Another research project was the complete survey of the buying and selling methods actually or potentially employed in the broadcasting industry. This survey was undertaken by the firm Woods, Gordon of Toronto for the C.A.B.

The C.A.B. also had a committee under the Chairmanship of Mr. Reo Thompson investigate talent and personnel training. In addition, there were many liaison committees such as the CAB/CAAA/ACA Liaison Committee consisting of Mr. R. T. Snelgrove, Mr. K. D. Soble, Mr. J. A. Dupont, Mr. D. A. Gourd and Mr. A. Waters.

The C.A.B. presented four important briefs during 1960. One was presented to the Ministers of Finance and National Revenue asking that broadcasting stations be exempt from application of sales tax. Another brief, dealing with political broadcasting, was submitted to the House of Commons Standing Committee on Elections and Privileges. A brief was also submitted to the House of Commons Committee on Broadcasting, and to the Board of Broadcast Governors concerning radio regulations.

The Code of Ethics approved by the C.A.B. has now been printed and copies suitable for framing will be sent out to stations who have applied for adherence.

On the annual meeting front, in addition to regional annual meetings, there was the C.A.B. annual meeting held in Quebec City in March. Another highlight of the year was the meeting of the Radio-Television News Directors Association which met in Canada for the first time in 1960.

Radio week was held again this year to inform the public of the informative and entertaining qualities of radio. Promotion kits were sent out from the C.A.B. Toronto office featuring spots; idea books; fact sheets, etc. The Television Section of C.A.B. held its Fourth Annual Television Seminar in Toronto in April.

The total membership of The Canadian Association of Broadcasters is now 163 radio and 49 television members, plus 66 associates.

Canadian Television Continues Its Growth

By JULES LAROCHELLE
Radio-TV Daily, Canadian Bureau

TELEVISION has swept Canada by storm. This is more strongly emphasized than ever this year as new privately owned stations have either begun or are getting ready to begin operations in Canada's largest cities heretofore served solely by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation stations.

Television programs can now be received by over 93 percent of all Canadian homes which are being served by a total of 74 stations, at latest count, not including a number of satellite outlets.

The number of stations has grown from only two, back in September, 1952, to 74 (17 CBC-owned stations and 57 privately owned stations); the number of Canadian homes with TV receivers has increased from 4 percent of all homes in 1952 to 80 percent, according to the last official report. As of January 1 this year, it is estimated that TV homes in Canada have attained 83 percent coverage.

Within a few years, according to some sources connected with the industry, ownership of TV sets should reach close to the 100 percent mark.

In brief, television set ownership in Canada has leaped from 4 percent of total households in 1952, to 84 percent of total households as of March 31, 1960. The number of TV stations in operation in the same period has grown from 2 to 74, and sales of TV receivers have increased from 140,000 to 3,931,000.

The two provinces leading in set ownership are the richest and most heavily populated—Ontario and Quebec, with the former enjoying a slight lead. In Ontario, 88 percent of the total number of households are provided with 1,405,000 sets. In Quebec, 98 percent of the total number of households own 1,000,000 sets.

The smallest number of sets are on Prince Edward Island (15,000), covering 62 percent of total households. Next is Newfoundland, with a total of 50,000 sets, representing 56 percent of the total number of households.

Meanwhile, radio broadcasting has continued to flourish. According to industry sources, revenues of radio stations continued at a high level during 1960, despite strong competition for the advertisers' dollars from television. Sales of radio sets, compared to sales of TV receivers, have improved, although showing a decline for 1960, compared to the previous year. Sales of transistor radios were high, as well as those of automobile sets.

For 1961, there will be keen competition for the approximately fifty million advertising dollars available for television, and the broadcasters will also be competing for the viewers' time.

The six recently-licensed English language independent stations, as well as the second French-language station in Montreal, will begin operations in the major cities, competing with existing CBC outlets. Formerly, the CBC enjoyed a monopoly in the rich markets of Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver, Winnipeg, Ottawa and Halifax.

In a seventh city, Edmonton (Alberta), the CBC has been granted license to compete with a privately-owned station in operation for several years. And in an eighth center, Calgary, a second private outlet has been approved. These two new stations will also start operations this year.

Also highly possible for 1961, is a second English television network. The CBC at present operates two networks, one French and the other English. Spencer Caldwell of Toronto, has obtained initial permission from the Board of Broadcast Governors to operate such a network, which may be finalized at a second appearance before the BBG.

Weapon For Peace

... Television Documentaries

By DONALD H. MCGANNON
President, Westinghouse Broadcasting Company

THE state of the world indicates more urgently each day that our future depends, almost pathetically, upon our ability to communicate with each other as people within the same nation and, more important, to communicate as a nation to people outside of our own country.

The task of communicating our ideals, philosophies, objectives and determinations, our genuine concern for other peoples and our yearning for peace lies at the very root of man's future. How do we tackle this task?

It is strange that while most segments of our society have recognized the need for professionalism in the communication of ideas, implementation of this need does not exist in the various strata of government.

It occurred to us, Westinghouse Broadcasting and our associates at the National Educational Television and Radio Center, that there was something that could be done by television. No matter how small, it would be a definite contribution and perhaps a launching pad for other far-reaching efforts.

It was clear to us that TV undoubtedly represents the most effective means of communicating to masses of the population. How could we use this medium effectively and what would be our potential audience? As a result of working with other broadcasters who had similar thoughts on the same subject, the International Television Federation came into being last fall.

Intertel was founded by the Australian Broadcasting Commission, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Associated Rediffusion of the United Kingdom and, on behalf of the United States, NETRC and WBC. It is obvious that with such a federation, our initial audience is to be the English speaking nations of the world. These are people with whom we should be able to communicate most easily.

The American members of this federation expect to make the series available by syndication to the entire Western Hemisphere.

The plan calls for the production of twelve-one-hour documentaries. The American members will produce four, United Kingdom four, Canada two, and Australia two. The subjects will be of timely importance and international dimension; yet they will not be topical news stories nor duplications of some of the extraordinary work being done by networks in this field.

At a meeting in Vancouver, B.C., the first six subjects were evolved. They are tentatively titled: "Heartbeat of France," an examination of France by Britain; "The Overseas Chinese," a look at the key world areas colonized by expatriate Chinese, by Britain; "Great Britain in Transition," a social and human documentary on England by the U.S.A.; "Where is Cuba Going?," an investigation of Cuba by Canada; "Living With a Giant," a look at U.S.A.-Canada relations by Australia; and "Africa On The Move," some of the new African republics examined by the U.S.A.

The function of each program is an investigation by one nation of another, and a reflection on foreign subject matter that is in some instances of great tradition, in other instances of compelling current importance. Each member has the opportunity to reject the program as being unsuitable, but it's contemplated that this would not be done on any basis of censorship or unwillingness to permit factual criticism.

This is but an initial step. We hope it represents the first of many to follow in the free flow of information and the cultural exchange of material among all nations of the world, a project which has been dormant and ineffective to date.

The New Sound In Radio Syndication

By PETER FRANK

President, The Peter Frank Organization, Inc.

THE broadcasting industry has long recognized that television has brought about enormous changes in its sister field—radio. Radio which so many feared would become extinct has, on the contrary, rebounded until today it is healthier than ever, even though in a different form, one which finds individual stations the stronger factor, in contrast to the days when the radio networks dominated.

It took longer, however, to recognize another development resulting from the impressive rebirth of radio. This second factor was that as radio changed, so would the all-important tributary services upon which every radio station relies. No single entity, within sound broadcasting, however, has changed as drastically or as dramatically as radio syndication.

Today, the great emphasis in radio syndication is on a new combination of sounds, designed to enhance the stations themselves, as they fight so furiously for recognition of their own particular sound image.

It is worth tracing the underlying reasons why each station is so intent on developing its own sound image. In days past, high powered stations, aided by top name radio network programs, could count on the muscle of their own wattage and the muscles of network shows to give them an audience edge. Then, suddenly, the more important of these two elements disappeared—how many name network shows are still on the air?

It's true that there were many types of station program formats during the heyday of network radio, but these were mostly independent stations. Now their numbers were to be increased by affiliated stations who could no longer count on network revenue. Thus, where there may have been one "good music," or one "rock and roll," or one "country and western" station in a market, now there were many. As a result, the fight for listeners became even more fierce, and the need for devices-in-sound to enhance a station's image became greater.

From this need developed the new sound in radio syndication. Such services as "The Big Sound," "IMN Jingles" and "Target Jingles" came into being. In place of 15-minute or longer syndicated features came production aids designed for integration into the great emphasis most stations gave news and disk jockey shows. These production aids are "takes" ranging mostly from 10 to 30 seconds, incorporating the use of famous recording and film stars in what appears, to the listener, to be a personal interplay between d.j. and star, plus dozens of other production aids, music cues and themes, commercial "beds" and the like.

These features, many of them customized for each station, are produced by syndicators in a fashion that enables program directors, production staffers and d.j.'s the widest of ranges in program scope. Not only that, these new production aids are also tailored for every kind of radio station, from good music to "swinging" stations.

Almost simultaneously, to further the station's own sound image, came the development of jingles tailored to each fashion in sound. At first some stations themselves wrote and produced them; now there are many syndicated jingle services meeting the same need.

To paraphrase an historic saying, radio's fight for audiences and sales has only begun. Now that listeners and clients alike are aware of radio's durability and continued sales power, every station is in there to stay; to continue to build its own sound, by its own devices, and with the aid of the new sounds in syndication.

True 'Image' Emphasis Key To Negro Radio Progress

By HARRY NOVIK
General Manager, WLIB, New York

NEGRO radio everywhere is on the threshold of its greatest popularity. For the first time in years, it is being recognized for the potential it has been building over the years.

It is becoming evident that specialized markets such as the one WLIB serves in New York, are becoming primary targets for top national competitive products.

Constructively, the time has come for operators of Negro Market stations to emphasize their true "Image" in relation to the communities they serve. To disperse the clouds of ignorance that have hovered over the horizon of Negro radio and point out, loud and clear, their community voice status.

Negro radio has an individuality that cannot be superseded by other stations and a degree of audience loyalty that cannot be found anywhere.

To build such an image is not easy. It cannot be done with "convenient" programming. Stations must be geared to create this role in their communities if they have not already done so.

How it is done depends on the willingness of the station operator to make his outlet a true community service. At WLIB, as in many other top Negro stations throughout the country, this has been done via a complete overhaul of programming, with a concentration on public service, news and special events activities.

For example, during 1960, WLIB donated $268,583 worth of air time to public service spots or programs. This amounted to approximately 643 hours of programming and WLIB is a daytime only station. Our News and Special Events Department has covered every event we felt would be of interest to our community. We sent reporters to cover both Democratic and Republican conventions. We had special reports direct from Washington covering the Civil Rights Legislation fight. When the African troubles began, we had top officials from the United Nations at our microphones to explain what was going on. We also have a direct line to the United Nations for instantaneous pickup of programs. The sit-in demonstrations in the South, the founding meetings in Detroit of the Negro American Labor Council, and countless other events of interest to the Negro community we serve was covered despite the cost to the station.

Sometime ago, when WLIB climaxed its Eighth Annual Festival of Negro Music and Drama with a classical, folk music, jazz concert at Town Hall, New York, more than 1500 guests of the station filled this huge theatre to listen to a two-hour live program of top Negro talent. This free concert was broadcast without benefit of commercials. As a matter of fact, as on many other public service occasions, we preempted sponsors of commercial programs.

The net result of all of this has been the obvious fact that when anyone wishes to reach the 1,500,000 Negroes in Metropolitan New York, they know that the most effective way of reaching them is through WLIB.

This "Image" factor has brought WLIB more national business than ever before and more respect and prestige for both our station and our audience. Without appearing to be the arbiter of all panaceas, I do humbly submit that if other Negro stations will concentrate on building such an image and many of them have already, the rise of Negro radio in the future could reach unprecedented heights.

Influential "Air Age" Set Stage For "Space Age"

By ROBERT I. QUEEN
Managing Editor, Radio-TV Daily

ONE wonders if the Air Age, inaugurated in 1920, by the opening of Pittsburgh's Station KDKA, has not been even more influential than the Space Age in marking our lives.

