Publisher's Comments

Here in the Northeast section of the country winter has started. The outdoor meets will become scarcer and the indoor meets will be more inviting.

Speaking of meets, starting with this issue we have expanded the Coming Events section of the magazine, adding International meets. We ask that all of our International readers send in information about meets in their countries.

Our list of books in the A.R.C. Bookstore has been updated and we now offer 55 different titles for our readers to choose from, just in time for the Holidays! If you're looking for the perfect gift for a hobbyist friend, or want to treat yourself after being especially good all year, check out the list on pages 46-47. And don't forget, a subscription to A.R.C. is a gift that keeps giving all year long. For that, we've provided a convenient subscription envelope inside each issue.

A number of months ago we promised an article on the restoration of a Garrard RC88/4 record changer. John Vuolo has written that piece, which appears this month. I know many of our readers will find it both interesting and extremely useful when restoring their own vintage 1950s record changers. So get out those rubber gloves and prepare to get dirty up to the elbows!

Also in this month is our report on the September 2011 Kutztown meet. All the tables were sold and there was a very nice turnout of both attendees and exhibitors. If you haven't been to this show yet, I have a feeling the photographs you'll see here will whet your appetite for it.

Also this month we feature another antique radio club: the New England Antique Radio Club. NEARC has been very popular in the New England area for many years. It usually holds its meets in New Hampshire, but this past October the club moved the location to the Westford, Massachusetts, venue where A.R.C. founder John Terrey held his yearly event.

"At Home with the Collector" has turned into a popular monthly column. This month we visit Frank Eder of New York State. Frank has a truly amazing collection of pre-1923 equipment, as well as some more "modern" collectables.

You probably noticed that the October issue came out earlier than the September issue. Each month we're working on getting the magazine into your hands earlier and earlier. You should have received this issue about a week earlier than last month.

As always, we invite our readers to contribute articles, pictures for the Photo Review, and any comments on our articles. We especially want hear about your club, so ask one of your club officers to get in touch with us at editor@antiqueradio.com. And how about it, collectors? Don't your treasures deserve to be featured in our pages? Don't be shy—send in your photos!

Until next time, I wish you happy collecting and restorations!

The Garrard RC88/4 Record Changer

BY JOHN VUOLO

The operation of the Garrard RC88/4 is straightforward. At each loading, it will play automatically any number of records up to eight, of any one of the following types: 10- or 12-inch records at 78 rpm, 10- or 12-inch records at 33 1/3 rpm, 7-inch records at 45 rpm; disks can also be played at 16 2/3 rpm. Records can be played manually as well, and there is a setting for that on the turntable.

Voltage and Frequency

The Garrard RC88/4 Record Changer is suitable for use on either 100/130 volts or 200/250 volts AC, 50 or 60 cycles, according to the motor pulley fitted. A motor driving pulley can be supplied for 50 or 60 cycle power supply as required. The links in the power supply terminal block should be set to correspond to the voltage of the power supply, as shown in the accompanying diagram. The motor should be grounded by connecting a lead from the ground tag (located under one of the end cover screws) to a good earth connection. The molded cover on the terminal block is colored according to type of motor as follows:

BROWN — motor for AC only

BLUE — motor for DC only

The Garrard RC88/4 in its original condition

GREEN — low-voltage DC motor only
RED — universal motor for AC or DC

Power Consumption

The maximum current consumption of the RC88/4 on AC should not exceed 0.26 amp AC on 100/130 volts 50/60 cycles or 0.13 amp on 200/250 volts 50/60 cycles. On the RC88/4/ Universal, the current should not exceed 0.14 amps AC and 0.18 amps DC on 100/130 volts or 0.2 amps AC and 0.25 amps DC on 200/250 volts. On the RC88/4/ DC, the current should not exceed 0.18 amps on 100/130 volts or 0.25 amps on 200/250 volts. On the low-voltage 12-volt model, the current should not exceed 1.1 amps, or on the 6-volt model 2 amps.

Speed Variation

Should the speed vary during playing, remove the turntable and examine the motor pulley intermediate wheel and the inside of the turntable rim for traces of oil and, if necessary, wipe thoroughly with a clean cloth. Also check that the motor pulley is in its correct position on the motor shaft. So do so, switch the changer on and see that the inter-wheel runs in the center of the appropriate step on the pulley and that it does not foul the side of the adjacent step. If necessary, loosen the screws holding the pulley to the shaft and move it to its correct position.

