“I would rather be right than president”

Statue of Henry Clay

Virginia-born Henry Clay, thrice nominated to be president, was willing to forego the highest honor in America for his convictions. Independence of thought and loyalty to principle has long been characteristic of the Virginian. The First Stations of Virginia (WMBG, WCOD-FM and WTVR-TV) profit by these qualities. The friendship and loyalty of listeners and viewers in the Old Dominion go all out for Havens and Martin sponsors.

NEVILLE MILLER, former NAB president, former mayor of Louisville, and now senior member of Miller & Schroeder, Washington radio law firm, being considered by White House for high federal appointment. Although he has been mentioned for FCC chairmanship, in event vacancy occurs, that is not position now being negotiated. From unimpeachable sources, it's learned that Wayne Coy's departure is not imminent.

IT'S been kept undercover, but unofficial NARTB sampling of industry opinion showed one-third of stations wants some type of new coverage study to succeed three-year-old BMB figures; one-third is flatly against it, and other third doesn't care. Quiet study now being made to see if group of advertisers and/or agencies would be interested in financing evaluation of audience measurement techniques. Incidentally, formal dissolution papers for BMB were filed week ago.

VICK CHEMICAL CO. (Softskin hand cream), New York, looking for women's participation shows in 100 markets to start Oct. 1 through Morse International, New York.

DELAY BY FCC in considering $25 million ABC-United Paramount merger is causing consternation in quarters other than these two companies. CBS, which would acquire WBKB Chicago for $6 million in parlay, also is stymied on its Chicago plans. With only four TV stations in Chicago, it would be hard-pressed to find any other property available for purchase.

TIME INC. may sponsor on ABC, NBC hour-long telecast of Japanese peace treaty signing in San Francisco. Richfield Oil Co. may sponsor telecasts of all conference sessions on CBS-TV Pacific Coast hookup. Radio and TV coverage of all sessions except opening address of President Truman is open for sponsorship, but no signed contracts reported Friday evening.

BIG PUSH to boost TV sales this autumn and winter on part of manufacturers-distributors-dealers can be expected to bring appeals for promotional cooperation from TV stations. Set sellers got terrific charge from KSD-TV page ad in Aug. 5 St. Louis Post-Dispatch, and have some distributors and dealers talking of approaching all TV stations for similar efforts. One formula was suggested by National Appliance & Radio Dealers Assn. to dealer-members in its current "Appliance & Radio Dealers News": Get pictures of TV stars who will be appearing on air this fall from stations, use them for window displays, interior setups, advertising.

SEN. ESTES KEFAUVER (D-Tenn.) Friday proposed adoption by Congress of "code of conduct" governing Congressional investigations and hearings and assuring full coverage opportunities to all news media, including radio and television, except in cases where witness proves to committee chairman that "devices annoy" him. It would be up to chairman to turn off annoying devices. Sen. Kefauver's proposals included in two joint resolutions which need both Senate and House approval to be put in effect.

NEW AGENCY FORMED BY EX-DUANE JONES MEN

FORMER OFFICERS and directors of the Duane Jones Co., New York agency [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 20], are planning to form an agency of their own with three major advertising accounts as a nucleus and with overall billing said to be between $4½ and $5 million. New agency will be known as Scheidler, Beck and Werner, composed of following and their accounts departing from Duane Jones: Joseph Scheidler, vice president and account executive, Manhattan Soap account; Joseph Beck, account executive, Borden Co., and Paul Werner, Hudson Pulp and Paper Co. Eugene Hulshizer, secretary of Duane Jones, is understood to be joining firm with C. F. Mueller account.

Robert Hayes, former president, and Don Gill, vice president, will reportedly either join new agency or form one of their own.

Manhattan Soap Co. currently sponsors One Man's Family on 63 NBC-TV stations, and Hudson Pulp and Paper Co. underwrites Bride and Groom twice weekly on CBS-TV.

District 4 Opposes Sale of Network Breaks

NETWORK proposals to sell chain-break time and their slicing of radio rates drew wrath of NARTB District 4 members as first of annual district meeting series adjourned Friday at Roanoke, Va. (main story, page 23). Following up hot Thursday protests against rate cuts, members unanimously adopted resolution impressing on "all sources of program supply" need of stations to maintain economic stability.

District 4, traditional spawner of powerful protests, took equally violent stand against legislation sponsored by Sen. William Benton (D-Conn.). Benton measures would set up advisory board along censorship lines, limit TV licenses to one year and direct FCC to foster subscription broadcasting.

COMMUNICATIONS MEETING

CONSISTENT WITH military plans to update communications planning for emergency second conference of major radio and TV networks, communications carriers and wire services scheduled by Army Public Information Division Aug. 30 at Pentagon, Washington Conference will discuss estimates of expected copy loads of radio and press in case trouble breaks out and plans developed by communications companies to meet emergency. According to announcement of conference, issued by Col. E. M. Kirby, chief, Radio-TV Branch of Army Information, plans include Signal Corp furnishing such emergency assistance as possible.

was couched in general language, delegate were openly resentful. Networks were reminded radio set ownership has reached saturation stage, with medium "indispensable part of the American way of life." Resolution condemned rate cuts, "Impingement upon time signals heretofore recognized as within the province of the individual station, or introduction of practices which tend to dislocate program structures, or any other acts which depreciate the value of radio as an advertising and public service medium."

Other resolutions lauded NARTB-RTM test markets plan to show value of FM (story page 93); commended NARTB board for revitalizing association under leadership of

YORK, PENNSYLVANIA

Rated as the number one station in this extensive mid-Pennsylvania area (Conlan and BMB), its recent power increase to 5,000 watts and far wider coverage is fast pushing it to an all-time high in popularity. Add to this the above-average population growth in this area (1950 Census figures) and the fact that rates have not increased. The result is a terrific sales opportunity for advertisers. EDITOR:

. . . I understand that a good many IBEW, AFRA and NABET contracts, recently negotiated, have been turned down by the Wage Stabilization Board insofar as wage increases are concerned. One of the recent turndowns involved WHK here in Cleveland. . . .

I wonder if it would not be newsworthy if you could get a list of radio cases which the wage people have turned down in the last several months. It might make good reading.

Speed The Thaw

EDITOR:

Since the FCC has partially lifted the TV "freeze," by granting power boosts to existing stations, would it not be entirely feasible to conclude that there will be little change in the allocation plan of last March 23? If that is so, would it not seem practical for the Commission to authorize grants for the largest metropolitan areas, not now served by television, with the proviso that if the allocations are changed as to those particular communities, stations would amend their applications accordingly? It occurs to me that this would expedite handling of applications and would be of material assistance to consulting engineers, lawyers and equipment manufacturers. It would have the double virtue of providing additional TV service in unserved areas at the earliest practicable time and, at the same time, would give a lift to TV set manufacturers, now in the doldrums.

There would be another great advantage in the upcoming national elections, in my judgment. With television so important an instrumentality in bringing the candidates to the people, additional stations in currently unserved areas would be in the position of performing outstanding public service at the very outset of their operation.

I realize fully, of course, that this procedure could not be invoked until after the Nov. 26 deadline specified in the FCC's timetable. But prior to that, all of the spadework could be done, in preparation for a speedy thawing of the freeze. It would also separate the sheep from the goats, among those people who are talking television but who are not prepared to follow through.

Greenville Has Grown

EDITOR:

Just on the outside chance that it might be news to you there are three Metropolitan Districts in South Carolina.

True enough that Greenville made it this year for the first time and we did it by a rather Gargantuan job of extending our city limits to embrace some good suburbs. But when we did it, we did it in a very big way and got in No. 1 position in the state, beating Columbia and Charleston all the way by population, homes, radio homes and percentage of radio homes.

Yet on page 7 of your MARKETBOOK you list only Columbia and Charleston as South Carolina Metropolitan Districts . . .

B. T. Whitmire
WFBC Greenville, S. C.

Star Spangled Cure-All

EDITOR:

The American way of life is rapidly fading away. . . . What can radio and television do to stop this tragic trend? . . .

Let each radio and video station take the same moment each day to play the national anthem. At that moment, there would be only one program, one song available for the entire nation by radio and video, the national anthem. . . .

"...like selling refrigerators to Eskimos"

J. N. Blair & Company, Inc., of Sacramento, California, sponsors of the Fulton Lewis, Jr. program on KXOA, had this to say to the station:

"We've heard about selling refrigerators to Eskimos, and now KXOA has done almost the same thing for us through Fulton Lewis, Jr.

"As you know, we started with one spot a night. Eight weeks later we tripled our investment to buy three quarter-hours. Several personal friends didn't know we handled heating units until they heard the program. "The real pulling power of the show was tested when we advertised ice cream units in mid-winter—the nearest thing we know of to selling refrigerators to Eskimos. Fifteen minutes after the program we received eleven inquiries for further information!

"Fulton Lewis, Jr. and KXOA have certainly done a job for us."

The Fulton Lewis, Jr. program is "doing a job" for local advertisers on 372 stations. It offers a ready-made audience at local time cost. Since there are more than 500 MBS stations, there may be an opening in your locality. Check your Mutual outlet—or the Co-operative Program Department, Mutual Broadcasting System, 1440 Broadway, NYC 18 (or Tribune Tower, Chicago 11).

WBG'S SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Special Programs Hail 25th Year

ALL-DAY series of special broadcasts marked the observance Wednesday by WBG Greensboro, N. C., of its 25th anniversary. Rededicating the station to its principles of public service, entertainment and education, WBG carried program features typical of its first quarter-century.

Gilbert M. Hutchison, WBG president and general manager, directed the celebration. Mr. Hutchison has headed the operation since death of Maj. Edney Ridge Jan. 13, 1949.

Commercial novelty centered around the voicing of advertising messages by the advertisers themselves.

Four of the original directors of the station and of Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co. when the insurance company bought control of the property in 1934 took part in the program. They were Howard Holderness, president of the company; Joseph M. Bryan, first vice president and director; Julius C. Smith, vice president and general counsel, and Carl Jung, vice president in charge of agency operations.

History of Greensboro radio was featured in an evening program titled Radio Since 1926. Persons active in local affairs participated. Mayor Robert Frazier, of Greensboro, was one of the participants. Mayor Frazier helped form WNRC, predecessor station, in 1926 and was active in organizing North Carolina Broadcasting Co. in 1930 when that firm took over ownership from Wayne Nelson, its co-founder with Mr. Frazier.

The present WBG directorate took part in a special feature. Included were M. H. Crocker and Mrs. Edney Ridge, directors, and Mr. Hutchison as president-general manager. Three government levels participated in the feature. Governmental speakers were Federal Judge Johnston P. Hayes; Henry Bridges, state auditor of North Carolina, and Mr. Frazier.

This program, heard 10:45-11 p.m., closed with pledge of allegiance to the flag and a pledge by WBG to its listeners and advertisers of better things to come.

Salutes were received from other North Carolina stations. Arthur Godfrey's morning program on CBS Radio carried a tribute and Warren Hull followed up on the CBS Strike It Rich feature. A Godfrey transcription was used.

Messages came from U. S. Senators Willis Smith and Clyde R. Hoey as well as Reps. Thurmond Chatham and Carl T. Durham. Gordon Gray, president of the U. of North Carolina, sent a special message.

A musical and news program, 9-10:45 p.m., featured 25 top tunes of the quarter-century and an important news item for each year.

Opening feature of the anniversary was a 25-year agricultural review at 6:05 a.m. by Charles Lamb, Guilford County soil conservation agent.

Mr. Hutchison said the station's progress was a tribute to the late Maj. Ridge, a firm believer in public service. Under Maj. Ridge's guidance the station received local and nationwide recognition for its services, he said.

LOCAL PILOTS KNOW THEIR HOME WATERS BEST!

... and local advertisers are the best judges of the effectiveness of media in their own markets.

On every Westinghouse station, local advertisers are buying more time this year than last year.. even though local rates, in many instances, have increased. Local results prove that radio's value keeps growing!

Take the Philadelphia market, for example. As this is written, local time sales of Westinghouse Station KYW are 27.5 percent ahead of the corresponding period of 1950.

Timebuyers will be well advised to follow the lead of these local, on-the-spot advertisers.. not only in Philadelphia but also in Pittsburgh, Boston, Springfield, Fort Wayne, Portland, and their surrounding market-areas. For availabilities, check Free & Peters!

on all accounts

APIONEER'S pioneer in radio as well as advertising, Leo H. Rosenberg, vice president of Foote, Cone & Belding in Chicago, appeared on what is believed to be the first regularly-scheduled broadcast and celebrates this year his 25th anniversary with the agency which began as Lord & Thomas & Logan.

Mr. Rosenberg, a quiet man with a pixie humor, gave returns in the Harding-Cox presidential race on the wireless for the first time in 1920. CBS's Ed Murrow asked him to deliver them again in his third album of the documentary record, "I Can Hear It Now." NBC requisitioned his services also for its first telecasting of election returns in 1940, when Mr. Willkie challenged FDR.

Leo Rosenberg maneuvered around and about the agency business before actually entering the fold. A native of Montgomery, Mo., where his father ran a general store, he lived in Iola, Kan., and St. Louis before moving to Chicago. While attending Englewood High School, young Rosenberg picked up book money by selling Cutler's shoes, "any shoe in the house for $3." The turnover, he recalls, was enough to satisfy the most avaricious salesman because the shoes were so cheap a half-way popular girl could wear out a pair in two weeks of dancing.

Interested primarily in literature and writing, he nevertheless succumbed to the wishes of his father and majored in electrical engineering at Chicago's Armour Institute of Technology. He managed, however, to elect two years of English. The youngest in his class to be graduated (at 21), he applied himself with the diligence which has characterized him since, carrying, at one period, 43 out of a possible 44 hours of courses in one week. Five hours of homework nightly, plus labs each afternoon and lectures from 8:30 until noon netted him a B.S. degree.

After graduation, his—and McGraw-Hill's—circulation increased as he moved with zest through the "field," his portion including Louisiana, Texas and Oklahoma. Elated in his first venture from the family hearth, Mr. Rosenberg was rewarded personally but more

RATE CUT RESENTMENT

BEHIND - SCENES resentment of radio stations over network rate cuts broke out into the open once more last week as NARTB District 4 delegates called on the association to protect their interests against cheapening of the medium.

Taking up where they left off at Chicago last spring, NARTB members meeting at Roanoke, Va., Thursday-Friday engaged in a lively debate over what position the association should take in the rate-cutting crisis.

The District 4 members got the annual series of NARTB meetings off to a flying start as they spoke plainly and heatedly about the blows they have taken as a result of network rate adjustments.

They gave their new president, Harold E. Fellows, a rough time by putting him on the spot in the controversy, but he emerged with a burst of applause after answering the questions directly and suggesting the convention should not take any action that would hamper the work of the independent Affiliates Committee that was formed at Chicago.

Subjects Wide-Range

For two days the largest of all NARTB districts (Va., N. C., S. C., District of Columbia and contiguous counties) heard talks and took part in panels covering the gamut of broadcast problems.

Television occupied a formal place on the district meeting agenda for the first time in association history as Thad Brown, NARTB TV director, recited current problems facing that industry. This was followed by a panel discussion in which radio broadcasters asked questions that were answered by telecasters (see separate story page 62).

Broadcast advertising section of the meeting was held Friday afternoon, headed by William B. Ryan, president of Broadcast Advertising Bureau (story page 46).

Mr. Fellows made his district meeting bow with a discussion of NARTB's plans for expanded service to the membership. He then called for questions, and really got them.

Walter J. Brown, WORD Spartanburg, S. C., touched off the rockets by asking President Fellows if NARTB was doing anything "about making networks have more appreciation of their affiliates?"

The new president said he had just written to Murray Grabhorn, head of the National Assn. of Radio & Television Representatives, answering an open letter demanding that NARTB do something about the rate-cutting crisis.

In his reply, Mr. Fellows said, he told Mr. Grabhorn the NARTB board had decided the association had no right to take part in a fight between affiliates and networks. NARTB has no more right to join the fight than to take part in a contractual controversy between a representative and his client, he wrote. The association represents an entire industry, he explained.

Mr. Brown contended the association should do something, but agreed the problem was a delicate one.

Edgar Kobak, consultant and NARTB board member, recalled formation of the Affiliates Committee and said it has a $16,000 fund.

"I'm giving you the decision of the board," Mr. Fellows said. "The board would not let Judge Justin Miller, board chairman, preside at the meeting that led to formation of the affiliates group."

That reminded Mr. Brown that he was a member of the resolutions committee named by District 4 Director Harold Essex, WSJS Winston-Salem, N. C. He asked if a resolution calling for action would be out of order.

Again on the spot, President Fellows said he personally felt a name-calling resolution might not help the Affiliates Committee.

Asking Mr. Fellows if networks are broadcasters, Edward A. Allen, WLVA Lynchburg, Va., active some years ago in forming a group of independents, claimed NARTB is "straddling the fence."

In a reply to another question from Mr. Allen, the president said NBC pays $5,000 a year as an associate member and NBC-owned-and-operated radio and TV stations pay around $40,000.

Since networks as such are not

RADIO UNITY GROWS BAB, World Plans Set

BAB PRESIDENT William B. Ryan disclosed last Thursday that BAB "has developed and will soon issue a detailed master plan enabling the whole industry simultaneously to achieve the kind of teamwork" displayed by radio stations of Tulsa and Detroit, respectively, in their local alliances for cooperative promotion of radio [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 10].

World Broadcasting System, meanwhile, announced that "in line with the growing movement" to re-emphasize radio's vital service, it has started work on a special package of "sell radio" promotional material which it will distribute to its more than 800 affiliates as WBS's contribution to the industry-wide campaign. The package, including discs by name personalities, will stress the theme "Listen! Wherever You Go, There's Radio," which also will be the tag-line closing all future WBS library programs.

Mr. Ryan said details of the BAB plan, in the development stage for two months, are tentatively set for announcement within two weeks.

Ryan Telegram

Work on the industry-wide blueprint was revealed in a telegram Mr. Ryan sent the chairman of the Detroit and Tulsa groups offering congratulations "on the wonderful news that the broadcasters in your (respective communities) have joined together for the promotion of radio as an advertising and public service medium."

Discussing the plan to be issued by BAB, Mr. Ryan said community station cooperation should involve: (1) frequent meetings of station operators and pooling of resources, (2) audience promotion campaigns, and (3) active public-service campaigning.

The World Broadcasting System announcement, detailing plans for its "sell radio" package, said WBS is "joining wholeheartedly in a forceful and aggressive campaign to re-emphasize the vital character of radio's services."

Backbone of the package is a series of announcements designed for use during station breaks, etc. Those who already have transcribed such material include Robert Q. Lewis, Bud Collyer, Andre Baruch, Ken Roberts, Norman Brokenshire, Ed Herlihy, and Frank Gallop. Each one, after

BOOMS TO NEW HIGH

MORE PEOPLE are listening to the radio between 6 and 9 a.m. each day this year than ever listened before.

Surprised? You needn't be, because that statement is based on a special study made for BROADCASTING • TELECASTING by the A.C. Nielsen Co. and is well authenticated by carefully prepared figures from the entire United States.

In all parts of the nation the early morning man is thriving and he is doing even better since television entered the picture than he did in 1946 when there were only 10,000 TV sets in the whole country.

Music, news, the time, weather reports and friendly easy chatter are his stock in trade. The format varies slightly from coast to coast.

The sponsors eat it up. Hardly a morning man, and there's at least one on every station, lacks sponsors. Many are sold out and the station's commercial department proudly surveys a waiting list of eager advertisers who want to "participate" at the comparatively low morning rates.

The happy state of the morning man is even more surprising when the student of statistics takes a look at evening time. There the average audience has dropped from 39% of sets in use in 1946 to 26.3% in 1951.

Many factors play their part in the booming business of the disc jockeys. America has the early morning music habit and the average men or woman turns on the radio automatically while shaving the overnight stubble or frying the breakfast eggs.

But one of the principal factors which cannot be overlooked is the morning man himself, whose personality sells him and his sponsors' products to a huge and loyal audience day after day.

Let's look at a few who are typical.

TOP O' THE MORNING

Top morning man at WEEI Boston was the master of ceremonies at the station's inaugural broadcast Sept. 30, 1924—Carl Moore.

It was just another job to Mr. Moore, who in those days was song-plugging in Boston's Tin Pan Alley. It was a sudden call to an emergency spot and he filled it with all the aplomb which keeps his programs top rated to this day.

He is completely informal, never uses a script, and composes on an average of two parodies a day which he sings to some popular melody.

On the air at 7 each morning except Sunday with his Top o' the Morning show he sings and talks to his listeners to his own piano accompaniment. From 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. he returns to the air as m.c. of Beantown Varieties which includes a vocalist, Gloria Carroll, the Azales Trio (westerns) and a nine-piece orchestra conducted by Frank Bell. Two years ago, under the name Coffee Club the program was put on the CBS eastern network.

The program provides a rare opportunity for personalized selling. Such sponsors as The Borden Co. and Wilson Canned Meats have used it as a theme around which to hold sales meetings. Other sponsors include Colgate's, Saturday Evening Post, Wilson's Canned Meats, The First National Bank, General Electric, and the Boston & Maine Railroad.

In 1950 the New England Life Insurance Co. offered a copy of an editorial printed in its house organ titled "What is a Boy" over the program. The single offer brought more than 400 requests to WEEI and an uncounted flood to the offices of the firm. The insurance firm's comment was: "This WEEI deluge was the biggest response from the Boston area, although the essay was read over three other stations and was printed in two daily newspapers."

SHOPPING WITH THE MISSUS

Jim Conway, top morning man on WBBM Chicago, is on the air from 7:30 to 9 a.m. Mon.-Fri. for a number of satisfied sponsors.

On the first half hour with a live music and chatter program Mr. Conway extolls the virtues of Meister Brau beer for Peter Hand Brewery (first quarter hours, Mon.-Wed.-Fri., at cost of $792 which includes an hour show on Saturdays) and New York Central (last quarter hour, Mon.-Wed.-Fri., $534.60).

Starting at 8 a.m. Mr. Conway emcees Shopping With the Missus sponsored by the Milnot Co., Litchfield, Ill., which makes Milnot, a milk substitute. The show features interviews with housewives which are tape recorded in grocery stores and super markets in the greater Chicago area, with merchandise prizes given for questions answered.

Unusual feature of the Milnot arrangement is that Mr. Conway is account executive for the product at Henri, Hurst and McDonald agency. Milnot assumes the entire sponsorship of this show and pays $891 weekly for the time. Martin Hauser, advertising and sales manager of Milnot, says "Conway's easy friendliness and sincerity make him Milnot's number one salesman on the air."

Since high school in Milwaukee Jim Conway wanted to go into radio. He specialized in voice studios and made an intensive study of diction, radio and tone control. In 1942 he came to WBBM as a staff announcer. His warm, friendly personality was quick to make a name for him on the station and he acted as m.c. on many well-known shows. Soon after he entered the Navy and served as a flying instructor until his discharge in 1946. After the war he rejoined WBBM and was assigned to the Shopping With the Missus program which immediately re-established him as a favorite.

TOM MCCARTHY

Tom McCarthy talks to his large morning audience over WKRC Cincinnati, 6:15-7:45 a.m., direct from his farm home in Clermont County, Ohio. It is not surprising that the conversation on his music and chatter program deals principally with farm subjects.

There is a wide range of music on the program starting with popular and ranging all the way to Opera. While the combination may be unorthodox there is no doubt that the customers like it. They also like to hear of the fortunes and misfortunes of the McCarthy beagle hounds, nine cats, two horses, six cows, sixteen hogs and a flock of chickens. The condition of the McCarthy crops is more widely known in the area than that of any other farm.

Everything on the McCarthy show is informal and friendly. If one or more of the four McCarthy children wander into the living room during the broadcast they promptly get into the act and more often than not steal the spotlight.

Judging from the products he has sold on his show and the people who have bought them it is evident that his popularity is as great in the city as on the farm. Among his long-time sponsors are Verkamp Corp., Bayer Aspirin, Ibold Cigar, Thorobred Co. (dog feed), L. T. Patterson (automobiles), Barq Bottling, Farm and Home Center, RCA Appliances, Phil Steward (RCA appliances), Plough Inc. (Mexana).

The show is currently sold out with a waiting list of sponsors. Rates for one minute spots are $20 before 7 a.m. and $30 after with frequency discounts.

MUSIC HALL

The Music Hall emceed by Fran Pettay is an example of the best in morning programming at WJR Detroit. Broadcast 7:15-8 a.m. and 8:30-9:15 a.m. Mon.-Fri. and from 7:15-7:30 a.m. and 8:15-9 a.m. on Saturdays, it is a disc show with time, weather, and a minimum of chatter between music.

Mr. Pettay has a sincere manner and a soft, pleasing delivery. He avoids perpetual chatter. He is a 17-year veteran of radio and has handled the Music Hall for the past two years.

The show is loaded with "blue chip" participating sponsors including Bristol Myers, Stanback, Procter & Gamble, Colgate Palmolive-Peet, Excell Labs, Lever Bros., National Biscuit, Kasco Mills, Hills Bros., Griffen Mfg. and others. The Mennen Co. sponsors 15-minute segments of the program thrice weekly.

One of the recent successes of the program was for Chap-Ans. After a total of six announcements over a two-week period offering free samples the firm received over 6,000 returns. The cost was $342, which amounted to 5½¢ per reply. Lawrence Gumbinner, agency on the account, called this "an excellent return—certainly concrete evidence of the station's far-reaching listening." The mail breakdown showed that Detroit and its suburbs accounted for 20% of the total returns. The state of Michigan showed 5,000 returns, Ohio 872 returns, Indiana 69 and Pennsylvania 35.

WJR enjoys a heavy commercial morning schedule from 5:30 a.m. right up to CBS-Arthur Godfrey time at 10 a.m.

TOP OF THE MORNING

Ad-libbed commercials are the secret of the Ralph Story morning success on KNX Los Angeles.

A perfectionist in programming his 5:25-6 a.m. record-news-chatter show for KNX and his 8-8:15 a.m. show to the Columbia Pacific network, Mr. Story tailors his commercials to fit the program and the mood of his audience.

From his first broadcast for the station on Valentine's Day, 1949, Mr. Story has thrown away the book as far as advertiser's copy is concerned. Every advertiser's message is presented in conversational style to avoid the repetitive "slugging" of his audience that is a basic part of much pitch copy. Mr. Story capitalizes on intimate and in-

TIME SALES

Networks July Total Down 4.5%—PIB

FOUR radio networks combined gross time sales in July totaled $11,733,804, down 4.5% from the $12,292,779 billed in July of 1950, according to figures released for publication today (Monday) by Publishers Information Bureau. For the year to date the 1951 total is down 1.8% from the same period last year, the figures being $107,232,580 for January-July 1951 and $109,231,899 for the like period of 1950.

MBS is the only radio network to show increased time sales in July of this year over July of last; MBS and CBS both have greater gross time sales for the first seven months of this year than they had in the like period of 1950. PIB breakdown by networks for the month and the year to date, 1951 and 1950, is shown in the table below.

ZIV SALES

'Bright Star' in 97 Markets

FIRST week of selling for Fred-eric W. Ziv Co.'s forthcoming Bright Star transcribed radio series featuring Irene Dunne and Fred MacMurray [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 13], resulted in contracts placing the program in 97 markets, Ziv Executive Vice President John L. Sinn announced last week.

At the same time the company announced an expansion of its sales force with the appointment of Harold W. Falter, former general manager of WVXI Biloxi, Miss., and Marion A. Stoneking, former sales manager of KELO Sioux Falls, Iowa. Mr. Falter will have headquarters at Memphis; Mr. Stoneking, at Sioux Falls.

