"THE LEADING RADIO GUIDE OF THE PACIFIC COAST"

Eva De Vol
KPO

1909 to 1930

The history of the modern day radio business is interesting, as told by the invoices of this company. The many merchandising and technical problems that confront new industry are there, solved in detail. Dealer Service, what it is and what it has accomplished, is forcefully told. The advantages of a rigid standard of quality at consistent prices are proven.

Is it any wonder, with such a "reference library" as this, that we are equipped to render a broad, intelligent service to dealers? It is a service based on facts, not theories.

THE United States Bureau of Education has just made a salient announcement. Says the bureau: "Too many persons are talking over the air who are not properly equipped for either radio speaking or announcing." When it gets to the point where the government notices it, the situation is pretty terrible. And the statement is undoubtedly true. Not only are too many people on the air who are not fitted for it, but there are a lot of them who ought to go back to school—start in about the third grade and learn to speak the language. And after that—stay away from a microphone forever. But, then, there are too many people talking everywhere, in street cars, hotels, street corners, Congress—who are not equipped for it. That seems to be one of our national faults—too much blab on too little provocation.

MUNICIPALITIES everywhere are taking steps to curb the summer loud speaker nuisance, otherwise known as "radio insomnia" and the bane of many a neighborhood. It remained for New York City, however, to fine a man $50 for disturbing the quiet of his neighbors by persistently and loudly playing his radio while his windows were up. The Federal Radio Commission has a model ordinance covering the loud speaker nuisance. New York City's ordinance is part of the sanitary code of its board of health and reads as follows:

"No person owning, occupying or having charge of any building or premises or any part thereof in the city of New York shall cause, suffer or allow any loud, excessive or unusual noise in the operation or use of any radio, phonograph or other mechanical or electrical sound making or reproducing device, instrument or machine, which loud, excessive or unusual noise shall disturb the comfort, quiet or repose of persons therein or in the vicinity." Some of our own Pacific Coast cities might do well to pass such an ordinance and enforce it.

* * *

GREECE has granted a concession to an American outfit, for a fat price, to install, erect and operate its entire national broadcast system, the nucleus of which is to be a 25,000-watt station at Athens. The concession runs for twenty years and is the first concession on record, of a national type, turning over everything to American interests in order to get the best. Taxes on receiving sets will pay for the upkeep. The station will be heard all over Europe, it is believed. The next Thermopylae will have its own Graham McNamee and we'll know what the weather was during the battle, at any rate.

* * *

THE man who pays Will Rogers about $500 a minute for his weekly network appearances tells this story: A certain mid-western preacher, complaining of a decrease in attendance at his Sunday night services, made inquiries of his congregation. They didn't want to miss Will Rogers, he learned. So he had a radio receiving set installed in the church, takes time out for Will Rogers' talks, and all's well again.

The RADIO TATTLER

By EARLE ENNIS

RADIO waves are now being used by doctors to cure disease. Instead of writing out a prescription, the doctor pushes a button and the patient gets a couple of kilocycles for his liver. Instead of a thermometer the office nurse now uses a cat-whisker. When a patient is all run down the doctor sells him a battery.

* * *

In some of the more expensive offices, where there are crystal controlled doctors, a sick man can buy waves so short he can never pay for them. Once a doctor had to have a medical certificate. Today all he needs is a power house and a good antenna. If the patient dies, the coroner puts down "static" as the cause of death and the doctor is safe on third.

* * *

Radio waves jazz up the electrons in the blood stream. They speed up circulation. They wind up the spring, and throw in the clutch. Old men with rheumatism get a good broadcast and start playing football. One shot with the bob-tail waves, and the baldheads break out in flowing locks. Doctors say two volts will do more than six pills, and taste the same.

* * *

The treatment is simple. The doctor takes the patient's bank book at the door. Then he puts the victim on an insulated table. After that he goes behind a screen and points a radio squirt-gun at the sufferer. Tubes light, dials turn, and the patient's temperature rises. When he begins to see fifteen blonde chorus girls on pink clouds the doctor shuts off the juice, adds $25 on the bill, and sends the patient away happy.

