EDITOR'S COMMENTS

Times haven't really changed — at least regarding interest in radio meets among collectors. In fact, we are devoting this issue to reports on four meets across the country because they continue to generate excitement about our hobby and to tell us much about its current state.

Over 650 attended the annual Antique Wireless Association Conference, and auction results were over $37,000. Given the dire weather report, these numbers are not to be sneezed at. They indicate that no matter what effects the weather or eBay may have, people still want to get out there and communicate on a one-on-one basis.

A well-planned meet is a most satisfying affair, and all four of the meets covered this month fit into that category. For example, the Antique Radio Club of Illinois' Radiofest seems to find new ways to improve every year. Preregistration packets and monitored parking spaces made registration much easier than in previous years. Aided by the luck of glorious weather, and with a good contest and presentations, as well as an auction totalling almost $7,000, Radiofest deserves kudos all 'round.

And though, as with AWA, the weather was not cooperative, the Mid-Atlantic Radio Club's RadioActivity did as well as possible, and its two auctions totalled almost $20,000. This club is noted for its good programs, interesting seminars, and member-friendly policy on auction commissions — a $25 maximum regardless of sale price. The result is good attendance year after year.

The Military Radio Collectors Group (MRCG) meet in California occupies a unique place among meets. Though a swap meet and presentations are part of this 2-day event, the focus is on hands-on activities. Participants set up their vintage equipment and communicate directly with each other. This club takes interaction of attendees to a different level and it's always a pleasure to read about their success.

A.R.C Benefits. With holidays closer than you may want to realize, it's time for you to take advantage of A.R.C. benefits and order a subscription and/or books for a fellow collector on your list. Here they are: a toll-free number, (866) 371-0512; Discover, Visa, American Express, and MasterCard accepted; books shipped free in the U. S. by book rate; and for current subscribers, a ten percent discount on all book orders.

Coming Radio Events. Thirty meets and six swap meets are among this month's activities. Included in the three auctions is the VRPS Convention celebrating the 30th anniversary of the club.

Happy collecting!

John V. Terrey, Editor

OOPS!

Thanks to subscriber Robert Diegoli, we have learned about an error in identifying the Air King in the Sotheby's Auction and on the cover of the September issue. Sotheby's identified the set as a Model 52; however, it is a Model 66, from 1935, with globes pictured on the front, unlike the Model 52 with Egyptian figures.

ON THE COVER

MEET & AUCTION REPORT

Antique Wireless Association Conference and Auction Report Rochester, New York — August 17-21, 2004

CONTRIBUTED BY LARRY BABCOCK, RAY CHASE, JOHN TERREY AND THE AWA

The 43rd annual Antique Wireless Association (AWA) conference took place at the Rochester Institute of Technology (RIT) Inn, formerly the Thruway Marriott, in Rochester, New York, August 17-21, 2004. As always with any major meet, success relies a lot upon the weather, and anxious scrutiny of weather reports precedes the event. This year the ominous forecast of rain every day of the meet proved to be pretty much on the mark. However, though the heavens opened mid-morning Wednesday, the rest of the day cleared and gave folks a chance to uncover their wares for a dry remainder of the day.

On my traditional noon walk-around that day, I counted 123

This set drew a great deal of interest in the auction. Its tag indicated that it was built as a prototype for Federal in 1921 by C.D. Barnes Co., of Grand Rapids, Michigan. It sold for $1,500.

At his flea market table, Jim Moneghan from Lincoln, Rhode Island, had the following items for sale: left to right, top to bottom: a Magnavox AC-3 3-tube amplifier for $675, a Grebe CR-14 receiver for $895, an Aeriola Jr. crystal set for $425, an Airway F receiver for $1,250, a Western Coil WC-11 receiver for $495, a Federal 59 receiver for $985, and a Sparton 558 blue mirror receiver for $2,600. In front is a small Crosley 1-tube Pup.

vendors open for business, certainly a declining number, though the weather forecast has to be factored in. Past numbers ranged from the record high of 225 in 1997 to 190 in 2000, 189 in 2001, 196 in 2002, and 157 in 2003. According to the Antique Wireless Association, the number of flea market spaces sold was 215, while registered attendees con-

Robert Uiterwyk, of Mountain Top, Penn., was selling vintage computers in the flea market: a Sol is on the left and an SWTP 6800 is on the right.

A happy flea market seller displays a wide range of radios, from battery and AC sets to novelties.

Bob Paquette, who received the Houck award for documentation on the microphone, shows three of his treasures. The microphone on the left is an RCA high sensitivity ribbon model from the 1940s. The microphone in the center is an RCA PB-17 Photophone boom-mounted, ribbon microphone used in the movies. The microphone hangs below the preamplifier that is housed in a cylindrical case. On the stand is a Western Electric 10A condenser microphone.

