NOTHING BUT 'NET

You could look it up (online)

Looking for a handy list of all Clear Channel Television stations? What about the name of the sales manager for WMC-TV in Memphis, Tenn.? The fax number for KOAT-TV in Albuquerque, N.M.?

Well, that information and a lot more is available for free in an easily searchable format on the Parrot Media Network Web site (<http://www.parrotmedia.com>).

A compiler of company and personnel directories for media planners, Burbank, Calif.-based Parrot Media has placed the crown jewels of its massive database on its Web site.

Its U.S. TV Station Directory allows you to search for stations and personnel by call letters, by market-size tier (Markets 1-10, 11-20, and so on), affiliates, station group owners and rep firms.

Using the search function, you could retrieve a list of every CBS affiliate in the nation. Each station in the list would be hotlinked. By clicking on the link, you'd then be shown a profile of that station, including its total U.S. household penetration, phone number, fax number, e-mail address, video formats supported, owner and key officials from the general manager to its satellite coordinator.

Parrot's site also maintains similar archives for the cable, radio and newspaper industries. #