The Space Age touches us in important areas. It has broadened our horizons practically to infinity. It has made peace and war questions of survival or total destruction. It has dissolved the barriers of time and distance and made explorers of us all. But it has not, and perhaps never can, come into our lives with the insinuation and insistence of radio and television.

Having become accustomed to the sound and voices of the world, the Air Age advanced to where it showed us the many faces of the world. There is no questioning the fact that at first the pictures on the television screen were a little hazy, and eye-strain was considered as part of the price one paid for the advancement along with the cost of antenna installation, big tube insurance and service contracts. Since that time we have had a ringside seat at the Greatest Show on Earth—to Maurice Evans doing Shakespeare; to Imogene Coca dancing "Swan Lake." Bernstein has taught us music; Katherine Murray has inspired us to dance; Ed Sullivan has taught us to smile; and Nixon and Kennedy have revived the art of political debate. We have seen wars and the signing of peace treaties. We have seen people fight for freedom, and freedom suppressed. We have seen China building Communism and Africa taking great steps into the Twentieth Century.

We have color television and picture tubes installed in walls, printed circuits and pint sized portables with pictures bigger than those of the old consoles.

Currently, almost 50,000,000 television sets are available for viewing in American homes and even two television sets in a home can no longer be considered a status symbol. Other countries, all over the world, have joined us in this adventure into the Air Age with about 28,000,000 television sets and 1,000 television stations. They are also following us through some of the landmarks of American television as they watch tapes and kinescopes of American programs with dubbed in voices or subtitles. Many an American program is now being seen in a European version and an American in Europe tuning in on a television station is likely to find a panel discussing an off-beat "What's My Line."

Finally, the Air Age and the Space Age have joined and we have heard President Eisenhower's voice from outer space giving us season's greetings and watched our television sets while the rockets at Cape Canaveral heralded the coming of this wonder.

Soon the Space Age will move into our daily Air Age lives and make the present limited national and international networks into interworld networks as sound and sight impulses cross space by way of man-made moons. We can't help but wonder what will be carried into our homes from these new horizons so much closer to infinity.

New Concept For Radio: The "Specialized Mass Market"

By RALPH N. WEIL
President, Key Broadcast Management, Inc.

"SPECIALIZED MASS MARKET" is a new concept in specialized radio. We developed the basic idea of this new promotional approach over the years of our operation of WOV (now WADO) as a quality Italian language and Negro outlet.

Although the terms "specialized" and "mass" seem to be contradictory, the facts of American urban life today make them perfectly compatible. When a specialized market constitutes more than 52 per cent of the total overall population, such as the Spanish speaking market in San Antonio, or the 31 per cent Negro market in St. Louis, you are dealing with a market that is specialized in quality but mass in quantity. It is, therefore, by our definition, a "Specialized Mass Market."

Specialized markets represent tremendous buying power that is attracting more and more advertisers. Both audience and advertiser acceptance for specialized broadcasting is at an unprecedented level and a number of energetic and well-informed reps are now doing business in this field. The purpose of the "Specialized Mass Market" concept is to lift the level of specialized broadcasting steadily higher, to a plane comparable with that of the finest standards in the industry.

Toward this end we are applying merchandising and promotional techniques altogether new in specialized radio to our operation of KATZ in St. Louis and KCOR in San Antonio. We are in the process of working out, for future application, a new rep arrangement and have completed and incorporated our consultation-advisory organization under the name, Key Broadcast Management, Inc.

We have been directly interested in this field of radio for many years. Experience has confirmed our faith in it and given us a set of guiding principles to work with.

We believe that specialized audiences deserve the quality service of a well-conducted station operation that does a professional and craftsman-like job. We see specialized radio as having a two-fold obligation in its service to the audience. It must be sensitive to the specific needs, desires and preferences of its audience, relating directly to their day-to-day lives. It must also help the specialized community attune itself harmoniously with the community at large in the interest of the civic welfare of all concerned.

The results of our efforts along this line have been rewarding. KATZ (a 100 per cent Negro station and overwhelmingly first with the St. Louis Negro audience) according to the General St. Louis Pulse Report issued last July was first over all radio stations in urban St. Louis in the evening, tied for second place in the morning and close to third in the afternoon.

KCOR's position in the Spanish market of San Antonio shows absolute dominance as well.

We believe that these achievements are vindication of our policy of quality service for specialized audiences, and through the consultative service offered by Key Broadcast Management, Arnold Hartley and I are prepared to share our experience and ideas with all other broadcasters seeking the same ends and desiring the same result.

The Many Worlds Of Music

From the composers of today flow the music that reflects our life and our time. Many of the composers who make significant contributions to the music of our time license their performing rights through BMI. In many different ways, BMI fosters and supports the many worlds of contemporary music.

Musical America, in its issue of August, 1960, wrote:

“Broadcast Music...is a business with a conscience, fully aware of the pressing need to make dollars work for contemporary composers and music...In a scant 20 years since its founding, BMI has taken a mature and responsible stand on the side of contemporary and, most important, American musical thought. It has realized that only through realistic support of our writers, through money, performances, and recordings, can the composer of today find an opportunity to flourish and work for America's culture and stature in the world of art.”

Volume Reports Heighten Spot Television's Future

By NORMAN CASH
President, Television Bureau of Advertising

IN AN ERA of unprecedented expansion for the television advertising medium, no story is more dramatic than the one of spot TV. In 1960, four of every ten dollars spent by national advertisers went into the medium.

Recognition of spot TV's full extent and impact has come about only in recent years. In the early years of telecasting, its role was little-known or defined, except by the many advertisers who used it. Then, even as today (though not to as great an extent), the glamor of network TV overshadowed this medium.

Although network TV advertising expenditures have always been well-defined, no comparable spot television figures were available until 1955, when the N. C. Rorabaugh Company began compiling similar information through the efforts of TvB.

Five years have passed since the first annual spot report was published. A look at the reports over the years clearly shows the exciting growth of spot TV.

Gross time dollars, for example, have soared from $397.6-million to $616.7-million, an increase of 55.1%. The number one advertiser in spot for 1956, spent $17.5-million; in 1960, the same company spent $55.1-million. In 1956, 81 advertisers spent more than a million; the figure in 1960 was 125.

Whereas 267 stations were involved in the first N. C. Rorabaugh report, more than 330 provided the information to make the 1960 reports possible. Without this valued support by stations, the reports could never have come into being.

In category after category, we see the ever-increasing use of spot TV. Auto advertising more than doubled in the five years; packaged soaps and detergents rose from $13.3-million to nearly $34-million; toys jumped from $1.2-million in 1956, to $5.2-million in 1960.

Major companies, of course, used the medium with great success. But so did lesser-known companies, names which soon became established in the consumer's mind, through spot TV. Lestoil, for one, launched a whole new product line. Alberto-Culver, Duncan Hines cake mixes, Cocoa Marsh, Lanvin, Chevron gasoline, are but a few which moved ahead through spot TV. Anheuser Busch started a whole new marketing concept because of the medium.

With the inherent advantages of sight, sound and motion available in all TV, spot delivers infinitely varying kinds and varying amounts of advertising pressure anywhere, as the advertiser needs.

Because its advantages remain unchanged, spot TV will unquestionably move from a successful past to an even greater future. Its power—selective selling, seasonal pushes, saturation campaigns, pre-testing, offsetting competition, bolstering weak markets, launching new products, localizing appeals, stimulating dealer support and complementing network TV—make it a needed force for the aggressive advertiser.

In themselves, the spot reports have become a valuable tool for the advertising salesman. Established to provide information on individual advertisers so that companies could assess the activities of competitors and to make analyses and trends, the reports have contributed to many other sales.

In effect, the added knowledge available through bringing to light the activities of many companies, has been another force in the growth of spot TV. Each and every station which has provided necessary information for the reports has made possible the growth of the medium. With the needed information at hand and the power of the medium itself, the future will be secure.

Television's Boom Abroad Aided By U. S. Know-How

By MERLE S. JONES
President, CBS Television Stations Division

AS television reached maturity in America during the past 12 years, informing, educating and entertaining the populace and even influencing the nation's political mood, so it is now developing around the world with much the same force. Absorbed as we are in American broadcasting, events make it imperative that we look more closely at international television.

Television began to hit its stride in many countries outside the United States several years ago, finding enthusiastic audiences among all levels of society, whether in crude villages of Africa and Asia or in the cosmopolitan centers of Western Europe. In the past two years the number of television sets and stations abroad has soared at a fantastic rate to the point where it is now estimated that by 1962 there will be more off-shore sets in use than in the U. S.

Mutual cooperation between American broadcasters and those of countries who are in the process of developing television systems can only result in maximum benefits to both. For this reason the Columbia Broadcasting System takes pride in its contribution to the growth of international TV.

For many years international television representatives have come to CBS seeking help in technical, administrative and production problems as well as in a host of other areas. During 1960 more than 150 representatives from 45 different countries visited the CBS Television Stations Division offices in New York. During January 1961 alone we met with 30 representatives from such countries as Lebanon, Japan and England.

Because of the growing number of inquiries from abroad during the past few years, the CBS Television Stations Division has established formal procedures for giving help to broadcasters abroad. Over the past ten months, for example, CBS negotiated agreements with organizations in four countries — West Germany, Italy, Argentina and Peru — by which CBS experience is being used to help establish television systems and to provide consultation and facilities for existing TV networks and stations.

The West German agreement provides help for the group which is planning that country's all-UHF commercial television network which, when it is completed and authorized, will compete with the existing state-operated television network.

The CBS-RAI agreement in Italy calls for a mutual exchange of technical information, equipment, personnel and eventually programs and talent. The agreement anticipates growing exchange of programming material by both Italy and America. An example of such exchange took place in 1960 when RAI provided the CBS Television Network with exclusive coverage of the Olympics.

In Argentina, CBS and Latin American interests formed PROARTEL (Producciones Argentinas de Television) last June to create and produce programming for telecasts in Buenos Aires. A similar facility was established in Peru by CBS last year.

Not only are American broadcasters providing consultation and technical information abroad, but sales of American television programs overseas have also experienced a phenomenal rise. During 1960, CBS Films Inc., the subsidiary responsible for distributing CBS program product abroad, increased its international sales by 30 per cent over 1959 and by 250 per cent over 1957. Sales were made in such widely separated places as Brazil, Hong Kong, Haiti and the United Arab Republic. Each week CBS Films provides more than 1,100 half-hour programs, dubbed into more than a dozen languages, to 40 countries outside the United States.

The Public Is Boss ... In Our Programming Efforts

By OLIVER TREYZ
President, ABC Television Network

NEVER has it been a secret that we at ABC-TV have always considered the public's desires first in our programming efforts. The rapid and solid growth of ABC-TV has proved the soundness of this philosophy.

Ratings are, of course, a vital indication of public acceptance. But there are many more personal indices.

For instance, not too long ago KAKE-TV, our primary affiliate in Wichita, Kansas, celebrated its fifth anniversary with a cake baking contest. Viewers were invited to submit cakes decorated with pictures of ABC-TV personalities. Out of 5,000 entries, half were decorated with likenesses of Lawrence Welk—very appetizing proof, which I personally sampled, that Mr. Welk is well-liked in Wichita.

One major way we "feel the public pulse" is through the managers of our more than 200 affiliates. These men are leaders in their communities, in close touch with the people who control the TV dials.

We hold regular meetings with our affiliates and communicate constantly with them throughout the year. They are quick to tell us how their viewers—who of course also are ABC-TV viewers—react to our programs.

Letters and phone calls direct to the network from the public are other important "pulse feelers." Most letters come from viewers who feel moved to express thanks or give us constructive criticism.

A recent letter from New Britain, Conn. said "Wednesday evening on ABC to me is the best of the week. You can set the dial and forget it for the entire evening."

From letters I have seen, many viewers

all over the country feel the same way about every evening on ABC-TV. A letter that made both the network and the sponsor happy came from Cincinnati. After calling "Leave It to Beaver" "one of the best family situations on TV today," the viewer said, "We even enjoy the commercials."

