Organized Labor's Insurance Company

WITH few exceptions the lives of men and women who are earning incomes are of direct value to other lives. In any such case life insurance is of value in lessening the financial shock caused by the sudden discontinuance of the income of the bread-winner. This is the fundamental purpose of life insurance. The uses to which life insurance can be put are various, but they all come back to the fact that the life insured has a value for some dependents or some business or some other organization or institution and that the discontinuance of this life causes a financial disturbance which can be overcome in part by life insurance payments.

The Need of Our Masses

The great masses of our people are working for just a little more than is required to purchase the necessities of life. The normal family consists of husband, wife and from one to three or four children. The income of the husband is more often than not the sole support of the family and, when that income ceases, suffering follows. In such a case the need of life insurance is obvious. In extent this need easily outstrips the ability to purchase. Frequently the payment of annual premiums for anything like the amount of insurance needed by the wage-earners, their families and dependents are out of question. Quarterly or even monthly premiums are thus splendidly designed to meet the wage-earner's requirements.

While it is true, of course, that the breadwinner will readily grant the need for life insurance, he finds it rather difficult to meet payment of the premiums made necessary. And yet one will find the same wage-earner providing insurance against automobile accidents, fire and other adversities of life and fail to provide for his family and dependents at death.

Few wage-earners realize how much life insurance they could buy with what they spend on trivial things. Indeed, they fail to understand that the difficulties experienced in meeting the necessary premiums for life insurance are by far less irksome and grievous than difficulties confronted by the widow or dependents when the breadwinner passes on to the Great Beyond. Usually he can meet his obligations with life insurance added much more readily than his widow or dependents would be able to meet their needs in case no life insurance is available.

The most urgent need for life insurance is in the homes of men and women of small incomes—the wage-earners.

Interest for Trade Unions

It is because of this urgent need for protection against death that quite a number of trades unions have for many years paid benefits upon the death of members. In some cases a fixed assessment is collected upon the death of a member and the money collected is paid to the beneficiary. This method is usually not satisfactory for long. A more common method is to set aside in a mortuary fund, a fixed amount from each payment of dues. From this fund is paid a fixed death benefit so long as the fund is sufficient to support such benefit payments.

As a rule, there is no well-calculated relationship between the amount set aside and the death benefit paid. Frequently this results in unpleasant substantial increases in the necessary deductions for this fund or in extra assessments of members. In other cases, the amount set aside is excessive and a substantial fund is accumulated only to serve as a source of discussion and contention as to how it may be used for some purpose other than that for which it was devised. Other unions have continued for a number of years with a fixed assessment only to find that on account of the increase in age of members a larger assessment is necessary and this is always unpleasant to the members who have paid dues for many years and have reached advanced age.

Today we can find trade unions in every stage of development so far as the mortuary benefit arrangements are concerned. The remarkable fact is that after all of these years of experience, new trade unions are starting out optimistically on the paths which have been tried with fatal results by hundreds of other trade unions and assessment organizations. This merely means that those involved know nothing of the results of the earlier efforts and have full confidence in their ability to handle their own affairs.

Safety to the Individual

In contracting for life insurance a person pays cash for a promise on the part of the life insurance company to pay a specified amount usually at the time of death of the insured. The promise is thus to be fulfilled at that time above all others when one party to the contract is unable to protect his interests by having the contract fulfilled.

Furthermore, the company selling the contract frequently receives payment for many years before the contract needs to be fulfilled and for this reason has the power to misuse the funds so collected. For these reasons the people in our various states have found it advisable to place all sorts of safeguards and limitations around life insurance companies in order to make it as nearly certain as possible that these promises will be kept.

The one element which an individual desires above all else regarding a promised death benefit is the maximum of assurance that the promise will be carried out without any question whatever. The various safeguards thrown around a life insurance company make this assurance incomparably more valuable from such a company than from a trade union.

Our Company

At the Portland Convention of the American Federation of Labor in 1923, a committee was appointed to examine into the death benefits paid by trade unions with the thoughts of suggesting some improved method of furnishing such benefits. Two years later as a direct result of recommendations of this committee, the Union Labor Life Insurance Company was incorporated, thus showing the conviction of the American Federation of Labor that a legal reserve life insurance company was the proper instrument for the improvement sought.

Within a little more than a year after the incorporation, trade union organizations and individual trade unionists showed their faith in this enterprise by backing it to the extent of $750,000, half capital stock and half surplus, all of which was collected without the payment of a cent in commissions, regardless of the fact that the by-laws make perfectly clear that no shareholder can ever obtain more than 6 per cent. annually on his investment. Nothing could illustrate more clearly the faith of the labor movement in its power and determination to have it own life insurance company and have it on a basis so sound as to be beyond all possible reproach.

That the Union Labor Life Insurance Company is a trade union enterprise is clearly demonstrated by the fact that over sixty National and International Unions, including the American Federation of Musicians, seven State Federations of Labor and thirty-four City Central Labor Bodies are shareholders.

In addition more than three hundred local trade unions, including quite a number of local unions of musicians, hold stock in our company and many individual trade unionists have purchased the maximum amount which the by-laws permitted an individual to hold at the time the stock was sold. None of these purchasers bought this stock with the notion of larger profits. It was clearly understood that they could get only ordinary interest on their money.

