SOMETHING NEW FOR CORN

Corn is used for something other than making bootleg liquor. The Columbia Broadcasting System has adopted insulating wallboard made of cornstalks for its new studio in Washington. The board is said to minimize reverberation on the floors and walls.

ROBINSON OPENS SCHOOL PROGRAM

Judge Ira E. Robinson, chairman, Federal Radio Commission, on Feb. 4 inaugurated the pioneer effort of the Columbia Broadcasting System to carry approved educational programs to schools.

Speaking over the Columbia System's coast-to-coast network. Judge Robinson declared that "doubtless no one ever before spoke to a school as large as the one now hearing my voice."

"Who among you will fail to profit by the educational exercises given you in this school of the air?" asked the Radio Commission chairman. "You may learn much by listening. But you must listen intently; you must concentrate on the subject."

TO START RADIO AIRCRAFT SERVICE

Radio equipment of stations between New York and Chicago is being made capable of communication with radio-equipped aircraft on the airway between the two cities under the direction of the Airways Division of the Department of Commerce. A continuous watch will be maintained on both the international and the national aircraft calling frequencies.

This service is being established on a temporary basis and will be operated for probably a year.

TELLS HOW TO EARN RADIO FOR SCHOOL

"101 Ways To Earn a Radio for Schools" is the subject of a pamphlet prepared by Ray S. Erlandson, educational director of the Grigsby-Grunow Company, of Chicago, which together with the Columbia Broadcasting System is sponsoring "The American School of the Air," which opened February 4.

School fairs, carnivals, bazaars, "white elephant" rumage and junk sales, the organization of thrift clubs, or the solicitation of donations are some of the schemes suggested.

RCA BUILDS NEW ITALIAN STATION

The Radio Corporation of America has just completed the construction of a 50,000-watt broadcast station in Rome, Italy. It is a duplicate of their new transmitter at WTIC, and an improvement over WENR. This modern 50,000-watt job, with 100 per cent modulation, should be heard in this country. "Radio-Roma" operates on 422.3 meters.

AYLESWORTH GETS $75,000

Another captain of industry has apparently caught up with President Hoover in salary. It is learned on excellent authority that M. H. Aylesworth, president of the three-year-old National Broadcasting Company, now receives $75,000 a year.

AMERICAN BELL BOYS ABROAD

Henry and George, who advertise themselves as former American bell boys, are attracting some attention over broadcasting stations in Australia. They recently staged a series of playlets from Station 3LO, Melbourne.

Questions & Answers

A Weekly Department Conducted by K.G. Ormiston, I.R.E.

QUESTION—About four months ago, Mr. Whippe of Long Beach, wrote you relative to interference due to the close grouping of certain stations. Your reply fails to convince me that the difficulty of rearrangement is not more imaginary than real. A glance at my log shows that 60 per cent of the stations I get are on the dial from zero to 33, and of the other 40 per cent, only half are Pacific Coast stations. Also, of the 60 per cent of the total stations heard on the first one-third of the dial, 93 per cent are Pacific Coast stations. This appears to me to be crowding local (or Pacific Coast) stations too closely together. Could not these stations, with the same power as at present, be given other wavelengths, so they could be distributed more widely around the dial?—T. D., San Diego, Calif.

ANSWER—You have made the mistake of assuming that your particular receiving set gives a true and accurate picture of the broadcast setup. Whether stations appear to be crowded together on the lower part of the dial or crowded on the upper part of the dial is determined by the design of the tuning condensers which the set manufacturer employed in building your set. By changing the shape of the plates of the condensers in your set, it would be possible to make the station that now comes in at 33 on your dial, come in at 66, and hence the stations which are now apparently crowded into one-third of your dial space would be spread over two-thirds of it, and the upper end would be congested.

If you will study pages 4 or 5 of the Radio Doings Call Book, you will find that the middle of the broadcast scale is at 1000 kilocycles, there being 500 kilocycles on either side of this point. If you will then count the number of channels on either side of the middle which are occupied by Pacific Coast stations, you will find that there are 22 on one side and 24 on the other. This is rather a uniform spacing. Now, 1000 kilocycles may not be at the middle of your tuning dial, but that is decidedly not the fault of the Federal Radio Commission, for it most certainly is the middle of the broadcast band of frequencies.

If you will count the number of channels between all of the Los Angeles stations you will find that they are uniformly spread over the dial, separated by from 50 to 70 kilocycles. For instance, KMTR to KFI is 70 Kc. KFI to KEJK is 70 Kc. KEJK to KTM is 70 Kc., etc. At the other end of the scale: KECA to KGER is 70 Kc. KGER to KGEF is 60 Kc., etc. The same condition exists in San Francisco and every other broadcasting center. The 500 and more stations are so allocated in the 90 available channels to give the best reception possible all over the country. No single district or zone can be considered separately, as the range of radio stations is such that even the small powered stations are heard across the country.

The listener who sees only a small section of the picture through the eyes of his particular radio set, with its peculiarities in design, location, tuning, etc., has no real conception of the problem. A few miles from your location, for example, MacDonald at Chula Vista plays a station in every one of the 96 channels with but a very few exceptions. Hence, to him the Pacific Coast stations are uniformly spread over the dial, and his viewpoint is more accurate. During the past eight years the writer has had charge of the transmitting equipment and personnel of six of the Los Angeles stations, and has spent many perspiring hours in hearings before the Commission in Washington and with their engineers. Hence, it was quite a shock to read that one of our good readers feels that the allocation problems are "more imaginary than real." All of which accounts for this long-winded answer to your inquiry.