Sometimes we receive a stack of letters, all mailed within a few days of each other. Then we know that someone has started either a "for" or an "against" campaign. We do not believe that these letters are truly indicative of a program's appeal. Other things are: Tourists ferreting out "Dino's" in Hollywood and the "Boom Boom Room" in Miami Beach reflect the popularity of "77 Sunset Strip" and "SurfSide 6".

The influence of "SurfSide 6" on Florida viewers has, I understand, been so effective that boat builders in that area are experiencing a minor boom in constructing $15,000 houseboats similar to the one used in the show.

Travel—whether it be across town in New York City or anywhere in the country—provides word of mouth reaction to programming.

A Manhattan taxi driver talks about John Russell in "Lawman". A man in the next chair laughs with the Chicago barber about last night's "Flintstones." Your seat-mate on a cross-country flight mentions "Winston Churchill—The Valiant Years".

These personal experiences turn rating points into people; individuals who laugh, thrill, enjoy and are stimulated by television. They are not cold cyphers, impersonal digits. They are people, the people for whom we at ABC-TV work.

JAMES C. HAGERTY

Vice President in Charge of News, Special Events and Public Affairs

News Secretary to former President Eisenhower during his administration, James Hagerty took over the top ABC news job on January 23 of this year; three days after leaving the White House. A top news reporter for the New York Times from 1934 to 1943, Mr. Hagerty became former New York Governor Thomas Dewey's Press Secretary in 1943. In 1952 he took leave from his New York State position to work with General Eisenhower, then became his News Secretary when Eisenhower was elected President.

ALFRED R. SCHNEIDER

ABC-TV Vice President in Charge of Administration

Former Assistant to the President of the CBS Television Network, Mr. Schneider joined ABC-TV in his current position on January 18, 1960. From 1952 to 1954, Mr. Schneider was a member of the American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc. legal department and Assistant Director, Business Affairs for the ABC Television Network. In 1955 he went to CBS as Assistant to the Director of Business Affairs and was promoted to Executive Assistant to the CBS-TV President in 1958. Mr. Schneider was graduated from Hamilton College and from the Harvard Law School.

JULIUS BARNATHAN

Vice President for Affiliated Stations

Appointed Vice President for Affiliated Stations July 15, 1959. Mr. Barnathan has been with ABC-TV since 1954 when he was Supervisor of Ratings. In 1956 he was named Manager of TV Research and in 1957, Director of Research. In March of 1959 he was promoted to Vice President in Charge of Media Research and Statistical Analysis for Kenyon & Eckhardt. He is a graduate of Brooklyn College and holds a Master's Degree in mathematical statistics from Columbia University. During World War II, he served with the U.S. Naval Air Corps.

There is nothing harder to stop than a trend.

Any computer, no matter how marathon the range of its "intellect," subsists on the facts fed into it by human choice. Many computers strut their electronic stuff in what is familiarly known as "Video Land." But only one computer really counts—that's the one that starts the count rolling. The one who starts the Trend trending.

Who?

You.

The Dial Twister. Recently known as The Trend Maker.

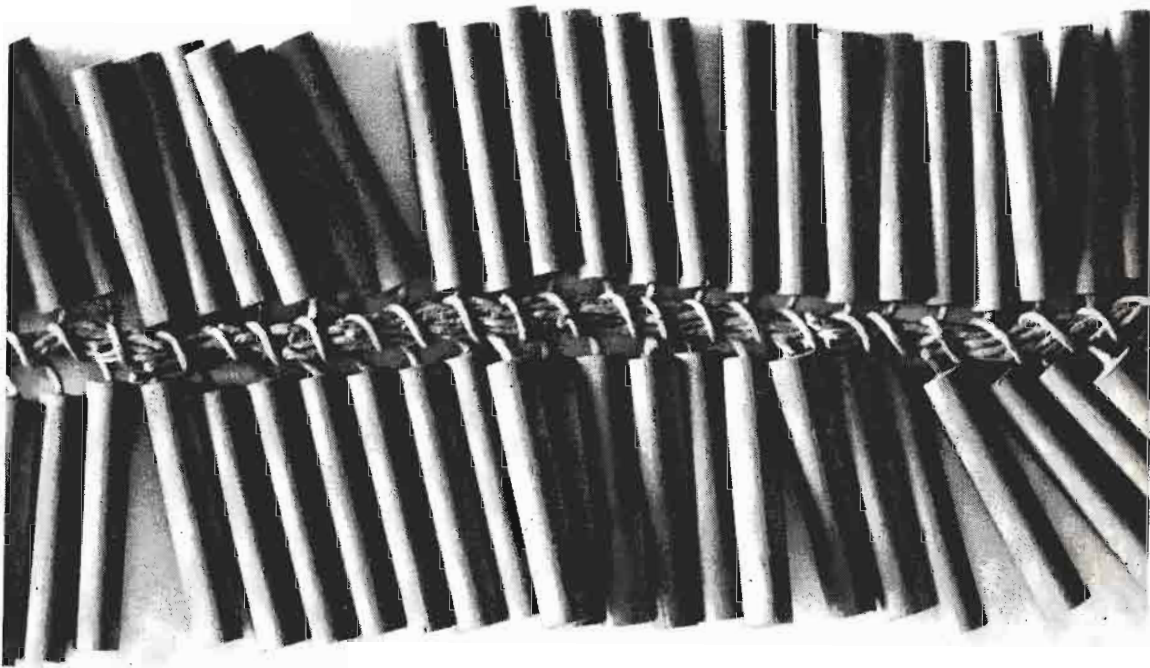

You are the only computer that ever really created anything. You created another network (see our signature below). You created a network second to none (see the chart to the right). You kept twisting and twisting that little dial on your living-room set and you twisted us right up there . . . where we now have 5 of the 10 most popular shows. Not since 1958 has Net Y, and not since 1955 has Net Z, had so high a Share of Audience as ABC-TV has today.

You (along with millions of other Dial Twisters) have made ABC the network most homes watch most of the time. You, all of you, are part of The Trend.

This pleasing result came from your computing of certain facts fed into you. Take such bold facts as The Untouchables, 77 Sunset Strip, The Real McCoys, The Flintstones, My 3 Sons, SurfSide 6, The Roaring 20's. You digested them, computed them and reported those so highly pleasing (to us) Top Ratings.

When you are in a mood (other computers are incapable of being in or out of moods) for even more substantial fare, ABC feeds you such responsible Public Interest documentaries as the Bell & Howell Close-Up! series, Expedition and the exciting 26-part series, Winston Churchill: The Valiant Years. (Music background by Richard Rodgers.)

When you are in a mood to compute Sports facts, we feed you the most Sports hours of any network: NCAA Football, American League Football, Fight of the Week. All Star Golf. Championship College Basketball. (No end to The Trend!)

And in Specials: How quickly you will compute such extra-special Specials as David the Outlaw, two-part Biblical epic starring Jeff Chandler and Israel and other forthcoming ABC Specials.

Obviously, no human computer can be told what to watch and compute in this land of many million human computers. There is no arm-twisting in this land.

There is, however, dial-twisting a-plenty.

We owe our existence as a network to it. We owe our phenomenal growth (The Trend) in Client Acceptance to it. ABC's billings in 1960 were up 30% and give every evidence of continuing to out-pace the growth of any other element in the TV industry.

So, whether you are an advertiser dialing-in the public . . . or whether you are a Dial Twister dialing-in for Television's best . . . the trend to ABC-TV now makes it your first choice.

TV Must Aim To Cover Broadest Possible Spectrum Of Themes

By JAMES T. AUBREY, JR.
President, CBS Television Network

THE things for which the current President of the United States will be remembered are many. My colleagues of the CBS Television Network and I will always be reminded of two particular events in which he figured so largely. The first of these events came prior to his election, when CBS News cameras and microphones brought to the nation and the world, over the combined lines of all the radio and television networks, the first of the series of Presidential campaign debates. Dr. Frank Stanton, joined by the broadcasting industry and the press, had sought for many years to secure Congressional sanction for these face-to-face confrontations.

The second Presidential event of particular interest in our memory was the first live telecast of a Presidential press conference, where once again the cameras of the CBS Television Network provided the pictorial coverage for the entire U. S. television industry on a pool basis.

To have these two events in the space of a single television season is a magnificent commentary on the importance and vitality of our medium, particularly when combined with our greatest entertainment year, a time when the audience for sponsored entertainment, as well as informational programs, was reaching a new high, and when the number of sponsors was also greater than ever.

Television is a public medium. It provides information and entertainment, not necessarily in separate shows. Coverage of the Olympic Games, for example, was informational programming with tremendous entertainment appeal; entertainment such as "Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic" or the Armstrong Circle Theatre's presentation of "Eichmann: Engineer of Death" or Red Skelton's United Nations program certainly offered informational or public service rewards as well. As a public medium, the aim must always be to cover the broadest possible spectrum of themes and interests.

One of the things which we must recognize, as a public medium, is that the public is dynamic. Its tastes are not fossilized into hard, rigid, unchanging matrices. Nor, by the same token, are its tastes committed to any doctrine of constant change. It is many different publics and many overlapping publics.

It is interested neither in standing still nor in shifting too fast. It is always a challenge to those who program for it. And as the pace and vigor of our national growth continue in a healthy society, the pace and vigor of the television industry must also increase. This promises for us a future which will be very largely what we make it.

What with the use of transmitting and relay stations airborne all the way up to the stratosphere, it is certainly proper to say that for television the sky's the limit.

Diversity Is Key To NBC's Programming Philosophy

By WALTER D. SCOTT
Exec. Vice President, NBC Television Network

THE key to NBC's programming philosophy and, in fact, the key to the continued success of this country's free system of broadcasting is found in one word.

The word is diversity.

To us, diversity means avoiding the easy temptation of concentrating on a single narrow segment of mass-appeal material by cultivating and expanding the unique advantages of NBC: Our role as the only full-coverage network (from 6 a.m. to 1 a.m.); our leadership in the presentation of news and public affairs programs; our pre-eminence in technical innovations, such as transoceanic cable film; our unique programming forms, such as "The Dave Garroway Today Show" and "The Jack Paar Show"; our standard as the color network; our number one position in daytime program popularity; our primacy in sports coverage; our presentation of network television's only courses for college credit; and our unmatched roster of Specials.

In an address to our affiliates, Robert W. Sarnoff, Chairman of the Board, stated NBC's position:

"In my view, a network's function is to provide a full range of programming in keeping with its undertaking to serve a national audience made up of many different publics. Only by doing so can it attract — over the course of its schedule — audiences from all segments of the public, to develop an audience as big as the total public itself.

"The largest part of a network's schedule must be devoted to entertainment, and primarily entertainment of broad appeal. Within this field, it should provide not only different types of programs by such categories as adventure, variety, comedy, drama, mystery, and the like — but programs that appeal variously to the whole family, to different age groups and sexes, and to different levels of sophistication.

"A network worthy of the name must also rise to television's opportunities and obligations as the swiftest, most vivid medium of information ever devised—whether in transmitting news events as they happen, or reporting them quickly, or analyzing them in depth and perspective; whether in cultivating discussion and debate of public issues, spreading knowledge of science, or opening the arts and humanities to millions.

"Finally, a network owes it to the public, its affiliates and its advertisers to keep moving ahead, not only in the quality and range of its programming, but in the technical development of television."

The following chart, which breaks down a typical week's programming on NBC-TV into 15 different categories, shows how NBC meets its obligations to its audience:

TYPE PROGRAM	HOURS PER WEEK	SHARE OF TOTAL
Sports	7¼	7.7%
News - Information	9¾	10.4%
Educational	5	5.3%
Children's	3½	3.8%
Suspense Drama	1½	1.6%
General Drama	10½	11.3%
Western	6½	6.9%
Musical Variety	3	3.3%
Situation Comedy	4	4.3%
Specials	2	2.1%
Action - Adventure	4½	4.9%
Discussion	13¾	14.8%
Audience Participation	11	11.7%
General Variety	3	3.3%
Panel	8	8.6%
	93¼	100.0%

It is through this diversity that NBC seeks to come even closer to the ideal we have always tried to serve — the presentation of a balanced schedule which meets the widely ranging interests of the American people and which utilizes to the fullest the vast potential of television itself.

