The Changing Faces Of CD

Now that the manufacturing and supply problems that plagued the compact disc format in its early days have been solved, the format is showing some major and valuable new uses.

Virtually every manufacturer has its own midline and low price series, which have proven to be a marvelous method of rejuvenating the catalog business and keeping it at a fever pitch. Prices for these series have generally been kept under ten dollars, with some as low as $6.98. These prices afford the consumer the opportunity to upgrade black vinyl with the superior sound quality of the CD, or just to replace long worn out or missing records from their collection.

One of the format's newer and more exciting uses has been the CD sampler. These samplers, from many labels, have been recognized as excellent packages to introduce broadcasters to up and coming singles, and mixing them with established hits has made a convenient method for both previewing and play list adds. Columbia, for example, has produced a number of different samplers from several different departments, ranging from the current pop hits to dance to R&B to a recently distributed jazz sampler. Interesting, and a valuable programming tool.

We find that the CD samplers that are made available to the public a great sales tool as well. There have been a number of them, as Chrysalis, Enigma, Ryko, and Motown have all taken advantage of the opportunities afforded by this format to expose both new and catalog availabilities. The Motown series is hands down the best buy of the format, just loaded with standards and historic classics.

It will be interesting to note the future uses of the CD format at both the industry and consumer levels; there will certainly be more bright ideas on the way.

Seventh CMJ Music Marathon Gets Set To Unfold

Lee Jeske

NEW YORK - Heavy metal and social consciousness will come head-to-head, or is it arm-in-arm, at the Seventh Annual CMJ Music Marathon, set to invade New York's Roosevelt Hotel October 29-31. From a keynote speech by Abbie Hoffman on "Activism in the 1980s - Music, Media & Society" to a panel bringing together members of Motorhead and Death Angel - to a whole lot of stuff in between - the CMJ convention, as always, won't go by unnoticed. Anything that addresses "The Politics of Dancing" and devotes a good deal of its time to heavy metal does not go by unnoticed.

Following an all-day extensive workshop Thursday on "College Radio: Present & Future" things should kick off in grand style with Friday's combined keynote addresses and performances from 11:30 - 1:00 p.m. Abbie Hoffman and Billy Bragg will each deliver an address, and Jackson Browne will then pop in to introduce Nicaraguan "nueva cancion" singers Salvador Bustos and Guadabarranco.

Other highlights (and panelists) on Friday's "Discovery" schedule are "From Demo to Limo: The Evolution of New Artists" (Linda Clark, Frank Riley, others), "The Politics of Dancing" (Jackson Browne, Vernon Reid), "Lawyers, Guns & Money," "Surviving and Thriving as an Independent Record Label," "Cultural Meltdown: Integration of Non-Rock Music Into the Mainstream" (Hal

Sid Griffin Talks About The Long Ryders

By Tom De Savia

LOS ANGELES - The Long Ryders have frequently been labeled as essential pioneers of the rejuvenated roots-rock movement. Oddly enough, the Ryders have yet to reach a mainstream acceptance here in their native America. Although long-time critics favorites - the band has yet to achieve the commercial success obtained by many of their peers. While they have achieved a somewhat major cult status here and have had success with audiences overseas - the band has yet to generate the media attention of a Lone Justice or the commercial acceptance of a Los Lobos. Recently, the band's Sid Griffin spoke to Cash Box, discussing the evolution and future of The Long Ryders.

Griffin, a long time fixture in the L.A. music scene (since his arrival on the West coast 10 years ago), serves as chief songwriter for the band, as well as obtaining much lead vocal and guitar duties. The line up of the band alongside Griffin (as of the last LP) reads as follows: Steven McCarthy on guitars and vocals; Greg Sowders, drums; and the recently departed Tom Stevens, who contributed bass and vocals.

Currently signed to the Island label, The Long Ryders are presently sporadically touring in support of

CBS 3rd Qtr. Profits Double

LOS ANGELES - CBS Inc. reported last week a doubling of profits in their third quarter earnings over last year's figures, with the Records Group outperforming the broadcast unit for only the second time.

For the quarter, CBS reported net income of $59.9 million, or $2.31 a share, compared to $28.6 million, or $1.09 a share, in the 1986 time frame. Overall revenues rose 6.4%, from $925.1 million to $984.2 million.

The Records Group showed an amazing quarter, mirroring the industry's strong performance, posting a 121% profit increase before unusual items from $19.2 million to $42.4 million. The unit's revenues jumped 22% from $339 million to $414 million. Records Group profits were helped by releases of Michael Jackson's Bad and Pink Floyd's A Momentary Lapse Of Reason, and Bruce Springsteen's Tunnel Of Love should keep the unit in the black through the holiday season.

CBS reported significant profits in both the domestic and international record units due to the new releases and the increasing popularity of compact discs.

The broadcasting group was hurt by a soft advertising market leading to declining revenues. Particularly hard hit were the primetime and daytime markets. Revenues dropped 6%, from $582.3 million to this year's $547.1 million, and profits before unusual items plummeted 17.6%, from $47.8 million to $39.4 million.

CBS also reported increasing profits for its Columbia House division, due in part to expanded CD and home video sales.

SMN Adds Chicago Station To 'Wave' Net

Burkhart/Abrams Signed To Consult 'Wave'

LOS ANGELES - The Satellite Music Network and Metropolitan Broadcasting have announced an agreement with Burkhart/Abrams/Douglas/Elliott and Associates to consult the nationally syndicated 'Wave' format. The Wave network is produced in Los Angeles by Metropolitan's KTWV and its director of programming Frank Cody, and is distributed by Satellite Music Network. Affiliates already signed on include Kansas City, San Diego, Seattle and Dallas.

SMN's chairman John Tyler said about the B/A/D/E signing "This combination of forces gives the Wave network the finest resources in radio today." His sentiments were echoed by Metropolitan president Carl Brazell, who commented "The addition of Burkhart/Abrams completes our team, giving our network and affiliates the best programming and marketing expertise available in this exciting new area."

In a new development, SMN announced that WZRC in Chicago will become WTWV, becoming the fifth major market station to carry the Wave's signal. Station owner Vern Merritt said "We will carry it in unadulterated form off the satellite. Chicago has a most sophisticated, aggressive audience which is a perfect match for the Wave demographics; it will be extremely well received."

"This is the best of all worlds for us," said Kent Burkhart, chairman of B/A/D/E. "Lee Abrams has been heralding new age music as a format base for years, and we believe that the Wave is the finest execution of that format."

MCA Publishing Sweeps ASCAP, CMA Awards

LOS ANGELES - MCA Music Publishing scored big at last week's ASCAP and Country Music Association Award ceremonies.

At ASCAP, MCA was given sixteen awards for the most performed songs during 1986, the largest number of awards ever presented to a single publisher for a single year period. MCA was named ASCAP's publisher of the year.

At the CMA Awards, MCA became the first publisher in the history of the awards to win song of the year honors for three consecutive years. This year's winner, "Forever And Ever, Amen," by Don Schlitz and Paul Overstreet, follows last year's "On The Other Hand" by the same tandem and 1985's "God Bless The U.S.A." by Lee Greenwood.

LOS ANGELES - I.R.S. Inc. has formed a new branch, called I.R.S. World Media, to handle the production of feature films. The new company will be affiliated with I.R.S. Inc., and will be headed by president Paul Colichman and vice president Daniel Maskov. I.R.S. Inc. chairman Miles Copeland is chairman of the board.

The film company has inked a four picture theatrical distribution deal with New Line Cinema, which will distribute the films domestically and internationally in all markets, excluding domestic home video. A separate domestic home video deal has been struck with RCA/Columbia Pictures Home Video.

In announcing his firm's expansion, Copeland explained "We look upon ourselves as a talent organization first and foremost. Because many of our artists have multiple talents, over the years we have built an infrastructure that enables them to fulfill their potential in the various entertainment fields. The establishment of a film and tv production company is both a logical and vital extension of this philosophy."

World Media president Colichman added "I.R.S. World Media is looking for off-beat projects that have an attitude and an edge. We want progressive ideas with a unique vision."

World Media has announced the first feature to be produced under their banner, entitled The Decline Of Western Civilization II: The Metal Years. The film, already under production in Los Angeles with Penelope Spheeris directing, will be a docudrama about the metal genre, spliced with concert footage and interviews.

At least six other projects are currently under development at World Media, with the emphasis appearing to be focused mainly on comedy.