Recently unearthed from the basement of Radio Station WFLR in Dundee, New York, is this RCA BC5B mixing console. The station began broadcasting in 1956 at 1570 on the AM dial; WFLR-FM was added in 1969. This board was on line and in use through the mid-1980s. James Schreck entered this and other items from this early radio station in the Old Equipment Contest.

tinued a downward trend — 667, compared to 730 in 2003, 825 in 2002, 854 in 2001, and 981 in 2000.

The weather made the rest of the week frustrating for vendors struggling to protect their gear from the elements. However, in spite of the vagaries of nature and the decline in participation, AWA still runs a quality meet. It can be relied on to excel in many ways, particularly in the breadth of its coverage of the conference theme. This year's theme, "Broadcasting," brought Mike Adams from the West Coast to give a presentation on "Charles Harrold, Pioneer Radio Broadcaster." The Old Equipment Contest included 13 broadcasting-related categories and resulted in many outstanding items on display, from transmitters to recording equipment and various kinds of receivers.

Of particular note were the microphones from the collections of Bob Paquette on display in the contest room and Ekkehart Willms on display in the flea market.

Bob, incidentally, was also selling his impressive 2-inch thick book, The History and Evolution of Microphones. Given Bob's extensive knowledge of the field, it's not surprising that his display of very early, rare microphones received a top Hauck award for documentation.

AWA is also noted for the variety in talks and presentations, the auctions, and the banquet, which this year featured a very entertaining jazz band rather than something directly related to the theme. The ladies too had their annual special luncheon, with the additional attraction of a talk on quilting by Fran Holly. Then, there is also the opportunity to visit the AWA Museum with its important collection of the early wireless years. As I've said many times before, if you can go to only one big meet, this is the one.

Foreign collectors seem to continue to agree. Perhaps more than any other meet, AWA attracts people from abroad. This year five European countries were represented, in addition to Japan and Canada.

Worth mentioning is the fact that the hotel is now an acceptable venue, though much of it is still student housing during the school year. Nevertheless, no students are present during the days of this conference. Among the standard hotel amenities is the bar which is open and makes a very nice place to congregate. In addition, the restaurant offers very good food, cafeteria-style, at student rates — a welcome perk, to say the least.

On display in the Old Equipment Contest room were three microphones from Bob Paquette's collection. The microphone with the NBC lettering is an RCA 3-A condenser microphone. The 3-tube amplifier inside is shown in the right photo. The microphone in the center is a Western Electric double-button carbon in a 1-A housing. On the right is a Western Electric 370W microphone on a D-80513 preamplifier case.

Ekkehart Willms displayed his microphones in the flea market. On the left is a Westinghouse "Tomato Can" PR-184. The array of microphones on the right were for sale. The "box" microphone is an RCA 4AA condenser microphone with amplifier. The station letter flags were reproductions.

Of course, as with any organization, there is always room for improvement. At the members' (Continued on following page)

Merrill Bancroft had this blue-ribbon winner TECLA 50D detector and 50A amplifier, ca. 1923, in the Old Equipment Contest.

The Emerson "Library" set, ca. 1939, consists of a conventional 5-tube AC/DC chassis in a simulated leather cabinet representing several book spines. Jayne Kaiser displayed the set in the old equipment contest as shown on the right on a contemporary cabinet of similar style.

Gary Alley and Merrill Bancroft both entered King Amplitone horns in the Old Equipment Contest. Ordinary headphones were the audio drivers.

Bob Slagle entered this Colby Telegraph School tuner and detector in the Old Equipment Contest. The knob on the end of the left unit is moved in and out to change the inductive coupling.

meeting, some very creative suggestions were made about how to address the issues of declining attendance and of finding ways to encourage new people to take up the hobby. As we all know, newcomers can be enthusiastic collectors who turn out to be good customers for the more basic equipment. Eventually, they may also become sophisticated collectors of high-end items. Recognizing that the preservation of radio history is at stake, AWA seems to be making strides toward encouraging newcomers to join in the avocation that means so much to us "old-timers."

THE AUCTION

The auction was down about one-third in entries from last year, even though the permissible number of lots of radios had been increased from three to five. It's interesting that even though more lots were allowed, the price per lot increased.

Bruce Roloson, who always conducts a lively auction, sold the tubes on Thursday evening at 8:00 P.M. This year a spherical Audion with an open filament was entered as a possible Wien-garten repro, but the local Audion expert vetted it and declared it to be an original DeForest. He ended up buying it for $630.

The Greece Jazz Band provided lively entertainment at the Friday night banquet.

There were some very interesting foreign tubes entered, and they drew commensurate prices.

Walt Buffinton handled the paper, books and general equipment as usual on Friday starting at 9:00 A.M. Walt dusted off the paper and advertising goods quickly in fifty minutes. Notable items were a hardcover Edison and His Inventions, which sold for $460, and a near perfect At-water Kent original, framed, dealer, reverse-painted, advertising sign that drew $400.

The equipment portion of the auction went smoothly and was completed at 1:30 P.M. after a one-hour lunch break. So, in all, 239 lots were sold in three and one-half hours. Gone are the days when the auction would run to 5:00 P.M. or later, delaying the dinner program. There was no separate Ham/Communications section this year, and only a few Ham radios appeared in the general auction. In addition, the tube portion could have been folded into Friday with no problem.

