The Book you now hold in your hands is the culmination of many years of work by a dedicated group of radio lovers who are both computer buffs and experienced broadcasters. Almost everyone who has worked on this project has been, at one time or another, an integral part of some station, somewhere; most have years of broadcasting behind them, or still before them.

In 1987, I was a subscriber to The M Street Journal, a small weekly summary of FCC actions and format information, published for about three years by Geov Parrish, a sometime announcer, PD, and writer on radio. However, it consumed too much of his time, and began to drain resources away from other projects; so publication ceased. One thing led to another, and somehow, by paying off some of the accumulated debts, and assuming many new ones (!), publishing resumed and I came to control the destiny of the company.

Fortunately, a new editor came with it: Robert Unmacht, who not only had worked at a number of stations over the years, but had even owned one. Who could better decipher the mass of paper generated by the FCC, and know which questions to ask? One of his partners in the radio ownership game, David Brazier, was able to rent for us a new computer, with tremendous storage capacity, and we were off in developing a master data base of radio in the US and Canada. This book is a physical manifestation of the work of Robert, Geov, David, John Sally, and W. T. Koltek, and some 80 megabytes of material; in all, much more work and expense than we ever imagined.

As a book prepared by broadcasters for broadcasters, the product of all our work contains more useful, usable and affordable information than any other source. This is the basic information we feel a station owner, engineer, manager, DJ, time buyer, etc. -- anyone who cares about radio-- can use to find out what's happening in the business today.

The data within is part of a much larger database that has been compiled and refined over the past five years. We have selected for inclusion in this book the most frequently requested items. Customized packages of station data are available through our Alexandria office; call (703) 684-3622 or write to P.O.Box 3568, Alexandria, VA 22302 for details.

Radio, of course, changes constantly. As with any set of data this large and volatile, some errors are inevitable; we've tried to make this compilation as accurate as humanly possible, and it's an ongoing process. If you should notice information that is incorrect or missing, please pass the corrections along so that the next edition will be even more accurate.

METHODOLOGY

The revenue share/audience share ratios for approximately 500 stations included herein represent the 1987 revenue share per the NATIONAL COMPOSITE RADIO REVENUE REPORT prepared for the station's specific market by Miller, Kaplan, Arase & Co. divided by the mean 12+ average quarter hour audience share for Summer, 1986 through Spring, 1987 per ARBITRON divided by 1.1 since an average of 90% of a given market's total revenue is reported to Miller, Kaplan, Arase & Co. by those stations collectively comprising the market revenue reporting cooperative. The same methodology applies to prior year figures.

MILLER, KAPLAN, ARASE & CO. is a Los Angeles based public accounting firm specializing in broadcast financial advisory and tax services. In addition to the performance of certified financial/operational audits, the Firm assists broadcasters in obtaining financing, consults on acquisition opportunities and allocates station purchase prices.

Approximately 700 stations in 60 markets nationwide participate in the NATIONAL COMPOSITE RADIO REVENUE REPORT.

The M Street Radio Directory

We are privileged to include ratings by both major organizations who do audience surveys: Arbitron Ratings Company, a division of Control Data (Arbitron), and Birch/Scarborough Research (Birch).

Estimates of market shares labeled Arbitron are:

Copyright 1988, Arbitron Ratings Company. Estimates may not be quoted or reproduced without prior written permission of Arbitron Ratings Company.

Estimates of market shares labeled Birch are:

Copyright 1988, Birch Research Corp. Estimates may not be quoted or reproduced without Birch Research Corp.'s prior written permission.

What do ratings mean? Depends who you ask, and how you phrase the question. Those little numbers appended to many of the listings in the body of this book can tell a lot, or mystify. They are both fascinating and innately misleading. Ratings can provide useful information if they are properly interpreted and their shortcomings recognized.

The figures we show are taken from the Spring 1988 ratings period. Ratings are not shown for stations that received less than a .1 share or stations who have changed their format since the Spring 1988 rating period. The figures shown are full week (Monday to Sunday) average quarter hour shares for all persons over 12 years of age for the Metro Survey Area. Many stations do much better or worse in particular dayparts (e.g., mornings), and for different types of audiences. These more specific figures aren't included, because of their volume, and because the ratings companies would have little to sell if we published them. Our inclusion of such data from Birch and Arbitron is based partially on their hopes that persons needing fully detailed information will subscribe to their services.