WEEKEND UPDATE -- Caught a couple of hot shows last weekend. First up was Friday night at the Music Machine, where Austin's legendary blues club, Antone's, brought the smokin' Texas-style blues West for two nights. Hot stuff - fine performances by the dynamic Buddy Guy, a jam session featuring James Cotton, Pinetop Perkins, Jimmy Rodgers and more, an electrifying young guitarist named Chris Thomas, the first lady of the blues, Angela Brehli, and more...

Then Saturday night it was downtown we went to catch a benefit gig at Al's Bar for Para Los Pinos (the children of the street people). Headlining was Peter Case, and also jammin' acoustically was David Baerwald, David + David's vocal half. Although Baerwald's set was painfully short (maybe six songs?), the man was in great voice. Backed by percussion, he played "Welcome To The Boomtown," "Ain't So Easy," and a couple more from the A&M LP, plus a few new numbers that sounded just as poignant and insightful as the oldies. New vinyl is the way from the Davids, and it could be hot.

HONORABLES - Herb Alpert and Quincy Jones will be honored by the L.A. chapter of the Recording Academy on November 18 at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel. Pictured (L-R): Herb, Q., L.A. chapter NARAS president Stix Hooper and chairman of the chapter's membership committee Brooks Arthur.

Between acts we chatted with Case's wife, Victoria Williams, whose own album was just released on Geffen. She had just finished a lean game of pool in Al's antroom, and she seemed shore buff psyched about her LP's prospects (she's from Lou-zyana, antcha know?). It's a good 'un - check it out.

Case hit the stage about then - this guy is incredible. Seems to be almost embarrassed about his talents, checked out in old jeans, t-shirt, muck Taylor's, glasses, fumbling in his pocket for picks, capo, cigarettes, whatever... Laughing casually, good-naturedly playing whatever the adoring crowd requested, Case went through about fifteen numbers, half and half from his debut LP and new cuts. Album highlights like "Steel Strings," "Small Town Cree," "Horse And Crow," all worked seamlessly with new songs like "Put Down That Gun." Case's long-awaited second LP should be out by next spring, and judging by the quality of the new stuff we heard Saturday night, it will be up to the top-drawer level of the first one...

FROM THE WESTERN FRONT - From the "it was just a matter of time" dept., comes this item from Motown: they will be releasing The Original Soul Of Michael Jackson, a look back in time to the younger Michael. The record will feature many of the hits of the early years, including "Dancing Machine," "Got To Be There," "Rockin' Robin," and "Melodie." Also included is a never-before released single entitled "Twenty Five Miles."

THE PROCLAIMERS - Points West's pick o' the week is this Scottish acoustic duo on Chrysalis.

This one seems to be Berry Gordy's baby; since he's the one who discovered the nine year old genius in the first place, it's appropriate that he control this retrospective package. Gordy, who brought the Jackson family west from Gary, IN., to L.A. to keep an eye on their development, said this about the album and his faith in young Michael "I remember listening to this kid, watching his incredible natural talent, reflecting the emotional experience of someone who must have been through it all more than once. But he's only nine years old. He must have been here before!"... Nicaraguan "New Song" pioneers Duo Guardabaranco and Salvador Bustos will appear at McCabe's Guitar Shop in Santa Monica on November 6 as part of a nationwide college tour produced by Jackson Browne, who also produced their respective LP's on Redwood Records... October 27 will be a special evening at the Pacific Amphitheatre, featuring performances by Willie Nelson, Joni Mitchell, Kris Kristofferson, and L.A.'s own Graffiti Band, joining forces to present a benefit show, with all proceeds going to the Leonard Peltier defense fund. Peltier is an American Indian who has been accused in the murder of two FBI agents at the Pine Ridge Reservation in 1977. It seems that the FBI did some very naughty things during the arrest and trial procedures. At Peltier's appeal, the 8th Circuit Court admitted that the FBI committed perjury, withheld, manipulated and manufactured evidence and filed false affidavits. The acts, and concert organizer Peter Coyote, want to make sure that these bogus improprieties won't become precedent. Worthy cause...

Billy Joe Royal

Success stories come in all shapes and sizes. They can be heard on almost any street corner on any given day. But the Billy Joe Royal success story is the stuff of dreams, a bigger-than-life tale worthy of healthy applause.

Few recording artists experience the exhilarating rush of being catapulted into national popularity once in their lives, let alone twice. In the career comeback of the decade, Billy Joe recreated in 1986 his meteoric rise to the top of the record charts in 1965, and the momentum is still building. The songs were different - then it was "Down In The Boondocks," and in '86 it was "Burned Like A Rocket." The pace and the formats are different - teen idol-crazed Top 40 has become mature and dedicated country music audiences. But the common thread, the bottom-line reason for it all is Billy Joe's ability to recognize when his unique vocal style comes together with a song to create rare musical magic, and his willingness to run a marathon for the song when it does.

"I knew my style was right for country music in the '80's," Royal says emphatically. He laughs and adds, "The problem was letting everyone else in on the secret."

The tremendous success of "Burned Like A Rocket" proved Billy Joe was right. And the series of Top 10 releases in its wake - "I Miss You Already," "Old Bridges Burn Slow," and his new hit "I'll Pin A Note On Your Pillow" - confirm his theory about his place in the country sun.

Looking back at the influences that helped shape Billy Joe's distinctive style, his re-emergence in country is not too surprising. He grew up in a family of country entertainers in Marietta, Georgia, performing on his uncle's radio show in Valdosta at the age of eleven. But beneath this inbred love for country, another beat was tugging at his soul. "Late at night, when our local station went off the air, I was right there with my friends tuning in WLAC, listening to John R. play R&B," Billy Joe recalls. "There was something in that music that just got to me, deep inside."

When his family moved to Atlanta, high school student Royal auditioned for the Georgia Jubilee radio show on WTJH. He became a regular on the show, and through the association, met other regulars who would have far-reaching affects on his life: Joe South, Ray Stevens, Jerry Reed, and Freddy Weller.

After a couple of small-label records, the impatient teenager left this circle and headed for new ground in Cincinnati. "I decided to get out of singing and to to acting school," he recalls. But fate had other plans. One day, Joe South called from Atlanta and said he'd written a song that would be perfect for Gene ("Town Without Pity") Pitney. "There was no way to get it to Gene," Billy Joe explains. "He was a big star then. But my voice had a similiar quality, so I flew down to Atlanta and we cut it."

Atlanta-based publisher Bill Lowery took the demo to Columbia Records. They signed Billy Joe to a contract and released the single in 1965. The song was "Down In The Boondocks" - and Billy Joe Royal was nineteen when the single hit the air-

TALENT ON STAGE

Tom Waits

EUGENE O'NEILL THEATRE, N.Y.C. - When the image of Tom Waits on Broadway comes up, it's easy to conjure up an image of Tom Waits on the street itself - lying in a puddle of his own urine. The down-and-out boozier that inhabits Waits' music, and, for many years, was worn as his persona, is not who we'd expect to see entertaining us from across the footlights. But the new Waits - the Waits of "Swordfishtrombones," "Rain Dogs," and "Franks Wild Years" - is a showman, the one who chronicles the seedy lives but not necessarily the one who lives them. The song "Frank's Wild Years," the most cynical, nasty of chronicles, was done here for laughs. No, this is a different story.

And the story is musical vaudeville at its most refined. Waits, for the most part, stays off the piano here - he's front and center, performing at a mike-stand with an eerie light attached to it, red megaphone in hand, four or five watches on his wrists. Dancing spastic dances, contorting himself into question marks, exclamation points and quotation marks, presenting his brilliant, Kurt Weillish music in a variety of voices. There's the inaudible rasp/shout of "Hang on St. Christopher," the smooth lounge lizard baritone of the Vegas version of "Straight to the

Julie Brown

By Tom De Savia

Julie Brown

LOS ANGELES - Trying to describe the music of Julie Brown is like trying to explain (oh, let's see...) the mysteries of the Sphinx and the pyramids ...it just ain't easy!

Many may be familiar with Julie Brown via her 1983 release "Homecoming Queen's Got A Gun" which instantly achieved impressive cult status. The success of that single led to an album recorded for the adventurous Rhino label, Goddess In Progress, (which, interestingly enough, became the label's biggest seller at that point). Most recently, Brown has signed with Sire records, who have just released her debut LP for the label Trapped In The Body Of A White Girl. Her current single and video of the same title are also creating quite a stir around the nation.