Pickup Height

The distance the pickup lifts can be adjusted by turning the screw on top of pickup arm with a small screwdriver. Eight 12-inch 78-rpm (coarse groove) records should be placed on the turntable and the pickup height adjusted so that as the pickup returns to the rest on completion of the top record the tip of the pickup stylus clears the record surface by 1/8 inch. If necessary, further adjustment may be obtained by turning the screw, which is accessible underneath the changer.

Pickup Stylus Pressure

The recommended stylus pressure for playing records (with the RC2 cartridge) is 10 grams, and it is strongly recommended that an occasional check of this be made with a pressure gauge. To adjust the stylus pressure, turn the screw at the rear of the pickup arm clockwise to reduce pressure and counterclockwise to increase it. (Most modern record changers usually use a tracking pressure of 3 grams or less).

Pickup Tracking

Should there be a tendency for the pickup to track incorrectly, especially on the first record, check the stylus pressure and adjust it if necessary. If the pickup does not run into the record groove after alighting on the record edge, check that the record changer is level by placing a spirit level on a record on the turntable. Also make sure that the flexible wire leading to the pickup is not twisted or held in such a manner as to prevent the free movement of the pickup arm, also making sure that the associated levers are free.

Garrard 88/4 Condition Issues

I received the Garrard RC88/4 as you see it in the first picture in this article, full of dust and dirt. The original GC2 cartridge was replaced with a GE RPX. It also appears that someone at some point during its life rewired the turntable for a left and a right output (originally, the Garrard 88/4 was designed for mono operation). The original cartridge has only two wires coming down the arm and under the chassis, so I will have to take a look at that to see what was done. The rubber idler wheel looks OK. I suspect it was replaced because the rubber is not brittle or mushy. I checked all the springs and they all look fine and none are missing. It was also extremely fortunate that none of the actual changer mechanism parts were missing or broken, as today it would be almost impossible to replace them. Some of the lettering has worn off the top of the turntable, but it is still legible enough to read. The tone arm holder was broken off and someone replaced it with a small metal clip, so the tone arm still has a resting place. The turntable has no base for it to sit on, however.

The Restoration Process

Prior to cleaning a piece of equipment I like to apply heat (with a hairdryer or a heat gun at the low to medium setting) to the underside of the chassis and soften any grease that may be caked on before using a cleaner/degreaser. If a hairdryer or heat gun is not handy, another method is to put the item in your car and leave the car in the sun for a few hours. It sounds funny but it does work!

After giving the RC88/4 a thorough wash down with a mild cleaner/degreaser, I used compressed air to blow out any remaining old grease and cleaning solution. For the top of the turntable, I used a cotton cloth with a very mild soap solution to remove the dust and grime. For lubricating the mechanical parts restorers can use phono lube, lithium grease, or a synthetic lube. I have all three, and I used the synthetic lube on the motor bearings and checked performance. I then used some phono lube on the idler wheel and other places I could easily get to. Lastly, I used white lithium grease on the rest of the mechanism, which is easier to spray into tight places. Lithium grease also saved me from having to completely tear down the changer mechanism as I was able to clean out all the old, dried-up lube. After that I slowly operated the entire changer mechanism by hand and looked for any binding or mauling of the gear and slide parts. I was fortunate that I had no problems there.

Next, using a VTVM I checked the motor, all the wiring, and the power switch for any shorts or open connections before applying power. I had to rig up a temporary base using two pieces of two by four blocks so the player would sit level on the table. After powering it up I could see the speed at the 78-rpm setting was slow. I applied some more synthetic lube to the top and bottom bearings of the motor and let it run for an hour or so without the idler and the turntable to give the motor a chance to spin freely. I next cleaned the brass pulley on the motor so the idler wheel had a clean surface to run against. I also cleaned the inside of the turntable itself to remove all the built-up dirt so the idler wheel had a good surface to make contact with.

I reassembled the turntable and found that it was now running at good speed on the 78-, 45-, 33-, and 16-rpm settings. I then began to operate the changer in the MANUAL setting and found some binding of the mechanism caused by old, dried-out grease that just had to work itself out. I did this by running the changer cycle for several days while using the white lithium grease to continue lubricating it. The key with older turntables like this one is to exercise the changer cycle as much as possible while lubricating it. After several days, the turntable changer cycle now operates well at 78, 45 and 33 rpm.

The next step was to set the turntable to the AUTO position and test it. It dropped the records properly, the tone arm moved freely back and forth, and the auto shutoff worked so I only needed to order replacement needles for the GE RPX cartridge and install them.

In looking at the wiring, I saw that someone went to the trouble of running a second lead up through the tone arm and then just bridged it against the original leads. Even though there are two RCA output jacks on the turntable it is still a mono output. Someone on eBay was parting out a Garrard 88 so I was able to replace the tone arm holder and get another original spindle.