In the initial week's selling of Bright Star, to be released for broadcast starting Sept. 24, multi-market sponsors included:

Hudepohl Brewing Co., Cincinnati, which signed for the series in 16 markets in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, and West Virginia. Hudepohl agency is Stockton, West & Burkhardt Adv., Cincinnati. Southwestern Public Service Co., Amarillo, bought the series for 16 cities in Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma.

TENNIS MATCHES

Spalding To Sponsor

A. G. SPALDING & Bros., New York, will sponsor the play-by-play description of the national tennis championships from Forest Hills on a special "custom built" coast-to-coast radio hookup. This marks the eighth consecutive year that Spalding has sponsored the event.

The play-by-play reporting will be handled by Lev Richards and Bob Thomas, tennis sportscasters. The match will be heard on more than 35 stations with WQXR New York acting as the key station feeding the other outlets. Games will be broadcast 3-5 p.m. Sept. 2-3.

The games will be publicized in advance by widespread newspaper publicity, courtesy announcements by the stations, posters and streamers in dealers' stores and tennis and golf clubs.

Commercial announcements will promote not only Spalding but the services of all interested in tennis. The major mention will be given the Spalding-made Wright & Ditson tennis ball.

DESPITE RISING COSTS

THE number of radio stations operating at a loss in 1950 was well below 1949, despite television's impact, and this favorable trend is continuing in 1951, NARTB District 4 delegates were told Friday morning at the opening district meeting (see main story page 23).

Richard P. Doherty, NARTB employe-employer relations director, presented his annual analysis of station operating costs and income at the meeting. Afterward he conducted a series of informal panels on budgetary control and wage stabilization, featured by case histories. Tabulations for the operating cost analysis were compiled by Dr. Kenneth H. Baker, NARTB research director.

The financial health of both radio and television improved in 1950, according to Mr. Doherty.

Taking up the status of broadcasting, he said 1950 radio station revenues "rose markedly" during the 12-month period. In 1949, he said, 33% of stations operated in the red whereas in 1950 slightly fewer than 25% of stations lost money.

"There is no reason to believe that 1951 will not be just as good as 1950," he declared.

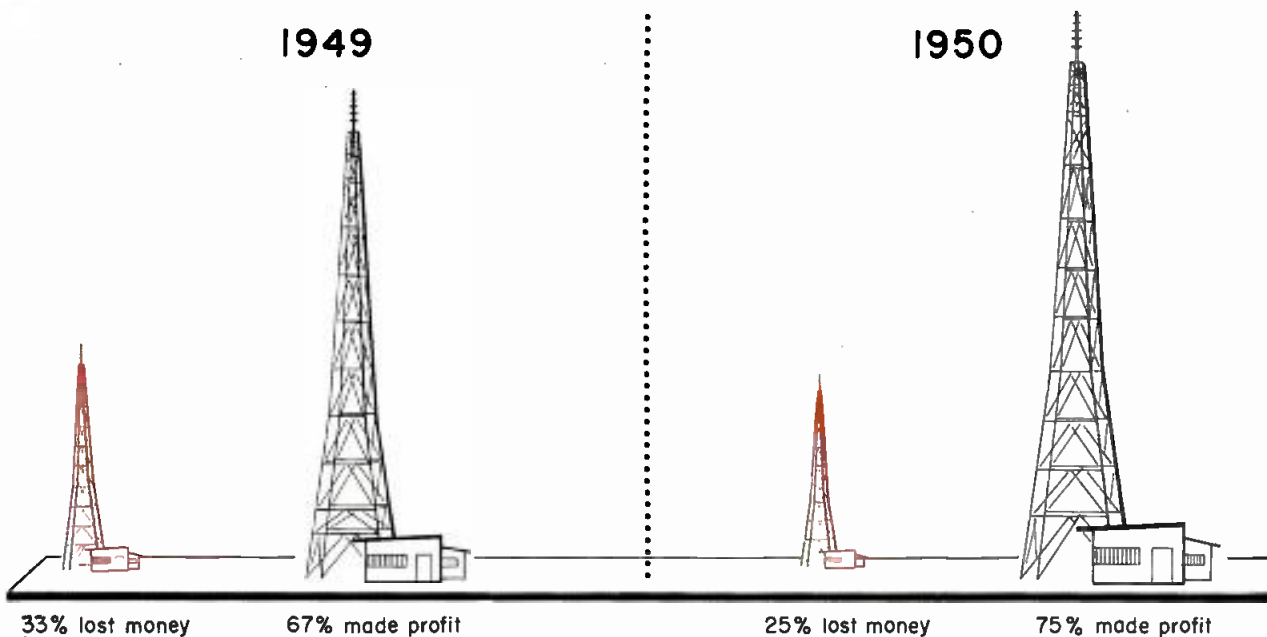

Costs continued "very high" in 1950, Mr. Doherty said. As to revenues, he said income per station had increased last year in all of the five major areas of the nation.

Local, Regional Outlets Fare Best of All

Local and regional stations, and stations in small and medium-size cities, enjoyed the best revenue records last year, he explained. On the other hand, average per-station revenues in 1950 for large stations and stations located in large cities were a little under 1949, presumably because of TV's impact in such cases.

In the case of TV stations, revenues continued their sharp upward trend for video outlets as a whole. However, the majority of TV stations operated at a loss in 1950 though this loss was noticeably reduced in comparison with 1949.

Discussing radio operating costs, Mr. Doherty said these costs will continue to be high—just about as high as a year ago. The main factor in high costs is labor and personnel, he said, though most other operating costs per unit continue to rise.

"Over the last ten years total broadcast revenues for the industry as a whole slightly more than tripled," Mr. Doherty said. "The industry's total labor bill rose nearly fivefold, however. In the period just before World War II (1939-40) average total labor costs of the industry equaled 30% of total revenue.

Radio's Labor Increase Typical of All Industries

"By 1950 labor costs had risen to slightly over 50% of revenue. Radio is not unique in facing steadily rising wage scales and heavier labor costs. Virtually all segments of American industry are on an inflationary escalator as far as wage payments are concerned."

No person can quarrel that average weekly salaries in radio have risen in proportion to the trend in general wage levels and cost of living, according to Mr. Doherty. He noted that in the past decade the value of the dollar has declined and this has affected all industry.

Solution for Radio Is More Difficult

Radio stations face a difficult problem in meeting higher costs when revenues are not rising just as rapidly, he declared, because the solution can't be found in mechanization as in other industries.

Only solution for broadcasters, he explained, was to obtain increased output per-employe per-dollar spent. He offered five methods of meeting the problem of rising costs:

- (1) More efficient operations.
- (2) Better arrangement of work among the staff.

- (3) More competent personnel.
- (4) Elimination of wasteful featherbedding and unsound work restrictions.
- (5) Better staff morale.

With few exceptions no radio station can be operated profitably for less than $45,000 per year, Mr. Doherty said, calling that figure the "irreducible minimum." In those cases with revenue under $50,000, he found, 80% are losing money. Only in the $50,000-$75,000 category is there a reasonable opportunity for a fair profit, his analysis disclosed.

"The answer?" Mr. Doherty asked rhetorically.

"Have a small, well-integrated and competent staff." Here he called on a number of broadcasters to explain how they arranged the work load.

Cost Ratios Vary According to Region

West Coast stations can expect higher cost ratios, he predicted, noting that costs are highest in that part of the nation. Next highest regions are North Central and Northeastern states. Costs reach their lowest in the South Atlantic and Southwest, he said, with the latter at the bottom of the list.

The majority of TV stations should make a profit in 1951, Mr. Doherty predicted, despite the fact that 25%-30% are still in the red.

At the same time he said the vast majority of radio stations are in the black. The survey indicates this trend will continue.

RADIO WAS HEALTHIER in 1950 than in 1949, with 75% of all stations reporting a profit, as compared with only 67% the year before.

BUT COSTS ARE RISING TOO. Labor costs equalled less than a third of total revenue in the period just before World War II. They were equal to half the total revenue in 1950.

THE BEST PROFIT-INSURANCE is to increase output per-employe per-dollar spent. Here's a report of the why's and how's by Richard P. Doherty, employe-employer relations director of NARTB.

BLAIR REALIGNS

Continues Expansion Plan

JOHN BLAIR, founder, president and principal stockholder of John Blair & Co., national radio representative, will become chairman of the board Sept. 1 in the first major change of executive structure since the company's organization 18 years ago.

Richard D. Buckley, vice president and manager of the New York office, will become president, and Robert E. Eastman, account executive in the New York office since 1943, will become a vice president and New York sales manager.

"The changes which we have made in our executive lineup represent a continuation of a plan of expansion which we set up three years ago," Mr. Blair explained.

"At that time, after considerable study, and contrary to much industry opinion then, we became convinced of the true competitive nature of radio and television. We therefore set up Blair-TV Inc., headed by William Weldon as president, as an entirely separate business to handle television alone. Blair-TV was the television industry's first exclusive national representative.

Objects of Blair-TV

"The formation of Blair-TV achieved several important ends," Mr. Blair said. "First, it discharged our obligation to the television stations by providing them with their own exclusive staff of trained specialists. In the second place, it allowed John Blair & Co. to continue to provide the same or improved service to its radio stations without dilution of interest or effort. Moreover, the devotion of [the] company exclusively to AM spot radio was a demonstration of our continuing faith in that medium."

dio company in personnel, services, advertisers and stations, and volume.

"While the spot radio industry has been growing," Mr. Blair added, "it has become more complex and the sales job has become more difficult. Coupled with this increasing complexity is that fact that in recent years we have spent increasing amounts of time with our stations in a joint effort to work out ways and means of preserving them for the future as important advertising vehicles in their area. As president, Mr. Buckley will of course contribute importantly to this work."

Mr. Buckley joined Blair in 1938

after several years with William Rambeau Co. Early in 1946 he was named a vice president and became New York office manager later that year.

The new vice president, Mr. Eastman, joined the company in 1943 as an account executive, after a number of years' prior experience with NBC and ABC spot sales.

History of Firm

John Blair & Co. was formed early in 1933 as Grieg, Blair, and Spight. The original partners were Mr. Blair, Lindsey Spight, now vice president and San Francisco manager of Blair-TV, and Humboldt Grieg, now president and general manager of WHUM Reading, Pa. The company was reorganized under its present title in 1934. The first four stations represented were KNX Los Angeles, KDYL Salt Lake City, WOW Omaha, and WBNS Columbus, Ohio. Although the KNX account was automatically lost when CBS bought the station, since CBS has its own representation organization, the three others are still among those on the Blair list.

MORE CBS CHANGES

14 Given New Posts

REORGANIZATION into Radio and Television Divisions continued at CBS last week as executives announced 14 new appointments. They were:

Charles L. Glett received a dual title Thursday when he was named vice president in charge of network services, Hollywood, for the Radio Division and, separately, vice president in charge of network services, Hollywood, for the CBS Television Division.

In New York, Carl J. Burkland, general sales manager for CBS Radio Sales since 1948, was named director of station administration for CBS Radio Division. Wendell B. Campbell, western sales manager for CBS Radio network sales with headquarters in Chicago since 1950, was moved to New York to serve as general sales manager of CBS Radio Sales starting today (Monday).

All sales activities of CBS Radio Network and local sales (Central Division) will be supervised by E. H. Shomo, assistant general manager of CBS-owned WBBM Chicago and KMOX St. Louis. His assistant sales managers will be R. K. (Dutch) Huston for network sales and C. Gilman Johnston, assistant manager in charge of WBBM sales. These changes are also effective today.

Carl Ward, assistant general manager of WCCO Minneapolis-St. Paul, moves into the office of the general manager of WCBS New York to succeed G. Richard Swift. Until now general manager of both WCBS and WCBS-TV, Mr. Swift will retain his managership of the television outlet.

Shaw Appointed

The eastern sales manager for CBS Radio Sales since July 1950, William Shaw, has been named general manager of KNX Los Angeles and of the Columbia Pacific Radio Network, effective today. Other changes in CBS West Coast organization included the concurrent promotion of Edwin Buckalew as assistant general manager in charge of sales of KNX and the Columbia Pacific Network. Irving Fein was named director of publicity and exploitation, Hollywood, for the CBS Radio Division. Robert Meyer was named director of press information for the CBS Television Division, Hollywood, while Lloyd Brownfield continues as director of press information for the CBS Radio Division, Hollywood.

John G. Grant joined the legal department of the CBS Radio Division in New York, it was announced Wednesday.

Also from New York came word that four staff members have been named to the sales promotion and advertising department of the CBS Radio Division, which remains under the direction of George Bristol; Robert Elliott, formerly assistant promotion director of Fortune magazine, is director of network copy. Frank Nesbitt, recently associated with ABC-TV, joins network sales presentations division as a writer, and William Brower, WGVA Geneva, N. Y., as writer for the program and trade promotion division. Doris Johnston moves from the CBS legal department to become secretary to Mr. Bristol.

Mr. Glett is a former vice president in charge of television for the Don Lee Network and in recent months has served as administrative assistant for KTSL, CBS-owned television station in Hollywood. In his new position he will supervise general business and operational

STATION PENALTIES

PROSPECT that Congress might press for tighter penalty provisions covering broadcast stations and other parties within the jurisdiction of Sec. 606 of the Communications Act appeared likely last week in connection with national defense legislation.

The possibility was held out during hearings on the Defense Dept.'s controversial electromagnetic radiations bill before the House Interstate & Foreign Commerce Committee Thursday. No action was taken by the group as the House began a three-week recess.

The committee received testimony from FCC Comr. E. M. Webster; Ralph Hardy, NARTB government relations director; and Maj. Gen. Francis Ankenbrandt, USAF. Session was called on a proposed amendment to the Communications Act which is designed to bring certain radiation devices (capable of serving as navigational aids) under Sec. 606 together with broadcast stations. It would also impose sanctions for wilful violations. Devices capable of radiating in excess of five miles are included.

The amendment, offered during the hearing by Rep. Lindley Beckworth (R-Tex.), would provide for separate penalties for "wilful failure" to comply with terms prescribed under Presidential authority and for more severe sanctions in cases involving "wilful intent to injure the United States."

The House proposal thus would distinguish between the degree of violations under a new subsection (h) to Sec. 606 of the Communications Act. The Senate Interstate & Foreign Commerce Committee, which held hearings on the legislation earlier this year, had set aside a $1,000 ceiling on fines and one year's imprisonment in the case of individuals, and a fine not to exceed $5,000 for corporations, or both [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, July 16].

Fines Set

Under the House committee's tentative plan, persons who commit violations "with intent to injure the United States or with intent to secure an advantage to any foreign nation," would be subject to fines not to exceed $20,000 and imprisonment not over 20 years, or both.

This has originally been recommended, to a more stringent degree, by the Air Force, but the Senate Commerce Committee, under Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Col.) had rejected the suggestion. The Senate adopted the committee report without objection [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, July 30, 23].

It was not known when the House committee would report the bill. The House is in three-week recess which probably delays a formal report to the lower chamber unless the committee can obtain special permission to file it. In any event, House action on the bill (S 537) appeared unlikely this month.

Speaking for the FCC, Comr. Webster reiterated views on the bill which the Commission had offered in substantially the same form before the Senate committee. In testifying, he supported comments by Chairman Wayne Coy, inserted as part of the record of the hearings.

Chairman Coy had noted that Sec. 606 does not require "anybody to do anything or refrain from doing anything" but merely authorized the President to take action. In fact, he said, "it is possible that violations made pursuant to exercise of Presidential authority under Sec. 606 of the Communications Act would be held not to be in violation of Sec. 501," which sets forth general penalty provisions applicable to the whole Act. No provision of Sec. 606, in itself, contains any criminal sanction which applies to that section as a whole, he noted.

Thus, Chairman Coy explained, FCC is prepared to support a separate subsection (h), under the new bill, establishing certain criminal sanctions for knowing violations issued pursuant to exercise of Presidential authority under Sec. 606.

Comr. Webster, asked about illegal radio transmissions, cited the existence of more stations today and the difficulty stemming from the necessity of policing high frequency bands.

Mr. Hardy testified that "industry is very greatly concerned with the possible exercise of power" under the neutrality provision of the present act. He said he recognizes, however, that broadcasting, "by virtue of any of its great powers, would be subject to special scrutiny."

Questions Effectiveness

The NARTB government relations director also posed the "grave question as to the effectiveness of the control methods which have been devised, at least in their present state of evolution. We have not been advised of any secret plans the military may have, but we have been exposed to many of the plans that have been promulgated for discussion."

Mr. Hardy also questioned the possibility of illegal radio transmissions. "There is not anything, so far as we have been able to determine, that would preclude enemy agents operating in this country from carrying portable transmitting equipment . . . and setting (it) up immediately preceding a bombing attack on this country for use as a navigational aid." This, he added, "disturbs the broadcasters."

Mr. Hardy suggested an adequate monitoring policy over specious transmitters, pointing out that blacking out signals from broadcast transmitters alone would not guarantee against successful

NARTB has no objections to penalty provisions currently contained in the Senate version, though he declined to comment for the present on the new House committee proposal.

Gen. Ankenbrandt traced the history of the bill, which the Defense Dept. had proposed late last year in the form of separate law. He said the language was purposefully broad because of constant development of new weapons.

GAMBLING STUDY

Senate May Open Hearings

EXTENSIVE hearings may be forthcoming on the anti-gambling information legislation now pending before the Senate Interstate & Foreign Commerce Committee, it was indicated last week.

The Justice Dept. is expected to present its attitude on anti-gambling regulations, which will be more in line with those desired by the Senate Crime Investigating Committee.

It was that committee which sent a series of bills on gambling information control to the Senate commerce committee, all of which involve FCC but only one (S 1624) which specifically bears on broadcast operations [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, June 18, 11, 4].

If the Justice Dept. supports the crime committee's proposals—and it is expected to—then a repetition of detailed hearings such as those held last year on similar legislation can be expected.

FCC's position, outlined last year, has been restated again in an Aug. 14 letter from Chairman Wayne Coy to the commerce committee's chairman, Sen. Ed C. Johnson (D-Col.).

Chairman Coy urged the Congress to enact a flat ban on the interstate transmission of information that can be used in gambling operations. And FCC, he said, wants Congress to spell out criminal penalties for violators.

Last year, FCC defined gambling information as "bets or wagers, or betting odds or prices paid on any sporting event or contest." That is precisely the position it holds now, Chairman Coy's letter revealed.

Chairman Coy noted that the crime committee "stopped short" of proposing a complete ban on interstate transmission of gambling information (including prices paid and odds on future events) in order to avoid any claim that it was infringing on the freedom of the press and of radio.

But, FCC warned, it has been found that quick broadcasting of racing results and betting prices, as well as odds, is of great value to bookies and would become more so if regular wire services were restricted in their dissemination of such information.

Another bill (S 1563)—designed to put out of business the Continental Press Service, national horse racing news wire—would specifically exempt broadcasters from licensing requirements which would be administered by FCC.

Of this, the FCC Chairman warned the legislation could be construed to take away authority from the Commission in its efforts to stop broadcasts of direct gambling information by any licensed station.

Coy's View

Chairman Coy said:

As the committee is aware, the Commission has been confronted with cases where broadcasting stations have been transmitting information which enabled gamblers to carry on bookmaking activities, and the Commission feels strongly that any implication that the Commission does not have the power to prevent radio stations from operating in such a manner should be avoided.

Of the proposed licensing provision of the bill, Chairman Coy asserted, as he has before Congressional committees in the past, that its administration would be unwieldy and burdensome on the Commission's already taxed personnel.

HENNOCK HEARING OFF

New Date Soon

SENATE Judiciary Committee was scheduled at BROADCASTING • TELECASTING's deadline to hear the judgeship nomination of FCC Comr. Frieda B. Hennock as soon as the committee agenda permits, possibly this week.

The hearing by the full committee had been scheduled for last Saturday [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 20] but was postponed because a survey of committee members indicated a quorum could not be mustered.

The announcement was made by Judiciary Chairman Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) late last week. He added that a new date would be set "shortly."

Despite this new delay, the Senate has in effect ordered a speedup on confirmation proceedings after a prolonged, three-month waiting period on President Truman's appointment of Miss Hennock to the bench in New York's southern district.

While storm signals have been posted, chiefly by law critics in New York, the Capitol Hill barometer climbed last week toward fair weather ahead.

The livelier pace also brought closer the eventual appointment of president and managing director of the station on Oct. 1. Announcement was made by President Arthur B. Church last Thursday following disclosure Aug. 20 that Karl Koerper was resigning his KMBC post to accept a vice presidency at the Kansas City Power & Light Co.

Mr. Higgins joined KMBC earlier this year after resigning as general manager of WISH Indianapolis. As operations head, he will continue to actively supervise sales.

Mr. Church expressed surprise that Mr. Koerper was leaving the organization, saying:

Of course, I am very sorry to lose him but I wish him only the best in the highly important position he will occupy. He will be available to us in an advisory capacity as long as is necessary. Fortunately, we have in George Higgins an experienced man, fully qualified to assume the post of operations head on Oct. 1 after Koerper leaves. He will continue to manage KMBC-KFRM sales activity in addition to his new administrative responsibility.

It was also announced last week that Arthur B. Church Jr., son of the president and founder of KMBC, on Aug. 16 had joined KMBC and its sister station KFRM in a sales capacity. The younger Mr. Church, a 1950 graduate of Amherst, until recently had been acquiring radio background and experience at CBS and WBBM Chicago.

a successor on the FCC bench. Washington circles still offer the name of Robert T. Bartley, nephew of House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) to whom he is administrative assistant, as the favorite candidate being considered by the White House [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, June 18].

Mr. Bartley is a former broadcaster and trade association executive, starting in radio in 1934. He is 42 years old.

Indication that the committee wants to get going on the nomination was evidenced by the decision to hold the hearing with the full Judiciary group in attendance rather than the three-man subcommittee as previously planned.

This procedure eliminates the necessity for a subcommittee report and its recommendation to the full committee and possibly the rehashing of testimony delivered.

It also was pointed out that the full committee hearing will tend to Miss Hennock's favor as a prolonged wrangle would surely dissipate chances for quick Senate confirmation.

Opposition to her appointment,

Mr. Bartley, leading contender to succeed Miss Hennock on the FCC, works behind his House desk as on the other side of the Capitol, hearings are being set on Madame Commissioner's bid for a New York judgeship.

announced in June by the White House, has come from law groups centered mainly in New York.

First to come out against the appointment was the Assn. of the Bar of the City of New York, which registered opposition the day after the nomination was announced in Washington.

That group, subsequently backed up by other lawyer associations in the Empire State and also the American Bar Assn., alleged Miss Hennock to be "totally unqualified." The reason for the bar's opposition was never made public. In addition, the New York County Lawyers Assn. and the New York State Bar Assn. have protested.

However, support also has been registered, chiefly from women's units. A legal group favoring her nomination is the New York Women's Bar Assn.

FCBA Approves

As early as the week her nomination was announced, Miss Hennock received congratulations from FCC, itself, and significantly, the Federal Communications Bar Assn. adopted a resolution saying it was the opinion of FCBA that in the "judicial functioning" of the Commission, Miss Hennock "has demonstrated her legal ability and a fair and judicial attitude" in matters coming before FCC's consideration.

Miss Hennock would succeed, upon confirmation, Judge Alfred C. Coxe, retired. Her salary would be the same as Commissioner—$15,000 per year. However, the judge appointment is for life tenure. Miss Hennock's term as Commissioner expires June 30, 1955.

UNION PACTS

CERTAIN appeals for wage adjustments negotiated by talent and technical broadcasting unions with individual radio-TV stations are coming under the watchful eye of regional Wage Stabilization Board offices under a new decentralized policy announced last week.

Primarily, these petitions involve pacts reached by local broadcasters with AFRA, IBEW, NABET and other unions and providing for more than the basic 10% increases allowed by the board over the January 1950 base period.

Under a policy announced last Wednesday by WSB, 14 regional boards comprising industry and labor members are being set up to process appeals and generally facilitate the operation of the wage program. Petitions involving network contracts will remain under national WSB jurisdiction, it was indicated.

Other Appeals

A number of cases involving individual stations have been filed with WSB and will be referred to regional branches for processing. WSB authorities said last week that the agency previously had rejected other appeals but were unable to identify the broadcasters or unions involved. One of those reportedly turned down concerned WHK Cleveland, but details were unavailable.

One petition was known to be slated for rerouting, however, to the regional level—that of IBEW and WBKB (TV) Chicago. Both parties are awaiting approval of terms stipulated in a new contract agreed upon but not yet signed.

WSB Regional Boards To Weigh Appeals

Also hanging in the balance are pacts negotiated by NABET with KGO-AM-TV San Francisco. The radio agreement covers four writer-producers, calling for a basic weekly salary of $120 compared to the former $85-$95 scale—or a better than 10% increase. The TV agreement deals with production assistants and scenic artists, who stand to realize monthly salary boosts from 25% to 50%.

The general wage level currently being sought by NABET invited speculation that other appeals would be filed with regional WSB offices, perhaps in cases involving KNBC Hollywood and KSMO (FM) San Mateo, Calif., among others.

WSB regional directors (to be designated chairmen) will be delegated authority to process and act upon wage adjustment applications, petitions involving base period abnormalities, and productivity increases. The national board will continue to handle appeals on companies "located in more than one board region" (networks with more than one station included in negotiations) and disputed cases.

The 14 regions comprise Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Richmond, Atlanta, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Dallas, Denver, San Francisco and Seattle. Four representatives will be drawn each from the industry, public and labor fields to make up the regional offices.

In the IBEW-WBKB case a new contract, which would be in effect until Aug. 31, 1952, provides for a 3½ year wage escalator with a starting salary of $80 for engineers, an increase from $72.50. The maximum remains $137.50. Contract also provides for five supervisory jobs, paying a flat $162.50 weekly, which have been filled by three IBEW and two WBKB men who will join the union.

Management has agreed to a three-week vacation yearly and premium pay for holidays, with contract terms retroactive to May 1. Only element still to be decided is the pending jurisdictional dispute with the International Assn. of Theatrical Stage Employees (IATSE), Chicago Local 666, which claims authority over cameramen. IBEW, which has most of the cameramen in the country, hopes to settle the matter with IATSE without going to the National Labor Relations Board, and union discussions are going on now at the international level. The IATSE contract covering WBKB cameramen expires Sept. 28.

IN THE FIVE POINT SYSTEM OF PROGRAMMING EVALUATION—

Educational Programs

IN IOWA, WHO IS THE PREFERRED EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM STATION

One of the twentieth century's most dramatic developments is the sudden emergence of the modern farmer and the modern farm family. Freed from impassable roads and stifling isolation, the average Iowa farm household is now more progressive and more prosperous than the average American household.

Radio has played an enormous part in this transformation. It has helped teach and "sell" our people new ideas of every sort — economic, cultural, social. In 1950, Iowa listeners were asked to appraise the jobs being done by radio and by schools. The following chart (from the 1950 Iowa Radio Audience Survey) tells the story:

In this area they are doing:	WOMEN		MEN
	Schools	Radio	Schools	Radio
As excellent job.....	11.4%	13.2%	10.7%	12.7%
A good job.....	59.5	69.2	60.1	70.9

Year in, year out, Station WHO devotes a very sizable part of all its programming to Educational Programs. In 1946, WHO conceived and pioneered the Plowing Matches and Soil Conservation Days which have swept the nation ever since, and have taught millions of farmers "how to do" the kind of terracing, draining, plowing, etc. that improves farm lands, produces record crops.

In 1941 WHO inaugurated the annual Master Swine Producer Project which has helped ever since to make Iowa the nation's top hog-producing state (20% of the U. S. total).