In addition to her recorded projects, filming has just been completed on a major movie that Brown co-wrote and co-starred in "Earth Girls Are Easy" - based on a song of Brown's included on the Rhino LP. The film, directed by Julian Temple and starring Jeff Goldblum is due in theatres this spring. Brown is quickly rising to the public's attention in a frantic way.

"I got a record deal on Sire and the movie deal at the same time." Brown stated during a recent interview with Cash Box. She continued, "It took me a while to get my album together, it took a long time to get the movie together, and I never intended for them both to be happening at the same time... it got real schizophrenic." She is quick to state that all the hard work is really paying off, and she feels nothing was in vein.

On record, her vocal style ranges from a Betty Boop meets the Shangri-las stance on her more humorous cuts - to that of a genuine pop songstress on the LP's more straight ahead tunes. For the first time on vinyl, we are introduced to Julie Brown - the pop vocalist. With the Sire LP, Brown has dispelled the notion that she is solely a novelty act. Included on the album are such top-notch pop gems as "Time Slips Away" and "Inside Every Girl." Brown explained "I really wanted to [record those songs], and I hope people accept it. People ask me 'why aren't you doing all funny stuff?' But I don't feel like that's the only thing I am, or the only thing that I'd like to do in life or put out there... To me, a lot of what I'm doing is like modern musical comedy. In that musical comedy has funny stuff, theatrical stuff and serious stuff. That's in a way how I perceive myself."

"I get discouraged when people say 'oh, she's a novelty.' I don't think I'm a novelty... enough people like what I do that if you just sort of have faith in it eventually people will catch on to what you're doing - I feel it's very legitimate."

Brown stated that although the rigors of working on the film proved trying at times, the results are ultimately rewarding. She explained, "The thing that's really fun to me is that with this movie I got to combine everything that I really love to do, and that is real exceptional. I got to sing and act and write and create original material. That, to me, is the most unbelievable high, it's incredible."

Top," the folksy gravel of "Jersey Girl," the gregarious growl of "Innocent When You Dream." Tousled hair, a couple of concert changes, the band looking seedy but cute, fake seedy, Broadway seedy. The songs - especially the songs from those last three splendid albums, not "some of the old ones" (though that interlude seems to connect with a good portion of the audience, comfortable with Waits at the piano, rasping the songs they know) - are brilliant, a kaleidoscope of images and sounds that, 30 or 40 or 50 years ago, would have known no home but Broadway. The characters are real, the situations are real, the lyrics are poetic, and the music - here's the kicker - the music is sublime. Songs that you can go home humming. Not poems with music, none of this bogus beatnick bull, but songs. "Blind Love," "More Than Rain," "Walking Spanish," a magnificent version of "Rain Dogs," real songs. Songs woven into a well-detailed 100-minute show. But, of course, this was not a Broadway show. This was a Tom Waits concert which landed on Broadway for a week and then drizzled on to other spots. Still, the setting was becoming to the music. The music was becoming to the setting. I had a good time. I think Tom Waits - with his optigon and megaphone and baritone hornist and accordion player in a fez - is on to something.

Sting

STING - When Sting was about to begin his "Bring on the Night" tour a couple of years ago, he debuted his band during a three night stint at the Ritz. About to embark on his second 'round-the-world solo tour, Sting last week again introduced his new ensemble in a relatively small Manhattan venue. The spot was the Palladium and the occasion was the 10th anniversary of the founding of the New England Digital Corporation (the makers of the Synclavier, which features so prominently in Sting's music). 2,500 invitees were on hand. The band, and the music, sounded great.

I, for one, liked the sound that Sting's "Bring on the Night" band had - sort of Weather Report meets the Police - and I was a bit sorry when he indicated that it was a one-time thing, sort of, "Well, this jazz thing is good for now, but I can't see living with it." I think Sting is a talented songwriter in a classic idiom (he writes intelligent lyrics and stick-in-your-brain melodies, something that Stevie Wonder and very few others are able to do these days) and I think the band translated those songs very nicely. So I was quite pleased when on to the stage of the Palladium came Branford Marsalis and Kenny Kirkland. Sting, it seems, knew what a good thing he had.

The band is a little different now - it's bigger and broader. There's a guitarist, a percussionist (Mino Cinelu), an extra keyboardist (Delmar Brown), just about the best young jazz drummer going (Marvin "Smitty" Smith), a new bassist, Branford, Kenny and, I guess, background singers, though their presence on this night was strictly through the Synclavier. In fact, the Synclavier allows for a bigness and broadness all its own, something that is a bit scary to contemplate (Branford's first solo was performed without Branford, it had been programmed into the machine. "Why carry a band at all?" is a frightening question, but one that I think is going to be asked a lot in the near future).

The 80-minute set presented most of the new album. "Englishman In New York," "They Dance Alone," "Sister Moon," "Rock Steady," "The Lazarus Heart," "Be Still My Beating Heart," Jimi Hendrix's "Little Wing," etc., everything sounded fine. The band, although Sting kept pointing out that they were "only together for three days," was tight and loose, a combination that is attempted for in jazz, but rarely in rock. It's funny, but when Sting's last tour hit Radio City Music Hall, the group didn't sound as loose and relaxed as they had at the Ritz, something I mentioned to Kenny Kirkland right after that concert, and something which he said, "Somebody else just said." I wonder if the freewheelingness will hold through this tour. In any case, Sting and his band cooked at the Palladium, and I think "...Nothing Like the Sun" is a fine piece of work.

Mercedes Sosa

MERCEDES SOSA - I like a lot of different kinds of music from a lot of different places - Brazilian pop music, reggae, Juju, Indian classical music, cajun music, tango - but I had never in any of my travels heard Mercedes Sosa. "You must go hear Mercedes Sosa at Carnegie Hall," said a friend whose musical taste I trust. "But I like too many kinds of music as it is," I said. "Go see her," said my friend.

I went to see her. Mercedes Sosa is a hero in her native Argentina and there was a palpable buzz in the hall - she represents the spirit of liberation in South America and the spirit was on 57th Street on this evening.

A short, square woman with Indian features, though no Indian blood, Sosa sang a selection of folk songs (from a variety of composers, including Milton Nascimento and Cuba's Silvio Rodriguez). Seated center stage - she'd occasionally rise for a crowd-rousing dance and accompanied by a three-piece band, she sang in a rich, affecting, folksy voice and, as can many great singers (Edith Piaf, Joao Gilberto, Joseph Shabalala, Pandit Pran Nath), she conveyed passion and power without having a single word understood (by me that is - most of the audience understood everything). Earthy and authentic, singing completely unpretentious music in a direct, moving manner, Mercedes Sosa lifted Carnegie Hall.

In the program notes, Mercedes Sosa says something that, very simply, explains why the forces of freedom and liberation will always - whether it takes a month or a thousand years - win out.

"My childhood was very poor," she says. "The only thing that saved my family from misery was its togetherness."

The togetherness at Carnegie Hall could be tasted.

HIS NIGHT-Dating back to his gospel days, when George Pettus started singing in the church, at age six he has given his heart and soul to music. His particular talent conveys this love with a unique finesse and flair. Born in Southampton, Long Island, Pettus began teaching himself to play piano and intensely absorbing gospel music. It wasn't until his teen years that he really listened to pop sounds with Marvin Gaye being a particular favorite. But gospel was his chief love, and he pursued it as a member of various groups.

Developing a relationship with the New York office of Chappell Music, Pettus began to redirect his energies into pop sounds. First as a staff writer with Chappell, then as a writer/session player with H&L Records, he began to taste a measure of success. At H&L, he wrote tunes for the Soft Tones, played keyboards with the late Van McCoy and scored a dance club hit with Sandy Mercer's cover of You Are My Love. From there he moved on to performing live in the mid-west with the Satisfactions, fronting the group in clubs for some three years. "All of these things were good learning experiences," Pettus recalls. "I developed my craft as a writer and singer in a serious way."

Relocating to Minneapolis in the early 80's, Pettus soon gained recognition on the local scene. He sang on local television programs and released a single, Working On My Strategy. One thing lead to another and armed with the right backing, he got a tape to MCA Records. It took time for all of the tracks included on his lp to come together, but the care and attention to detail more than paid off.

George Pettus

From the opening track (and first single) My Night For Love onward, Pettus is in command of his vocal gifts throughout. His approach is seductively romantic, often recalling the classic pop balladeers of the past. Can You Wait, You're Perfect and Make It Right all have this warmly intimate feel. He brings his assured touch to the lp's upbeat tracks as well. I'm Good For You, One Track Mind and I Can Fix-U-Up have a natural verve and urgency, while retaining the singer's sophistication.