A network worthy of the name must rise to television's opportunities and obligations as the swiftest, most vivid medium of information ever devised—whether in transmitting news events as they happen, or reporting them quickly, or analyzing them in depth or perspective; whether in cultivating discussion and debate of public issues, spreading knowledge of science, or opening the world of the arts and humanities to millions.

Within the entertainment field, it should provide a broad range of programs that appeal variously to the whole family, to different age groups and sexes, and to different levels of sophistication. For the National Broadcasting Company, I pledge to you there will be no turning aside from the course we have always followed: the course of trading the medium up, and enlarging its scope and stature as a full service to the total audience.

From an Address by Robert W. Sarnoff, Chairman of the Board, National Broadcasting Company, 1960 Television Affiliates Meeting.

Why We SWITCHED from VHF to UHF

To give you the best possible coverage of the rich San Joaquin Valley.

FCC-sponsored engineering study proves UHF signal is stronger and clearer than VHF in the Fresno area. New RCA custom-designed transmitter and antenna provide the clearest, strongest picture ever seen in the Valley.

Now, KFRE-TV delivers the most effective coverage of the San Joaquin Valley's more than 800,000 people — earning in excess of $1.5 billion yearly.

Blanket America's Richest Agricultural Market.

WFBM-TV

First in Mid-Indiana . . . first in news . . . first in special events

Manpower • Mobility • Equipment!

Wherever news and special events call for broadcast action, you'll find WFBM-TV on the air first with "eye-witness" film reports. No other stations in Indiana can match the manpower of our 17-man News-Information Center . . . the mobility of our fleet of news cruisers and remote transmitter . . . our photo developing equipment for putting film on the air within minutes after it hits the lab . . . our two television tape machines (color equipped) that can record any remote transmission for an "exclusive" drop-in at any point in our day's programming.

The Use Of Economee Means Vitality And Economy

By PIERRE WEIS
V.P. & General Manager, Economee Television

MORE and more top stations are turning to Economee, the re-run division of Ziv-United Artists. That is the lesson of the past year in syndication.

As part of the new economics of success in local programming, a "pattern of use" has grown up among the majors, and the smaller stations, that makes Economee a flexible and almost unbeatable ally in the battle for audience and efficiency of operation.

The new use-pattern discovered by the top outlets calls for a solid run by an Economee series in Class A time, followed by an eventual "stripping" of the episodes.

Typical of the first phase of the pattern is the current programming by KABC-TV, Los Angeles, which is running Economee's "Men Into Space" on Saturday, 8-8:30 P.M. and "Man And The Challenge" on Wednesday, 7-7:30 P.M.

Among other top stations recently using Economee's productions are WCBS-TV and WABC-TV New York, WCAU-TV Philadelphia, KRON-TV San Francisco, KSD-TV St. Louis, WHDH-TV Boston, KNXT Los Angeles, WJBK-TV Detroit.

The history of Economee series such as these, is that they frequently succeed in topping their original syndication and network exposures, thus providing still fresh and quality shows to an expanded public at Economee cost to the station.

The second phase of the Economee use pattern is illustrated by a look at WGR, Buffalo. Programming Economee's "Highway Patrol" as a strip, 6-6:30 P.M., the station is regularly leading all competition in the time period with a Nielsen average of over 20 for the series.

The bases for the success of Economee programming is clear. If a show in its first-run on a particular time period has enjoyed, say, a 25 rating, there still is 75 per cent of the audience which has not seen it. On another time slot, it will be a brand-new and pre-publicized show to this group.

Viewing only the major markets for the purposes of this limited review — but with the assurance that the pattern holds for smaller stations — here are more instances, in separate parts of the country, of the Economee impact in syndication:

At WJBK-TV, Detroit, "Highway Patrol," Saturday, 6-6:30 P.M. registers a 23.5 rating with a 43 per cent share of audience.

On WMAL-TV in Washington, D. C., "Science Fiction Theatre" for five years, in the Sunday, 6-6:30 P.M. time spot, has dominated the half-hour with a consistent rating pattern of between 18 and 20.

At KSTP-TV, St. Paul, Minnesota, Economee's "Mr. D.A." — 10:30-11:00 P.M., Wednesdays — has averaged a 20.6 rating over the years it has been shown there. "Harbor Command" on the same station at 10:30-11:00 P.M., Tuesdays, with a 50 per cent share of audience, is another example of a series which is faring better as an Economee re-run than it did in its first viewing on the station.

In Nashville, on WSIX-TV, Monday—Friday, 6-6:30 P.M., "Mr. D.A." records an average of 29.2 in the Nielsen tabulation.

The only true measure of a show is its vitality — not only in winning audience but in influencing sales. Economee shows, properly programmed, provide that vitality at lower cost.

In a phrase: there is now greater economy in vitality programming . . . because of the greater vitality of Economee programs.

'Nowness' Quality Of Television Programming Meets Public Need

By BILL TODMAN
Goodson-Todman Production

TOO many members of the broadcasting fraternity have an inferiority complex. They cringe whenever critics of the industry bark. Instead of standing up and defending what is good and original in television, they assume a defensive pose and merely mutter that they will try to do better.

What these defensive broadcasters fail to realize is that attackers of TV themselves are frequently illogical. Their criticism condemns shows as a type rather than on individual merit. Certain critics invariably prefer poor documentaries to good westerns, or bad public service programs to well-executed audience participation shows.

This attitude represents a prejudicial judgement which is harmful to the industry and the public. You would never hear a Broadway reviewer claim that the trouble with the theatre is that there are too many musicals; his brief would be that there are not enough good musicals.

I believe the same criteria should be applied to TV. When we produce a bad program, please let us know about it. But don't condemn an important type of programming because it is not to your taste.

Critics to the contrary notwithstanding, I feel that a type of programming most frequently under fire — the audience participation, game and panel show — makes a valuable contribution. In a sense, these programs represent TV at its live best.

TV's finest hours come in presentations of reality, when the quality of "nowness" is present. Reality may be imparted through both information and entertainment programs. The information area covers such live programming as sports events, political conventions, press conferences, newscasts, etc.

In the entertainment area featuring "nowness," audience participation, game and panel shows are outstanding. Here, people are presented as they really are. A genuine human drama is played out while viewers are given an opportunity to participate vicariously in their homes. These shows are the only original contributions of broadcasting.

I know it's fashionable to rap game shows as intellectually unstimulating. But the mail we receive at Goodson-Todman reflects the public feeling and seems to refute that argument. We consistently hear from a variety of obviously intelligent men and women — ranging from supreme court justices to leaders of industry — telling us that the only programs they watch are game shows, sporting events and/or news interviews.

What these people are telling us is that they appreciate the quality of immediacy, the "nowness" of TV. That's why I maintain that this kind of programming satisfies a genuine need.

Even the lesson of the quiz show scandals has been twisted. After they broke, some critics tried to equate all audience participation shows with overtones of corruption. The canard was simply not true.

Because there is a public need for game shows, they outlasted their critics. As we predicted, they are now making a comeback on daytime video, and I believe they will have a resurgence on nighttime TV as well.

Big money for prizes probably will not be a factor. Money alone will not make a show if the game itself is not interesting and intriguing. In any event, there will be no question of "rigging" because the public is so skeptical that the slightest hint of control would make the show a failure.

We in the industry needn't be apologetic about this phenomenon of the game show. We should defend it for what it is . . . a bastion of reality on television and a unique entertainment form native to the medium.

CHARGE!

A few years ago, Flamingo challenged the stale concepts of tv film distribution. We rejected Hollywood's pot-boilers and called for the programming of distinguished international features. With confidence in the growing demand for quality, we introduced the exciting Critics' Award and Festival Packages. Our courage and foresight were rewarded with success. Today, in the same fine tradition, we offer the regal Imperial Package. Our days of pioneering are over. Flamingo is the established leader of an expanding field.

We are a dynamic organization dedicated to superior programming. Not content with past victories, Flamingo hurls the challenge anew.

The imaginative Nutty Squirrels Tales is the most attractive property in the cartoon market. And let competition beware... Flamingo distributes the top-rating favorite Superman, which reaffirms our standard: the very best entertainment for every age and taste.

A Family Is A Lot Of People And MGM-TV Meets Their Tastes

By JOHN BURNS
V. P. in Charge of TV Sales, M-G-M-TV

CALL it what you will, a cycle or a trend, it's in the air and on the airwaves that the great American family is coming into its own again. The great American family is multi-millioned, the school-goers, the church-goers, the solid workers, the substantial business people, and they've got the biggest pocketbook, population-wise, of all of our citizens.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Television, in its new streamlined 1960-61 programming, covers all possible tastes. It's apparent that Leo the M-G-M Lion has sensed the ever-growing hunger for TV subjects with whole-family appeal and has made available for America's greatest cross-section of TV-users a rich entertainment menu to satisfy their insistent wishes. Three of its current offerings are entertainments ideally suited for whole-family viewing, and two are straight action and excitement.

The showmanship instinct which has ever been the heritage of the world's greatest Studio is evident in its approach to its TV series. True to its reputation of "star builder," M-G-M seeks to present and develop new personalities in each of its entertainments.

One of the offerings tailor-made for the vast family trade, "National Velvet," has already made its mark, with 32 episodes already completed. As we go to press its ratings are far out-stripping a long-time famed competitor. This is the first TV series to win a citation from Parents Magazine Publications' "Calling All Girls." It also garnered the Los Angeles Critics' Award for the "outstanding family television show." Its leading lady, Lori Martin, is building into a top-flight popular favorite. In early April she achieved the cover and an article in TV Guide about her series. "National Velvet" will be with us for a long time over NBC-TV on Sunday nights.

A second series that's perfect for the entire family is "Dr. Kildare," now headed for renewed fame when it premieres next September over NBC-TV on Thursday nights. The prediction is already being made that the young actor who plays the role of "Dr. Kildare" will capture the hearts of practically every female. The role of Dr. Gillespie is played by Raymond Massey.

In "Father of The Bride", MGM-TV presents another new-star candidate in the person of Myrna Fahey. This series is a natural to fill the current yearning for entertainment designed to win whole-family popularity. The cast includes Leon Ames, Ruth Warrick and others. "Father of The Bride" will have its premiere on September 29, over CBS-TV on Fridays.

In the field of straight drama and suspenseful staccato action series, MGM-TV is already in full stride with "The Asphalt Jungle." Waiting for its fall premiere is "Cain's Hundred."

"The Asphalt Jungle" is seen over ABC-TV on Sunday nights. At press-time, although a new series in a new time slot, it has come up to expectations in audience response and in trade paper appraisal. It stars Jack Warden, Arch Johnson and Bill Smith.

September will also see the inaugural of a new MGM-TV dramatic series, "Cain's Hundred," from which great things are anticipated. This series in which ex-gangland lawyer Nicholas Cain has as his quarry the 100 leaders of organized crime in America today, will be shown over NBC-TV on Tuesdays. MGM-TV has cast Mark Richman in the principal role. The first episode confirms the advance forecasts that he will be one of next season's talked about TV favorites.

When They Know You By Your Shows — Watch Out

By JEROME HYAMS
V.P. & General Manager, Screen Gems, Inc.

IN THIS AGE of specialization, television has found that specialization is the most dangerous habit into which it can fall.

I know there are production houses whose current success gives the lie to this assertion. But I don't envy any company whose reputation has been built by its knack for any one kind of format. Times change, especially in television, and unless you're in a diversified position you'll have difficulty changing with them.

Screen Gems is lucky in this respect. Our first full-scale series was a dramatic anthology, "Ford Theater." This gave us experience in almost every possible format, and identified us with no single one. Almost everything we've done since then has tended to diversify our experience even further.

That was a good time to get started, eight to ten years ago. In those days the dramatic anthology was considered a basic of the business. Three of the four largest production companies currently represented on the nighttime network schedule were deeply involved with anthologies at that time.

