State Capital, LINCOLN

Nebraska is bounded on the north by South Dakota, east by Iowa and Missouri, south by Kansas and Colorado and west by Colorado and Wyoming. Its length from north to south is about 210 miles; its width about 420 miles; land area 76,663 square miles.

The surface is generally a vast, gently undulating plain, with a gradual ascent toward the mountains in the west; the river bottoms are level. There are some bluffs along the Missouri River, some hills in the northwest, a small part of this region being occupied by the Mauvais Terres or Bad Lands. The state is well watered, three large rivers, the Niobrara, the Platte and the Big Blue drain eastward into the Missouri, which flows for 500 miles along the eastern border. Only the Missouri is navigable. East of the Bad Lands and south of the Niobrara there is a tract called the Sand Hills region, 15,000 square miles in area, the valleys of which produce an abundance of corn and wheat, while the rest of the country is used for cattle. Nebraska was once practically treeless, but more than two billion trees have been planted, by state and national government. The soil is very fertile. The climate is dry and healthful and there is an abundance of sunshine. The Weather Bureau at Omaha gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 51.1; highest on record, 114; lowest on record, —32. Total annual precipitation, 27.72 inches.

Omaha is a great railway and meat-packing center, and the state's largest city. The University of Nebraska, its largest institution of higher education, is located at Lincoln.

NEVADA

Population 285,278 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, CARSON CITY

Nevada is bounded on the north by Oregon and Idaho, east by Utah and Arizona and southwest and west by California. Its extreme length from north to south is 485 miles on the eastern, and 210 miles on the western boundary; greatest breadth 320 miles, decreasing to 310 miles in the north and to a point in the south. Its land area is 109,789 square miles; rank, in area, seventh.

The surface generally is desert land and averages 5,500 feet above the sea. It is traversed by nearly parallel mountain ranges, between which are valleys varying in width from 5 to 20 miles. The highest point is Boundary Peak, in Esmerelda County, about 13,145 feet; the lowest is along the Colorado River in Clark County, 470 feet above sea level. The mountains have produced more than a billion dollars of mineral wealth. The Weather Bureau at Winnemucca gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 48.8; highest on record, 108; lowest on record, —36. Total annual precipitation is 8.56 inches. Irrigation has helped the state greatly in productivity.

Hoover Dam, in the Black Canyon of the Colorado River, is the highest dam in the world and was completed March 1, 1936. The purposes of construction were irrigation, flood control, water storage, silt control and power development. It has attracted wide attention and many visitors.

The University of Nevada, established in 1864, is located at Reno, with a branch, Nevada Southern, located at Las Vegas.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), fiftieth. Urban population (1960), 70.4%. In 1960, of the 285,278 total population, 263,443 were white; 21,835 were non-white.

AGRICULTURE

Number of farms (1959), 2,350. Farm acreage, 10,973,355. Average acreage per farm, 4,669.5. Average value per farm, $107,840. Farms selling products over $10,000 in value, 947.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

Population 606,921 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, CONCORD

New Hampshire is bounded on the north by Quebec, Canada, east by Maine and the Atlantic Ocean, south by Massachusetts and west by Vermont. Its length is 180 miles from north to south; its average breadth, 50 miles; land area, 9,017 square miles.

A rough and hilly surface characterizes most of the state. In the north, the Presidential Range of the White Mountains reaches altitudes of more than 6,000 feet. Winters are severe, but the state has an almost ideal summer climate, especially in the central and eastern portion. Mountain and lake scenery is noted for its beauty; large numbers of tourists are attracted yearly, from all parts of the country.

The more level southern section is agricultural and industrial. The Valley of the Connecticut is famed for the beauty of its farms and villages. The Weather Bureau at Concord gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 45.4; highest on record, 102; lowest, —23. Total annual precipitation is 37.51 inches.

The most outstanding of the state's educational institutions are Dartmouth College, at Hanover, and the University of New Hampshire, at Durham.

NEW JERSEY

State Capital, TRENTON

New Jersey is bounded on the north and northeast by New York, east by New York, and the Atlantic Ocean, south by the Atlantic Ocean and Delaware Bay, and west by Delaware and Pennsylvania. Its extreme length is 166 miles; its average breadth, 50 miles; land area, 7,504.8 square miles.

The surface is mountainous in the northwest, hilly in the northern and central parts, low and gently undulating in the south. The highest altitude, 1,803 feet, is at High Point, Sussex County. The mountains, a part of the Appalachian system, are the Kittatinny or Blue and the Highland Range. Between them lies the productive Kittatinny Valley, about 10 miles wide. The central part of the state is the most thickly settled and is a vast market garden for New York City and Philadelphia. The truck crops raised here are of a quality not surpassed anywhere. The average annual temperature, northern part, is 50.6 degrees; southern part, is 53.2 degrees. The highest temperature recorded was 104; the lowest —13. Total annual precipitation, northern part, is 48.5 inches; southern part, 45.0 inches.

Newark, the metropolis, has a population of 405,220 and its manufacturing industries are said to be more important in proportion to population than those of any other city in the United States. Jersey City, Hoboken, New Brunswick, Trenton and Camden are all seats of numerous manufacturing industries, their factories producing almost every kind of manufactured goods.

The state is well provided with marine transportation, as three-fourths of its border is on navigable waters. It shares with New York the Port of New York Authority; with Pennsylvania the Delaware River Joint Toll Commission. Its coast trade is extensive and its railway facilities highly developed. Its shore resorts are many, and the beaches, the finest in the country; of them Atlantic City is world-famed. Of the state's many colleges, three are outstanding: Princeton University, at Princeton; Rutgers University, at New Brunswick; and Stevens Institute of Technology, at Hoboken.

NEW MEXICO

Population 951,023 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, SANTA FE

New Mexico is bounded on the north by Colorado, east by Oklahoma and Texas, south by Texas and Mexico and west by Arizona; greatest length, north to south, 390 miles; average width, 336 miles; land area, 121,511 square miles; rank in area, fifth.

Its general surface is a region of desert plateaus, traversed by the Rocky Mountains. The valleys are generally nearly level and their soil fertile. In the southwest is a part of the "Llano Estacado" or "Stake Plain." Some of this region has been brought into use under the modern systems of "dry farming" for arid and semi-arid lands. The central western portion is drained by the Rio Grande; the eastern districts by the Pecos River. The state's average height above sea level is 5,700 feet; lowest elevation, 2,876 feet. The Weather Bureau at Albuquerque gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 55.3; highest on record, 104; lowest on record, —16 Total annual precipitation is 8.01 inches.

The state is becoming more and more popular as a health, tourist and artist resort. Santa Fe, Las Vegas and Albuquerque, provided with modern travel facilities, receive many visitors. The relics that remain from an ancient Indian civilization, including the 18 Indian pueblos, are of particular interest. Carlsbad Caverns, made a national park in 1930, and comprising 35 miles of caves and corridors, also offer attraction.

There were in the state in 1950, 41,901 Indians on reservations. Notable among the state's educational institutions are: The University of New Mexico, located at Albuquerque; The College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, at State College; The School of Mines, at Socorro.

NEW YORK

State Capital, ALBANY

New York is bounded on the north and northwest by Lake Ontario and the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, Canada, east by Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and the Atlantic Ocean, south by the Atlantic Ocean, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and west and northwest by Pennsylvania and Lake Erie. Its greatest length from north to south is 312 miles; its greatest breadth, 412 miles; land area, 47,944 square miles. The Weather Bureau at Albany gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 48.3; highest on record, 104; lowest on record, -24. Total annual precipitation is 36.92 inches.

The surface is exceedingly diversified and most of the soil very fertile, so that the state produces nearly every kind of fruit, vegetable, grain, and forage crop that can be grown in the temperate zone.

New York ranks first of all the states in manufacturing, in number of wage earners as well as value of products. New York City is the great commercial metropolis of the United States. Buffalo is the leading flour milling center of the world.