Helping Pettus make the most of his gifts are a number of top flight producers, La La, Kashif, David Z, Chuck Gentry and Louil Silas Jr. "Each producer gave me a different quality while still locking into my style," says Pettus. "They all had something special to contribute. The idea was to have my vocals stay identifiable and tie it all together."

George Pettus is an eclectic album, but the artist stays clearly in focus. Though this is his first album, Pettus brings considerable expertise and years of development to his major label debut. A star on the rise, Minneapolis based vocalist George Pettus is graced with a quality rare in contemporary music, a true sense of style combined with an easy elegance of passion in his ability to deliver a song. His polished way with modern pop/R&B is captured in his self titled album on MCA Records.

OLD PROS RESURFACE-To say the last few months in the record industry has been interesting would certainly be an understatement. We will cite a few examples: Berry Gordy Jr., has taken more of a hands on approach at Motown Records and the product is sounding like the Gordy magic of old. Al Bell of Edge Records has put on his producers cap again and has a winning re-make with Respect Yourself on J. Blackfoot. The legendary duo Kenny Gamble and Leon Huff have rekindled their magic touch and put together a monster on Lou Rawls for Gamble & Huff Records.

When you think of the aforementioned names and the massive contributions they have made individually and collectively in the world of music it is beyond description. THEIR TRACK RECORDS ARE LEGENDARY!!!

A TWO MILES TALE-Over twenty years ago a young Miles Davis took a photo with an even younger baby Miles, named after him. Well, as luck would have it, the two were recently reunited during a special exhibition of the now legendary Davis' artwork held at the Tunnel Nightclub in N. Y.

Miles Davis (l), Miles Jaye (r)

The other Davis, (who had to drop his name to join the musicians union) is making a name for himself as Miles Jaye, with a hit single Let's Start Love Over, from his self titled album. Above, Jaye surprises the trumpeter with the original photo taken with him and his father.

ON JAZZ

HERBIE'S (JOHN) HANCOCK—Herbie Mann (l) pens his new contract with the Moss Music Group's RBI label, as Moss Music Group president Ira L. Moss (c) and RBI general manager Rick Bleiweiss look on.

BOPPING AROUND — Heard lots of talk at the JazzTimes Convention — most of it familiar talk. The turn-out was large and the mood seemed upbeat, though the Convention, in its sixth year, needs some new life, some new approaches to the old problems. Maybe next year's planned move to L.A.'ll give the Convention some zest and bring out some new faces...Hackensack, New Jersey's The Special Music Company has signed an agreement with Milt Gabler, the legendary jazz producer, for LP, cassette and CD reissues of Gabler's historic, and very important, Commodore catalogue, featuring some of the best of Billie Holiday, Lester Young, Coleman Hawkins, and so many others. The first items are due in December, with CDs to carry an $11.98 list price and LPs and cassettes to be tagged at $5.98. "We are delighted to be able to release this historic material in all configurations," says Special Music general manager Richard Greener, "and we intend to fully adhere to Milt Gabler's original quality standards." "One of the finest jazz catalogues of the 40s has now been enhanced by the brilliant digital sound of the 80s," says Gabler...Henry Threadgill and Fred Hopkins, sometimes known collectively as Air, are angry as can be over the use of Threadgill's "Apricots On Their Wings" on Cassandra Wilson's excellent new JMT album, "Days Aweigh." See, Cassandra sang the song on Air's "Air Show #1" (Black Saint), but Threadgill says she stole his arrangement for her own album. Taking Brian Llewellyn's advice, they're planning on taking the matter to court...Delos is about to issue a CD by Cedar Walton and has signed up a project by Dwiki Mitchell, Willy Ruff and Dizzy Gillespie...Epic, so the rumor goes, is about to go heavy into the jazz thing, with David Murray, Ornette Coleman, and others rumored as signees...Tony Bennett's new album, "Bennett/Berlin," features guest shots by Dexter Gordon, George Benson and Gillespie...Anita Baker, a modern diva, fell by the Blue Note to catch Sarah Vaughan, a diva for the ages, and the two of them were said to have chatted about a collaboration...Hey, what's going on here? New albums released on the same week by Joao Gilberto and Antonio Carlos Jobim? Sounds like 1962 all over again, and sounds like a good week for bossa nova fans like myself. In fact, Brazilian music in general seems to be in the air, what with Sarah Vaughan's "Brazilian Romance" on the charts, Caetano Veloso's excellent new Verve album in the stores, and Rykodisc, those people who happily scrounge around looking for interesting and neglected items to put on CD, having just released Charlie Rouse's "Cinnamon Flower" album, a Brazilian project originally out on Douglas. I point everybody in the direction of Avery Fisher Hall, November 23, where Jobim, Gal Costa, Oscar Castro-Neves and Carlos Barbosa-Lima will be collaborating in what should be a seductive evening of music...Jazz West Coast is the name of a new tome by Robert Gordon ($19.95, Quartet)...Roy Ayers has just launched a U.S. tour in support of his "I'm The One (For Your Love Tonight)" album (Columbia)...Tenor saxophonist Loren Schoenberg will perform a free concert at Cooper Union, October 30, and trumpeter Frank Gordon will do the same November 13...Heavenly Jazz, the jazz series at New York's Church of the Heavenly Rest, will offer Dave McKenna on November 8 and a tribute to Dick Wellstood with Dick Hyman, Kenny Davern and other friends and colleagues of the late stride pianist, December 6...Newport Jazz '87, featuring performances by Branford Marsalis, Michael Brecker, Kenny G and Nancy Wilson, will air over PBS at the end of November...Vocal veteran Barbara Lea is making her long-overdue L.A. debut at Perino's Oak Room Bar, where she'll be through November 7...The two Berlin Jazz Festivals will take place the first weekend in November. The official one will have the Ornette Coleman Quartet and other biggies. The other one, the Total Music Meeting, will have Curtis Clark, Butch Morris and other small-lies...Joe Pass has re-signed a long-term exclusive agreement with Pablo Records, for whom he has already recorded some — gulp — three dozen albums...Donald Byrd, who hasn't recorded in quite some time, has just signed a deal with Landmark...Red Rodney tells me that, although the original script for Clint Eastwood's The Charlie Parker Story — which started filming last week — was filled with factual errors, the new script is fine, a good representation of Bird. Red should know, but we shall see. They're using old recordings of Bird, rather than recreations, and that should help right there.

JAZZ FEATURE PICKS

DANCES AND BALLADS — World Saxophone Quartet — Elektra/Nonesuch 9 79164 — Producer: Robert Hurwitz
A vigorous, dynamic album from the best little saxophone quartet on earth.
THE VILLAGE — Henry Butler — MCA/Impulse! 8023 — Producer: Ricky Schultz Gale-force modalities, rich harmonies and a hell of a band (Alvin Batiste, John Purcell, Ron Carter, Jack DeJohnette) inform the pianist's second album.
PASSARIM — Antonio Carlos Jobim — Verve 833 234 — Producers: Paolo Jobim, Jaques Morelenbaum
The first album in ages from the lord high master of bossa nova composers is a gentle, lilting affair filled with memorable melodies (most new, including the dazzling, lyrics-in-English "Chanson") and a cozy warmth.

JOAO GILBERTO LIVE IN MONTREUX — Elektra/Musician 9 60760 — Producer: Joao Gilberto
The first album in ages from the lord high master of bossa nova singers is a gentle, lilting affair filled with memorable melodies (including several Jobim standards) and a cozy warmth.
THIS NEW GENERATION — Wayne Horvitz — Elektra/Musician 9 60759 — Producer: Wayne Horvitz
Electric instrumental music that falls somewhere between avant-garde jazz and avant-garde classical, but better than much of both.
STRANGE MEETING — Power Tools — Antilles New Directions 7 90627 — Producer: David Breskin
Power Tools is guitarist Bill Frisell, electric bassist Melvin Gibbs and drummer Ronald Shannon Jackson and they make kinetic, cutting-edge fusion of a wholly unfusion variety.

SOUNDS & VISIONS

CD SPOTLIGHT

THE BEATLES
Abbey Road - Parlophone/Capitol (CDP 7-46446-2)

Capitol has just released the latest in the chronological series of Beatles compact discs. The first of this particular instalment, Abbey Road, should more than please any Beatles' fan. Completely and perfectly digitally re-mastered, Abbey Road stands as a triumph in the world of reviving classic material for compact disc release. The crystal clear package contains such classics as "Come Together," "Maxwell's Silver Hammer," "Here Comes The Sun," "You Never Give Me Your Money," "Polythene Pam," "She Came In Through The Bathroom Window," "Golden Slumbers," "Carry That Weight" etc., etc. Abbey Road could easily become the most successful of all Beatles' disc released thus far.