The Germans discovered the use of radio for disease—by accident. A German engineer, married three times and completely discouraged, happened to walk in front of a high-powered transmitter. His spine straightened, his jaw set. He dashed out, got a divorce and married his stenographer. The government immediately ordered the set turned off while they did some research. As a result radio-therapy was given to the world.

There are some things that cannot be cured by radio. It will positively not cure a wife's habit of talking back. Even short waves, which travel 180,000 miles a second, are too slow to keep pace with the feminine tongue. When his head was turned the politician swiped the machine and donated it to his home town to get votes. The doctor went back to pennyroyal.

Despite the improvement of radio over the old pill days, children will continue to have measles, mumps and whooping cough, radio or no radio. You can't cheat a child out of staying home from school by a couple of tubes and a transformer. No matter what science has done, he still likes licorice in his cough syrup.

* * *

At first doctors can use only a small amount of power. But after they get used to kilowattting out an appendix or shifting a tonsil into a new location without knives and saws, they invariably ask for more power. In a few years we'll see tall lattice masts on the downtown office buildings and we can all sit at home with a crystal set and keep fit on a two-meter health wave.

* * *

One nice thing about radio waves, if they are strong enough, they cook what they are pointed at. That stops all argument. Today when a doctor cuts out a man's heart, or his brain, the patient insists on carrying off the spare part for a souvenir. This is often embarrassing to a doctor, as a chisel sometimes slips. But the radio waves just fry things up and no patient will ever bother to ask for a cinder.

* * *

Doctors will have to have shielded offices, all enclosed in metal to keep some other doctor from squirting a wave through the wall and operating on patients for the wrong thing, just by way of professional jealousy. A doctor will also have to wear a badge. What with rubber gloves and insulated shoes nobody will be able to tell him from a burglar.

WHO'S TO BE 1930's RADIO STAR?

EVERY so often a single manufacturer of radio emerges from the fog of competition and takes his permanent place in the sun.

Meanwhile, dozens of others flash brilliantly before the trade, then drop, extinguished, into oblivion overnight.

Who's to be 1930's bright particular star?

Clarion?

It is reasonable to think so, because quality and price are the principal factors which determine the success or failure of any product. Clarion radio is outstanding merchandise offering more value in appearance, workmanship, and performance than any other receiver on the market—a set that meets every requirement and excels all competition. Clarion will sell readily and build good will.

It is reasonable to think so, too, because TCA, the makers of Clarion, have had an experience and record of success equalled by few in the radio industry. For years TCA have fabricated the essential parts for radio receivers put out by America's leading set manufacturers and have taken a very active part in solving the engineering problems presented by every successful receiver. We have been through all the rapid developments of past seasons—have expert knowledge of all the reasons for the successes or failures of manufacturers and the causes of service troubles. With all this experience and background we have no illusions on what the public will accept or reject.

We have perhaps the most modern radio plant in the world, equipped with the latest automatic machinery. Clarion is not an "assembled" job. We fabricate from the raw material, finish, assemble, and test every part that goes into Clarion from the smallest metal stamping to the complete electro-dynamic speaker—at one profit and one overhead.

This remarkable set-up enables us to produce Clarion Radio to sell for $109.00 (less tubes)—when others costing twice as much do not offer equal performance or appearance.

MICROPHONE GOSSIP

With Castellamonte, Italy, as their destination, Aurora and Alma Cravero sailed June 4 from New York on board the Steamship America beginning a trip which will take them many important places in Europe. Aurora Cravero is the 'cellist of the NBC Arion Trio and her sister is a violinist of note. They will continue their musical studies in Europe and also visit their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bono at Castellamonte.

* * *

Alice Blue, KTAB organist and pianist, has a new hobby. She's learning to play a guitar. Alice says the day she got it she spent the whole twenty-four hours trying to find a number in her repertoire that she could sing and play at the same time—she found one—and she presented it next morning amid the helpful hints and suggestions on Alma La Marr's Household Hour.

* * *

Eddie Albright, KNX daytime announcer, started out to be a professional concert singer and toured the country time and time again, up to 1920, when he came to California. For some reason Eddie got "fed up" with music and after refusing an offer to follow Lawrence Tibbet in a concert company, left "short handed" when Tibbet went east, became interested in radio and has been with KNX since its inception.