Transportation facilities are of the best. Railroads penetrate everywhere, and the state has about 200 miles of navigable ocean, lake, and river waterways. The Barge Canal, which is mainly the historic Erie Canal, connects the Great Lakes with the Hudson River, the main canal running from the Niagara River to the Hudson River at Troy, with branches to Lake Ontario at Oswego, and from the Hudson to Lake Champlain at Whitehall. Other branches connect through Lake Cayuga with Ithaca, and with Geneva on Lake Seneca. The canal permits vessels of 2,500 tons to pass, without transferring cargo, from any of the lake ports to the ocean. A Thruway for motor traffic connects New York City via Albany with Buffalo.

The Adirondack in the north and the Catskill Mountains in the east attract hundreds of thousands of tourists and campers; there are many yacht clubs along the shores of Long Island Sound, and the ocean beaches are popular. Niagara Falls, near Buffalo, attracts 1,000,000 visitors a year. New York has sixty-five state parks in which are many points of natural beauty and interest, and much of the surface of the state is dotted by over 2,000 small lakes which make popular summer resorts. Saratoga Springs is a fashionable watering place and has a famous track for horse racing. It has been developed into a modern and elaborately equipped Spa.

The state's highly developed and closely integrated system of primary and secondary education is under the control of the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York, located in Albany. It comprises 43 colleges, including 15 locally operated community colleges. Some of the most famous colleges and universities in the country are in New York State, including three with more than 20,000 students in the city of New York: Columbia University, New York University and the College of the City of New York. The Military Academy of the United States Army, in a location famed for beauty, is on the Hudson River above New York City at West Point.

NORTH CAROLINA

State Capital, RALEIGH

North Carolina is bounded on the north by Virginia, east and southeast by the Atlantic Ocean, south by South Carolina and Georgia, and west by Tennessee. Its extreme breadth from east to west is 490 miles; extreme length, 185 miles; land area, 49,097 square miles.

The surface is varied. For nearly 100 miles inland from the coast the country is level, marshy, and swampy; the soil is sandy but very fertile, well adapted to the growing of cotton, corn, apples, peaches and pears. It is estimated that there are nearly 3,000,000 acres of swamps in this region, which is known as the "Tidewater" section. Next is the middle or "Coastal Plain" section, with varied surface and fine soil. West of this is the "Piedmont" section, a fine farming region producing North Carolina's staples, cotton and tobacco, in abundance, as well as large crops of wheat and other grain. It is a land of fertile valleys and gently sloping hills, which gradually increase in altitude until they reach the mountain region in the west.

Some of the peaks in the Black Mountains and the Blue Ridge form the highest land east of the Rocky Mountains. Mt. Mitchell, the highest, is 6,684 feet. This region contains good grazing land, and much timber. The scenery is remarkably beautiful, and the climate mild. There are many islands off the northern coast and the many inlets along the shores provide a favorite resort for hunters. The Weather Bureau at Asheville gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 54.1; highest on record, 99; lowest on record, —6; total annual precipitation, 40.28 inches. With such a climate the state is a popular health and pleasure resort. Asheville is the chief resort and is the eastern gateway to the New Great Smoky Mountains National Park. The Pinehurst golf course is one of the most famous in the country.

The State University is located at Chapel Hill, Duke University, at Durham, and the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, at Raleigh.

OHIO

State Capital, COLUMBUS

Ohio is bounded on the north by Michigan and Lake Erie, east by Pennsylvania and West Virginia, south by West Virginia and Kentucky, and west by Indiana. Its greatest extent from east to west is 225 miles, from north to south, 200 miles. Its land area is 41,263 square miles, plus 3,450 miles which are in Lake Erie.

The general character of the surface is that of a plateau about 800 to 1,000 feet above sea level. Deep valleys cut by rivers and streams give the whole state a distinctively undulating surface. The soil is everywhere fertile and the state ranks high in all branches of agriculture.

Ohio has navigable waterways for the 430 miles of the Ohio, the 230 miles of lake frontage, and for 100 miles up the Muskingum River in the southeast. Rail transportation, served by 29 railroads with more than 10,000 miles of track, is heavy in all directions. The highway system exceeds 88,800 miles. Eleven airlines pass through Ohio, and there are 400 airports and landing fields.

Ohio is ranked third as an industrial state, and is first in production of many things including tires and tubes, paint, refrigerators and machine tools.

One of the interesting features of Ohio has been its political life. It is regarded as a pivotal state in many elections, and eight Presidents have been born here. Some of its institutions of higher education are Ohio State University at Columbus; Western Reserve at Cleveland; Cincinnati University at Cincinnati; Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware; Oberlin at Oberlin.

The mean average temperature is 52.7; highest on record, 103; lowest on record, -17; total annual precipitation, 36.5.

OKLAHOMA

Population 2,328,284 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma is bounded on the north by Kansas, east by Arkansas and Missouri, south and west by Texas. It is over 300 miles in width from east to west, and in length from north to south averages about 160 miles. Its land area is 69,031 square miles.

The surface is a vast, rolling plain, treeless in the west, but rising in the east to the Chautauqua, Wichita, and Ozark Mountains which are heavily wooded. The Arkansas and Red Rivers are navigable for boats of light draft for some distance into the state. The prevailing type of soil is a deep, dark red loam. The climate is variable and the rainfall in the west is scanty, though it is generally sufficient in the east. Dry farming is extensively practiced in the western section. The Weather Bureau at Oklahoma City gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 60.1, highest on record, 113; lowest on record, -17. The total annual precipitation is 31.65 inches.

The Indian Territory, which was combined with Oklahoma Territory to form the state, was the home of the Cherokee, Creek, Choctaw, Chickasaw and Seminole Indians. The descendants in 1950 numbered 53,769, according to the census.

The development of petroleum in the state dates from about the beginning of the century. In 1951, Texas, California and Louisiana ranked higher in production of crude petroleum, Oklahoma occupying fourth place.

Among the institutions of higher education in the state are the University of Oklahoma, located at Norman, and the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College at Stillwater.

OREGON

Population 1,768,687 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, SALEM

Oregon is bounded on the north by Washington, east by Idaho, south by Nevada and California, and west by the Pacific Ocean. Its width east and west is 395 miles; length north and south is 295 miles; land area, 96,350 square miles; rank in area, tenth.

It is divided unequally by the Cascade Mountains. East of this range the surface is generally undulating table land, with high, cone-like hills and deep canyons. Between the Cascade and Coast ranges is the Willamette valley, 60 miles wide by 150 miles long and exceedingly fertile; from the coast range westward the surface is mountainous, hilly, and broken. Dairying, wool growing, stock raising, and the growing of filberts, winter wheat, barley, oats, and hay all flourish. The state has every character of climate, soil and production known to the temperate zone.

The fruit industry is among the most important in the country, particularly pears and apples, which are shipped to eastern markets. Prune growing and drying is also an important industry. The Weather Bureau at Portland gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 53.1; highest on record, 107; lowest on record, -2; total annual precipitation, 41.62 inches.

Several irrigation projects are located in the stretches of semi-arid lands in the southeast. The Owyhee Dam, one of the highest in the world, is the key of a great reclamation project and provides water for 101,476 acres near the Idaho line.

The Columbia River, on the north, carries tonnage along the whole of its 400 miles from the Idaho line, and flows into the Pacific with a width of fourteen miles at its mouth, making one of the finest harbors in the world. The Snake River, on the east, also conveys much traffic. The salmon fisheries at Astoria at the mouth of the Columbia are among the world's greatest.

Oregon has almost half of more than one trillion feet of timber standing in the three coast states, Oregon, Washington, and California. For timber cut it ranks first. Its great Columbia Highway, unexcelled for scenic beauty, Mt. Hood, and the unique Crater Lake, are points of tourist interest. Also the Malheur Wildlife Refuge, perhaps the greatest migratory bird refuge in the United States. The State University is located at Eugene; the State Agricultural College at Corvallis.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), thirty-second. Urban population (1960), 62.2%. In 1960, of the 1,768,687 total population, 1,732,037 were white; 36,650 were non-white.

PENNSYLVANIA

State Capital, HARRISBURG

Pennsylvania is bounded on the north by New York and Lake Erie, east by New York and New Jersey, south by Delaware, Maryland, and West Virginia, and west by West Virginia and Ohio. Its greatest breadth from east to west is about 302 miles; its greatest length about 175 miles. Its land area is 45,045 square miles.