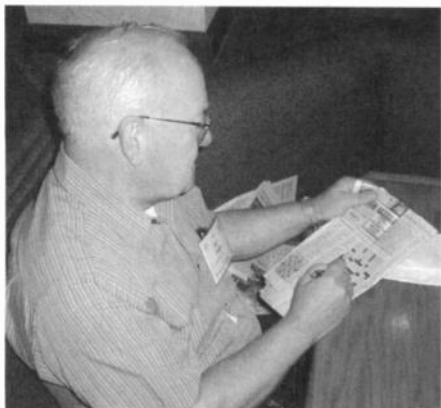

There were some good items in the equipment auction with enough bidders competing so that prices were about where they should be. The prime item was an original Sparton Bluebird with no visible flaws and complete with a round blue mirror disk on which the radio sits. It did not appear to be restored at all and drew a winning bid of $2,600. The auction total was $37,208, compared to a little over

At breakfast on Friday, Ray Chase, our venerable auction reporter, is caught "warming up" for his auction tabulation performance with the newspaper crossword puzzle.

Here is another view of the 1925 Midwest Miraco R-3. It is a 3-tube set, a detector followed by two stages of audio amplification. A coil is mounted on the front panel. This set is rarely seen at auction.

A warning: Auction prices are not current values. Our selection of auction items is not necessarily complete. A listing such as this cannot adequately include the condition of cabinets, chassis, transformers, tubes, the operating status of the set, and the inclusion of incorrect, restored or replica components, etc. Auction prices are the result of the excitement of the auction process, the skill of the auctioneer and the specific interests of the participants. Nevertheless, auction prices serve as useful references and as another element in the value determining process. The possibility of error always exists, and if we are notified, corrections will be reported.

MEET & AUCTION REPORT

Antique Radio Club of Illinois Radiofest XXIII Elgin, Illinois — August 5-7, 2004

CONTRIBUTED BY DANIEL SCHOO

The Antique Radio Club of Illinois' Radiofest XXIII began Thursday, August 5, and continued through Saturday, August 7, at the Elgin Best Western Plaza and Convention Center, 345 River Road in Elgin, Illinois. Registration, which began at 2 P.M. on Thursday, was improved this year by having preregistration packets ready, extra help added, and parking lot spaces closely tracked for availability.

As always, admission to the event for buyers or the general public was free. Most vendors honored the official flea market opening time at 4 P.M. on Thursday, an hour earlier than the previous year.

The weather for all three days could not have been better. It was cool in the mornings with highs in the 70s during the day and clear skies until Saturday when a few non-threatening clouds moved in. Cold drinks, cookies and bags of chips were available for a voluntary donation to the club. The hotel restaurant also offered coffee and fast food meals for a fee.

The number of sellers this year was 146, using 219 registered spaces. This is down slightly from last year when we had 152 sellers using 228 spaces. The number of paid members this year is 377, up significantly from 340 members last year.

The Thursday evening initial sales were busy. No other activities were planned for Thursday other than the open air flea market. On Friday, the flea market was scheduled to begin at dawn. Arriving at about 6:30 that morning, I saw some activity, but things did not begin to get going until well after dawn.

The popular annual "Radio Roundup" opened at 10 A.M. and continued until 5 P.M. This club function encourages the general public to bring in any old radio equipment they have for a free appraisal by knowledgeable club members. Advice is given on what the set is, what it may be worth in the current market, and where the set might be sold if the owner so desired. This year, close to 70 sets were brought in for appraisal.

CONTEST ENTRIES

There were 33 contest entries and 16 display-only entries for a total of 49. This year's theme was crystal radios for which there were several categories. The Dr. Ralph Muchow Best of Show Award went again this year to Tom Burgess, this time for his excellent display of an RPM Model 51 breadboard set and associated documents.

The display-only entries were shown in a separate area. Some of the displays included a 1910 Poulsen magnetic disk recorder and an early microphone display by Ekkehart Wilms, several military crystal sets by Dick Bury, and a pair of Edison dynamo scale models by Tom Burgess.

FRIDAY ACTIVITIES

At 11:30 on Friday morning, about 20 ladies attended the traditional women's luncheon held in the hotel restaurant. This is an informal gathering for the ladies to meet friends and talk about their interests.

Also on Friday, Chuck Schaden, local radio personality and author, opened his presentation with a book signing. Mr. Schaden is a historian centering on the people and personalities of radio's golden era. He hosts "Those Were the Days," a local radio program on College of DuPage station WDCB FM 90.9. The show features the history of radio personalities who were dear to the hearts of millions of listeners.

After the book signing, about 100 people attended his fascinating talk about the people of radio's past and his memories of them as he was growing up. Mr. Schaden played clips from some of the popular radio shows like Captain Midnight and discussed their backgrounds

Later, Dan Clark, W9VV, gave his dial and knob restoration presentation to over thirty attendees. Dan's talk included a set of overhead projector slides of his restoration work. Several people who attended said it was excellent and enjoyed the talk.

