Radio's Versatile Genius

TWO programs broadcast Sunday, August 19, are worthy of special comment. Neither was a "feature" program. Neither was theatrically spectacular nor highly publicized. Neither employed paid artists nor depended for dramatic effect upon prominent personalities or profound utterances. Neither was musical or religious in nature. Yet, apart from their inherent interest, and albeit unintentionally, both were impressive demonstrations of Radio's versatile genius and inspirational power. Sponsors take notice.

One of the two broadcasts was that of the tennis match between Miss Helen Jacobs of California and Miss Sarah Palfrey of Massachusetts for the woman's lawn tennis championship of the United States. Played at Forest Hills, N. Y., the colorful contest was aired from that point over a nation-wide hook-up as a National Broadcasting Company sustaining program. So efficiently was the broadcast engineered, the ping of the balls, voices of the officials, and applause of the huge crowd were distinctly audible. So vivid was the announcer's stroke-by-stroke description, distance was annihilated and the exciting play was re-enacted in every radio-equipped home.

Few events in recent years have served so effectively to publicize and glorify athletic American womanhood. The attention of the whole nation was focused on two girls, not making a sensuous spectacle of their feminine charm, but engaged in body-building, character-sustaining athletics. Its exemplary effect multiplied by Radio's power and realism, this broadcast proved vividly and conclusively that a girl does not have to be a ribald fan dancer, mundane night club hostess or painted movie mannequin to achieve self-expression and public recognition. In forcefully inspiring the emulation of two such superb Dianas as Miss Jacobs and Miss Palfrey, it rendered an inestimable service to the entire nation and every home within it. Let there be more such broadcasts, and let parents see to it that every daughter in the land shall be listening in.

The second of the two programs, likewise an NBC sustaining period, was a description of the awe-inspiring, soul-stirring natural glory that is Mount Rainier. Located in Eastern Washington, this fourth-highest peak in the United States rears its glittering snow-capped summit over fourteen thousand feet to dominate two hundred miles of landscape so majestically early Indians named it "The Mountain That Was God."

The broadcast was both a radio classic and a notable engineering feat. Actually scaling the mountain to the twelve thousand foot level, announcers with portable microphones described the wonders visible from various strategic points—the great snow-covered glaciers, ice caves, subterranean water falls, fantastic rock formations, dizzy peaks, corrugated slopes, and vast panoramas.

The sublime grandeur of natural wonders on such a scale is evidence of a divine Creator and of His omnipotence, that none can deny. It inspires. It solaces. It rejuvenates floundering faith and waning courage. Let sponsors and producers see to it that such broadcasts occur more frequently. They are a much-needed sustaining influence for the whole people during this critical period.

Humility is the first step toward happiness and success. Reverence and divine inspiration are more important than cultivated smartness in healing the woes of a troubled world. And in few other ways are these qualities to be acquired so readily and universally as in contacts with nature, wherein even frail mortals may find "sermons in stones, books in running brooks, and good in everything."

ETHER GLEANINGS

By J. CLARENCE MYERS

IT is the opinion of the writer that Amos 'n' Andy embedded themselves deeper in the hearts of their countrymen by that world record dialogue broadcast from San Francisco and London last week.

Their genuine humanness, sincerity and fine art of impersonation, which has characterized their work for the seven or eight years that they have been on the air was there, as usual. Without any theatrical "gagging," but talking as natural as Amos 'n' Andy do in their nightly skits, the boys put over this unusual broadcast with a finished smoothness that was creditable.

Each talked about his experiences on his vacation—Andy, who spoke from London, about his travels in Europe, and Amos, who appeared in the NBC San Francisco studios, about his thrilling fishing and big game trips in southern Alaska. It was difficult for the listener to perceive that their conversation was being carried on at a 6000 mile distance. So excellent was the overseas radio reception that day, and so splendidly were the technical facilities put into play, that it sounded like Amos 'n' Andy were in the same studio, just "gabbin' away." Amos' answers to Andy's questions and vice versa came through instantly, further impressing the listener to the marvel of the stunt.