We have attempted to include all the markets they survey, and have succeeded to a great extent, but because of the lack of uniformity of survey areas, in some cases we've had to drop one survey or the other. Arbitron, for instance, considers Roanoke/Lynchburg VA to be one market, while Birch divides it into two separate markets. Which is right? Both, actually. It all depends what you're looking for. National advertisers and Ad agencies probably prefer to look at them as single market; salespeople for a Roanoke station, and advertisers catering only to the Roanoke market rightfully have no interest in what the station "does" in Lynchburg.

ABOUT RATINGS

Some markets are ignored by ratings companies. Markets are surveyed only if someone is willing to pay for it. Some rather large towns and cities are not rated because there are no buyers. For example, Paducah KY is not rated, nor is the Columbus-Tupelo MS market. Similarly, Aberdeen WA, which was once a rated market, is no longer one.

To define potential radio markets in the US, we have designated over 400 market areas where stations generally serve the same audience and compete with each other. As with any such listing, there will be stations which are not included that should be, and some are shown that don't reach the area at all. With over 11,400 stations, we could not visit them all to determine their coverage areas and marketing thrusts. We did, however, attempt to make our perceptions of markets coincide as closely as possible with that of the ratings companies and the stations. If your station needs to be added to or deleted from a particular market, please let us know.

To help you get the most information from the station listings please read through this guide. The column on the left shows a sample of what is being described in the righthand column.

Please examine the samples at the left.

The listings are arranged in lines. We use six different types of lines always in the same order:

City
Call Letters
Frequency
Address
Applications & Permits
Market Information

Cheyenne

KFBC 1000/1000w ND

City of License is followed by the stations in frequency order. AM stations first then FM stations.

Call letters are followed by Power/Facility:
For AM stations the day power is listed first and the night power second (i.e. 5000/250w). Next is the AM antenna configuration:

ND-D non-directional day
DA-D directional days
DA-1 same directional pattern day and night
DA-2 different directional patterns day and night
= station shares time with another station

KYCN-FM 3000w 126 ft

FM stations list their effective radiated power followed by the antenna height above average terrain. FM stations whose ERP or HAAT is different for horizontal and vertical polarizations list the figures as (h) and (v). "DA" means directional antenna.

Format codes follow the power/facility in square brackets. Please see the section FORMAT CODES for a complete explanation of our format classifications and their codes.

KSHY 1000w ND-D [RL] 6s 8f 8l

The last items on the Call Letter line are the change codes. The last digit of the year of the change is followed by a code for the type of change:

- c call letter change
- f frequency change
- l city of license change
- n new station on air
- s station sale

1240 Capitol Radio, Inc. 307-634-4461

The frequency line includes the licensed owner of the station and the station's business office phone number. If we do not have a phone number the area code is given. A "+" preceding the owner indicates the company (not necessarily under the same name) has interest in stations in other markets.

Addresses up to two are shown . The city and state are assumed to be the city and state of license unless otherwise listed.

Any AM or FM affiliate in the same market is shown in square brackets following the station addresses.

The Applications & Permits line if any shows applications not yet accepted or rejected and construction permits not yet on air. Listings correspond to the facilities descriptions above.

The last possible line in a station listing is the Market Information. The primary market area served is followed by any ratings (see ABOUT RATINGS) and any secondary market .

SOME STATIC ON RADIO HISTORY

1095

• Guglielmo Marconi, 21, and his brother Alfonso transmitted radio signals across the hills behind their father's home in Bologna, Italy. Failing to interest the Italian government in his invention, Marconi took it to England, where customs agents mangled the suspicious "black box" of batteries, wires, and dials. The British navy quickly saw the maritime potential of the device, however, and within two years the Italian had established Marconi's Wireless Telegraph Company.

1906

Christmas Eve From Brant Rock, Mass., Reginald Aubrey Fessenden broadcast the first radio program, in which he played the violin, delivered a short speech, quoted the Bible, and played a phonograph recording. The broadcast was picked up by ships within a 5-mi. radius of the station. Because of favorable atmospheric conditions, Fessenden's second program, transmitted on New Year's Eve, reached listeners as far away as the West Indies.

1912

Apr. 14 David Sarnoff, 21, a telegraph operator, intercepted the first distress signals from the doomed ship Titanic. On the job for 72 straight hours, he kept the world posted on rescue attempts and the names of survivors. When it was over, the name Sarnoff was a household word.

1916

Nov. Radio pioneer Lee De Forest broadcast the national election returns. Along with many other reporters that year, he erroneously proclaimed Charles Evans Hughes the winner of the presidency over Woodrow Wilson.

• David Sarnoff, employed as contracts manager at the Marconi Company, sent a memo to his boss: "I have in mind a plan of development which would make radio a household utility in the same sense as the piano or phonograph. . . . The receiver can be designed in the form of a simple 'Radio Music Box' . . . [which] can be placed in the parlor or living room. . . ."