The contest awards were presented at a cocktail hour in the hotel's Ivy Room. This year all of the club volunteers, officers and board members were given special awards for their help and contributions to the club. Following that, the annual fish fry buffet supper with cash door prizes was held. A $12 fee covered the all-you-can-eat meal, including drink, tax and tip.

Completing the evening was the Bob Dobush vacuum tube presentation in the Ball Room at 7:30 P.M. Bob had a marvelous display of vacuum tubes, and he discussed the various types as they related to collecting. Over thirty people attended and described it as an excellent event.

SATURDAY ACTIVITIES

On Saturday, the flea market was scheduled to start at dawn and end at 3 P.M. Some sellers left after Friday and a few new ones came in on Saturday. However, by noon, many had packed up, although there was still a bit of activity at 1:30 when I left.

On Saturday at 9:30 A.M., a new event was held — the "Chester the Collector Show and Tell," so named in honor of the late Chester Michalowski, a regular attendee and pillar of the club. Though the attendance was rather small — seven people, including club moderators Jim Novak and Ed Huether — it was an interesting part of the meet. Its purpose was to assemble collectors who would not ordinarily get together to foster discussion of personal experiences in radio collecting and to display unusual radio-related equipment. Bill Reid showed a very rare screw socket A-battery charger intended to recharge battery set wet cells from the (then) domestic DC power from a lamp socket. Others shared collecting stories.

Following the Chester the Collector discussion, Ron Ramirez, "Mr. Philco," presented the history of the Philadelphia Storage Battery Company, later to become Philco. Ron painted a fascinating picture of how Philco began as a small company making storage batteries and then storage battery chargers for early battery radio sets. Under the direction of James M. Skinner, Philco became one of the largest and most influential radio manufacturers in the country.

AUCTIONS

Club president Harry Blesy did the auctioneering, while Art Bilski documented results and Chuck Schwark displayed items up for auction. A total of 79 items were submitted and of these, 41 items were sold. There were 64 bidders with gross sales of $6,920.

Buy-backs were not allowed this year. A "buy back" is where a seller bids on his own sale, essentially "buying it back" in order to prevent an item from being sold at a price lower than the seller desires. A new system was implemented where sellers could either accept or reject a high bid by visual cues to the auctioneer as the auction concluded.

A minimum of $25 was accepted on any item for sale. Any closing bid less than that voided the sale. Thirty-eight items were not sold either because the seller rejected the high bid or the item did not attract sufficient interest to get a qualifying bid. Rather than charge a percentage of the closing bid, the club charged a flat fee of $10 for non-members and $5 for members in advance for each item or lot auctioned. This sped up the after auction close-out.

The final event of the "fest" was the donation auction on Sat-

Special thanks to Tom and Debbie Bossman who contributed a huge number of items, and their crew was a big help in organizing and positioning the items for sale.

Comments on Radiofest XXIII were very positive. We would like to thank club president Harry Blesy for directing a well-run event and a special thanks to all the volunteers, sellers and buyers for their support.

MEET & AUCTION REPORT

Mid-Atlantic Antique Radio Club RadioActivity 2004 Beltsville, Maryland — June 4-6, 2004

REPORTED BY RAY CHASE AND LUDWELL SIBLEY

The Mid-Atlantic Antique Radio Club (MAARC) held its annual RadioActivity meet at the Sheraton College Park Hotel in Beltsville, Maryland, June 4-6, 2004. This meet, always one of the nicest on the east coast, has historically been plagued with inclement weather. In the early part of the week, just before the meet, we watched the weather forecast every day, and lo and behold, the forecast for the weekend was beautiful. At last we thought we'd have good weather.

We arrived early Thursday afternoon, found a good spot in the parking lot and started to set up. We were told by the organizers that there was to be no selling until Friday morning which was fine with us. We hate that mayhem of buyers poking into everything while you're trying to organize things. So, we leisurely set up our tents and tables and repaired to our hotel room in the evening. Upon turning on the TV, we heard those ominous words, "We have a significantly revised weather forecast. Rain is now forecast for the weekend." What a downer!

Anyway, we got up in the morning to clear skies, got our goods out and had an active Friday

A contest display of Zenith cathedrals and tombstone radios.

A listing such as this cannot adequately include the condition of cabinets, chassis, transformers, tubes, the operating status of the set, and the inclusion of incorrect, restored or replica components, etc. Auction prices are the result of the excitement of the auction process, the skill of the auctioneer and the specific interests of the participants. morning of buying and selling. MAARC usually has good programs set up and this year Ludwell Sibley made his annual East Coast trip to MAARC instead of AWA at Rochester. His tube program was scheduled for the afternoon, and since I did not want to miss it, the missus watched the store outside while I went inside.

Wouldn't you know that after Lud's program, the rain started, light at first, so with our tent and side panels we were able to continue for the rest of the afternoon. However, by late afternoon, most outside activity had fizzled out.