From the beginning it was planned and stated that all insurance policies should be participating and that surplus earnings of the company belonged to the policyholders. These striking facts should be most convincing evidence that the company was organized for service and not for profit. It was incorporated as a stock company in order to obtain operating funds and in order to arrange that the control of the company should always be kept in the hands of the National and International Unions and to avoid any possibility of a few men or a few unions gaining control of the enterprise. But the sole purpose of the company was to serve the labor movement by furnishing life insurance in the safest manner known and to furnish this service at the lowest possible cost.

The Special Appeal of the Union Labor Life Insurance Company

What classes of people are particularly interested in the Union Labor Life Insurance Company?

First of all the rank and file of trade unionists. These men and women are doing the world's work in factory, shop, office, school, along the waterfront, on board ship and on our farms. They appreciate now as never before the value of insurance and they are today in a better position to purchase life insurance than ever before. Many of them are underinsured because it has been only in recent years that they have been able to purchase substantial amounts of insurance and because they have only recently appreciated the need of this insurance.

Our company appeals to men in all walks of life who have at some time or other in the past been actively connected with labor organizations and whose sympathies are distinctly favorable to strengthening the labor movement. We find these men in every profession and in every business and many of them are in public positions either national, state or city.

How Can Our Company Serve the Labor Movement?

First of all by furnishing life insurance to trade unionists. By increasing the amount of life insurance in force among trade unionists we improve the conditions of life where improvement is needed most and that is among the dependents of those unfortunates who meet with untimely death. A great deal of indigent poverty has been caused by accident or death which has destroyed the income of the breadwinner. This loss is what life insurance has been devised to lessen. Results on a large scale are not immediate, but over a period of years they are certain.

Second only to the relief of the individual beneficiaries our company will serve the labor movement by building up a financial institution which will mean power to organized labor in many ways. Some years must elapse before our reserve and surplus funds will have reached a point where they will command attention as such and it is difficult to foretell what importance may be attached to them. However, we can say with certainty that these funds will be at all times under the control of the leaders of the labor movement and that they will be invested from the standpoint first of safety and second of encouraging those enterprises which are favorable to organized labor. Each of us can visualize many ways in which our company can be useful to labor as a money power, but none of us can state in detail how this power will be applied. Regardless of all else, however, we must agree that in the use of this power the safety of the funds must be kept in mind at all times.

A Personal Word to the Musicians

The American Federation of Musicians has played a very constructive role in the birth and development of The Union Labor Life Insurance Company. Your International Union and many of your local unions are large stockholders in the company, all of whom have rendered invaluable assistance in the formulation of our program and the policies to be furthered. Acknowledgment is herewith made of the invaluable help of President, Joseph N. Weber, who is also a member of the Board of Directors of our company.

In addition many of the local unions of the American Federation of Musicians throughout the continent of North America have taken advantage of our liberal, helpful and most beneficial trade union group insurance policy by insuring their entire membership with our company. I have yet to hear of a single complaint from any of your local unions covered under this form of insurance either with regard to the payment of claims, insurance service, or our methods of conducting our business. On the other hand, we have received many letters of commendation from officers of your local unions, and many letters of appreciation and thanks from dependents of your members, who have been called to another world and who have left no other protection for their beloved ones, except the insurance provided through our company through their local unions.

I am taking this opportunity of urging the general membership of the American Federation of Musicians to continue in their very helpful co-operation, both by interesting those locals which have not as yet provided group insurance in so doing by requesting all members, including their families and friends, to favor and patronize the Union Labor Life Insurance Company in the purchase of individual life insurance. May I also suggest that opportunities are offered in the agency department of The Union Labor Life Insurance Company for men either on a part-time basis or on a full-time arrangement for the soliciting of life insurance. In this work preference is given to members of your organization.

We will be only too glad to furnish all information desired, either in regard to our insurance service or with regard to our agency work.

I wish your members and friends to feel free to call on us at all times, or to write me at the Home Office of our company, Machinists Building, Washington, D. C. Our sole purpose is to be of any service, and to give whatever information may be helpful to all interested in promoting The Union Labor Life Insurance Company, and in extending its service to cover all members of the Trade Union Movement, their families and friends.

A NEW SNARE DRUM That Challenges Comparison

THIS new "Broadway" model is Leedy's latest triumph in drum manufacture. Drummers of nation-wide fame proclaim it superior to all others, for both standard and modern music.

New Life and Brilliance

Completely new in design and construction, the "Broadway" brings you those tone and performance characteristics which you have always wished for, yet never completely attained. The tone is the most brilliant we have ever achieved. Full of fire and life throughout the whole range from gentle tap to smashing accent. New vibrant responsiveness improves your performance instantly. Enables any drummer to play a better job with greater ease.

The Test that Tells

Visit your nearest dealer. He will gladly arrange for a test of this remarkable new drum. You may play it in your own band or orchestra, under actual working conditions. Then you will be convinced that the Leedy "Broadway" is the most perfect snare drum yet built. Write us for free literature and complete information. No obligation.

CONDITIONS IN LOS ANGELES

President Weber Again Warns Members Not to Go There With the Expectation of Finding Employment.

To All Members of the American Federation of Musicians:

The INTERNATIONAL MUSICIAN some months ago contained a notice regarding conditions in Los Angeles. In same, members were warned not to go to Los Angeles with the expectation of finding employment in the canned music factories.

It was pointed out to them that only approximately 250 musicians were employed there, and that said employment was irregular. So as to discourage members from going to Los Angeles with the expectation of finding work in these factories, it was pointed out that the Los Angeles Local received authority to prevent transfer members working in them.

