THE PURPOSE OF THIS DIRECTORY

is to provide facts about newspapers and periodicals, and authoritative information concerning the states, cities, towns and marketing areas in which these publications are issued and circulate.

This volume is the recognized key to every kind of publication issued in the United States and Canada. It is widely used as the basic authority by people in business, industry, education, agriculture, religion, government and advertising.

Please read the pages immediately following to be sure your use of this Directory will be efficient and satisfactory.

A GUIDE TO THE USE OF THE DIRECTORY

For the benefit of new subscribers and for a better understanding by all users of this book, a few paragraphs follow that should clarify the terms that must of necessity be abbreviated, make evident the method used in compiling it, and explain the absence of material that might well be included in its pages if space permitted. For ease in reference the material is grouped under self-explanatory alphabetized headings. All population figures for the U. S. are from the 1950 Census tabulations.

ALPHABETICAL ARRANGEMENT OF PUBLICATIONS In each city and town newspapers are listed in alphabetical order by their distinctive names. The word "The," if used, appears after the name. "Morning," "Evening," "Weekly," or other words indicating the period of issue, are not given in the title, nor is the name of the city or town in which the paper circulates. Thus, the "Chicago Evening News" is listed under Chicago as "News." When the title pertains to a state or county, however, the name of the section is included, examples being, "Oregon Journal" in Portland, Oregon; "Ventura County News" in Ventura, California. Occasionally, too, the name of a city is retained to distinguish a paper from another of similar title. It is our intention to list newspapers in the town in which they circulate chiefly. For this reason the address of the publisher may in a few instances differ from the town in which the paper is listed.

BRACKETS When two or more papers in a town or city are under the same management or regularly sell space in combination, they are bracketed in the DIRECTORY. As examples, see the News and the Post-Herald in Birmingham, Alabama; the News and the Times in Cumberland, Maryland.

CIRCULATIONS All circulation statements obtained from the publishers are for the latest date possible, i.e., they represent an average circulation for six months preceding the compilation of the DIRECTORY in which they appear.

By an average paid circulation is meant, as is clearly expressed on all forms and questionnaires: the average net paid circulation per issue (after deducting all left-over, unsold, returned, file, sample, exchange, or advertisers' copies, and special editions) for six preceding months.

Circulations that are controlled or free are so indicated. These also represent a six months' average, exclusive of left-over, unsold, file, sample, exchange and advertisers' copies.

In the list of daily newspapers in the back of the book, it is possible to include circulation figures that arrive too late for incorporation in the catalog pages. Reference to this fact is made in the catalog just preceding each state's list of towns and cities. Variation is also found between the catalog and other of the classified lists because of the later printing of the latter which allows inclusion in them of last-minute changes.

Circulations given in this DIRECTORY are divided into seven classes: A.B.C. Audits; A.B.C. Statements; P. O. Statements; C.C.A. Audits; Sworn Statements; Publishers' Statements; Estimated figures. Under the following italicized headings brief explanations are given.

A. B. C. Statements and Audits Members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations are so designated by symbols preceding their circulation figures. Their Audits are indicated by (●); September 30 Statements by (★★); March 31 and June 30 Statements by (★). These are in bold face type, as that is our method in all cases of indicating sworn statements. Only the total net paid circulation figures are given. A few of these statements cover only a three-month period; the majority, however, are for a six-month period ending with the date indicated. Every circulation period covered by the figures shown in each case is in or during the year 1951.

Members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations are sometimes not designated as such in the DIRECTORY. This occurs only when a consolidation has taken place, invalidating the latest available statement, or when no up-to-date statement is made available by the Audit Bureau of Circulations, 165 West Wacker Drive, Chicago (1), Ill.

P. O. Statements Circulation figures given in the statement of ownership, management and circulation made by newspapers on October 1 of each year to the Post Office Department of the Federal Government are listed in the DIRECTORY in bold face type. They are called Post Office Statements and are indicated by the symbol (§).

C.C.A. Audits Circulation figures from Controlled Circulation Audits are preceded by (>) and are given in bold face type, showing that they are sworn statements, made for the Controlled Circulation Audit, Inc., 420 Lexington Ave., New York (17), N. Y.

Sworn and Publishers' Statements; Estimated Circulation Figures Figures furnished us by publishers fall into three classifications. First, those that are supported by affidavit are listed in bold face type as sworn statements. Secondly, those unsupported by affidavit are preceded by a double dagger (‡) and are called publishers' statements. Thirdly, those given to us, but lacking a signature are listed as estimated. In addition, those publications that have failed to reply are given estimated figures for one year, based on the statement for the preceding year. Estimated figures are accompanied by no symbol and are printed in light face type.

COUNTY SEATS Every town that is a County Seat is marked with a dagger (†) immediately after the name of the town.

MAP LOCATIONS Following the name of each town and city in the book there is, in parenthesis, a capital letter and figure. These come immediately before the population figures. This letter and figure indicate where that town appears on the map. Each map carries symbols along the edges. At top and bottom appear the letters, and along both sides appear the figures. The town will be found near to the point where a line drawn down from the given letter and another line drawn across from the given figure intersect

SPECIAL LISTS Consult the "Table of Contents" for location of all Special Groupings of publications such as "Daily newspapers, Weekly and Semi-weekly newspapers, Daily Periodicals, Labor and all other Trade or Technical or Industrial publications.

NO ADVERTISING Publications which are believed to decline general advertising are indicated in the DIRECTORY by the abbreviated form "No adv."

OMISSION OF CIRCULATIONS In some cases it becomes necessary to omit circulation figures. Cases in point are: when the information received is indefinite, contradictory, or otherwise unsatisfactory; when experience or reliable information creates a doubt as to the accuracy of the figures sent us; when more recent information indicates that statements made earlier in the year do not represent conditions at the time the DIRECTORY is issued; and when publishers themselves have requested the omission.

POSTAL ZONE NUMBERS In all of the larger cities and towns where the postal authorities have requested the use of postal zone numbers, we show the correct postal zone number for each address in parenthesis after the street address. In addressing any publication in such cities or towns you should place the postal zone number on the envelope immediately after the name of the town.

PUBLICATIONS EXCLUDED In accordance with our usual custom, a number of publications which are not required by the general advertiser or the public have been omitted from the DIRECTORY. Among these are high school papers, local church papers, papers issued by business houses primarily for the promotion of their own interests (those generally known as House Organs), and publications issued by institutions, unless these have influence outside the particular institution by which they are published. A few publications established during the past year are also omitted. Information concerning them may be obtained by writing to the editorial office of the DIRECTORY.

SUB-EDITIONS As far as possible, we distinguish between independent publications and those which are simply reprints of some other paper, usually with little or no alteration beyond the name. Papers so issued are entered in the catalog under the name of the leading paper, and under the place of apparent publication the name of the edition is given, with reference to the paper or house issuing it, followed in many instances by the name of the town to which mail should be addressed.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICES The many variations in the subscription prices of daily papers in the larger cities make it impossible, in the space available, to give such prices accurately. The subscription rates requested of all papers are those paid by local subscribers. Dailies are requested to give the rate when delivered by carrier. Differences must be expected between these prices and those in zones other than the one in which the paper is published.

In the case of newspapers that are members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations many of the subscription prices listed are computed from the monthly or weekly carrier price given in the respective A.B.C. statements.

TOWN HEADINGS Due to the condensation necessary in this work, headings for towns and cities under 25,000 contain reference to banking facilities only when these are not available in the town being described. For the same reason there is also no mention made in these headings of airports or highways.

