. If you like country music with a good message, you'll enjoy the DMB band.

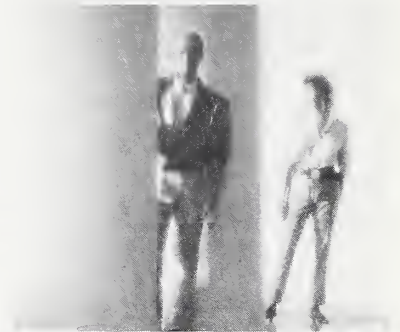

WE NEED THE LORD—Karla Worley—(Star Song 7-10-207786-6)—Producer: D. Maddux

Starting off like an overture for a Broadway play, the instrumentation and vocals go on from there into almost a full-scale opera: the only difference is that you can understand what Karla Worley is singing about. With such inspirational songs as "Prepare Ye The Way," "Great Is Thy Faithfulness," and Scott Wesley Brown's "When Answers Aren't Enough," as well as a slew of foot-stompin' old-time religion songs, this collection is sure to change your day for the (much) better.

MANIFESTO—Farrell and Farrell—(Star Song 7-102-07486-7)—Producers: C. Marsh and B. Farrell

This interesting new duo has some wonderful message songs, most of which Bob Farrell wrote. One tune (reminiscent of "We Are The World") is called "People All Over The World," and the singers listed read like a Who's Who in Contemporary Christian music: Billy Sprague, Billy Smiley, Mark Gershmehl, Angie Lewis, Scott Wesley Brown, Jayne Farrell, just to name a few. Some others worth a listen are: "Hidden Agenda," "Captain Video," "First Love" and the title cut. Already looking forward to their next release!

STAND UP—Steve Keller—(Nomous NM7661-04)—Producer: S. Millikan with S. Keller

Nomous Music, an independent music company out of Ohio, has proven that you don't have to have major label backing to release quality product. Keller sounds like what would happen if David Meece and Petra put out an album together. Keller wrote all the songs on the 6-song album. "Don't Die Alone" is especially touching.

Lukather and Steve Porcaro, both younger than Jeff and Steve Paich, jumped at the chance to form a band when the opportunity came along. "Through the years, we always kind of looked up to these guys," says Lukather. "It was an honor to be in. It's great."

Both say much of their success was just luck and timing. While Jeff had done some sessions and was playing with Sonny and Cher on the road and for the television show at a tender young age, Jeff received a big break while playing with Paich at Dantes, a local club. Steely Dan member Donald Fa-kept mounting, with no let-up in the rainfall, other suburbs became casualties. Wheeling, Illinois, where Taito America is located, experienced some flood damage; however, they also lucked out in that their major problem was a waterlogged parking lot and a temporary interruption of their computer system, affected by a brief breakdown in the area's electricity. When I visited the company on October 1, everything was back to normal, as the flood began making its way to other areas. The meteorologists and weather experts tell us this is something that comes only once in maybe forty or one hundred years — so, we'll look on the bright side and hope that perhaps Mother Nature has exhausted her efforts and will be too tired to deliver any heavy snowfall this winter! . . . Dateline Louisiana. Spoke at length with Lou Boadberg of New Orleans Novelty, who had high praise for the outstanding crop of equipment the manufacturers have been putting to market. His only beef, during our conversation, had to do with economic ailments, on the local level, such as high unemployment, et al, which are seriously affecting business — but this condition has nothing to do with the coin-op industry., said Lou. "There are a number of super games on the market at the present time," he noted, "and as I have often said, there is nothing wrong with the industry that a good game won't cure." Following are some of the models he mentioned that have been turning things around, so to speak: Atari's "Gauntlet II" and "Championship Sprint"; Bally Midway's "Rampage"; Sega's "Enduro Racer" and Trade West's "Ikari Warriors". He told us he's looking forward to receiving the new Bally Sente "Night Stocker". Lou has admittedly never been too high on kits, however, he's since had a change of heart and is very enthusiastic about Taito's "Renegade" and "Alcon"; Romstar's "Arkanoid" and Konami's "Life Force" and "Top Gunner". Nintendo's "Play Choice 10" has been another good piece for him and he has high expectations for their new ski game. Regarding the "Play Choice 10" he advised that "this can get more new locations than any game I have ever operated or distributed." Of Merit's "Tic Tac Trivia", here's another quote, "My only regret is that I didn't order ten times more of this piece!" Cinematronic's "World Series" is "unquestionably the best baseball game ever made up, up to now . . . and I hear that this factory will show some new additions to their system at AMOA."