This was done to prevent members from going to Los Angeles with the expectation of finding work in the canned music factories which was not there and then finding themselves stranded and in misery. It was not done for the purpose of giving the Los Angeles Local more privilege than any other Local, but to protect members against disappointment and, possibly, need. However, the influx of musicians to Los Angeles continued. Members to the number of 180 or more transferred from one single Local. The entire number of transfer members reached over 800 within a few months. None of them found work in the studios. Many members became dependent upon assistance from the Local. Some who had been in the jurisdiction for six months and had become full members had their initiation fee returned to them as they found themselves in distress, and the end is not yet.

Again, only for the sole purpose of protecting members against the erroneous opinion that they may find employment in the canned music factories, all members, transfer or otherwise, are notified that members to be employed in same must have the consent of Local No. 47 so to do. The amount of men employed in these studios is now 125, or thereabouts. Canned music has evidently lost interest for the theatre-going public, as very little is now manufactured in Hollywood. It is sincerely hoped that members will heed the warning not to go to Los Angeles. The purpose of this order, as before stated, is merely to prevent hundreds of them from finding themselves stranded in that city.

Many members who spent their last penny to go to California and are unsuccessful in finding employment there find themselves stranded thousands of miles from the place from which they came. This creates an unfortunate situation for them, as it takes a small fortune to return East or to Mid-Eastern States from California. In your own interest keep away from Los Angeles.

Fraternally yours,
JOS. N. WEBER.

President.

What do You Expect from Your Trombone?

PAUL WHITEMAN MODEL TROMBONE

BIG tone of tremendous breadth; and from the same instrument tones of delicate, airy beauty? A true trombone tone in every register? You will find it in Holtons.

Effortless response that expands without overblowing, a tone rich and resonant without mute, and extremely bright with mute? You will find it in all Holton Trombones.

Perfect balance, no matter in what position you play, and slide action so smooth and light that it will give exact synchronization of attack and execution? It is in Holtons.

In every position perfectly dependable; High Ab in the third position and High G in the fourth being sure and true on the instrument? The Holtons have it.

It is the consensus of opinion of leading Trombone artists that Holton Trombones have well-nigh reached perfection, that on them you can realize all of the possibilities of the ideal Trombone. It will give us pleasure to lend you a Revelation Model, American Model or Paul Whiteman Model Trombone so that you may satisfy yourself as to the accuracy of our assertion.

TEN DAYS' FREE LOAN

Here is the chance to make us prove our statements. We'll lend you any of these three Trombones in any desired finish for ten days. If you decide to keep it, we'll make a liberal allowance for your old instrument and arrange easy payments on the balance. Send for FREE LOAN Application today.

"MASTER METAL MOUTHPIECES" FOR SAXOPHONES

Why the Master? We call them the "MASTER MOUTHPIECES" because: With them and through them a player can do everything better than with any other mouthpiece on the market. They are made of one piece and being seamless provide a solid foundation for the vibrations to radiate from. They are absolutely sanitary. The teeth rest on a hard rubber inlay exclusive in our mouthpieces, eliminating the germ carrying glued-on soft rubber patch. A new style, single screw ligature assures an even pressure acting directly on the reed.

Table with 2 columns: Instrument type and Price. Rows include Soprano C Melody, Alto Tenor, Baritone.

FACINGS: No. 2—Close French Lay, No. 3—Medium Tip, Medium Length, No. 4—Open Tip, Medium Length, No. 5—Very Open Tip.

ALL "MASTER" Mouthpieces are Burnished Gold and equipped with Ligature, Reed and Cap.

WHY ENVY A HOT PLAYER? BE ONE

You can easily learn to play "hot" with "HOT MELODY SECRETS." New 2nd edition just published, enlarged to 15 professional secrets (formerly "7 HOT MELODY SECRETS") at no increase in price.

Shortest and most practical improvising book on the market today. Successfully taught for ten years. All instruments except piano.

Teaches how to: improvise on sight; improvise in any key; and play hot on melody without use of harmony. Continuous hot style throughout the chorus. All tricks printed with notes.

33—Specially Priced—33

What users say:

J. A. Birkert, Chicago, Ill.—"If you can't play hot after learning these secrets you never will."

Campbell-Connelly Music Company, London, England—"Far ahead of anything in its line. Have sold others, but this is the best."

(We do hottest arranging of all kinds at lowest prices. Write for prices.)

Clarinetists AND Saxophonists!

Steel Ebonite

mean on your mouthpiece?

NOTHING but that the rubber of your mouthpiece is good hard rubber

But Do Not Be Deceived

If at the very beginning, and for the ensuing seven years, all Steel Ebonite MOUTHPIECES had not been refaced by the PATENT PROCESS, nobody would ever have paid any attention to mouthpieces made of Steel Ebonite.

The Patent Facing ALONE has made steel ebonite popular

When ordering mouthpieces, be sure to ask for the scientifically written guarantee of a perfect facing—Patent Process No. 1452953—appearing on the side of the mouthpiece.

Steel Ebonite is only a trade mark for RUBBER and does not mean anything else.

As the Worker Sees His World

Summary and Digest of Important Events Here and Abroad.

Six workers were killed and ten injured when a big "pusher" locomotive exploded September 9 in the Reading Railroad yards in Philadelphia.

A 5 per cent salary increase for bill posters, musicians, motion picture operators and stage hands took effect September 1 in all New Orleans theatres making use of union labor.

Eight hundred men employed in the Boston & Maine Railroad shops at Billerica, Mass., who have been idle for some time, have been re-employed, increasing repair work and other needs having made a full force essential.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced recently that its legal committee was drafting a bill to make lynching a federal offense and would seek to have it introduced in the next Congress.