The special "Zenith Only" Auction featuring the Trans-Oceanic collection of Gregory W. Pease was scheduled for Friday evening. Having more Zenith Trans-Oceanics and parts in one place would be difficult to imagine. On top of, most were in excellent or better than average condition. Certainly a feeding frenzy for the Trans-Oceanic collector.

The auctioneer was Brian Belanger who kept things moving right along. There was a minimum opening bid of $25, and if this could not be obtained, then the item was held for the Sunday morning auction. There was no buyer's premium, and the club kept a commission of 15 percent. The total realized from this sale was about $12,800.

Saturday was a complete washout, and I spent the early morning hours trying to pack things away as we had to leave by late Saturday afternoon. Some space was provided for a few of us inside, so I brought some select items inside and continued to sell from mid-morning till after lunch. Since we had a captive audience, we did not fare too badly. However we had to pack up wet tents and tent walls in the afternoon and that was most annoying when trying to work between rain showers. Worse yet, I knew that when we got home, it would all have to come out and be set up again so it could be dried out.

The General Auction took place on Sunday. This sale, conducted by Brian Belanger, included about 360 items and totaled just above $7,000. It was hobbled to some degree by 60 unsold entries carrying unrealistic reserve prices. The general quality of the radios auctioned was quite good.

MAARC has a member-friendly policy on auction commissions: the maximum is $25, regardless of sale price. To uphold the quality of entries, a minimum bid of $10 was required on all sales except club donation items.

The listing below omits a few low-valued items having little basic information and incomplete descriptions.

MAARC sets up good program activities, including a very good contest, and interesting seminars and auctions. In addition to Ludwell's tube talk, Zenith expert Dr. Harold Cones, repair clinic expert Ed Lyon, and Regency TR-1 collector Paul Farmer all gave interesting presentations. So it was a shame that the meet was rained out again, especially on Saturday and Sunday when new and potentially new collectors would probably be attending.

Military Radio Collectors Group Annual Meet Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif. — April 30-May 1, 2004

REPORTED BY HANK BROWN

A.R.C. has covered the MRCG's annual meets for several years. In this article, Hank Brown describes the group's hands-on activities and includes photographs and descriptions of military gear from the past. (Editor)

This year the Military Radio Collectors Group (MRCG) returned to Camp San Luis Obispo (SLO) for its ninth annual meet, April 3 to May 1. The two previous meets had been held at Fort MacArthur in San Pedro because of security concerns at SLO after the 9/11 tragedy. The gate at SLO is now guarded, and all persons must show a driver's license, valid registration, and proof of vehicle insurance.

The required documentation was submitted in advance on the camp's Web site to minimize delays at the gate. Though the guards took a good look at all the documents, they did not question or look into any of the vehicles loaded with tons of equipment from World War II to the present. Departing the site was also very easy — we just drove through the gate.

MEET CONDITIONS AND ACTIVITIES

The weather was excellent throughout the meet. Most of the operators noted that the radio noise level was much lower than two years ago. These good conditions allowed for some long distance contacts with the high frequency (HF) sets and larger antennas up in trees.

Friday started off with a busy registration desk and lots of equipment being set up inside the NCO Club. Brooke Clark was the first speaker and presented an excellent overview of the PRC-68 family of radios. These small hand-held units operate in the VHF range.

Bjorn Forsberg followed Brooke with an excellent presentation on his R.1155 receiver

Cal Eustaquio is carefully checking the performance of the U.S. BC-348 aircraft receiver (left) with the UK R.1155 receiver on the right. The BC-348 was installed in many World War II large aircraft, such as the B-17, B-24 and B-25. The R.1155 was the main receiver in the British Lancaster Bomber. Both receivers provide a low frequency band for navigation purposes but the R.1155 also has direction finding (DF) circuits for pointing the direction to a station. The set is unusual in that all original circuits are intact and working. After the war, many radio fans removed the DF circuits from these surplus receivers. Notice the difference in main dials. Bjorn Forsberg owns and operates this set.

er used in the Lancaster 4-engine bomber. The receiver is all original and came from an aircraft museum in England. His radio and a BC-340 are shown in the above photo.

Bill Feldman described his experiences restoring BC-610 transmitters, and he offered solutions for getting these rigs working again. The BC-610 is a large unit used by the Army during World War II in high-powered, truck-mounted, mobile radio stations. The complete station, the SCR-299, used two receivers, a transmitter, antennas, an antenna tuner, a power supply, field telephones, reels of wire, and a stock of spare parts and tools.

The Friday lunch BBQ was served by Wild Bill. Bill is familiar with Camp SLO, having catered to several organizations meeting at the camp over the years.

We usually schedule the Saturday morning swap meet from sunup to about 9 A.M.

A single Type 10 triode is used as a transmitter oscillator with the loop antenna as part of the tank circuit. Power output is about 5 watts. On receive, the loop is the receiving antenna. These loops are reproductions using 1/2-inch aluminum channel.

