THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ASCAP

By STANLEY ADAMS, President

THE American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers is a performing right organization, founded in 1914 by the late Victor Herbert and a group of his colleagues. The Society functions as a clearing house for the performing rights of the creators of music and their publishers.

The performing right is granted by the United States Government under the Federal Copyright Law. This right entitles composers, authors and publishers of musical compositions to payment for their works whenever they are performed publicly for profit.

Through ASCAP, any user of music may obtain from a single source the right to perform the works of more than 6200 writers and 1850 publishers who are members of the Society, at a minimum expense and without the necessity of negotiating for each separate use.

ASCAP's extensive repertory covers every phase of American music literature. In addition to the best-loved popular and show music, it includes the finest country and western music, church and sacred selections, and a catalog of much of our contemporary classical music: symphonic, chamber and choral works and recital selections.

Radio and television broadcasters have access to this entire repertory when they obtain an ASCAP license. This license guarantees them a clearance on all ASCAP composers' and publishers' music; at the same time it provides for the writers a sustained livelihood from the works of their own creation, and a means of enabling publishers to invest in the exploitation of new works.

The Society's Board of Directors consists of twelve writer and twelve publisher members elected biennially by the writer-and-publisher-membership respectively. Its officers are elected annually. Headquarters are located at 575 Madison Avenue, New York 22, New York. It maintains twenty-three branch offices in major cities throughout the country.

OFFICERS OF ASCAP: President: Stanley Adams; Vice-President: Louis Bernstein; Vice-President: Otto A. Harbach; Secretary: Deems Taylor; Ass't Secretary: Arthur Schwartz; Treasurer: Frank H. Connor; Ass't Treasurer: J. J. Bregman.

DIRECTORS: Stanley Adams, Louis Bernstein, Jack J. Bregman, Irving Caesar, Frank H. Connor, Paul Creston, Howard Deitz, Max Dreyfus, L. Wolfe Gilbert, Bernard Goodwin, Morton Gould, Otto A. Harbach, Jimmy McHugh, Jack Mills, Edwin H. Morris, Richard Rodgers, Arthur Schwartz, Maurice Scopp, Herman Starr, Rudolph Tauhert, Deems Taylor, Adolph Vogel, Ned Washington, Jack Yellen.

BROADCAST MUSIC, INC.

By CARL HAVERLIN, President

THE United States copyright law provides that the authors and publishers of music have the right to be compensated when their music is performed publicly for profit. This right also exists under the laws of every major country of the world.

Broadcast Music, Inc. — BMI — acquires these performing rights from independent writers and publishers, collects license fees from the organizations which perform music for profit, and, in turn, makes payment to the creators of the music which is used. As a performing rights licensing organization, BMI serves the composers, publishers, and users of all types of music. BMI's services are available to all persons who perform music and who wish to avail themselves of BMI's repertory and to all writers and publishers who desire to grant performing rights to it.

BMI licenses the music of composers and publishers who are resident in every one of the United States. Through agreements with performing rights societies in other countries, it makes American music available throughout the world and brings the music of foreign countries to America.

The past year marked BMI's twenty-first year of service to the creators of music and to the enterprises which bring music to the public. It was a year that saw the number of our affiliated composers, authors, and publishers and of the compositions we license reach an all-time high.

For the future, BMI looks forward to serving many thousands more of the creators of music and many more of the businesses which use music as part of their service to the public. It will continue to deal justly and fairly with those enterprises which enable that music to be heard. It will continue to maintain its open-door policy for the benefit of all persons who wish to gain the public ear and to be rewarded if their works win favor. It will continue to serve the public by making music from every part of our country and from all quarters of the world available for public performance.

OFFICERS OF BMI: President: Carl Haverlin; Vice President & General Counsel: Sydney M. Kaye; Vice President in charge Domestic Performing Rights Administration and Secretary, Robert J. Burton; Vice President in charge Publisher and Writer Relations, Robert B. Sour; Ass't Vice President in charge Publisher Relations, Theodora Zavin; Ass't Vice President in charge Publisher and Writer Relations, West Coast, Richard Kirk; Comptroller, Edward J. Molinelli; Treasurer and Ass't Secretary, Robert J. Higgins.

DIRECTORS (elected annually): Chairman, Sydney M. Kaye; Alfred R. Beckman, John Elmer, Carl Haverlin, Leonard Kapner, Merrill Lindsay, Dwight Martin, Paul W. Morency, John F. Patt, William Regan, J. Leonard Reinsch, Robert O. Reynolds, G. Richard Shafto, and E. R. Vadeboncoeur.

SESAC, INC.