Much of the statistical data obtained from Government sources is necessarily more than one year old. These figures are the latest ones available.

LATE INFORMATION The last pages in this book, following the Alphabetical Index, contain supplementary information that reached the editorial office after the pages on which it would normally appear had gone to press. Be sure to consult these supplemental pages.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

It is with genuine appreciation that acknowledgment is made here of the assistance given by various agencies in the compilation of this book. They include many bureaus and departments of the United States Government; many Chambers of Commerce throughout the country; the publishers of the newspapers and periodicals; the American Telephone and Telegraph Company; the Common Council for American Unity; Dun and Bradstreet, Inc.; Edison Electric Institute; Electrical Merchandising; Rand McNally and Company; Sales Management, Inc.; the State Press Associations; the Life Insurance Agency Management Association; Media Representatives Inc.; the Bermuda Trade Development Board; the Census and Statistics Bureaus of Canada and Newfoundland; Canadian Circulations Audit Board, Inc.

FINAL COUNT FOR POPULATION OF CONTINENTAL UNITED STATES BY REGIONS, DIVISIONS AND STATES: APRIL 1, 1950

The total population of the United States on April 1, 1950, was 150,697,361, according to an announcement of final figures from the 1950 Census of Population made by Roy V. Peel, Director, Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce. During the last 10 years, the United States experienced an all-time record population growth between successive censuses of 19,028,086. The growth of population during this decade was nearly 2,000,000 greater than the former intercensal record growth of 17,064,426 for the period between 1920 and 1930. Between 1940 and 1950, the population of the United States increased at a rate of 14.5 percent, or twice as rapidly as during the thirties. As in the past, the West was the region with the greatest rate of growth, 40.9 percent. Each of the other three regions of the United States increased in population, but the rate of growth in these regions was far below that of the West.

For the first time, the West led the regions in the amount of increase in population, 5,678,260, as well as in the rate of increase. The major part of this gain was concentrated in the Pacific Division, that is, the States of California, Oregon, and Washington. In the Mountain Division, population increased at a rate appreciably higher than the national average, but because the division is relatively sparsely settled, the population gain amounted to only 924,995.

The most prominent population increase among the States was that of California, the population of which in 1950 was 10,586,223, representing an increase of 3,678,836, or 53.3 percent, over the 6,907,387 inhabitants enumerated in the 1940 Census. Population growth in this one State exceeded that of the entire Northeast Region. As a result of the spectacular increase in population in California, the State now ranks second to New York in size whereas in 1940 it ranked fifth. Four other States, New York, Texas, Michigan, and Ohio, had gains of over 1,000,000.

The only State other than California to gain at a rate in excess of 50 percent was Arizona. The bordering States of Nevada, Utah, and New Mexico all had gains of more than 25 percent, and together with Arizona form a second center of rapid population growth. A third center of heavy population growth is found in and near the seat of the United States Government. The District of Columbia, Maryland, and Virginia each had increases of more than 20 percent.

Nineteen States and the District of Columbia gained at a more rapid rate than the Nation as a whole. Of the remaining States, all but four gained population. The four States with population losses were Arkansas, Mississippi, North Dakota, and Oklahoma. The losses and the rates of declines were relatively small. The numerical declines ranged from fewer than 5,000 in Mississippi to slightly more than 100,000 in Oklahoma. These States also had the lowest and highest rates of decline, 0.2 and 4.4 percent, respectively.

ALABAMA

State Capital, MONTGOMERY

Alabama is bounded on the north by Tennessee, east by Georgia and Florida, south by Florida and the Gulf of Mexico, and west by Mississippi. Its extreme length, north to south, is 336 miles; its breadth varies from 150 to 200 miles. The total land area is 51,078 square miles; its rank in area (1950), twenty-seventh.

The Allegheny range enters the state at the northeast and extends toward the center, finally losing itself in mere hills; then follows a tract of rolling prairies interspersed with pine barrens and rich alluvial bottom lands. These bottom lands include the cane brake region, one of the richest cotton-producing districts in the world. From this region to the Florida border and the Gulf the land is gently undulating and is covered with forests.

The mountain districts and the valley of the Tennessee are covered with fine forests of hardwood timber. The mineral region occupies the northeastern part, while the northwest is a good agricultural and stock raising country. The climate is temperate and fairly uniform. The Weather Bureau at Montgomery gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) at 65.8; highest degree on record, 107; lowest —5. Total annual precipitation is 51.33 inches.

Much of the state's foreign commerce passes through Mobile, exports from which port were valued in 1944 at $86,780,549. Birmingham, "the Pittsburgh of the South," is in the center of the mining industry. The largest institution of higher education in the State is the University of Alabama, located at University (Tuscaloosa).

ALASKA

Territorial Capital, JUNEAU

Alaska is bounded on the north by the Arctic Ocean, east by the Yukon Territory and British Columbia, Canada, south by the Pacific Ocean, and west by Bering Sea and Strait and the Arctic Ocean. Including the Aleutian Islands, it has a total area of 586,400 square miles. Its greatest length from north to south is 1,200 miles; its greatest breadth over 800 miles.

The northern half is low with great morasses along the streams, and is populated only by a few Indians. The southern half is mountainous and along the southeast coast are some of the highest peaks in North America. Near the center is Mt. McKinley (20,257 feet), loftiest elevation on the entire continent. The southwesterly section comprises the peninsula of Alaska and the Aleutian Islands, the latter the center of the fur seal fisheries. This district is mountainous and actively volcanic. The coast from the southern boundary to Cape Spencer is lined with a chain of islands between which and the mainland are salt water channels, navigable for the largest steamships. The Yukon River has a length of 2,300 miles, of which 1,765 miles are in Alaska and 1,200 miles are navigable.

In the interior temperatures range from about 60° below zero in winter to 90° in summer; on the coast and the Aleutian Islands they range from zero to 80°. The northerly province bordering the polar sea is the only one in which arctic conditions prevail. The Weather Bureau at Juneau gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 42.4; highest on record 89; lowest on record -17. Total annual precipitation is 84.44 inches.

POPULATION

In 1940, according to the census, the population was divided as follows: native white, 30,384; foreign-born white, 8,786; Eskimos, 15,576; Indians, 11,283; Aleuts, 5,599; other non-whites, 896.

AGRICULTURE

Fairbanks, with Tanana, is the center of a growing agricultural region of a great inland plateau rolling gently north from the barrier of mountain ranges along the south coast. The Matanuska Valley colonization project was established in May, 1935, by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration. Experiment farms in crop production and live stock are operated by the University of Alaska.

During 1944 agriculture continued to expand in the valley, stimulated by the great demand for farm products and high prices paid to farmers. Expansion and improvement were noted, especially in dairy farming, poultry farming and the production of vegetables. Cleared land in the valley now totals approximately 12,000 acres, of which about 4,000 acres are under cultivation.

FISHERIES

The Alaska fisheries engaged 80,767 people in 1948. The commercial catch of fishing products in Alaska during 1948 totaled 566,899,963 pounds, valued at $31,494,805 to the fishermen. The salmon catch totaling 338,369,670 pounds, was nearly forty-three million pounds less than in the previous year. Herring landings of 174,449,000 pounds were 13,000,000 less than the previous year. Fishery products as prepared for market had a value of $116,948,814. Of the total production $101,193,919 was salmon products; herring, $5,694,889; halibut, $6,615,876; sablefish, $968,100; other fish, shell fish and by-products for the remainder. Value of salmon catch to the fishermen was approximately $23,143,760 in the over-all catch.