Toward the end of the broadcast, Andy sort of slipped up on the date of their return to the air with their nightly skit, but Amos corrected him. Andy had said they would return on the fifteenth of September, but Amos quick as a flash told us that it was the seventeenth, and Andy agreed.

In relating his experiences in Europe, Andy said that he had a hard time getting used to the taxis and vehicle traffic going on the left side of the street. Then he told how much he liked Paris and Switzerland. Next, he said, he went to Venice, "but they had had a big flood there and the streets were all rivers and men took you about in gondolas." Andy said that he was glad that he had finally saw one of those things (gondolas) because once Senorita Butterfly had referred to his shoes as gondolas.

Then it was Amos' turn to tell about his travels in Alaskan waters. But first he informed Andy that he had bought him a present. Naturally Andy was very inquisitive, but Amos wouldn't reveal the nature of the gift. Amos related how he went from Chicago to Winnipeg, then to Jasper Park and then on to Prince Rupert, British Columbia. He went in for fishing in a big way and was very successful, he told us. He told Andy how he had gone out in a boat from Sitka, Alaska, and caught 300 trout, some porpoises, silver salmon, king salmon, Alaska bass and other fish. He also caught a seal. Inland, Amos captured a live black bear cub and sent it to Frank Buck, who is filling their spot on the air during their vacation.

In closing Amos informed Andy that he liked the Northwest country so well that he thought that he would go back to hunt brown bear when the season opens. It was then that Andy chirped in "please catch another seal, because I want to have a fur coat made for Madam Queen." But Amos brought a blow to his radio pal when he informed him that the seal that he caught was a hair seal and its hide was only good for making vests for the Alaskans. "Guess Madam Queen couldn't use a vest," he said. And sorrowful Andy agreed.

It was a great show, excellently staged and worthy of even greater comment than we have given it here.

On September 30 all the sponsored chain programs now released over KGO will be shifted to station KPO, the NBC's loudest voice here in the northern part of the state. In as much as KPO is operating on 50,000 watts power and KGO only on 7500, the advertiser and distant listeners alike will be benefited by the shift in programs. This department predicted this move many months ago.

KFRC's Country Fair and Horse Show is making a strong bid for a place in the local radio horizon. The new funfest, recently launched on the local airways, is being paid for by the brewers of Humboldt Beer and is released Thursdays—8 to 8:30 p. m.

Plucked from here, thar and everywhar:

Kid Rumor has it this week that Henry Ford and Joe E. Brown, the tunnel-mouthed movie comic are cooking up some scheme for a series of broadcasts, featuring the latter. . . . Why did Al Jolson leave Paul Whiteman's radio program so suddenly? . . . Harry DeLasaux and Harlan McCoy are the latest additions to the NBC announcing staff. . . . Glenhall Taylor, late production manager of KTM, KTAB and more recently with the production department of KFRC, is now producing air shows at Don Lee's KHJ studio in Los Angeles. . . . Charles McAlister, NBC actor, after a long siege of illness, is back at the studios. . . . KFRC's Murray and Harris were beseeched to stay over in Shanghai for another six months with the same night club they had worked for half a year, but homeland beckoned and back they came. . . . In addition to his acting, Harold Peary, is announcing those Wheatenville skits over the Don Lee-CBS wire-up. . . . Kay Van Riper, KFWB continuity writer, is vacationing in the East. . . . Tiny Ruffner, producer of the Maxwell House Showboat, has placed Nathan Stewart, up until a few weeks ago San Francisco NBC song artist, under his personal contract . . . which means, we venture to say, that Stewart may soon be signed for a big broadcast. . . . KQW is pushing a new mike personality in Mark Green, who sings, plays piano and chatters thrice weekly over the San Jose station "a la Charlie Hamp" . . . Green performs Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 12:15 p. m. on the station for Hart's Department Store. . . He has appeared over KGW, Portland, and for fourteen months was associated with Georgie Stoll and his orchestra as pianist and vocalist . . . he spent three years with Fanchon and Marco stage acts as a member of the "Three Musketeers Trio," later going to KTAR, Phoenix, where he developed the one-man program style. . . . Rod Hendrickson will soon celebrate the third anniversary of his Sunday night KTAB "Facts and Fiction" program—which is aired at 9:15 p. m. . . . Cantor's radio palsy-walsy Rubinoff has signed to appear in a motion picture, but because he is due in New York to personally appear in Cantor's return program on Chase and Sanborn, it is likely that he won't be able to go before the camera. . . . The signature of Jack Benny has been obtained by the manufacturers of "Jello" for a series of coast to coasters on NBC beginning Sunday, October 14. He'll be washed up—at least for the time being—on the General Tire program by the end of September. . . . With the signing of Herb Meyerinck's orchestra by the new management of Uncle Tom's Cabin, pioneer roadhouse just south of San Francisco, there are predictions that it won't be long now before some San Francisco station makes a tie-up with the historic place for broadcasting direct from the site. . . . As most of you know—the genial Sam Hayes (Richfield Reporter to you) was a recent visitor in his old home town—San Francisco . . . He spent most of his time looking up old acquaintances and at his favorite rendezvous. . . . Irvin S. Cobb, the short story writer, has jumped from radio to the movies . . . word from the southland saying that the rotund word weaver is appearing in person in a series of shorts, now being filmed. . . . KJBS's Frank Cope, the bloke who wakes all youse guys and gals up with his incessant alarm-clock ringing these yawnings, is an obliging servant of the public. . . . Among the many unusual requests he got from his "pooblic" recently was to turn ukulele professor. Accommodating Cope did just that. A feminine listener had a uke and she wanted to learn how to play it. She didn't have the money for lessons or phonograph to play off ukulele recordings. So for several mornings Cope played special ukulele solo records for his listener. Next thing he expects is that she'll be coming around for an audition to play the uke on the station. . . . KYA's Bathday Party, Saturday night frolic-cast, has been extended to a full hour—the time now being 9 to 10 o'clock. . . . Bill Powers, colored vocalist of the first rank, once featured on Cap'n Dobbsie's shows, is now appearing in a San Francisco night club. . . . The Eno Crime Clues—mystery thrill yarns dramatized, return to KPO September 6 at 9 p. m. and will be heard thereafter every Thursday and Friday. . . . Assuming the character names of Pick and Pat, the same two radio actors who play the roles of Molasses and January in the Showboat, will be featured in a weekly Friday night program over NBC stations for United States Tobacco. . . . Aunt Sammy (Betty Noonan), KQW's home economics authority, is passing out advice to those who can't swim . . . don't go near the water . . . and it comes as the result of her harrowing experience while visiting friends in Sacramento recently. She was standing on the edge of her host's private pool, a slip of the foot and she was headed for the bottom of the plunge. Most of the guests thought she was doing a dive and it was not for some minutes when she didn't pop back on the surface that a half dozen life guards dove in after her and buoyed her to the surface . . . completely unconscious. . . . KJR is still receiving favorable comments on its broadcast of the children's program which was staged in Volunteer Park recently by the station. . . . In spite of a heavy down-pour of rain the program went on without a hitch. . . . Birt Fisher, owner of KOMO, is building a palatial beach residence and estate at Three Tree Point on the Sound south of Seattle. . . . Don Brose, KLX artist, who had his own college orchestra for several years while a student of the University of California, is said to be the champion mash-note receiver at the station, outclassing all the rest of the staff by several letters a week. . . . While we're academically inclined here's news about the St. Mary's College period on KTAB being extended to twenty-five minutes from a quarter hour . . . The program, called "Books and Life," is heard at 8:30 o'clock Friday nights. . . . Many southern California radio actors are finding extra work making electrical transcriptions for broadcast purposes. At the Radio Release Studios production is now under way on a mystery serial called "The Case of Kennedy Brooks," which was penned by Dave Ward, former announcer at KGFJ, KHJ and other stations. Among the principals are Roger King, former KHJ mikester; Sid Bracey from the films; Betty Ross Clark, the original Nadji in the Chandu the Magician radio series; and others. Noreen Gammill, former KFI character actress, is featured in another series now being "cut" called "Racing Luck"

MICROPHONE GOSSIP

• • • Don E. Gilman, vice-president in charge of the Western Division of the National Broadcasting Company, has announced that effective Sunday, September 30, KPO, NBC's 50,000 watt station in San Francisco becomes the key station of the Western network.