City employes of New Britain, Conn., will be taxed 2 per cent of their salaries for the next three months to provide a Christmas fund for needy families, it was announced after a meeting of city department heads. It is estimated about $9,000 will be collected.

In a letter to Senator Robert F. Wagner, Governor Roosevelt of New York on September 10 declared for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, asserting that it has not only failed to further "the cause of greater temperance," but has fostered grave evils.

Unemployment will continue to increase, rather than decrease, as the years go on unless "the country courageously faces the situation and an economic readjustment and labor reform are brought about," Representative F. H. La Guardia told his constituents at a meeting in New York City.

"Canned" Music Harms Nation

ORGANIZED musicians' challenge to "canned" music is more than a fight for jobs. It affects the cultural life of the nation and should be supported by every one who appreciates spiritual values.

The few corporations that dictate the people's amusements would destroy living music in the theatres.

Refinement and elegance that distinguish melodies imbued with the spirit of life would be substituted for the groaning of a sound box called "music."

Dividend-seekers who control amusement corporations are not interested in spiritual values, but citizens who are alert to these life essentials should not ignore their obligation.

It may be said that theatre owners have the right to say whom they shall employ. This is true. But it is also true that the public have the right to say they will not be parties to the mechanization of one of the world's most ancient arts, nor will they permit the passing of a skill that is vital to the cultural life of our nation.

If the public takes this position the dividend-seekers will quickly realize that their patrons, as well as they, have legal—and moral—rights.

Practice, Not Pretense, Counts

SLY wage reductions by employers who profess faith in high wages is the same policy these employers apply in opposing trade unionism.

These employers rarely openly attack organized labor. The exception is in areas that are dominated by mill barons and coal-owning feudalists.

Would-be oligarchs are more cautious in other sections of the country. They do not frankly challenge organized labor because of a public sentiment that trade unionists have developed.

These anti-unionists either attempt to drug the workers or let an injunction judge smash trade unionism under the plea of "protecting property."

The anti-unionists profess to favor organization of workers—provided, of course, the union "is run right." This stamps the oligarch as a "progressive" among non-thinkers and secret foes of organized labor.

But more important, it paves the way for the company "union" and welfare schemes that are intended to weaken the militancy and deaden the spirit of trade unionists.

This crafty scheme, together with government by injunction, is now the general rule among anti-union employers who have abandoned such crude methods as the militia to bayonet strikers.

Preaching high wages and at the same time reducing wages is the latest "red herring" system of these employers.

They loudly proclaim their faith in high wages. They thunder from the house tops the value of a high purchasing power.

They are interviewed and photographed by the public press while they apply their creeping wage reductions and gradual layoffs that intensify unemployment.

Trade unionists and sympathizers should not be tricked by wordy abstractions.

Practice, not pretense, counts.

Depression Cause Is Not Mystical

THE present industrial depression can not be explained or excused by false reasoning.

This makes it unique in the Nation's history.

Its cause is lack of purchasing power. Theorists may quibble over the distinction between overproduction and underconsumption, but no practical person denies that wage workers have not the money to buy.

Men are discarding all reasons for the depression save one—that if commodities can't be bought, the industrial machine can not be operated and unemployment results.

It seems unnecessary to state this self-evident fact. It is no longer possible to detract public thought. This, however, has been done, but the time has passed when workers are interested in red herrings that lead into blind alleys.

Organized labor's high wage and shorter hour principles were never so generally accepted. If the Nation would end depression these must be applied.

The application of these principles will turn unemployed into producers and non-spenders into buyers and consumers.

Well wishes and hope will not establish these principles. There must be a will-to-do behind kindly sentiment.

The low-wage, long-hour employer, nor the corporation manager who seeks immediate dividends, will not act out of the goodness of their hearts. They must be forced to change by the power or organized labor and the resistless public opinion it develops.

Citizens in other groups appreciate the social danger of mechanization policies and stabilization systems that enlarge the unemployed army and lower wages for those who are retained. This system will eventually harm the very men who temporarily profit.

They lose a potential customer every time a worker is displaced.

Commissions may study, probe, investigate and report, but they must come back to the trade union position.

Organized labor believes there is no other way out. We will "muddle through" this depression, but the forces that created it will be operating to create another.

If this system would be changed, old wage and hour standards must be rejected. We must renew the struggle with an idealism and courage that has made other victories possible.

Labor Queries - - -

Questions and Answers on Labor: What It Has Done; Where It Stands on Problems of the Day; Its Aim and Program; Who's Who in the Ranks of the Organized Toilers, etc., etc.

Q.—What are the employment standards urged by the United States Women's Bureau for women wage earners?

A.—They include the eight-hour day, Saturday half holiday, rest periods, clean, well aired, well lighted workrooms, guarded machinery and other safety precautions, adequate and sanitary service facilities, wages based on the job and not on sex.

Q.—Where are the headquarters of the United Textile Workers of America and what is the organization's organ?

A.—Headquarters, Bible House, New York, N. Y. Official organ, The Textile Worker.

Q.—Where did airship pilots recently strike?

A.—At Amsterdam, Holland. The strike tied up all air service of the Royal Dutch Air Line. The pilots demanded higher wages and better conditions.

Q.—When was the earliest factory legislation passed in Great Britain?

A.—In the year 1802.

Q.—What was the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations?

A.—A body created by act of Congress in August, 1912, to inquire into existing industrial conditions and relations and the causes of industrial unrest in the United States.