* * *

The Happy Chappies, dressed identically, debonair and with the indefinable poise born of long years on the stage platform, have joined themselves to the featured artist ranks of KFI-KECA, Los Angeles.

The two young men are Nat Vincent and Fred Howard, song writers, singers and pianists. Together they have produced hundreds of songs, a great number of which have been sung, whistled and hummed by millions of people.

A prop man is standing beside the KFRC microphone ready to smash a large sheet of glass with a hammer at just the right moment in order to create a desired effect. Imagine his consternation when the glass turned out to be the shatter-proof variety! This actually happened on one of the Romantic Forty-niner programs over the Don Lee chain.

The recent absence from the microphone of Robert Hurd, concert tenor and program director of KFI-KECA, Los Angeles, was due to illness.

Hurd not only is responsible for all programs of the two Anthony stations, but he personally supervises important rehearsals, sings feature recitals and interviews scores of people daily. The strain proved too much and Hurd was ordered to stay in bed for a few days.

* * *

Fred Heward, Violinist, and one time teacher of music and harmony in the University of Washington, has won a great popularity on KYA programs as a solo—violinist as well as a member of the second KYA instrumental trio. Heward has made some interesting, close harmony arrangements for trio, including a beautiful adaptation of "Trees." He is heard on alternate days on the Sunshine and Bridge hours.

* * *

Lem and Lafe are back at KFRC from Hollywood after making a test for Warner Brothers. "What must Ah do now Lemuel?" "Don't lok at de camera so much and keep yo' eyes off dem blondes. If dat director tell you to jump off de roof you do it, and don't ask no questions!"

* * *

Radio fans who dial in after midnight are a class in themselves, according to Fred Eilers, genial popular announcer at KYA. The late hours bring hundreds of telephone requests for popular recordings, and in most cases the fan at the other end of the wire sends in his message with a personal attitude of friendship. In fact he or she is usually hurt when his or her name is not recognized. Certain listeners phone in 365 nights in the year, often without varying their requests, and after a while the announcer does know them, and is worried when they miss a night.

* * *

John Teel, baritone, uses his voice for another job—he's now the "cullahed gen'leman" in the Togo and Sambo episodes on KTAB. And when he says "Eeeeeeeeh" in that scared tone, you just know he's seen a ghost or heard that wicked laugh of the villain, the Ace of Spades.

Anna and Oscar, the Swedish dialect team which is enjoying huge success at KFI-KECA, Los Angeles, are both natives of Sweden. This amazing coincidence explains their success, according to Anna.

"Swedes are very sensitive about their idiomatic peculiarities," she says, "and it is only by using little words and expressions here and there to indicate that we are real Swedes, that we don't offend our Swedish listeners. Nearly everybody can do Negro dialect without offense—for negroes seem to be accustomed to being jollied. But only a real Swede can make fun of another and get away with it."

* * *

With memories of a honeymoon in Portland, Ore., Johnnie Toffoli returned to NBC San Francisco studios recently to resume playing accordion solos on a number of Pacific Division programs.

Toffoli and Aurelia Bravin, of El Cerrito, Calif., were married in St. John's at El Cerrito recently. Among the guests at the wedding was Mayor A. L. Paulsen of Richmond, who has known Toffoli since he was a child.

The parents of the bride and groom knew each other in Venice, Italy. Toffoli met his wife in California, about 15 years ago. The young couple will reside in Richmond.

It was a habit Jack Carter had of burlesquing opera stars behind their backs that led him to forsake grand opera for the musical comedy stage—by request.

Carter, known as "The Boy from London" at KNX, Hollywood, studied singing at the London Conservatory of Music under the great master Uttly and toured with an opera company until his mimicry ended that part of his career.

Sunny Cohan, KTAB's happy songster, who sings jazz with all the enthusiasm of her high school years, has been very busy graduating from Roosevelt High School in Oakland. She was president of the Senior Class of 260 students, in charge of arrangements for their Senior Ball, graduation and she played the lead in the Senior play presented in May.