September 30 is the date on which changes in program time take place, due to the conclusion of the daylight saving period in eastern cities. Starting on this date seventy-five sponsored programs now heard over KGO and the network will be heard over KPO and the network, and a large number of sustaining programs likewise will be shifted to KPO.

"We have made this change to improve the service of the network," Mr. Gilman said. "Important programs which are not now available to listeners in many outlying places where radio service is not satisfactory will be brought to these sections by means of KPO's greater carrying power."

The change, Mr. Gilman said, is the result of study and surveys which have been in progress for more than a year. It will not deprive the present audience of any network programs, but will bring these programs to many new listeners.

• • • Greta Gahler, well known KYA contralto, whose voice is heard with the Lyric Quartet and Cyrus Trobber's orchestra, has joined the "Penner" clan. Greta has a pet duck by the name of Icky whose quacks are interwoven with personality. The singer found him wandering about the street near her home two and a half years ago and kept the duckling in a bedroom slipper on a hot water bottle so that he'd remain quiet at night. Icky although a rather peaceful sort of being has a ferocious side to his nature. He feels that he is the guardian of Greta's backyard and chases every cat who braves this sanctity. Icky has his own built-in swimming pool with a tiny step ladder at one end to enable him to get into the water without diving. Greta is now training him for a radio appearance on KYA's Bath Day Party and the entire staff of this station claims a bright future for Icky in the land of ether waves.

• • • Sponsor auditions are notably uneasy affairs, but KGB last week set a new high in red-hot program auditions. In the very middle of a quarter-hour fun show audition, smoke began to curl up from the floor of the studio. The atmosphere grew increasingly thick and hazy with the minutes, but Garv Breckner, program director, only signalled the musicians and artists to go on with the show at all costs. Hal Chambers and Larry Rhine, announcers, were dispatched to get aid in the form of flashlights, water, and a hurried call to the fire department. By this time, the smoke was so thick that the musicians were ad-libbing the theme song and Art Linkletter was struggling to see the closing announcement. The program concluded and the fire department arrived at one and the same time, and in the ensuing mad mix-up of artists and firemen the only clearly understood words were those of Dorothy Hutton, harpist, demanding that her harp be saved. In true fire department style, the huskies were spraying everything in sight, and were detained from smashing windows and doors only by the appearance of the station manager, Lincoln Dellar. When things finally began to calm down, it was found that the whole cause of the disturbance was a smouldering pile of waste which was wedged in between the floors of the building. Breckner asserts that if ever a hot program idea was originated, it was most certainly this one!

• • • Sixty-five professional musicians on relief or in need of relief performed as the SERA work relief Symphony Orchestra and offered another "pop" radio concert under Kajetan Attl, Sunday, August 26, over KPO.

The symphonic arrangement of "Love Thy Neighbor" was selected as the theme number of SERA programs, because of its sympathetic theme.

• • • Rowene Williams, youthful operatic soprano, was chosen winner over 20,000 candidates in the nation-wide auditions conducted by the Columbia Broadcasting System for a singing actress to take the part of a "hat-check girl" in the "Hollywood Hotel" radio series to open this fall.

The final audition for the twelve zone winners was held at CBS headquarters in New York City on Thursday evening, August 16. Other contestants were Betty Kelly of San Francisco, Irene Barclay of Seattle, Zella Sexton of Junction City, Kan., Vera Van of New York, Alice O'Leary of Medford, Mass., Betty Brunn of Columbus, Ohio, Helen Ault of Washington, D. C., Margaret Chesick of Charlotte, N. C., Doris Shumate of St. Louis and Ludi Mai Sensabaugh of Dallas.

Miss Williams, who was acclaimed Chicago regional winner after being chosen from 736 local aspirants, left Minneapolis four months ago to seek a radio career. Trained to sing in grand opera, for the last three years she has appeared with the Minneapolis Grand Opera Company. Among her rôles have been "Leonora" in "Il Trovatore" and "Marguerite" in "Faust." Singing popular songs for the first time when she went to Chicago in need of a job, she was held over for three weeks at the Chicago Theater.