225 wholesale and manufacturing establishments were operated in Alaska in 1948, giving employment to more than 30,000 people. A strong demand for frozen products resulted in the freezing of large quantities of salmon which otherwise might have been canned or shipped fresh to market.

FURS

Alaska is famous as a big game country and is protected by game commission laws. In 1950 there were taken 60,090 fur seal skins on Pribilof Islands. Furs shipped from Alaska (1950): mink 21,679, value $607,012; muskrat 260,833, value $443,416; beaver 15,124, value $302,480; marten 9,471, value $260,452; otter, land 2,352, value $47,040; weasel (ermine) 7,977, value $11,965.

FORESTS

Under the care of the Government are 21,000,000 acres set apart as two national forests. The Tongass is in southeastern Alaska, and the Chugach is in the Prince William Sound region. Timber volume on the national forests is estimated to be 84,700,000,000 board feet. Principal woods: spruce, hemlock, red cedar.

MINERALS

Mining is the second industry in importance. 1948 value $13,201,000. Principal mineral products in order of value: gold, platinum metals, coal, silver.

MISCELLANEOUS

Railroad affairs are conducted under supervision of the Secretary of the Interior and a General Manager in immediate charge with headquarters at Anchorage. There are frequent boat connections between the south coast towns and Seattle, Portland and San Francisco. River boats are maintained during the season of navigation. Six major airlines connect with United States.

Road-building activities are administered under three heads: the Alaska Road Commission, the Bureau of Public Roads, and the Territorial Road Board. Roads and trails have opened up to development nearly all sections of the territory. A highway of 88 miles through Mt. McKinley National Park is open for traffic.

Purely military considerations provided the motive for the opening, December 1, 1942, of the 1,523 mile Alaska Highway for truck traffic, from Dawson Creek, B. C., through Canada and the Yukon Territory to Fairbanks, Alaska. 1,221 miles are in Canada and 302 miles in Alaska. Primarily the road is for defense, because it will give Alaska safe, overland means of communication. Opened to tourist travel (summer, 1948).

In 1948 there were 15 territorial banks and 4 national banks. Total deposits as of December 31, 1949, in territorial and national banks were $76,185,000. Number of post offices (1950), 243; gross postal receipts, $961,863. Number of retail stores (1948), 1,264; sales, $93,698,000.

The territorial schools, including the elementary and high schools, are under general supervision of a Territorial Board of Education. The office of Indian Affairs has supervision over the education and general social welfare of the natives. The University of Alaska is located at College.

ARIZONA

Population 749,587 (U. S. Census, 1950)

State Capital, PHOENIX

Arizona is bounded on the north by Utah and Nevada, south by Mexico, east by New Mexico and west by California and Nevada. Its length, north to south, is 390 miles, its breadth about 300 miles. The total land area is 113,575 square miles, its rank in area (1950), fifth.

The Colorado River flows through the northern part of the state, and forms nearly all the western boundary. Its Grand Canyon is one of the scenic wonders of the world. The state is generally picturesque and in addition to the Grand Canyon has such other outstanding items of interest as the Petrified Forest, Natural Bridge, Indian pueblos, ruins of cliff dwellers, and the great Roosevelt Dam, which supplies irrigating waters for the richest agricultural district, the Salt River Valley. From the latter and from other sources of irrigation, agriculture has received great stimulation. Hoover Dam in the Black Canyon harnesses the Colorado and is the greatest dam in the world.

Extending from Grand Canyon to the Mogollon Mountains are large forests of pine. In the center of the state is a richly mineralized belt. Hot springs are found in the southwest, and the arid, semi-tropical southeast affords relief to sufferers from pulmonary complaints. At Flagstaff is located the Lowell Observatory. The University of Arizona is at Tucson.

The Weather Bureau at Phoenix gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 70.3; highest degree on record, 118; lowest, 16; annual precipitation, 7.85 inches.

ARKANSAS

State Capital, LITTLE ROCK

Arkansas is bounded on the north by Missouri, east by Missouri, Tennessee and Mississippi, south by Louisiana, southwest by Texas, and west by Oklahoma. Its greatest length, north to south, is 240 miles; its breadth varies from 170 to 250 miles. The total land area is 52,675 square miles, the area rank (1950), twenty-sixth.

Nearly the entire state lies in the drainage basin of the lower Mississippi, which stream flows along most of its eastern border. In the eastern and southeastern portion are the cotton and timber belts. Every sort of tree that grows in the temperate zone abounds. The valley of the Arkansas, from the Oklahoma line to the Mississippi, is unsurpassed as a cotton producing region. In the west are the Ozark Mountains and fruit and mineral-bearing lands. Arkansas produces 96% of the bauxite in the country. Near the center of the state are the famous Hot Springs and other mineral spring resorts, attractive to tourists and invalids. In the south are the largest of the state's oil fields.

The summer season is long, the winters usually short and mild. The Weather Bureau at Little Rock gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 62.2; highest temperature recorded as 110; lowest as -12; total annual precipitation as 47.52 inches.

The University of Arkansas is located at Fayetteville.

CALIFORNIA

State Capital, SACRAMENTO

California is bounded on the north by Oregon, east by Nevada and Arizona, south by Lower California, west by the Pacific Ocean. Its length is approximately 770 miles; its breadth, 230 miles; land area, 156,740 square miles; rank, in area (1950), second.

The state has a coast line of 1,000 miles indented by many bays, among them Humboldt, San Francisco, of Golden Gate fame, and San Diego. Crossing these waterways are the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge and the Golden Gate Bridge, both of which have attracted wide attention as feats of engineering. Two mountain ranges traverse it, the Sierra Nevada in the east and the Coast Range in the west. Between them lie the beautiful and fertile Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys. Peaks of the Coast Range rise to 8,000 feet; in the Sierras altitudes exceed 10,000 feet. Mt. Whitney is 14,501 feet above sea level and the highest point in the United States. Only 70 miles from it, in the same county, is the lowest point in the entire country, Death Valley, a depression that is 276 feet below sea level.

The northern part of the state is an elevated mountain region, noted for timber, minerals and fruits. The central and southern portions, except in the mountainous districts, have soils of unexcelled fertility. The southwestern part is valuable for minerals, contains some fertile valleys and also arid, barren deserts.

Like the topography, the climate is extremely varied, ranging from the temperatures of snow-capped mountains to those of the tropics. And its rainfall varies from 75 inches in the wet season in the north to about two inches in the desert regions. The Weather Bureau at Fresno gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 63.3; highest temperature recorded as 115; lowest as 17; total annual precipitation as 9.50 inches.

There are large forests in the state, especially on the North Coast Range. In several of the national parks, among them celebrated Yosemite, are to be seen the giant Sequoias. The University of California, one of the largest universities in the country, is located at Berkeley with a branch in Los Angeles. Two other noted universities are Leland Stanford at Palo Alto and University of Southern California at Los Angeles. Lick Observatory is located at Mt. Hamilton. Hollywood, a suburb of Los Angeles, is the center of the motion picture industry.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1950), second. Urban residents in 1950, 80.6%. In 1950, of the 10,586,223 total population, 9,947,223 were white; 639,000 were non-white.

COLORADO

State Capital, DENVER

Colorado is bounded on the north by Nebraska and Wyoming, east by Nebraska and Kansas, south by Oklahoma and New Mexico, and west by Utah. Its length, from east to west, is 380 miles; breadth, 280 miles. The total land area is 103,922 square miles; rank in area (1950), seventh.