Now Sunny says her time is free for her tap dancing lessons, and learning happy songs for KTAB. As an example of her energy and ambition, she confided—"You know, I'm going to get up at seven o'clock every morning, so I won't get lazy." But those snappy smiling eyes of hers make you know she wouldn't ever be lazy anyway.

Romantic Shades of Dion! One of Edna Fischer's radio fans writes her that she has two love birds and has named them Edna Fischer and Robert Olsen. And while we are on the subject, here's a little secret; don't breathe it to a soul: Edna Fischer and Bob Olson are really married—but not to each other.

* * *

The Happy Chappies made their debut over KFI-KECA on the "toughest spot" of all—that is, following Amos 'n' Andy. And they stopped the show, which in radio means tying up the switchboards of the station and straining the messenger with calls and telegrams.

* * *

Edith Thayer has returned to Hank Simmons' Showboat program. Miss Thayer, who plays the soubrette, "Jane McGrew," was injured in an automobile accident near Boston several months ago.

* * *

Speaking of fish stories, Clarence Hayes, known to NBC listeners as "The Voice of the South," returned to San Francisco studios this week with a tale of having made a 160-pound catch. A bandaged ear provided the explanation. Hayes, inexpert at casting lines, hooked himself through the ear. He had to travel many miles to San Francisco before the hook could be removed by a doctor.

* * *

Four staff members of KOA, Denver, have left for Europe to mix business with the pleasure of their summer vacations. Henry T. Ginsburg, western violin virtuoso and conductor of the Denver Concert Orchestra, and Elias Trustman, 'cellist, are to spend six months in coaching and study in France and Belgium. Lois Meyer, 'cellist with the Matinee String Trio, is on her way to Paris. And Richard R. Brown, announcer of farm programs, is touring the Old World, visiting the principal European radio stations.

* * *

Several national advertisers who have recently placed programs on Feminine Fancies (heard over KFRC and a coast chain) have selected Winifred Louthain, known as "Wyn," to handle their programs. With experience with women announcers in all parts of the country, these advertisers claim unhesitatingly that "Wyn" is the best woman announcer they have heard on the air. She combines such qualities as a pleasant speaking voice, assurance, good diction, and evidences of culture and refinement.

Personal Pickups

By GYPSY

MRS. J. W., Sacramento, Calif.—G. Donald Gray, KPO, is 6 feet 1 inch in height, weighs 185 pounds, has blue eyes, rather deeply set, and quite white hair. (He says it has been white since his early twenties.)

Whenever I have encountered Mr. Gray he has worn sports clothes and been bare-headed, yet he gives that Easter-morning-gentleman-of-the-Avenue impression, if you know what I mean. A native of England, an American citizen now, about forty years old. His greatest joy is horseback riding, but like other radioites he finds little time to indulge in this pleasure.

T. W., Livermore, Calif.—The "California Crooners," KPO, are Urban Hartman, Harvey Orr and Doug Richardson. Add to these names G. Donald Gray and you have the "Capers" quartet. The "Sequoians" are Clifford Lockwood, Melvin J. Parker, Donald Libby and Med Anderson.

MRS. A. R., Monterey, Calif.—When Bill Simmons, KROW, was eight years old his father, who was foreman of a large ranch, paid him the tribute of being a first rate cow-hand. And little Bill beamed with becoming modesty. It was through no fault of his that later on the family decided to send him off to be educated. He couldn't see any sense in giving up his pony and acres of freedom for any old school. What if it was in New York? Oh, well, it couldn't last forever, and at length the doors of the institution of learning closed gently behind him. Bill promptly traveled westward to a ranch in Colorado. Ah! that was the life. No near neighbors to discourage guitar, violin or harmonica solos and he insists he yodeled the cattle to sleep with special lullabies nightly. But alas! The dreaming must needs cease. What with phonograph records to make and radio a-calling. Bill is now 31, married, living in San Leandro. But "radio isn't half bad, you know? Close your eyes, yodel to your heart's content and see a Colorado sunset or a low-swung moon."

R. L., Oakland, Calif.—The orchestral personnel of the Magazine-of-the-Air program under the direction of Edward Fitzpatrick is as follows: Robert Gordohn, violinist; Fritz Warnke, pianist; Clark Wilson, saxophone and clarinet; George Johnson, saxophone; J. Williams, 'cello; Oscar Frederick, string bass; Ross Peterson, xylophone and drums.