AMOA Urges Ops To Support Jukebox Compulsory License

CHICAGO—With the adjournment of the 99th Congress, AMOA has issued a special bulletin to operator members urging them to contact their congressional delegations in behalf of the jukebox compulsory license. Senators and Representatives have returned to their respective states and districts to campaign for re-election which provides an ideal opportunity for one on one dialogue.

As stated in the bulletin, "Just before Congress adjourned, legislation was introduced to eliminate the compulsory license for jukeboxes in order to make U.S. copyright law compatible with the Berne Convention for the Protection of Literary and Artistic Works, a century-old international agreement that governs the treatment of copyrighted material in countries other than the country of origin. The Berne Convention has 78 members, and the Senate will begin consideration in 1987 of the question of whether the U.S. law must be made 'compatible' with Berne, thus the move for its elimination. Although the bill in question (S.2904, introduced by retiring Senator Mathias, R-MD) received no consideration in 1986, the issue is sure to resurface in 1987, and AMOA must begin preparation now in order to protect the industry's future."

The bulletin went on to explain what the elimination of the compulsory license will mean for operators. Following are the three principal points stressed by AMOA.

1. The purpose of the license was to avoid a situation where operators would be required to negotiate royalty agreements individually with artists or their representatives. Without the license, such negotiations might be required, clearly an impossible task when one considers the number of jukeboxes in operation and the number of copyrighted musical works in question.

2. Without the protection of the compulsory license, operators would be wide open to legal actions for copyright infringement. Fines and penalties for copyright infringement can be severe, and number in the thousands of dollars.

3. Without the compulsory license, the performing rights societies will have far more opportunity to collect more money from jukebox operators.

According to AMOA, "the retention of the compulsory license is critical to the survival of the industry, which has already experienced substantial decline. In 1978, 144,000 licensed jukeboxes were in operation. In 1985, only 100,000 machines were licensed, a decrease of almost one-third."

Operators are urged to phone or write their Senators or Representatives with the following, simple message "The compulsory license for jukeboxes must be retained" and to be sure and submit copies of all correspondence to AMOA Government Relations Office, 1101 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Suite 700, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Pinball Expo On A Roll For Second Straight Year

by Jay Carter

As an art form pinball has always had its fair share of supporters. But it wasn't until 1985 that they had ever been formally brought together under one roof for the express purpose of exchanging ideas and, generally, celebrating this coin-op stalwart.

The brainchild of Robert Berk, Pinball Expo '86 is back and looking to be even better than its inaugural staging. Scheduled for November 21st to the 23rd, at the O'Hare/Kennedy Holiday Inn in Rosemont, Illinois (just outside Chicago and near the airport), the show is really something out of the ordinary.

The Expo is feature-packed with a variety of exhibits that, for some, is sure to bring back memories. There will be over 100 machines in the exhibit hall, with everything from countertop pinballs from the '30s to the latest models now making news on location. In addition, there will be many items for sale, similar to an old-fashioned flea market — including backglases, playfields, replacement parts, t-shirts, books, brochures and more.

But the Expo isn't just an extravaganza of memorabilia. It is, instead, an opportunity to talk with hard-core aficionados of pinball who have layout insights into what makes a given layout or game design better than another. For individuals in the industry, this pinball showcase can be an intensive learning experience that can only prove to be beneficial.

And Berk has gone to great lengths to ensure that the Expo generates as much excitement as it did last year. There is a full slate of seminars covering an impressive array of topics. Highlights include Steve Young talking about "Pinball Restoration" on Friday morning and "Solid State Pinball Service" discussed by Adolph Seitz, Jr. of Premier Technology fame on Saturday.

In addition, a panel discussion that is guaranteed to be an interesting and informative review will take place Friday the 21st at 11:00 a.m. And the headline speakers include two Bally greats: David Christensen who brought us the dazzling graphics of Fireball, Wizard, Captain Fantastic and many, many others; along with Paul Faris who has Space Invaders Pinball, Paragon and Xenon to his credit, to mention just a few.

The Pinball Expo also offers other intriguing attractions, not the least of which is a pinball designer panel discussion, with the leading creative talents from the major manufacturers talking about game concepts and where the industry is going. In addition, the Expo folks have arranged a tour of the Williams Electronics plant on North California Avenue in Chicago, for an inside, close look at the facilities.