By PAUL HEINECKE, President

ONE YEAR AGO, I had the privilege of announcing an important milestone in SESAC's history—its thirtieth anniversary. Now that the year has drawn to a close, we realize that 1961 and the years which preceded it, were but a challenge to the future . . . a future that will continue to bring music users everywhere a diversified and expanding SESAC repertory of material from active publisher affiliates.

During 1961, we more than doubled the number of mechanical licenses issued in any previous year. Numerous recordings of works in the SESAC repertory including Tex Ritter's "Hill-billy Heaven," Jack Scott's "My Dream Come True," "Steps One and Two," and Jackie Wilson's "Please Tell Me Why," found their way to top positions on the trade paper and station charts. SESAC selections were included in hundreds of 1961 commercial album releases by such artists as Elvis Presley, Pat Boone, Sy Oliver, Noro Morales, the Statesmen and the Blackwood Bros. Quartets.

The expanding use of SESAC music has resulted in increased SESAC performances all over the world. To keep pace, we have already begun expanding facilities in the Americas and overseas. Recently, we concluded agreements with several foreign performing and mechanical licensing societies who will administer performance and/or mechanical rights in their respective territories. Foreign performing rights societies now representing the SESAC repertory are PRS in England, SACEM in France, GEMA in Germany, BUMA in Holland and SACM in Mexico. Foreign representation for SESAC's mechanical rights are presently in effect with MCPS in England, GEMA in Germany and BIEM for additional world-wide representation. We are negotiating with JASRAC in Japan, SADIAC in Argentina, AGADU in Uruguay and SABAM in Belgium for the administration of mechanical and performance rights.

In 1961, the SESAC RECORDINGS label presented such artists as Hank Garland, Jack Scott, Bobby Hackett, the Four Amigos, Til Dieterle, the Allentown Band, the Frankenland Orchestra, Mozarteum Orchestra, etc.

In our "DRUMMERS" series, we introduced five new albums including "Musical Sales Effects," an album of Christmas "DRUMMERS" and three new albums of the big sound general sales intros and programming aids.

To meet the demands of the growing number of radio stations featuring country and western music, SESAC produced a series of "DRUMMERS" performed by leading country and western artists. The first three albums were an immediate success and were followed by a fourth release featuring the Statesmen and the Blackwood Brothers.

Our anniversary year brought some 500 additional AM and TV stations to the SESAC RECORDINGS LP Program Service roster.

SESAC

NEW TV SYSTEM NEEDED

Present 25-Year-Old System Is Obsolete

By PAUL ADORIAN, Managing Director
Associated-Rediffusion, Ltd.

IF WE had to start a television system today from scratch, I am sure it would be entirely different from the one we have now. Many people forget this when talking about how many lines or extra colors we should add to our picture. The real problem today is the much more basic one—have we got an efficient system?

I think the answer to this question is a categorical "No." During the next 10 to 15 years, we could develop and put into practice a completely new system which would, of course, run parallel with the existing system as would a color or a higher line system.

At present, we send out 25 complete pictures a second. The view of a person speaking, for example, is scanned 25 times a second, even though the background has not changed. In fact, less than 10 per cent of the average information in a television picture is new—90 per cent of the information we transmit is repetitive and wasteful.

This is because we have inherited a system which is 25 years old. It was extremely good 25 years ago, but with all the scientific knowledge available in this country today, it is possible to develop a new system which would certainly compress that useful signal twofold, even if not tenfold.

If this were done, it would enable us to double the channels available for television transmissions in the limited range of Bands I and III—despite the fact that we could still make use of Bands IV and V.

Several suggestions have been made for the future and several new lines of thought are already being developed. I believe that if we are going to have a change, we should have a real change which will allow us to make the maximum use of the wavebands available. There is absolutely no reason why such a new system, using 625 lines, should not be interchangeable with other countries. In this way, we would get the full advantages of a 625-line system while at the same time making better use of our available bandwidth space.

If Britain led the world in this, I am sure that other countries would eventually follow. It will cost us between 750 and 1,000 million pounds to make any sort of change. Between half and three-quarters of that expenditure will be incurred anyhow, due to sets becoming obsolete, but probably between a quarter to one-third will be incurred whatever alternative is decided upon. That will involve millions of pounds, so we might as well have a good change.

I believe that the idea of adopting this system is the most materialistic and realistic solution. Just as we in this country produced the first working television system in the world, so we now have the chance to produce an even more efficient system, firstly to our own good and subsequently to the general benefit of the whole world.