MRS. H. F. S., Berkeley, Cal.—Here is your introduction. Mrs. S., Mrs. Harris (sotto voice), wife of Captain Gorton A. Harris of the Emma Alexander, you know... Barbara Lee. Hasn't she the loveliest brown eyes? Smaller than you'd pictured her? Must be due to her role as "Juno" in the "House of Myths" that gave you that impression. Was "Juno" an Amazon? My mythology is quite deplorable. I know—it's "Jupiter" with Carlton Morse's fantastic abandonments who's to blame. Why she isn't a speck over 5 feet 4 and I'm certain she doesn't weigh more than 140 pounds. Did you ever see such a lot of hair? I'll wager she has difficulty getting hats to cover it. Radio long? Several years. Before that? Stage and pictures. Ever since she was a very young girl. Tell you all about it sometime.

* * *

"SUNNY," Niles, Calif.—Gene Perry, KFSD, is too discreet to discuss his preferences as to blondes or brunettes. He is, however, more liberal with his hobbies. They are golf, hunting and books. Books, I think, come first. He revels especially in detective stories and satire. His pet aversion is making personal appearances. He is married, hails from Memphis, Tennessee, has traveled much and writes as an avocation. Twenty-six, light-complexioned, 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 140 pounds, and has clear, blue-gray eyes.

* * *

J. S. G., Sacramento, Cal.—John and Ned (NBC) do not participate in programs other than those wherein their names are given. A picture of them appeared in Broadcast Weekly in the June 15 to 21 issue. It was a splendid likeness. Hope you saw it. The "Three Boys" are Charles Linn, Lon Proteau and Reese Campbell. The "Hill Billys" are Charles Marshall, Virgil Ward, Johnny Toffoli, Johnny O'Brien and Jimmie Moseley.

Little, But, Oh My!

LITTLE, but oh my! is an apt description of the compact new "Midget" radio sets which have taken the public simply by storm. "What the kitchenette is to the modern housewife and the portable phonograph to the itinerant music lover, so 'Midget' radio is to the radio fan," says H. R. Curtiss, whose state-wide organization has recently been appointed California distributor for the new Jackson Bell Model 60 "Midget."

"Scarcely bigger than a regulation football, the 'Midget' is nevertheless a complete such a radio set would have filled the bill exactly? The 'Midget' therefore is the ideal set for the small apartment, the hotel room, the summer cabin, the student's room, or as a second auxiliary set in the home. Moved into the kitchen in a second, and the housewife has radio music with her work. Moved into the guest room as a courtesy to visitors. Moved into the bedroom to enjoy radio music morning and night. Slips into an automobile and provides music, market reports, and entertainment at every stop. Simply plug in any light socket or convenience outlet. The 'Midget' is particularly appealing at this season of the year because it takes up so little room on a vacation trip, and music does sound so good in the mountains after a strenuous day's hike or fishing trip.

"Because of the low price and easy purchase terms, the 'Midget' fills a real place in radio, providing thousands of people with a convenient, economical means of real radio enjoyment who otherwise would have to forego this pleasure, companionship, and sustaining influence. Thousands of these sets will be sold in California alone this summer. Thousands of people find a new interest and happiness in life through this incomparable means of inspiration and entertainment. If you have not seen or heard one of these marvelous 'Midgets,' a surprise and delightful experience awaits you at your nearest radio dealer."

LILA LEE listening in on her Jackson Bell "Midget"

full-fledged radio in every respect, simply condensed in size," points out Curtiss, "and fully equipped for real power, tone, and selectivity that rivals closely even the marvelous performance of the finest of the large modern sets on the market. For instance, check these specifications with those of any radio: 7 AC tubes, push-pull amplification, screen-grid circuit, genuine electrodynamic speaker, shielded steel chassis, and regeneration control. And in the new 'Midget' all these are combined in a cabinet only 9 x 13 x 15 inches, with a convenient portable carrying case to fit.