• • • Perched on a high stool, his feet curled around its rungs, Danny Malone sings his Irish songs into the microphone. The young tenor, who is heard in the West over an NBC-KGO network, always sang that way at home since he first leaped into overnight fame on the British networks, and he feels more at home in such a position.

Other NBC soloists, except those who play as they sing, stand before the microphone. But Danny Malone prefers his high stool. In the series of concerts in which he is making his American debut over the networks he has the assistance of Josef Stopak as orchestra conductor and Graham McNamee as announcer.

Tall and slight, the Irish lad who came to this country less than a month ago heralded by the fanfare of his British success, is as shy and diffident as when he was singing in the streets of London for pennies not so long ago. Success has neither spoiled nor changed him. His thin face is finely modelled, his hair is red. His speaking voice is soft, and his speech rich in the Irish brogue of his homeland.

• • • Mme. Schumann-Heink, at 73, refuses to discuss her retirement . . . It's the mental age that counts, she believes . . . Betty Worth, one of the loveliest of the young Follies principals, is frequently a member of the Court of Human Relations cast.

• • • Edwin C. Hill is attending all the news reel theaters these days, picking out errors he wants to avoid when he becomes the voice of Metrotone News.

• • • Richard Himber, pilot of the Champions orchestra, is worried because an admirer wants as a souvenir "the baton, the pencil, or whatever it is he directs with," and he is one of the few gents who beat time with their forefingers.

• • • Like Bing Crosby, Barry McKinley, youthful Ohio baritone, heard over NBC, never took a music lesson in his life. He is regarded as a sensational stylist, and has been advised by experts not to study voice.

• • • Gladys Swarthout, leading lady of the Palmolive Beauty Box Theatre, and her husband, Frank Chapman, baritone, have moved to a new apartment. It's a seven-room domicile overlooking the East River. The Chapmans have so much music that they have converted one bedroom and bathroom into filing closets.

• • • Kate Smith's diminutive fox-terrier mascot, "Swanee," who accompanied Kate on her recent tour, has been adopted by one of the singer's friends, with the understanding that he be brought to see her once a week.

• • • Adele Hoover, who is assistant to the program manager was in a dilemma the other day. She didn't know just where to go for her vacation. Three tempting trips presented themselves. One excursion to the mountains in the eastern part of the state, a two weeks' stay on the desert and an ocean voyage to Canada. Not being able to choose, someone suggested to Adele that she put a slip of paper in three envelopes, each marked with a desirable place to rest. This she did and after shuffling the envelopes, Adele picked the lucky one. Opening it up, she saw the word "Canada" printed upon the slip. So, last heard of the young lady was saying hurried goodbyes to friends from the rail of a northbound liner.

• • • Leo B. Tyson and Tony Romano are the only members of the Al Pearce Gang who have seen the World's Fair in Chicago. Little Tony made the trip during his two months' absence from the program. Leo Tyson made the trip during a recent business trip to Chicago for Al Pearce.

• • • Bobby Hudson, clever young juvenile actor who plays the Smithers' adopted son in Memory Lane, has returned from a visit to Juneau, Alaska, with a large assortment of miniature totem poles, moccasins, fish-stories and the autograph of the Governor of Alaska.

• • • Cal Pearce, Al Pearce's basso brother, came home from his vacation carefully guarding some old, rusty, hand-wrought door hinges. Cal has removed them from the few remaining buildings in the ghost city of Johnsville, Calif., where the old Plumas Eureka mine is located. Now a ghost city, Johnsville had a population of 30,000 in 1852 when the Pearce boys' grandfather was working in the mines there. He will use the ancient ironwork on his own home when he builds it.

• • • Bill Carey, starred on "Carey's Capers" over KHJ every Tuesday and Thursday evenings, is of Irish extraction, but goes for a genuine Italian meal better than any other kind of food. In addition to loud ties and socks, he likes Louis Armstrong. Thinks Bing Crosby and Connie Boswell are about the most entertaining singers on the air and Glen Gray's Casa Loma orchestra the swellest music, although he admits that he thinks Isham Jones is a close runner-up to Gray. Likes a good symphony once in a while when he's in the mood. Admits, however, that he hasn't been in the mood for a long while—not since the last time he was in love.