The state, justly famous for its scenery, is intersected near the center by the main range of the Rocky Mountains, known as the "Continental Divide," and includes its highest points, among them: Pike's, Long's, Mts. Torrey, Lincoln, Gray, Yale, Harvard and the Spanish Peaks. The mountains enclose wonderful valleys or basins known as parks, many of which are small; several nearly 2,000 square miles in area. These parks are well timbered, and abound with beautiful scenery, being diversified with low hills and ridges. All the great rivers which rise in the state have their sources in these hills. The average altitude of this state is over 6,800 feet above sea level, and the lowest altitude, along the Arkansas River, in Browns county, is 3,350 feet. There are 120 peaks of over 13,500 feet altitude and forty towering to an altitude of 14,000 feet. In crossing the mountains the height reached by railroad is 10,856 feet. While in the European Alps but little arboreal growth is found at over 6,000 feet, and the line of perpetual snow is found between 9,000 and 10,000 feet, timber is found in many places in Colorado at a height of 11,000 feet, and the snow line in summer is about 14,000 feet. Wheat and oats have attained maturity at 7,000 to 8,000 feet, barley at over 10,000 feet and apples, pears, plums, cherries and small fruits between 7,000 and 8,000 feet. There are many mineral springs, some reputed to have medicinal value. Everywhere is unusual conformation and coloration. The eastern part of Colorado is an immense plain which was for many years devoted to cattle raising, but is now being rapidly developed into one of the finest agricultural districts in the country. The climate is warm in summer and cold in winter, but dry and healthful. It is especially attractive to persons desiring relief from tuberculosis. The Weather Bureau at Denver gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) at 50.4; highest on record, 105; lowest on record, -29. Total annual precipitation is 14.01 inches.

The state is amply supplied with railway facilities, and freight tonnage and tourist travel are heavy. The Moffat railroad tunnel, 32,150 feet long, under James Peak, completed in 1928, opened up an important territory west of the Continental Divide. The Dotsero cut-off, opened in 1934, shortens the Rio Grande line from Denver to Salt Lake City by 176 miles. The University of Colorado is located at Boulder, the Colorado School of Mines at Golden.

CONNECTICUT

State Capital, HARTFORD

Connecticut is bounded on the north by Massachusetts, east by Rhode Island, south by Long Island Sound and west by New York. The average length from east to west is 86 miles; average breadth, 55 miles. The total land area is 4,899 square miles; rank in area (1950), forty-sixth.

The eastern part of the state has many ridges of low hills with fertile valleys. The Connecticut River valley, at a distance from the Sound, is very fertile. In the south the land is broken and the soil sandy, but when well fertilized yields good crops. The valleys of the Connecticut and Housatonic Rivers are immensely productive. In the west the surface is rough and the hills are abrupt, rising to an altitude of nearly 2,000 feet. The state has an unusual water supply for industrial uses. The climate is temperate but subject to sudden changes, yet the extremes of heat and cold are less than in the other New England States. The Weather Bureau at Hartford gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 49.7; highest on record, 101; lowest on record, -18. Total annual precipitation, 44.90 inches.

The State of Connecticut, and especially its capital city, Hartford, is noted for the extent and variety of its insurance interests. There are hundreds of beautiful country homes of New York and other city people in the state, especially in the western part. The state has many fine educational institutions, including Yale University at New Haven, founded in 1701. The Connecticut River is open to navigation from its mouth to Hartford.

DELAWARE

Population 318,085 (U. S. Census, 1950)

State Capital, DOVER

Delaware is bounded on the north by Pennsylvania, east by the Delaware River and Bay and the Atlantic Ocean, south by Maryland, and west by Maryland and Pennsylvania. Its length from north to south is 110 miles; its breadth varies from about 9 miles to 36 miles. The total land area is 1,978 square miles; rank in area (1950), forty-seventh.

The surface in the north is somewhat hilly, and southward the land is rolling, with fringes of marshes and swamp tracts along the indentations of Delaware Bay. The southern portion is a sandy region, but by skillful farming has been made highly productive. The soil of the interior is light and easily cultivated. The Weather Bureau at Wilmington gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) at 54.3; highest on record, 107; lowest, -12; total annual precipitation, 43.83 inches.

The manufacturing center of the state is Wilmington, a port on the Delaware River. It is close to the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal, a waterway which crosses the state and connects the two bays of the same names, greatly facilitating shipping between Philadelphia and Baltimore and other ports in Maryland and Virginia. Other harbors are Lewes and New Castle. The University of Delaware is located at Newark.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Population 802,178 (U. S. Census, 1950)

(For map see Maryland)

The District of Columbia, which is coterminous with the city of Washington, is enclosed by the state of Maryland and is bounded on the west by the Potomac River, which separates it from the state of Virginia. Its land area is 61 square miles.

It is the seat of the Federal Government of the United States and most of its activities center around the departments of the Government. These divisions are housed in spacious and attractive buildings that give the city distinction, invite the inspection of an enormous number of visitors, and add to the beauty of a place which abounds in trees, flowers and natural scenery as well as charm of layout. Across the Potomac there are additional sights that draw the attention of those who visit the District: Arlington, the National Cemetery, and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Mt. Vernon, and Alexandria, all rich in national and historical interest. Industrial activity is output for local consumption.

The Potomac, which flows into Chesapeake Bay, is navigable and wide and deep enough to accommodate large vessels. Washington is the chief railway stopping point en route between North and South. The Weather Bureau gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) of the city as 55.8; highest on record as 106; lowest, —15; total annual precipitation as 41.11 inches.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1950), thirty-sixth. In 1950, of the 802,178 total population, 518,147 were white; 284,031 were non-white.

AGRICULTURE

The city of Washington, with Georgetown, covers about one-seventh of the area of the District. The remainder of the territory is occupied by suburbs, gardens and farms. In 1950 the census reported 28 farms averaging 46.4 acres. Attention was devoted chiefly to floriculture, truck growing and dairying. Ice cream production in 1949, was 6,303,000 gallons.

MANUFACTURES

Number of establishments (1947), 428; employing 17,815. Value added by manufacture, $99,067,000, rank, forty-third. The final figures that show the value added by manufacture in each of the leading groups of industries are available and may be obtained by writing to Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. The price for District of Columbia is 10 cents per copy.

FLORIDA

State Capital, TALLAHASSEE

Florida is bounded on the north by Alabama and Georgia, east by the Atlantic Ocean, south and west by the Gulf of Mexico and Alabama. The peninsular portion of the state is about 375 miles long and has an average breadth of 90 miles. The upper portion is about 360 miles from east to west and 30 to 90 miles from north to south. The state's total land area is 54,262 square miles; its rank in area (1950), twenty-fifth. Its coast line is 3,751 miles.

The state is of coral formation and the surface is diversified with thousands of lakes, the largest, Lake Okeechobee, being about 40 miles long and 30 miles wide. The larger portion of that part of the peninsula south of Lake Okeechobee is occupied by the Everglades, an evergreen marsh or swamp about 55 miles wide and 150 miles long, that is covered with a dense growth of "saw grass" 8 to 10 feet high and so thick as to be practically impenetrable, except where it is intersected by winding channels. The state is draining the Everglades in which in 1934 the Federal Government established a tropical National Park. The district contains about 4,000,000 acres, a vast potential agricultural region, which will be of great value when it is made tillable. Pine lands cover an even vaster portion of the state's area, large forests of original and second growth pines that are studded at intervals with stretches of fertile soil called "hummocks." The interior offers a sandy region where citrus fruits have been developed highly.

There are no high elevations in the state, Iron Mountain being the highest point, about 325 feet above the level of the sea. The Coast Line Canal connects Miami with Jacksonville and is 370 miles long. Several rivers flow through the state, chief of them the St. John.