Q.—What labor organization constitution states that the "struggle between the capitalist and the laborer" "will work disastrous results to the toiling millions if they are not combined for mutual protection and benefit"?

A.—This is from the preamble to the constitution of the American Federation of Labor.

Q.—What is "smooting"?

A.—In British labor slang, this is the practice on the part of an individual laborer of working for a second employer after putting in a full day's work at his regular trade. It is also known as "foxing" and "grassing." The practice is forbidden by the trade unions.

Out Beyond the Surf--

Where thought, unhampered by necessity or trepidation, sometimes penetrates to truth. Here, where the shallows throw no spray, let us ponder and enjoy the lessons of the art and the work and play of life.

An interesting situation has arisen in England, where Ramsay MacDonald hears the government. Mr. MacDonald came into power as the leader of the Independent Labor Party, which is a socialist party and commonly called the socialist wing of the Labor Party.

Now the Independent Labor Party is severely criticizing Prime Minister MacDonald because of what he has not done.

It was quite clear at the outset that Mr. MacDonald, as prime minister, could not right all of the wrongs that he was able to see as leader of the opposition.

If Mr. MacDonald and his Independent Labor Party associates didn't see that, almost everyone else did.

It has been said that the virtue of left wings is that they prod the majority into action. That is only half true and is consequently a dangerous assertion, but its full danger doesn't become apparent until the left wing gets power and develops an entirely new left wing.

Then we find the constitutional and chronic critic who is happy only when in the role of critic.

It is extremely doubtful whether Oppositions have driven as many majorities into action as they have been given credit for doing. On the contrary, a great many majorities have deliberately and with vigor, if not spite, refused to take steps demanded by minorities just because they were demanded, while in the absence of a pestiferous and pin-pricking minority the action would have been taken readily and quickly.

In other words, majorities like to show capricious minorities where they got off at.

The sane, balanced, honestly disagreeing minority has a function and its does accomplish action. But the carping, revolutionary, hell raising, blistering, fuming, doctrinaire minority has been consistently rolled over since the beginning of time.

A view of the American Federation of Labor over a period of fifty years is in point. When, in all that fifty years, has pin-sticking, doctrinaire minority won a battle? Not yet.

On the other hand, minorities that have come with reason, with propositions lying within the philosophical boundaries of the movement, have become majorities just as soon as they could convince enough persons.

Thus, there are minorities and minorities. One kind wins in society as we have it today; the other does not.

The whole situation is deeply immersed in social and economic philosophy.

And, if by some unlucky chance, the doctrinaire minority should overturn all things, that would not change the relation of minorities to majorities. They would have the same kind of minorities and they would probably treat them more roughly.

Why Not Apply Law?

A DAYTON (Ohio) judge refused to enjoin picketing by striking picture operators "as long as the picketing is conducted in a peaceful manner."

Some one might suggest to this judge that if strikers do not use peaceful methods they violate statutory law, for which the State provides trial and punishment.

An equity judge has no jurisdiction where criminal law is broken. He has no right to be a combined lawmaker, judge, jury and executioner from which there is no appeal.

Injunction judges assume this position by the claim that they do not enforce law, but protect "property." This so-called "property" is patronage—an intangible thing formerly considered a personal right inherent in each individual.

By classifying this personal right as "property" workers are thrown into equity courts where free speech free press, guaranteed every other class of citizens, are denied.

That Dayton court should rule that picketing is legal and if unlawful methods are used by strikers they violate criminal law and theatre managers should call on police authorities and not an equity judge.

This system must prevail if government by law is to continue.

The injunction judge is government by conscience, another name for dictatorship that is spreading throughout Europe.

There's only one proper place for a wage-earner and that's in the union of his trade or calling. The union is the only agency through which a worker can find expression in modern industry, the only agency through which he can protect his rights. The non-union man is letting somebody else do his thinking and his talking—and his paying—for him.

OVER FEDERATION FIELD

BY CHAUNCEY A. WEAVER

Labor Day was a memorable event in my young life—as celebrated last month at Kansas City. My long time friend, Brother H. O. Wheeler, bandmaster, composer and teacher, met me at the train and escorted me to my room at the Meulbach Hotel. President A. W. Luyben, Delegate Carl Metz, and Treasurer Frank Lott soon came from their matinee to join the party. When the theatre players returned to work they arranged for Brother Tom Beckham to appear with his automobile and he gave me a wonderful two-hour ride over the boulevards and through the beautiful parks for which the Gate City of the southwest is noted. This all happened on the Sunday before Labor Day. The holiday itself dawned bright and beautiful and maintained its early autumn splendor until long after nightfall. The forenoon witnessed an industrial parade of fifteen thousand men and women—whose cheerful laughter and bursts of song gave no indication of any feelings of depression. The speaking program occurred at Fairmount Park—nine miles from the heart of the city. Upon arriving there a concert was being played by a fine band composed of Local No. 34 musicians, and, thirty-five in number, under the leadership of Ben Kendricks, a concert which according to announcement of the Master of Ceremonies, was "in special honor of Executive Officer Chauncey A. Weaver, of the American Federation of Musicians, the speaker of the afternoon." The Kansas City musicians may rest assured that the honor was deeply appreciated. Having been invited to Kansas City through the intervention of Local No. 34, I was glad to present the cause of the union musician to the vast audience present, and trust that readers of the INTERNATIONAL MUSICIAN will pardon a reproduction of that portion of the address—as possibly containing some suggestive material for workers in the cause in other parts of the field—and which reads as follows:

It has been my high privilege to serve as a delegate in twelve annual conventions of the American Federation of Labor. This honor has come to me through the American Federation of Musicians, of which Local No. 34 of Kansas City has ever been a progressive, aggressive and intelligent factor. And right here I wish to say that union musicians are now passing through one of the most hectic periods they have ever known. Thousands of them are being made the victims of an irrational craze for something new. The theatre musician, for example, is being asked to hang his harp upon the willows while a theatre audience is expected to regale itself and satisfy the cravings of its esthetic nature by listening to the raucous reverberations emanating from the distracted internals of some kind of an alleged musical tin-can.