The surface is varied, chiefly level and slightly undulating in the east and northwest, mountainous in the interior. The Appalachian range traverses the state from northeast to southwest. In these mountains are many of the state's popular summer and health resorts. The Susquehanna, Delaware, Alleghany and Monongahela are rivers important in drainage or navigation.

Philadelphia is one of the principal ports for foreign and coastwise trade, one of the most important manufacturing cities, and with Chester, one of the chief ship-building stations. Erie and Pittsburgh are also great commercial centers. The Pittsburgh area, Johnstown, Bethlehem and Greater Philadelphia are the chief centers of steel production. Pennsylvania leads all other states in capacity for producing ingots and steel for castings, accounting for over one quarter of the national total. It leads the Nation in the production of cement, coke and coke by-products, in many manufactures, and has a virtual monopoly in the production of anthracite in the region surrounding Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and Pottsville.

There is a wide diversification of agriculture in the state, the principal agricultural counties being Lancaster, York, Chester and Berks. Lancaster and York counties are the principal tobacco raising localities. Lancaster county probably producing more of it than any other county in the United States.

The Weather Bureau at Philadelphia gives the temperature as: highest on record, 106; lowest on record, -11; average annual precipitation, 41.52 inches.

In educational facilities the state ranks high, many of the important colleges and universities of the east being located here. They include the University of Pennsylvania and Temple University, at Philadelphia; University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Institute of Technology, both at Pittsburgh; Pennsylvania State University at State College; and Bryn Mawr, at Bryn Mawr.

It is fourth largest retailing and manufacturing center and fifth largest wholesaling center and the second largest port in the United States. A belt line RR connects the three great trunk line systems with the 194 piers and wharves which have a total berthing space of 190,000 linear feet. 99 piers and wharves are equipped with railroad tracks. 81 are municipally owned; 7 are owned by the Federal Government. The port has three coal tipples with a capacity of 112,500 tons in 24 hours, three fully equipped ore unloading piers with unloading capacity up to 5,600 tons per hour, pier, wharf and floating derricks with capacities up to 100 tons. Two grain elevators with storage capacity of 4-725,000 bushels, six oil docks with storage capacity of 9,900,000 barrels. There are 81 warehouses with a capacity of approximately 13,576,000 square feet for storage. Also 9 cold storage warehouses with a capacity of 11,944,000 cubic feet. The port facilities, in conjunction with the railroads, make it possible to trans- fer freight from any railroad point in the country direct to any steamship wharf in the city and vice versa. In 1959 there were 4,292 industrial plants in the city, which produced goods valued at $5,496,814,000. The leading industries, based on value added by manufacture, were chemicals, food, electrical machinery, and printing and publishing. Leading employer was the apparel trades.

A large percentage of the Building and Loan Associations in the country are located here. Philadelphia is noted for its places of historical interest; the next to largest municipal park in the country, residential suburbs with beautiful homes, and as a medical and educational center. Here are the University of Pennsylvania and many other institutions of higher learning, including trade, business and medical and professional schools. Three suspension bridges connect Philadelphia with New Jersey and the seashore resorts.
Twenty banks. Federal Reserve Bank. Deposits (12-31-60), $6,528,990,600. 616,449 (res.) electric meters; 803,470 (res.) gas meters; 535,885 (res.) tele-phones. Three TV stations.

PUERTO RICO

Capital, SAN JUAN

Puerto Rico lies between 65° and 68° west longitude and 16° and 19° North latitude. San Juan, the capital, is 225 miles east of the Island of Santo Domingo-Haiti, and 1,399 miles southeast of New York. The Island is 95 miles long and 35 miles wide, has an area of 3,428 square miles, and a coast line of about 345 miles. The territory includes also a number of smaller islands, among them Vieques Island and Culebra Island, at the east and Mona Island at the west. Puerto Rico is the easternmost island of the Greater Antilles, and one of a chain of islands extending from the tip of Florida to the coast of Venezuela.

Few areas of the United States afford such a delightful climate as Puerto Rico. Its location within the trade-wind belt and its mountainous surface make it one of the most favorable regions in the tropics. The climate is warm, but excessive temperatures do not occur. The Weather Bureau at San Juan (1960-61), gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 76.5; highest on record, 96.0; lowest on record, 51. Total annual precipitation is 62.97 inches.

There are two good harbors: San Juan on the north coast, Ponce on the south.

POPULATION

The average number of inhabitants to the square mile in 1960 was 686.8, making it one of the most densely populated agricultural areas in the world. The population has generally shown a steady increase; 44.2% being urban and 55.8% rural.

AGRICULTURE

The land resources of Puerto Rico are not great. Only 845,000 acres, according to Soil Conservation Service estimates, are well adapted to permanent agricultural use, of which three fourths require complex or intensive soil conservation practices.

Chemical fertilizer is used generally in the growing of sugar cane, tobacco and other field crops. Agriculture, nevertheless, is the most important source of income and employment. Agricultural produce has contributed in all years the great bulk of total exports. In 1960-61, 23.14% of the persons gainfully employed, derived their livelihood from agriculture.

Sugar cane production is the foundation on which the economic structure of the Island is based. It is the largest single source of employment. 38.9% of the gainful workers in agriculture are employed in sugar cane farming. In 1960-61 fiscal year sugar production was 1,104,410 tons.

Tobacco continues to hold an important place in Puerto Rico's economy. It represents the only source of cash income for many small farm growers. Cultivation of tobacco expanded rapidly until market difficulties introduced a period of decline. In 1960-61 the tobacco crop, grown under quota, reached a total of 275,000 hundredweights.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS

Trade is chiefly with the continental United States. Because Puerto Rico is an integral part of the United States, there are no tariff barriers and it is as easy to transact business as it is in any of the states. The banking system is the same and there is no difficulty in obtaining credit ratings. Practically all the business men speak English. Puerto Rico buys more merchandise per capita from the continental United States than any country in the world, except Canada.

Shipments from the United States mainland in 1960-61 were $754,435,267. Chief imports from the mainland: vegetable food products and beverages; textile fibers and manufactures; animals and animal products; metals and manufactures (including machinery and vehicles); chemicals and related products; non-metallic minerals; wood and paper; dairy products; also fish, rice, wheat flour, dried beans, rubber products, cigarettes, manufactured cotton goods, petroleum, glass, cement, automobile parts and accessories, medicinal and pharmaceutical preparations.

Shipments to the mainland during 1960-61 totaled $661,172,607. Of this figure sugar and its by-products (rum, alcohol, molasses, acetone, butyl alcohol, bay rum), account for $150,546,645. Other exports: pineapples, tobacco, coconuts, needlework, electronic and pharmaceutical products.

Exports of coconuts in the shell in 1960-61 amounted to $637,222. Fresh pineapple exports were $1,583,430; canned pineapple exports, $1,408,820. Cucumbers, tomatoes and peppers are the principal vegetable crops exported from Puerto Rico.

MISCELLANEOUS

Mineral production in 1959-60 had a value of approximately $18,800,000. Cement is the principal mineral product.

Puerto Rico is making great strides in her economic and social life. A network of over 3,090 miles of hard-surfaced roads serves all cities and towns of the Island. Motor vehicle registration (1960-61), was 202,803. Not one of the Island's twelve ports is more than five hours distant by motor vehicle from any important community.

The unusual panoramas of mountains, valleys, tropical seas and white beaches provide a very fascinating attraction on a tour of the Island. Old-world splendor is found in its cathedrals. Towns are of quaint atmosphere, enlivened by new industrial plants, homes and public buildings, which are the result of the current development program. Old historic forts are of much interest. A considerable variety of tourist accommodations is available. First-class hotels, apartments with restaurants, and smaller but modern and well maintained establishments are worthy of mention. Visitors to the Island need fear none of the illness of other tropical areas.

The majority of new homes in the Island are detached and built of reinforced concrete. Electric or gas cooking facilities are available. There are (6-30-61), 443,932 electric meters; 19,918 gas meters in the commonwealth. Telephone service is supplied at a reasonable rate. Number of telephones (6-30-61), 89,892. Number of post offices (6-30-61), 113. Total bank deposits (6-30-61), $677,000,000. The United States Armed Forces operate a radio station at San Juan. There are also 34 commercial radio stations and 9 television stations.