"How often have you wished for music or entertainment or companionship when Lieutenant Charles E. Saltzman, son of Major General Charles McK. Saltzman, former chief of the Army Signal Corps, and now chairman of the Federal Radio Commission, has resigned from the Army Engineering Corps to join the staff of the New York Telephone Company. Lieutenant Saltzman is a 1925 graduate of Cornell and was Rhodes scholar at Oxford from 1925 to 1928. He was serving as White House aide when his resignation became effective last week.

Electrical Review of London reports that photoradio services, already available between New York and London, are entering the practical stage for transmission along the British beam wireless circuits. The sending of photographs between London and Cape-town and between London and Australia is the beginning of an Empire system which will enable England and its colonies to exchange pictures for newspaper publication and otherwise almost instantaneously.

Scotland Yard "Goes Modern"

AUTHORS of mystery stories featuring the amazing exploits of mythical Scotland Yard inspectors will have to revise their technique somewhat when the "Yard" gets its own radio service established, which will be accomplished in the near future, according to reports to Washington.

Three transmitting stations are planned, one in London, another probably in Birmingham, and the third in Scotland, with receiving sets in all British cities, through which Scotland Yard, whose jurisdiction is not confined to London, but extends throughout the entire island, will be able to draw still closer the tight net which, according to our favorite author, is cast around the criminal so careless as to arouse the interest of the famous manhunters by popping off Lord Somebody or stealing Lady Somebody-Else's famous pearls under the most tremendous handicaps.

But better still from the standpoint of the "shilling shocker" are the plans of the Ontario Provincial Police, who have inaugurated a radio network linking up district police stations with the department headquarters. Here, all messages will be in secret code and on a wavelength to be known only to police officials. The Canadian criminal in future tales will have to be possessed of "a very small but extremely efficient" receiving set, which he will have probably secured from an equally criminal radio expert after discovering the secret wavelength and solving the code. Unless so equipped, we fear the Canadian "master mind" will pass from our literature, sunk without a trace.

M. Lecoque, the urbane head of the French Surete, whose gallic clairvoyance always brings the international ring to justice on page 312, also will trap his victims by radio without leaving his desk, by using the short-wave station in the Eiffel Tower, which is to communicate with police throughout the country and at border towns and seaports under a system of communication now being established.

The way of the transgressor becomes harder and harder, but modern science is certainly going to be a boon to the book business.

To Increase Top- Power Stations

ABIG increase in the number of broadcasting stations with 50,000 watts power—the highest power now granted—is provided for in orders adopted by the Federal Radio Commission. Issued as "restricting" to four the number of cleared channels in any zone which may be used by stations of this power, the commission's order is considered the first step toward providing increases in the maximum power of a number of stations.

Color is given this presumption by the fact that at the present time there are not more than ten 50,000-watt stations in operation, while the new rule will provide a maximum of 20 channels for such broadcasters, upon which, of course, more than 20 stations may be placed by requiring some to share time. A number of applications for the maximum power are pending before the commission, upon which decisions will probably not be rendered before autumn, and the inference drawn from this recent action is that several of them will be granted.

The commission's order was adopted by a vote of four to one, the dissenting ballot being cast by Commissioner Ira E. Robinson, who has been consistently opposed to high power on the ground that better service could be secured by restriction, and who unsuccessfully sought to have the commission adopt a policy of limiting power to 25,000 watts.

The commission is also engaged upon another effort to carry into effect the "equalization" provisions of the radio law, and has evolved an intricate method of rating stations upon a "unit" system, with 1000-watt stations as the basis, the computation involving such factors as the number of stations operating simultaneously on the same frequency, the distance of separation between such stations, hours of operation, etc., which, when completed, will show just what each zone has. The commission has already figured out the relative facilities of the different zones by several methods, always getting the same answer, but the summer is long and another calculation will help to pass the time.

Be Careful What You Write to an Airplane

THE breach of promise case in which radio figures is not far off.

"He wrote me when I was 7000 feet up, over Idaho, that he loved me," testifies the fair maiden.

"Where was he?" asks the court.

"In Chicago, your honor."

"And where did he promise to marry you?"

It can be done, and that at the present time. Tests, just completed, show that a man may write a letter to a friend in an airplane, or someone flying over the Rockies can write home to the folks, and the letter, with a facsimile reproduction of the original writing, transmitted and received by radio. All that is necessary is the proper apparatus installed in plane and ground station.