In 1946, '47, '48 and '49, WHO won National Safety Council Awards for promoting Farm Safety. In recent years we have won two Distinguished Service Awards from the National Board of Fire Underwriters for our spectacular promotion of Fire Safety. In 1940, we inaugurated the Annual National Radio Corn Festival, which has unquestionably contributed to the nation's vastly-increased corn production. All these and many other Public Education projects are sponsored . . . by WHO alone!

This is Point Five in the Five Point System of Programming Evaluation, which helps explain WHO's outstanding position as a public facility and as an advertising medium, in Iowa Plus. We suggest your consideration of this and the other four points as vital factors in time-buying.

Support Urged At W. Va. Meet

AMERICAN broadcasters were called upon to support the Asian counterpart of Radio Free Europe by Col. James T. Quirk, just returned from Korea, who addressed the West Virginia Assn. of Broadcasters last Friday.

The broadcasters were holding their semi-annual meeting at the Greenbrier in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. Aug. 23-24.

Col. Quirk recently returned from the post of special assistant to the United Nations Supreme Commander in the Far East, Gen. Matthew Ridgway, and has joined the Philadelphia Inquirer as general promotion manager. Before taking the UN post, he was program director for WFIL Philadelphia. He declared that American ★ broadcasters, "who play such a vital part in communications in our own country, should be conscious of the tremendous need for establishing a basis for communication with people of the East." He stressed that "we are under great delusions if we believe that people in the Far East have faith or confidence in our motives . . ."

Association President Joe L. Smith Jr., president of the Personality Stations (WJLS Beckley, WKNA Charleston and WKWK Wheeling), opened the meeting.

Mr. Smith pointed out that the West Virginia station association is the only one in the country to have pledged a definite sum of money—$30,700—for support of the Crusade for Freedom, sponsor of Radio Free Europe.

The WVAB also heard talks by BAB President William B. Ryan on "How to be a Better Radio Salesman" and Fred A. Palmer, management and operations consultant of Columbus, Ohio, on "You Are a Salesman."

On Thursday the broadcasters reiterated their support of Radio Free Europe and endorsed BMI's "Young Composer's Contest" and "Children's Book Reviews."

They also expressed opposition to West Virginia legislature's House Act 226 which forbids radio stations or newspapers to accept advertising from non-approved insurance companies. The broadcasters maintain the burden of proof should rest on the advertisers, not the media handling their sales messages. It was decided to turn the whole matter over to NARTB.

Friday's program opened with BMI's "Program and Sales Clinic," led by Chairman Lin Pattee of BMI. Speakers for BMI included Glenn Dolberg, BMI; Harry McTigue, WINN Louisville, Ky.; Robert J. Burton, BMI; Sam Carey, WRVA Richmond, Va., and Dave Baylor, WJMO Cleveland, Ohio.

Speaking for the West Virginia broadcasters were John T. Gelder, WCHF Charleston; Frank E. Shaffer, WEIR Weirton; J. Robert Kerns, WMMN Fairmont, and William R. Barrett, WJLS Beckley.

Col. Quirk's address to the Friday luncheon session was followed by BMI President Carl Haverlin's address closing the "Program and Sales Clinic."

KBR STATIONS

Yankee, MBS Ties Severed

FOUR stations licensed to the Granite State Broadcasting Co. Inc. have severed affiliations with MBS and the Yankee Network, it was learned last week.

The stations are WKBR Manchester, WTSV Claremont, WTSL Hanover-Lebanon, all in Vermont, and WTSA Brattleboro, Vt. Severance of affiliations became effective July 29.

William F. Rust Jr., general manager of the KBR Stations, as they are known, explained that recent network rate reductions, the imposition of free commercial hours and the widespread sale of participating network announcements within Yankee Network shows have combined to make further affiliation impossible and uneconomical.

"I am afraid," commented Mr. Rust, "that in this case the network is killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. By tailoring our local programs to suit our own local markets we can best serve our communities and can continue our growth in our non-television markets regardless of how badly TV competition may induce the nationwide networks to undermine their rate structure."

Owners of the Granite State Broadcasting Co. Inc. are listed by FCC as William J. Barkley, president and director; Mr. Rust, treasurer and director; H. Scott Killgore, vice president and director and Ralph Gottlieb, WKBR commercial manager.

WCDC Carbondale, Pa., a fortnight ago announced it was giving up its MBS affiliation because of network rate cuts [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 20].

Polling the experts on Cleveland's best buy

Horace Norris, Nat'l. Adv. Mgr., says:

"As I see it, the basic plot is concentration on our key markets. That means radio, America's No. 1 mass medium, and in Northeastern Ohio, that means WTAM—the only station to deliver sizeable audience in all four markets of Cleveland, Akron, Canton and Youngstown. And at the cost of a single schedule. To get 4 for 1, better buy WTAM."

Stewart Stuart, Acct. Exec., adds:

"When I want to wake up a market, give me a station's grass-roots impact. Sure, WTAM is Cleveland's lowest cost-per-1000 station for announcements. But it's the community identification that gets me—the only NBC station in the entire area, and the first 50,000 watt station in Northern Ohio. It's old-fashioned good radio without fooling."

Morton Horton, listener, concludes:

"I'm thinking of the WTAM shows I live by. Up in the morning to Jay Miltner. Off to work on time thanks to Tom Haley. Then the little lady tunes in Woman's Club of the Air. And after an evening of the big NBC shows, I'm sold on the 11 PM News, and wind up happy with Tom Manning's Sportcast. It's Cleveland's finest listening, and I come from Cleveland, so I ought to know."

Monroe Monroe, Timebuyer, insists:

"I want to send up skyrocketers on audience size. With the largest daily BMB audience in Cleveland and over twice the audience of any other station in the entire Northern Ohio area, WTAM has the highest Hoopers in more periods of the noon to midnight peak listening time than any other area station. Yes, WTAM rates better than any other station."

All the experts agree . . . Whatever your angle, the conclusion just can't be denied—WTAM is Cleveland's best radio buy. And just so, all seven major market stations represented by NBC Spot Sales are the best buys in their areas. And that's only one reason why first calls just naturally are put in to NBC Spot. Serving only seven key radio stations, your NBC Spot Salesman has the time to devote to your account . . . the knowledge, organization and research services to show what Spot can deliver for you in the nation's key markets . . .

identifying himself, emphasizes: "Listen! Wherever You Go, There's Radio."

The same slogan is being carried on WBS correspondence and material distributed to stations, agencies, etc., in addition to being used as closing line on future World programs.

Discussing the Detroit and Tulsa campaigns, BAB Chief Ryan said they "are providing a splendid example to the rest of the industry" but that "our plan, when it is ready, will make it possible, we hope, to start overnight a full-scale movement in this direction."

He said he recently wired the presidents of all state broadcasters associations for recommendations for top-flight promotion men to work as a special committee on this and other projects.

The three "general lines" he advocated for cooperative promotion were described by Mr. Ryan as follows:

"First of all, the individual station operators in a market or community must meet together, not just once, but often. They should meet with one another at least once a month to discuss their overall commercial sales problems and the strategy for meeting and solving these problems locally.

"They should, and this is still part of step one, combine their efforts wherever it is at all possible, pooling their resources for local surveys and other research that is of a non-competitive nature, etc. Since they all are drawing their local revenue from the same advertisers, the broadcasters should

TULSA AM

TULSA's concerted and unified AM radio campaign is getting off to a facts-and-figures pace.

The city's six stations are conducting an all-out local cooperative drive to emphasize radio, as are some eight outlets in Detroit, indicating a trend in joint promotion efforts [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 20].

The Tulsa group, called the Associated Tulsa Broadcasters, has just released a promotion piece prepared independently by a local research firm that purports an overwhelming number of radio homes in the market area.

The study was conducted by Leslie Brooks & Assoc., Tulsa research consultants. It claims 212,940 radio homes in a specified Tulsa area, as compared to 31,072 "television homes and businesses as of July, 1951."

Explaining its survey, conducted for participating association members KAKC KFMJ KOME KRMG KTUL and KVOO, the Brooks firm asserted it was taken "in Tulsa and in 40 towns in the Tulsa TV area."

To back up the accuracy of the figures, the Tulsa broadcasters bung this challenge; "$1,000 reward! Associated Tulsa Broadcasters have posted $1,000 with the

Vast Plurality of Radio Homes Cited by Unity

First National Bank and Trust Co. of Tulsa to be given to the first person proving the Brooks survey is not within 5% of accuracy, as of date made."

It was further stated that the survey embraced a 3,416 interview sample, "statistically valid within 2%." Market saturation according to the survey, is 21.0% TV homes and businesses compared to 98.8% radio homes in the city of Tulsa. In the so-called Tulsa TV area, exclusive of the city, Brooks found 11.3% TV homes and businesses, 98.3% radio.

Further figures released: Families with both TV and radio sets, average listening viewing per day, 4.28 radio, 4.45 television; those with radio sets only, average per day is 5.3 hours.

Copy of the survey, according to the brochure, can be obtained by writing any one of the Tulsa stations or from their national representatives.

by all means try to agree on what the fundamental values of local radio actually are and jointly see to it that advertisers become aware of these values.

"Step two should consist of carrying out audience promotion to increase tune-in. There should be always a central theme and of course, as in step one, the costs should be shared equitably.

"Step three—and this grows in importance all the time—is for the whole group in a community to plan a full year's activity in public service programming. I am convinced that radio broadcasters in a community can easily do a better public service job than any other media group if they will just make the effort and try conscientiously to be really helpful and useful in the many worthwhile projects that deserve their fullest support."

He said "the important thing" in public service programming "is to develop a sound and solid plan" for handling such shows—"to meet with and make these plans with the top people locally who are responsible for their community's participation; to follow through on the plan in every detail.

"Recognition will follow immediately and automatically," he continued. "The broadcasters need never worry that their generous efforts will go unnoticed."

Mr. Ryan's congratulatory wires to the Tulsa and Detroit broadcasters went to William B. Way, general manager of KVOO Tulsa and chairman of the group of six stations which formed Associated Tulsa Broadcasters to promote radio as the most economical and effective advertising medium; and to Hal Neal of WXYZ Detroit, who heads the group of seven Detroit stations who allied themselves for a similar purpose.

The BAB executive said the goal of the Detroit and Tulsa groups "is a basic objective of BAB."

"I have featured this objective in all of my talks and BAB will continue to plead this cause until the broadcasters of every city and town in the U. S. are working jointly for their own welfare and the general welfare of radio," he said.

Tale of The Graph

AS PART of Tulsa's AM radio promotion campaign, KTUL Tulsa has prepared a chart showing a drop in TV sets manufactured last spring. Station's chart points up a corresponding rise in radio set production for the same period. Figures, according to station, are taken from Radio - Television Mfrs. Assn.'s computations. While chart goes from January 1950 to June 1951, station emphasizes that in July 1951 TV industry turned out "only 106,055 sets—a brand new low. During the same period, radio manufacturers turned out 734,281 sets."

AD VALUE

Radio Backs AFA Promotion

ADVERTISING men will turn to radio for major help in their sixth annual campaign to inform the public of the value of advertising, it was indicated last week when Advertising Federation of America launched its 1951-52 drive.

The federation will send recorded commercials to an estimated 1,000 stations throughout the country, stressing variations of the campaign theme: "Advertising Gives You More for Your Money." Eight messages, three one-minute, one 25-second, two 15-second, and two 10-second transcriptions, will be recorded on a single vinylite record.

Radio was put to further use when closed circuits of NBC and ABC were used to introduce the campaign to radio officials and local advertising clubs. Ben R. Donaldson, director of advertising and sales promotion for the Ford Motor Co., spoke Wednesday over NBC facilities, and Albert L. Morse, vice president of Goodall Fabrics, spoke Thursday on ABC circuit.

The AFA campaign, expected to achieve its peak this spring, will reach an estimated 75 million people through radio, newspapers, magazines, outdoor, and transportation advertising. No television facilities will be employed.

S.E. FM NETWORK

Discussed at Birmingham Meeting
FORMATION of a five-state FM network was discussed recently at a FM broadcasters' meeting in the studios of WSGN Birmingham.

They pointed out that due to the increasing number of FM set owners, separate programs based on the interest of large rural groups may be necessary.

The FM broadcasters from Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, South Carolina and North Carolina appointed Henry P. Johnston, managing director of WSGN-AM-FM, chairman of a committee to study prospects for a FM network.

Those attending were:

STATION SALES

KALI, KAFP, WIBS Affected

SALES of two California radio stations and one in Puerto Rico were revealed last week. Stations are KALI Pasadena and KAFP Petaluma, in California, and WIBS Santurce, P. R. All must have FCC approval for transfer.

KALI was sold by John H. Poole to Consolidated Broadcasting Co. for $40,000. New owners include Henry Fritzen, Los Angeles advertising agency owner; Jack Reeder, chief engineer, and Charles Hughes, account executive, both with KXLA Pasadena. KALI operates with 1 kw daytime-only on 1430 kc and is affiliate with LBS. Sale was necessary under FCC's duopoly rules because Mr. Poole got a grant in March for KBIG Avalon. KBIG is due to begin broadcasting early in March with 10 kw daytime-only on 740 kc and will cover the Los Angeles area.

Year-old KAFP (250 w on 1490 kc) was sold for $30,000 to radiomen V. A. L. Linder and William A. Exline. Mr. Linder is now continuity supervisor and a production director of KEX Portland, Ore., and will be president and general manager of KAFP. Mr. Exline is now news editor of KSLM Salem, Ore. Associated with them is M. E. Linder, now with the U. S. Dept. of Labor, who will be sales manager. Sale was handled through Blackburn-Hamilton Co.

Following closely after the $375,000 sale of WIAC San Juan to WKAQ in the same city [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 13], WIBS Santurce has been sold for $174,200 to Thomas Muniz, manager of WIAC, and Ramon Pares, former assistant manager of WKAQ. Sellers are Adolfo Veve and associates. WIBS operates with 10 kw on 740 kc, directional. Mr. Munitz will be manager of WIBS and hopes to change call letters to WIAC after present WIAC call is changed to WKAQ.

WOULD DENY BID

For D.C. Suburb AM Outlet

DENIAL of a new AM station for Washington suburb, Bradbury Heights, Md., was proposed in an initial decision issued Thursday by FCC Hearing Examiner Hugh B. Hutchison. Chesapeake Broadcasting Co. had applied for 1540 kc there with 1 kw daytime only.

Examiner's initial decision maintained that the standards of good engineering practice would not be satisfied since they "expressly provide that in case a Class II, III-B or IV station is located in a metropolitan area the interference-free contour shall include 90% of the population of said metropolitan area."

The proposed assignment in Bradbury Heights would render primary service to only 45% of the Washington, D. C., metropolitan area in which Bradbury Heights is located, the decision said.

New job?

HERE'S THE COST OF TOOLS FOR 5 TYPICAL U. S. OCCUPATIONS

2. This is one of the main reasons why we need all sizes of businesses in America—big, medium and small. The average oil well drilling rig, for example, costs about $200,000. For the 20 men who make up its 4 crews, this represents a tool investment of $10,000 per man.

3. High-cost tools are typical of the oil business. So is the large amount of capital required for raw-material supplies, transportation systems, etc. Our average investment at Union Oil, for example, is $67,000 (in refineries, ships, tools, rigs, oil lands, etc.) for each one of our 7974 employees.

4. That's why you find many big companies in the oil industry. A rough carpenter can set himself up in business without outside help. But the only way we could have financed the $67,000 worth of tools, equipment and raw-material supplies that are required for each of our employees was by pooling the money of a lot of people.

5. This pooling process resulted in a corporation known as Union Oil Company, owned by 36,012 individual stockholders. (The largest one of our stockholders owns less than 1/4% of the total stock of the company.) By some standards Union Oil Company is big. By others it is small.* But big or small, its size is a direct result of the economic functions it has to perform.

*The U. S. government, for example, is so much bigger than Union Oil Company that it takes in and puts out almost as much money every day as Union does in an entire year.

MONITORING FUNDS FCC, Defense Budgets Cut

FCC's request for additional monies to expand radio monitoring activities embracing certain phases of its emergency broadcast plan and detection of illegal radio transmissions was wiped out by an economy-minded House bloc last week and earmarked for stormy debate in the Senate.

In a drastic move, the lower chamber voted down a $1 million sum approved by the House Appropriations Committee for monitoring activities in a supplemental funds bill (HR 5215). President Truman originally had requested $1,340,000 for this purpose [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, May 31]. The bill was passed last Monday and sent to the Senate.

At the same time, the House equally showed little concern in slashing federal civil defense funds, preserving intact an almost 90% reduction approved by the House committee. Monies for attack warning and communications systems were voted, however, by the House.

Prime mover behind maneuvers to eviscerate the Commission's monitoring expenditures was Rep. John Phillips (R-Calif.), who declared that FCC had been given sufficient regular funds "to absorb more urgent expenses of the war like this one." Congress had given the Commission $6,116,500 for fiscal 1952, considerably less ($733,350) than the amount asked by the Chief Executive [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 20, 6]. Rep. Phillips proposed the amendment which wiped out FCC funds.

The proposal drew sharp comment from Rep. Albert Thomas (D-Texas), who protested that the funds were vitally needed for national defense work. He told House colleagues that the FCC had detected transmission of unauthorized shortwave radio signals piped from within the District of Columbia to Iron Curtain countries. He urged caution in fund-cutting, noting that the House committee already had pared expenses 25% to 30%. FCC declined comment on the revelation. Both Reps. Thomas and Phillips are members of the House Appropriations Committee whose subcommittee held hearings under Rep. Thomas last June.

Rep. Eugene Cox (D-Ga.), vitriolic critic of FCC, added fuel to the fire with another outburst directed at Commission personnel, with particular emphasis on alleged leftist influences within the agency's legal department. Once again he chided FCC Chairman Wayne Coy, noting his former association with the Washington Post as director of radio activities [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, May 14]. Taking another tack he stated:

... Not an additional dime should be appropriated to the [FCC]. It has been able to get ... for a number of years ... money far in excess of what the Commission might legitimately use. It is overstaffed. It operated as a coverup for Communism during the last war. It is at this time staffed with extreme leftists. In their legal department alone, they have 97 people, 67 of whom are lawyers. ... They could get along with a half a dozen. ... There is no justification for making this appropriation. ...

In making its report, the House Appropriations Committee noted that the extra funds would be used for new monitoring stations, including necessary personnel; additional investigative staff and mobile monitoring equipment; detection and control of electromagnetic radiations for air defense (see separate story); and for urgently-needed components necessary to efficient operation for direction-finding equipment.

Gives Details

Details of these projects, including FCC's broadcast alert plan, were revealed in hearing released by the House Committee Aug. 17. Appearing for the Commission were Comr. George E. Sterling; Frank Kratokvil, acting chief, Field Engineering & Monitoring Div.; Ralph Renton, Office of the Chief Engineer, and others. Col. Gomer Lewis, U. S. Air Force, represented the Defense Dept.

Comr. Sterling said the Commission planned to establish four new secondary monitoring stations (two in Alaska, one in Puerto Rico, one in Arizona), which would require funds of $94,660 to cover an average employment of 16.4 persons, and another $176,000 for rental and equipment.

Another $448,515 was sought for some 110 employees to man existing monitor stations, including those earmarked for operation under FCC's radiation control plan. About 99 employees would be assigned to the 18 existent and five proposed stations, and the remainder to net control stations at Laurel, Md., and Livermore, Calif.

In submitting budget estimates, Comr. Sterling cited support from Maj. Gen. Francis Ankenbrandt, USAF, in connection with the Air Force-FCC broadcast alert plan. The General had observed:

Along with this plan is the problem of necessary monitoring of all broadcasting stations to insure that strict adherence to the plan is maintained and that clandestine as well as intentional broadcasts are determined, identified, and located in the minimum of time in order to take the necessary

where all your customers have just had a raise!

What better sales market could a man want? New wealth, a rising standard of living, plus higher wages equal new business. And that's the happy situation in British Columbia.

B. C., Canada's anchor province on the Pacific Coast, modestly claims to be Canada's fastest-growing market. It salts its sales pitch with accredited figures to prove it. Like most revealing figures, they're worth a second look.

Since 1941, B. C.'s population has increased faster than any province in Canada (40% in ten years). A statistician, plotting the population growth of B. C. just six years ago, guesstimated the population would reach one million by 1975. But by 1950 B. C. was already well over a million—and still growing.

With 8.25% of Canada's population, B. C. accounts for 11% of the Dominion's retail sales. B. C. has the highest wage index. Other items: In ten years, its retail sales increased over 231%; new construction up over 300%; forestry production jumped 225%. Had enough?

The B. C. market—likely the wealthiest per capita in Canada—is of course a competitive one. Those who know B. C. best say sales soar when radio is your medium. The coastal province is strategically covered by radio stations, so that all the lucrative marketing areas are covered. Radio is the salesman's elixir, because B. C. listens to radio.

If you're planning to sell in Canada—or want to go on selling—British Columbia is one of your best bets. And you'll find radio your best sales voice.

"In Canada, you sell 'em when you tell 'em!"

UNION TAG Bill Would Affect Newsmen

NEWSMEN or commentators on the air would have to identify their labor union affiliations under terms of a bill that has been introduced in the House by Rep. Richard B. Vail (R-Ill.).

The measure (HR 5204) also would require such membership or affiliation to appear in all matter contained in a newspaper relating to economic, political affairs or labor problems and activities. Conditions are the same in the broadcast provision.

An announcement would be made at the beginning and at the close of a broadcast "clearly identifying as such each author, speaker, and portrayer of the matter so broadcast" who is a member or affiliate in a labor organization. Violation would be $50 for each broadcast not so identified and would be paid by the radio or TV station.

In a speech on the floor Aug. 16, Rep. Vail said he was introducing the legislation to "serve the vital purpose of informing the public of author affiliation to permit correct appraisal of news content." The bill was referred to the Home Education and Labor Committee.

During his House talk, the congressman attacked American Newspaper Guild and the CIO, with which ANG is affiliated. He intimated that "radicals" and Communist-inspired members have access to control the means of communication—"Hence, their amazingly bold effort to subjugate press, radio, and the films."

NABET CHOSEN Wins WEBR, WKOP Elections

TWO additional upstate New York stations — WEBR Buffalo and WKOP Binghamton—have been claimed by NABET as a result of elections held Aug. 14 and 16 among certain employees who voted on a collective bargaining representative, the CIO union reported last week.

At WEBR 13 engineers voted unanimously for NABET, with certification date set for Sept. 1. The technicians are now represented by the American Communications Assn., whose contract with the station expires on that date. WEBR becomes the fifth NABET member in Buffalo, according to Tim J. O'Sullivan, NABET national representative. Union also was chosen as bargaining agent by announcers, announcer-operators, salesmen and a news editor at WKOP by a 6-1 vote, he said.

NABET also hopes to emerge with representation for production and engineering employees at WBNF Binghamton at an election slated for Sept. 6, and also has petitioned for staff announcers at WINR Binghamton. Union now renresents technicians at the latter outlet, as well as at WENE Endicott, N. Y.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF COAL

A MONTHLY REPORT TO EDITORS

COAL'S SAFETY RECORD OUTSTANDING.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that industrial accidents are beginning to climb alarmingly—doubtless because of speeded defense production and inexperienced workers. Contrasted to this, coal's safety record is outstanding. Not only was last year the safest in coal-mining history, but reports for this year show an even better record in the making. Today coal mining is twice as safe as it was ten years ago—the result of one of the most vigorous and effective safety programs carried on by any American industry.

COAL ASH COMPLETELY REMOVED BY NEW VACUUM SYSTEM.

The city of Jamestown's new coal-fired electric plant features a vacuum ash-handling system that completely removes ash, fly ash, soot, and dust—without any manual labor. The entire operation is push-button controlled, and is so effective that even the boiler room is free of dust. Such modern coal- and ash-handling equipment cuts labor costs and practically eliminates inconveniences. In addition, it makes coal, in most cases, not only the least expensive fuel, but also an easier, more economical and efficient fuel to use.

DEMAND FOR COAL UP.

A report from the New York area shows that 25% more coal is being bought this year than last. Demands for export are heavy, and many plants, especially in the upstate region, are turning to coal for economy and dependability of supply. A long-range factor affecting the demand for coal is that, because of coal's abundance and because the coal industry is so highly mechanized and efficient, coal prices are likely to remain far more stable than those of any other fuel.

LIGNITE TO GENERATE POWER FOR NEW ALUMINUM PLANT.

Large deposits of lignite, a "young," brown-black form of coal, will soon be put to work generating power for a new aluminum plant to be built in Texas—so says a recent article in the Wall Street Journal. New technical developments have opened up this vast, new source of energy—further extending coal's horizons into the future. America's tremendous coal and lignite reserves account for 90% of the nation's fuel resources—enough to generate abundant power and heat for many centuries to come.

URGE BAB SUPPORT Need Outlined At Roanoke

RADIO's need for BAB, and what BAB is doing to meet the need, were outlined by officials of the sales promotion bureau at Roanoke, Va., last Friday in the first of a series of BAB clinics to be held in conjunction with the 17 NARTB district meetings.

BAB President William B. Ryan sketched the organization's objectives and range of services for the promotion of radio sales on both local and national levels, while Miss Lee Hart, BAB retail specialist, previewed in detail three forthcoming BAB sales aids derived from point-of-sale surveys conducted by Advertising Research Bureau Inc., results of 52 of which BAB is publishing.

Opening the BAB session, Board Chairman Edgar Kobak emphasized radio broadcasters' need for BAB as a promotion agent for all radio.

'Not in Doubt'

"Radio's future is not in doubt —radio's future is secure, provided every responsible operator in this industry gives BAB his proper quota of support," Mr. Kobak declared. "Not just his money, because you can't do a job with money alone. BAB must have the benefit of your brains and your energy. No one in radio can afford any longer to stand on the sidelines and wait for the others to do the job. BAB Inc. is yours. You must see to it that BAB gets every possible chance to work for you."

At the clinic BAB officials urged NARTB members who now pay BAB dues via NARTB to sign up at once for conversion of their dues system, effective next April 1, to the BAB monthly rate of one-half the highest hourly rate of the station, which becomes standard rate for all station memberships on the April 1 date.

A six-man panel under the chairmanship of Robert M. Lambe, sales manager of WTAR Norfolk, was scheduled to present case histories on specific sales and on "meeting the competition" as another feature of the Roanoke meeting. Scheduled panel members were Harry B. Shaw, WSJS Winston-Salem, N. C.; Gus Youngstead, WPTF Raleigh; Jim Hicks, WCOS Columbia, S. C.; Eddie Whitlock, WRNL Richmond; James A. Hagen, WWNC Asheville, and John Harkrader, WDBJ Roanoke. A question-answer session followed.

President Ryan employed an array of charts and exhibits, titled "Brass Tacks and Bright Future," in outlining BAB's sales aids. These include the BAB co-op service, direct-mail aids, special presentations, retail service bulletins, radio success stories supplied by advertisers, as well as by stations; BAB's "trouble-shooting" functions, special reporting services, weekly sales bulletins, library service and analyses of the ARBI surveys, which are to be published under the title "Count Your Listeners."

He also pointed out that BAB's newspaper counterpart, the Newspaper Bureau of Advertising, has 103 executives and staff members as against 16 at BAB.

RCA Ad in 'Record'

COPY of an RCA advertisement that appeared in The Washington Post was included in last Tuesday's Congressional Record by Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.), who singled out RCA President Frank Folsom as having "served with distinction during World War II in field procurement for the government, both for the Navy and for the War Production Board." Advertisement dealt with RCA cooperation with a small business firm, The Penn Engineering & Mfg. Co., Doylestown, Pa., in the production of light-weight walkietalkies.