SILHOUETTES

"HUMOR isn't very funny unless there is a tear in it."

Cliff Nazarro speaking—the singing comedian who was one of the featured stars of the NBC variety program, Nobody Home, broadcast recently over KPO.

"Some day I'm going to find my ideal song," says Cliff. "It will be a descriptive song containing comedy mingled with just the right amount of feeling. I believe people like to hear songs that carry a definite message, told with emotional appeal."

Cliff ought to know, for he has been entertaining audiences since he was twelve years old. He made his debut with the New Haven Stock Company. A year later Nat Nazarro heard him singing in a New York theater and signed him for the next five years as a star of his juvenile revues, presenting him with an effective last name for stage purposes.

Cliff doesn't come of a theatrical family, but his father was a well known hotel operator in Connecticut and New York, and actors and actresses were no novelty to his young son. He was at home behind the footlights from the start, and at eighteen, with an honorable record on Keith and Orpheum bills behind him, he left the Nazarro act and went out on his own. For the next two years he was a headliner, singing such songs as "You Left Me Out in the Rain,"

"Was There Ever a Pal Like You?" and "That's My Mammy" to vaudeville audiences from coast to coast.

The Shuberts featured him in the Broadway production of Artists and Models, and he divided his time between musical comedy and records for the next few seasons. Many of his records have been best sellers; they include "I Wonder Where My Baby Is Tonight?" and "I Want to Be Known as Susie's Fellow."

Then Fanchon and Marco signed Cliff to act as master of ceremonies of their productions, and brought him to the Pacific Coast. The first year and a half of his contract term was spent at Loew's State Theater in Los Angeles—audiences liked him so well they wouldn't let him go.

While he was in southern California Cliff renewed acquaintances with many of his old theatrical friends and made new ones. Among the former was George Beban, noted actor whose "Sign of the Rose" is one of those mile-posts in the profession he adorned. One day Beban telephoned Cliff.

"Come over to my house tomorrow, Cliff," he urged. "I've made up my mind about 'The Sign of the Rose.' Everybody has been trying to get me to release it—but I've decided to give it to you. You can play it."

The next day Cliff was called to an unexpected rehearsal. He failed to keep Beban's appointment, and that night Beban died. The rights to "The Sign of the Rose" are still tied up.

"Just one of those things," says Cliff. "But I'd give a lot to play in it, just once, for the sake of the generous-hearted guy who wanted to give it to me."

Cliff came to the National Broadcasting Company's staff several months ago and, although he had sung over the air from theaters on many occasions, he had his first real wrestle with microphones when he made his NBC debut, he says. He likes it, although he admits he misses his audience, and likes spectators in his studio, to assure him that he really does have listeners.

Like most singers, he finds more fun in music than anything else when he isn't working at it. His wife, the former Peggy Hoffman, is a singer and pianist, and the two work together on new songs. One of these, "Cast Your Sins Away," has been heard recently. But Cliff doesn't do only popular music; he has two complete symphonies, still unnamed, which he hopes to have performed some day.

He has only one superstition—he refuses to part with a pair of shoes in which he first danced, twenty years ago. He can't wear them now, but he feels they still bring him luck.

ETHER ETCHINGS

By IOLA McREYNOLDS

From KFRC Wednesday night at eight o'clock, upon a ship chartered by The Bank of America, and piloted by Raymond Paige's Orchestra, we sail out over the sea of memory on a "Musical Cruise" to retrieve "The Treasures of Time." Our passport, familiar songs.

Eagerly we stand at the bow of the ship, getting a thrill when a port is sighted, each on a treasure island all its own. On this unique voyage we touch first at the port of "Home." Home, where Mother and Dad live in treasured memory. Home as we know it in childhood, with its carefree hours and the sense of protection that hallowed each happy day. Home, where the purest love bloomed in and outside the door. Landing we hasten up the garden walk, pause a moment at the old sun dial, stand on tip toe to see if there is still a nest in the lilac bush, then with a glad rush we open the door and call, "Mother!" But she doesn't answer. Down the hall we hurry to the sunny kitchen, it is empty.