Oct. 17 Radio Corporation of America—RCA—was formed.

1920

Jan. Vocalist Vaughn de Leath belted out a Stephen Foster number from De Forest's studio to become the "First Lady of radio." In the next few years, she perfected a new style of song called "crooning." Although a natural soprano, she was forced to sing in a lower register because high notes kept blowing out early radio's fragile transmitters.

Nov. 2 Radio was becoming bigtime. KDKA, Pittsburgh, broadcast the presidential election returns, when Warren G. Harding defeated James Cox, and set off what historian Erik Barnouw describes as "a national mania." The Commerce Dept. was deluged with applications for broadcast licenses. Newspapers instituted radio columns and program listings. All over the country, people rushed to buy radio sets or made their own—primitive crystal sets with the "cat's whisker" which magically brought voices and music into the headset. "Radio nuts" stayed up until all hours trying to bring in distant stations.

July 2 An estimated 300,000 people huddled around radios in the eastern part of the U.S. to hear Jack Dempsey knock out Georges Carpentier in the fourth round at Jersey City, N.J. Oct. WJZ, Newark, broadcast the World Series, as the New York Giants beat the New York Yankees five games to three.

1922

Feb. Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover called the Washington Radio Conference to straighten out the chaos of stations broadcasting on the same wavelength. Concerning advertising on radio, Hoover said, "It is inconceivable that we should allow so great a possibility for service to be drowned in advertising chatter."

Aug. 28 WEAJ, New York, broadcast its first income-producing program, a 10-minute message promoting the sale of apartments in Jackson Heights.

Oct. 16 Nineteen years before Pearl Harbor, former Navy Secretary Josephus Daniels predicted flatly, "Nobody now fears that a Japanese fleet could deal an unexpected blow on our Pacific possessions. . . . Radio makes surprise impossible."

Nov. An estimated 25 million people across the nation heard the clipped tones of President Coolidge's election eve address.

• Americans spent $358 million on radio sets and parts, six times the figure of two years before.

Feb. David Sarnoff, now an executive of RCA, dashed off another memo: "Put all stations of all parties into a broadcasting company which can be made self-supporting and probably revenue-producing, the telephone company to furnish wires as needed."

Nov. 28 Nashville's Grand Ole Opry debuted.

Nov. 15 NBC began broadcasting with a program from the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf Astoria.

• Uncle Don (Carnoy) debuted over WOR, Newark, with his bedtime stories. He spent the rest of his long career denying the story which made him famous—that one night, after signing off and assuming the mike dead, he said, “There! I guess that’ll hold the little bastards for another night.”

• Sales of radio sets and parts topped half a billion dollars.

Jan. Congress passed the Radio Act, which provided for the licensing of stations “in the public interest, convenience or necessity” and for the establishment of a supervisory body, the Federal Radio Commission (later to become the Federal Communications Commission).

Sept. 18 The Columbia Phonograph Broadcasting System, forerunner of CBS, transmitted its first program, featuring Howard Barlow and a concert orchestra playing “Tales from the Vienna Woods.”

• The National Association of Broadcasters issued a code of ethics. One of its provisions banned commercials between 7:00 and 11:00 P.M.

Sept. William S. Paley became president of the founding CBS, and things started looking up.

• This year the men who introduced the programs—the announcers—began to become celebrities on their own. There were Graham McNamee, Phillips Carlin, Ted Husing, Milton Cross, Niles T. Granlund (who identified himself on the air as NTC), Norman Brokenshire, and Jimmy Wallington. These voices sent imaginations soaring, and they seemed to be everywhere on the airwaves.

Aug. 19 Amos 'n' Andy went on NBC for Popodot. Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll had first put together a blackface act while working minstrel shows and revues. During the summer of 1925, they began broadcasting weekly as Sam 'n' Henry from Chicago's Edgewater Beach Hotel, which gave them free dinners for their efforts. Eventually, WGN signed them for a daily Sam 'n' Henry show. After a two-year run, they moved to WMAQ, but since WGN owned the Sam 'n' Henry name, they became Amos 'n' Andy, radio's first big hit. Although most of their material—which they wrote themselves—sounds stereotyped today, such lines as “I‘so regusted” and “Ain’t dat sumpin?” were popular catch-phrases of the 1930s.

Oct. 24 With a “Heigh-ho, everybody” and a “My Time Is Your Time,” Rudy Vallee went on NBC in radio’s first variety hour. Although he presented many well-known performers, Vallee cultivated new talent, including such future stars as Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Bob Burns, Alice Faye, Frances Langford, and Joe Penner. Both The Aldrich Family and We, the People were spun off into regular programs from spots on the Vallee show.