He had been with McCann-Erickson in Toronto, Cleveland, Chicago and New York offices, and was a vice president before his retirement in 1943. Survivors include two daughters, Janet Atwood, member of the Skidmore College faculty and Sally Atwood, Mount Holyoke College senior, a sister and a brother.

In Any Language . . .

IF KFWB Hollywood listeners tuning in that station during a station break think that a foreign station has taken over the channel, it's all because KFWB's production director Dan Russell got tired of the dull routine station break. Seeking something new in that department Dan conceived the idea of a foreign language break. Listeners now discover what station they're tuned in on by hearing a voice say in French, Spanish, Italian, German or Portuguese something similar to "For Easy listening it's KFWB Hollywood." At that point the announcer comes in and says "No matter how you say it, for easy listening it's KFWB Hollywood."

INDUSTRY JOBS

Technicians' Opportunity

EMPLOYMENT prospects for radio and television technicians are particularly bright during the current mobilization program, with demand far exceeding supply, the government has reported.

In a special Occupational Outlook released yesterday (Sunday) by the U. S. Dept. of Labor and the Veterans Administration, demand for skilled electronic technicians is seen as "strong" in all fields—civilian, industrial and military.

The report observed that "in most fields, the number of workers has increased, but in some the mobilization impact has had a reverse effect." In any event, employment prospects have changed for all type jobs whether related to defense or not.

The rosy picture painted for technicians is not extended, however, to professional talent employed by radio-TV networks and stations. As an example, the handbook claims that despite the defense program, radio announcing "will remain relatively difficult to enter."

The 575-page booklet contains complete reports on 433 occupations and was prepared by the Labor Dept.'s Bureau of Labor Statistics in cooperation with VA, and copies are available at $3 each from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

BAB Sales Aid

BAB came out last week with the first issue of its "Radio Salesman," a weekly roundup of facts and general information intended solely "for selling America's most efficient, least expensive advertising medium—radio." BAB's "Radio Salesman" is intended to be brief, for fast easy reading; but comprehensive, for complete descriptions of sales tips and devices. The two-page sheet will carry Friday datelines.

PROMOTE RADIO

Calif. Group in Second Lap

SECOND lap of intensive and extensive on-the-air campaign plugging the value of Southern California radio as an advertising medium got under way this past week with 72 stations in the area combining to air a new batch of promotional announcements distributed by Southern California Broadcasters Assn.

Announcements range from 8 to 25 seconds, and are adaptable for use "as is" or re-written with station slant. Now material, to be used through Sept. 5, features average and total listening in the area. Opening series of spots during early weeks of the campaign in August treated set totals. Future emphasis during the fall will be on separate aspects of radio promotion.

Timebuyers of agencies and advertisers in key eastern cities, including New York and Chicago, will be told the merits of year-around Southern California radio when Robert J. McAndrews, SCBA managing director, invades those markets in October for a series of "shirt sleeve" sessions arranged in cooperation with committees of station representatives.

our respects to:

Sports: Misnomer

IT BECOMES increasingly clear that Mr. Webster should rewrite his dictionary. "Sport," Mr. Webster insists, is "that which diverts, and makes mirth; pastime; diversion."

Sports, we say, are big business; industry. The baseball leagues are unionized; big business like the tax-free unions themselves. Professional or amateur, college or high school, it's now a matter of gate receipts and "performance rights"—radio, television, theatre television.

A Congressional Committee is investigating baseball and proposes to delve into all sports broadcasts and telecasts. Movie theatres are bidding against radio and TV for exclusive rights on boxing and other events. West Point has a scandal over cribbing by football players, enrolled presumably because of brawn rather than indicated military prowess.

In our land of free competition, the mass radio media to some degree have been a causative agent in this change of concept. There's no doubt they helped inspire a latent lust for gold. Radio and TV may even be as culpable as the sports tycoons and athletic directors. They did the bidding for exclusive rights, at fantastic figures. Newspapers cover gratis, but they do it on a non-exclusive basis.

But now it goes beyond outlandish prices. The NCAA bans telecasts of "amateur" college football games. Is that collusion? Is it a combination in restraint of trade? The reasoning, cockeyed we think, is that TV is a potential threat to the financial structure of intercollegiate athletics.

All this is the result of fuzzy thinking and disregard of very recent history. The broadcast media have breathed new life into many a decadent sport. They have created new fans; prevented old ones from turning to other leisure pursuits. They have made it possible to build new stadia.

Realism, we feel, ultimately will take over. If baseball and football ban radio, the effect probably won't be immediate on box-office. Fans will still go to see the "performers" they know—largely by virtue of radio and TV. No one wilts as fast as an unpublicized "performer." Gradually, interest will wane, to the accompaniment of acres of empty seats. The professionals will be smart enough to realize this, we predict.

As for the amateurs, the colleges and junior schools, let them study their own history. It's the taxpayer, in the final analysis, who builds and supports our institutions of learning. The endowed universities too get privileges from the public, including the not too inconsequential item of tax-exempt status.

The tax-paying public wants broadcasts and telecasts. It's no over-statement to say that the broadcast media, which are dedicated to serving that tax-paying public (they wouldn't survive if they didn't) can make or break the popularity of any sport.

All who believe in our free institutions would abhor any legislative move that would change our free competition concepts. We hope the Celler Committee investigating the sports industries, will tread warily in considering such legislative recommendations.

But Congress can, in good conscience, look into the application of the anti-trust laws to the sports industries, just as it does to any "big business."

AS TV EXPANDS and other media increase the intensity of their sales efforts, it becomes obvious that the future solvency of radio depends more upon the promotion of the medium as a whole and less upon internecine competition that pits station against station and network against network.

The futility of exaggerated emphasis on intramural competition has been clearly shown. To a large extent, the short-lived buyers' strike against radio came about because stations and networks were too busy swiping accounts from other stations and networks to notice that in a lot of advertisers' minds the whole radio system was diminishing in value.

Had these stations and networks been working together to promote all radio and point out its virtues in comparison with other media, the chances are that everybody in radio would have come off with more business in the end.

As we reported last week, the radio stations of Tulsa and Detroit have taken joint action to prove the value of radio as a medium. The cooperative effort won't mean that individual stations will quit soliciting business for themselves or cease to sell against others. But it will mean that they have a chance to create more business for all. If the pie is bigger, everybody at the table eats more.

We like to hope that the Tulsa and Detroit actions are forerunners of many more like them. If the pie disappears, everybody goes hungry.

We'll Take the WHAM Way

WHAM-AM-TV Rochester has as good a record of serving the public as almost any station that comes to our mind, but it wants to improve it.

William Fay, vice president of Stromberg-Carlson Co., owner of the stations, has announced the formation of a citizen's advisory council which will "advise with us regularly on ways in which WHAM and WHAM-TV can constantly improve their service to listeners."

Without begging the issue, we want to point out that the advisory council will consist of people who live in and around Rochester and who presumably know what other people of the neighborhood want.

Compare this board to the kind that Sen. William Benton is advocating. Sen. Benton wants to establish an 11-member, high-powered board that would dictate the radio and television program tastes of the whole country. It seems to us that's asking too much of any board.

The cultural needs and tastes of Rochester are not identical with those of Birmingham or Boise. Aside from the fact that a national board of the kind Sen. Benton advocates would rob broadcasters of their constitutional rights to free speech, it would have an impossible job in applying a national policy to a system of broadcasting that must vary in its character and attitudes as widely as the many different communities it serves vary in theirs.

Every radio and television station must adapt its personality to suit the community in which it exists. No station can wear a personality tailored by mass production in Washington and hope to be at home among its own folks.

We think Mr. Fay's advisory council will be an asset to WHAM-AM-TV and to the entire Rochester area. It shows a sense of community responsibility to ask the neighbors for their judgment from time to time. They know a lot more about what's going on down the block than somebody playing with a slide rule and a crystal ball in Washington.

DAVID ERSKINE DRISCOLL

OLD-TIMERS at WOR New York remember that "right from the start, Dave Driscoll was an energetic, creative, general assignment man of the Brisbane School" when he first came to that station in 1936.

Whenever and wherever a story broke, Mr. Driscoll was there with a microphone to make an eye-witness report for WOR listeners.

Today, 15 years later, Mr. Driscoll bears the title of director of news and special features for WOR-AM-TV, but he is still the eager newsman.

In New York, he is working not far from his birthplace. David Erskine Driscoll was born in Maplewood, N. J., April 15, 1909, to David and May E. Driscoll. His father, now dead, was for 14 years general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers whose games are now telecast over WOR-TV under Mr. Driscoll's supervision.

Mr. Driscoll has been in the news business since his undergraduate days at the U. of Minnesota. In 1928-29 he covered Big Ten sports for the New York Sun.

In 1932 he turned to radio and was a sports announcer for WCCO Minneapolis while doing graduate work at the university.

After a year at WCCO he moved to KGDE Fergus Falls, Minn., as manager. Three years there and then to WFIL Philadelphia as a news and sports announcer. He was not in Philadelphia long when the New York challenge came.

In early 1936 he went to WOR as a sports and special events newsman. Four years later he assumed his present WOR title. His company's entrance into television in October 1949 extended his responsibilities.

Mr. Driscoll has made frequent use of the documentary technique. He developed it for use on many special metropolitan area broadcasts. Once, with a portable recorder in his car, he followed speeding vehicles through busy streets noting violations by police patrol cars. Edited, the recordings made a stirring 30-minute program, Death On Wheels, spotlighting needed life-saving reforms in the handling of New York City traffic.

In 1943 another documentary made with a portable recorder, made New York's black market squirm under the hot glare of radio publicity.

Mr. Driscoll also has supervised such other outstanding documentaries as the award-winning series, Name Your Poison, which discussed sleeping pills and restaurant sanitation.

During World War II Mr. Driscoll spent nearly two years covering fighting fronts and gathering background material for WOR war am I!"

GREAT BOY

Smart boy, WFAA-TV! Since you last heard of him, that boy has pulled many a juicy plum out of the pie. Set himself up in the plum-pulling business, and doing plum swell!

Chip off the old block, WFAA-AM. And who knows, someday his nine-county holding may be as big as his daddy's, spreading out over this whole Radio Southwest.

That's a kid for you—so cute and cocky you're apt to forget what a job the old man's doing.

Take Radio Southwest*—that's WFAA-AM's primary coverage area—171 of the richest counties of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, with over seven billion dollars of spendable income last year. And Texas, mind you, was No. 1 last year in income gain in the U. S.

Every week WFAA-AM is selling in a million or more homes, with no less than thirty-three live local shows a week, twenty of which are across the board. Three are variety shows with large casts of musicians and dramatic talent. And there's no let up.

Just now WFAA is putting on more steam—investing more than a quarter-million dollars in a new transmitter on the 570 frequency—and that'll mean a bonus of more people listening.

Sure WFAA-TV's got what it takes—but he'll have to grow a lot before he can wear his old man's shoes.

*Radio Southwest is no tall tale. WFAA-820 is a clear channel 50,000 watt frequency, that nature has especially favored. The FCC's "Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcasting Stations" specifically mentions "Dallas" as affording the optimum ground conductivity in the entire U.S. Which means greater area coverage.

JAPAN RADIO

To make Commercial Debut

JAPAN's first commercial radio station starts operation in Osaka on Sept. 1, with one-third of its time allotted to sponsored programs and, according to reports last week, with about 70% of this time already sold.

The United Press, which said it had negotiated the first worldwide news service contract with the station, reported the outlet will operate 17 hours a day, using 1210 kc with 10 kw. It will use the call letters JOOR. Operated by the Mainichi Newspaper Co., which publishes Japan's largest daily (circulation: more than five million), the station is known as Shin Nihon Radio Broadcasting Station (New Japan Radio Broadcasting Station).

The UP account said JOOR plans to build a heavy schedule of newscasts around the UP worldwide news report, contract for which was concluded by Ernest Hoberecht, UP general manager for Asia.

Japanese radio heretofore has been exclusively governmental, with listeners required to pay a fee. JOOR is one of 16 authorized commercial stations which will supplement the Japanese public's strictly governmental radio fare with programming to be supported by sponsorship [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, July 23].

Plant Conversion

COURSE of action for manufacturers desiring to change over to defense output is outlined in a four-page pamphlet, Converting to Military Production, issued by the Office of Small Business, National Production Authority, Dept. of Commerce. Booklet suggests that manufacturers plan now on what lines they might convert to in the event of full mobilization, and also lists steps for securing government prime contracts for defense items. Subjects touched on include use of tools, manpower, plant location, materials, etc. Copies may be obtained from Printing Services, Dept. of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C., or any department field office.

SYRACUSE U. announces formation of new TV class, beginning Sept. 17. Openings for 20 men and women are available in 12-month course. Master's degrees will be awarded to those completing course. Present class is due to be graduated Aug. 31.

IN the pioneering days of radio this is the way transmitter equipment was set up. And operating the station's original equipment here is Mr. Reuman, president and founder of WWRL. Date is Aug. 26, 1926, when WWRL first went on the air. Place: Mr. Reuman's living room.

★★★ WWRL'S QUARTER CENTURY

Birthday Is Aug. 26; Minority Group Service Outstanding

Though our air has turned to silver,
Our arts are young and gay. . . .

WITH such dogged doggerel, accompanied by silver anniversary cakes, WWRL Woodside, Long Island, last week notified its friends that yesterday (Aug. 26) it was celebrating the conclusion of 25 years on the air under the same management.

William H. Reuman, owner-founder of WWRL, on Aug. 16, 1926, received his license from the then Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover for 100 w on 1160 kc. Ten days later the station's first broadcast went out from its only studio, Mr. Reuman's living room. Today, WWRL broadcasts from a two-story studio-and-office building on that site with 5 kw on 1600 kc.

Secret of Success

Service to minority groups has been the secret of WWRL's success in the highly competitive metropolitan market served by more than a score of radio stations. Starting in 1929 with a one-hour German language program broadcast on alternate Sundays, WWRL today devotes 72 of its 119 hours on the air each week to broadcasts in 13 languages other than English: 34½ hours of Spanish, 12½ hours of German, 8½ hours of Czechoslovakian, 4¼ hours of Greek, 2 hours each of Hungarian and Polish, 1¼ hours of Russian, 1 hour each of Lithuanian, Jewish and French, ¾ hour of Syrian and ½ hour each of Ukranian and Swiss.

Most of the rest of WWRL's schedule is made up of programs aimed at New York's Negro audience, which the station estimates as over 800,000. Negro performers and announcers have been employed for years: Jocko Maxwell, said to be the first Negro sportscaster, started with the station 15 years ago and is still heard. Last year

WWRL started what it believes is the first Mr. and Mrs. Negro radio team.

In honor of the station's 25th birthday, Ethel Merman, Norman Brokenshire, Eddie Bracken, Art Ford, Richard Hayes, Symphony Syd and others who got their start at WWRL recorded congratulatory spots which were to be broadcast during yesterday's commemorative programs.

WNAX EXPANDS

Yankton Operation Moved

IMPROVEMENT and expansion of station facilities has been reported by WNAX Yankton-Sioux City, which recently moved its Yankton operation into the new WNAX Bldg. The operation utilizes 13,000 square feet in a two-story stone and steel building and provides "expanded production facilities and improved working conditions," according to R. R. Tincher, station manager.

Production is located on the ground floor, with a huge auditorium studio designed to house any future TV operation. Second floor is set aside for administrative offices. WNAX also will continue to operate studios and offices in Sioux City, Mr. Tincher said.

Defense Names Redman

APPOINTMENT of Rear Adm. John R. Redman (USN) as director of electronics-communications for the Joint Chiefs of Staff effective Sept. 1 has been announced by the Dept. of Defense. Adm. Redman, currently communications director for the Navy Dept., will succeed Maj. Gen. H. M. McClelland (USAF). Capt. Wilfred B. Goulett (USN), who has been serving under Adm. Redman, will become acting director.

Respects

reports and analyses. He took along his constant companion, a portable recorder, and reportedly was one of the first correspondents to use one in combat areas.

Out of this World War II experience came a program he rates among his best. This broadcast, made on various Navy convoy trips, brought listeners in October 1942 on-the-spot combat reports of submarine warfare. It included a story of the sinking of the U. S. destroyer, Jacob Jones.

Mr. Driscoll has participated in his share of stunts. He delivered a double-talk harangue on world affairs from the Court of Peace on the closing night of the New York World's Fair. He covered proceedings when WOR carried the bouncing of a radar signal off the moon. He also has donned full diving regalia to take a fish's-eye view of the Hudson River for the benefit of Navy recruit diving specialists.

Mr. Driscoll feels, however, that the era of "stunts" is passing. The public he says is too interested in what's going on to need or want any "gimmick" in newscasts.

Mr. Driscoll's eagerness to broadcast news was demonstrated when President Truman relieved General MacArthur at 1 a. m., an hour before WOR's sign-off. Mr. Driscoll sped to the station, assembled an emergency crew and kept WOR on the air throughout the night.

With Mr. Driscoll, however, it isn't just a matter of having enough news periods. He puts his best feature-style announcers on newscasts emphasizing the "human side" of the news. For straight newscasts, he uses announcers with a crisp, fast, hard-hitting style.

In addition to being worked into shape for a particular type of voice, each news period is edited, not for a vague group of listeners but for the WOR community. Mr. Driscoll assigns one man of the 12-man department as editor-writer for each program.

Mr. Driscoll's haven, after a typically hectic day, is an apartment in Manhattan. But when opportunity permits, especially on weekends, he and his wife, the former Elizabeth Fredericks, "escape" to their country home at Greenport, Long Island. There he finds time for golf at North Fork Country Club, Cutchogue, L. I., and enjoys hunting and fishing. His favorite spectator sports are baseball and football.

About news, Mr. Driscoll has a simple over-all philosophy: "Give the public all the news it wants."

RAYTHEON MFG. CO., Newton, Mass., has released stockholders' report for fiscal year ending May 31. Total income from sales and rentals for year was $89,662,000 with net profit, after taxes, of $2,179,000. Company's net for previous year was $935,000. Raytheon reported 50% increase in sales.

FCC Funds Axed

corrective action. Conferences among our working people have brought out the fact that the present monitoring service of the FCC would not be adequate to cope with the anticipated situation.

Another project requested by the FCC called for $50,000 to provide remote control of 17 high-frequency direction finders used with the monitoring outlets.

With respect to control of electromagnetic radiations, Comr. Sterling explained that the alert plan was conceived to keep certain stations on the air to transmit messages to the public during or after an air raid. The Air Force has agreed "to the plan we are now preparing, and for which our engineers are now in the field setting up the alert system, and it will be placed in operation," he revealed.

Many to Participate

Mr. Renton told subcommittee members that "about 90%" of 2,200 broadcasting stations are expected to participate in the alert system on a "voluntary" basis [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, June 11].

The military's view on station controls and monitoring was given by Col. Lewis:

The monitoring stations are set up to provide necessary control so that those stations that are operating on any frequency can be identified and controlled through the monitoring system. Likewise, they can also monitor the entire spectrum to determine what stations are broadcasting and whether or not they are in any way available for use by the enemy for navigational purposes. . . .

Rep. Thomas wanted to know whether, in the case of imminent air attack, all radio activities in the U. S. might not be shut down?

Col. Lewis conceded "that would be one answer" but said "it is not the plan agreed upon." Civil defense will have to issue directives during and prior to an alert "to notify the public of what is happening." Comr. Sterling was asked whether there were not sufficient radio stations to "warn the people?" The Commissioner said he felt "they can do a big job" but added he was not qualified to speak on air raid warning systems and equipment, also under discussion by the subcommittee relating to civil defense.

Serves Two Purposes

Col. Lewis stated that the Air Force-FCC plan serves two purposes involving shifts in frequencies and operation in various areas. With use of "clusters," the enemy would be denied a single beam upon which to "home" and would thus be "confused," he explained. "Some stations (thus) will continue to broadcast . . . on the same frequency simultaneous programs and the programs will be utilized by civilian defense. . . ."

Subcommittee members were told that the FCC could notify "every radio station in the U. S." of an imminent attack "in a matter of minutes," after receiving notice from the Defense Dept. The FCC representative at the main control center then would be asked to place into effect the pre-arranged plan worked out with AM, FM and TV stations under which certain stations would cease operation and others would remain on the air.

"We do not intend in most cases to ever black out the entire U. S., so far as the control of radio is concerned—only those areas which are subject to imminent attack."

The House voted the Federal Civil Defense Administration $10,755,000 for operations, including $240,000 for an attack warning plan and $4,170,000 for a communications system. Training and education (through radio, TV and other public media) drew $1,545,000.

In cutting FCDA funds from a requested $535 million to $65,255,000, the House was guided by the committee report which sharply criticized lack of a "realistic, well-coordinated plan." FCDA plans and estimates do not reflect the basic "concept" of national civil defense, the committee felt. "It is obvious that proper emphasis is not being placed on training and education and the dissemination of information," it noted.

On the other hand, it felt that the primary requirements for a well-founded program are communications and an attack warning system, in addition to education.

Similar cuts were wielded over funds for the Economic Stabilization Agency, Defense Production Administration, Office of Defense Mobilization and National Production Authority. In the case of ODM, the House voted $500,000 for a public information program under the guiding hand of Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson. Sums allotted: ODM, $1.85 million; DPA, $2.8 million; NPA, $30 million; ESA (including the Salary and Wage Stabilization Boards, and Office of Price Stabilization), $127.6 million.

Also approved were amendments by Rep. Ben Jensen (R-Iowa) which would limit pay of employees to ceilings contained in regular 1952 fund measures, and by Rep. Lawrence Smith (R-Wis.) who proposed that compensation for persons performing "domestic information functions" be limited to 50% of overall funds in the bill. Number of information specialists on government payrolls had prompted sharp criticism of House members.

PROPERTY SUITS

Lawyer Stresses Caution

A CAUTION to put business deals on foolscap rather than "on the cuff" was given members of the Hollywood Advertising Club last Monday (Aug. 20) by Robert Myers, resident partner of the law firm of Lillick, Geary & McHose, Hollywood.

Backing up his warning with several examples of plagiarism and invasion of privacy suits that have resulted when advertisers failed to protect themselves suitably, Mr. Myers urged members to get the proper clearance for all properties used.

He further advised the group representing advertisers, radio, television and other media men, to have any outsider submitting material sign a fool proof release agreeing to let the advertiser be sole judge on whether or not material should be used and how; and deciding compensation for the material, if used.

In dealing with professional writers who might balk at such an arrangement, he suggested that a clause be included in the release that, if the writer feels he was wronged in the deal, the case be submitted to arbitration by a panel of people within the industry.

Presenting the case to such a panel as against a regular jury trial would offer the advertiser more protection, he feels, inasmuch as most juries are not familiar with the problems of the industry. Mr. Myers further suggested that a maximum amount for an award by arbitration be stated in the agreement.

In the meantime, "when in doubt get a signature," he concluded.

Better Ad Legislation

Speaking on the same program, Hon. Charles Conrad, California State Assemblyman from Hollywood, urged ad club members to carefully watch legislature measures being taken up, in order to protect their business from any harmful ones. He further advised them to get to know their assemblymen that they might keep in close touch with the workings of the legislative body.

In many cases, Mr. Conrad pointed out, regulatory measures affecting radio, television and advertising are passed by small committees, without being put to majority vote. In other instances the publicity put out on a certain legislative measure often clouds the real issues, and leads the voter astray.

With conditions like this Mr. Conrad stated, advertisers can't afford not to be interested in politics.

Donn B. Tatum, director of television, ABC Western Division and manager, KECA-TV Los Angeles, was chairman of the day for the meeting.

BABE RUTH's voice, to be enshrined with other mementoes in Baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., is preserved on this golden record. Paul Kerr (c), vice president and secretary of the Hall of Fame, accepts the recording from Paul Jonas (l), MBS sports director, and Frank White (r), MBS president. Duplicate playable copies also were presented to permit rehearing when occasions warrant. The recording is of the Bambino's speech on "Babe Ruth Day," April 27, 1947, in Yankee Stadium. He died shortly thereafter.

'STAR' SUPPORT

Gained In CAB Argument

BACKING of the influential Toronto Daily Star was unexpectedly received by the Canadian Assn. of Broadcasters in its argument that Canada must first clean house before backing up the United Nations draft convention on freedom of information [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 20]. The CAB, through General Manager T. J. Allard at Ottawa, had told the Canadian government that Canadian broadcasting stations were not free to choose the news they wished to broadcast. Canadian Broadcasting Corp. Chairman A. D. Dunton stated that CBC news regulations referred to were not operative at present.

The Toronto Daily Star pointed out that CAB had a rightful grievance if the regulations were still on the CBC books, even though no longer in operation. The Toronto Star, which usually backs up the CBC and government radio, stated editorially that if the regulation is not enforced it should be dropped, that it places unwarranted limitations on the broadcasters' access to news.

Tribute to Hearst

WCUM Cumberland, Md., silenced its commercial programming Aug. 15 in memoriam to William Randolph Hearst, who died Aug. 14. Station substituted special programs in tribute to the noted publisher, who was founder of The Tower Realty Co., Baltimore, of which WCUM has since become a part. Karl F. Steinmann, president of The Tower Realty and owner of WCUM, a CBS affiliate, has been closely associated with Hearst enterprises.

'AMERICAN NEWS TOWER'

GE Series Forerunner of Voice of America

ALTHOUGH the first Voice of America program did not go on the air until February 1942, the concept of using the international airwaves for an American "propaganda through truth" campaign got its first tryout five years before that time as the American News Tower series broadcast round-the-world by the two General Electric Co. shortwave stations W2XAD and W2XAF.

Idea was suggested by C. D. Wagoner of the GE general news bureau following talks with Carl W. Ackerman, newspaper correspondent who is now dean of Columbia U.'s graduate school of journalism. "He told of censorship placed by other countries on news originating in the United States and of how stories were colored so as to create a most unfavorable impression in the minds of foreigners," Mr. Wagoner recalled last week.

Shortwaves seemed to be the answer; GE had hundreds of letters from all parts of the world telling how well its shortwave broadcasts were heard. "So the idea of inaugurating a broadcast news service to other countries was brought to the attention of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. He liked it and made an appointment for a GE representative to discuss the plan with Sumner Welles, then Under Secretary of State. Mr. Welles was likewise enthusiastic, said he would send word to all embassies in foreign countries, asking ambassadors and consuls to spread the word as widely as possible in their respective communities. Thus the way was paved for the programs."

Days Summary Arranged

GE arranged with the Press Radio Bureau for a 500 to 600 word summary of the day's news of the country to be wired to Schenectady each day except Saturday and Sunday at 5 p.m. for broadcast on American News Tower. Program's name, Mr. Wagoner explained, plus its description as news for Americans wherever they might be, was felt to "remove any suspicions of foreigners that this was a scheme of spreading propaganda from America. It also was felt that such programs would catch the ears of foreigners in that they would feel they were listening in on a somewhat private conversation between this country and its own people."

Officials at GE were no less enthusiastic about the project than the government executives. John R. Sheehan, now radio and television director, Cunningham & Walsh, who was then in charge of the GE shortwave operations, was so impressed with the program's importance that he personally edited and broadcast the initial American News Tower newscast. Reaction was prompt, and good.

That was in June 1937. It was not until February 1942 that the Voice of America was first heard. In June 1942, the Voice was placed under OWI and in August 1945, at the end of the war, it was transferred to the State Dept., which is still in charge. The GE shortwave stations, where it all started, are now part of the Voice of America network.

formal feeling of morning radio. Both the audience and the sponsors love it.

The Bank of America used a participation for its Time-Plan loans on Mr. Story's first show with such spectacular success that it bought an across-the-board series. Shortly thereafter the bank began to sponsor the m.c. in the special Top of the Morning series to Columbia Pacific stations in California. The Story personalized presentation is a major share of the Bank of America radio advertising in California.