But not everyone was that lucky, or smart. In the scramble to get a toe hold on the business, certain companies felt impelled to follow up on their strongest effort and make a specialty of it.

In those days, if you'd been around the business for awhile, you didn't have to read the credits to find out which studio produced certain shows. All you had to do was to listen to the sound track for five minutes.

But, sad to say, those producers who'd become so specialized that they left their hallmark on their every production were actually drafting their epitaphs, whether they knew it or not. One producer who'd struck pay dirt with happy shows unhappily went bankrupt. The leader of the swash-buckling trend quickly rode it into the ground, and had to retreat to another line of specialization.

That could happen again.

To maintain a diversified position you have to keep coming up with new, original, different shows and methods. That's not easy. Perhaps only the professionally creative people know how difficult it is to be truly original. Usually, the trend is against it.

It's the responsibility of the top management of the production and distribution companies, and of the networks to see to it that new fires are constantly being lighted. A help in this cause is to keep the door always open to independent creative talent. If Screen Gems had not been so disposed in 1957, Bill Hanna and Joe Barbera, for instance, might still not be in television. Aside from the fact that their success is profitable, it also gives us the satisfaction of knowing we'd been right when there was no trend to confirm it.

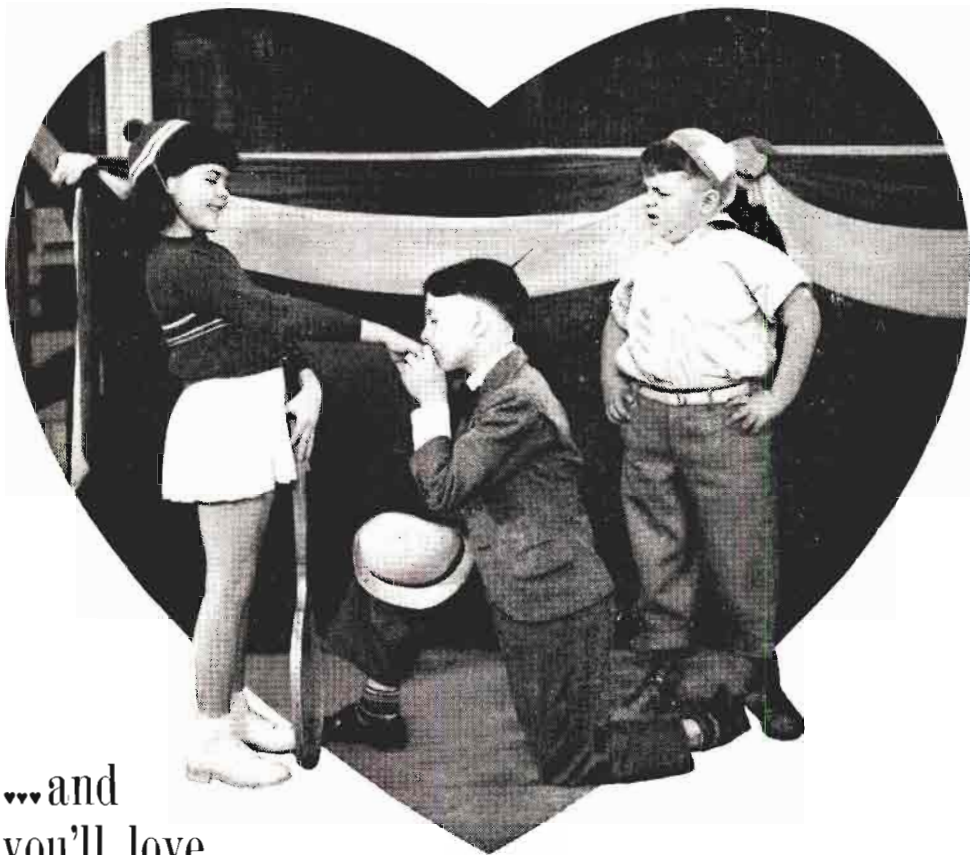

Screen Gems' most recent move by way of diversification was to associate with independent producers for the development of live programs.

Coming after our 10 years of making film shows, and when the film tide is running high, this surprised many. But there's hardly a better time to start something than when the tide is against it, because that means that tide is about to turn. When Screen Gems first entered the TV market 10 years ago, TV was basically a live medium, but that tide turned.

We think we will have something fresh to offer in live programming, both specials and series, dramatic and musical, game and panel shows. Of course, nobody can tell when we'll be able to get our live properties on the air. But the opportunity will arise sooner or later. And when it does, we'll be ready.

ZIV-UA Means Business With 'Quality In Quantity'

By LEN FIRESTONE
V.P., Syndication Sales, Ziv-United Artists, Inc.

THE business of television is more than business at Ziv-UA. Here we believe that it is our obligation to put more into our present production in order to increase our yield to the public in the future.

In reverse, we believe that quality is not only good TV, it is also good business. In fact, we have discovered that quality is actually the parent of quantity. Good shows that won't die are the difference between a warehouse and a library. We have the greatest library of its kind in the world.

Between this catalog and its steady output of at least a half dozen first-run series a year, we have become the largest and only consistent source of continuing supply of syndicated programs in TV today.

In short, Ziv-UA means business in the best sense of the word, in a chain that includes the station, advertiser and consuming public, whose buying power is the vital link that completes the circle.

Ziv-UA's complete and expertly researched sales plans are the product of time and people and rich experience that make them unrivalled in their field. They include built-in merchandising and promotion opportunities that have been tested in action, as have the men who are sent to put the plans into practice for our clients.

"Your Ziv-UA man" is more than a designation. It describes a carefully picked executive whose grasp and personality measure up to a standard of service that has been built up over the years through contact with the needs of advertisers and stations. His "theatre of operations" takes in national spot and regional advertisers, as well as local sponsors and stations; and his arsenal consists of some of the top-caliber productions in syndication, headed by some of the brightest stars in the theatre.

Included in Ziv-UA's 12 year cavalcade of hits are what are recorded in the industry as the three crowning successes of the syndication business: "Highway Patrol," "Sea Hunt" and "I Led Three Lives."

"Highway Patrol" anticipated by several seasons the popularity of the law-enforcement program in TV; out-living still, almost all its imitators. It is currently among the top-rated and best product-selling shows in syndication.

Companions to "Highway Patrol" in the field of "quality that sells" are, "Men of Annapolis," "Science Fiction Theatre," "Mr. District Attorney," "Mackenzie's Raiders" and "Favorite Story."

"Sea Hunt," starring Lloyd Bridges and produced by Ivan Tors, represents in some ways, the peak of American syndication. The freshest idea in TV at its inception, it bucked every trend and prophecy to become the longest-running and most distinguished top-rated series in the market-by-market arena today.

New Ziv-UA successes are "Case of the Dangerous Robin," "Tombstone Territory" and "Lock Up." Other best-sellers include "Harbor Command," "Dr. Christian," "Bold Venture" and "This Man Dawson."

And yet the listing here only begins to scratch the depth of Ziv-UA "quality in quantity;" just as the names of some of its stars are only part of the sound of success at Ziv-UA: Lloyd Bridges, Brod Crawford, Macdonald Carey, Lee Bowman, Richard Carlson, Keith Andes, Dane Clark, Adolphe Menjou, Rick Jason, Pat Conway, among many more.

The sum of all of this is that there is business in quality . . . and quality in business. And by those terms, Ziv-UA means business —more and more business for its clients.

Syndication Upbeat In Non-Network Markets

By HERBERT S. SCHLOSSER
V.P. & General Manager, California National Productions

PRIMARY emphasis in programming for television is on network schedules. The entire spectrum of the broadcast industry is absorbed in the constant shifting and alterations in the program agendas. Shop talk fills the air with program grosses and nets, above and below-the-line costs, and the innumerable problems involved in getting a show airborne. As an invaluable vehicle for advertising the goods and services of their national clientele, no one questions the continuing prosperity of network operations.

Yet, all too often, the importance of non-network program distribution in the nation's economy is ignored. Here, for example, is some arithmetic derived from CNP's own impressive contributions in TV: Currently, CNP has 35 program series, averaging 39 half-hours each, over 374 stations in the U. S. alone. These provide for some 175,000 sponsor messages per annum — millions upon millions of commercial impressions.

Here, obviously, is an important medium of the communications arts that has taken its rightful place in TV, and must continue to grow within it.

Despite this, the past year has witnessed a tendency to over-emphasize the difficulties faced by syndicators, rather than to examine their growth potentials. The trade press often has carried statements of industry spokesmen predicting the imminent demise of the industry. They have cited lack of sufficient station time periods for new product, an excess of program series, increases in production costs without counterbalancing advances in sales prices, etc.

Close examination reveals these dire comments make sense only when applied to a segment of syndication that, for all practical purposes, has already stopped breathing. I refer to program distribution on a market-by-market basis in advance of obtaining regional or sizeable multi-market sales. That way lies disaster — and every syndicator worth his salt knows it. The day has long passed when a distributor would invest large sums in hopes of putting together enough single market sales to emerge with a profit.

However, the story is different if a program's distribution is initiated with a sale to one of the major regional advertisers. The market areas of these advertisers are carved out of large, populous sections of the country. They require TV quality worthy of their high acceptance by the consumers. The key to success in program distribution lies with these large regional buyers.

Advantages of the regional sale are obvious. For the distributor, they are strong proof of his program's acceptance; the momentum thus generated sparks added sales in other cities; station time periods become more easily available; even before the general sales effort is launched, the program takes on the look of a hit.

For the regional advertiser, it brings sponsor identification, contrasted with the shortcomings of spot purchases; he can avail himself of inherent merchandising possibilities; he may utilize the star's popularity for traffic-building personal appearances and original commercials; there's no waste coverage — he buys only those cities that fit his marketing pattern.

At CNP, we are firmly convinced that, as part of the expanding national economy and of TV in particular, non-network program distribution will continue to play an important part in TV advertising. We recognize viewers' tastes have matured and that the public demands quality programming—good scripts, performed by talented actors under the supervision of experts. This is precisely what we intend to deliver in 1961.

ITC's 'New Frontiers' In '61 Aimed At Growth Markets

By ABE MANDELL

V.P., Sales and Administration, Independent Television Corp.

THE rising costs of production make it impossible for the average producer to introduce new product with the hope of recovering his costs the first time around. The high residual costs plus competition for available syndication time slots, make the prospect of cost recovery on subsequent runs or off-network telecasts even less appealing. Indeed, series which only receive one year of network exposure are becoming drugs on the syndication market, because of the stigma attached by buyers to series which do not receive network renewal. Add to this the pressure of networks for one hour programming, half-hour programs cable-fed but locally sold, network campaigns for one-minute spot sales on national programs, the long-standing competition of feature length movies for available time slots and sponsor's money, and you have a situation that can literally spell disaster for the standard television film distributor.

Through its access to world markets and world distribution, ITC can bring top quality product to the U. S. markets with a needed return from domestic sales that can withstand the market conditions prevailing today. Based on this situation, ITC can count on a minimum of four new series a year, (half-hour or one hour), to meet the needs of the U. S. market.

Under the guidance of Leslie Harris, who is in charge of our international production, ITC will be taking advantage of talent and facilities everywhere in the world. We intend to bring more producers and creativity to our production setup. We will, before long, have established a production alliance here in the States, so that we will have production for network, syndication, etc., both here and abroad. Our mobile tape facilities have already been used by such network programs as Jack Paar, Person To Person, Leon ard Bernstein, NBC News, CBS News, etc.

ITC recently sold the Danger Man series to the CBS network. Similarly, full production in the Whiplash series has just been concluded in Australia, and will bring the same high values to U. S. television screens.

We have sold a one-hour spectacular—A Night at the London Palladium — to NBC, to be aired this Fall as the first in a projected series of one-hour musical variety spectacles, using the format of the London Palladium. A series of 13 one-hour specials starring Jo Stafford, and featuring guest stars, will be produced this summer.

We have added a sports division which is offering exciting and informative series like Magic Moments in Sports starring Leo Durocher; Golf Tips of the Day starring Dow Finsterwald; and the 30-minute series, Campy's Corner with Roy Campanella.