Millions of tourists are attracted to Florida in winter and the revenue they bring the state is very large. It is estimated that in the 1946-47 season there were 3,000,000 visitors within its borders and that they spent more than $300,000,000. The climate, which attracts them, is semi-tropical but has temperatures that do not reach the extremes attained in some of the other states. The Weather Bureau at Miami gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) at 75.2; the highest on record as 96; the lowest, 27. The total annual precipitation is 58.96 inches.

The University of Florida is located at Gainesville. Saint Augustine, founded in 1565, is the oldest city of European origin in the United States.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1950), twentieth. Urban population (1950), 65.4%. In 1950, of the 2,771,305 total population, 2,166,047 were white; 605,258 were non-white.

AGRICULTURE

Number of farms (1950), 56,844. Farm acreage (1945), 13,083,501. Average acreage per farm, 213.9. Average value per farm, $8,149. Value of farms (land and buildings), $498,399,612.

GEORGIA

Copyright by C. S. Hammond & Co., N. Y.

GEORGIA

State Capital, ATLANTA

Georgia is bounded on the north by Tennessee and North Carolina, northeast by South Carolina, southeast by the Atlantic Ocean, south by Florida, and west by Alabama. Extreme length from north to south is 320 miles, extreme breadth, 254 miles. Total land area is 58,483 square miles; rank in area (1950), twentieth.

The surface is varied. Along the coast it is intersected by numerous rivers and sounds; and the country for miles inland is a succession of ridges of pines and live oaks and swamps of cypress. The great Okefinokee swamp is in the southeast. Back from the coast is a stretch of sandy land, mostly pine barrens yielding quantities of timber and naval stores. A series of terraces bring the region in the middle of the state to about 575 feet above tidewater, from which elevation it rises toward the north more rapidly, until it becomes mountainous, being there crossed by spurs of the Appalachians. The Weather Bureau at Atlanta gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 61.4; highest on record, 103; lowest on record, —8. The total annual precipitation is 49.75 inches.

Savannah is one of the chief south Atlantic seaports and has an important foreign and domestic commerce. In 1944 the value of exports shipped from Savannah amounted to $365,267,106. Atlanta is accounted one of the progressive cities of the South and nationally rates high in banking strength. There are numerous mineral springs in Georgia, of which the Indian Spring in Butts county and Bowden Lithia, or Salt Spring, in Douglas county, are among the best known. At Warm Springs there is a sanitarium for the treatment of sufferers from infantile paralysis. The University of Georgia, located at Athens, and the Georgia School of Technology, at Atlanta, are the largest institutions of higher education in the state.

HAWAII

Territorial Capital, HONOLULU

The Hawaiian Islands are situated between 18° and 20° north latitude and 154° west longitude, in the North Pacific Ocean, 2,100 nautical miles from San Francisco. They are 20 in number, and eight of them are inhabited. Hawaii is the largest with an area of 4,030 square miles; the others vary in size from 728 to 2.7 square miles. The Weather Bureau at Honolulu gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 74.9; highest on record 90; lowest on record 52. Total annual precipitation is 24.97 inches.

The Islands are mountainous and volcanic in origin. Mauna Kea (13,784 ft.), the highest peak, is dormant; Mauna Loa and Kilauea on Hawaii, the largest island, are both active. Covering the mountains are forests.

An abundant rainfall and the prevailing northeast trade winds make a climate mild, equable and free from extremes. The Islands' beaches are popular and attract many tourists, as do the coral gardens, extinct volcanic craters and other items of scenic interest.

Honolulu, the capital, is located on the Island of Oahu. It is the chief city commercially and has a splendid harbor. It has a population of 245,612.

POPULATION

By islands the population in 1950 was as follows: Oahu, 347,529; Hawaii, 67,583; Maui, 39,982; Kauai, 29,633; Molokai, 5,274; Lanai, 3,131; Niihau, 205. These figures do not include United States Army and Navy forces. The native population is gradually decreasing through intermarriage with other races. Besides Hawaiians there are: Japanese, Chinese, Filipino, Portuguese, Spanish, Puerto Rican, Korean, and Caucasian.

AGRICULTURE

Luxuriant tropical vegetation clothes these Islands. The soil is very fertile, and all tropical fruits and vegetables are grown. In 1949, farms numbered 3,625, valued at $112,788,201; contained 3,042,390 acres. The total land area in cultivated crops in Hawaii in 1950 was 305,800 acres, or 7.5% of the total land area of the Territory of Hawaii.

The chief agricultural products are sugar, pineapples, coffee, fruits and vegetables. Sugar production is the chief industry of the Islands. The crop takes from 18 to 24 months to mature and only a part of it can be harvested each season. The plantations provide year round employment. In 1950, about 220,380 acres were in sugar cane, and provides year-round employment for about 22,000 persons.

The second largest industry is the growing and canning of pineapples, one of the canneries being the largest fruit preserving plant in the world. Hawaii supplies 90 per cent of world's pineapples. In 1950, about 70,723 acres were in pineapples, and provides year-round and seasonal employment for about 20,000 persons on plantations and in the canneries.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS

Almost all of the trade of Hawaii is with the United States. Imports in 1950 from the United States totaled $340,446,264, while exports to the United States totaled $228,353,010.

Chief of the exports in 1950 were sugar, pineapples (fresh, canned, juice), fish (canned), paper manufactures (fibre insulating board), coffee.

FISHERIES

The commercial fish landings for the Territory during the fiscal year (1949-50) totaled 14,904,681 pounds, valued at $3,547,607 to the fishermen. The first five species caught in the largest volume with their corresponding values to the fishermen were: aku, 3,480,463 lbs.; value, $1,191,457; ahi, 2,482,804 lbs., value, $745,573; a'u, 1,143,488 lbs., value, $367,143; akule, 463,460 lbs., value, $280,032; opakapaka, 246,204 lbs., value, $93,535.

SHIPPING

During the fiscal year 1950, a total of 861 overseas vessels with a gross tonnage of 1,668,537 entered Honolulu harbor. Cargo for that port alone totaled 1,014,611 tons incoming and 653,926 outgoing.

MISCELLANEOUS

Hawaii has 2,177 miles of roads, of which about 1,550 miles are paved. There were 140,591 taxable and non-taxable vehicles registered in the Territory of Hawaii as of December 31, 1950. Of this number 100,420 vehicles were registered on Oahu. The islands are well served by boat and air transportation. Postal receipts for the fiscal year 1950 grossed $2,779,750. In 1950 there were 40 banks, including branches, with total deposits of $376,456,159. In 1950 taxes collected in Hawaii totaled $150,219,394, including federal, territorial and county. The University of Hawaii is located in Honolulu. All of the principal banks and their branches have both commercial and savings departments. The number of telephones in service in Hawaii in 1950 was 99,310.

IDAHO

State Capital, BOISE

Idaho is bounded on the north by British Columbia, Canada, east by Montana and Wyoming, south by Utah and Nevada, and west by Oregon and Washington. Its length from north to south is about 430 miles, its width varies from 44 to 325 miles. The total land area is 82,769 square miles, and includes 47 square miles of Yellowstone Park, rank, in area (1950), tenth.

The state's surface is diversified, being mountainous in the northern and central portions and having arid plains in the south. Mt. Hyndman, 12,078 feet, in the Sawtooth Range, is the highest point in the state. In the southeast there is a volcanic region, abounding in geysers and saline springs. The Snake River, which abounds in falls, forms part of the state's western boundary and flows through the southern part. The Salmon River, a tributary, flows through a lengthy canyon that is filled with game. The state has large mineral resources, still largely undeveloped, and most of the plains lands yet to be reclaimed by irrigation. The climate is dry and healthful, warm in summer and cold in winter. The Weather Bureau at Boise gives temperature (annual monthly mean) as 51.0; highest on record 109; lowest on record -13. Total annual precipitation is 12.66 inches.