And for those who are game enough, Flip Out '86 is destined to be an event of bragging rights for the next year, when the Expo stages a Pinball Tournament competition on site with the top prize being a new pinball machines. All this and more with the weekend capped off by the Pinball Expo '86 banquet Saturday night.

Without any affiliation to any organization, the Pinball Expo has come a long way from its inception and this year should firmly establish the showcase as an annual industry affair well worth supporting and being a part of.

Registration for the show is priced at $45 for advance admission badges. Accommoda-

Mike Mazzaroli: A Man And His Parts!

CHICAGO—Parts men are a breed unto themselves. Even Darwin never catalogued them. Mike Mazzaroli, Atlas Distributing of Chicago's able parts manager, has logged ten years in the business, and we need to trek back in time to distant Milwaukee to find his roots.

Cash Box: How did you get into this business?

Mike: I graduated the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee and went to work in Penney's warehouse. I was a liaison between the warehouse and the buyers in New York. I quit and became manager of health and beauty aids at Treasure Island. When I got tired of the 90-hour work week, I registered with a headhunter. In 1976 I took a job with S.L. London. I guess it was my vast experience in health and beauty aids that won Perry London over!

Cash Box: How long did you stay there?

Mike: I left London in 1985. At that time I had a giant opportunity to work with Jerry Marcus and Eddie Pellegrini at Atlas. There were no hard feelings at London, but the opportunity was so much better at Atlas.

Cash Box: When you first started in 1976, what made you think you could run a parts department?

Mike: I had to learn from the ground up. I thought it was a simple re-order type job, similar to a hardware store. I didn't realize you had to take into account new products.

Cash Box: After ten years experience, how do you run a successful parts department?

Mike: Most importantly, you have to have good people. John O'Neill, our main counter man at Atlas, for example. You have to stay with the customer until you figure out what he needs. Sometimes he can't explain it. However, when you do take time on the 50¢ widget, he'll remember you when he wants to buy a bolt of pool cloth. You must try and make it easy for customers to do business with you. Sometimes it's like a game of charades trying to guess what part a guy needs.

Cash Box: Given the unlimited number of parts you deal with, how do you know what to stock?

Mike: You learn from past history, actually. What you do is check with the factory on what they think will break. You get parts people who are familiar with the games so they'll know what may break, like our man Moose Shaeffer, for example. He's got mechanical aptitude. You need to anticipate your customer's needs and buy inventory before he asks for it.

Cash Box: Do you use any promotional aids or advertisements?

Mike: We send out six flyers a year. We use a digital, revolving display sign at the counter and we have point-of-purchase specials.

Cash Box: Is this effective?

Mike: I don't actually know. My position is to inform people. It's something that must

You know how busy parts department managers can be, and Mike Mazzaroli is no exception, so there wasn't time for him to supply us with a formal headshot for this article. Thus, we dug into our file and pulled out this photo, taken by the CB photog this past July when we visited Atlas. be done . . . it's the cost of doing business, but I don't consider whether it's effective or not. Unfortunately, many people don't even read flyers, but they really lose out when they don't.

Cash Box: What is the importance of a parts department's location?

Mike: It's important to run a parts department in a busy area, an area where there are a lot of service men going back and forth on calls. You need floor traffic . . . impulse buying. The flow of $20 orders keeps a parts department going. It's easier for me to drive 30 miles into town from the suburbs than for 20 operators to drive out for me.

Cash Box: What is your most common complaint?

Mike: Horrible pricing on spare parts. Also, delays in getting parts.

Cash Box: How do you handle these complaints?

Mike: I tell the customer the truth on the part department cost and ask him if he thinks my margin is fair. Generally, the customer is stunned that the mark-ups are so low. I also try to reason with the customer on delays and high pricing. I tell them ahead of time on both, right when they order so they are not shocked by the price or the delay when the part comes in.

Cash Box: What is the upside of the business?

Mike: Frankly, the opportunity to make money. It's also interesting working with a changing industry . . . it's never boring . . . and 90% of the people I work with, I like. Business is good, and I'm pleased with my association with Ed and Jerry at Atlas.

Cash Box: What is the downside?

Mike: Of course, the worst part is the drive in from the suburbs . . . but I don't like the hassle over delinquent bills either.

Cash Box: What changes would you like to see in the business?

Mike: I'd like to improve our ability to communicate with operators. This is very important. Getting information to them should be made easier and we must tell them up front what games are coming, and which ones are good. Improving the distributor's credibility so that his views have more validity in the marketplace is another important factor.