Nov. 20 A more modest effort, The Goldbergs, premiered. Instead of big-name stars, it featured a warm Jewish family, presided over by Mama Molly (Gertrude Berg, the show’s writer, producer, and star). The Goldbergs later made the transition to-TV.

• The Mormon Tabernacle Choir made its first broadcast from Salt Lake City. Still going strong more than 2,500 performances later, it is network radio’s longest-running program.

• A 26-year-old former cemetery plot salesman, billed as “Red [Arthur] Godfrey, the Warbling Banjoist,” sang into the mike for the first time.

• Archibald Crossley was asked by the Association of National Advertisers to organize the first national rating service. The Crossley rating soon became an important factor in program decisions. Based on telephone calls, the ratings reflected only a small portion of the listening population.

This service was supplanted in 1935 by the Hooper ratings, which were considered superior because they were based on what listeners said they were actually listening to, whereas the Crossley ratings had relied on memory—what listeners recalled from the night before.

Sept. 30 Lowell Thomas made his first network newscast.

• Singing cowboy Gene Autry signed on with WJJD, Chicago, doing 12 programs a week—six in the morning and six in the afternoon—for $50.

1931

Jan. 4 Father Charles Coughlin, a radio commentator since 1928, asked his listeners whether CBS should be permitted to muzzle him after that network had demanded advance copies of his increasingly political, sometimes anti-Semitic "sermons." Although more than a million pro-Coughlin letters inundated his studio at the Shrine of the Little Flower at Royal Oak, Mich., CBS executives pulled the priest's plug anyway. Coughlin set up his own network, and in 1934 a national poll named him the second most popular man in the U.S.—topped only by President Roosevelt. By 1940, however, he had drifted so far to the right that his program was forced off the air by his ecclesiastical superiors. He continued to expound his political views from the pulpit until his retirement in 1966.

• A succession of hit shows and personalities were introduced this year. Eddie Cantor, who had made his debut on Rudy Vallee's Fleischmann Hour, went on the air with The Chase & Sanborn Hour. Bing Crosby started up on CBS for 15 minutes every evening. Other new popular shows: Lum and Abner, Easy Aces, The March of Time, and Little Orphan Annie.

1932

Apr. 29 One Man's Family began its 28-year run, the cast surviving virtually intact until 1960. Page Gilman, who played Jack Barbour, was a boy of 14 when the show began, a man of 42 when it ended. Some long-running actors actually confused their real-life behavior with their on-the-air personalities; and sometimes, when their radio misadventures seemed uncomfortably close to what was actually going on in their lives, they would accuse writer Carlton Morse of being psychic.

• Scores of comics abandoned the sinking ship of vaudeville for the promise of radio, among them:

1. Ed Wynn, who, banned from Broadway for leading an actors' strike there in 1919, hit the airwaves as the Texaco Fire Chief, but only after studio executives agreed to his demand that the show be performed before a live audience. After less than a year on the air, he put up $250,000 of his own money to set up the Amalgamated Broadcast System to rival the two giants, NBC and CBS. Although he put six stations in business and lured 27 sponsors, the enterprise folded by the end of the decade.

2. Jack Benny, who in three years had radio's top-rated show. Later asked what gag got him the biggest laugh of all time, comedy's Mr. Cheapskate chose the following sketch: A mugger jumps Benny and orders, "Your money or your life." Dead silence on the air for 15 or 20 seconds. "Well," insists the thief, "what about it?" Benny replies, "I'm thinking, I'm thinking!"

3. Fred Allen, onetime juggler, whose caustic wit spared no one, not even broadcast executives. Although he carried on a make-believe "foud" with Jack Benny for years, his on-the-air zingers aimed at his superiors were heartfelt. Allen had no use for the split-second time restraints of radio and, as a result, his show frequently ran beyond its time slot. Thus, Allen fans often heard their favorite show cut off in mid-joke. Disgusted, Allen one night informed his listeners that the only solution to the problem was to put on a nice, dull show so that the laughs wouldn't take up so much air time. Then, he said, "all the emaciated radio executives can dance around their desks in interoffice abandon." "Our program," he complained in his distinctive nasal twang, "has been cut off so many times that the last page of the script is a Band-Aid."

4. Georgia Burns and Gracie Allen, husband-and-wife team who started out in vaudeville with Gracie playing straight to George until they found out they got more laughs the other way around. A running gag which became the trademark of their popular show was Gracie's perennial search for her lost brother. One day her real-life brother sent her a wire: "Have gone into hiding. Can't you make a living any other way?"