Slowly we turn and climb the attic stairs to the room where we spent so many happy rainy days. There's the old trunk with Mother's souvenirs which she treasured through the years. Old love letters and "keepsakes" of her girlhood, holding glamorous romance for us as she told us about them. Going slowly down the stairs again, we take one last look into each room as we pass. There's Dad's chair by the fireplace, with Mother's work basket on the table near by. Just seems that they should be there to look up and smile at us as we come to say good-bye, but—O, there's the whistle, and with a reluctant sigh we leave this port and face with anticipation the next one as our ship sails out again.

This time it is the port of "Friendship" at which we call. Long ago, true forever, "cross your heart and hope to die," friendship. Sharing secrets, and the same bench in the school room. Growing up to drift apart, but how every half forgotten memory comes trooping back as we anchor here for a time on this magic cruise. We remember our pledge to the chum closest to our heart though we haven't met nor even corresponded for years. Here we meet face to face; the same smile, the same handclasp, the same loving loyalty still lives, and added to this are all the other friends that we have made down through the years. O, priceless treasure to be found at the port of "Friendship."

And then comes the most thrilling port of all, located on the island richest in treasure, and we face it with regret or happiness as the circumstance in the life of each individual voyager may be. The port of "Romance." Sad or sweet, we want to linger there; to live again the years—months—days—hours (whichever it is) of the sweetest story that life holds for each of us; to hold close to our heart the visions of our dreaming, our hope of tomorrow, the priceless hours of today. Oh! magic port of "Romance!" Your treasure is beyond valuation and above price. Far too precious to share with any, save One!

The cruise is ended. The good ship sails slowly into the harbor of "Now" and we disembark, sort of shake ourselves together, pick up our steamer trunk and baggage and take up life right where we left it half an hour ago. But, like all trips abroad, this one has enriched and broadened our lives. Dreaming and remembering, carried away on music whose theme has become woven into our lives through association.

"Reflections." "An organ, a harp, a violin and a voice." Paul Carson at the organ directing the ensemble brings a program that is lovely and interestingly different.

"Reflections on the Water." Reflections on a sea of melody, and of memory. How cleverly are songs of kindred thought made to blend into each other, as these artists bring the "reflections of sound." Songs into which someone's heart went in the making; into which, perhaps, someone's heart goes in the playing and singing; and into which someone's heart goes while we listen.

Songs of home. "Home on the Range," on the prairies, the hills, and in the cities. Songs of love, and how many, many reflections come with this theme, for love has unnumbered ways of finding expression. "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" blends into springtime, summer, autumn and winter of life; into sunsets, moonlight, sunrise and rainy days; into romantic meetings and partings and lingering good-nights; yearnings, forgetting, and remembering.

My thought goes winging out to rest beside your thought and together they are reflected on the lovely sea of melody as it rises and falls in easy rhythm, its waves leveled to ripples that make reflections the more alluring.

There is something so poignantly sweet about the theme song, "Reflections on the Water," with its yearning question. Reflections that fade away. Will they come again—will we meet again beside the sea of melody? Who knows?

The OPEN CIRCUIT

This department is open to all. Send in your letters. Anonymous letters will not be published. Give full name and address.

Gentlemen, More Is Expected of You

I am glad to see several protests about recent program changes in your valuable magazine. One that seems most unwarranted is the curtailment of the splendid Sunday morning concert from Radio City. I am sure many people feel as I do about it and are quite incensed to have it cut off, even in the middle of a number, in favor of "Comics."

And I think we have a right to expect more of our two big stations than so much "canned" music—there is plenty of that on the lesser ones. Mr. Hart's fine orchestra and soloists cannot be replaced by reproductions.

Let us hope we shall have these programs restored, at least by the time "standard time" comes back.

Please use your influence.

F. J. M., Campbell, Calif.

Testimonial from the East

I am taking this opportunity to express my appreciation of your little magazine.

A short time ago, I sent a copy to a friend in the East. In her next letter to me, she said, "Many thanks for the Broadcast Weekly, which I enjoyed so much. It is the best Radio Magazine I ever saw. I took one for a while, but the paper and cuts were much inferior to yours and it did not contain as much news."

I quite agree with her. It tells me what I wish to know about my favorite artists.