We have just concluded a successful sales campaign on the Best of the Post series, bringing top quality product produced in color to the syndication markets. The sales figures indicate that quality production will bring results.

Diver Dan, a series of 104 puppet cartoon episodes, filmed in color, has been introduced by ITC for world-wide sale. A new concept based upon an electronic puppet device will form the basis of a half-hour children's show — "Mike Mercury and Supercar," which will shortly be introduced.

The substantial increase in world markets has caused us to expand our activities more firmly than ever in this area. This is all part of our pattern of immediate adaptability which we intend to keep fresh and vital on a current basis.

This adds up to one conclusion—1961 will find ITC stronger than ever as it pushes forward its new frontiers in the television industry.

American Society Of Composers, Authors and Publishers

By STANLEY ADAMS
President

THE American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers is a performing right organization, founded in 1914 by the late Victor Herbert and a group of his colleagues. The Society functions as a clearing house for the performing rights of the creators of music and their publishers.

The performing right is granted by the United States Government under the Federal Copyright Law. This right entitles composers, authors and publishers of musical compositions to payment for their works whenever they are performed publicly for profit.

Through ASCAP, any user of music may obtain from a single source the right to perform the works of more than 5800 writers and 1650 publishers who are members of the Society, at a minimum expense and without the necessity of negotiating for each separate use.

ASCAP's extensive repertory covers every phase of American music literature. In addition to the best-loved popular and show music, it includes the finest country and western music, church and sacred selections, and a catalog of much of our contemporary classical music: symphonic, chamber and choral works and recital selections.

Radio and television broadcasters have access to this entire repertory when they obtain an ASCAP license. This license guarantees them a clearance on all ASCAP composers' and publishers' music; at the same time it provides for the writers a sustained livelihood from the works of their own creation, and a means of enabling publishers to invest in the exploitation of new works.

The Society's Board of Directors consists of twelve writer and twelve publisher members elected biennially by the writer-and-publisher-membership respectively. Its officers are elected annually. Headquarters are located at 575 Madison Avenue, New York 22, New York. It maintains twenty-three branch offices in major cities throughout the country.

OFFICERS OF ASCAP: President: Stanley Adams; Vice-President: Louis Bernstein; Vice-President: Otto A. Harbach; Secretary: Deems Taylor; Ass't Secretary: Arthur Schwartz; Treasurer: Frank H. Connor; Ass't Treasurer: J. J. Bregman.

Broadcast Music, Inc.

By CARL HAVERLIN
President

THE United States Copyright law provides that the authors and publishers of music have the right to be compensated when their music is performed publicly for profit. This right also exists under the laws of every major country of the world.

Broadcast Music, Inc. — BMI — acquires these performing rights from independent writers and publishers, collects license fees from the organizations which perform music for profit, and, in turn, makes payment to the creators of the music which is used. As a performing rights licensing organization, BMI serves the composers, publishers and users of all types of music. BMI's services are available to all persons who perform music and who wish to avail themselves of BMI's repertory and to all writers and publishers who desire to grant performing rights to it.

BMI licenses the music composers and publishers who are resident in every one of the United States. Through agreements with performing rights societies in other countries, it makes American music available throughout the world and brings the music of foreign countries to America.

The past twenty years have seen two decades of unprecedented economic, technical, and cultural growth in American music. We at BMI think that the free, open competition that BMI brought to the performing rights licensing field has contributed significantly to that growth.

For the future, BMI looks forward to serving many thousands more of the creators of music and many more of the businesses that use music as part of their service to the public. It will continue to deal justly and fairly with both the creators of music and those enterprises which enable that music to be heard. It will continue to maintain its open-door policy for the benefit of all persons who wish to gain the public ear and to be rewarded if their works win favor. It will continue to serve the public by making music from every part of our country and from all quarters of the world available for public performance.

OFFICERS OF BMI: President: Carl Haverlin; Vice-President & General Counsel: Sydney M. Kaye; Vice-President, in charge Station Relations, Glenn R. Dolberg; Vice-President in charge Foreign Relations, Jean Geiringer; Vice-President in charge Domestic Performing Rights Administration and Secretary, Robert J. NINETEEN HUNDRED AND SIXTY-ONE marks SESAC's 30th anniversary of services to the broadcasting industry. It was in February, 1931 that we first opened our doors as America's second performance licensing organization. The years that followed saw many changes occur — changes not only in the increasing number of stations on the air, but in the very heart of the industry, its programming.

As the number of AM stations increased and television made greater inroads in the market, radio programming developed a new look and broadcasters searched endlessly for new and exciting program concepts. SESAC kept pace with these changing demands and provided the industry with a well balanced array of outstanding music from more than 300 catalogs of publisher-affiliates including many of the top firms in the music world. In television, too, SESAC copyrighted material has been invaluable in providing the answer to the many TV music needs.

Early in 1958, SESAC began producing and distributing without charge to the nation's broadcasters "repertory recordings"—handsomely packaged 45 rpm discs featuring the leading artists from every major record label performing new songs and standards from the vast and diversified SESAC copyrighted repertory. To date, more than 350,000 of these eagerly awaited albums have been distributed to radio and television stations throughout the United States and Canada, and our files presently include close to 50,000 testimonials from station personnel.

During each of SESAC's 30 great years, its huge catalog has been enhanced through the addition of new publisher-affiliates. The year 1960 alone brought forth such all-time SESAC hits as Jack Scott's memorable recording of "BURNING BRIDGES," Jackie Wilson's "DOGGIN' AROUND," Lonnie Sattin's "I'LL FLY AWAY," and the Anita Kerr Singers' "STRANGE LITTLE MELODY."

In 1956, SESAC moved to its present modern and efficient offices in the Coliseum Tower, located in the heart of Manhattan. This move was another milestone in SESAC's record of progress, for in our new quarters, we are better equipped to serve you, the broadcaster. We extend to each of you, a cordial invitation to visit our offices and to meet the members of the SESAC family. Here also are the catalogs of all SESAC publishers kept available for quick and easy reference by broadcasters or by the countless recording artists who review and refer to them when planning their personal appearances or recording sessions. In 1940, SESAC listed 69 publisher-affiliates with a total of 125 catalogs. Today, just 21 years later, there are 141 publisher-affiliates with 318 different catalogs.

At the Coliseum Tower, too, are the producers of SESAC Recordings, which have already been sold to more than 1300 stations throughout the United States and Canada and this list continues to grow as each week passes. The service consists of top-quality, twelve-inch long-playing albums, which feature the truly great artists of our time in every conceivable field of music.

A recent addition to the SESAC RECORDINGS Program Service, was the "DRUMMERS" which in themselves are a notable milestone on SESAC's roster of accomplishments. Included are big band sound sales starters, themes, station promos and weather, news and time signals at their tasty commercial best.

During 1960, SESAC introduced for the very first time anywhere, a special series of "DRUMMERS" produced especially for the country music broadcaster. Recorded in the country music capital of the world, Nashville, Tennessee, these long-awaited sales and programming aids were immediately acclaimed by C & W stations from coast to coast and during 1961, SESAC will further expand this series.

London's Television Made Major Strides During 1960

By PAUL ADORIAN
Managing Director, Associated-Rediffusion Ltd.

THE past year has been a tremendously important one for Associated Rediffusion Ltd. who provide independent television programmes for London from Monday to Friday each week.

January, 1960 saw the start of one of the most popular drama series transmitted by Associated-Rediffusion—the short stories of Somerset Maugham adapted for television.

In February, we signed a new agreement with the Hallé Orchestra to give financial backing to 78 concerts over the next three years. This is part of our patronage of the arts and part of our endeavour to encourage the provision of programmes for minorities.

Our popular schools programmes are gaining international recognition and in the spring our Head of Schools visited Sweden in connection with the introduction of schools television there and also to the U. S. A. in connection with the international exchange of such programmes. Some of our schools programmes are now being transmitted on the National Educational Television Network of the U.S.A.

A Children's Week took place in May, during which an exhibition of children's programmes was shown at the National Film Theatre.

In June, we opened Studio 5 at Wembley, the largest television studio in the world. The facilities this studio offers have very much helped our production staff and we have been able to extend both the range and number of our programmes.

We have increased our activities in the export field with the opening in July of an International Division for the exploitation of our programmes overseas. One of the achievements following this action was the formation of an International Television Federation (known as INTERTEL) to produce high quality television programmes to produce a wider knowledge of contemporary world affairs and a better mutual understanding of world problems in the four participating countries, i. e. Australia, Canada, the U. S. A. and the United Kingdom.

Our light entertainment programmes continued to be popular, and during September, the quiz show "Take Your Pick" celebrated its 200th transmission.

Feature programmes of a high calibre were transmitted during the year, and in particular, one can mention the 60 minute programme "The Two Faces of Japan," which was transmitted over the network in November, and was sold to the U. S. A., Japan, Australia and Canada.

From December, we have repeated the schools French language series "Chez les Dupre" for adults in London, becoming the first foreign language series on television scheduled for evening viewing by adults in this country.

These were just a few items from a year's work but they should not be considered as necessarily the most important. One of the reasons that makes Associated-Rediffusion so vital is that every programme from the shortest to the longest, the most inexpensive to the most costly, is treated by us as equally important.

Global Television Programmes Pioneered By Great Britain

By VAL PARNEILL

Managing Dir., Associated Television Ltd.

AN exciting new outlook has begun to invade the television screens of the world.

Not only in Britain and the U. S. A. but in other countries too, television is now being planned on an international basis. Major programmes are being made not only for screening in the countries of origin—but for distribution in overseas markets as well.

In short, Global TV is here. In Britain, my company has been the pioneer in producing programs for the international market. Our U. S. sales—made through our American subsidiary, the Independent Television Corporation—include such network deals as “Robin Hood” and “Danger Man.” We have also made big strides in the syndication market with such products as “Four Just Men” and “Interpol Calling.”

Recently we embarked on another new film series “Ghost Squad,” based on Scotland Yard’s undercover men. We are producing this in association with the Rank Organisation on a budget of $1,500,000.

These film series, however, are only part of the story. Our company has developed a $300,000 mobile recording unit which is now operating throughout Europe. This unit, first of its kind, records programmes on videotape on the American system of 525 lines.

It is being used by ABC, CBS and NBC, both for co-production deals and for exclusive assignments for American viewers.

Last year we taped a whole week of programs here for Jack Paar and NBC. This spring he was here again taping one-hour inserts in the Carlton Towers Hotel in London.

Naturally, we are delighted to be associated with American television in this way and to be in a position to provide your networks with these facilities.

In April, we opened our new $14,000,000 Studio Centre at Elstree, Herts, covering 31 acres, and just 14 miles from the center of London. These are the most modern in the world and provide us with the largest studio space of any TV organisation in Britain. All the equipment is capable of working on the 405 line British standard; the 525 60 frame American system and the 625 European line standard. It is here that we will be taping a series of Jo Stafford shows—for world wide showing.

We are already placing our own British made TV series in 40 countries including Finland, Yugoslavia, Thailand and Poland. Our programs are seen on more than 1,000 TV stations.

For our “Sunday Night at the London Palladium” TV series, we book the biggest international stars available. This is Britain’s premier teledrama show, live from the Palladium stage before a theatre audience. We will be taping some of these programs for U. S. viewers in the autumn.

We produce this show each week, building the programme around our headline star. From the viewers’ point of view we aim to give each one of them a seat in the greatest music hall in the world.

But our output is not confined to vaudeville. We are getting big overseas sales with our hour long semi-documentary series. One of these is “Probation Officer,” the story of behind-the-scenes in a London magistrates’ court. Another popular programme which has just started in Australia is our twice weekly hospital serial “Emergency-Ward 10.”

As Global TV develops, we in Britain will be bringing performers of calibre to viewers screens everywhere — from Alaska to Sydney, from Tokyo to Beirut.

British Television In Its Year Of Decision

By PETER C. DAVALLE
Radio-TV Daily, London Bureau

THE British TV scene is shot through with exciting rhythms—and not a few discordant passages. To continue the musical metaphor, there's a demand for a third clef, too. And, inevitably, there are the occasional sour notes!