• Also on this year was Vic and Sade, the classic of the soap operas, whose loyal fans still gather to listen to the old transcriptions. The Maxwell House Show Boat previewed in 1932 and rapidly became the most popular variety show on radio. The show boat was so realistically presented that 500 people went to meet it at the pier in Cleveland.

1933

• Al Jolson picked up $200,000 for 40 weeks' work on the Kraft Music Hall, which debuted this season. Ironically, his guaranteed showstopper number was that depression favorite "Brother, Can You Spare a Dime?"

Mar. 4 The inauguration of Pres. Franklin D. Roosevelt was broadcast worldwide; the sound of sleet striking the microphone could be heard as he proclaimed, "Let me assert my firm belief that the only thing we have to fear is fear itself." On Mar. 12, he adopted a quieter approach in the first of his "Fireside Chats."

July 24 The Romance of Helen Trent first went on the air in Chicago. It was the forerunner of many daily, 15-minute soap operas. The program lasted until June 24, 1960. During its 27-year run, three actresses played Helen—Virginia Clark and Betty Ruth Smith in Chicago, and later Julie Stavens in New York. Helen was melodramatic even by soap opera standards. So intense was its following that at the height of its popularity Helen (not the actresses who played her) received 1,000 letters a week offering advice on her many problems.

- As unemployment climbed to 24.9%, people relied more and more upon radio's "free" entertainment. Debuts this year included The Lone Ranger, Ma Perkins, The Breakfast Club, Jack Pearl, the All-American Boy, and The Jack Pearl Show, an overnight sensation.

Like Amos 'n' Andy's "I'se regusted," Jack Pearl's "Vas you dere, Sharlie?" became a national catch-phrase. Over the years, radio would popularize similar slogans: "Wanna buy a duck?" (Joe Penner); "Tain't funny, McGeel" (Molly McGee); "That's right, you're wrong!" (Kay Kyser); and "I dood it" (Red Skelton).

1934

- Radio's first incentive contract went to Eddie Cantor, who picked up an extra $200 for every point over 20 his show scored on the Crossley ratings.

- Greta Garbo, virtually the only film star of the period to refuse to appear on radio, turned down an offer of $25,000 for a single guest shot.

- The leading network, NBC-Rad, had not a single daily news series. NBC-Blue had only Lowell Thomas. Boake Carter broadcast for CBS, as did Edwin C. Hill, with occasional non-sponsored comments from H. V. Kaltenborn and others, always in "off" or unimportant time periods.

Most sponsors did not want news programs, despite the fact that news bulletins were available to local stations (for a fee, of course) from Associated Press, United Press, and Independent News Service.

They were not, however, available to the networks. Thus the networks had to gather their own news. This effort was pioneered by A. A. "Abe" Schechter of NBC, originally hired as a publicity writer. CBS competed by hiring Paul W. White, a former UP editor, to set up its news organization.

Amazingly, when CBS news analyst H. V. (Hans von) Kaltenborn went to Spain to report on the Spanish Civil War, he paid all his own expenses. The 58-year-old Kaltenborn gave two unsponsored newscasts a week—at $50 each—during "off" time slots. He had been with CBS for six years, but he had never been considered a good commercial investment.

Not too many years later, however, Walter Winchell reported weekly earnings above $5,000. Though Winchell broke many important news stories, his program—with his distinctive rapid-fire delivery—concentrated mainly on personalities and gossip. During his famous opening—"Good evening, Mr. and Mrs. North, and South America and all the ships and clippers at sea, let's go to press—FLASH!"—he kept up a fierce tapping of telegraph keys, which lent drama and momentum to his 15-minute Jergens Journal.

By the end of 1934, however, several potential sponsors began to express interest in sponsoring news broadcasts.

There was talk of a four-time-a-day news program to be called the Esso Reporter. UP and INS began to sell their news to both radio stations and to the networks, and soon AP followed suit. News broadcasting grew. As Hitler mobilized and Mussolini threatened, the networks stepped up their news-gathering facilities. Half-reluctantly, they grew into news media.

Oct. Louella Parsons, pioneer movie columnist for the Hearst chain, persuaded stars to appear free on her new radio interview show, Hollywood Hotel, until the Radio Guild stepped in four years later to ban gratis performances.

Lux Radio Theatre premiered this month, too, from New York, only to move two years later to Hollywood, where Cecil B. de Mille produced and hosted the show.

1935

- Fibber McGee and Molly made its NBC debut. Unlikely candidates for stardom, the two small-time vaudevillians from Peoria who played Fibber and Molly (Jim and Marian Jordan) had knocked around the B-circuit for years, often returning to their hometown in between gigs to take on a variety of odd jobs. Eventually, they drifted into Chicago radio, where in 1931 they met Don Quinn, who created the characters which made them famous.

