Preface

This North American Radio-TV Station Guide has been prepared from official FCC information. Every effort has been made to make it as complete, accurate, and easy to use as possible. All television, f-m, and a-m stations in the United States, as well as Canada, Cuba, Mexico, and the West Indies, are indexed by geographic location and call letters. A guide to the use of this book is included immediately following the table of contents and at the end of the book.

All stations currently on the air, plus those which have temporarily ceased operation and those which plan to start within the next year, are included in this book. Important statistics, such as frequency, power, and network affiliation are given for each station. By popular demand, the antenna height and power of f-m stations have been included in this edition. In addition, f-m stations broadcasting stereo, and a-m and f-m stations specializing in country and western music, are indicated. Thus, regardless of where you travel, by consulting this handy book you can select the stations providing the type of programming you desire.

The completely integrated alphabetical listing of all television, f-m, and a-m stations is an important feature of this book. It provides a comprehensive one-source reference to all commercial broadcast stations. In order to make the listings in this edition as complete as possible, changes have been inserted right up to press time.

NORTH AMERICAN RADIO-TV STATION GUIDE

by Vane A. Jones

This handy book contains listings for all the radio and television stations in the United States, Canada, Mexico, and the West Indies—over 8500 stations in all. The over 5100 a-m stations, over 2200 f-m stations, and over 1100 television stations presently in operation, scheduled to start operation soon, or temporarily off the air are each listed in three ways—by geographical location, frequency (or channel), and call letters.

This book is more than just a listing of stations, however. Important statistics such as power (day and night), antenna height, and sharing of time with other stations are given. Also listed are the type of programming and the network affiliation for each station. Educational stations are designated, as are f-m stations broadcasting stereo. Those stations specializing in country and western music are given.

Regardless of your interest in radio and television, this book is a must for you. If you are traveling, it will list the stations broadcasting your favorite network or programming in the area—or tell you what stations are in the city or state you are in. If you enjoy pulling in distant stations (DX'ing), this book will quickly help you identify each signal. For the radio and television technician, broadcast-station personnel, radio and television time buyer, and others engaged in broadcast activities, this book serves myriad uses. Each listing has been checked and rechecked, making this the most accurate and up-to-date guide available.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Vane A. Jones is engaged in many activities, but his first love is this book. Whenever possible, you will find him in his study, with a television set and two or three radios all operating at once. He can recite call letters and tell you the history of stations by the hour. He has prepared six previous editions—the first was published in 1958 as a result of his DX'ing activity. With each edition, his list of followers grows, because primarily of the personal attention he gives each entry and the hair-line accuracy and completeness for which he is famous. Mr. Jones is a member of the National Radio Club and the Newark News Radio Club.
