The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers

575 Madison Avenue, New York 22, N. Y.

The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers presents this booklet listing songs, composed and written by its members during the past forty years, which have become hit tunes through popular acceptance. In the final analysis, it is always the public which makes the song hit — whether it is introduced on radio or television, in the theatre, on records or any other media. The Society has compiled this booklet from the many thousands of titles in its large and varied repertory, to meet requests from radio and TV program directors, theatre managers and producers, writers and editors, advertising agencies and students.

The songs which a nation plays and sings are reflections of that country's social history. "40 Years of Hit Tunes" mirrors many themes of America's past and present — in war times, in prosperity and depression, in times of stress, in times of peace. There is one theme, however, which never changes: Boy loves girl, girl loves boy.

In selecting these songs, objective criteria were used. Various lists and surveys were correlated with ASCAP's own records of performances of the works of its members. The songs listed, of course, represent only a small segment of the Society's repertory, which contains the finest music written by American writers of both popular and standard works. The composers and authors of ASCAP are proud of this ever-growing repertory of musical Americana.