- A couple of more serious efforts also debuted this year—the prestigious Cavalcade of America and the spooky Lights Out.

- G-man Melvin Purvis raised eyebrows when, during the course of a radio interview, he let out a loud belch. The program's sponsor, Fleischmann's Yeast, was not amused.

- No other program on the air ran as long with so many complete changes of format, character, and personnel as Your Hit Parade. It began in April, 1935, and ended in April, 1959. America's Saturday night mania during its heyday, the early 1940s, was to discover which song was Number One on the Hit Parade, and wagers were often made on the outcome.

The furious chanting of former tobacco auctioneers L. A. "Speed" Riggs and F. E. Boone opened the program, while maestro Lennie Hayton, the Hit Paraders, and the Lucky Strike Orchestra played the week's top 15 tunes. During its time on the air, the show went through more than a dozen top orchestra leaders and many singers. The leaders included Al Goodman, Peter Van Steeden, Ray Sinatra, Carl Hoff, Abe Lyman, Freddie Rich, Harry Salter, Harry Sosnick, Richard Himbor, Leo Reisman, Scott Quintet, Mark Warnow, and Alex Stordahl. The singers included Frank Sinatra, Lawrence Tibbett, Dick Todd, Johnny Mercer, Dinah Shore, Ginny Simms, Martha Tilton, Doris Day, Dick Haymes, Andy Russell, and Eileen Wilson. Your Hit Parade later made a successful transition to TV.

1936

- Radio was used extensively in the presidential campaign. The Republicans even retained an advertising agency to fashion their pitches. Still, old pro FDR, who held off, delivering only "nonpolitical" speeches until nearly the end, swamped Alf Landon.

1937

- Edward R. Murrow had joined CBS in 1935 as "director of talks" after journalist Raymond Swing turned down the job. As all signs pointed to escalating war in Europe, CBS felt it should have a European director of news, and the position went to Murrow in 1937. At first the work included covering cultural events as well as newscasts, but as the war momentum increased, Murrow concentrated on the news. Listeners also heard reports from William L. Shirer in London, Edger Ansel Mowrer in Paris, Pierre Huss in Berlin, Frank Gervasi in Rome, and Robert Trout in New York.

The status of the radio news commentator suddenly gained new importance. General Mills decided to sponsor H. V. Kaltenborn, and Raymond Swing got sponsorship from White Owl cigars.

Kaltenborn, known for his ability to ad-lib, became a celebrity. News chief A. A. Schechter said of HVK: "You could wake Kaltenborn up at four o'clock in the morning and just say 'Czechoslovakia'—one word—and he'd talk for thirty minutes on Czechoslovakia."

This was an important asset. During the early days of radio news, the ability to keep your listener enthralled with reports and descriptions of the day's news—often without any written script or backup material—was a vital factor in holding an audience.

- Our Gal Sunday and Stella Dallas premiered, Mayor Fiorello La Guardia read the funnies over WNYC during the New York newspaper strike, and Mae West shocked the nation with a suggestive rendition of the biblical story of Adam and Eve.

May 6 Herb Morrison of WLS, Chicago, showed up at Lakehurst, N.J., to cover the landing of the Hindenburg. As he began to describe the huge German dirigible slowly descending toward its mooring, it suddenly burst into flames. Morrison relayed the following highly emotional broadcast, considered one of the most moving in radio history: "It's burst into flames! Get this, Charlie! Get this, Charlie! It's crashing! Terrible! Oh, my! Get out of the way, please. It's burning—bursting into flames! It's falling on the mooring mast and . . . the folks . . . oh, this is terrible! Oh, four or five hundred feet into the sky. It's a terrible catastrophe, ladies and gentlemen. It's just smoke and flames now and the plane is crashing to the ground, not quite to the mooring mast . . . Oh, the humanity. . . ." (He was crying audibly by this point.)

May 9 Ventriloquism was considered an impossible act for radio until Edgar Bergen and his dummy Charlie McCarthy proved otherwise. They were a sensation when they went on the air. Much of the credit went to the ongoing feud between W. C. Fields (a regular on the show, together with Don Ameche and Dorothy Lamour) and Charlie. One of the memorable lines from the classic feud was Charlie's "Pink elephants take aspirin to get rid of W. C. Fields."

1938

Sept. 1 H. V. Kaltenborn was on the air almost constantly for 18 days, broadcasting news of the Munich crisis in at least 85 special broadcasts, some lasting as long as two hours.