THE BEATLES
Let It Be - Parlophone/Capitol (CDP 7-46446-2)

"Let It Be," "The Long And Winding Road," "Get Back," - they're all here. The second Beatles' disc, Let It Be, should fare extremely well with the buying public (... obviously a vast understatement!). A brilliant example of the superior sound quality capable from a compact disc. The clarity achieved in transferring the original analog recording to digital technology is superb. Most have heard Let It Be thousands of times - yet there is no describing the experience of listening to such a masterpiece in such astonishing sound. Don't miss "For You Blue," "Across The Universe," "I Me Mine," "I've Got A Feeling," or "One After 909." Don't let this on pass you by...

...And The Winners Are...

by Kyle Lehnig on Warner Brothers. The quote from Randy that drew the most attention was, "I've been watching this show for so many years. I never expected to be nominated along with people like this! George Jones is one of my heroes, and George Strait, I'm a real fan of his...let alone to win!!"

There were additional quotes from the following winners, which all conveyed the pride of being voted the coveted awards; The Judds, voted the Vocal Group of the Year; Ricky Skaggs and Sharon White, the Vocal Duo of the Year; Holly Dunn, who won the Horizon Award; Don Schlitz and Paul Overstreet, co-writers of the Song of the Year; and when Frances Preston, president and CEO of BMI, was presented the Irving Waugh Award of Excellence, she said exactly what they all wanted to say, "I must share this award with the people I work with at BMI, and throughout this great industry. Without them, this would not have been possible!"

Other winners, who didn't get to share the TV time, but just as important, were Johnny Gimble, Instrumentalist of the Year, and the radio personalities: Gary Walker, KYKX, Longview, Texas (small market); Eddie Edwards, WSIX, Nashville, Tn. (medium market); and Rubarb Jones, WYAY, Atlanta, Ga. (large market). Also, Minnie Pearl announced, with a big smile, that her

It's difficult to imagine even being nominated. There you are, sitting in the midst of all your peers in the Country Music entertainment business, thinking your chances are only 20%, and convincing yourself that you are professional enough not to let your disappointment show, outwardly, when someone else's name is announced. To be nominated is honor enough..to win, well, you know how impossible that..I don't believe it! They just announced my name!!

Those could have been the thoughts and feelings of Hank Williams, Jr., Randy Travis, Reba McEntire, The Judds, Ricky Skaggs, Sharon White, Holly Dunn.. and all the winners, as they accepted the crystal CMA Award at the gala CMA Awards Show.

Hank Williams, Jr. summed it all up when he accepted his award for the Entertainer of the Year. "This is the one ol' Bocephus been lookin' for! It's a wonderful feeling to be hugging old friends (in celebration)." Bocephus was also honored for the Music Video of the Year.

Reba McEntire, winner of the Female Vocalist of the Year, for a record fourth straight time, still showed the excitement of a first time winner. "This is so sweet of y'all! When we first came to Nashville, my momma said, 'we can go back home. It takes a lot of hard work to succeed in this business.' Well, this is a great profession, with lots of glamour and love!"

Randy Travis won four awards for 1987! Randy was voted the Male Vocalist of the Year, Song of the Year ("Forever And Ever, Amen"), which he recorded for Paul Overstreet and Don Schlitz, songwriters, Single of the Year ("Forever And Ever, Amen"), and Album of the Year ("Always And Forever"), produced longtime friend and co-worker in country comedy, Rod Brassfield, had been inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame thirty years after his death.

ALBUM REVIEW

BILLY JOE ROYAL - Royal Treatment - Atlantic America, 90658-1

There simply isn't enough room here to tell you how enjoyable and professional this LP is. Billy Joe Royal has one of the greatest individual styles in the music world today. If "I'll Pin A Note On Your Pillow" isn't a monster hit, I've never heard one. And, wait until you hear his rendition of the Jim Reeves classic "He'll Have To Go!" I could go down the list of songs, one by one, and write nothing but praise.

OUT OF THE BOX

BUTCH BAKER Mercury/Polygram, 888 926-7) I'll Fall In Love Again (3:45) (Chappell, Chriswald, Hopi Sound, LeMango-ASCAP) (A. Roberts, T. Cerney) (Producer: N. Putnam)

Butch Baker has found a truly great song, and his performance is nothing less than beautiful! Tender and touching vocals with plenty of instrumental "punch" when needed. The production is super, as the strings and background vocals accept the challenge to make this a perfection platter! Congratulations, Butch, and you owe Norbert, Austin, Todd, and the pickers a steak dinner!

FEATURE PICKS

ROSANNE CASH (Columbia, 38-07624) Tennessee Flat Top Box (3:09) (Rightsong-BMI) (J. Cash) (Producer: R. Crowell)

This has to be one of my favorites of the year! Just listen to the echoes of her daddy's early style! Rosanne puts the "winner" on this one with her confident vocal. All you acoustic guitar lovers, this could be your new anthem. I can't say enough. Great tempo, solid, and fun for the listener!

RESTLESS HEART (RCA, 5280-7) Wheels (3:44) (MCA, Patchwork-ASCAP) (D. Wiggins) (Producers: T. DuBois, S. Hendricks, Restless Heart)

"Heart" comes back with a movin' song properly titled. The tempo is within the speed limit, and the ride is enjoyable. We took a trip on the harmony and arrangement. Looks like Restless Heart will ride "Wheels" back onto chart country.

JOE KENYON (Mercury/Polygram, 888 910-7) Joe's Theme (3:45) (Hall-Clement, Yellow Jacket-BMI) (J. Kennedy) (Producer: J. Kennedy)

Right in the same classic mold as "Laura's Theme". It's simply inspiring. This is the kind of song people want to be alone with. What a fabulous departure from the ordinary! I'm gonna play this 'til the record wears out, then, I'll go buy a new one! Great!

"JUST US" SHIPS GOLD! Alabama's tenth album release, "Just Us", shipped gold on its release date of September 29, designating over 500,000 units sold. This is the group's sixth album to ship gold.. three of their LPs have shipped platinum, including "Roll On", the first album in the history of country music to ship platinum. From left: Randy Owen; Harold Shedd, Alabama's producer; Dale Morris, the group's manager; Randy Goodman, RCA director of merchandising; Teddy Gentry; Joe Galante, RCA division vice president and general manager; Mark Lundon; Jack Weston, RCA director of national country promotion; and Jeff Cook.

FATHER AND SON REUNION. William Lee Golden takes the lead as son Chris lends harmony when they performed at Willie Nelson's Farm Aid II in Lincoln, Nebraska. Not pictured, playing keyboards, is oldest son Rusty Golden. Rusty and Chris have signed a recording contract with CBS Records, Nashville, and will release their first album as "The Golden's" in July 1988. Golden senior is at work on his own solo album.

NASHVILLE NOTE-ABLES

Vicki Bird Is Flying High!

A few years ago, a little songbird flew out of Birds Holler, West Virginia in an attempt to see how high she could fly. She was barely more than a baby bird when she left the nest. She's been flying around for a while in search of that updraft which would lift her to the heights she wanted to reach. Recently, she found that long-sought updraft, and our little bird is flying higher and higher each day!

The little bird is Vicki Bird. The updraft is 16th Avenue Records. Combining their efforts, they are determined to find out how high Vicki Bird can fly. How do I know this story? Well, let's just say "a little bird told me."

Vicki came into the office to talk a while, and I found one of the honest people in the world. Vicki has just released her first single on 16th Avenue Records, and after two weeks, "I've Got Ways Of Making You Talk" is climbing right on up the charts. But, even with her new success, she remains loyal to those who helped her along the way.

"I still go to Seneca, South Carolina every weekend so I can sing for the good people at the V.F.W., there," says Vicki, with one of the stongest and cutest Appalachian accents you will ever hear. "It's about 340 miles from Nashville, but I leave every Friday morning so I can perform on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. When the Sunday show is over, I head back home. Those are good people I work for over there, too."