In the tests, a message was written with an ordinary lead pencil on a sheet of paper. The paper was wrapped around a cylinder which revolved in front of photo-electric cells. A similar cylinder in the receiving plane received the impulses from the ground transmitter, and a stylus reproduced the writing on a cylinder rotating in the plane. Photographs and printed matter were sent in the same way.

The use of this new system in business is highly important, according to radio engineers who are trying to perfect the system. A business man may write a communication direct to his associates. Received in his own handwriting, it will never be questioned, where a radio message might be open to doubt or misconstruction. For war purposes, it permits coded diagrams, pictures and messages being transmitted by observation planes.

The most important development, however, and this is the one which the device was originally perfected to make possible, is the transmission of maps by camera planes. Photographs of troop movements, of supply trains, of fortifications and trenches, taken from the air, can be transmitted, in the ultimate development of this system, to ground stations far away without the plane bringing back the original pictures. This the war department considers of immense importance.

KFRC Files Application for 50 KW.

DON LEE INC., rejoined the ranks of applicants for 50-kilowatt stations on June 20 by asking the Federal Radio Commission to authorize an increase in the power of KFRC, San Francisco, from 1-kilowatt to 50-kilowatts on 610 kilocycles. At the same time Don Lee's Los Angeles station, KHJ, sought authority to increase from 1-kilowatt to 5-kilowatts on 610 kilocycles.

The applications followed close upon the decision of the Federal Radio Commission, limiting the number of maximum powered stations to four to each zone, or twenty for the entire country. At present there are only eight in operation and six others have been authorized, the only one in the fifth zone of Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast states being KNX, Los Angeles.

As far as the Pacific Coast is concerned, the way has been opened, largely through the efforts of Commissioner H. A. Lafount, for its obtaining at least four full-time channel assignments for 50,000 watters. One has been assured KNX, which is now building to that power. Stations KFI and KGO have made the proper applications, so that the way is left open for one more cleared channel station in the fifth zone to procure maximum power now allowable. The eight stations now operating with 50-kilowatts are WEAJ, New York; WTIC, Hartford, Conn.; WENR, WBAP, Fort Worth; WGY, Schenectady; KDKA, Pittsburgh; WLW, Cincinnati, and WTAM, Cleveland.

A Page from the NBC Woman's Magazine of the Air

By MADONNA M. TODD

RADIO is taking the "curse" off cooking. Whether one should bring up the thought that every mother doesn't enjoy cooking is problematical. However, we've "gone and done it." Here's why:

We want to have an opportunity to prove our contention that radio is decidedly helpful to the home-maker.

A very, very dear home-maker told us the other day about the greatest bug-a-boo she has encountered during thirty years of house-keeping.

"It is the ever present question, 'What shall I prepare for dinner?'" our informant said. Then she added, "But now I'm finding it not half so difficult to answer the query. The radio does it for me every day."

There you are. Is there any argument?

The woman's Magazine of the Air alleviates a lot of mental stress if our home-maker's comment expresses the thought of others. Does it? We think so.

A turn of the dial each morning at 10:30 o'clock gives the Woman's Magazine of the Air to those tuned to stations affiliated with the National Broadcasting Company. A little attention insures a half dozen tempting recipes and suggestions on food combinations which provide appetizing, healthful menus. Best of all, these recipes and menus are within reach of us all. Ann Holden and Helen Webster don't bring to the microphone a lot of "white elephants," nor do they offer viands that are far beyond the purse reach of the economical housewife.

It's safe to say that 15 minutes a day—within hearing distance of a receiving set—will guarantee a menu suggestion that's just the hunch mother needs to complete her dinner planning.

Another few minutes and mother will learn how to prepare a distinctly different meal in that brief time between her return from the bridge party or matinee and the arrival of her hungry family.

Not to mention the chats on beauty culture, housekeeping in general and home management.

What a joy—just listening—no effort expended.

And with all the serious discussions comes a program of instrumental and vocal music, fit for the queen that mother is.