Sept. 27, Bob Hope's Pepsodent Show debuted on NBC in the slot following Fibber McGee and Molly. It was actually the comedian's fourth attempt at radio. He had appeared briefly in The Intimate Revue, with James Melton and Jane Froman; Atlantic Family, with Red Nichols's orchestra; and Rippling Rhythm Revue, with Shop Fields's orchestra. Although his Pepsodent show was an instant hit. It was the GI audiences of W.W. II that made him a truly international figure, friend of presidents Roosevelt through Ford.

- This was also the year of Information Please, Life Can Be Beautiful, and Orson Welles's Mercury Theatre on the Air, which, a month after Munich, scared thousands of people with its version of H. G. Wells's War of the Worlds.

1939

- Between 1939 and 1949 Milton Berle tried radio six times, but The Milton Berle Show was one of radio's notable failures. When he finally gave up and tried TV, he was an instant success, proving that some comedians have to be seen as well as heard.

Sept. 1 Again H. V. Kaltenborn was on hand, this time to tell his CBS listeners of the beginning of a real "War of the Worlds," as Hitler prepared to invade Poland. At the end of the long morning's broadcast, an announcer said, "We should like to express our appreciation again at this time to the makers of Oxydol, sponsors of The Goldbergs; the makers of Ivory Soap, sponsors of Life Can Be Beautiful; the makers of Chipso, sponsors of Road of Life. . . ."

1940

- By midyear, some 20 overseas pickups daily brought news of the war in Europe to Americans. In his Christmas Eve broadcast from London, Ed Murrow reported, "The blackout stretches from Birmingham to Bethlehem. . . ."
- The major political parties spent $2.5 million on radio during the Roosevelt-Wendell Willkie campaign. On Dec. 29, in a Fireside Chat, FDR announced Lend-Lease. The U.S. loaned beleaguered Britain 50 overage warships in exchange for 99-year leases on eight military bases in Newfoundland and the West Indies.
- New programs of the year ran to game shows: Truth or Consequences, which spilled over into TV, where it continued until 1976; The Quiz Kids, a juvenile Information, Please; and Take It or Leave It, noteworthy only because its top prize of $64 inspired TV's rigged version, The $64,000 Question.

1941

Dec. 8 As FDR addressed Congress the day after Pearl Harbor, 79% of all homes in the U.S. were tuned in.

1942

- GIs in Kodiak, Alaska, built a low-powered radio station for their own amusement and then wrote Hollywood stars asking them to record messages for them. Thus grew Armed Forces Radio Service, which by year's end boasted 306 stations in 47 countries. Outlets received weekly prerecorded programming by plane plus news and special events by shortwave.
- Discjockeys stopped playing listener requests after the War Dept. pointed out that enemy agents might use the format as a code to pass military information on to superiors.

1943

Oct. 12 The Blue Network, which had been NBC-Blue, became the American Broadcasting Company—ABC.

1944

Apr. Coverage of the Allied invasion of Europe bumped all scheduled programs off the air.

- When Groucho Marx and Bob Hope teamed up for a radio special this year, it promised loads of laughs. But as the two comics bantered back and forth in scripted dialogue, the audience sat mum. Flop sweat soon inundated both performers, and Hope nervously dropped his script under the table. Groucho quickly stomped on the strewn pages, forcing Hope to join him in ad-libbing the rest of the program. What followed was a hilarious blend of Hope-Marx wit, which saved the show. Especially tickled that night was a young producer in the audience named John Guedel, who stopped laughing long enough to ask Groucho backstage if he might be interested in hosting a new game show then in the works—called You Bet Your Life. Guedel finally persuaded Groucho to give it a try, and the show aired on Oct. 27, 1947. The popular quiz program later moved to television.

1946

Oct. 20 Through the letters column of the Chicago Tribune, Lee De Forest upbraided the members of the National Association of Broadcasters: "What have you gentlemen done with my child?"—and then went on to bemoan the proliferation of commercials.

1947

May Counterattack: The Newsletter of Facts on Communism began publication. From this eventually came Red Channels, a handy guide designed to keep radio sponsors posted on the latest "Commies" infiltrating the industry. Many performers, writers, and directors thus suspected of left-wing leanings were blacklisted for years; others so branded were drummed out of the business for good.

1948

- Jack Benny started an exodus of NBC stars to CBS on "capital gains deals," by which performers drew tax breaks by becoming corporations. Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Amos 'n' Andy, Red Skelton, and Burns and Allen all made the switch. With the great star raid, CBS for the first time replaced NBC as the dominant network.

Fall Stop the Music, a quiz show, came on the air doling out an unprecedented $165,000 a week in prizes. Suddenly ousted from his number-one spot in the ratings by the great giveaway, Fred Allen offered his listeners an insurance policy—compensation to anyone called by the game show while listening to Allen.