First, the rhythms. The "Battle of the Lines" is hotting up. The Government's Television Advisory Committee say: "Scrap the present 40 five line system and adopt 625." But the Radio Industry Council, representing 80 per cent of the country's TV set manufacturers, insist that there should be no change yet. They say a switch to 625 would lead to a 15 to 20 year delay in giving national coverage on more than three channels (there are only two at present, BBC TV and the Independent Network).

The Government seems determined to keep colour TV waiting in the ante room although the BBC says it is ready and willing to open the door to admit it.

The year 1961 will go down as the year of Pilkington. This is the Government-ordained committee which, in surveying the future of TV and sound broadcasting in Britain, has invited recommendations from practically every public body with an interest in both media of entertainment. Commerce, the Church, politics, the Arts—all have welcomed the opportunity to vent their feelings about TV in general—and about the proposed third TV channel in particular. Whether this channel should be BBC-run or ITA-run, has split public opinion sharply in two. Few people have challenged the need for the additional channel itself.

So far as the prospects for toll-TV are concerned, there is a great deal of surmise and at least two definite sets of proposals.

One comes from the influential Rank Organisation who have said that it does not matter whether British toll-TV should be the broadcast or the line system. What does matter, they say, is that the system must be British. And they add that the American domination of the film industry should act as a stern warning in this respect.

The Kinematograph Renters' Society—representing all the film renters in the country—is more specific in calling for toll-TV by wire and thinks an organisation "basically similar" to the I. T. A. should run it. But both Ranks and the K.R.S. find themselves on common ground in insisting that toll-TV must not become subject to monopoly control but that "extensive" licenses should be granted.

Encouraging feature in both BBC TV and the I.T.A. progress reports has been the steadily expanding overseas sales and the stepping up of income from service fees (as in the case of the CBS-BBC series "The Valiant Years," based on the Churchill memoirs). The BBC point with pride to the U. S. success of their "Third Man" and "Age of Kings" and have high hopes of a similar success with their "Maigret" series which have achieved, and sustained, high ratings in Britain.

Perhaps the most dramatic success story of the year so far as TV film production and sales are concerned, comes from ATV which has crashed through the American peak-hour TV barrier with its "Danger Man" series. And ATV, through its wholly-owned subsidiary the Independent Television Corporation has announced a production schedule for 1961 that is giving the entire British TV film industry a much-needed filip.

Radio Sets And Wired Speakers World-Wide Distribution, 1960

At the end of 1960, there were about 188,000,000 radio sets and an additional 40,000,000 wired speakers in the world, exclusive of the United States and Canada. This figure of 188 million radio sets, however, cannot be compared with the figure of 166 million reported as of the end of 1959. The difference of 22 million sets was mainly brought about by an unusual development in the statistical reporting of the Soviet Union. In 1959, the U.S.S.R. had reported the number of radio sets (apart from wired speakers) as follows: (millions) 1956—7.4; 1957—8.3; 1958—9.6. In 1960, their new report revised the figures for these years as follows: 1956—16.3; 1957—19.0; and 1958—21.7. The 1959 total is reported as 24.7 million.

This is an admission that 12 to 14 million radio sets for 1956 to 1958 have suddenly been discovered, thus casting doubt on the reliability of Soviet statistics. It is, therefore, evident that usual methods of computing annual growth, percentages of expansion, etc., cannot be maintained this year as this new development affects the statistics of several past years.

International TV Roundup

By Areas And Countries

Overseas television continued to expand strongly during the past year. Among the highlights of 1960 were the introduction of commercial television in Ecuador, the United Arab Republic and the Netherlands Antilles; the official opening of Norway's television network; the great success of the television coverage of the Olympic Games in Rome; the rapid growth of television in Sweden; and the continued rapid growth of television in Japan.

WESTERN EUROPE

DENMARK

With the opening of the transmitting station at Aarsbolle on Bornholm Island, the whole of metropolitan Denmark received television coverage. The transmitter is tied to the Danish TV Center in Copenhagen by means of a relay line crossing southern Sweden. For the coming year, Denmark's television budget of 42,500,000 kronen (about $6,000,000) surpasses its radio budget by about a million dollars.

FRANCE

Last July, RTF began relaying TV signals from France to Algeria by means of a relay station on the Island of Majorca. Algerian viewers claimed excellent reception, superior even to local TV transmissions. This Paris-Algiers relay has been made permanent, and RTF officials hope to transmit live programs from Algeria to France in the near future.

About 15,000 TV sets were located in public places in France, the greatest number (5,181) being in the Toulouse region. In addition, 3,317 were in the Lyon region, and 2,207 in the Paris region.

Nothing definite has come to light regarding the proposed second network in France.

WEST GERMANY

Despite the Laender's strong opposition to the Federal Government's activities in the radio and television broadcasting field, the government continues preparations for commencing a second TV program this year. The plan prepared by the Bundespost makes provision for the construction of 82 transmitters (not including satellite stations destined ultimately to cover shadow areas). The frequency plan and the locations of the first 28 of these stations have been published by the Bundespost. The effective radiated power of each transmitter will be related to local requirements and will vary between 100 and 500 kilowatts and will serve 65 per cent of the population.

The second TV program to be transmitted over this network is to be the responsibility of a commercial company established under private law, the "Deutschland-Fernsehen GmbH." Originally the company was to be owned by the Federal Government (51 per cent) and the Laender (49 per cent). However, since the Laender refused to take over their share, the other 49 per cent has now been transferred to the Federal Government, thus making it sole owner of the company.

The financing of the second TV program is still an open question. While the Federal Government may try to take part of the current TV license fee revenues for its TV company, advertising revenues are expected to finance a large portion of the costs of the second TV program.

ITALY

The inauguration of the second television network for Italy, repeatedly postponed, has now been set for the fall of 1961. The Italian Minister of Telecommunications stated that when the second network becomes operative, it will at first reach only the major Italian centers such as Milan, Rome, Turin, and Naples. By the end of 1962, 32 transmitters and 11 repeaters will allow reception of the second channel over two-thirds of the country's territory.

The Italian network currently consists of 28 main transmitters and 358 repeater stations. Plans call for the construction of 201 additional repeaters, and a coverage of 98 per cent.

In a decision handed down in July, the Italian Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of the Italian TV monopoly held by RAI-TV, stating that this arrangement "best guarantees impartiality and objectivity of services, especially due to natural limitations for the medium."

As of January 1, 1961, Italian TV subscribers pay only $20 a year as against $23 paid previously. At the time of the inauguration of TV in Italy in 1954, the license fee was $30.

NORWAY

After a six-year experimental period, Norway's television network was officially opened by King Olaf. The network now includes three transmitters and two converters. Oslo's Tryvasshogda transmitter, covering an area with about 500,000 residents, will be boosted from 10 kw. to 100 kw. when finished in 1961-1962. The Bergen transmitter makes TV available to some 300,000 in Western Norway. The Kongsberg transmitter of 1 kw. will be expanded to 60 kw. Frequency converters for Skien-Porsgrunn and Kongsvinger will be replaced by transmitters of 60 kw. and 10 kw. respectively. Plans call for several more transmitters, and by 1970 TV coverage will extend to 80 per cent of the population. About 20,000 receivers have been registered so far.

PORTUGAL

The Portuguese television network now covers 85 per cent of the country.

SWEDEN

With the estimated one million sets in use, Sweden has joined the select group of West European countries with one million or more TV sets. The others are the United Kingdom, West Germany, Italy, and France. Its network now consists of 35 transmitters, and plans call for a 50 station network by 1962. At present 65 per cent of the population can enjoy good TV reception.

UNITED KINGDOM

The British Television Advisory Committee has recommended a changeover from the present 405-line TV system to the 625-line West European or CCIR system. Adoption of the latter standard with 8 mc. channel spacing, as is proposed for UHF (ultra-high frequency) in Europe, would be introduced initially in Bands IV and V. The report points out that the introduction of TV in the UHF bands provides "the last opportunity for changing to 625-line standards and in such circumstances recommends that this should be done." The Postmaster-General stated that a Government decision on the improved line standards was not likely to be taken until 1962. An official of one of the commercial networks estimated that the cost of such a changeover would be between $2 and $3 billion.

Referring to color television, the report stated that while future development should be on the basis of compatibility, technical and economic limitations make it undesirable to introduce color television in the near future.

The BBC launched its new Television Center in London with its first telecast in June, as the first of seven studios under construction became operational. The 45 million dollar plant occupies a 13-acre site. Four more studios will be opened this year, and the others later.

LATIN AMERICA

ARGENTINA

The first privately-owned television station in Argentina was inaugurated in June, 1960 after an eight-year government monopoly of TV activities. The station operates on channel 9, and is owned by the Compania Argentina de Television (CADETE). In addition, there is a non-commercial station in Cordoba, operating temporarily on channel 12 with an experimental license.

A third station in Buenos Aires is expected to go on the air shortly on channel 13, and following that a fourth one on channel 11. It has also been announced that 26 additional privately-owned channels will be allocated shortly for the principal provincial cities.

A television survey of television viewers carried out in Buenos Aires showed a marked preference for the new channel 9 station over the government-owned channel 7. This may explain a rumor that, due to high operating costs, the government-owned TV station may shortly be offered for sale to private interests.

BRAZIL

Television in Brazil is developing rapidly. There are now 19 transmitting stations in operation including relays, and the number of sets in use is very near the million mark.

COLOMBIA

Officials report that a relay system to extend television transmissions to the southern part of the country is being installed and is expected to be completed soon.

The Ministry of Education plans to import 20,000 TV sets for schools and colleges, and to organize educational television in Colombia.

COSTA RICA

Following the inauguration of television in Costa Rica on May 6, there have been reports of various other TV licenses having been granted by the government, one on channel 9, another on channel 4 to TITV, Televitica, and a third to the newspaper La Nacion on channel 5 which went on the air in March, 1961. There is general satisfaction in Costa Rica concerning the country's "coming of age" by installing television, and the fact that the country's first TV station is in private hands rather than under government control as had been recommended by a former regime.

CUBA

The Telemundo network which used to belong to Barletta is now being reorganized and will be called "Television Revolucion." The confiscated channel 12, which used to belong to Pumarejo, was rebaptized the "Revolutionary Channel." After freezing the bank accounts of the Mestre brothers, owners of the $12,000,000 radio and TV network CMQ, last May, the Castro regime finally took over the entire network in September, charging that the owners abandoned the plant and failed to keep it in working order.

ECUADOR

Ecuador's first commercial television license was granted last June, to Mr. Jose Rosenbaum for a channel 4 station in Guayaquil. This station will be called "Prima Television Ecuatoriana," and will have call-letters HCPTE. The license also provides an option to install a broadcasting station in Quito, and Mr. Rosenbaum has been assured of his choice of channels 11, 12, or 13.

Located in Guayaquil's Casa de la Cultura, the new station will be powered by a Dynair transmitter operating with a power of 2 kw. Its 220 foot antenna atop the station headquarters will be one of the higher antennas in Latin America. The initial 20-hour weekly schedule will consist of approximately 75 per cent film and 25 per cent live offerings.

MEXICO

A second television station in Tijuana, XEWT-TV on channel 12, affiliated with Telesistema Mexicano, S.A., commenced operations in July. The station has a 5 kw. transmitter and "the most modern equipment in Mexico." It plans to broadcast only in Spanish from 4 p.m. to midnight daily. In Guadalajara, Television Tapatia, S.A., owned by Alberto Villar, went on the air over channel 6 in August.

According to the press, "Radio Televisora del Golfo, XHGO-TV, in Ciudad Madero, Tamaulipas was recently acquired by the Azcarraga family. Tests are being carried out to determine the feasibility of linking the station, which operates on channel 7, with Mexico City.

A link between Mexican and United States television is envisaged this year. Studies so far undertaken show that a link-up is feasible, and that the installation of three or four more transmitters will be sufficient.