Other long-term advertisers include Pyroil and Curtis Publishing Co.

Mr. Story began his radio career in high school as an announcer for WKZO Kalamazoo. After a temporary career as a drug salesman, Mr. Story returned to WKZO as announcer, writer and director. During the war he was an Army Air Force fighter pilot in the E.T.O. In 1945 he was with WGR Buffalo and in 1948 became a free lance director of morning shows in New York. He came to KNX when the station decided to revamp its morning programming.

DAWNBUSTERS

From a fee of $2 per program to being top man on WWL's top morning show with a staff of thirty is the personal success story of Henry Dupre, m.c. of Dawnbusters, 7:15-9, Mon.-Sat. At the same time it is the 18-year morning success story of the CBS New Orleans outlet.

The "Duke" began his radio career with WMCA New York reading poetry at the same time he was appearing in several Broadway hits including: "Diamond Lil" and "Whoopee." He says "it was plenty of experience but I nearly starved to death." Just when things began to look up Mr. Dupre was called home to New Orleans by the serious illness of his father.

In 1932 WWL was a small station. It consisted of one studio, two offices, one announcer, phonograph records and PLENTY of hillbillies. Henry landed a job reading poetry at $2 a program. He was such a success that he was hired to do part-time announcing and his salary was raised to $10 a week. When the station was granted full time he was made a member of the staff.

When the need was felt for a higher morning rating, every member of the WWL staff was auditioned for a morning show. Mr. Dupre clicked. He went on the air with "the time, light chatter, weather report, easy listening music and enough corn to encourage a smile, regardless of their feelings."

He created two characters, Judy and Dopey, who caught on immediately with WWL listeners. Judy was a 33½ rpm played at 78 and Dopey was a 78 rpm played at 33½. Dialogue with the two went on day after day to the delight of the growing audience. Today the show has a cast of 30 and a long record of sending ex-Dawnbusters on to stardom.

The program has been sold out for fourteen years. Among satisfied sponsors are 4-Way Cold Tablets, Chill Tonic, Bromo Quinine, BC Headache Powder, Stanback, Kool Cigarettes, Super Suds, Feenamint, Octagon Soap, Doan's Pills, Camel Cigarettes, Lifebouy, Ipana, and Arrid.

RAMBLING WITH GAMBLING

One of the top morning men in America's top market is John B. Gambling, heard on WOR New York from 6 to 7 a.m., Monday through Saturday, on Rambling With Gambling and from 7:15 to 8 a.m., Mon.-Sat. on Gambling's Musical Clock. On Saturday the John Gambling Show is on from 8:15-9 a.m.

Rambling With Gambling features semi-classical and light classical recorded music, frequent mentions of time and weather. The aim is to wake people pleasantly, an aim which continues as the goal in the following Musical Clock program. The second show features live music, played by the Gamboliers, and the same type of music that comes from records on the earlier show. It's never very exciting, but it's easy to listen to. The diction is good and clean-cut and Mr. Gambling manages to keep commercials from annoying people with uncertain early morning tempers.

So successful is the format that it has been going on, almost unchanged, for 26 years. Known to literally millions of New Yorkers as the "Human Alarm Clock" after more than a quarter of a century he shows no sign of running down.

A native of Cambridge, England, Mr. Gambling was a wireless operator with the Royal Navy during World War I. After the war he came to the U. S. where his first job was as engineer with WOR. He took on the most hated stint, the 6:30 morning gym class which was a part of every well-managed radio station in those early days. One day the announcer failed to report. John was equal to the emergency—set his controls and did an ad lib job through the hour-long show. That experience resulted in his being given the job permanently. A talent for ad libbing and an ability to retell what Mr. Gambling calls "the oldest jokes in radio" are part of the Gambling charm.

HAROLD F. GROSS (c), president and general manager of WGFG Kalamazoo and WJIM Lansing, affixes his signature to a contract affiliating these stations with NBC, Sept. 30. Mr. Gross says that WGFG covers the Battle Creek market also. Carleton D. Smith (r), network vice president in charge of station relations, and Norm Cash (l), NBC director of station relations, signed for the network. Both WGFG and WJIM will continue to jointly program NBC and ABC. WJIM-TV was added to the basic NBC television network last July 1.

Sponsors on the Gambling show are as loyal as the listeners. In one case, at least, it was a listener who turned sponsor. Mr. and Mrs. Chambers, who own and operate Peter Chambers Inc., retail fur establishment, listened to the show for 20 years. After attending his 25th anniversary broadcast they decided the Gambling audience represented their type of customer. As a result they tried a 13-week campaign during the fall of 1950. It was so successful that it was renewed. According to Mr. Chambers: "Our experience provides concrete proof that his listeners are sold, one thousand percent on John Gambling. . . . They have complete confidence in what he says and what he sells."

Since 1942 the Hudson Pulp and Paper Corp. has used the Musical Clock to sell its paper napkins and other products. They say: "WOR has accounted for 90% of all Hudson advertising in the New York area and deserves at least 90% of the advertising credit for changing Hudson from a 'private label' to New York's No. 1 napkin!"

Rambling With Gambling and the Saturday show are participating, with rates starting at $90 per spot.

The Musical Clock, which is sponsored by Hudson, is $4,500 a week.

EASY DOES IT

An easy-to-listen-to style is the trademark of WRVA Richmond's early morning disc show, emceed by Carl Stutz. Using all types of music, from populars to the classics, the show is paced for the awakening listener's ear.

The commercials are given a smooth voice treatment which is a particular talent of Mr. Stutz, who believes that a disc show should "live up to all the requirements of a live network program."

Before entering radio Carl worked as an accountant, a photographer and as a musician. Three years ago when WRVA was looking for a disc jockey for the early morning show they chose him from the station's announcing-production staff.

A graduate of the U. of Richmond Carl began his radio career seven years ago at WRNL Richmond, then moved to WBen Buffalo, then back to WLEE Richmond before going to WRVA. He has collaborated on several songs with Sam Fouts, continuity director of the station. Among those which have appeared on major labels are: "Feelin' Sorry", "Send in Your Name and Address", "Time and Time Again", "Lets Talk It Over" and "When I Wake Up Christmas Morning."

Easy Does It is on the air Monday through Friday 7:05-9 a.m. and on Saturday 7:05-7:55. The large share of the morning audience

An authentic western drawl is the trade mark of Mac McGuire on his Start the Day Right program over WIP Philadelphia.

Promptly at 7 a.m. he goes on the air with records, and transcribed music, frequent time announcements, weather and comment in his own congenial, friendly manner.

At 31 Mac has been in radio 22 years. He was featured as a boy soprano on a children's program in Peoria at the age of 9 and was one of many to take the Atwater Kent auditions. Many of his early years were spent in the far west where he worked on a ranch.

At 9:30 a.m. McGuire goes on Mutual with a coast to coast, six-day a week, show Harmony Rangers. In the evening he makes one-night stands throughout the station's listening area, appearances which are advertised with the station identity and which are credited with helping to build his air popularity.

Capitol Records have released many of Mac's numbers including: "I'm Gonna Dry Every Tear With a Kiss," "The Place Where I Worship," "The Cake Walk" and "Hokey Pokey Polka." He has been featured in theatres throughout the midwest with other hill-billy and western "name" stars.

Advertisers find this morning show particularly productive. Among the more successful firms on the program are Anders and Jervis, Brooks, Beneficial Saving Fund, Broad Motors, Miller, North Broad Storage, Arrow Store, Manchester Laundry, Philadelphia Electric, Household Finance and Dif Hand Cleaner.

Rates are $30 per one minute spot announcement with frequency discounts. Currently the show is sold out.

Nedicks, national restaurant chain, sends coffee and doughnuts to the morning man each day. Much interest has built up over the years in the m.c.'s comment over the messengers' arrival time. On the rare occasions when he fails to appear, the mail swells with inquiries.

CLOCK WATCHER

One feature of Curt Ray's 8:15-8:45 Clock Watcher morning show on KMOX St. Louis is a brief report on the more important goings on in the city.

Ray plays a selection of recorded popular tunes, gives frequent time and temperature reports and brief news bulletins.

A talent for integrating introductions into both records and commercials is one of his fortes. For example here's how one recent show opened:

... (Theme song—Peggy Lee's "It's a Good Day.") It could be today, so how about a little music to get the deal under way? It's part of the agenda for another visit from the Clock Watcher. In said role, this is Curt Ray reporting the findings of the clock and the thermometer, a quote from the weatherman, as usual; and, briefly, news and events from news of the day. And speaking of the day, as far as I am concerned . . . (Right into Guy Lombardo's vocal "The Best Time of the Day.")

Commercials also tie in with easy chatter, and since nearly all commercials are ET's, they prove particularly adapted to the same treatment as records. Among advertisers on the program are Bristol Myers, Colgate-Palmolive-Peet, Kellogg, Lipton and Standard Brands.

Curt Ray's radio career began at the U. of Iowa where he participated in many activities on the school's 5 kw station. After graduation he went right into radio work. He has worked with many of the big name bands of the nation and is closely acquainted with many of the leaders.

The show always enjoys a high rating in St. Louis. Base rate for participating one-minute announcements is $75.

OIL EXPLOSION

WLCS Reports to Nation

WLCS BATON ROUGE, La., through the program, Headline Edition over ABC, told the nation about the oil explosion which rocked the Louisiana capital Aug. 16.

The blast occurred at the Standard Oil Refinery at 5:45 a.m. that day as WLCS's early morning man, Mark O'Brien, was preparing the station's sign-on at 6 a.m.

Mr. O'Brien went on the air at 5:50 a.m. with a report of the blast. Throughout the day WLCS gave on-the-spot taped recordings of the explosion. In the blast, two men were killed, 10 injured and damage was estimated at over $100,000. Mr. O'Brien and Gene Nelson reported on the nation-wide Headline Edition that same evening.

family topics—time and weather reports—a few records, one of which is always a military march. Listeners like it, as do such advertisers as Bayer Aspirin, Bon Ami, Borden's Dairy, Sta-Flo Liquid Starch, Collier's magazine, Chase and Sanborn Coffee and Yami Yogurt.

Behind this top morning personality are a tour with his own stock company, two years at WAAW Omaha and a morning show with KOIL Omaha. During the war he was a combat correspondent with the Coast Guard in the South and Central Pacific. After the war he joined the ABC production staff in Hollywood.

KGO picked him for his affable, easy going style and warm rich voice plus his long radio experience.

In order to give advertisers maximum flexibility, John offers four sales plan, two of which combine participations in his morning and afternoon programs, ABC Home Digest (6:30-7 a.m., Mon.-Sat., and ABC Home Institute 3:30 p.m., Mon.-Fri., 10:30-11 a.m. Saturday). Rates on his morning program are $25 for one participation per week and $135 for six.

Agency for one client, Santa Clara Packing Co., wrote to the station: ". . . we are extremely pleased with the very fine results obtained from . . . John Harvey . . . over KGO San Francisco," citing a special plastic mold offer which was used on all their radio and TV advertising the letter pointed out that ". . . of all the orders . . . 43.5% were received from John Harvey's enthusiastic audience, more than any other medium used."

WESTERN Union Telegraph Co. has announced operating results for first six months of 1951: Gross revenues totaled $98,611,019, with net income listed as $4,246,672. For comparable period last year, gross was $88,483,907 and net, $3,206,300. Federal income tax provisions for current period were $2,518,000 as compared with $400,000 for first six months of 1950.

TV Puts Money In The Bank

THE LIBERTY National Bank & Trust Co., now in its 97th year, is the oldest financial institution in Louisville, but it's as spry as a sprout when it comes to advertising.

The day television was introduced to Louisville, Liberty National became a TV advertiser. The company has not left the television air since.

Film commercials . . .

Liberty sponsored the telecast of a football game between two high schools on Thanksgiving Day, 1949, when WAVE-TV began television broadcasting. Immediately afterward, the bank bought a daily one-minute weather report at 7 p.m. on WAVE-TV which continued to July, 1950.

Since July 13, 1950, Liberty has sponsored a weekly half-hour show on WHAS-TV. It's the most highly-rated, locally-produced musical show on television in Louisville.

The program stars an organist, Herbie Koch, who has been a popular WHAS performer in radio for 18 years. Each program is built around the massive WHAS studio organ, said to be the largest in any radio station studio.

For variety, Bill Picket, a baritone, is presented in various settings, and Producer Bill Loader also uses still pictures, film clips and drawings for additional pictorial variety to accompany the music.

Broadcast at 9:30-10 p.m. Thursdays, the Herbie Koch Show runs the musical gamut from jazz to Bach fugues. For some time the program featured each week the favorite musical selections of prominent men in Louisville.

Still pictures of three or four of these leaders were shown on each program as their selections were played. In the opinion of Liberty National, the feature had viewer interest and created goodwill for the bank among important people whose favorite tunes were used. Finally, however, the bank ran through all the top-caliber leaders of Louisville and had to abandon the feature.

Since then, guest artists have been used on the show. On some occasions whole groups have appeared. An Easter program featured the entire Louisville Philharmonic Chorus of 52 voices.

Ashby Millican, first vice president of Liberty National says the Herbie Koch Show suits the special needs of bank advertising.

"It is not spectacular in any way," Mr. Millican said, "but mu-point up conveniences . . .

sically it is a good show; it is pleasant, relaxing and we believe a welcome change in tempo from the high-powered, fast-moving, screaming, hard-hitting types of shows that are now so prevalent."

Since starting in television, Liberty National has tried out almost every kind of TV commercial announcement. It used films, stills, Balopticons, and live performances before settling down to its present techniques.

The opening and close of the show now are on film, showing Liberty's home office building, a landmark in Louisville. Other films, used from time to time, have pointed out banking services provided at headquarters and the ten branches that Liberty National operates.

The principal commercials on the show are live. A vice president of the bank, acting as a banking counsellor, explains the various services that Liberty National offers. The commercials lean heavily toward institutional selling.

The bank supports the show with consistent promotion. Each week it runs a newspaper insertion advertising the program and the guest artist of the week. It includes mailing pieces in its monthly statements to depositors, and downtown branches of the bank display signs promoting the show.

"We don't know of any program on TV similar to our present program," Mr. Millican said recently.

"We feel that our show has dignity and stature and consequently is the type of program that a financial institution can sponsor without fear of criticism. The people who like this type of show are loud in its praise; those who do not like it certainly can find nothing objectionable in its format."

RCA COLOR TUBE

LABORATORY tests with the RCA tri-color tube as part of a color receiver for telecasts by the CBS field sequential system have shown it to perform far less satisfactorily than the color disc developed by CBS, Dr. Peter C. Goldmark, vice president, CBS Laboratory Div., reported Wednesday in an exclusive interview with BROADCASTING • TELECASTING.

"The difference is not slight, but of the day and night variety," he said, "from every aspect—color, contrast and detail."

Furthermore, Dr. Goldmark stated, executives of Hytron Radio & Electronics Co., tube manufacturing division of CBS, have found the RCA tri-color tube impractical from the manufacturing standpoint, both as to possibility of mass production and to price, which he said was far in excess of that of the color disc unit.

Dr. Goldmark expressed disappointment that the RCA tube had not proved more successful with the CBS system of color TV—"after all we're in the tube business now and we'd as soon manufacture RCA's tubes as anyone else's"—but said that while a color tube will undoubtedly be developed at some time which will satisfactorily serve color TV, the RCA tube is not the answer.

"Even if this tube were comparable in price with the color wheel, we still would not use it because of its inferior picture quality," he declared.

Self-contained Unit

Apparatus needed to add color reception to black-and-white via the CBS system is now being packaged into a single, self-contained, sealed unit which the set manufacturer can install with his black-and-white receiving equipment in a cabinet, with no need to concern himself about color receiver discs, tubes or circuits, Dr. Goldmark reported.

Two companies—Crescent and Webster-Chicago—are already turning out these color packages, he said, with a number of other companies preparing to do so. Plan is identical, he explained, with that used in the manufacture and installation of vari-speed record players in phonographs.

Just returned from Europe, where he sat in as an observer on CCIR deliberations on international TV standards, Dr. Goldmark said that there was no agreement as to definition or any major standard, with each nation holding out for its own standard and with political considerations seemingly more important than pure engineering factors. He reported sensing a rather general attitude that with things as they are in Europe, it made little difference whether continental TV standards are settled this year or next.

He said that the response of Germans to the color TV demonstrations staged by CBS in Berlin were even more enthusiastic than that given last year's demonstrations in this country by Americans. "Most of our Berlin audience had never seen any television before, let alone color," he said, "and it swept them off their feet."

After the Berlin demonstration is concluded, Dr. Goldmark said the 9,000 pounds of color TV equipment—a camera chain and six receivers, including a 17-inch drum unit—will be shipped to Zurich for demonstration at a new hospital in that city, whose officials are interested in using TV as an educational tool. This demonstration, to include the first colorcast of an operation in Europe, will be handled by Remington Rand, sales agent for the CBS color unit.

Paris Exhibit

From Zurich, the equipment will travel to Paris, he said, for use in surgical colorcasts at the meeting of the International Congress of Surgeons there the end of September. Smith, Kline and French Labs will sponsor the Paris color showing as they have sponsored similar showings at medical meetings in the United States during the past several years. E. R. Squibb & Sons, which had planned to sponsor black-and-white operation telecasts with RCA equipment at the Paris gathering, withdrew when it learned of the S-K-F color plans, Dr. Goldmark reported.

Dr. Goldmark said he expects to be in Paris at that time—his fifth trip to Europe this year—on his way to Switzerland to confer with engineers of the Swiss Institute of Technology about the Eidophor system of theatre television developed there. Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. has acquired rights to use the Eidophor large-screen system for receiving telecasts in color via the CBS method and hopes to have at least one unit installed in a theatre and ready for demonstration before the end of the year [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, July 30].

ADMIRAL'S STAND

DON'T TAKE too seriously the fact that Admiral is first of the "Big 5" in TV manufacturing to show a TV color "slave" console. That is no indication of a break in manufacturers' ranks against the FCC-approved CBS system.

All major manufacturers are still rooting for the all-industry simultaneous system being developed by the National Television System Committee [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 13].

However, as merchandisers, manufacturers are well aware that they've got to watch the movement of color TV units in the fall-winter market. If color units sell, they'll make them.

Virtually all manufacturers have color sets, "slave" units or converters on their drawing boards or in their laboratories.

Admiral's "color companion" set has a 10-in. picture tube, magnified to give a 12½-in. picture. It has not been priced. It is on a "sample" basis to distributors right now. Admiral hopes to make enough to put the unit into all its dealers stores in the next 30-60 days.

But Admiral's realistic attitude—reflecting that of all major set makers—is made clear in a consumer brochure that heralds "Color TV Optional."

In fifteen-and-a-half of its 16 pages, the 3½x5-in. booklet stresses that the future of color TV is a compatible, "all-electronic" system and that Admiral's new 17-set line has been engineered for the addition of color TV when and if the customer wants it.

In a half-page of the booklet, Admiral tells the customer that it has a color "companion" set available now.

Only other color units that seem certain to be on the market this fall and winter, according to a quick BROADCASTING • TELECASTING survey of major manufacturers last week, are:

CBS-Columbia, Webster-Chicago, Teletone, Stewart-Warner, Meck.

CBS looks for color units from such other manufacturers as Arvin, Muntz, Tele-Video, International Television, Trav-Ler. It also believes color converters (which will require technical installation) will come from such non-radio-TV manufacturers as Celeomat, Television Engineering Co., JFD Manufacturing Co.

Prices apparently will be in the $200-250 range. Teletone hopes to sell a "slave" unit for $125. Majority of those saying they will make color units hope to be in real production sometime in October. They hope to have samples in dealers' hands by mid-September.

SET SHORTAGE

Opinions Differ On Problem

DIFFERENCE of opinion among radio-TV manufacturers on whether defense impact will cause shortages of TV sets this fall and winter was publicly highlighted last week.

In San Francisco, before the Pacific Electronics Exhibit audience, Radio-Television Manufacturers Assn. President Glen McDaniel said:

"In the light of tightening materials controls, TV receivers may again be in short supply before Christmas."

In Los Angeles, before distributors, Westinghouse TV-Radio Division Manager F. M. Sloan said:

"Despite increasing government restrictions to conserve vital metals, the television industry will be able to manufacture as many television and radio sets as the market will absorb by the year's end."

Meanwhile, RCA last week announced price cuts on its current TV set line effective Sept. 1, preparatory to coming out this week with new line of 10 sets.

Cuts ranged from $30 on basic 17-inch Newport table model, to be $239.95, to $115 on top-of-the-line 19-inch Hillsdale console, to be $359.95.

The reductions are reported to have been in effect informally for the past month.

TV TROUBLES

Brown Cites Current Pressures

THE RELATIVELY young television industry faces governmental and private-interest pressures that keep it in a constant state of uncertainty, Thad Brown, NARTB television director, told the association's District 4 members at their meeting last week (see main story page 23).

Reviewing a long list of functions undertaken by the TV organization within NARTB, Mr. Brown predicted a final TV allocation plan might come out of the FCC by March 1. He said he was unable to explain a prediction by FCC Chairman Wayne Coy at a recent Senate hearing that the freeze might be ended in September. (Mr. Coy subsequently revised his estimate in light of "paper" hearings scheduled to run through Nov. 26 [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 6].)

In his reference to pressure by so-called educational interests for large hunks of the TV spectrum, Mr. Brown said reservation by the FCC of 10% of facilities actually would mean 25% to 50% of the available channels in specific communities.

FCC officials are "deeply concerned with the time elements in the freeze," Mr. Brown declared.

He briefly listed some of the TV industry's more serious problems as: The freeze; FCC allocation procedure; oral argument on the allocation plan; educational reservation; educational stations; TV program standards; standard agency contracts; ASCAP; excess profits tax; engineering; organized college restrictions on football telecasts; Congressional baseball investigation; reclassification of programs, and legal and government matters.

Congress Concerned

In a roundup of the legislative situation he said Capitol Hill is deeply concerned about television and feels it should either investigate or legislate in view of the wide interest in the exciting new medium.

Mr. Brown went into the move to write program standards for television, saying subcommittees will report Oct. 2-3 on progress of their work, with a full report to be submitted to the NARTB membership at a meeting scheduled Oct. 19 at the Stevens Hotel, Chicago.

He outlined anti-trust angles of the standards problem as well as regulatory angles in case a station is subjected to association discipline.

Taking part in a question-answer panel conducted by Campbell Arnoux, WTAR-TV Norfolk, were William R. McAndrew, WNBW (TV) Washington; Keith Byerly, WBTV (TV) Charlotte, N. C.; Richard P. Doherty, NARTB employe-employer relations director, and Mr. Brown. Mr. Arnoux turned the gavel over to Harold Essex, WSJS Winston-Salem, NARTB District 4 director, so he could join in the argument.

Mr. Arnoux, responding to a question by Frederick L. Allman, WSVB Harrisonburg, Va., said the effect of TV on the AM audience is "profound" when TV first hits a community but subsides until radio and TV are soon living side-by-side. Intelligent AM programming and selling will bring radio its share of the audience, he said.

Mr. McAndrew said WRC, AM unit of the NBC Washington operation, had increased its morning time, bringing AM income for June-July ahead of last year. Mr. Arnoux said AM was going up this fall, with marked gains in chain breaks, announcements and participating programs.

Harold E. Fellows, NARTB president and formerly in charge of WEEI Boston, said in response to a question directed his way that

1500-FT. TOWER Okla. City Group Seeking TV

WORLD'S TALLEST man-made structure is proposed for an Oklahoma City TV station by the Oklahoma Television Corp., syndicate of local businessmen which includes ex-Gov. Roy J. Turner and radio pioneer Edgar T. Bell.

Application will be filed this week with the FCC. Three TV applications were filed last week through Aug. 23—for Chicago, Columbia, S. C., and Meridian, Miss.

Oklahoma group proposes a 1,500-foot tower on a site eight miles north of the city. Highest man-made structure is the Empire State Bldg. in New York which is 1,250 feet above ground. Group intends to spend $1,500,000 to build the Channel 9 station and will ask for 200 kw radiation to cover substantially the entire state.

Plan is to spend $360,000 to operate and they hope to have $400,000 income the first year.

Associated with Gov. Turner and Mr. Bell—who gave up his interest in WKY Oklahoma City in 1948—are Luther T. Dulaney, radio-TV and appliance distributor (RCA Victor radio-TV sets); Henry S. Griffing, southwest theatre chain operator, and Forrest E. Harper, who has oil interests.

Gov. Turner, who has oil interests and is a large cattle breeder, is president and 15% stockholder. Mr. Bell is executive vice president and 15% stockholder; Mr. Harper, vice president, 15%; Mr. Griffing, secretary, 30%; Mr. Dulaney, treasurer, 30%.

Oklahoma City application will make a total of five seeking the remaining two VHF channels—one of which FCC proposes to reserve for educational TV. Other applicants are KOMA, Mid-South TV Broadcasting Co., Oklahoma City Television Co., and Southwestern Publishing Co. (Southwestern American and Times-Record, Fort Smith, Ark.).

Application for Chicago's Channel 11 with 32.4 kw radiated power was by American Federation of Labor's WCFL. It plans to spend $292,500 on construction. FCC proposes to reserve Channel 11 for an educational station, and it is the only VHF frequency available in that city. The AFL application makes the fifth applicant for that city—WIND, WJJD, WFJL and Zenith Radio Corp. CBS, also an applicant, is buying WBKB's Channel 2 facilities if and when United Paramount Theatres Inc.-ABC merger is approved by the FCC.

In Columbia, S. C., WNOK is asking for Channel 10, with 24.5 kw power. Applicant plans to spend $208,849 for construction. This is the third application for Columbia's two VHF channels. The others are WIS and WMSC.

In Meridian, Miss., WMOX is seeking Channel 11 with 11.6 kw power, plans to spend $90,000 in construction. WMOX is owned by Birney Imes Jr., who also owns WCBI Columbus, WELO Tupelo, WNAG Granada, WROX Clarksdale, all in Mississippi. He is also the publisher of the Columbus (Miss.) Commercial Dispatch. This is the first application for Meridian's single VHF channel.

several Boston stations, including WEEI, had increased their business when TV came to the city, with managers and salesmen really getting down to hard work.

Mr. Essex said the situation reminded him that 20 years ago newspapers were hit by radio but now they are selling more space than ever before. Mr. Byerly said ratings of WBT, AM adjunct of WBTV, were the highest in history. "It's a matter of programming and selling," he continued.

STOKEY NAMED

To Head NSTP Labor Unit

MIKE STOKEY, producer, Pantomime Quiz, was named to head National Society of Television Producers' seven-man labor committee at last week's regular monthly meeting of the group. Committee will study labor conditions pertaining to television production and report findings to the NSTP membership, as its first step in planning negotiations with film unions.

Group plans to negotiate as a whole with film unions for a contract covering all producers, through the special NSTP committee.

Others making up the labor committee are Julius Tuchler, Syd Cassyd, Jack Voglin, Max Gifford, NSTP legal counsel; Betty Mears and Bill Stevens. Elliott Kelly, labor consultant for Snader Telescriptions Corp., acts in a similar capacity for the group. First meeting is to be held today (Monday).

Also accomplished at the meeting was formation of a title registration bureau. Scale of charges on title registration was approved to be $1 for the first six months; $5 for second six months; $25 for third six months, with affidavit of activity required on the final period. Prior title registration protection will be provided producers on projects in preparation.

Code administrator to replace Martin Mooney will be named at the next meeting.