Vicki Bird came to Nashville some time ago, looking for a recording contract. "Nothin' much happened for me, so I went to writin' for Charlie Monk. He got me on Ralph Emery's show, and someone showed the tape of that show to Jerry Bradley. He liked it, and signed me to 16th Avenue Records! I feel very fortunate to be on the label. Jerry produces my sessions, and all the people, there, have been very good to me. At first, I was scared that they wouldn't like me, 'cause I am what I am. I'm a country girl, and I like myself that way. I can't pretend to be somethin' I ain't!" Vicki doesn't have to worry about being herself! She has a magnetic personality in addition to her super talent as a country singer. Vicki's husband, Donnie (Wilson), is also a talented country picker, and they have come down the long, hard road together. "We figure we have learned a lot through these lean years. And, if it happens for us, we are sure gonna appreciate it. No way we'll ever take it for granted! We're cutting again in November, and we're all hopin' for good things!"

So am I. Fly, little Bird! Fly high!

RAPPIN' WITH THE WRITERS:

DON GOODMAN

As co-writer of Billy Joe Royal's current hit, "I'll Pin A Note On Your Pillow," Don Goodman has a lot of good things going for him, right now. He also co-wrote A. J. Masters' current chart song, "Our Love Is Like The South," and is the co-writer of "15 To 43", on Conway Twitty's "Borderline" album.

Goodman is also a producer of note in Nashville, producing Cash Box's Independent Female Vocalist of the Year, Liz Boardo. He also produces Step One Records' act Southern Reign, and will soon be going into the studio to produce Con Hunley. Don has just finished producing an album on super-singer, Darlene Austin.

Don Goodman has been 16 years on 16th Avenue, in Nashville, as a writer. He says the highlight of it all has been writing with people like Troy Seals, Mark Sherrill, J. B. Detteline, Nelson Larkin, Mary Ann Kennedy, Pam Rose, John Wesley Ryles and all the wonderful, soulful people, who have bared their souls with his.

INDIE SPOTLIGHT

THE KENDALLS (Step One, SOR 379 A) Still Pickin' Up After You (3:00) (Jobete-ASCAP; Rio Bravo-BMI) (D. Blackwell, L. Bastian) (Producer: R. Pennington)

The Kendalls keep coming with classic country! The production on this release is outstanding. A lone mandolin leads the listener into a strong string "bed"...and, it works! Of course, Jeannie and Royce hook a song like no others. Interesting song concept, and the melody builds to satisfying peaks. We picked it, and we think you will, too!

INDIE FEATURE PICKS

JAMES VANDERBURG (L'il Bill, L.B.-104AA) Second Opinion (3:03) (Little Bill-BMI) (T. Dee, J. Vanderburg, S. Vanderburg) (Producer: T. Dee)

Pleasing performance, production, and product! This is James Vanderburg's strongest and most emotional vocal yet. Good country song! Well placed "pauses" and interesting phrasing promotes emphasis.

ERNIE BIVENS 3rd (GBS, 755A) Beauty's In The Eyes Of The Beholder (3:19) (Contention-SESAC) (T. Harris) (Producer: J. E. James)

From the lonesome fiddle to the steel "fills," a beautiful country ballad, as interpreted by the velvet voice of Bivens. Fine song by super-writer Ted Harris. Near perfect production with balance of the strong and tender. Give this a listen!

JERRY COOPER (Bear, CP-187) As Long As There's Women Like You (2:19) (Memory Maker, Tapadero-BMI) (K. Westberry, E. Burton) (Producer: B. J. Burnette)

Jerry Cooper, shake hands with us honky tonk lovers! We knew Jerry had this one in him! We couldn't keep our feet still while listening. It has the perfect feel required of a good ol' honky tonker. Great job, guys!

Preston, and vice president Roger Sovine honored the songwriters and publishers of BMI's most performed country songs of the past year at the 35th annual BMI Country Awards Dinner.

"Hold On" was honored with the 19th Robert J. Burton Award as Most Performed Country Song of the Year for writer Rosanne Cash and publishers Atlantic Music Corp. and Chelcalt Music. This award, honoring the late BMI president, Robert J. Burton, is an etched Tiffany crystal obelisk.

ASCAP AWARDS

The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) presented its 25th Annual Country Music Awards on Wednesday, October 14 in Nashville. More than 1,000 prominent members of the music industry community gathered for the black-tie gala at the Opryland Hotel's Presidential Ballroom.

ASCAP's Southern executive director, Connie Bradley, along with Merlin Littlefield, Bob Doyle, Judy Gregory, Tom Long and John Briggs of the ASCAP Nashville office presented plaques honoring the writers and publishers whose 77 songs were ASCAP's most performed country songs of 1986. ASCAP President, Morton Gould, and ASCAP managing director, Gloria Messinger, also participated in the awards presentation.

Bradley commented, "In addition to highlighting the achievements of ASCAP's country writer and publisher members, this year's awards dinner celebrated the 25th anniversary of the opening of the Society's Nashville Membership office- the symbol of ASCAP's continuing dedication to country music. This dedication is represented both in ASCAP's growing share of the country charts and its distinguished membership roster."

"Now And Forever (You And Me)," written by ASCAP member Randy Goodrum (with Jim Vallance and David Foster), and published by California Phase Music, was named the most performed Country Song of the Year. Song of the Year is determined by the greatest number of performance credits accrued over the calendar year. Writer of the Year and Publisher of the Year are determined by the individual writers and publishers receiving the highest number of awards.

Honored with the ASCAP Songwriter of the Year award was Dave Loggins with six individual awards, and singled out as the ASCAP Publisher of the Year was MCA Music Publishing with sixteen awards.

ASCAP president Morton Gould introduced a brief film recounting the history of ASCAP in Nashville. Gould said "Country Music is a dynamic and vital part of our repertory, but it's much more than that. It's also a quintessentially American music, and we are so glad that we can honor country's best tonight."

ASCAP managing director Gloria Messinger presented Country Standard Awards honoring the most performed country songs in the last decade. Carol Chase and David Slater performed "live" a medley of the eight country classics.

Multiple songwriter award winners at the ceremonies included David Bellamy, Charlie Black, Tom Brasfield, Don Cook, John Jarrard, Dave Loggins, Bob McDill, J. D. Martin, Frank Myers, Don Pfrimmer, Eddy Raven, Lionel Richie, Austin Roberts, Don Schlitz, Troy Seals, Jeff Silbar, Russell Smith and Michael Smotherman. In addition, videos of the five most performed songs were shown throughout the evening.

From the ASCAP Nashville office, those joining Bradley, Briggs, Doyle, Gregory and Littlefield in the planning and preparation of the evening were Suzanne Lee, Randy Morgan, Eve Vaupel, Charline Wilhite and Mary Wyatt. Also attending, were many distinguished members of the ASCAP Board of Directors, and the New York staff.

their most recent release (and second for Island), Two Fisted Tales. Prior to signing with Island, The Ryders released two independent projects: 10-5-60, their impressive debut EP was recorded for the PVC label; and Native Sons, released in the states on Frontier records, firmly established the band as songwriters and musicians to be reckoned with. Their next project, State Of Our Union, the first recorded for Island, delivered near perfection for the band in both sound and style. With the release of the aforementioned Two Fisted Tales, The Long Ryders have affirmed to the public that they are here to stay. The band is currently putting together demos for an upcoming third Island LP.

Although the band has yet to find acceptance by the masses, Island has showed tremendous support for The Long Ryders. Griffin explained "Island records is not the kind of label that breathes down your neck and says 'do this' and 'do that.' They have been real good to us, they will let you grow. They have a history of standing by people..."

Audiences overseas have welcomed the fresh sound of the Ryders - both their albums and singles, as well as tours, have fared much better there than they have in the states. "Overseas we come real close to having hit records." Griffin explained. He continued, "We've had several singles overseas that just graced the Top 40."

Recently the band suffered the loss of longtime member - bass player and vocalist Tom Stevens. Stevens amicably departed the ranks during the band's recent tour of the states to pursue a career fronting a new band. A frantic search for a replacement took place leaving the band in a bit of a lurch. Finally, bass player Larry Chatman, a friend of Griffin's, joined the Ryders. Griffin emphasized the importance of Chatman's hook-up with the band, "Larry learned [the songs] in no time flat and we went out and we were fine. He walked on stage with a band that he never walked on stage with, or rehearsed with - he never rehearsed with us. He went on the road with us and learned while driving across the country and in motel rooms at night. We never had a formal rehearsal. If it wasn't for Larry Chatman I think the band would have had to cancel a very important tour and it would have hurt us."