Diagram showing the various motor wiring options available on the Garrard RC88/4

The Garrard RC88/4 after a good cleaning...

Final Steps in Restoration

After completing repairs and replacing the needles on the cartridge, it was time to finally test it. I used a 78-rpm record and connected the turntable to an old amplifier I have that supports ceramic as well as a magnetic cartridge input. While the Garrard was now playing, the speed still seemed a bit off. After re-oiling the motor and checking a few other things, I finally have it working to my satisfaction. The turntable still needs a base and the suspension springs, but it plays well set up on blocks on an even surface. These turntables definitely need to be used regularly to keep the changer mechanism running smoothly.

MEET REPORT

Kutztown Radio Meet Kutztown, PA, September 16–17, 2011

BY JIM MONEGHAN

A collector from Iowa

The second Kutztown radio meet this year was held at the Renningers Market in Kutztown, Pennsylvania, on Sept 16 and 17. This radio meet just seems to keep getting bigger and better. I decided to head down to Kutztown a day early this time and arrived Thursday morning around 8 a.m., and believe it or not there was already someone there, set up in an RV with a small tent out in the open field.

To get a feel for the place before the crowds arrived, I walked around counting the reserved tables and found 203 in the main pavilion and another 45 in the second pavilion for a total of 248 reserved tables! A few early dealers started showing up around 10:30 a.m., and they kept on coming throughout the day. Keep in mind this is Thursday and the show doesn't start until Friday. A few dealers set up on Thursday and a few items changed hands, but the real fun started early on Friday morning.

After a comfortable—if short—night's sleep at the local hotel I arrived at the radio meet around 5 a.m. and set up my own items for sale. There were probably a dozen or so eager customers already buying radios and related items at this time. The crowd really started coming in after 10 a.m., and the day was quite busy for both dealers and buyers until 5 p.m. or so. I would say that about 80 percent of the dealer tables were packed with radios most of the day.

Saturday morning was more of the same, filled with lots of fun and activity. A steady stream of people kept arriving and everything moved at a fast pace. One unique thing about this show that I have observed over the last few years is that a whole new crowd of people come in on Saturday morning, so the potential to sell more items is far greater than at many of the other radio meets. I usually do just as well on Saturday as I do on Friday.

Philco Predicta TV

Coke Cooler radio

RCA 621 television

This meet is unusual in several other ways, too, from the standard radio meets. First, the weather is not a factor as everyone is fully protected under pavilions. Second, every table has electricity to run your radios, tube testers, or anything else, and the pavilions are well lit from Friday to Saturday, including all night on Friday. Third, anyone can just come in and browse, because there is no charge to attend (dealers pay for their tables and that's it!). Fourth, you can camp out in the field adjacent to the pavilions and there are showers inside the main building for those who want to make use of them (I found that most people don't know about this). As an added bonus, you get the charm of a small town, decent hotels in the area and a farmers market and flea market on Saturday.

A collection of battery sets

Gobs of knobs

If you haven't attended one of these Kutztown meets you're missing out on a great time. Kutztown is not just a radio meet—it's an experience you will not forget. As a radio collector you owe it to yourself to go to the one of the meets next year (May and Sept). We hope to see you there.

The next Kutztown Meet is scheduled for May 11–12, 2012. Information is available at www.dvhrc.info.

AT HOME WITH THE COLLECTOR

Frank Eder's Fine Collection

By Jon Kummer

Frank Eder started his fascination with radios very early on—he was a mere seven years old when he fell under their spell. At that impressionable age, he accompanied his father on a visit to a friend, who gave the young Frank a crystal set kit. That was the beginning of his collecting.

His real collecting started in earnest in 1974, when in high school he met the collector Art Kingsley. Today Frank specializes mainly in pre-1923 equipment. His collection of 1920s battery sets, speakers, and various items from that period is extensive, as you see here in these pages. He also has a nice collection of AC sets, televisions, and steam engines.

Frank is retired from Sears after a career of 30 years. He is married and lives with his wife in a wonderfully radio-pack home in New York.

I asked Frank which is his favorite radio, but he said that he has far too many for a single favorite!

He did relay to me a favorite story, however: Back in the 1970s a neighbor told him that he had a radio Frank might be interested in. Heading over to the neighbor's home to check it out, Frank spotted on the porch a Scott Philharmonic in a Warrington cabinet. Like the true collector he is, Frank immediately loaded it into his Plymouth Fury III trunk!

We'll let the accompanying photos tell their own stories of Frank's history of radio collecting. And what a story they have to tell!

