GRACIOUS!

(Can the nice people from Lewron survive in New York if they don't act like New Yorkers?)

THE SHACK. Some people say we took up life in the shack because it was the first place we bumped into when we got off the boat from Baltimore. They may be right. The Shack is over on West 42nd Street. Way over on West 42nd Street. If you lean a little you'll bump your head on New Jersey.

THE MESS. We're in the Shack while we're waiting for the Mess to be cleaned up. When it's done, it'll be a brand new $3,000,000 video tape production house, with lots of surprises. And the newest technical marvels. (We'll be starting with everything brand new. So we'll install only the latest equipment.)

HEY, RUBE! Some people claim we're just some head-scratching country boys from Baltimore. They may be right, again. But it's not that we're not used to the big time. After all, we've been called in to do shows like the Johnny Carson Cypress Gardens Special, Showcase '68 and The College Queen Pageant for the N.B.C., and Operation Entertainment, and the "Treasure Isle" series for A.B.C. with our three mobile units. We don't think it's a question of the rube vs the city slicker. We think it's more the way you look at things. The way you like to do things. It's the kind of attitude that makes the difference between a New York restaurant and a Baltimore restaurant. The food may be as good in both places, but the people in Baltimore go out of their way to make you feel at home in their restaurant. Even if you're not a regular on the charge account. And that's the way we think it should be. So while we've taken Lewron out of Baltimore, that's one part of Baltimore we won't take out of Lewron. It's easy enough to check out. Just talk to us.

In each field, there is a leader—and this leader selectively attracts the major share of men and women who are leaders themselves.

Your best index of a business paper's worth is the PAID circulation it commands. People pay for a publication because they value it, want it, depend upon it as a reliable source of facts. Only quality of editorial coverage can make this possible.

IN THE BUSINESS OF BROADCAST ADVERTISING, the leader is BROADCASTING. Through the pages of BROADCASTING, your own advertising reaches more than twice the paid circulation among vital agency-&advertiser readers than any other TV-radio publication can offer. And at a cost-per-contact less than half that of any other.

This is the largest audience with the greatest potential at the biggest economy. BROADCASTING delivers it.

From a recording studio or a rehearsal or concert hall—from the musical theater—from television and radio—the sound of music written and performed by talented people can be heard everywhere today. ♩ BMI in a little over a quarter of a century has developed an organization through which more than 10,000 writers and 7,000 publishers have chosen to license their music for public performance. And their number is increased every day. ♩ Through BMI new talents have found an audience. New music has been able to gain a hearing. New vitality has been brought to traditional forms of music. The result has been an enrichment of the store of music to which music users and the public have access.

The thousands of Main Streets in the C & D Counties, located beyond the major metropolitan areas, account for over 1/3 of the nation's annual retail sales of $260 billion.

Because of increased marketing interest on the part of many national advertisers and their agencies, KEYSTONE BROADCASTING SYSTEM with which 1,180 radio stations are affiliated has recently completed

It reveals that 2,364 or 86% of the Country's 2,749 counties are covered by KEYSTONE affiliates, 1,007 of which are located within C & D Counties. The Counties reached by KBS account for 14,223,000 radio homes with a potential of 49,780,500 listeners.

Are you getting your share of this $83 billion market?

Voice of America Fact Sheet
 The Voice of America, a part of the U.S. Information Agency, has the following directive: "The long-range interests of the United States are served by communicating directly with the peoples of the world by radio. To be effective, the Voice of America must win the attention and respect of listeners. These principles will govern VOA broadcasts:

"1 VOA will establish itself as a consistently reliable and authoritative source of news. VOA news will be accurate, objective and comprehensive.

"2 VOA will represent America, not any single segment of American society. It will therefore present a balanced and comprehensive projection of significant American thought and institutions.

"3 As an official radio, VOA will present the policies of the United States clearly and effectively. VOA will also present responsible discussion and opinion on these policies."

Implementation of this directive has resulted in approximately half of the word output being devoted to news. The other half consists of news analyses, commentaries, press reviews, round-table discussions, documentary programs and special events covering American political, economic, social and cultural topics so as to provide overseas audiences a balanced and accurate concept of the United States and clear information regarding United States policies. The VOA also broadcasts music programs.

Facilities
 The Voice has a network of 102 transmitters, of which 41 are in the continental United States. These are short wave and medium wave stations ranging in power from 35 kw to 1,000 kw, owned and operated by the USIA. The largest transmitter complex is at Greenville, North Carolina. There, 18 transmitters feed programs received via microwave from the Washington studios to audiences and relay bases abroad over 73 directional antennas. Total power at Greenville is 4,800 kw. Other domestic facilities are at Bethany, Ohio; Marathon, Fla. (MW); Delano and Dixon, both Calif.

Overseas relay stations are at Munich, Germany; Thessaloniki and Rhodes, Greece; Tangier, Morocco; Monrovia, Liberia; Okinawa; Malolos and Poro, the Philippines; Wofferton, England; Colombo, Ceylon; Bangkok, Thailand; Hue, Vietnam. These include short and medium wave transmitters among which are three one-megawatt transmitters.

In addition to its network of fixed transmitters, the Voice has four transportable transmitters. These are all 50 kw, three shortwave and one medium wave. They are designed to be moved quickly to wherever they are needed by land, sea or air. The medium wave transportable transmitter is on Marathon Key, Florida, broadcasting Spanish language programs to Cuba. The three shortwave transportables are in the Philippines, where they augment existing facilities in relaying Voice programs to Southeast Asia and the Far East. A new facility, now being built in the Philippines with 10 250 kw transmitters, is scheduled to be on the air by 1968.

This and other construction planned or now under way both in the United States and overseas, will add 8,500 kw in short and medium wave power to the existing 15,500 kw, making USIA's radio facilities flexible and competitive.

Local Placement
 Many VOA transcribed programs, music recordings and script material are furnished by U. S. Information Agency offices throughout the free world for local distribution and broadcast. Other relays and rebroadcasts are made through arrangements with local broadcasters in West Europe, Africa, the Near East, South Asia, the Far East and Latin America. Currently some 4,000 stations overseas are rebroadcasting more than 15,000 hours of USIA programing weekly.

RIAS
 In West Berlin the USIA operates RIAS (Radio in the American Sector), which broadcasts an average of 233 hours per week in German over medium and short wave facilities as well as FM. Its purpose is to reach the population of East Berlin and East Germany.

Audiences
 The USIA estimates its current world radio audience is in the range of from 17 to 26 million on an average day, and about double that amount for an average week. During times of international crisis, or for such special events as an American space launch, the audience increases considerably.