The University of Idaho is located at Moscow. The volcanic field, 150 miles southwest of Yellowstone Park, called "Craters of the Moon," was set aside in 1924 as a national monument.

ILLINOIS

State Capital, SPRINGFIELD

Illinois is bounded on the north by Wisconsin, northeast by Lake Michigan, east by Indiana, southeast and south by Kentucky, and west by Missouri and Iowa. Its extreme length north to south is 385 miles; extreme breadth 218 miles. Its total land area is 56,400 square miles; rank in area (1940), twenty-third.

The surface is mostly level table-land, inclining gently toward the south, with bluffs along the principal rivers. A small tract in the northwest, around Galena, is somewhat broken, and a low mountain ridge extends across the southern end from Grand Tower, on the Mississippi River, to Shawneetown, on the Ohio, about 850 feet above sea level. The prairies are sometimes level, but generally undulating. With the exception of Iowa, no other state has so large a portion of land susceptible to cultivation. There are over 275 streams in the state grouped into two river systems, one having the Mississippi as outlet, the other tributary to the Ohio River. The most important river is the Illinois which crosses the north central and western parts of the state draining 24,726 square miles. The Chicago Drainage Canal is an important and unique artificial waterway supplying drainage and transportation. The climate is noted for its extremes of heat and cold. The Weather Bureau at Chicago gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 49.5; highest on record, 105; lowest on record—23. Total annual precipitation is 32.81 inches.

Chicago, the country's second largest city in population, is the leading grain center of the country. Its total receipts of corn, oats, rye and barley are greater than any other city. It is the center of immense business activity in live stock, slaughtering and meat packing, printing and publishing, steel works and rolling-mill products, and a prodigious number of industries, and is the greatest railroad center in the world. Illinois is remarkably well supplied with transportation facilities by rail, river and lake, and is one of the leading states in export trade. Of its many institutions of higher education, the largest are the University of Chicago, the University of Illinois, located at Urbana, and Northwestern University, at Evanston.

INDIANA

State Capital, INDIANAPOLIS

Indiana is bounded on the north by Michigan and Lake Michigan, east by Ohio, south by Kentucky, from which it is separated by the Ohio River, and west by Illinois. The extreme length north and south is 276 miles; its average breadth 140 miles. The total land area is 36,205 square miles; the rank in area (1950), thirty-seventh.

The greater part of the surface is undulating prairie land, with sand-hills in the north, and picturesque rocky hills, some 600 feet high, in the south along the Ohio River. In the northern part of the state are numerous lakes, and in the limestone regions of the south are many caves. Mineral springs are found throughout the south and south central parts. The Ohio and White Water River valleys are of sandstone and limestone formation. The soil for the greater part of the state is a loose calcareous loam of considerable depth. The Weather Bureau at Indianapolis gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 53.0; highest on record 106; lowest on record -25. Total annual precipitation is 39.90 inches.

Indiana is exceedingly well supplied with transportation facilities, for it lies directly in the path of almost all of the great railway trunk lines, which have branches extending into all parts of the state; and fully half of its borders, or about 600 miles, are on navigable waters. Enormous tonnage enters and leaves the Lake Michigan ports also. Evansville, on the Ohio River, is a large hardwood market; Indianapolis, the largest city. Indiana University, located at Bloomington; Purdue University, at Lafayette; Notre Dame, at South Bend; De Pauw University, at Greencastle, are notable among the state's institutions of higher education.

IOWA

State Capital, DES MOINES

Iowa is bounded on the north by Minnesota, east by the Mississippi River which separates it from Wisconsin and Illinois, south by Missouri and west by the Missouri and Little Sioux Rivers which separate it from Nebraska and South Dakota. Its extreme length from east to west is 300 miles; its breadth 300 miles; total land area 56,045 square miles; rank in area (1950), twenty-second.

The distinguishing feature of Iowa is its fertile prairies. Nearly all parts of the state are gently rolling, without mountains or very high hills, but with frequent bluffs along the streams. In richness of soil and in the percentage of land subject to cultivation, it is probably unsurpassed by any other state. The valleys of the Red Cedar, Iowa and Des Moines Rivers are particularly productive. Transportation is highly developed with numerous railways and a large volume of traffic on the Mississippi and Missouri. The climate is one of extremes of heat and cold, and of dry winters and wet summers. The Weather Bureau at Des Moines gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) at 49.5; highest degree on record 110; lowest —30; total annual precipitation, 32.04 inches.

Along educational lines Iowa is one of the country's leading states. Some of its many colleges are: The University of Iowa, located at Iowa City; Iowa State Teachers' College, at Cedar Falls. The College of Agriculture at Ames is noted in its field, being recognized especially for its scientific investigation and original research.

KANSAS

State Capital, TOPEKA

Kansas is bounded on the north by Nebraska, east by Missouri, south by Oklahoma, and west by Colorado and is in almost the exact geographical center of the United States. Its length from east to west is 410 miles, and from north to south, 207 miles. Its total area is 82,108 square miles; rank in area (1950), twelfth.

The surface is chiefly undulating in the east, while the western part has a rolling and varied surface. Until recently this was considered fit only for stock raising, but irrigation in some districts has made possible the cultivation of several thousands of acres. There are no mountains, very few lakes, and those small and shallow; no marshes, but salt marshes, and these are valuable. The bottom and table-lands are chiefly a rich black loam, and highly productive. When the state was settled, only five per cent of the area was forest, and this was distributed mainly along streams and in occasional groves and small tracts; but it is estimated that the area of forest trees has since doubled by voluntary growth, transplanting, and by seed. Much hardwood and black walnut is obtainable. The climate is warm in summer and severe in winter. The extremes are constantly modified by the winds. The Weather Bureau at Wichita gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 56.6; highest on record, 114; lowest on record, —22. Total annual precipitation is 30.26 inches.

The livestock market, and meat-packing industry, at Kansas City, Kansas, is the second largest in the world, being exceeded only by that of Chicago, Illinois. In normal times, Kansas is one of the greatest cattle producing states in the Union, and nearly half the cattle received at its stockyards come from the state. There are four large colleges, besides numerous smaller ones. The University of Kansas is located at Lawrence; the State College of Agriculture at Manhattan.

KENTUCKY

State Capital, FRANKFORT

Kentucky is bounded on the north by Ohio and Indiana, northwest by Illinois, east by West Virginia and Virginia, south by Tennessee and west by Missouri. Its greatest length from east to west is 350 miles; greatest breadth, 178 miles; land area, 39,864 square miles; rank in area (1950), thirty-sixth.

The Appalachian Mountains cross the eastern end of the state and many hills dot the rich and fertile tablelands. Northwest of this section, and in the center of the state, is the famous and productive blue grass region, with a gently undulating upland surface and deep valleys at the rivers. Between the Green and Cumberland Rivers the surface is level and known as the "Barrens," from the scarcity of heavy timber. The western part is generally level, with slight undulations. The soil of the whole state is remarkably fertile; that part between Lexington and the Ohio River is known as the "Garden of Kentucky." More than 800 miles of Kentucky soil borders on the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, and there are other navigable rivers in the state. The Weather Bureau at Louisville gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 57.0; highest on record, 107; lowest on record, -20. Total annual precipitation is 42.49 inches.