NABET 'INVASION'

Film Council Wins Support

FURTHER support to the Hollywood AFL Film Council "stop-NABET" campaign was given last week when the California State Federation of Labor and California State Theatrical Federation voted at their respective conventions to support the council's resolution to prevent further NABET "invasion" into amusement fields [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 20].

Film Council resolved that "it would take all necessary steps to defeat planned NABET invasion and eliminate it from established craft fields in amusement industries." It further urged support from other guilds and crafts, and tossed a warning to TV industry management that any yielding to "further encroachments" by NABET would bring "united resistance" of AFL unions.

ADVERTISER USE

20-Fold Increase in 3 Yrs.

A MORE THAN 20-fold increase in the number of advertisers using television in the past three years is shown by a comparison of data for June 1951 and the same month of 1948 as recorded in Rorabaugh Reports on Television Advertising.

In June 1948, first month that video advertising activities were compiled by Mr. Rorabaugh, the four TV networks and the 20 TV stations then on the air reported a total of 228 network, spot and local video clients—16 using the TV networks, 68 sponsoring national or regional spot campaigns on television and 144 using this new medium in their own communities on a local-retail basis.

Three years later, in June of this year, according to the latest Rorabaugh compilation of TV advertising statistics as reported by the four TV networks and 99 stations, which will reach subscribers this week, the total number of video accounts had skyrocketed to 5,322, an increase of 2,234.2%. Network accounts in June 1951 totaled 210, a gain of 1,212.5%;

PEACE TREATY

Calif. Pool Coverage Set

TELECASTS of Japanese treaty signing activities in San Francisco Sept. 4-8 will be carried via microwave relay by a pool of the eight Southern California television stations on a share-the-expense basis. Participating in pool will be seven Los Angeles stations, and one San Diego station, KFMB-TV. Three San Francisco stations—KGO-TV, KPIX (TV), KRON-TV—will also be invited to participate in the pool arrangement which follows that used for coverage of the MacArthur San Francisco arrival.

Originally, the CBS Hollywood station, KTSL (TV), had reserved the microwave relay from the start of the conference Sept. 4 through Sept. 7, with ABC holding reservation for actual signing date, Sept. 8. Both agreed to surrender rights to time and share it with other stations. Decision was made at a meeting last Wednesday.

Total of 22 hours will be available for telecasting by coast stations. Time will include five days of treaty signing activities from War Memorial Opera House, including speeches and interviews, plus signing of Pacific Mutual Defense Pact from Presidio Sept. 1. Programs will be fed to Los Angeles stations by a San Francisco TV outlet, probably CBS' KPIX (TV), which is picking up the telecast for eastern transmission.

TREMENDOUS response was reported by RCA to its series of five-day field tests of the compatible, all-electronic color television system [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, July 16]. Sifting through the replies is O. B. Hanson, vice president and chief engineer of NBC, while Secretary Jean Bissell empties still another pouch of mail. Over 5,000 viewers watched the tests on black-and-white sets and communicated with RCA within 48 hours after start of transmissions July 9, according to Frank Folsom, RCA president. An additional 3,000 responded within next four days.

PRO GRID GAMES

Atlantic Refining Signs

IN ITS MOST extensive TV sponsorship of pro football to date, the Atlantic Refining Co. contracted last week for DuMont coverage of 20 National Professional League games this fall.

Schedule includes all 10 Sunday League games of the champion Cleveland Browns and five games each for the Philadelphia Eagles and the Pittsburgh Steelers. Commitment was handled through N. W. Ayer & Son Inc.

DuMont outlets in Boston, Providence, Buffalo, Rochester, Schenectady, Syracuse, and Utica will carry all ten of the Browns' games, with Richmond scheduling five and Erie, four. Negotiations to include Binghamton in the series are still pending.

The Browns coverage, to be announced for the full Oct. 14-Dec. 16 season by Bob Neal, will be co-sponsored by the Brewing Corp. of America on all but the Buffalo, Rochester, and Binghamton stations.

Only the away-from-home games of the Eagles and Steelers will be telecast, but they will be available to Eagles fans in Philadelphia, Lancaster, and Wilmington and to followers of the Steelers in Pittsburgh and Johnstown. Byrum Saam has signed for the Eagles' telecasts, but no sportscaster has been chosen for the Steelers' games. Co-sponsorship for all ten of these games also is being considered.

In cooperation with the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.'s plan for televising college football during the 1951 season, Atlantic recently announced that it had released a number of Eastern colleges from first refusal options for football television coverage.

GROSS TIME SALES Network July Total Hits $8,964,581

GROSS time sales of the four TV networks in July totaled $8,964,581, according to figures released for publication today (Monday) by Publishers Information Bureau, which also reported that in the first seven months of this year the combined cumulative gross of the four TV networks amounted to $64,190,075. Figures show a gain of 485.3% for July and 312.4% for January-July for this year over last, but these percentages are somewhat larger than the true gain in billings as DuMont figures were not included for the 1950 month and seven-month periods.

An indication of the rapid rate at which TV is growing is given

COAST-TO-COAST

Gala Inaugural Dropped

SUDDEN advance in the opening date of AT&T's transcontinental microwave radio relay TV program transmission service from Sept. 30 to Sept. 4 [AT DEADLINE, Aug. 20] has led the phone company to drop its plans for a $250,000 gala, four-network inaugural program.

Move, made at the request of the State Dept., will instead inaugurate coast-to-coast simultaneous TV program service with a telecast from San Francisco, Sept. 4, at 10:30 p.m. (EDT), of President Truman's opening address to the Japanese peace treaty conference. This program and other pickups from the conference, on which details are now being worked out, will be sent east from San Francisco to Omaha by way of "special temporary circuits" which will be taken out of service at the conclusion of the conference, AT&T said last week.

Following the conference there will be a hiatus in coast-to-coast service of about a month's duration. Then about Oct. 1 and definitely in time for cross-country TV coverage of the World Series, an east-to-west relay circuit will be made available for commercial TV program service. At the end of another month, about Nov. 1, a west-to-east circuit will be added, also on a permanent basis, providing two-way coast-to-coast TV service.

Bell System spokesmen said they were unable to explain reports current last week that the all-star show would be presented instead on Nov. 15. All plans for the program have been dropped, they insisted, and there is no present thought of attempting to stage another "Golden Spike" telecast under AT&T sponsorship.

POWER BOOSTS

Two More Approved by FCC

TWO MORE TV stations got FCC permission to boost power last week, as WLWT (TV) and Zenith asked permission to telecast color and the first oppositions to the DuMont proposed allocation plan were filed.

KPIX (TV) San Francisco got permission to boost transmitter output from 4.9 kw to 5 kw, raising its radiated power from 29.9 kw to 30.55 kw. WLAV-TV Grand Rapids got permission to boost its transmitter to full 5 kw output, increasing its effective radiated power from 20.0 to 28.5 kw.

New application for power increase was filed by WOW-TV Omaha. It wants to jump from 16.2 kw to 17.5 kw radiated power.

Still pending FCC action are power boost requests of WABD (TV) New York, KTSL (TV) Los Angeles, KRON-TV San Francisco, WBEN-TV Buffalo and WTTV (TV) Bloomington, Ind. [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 20].

In other applications WICU (TV) Erie, Pa., asked FCC for permission to install a new 5 kw DuMont transmitter—with no increase in authorized 3 kw radiated power. It intends, after that is accomplished, to seek special authority to run its transmitter at capacity, and put out a 40 kw signal.

And KDYL-TV Salt Lake City wants to move its transmitter location from downtown Salt Lake City to 9,000-ft. Mt. Nelson in the Quirrh Range near Tooele, Utah. This would put antenna 3,600 ft. above average terrain (compared with current minus 500 ft) and, with radiated power of 50 kw, permit station to cover Ogden and Provo, 30-odd miles north and south respectively of Salt Lake.

WLWT (TV) Cincinnati asked FCC for permission to transmit both FCC-approved CBS color system and that being worked on by the National Television System Committee. Its purpose, Crosley station said, was to help develop color TV receivers for both systems and also to permit it to judge public's reaction to color TV. It stated it wanted to utilize color programs on an experimental basis.

Zenith asked for the same thing,

Makes Top-Level Shifts

IN anticipation of schedule expansion, Charles Vanda, vice president in charge of television for WCAU Philadelphia, last week announced top-level personnel reassignments.

The reassignments and extended organizational plans are being made, Mr. Vanda explained, looking toward a TV-schedule beyond the 117-hour weekly schedule which WCAU-TV has telecast for a year.

Mr. Vanda

WCAU-TV also anticipates originating CBS Television Network programs. During the past year, WCAU-TV has originated four weekly CBS-TV shows, including Sealtest Big Top.

John McClay, director of operations at WPIX (TV) New York, formerly director of operations at WCAU-TV for two years, will return as operations manager. As such, Mr. Vanda explained, Mr. McClay will handle all administrative details, reporting directly to Mr. Vanda.

Thomas Freebairn-Smith, formerly operations manager, has become executive producer in charge of all news and special events for WCAU-TV. He also will supervise the film department and oversee establishment of commercial film laboratories in the new WCAU building.

Robert A. Forrest, script supervisor, will head the new program development section and the WCAU-TV program panel, which will include Executive Producers Warren Wright and Paul Ritts, as well as Mr. Vanda.

Richard A. Schlegel will continue to handle operations for the WCAU stations and the assignment of producers and directors. Robert Morton, traffic manager, will report to Mr. Schlegel.

WSB-TV SALE Hidden Ownership Charge Refuted by Atlanta Firms

REFUTATION of hidden ownership charge in the sale of WSB-TV Atlanta to Broadcasting Inc. was made last week by Atlanta Newspapers Inc. and Broadcasting Inc.

Answer to the Georgia Tech petition to reconsider the approval of the sale of Atlanta's Channel 8 facilities [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 20] asked that the FCC deny the request. Same day that the answer was filed, a second petition for reconsideration was filed by E. D. Rivers Jr. (WEAS Decatur, Ga.), another TV applicant for Atlanta.

Georgia Tech (WGST) alleged that: (1) Joseph L. Morris, 10% stockholder in Broadcasting Inc., was or had been a stockholder in Atlanta Newspapers Inc., owner of Channel 2 facilities, and that this violated FCC's multiple ownership rules. (2) That some members of the investment banking firm of Robinson-Humphrey Co. Inc. had stock interests in Broadcasting Inc. and others including Mr. Morris in Atlanta Newspapers Inc. That this "community of interest" showed multiple ownership.

Broadcasting Inc. and Atlanta Newspapers furnished affidavits by Mr. Morris and others mentioned in Georgia Tech allegations to show:

(1) That Mr. Morris did own 180 shares of non-voting preferred stock out of 180,000 such shares in Atlanta Newspapers Inc. and that his wife owned 120 such shares. This, said Mr. Morris, is one-tenth of 1% of the issue. It did not occur to him, he said, to consider this an interest in a broadcast station. When he learned in July that it might be considered in that light, he said he sold all his stock, as well as that of his wife's.

★ Ironic twist is given in Mr. Morris' statement when he disclosed that he formerly owned $10,000 of Georgia Tech Dormitory Revenue Certificates—Georgia Tech being the petitioner trying to get the Commission to rescind its approval of the sale.

(2) That there is no foundation to the allegation of a "community of interest" between Atlanta Newspapers Inc. and Broadcasting Inc. because certain members of Robinson-Humphrey Co. Inc. own stock in Atlanta Newspapers Inc. and other members in Broadcasting Inc. Affidavit by Robey Robinson, vice president of the investment firm, stated that the only connection his firm has had with either of the two principals was to sell stock in the new company.

Other more legalistic complaints were also answered by Broadcasting Inc. and Atlanta Newspapers Inc.

Mr. Rivers' complaint is much along the same lines as those by Georgia Tech. It implied that "suspicion" should attach to the fact that the WSB-TV facilities were sold for $525,000 "when everyone in the industry knows that the station is worth at least four times that amount." It cited recent TV station purchases to imply that "the owners of WSB-TV without any trouble whatever, could have found a number of buyers for the station who would have been willing to pay . . . perhaps $2 million or more for WSB-TV."

to be telecast on its two experimental TV stations in Chicago—KS2XBR and KS2XBS.

First oppositions to DuMont proposal [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 20] came from Crosley Broadcasting Corp. in Toledo (where it is a TV applicant), Columbus (WLWC) and Dayton (WLWD), all Ohio; Sangamon Valley Television Corp., TV applicant for Springfield, Ill.; Balaban & Katz Corp. (WBKB), Chicago; WMAR-TV Baltimore; WGRD Grand Rapids; WSSV Petersburg, Va.; WOI Ames.

Most object to DuMont channel separations, which they claim are less than FCC proposed minimum 180 miles co-channel, 70 miles adjacent channel.

GETS OFFER

To Buy School Outlet

SOMEBODY HAS a sense of humor—or he doesn't know the FCC's attitude about educational TV.

That's the only deduction one can make after the disclosure by Miami School Superintendent Dr. James T. Wilson that "someone" had offered $500,000 for the TV station if the school system got a grant and put the station on the air.

As reported in the Aug. 19 Miami Herald, Dr. Wilson told Dade County School Board:

"This person said he would be willing after, and if, we obtain the channel to put up as much as a half-million dollars, give the board 25% of the stock and guarantee the board 1½ to 2 hours a day on the air."

Dr. Wilson did not identify the bidder.

Although several school board members were reported chorusing, "We would be willing, too," they were soon set straight on the Commission's proposal for educational TV—which would prohibit such stations from being run commercially.

Dade County School Board also voted 3-2 to hire the Washington law firm of Krieger & Jorgenson at $75 a month on six months' retainer to represent it in prosecuting its application for non-commercial Channel 2 in Miami. The application is in the name of Lindsey Hopkins Vocational School, which operates non-commercial FM station WTHS.

There are five pending applications for Miami's two available VHF channels. Due to be filed soon is the sixth application, by Elliott Roosevelt-E. D. Rivers Sr. group [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 20].

IN THE LIGHT OF DAY

Daytime TV does more than build big audiences—it delivers the kind that look, listen and buy. Stories like these, from Blair-represented television stations, show how advertisers who are developing franchises in daytime TV are getting quantity . . . quality . . . results!

“The Billie Burke Show” over KTTV, Los Angeles, presents the first big “name” personality on West Coast television . . . “Come Into the Kitchen”, also on KTTV—daytime, now has seventeen (count ‘em), seventeen sponsors including such ad-wise people as Borden’s, Yuban and Sunkist.

“Martha’s Kitchen” for Skinner’s Macaroni and Raisin Bran on WOW-TV, Omaha, offered a measuring spoon for a dime and boxtop. Only four announcements rang up 500 replies per week for four weeks.

Red and White Grocers, sponsors of “King’s Queen” over KING-TV, Seattle, mimeographs all recipes mentioned on the show. 4600 copies are distributed among the 82 member stores each month. Repeat requests total about 1400 more, not including some 700 mailed monthly from the station.

Theatre Network Gets Saddler-Pep Bout

—now ranging from a standard 65 cents to an increased charge of $1.25—to $2 for the Robinson-Turpin show.

As house owners wondered if the trade would bear an increase, reports came in on theatre television's last offering, the Louis-Bivins fight, which was carried by 15 theatres. Six reported SRO business, while the remaining nine described it as anything from "fair" to "near capacity." Observers felt the public was beginning to cool towards the novelty of theatre TV.

Scrap Drive

EMERGENCY public service campaign to speed the flow of industrial and agricultural iron and steel scrap to steel plants, has been opened by The Advertising Council upon request of the Steel Industry Scrap Mobilization Committee of the American Iron & Steel Institute and by the National Production Authority.

ANOTHER victory in the race for TV rights to boxing events was scored by Theatre Network Television Inc. last week when it signed an exclusive contract for the Sandy Saddler-Willie Pep featherweight bout in New York's Yankee Stadium Sept. 26.

With arrangements still pending, it is expected that 20 movie houses will carry the battle, the largest number to participate in a single theatrecast. (A total of 25 houses are equipped for large-screen television, but five of these—located in the New York area—are ineligible for the Saddler-Pep fight.)

Signees for the hookup so far include theatres in Minneapolis, Detroit and St. Louis, which have never before tested theatre TV, and Boston, which has just premiered the service with the Joe Louis-Jimmy Bivins contest Aug. 15.

Exhibitors were reportedly jarred, however, at last week's trade news that TNT fees would be increased from an approximate

40 cents to 75 cents per house seat for the Randy Turpin-Sugar Ray Robinson exclusive Sept. 12 [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 20]. After the International Boxing Club sets its fee — estimated at $25,000 — the charge is pro-rated among participating theatres by TNT, which administers the events, on a basis of theatre capacity and admission charge.

Exhibitors, who in addition to the IBC fee must bear AT&T charges, TNT administrative expenses, rental of Hollywood films they show the same evening, and the usual overhead, argued they could not break even. IBC's suggestion: Increase admission prices

FIRMS SPLIT

Official-Fairbanks Part

APPROXIMATELY three months after being merged, Jerry Fairbanks Productions, Hollywood, and Official Films, New York, last week dissolved their union, with each firm returning to its former separate status. One of the basic reasons for the break was understood to be difficulty of long-range negotiations between the Hollywood and New York firms.

Simultaneous with announcement of the split, made jointly in both cities, came news of reorganization within Official's ranks. Aaron Katz resigned as president of the firm and William Goodheart Jr., formerly MCA executive vice president, replaced him.

Under the new arrangement Jerry Fairbanks, who was on the board of directors of the merged organization, will be the Fairbanks president and board chairman. Sid Rogell, former executive head of RKO who left to join Official as vice president, becomes executive vice president in charge of studio operations for the Fairbanks firm. Austin Sherman, Fairbanks legal adviser, becomes secretary and board member.

According to Mr. Rogell, the Fairbanks firm has acquired considerable amount of outside financing for planned TV film production. Such financing may have come from Mr. Rogell and Mr. Sherman both who, the firm says, will have "important interests" in the organization.

Under the newly arranged terms between the two firms, Official will continue to handle distribution of three Fairbanks TV film series, Frontpage Detective, Hollywood Ringside and Bigelow Theatre.

In the meantime, Fairbanks revealed that it would go ahead with large-scale expansion. To this end, the organization has leased additional stage space and office facilities at Rocket Studios, Sunset Blvd. Included are a large stage, 8-10 large offices, plus other studios.

KLING DISTRIBUTOR

United Television Named

CONTRACTS naming United Television Programs as exclusive distributors for Kling Studios Inc., film producer [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 20], were signed last week in Chicago by executives of the two companies.

Kling already has completed 13 half-hour films called Old American Barn Dance for Sept. 1 release, and immediate production is planned for a second series of 13. The 35mm film features Bill Bailey ("Cactus Jim") as m.c. with a cast of 24 folk entertainers.

Nine markets have been signed to carry the show: The American Snuff Co. has purchased it for Atlanta, Birmingham, Nashville, Greensboro, Norfolk, Memphis, and Richmond. Oxford Products Co. of Cleveland (for Imdrin) will sponsor the show in Omaha and New Orleans.

Michigan U. Studies TV Educator Success

(Report 178)

TELEVISION has passed the test as an educator, as far as tele-students of the U. of Michigan are concerned.

Six courses were telecast last fall and spring over WWJ-TV Detroit. The "viewdent body" included 1,001 women and 938 men. Several registered for more than one course bringing total registrations to 2,307.

More than a third of the students returned questionnaires in a recent survey. All students answering indicated they wanted the telecourses continued.

The courses offered in the 28-week series covered interior design, human biology, how to enjoy living after retirement, retailing, the Far East and photography. A fee of $2 was charged for the 14-week course and $1 for the seven-week course.

leased by Coffin, Cooper & Clay Inc., San Francisco. Golden Gate Playhouse on KRON-TV, featuring full-length movies, placed first in the survey.

Other leaders were:

2. Adventure Time
3. Shell News
4. Howdy Doody
5. Buckskin Dan

Hopalong Cassidy, perennial favorite, headed the list of daytime shows, and Groucho Marx took top honors in evening entertainment. Top 10 evening shows:

'Toast' First In Three ARB Cities

THREE of the four cities surveyed by American Research Bureau Inc. during the week of Aug. 1-7 gave top rating to Toast of the Town, according to ARB's latest release. In Boston, New York and Philadelphia, "Toast" was first. The most watched show in Chicago, the fourth city surveyed, was What's My Line. Talent Scouts and Godfrey & His Friends also drew high ratings in all four cities.

Variety and Talent Shows Sell Small-Cost Staples

VARIETY and talent shows on TV can sell "interchangeable, small-cost staples better than expensive, judgment-demanding items," in the opinion of Dr. Burleigh B. Gardner, executive director of Social Research, Chicago. Dr. Gardner reached this conclusion after studying results of the company's third video survey, entitled "Skit, Song and Dance," among 400 television families on all social levels.

He reports that variety and talent shows attract, in the main, a lower middle class audience. Upper middle class viewers do not take this kind of programming "seriously" because "of their standards of artistry, style and taste," the report concludes.

'Not Enthusiastic'

Upper middles "are not enthusiastic about the kind of singing and dancing which dominate variety and talent shows, and tire rather quickly of watching amateur performances. They are predisposed to perceive an 'unsophisticated' quality in amateur productions, and are likely to feel a commercial program should be staffed by the best professionals obtainable."

Eyes and Ears of a

GOOD CITIZEN

Every weekday morning, Daytonians by the thousands turn from their routine tasks, from housework, from business and commerce, to participate in Dayton's own daily church of the air—the interdenominational "Morning Reflections" originated in the studios of WHIO-TV. Day after day, religious leaders of the area alternate in using our facilities to spread, far beyond the boundaries of their congregations, inspiration for hope and faith.

We gladly contribute daily air time and facilities for "Morning Reflections" and many other programs in the religious, educational, patriotic and charitable fields. As a locally-owned, locally-operated station, we conceive it our duty and our privilege as a "Good Citizen". We're glad to say that our conception of responsibility works both ways. In audience loyalty and audience surveys*, Dayton enthusiastically reciprocates every effort that we make. WHIO-TV is represented nationally by the George P. Hollingbery Co.

"MORNING REFLECTIONS"

"'Morning Reflections' turns one's thoughts toward the finer things of life at the beginning of the day," says Rev. R. W. Coleman, Executive Secretary of the Church Federation of Greater Dayton (left). "Thanks to the progressive civic spirit of our broadcaster, this pastoral visit mid-morning each day helps make our community a better place to live."

SPORTS STUDY

House May Probe Entire Field

THERE is a chance that when the House returns from its extended recess a special committee may be set up to look over the entire field of sports to see if there is "unreasonable restraint" against the public interest.

Giving impetus to this possibility was a new resolution introduced in the House last Thursday by Rep. L. Gary Clemente (D-N. Y.) superseding his H Res 367 introduced earlier in the month [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 13].

That initial request asked Congress to probe whether such restraint is applicable in the purchase of exclusive rights to boxing-match telecasts by theatres for large screen viewing.

However, Rep. Clemente has extended this in his new legislation to "investigate all phases of football, basketball, boxing, racing and other sporting events."

The committee would be charged with "determining whether federal legislation is needed to prevent illegal, unethical, corrupt or otherwise improper conduct" of the contests.

Rep. Clemente told BROADCASTING • TELECASTING that he believed the TV issue would be essential in any study since his resolution is all-inclusive.

Earlier, the congressman told newsmen that he had introduced the new resolution at the recommendation of the House Rules Committee, which must approve the request before it can stand or die on its merits in the lower chamber.

While speculative, it is conceivable that the proposed five-man House committee, if established, could turn its attention to such broadcast problems as baseball restrictions and football bans, for example, the NCAA partial blackout.

RWG-TWG CLASH

NLRB Hearing Set

JURISDICTIONAL dispute over representation of television writers last week threatened to come to a climax that may ultimately solve the three-year old debate and clear the way for resumption of negotiations with three major networks.

Contest between the Radio Writers' Guild and the Television Writers' group became fully public last July when the radio writers filed a petition with the NLRB requesting they be certified as exclusive bargaining agent for all free lance television writers for ABC-TV, CBS-TV, and NBC-TV. Negotiations with the networks were halted until the proper bargaining agent could be established.

Last week, the Authors League of America, parent of both groups, sent a letter to individual writers, charging the Radio Writers Guild petition was unilateral and illegal and asserting that the League could not allow it. The statement was signed by League President Oscar Hammerstein 2nd.

Radio Writers Guild spokesmen said they had met with Mr. Hammerstein the day the letter was dated, and that he had agreed to call a meeting of the league council for reconsideration of the problem. Disclaiming the charge of illegal techniques, they countered that the League's own lawyer had agreed their petition was filed according to protocol. Petition is slated for NLRB hearing Sept. 1.

More Proven Performance of the Eimac 3X2500A3

The Eimac 3X2500A3 is one of the outstanding vacuum tube developments made during recent years. Consistent performance, long life, and low cost account for its filling the key socket positions in many important recently designed equipments.

The 3X2500A3 is a compact, air-cooled triode. Its coaxial construction results in minimum lead inductance, excellent circuit isolation, and convenience of use with coaxial plate and filament tank circuits. For AM service it is FCC rated for 5000 watts per tube as a high-level modulated amplifier. It has comparatively low plate-resistance, high transconductance, and will provide effective performance over a wide range of plate voltages at frequencies extending well into the VHF.

Reports from many engineers, like Mr. Dodd of WFAA-TV, confirm the outstanding transmitter performance, simplified maintenance, and low tube replacement cost made possible through the use of the Eimac 3X2500A3. Consider this unequalled triode for your applications . . . complete data are free for the asking.

Wolverton (R-N. J.) then engaged in a lengthy exchange evolving about the invocation of power "in order to preserve the neutrality of the United States," which the latter felt was ambiguous and dangerous. "the power that is granted would be similar to an act that would deny newspapers the right to publish news in time of war, or threat of war, or a state of public peril." Rep. Wolverton said. The general noted that is part of the Communications Act now.

Gen Ankenbrandt also revealed the immence of an executive order "to bring into effect now the authority contained in the current law, and as soon as Congress amends the current law, if they so see fit, we intend to pursue that executive order for bringing the new authority into operation" [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 13].

In any event, the proclamation or order should be on the books now in advance of any critical emergency. He recalled that in the last war, no such authority was spelled out before Pearl Harbor.

Gen. Ankenbrandt also conceded that where a decision had to be made on invoking Sec. 606, the Continental Air Defense Command "would be supreme" on the question of removing stations from the air—but only under the interdepartmental plan involving participation of FCC, Defense Dept., Federal Civil Defense, CAA and other agencies. "Closing of many stations" is not contemplated, he added.

FCDA Favors Plan

The Federal Civil Defense Administration also placed itself on record for the legislation. The agency expressed "concern," however, lest any measure be adopted which might deny the FCDA administrator use of broadcasting facilities during a civil defense emergency. Specifically, this function consists of "providing for necessary civil defense communications and for dissemination of warnings of enemy attack to the civilian population. . ." FCDA's comments were filed by James Wadsworth, acting deputy administrator.

ANTENNA SITE PROBLEMS

NARTB to Circulate Piece by CAA's Guccione

NEED for continued cooperation between broadcasters and authorities of the Civil Aeronautics Administration on factors involved in the selection of antenna tower sites is emphasized in an article now ready for distribution by NARTB to member stations.

The article was written by Vincent T. Guccione, aids and hazards specialist, CAA New York office, in view of a new rule promulgated by the FCC earlier this year dealing with Commission procedure in handling antenna applications. It also is a followup to a similar article penned last year by Mr. Guccione on aeronautics hazards [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Sept. 11, 1950].

Mr. Guccione delves into considerations of construction, marking and lighting on antenna structures, and points up choice of areas that will concern broadcasters in selecting sites without fear of their being adjudged unsuitable from an aeronautical standpoint. Adjacency of a tower to airports or civil airways is the primary factor.