The educational system is much like that found elsewhere in the United States. Spanish and English are taught and spoken in the classroom. The University of Puerto Rico is a land-grant college offering a variety of undergraduate and graduate programs.

Under the Constitution put into effect July 25, 1952, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico is governed by a Legislative Assembly of 27 Senators and 51 Representatives from 8 senatorial districts, 40 representative districts, and 11 of each at large; an Executive Branch headed by a Governor and eight Secretaries; and a Judicial Branch administered by the Supreme Court, consisting of a Chief Justice and 6 Associate Justices. The Government plans public works in support of industry and greater development of modern agriculture techniques. Wages and the standard of living are lower than on the mainland.

RHODE ISLAND

Population 859,488 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, PROVIDENCE

Rhode Island is bounded on the north and east by Massachusetts, south by the Atlantic Ocean, and west by Connecticut. Its extreme length from north to south is 47 miles; extreme breadth, 88 miles; land area, 1,057 square miles; smallest state in area.

Beyond the Narragansett basin, the surface is mostly rough, hilly, and stony. There are no mountains and few hills of any altitude. About two-thirds of the land area is woodland. The Weather Bureau at Providence gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 50.6; highest on record, 102; lowest on record, -17. Mean annual precipitation is 39.41 inches.

Newport, on Narragansett Bay, is one of the most famous of America's watering places and is noted for the palatial homes built there by wealthy patrons. Rhode Island State University, located at Kingston, and Brown University, at Providence, are important among the state's institutions of higher education.

Rhode Island has the third largest per capita industrial output of all the states. It is more than eighty per cent urban, has the densest population of all the states, 748 persons to the square mile, and exerts influence out of all proportion to its size and population. Providence, the capital, Woonsocket and Pawtucket are the chief industrial centers. About a third of the state's manufactures are devoted to textiles; the manufacture of jewelry and metal products is highly important as well. Providence is an important oil port, rail center, and center of wholesale trade.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), thirty-ninth. Urban population (1960), 87.5%. In 1960, of the 859,488 total population, 838,712 were white, 20,776 were non-white.

AGRICULTURE

Number of farms (1959), 1,395. Farm acreage, 137,930. Average acreage per farm, 98.9. Average value per farm, $32,433. Farms selling products over $10,000 in value, 584.

Cash receipts from farm marketings (1960): crops, $7,157,000; livestock and products (includes meat animals, dairy products, poultry and eggs), $14,518,000.

Value of sales of chief crops (1960): potatoes, $2,970,000; hay, $105,000.

Value of sales of fruits (noncitrus) (1960): apples, $324,000; peaches, $43,000.

Farm value of animals on farms (1-1-61): all cattle and calves, $5,160,000; hogs and pigs, $301,000; all sheep and lambs, $32,000.

Cash receipts from poultry (1960): eggs, $3,336,000; chickens (farm and commercial broilers), $1,337,000; turkeys, $161,000.

Cash receipts from dairy products (1960): all milk and cream, $7,813,000. Total milk production on farms, 124,000,000 lbs. Dairy products (1960), ice cream, 2,774,000 gallons.

FISHERIES

Total catch (1959), 117,793,000 lbs.; $4,285,000 value. Principal fish: clams, flounder, porgy, butterfish, menhaden.

MANUFACTURES

Statistics for 1958: value added by manufacture, $764,321,000. Leading industry groups: miscellaneous manufactures (including ordnance), textile mill products, machinery (except electrical). Total expenditures for new plant and new equipment, $29,923,000.

Final figures for value added by manufacture in each of the leading industry groups are available through Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

MINERALS

Value of production (1958), $2,249,000. Principal minerals in order of value: sand and gravel, stone, graphite.

MISCELLANEOUS

SOUTH CAROLINA

State Capital, COLUMBIA

South Carolina is bounded on the north and northeast by North Carolina, southeast by the Atlantic Ocean, west and southwest by Georgia. Its greatest breadth from east to west is about 275 miles, and its greatest length about 210 miles; land area, 31,055 square miles.

The surface presents nearly the same features as North Carolina, a wide sand belt along the coast, then a tract of sand hills, then rising land westward to the Blue Ridge Mountains. The highest peak, Sassafras Mountain, is 3,548 feet above the sea. The climate in the western section is comparatively cool, the central part medium, and the coast warm and humid. The Weather Bureau at Charleston gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 66.0; highest on record, 104; lowest on record, 7. Total annual precipitation is 45.22 inches.

The coast is indented with several harbors, Charleston, the most important one, being a prominent coast-wise and foreign shipping point. Agriculture is the state's leading occupation, with cotton the principal money crop, followed by corn, tobacco, tame hay, oats, and sweet potatoes. The University of South Carolina at Columbia and Clemson Agricultural College, lead among the institutions of higher learning.

SOUTH DAKOTA

State Capital, PIERRE

South Dakota is bounded on the north by North Dakota, east by Minnesota and Iowa, south by Nebraska, and west by Montana and Wyoming. Its breadth, east to west, is nearly 380 miles; length about 240 miles; its land area is 77,047 square miles.

The Missouri River, which drains most of the state, has depth enough for boats up to six hundred tons burden. East of the Missouri the state is mostly rolling prairie, and a succession of fertile valleys are highly productive in the growing of corn, wheat, and other grains and vegetables. West of the river the land is more broken, with rich mining land in the southwestern or Black Hills region, a mountain district that is nearly 5,000 square miles in extent. It is largely forested and rich in mineral wealth. Westward from the Missouri River to the Wyoming line, in the entire west river area, are the best grazing lands. The Weather Bureau at Huron gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 43.6; highest on record 111; lowest on record, —48; total annual precipitation, 20.65 inches.

A feature of the state is the large area in Indian reservations—the Rosebud, Cheyenne River, Crow Creek, Pine Ridge, and the Lower Brule. In 1950 Indians numbered 23,344.

Another feature is the Mount Rushmore National Memorial, of which the first unit, a sixty-foot head of George Washington, was unveiled in 1930. Other units completed in the ensuing decade are the heads of Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln, and Theodore Roosevelt. These are all on the face of Mount Rushmore (altitude, 6,200 feet; with 1,686 acres).

The Black Hills National Forest covers 1,134,167 acres, nearly surrounding Custer State Park. The state university is located at Vermillion; South Dakota State College is at Brookings.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), forty-first. Urban population (1960), 39.3%. In 1960, of the 680,514 total population, 653,098 were white; 27,416 were non-white.

AGRICULTURE

Number of farms (1959), 55,726. Farm acreage, 44,840,445. Average acreage per farm, 804.7. Average value per farm, $41,610. Farms selling products over $10,000 in value, 15,067.

TEXAS

State Capital, AUSTIN

Texas, second in size among the states, is bounded on the north by New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arkansas, east by Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana, southeast by the Gulf of Mexico, southwest by Mexico, and west by New Mexico. Its greatest length is about 740 miles; greatest breadth, 625 miles; land area, 263,513 square miles, rank in area, second.

The surface is greatly diversified. From the Sabine River to the Trinity River extends the great timber region of Texas, generally level and sandy in the south, rolling and fertile in the north. From the Trinity to the Colorado is prairie, timbered along the streams, with extensive forests of live oak, extending through central and western Texas to the Red River, called the "Cross Timbers." Four-fifths of western Texas, between the Colorado and the Rio Grande, is prairie. Big Bend National Park, in Brewster County, is noted for its unusual, rugged beauty.

Between the Colorado and the Brazos Rivers are the Comanche and Leon River Mountain Ranges. In the north and northwest are the Church and Double Mountains, the surface rising gradually until the Llano Estacado, or Staked Plains, are reached. These form a large portion of the section known as the "Panhandle," and the natural vegetation consists chiefly of grass. There is some farming in this district, but the chief industry here and in the whole northwestern part of the state is stock raising. Between the Pecos and the Rio Grande are several ranges, some as high as 5,000 feet. The Weather Bureau at Houston gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 69.2; highest on record, 108; lowest on record, 5; total annual precipitation, 45.95 inches. At Fort Worth the annual monthly mean is 65.6; highest on record, 112; lowest on record, -8; total annual precipitation, 31.87 inches.