The receiver uses three 864 (or VT-24) triodes in a regenerative detector and 2-stage audio amplifier configuration. There is no regeneration or gain control. Batteries are in a compartment located below the panel with the key. To transmit, a buddy cranks the generator and experiences quite a difference in load when the key is up or down. All three of these sets have been on the air and reports have been received as far away as 100 miles or more.

Before daylight, the second seller arrived and the meet was up and running. A large assortment of equipment, parts, manuals, tubes and accessories were offered. Many participants were thrilled to obtain the last part or item needed to complete a set on the bench.

Also available for sale was a large CD collection of manuals on military gear and a DVD on how production of the SCR-299 was accomplished during the war. Both items were moving well at reasonable prices.

TRANSMITTER HUNT

The hidden transmitter hunt has always been a fun event, and this year was no exception. The plan was to conduct a hunt on 3,885 Kc with a small transmitter and conduct another hunt on 51 Mc FM with another small unit. However, there were no entries for 3,885 Kc so only the 51 Mc unit was used.

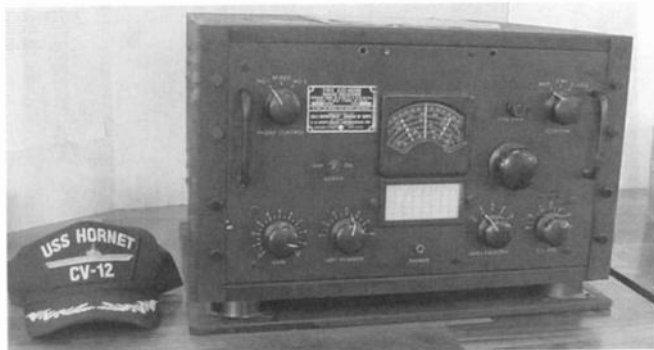

Dick Dillman set up and operated this fine example of an early Army fax machine next to his PRC-1 radio. He gave an interesting sending/receiving demonstration on this set during the meet.

The first two hunts went well with just about everyone finding the elusive hidden signal source. For the third run, we decided to make

Navy RCH or Scott SLR-F

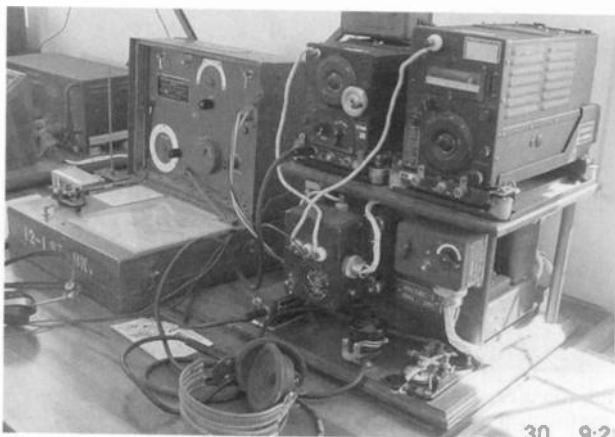

This communications receiver was used on many Navy and Merchant ships from the 1940s to the 1950s. Low frequency tuning is from 85 Kc to 600 Kc and HF tuning from about 2 Mc to 18 Mc. The receiver is very well constructed with shielding around all components and compartments. The complete set in its cabinet and mount weighs over 100 pounds. Sensitivity is very good and rugged heavy construction provides excellent stability. Power input is 110 volts, 60-cycle AC. If a HF doublet-type antenna is employed on the top three bands, a switching circuit connects the antenna to the receiver as a "T" antenna on the two low frequency bands.

AN/PRC-1 Transmitter/Receiver

Dick Dillman set up his PRC-1 "Suitcase" spy transmitter on 80 meters. This one is serial number 139 and tunes from 2 Mc to 12 Mc. The receiver employs five tubes while the transmitter output is close to 40 watts. Post 9/11, I doubt anyone could carry this "Suitcase" around as he or she did during World War II.

AN/ARC-5 Aircraft Set

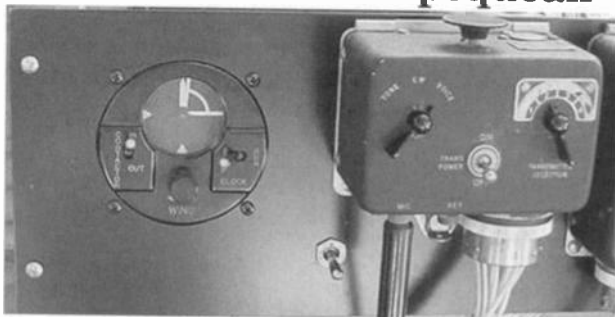

The array of equipment on the right is Hank Brown's single channel ARC-5 set. On the top shelf is the receiver, left, and the transmitter, right. On the lower shelf are the modulator and power supply, an MD-7. At the front of the left lower shelf is a J-22 jack box for phones and key.

Power input is 28 volts DC and transmitter output is about 40 watts. By swapping the receivers and transmitters from the ARC-5 equipment series, operation on 160, 80 and 40 meters is possible. The complete set weighs just over 50 pounds.