The CAA specialist also cites community cooperation among broadcasters and regional CAA offices, and reviews CAA concern over selection of sites which could serve as aeronautical hazards. Article is titled Will Your Tower Be An Aeronautical Hazard?

The eight-page article, which NARTB was slated to distribute to members over the past weekend, was written in the hope of saving broadcasters substantial expenditures in land commitments, and of promoting greater liaison between local station engineers and regional CAA branches.

Various factors are reviewed in terms of the newly-revised Part I of FCC Rules & Regulations, and the part being played by regional airspace subcommittees of the CAA.

In announcing the adoption of Part 17 early this year [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Feb. 26], FCC noted that the amended rule, Sec. 1.337, provides procedure for antenna data submitted in station applications. The rule was approved in light of provisions for aeronautical study of antenna sites contained in Part 17.

The tower issue hinged largely on FCC's relaxation of the TV freeze, posing the problem of effective transmission in view of the necessity of line-of-sight coverage from transmitter to recipient of the signal.

CAPEHART PLAN

Truman Asks Repeal

PRESIDENT TRUMAN wants Congress to repeal the so-called Capehart Amendment to the newly enacted Defense Product Act.

That's the formula which leaves room for a firm to apply advertising and selling costs to its product in setting price ceilings [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 13].

In a message to Congress Thursday, the President asked for repeal of certain sections of the act—one of those the Capehart Amendment.

Some Senate Republicans greeted the request with bitter criticism.

Chairman Burnet Maybank (D-S. C.) of the Senate Banking & Currency Committee announced soon after a committee huddle with Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston and Price Administrator Michael DiSalle that open hearings would be held this Thursday and Friday on any proposed legislation to improve the present act. This would be a clarifying hearing, he said.

Only a few weeks ago, the Office of Price Stabilization indefinitely postponed the effective date (Aug. 13) for the new ceiling price manufacturers' regulations.

OPS was working on a method to put into regulation form the formula to permit new cost allowances to be added to rollback ceilings as contained in the Capehart Amendment.

The old formulas, including CPR 22, had not provided for increases in overhead costs, an issue that was criticized because of fears that advertising budgets might be cut in maintaining ceilings.

Philip Litvin

DR. PHILIP LITVIN, 45, husband of FCC Hearing Examiner Fanney Neyman Litvin, was drowned Aug. 20 in Montana. Mr. and Mrs. Litvin were guests of Montana Broadcaster Ed Craney when the accident occurred. Mrs. Litvin is a native of Montana. As of Aug. 24 Dr. Litvin's body had not been recovered. Dr. Litvin was a neurologist and a lieutenant colonel in the Army Medical Corps Reserve. Burial will be in Arlington Cemetery.

functions, while Harry Ackerman remains vice president in charge of network programs for both Radio and Television Divisions, Hollywood. The two men are described as being "in effect, co-partners in charge of CBS in Hollywood."

A veteran of 22 years in radio, Mr. Burkland has spent his entire business career with CBS. While attending the U. of Minnesota, he worked as announcer and salesman for CBS-owned WCCO. In 1938 he became sales manager of the station and in 1941 joined the Radio Sales staff in New York. He was general manager of WTOP, Washington, D. C., network affiliate, from 1942-48.

Mr. Campbell, a graduate of Culver Military Academy, class of 1930, joined CBS in 1938. Since then he has been general manager of KMOX and WCCO.

Mr. Ward spent five years at KWTO and KGBX Springfield, Mo., and a year at KTTS, network affiliate in that city. After wartime service he joined WCCO as promotion manager and became, successively, assistant sales manager, sales manager, and assistant general manager.

Associated with CBS Radio for 12 years in the sales departments of both CPN and KNX, Mr. Shaw was assistant sales manager from 1948 until 1950, when he became an account executive with Radio Sales. During World War II, he was a combat pilot in the Army Air Corps with the rank of captain.

A native of Dayton, Ohio, Mr. Grant was reared in California where he attended Stanford U. He received his law degree from the U. of Southern California and has practiced in both Los Angeles and New York.

Big Screen

WTCN-TV Minneapolis-St. Paul on Aug. 18 presented what it believes to be the first big-screen telecasting of a commercial studio TV program. Working with Craigie Adv. Agency, WTCN developed a tie-in with Radio City Theatre, 4,000 seat house owned by United-Paramount. Piped into the theatre was Toby Prin's 11 a.m. Kid's Talent Hunt show for sponsors, Nesbitt's Orange and Mida Drugs.

RATING SYSTEM NCCM Bares Program Monitoring Plan

PROSPECT of a nationwide system of monitoring TV programs for moral balance within the confines of industry self-regulation was held out last week by the National Council of Catholic Men.

The comprehensive TV rating plan, for which NCCM claimed NARTB's blessing as part of its own campaign looking toward formulation of a standards code, stems from a resolution adopted by the council at its recent annual meeting. A complete study will be issued shortly.

Present NCCM plan involves a system to be administered through various diocesan councils of men affiliated with the National Council. Joining with NCCM are a host of community organizations, most of whose complaints to the FCC touched on alleged indecency, obscenity or profanity.

In support of its plan, the NCCM noted a flush of developments:

(1) Meeting last June of the NARTB Television Program Standards Committee under Chairman Robert D. Swezey, WDSU-TV New Orleans; (2) NBC's revised program code; (3) Proposals approved by the National Society of Television Producers for TV film producers; (4) A bill (H.R. 3482) sponsored by Rep. Thomas Lane (D-Mass.) to empower FCC to promulgate regulations regarding obscenity and other objectionable phases of TV; and (5) Refusal of the U. S. Supreme Court to review a decision by the Federal Court of Appeals (of Philadelphia) which held that the state of Pennsylvania had no constitutional power to establish censorship over films intended for television.

The council also quoted J. L. Van Volkenburg, CBS Television Division president, as stating that "we (CBS) are developing our own code for television . . . which will be more severe than the NARTB standards." NARTB's exploratory work concerns education and culture; children's programs and decency; news and public events, religion and controversial issues; advertising practices; and standards observance—for which subcommittees were created early this month [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 6].

The NCCM also singled out legislation offered by Sen. William Benton (D-Conn.), which is designed to set up a National Citizens Advisory Board on Radio and Television.

"Although the bill does not explicitly state that the board would investigate morality of shows, the implication is that it would," NCCM asserted. While the Benton board would comprise educational, civic, cultural and religious leaders, perhaps its main purpose would be to study allocation of time primarily for public service and educational programs in contradistinction to commercial fare. Religion is a side issue.

Present NCCM thinking is that improved TV programming lies within the realm of industry self-regulation. An "alert, informed, active public opinion capable of expressing its criticism and approbation quickly and effectively" also would serve as a pulse for better standards, NCCM contends.

Film Report . . .

A TWELVE-PART film series based on the life of Christ is being produced by CATHEDRAL FILMS, Los Angeles. It is their first series designed for TV as well as church use. Budgeted at $500,000, the films will be shot in color. The first episode, Holy Night, is being filmed now. The episode, I Beheld His Glory, will be filmed next. Rev. James F. Friedrich, president of Cathedral, estimates that the project will require three years.

Strictly for community service is H, The Story of a Teen-Age Drug addict, produced by STERLING Television Co., New York. The film will be released only to those stations which intend to show it as a public service. Discussion material on the dope problem will accompany the quarter-hour film and is included in the package price. It is available now.

SPECIAL PULSE

Says WJZ Viewing Better

A SPECIAL survey conducted by Pulse Inc. for ABC has rated fringe-area viewers' reaction to the stepped-up power of WJZ-TV New York and has indicated that 87% of the test homes found that picture quality remained excellent or had improved. Before the power increase, 28% of the homes reported "good" or "excellent" reception; after the increase the figure jumped to 77%.

Before the increase, 36% of the interviewees found Channel 7 reception only "fair"; this number declined to 17% after the increase. The survey was conducted in Stamford, Conn.; Pleasantville and Huntington, N. Y.; Montclair and New Brunswick, N. J.; and on Staten Island. WJZ-TV's power was increased when its transmitter was moved to the Empire State Bldg.

WHITNEY RETURNS

To Don Lee From KFI-AM-TV

GEORGE A. WHITNEY, for the past year general manager of KFI-AM-TV Los Angeles, has rejoined Don Lee Broadcasting System, Hollywood, as vice president in charge of television sales.

Mr. Whitney

He will work directly with Willet H. Brown, president of the regional network, who heads both AM and TV operations. General Tire & Rubber Co.'s Thomas S. Lee Enterprises Inc., of which Don Lee Broadcasting System is a division, recently purchased KFI-TV from Earle C. Anthony for $2,500,000. When the station transfer is made effective early next month, call letters will be changed from KFI-TV to KHJ-TV, identifying it with the Don Lee AM operations. KFI-AM continues under ownership of Mr. Anthony.

All present KFI-TV employees are being screened by Mr. Brown and those best qualified for posts available under new ownership will be retained, he said.

Mr. Whitney was sales manager

NEW FILM LEADER

Unit Released by SMPTE

A NEW TYPE of film leader for motion picture prints, incorporating several special provisions for television use, has been released to producers and film laboratories by the Society of Motion Picture & Television Engineers. Use of the new leaders, SMPTE spokesmen said, will eliminate "blind" switching of telecast films and will permit synchronous threading of all 16mm projectors. The leader has been endorsed by a number of TV broadcasters, officials reported.

Credited with the new development were:

V. D. Armstrong, Consolidated Labs; R. O. Bigwood, DuMont; L. W. Davee, Century Projector; T. P. Dewhurst, General Precision Labs; L. B. Gumbinner and K. E. MacIlvain, CBS; C. F. Horstman, RKO; H. R. Lipman, Audio Productions; K. E. Mullenger and C. A. Younger, ABC; J. G. Stott, DuArt Labs; C. L. Townsend, NBC; Steve D'Inzillo, New York Projectionists' Local.

of KHJ, the Don Lee-owned-and-operated Los Angeles AM station for 18 months prior to joining the Earle C. Anthony Organization in November 1950. Before that he served as KFI sales and business manager in 1945-46. Mr. Whitney in his new post is building a sales staff that will operate independently from AM division.

An inaugural program, to be telecast when the station adopts its new identification, also is being lined up. Joe Rines, freelance producer-director, has the assignment.

With no successor to Mr. Whitney at KFI having been named, department heads are reporting directly to Mr. Anthony for time being.

UNESCO PANEL

Broadcasters Invited to Meet

COMMERCIAL and educational TV broadcasters will be invited to sit in on a special working panel which meets in New York Sept. 12 to map plans for a permanent UNESCO television panel.

The panel was authorized under a resolution adopted by the National Commission of the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization. It will ultimately explore methods of utilizing both commercial and educational TV facilities in UNESCO's international information program [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, July 30, 16].

The State Dept. is withholding the identity of participants pending acceptances for next month's meeting, to be held at the Office of the U. S. Mission to UN, 2 Park Ave. Representatives of film and live broadcast facilities are slated to make up the bulk of the proposed 12-man working group, with perhaps a handful of participants from educational institutions.

The National Commission is headed by George Stoddard, president of the U. of Illinois. Sen. William Benton (D-Conn.), prime-mover behind educational TV, also is a member of the commission, though his office reported no invitation as of last week.

The group will discuss TV's role as outlined during the sixth session of the UNESCO general conference in Paris. The group will lay plans for setting up the panel which will study recommendations for use of television in the UNESCO program. Help of commercial telecasters also will be solicited. Proposals will be submitted to the general conference at Hunter College next Jan. 27-31.

KFDA NEWS AD

Gives 'Food for Thought'

OFFERING "food for thought," KFDA Amarillo, Tex., caused comment by running a "food advertisement" in the local newspaper under the heading, "KFDA Food Specials."

Listed were such things as bananas ("Yes, We Have No Bananas, but we have peeled off some of the best ABC network and local programs for your listening menu"), corn ("Sure, there's a little 'corn' on some of the programs, but that's what makes a well balanced listening station"), soap ("We are interested in keeping our programs clean. It's no 'soft soap,' though, when we tell you that this great area has the largest percentage of homes with radio . . .") etc.

Small print note, which when almost missed by the paper's ad takers caused head-cratching, said "Well, we are not in the food business, but it is well to point out that the leading food manufacturers use KFDA consistently to 'tell 'em and sell 'em.'"

BOOK DRIVE

Governor Thanks KFH

KFH Wichita, Kan., has received a letter of appreciation from Gov. Edward F. Arn for the station's drive to collect library books for flooded areas.

Through "Operation Library Flood Relief" on the Monday-Friday morning program, E. J.'s Notebook, more than 75,000 books have been collected. The program is conducted by Ethel Jane King, KFH women's director.

For each book collected, KFH in conjunction with an amusement park, is offering a ticket for rides at reduced rates. Using the KFH sound truck staff members have personally collected the books. The sound truck was used on-the-spot during floods to alert citizens, recruit volunteer workers and to direct families to relief.

WGEZ TO 250 W

Examiner Favors Power Boost

INCREASE in power for WGEZ Beloit, Wis., was recommended last week by FCC Hearing Examiner Hugh B. Hutchison. His initial decision favored the station's request for a boost to 250 w on 1490 kc. WGEZ is now operating with 100 w on that frequency.

The initial decision noted that Sidney H. Bliss is sole owner of WGEZ and also is a member of the family which controls WCLO Janesville, Wis., located 12 miles from WGEZ. Duopoly is not involved, the decision maintained, because the two station's nighttime interference-free contours will not overlap, although their daytime contours will (as they do now). Also, the two cities are separate trading areas and neither station will program for the other station's area. Both WGEZ and WCLO are MBS affiliates.

Slight interference to WOPA Oak Park, Ill., and WOSH Oshkosh, Wis., will result from the power boost, which is still subject to final FCC approval, but the hearing examiner felt greatly increased service to WGEZ's area justified the increase. The station presently provides primary nighttime service to only 56.1% of Beloit's total population. With proposed 250 w, WGEZ would serve 90.4% at that time. Interference would also affect 4.9% of WKBB Dubuque, Iowa's service area population, the examiner estimated, pointing out that these listeners now receive primary service from six to ten stations, depending on their location in the area.

Mr. Mulligan said. "During that one minute we supply copy for a news note about coal—I suppose that's what you'd call our commercial," he added.

Mr. Mulligan feels that BCI's radio program is important because it is heard by Congressmen, other government officials and the capital's newspaper corps. The program is now in its fourth year.

"The brief news note pertaining to coal," explains Mr. Mulligan, "points up what is being done by a progressive forward-looking industry under private management."

While BCI has no other programs, it furnishes information and electric transcriptions for coal operators who want to sponsor spots or programs at the local level.

In addition, BCI owns motion picture films which have been shown on television. One film, "The Magic of Coal," has been telecast more than 6,000 times over 67 of the nation's TV outlets, as part of the stations' public service.

Ralph Mulligan's middle initial stands for Coolidge. He is a distant cousin of the late President Calvin Coolidge, whom he knew well.

New England Roots

Although his employment now calls for Washington, D. C., residence, Mr. Mulligan's roots are deep in New England.

He was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coolidge Mulligan, March 15, 1888, in the fashionable Massachusetts hamlet of Natick. At Phillips Exeter Academy in New Hampshire, he got his first taste of newspapering which many years later was to take him to Washington.

Like his father, class of 1879, he was a graduate of Harvard U., class of 1909. Then, in 1911, he received his law degree at Boston U. Law School.

When Calvin Coolidge was catapulted into the White House, Mr. Mulligan came to Washington as a correspondent for the Boston Post and other New England papers.

His early affiliation with the National Coal Assn. was on a part-time basis, but during World War II he detached himself from all other activities and was in charge of NCA's department of priorities and procurement.

When this function ended, Mr. Mulligan was named director of public relations and was assigned to BCI, the NCA's public relations and advertising agency. BCI's advertising, is handled through Benton & Bowles, New York.

Stamps, New England antiques and fine books have been hobbies in the past for Mr. Mulligan. While he was at Harvard, he won a crimson H on the rowing crew and has not quite recovered from his liking for boating. He owns a six-bedroom "cottage" on Maine's Penobscot Bay and still takes a sailboat out whenever he gets a chance.

Most of Mr. Mulligan's leisure time is spent with his family. His wife is the former Marguerite Maxwell, of New York City. A daughter, Patricia, will be entering her senior year at Bryn Mawr this fall. His son, Minot Coolidge Mulligan, is secretary of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Mr. Mulligan is a junior warden at St. Thomas' Episcopal Church in Washington, where the late Franklin D. Roosevelt worshipped. He is a member of Washington's exclusive Metropolitan Club, the National Press Club, the Harvard Club of Washington and the Harvard Club of New York.

SALES POWER

KFMJ Is $1,050 Sure

SELF-CONFIDENCE in its selling power has encouraged KFMJ, the 1050 kc station (1 kw) in Tulsa, to offer $1,050 to any advertiser "when KFMJ does not outsell (dollar volume) or outdraw (traffic) any other Tulsa advertising medium."

The advertiser is challenged to engage in a comparison in "any mutually approved promotion" with expenditure in each medium measured at $150 or more at published rates.

Measurement would be made by Advertising Research Bureau Inc., Seattle, national sales engineers. Thus, station says, the advertiser has opportunity to learn how to "earn more of your advertising budget, and therefore show you a way to more sales from your advertising dollar."

Feature of Week

Kunkle was to introduce a bull into his china shop. If the Roughnecks won, Mr. Monroe was to wheel Mr. Kunkle around the ball park in a barrow.

KENT, which broadcasts Texas League play-by-plays seven nights a week, featured the wager on all sports programs. Sportswriters dubbed the contests "the bull in the china shop series." Phone calls came in from Houston and Dallas asking for information.

As soon as the Sports had won two games, a search was begun for a suitable bull. No ordinary bull would do. Not with coverage planned by radio stations, newspapers and magazines.

The specimen of hamburger-on-the-hoof chosen was an 1,800-pound white-faced bull who, it was hoped, would not be unnerved in making his broadcast debut.

For the occasion, the bull was decorated with flowers, just like his Hollywood cousin, Ferdinand. It was doubtful that even a New York bull could have been groomed any more carefully for a Broadway debut.

An audience of 400 persons assembled for the great moment. The performance got off to an uneasy start inasmuch as the bull could hardly wriggle through the 42-inch door.

Once inside the china shop, the bull accepted a lei of carnations, blinked at the flash bulbs, gazed placidly at his audience like a radio veteran.

Then as Mr. Monroe approached him with the KENT microphone, the bull unceremoniously sat on the floor and refused to move.

Apparently a victim of mike-fright, the bull had no bellowing comment whatsoever to make. But his expression seemed to say, "Gee, the air-conditioning in here is swell!"

BERG SIGNS

Sets NBC 10-year Contract

MRS. GERTRUDE BERG, creator of The Goldbergs, who plays her own lead role, has signed an exclusive 10-year contract with NBC, Sylvester L. (Pat) Weaver Jr., vice president in charge of television, announced last week. The deal was handled through Ted Ashley Assoc.

It was understood that the contract called for a television series only, but starting time and date are yet to be announced.

Originally called The Rise of the Goldbergs, the show got its start on NBC after Mrs. Berg decided that the summer entertainment she wrote for her father's guests as a Catskill hotel would make good radio material. From NBC, The Goldbergs moved to CBS, where it was produced as a television program last year under the sponsorship of Sanka Coffee.

ANDY WHITE RETURNS

Radio Pioneer Spinning Discs

WHAT has become of J. Andrew White, protege of Marconi and founder of CBS?

For the answer, just ask any KNX Hollywood listener. You will learn that Andy White now is heard regularly Tuesday midnight on KNX's Encore Night, a program of mellowed-vintage recordings.

The program's popularity largely hinges on Mr. White's ability to reminisce about the stars and music fads of the pre-1930 recordings. Mr. White stirs memories which take parents back to the Charleston era.

Although on the air less than a couple months, Andy White is no stranger to broadcasting. Founder of CBS in 1927, he has been identified with radio and the recording business since first spotted by Guglielmo Marconi some years prior. The inventor hired Mr. White, then New York correspondent for London Times, after reading his story which resulted in the conviction of three stock swindlers.

When Marconi Co. became RCA, Andy White went along with the deal. He was made its first director of broadcasts. In that capacity he participated in so many "firsts" that even he can't remember them all.

Old Memories

Recall quite a few of them he does, though, on the Tuesday midnight show while spinning stories about artists long since retired and recordings and programming crises that seem impossible to those accustomed to present day radio operations.

Mr. White, who broadcast the first fight and World Series games, left RCA to form a receiver set company and to keep an eye on an investment in a retail store chain.

Relative quiet of the manufacturing and retailing business prompted him to form CBS in 1927. The "Columbia" in the network's title came from Columbia Phonograph Co., an original stockholder.

The urge to "play polo, improve my golf and see Europe" caused Mr. White to sell his CBS holdings to William S. Paley on May 1, 1930.

Polo having palled on him momentarily, two years later he was back in the radio field. He formed the world's first transcription company. He called it American Broadcasting Co. Mr. White said his firm proved to be about 15 years ahead of the times. He discontinued the business and became a radio consultant. During World War II, Mr. White was a Signal Corps major, "working 25 hours a day," writing textbooks and devising officer training schedules.

Starts as Favor

Mr. White's stint on Encore Night began as a favor to a friend who was stuck for a last minute guest. Prevailed upon to take over the spot, it is a matter of record that Mr. White didn't know what he was suppose to do until he actually got on the air.

However, his casual chat with Comedian Jim Hawthorne about artists on the old records used on that program was an immediate hit. Two more guest appearances followed.

Phone calls and letters from old friends who had heard him clinched KNX program executives' plea that he continue with Mr. Hawthorne on the weekly program.

Mr. White, who terms his appearance on the program a result of having reached his "anecdote age," is more than rewarded for his midnight stint by the old friendships he has renewed since starting the KNX broadcasts.

Hooper Adds 10

C. E. HOOPER Inc. last week announced signing of ten additional cities for new radio Hooperatings. Cities are: Des Moines, Hartford, Honolulu, Kansas City, Norfolk, Omaha-Council Bluffs, Raleigh, San Antonio, Waterloo and Zanesville.

Jim Hawthorne looks on while Andy White, founder of CBS, chats about artists on old recordings used on Tuesday midnight Encore Night on KNX.

"identify wholeheartedly with the amateur, given half-decent performers, and believe the program is valuable in starting beginners and in entertaining themselves."

Dr. Gardner's report concludes: "Entertainment and commercials on TV variety and talent shows can be almost exactly calculated, and the underlying reasons for their popularity or unpopularity made clear. What must be determined first, however, is what the sponsor wants, what social classes he wishes to reach, what commodities he wishes to sell." "Most" such shows do not show "any evidence" of this kind of planning, Dr. Gardner said.

Best Medium To Reach Suburbs

TV IS the medium to reach the whole metropolitan market, according to a survey released by KTSL (TV) Los Angeles.

The survey cited Los Angeles County's impressive rise in population, noting that most of the increase was centered in its 15 suburban markets. With a million TV sets in the area, the survey claimed advertisers enjoyed 30% sales jumps, on the average, when they used television.

The county claims highest per-capita automobile ownership of any area in the world and the survey indicates business is moving out of the city into the suburbs—retail sales and bank deposits showing big increases for the outlying areas.

NEW NETWORK

14 Stations Form System

FOURTEEN independently-owned radio stations in the steel-rich areas of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio have formed the Industrial Broadcasting System.

The new network embraces 4,782,183 persons in 1,253,987 homes. Operations are expected to begin no later than Oct. 1. Rate cards, now being distributed, are effective Sept. 1. Home address of IBS is 547 Fifth Ave., McKeesport, Pa.

Organizing stations are WEDO McKeesport, WISR Butler, WBVP Beaver Falls, WCVI Connellsville, WESA Charleroi, WACB Kittanning, WKRZ Oil City, WDAD Indiana, WJPA Washington, WCED Dubois and WKJF-FM Pittsburgh, all in Pennsylvania; WOHI East Liverpool, Ohio; WMOD Moundsville and WEIR Weirton, W. Va.

Edward J. Hirshberg, owner of WEDO and WACB, was described as "the guiding force" behind the project. He reportedly was assisted by Frank Smith, owner of WBVP; Tom Cassell, owner of WDAD; Jack Craddock, WCVI owner, and Boyd Siegel, president of WJPA.

"Object of the Industrial Broadcasting System," explained Mr. Hirshberg, "is to sell local stations on a national basis, and to effect a local point of purchase contact with distributors."

At the outset, these three time segments have been selected for network operation—9-10:30 a.m.; 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., and 4-6:30 p.m.

Mr. Hirshberg said that several national spots have been sold. He added that possibility exists that several other stations will join the network. Announcement of the network was made through Cabbot & Coffman Inc., Pittsburgh. New York and Chicago representation has not been selected.

NCAB Fall Meeting

FALL meeting of the North Carolina Assn. of Broadcasters Inc. will be held Oct. 18-19 in the Battery Park Hotel, Asheville. Theme of the convention will be "Selling Radio." Attendance will be limited to members and associate members only. Hotel reservation blanks are to be forwarded to the membership. It will be necessary to use these forms to obtain reservations, the announcement stated. Registration will begin Thursday, Oct. 18. Outstanding exponents of radio sales will be on the program.

local business for that month are slightly less than the actual totals.)

Perhaps more surprising than the tremendous upshoot in TV business, which was to be expected of such a young and potent medium, is the fact that of the 68 advertisers who were using either network or spot television in June 1948, 46 or 67.6% are still active TV advertisers today. Table I lists these advertisers and indicates their use of network and/or spot television in June of 1948 and the same month of 1951.

P&G Tops TV

It is also interesting to note that Procter & Gamble Co., traditional leading advertiser in use of radio time and in recent months the consistent top user of TV network facilities, is not included among the video clients in June 1948. Neither do P&G's two major competitors—Lever Bros. Co. and Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co.—appear on the June 1948 list of TV advertisers, although both, like P&G, are among the leading users of this medium today.

In fact, of the top 10 TV network advertisers in June of this year [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 13], only three were using network TV in June of 1948—American Tobacco Co., General Foods Corp. and R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. The seven companies who were among the top users of video network time this June but not three years ago include, in addition to the three soap manufacturers, Quaker Oats Co., Ford Motor Co., Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. and P. Lorillard & Co. Ford, Liggett & Myers and Lorillard were at that time using spot TV, however.

Other advertisers who used only TV spot in June 1948 but had added network to spot by June 1951 include: Admiral Corp., B. T. Babbitt, P. Ballantine & Sons, Bulova Watch Co., Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Curtis Publishing Co.,

Manhattan Soap Co., Pepsi-Cola Co., Phillip Morris Co., RCA-Victor and Ronson Art Metal Works.

Analyzing the Rorabaugh data in another manner, Table II gives a comparison of the June 1948 and 1951 TV advertisers for those cities whose TV broadcasters provided information about their clients for both years. It should be remembered that Chicago, Cleveland and Los Angeles were not connected with the East Coast TV network facilities provided by AT&T in June 1948, which explains the absence of network business reported for those cities for that month.

COMMUNITY BOOST

Merchants Featured on KWBE

TO "tell the world that radio is here to stay and fills the community need," is the declared purpose of Meet Your Merchant, new public service series on KWBE Beatrice, Neb. The station is featuring three, five-minute periods daily on which local businessmen are invited to tell the story of how they picked Beatrice as the place of their business and activities.

KWBE reports that over 70 of the merchants have taken time out from their work to tell their tales. Slogan of the series is "Shop in Beatrice, the Queen City of Nebraska." Merchants tell why they have faith in the city, together with their plans for the future, and how radio has helped them. All time used is donated by the station.