Cash Box: Any parting words?

Mike: Just to thank the customers for their support . . . especially my friends in Wisconsin for coming with me to Atlas during the transition period; and local customers for trusting me as the new kid on the block.

My Favorite Service Tips

by Alan Zeidman

We randomly asked operators and repairmen to share their secret or favorite service tips; tips that save minutes and dollars. The first returns are in and following are a few of the helpful hints that we would like to pass along to you.

1. Want to preserve the life of your pinball and increase its trade-in or resale value? Put mylar on the playfield. Most games come with it, but if they don't, just buy a sheet and cut to fit. It's a worthwhile investment.

2. Owners of Sega Hang-On and Enduro Racer, who are tired of paying $18 plus to replace the constantly breaking spring assemblies in the handle should take heed of the following advice. One serviceman suggests that you go to any hardware store and pick up a standard clutch spring which goes for less than a dollar. Normally you need to replace only the spring and not the entire assembly.

3. Here's some advice on conversions from a prestigious east coast operator. Cover the overlay on the control panel with a sheet of clear plastic. It's simple to screw in and it saves the panel from graffiti wholesale destruction.

4. Also on conversions. Space game shoot 'em ups like Alcon, Halley's Comet and Tokio get more play and better conditions when you use cabinets like Tron, Mach III and Astron Belt with the flight pilot style joysticks.

This concludes our first installment of tips. We hope to respond to Cash Box request with a continuous stream of weeks to come.

(Ed. Note: Alan Zeidman is a member sales team at Atlas Distributing, Inc. He's among the growing number of second generation coinmen (his father was a service technician Leonard Zeidman who is well known in the trade). The Box request he referred to accompanied previous service tips featured in the '86 and 10/4/86 editions. We welcome contributions to this service. Arachnid Intro's 'Bud Mark Darts'

CHICAGO—Arachnid, Inc. recently signed a licensing agreement with Anheuser-Busch of St. Louis, Missouri for the use of its Budweiser brand beer in connection with Arachnid's "English Mark Darts", which resulted in the introduction by the noted Rockford, Illinois dart game manufacturer of "Bud Mark Darts".

Bud Mark Darts uses the same electronics package and scoring system as Arachnid's popular English Mart Darts 4500. However, the new model employs all new graphics incorporating the trademark Budweiser colors of red, white and blue. The new color scheme and graphics give the game a whole new look with an overall face color of white.

"Bud Mark Darts has a natural acceptance by players and bar owners since English Mark Darts games are typically a barroom piece," stated Bernie Powers, Arachnid's director of sales and marketing. "In locations which currently serve Bud, this game is a natural."

"The promotional possibilities are endless," Powers continued. "Bud Mark Darts opens up a new common ground for distributors and operators to discuss league team sponsorship with local Bud distributors."

Arachnid's vice president of marketing, Sam Zammuto, was quick to add that promotional sponsorships are already becoming a reality. "We're currently negotiating sponsorship of state tournament leagues, and even the '87 'Bull' Shootout Tournament," said Zammuto. "So far we've had very positive response from both local distributors and Anheuser on a national basis."

Bud Mark Darts will be on display at the AMOA convention in Chicago, along with the firm's complete line of English Mark Darts game accessories.

Further information about the new game may be obtained by contacting Arachnid, Inc., at 6241 Material Ave., P.O. Box 100, Rockford, IL 61132-2901.

Bally's Scientific Games Wins Third California Lottery Contract

CHICAGO—Bally Manufacturing Corporation's Scientific Games lottery subsidiary was awarded its third California instant ticket contract, as announced by Robert E. Mulrane, president and board chairman.

The contract, which was unanimously approved by the California Lottery Commission, calls for a base term of 15 months with a renewal option of one year. Approximately one billion tickets will be printed in the first 15 months and the entire contract could be worth $38 million to Scientific Games.

All tickets will be printed at Bally's new Gilroy, CA state-of-the-art printing facility.

Bally's Scientific Games subsidiary awarded the first instant ticket contract in June, 1985. The contract called for 100 million tickets and almost 2.4 billion tickets were worth $40 million in conjunction with start-up consulting services. Scientific Games was subsequently awarded a second game instant ticket contract in July for 200 million tickets. This contract was worth $3.4 million.

Scientific Games has not only been a successful bidder in all the California instant ticket contracts, but also was instrumental in helping place the California lottery ballot and in setting up the lottery.