To the left of the ARC-5 is a BC-148 set, part of the SCR-131 system. The frequency range of the BC-148 is 3,960 to 4,360 Kc, CW only.

SCR-274-N with Pipsqueak

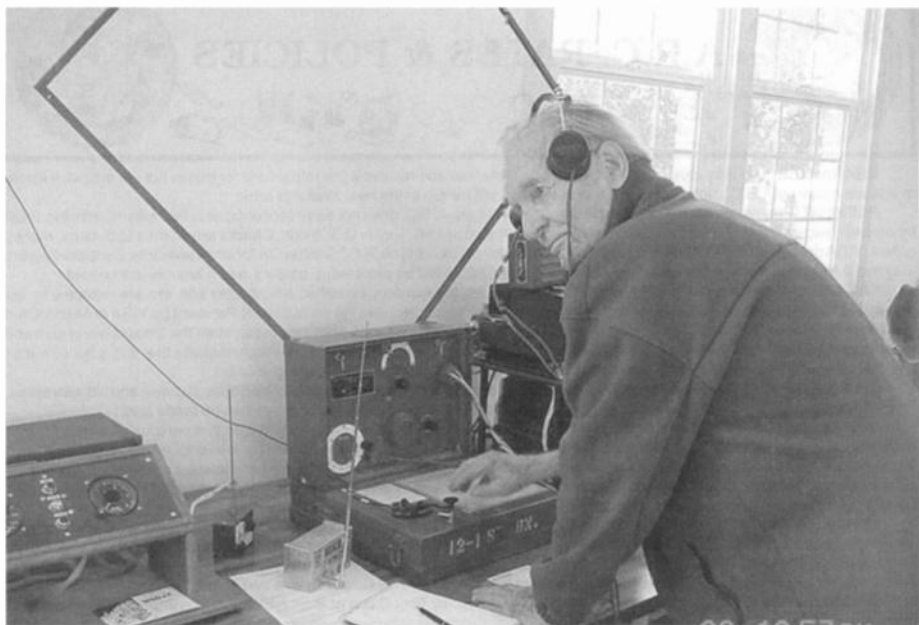

This photo shows a rather rare accessory, the BC-608-A and BC-616, used with the USAAF SCR-274-N fighter aircraft radio set early in World War II. The SCR-274-N utilizes two transmitters and two receivers.

The small clock like control on the left front panel, the BC-608-A, is a "contactor," which controls relay operation in the BC-616 on the right. In operation, the second transmitter is tuned to a communications channel while the first or Channel One transmitter is tuned to a direction finder frequency. The contactor, BC-608-A, has a wind-up motor like a clock. The BC-608-A keys the second transmitter for one second with a 1000-cycle tone at the start of a minute. Then, the contactor and relay box key the first or DF transmitter for 14 seconds with a CW signal so DF stations on the ground can obtain a fix on the aircraft.

The one-second tone alerts others that the system is going into the DF mode and communications will be interrupted. At the end of the sequence, the set is back to normal settings. The ground DF stations sent the aircraft position reports to a control center for further processing or vectoring.

An aircraft VHF set developed by the British and later by the US (SCR-522) used this same design, but the set had four channels. One channel is assigned DF work while the other three channels are for communications. The radio set was unusable for communications for the first 15 seconds of each minute, but the system could be over-riden or switched off by the pilot. Jack Antonio, WA7DIA, owns and operates this system.

One of the highlights of the SLO meet was Don Taylor, ex-W6UOF, as he operated one of the three Army SCR-131 sets working each other. Don had used these sets at Camp San Luis Obispo in 1940.

In this photo, Don is contacting Tom Horsfall, who was also using an SCR-131 at the meet. Two of the transmitters were using their original GN-35 hand-cranked generators, while the third was powered by an AC supply. All three receivers were equipped with original battery voltages of 4.5 volts and 45 volts. The complete SCR-131 consists of a BC-148 transmitter/receiver, a GN-35 generator with power cord, and an LP-7 loop antenna. The loops in the photo are reproductions since original loops are very rare.

The Army was pleased with the reported 5-mile or more range of these sets in the early 1930s. Don had many stories about the sets in use and said he used M209A code converters to scramble messages for security. The converter was a crude "Enigma Machine." Sometimes the operators would assign humorous words to the five letter code groups in a message. For example, CSIAM would be "Colonel Smith Is A Moron." Another might be NACB, which could be "I Need A Cold Beer." I am not sure we can report some of the other examples here.

things more interesting! The transmitter was set up inside a shoulder bag and given to one of the gentlemen wandering around the swap meet looking for goodies. The action was hilarious as the hunters got close to the unit.

When that happened, the gentleman would wander over to another table, and the hunters would be baffled. Several times, we saw two and three hunters with their loops head right for the shoulder bag and then keep going. On one occasion, four hunters with loops headed for the shoulder bag from all four directions at once. They all kept going and ended up at four distant points with the transmitter about in the middle of the square. Finally, two of the participants did indeed locate the hidden transmitter. There were many comments and smiles from all involved in this event.