Edward J. Fitzpatrick will be in the conductor's stand as the Magazine Melodists present their contributions. The soloists are Lucile Kirtley and Austin Mosher, who are programmed for Monday; Gail Taylor and Gwynfi Jones, Tuesday, and Easton Kent, tenor, Wednesday. The Oronite comedians, Bennie Walker, Charles Marshall and the popular Georgia Simmons (Magnolia), also are billed that day, adding zest to the program, and during the remainder of the week dialers will hear Bobbe Deane, William Powers, Harold Dana, Eileen Piggott and George Eldredge.

Miss Kirtley is the diminutive, blonde soprano who constantly is asked to sing "Who'll Buy My Violets?"—a number which she sang during her first microphone performance at KGW, Portland. Lucile is NBC's smallest star, and quite by coincidence the other Monday singer, Austin Mosher, the largest man at the studio. Austin is six feet three inches tall and weighs 220 pounds. If Lucile stood behind him—well, you just couldn't find her, that's all.

Miss Taylor you all know as the soprano soloist of the Eastman program and Gwynfi Jones as a Welsh tenor whose voice is heard in concert as well as through the air. Easton Kent, one of the best known of the NBC troupe, has the distinction of a performance at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York. William Powers is a high-ranking Western colored tenor. Harold Dana, Eileen Piggott and George Eldredge, others on the WMA "honor role," are just as well known and exceedingly popular with the NBC audience.

A New Tube Checker at a Popular Price

A VERY accurate and effective tube checker to sell at a popular price is announced by the Jewell Electrical Instrument Company, 1650 Walnut Street, Chicago, Ill. This instrument operates on 50-60 cycle, 110-120-volt alternating current, and no batteries are needed.

The Jewell Pattern 209 Tube Checker, as it is called, consists of a Jewell Pattern 88 Direct Current Meter with six tube sockets, in a case of molded bakelite. The sockets provide filament voltages of 1.5, 2.5, 3.3, 5, and 7.5 to four-prong sockets, and 2.5 to a five-prong socket.

Two terminals giving three volts are provided for tubes such as the older Kellogg that have heater terminals on top. A jack and suitable lead are provided for a grid control connection.

The actual grid test is accomplished by shifting the grid from one position in the network to another, thereby giving a definite change in plate current corresponding to the difference between the two grid polarities. Expected values of the first plate current reading are given in an engraved chart on the face of the tube checker together with the expected increase in plate current when the button is pressed. The base plate carries detailed instructions.

The meter used in the Pattern 209 is a Jewell Pattern 88 with the 50 division scale,  $2\frac{1}{8}$  inches long. The instrument is accurately calibrated to two ranges of 10 and 50 milliamperes full scale. The 10 milliamperere range is read by a push button switch which does not add series resistance, but accurately calibrates the instrument to the 10 milliamperere scale.

Filament voltages are obtained from a full size transformer, with turns very accurately adjusted, so that at 115 volts input the various filament values are exactly as marked. The wire is designed to carry the heavy filament currents without heating.

A vitrified porcelain resistor is supplied in the circuit large enough to prevent damage in most cases of short circuited tubes, but of a sufficiently low value to avoid affecting the readings.

The Pattern 209 Tube Checker is a very high-grade development, and will be found more accurate and more satisfactory for tube testing than any equipment heretofore available at a comparable price.

Pirate Broadcaster Exiled by United States

GEORGE W. FELLOWES of St. Louis had a broadcast station but no license. He had a microphone but no orchestra. He had ambition but no scruples. And so—George “swiped” his programs from the big stations—hooked them off the air, as it were, and rebroadcast them to his dissatisfied customers.

To add a touch of verisimilitude to his offerings, George would “cut” the program just before the big station announced and make his own announcements. Now and then, when business was dull, George hooked his telephone into his “mike” and let the world hear him talk to his best girl. All of which aroused Uncle Sam’s wrath and broke a lot of radio laws.

So—the St. Louis grand jury indicted George. He was tried and found guilty. The court sentenced him to a year and a day at Leavenworth, in no sense a luxury, and then suspended sentence while immigration officials looked him up. Last week Uncle Sam deported George, the free-lance broadcaster—sent him back to England where he belonged, and St. Louis’ unsponsored, bootleg concerts were over.

The penalty is the first assessed for this offense.