Almost every variety of plant grown in temperate and sub-tropical regions can be raised successfully in Texas. The principal crop, however, is cotton, its value amounting yearly to more than the rest of its crops together and more than the cotton crop of any other state.

Its mineral wealth is also great. Of chief importance is petroleum, which underlies vast areas of its surface. Crude petroleum production in 1953 was 1,079,371,000 barrels. Oil refining forms the state's leading industry, followed by wholesale meat packing and the manufacture of cottonseed oil and meal. The gas wells in the Amarillo district are the chief source of helium supply in the country. Texas leads in railroad mileage with a trackage of 15,611 in 1950.

Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College is located at College Station. The University of Texas at Austin is well known along lines of research, especially in geology. With the United States Geological Survey, it was responsible for the discovery of potash in an inland salt sea in the northwest.

Houston, the converging point of railroads, Galveston, Beaumont, Port Arthur and Corpus Christi are important seaports.

Population 890,627 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, SALT LAKE CITY

Utah is bounded on the north by Idaho and Wyoming, east by Wyoming and Colorado, south by Arizona and west by Nevada. Its length, north to south, is about 350 miles, its width about 200 miles, land area 82,346 square miles.

Being in the Rocky Mountain region, Utah has a surface that is generally mountainous. It is, on an average, nearly 6,000 feet above sea level and much of it is a plateau broken by valleys and basins. The Wahsatch Mountains and the Uintas divide the state into two portions, that lying to the north and west in the interior basin, from which there is no drainage, and that to the south and east which forms part of the scenic basin of the Colorado River. In the Uinta range some of the peaks rise to a height of 13,500 feet. Great Salt Lake, noted for its extremely high percentage of salt, lies in the northwestern part of the state at an altitude of 4,218 feet and with an area of 2,360 square miles.

The climate is dry, stimulating and the weather exceptionally clear, with cloudless skies 300 days a year. The Weather Bureau at Salt Lake City gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 50.9; highest on record, 106; lowest on record, -30. Total annual precipitation is 13.45 inches.

Mountains and grazing lands comprise about two-thirds of the state, the wooded area about 7,000,000 acres. Most of the latter is situated in the National Forests. The area of land under cultivation is relatively small, although agriculture was the principal source of wealth prior to the last decade. Manufacturing, the development of oil and natural gas, as well as copper and uranium, have now become industries of major importance.

The mineral resources of Utah, which include every known mineral but platinum, are highly valuable. Semi-precious stones are found in large quantities and high grade marble and onyx are quarried.

Sixty-nine percent of all church members in Utah are Mormons or Latter Day Saints. This faith and the great Tabernacle in Salt Lake City are distinguishing features of Utah. Much of the early development of the state is due to the pioneering of the Mormons who fled to its religious security when it was little more than a wilderness. In Salt Lake City, also, is located the State University. Utah has eleven national parks and monuments of great scenic beauty, of which Zion and Bryce Canyons are the better known. The Great American Desert lies in the northwestern part of the state.

VERMONT

Population 389,881 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, MONTPELIER

Vermont is bounded on the north by Quebec, Canada, on the east by New Hampshire, south by Massachusetts, and west by New York. It is 143 miles long, from 40 to 85 miles wide, has a land area of 9,278 square miles.

The Green Mountains, by whose name the state is so often called, traverse it from north to south, as do the Taconic Mountains. These are generally covered with forests but afford excellent pasturage, an important feature in Vermont, for here is found the highest per capita gross farm income from dairy products in the Union. In this state is found, too, the largest quantity of maple sugar, its millions of maple trees producing maple products that give it first rank in quantity and a reputation for quality. East and west of the central mountains lie beautiful stretches of countryside. The best soil is found in the valley lands of the Connecticut River and on the western slope of the mountains near Lake Champlain. This body of water stretches for a hundred and twenty miles along the state's west boundary, and its picturesqueness, along with the rugged mountains and many streams, attracts many visitors to Vermont annually who find it desirable as a summer residence region and an ideal vacation spot.

The chief mineral wealth of Vermont lies in its quarries. It leads all states in production of granite and marble.

The Weather Bureau at Burlington gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 45.1; highest on record, 101; lowest on record, —29. Total annual precipitation is 31.61 inches.

The University of Vermont at Burlington, Middlebury College, and Norwich University at Northfield, are the leading institutions of learning.

VIRGINIA

State Capital, RICHMOND

Virginia, the Old Dominion State, is bounded on the north by West Virginia and Maryland, east by Maryland and the Atlantic Ocean, south by North Carolina and Tennessee, and west by Kentucky and West Virginia. Its greatest breadth from east to west is about 440 miles, its greatest length 192 miles, land area 39,893 square miles.

The surface is divided into several natural divisions: the Tidewater, comprising the south and southeast, its soil yielding large crops of vegetables and small fruits; an extensive tableland in the center part rising to the mountains in the west; the Piedmont, the Blue Ridge and the Appalachian regions noted for their grasses; and the Shenandoah Valley region which has a rich fertile soil adapted to the growing of cereal grains, particularly corn, wheat, oats and rye. Both the Piedmont and Shenandoah areas are noted for the high quality and variety of the apple orchards.

Much of the mountain region is uncultivated, being forested with a variety of trees. Among them are valuable hardwoods, and the export of lumber is an important industry.

Of outstanding interest is Virginia's rich historical background. In the state are found the home of George Washington at Mt. Vernon, of Thomas Jefferson at Monticello, Arlington National Cemetery, Appomattox, and Old Surrender Field at Yorktown where Lord Cornwallis laid down his arms in 1781. Thousands of visitors are yearly attracted to these shrines and to Williamsburg, the restored colonial capital.

In Newport News is a large shipbuilding plant. In Hampton Roads the United States maintains a navy yard, and Fortress Monroe, between Chesapeake Bay and the James River, dominates the waterways.

The state has some noted as well as very old institutions of learning. Naming only a few, William and Mary College, second oldest in the country, founded in 1693, is located at Williamsburg; Washington and Lee University at Lexington and the University of Virginia, founded by Jefferson, at Charlottesville.

Among watering places, Virginia's Hot Springs is famous as a center of year-round social activity. The climate of the state varies with the topography, the Weather Bureau at Richmond giving the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 57.5; highest degree on record, 107; lowest, -8; total annual precipitation, 42.02 inches.

VIRGIN ISLANDS

Population 32,099 (U. S. Census, 1960)

Capital, CHARLOTTE AMALIE

(For map see Puerto Rico)

The Virgin Islands are situated about 40 miles east of Puerto Rico, and the capital, Charlotte Amalie, is 1,442 miles from New York. They consist of three principal islands: St. Thomas, area 88 square miles; St. Croix, 80 square miles; St. John, 21 square miles, and about fifty smaller ones.

They were purchased from Denmark in 1917, for $25,000,000, and, although they had been in the possession of that country for over 200 years, the language of the people is English.

Fanned by the steady trade winds, the Islands have an agreeable year-round climate despite their tropical location. They possess the physical beauty, charm and hospitality of the West Indies, and are realizing an increasing revenue from tourist trade. Tourist expenditures for the fiscal year 1959-60 were approximately $24,700,000. Of the 203,400 visitors, some 49,000 arrived by cruise ship. In addition to such regularly scheduled cruise ships, three airlines operate weekly passenger service to the Islands.

There is a public highway system, but the dearth of hard-surfaced roads remains a major problem. The second urgent requirement of the Virgin Islands is for improved housing. Such economic problems have been attacked and the people are gradually advancing in the techniques and principles of American democracy.

POPULATION

The population (1960) for St. Croix, 14,973; St. Thomas, 16,201; St. John, 925. Nearly 95% are wholly or partly Negro.

AGRICULTURE

The land in farms is 52.2% of the area of the Islands. According to the census of 1960 there were 501 farms containing 44,062 acres. Land and buildings were valued at $64,289,529. Average acreage per farm, 87.9. Average value per farm, $128,322.