The series will be wrapped up with a "big party" at the city auditorium, Sept. 14-15. KWBE will play host at the big event, including a cooking school, give-away quizzes, dancing and other fun making. The date of the gala event also is the station's second birthday.

ADD PRAVDA

To List of 'Voice' Critics

CONTINUING controversial discussion over the effectiveness of the State Dept.'s Voice of America program has elicited comment from Moscow's Pravda and its home radio service.

Pravda describes the U. S. radio arm as "loud and obnoxious" and tells home listeners that it costs more "than all the opera singers of America put together." The Voice is costing Americans "something like half a million dollars a year, yet the return is not worth a dime," the Soviet newspaper added.

Touching on its own reasons for the Voice's "failure," Pravda quoted a charge leveled by Rep. Hamer Budge (R-Ida.) that the first three letters (WRU) of certain American stations mean "I lie" when translated into Russian [BROADCASTING • TELECASTING, Aug. 6]. The inference subsequently was denied by both the State Dept. and the FCC.

WOV New York reported last week that in four weeks more than 4,000 tickets, representing a listener expenditure of $3.80 per ticket, have been distributed in response to an offer carried on Caruso Products Distributing Corp.'s daily 11:05-11:15 a.m. newscasts on the station. Offer was for tickets to motion picture "The Great Caruso," free with the purchase of a gallon of Caruso Edible Oil.

THREAT TO CBS

Follows Waterfront Program

THREAT that any CBS personnel venturing near the New York waterfront would be "knocked out" was one result of the Aug. 16 broadcast of Nation's Nightmare, on the CBS Radio (8:30-9 p.m.).

The telephoned warning came during the documentary program which that week was devoted to detailed descriptions of mob rule and crime along the docks of New York and other cities. The voice claimed the facts on the program were false and said, "you hurt us a lot and now we have to get even with you . . . there's only one way to fight you people and we'll fight you any way we can," according to CBS Radio spokesmen.

The following day, CBS Radio spokesmen reported, a mobile crew operating at Pier 84 in New York was accosted by a hefty longshoreman. Six city detectives arrived on the scene to protect the surprised crew and the man departed.

Meanwhile, with some 40 hours taped for each half hour of The Nation's Nightmare to reach the air, Producer Irving Gitlin and his documentary crew played excerpts of their collection—unusable for public broadcast—for newsmen last Tuesday.

Tapes pertained to details of an unbooked Chicago killing, Willie Moretti's analogy between gamblers and fish in the sea, a petty racketeer's sobbing story of failure, and a profane though private discussion of murder between the recently-killed Herbert Noble and a mobster.

Lamenting that they could not use all the material they had collected, Mr. Gitlin, whose next assignment will be on The People Act for the Ford Foundation, explained, "we couldn't use much of it because of legal problems or because we wanted to keep the secret of our informant's identity."

CBS will rebroadcast three of the series at 9:30-10 p.m. on consecutive Thursdays: narcotics, Aug. 20, slot machine and gambling casino operations, Sept. 6; and waterfront crime, Sept. 13.

WGBS; Lee Ruwitch, WTVJ (TV); Comr. Webster; Owen Uridge, WQAM; George Thorpe, WVCG, and James LaGate, WIOD. Festivities were held in the Florida city Aug. 13.

WAGE CEILINGS

THE WAGE Stabilization Board last week was tangled in an octopus-like report of its self-created advisory panel. The panel failed to agree on the question of whether wage ceilings should be lifted on industries which are exempt from price control.

Among the industries are radio and television stations, which like newspapers, movies, insurance firms, public utilities and railroads are specifically price exempt in the Defense Production Act.

The six-man panel split five ways. Now, it's up to WSB to announce a policy for an estimated 10 million workers affected.

Management, labor and the public, two persons from each, were represented on the panel.

Public and industry members couldn't even agree whether the industries are exempt by terms of law from wage controls. Consensus was the board should get legal advice from the Justice Dept.

On the question of whether the industries "should" be exempt, here is the way the board split:

1. Theodore W. Kheel, of New York, panel chairman and a public member, recommended lifting of wage controls over industries exempt under the pricing provision and under any other governmental price-rate regulation. An estimated three million workers would be affected, among these, radio-TV employes and entertainers.

2. Richard A. Lester, of Princeton U., also a public member and panel vice-chairman, was in part agreement with Mr. Kheel but suggested wage board review of each industry.

3. Fred R. Rauch, of Cincinnati, and Irvin D. Shapiro, of Boston, both industry members, thought Congress didn't intend removal of wage controls from industries price-exempt. Relaxation of the controls would jeopardize the wage stabilization program, they said.

4. Woodruff Randolph, president, International Typographical Union (AFL), a labor member, believed Congress wanted to tie-in price and wage exemption and therefore regulations should be adjusted accordingly.

5. Another labor member, Stanley Ruttenberg of the CIO, held flatly that wages are exempt in those industries which are price exempt.

Included were suggestions for panel and advisory boards to handle wage stabilization of those industries exempt from price ceilings.

More than a score of witnesses testified and briefs were filed by some 35 organizations during three-day hearings held by the board. The report filled 60-pages.

Among those who testified before the panel were:

Sol B. Pryor, for Television Authority and the American Federation of Radio Artists; William M. Dunn, assistant to the president, Communications Workers of America (CIO); and Joseph Shelly, for American Communications Assn.

Briefs were submitted, among others, by American Federation of Musicians; Hollywood AFL Film Council; Radio and Television Directors Guild (AFL), and NARTB.

PIONEER WOMAN

Leads Burro, Aids Sponsor

MODERN day Annie Oakley has been enacted by Drue Smith, mistress of ceremonies of Pioneer Bank's three-year daily Party Line show over WDOD Chattanooga, Tenn.

When Pioneer opened a new branch at the Farmer's Market, bank's President George M. Clark thought the first deposit should be made as it would have been in the buckskin days—by mule back. Miss Smith, catching the frontier spirit, dressed herself with coonskin cap (also emblem of the bank), carried a long rifle and led the pack animal 10 blocks along downtown streets.

On the way, Miss Smith called upon the county manager and the city mayor inviting them to the new banking facilities. At end of journey she broadcast direct from the scene with a description of the gala opening and deposit of $74,000 on the burro's back. A news reporter noted in his account of the event that Miss Smith was the only pioneer woman in history with toenails painted red!

so professionally six months later when he was named assistant engineering editor of the company's Electrical World and Electrical Merchandising magazines in New York. He remained there until 1920, except for a short period of service in the Army Air Force, and then went to Westinghouse to supervise trade paper publicity at E. Pittsburgh headquarters.

It was there he was rushed into radio without benefit of indoctrination. He became an announcer at KDKA, the pioneer Pittsburgh station owned by Westinghouse, and opened the company's Chicago outlet, KYW, on which he programmed four solid hours of opera nightly for 10 weeks. Church services, popular program fare because they were free and time-consuming, became his special chore. One time he was forced to sit in the midst of a sedate choir so he could handle switches on the carbon mike. The noise of the switching drowned out the voices.

After managing KDKA for awhile, Leo Rosenberg took over another Westinghouse station, WBZ Springfield, from which he ran a 100-mile line to Boston for originations. Hop-skipping in radio gave way to a well-grounded job in New York, where he took complete charge of a $400,000 national promotion campaign for the electrical industry. A lighting education contest involving the spotting of electrical outlets on floor plans drew 2½ million entries from children. The job, scheduled to last a month and have one assistant, ended up with a score of five all.

Mr. Rosenberg headquartered in offices of Thomas F. Logan, president of the agency of the same name who handled advertising on the campaign. After successfully "electrifying" the nation, Mr. Rosenberg joined the Chicago office of the Thomas F. Logan Agency six months before a merger with Lord & Thomas. The new agency reverted to the L&T name after Mr. Logan's death, and became Foote, Cone & Belding in 1943.

During his 25 years with the company, Mr. Rosenberg has supervised a variety of accounts—among them, Hurley Machine Co. (Thor), Hotpoint, Horlick's, Beatrice Foods, Montgomery Ward, U. S. Gypsum, the Trane Co. and the fabulously successful Toni Co., his most recent account. He has seen all of them achieve marked success among the competition.

In the depression years, Horlick's malted milk expenditures jumped under his supervision from several hundred dollars weekly to $700,000 a year, thanks largely to Lum 'n' Abner. Mr. Rosenberg worked closely with the 90-year-old Horlick president who insisted always on knowing exactly what he was getting for his money. In one instance, the account executive was called upon to make a formal presentation to get a $21 weekly appropriation for organ music on a radio show, which had been bought for $12,000 weekly.

Gets Utilities Accounts

In 1933, while assigned to handle several gas and utility companies because of his extensive experience at Westinghouse, a campaign which Mr. Rosenberg inaugurated startled even the demanding client with its results. The gas companies had constructed a pipe line from Texas into Chicago, and wanted to introduce natural gas there for the first time. "There was an awful lot on hand," an Leo Rosenberg was given the job of selling it. He used radio spot on every station, day and night and almost overnight the city became gas conscious. In three months, more than 10,000 gas heating units were sold.

Mr. Rosenberg has been married 29 years to the former Florence Warren, a professional pianist in Pittsburgh when they met. The live on Chicago's South Shore where they spend much of the time golfing at Ravisloe Country Club. Their daughter, Judy Flader, has a nine-month-old son: Terry Lee, and their son, Warren works at CBS-TV New York. Mr. Rosenberg is a member of the Merchants & Manufacturers Club.

CONSUMER ADVICE

Proposed in Dollinger Bill

A SO-CALLED "Consumers' Advisory Bureau" would be set up under the wing of the Commerce Dept. as the official analyzer and tester of consumer goods, according to a bill (HR 5189) introduced in the House by Rep. Isidore Dollinger (D-N. Y.).

Explaining his bill, Rep. Dollinger told House colleagues the American consumer "has no way of determining for himself how other makes or brands actually compare with the products expertly advertised by press, radio, television, and other mediums."

Asserting that the consumer "more often than not pays a higher price than necessary, as the little-known product can in fact be of higher grade and cheaper," the Congressman surmised, "remember, the millions paid for advertising are eventually tacked on to the cost of the product and the consumer pays for it."

NEWS ENDEAVOR

KGAL Sells Foreign Trip

LOCAL, national and international news can pay off in both prestige and station revenue, says KGAL-Lebanon, Ore., which cites the trip abroad by Gordon Allen, station's president and general manager.

Mr. Allen will spend September in an European air-trip including countries of France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, England and Istanbul, reporting news impressions via air-mailed tape recordings. Recorded features will be used as part of station's 7 p.m. newscasts for Chevrolet on Radio Willamette-Land.

Continental
315 TRANSMITTER

VACUUM TYPE
Capacitors

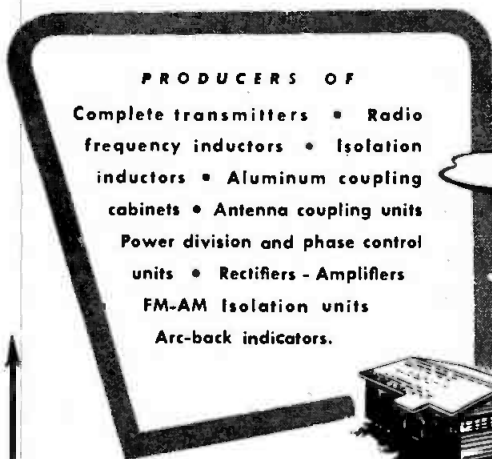

In the Continental 315 Transmitter... both variable and fixed vacuum type capacitors are used in all tuned circuits in the power amplifier output. The reliability of this type of capacitor has been proven by exhaustive tests and use in many high frequency applications.

Because of the extremely low power factor inherent in this type capacitor ... the stability of tuning is not affected by temperature or aging. Likewise, power losses are minimized because of this low power factor and high circuit efficiencies are obtained.

Lou Webb

FUNERAL services were conducted Friday morning in Chicago for Lou Webb, 51, staff organist at NBC Chicago for the past 13 year who died Tuesday at work as the result of a heart attack. He starred on his own program of organ music on NBC many years, and was heard on many shows, including Vic and Sade, Road of Life and Hawkin Falls, Pop. 6200. Mr. Webb operated his own College of Modern Music in Chicago, and remained as director of the organ school after the college was purchased by the Northwestern Conservatory of Music. Surviving are his widow, Bertha; son, and a daughter.

active members, the association should do something, Mr. Allen said. Mr. Fellows replied that since he had been asked for counsel, he felt the association should not call NBC names but might act on a more general type of resolution.

"It's time to educate the networks on the value of radio advertising," Mr. Brown said. "I feel we should take action. Anything that cheapens radio cheapens all stations. The purpose of an association should be to protect our interests."

Mr. Kobak drew applause when he wound up the debate with the reminder that "It's been a long time since we had a president who could talk our language."

The idea of using radio to sell radio, Mr. Fellows said in his formal address, will be put into operation early next year. The plan will be based on a series of 15-minute transcriptions. Each will contain a key talk or interview about radio and feature top names in government, business and broadcasting.

Placing the facts about radio before the people, records will bring voices of such officials as FCC Chairman Wayne Coy, Sen. Edwin Johnson (D-Col.), chairman of the Interstate & Foreign Commerce Committee, and others of high stature. At least one recording will be provided a month, at first. They will be designed for use on stations and before local groups.

Each record will have on the reverse side four or five announcements directed toward promotion of radio listening. Voices would be those of top radio stars and radio officials along with agency and advertiser speakers.

Cost for the first year will be $24 for 12 releases.

Government Activities

New publication services starting in September will include "government highlights," carrying actions of federal agencies and giving full details on legislation. Both radio and TV, national and local, will be covered.

Radio and TV management letters, each to be issued every other week, will be interpretive, Mr. Fellows said, and contain background information.

He mentioned other association services, including a proposed group insurance plan designed to save money for stations at the community level. A new project will be a library showing radio service to mankind, a running account of public service.

Mr. Fellows voiced gratification that NARTB membership is on the upturn. He said radio needs confidence of those who direct its affairs. Out of that confidence, he said, "will grow a new, burning desire to make radio an even greater instrumentality than it has proved itself to be. This is a challenge—the beginning of a new era in broadcasting that demands the careful, serious, thoughtful attention of every man and woman who has made radio his profession, or anticipates doing so.

Plans to set up new headquarters "welcome mat" facilities for use by members when they are in Washington were described. It will provide phone and secretarial service as well as hotel reservations and other facilities. Mr. Fellows urged members to make NARTB's offices their Washington headquarters.

Kirby Asks Support

A feature of the Thursday afternoon meeting was a plea for NARTB cooperation in the defense effort. Col. Edward M. Kirby, heading Army radio-TV activities, asked broadcasters and telecasters to do their part to develop respect for the uniform and take part in community activities for servicemen at nearby bases. He gave a brief analysis of the Korean crisis and the overall world situation. Lt. Dick Hodgson, radio-TV director of the Marines, took part in the meeting.

NARTB headquarters representatives who took part in the Roanoke meeting included, besides President Fellows, Richard P. Doherty, employe-employer relations director, who spoke Friday morning (separate story page 27); Robert K. Richards, public affairs director; Ralph W. Hardy, government relations director; Charles Tower, assistant employer relations director; John F. Hardesty and William Treynor, station relations director and assistant director, and Florence Mitchell, secretary to Mr. Fellows.

Opening the meeting Thursday morning, Director Essex presented Lt. Gov. L. Preston Collins of Virginia, president of WMED Marion, who formally welcomed the delegates. Lt. Gov. Collins was introduced by Robert C. Wolfenden, WMED manager. He called on broadcasters to use their influence to combat threats to freedom of speech, declaring that freedom has made possible America's growth.

Named to the resolutions committee: C. Wallace Martin, WMSC Columbia, S. C., chairman; Charles P. Blackley, WTON Staunton Va.; E. J. Gluck, WSOC Charlotte, N. C.; Ray Jordan, WDBJ Roanoke; and Walter J. Brown, WORD Spartanburg, S. C.

Carl Haverlin, BMI president, described BMI's current public relations program, including concert music packets for recorded programs and the BMI contest to stimulate young American composers. He said the Virginia Assn. of Broadcasters board had recommended adoption of the awards contest to its members.

Robert K. Richards, NARTB public affairs director, reported to membership on "Your New NARTB." Using a black-magic board he charted all association departmental activities in detail. Referring to the relatively new Station Dept., he said John F. Hardesty and William Treynor, director and assistant director, had called on 630 members in 226 cities and 21 states since last November.

Ralph W. Hardy, NARTB government relations director, called on all broadcasters to keep in close touch with NARTB headquarters on national and local government activities. He declared 57 bills now pending in Congress directly affect broadcasting. Five NARTB officials are now registered as lobbyists, he explained, including Justin Miller, board chairman and general counsel; President Fellows, himself; Vincent Wasilewski, attorney, and Thad Brown, TV director.

Jack Weldon, WWOD Lynchburg, Va., presided at a morning session on newscasts, with Mr. Richards and Oliver Gramling, Associated Press, as speakers.

Mr. Richards, talking on use of local news as the answer to competition for audience attention, submitted results of an NARTB survey showing that 7% of station time is devoted to locally originated newscasts compared to 30% in metropolitan newspapers and 60% in small-city or rural papers.

Only 34% of the hundred stations taking part in the survey have fulltime newsmen. As to cost of handling station-originated newscasts, 45% said they cost relatively more than other types of programs with 17% saying they cost less and 38% about the same. However, he pointed out that sponsored news accounts for 10% of revenue from local advertisers and 3% from regional advertisers.

Breaking down station-originated news by program lengths, this study showed that 5% are short headline programs, 36% five-minute programs; 11% 10-minute, 47% 15-minute and 1% half-hour programs.

Local News

Half of the stations said they have some locally originated newscasts that contain nothing but local news, Mr. Richards said. In other cases local news is interspersed with national and international reports. Of stations with a fulltime news editor, 40% of editors report to the program director rather than the station manager.

The news program is the most salable on the air, he said, in concluding, "when it comes to news, there's no place like home."

Mr. Gramling narrated a slide film on the topic, "Your News and Its Revenue Potential." The film centered around the facilities and techniques used in gathering news around the world, all tied to the daily work of Archie, a fictional radio time salesman.

After explaining that the average time salesman's call costs $18.12, Mr. Gramling called for more attention to news programming. RADIO'S LOW COST Reiterated at Va. Meet

Radio Fact Sheet

RADIO'S permanent place among advertising media may be altered somewhat by television but it will continue to provide the lowest-cost access to the American public, NARTB President Harold E. Fellows told members of the Virginia Assn. of Broadcasters Wednesday.

Making his first public appearance since assuming the presidency last June, Mr. Fellows declared "nothing can influence the public as fast and as inexpensively as broadcasting." He spoke at the BMI program clinic held by VAB at the Hotel Roanoke, Roanoke, Va.

In taking the premise that no other medium can match radio's claim to quick, intimate and low-cost influencing of the citizenry, Mr. Fellows' drew from the audience a series of questions about radio's future in the face of TV's rapid growth.

"TV scares you when it first comes," he said, tackling the questions head-on. "It forces you to do a better job. Not all stations will be able to maintain their present level but in many cases broadcasters have increased their profits as television developed in their markets.

"When TV moves in and takes some of your audience, you must scale your operations accordingly."

Mr. Fellows suggested use of fan mail for promotional announcements. He said integration of audience letters into station and program promotional announcements would draw a pyramiding response from listeners.

New Perspective Cited

NARTB's president said that absence from a radio station for the first time in more than a score of years had given him a new and objective perspective. The real job in radio, he said, "is to determine what potential audience belongs to you and then direct your service to it." In offering a formula to broadcasters, he urged them "to stake their claim" and then devote themselves to this claim and stick to it. "Set up advertising rates justified by the audience you reach," he advised.

Mr. Fellows said he believed radio "is one of the best businesses in the world. You'll never completely displace radio by television." He reminded that he had operated a radio station (WEEI Boston) in a "red-hot television market" for three years. Radio stations are referred to by call letters, he declared, in emphasizing its close contact with the public, whereas viewers often identify TV stations by channel numbers.

"Radio is a grand business from an economic standpoint," Mr. Fellows said. In 1949 a third of broadcast stations lost money as the television industry was getting under way whereas fewer than a fourth lost money in 1950.

"The grass roots of American broadcasting is not in New York. It's found in the individual stations that do the local job and make possible the big network programs.

"The networks aren't forsaking the radio business. They're working hard behind the scenes. Don't be overwhelmed by what you see on Madison Ave. or Fifth Ave.

"Anyone who tells you TV doesn't encroach on radio is cockeyed, and anyone who says TV doesn't encroach on other media is even more cockeyed. Within five years television will be many times larger than radio from a dollars-and-cents standpoint. It will require many times as much income to support a TV system in this country. You must recognize how big your business is and operate accordingly."

45th BMI Clinic

The BMI clinic was the 45th of a nationwide series held during the last 2½ years. Charles P. Blackley, WTON Staunton, presided as VAB president. Ken Sparnon, BMI field representative, was clinic chairman.

Speaking at the luncheon, BMI President Carl Haverlin cited the increasing public interest in serious music, commenting that as many people pay to hear concert artists as pay to see baseball games. He outlined plans for BMI's plan for a series of state association awards to young composers.

Other speakers included Glenn Dolberg, BMI station relations director, "Your Music Library"; Harry McTigue, president and general manager of WINN Louisville, "Your Product Is Programs"; Eric F. Lund, rural service director, WLVA Lynchburg, "Building and Holding the Rural Audience"; Robert J. Burton, BMI vice president, "History and Application of Copyright Law"; Robert H. Smith, WCYB Bristol, Va., president and general manager and VAB secretary-treasurer, "Building Shows of Network Caliber from Off the Record"; Dave Baylor, vice president and general manager of WJMO Cleveland, "The Patient Survived"; Wendell H. Siler, news director and commercial manager, WRAD Radford, Va., "Are You Making the Most of Local News"; Sam Carey, program service manager, WRVA Richmond, "The Three I's—Imagination, Initiative and Intelligence."

RED INROADS

Again Charged by Hoover

CHARGE that many of the 115 "known or suspected Communist-front" organizations now under scrutiny by the FBI have "infiltrated" radio, television, motion pictures and other media has been reiterated by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover on Capitol Hill.

In testimony before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, released early last week, Mr. Hoover noted that the task of the bureau has been "complicated considerably" as the Communist movement has gone underground.

The FBI chief also reported that the Communists "have carried on considerable agitation designed to bring about slow-downs, work stoppages, and inspire strikes." Estimating that about 50% of Communist Party members are members of labor unions, Mr. Hoover cited the United Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers of America as a notable example.

"This union's members are employed in the electrical-manufacturing industry, which, of course, is vital to the national defense of the United States," Mr. Hoover asserted. UE was expelled from the CIO for its alleged Communist policies.

Endorsed at Roanoke Meet

EXPERIMENTAL plan for co-operation of NARTB and Radio-Television Mfrs. Assn. in an FM test markets project was unanimously endorsed by a workshop group of NARTB District 4 FM broadcasters at a meeting held Wednesday night at Roanoke, Va. The test markets project was conceived last Monday at a Washington meeting of NARTB and RTMA officers. Skeleton outline of the project was laid before the Wednesday night workshop session.

Harold E. Fellows, NARTB president, sounded the keynote of the session, explaining the need for development of a plan that would bring cooperation among stations, manufacturers, distributors and dealers. He said manufacturers had indicated their desire to cooperate if a suitable plan is developed.

At this stage it appeared that NARTB members and the headquarters staff were ready to take part in a study that would show FM's achievements and its potentialities. At the same time it was believed RTMA would cooperate.

FM station operators who took part in the meeting let down their hair and freely criticized each other as they sought a solution to FM's obvious problems.

A high spot of the session was announcement by Mr. Fellows of survey results showing amount of time FM stations are on the air. He explained he was presenting the figures on behalf of Ben Strouse, WWDC-FM Washington, who could not attend because of illness. Mr. Strouse is chairman of NARTB's FM Committee.

The survey showed that 27% of stations answering a questionnaire sent out by Dr. Kenneth H. Baker, NARTB research director, reported they operated 18 or more hours a day; 41% operated 12 to 17 hours, and 32% operated 6 to 11 hours. Highlight of the survey, it was explained, was the revelation that 21% of reporting stations were programming separately on their FM stations 90% to 100% of the time. Several of the 21% are educational stations. Eighteen percent of stations program separately from 20% to 89% of the time and 9% program separately 10% to 19% of the time.

C., district 4 director; commended Broadcast Advertising Bureau under President William B. Ryan and urged BMI to continue series of station clinics.

In unanimously opposing Benton measures, delegates said reports of advisory board would resemble "infamous Blue Book" and amount to "virtual directives" to guide FCC in issuing grants and renewals.

KTSL (TV) POWER INCREASE

MOVE to Mt. Wilson with higher power was finally granted KTSL (TV), CBS-owned Los Angeles outlet by FCC Friday. Move was held up for months because of FCC contention partial construction completed by previous owner Don Lee violated rules. At cost of $130,569—about $70,000 more than its engineers considered necessary—CBS will move tower and erect new antenna, move transmitter to new location in transmitter building and install wiring, lay transmission lines to new tower location, erect microwave and other equipment. CBS hopes to have Channel 2 operation going by Dec. 1, estimates 2,837-ft. antenna height above average terrain and 25 kw radiated power (from previous 9.3 on Mt. Lee) will expand coverage three-fold. Comr. Jones dissented from grant.

RADIO 'INDISPENSABLE'

RADIO still packs a mighty wallop in TV areas, according to a brochure just released by NBC which reports that NBC-Radio delivers more than 19.4 million radio-only homes in TV areas, compared to 5.8 million in non-TV areas. This three-to-one ratio, plus the fact that 10% of TV homes have a radio in use at any given minute during the evening hours, show conclusively that "radio located in television areas is indispensable to any national advertising campaign," NBC stated.

WIRE SERVICE RATES UP

RADIO stations will pay more for Western Union baseball and sports service, following FCC preliminary grant of general rate increases Friday. Baseball service will be based on distance between subscriber station and place game is being played, will range from $25 in first zone to $50 in eighth and ninth zones. Rate for double-headers will range from $40 to $85 respectively. Border-state games will be uniformly increased by $5 per game.

ABC, NBC SIGN WITH RTDG

Contract, slated to run two years and be retroactive to July 1, provides minimum wage scales of $450 monthly for director employed from 0 to 6 months, $500 from 6 to 12 months and $550 from 12 months to two years; associate directors, for same time period, to get $325, $375 and $400, and directorial assistants (at ABC only) $250, $275 and $300. Terms also provide for 10% increase for present employes or minimum scale, whichever is higher. RTDG negotiations handled by Pres. Alan Fishburn and Attorney Sanford Wolff. WBKB (CBS) agreement has been completed.

"IN THE HEART OF AMERICA . . .

KANSAS CITY —

"Back in Business"

Wholehearted"

The above picture was taken August 14, 1951—
A month earlier, July 14, this area was under 14 to 18 feet of water.

Midwesterners are noted for their wholehearted determination. And because of this determination, Greater Kansas City and the entire recently flooded sections of Kansas and Missouri are "Back in Business"!

Kansas City is entitled to a mighty salute—not only for its quick return to normal, but for the manner in which flood control legislation is being enacted to prevent a recurrence of flooding in the heart of America. That same determination and cooperation will see all partially completed projects to a finish and the necessary new water control systems built without delay.

Hats off to Kansas City and the Midwest! Standing in the midst of this spirit, The KMBC-KFRM Team can see only one ultimate result—a BIGGER AND BETTER KANSAS CITY!