1949

July 7 Dragnet premiered. Soon its DUM-DE-DUM-DUM theme and its clipped dialogue ("Just the facts, ma'am") entered the American vernacular.

1950

Nov. 5. The Big Show went on NBC. Emceed by Tallulah Bankhead and featuring top stars, it has been called "the last gasp of bigtime radio."

1952

Apr. 26 Gunsmoke joined the CBS lineup. Starring William Conrad as Marshal Matt Dillon, it would never enjoy the popularity of its TV counterpart, but it managed to survive on radio until mid-1961.

- "Radio is dead," said Robert Sarnoff, son of David and now president of NBC.

Fall Monitor premiered on NBC. A weekend melange of news, features, interviews, and even recordings of old radio shows, it ran through 1974.

1959

- Despite the dismal prognostications of the Junior Sarnoff, 21 million radios were sold this year.

- With the national radio networks concentrating on news and special events, local stations specialized. Some went to all-music formats, offering specifically top 40, country and western, jazz, classical, or easy listening. Others adopted all-news, talk-personality, or two-way-talk programming.

By the late 1960s, 200 stations were catering to black audiences, but only 10 of the approximately 7,000 stations on the air were owned by blacks.

- The FCC approved stereo FM.

1968

- CBS began broadcasting six minutes of news on the hour, supplemented by short features such as Spectrum, Science Editor, The Cronkite Report, and spots on medicine, the law, show business, Wall Street, and pets and wildlife.
- There were 275 million radios in the U.S.—136.1 for every 100 people.

- The FCC upheld the right of radio stations to reject antiwar advertisements.

1971

- A record $12.4 billion was received by radio networks for cigarette ads.

1973

July 2 The National Black Network, the nation's first radio news network owned and operated by blacks, began operation in New York with hourly broadcasts to 40 affiliates.

1974

Jan. 6 In an attempt to revolve some of the glory of old-time radio, CBS launched The CBS Radio Mystery Theatre. With E. G. Marshall as host and casts of radio veterans, it airs nightly—reportedly over the objections of some station managers unwilling to upset their all-news or all-music formats.

1975

- National Public Radio broadcast the first successful stereo transmission via satellite. The program originated in Valley Forge, Pa., and was bounced off the satellite to the NPR's station in Washington, D.C.

1976

May 14 Lowell Thomas signed off his final news broadcast.

1977

Feb. 5 CBS served up another bit of radio nostalgia with the weekend premiere of The CBS Radio Adventure Theatre, hosted by Tom Bosley of Happy Days. Still, the networks continued to concentrate on hard news and background features, leaving situation comedies, variety shows, and similar fare to TV. ABC boasted four news networks—the Information Network, the Entertainment Network, the Contemporary Network, and the FM Network—each slanted to different specialty stations.

• Meanwhile, Citizens Band—CB—Radio became a national craze. Established by the FCC in 1958, Citizens Radio Service got off to a slow start. It took 16 years for the FCC to receive the first million license applications. Within eight months in 1975, it received its second million, and by year's end the third million was in.

More than 12 million CB radios competed for air time, and CB jargon became almost as all-pervasive as "I'm rogued" was 50 years before. Possibly more important, radio was returned to the people. The "radio nut" who had stayed up half the night trying to bring in faraway stations was now the CDer talking to a friendly trucker.

THE M STREET JOURNAL

SAVE $ 2000.00 PER YEAR? HERE'S HOW

If you now subscribe to, or have need for the data contained in the FCC Public Notices, you may be able to save hundreds of dollars each year by using the M STREET JOURNAL instead.

Each week, the JOURNAL summarizes the previous week's activity at the FCC, reducing each public notice to a single line, supplemented by our exclusive FORMAT CHANGES section. Thus there is no need to spend over $ 2,000 per year for largely useless data, when for less than $ 100 per year you can receive the same material, in a concise, edited form, pre-sorted by state and market.

We have hundreds of subscribers in the broadcast field, and our paid renewal rate is reportedly the highest in the industry, confirming our usefulness.

You can try us for only $ 30 for a three-month trial subscription, or subscribe for a full year and get the next issue of the RADIO ANNUAL as part of the subscription price.

M STREET also provides other services, including:

- Mailing labels
- Special data reports
- Monitoring Services (air checks)
- Notification services

Please call to discuss your needs. 703 684 3622

THE M STREET JOURNAL

The next pages reproduce exactly a recent M STREET JOURNAL, in fact the last issue before this book went to press. Consider it your free sample issue.