Kentucky has long been famed for its horses, its thoroughbreds being excelled nowhere. It is especially noted, too, for its underground passages and caves. Most celebrated of these is Mammoth Cave, which has about 150 miles of connecting passages. It is now a National Park.

The largest of the state's many institutions of higher education is The University of Kentucky. It is located at Lexington.

LOUISIANA

State Capital, BATON ROUGE

Louisiana is bounded on the north by Arkansas and Mississippi, east by Mississippi and the Gulf of Mexico, south by the Gulf of Mexico, and west by Texas. Its extreme length from east to west is about 300 miles; breadth, 240 miles; total land area, 45,162 square miles; rank in area (1950), thirty-first.

The surface is generally low and level. There are low hills in the north and northwest, from which the land slopes gradually to the Mississippi and the Gulf. Much of the land along the river is below the water level during the spring freshets, and is protected from overflow by levees, which are built on both banks below Baton Rouge, and on the west bank, throughout the state. Many of the principal rivers and bayous are protected in like manner so that but a small portion of the land is subject to overflow. The soil of the river bottoms is exceedingly fertile and is almost entirely silt brought down by the Mississippi River. It yields large crops of cotton, sugar cane and rice. The prairies are productive and afford good pasture in places. The hilly section yields good cotton crops, but about half is covered with pine barrens. The climate is semi-tropical, very warm and moist in summer with little cold weather in winter. The Weather Bureau at New Orleans gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 69.6; highest on record, 102; lowest on record, 7. Total annual precipitation is 59.81 inches.

On account of the great extent of navigable waters, of which the state has 4,800 miles, and the network of railroads penetrating every part of the state, the products of Louisiana's fields, mines, factories and fisheries are readily and rapidly moved, and none of the state's resources need be neglected for lack of transportation facilities. New Orleans is the leading city and an important port. This city is famous as a winter resort and has many historical attractions as well as picturesqueness. Largest of the state's institutions of higher education is Tulane University, located at New Orleans. Louisiana State University is located at Baton Rouge, the Capital.

MAINE

State Capital, AUGUSTA

Maine, the most northeasterly state in the Union, is bounded on the north by Quebec and New Brunswick, Canada, east by New Brunswick, south by the Atlantic Ocean, and west by New Hampshire and Quebec. Its extreme length is 301 miles; its width varies greatly because of the many shore indentations. The total land area is 31,040 square miles; rank in area (1950), thirty-eighth.

The northern part is mainly a wilderness of forest land with coniferous trees and mountainous elevation, thinly peopled, except in the fertile tracts of Aroostook county. In the northeast, on the St. John River, are several French Canadian settlements. The southern part is varied, the surface seldom much broken. It has tracts of great fertility, and others, especially in the south-east, that are only moderately productive. The climate is cold in winter; mild in summer. The Weather Bureau at Eastport gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 41.8; highest degree on record, 93; lowest, —23. Total annual precipitation is 38.82 inches.

Maine is a fishing, hunting and summer resort of great popularity. Luxurious hotels accommodate its many visitors, as do private lodges and summer homes. Portland, the chief port, has a large steamer tourist traffic in addition to its extensive trade in freight. The state has about 1,300 wooded islands. On one of them, Mt. Desert, are Acadia National Park, and a notable summer colony. The University of Maine, the largest institution of higher education in the state, is located at Orono.

MARYLAND

State Capital, ANNAPOLIS

Maryland is bounded on the north by Pennsylvania, east and southeast by Delaware and the Atlantic Ocean, west by West Virginia, and south and southwest by Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia. The Chesapeake Bay divides the greater portion of it into two unequal parts, known as the Eastern and Western Shores. Its extreme length from east to west on its northern border is 198 miles, and its width, following the course of the Potomac River, varies from 3 or 4 miles to about 129 miles. Its land area is 9,881 square miles; rank in area (1950), forty-first.

The surface of the Eastern Shore is mostly level, in parts low and swampy, but towards the north, rocky and broken. The Western Shore, between the Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay, presents mainly the same general features. The northwest is very mountainous; five or six ridges of the Alleghenies, principally the Blue and Laurel, traversing it. In the extreme west are the beautiful elevated valleys, or "glades." The mountain slopes are thickly wooded. The soil of the Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland is alluvial, classed as silt and sandy loam, while the soils of the central and northern parts are made up for the most part of loams and silt loams. The Weather Bureau at Baltimore gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 55.4; highest on record, 105; lowest on record, -7. Total annual precipitation is 42.56 inches.

Water and rail transportation are highly developed. Maryland's commerce is confined chiefly to Baltimore, one of the principal ports of the country, and one whose trade is extremely heavy. The Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay are navigable for large vessels, and many smaller rivers and bays are accessible for vessels of light draft. The United States Naval Academy is located at Annapolis; the University of Maryland at College Park. Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore is internationally famous, and its hospital receives patients from all over the world.

MASSACHUSETTS

State Capital, BOSTON

Massachusetts is bounded on the north by Vermont and New Hampshire, east by the Atlantic Ocean, south by the Atlantic Ocean and by Rhode Island and Connecticut and west by New York. Its extreme length is 160 miles, its breadth from 47 to 90 miles; land area, 7,867 square miles; rank in area (1950), forty-fourth.

The surface is greatly diversified: mountainous in the extreme west, hilly and broken in the east and northeast, and in the southeast mainly low and sandy. Toward the west is the fertile valley of the Connecticut River. The mountains are the Taconic and the Hoosac (continuations of the Green Mountain ranges of Vermont) with detached members of the White Mountains. The Weather Bureau at Boston gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 49.6; highest on record, 104; lowest on record, —18. Total annual precipitation is 40.14 inches.

The state has abundant rail and coastwise shipping facilities. The Cape Cod Canal, an eight-mile cut, 25 feet deep, between Buzzards Bay and Sandwich, enables coasting vessels to avoid the long trip around Cape Cod peninsula and shortens the distance between Boston and New York by over 70 miles. The North Shore above Boston, Cape Cod and the "hill towns" west of the Connecticut River are popular summer resorts, the valley of the Housatonic, in Berkshire county, having hundreds of summer residences belonging to wealthy citizens of New York, Boston and other large cities. Massachusetts is the third densest populated state in the Union, having 545.9 persons to the square mile. It is the leading center of the American cotton, shoe, leather, wool and paper trades. Fall River, Lowell, New Bedford and Lawrence are the greatest cotton manufacturing centers; Boston, Quincy, Newburyport and Salem lead in shipbuilding interests. Boston is the greatest fishing port in the country.

There are a great many colleges in the state, including some of the country's most famous, for both men and women. Harvard University, the oldest in the country, is located at Cambridge, as is the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Nearly all of Massachusetts is rich in historical interest. At Provincetown, in 1620, the Mayflower made the first landing, going from there to Plymouth.

MICHIGAN

State Capital, LANSING

Michigan is bounded on the north by Lake Superior, east by Lakes Huron, St. Clair and Erie and their connecting rivers, south by Ohio and Indiana, and west by Wisconsin and Lake Michigan. Its land area is 57,022 square miles; rank in area (1950), twenty-first.

The state consists of two peninsulas, of which the southern is the principal seat of wealth and population, its length, north to south, being about 300 miles; width, about 200. Here manufacturing has grown to chief importance. This part of the state is a very level region, abounding in lakes and streams, with extensive forests of pine and other timber in the north, oak openings or natural parks in the south and prairies in the southwest. There are over 6,000 lakes, large and small, which are popular resorts of anglers and summer visitors. The northern peninsula is more rugged in surface and its chief industries are copper and iron mining and lumbering. The Weather Bureau at Detroit gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 48.6; highest on record, 105; lowest on record, -24; total annual precipitation is 31.53 inches.