NETHERLANDS ANTILLES (CURACAO)

Television was introduced in the Island of Curacao in the Netherlands Antilles last July. The station is Telecuracao, or PJC-TV on channel 8, at Willemstad. It is owned by the "Netherlands Antilles Television Concern, Ltd.," and is managed by the Bartell Broadcasting Corporation of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. The station which cost $170,000 operates on 625-lines, 50 cycles and has a 500 watt transmitter with an effective radiated power of 2 kw. At present it operates daily for five hours. Reception is good, and there are an estimated 3,000 sets on the island.

The company is committed to the opening of a TV station at Aruba in 18 months, which will be designated TELARUBA, or PJA-TV on channel 6.

PANAMA

The Supreme Court of Panama handed down a decision in August, denying Radiodifusion Panamericana's petition for clarification of a previous ruling, which upheld the Executive Branch's cancellation of the corporation's license to operate television channel 2.

VENEZUELA

A survey carried out in Caracas in May, 1960 indicated that 120,000 homes (67 per cent of the total) in Caracas have television sets. Peak viewing hours ranged from 12:30 to 2 p.m., the customary lunch period in Caracas, and from 4:30 to 9:30 in the evening, with a high for the day at 8:15 p.m. In television ratings, Radio Caracas Television surpassed Televisa (currently off the air while new owners reorganize the personnel structure and modernize facilities) and Televisora Nacional, in that order.

In Maracaibo, 21,050 homes have TV sets, and the TV station, Ondas del Lago, channel 13, outstrips its only competition on channel 2, which is relayed from Caracas.

American Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters has acquired a minority interest in a new Venezuelan TV network, Corporacion Venezolana de Television, S.A., which will be composed of stations in Caracas (channel 4, the former Televisa), Valencia and La Guaira (channel 9), and Barquisimoto (channel 11).

NEAR EAST & AFRICA*ALGERIA

Television tests were carried out in Constantine in September, and regular transmission commenced in October. It is expected that by the fall of 1961, television will be available in the cities of Bone, Batna, Philippeville, Setif, and Bougie.

CENTRAL AFRICAN FEDERATION (RHODESIA AND NYASALAND)

The first test transmissions from the new television station in Salisbury have taken place and are reported to be very successful. Several thousand TV sets have reportedly been purchased by residents of Salisbury and the surrounding areas. Rental of TV sets will be from 3-5 pounds per month ($8.40-14). Meanwhile, a closed circuit television installation was set up at the annual Agricultural and Industrial Show in Salisbury, from August 31 to September 3.

GHANA

A Canadian team of television experts has presented Ghana with a plan for the development of television within the next two years.

GREECE

Following a preliminary accord reached between the Italian and Greek Governments, Italian engineers and technicians are drafting plans for a TV-Radio project in Greece. Equipment and services required would be supplied by Italy and charged against the $15 million in World War II reparations still due Greece from Italy. The pending project envisages the establishment of Greece's first TV network at a cost tentatively estimated at $13.5 million. Other aspects include establishment of short wave stations, introduction of FM transmission facilities, improvement of the present radio system and the construction of a factory for the manufacturing of low-priced radio and TV sets and other electronic equipment.

IRAQ

According to unconfirmed sources, preliminary work has begun on television stations in Basra and Mosul, which will relay the Baghdad station's programs, and also produce special local programs. The Mosul station is said to be planning broadcasts in Kurdish, while the Basra station expects to reach Western Iran and the Persian Gulf. These stations are expected to go on the air in 1961.

KENYA

The report of the Kenya Television Commission recommends the introduction of television in Kenya, but not for at least 18 months. Its revenue is to be derived from license fees and commercial advertisements, which will be strictly controlled (there will be no sponsored programs). The first station is to be at Nairobi, and will operate in Band I of the 625-line CCIR system. English will be the basic language, with possible interpolation in Swahili and Hindustani.

The Kenya Minister for Information and Broadcasting, Mr. N. F. Harris, announced in London that he had sufficient backing from British sources to recommend to the government that television service should start in December 1961. He first envisages a daily program of four hours to cover about 20 to 40 miles from Nairobi, and hopes a Mombasa station could be opened within three years, followed by a station, mainly for Africans, in either Nyanza or Central Province.

LEBANON

A new television station, La Compagnie de Television du Liban et du Moyen-Orient, has been granted licenses for four TV transmitting stations. The new company, headed by Ruchdi Malouf, expects to begin transmissions early in 1961. American Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters has purchased a minority interest in it.

MOROCCO

The Moroccan Government has reportedly purchased, and plans to reorganize, the now defunct television station TELMA, which originally brought TV to Morocco in 1954, but went off the air in 1956 due to financial difficulties.

NIGERIA

After the establishment of television in the Western Region of Nigeria last year, the Eastern Region has signed a contract with a British company for commercial television and radio broadcasting. A 10 kw. transmitter in Enugu operating in Band I is to initiate the television service. The Northern Region Government also announced that television was being considered for Kano, Zaria, and Kaduna.

UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA

According to the South African press, popular demand for television is increasing. The government's adamant attitude against the introduction of television in the near future is contrasted with the adoption of TV in Nigeria, and its imminent initiation in various other African countries. The Minister of Posts Hertzog told Parliament that, (1) TV would cost too much to install; (2) that "advertising rates would be prohibitively high" so that a commercial network would not pay; (3) that TV would "spoil our youth for leadership by exposing them to blood-and-thunder entertainment," and (4) that TV was only a piece of glass which shows pictures.

UNITED ARAB REPUBLIC

Television was inaugurated officially in the United Arab Republic last July. High government officials, in televised statements during the ceremonies, spoke of the importance of TV as a source of entertainment and education, and expressed hope that within a year TV would cover the whole of the UAR. Forty thousand sets have been imported and distributed in Cairo, and the government is negotiating for the purchase of an additional 20,000 sets from overseas suppliers.

It is reported that the UAR and Japan reached an agreement for the exchange of television films between the two countries.

FAR EAST

AUSTRALIA

National television stations are now operating in the capital city of every Australian state. The chain was completed when the Postmaster-General officially opened Tasmania's station ABT, channel 2, in Hobart. The studio of the Tasmanian station is located in a new building in the heart of Hobart while the transmitter is 4,000 feet above sea-level, almost at the top of Mount Wellington which overlooks the city of Hobart. The number of television sets in use in Australia has passed the one million mark.

JAPAN

With the bringing into service of eleven government (NHK) TV stations and four commercial stations since June, the Japanese TV network now consists of 107 transmitting stations including satellites. The number of TV sets in use is estimated at close to six million.

After some years of experimental color television in Japan, regular color TV programs were started in September, by NHK and four commercial companies. Approval for color TV service was given by the Postal Services Ministry to NHK's Tokyo and Osaka stations, Nippon Television network, Radio Tokyo, Yomiuri Television, and the Asahi Broadcasting Company.

MALAYA

The government of the Federation of Malaya plans to launch television by June, 1961. In the first six months of operation, Kuala Lumpur is expected to be the only area served, but it is hoped that a large portion of the whole country will be included before the end of the first year. Both Japanese interests and PYE have made offers to Radio Malaya to set up a TV network and to run it commercially for ten years without cost to the Federation. In return for the commercial revenue, they would cede the equipment to the Federation after ten years. The Federation turned down such offers because engineers pointed out that the equipment would not only be in poor shape at the end of ten years, but likely to be quite obsolete in these days of constant improvements.

OKINAWA

The second commercial television station owned by the Ryukyu Broadcasting Corporation went on the air in Naha, with a five kw. transmitter operating on channel 12. Programs are transmitted in English and Japanese.

SINGAPORE

Upon his return from Japan, the Minister of Culture, S. Rajaratnam, stated that the Singapore Government intended to establish a TV station. At his request, a three-man Japanese team visited Singapore in July to consult on the establishment of a TV station in the city.

THAILAND

Bids were invited last September for the construction of television stations in Lampang province in the north, and in Khon Kaen province in the northeast. Another station is planned for Haadyai in Songkhla province in the south. These three TV stations will afford coverage for 35 provinces in all in Thailand.

COMMUNIST BLOC*ALBANIA

According to a Radio Tirana broadcast, an experimental television station, equipped with apparatus presented by the Soviet Union and East Germany and assembled by East German specialists, has carried out some transmission tests.

BULGARIA

The Bulgarian press states that a television relay station is being built on Botev Peak. A group of experts are working there on an experiment to link the Sofia television center with the Bucharest center. The experiments are proceeding successfully. By 1962 Bulgarian television programs will be telecast abroad, and Bulgarian citizens will watch programs from Moscow, Warsaw, Prague, Berlin, and Budapest.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Two more television centers went on the air in Czechoslovakia, one in North Bohemia on Bukova Mountain, and the other in West Bohemia near Karlovy Vary. The latter replaces a relay station already in operation. The building of two television relay stations, which will make it possible to receive programs from the Kiev and Moscow studios, has begun in Slovakia. When the Central Bohemian and East Slovakian television centers are completed, the first stage of building a nation-wide TV network will be finished. In the second stage, the main emphasis will be on expansion of the program and the introduction of additional channels, as well as preparation for color television.

EAST GERMANY

The second major television transmitter located at Dequede and operating in the ultra-high frequency (UHF) Band IV, was taken into service in East Germany.

According to the East German press, the goals for East German television call for an increase in the number of television programs in 1965; establishment of a second TV program; construction of radio relay towers, transposers, and deflection antennas needed to close the gaps in TV reception; erection of 20 TV frequency transposers in Bezirke Gera and Suhl (completed); establishment of advanced schools for television; completion of the television transmission network; and color television tests in 1965. Construction of large-scale TV transmitters is not scheduled for the seven-year period except for the one at Dequede (completed).

HUNGARY

According to the Hungarian press, two new television relay stations, one on the Kekes Mtn. on the Matra range and the other in Tokaj, have been completed more than three months ahead of schedule. The 60-meter tower at Kekes uses a four kw. transmitter and its reception range will be approximately 100 km. southwest and west toward the Hungarian plain. The one kw. Tokaj transmitter's range is estimated at 50 km. south and southeast and to the Czechoslovak border to the north.

POLAND

Four more television relay stations have gone on the air since June, and the number of TV sets that are in use at the end of 1960 is estimated at 450,000. By 1965 this number is expected to reach 1,700,000. This year TV stations will be built in Bydgoszcz and Lublin, and in 1962 and 1963, six more TV transmitters will be put into operation.

RUMANIA

With the construction of 12 additional television transmitters, the whole of Rumania is expected to have TV coverage by 1965. The Electronica works in Bucharest will produce 130,000 TV sets in 1965.

USSR

The development of the Soviet television network proceeds at a good pace. Ten new transmitting stations, six centers and four relays, have gone into service since June. There are now 84 television centers and 75 relay stations in operation. Soviet television is to be developed particularly rapidly during the seven-year plan. By 1965 the country will have 165 TV centers and more than 300 low-power relay stations.

No firm figures over the 4,000,000 TV sets in use in the Soviet Union have been reported since the first of the year.

COMMUNIST CHINA

The construction of a television station has been completed in Shenyang (Mukden). A "television university" similar to the ones in Peking and Shanghai has now been established in Shenyang with a membership of 8,000 students, and another in Harbin serving 11,000 students. Courses in mathematics and physics are offered.

There are only 20,000 sets in use throughout the country, half of which are found in and around Peking. Due to the high costs of sets, there are not many individuals who own TV receivers but, instead, most sets in use are owned by people's communes and other organizations.

WHAT'S YOUR IMAGE OF A PTERODACTYL?

If you're like most people you don't have one.

Actually, the Pterodactyl was a nice old flying reptile that just couldn't keep up with the pace.
Soon — no more Pterodactyls.

The same holds true for a lot of corporations. They're nice companies but they don't keep their images up with the pace.

Don't be a Pterodactyl. Let us help you build your company's image.

(*) In view of the difficulty in a joint AM-FM operation in allocating FM operation expense separately from AM station operation expense, licensees of such stations were not required to report FM station expense separately. As a result, FM industry totals for expense and income are not available. AM-FM licensees, however, were requested to report separately the revenues, if any, attributable to FM station operation.