The Long Ryders have constantly been recognized for their politically and socially conscious lyrics. Griffin insisted that the band does not sit around trying to come up with topical material to incorporate into their music. He explained, "...as you drive around the country you see incredible things. And it seems evil to turn away from those things or drive around the world and not write about them. Especially when everyone else and his brother is more or less writing about romance. It seemed that some of these subjects were so colossal in scope that someone should sing about them, and maybe getting people thinking about them and on the road to solving these problems."

The Long Ryders have frequently been sighted for their depictions of reality in their lyrics, as well as their political or socially conscious statements. The Long Ryders though, by any means, are not a poor-man's Bruce Springsteen or John Cougar Mellencamp - such songs as "State Of My Union," "Prairie Fire" and "I Had A Dream" tell of life and bring awareness to overlooked issues without preaching or coming off as pretentious in any way.

I know this has been said many times before, but for posterities sake I'll say it again: If the Long Ryders are ever accepted by the mainstream, just exposed a little bit to these audiences, watch out. Or as Griffin himself put it, "I believe that one day word of mouth will take over and then we'll start our own little brush fire that will then carry on into sales." He concluded "...I'm pleased with where the band is. The last tour we did was our best tour ever and we sounded the best."

Her interest in filmwork has carried over to her recorded projects. She has conceptualized the clips for "Homecoming Queen" and "Trapped In The Body Of A White Girl," the later which she also co-directed. She explained the importance of her involvement in her own music videos, "I always think theatrically... I wouldn't like turning over the whole project to some video director - because that's one of the things that I love to do."

Brown's plans include a mini-tour in the near future with hopes of putting a regular touring band together and hitting the road. Also in the wings are ideas for other film scripts - and hopes to direct feature films lie in her aspirations. For the time being, however, Brown is quite happy and satisfied with her career thus far. "[Where I am now] is exactly where I wanted to be from the beginning. I'm achieving exactly the things that I wanted to do. I want to do more of this and get better and better at it."

BIRD BRAINS - After a recent L.A. performance, the Fabulous Thunderbirds were greeted by friends from all walks of life, including many E/P/A execs. Willner, Gary Windo), "Reggae: Roots-Rap-Reggae" (Doctor Dread, The Night Nurse), "International Artist Development: Non-Domestic Products & Persons," "The Retail Connection & Independent Distribution," "Surviving and Thriving as an Independent Record Label," "Playing It Cool: College Radio and the Alternative Marketplace" (Ivan Bodley), "International Artist Development: Non-Domestic Products & Persons," and "Commercial Radio 1997: Cutting Edge or Dull Blade?"

Competing on Friday is the first part of the Metal Marathon. "Metal has always been rock's most aggressive and rebellious music," say CMJ president Robert Haber and vice president Joanne Abbot Green. "It's the music parents hate and kids love, and it's the music that sells records, and sells out arenas regardless of radio's fickle love-hate relationship with it. Like it or not, heavy metal and hard rock are here to stay, and CMJ seeks to appreciate the serious artistic, cultural and financial forces they are."

Set for the Metal Marathon are panels addressing such issues as "Metal & Radio: Hell in Your Home," "Image vs. Substance: Is It the Look or the Lick?," "Hard Rock Artist Development & Marketing: Forging Scrap Metal Into Platinum," "Sheet Metal: The Role of Media in Breaking Hard Rock Artists," "Metal Crossover: New Breed or Hip Hype," and a Hard Rock Artist Panel.

On the agenda for a Halloween Day of "Development & Marketing" are such subjects as "College Radio in the Community: Force or Farce," a country workshop (Jim Bessman), "Future Pop: The Shape of Jazz To Come" (Carmen Lundy, George Butler); an A&R panel, "Maximum Exposure: Print Media's Role in Artist Development, a rhythm workshop (Heavy D, Red Alert), "Visual Marketing: The Little Picture in the Big Picture," "Getting By In a Material World: Survival and Development of the Alternative Artist," "Music Publishing: It's Not the

Singer, It's the Song," "Successful Marketing a New Artist: Tying it All Together," "Overseas Licensing," "The Underground Video Workshop," and the traditional "Artist Encounter and Free For All."

One thing that will be missing this year is the traditional CMJ New Music Awards Show, which has been the lure of television and has been rescheduled for next spring. In its place, however, will be various performances and workshops, beginning with Buckwheat Zydeco's opening party performance at the Tunnel.

waves and pushed him into national stardom.

During the next six years, the teen idol toured constantly (one time performing 72 consecutive one-night stands). After riding high on the wave of popularity into the early 70's, Royal eased into a career stage that followed in the wake of the teen idol craze. He became a regular performer in Las Vegas and Lake Tahoe, appeared on a variety of television shows, in feature films and on TV commercials. Now it appears that the entertainer was in a holding pattern, just waiting for country music to evolve to its present stage of development.

Around The Route

By Camille Compasio

This week's opening item is geared operators (and potential operators) of the Seeburg compact disc jukebox. At AMOA Expo '87, Seeburg will be introducing its new "Hot Hits" label which will provide up to 40 material for programming on compact disc jukeboxes. This means that ops will be able to get current top charted songs (13-15 on each individual disc) on their Seeburg machines. Present plans call for Seeburg to release probably four to six of these special discs over the next twelve months. The factory's intent here is to respond to those operators who want to integrate the latest hits into their compact disc programming format. The "Hot Hits" series presents a variety of artists on a single disc; the key word being "variety", which is a departure from present c.d. albums that feature the works of single artist groups. In addition, Seeburg will have available on one disc such traditional favorites or standards as "Happy Birthday", and the usual amount of commemorative music for anniversaries and so forth as well as ethnic music. As Seeburg's executive vice president Joe Pankus put it, the factory is going all out to satisfy the needs and requests of the growing number of operators who are installing their compact disc jukeboxes in locations across the country.

Rock-Ola c.d. debuts! Earlier this month, at their annual distributors meeting in Arizona, Rock-Ola Mfg. Corp. introduced the new model 496-IXCD jukebox, marking the factory's entry into the compact disc arena. The new machine is a combo unit, offering both c.d.'s and 45's programming; it sports a completely re-designed cabinet and cosmetics to complete the package. From what sales chief Frank Schultz tells us, it's a real beauty - and distributors were most enthusiastic in their reaction, and applause, when it was unveiled!

Notes from the JAMMA convention. Consensus among returnees who attended this Japan trade show in early October indicates that American attendance was up considerably and that this international event is experiencing significant growth both in terms of size and importance. After all, as more than one distributor put it, "about 90% of our video products originate in Japan." Just about every Japanese company, large or small, showed equipment and, once again, the exhibit floor had to be expanded to accommodate everyone. The dominance of Sega and Taito was very much in evidence. Two of the stand-out items were Sega's "Heavyweight Champion", described by Atlas's Jerry Marcus as a "very physical game that should be super if it can be adapted to the American market"; and the Taito gun game "Operation Wolfe". Jerry said he also saw a couple of good football games; one from Tecmo and one from SNK. Memetron's Larry Siegel singled out the two aforementioned Sega and Taito pieces as the most outstanding at the show and told us he was also quite impressed with a new tank game from Coreland Technology that was featured in the Taito booth; and the 3-dimensional "Pac-Mania" (a Pac-Man derivative) which Namco showed. As a kit producer, Larry naturally observed that with many of the Japanese companies operating their own sales and marketing facilities in the U.S., there will be less and less cross licensing. This is no help at all for the American kit-makers. Needless to say, Larry scouted around at the show and saw a few potential pieces for his business but nothing that measured up to Memetron's standards - so there's no new Memetron kit in the offing. Many we spoke with said they were less than pleased with the facilities that house the JAMMA show! Some said there was not much in the way of "innovative" pieces on the exhibit floor but quite a noticeable improvement in graphics. Of course, within the next two weeks, the equipment shown at JAMMA will be on display at AMOA Expo '87 in Chicago - the advantage to U.S. ops being there'll be enough time in between for any refinements that have to be made.

Dateline Des Moines, Iowa, home of Moss Distg. Prexy Terry Moss is looking forward to attending AMOA Expo - as are a lot of ops who have been putting off buying these past few weeks in anticipation of what they'll see at Expo. However, Terry had no complaints about business, thanks to such popular items as Romstar's "Time Soldier" kit; Sega's "After Burner"; Taito's "Double Dragon" and Bally's "Xenophobe"!

Oops! As a postscript to our JAMMA notes. We also learned that Premier introduced their new "Victory" pin at the Japan show.

Watch for it! Konami is ready to release its new dedicated upright "Blades of Steel." It's a hockey game where the puck action on the ice is equalled by the heated confrontations among the hockey players. This is what the sport is all about - and from Konami's description of their game, "Blades of Steel" has it all!