THE PILKINGTON GAME

Britons Await Special Report on TV's Future

By PETER C. DAVALLE

Radio-TV Daily, London Bureau

BRTAIN'S most keenly discussed TV quiz game is not on the small screen. It is being carried out in plush offices, around conference tables and across the cocktail bar. And it is a quiz game with a big difference. Everyone is asking questions—and nobody is answering them; not until the middle of 1962 anyway.

It is the Pilkington Committee game. This Government-appointed body of experts has been dissecting the entire British TV system, and—this is where the quiz game comes in—preparing to recommend what paths it should follow in the immediate future.

What will Pilkington have to say about the merits of the 625-line system, as compared with the current 405 lines still adopted in Britain? What about colour TV? Who should have the third TV channel? Is the hated ten per cent tax on TV advertising to be lifted? Is toll-TV to be unleashed in Britain? Will commercial radio get the go-ahead at last?

These are just a few of the many vital questions that the Committee will answer in their momentous report.

Whereas "Pilkington is Watching You," a much-quoted and sinister slogan could well have had a stultifying effect on the enterprise of the TV companies (or, at the other end of the scale, it could have sustained them at an artificially high level), there has been an admirable absence of sychophancy among program planners.

The year 1961 was, in fact, a year of expansion, both at home and abroad, despite the fact that the independent companies were engaged in a long and bitterly contested war with Equity, the actors' union, on the question of relating pay rates to the complex system of program networking.

What were the highlights of the British TV scene during 1961. It saw the 25th anniversary of the BBC's TV service, for one, with increasing success in selling filmed series.

Four new commercial networks—Westward, Grampian, Border and Telefis Eireann—were opened. With the opening this year of the remaining two networks, Wales Television Association and Channel Television, there will be no more blank spots on the ITV map of Britain.

BBC gave Britons their first large-scale view of colour TV at the Radio Show at London's Earls Court. Then, in their annual report, the Corporation revealed their plans (subject to Pilkington) for regular colour transmissions, a second TV service and local sound radio broadcasting.

It is in the field of local radio that commercial interests see a new and highly profitable opportunity. Already, several companies have been formed to translate commercial radio from theory into fact once (and if) Pilkington favors the venture.

The Pilkington Committee will undoubtedly open the gates to many hitherto undreamed-of innovations, and a review of the 1962 TV scene will reflect an exciting new pattern.

PROFIT OPPORTUNITY

Offered by TV Revolution in Great Britain

By BILL FROMM, Director of New Business

NBC Spot Sales (Representing TWW
TV for So. Wales & the West of England)

WHILE THE RUSSIANS were building a wall in Berlin, the Free World has been busily engaged in knocking down some walls—walls of artificial tariffs and other barriers to international trade.

American business will shortly find itself in a strange new world. Every month new foreign enterprises are born in the bustling industrial centers of Europe, Japan, South America . . . many of them coveting the U. S. market. By the same token, an increasing number of U. S. companies are beginning to realize that "that's gold in them thar hills".

Norman Strouse, president of J. Walter Thompson, recently observed that "just as major marketers moved in this country from local, to regional, and then to national distribution, many will come to recognize that they must move outside the U. S. to other free world markets if they are to realize their ultimate potential".

To these new-comers, Great Britain offers a logical first step. Here you will meet conditions quite similar to the market and marketing characteristics you have in the domestic arena. There is no language barrier. With minor exceptions, your men and advertising materials will be equally comprehensible to the English.

The British family, like his American counterpart, has already undergone a kind of consumer metamorphosis. Leisure time was transformed by a TV set. Eating and food preparation habits changed, as witnessed by a 31% sales rise in the past five years of "convenience" foods such as canned and highly processed items. The aspects of mobility were added by vastly increased ownership of autos.

Opportunities for profit do exist in Great Britain and it is apparent that the most effective and powerful selling force is the same force that revolutionized advertising in America: television.

There are a number of important differences between British commercial TV and our own TV system, but the American advertiser will perhaps be most interested in two. First, the British viewer in each region can select programming from only two sources: A government-owned BBC, or a commercial program contractor. Compare this with the six TV outlets in New York. Second, British TV is spot TV. You buy announcements or participations in varying lengths.

For any consumer product manufacturer interested in opening up the British market, TV is a must. And, if strategy calls for the selection of a single area for testing the pressure required to meet performance objectives, Television for South Wales and The West of England (TWW Limited) has much to recommend it. Two large metropolitan centers, Cardiff and Bristol, lend themselves naturally to the testing of different prices, different premiums, package designs, etc.

Program contractors like TWW are most eager to help new American products establish themselves in England. It is the American company that must choose . . . to wait and see the markets develop, or to act now and reap the rewards of getting in on the ground floor.