Western Distributes Brunswick

The entire radio trades of Southern California were keenly interested last week in the announcement that Western Radio, Inc., one of the oldest and best known firms in the radio distributing business, had been appointed exclusive distributors of the entire Brunswick line of Radio Sets, Panatrope with Radio and Records.

The Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. were the first manufacturers to introduce a Combination Phonograph and dustry in Southern California second to none. The policies of this organization, headed by L. E. Taufenbach, a young man, old and wise in the ways of radio, have been entirely in keeping with the traditions and policies of the eighty-seven-year-old Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., and the combination of the two interests is undeniably to the benefit of the many friends of the name of Brunswick in the music world in Southern California.

Taufenbach plans to establish the name Brunswick in every important community in Southern California on a basis that is unique in its determination to impress the importance of an exclusive franchise with protection and cooperative features that will make it possible for any Southern Californian to buy a Brunswick music instrument with complete guarantee that the manufacturer, distributor and entire dealer organization is wholeheartedly concerned in keeping that instrument a continuous source of satisfaction.

The Brunswick line for 1930 contains three beautiful cabinet models, all equipped with the marvelous new four screen-grid circuit developed by the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, and these sets are today establishing new records in distance reception and tone performance. The use of four screen-grid tubes is so far superior to any other screen-grid circuit that a few minutes' comparative demonstration will prove this even to the most skeptical. Four screen-grid tubes utilize a screen-grid detector commonly known as "space detection," and quality of music with tremendous volume is only possible with this arrangement of tubes. The Brunswick instrument also utilizes a line ballast tube, something that is found only in the most expensive sets, and yet Brunswick sells in the reasonably low priced class. The Brunswick Combination Panatrope, with Radio, is the most popular instrument in the line, and can be purchased for little more than the ordinary radio.

There is no question but that the combination radio and electrical reproducer of records will be the ultimate in radio entertainment in the home and, of course, Brunswick is again leading the instrument of this type, yet low enough in price to interest those who do not

Radio, and they were also the first to bring on the market an electrically-operated phonograph with audio amplifier and power loud speaker, so Brunswick can be considered as having pioneered the major stages of the trend of music and radio.

The Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. have always maintained their own branches for the distribution of their merchandise, but their recent acquisition of tremendous factories for the manufacture of new and enormously important developments which have occurred within their engineering groups has made it necessary to lay the plans for tremendous expansion, and this would be only practical through well-established distributing organizations in all sections of the United States.

It was logical that they should select Western Radio in Southern California as the exclusive representative of this old important music line, because Western Radio has, for ten years, maintained a position in the radio in-

Flint "Chief"

Now Screen-Grid!

The Flint Radio Company of Los Angeles has announced a new series of the famous Flint "Chief" radio receiver. The new model employs three screen-grid tubes and one of the powerful new 45-type power tubes in the output. This vastly improves all of those vital characteristics of every set—sensitivity, selectivity, tone and distance range.

The tone is comparable with that rendered by many of the higher priced cabinet model sets. The sensitivity is such that the little set will play a surprising number of DX stations, even with a small antenna. A piece of wire but a few feet long will afford enough pick-up for local reception.

The selectivity and volume are equally as satisfactory, and the exceedingly compact arrangement and attractive cabinet with tapestry grill will make the Chief mighty interesting for everyone who would like to have a second set for another room of the home, and for those who desire to enjoy the marvelous benefits of radio at a minimum of expense.

Sunset Improvements

The Sunset Manufacturing Company has announced vital improvements in both their grounds and aerials. The new aerial is cadmium plated. This prevents corrosion, and insures an efficient pick-up indefinitely. The ordinary copper aerial corrodes quickly, and when this takes place the surface (which is the conductor of radio frequency), becomes copper-oxide, a substance of high resistance. This explains why the ordinary aerial never seems to give the same efficiency after the first few months. The new Sunset is permanently good, however, because of the plating which stops corrosion, and insures a good path for the feeble radio frequency currents.

The Sunset ground has been improved by providing for a stand-pipe, down which water may be poured and thus keep the actual earth content damp. The conductivity of the soil immediately surrounding the ground connection is kept at a high level in this manner. This new type ground is particularly desirable where the earth is dry. The old type will still be marketed for use in reasonably moist soil.

Radio Law

A Book Review—By K. G. Ormiston

There has been a decided need for a book covering all phases of the intricacies of legislation governing radio communications, particularly for the benefit of those connected with the management and operation of radio stations. This need has at last been adequately met in "Radio Law," by W. Jefferson Davis.

Mr. Davis is a member of the Air Law Committee of the American Bar Association, has been closely affiliated with the Federal Radio Commission and its activities, and is the author of many books on the subject of Air Laws. The new volume covers the field very thoroughly. Of particular interest to broadcasters is the chapter on Procedure before the Federal Radio Commission. Here are given all of the General Orders and Statements of the Commission, defining the principles involved in its decisions, and defining the Commission's interpretation of the "public interest, convenience, or necessity" test. The Radio Act of 1927, under which the Commission functions, is given in full, with the 1928 and 1929 supplements. The copyright and slander phases of radio are dealt with in separate chapters.

In our opinion, the book is a vital necessity to managerial and technical staffs of all broadcast stations, and will prove of great interest to all persons interested in the legal aspects of the art.

"Radio Law" is a volume of 364 pages, with 40 additional pages of index. It is published by Parker, Stone & Baird Co., Fourth and Wall Streets, Los Angeles.

TALENT COSTS MONEY

Real Folks and Rudy Vallee are listed as costing more than $2000 a radio performance for talent alone. The Chicago Symphony Orchestra gets $3,000.