Agriculture is the chief economic activity, with sugar as the basic industry. The total cane crop in 1960 was 104,540 tons.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS

Trade is carried on mainly with the United States. Total imports (1959): $33,642,297; exports: $6,273,623. A continuous effort is being made to reduce the unfavorable trade balance, which will result in better economic stability. Limited natural resources, few industries, and small population makes this a difficult problem.

Cane sugar, alcoholic beverages, containers and cattle are the chief exports, foodstuffs, house furnishings, and machinery the chief imports.

MISCELLANEOUS

Marked advances have been made in educational fields, and in the economic and social life of the people through the expenditure of government funds. As of June, 1960, there were 29 public schools with an attendance of 6,849.

Air transportation is an increasingly important factor in commerce. In 1959 there were 13,373 landings and 220,919 passengers brought in to the Virgin Islands.

There was an increase in the number of ships entering the port of St. Thomas in the fiscal year 1960 compared with 1959. In 1960 there were 438 merchant ships, with a gross tonnage of 4,036,094.

Modern telephone facilities are in operation on St. Thomas and St. Croix, with 4,200 telephones in service as of 8-31-61. The first radio station in the Islands was established at Charlotte Amalie August 1, 1950. A second is also operating on the island of St. Croix. Motor vehicles of all kinds registered (1959-60), 5,693. Number of post offices (1960), 5. Daily air mail service.

WASHINGTON

State Capital, OLYMPIA

Washington is bounded on the north by British Columbia, Canada, west by the Pacific Ocean, east by Idaho and south by Oregon. Its average breadth, east to west, is 330 miles, length 220 miles, land area 66,786 square miles.

The Cascade Mountains divide the state into an eastern and a western section, which contrast markedly in characteristics. A distinguishing feature of the western section is Puget Sound, with 1,594 miles of shore line and many harbors, among them the important cities of Seattle, Tacoma, Everett and Olympia. From its ports go extensive shipping and much passenger travel, to Asia, Alaska and points reached by means of the Panama Canal. Lumbering is the leading industry, western Washington being heavily wooded. The state has standing timber of about 330 billion board feet and ranks third in the nation in timber cut. Coal mining, near Puget Sound, and commercial fishing are other important industries.

The valleys are productive in vegetables, hops, and especially fruit growing. East of the Cascades wheat is grown and in the valleys are great ranges providing winter grazing. In the dry portions, extensive developments in irrigation are notable.

The shore resorts of the state are popular, especially along Puget Sound. Many of the mountain peaks rise to great heights. Mt. Rainier with an altitude of 14,408 feet is the fourth highest peak in the United States. It is in the center of a national park—the most popular tourist attraction of the State. The University of Washington is located in Seattle. The Weather Bureau at Seattle gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 52.0; highest on record, 100; lowest, 3; total annual precipitation, 33.28 inches.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), twenty-third. Urban population (1960), 68.3%. In 1960, of the 2,853,214 total population, 2,751,675 were white, 101,539 were non-white.

WEST VIRGINIA

State Capital, CHARLESTON

West Virginia is bounded on the north and east by Pennsylvania and Maryland, east and south by Virginia, and west by Kentucky and Ohio. Its greatest length from north to south is about 240 miles; greatest breadth, 160 miles; land area, 24,080 square miles.

The surface of West Virginia's rivers is estimated at 135 square miles, for many navigable tributaries of the Ohio River flow through the state. Transportation on the Ohio in the west is heavy. A large part of the land is mountainous and hilly, about two-thirds covered with forests. West Virginia ranks sixth in production of hardwood and has vast timber wealth. The soil of the mountain ridges is fertile to the tops, and the summits of many mountains are flat, natural meadows.

The valley of the great Kanawha is the finest grazing region in the state. No finer blue grass farms exist than those of the central, northern and Greenbrier sections. The soil is well adapted to the production of apples, peaches and other fruits, although agriculture in the state is not so important. The most valuable mineral resource of the state is its coal. The same Appalachian vein that supplies Pennsylvania gives West Virginia, too, coal of highest quality. Next to Pennsylvania it ranks highest among the states in the value of coal produced. The state also ranks high in the production of glassware, in steel works and rolling-mill products.

The University of West Virginia is located at Morgantown. White Sulphur Springs, in the eastern part of the state, is a popular health resort, with a famous golf course. The Weather Bureau at Parkersburg gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 54.3; highest on record, 106; lowest on record, -27; total annual precipitation, 39.41 inches.

POPULATION

Rank among the states (1960), thirtieth. Urban population (1960), 38.2%. In 1960, of the 1,860,421 total population, 1,770,133 were white; 90,288 were non-white.

AGRICULTURE

Number of farms (1959), 44,011. Farm acreage, 6,062,354. Average acreage per farm, 137.7. Average value per farm, $10,048. Farms selling products over $10,000 in value, 2,084.

Cash receipts from farm marketings (1960): crops, $22,464,000; livestock and products (includes meat animals, dairy products, poultry and eggs), $83,762,000.

Value of sales of chief crops (1960): tobacco (value of production), $2,361,000; corn, $1,845,000; hay, $1,431,000; potatoes, $753,000; wheat, $721,000.

Value of sales of fruits (noncitrus) (1960): apples, $10,252,000, rank, seventh; peaches, $1,476,000; pears, $50,000.

Farm value of animals on farms (1-1-61): all cattle and calves, $63,720,000; all sheep and lambs, $4,162,000; hogs and pigs, $2,138,000.

Cash receipts from poultry (1960): chickens (farm and commercial broilers), $14,475,000; eggs, $11,679,000; turkeys, $3,070,000.

Cash receipts from dairy products (1960): all milk and cream, $23,797,000. Total milk production on farms, 482,000,000 lbs. Dairy products (1960): creamed cottage cheese, 6,178,000 lbs.; creamery butter, 123,000 lbs.; ice cream, 5,411,000 gallons.

MANUFACTURES

Statistics for 1958: value added by manufacture, $1,213,154,000. Leading industry groups: chemicals and allied products, primary metal industries, stone, clay, and glass products. Total expenditures for new plant and new equipment, $164,179,000.

Final figures for value added by manufacture in each of the leading industry groups are available through Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

MINERALS

Value of production (1958), $749,784,000, rank, sixth. Principal minerals in order of value: coal, natural gas, natural gas liquids, sand and gravel.

WISCONSIN

State Capital, MADISON

Wisconsin is bounded on the north by Lake Superior, northeast by Michigan, east by Lake Michigan, south by Illinois and west by Iowa and Minnesota. Its greatest length from north to south is 300 miles, greatest breadth 260 miles, land area 54,705 square miles.

The surface is generally rolling, typical of the glaciated area, with high bluffs along the Mississippi and Wisconsin Rivers. Most of the 8,500 lakes are in the northern recreational area, although virtually all parts of the state have some. Large areas of this once great timberland were laid waste by ruthless cutting and fire, but today public and private planting have largely rebuilt them. The Mississippi, the Wisconsin with its more than 50 dams, and the Fox are the great working rivers, but the Chippewa, Flambeau and Rock are also well known. The state is a tourist mecca for fishing and boating; waterfowl, deer and bear are hunted in the fall.

With more dairy cattle than people, Wisconsin leads in the production of milk, powdered milk, condensed milk and cheese. It excels in the production and canning of green peas, sweet corn, and beans, is noted for its Door County cherries and Wisconsin Valley cranberries.

Manufacturing is strongest in the heavy industries, although Wisconsin is best known for its manufacture of beer, paper, and farm tractors. Many foreign ships dock at Milwaukee and Green Bay each year, and Superior shares the fabulous iron ore shipments of the open pit mines of Minnesota.