No machine was ever made, or ever will be made, that can serve as a substitute for the human interpreter of musical art. Canned music is nothing more nor less than counterfeit music; and the American people are never satisfied with counterfeit substitutes for any great length of time.

Let me leave this thought with you members of other crafts: As carpenters, painters, bakers, or whatever your union affiliation, you may make no pretense toward music so far as playing a musical instrument is concerned, but many of you have boys and girls into whose individuality the Divine finger has placed the stamp of musical capability. That capability will never germinate and flower under the influence of canned music. It will bud and blossom only as nurtured at the wellspring of human musical interpretation. Thus our appeal comes to you not for financial assistance, but for your moral co-operation in the furtherance of a great cause—one which involves the cultural atmosphere of your own home.

As musicians we expect to win. Already the light is breaking on the hills. Last year more than two million protests were filed in the office of President Joseph N. Weber in New York against canned music—coupled with a demand for return of the theatre orchestra. That line of protest is still a rising tide.

22 Times "KING" Better Alto Saxophone!

The New-VOLL-TRUE-Model 22 Changes-22 Improvements

complete new Construction

22 Decided Improvements

All these changes were made to give you a better instrument. This Saxophone is different: we have put into it all the good qualities players have asked for.

IMPROVEMENTS BY NUMBER

- No. 1. Specially designed bowl for fullness of tone and ease of playing.
- No. 2. Wide and long top opening allows the reed to vibrate easier. Upper tones very easy to play.
- No. 3. Built to fit mouth naturally. Mouthpiece made of the very best hard rubber obtainable. With this material and these three improvements, it will surprise you how fast and easy you can execute on your saxophone.
- No. 4. Octave socket moved to conform with bowl of mouthpiece which is essential to the quality of tone and ease of playing in the upper register.
- No. 5. The bore and shape of the mouth pipe controls all tones. Small end designed for upper register. No difficulty in playing upper tones. Balance of bore starts with concave and gradually increases to body size at lower end. Result obtained is a full middle register with extra volume in lower.
- No. 6-7-8-9-10. Moved on body to conform with octave socket and mouthpiece.
- No. 11-12. Changed in size and moved on body to conform with bore at small end of the mouth pipe.
- No. 13. Moved on body to harmonize with low B natural.
- No. 14-15. Size changed and moved on body to equalize the five different ways of fingering. The pitch and quality of this tone played with the three different fingers of the right hand, is equal to the left hand fingering.
- No. 16-17. Moved on body to conform with octave socket in mouth pipe for fullness of tone. The quality of this tone is unsurpassable.
- No. 18-19-20-21-22. All are changed in size and moved on body to conform with concave and bore of mouth pipe, obtaining great volume and richness of tone.

We are not inveighing against inventive genius or mechanical production as such. We are simply protesting against the profanation of the Temple of Musical Art and that protest will remain an ever-swelling chorus, prolonged, if necessary, until the Morning Stars shall sing in the dawn and new re-birth of a harmony-loving world.

Kansas City musicians are in good spirits, maintain an unshaken morale in the face of all disquieting conditions, and confidently expect an improvement soon.

Opportunity was afforded for a good visit with Frank Lorenz—for many years one of the best known and most efficient orchestra leaders on the Orpheum circuit—in St. Joe, Des Moines and later in Kansas City. Frank has retired from the leadership field, has purchased twenty acres of land near Independence, Mo., and not far from Kansas City—in the cultivation of which he expects to enjoy life and find the recreation so richly earned. His mantle has fallen upon the shoulders of his son Frank, who is now functioning as a fine theatre musician.

It was a busy time for Secretary Fred T. Joiner and the nearest I got to him was when he passed by playing baritone in one of the parade bands.

It would have been an agreeable privilege to spend two or three days more with the Kansas City boys, but the pressure of home office affairs forbade.

Another Federation member, widely known to many as a frequent member of the Washington delegation to national conventions, Local No. 181, Brother Antonio Celso, passed away at his home in the national capital on August 24, 1930. He had been in poor health for about a year, but was thought to be improving and attended a meeting of the local board of directors on the morning of the day of his demise. He served as vice-president of the Local for nearly twenty years. He was born in Niessia, Italy, on July 17, 1873. He joined the Washington Local in 1892. He was a fine flute player; was one time a member of Liberati's band and later with the United States Marine Band.

Judging from the South American reports the tango is being rapidly displaced by the tangle.

Marriages may be born in heaven, but divorces seem to be able to incubate most anywhere.

Racketeering is one industry which appears to thrive even in periods of depression.

Oregon is to vote on the adoption of a cigarette prohibition law at the November election. If the law is adopted we suppose the next thing will be the bootlegging or highjacking of cigarettes.

It looks as though the band business might be picking up. We are constantly in receipt of requests for copies of the Iowa municipal band law.

Practice makes perfect and yet there are those who will never break any speed limit in reaching the goal of perfection.

Where is the artist who can rival the October touch upon the autumn leaf?