Radio is a wonderful thing for one who lives alone, as I do, and I consider mine the best investment I ever made.

Hardware Over the Air

What's in the wind? All this cheap stuff on the radio lately. In spite of all the requests for good music the stations simply insist on giving us the silliest kind of programs. When they haven't an extra saxophone, or washtub, or saw to spare, they put a jazz record on. Jazz!!

I think it is either that the persons responsible are totally dumb, or because the Higher Ups DEMAND cheap stuff, or because the A. T. T. makes money out of it, or because of politics. There are plenty of competent musicians, able conductors, and tens of thousands of people who would love honest music. Why? What will the radio manufacturers say when people, finally, refuse to spend money on radios because there is nothing worthwhile on the air? Of course, I imagine radio is here to stay, but it seems a pity that such a wonderful invention should turn out to be an influence for depravity instead of good. I think it is time for music lovers, and for all people of wholesome tastes, to get together and do something about it. What is your idea?

D. E. S., Oakland, Calif.

She Has Her Own Phonograph

I heartily concur with the opinions expressed by G. B. K. of San Diego in your issue of August 19-25. Of all musicians to disperse with I cannot understand how KPO decided to eliminate Charles Hart. His programs so surpassed the many jazz orchestras they feature. Do they feel fifty jazz bands a day are what the public wants to listen to? As for recorded programs, I have my own Victrola and preferred records. I never listen to theirs.

Mrs. A. C. P., Alameda, Calif.

Don't Ever Try It

We would find it hard to get along without your excellent paper, as we have depended on it ever since we have had a radio.

We certainly enjoy your editorials, also the interesting bits about our favorite stars and programs.

Our favorite program is, of course, "One Man's Family," but it is closely followed by "Memory Lane," "Women's Magazine of the Air," "Cross Cuts," "Standard Symphony Concerts," "First Nighter," "Al Pearce and His Gang," "KTAB Church Services," "Rudy Vallec," "Frank Buck programs," "Tom Coakley's Orchestra," "General Tire program," "Wheatnaville," "Orphan Annie," "Frank Watanabe," the news bulletins and educational programs, not to mention the sports broadcasts and others.

As to our favorite stars, we like all of the cast of "One Man's Family." Also we think there is no one like Benny Walker, Bobbe Deane and Ted Maxwell are exceptionally talented, we think

With best wishes for long-continued success.

M. B. W., Forestville, Calif.

Would Reform Open Circuit

Enclosed please find $1.50 for my renewal subscription to start with this week's issue if possible. I have a "kick" to make, and it is towards the unkind people who criticize the artists and other radio people in the columns of your Open Circuit. They don't need to listen to any artist or program that they don't like and besides, it is all free entertainment. I wonder how these selfish people would like to be criticized in open print. Another thing I object to is the writers of letters taking up the valuable space in the Open Circuit to tell of their likes and dislikes. The respective stations are the ones to whom they should write. Why not use the Open Circuit for constructive work, answering questions about the artists and other radio affairs, and if space permits, printing more pictures of the artists. The only thing that I do not like about Broadcast Weekly is the Open Circuit as it is now, and think of the few people who use it, when by answering questions and giving us more pictures all of your subscribers would benefit.

B. R. C., Esparto, Calif.

One Year's Subscription for Correct Answers

Here are some questions I should like to ask about radio.

Why do we have to suffer "canned" music on the KPO dinner concert? Whatever became of that fine program, "Bird and Wash," on Columbia network? Why does William Randolph Hearst lend his name to such generally inferior programs as those produced by KYA? Why was such a first rate artist as Charles Hart eliminated by KGO? What has become of the drama hour called "Story Teller" on KPO? Why aren't such fine artists as John and Esseley, who used to be on the Swift program, teamed any more? What has happened to Beth Holly, one of the most distinctive characters in "One Man's Family"? Why do so many advertisers choose to ruin their programs and discourage their listeners by inserting their advertising in the middle of the programs? Why are there so many utterly inferior dance orchestras on the air? Why doesn't the announcer of the dramatic program, "Death Valley Days," announce the names of the cast after the performance?

H. D., San Francisco.