The University of Wisconsin located at Madison is best known of the 12 publicly-supported degree-granting colleges. The Weather Bureau at Madison gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 46.1; highest on record, 107; lowest on record, -29; total annual precipitation, 31.15 inches.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Population: 1956 Census, 1,398,464

Provincial Capital, VICTORIA

British Columbia is bounded on the north by the parallel of 60° north, on the west by the Pacific Ocean and Alaska, on the south by the 49th parallel (the boundary of the United States), on the east by Alberta. The area is 366,255 square miles. This includes a number of islands, the largest being Vancouver, which contains the capital of the province, and has an area of about 12,000 square miles. The province is about 700 miles long and 500 miles wide. The rainfall, except in some limited districts in the southeast, is abundant. There is unlimited water power everywhere. The surface is mountainous and densely wooded with trees of enormous size. The wonderful scenery of the Canadian Rockies and of the lakes and rivers attracts thousands of tourists each year. Vancouver is one of the leading ports in exporting grain and lumber.

NEWFOUNDLAND

Above includes the population of Labrador, 10,814

Provincial Capital, ST. JOHN'S

(For map see New Brunswick)

Newfoundland, a large island, lies to the eastward of the mainland of the Dominion of Canada, in the Atlantic Ocean. It is separated from the mainland by the Straits of Belle Isle, the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Cabot Straits. It is the oldest English colony, is about the size of the State of Virginia. Newfoundland is bounded on the east, north and south by the Atlantic Ocean, and on the west by the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Its extreme length is 350 miles; average breadth, 180 miles; area, 43,359 square miles. The topography is generally rugged with many lakes and rivers. The central and eastern portion of the interior is thinly wooded and consists in part of elevated plains called "barrens." The river valleys and the western part of the Island are thickly timbered.

Labrador is a Newfoundland dependency. It has a coastline of 850 miles, adds approximately 113,000 square miles to the area of the Province. Most of the inhabitants are Eskimos engaged in the cod and seal fisheries, and during the winter months in trapping.

The climate is healthful and more temperate than that of the neighboring continents. The Gulf Stream modifies the cold and the temperature is rarely below zero in the winter, and in the summer seldom exceeds 80° F. The heat from open fireplaces is sufficient to warm the houses. Winter usually sets in the first of December and lasts until the middle of April. The autumn, a period of fine weather, often lasts until November. Thunderstorms are rare, tornadoes unknown, and the fogs are confined to the shores and bays of the southeastern and southern coasts. Only 1600 miles from Ireland, Newfoundland is a vital outpost for both air travel and defense.

POPULATION

Province rank, ninth. Increase over 1951, 14.8%. Rural residents in 1956, 55%.

AGRICULTURE

Number of farms (1956), 2,387; owner operated, 2,223; with electricity (1951), 1,383. Average acreage per farm, 30.08. The most suitable areas for farming are in the Codroy Valley, Bay St. George, Humber Valley and the Avalon Peninsula. The principal crops grown are timothy hay, oats, barley, potatoes, turnips, cabbage, beets, carrots, parsnips and small fruits.

Value of livestock (1951): all cattle and calves, $2,059,340; horses, $621,425; sheep and lambs, $572,886; hogs, $88,595. Total value of livestock, poultry and bees, $3,581,985. The livestock population in 1951 included: horses, 13,335; cattle, 13,864; sheep, 73,639; swine, 2,990; goats, 6,054; poultry, 84,486.

Value of production of fruits (1959): blueberries, $105,000.

FISHERIES

Fisheries constitute the principal industry of the Island. Total value in 1959 was $31,675,200, an increase of $5,929,400 over 1958. The most important fish, commercially, is the cod ($20,504,000 in 1959) and the Newfoundland cod fisheries are said to be the most extensive of their kind in the world. Modernization has reached the fishing industry, the trend is now to big diesel craft, to fresh-frozen fish packing instead of hand salting. The seal fishery is also important and in 1959 the catch totalled 31,669 seals. Lobsters are in abundance while haddock, salmon, rosefish, herring, flounders, greysole, squid, scallops and mackerel, etc., are caught on an extensive scale. The whaling industry is also carried on fairly extensively, the catch in 1959 being 1,763.

FURS

Total fur farms (12-31-59), 36. Value of pelts produced, $500,517. Total number of pelts taken from wildlife was 24,964 in the 1959-60 season, valued at $80,217. Principal furs: beaver, ermine (weasel), fox, lynx, mink, muskrat, otter, squirrel.

FORESTS

Of the total land area the productive forested land of the Island is estimated at 12,758 square miles and of Labrador at 17,747 square miles, a total of 30,505 square miles, the chief components of which are spruce and balsam fir. Other species of lesser importance are white birch, pine, poplar or aspen, and larch (locally known as juniper). Within limited areas some hard maple and yellow birch are found. The forests furnish raw materials for an extensive pulp and paper industry consuming up to 900,000 cords per annum and employing up to 3,000 men per month throughout the year. Gross selling value of production (1959), $2,415,000. There were, in 1959, 579 licensed saw mills, producing 37,862,000 feet b.m.

MANUFACTURES

Selling value of factory shipments (1959), $119,007,053. Number of establishments, 797; number of employees, 9,620. Leading industries: pulp and paper, fish processing, breweries, sash, door and planing mills, bakery products, carbonated beverages, sawmills, printing and publishing, biscuits, concrete products.

MINERALS

Total value (1960), $84,357,384, rank, sixth. Principal minerals: iron ore, zinc, lead, fluor-spar, copper, silver, cement, sand and gravel.

MISCELLANEOUS

Number of post offices (3-31-61), 657; gross postal receipts, $1,848,044. Number of motor vehicles registered (1960), 61,952. Highway mileage (1959), 6,873. Dwellings under construction (6-30-61), 2,310. Number of households (5-31-60), 92,000; number of radio homes (5-31-60), 86,000; number of television homes (5-31-60), 36,000. Number of telephones (1-1-60), 51,882. Retail merchandise trade, including New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia (1960), $1,416,532,000.

NOVA SCOTIA

Provincial Capital, HALIFAX (For map see New Brunswick)

Nova Scotia consists of a narrow peninsula, connected with New Brunswick by a narrow isthmus about 16 miles wide, and off the island of Cape Breton. It is bounded on the north by the Gulf of St. Lawrence, on the east and south by the Atlantic Ocean, on the west by the Bay of Fundy and New Brunswick. It is 300 miles long and from 80 to 100 wide, with an area of 21,425 square miles, or about 14,000,000 acres. Of the entire area only 5,000,000 acres are tillable, the remaining land being covered with dense forests. The Cobequid Range extends through the northern interior of the province and on each side of this range are rich arable lands where the agricultural activities of the province center. The valley of the Annapolis is noted for its beauty and fertility. The capital city, Halifax, is the winter port for mail steamers and has direct communication with Liverpool, Boston, Baltimore, Quebec and the West Indies. The harbor, which is over one-half mile wide at its narrowest part, is one of the finest in Canada.

SASKATCHEWAN

Provincial Capital, REGINA

The Province of Saskatchewan is bounded on the north by the parallel of 60 north, on the west by the Province of Alberta, on the south by the 49th parallel (the boundary of the United States) and on the east by the Province of Manitoba. Its length from south to north is 761 miles and it tapers from a width of 393 miles along the Canada-United States border to 277 miles at its northern extremity. Its total area is 251,700 square miles with about 31,518 square miles of fresh water, mainly in the north. From south to north, Saskatchewan is divided into four principle geographical regions; the open plains country of rolling prairies, interrupted by ridges and valleys; the park land; the commercial forest area, a great tree belt; and, the minerally rich Pre-Cambrian shield in the north.

The climate of the province runs from extreme cold in winter to intense heat in summer but the prevailing low humidity makes it both pleasant and healthful.