The Cherry Tree

Where with our Little Hatchet we tell the truth about many things, sometimes profoundly, sometimes flippantly, sometimes recklessly

No job today. Nothing doing. And harsher words than that came to the ears of Prince M. Carlisle, a young man who went to New York to get a job, in these piping days of unemployment—and who found out how it goes with millions of others who look and find not. He tells a vivid story in the Churchman. He begins:

"Before I came here, I was a mediocre newspaper reporter in New England—just where doesn't matter. Nearly two months ago I came here with less than twenty dollars in my pockets, and no clothing other than what I wore.

"I knew no one in New York.

"The story of my search for work in my own line is the oft-repeated round of city editors, who frankly told me I had but slim chance of finding a place on a newspaper. Soon, completely broke, I gave up this vain hunt for reportorial work, and sought—still seek—any kind of work that will keep me from starvation.

"The hope inspired by long lines of employment agencies, in Sixth Avenue, soon faded when I learned that fees must be paid in advance, and that frequently men are deliberately sent to positions for which they are obviously unfitted so that the same jobs can be sold and resold.

"Want ad pages carry only openings for highly specialized workers. One chain of theatres, for instance, demands that all ushers and doormen must not only be experienced, but they must be six feet tall, and between 20 and 25 years of age. An employer in any line can demand any specifications he wishes, and be sure of filling them, because the field from which he chooses is so large."

And then he tells how he lived:

"At first, I slept in subways and lived on cigarettes and coffee. But even this expense was too great after the first few weeks.

"The subways gave place to the parks, for the very simple reason that I had not the nickel for fare. The parks, however, are patrolled by police officers grown brutal with long experience with 'bums.' Sleepers on benches are frequently wakened by the whack of a night-stick against the soles of their blistered feet.

"My own experience of this kind had a twofold effect. First, it sent an electric pain through every vein of my hunger-racked body. And, second, it engendered in me a very real hatred for policemen, whose place in my esteem had already been quite low."

And then, pounded around and thrown into a great human company in which desperation had bitten hard, he found out about others:

"I have learned that many are on the verge of criminal careers. No doubt, many others have already embarked upon such careers.

"Not to condone (I sometimes wonder why) but rather to explain, let us think for a moment of the psychology of a jobless youth who turns to crime.

"In the first place, he is a skilled craftsman, capable of earning a very comfortable living. He is young. He is accustomed to such pleasures as a young worker enjoys—dancing, motion pictures, trips to amusement parks, and clean association with young women.

"Thrown out of work, by a cessation of orders in the mill back home, he is lured to New York. For weeks he walks the streets, answers want ads, haunts employment offices, always hearing the same old story—'Nothing open today.'

"At night he is drawn to Broadway. He must walk the streets, for he has no home. And he chooses to walk in the crowds—rather than in back alleys. He sees in Times Square the throbbing mass of pleasure-bent humans—bankers, bootleggers, shopgirls, showgirls, millionaires, clerks—every one seeking pleasure (most of them in vain, incidentally) and every one spending—spending on luxuries—spending in the mad hunt for happiness—spending money that would buy him coffee and a night's 'flop.' His head reels dizzily as he recalls three or four sleepless nights of 'carrying the banner.'

It isn't a very nice picture, but it is what one man found. Armies of others have shared this blind search for a chance to live and be decent. And a great many very nice people have said, "My, my, isn't it too bad?"

News comes from the Division of Land Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. Of course, almost everybody knows it, but that makes no difference; it remains interesting.

This government bureau tells us that our diet is changing and that in the last twenty years a distinct shift has taken place in the types of foods consumed.

What we discover is that the farmer, too, must bend his ways to meet the demands of new machinery and new methods.

As a whole, we may eat a trifle less per capita, but the main change is in the kind of food we eat.

Transportation and development of new fruits and vegetables are the two factors that have made for change in what we eat.

THE ROBOT SINGS OF LOVE

THE ROBOT (singing):

"O, soul of my soul, I love thee---"

BUT the Robot has no soul. And having no soul It cannot love. Small wonder the lady spurns Its suit.

Now, if the Robot cuts a ridiculous figure beneath a lady's balcony, why expect IT to thrill intelligent theatre goers in the character of Canned Music?

Music is an emotional art. By means of it feeling may be translated into all tongues. The Robot, having no capacity for feeling, cannot produce music in a true sense.

But added to these factors something else enters. With machinery doing more and more work, human beings need less energy-producing foods and so we turn from carbo-hydrates to proteins. It is estimated that the per capita consumption of cereals has dropped about 100 pounds.

Transportation has made fresh vegetables and fruits available the year through in those colder sections where once the year's supply was limited to those months during which products matured and that additional short period during which they could be kept in the family cellar, reinforced by the underground root cellar.

Manifestly this change in ways of living, this business of shipping fresh fruits and vegetables to the cold cities from our own and foreign warmer climates changes the necessities of the farmers and the gardeners of all sections.

The change has not stopped. It continues. Each year a new producing section enters the lists to compete with the old. Each year change continues.

There is no longer any resting on tradition, on old ways.

Perhaps, compared with what is going on in the world wheat market, these are small matters. Who knows?

Russia stalks through the world wheat market, playing with white chips, though holding only blue ones in actual wheat. Her white chips lie ahead in potential production, largely made possible by American machinery.

To get to the grass roots of it all, everything is in a shake-up.

Stability has generally gone to pot. Happy, indeed, is the man who knows his job will last him through the winter—in any country except France, which has almost no unemployment.

Pessimism gets no one any place; but ignoring facts is bad business.