Valerie Cognevich of Skybird Publishing (l), David Weaver of AAMA, Bill Glasgow of W. T. Glasgow, Inc. and Judy Novak of W. T. Glasgow, Inc., huddle over a floor plan at the Bally-Reno exhibit hall making plans for ACME 88, March 11-13.

Plans Finalized For ACME '88 Convention

CHICAGO - Three days of intensive meetings were conducted recently in Reno, Nevada as plans unfolded for the 1988 American Coin Machine Exposition to be held at Bally's Hotel-Reno during the period of March 11-13.

David Weaver, executive vice president of American Amusement Machine Association and Valerie Cognevich, editor of Play Meter Magazine, co-sponsors of the annual spring trade show for the coin-operated amusement industry, together with show manager, Bill Glasgow, Sr. and Judy Novak of William T. Glasgow, Inc., met with officials of the Reno Convention Bureau and Bally's hotel to "fine tune" show details.

"We're very excited at the prospect of producing a show in Reno," stated David Weaver. "Traditionally, Chicago had been the base of operations for the fall and spring markets, but with two industry shows per year, ACME felt it would serve the industry better to rotate cities, which proved successful in New Orleans in 1987. Because of a date conflict, we thought we might have to make a change, but that was resolved and we're all set for March 11-13 at Bally's - Reno."

ACME '88 will once again offer a complete line-up of educational sessions addressing current issues of importance to today's operators. A preliminary schedule will be released within the next month.

In addition, a full complement of Spouse Programs will be offered at ACME '88 to include a "backstage tour" of Bally's spectacular stage show "Hello, Hollywood, Hello", a Reno city tour and Gaming Instruction at the Reno gaming Academy, a Lake Tahoe Tour and a Virginia City Tour. A post-show ski package in Lake Tahoe will also be offered to ACME exhibitors and attendees.

Show sponsors concurred that the Reno/Lake Tahoe area provides a unique and exciting setting for what promises to be a blockbuster show for the industry. An exhibitor brochure listing complete show details, together with a floor plan and space application is being mailed the week of October 23rd.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting ACME '88 Show Management, William T. Glasgow, Inc., 16066 South Park Avenue, South Holland, IL 60473 or phoning (312) 333-9292. (Fax: 312-333-4086; Telex: (ITT) 4943831 BG UI).

Pinball Expo Scores Again!

By Steve Epstein

Thank you Rob Berk for Pinball Expo '87. It truly amazes me to see what the love of a silver ball can produce. The efforts of Mr. Berk and his staff created an exciting and informative weekend.

Pinball Expo '87 was held October 9-11 at the O'Hare/Kennedy Holiday Inn in Rosemont, Illinois, which is a suburb of Chicago.

This year's Expo featured contributions from all the pinball manufacturers. Data East donated their new game "Laser War" as first prize in the "Flip Out '87" pinball tournament. Other prizes for the various raffles and door prizes were supplied by Bally Midway, Premier Technology, Williams Electronics, and Game Plan. I was truly gratified to see all the manufacturers working "together" in support of Mr. Berk's efforts.

I went to this year's Expo with a bit of apprehension. After all, I am mainly an operator, not a collector. When I arrived and saw the familiar faces of Steve Kordek, Norm Clark, Gary Stern, Steve Ritchie, Greg Kmiec, Joe Kaminkow, to mention just a few, I thought this must be the AMOA. But everyone here had common interests; the love of pinball, the exchange of information and good fellowship.

The 250 attendees had an opportunity to visit the Data East Pinball factory, attend seminars dealing with "Pinball Coils Now And Then", Solid State Pinball Service, and The Pinballs of The 50's. Other panel discussions included Pinball Art, The Design of a Pinball Machine, and the World of Atari Pinball (games made and not made). A staple of past conventions, namely, discussions with pinball designers and engineers, was also included.

The banquet on Saturday night offered a delicious meal plus a fabulous talk by pinball historian Richard Bueschel. A surprise "roast" of pinball designer Norm Clark added much humor and flavor to the evening.

The exhibit hall contained many interesting attractions for the collectors in attendance. Bally previewed their Dungeons and Dragons pinball machine as well. But the main attraction was the "Flip Out" pinball tournament played on Data East's Laser War. The winner, Dave Hagge, beat seven other finalists on Game Plan's Lochness Monster during Saturday night's banquet. Jon Norris walked away with a five foot trophy for winning the Manufacturer's Tournament.

I congratulate Mr. Berk once again for his efforts and hope to see an even larger turnout at next year's Expo.

Konami's 'Blades of Steel'

The most exciting elements of a hockey game are a good mix of hockey play and altercations among the hockey players. After all, what's a hockey game without player fights -- and it is this combination of action that Konami has incorporated into "Blades of Steel", the factory's latest 2-player, interactive, dedicated upright video game.

As the game starts, each player enters the initials for his or her team's name. The action then begins at the face off and players control the characters on the team in the solid outline. Everything that can be done in real live hockey can be done in Blades of Steel. You skate around the ice, constantly trying to gain control of the puck and by checking or punching opponents you can steal the puck, pass it to a team member for an assist or shoot for a goal yourself. Throughout the game, an announcer describes all of the action.

When tempers flare up, the punches fly. In Blades of Steel, one-on-one blows lead to a close-up fight. Amidst the cheers of the crowd, players insult each other, throw their gloves down and start swinging. The only penalty occurs if you lose the fight, at which time the loser is ejected from the game for thirty seconds, putting the game into Power Play. The winner gains control of the puck.

A full game consists of three twenty-minute periods. After each period, one bonus stage is given, either Slap Shot stage or Block Shot stage (alternately). In Slap Shot, the player blocks oncoming shots from the opponent. Extra playing time is awarded depending upon the amount of shots scored or blocked.

To add to the realism of the game, at the end of three periods of play there is a presentation of a trophy to the winning team.

Blades of Steel will be available through factory distributors. Further information may be obtained by contacting Konami, Inc. at 815 Mitchell Drive, Wood Dale, IL 60191.

AMOA National Dart Tourney Gets Underway

CHICAGO - The AMOA National Dart Association announced "Team Dart III", the 1988 tournament which is dedicated to electronic dart players who have valid N.D.A. sanctioned player cards. This annual event is designed to attract all levels of competition and N.D.A. uses their official system for classifying all entries so that players will compete against equal ability level opponents. The 1988 tournament format will include three Open divisions, two Women's divisions and one Mixed Couples division.

Qualifying league play will be in progress at locations throughout the country. To be eligible, players must be sanctioned by AMOA-NDA and must participate in a minimum of six weeks of league competition run by NDA charter member operators. The international Team Championship finals will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 28, 29 and 30, 1988 at the Americana Lake Geneva Resort in Lake Geneva, Wisconsin.

The N.D.A. has provided a number of special accommodations for participating players, ranging from economically priced room rates ($55 - single, double, triple, quad) to various social activities such as the Awards Banquet and the Opening Party.

The 1988 tournament is being sponsored by AMOA, Merit Industries and The Valley Company. The "international" aspect of the competition is the result of the efforts of the two manufacturer sponsors (Valley and Merit) who have promised that as many as six foreign countries (Canada, France, Germany, England, Japan and Norway) will be entering the tournament.

Further information may be obtained by contacting N.D.A. executive director Joseph Conway at 171 North 1st Street, Milwaukee, WI 53212. The phone number is (414) 263-2444.

Exhibitors Sign Up For CES In Vegas

CHICAGO - With the 1988 International Winter Consumer Electronics Show still three months away, nearly 720,000 net square feet of space has already been assigned to more than 1,100 exhibiting companies.

The upcoming Winter CES, to be held Thursday, January 7 through Sunday, January 10 in Las Vegas, is expected to fill the exhibit facilities of the Las Vegas Convention Center and the Las Vegas Hilton, Riviera and Sahara Hotels. Applications for exhibit space have come from every major segment of the $31 billion consumer electronics industry.

Attendance at this 16th Winter Show (and 37th CES overall) is expected to equal or surpass the 105,000-plus figure recorded last January.

The Winter Show, like its Summer counterpart in Chicago each June, is sponsored, produced and managed by the Electronic Industries Association's Consumer Electronics Group (EIA/CEG), the Washington, D.C. based trade group representing the manufacturers of audio and video hardware, blank media, home information equipment, and telephone products for the consumer.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Consumer Electronics Shows at 2001 Eye St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.