MEET HIGHLIGHT

A few months before this event, Don Taylor contacted MRCG and informed us that he had been at Camp SLO in 1940 and had operated the SCR-131 field radio in and around the camp. This information inspired a frenzy of activity, as several participants attempted to get their own SCR-131 radios in operational condition in time for the meet.

A total of three sets were set up and this in itself is probably a rare occurrence. Don Taylor had been invited to attend the meet and was able to operate one of the original sets and contact another operator on another original set just as they had done some 60 years ago. Of course, we surely had to get some stories out of Don. Surely, this was the highlight of the 2004 meet.

Plans for the next meet will be announced around the first of the year. Watch the MRCG Web Site www.syzen.com/milradio/ for details.

To minimize our typing errors: Please write legibly. Use both capital and small letters. Do not use a dash between words. Carefully write the following numbers and letters (especially in model numbers) since some can look alike; for example 1, l and I (the number one, the capital i and the small L.) Also: 0, O, o, Q and D; v, r and n; 6, b and G; V, U, u, v and Y; A and R; 5, S and s; 2, Z and z. We try to correct spelling errors, so when using an uncommon word or manufacturer which we might mistake as a more common word or manufacturer, note it so that we do not "correct" it. Editor's annotations are in [brackets] in ads.

Advertising is accepted only for early items related to radio, communication, etc. All items must be described fairly; reproductions, reprints and non-original items must be so identified. Advertisers must agree to respond promptly to inquiries and orders, to resolve problems promptly if the buyer is not satisfied, and to comply with a buyer's refund request on unaltered returned items.

Classified ads must have a standard heading such as WANTED, FOR SALE, FOR TRADE, FOR SALE/TRADE, SERVICES, MESSAGE, HELP, AUCTION, MEET, FREE. This heading is the only bold or all-capitalized words allowed in the ad. Capitalize only manufacturer names, model names, etc. This standard ad format makes scanning the ads easier.

Before writing your ad, please look over the ads in a recent issue of A.R.C., and try to write your ad in the same style. Full name (or company name) and address is required in all classified ads; we will add it if you forget.

The publisher reserves the right to edit ads without notification to the advertiser and to reject ads for any reason. Names other than the advertiser will be edited out of ads. Ads with non-radio-related items will be returned or edited unless the non-radio-related items are for trade of radio-related items, or they are incidental to and appear at the end of an otherwise acceptable ad. The publisher is not responsible for errors due to illegibly written ads or for any other reason. See also Publishing Rights on opposite page.

Clubs: Since club activities receive free coverage on the Coming Radio Events pages, the free 20 words may not be used for club activity ads. A discount on display advertising is available for clubs.

Vintage Radio & Phonograph Society Convention 2004

Thirty Years Celebration- 1974-2004

So what does an organization do to celebrate their 30th year? The Vintage Radio & Phonograph Society (VRPS) decided to do it in style: from November 12th through 14th, at its 29th annual convention, the members will witness three live auctions, 2 silent auctions, a contest of some of the finest antique radios, phonographs and related equipment ever assembled, technical sessions, a flea market, an awards banquet and entertainment of the quality befitting a 30th anniversary celebration.

Door prizes, raffles and very nice gift to each paid attendees await those making the journey to Mesquite, Texas (near Dallas) this fall. Read our SoundWaves newsletter or on the VRPS website: www.vrps.org for any additional information on events.

But wait, someone will surely ask what is the banquet entertainment we are so proud of? I would like to be able to announce to you that the Vocal Majority, an internationally known singing group in Dallas, will be there to perform. Well, I cannot, as you see, the Vocal Majority consist of 200+ very talented male singing artists. If this group were all to attend, we would have no room left for the banquet guests to sit. However, we have done the next best thing. A barbershop quartet from the Vocal Majority has agreed to perform for us, as the evening entertainment. This award winning group is known as the Dallas Blend.

But, even that is not enough. James "Rick" Wilkins, nationally known phonograph historian and collector, will be recording several of the songs on wax cylinders using equipment circa 1893. We boldly venture to think that in this age of digital recordings, this will be the first such records produced on wax in this century! In fact, the last known recordings of this kind, were done at the 1978 VRPS convention. Mr. Wilkins also did those recordings using the same 111 year old equipment.

Plan to join us, for a weekend of fun and entertainment and witness history in the making. We do expect a full house, so make your plans now to join us November 12-14, 2004.

REGISTRATION:

To attend Convention 2004 you must be a member of VRPS (Annual dues $17.50). Please write for a convention 2004 brochure, which will be sent out in September. Pre-registration is $20, @ door is $22. Banquet tickets are $17 advance, $20 @ door (Limited Available).

Special rates at the Hampton Inn Suites in Mesquite, Texas are $69 single/double, contact 1-800-HAMPTON (good until 10/11/04). Write VRPS at: VRPS, PO Box 165345, Irving, Texas 75016 or E-mail: bsargent@swbell.net or DeForest22@aol.com or the VRPS website at: www.vrps.org