Change is in the air and for the moment not all change is good.

The government has told us we are changing our diet, which is true. It also is true that millions are cutting down their diet because they have no work.

In the South pellagra stalks like the specter of famine and plague from ancient Egypt. Perhaps as many as a hundred thousand are its victims. With these poor unfortunates in a land of wealth it will be worse than "the winter of our discontent."

But chalk this down on the credit side of the big book: The people today know more about great affairs, domestic and world, than they ever did before. They learn through the sheer necessity for knowledge. And in the end knowledge will make them free from the idiosyncrasy that makes us go hungry in the midst of too much.

Retribution

A well-known official of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company was rudely aroused from his slumber by the ringing of the telephone. After bruising his knee on a chair, he reached the phone.

"Hello," he growled.

"Are you an official of the telephone company?" asked the voice.

"Yes. What can I do for you?"

"Tell me," said the voice, "how it feels to get out of bed at 2 o'clock to answer a wrong number."—Ex.

Two Trombone Triumphs Combined in ONE

THE CONN "Artist" model and the Conn "Ballroom" model were two great instruments that made trombone history. Now the best features of both of these models have been combined in one. The result is the Conn "Artist-Ballroom" Trombone—a superior instrument that artists acclaim the most perfect yet produced.

Make it a point to see and try the newest Conn Trombone. You'll find it the last word in modern beauty and versatile performance. Answers the present day demand for speed and brilliancy. Light and well balanced in the hand.

Remarkably rich, full tone. Smoothest and most reliable slide action you have ever known. Amazingly even spacing of every step in the scale. With this new trombone you can quickly improve the velocity, technic and quality of your playing.

Your Conn Dealer Is Now Featuring This New "Artist-Ballroom" Model

Conn dealers are now featuring this new model. Everywhere it is meeting with an enthusiastic response. Such artists as Jaroslav Cimerá and Carroll Martin pronounce it a real triumph in trombone design and construction. Furnished with sterling silver bell if desired. Bell back near player for handy "muting." Embodies many refinements and exclusive features such as the slide lock, bell lock and extra long slide carriage. Yet the Artist-Ballroom Trombone costs you no more than other so-called standard makes.

See your Conn dealer now. He has one of these new models waiting for you to try. Play it and you will agree that a new standard of trombone perfection has once more been achieved by Conn.

Mail coupon for free book on any Conn instrument in which you are interested.

COMPOSE

in 1/2 the usual time

NOW, through the very same highly successful home-study method that has taught thousands of musicians to write, arrange and know music infinitely better, you can acquire—in half the usual time—a thorough, working knowledge of these subjects so essential for musical preeminence. And the cost to you averages only a few cents a day.

If you really want to add to your prestige as a musician—if you are interested in making more money from your work, then send for our free illustrated booklet which describes our home-study method in detail and complete particulars of a very unusual trial offer. No obligation, of course. Mail coupon today. U. S. School of Music, HC-9810 Brunswick Bldg., New York City.

Our clear, intelligent, concise instruction was prepared by the distinguished Harmonist C. W. Wilcox who has taught over 50,000 people how to compose and arrange music. Your home is your studio. Absolute privacy. From the very start you are learning chord construction, key relationships, modulations, how to feel and express music, how to organize and direct any size orchestra or band. By easy stages you progress rapidly to the actual composition of music and its arrangements for the different instruments. Little theory—plenty of accomplishments. No delays between lessons. No wasting time on irrelevant details.

U. S. School of Music,

BAND AND ORCHESTRA LEADERS

— AND —

MUSICIANS INTERESTED IN BECOMING DIRECTORS

Do you thoroughly understand the technic of the baton? Can you direct all forms of time? Do you make the same baton movements at the same places each time you direct a composition? Can you explain to a band or orchestra just how a specific passage should be conducted, and why? IF NOT, THEN YOU SHOULD HAVE A MUSIC CONDUCTOR'S MANUAL, WHICH ILLUSTRATES AND EXPLAINS ALL OF THIS IN DETAIL.

Used by colleges as a text book, indorsed by leading bandmasters and music educators. Price $3.75 postpaid. Write for circular. Address

Shopping instinct

A young matron in whom the shopping instinct was strong, asked a German butcher the price of hamburger steak.

"Twenty-five cents a pound," he replied.

"But," said she, "the price at the corner store is only twelve cents."

"Vell," asked Otto, "Vy you don't buy it down there?"

"They haven't any," she replied.

"Ya, ya," said the butcher, "Ven I don't have it I sell it for ten cents only."—Ex.

Willing to Wait

On the eve of their execution, an Irishman, a Scotchman and a Jew were asked if they would like any special delicacy. The Irishman voted for Irish stew, the Scotchman for a bottle of whisky, and the Jew fancied strawberries and cream. "But," protested the warden, "strawberries are not in season."

"Vell," replied the Jew, "I can wait."—Ex.

IF YOU WANT
POWER and RICHNESS
of TONE
Play this VEGA Guitar

THIS beautiful Cremona Model is particularly designed for orchestra and broadcasting use, and you'll find that it has the punch and power of tone which every artist needs to help "put him over." The unusual volume and richness of this guitar's voice is made possible by the special construction features which have been adapted from the same basic principles of the world's most famous violins. Here is the real Stradivarius of all Guitars—built by Vega master craftsmen from woods that have been carefully seasoned for more than twenty years. It will stand up under the most vigorous plectrum playing and is a Guitar that will keep any artist in the spotlight with its majestic tone and distinctive appearance.