The great extent of its water boundary line, about 1,000 miles, gives Michigan a commanding position in lake commerce. The ship canal between Lake Huron and Lake Superior at Sault Ste. Marie handles more traffic than the Suez or Panama Canal or any similar thoroughfare in the world. Detroit, noted throughout the world as the greatest center of automobile manufacture, is the fifth city in population in the country, and a great commercial center. A very large tonnage of freight traffic passes through the Detroit River. Grand Rapids is famous for its furniture manufactories. There are many institutions of higher education in the state, chief of them being the University of Michigan, located at Ann Arbor.

MINNESOTA

State Capital, ST. PAUL

Minnesota is bounded on the north by Ontario and Manitoba, Canada, east by Wisconsin and Lake Superior, south by Iowa, and west by North and South Dakota. Its extreme length from north to south is 380 miles, its breadth varies from 183 miles, in the center, to 262 on the south and 330 on the north borders. Its land area is 80,009 square miles; rank in area (1950), thirteenth. It is a state of widely natural resources and rapidly developing wealth.

The surface is generally undulating and diversified with plains, timber belts and extensive prairies dotted with lakes and groves. The northeast is generally hilly, has great deposits of iron ore, and was formerly entirely covered with immense forests. Much of the salable pine has been cut, but there is a vast quantity of valuable timber, both pine and hardwood, still standing. This region also contains innumerable lakes, abounding in fish and affording popular summer resorts. In the southeast there is a beautiful rolling region, heavily wooded, and from it the surface rises gradually to the Hauteur de Terres or Heights of Land in the northwest. The climate is particularly healthful, and extremely favorable to the growth of vegetation, especially grain crops. The Weather Bureau at Minneapolis gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 44.5; highest degree on record as 108; lowest —34. Total annual precipitation is 27.66 inches.

The state's shipping, both by water and rail, is immense. The Great Lakes, with Duluth as an advantageously located port, provide an excellent waterway to the Atlantic, and railroads branch in every direction. Minneapolis is the largest cash grain market in the world and second only to Chicago as a grain future market. There is in operation a very efficient school system. The University of Minnesota, is one of the great universities of the country. It is located at Minneapolis.

MISSISSIPPI

State Capital, JACKSON

Mississippi is bounded on the north by Tennessee, east by Alabama, south by the Gulf of Mexico and Louisiana and west by the Mississippi River, which separates it from Louisiana and Arkansas. Its extreme length from north to south is 332 miles; average breadth, 142 miles. Its land area is 47,248 square miles; rank in area (1950), thirtieth.

The surface is generally hilly except in the Mississippi bottom, from Vicksburg to the Tennessee line and between the Mississippi and Yazoo Rivers, where it is low and swampy, subject to inundation and covered with a dense growth of timber. Below Vicksburg the surface for some miles inland is hilly and known as the "cane hills" or "bluffs" and has a generally productive soil. There is a particularly fertile prairie region in the northeast where one of the chief products, alfalfa, produces from three to five heavy crops each year. The southern part is chiefly a level pine region and furnishes good pasturage and quantities of timber and tar and turpentine. The soil of this tract, although sandy, is with fertilization, particularly adapted to truck farming. The forest wealth of the state is extensive and it ranks second among the states as a producer of cotton. The climate and production are sub-tropical. The Weather Bureau at Vicksburg gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 65.6; highest degree on record, 104; lowest, -1. Total annual precipitation, 51.93 inches.

Plantation life, reminiscent of the past, still prevails in the primarily agricultural state. Transportation is supplied by rail lines and the Mississippi River. The University of Mississippi, the largest institution of higher education in the State, is located at University (Oxford).

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1950), twenty-sixth. Rural population (1950), 27.8%. In 1950, of the 2,178,914 total population, 1,188,429 were white; 990,485 were non-white.

AGRICULTURE

Number of farms (1950), 251,378. Farm acreage (1945), 19,616,533. Average acreage per farm, 74.4. Average value per farm, $2,457. Value of farms (land and buildings), $647,562,141.

Cash receipts from farm marketings (1950): crops, $334,246,000; livestock and products (includes meat animals, dairy products, poultry and eggs), $111,537,000.

MISSOURI

State Capital, JEFFERSON CITY

Missouri is bounded on the north by Iowa, east by Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee, south by Arkansas, west by Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska. Its length, north to south, is 277 miles; its average breadth about 244 miles, ranging from 208 miles in the north to 312 miles in the south. Its land area is 69,226 square miles; rank in area (1950), eighteenth.

The Missouri River flows across the state from west to east just north of the center. The surface north of the river is generally level, while that south of it is undulating, becoming rougher as it approaches the Ozark Mountains. There are also open, treeless plains, an extension of those in Kansas; and in the southeast, bordering on the Mississippi River, there is an extensive marshy tract called the "Sunk Country," the result of the earthquake of 1811-12. Plans have been made to reclaim the lands along the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers and their tributaries by levees along the great rivers by drainage canals in the valleys of the smaller ones. The climate varies from north temperate to sub-tropical. The Weather Bureau at St. Louis gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 56.2; highest degree on record, 110; lowest, -22. Total annual precipitation, 38.98 inches.

With about 500 miles of waterfront on the Mississippi and with the Missouri traversing it from west to east, the state has fully 1,000 miles of navigable waterways. St. Louis is a center for travel and for extensive freight traffic carried on both by rail and by river, the famous bridge across the Mississippi accommodating more freight cars than any other span in the world. Twenty-one trunk lines afford rail transportation. The city is the gateway for north and south tourist travel as well as freight traffic. The stock yards and meat-packing plants at Kansas City have gained world-wide fame. The Bagnell Dam across the Osage River in the Ozarks forms one of the largest artificial lakes in the world and floods about 60,000 acres. It is part of an enormous hydro-electrical development designed to supply power to St. Louis, Kansas City and elsewhere.

Educationally the state ranks exceedingly high. In addition to the University of Missouri, at Columbia, it has fourteen colleges and universities, besides many professional and technological schools and teachers' colleges.

MONTANA

Population 591,024 (U. S. Census, 1950)

State Capital, HELENA

Montana is bounded north by Saskatchewan and Alberta, Canada, east by North and South Dakota, south by Wyoming and Idaho and west by Idaho. Its length, east to west, is about 540 miles; breadth, about 280 miles; land area, 145,878 square miles, including 240 square miles of Yellowstone National Park, rank in area (1950), third.

The Rocky Mountains occupy the western two-fifths of the state's area; east of them the country forms part of the "Great Plains." The Missouri River is navigable for boats as far as Fort Benton. The Yellowstone River is navigable during high water. The lowest altitude is 1,800 feet above sea level, while Granite Peak in Carbon county reaches a height of 12,850 feet. The climate is dry, healthful and invigorating. The Weather Bureau at Helena gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 41.5; highest on record, 103; lowest on record, —42; total annual precipitation as 11.55 inches. Irrigation has been highly developed, and immense reservoirs on the Madison and Missouri Rivers are sources of water supply. As a result, standard fruits of the Temperate Zone have been produced in large quantities.

Montana, with its vast expanse of mountain country, its 500 lakes and fishing streams, its thousands of miles of winding mountain roads, its national forests, dude ranches, mountain hotels and tourist camp resorts, affords unequalled recreational advantages. The state is fast improving its national highways. Glacier National Park, extending to the Canadian border line, is one of the most wonderful public parks in the world. Among the State's major educational institutions are The University of Montana, at Missoula, three colleges, professional and technological schools and normals.