BERMUDA

Population 42,640 (White, 37% ; Colored, 63%) 1960 Census

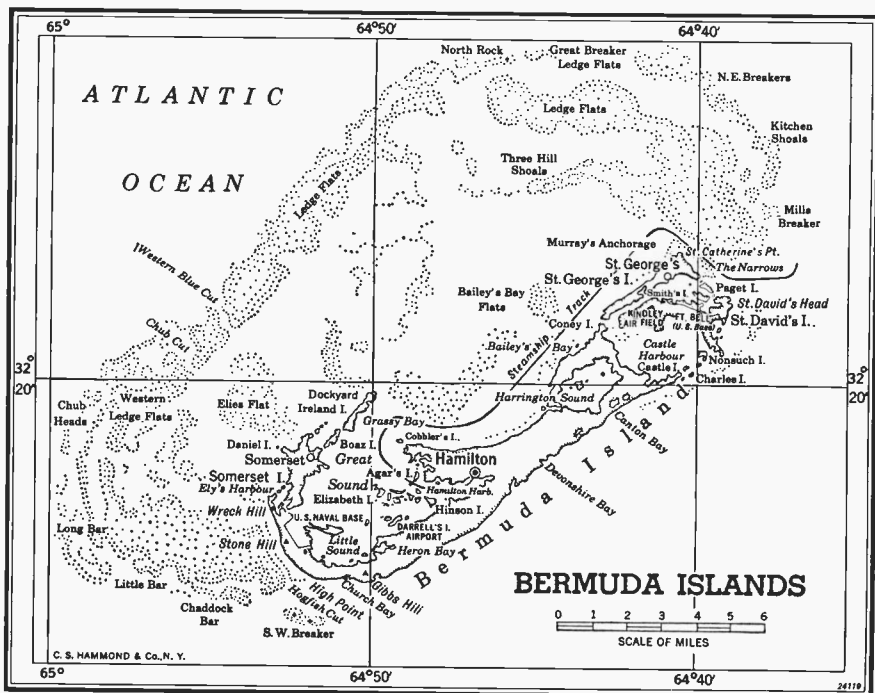

Capital, HAMILTON

A group of islands in the Atlantic Ocean, about 700 nautical miles southwest of New York, occupying a space of only 20% square miles. The climate is delightful, without extremes of heat or cold; the temperature averages 70.7 degrees. The five largest islands are connected by bridges and causeways. They are of coral formation on the summit of a submarine mountain. The islands, part of the British empire, have their own representative government for local affairs, with the oldest parliament among all the British Colonies.

The extremely fertile soil produces almost every description of fruit, flowers and vegetables in great abundance. Potatoes, tomatoes, bananas, carrots, cabbage, onions, beans, sweet potatoes and salad vegetables, together with Easter Lily flowers and bulbs, are the chief crops. Two crops a year are harvested.

The islands, popular as an all year round pleasure and health resort, are visited by thousands of tourists from the United States, Canada, England and elsewhere. Weekly voyages of luxury ships, and daily airline flights bring visitors direct to Bermuda from New York.

Bermuda is the headquarters of the British Atlantic and West Indies Fleet. There are over 100 miles of paved roads, with transportation by bicycle, horse and carriage, ferries, small British cars and taxis, busses and motorcycles.

REPUBLIC OF PANAMA

Republic of Panama Population 1,075,541 (Census of Panama, 1960)

Canal Zone Population 42,122 (U. S. Census, 1960)

The Republic of Panama is situated between 7° and 10° north latitude and 77° and 84° west longitude. It is bounded on the north by the Caribbean Sea, east by Columbia, south by the Gulf of Panama and the Pacific Ocean, and west by Costa Rica. The area is 28,575 square miles.

The climate is entirely tropical with warm days and cool nights, the temperature at Colon varying from 68° to 95° F. Under direction of American health authorities of the Canal Zone modern sanitation has made Panama one of the most healthy spots in the tropics. The concentration of population is in the towns, chiefly Panama at the Pacific end of the Canal and Colon on the Caribbean.

There are some gold mines. Oil has been found and copper and iron have been located. There are also important salt mines. The Panama Canal brings to Panama the largest tonnage of shipping of any country in Latin America. In 1953, imports amounted to $71,602,929, and exports were valued at $15,495,282. Chief of the exports were bananas, frozen shrimp, abaco fibers and cement. Rice, tobacco, rubber, coffee, pineapples and sugar cane are also raised and stock raising is extensively carried on. Principal imports are foodstuffs and beverages, textiles and manufactures, machinery, chemical products and metals. Trade is chiefly with the United States.

Nine commercial banks operate in the Republic, with total deposits (12-31-52), $77,992,900. Tourism is a major source of income in Panama. The airports at Bocas del Toro and David, as well as that in Panama City, operate with international service.

The Canal Zone is situated between 8° and 10° north latitude and 79° and 81° west longitude. It is a strip of territory extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific Oceans, includes five miles of land on each side of the Panama Canal, and is under perpetual lease to the United States. Its land area is 372 square miles, its total area, 648 square miles.

Cristobal, formerly a part of Colon, is the Caribbean port of entrance to the Canal, and that at the Pacific entrance is Balboa. East of Panama is the residential town of Ancon, with a hotel and a hospital. The Panama Railway runs on the eastern side of the canal. The canal is 50.72 statute miles long.

All industrial activities within the Canal Zone are controlled by the Government which holds the title to all land. The Zone is fortified and occupied by a garrison in addition to the civilian employees of the Canal and railroad. Airports are maintained at France Field on the Caribbean side and at Albrook Field on Balboa Heights on the Pacific side. A part of the territory is adapted to stock raising, growing of tropical fruits and sugar cane.

REPUBLIC OF THE PHILIPPINES

Population 27,455,799 (1960 Census)

Capital, QUEZON CITY. (Luzon)

The Republic of the Philippines comprises the largest island group in the Malay Archipelago. There are 7,083 separate islands in this area which extends 1,152 miles from north to south and 688 miles from east to west. Of this large number 462 have an area each of one square mile or more. Eleven have an area of more than 1,000 square miles each. Total land area of islands is 114,830 square miles.

After nearly a half century as a territory of the United States, the Philippine Islands became an independent republic in 1946. Quezon City is the capital.

The port of Manila offers the finest harbor in the entire Far East. Other ports of entry are Cebu, Iloilo, Zamboanga, Jolo, Legaspi and Davao, and there are about 200 ports of call for inter-island vessels. The larger islands are mountainous with altitudes rising in places to more than 10,000 feet. Rainfall is abundant throughout the archipelago, varying from 60 inches in the driest district to 167 in the wettest. There are three seasons: the most agreeable, from November to March; the hot and dry season, from March to July; the rainy, from July to November.

POPULATION

Ninety-nine per cent of the people are Filipinos; the remaining percentage is made up of: Chinese, Japanese, Americans, Spaniards, Britons, Hindus, Dutch, Italians and Swiss. The American population is mostly centered in Manila. Although eight distinct languages and 87 dialects are spoken, English is the most widely used. The basis for the national language is the Tagalog dialect, spoken by one third of the people.

AGRICULTURE

The cultivation of many crops heretofore imported but which may be grown locally is now being emphasized in agricultural development. Average size of the farms is 10 acres, but there are many large plantations. For the crop year ending 6-30-52, the estimated value of agricultural production was $750,845,120. This does not include the value of sugar, molasses, copra and all other manufactured agricultural products. Chief crops were unhusked rice, shelled corn, coconut, sugar cane, abaca, root crops and tobacco. The principal export fruit is the pineapple, but there are also bananas, mangoes, papaya, lanzones, pillnut, chico, mandarins and oranges. Other export products are: sugar, fiber, minerals, and forest products.

FORESTRY

Timber for construction purposes and for various types of lumber production is produced in large quantities. Rattan and bamboo, also dye woods and barks for tanning purposes, as well as rubber and gums and resins are in considerable production. Lumber production in 1952 was 436,969,000 board feet. Philippine forests cover 68,200 square miles.

MINERALS

Gold production and the future of the gold mining industry are of increasing importance in the islands. Exploration and the mining of gold and other metals is progressing. In 1952, gold production was valued at more than $16,200,000, placing the Philippines eighth among world gold producers. In addition, the islands produce silver, lead, zinc, copper, iron, coal, petroleum, chromite, asbestos and manganese. In 1946, important deposits of uranium were located. Salt and clay are also found. The main islands have a wide variety of natural resources. The coal fields already located are estimated at close to 100 square miles in area, and contain both hard and soft coal.

MISSCELLANEOUS

Number of telephones (1952), 31,240. Motor vehicles registered (1952), 106,944. Number of families having radios (1952 est.), 150,000. Number of retail stores (1951), 137,128. with gross receipts of $489,092,882. Number of radio stations (1952), 38.