MEET THE CLUB

The New England Antique Radio Club (NEARC)

BY EDITH LENNON

Among the many things the New England Antique Radio Club (NEARC) can boast about is the famed Yankee hardiness of its members, used as they are to the Northeast's winter weather. While the recent freak autumn snowstorm was a record-breaker that put a blanket of white on the club's October 30 Swap Meet in Westford Massachusetts, it couldn't keep plenty of eager folks away.

Antique Radio Classified was there in attendance, as were lots of other exhibitors, buyers, sellers, and members of the general public. And we were mighty glad to be on hand to support this active club.

Formed in June 1988, NEARC currently has about 241 members who enjoy getting together twice annually for swap meets (rain or shine, sleet or snow!), which are immediately followed by club meetings where club business, such as fine-tuning preparations for the next swap meet and spending club money, are discussed.

The meets, always held indoors, take place in various function halls, all leased for an agreed-upon fee. NEARC typically will stay in a location for a few years and then move on to another. Stepping up to the plate to do the hard work that goes into a meet are club member volunteers, sometimes with the support of paid non-member workers. The events are promoted in announcements in the club newsletter, the quarterly "NEARC RADIO NEWS," through postcard mailings to non-members, ads in A.R.C., and listings in the "MIT Flea" (run by Steve Fineman). To sweeten events even more, sometimes they'll feature radio-related seminars, classes, or contests. And, of course, the public is always warmly welcomed.

Charles Perkett, president of NEARC, recently shared some thoughts about his club with us. "We are the only club in this New England region focused on old/antique radios and radio-related items," says Perkett, "We're certainly not the biggest nor most active club in the U.S., but we have, but we have the closest old radio swap meets for folks living in the northeast." And you know nothing as trivial as a record-breaking snowstorm will hold these hardy collectors back.

To find out more about the New England Antique Radio Club, visit their website (see box below). Perkett also recommends that anyone interested in NEARC send an email to the membership chairman or any club officer. All are listed on the website.

It's not just about buying and selling—club meets are an opportunity to socialize, share experiences, and learn about different aspects of the hobby.

And Charlie Perkett? He's got even more reason: he's NEARC's president!

DO YOU KNOW YOUR A.R.C. SUBSCRIBER BENEFITS?

Since becoming publisher I've asked many of our subscribers about the benefits that come with a subscription to Antique Radio Classified.

These have included both our print subscribers as well as our online edition subscribers. The only difference between the print and online subscribers is that the online subscribers pay a reduced subscription rate and don't receive the print magazine.

Many of the people I spoke with didn't know about our subscription benefits.

Let's take a look at them:

ABILITY TO LOOK AT THE MAGAZINE ONLINE

As a print or online subscriber you can look at the latest issue of the magazine online on our web site. This is the entire issue of the magazine and not an abbreviated edition. Subscribers can look at the last four issues of the magazine. Non-subscribers can look at earlier editions of the magazine at no cost.

One advantage of the online edition is that any photograph sent to us in color is posted in color!

ABILITY TO LOOK AT PAST AUCTION RESULTS

Almost every month we publish auction results in the magazine. Did you know that we have a database of the auction prices online on our web site? Subscribers can look at the auction results and they are SEARCHABLE! If you want to see if a specific radio, piece of equipment, tube, magazine, etc. that has been sold, all you have to do is enter the item and see every time the item has been sold as well as the price, auction house, and date!

ABILITY TO LOOK AT ONLY THE CLASSIFIED ADS

Subscribers can also look only at the classified ads without downloading the entire magazine. This is very useful for readers who just want to read the classified ads. Readers with dial up Internet service will save a lot of downloading time.

FREE MONTHLY CLASSIFIED AD

Each month a paid subscriber is entitled to place a free classified ad in the magazine. The classified ad can be up to 50 words. Additional words are 10 cents each. Classified ads can be submitted by email, fax, or mail. Typewritten preferred to reduce possible errors. Name, address and telephone number count as 6 words. Full name and address are required in all classified ads.

Of course the most important benefit to the subscribers of Antique Radio Classified are the articles containing information that will help you in increasing your knowledge of our hobby.

HOW DO I ACCESS THESE BENEFITS?

Your print subscriber user ID and password are on your mailing label. Online subscribers are emailed their user ID and password. Your user ID is the number after "SUB#" on your mailing label. Your password is the digits in brackets [xxxx] after your "SUB#".

On the Subscriber-Only Access page you can click on the Full Issue you would like to view or click on the Classified Ads section from that issue.

Go to A.R.C.'s home page www.antiqueradio.com and click on Subscriber Only Page.

Or you can click on the Auction Prices Data Base. Just enter the item that you are researching.
