"Any Kindness I Can Show"

Complaints have reached this department that our stars have let our summer listening go to the bow-wows. Some critics have asserted that all our stars seem to think about when warm weather comes is a long rest.

Which is most unreasonable. Radio celebrities, for all the money they earn and for all the luxury in which they live, are constantly under pressure. Producing a new, enjoyable radio show each week and projecting that program through the microphone into millions of homes burns up strength and nerve force. It is no small accomplishment, as is testified by the few people who are able to do it successfully.

Radio stars deserve their vacations. Bing Crosby has started his. Last week Burns and Allen stopped broadcasting in order to go to Honolulu. These are not shirkers, nor are any of the others who have left the airplanes for a rest.

We know of no group of people who contribute more to our happiness and ask less of us than these radio folk. We know of none who so nearly live up to that difficult maxim which is phrased in these words:

I shall pass through this world but once.

Any good thing that I can do, or any kindness I can show a human being,

Let me do it now and not defer it, For I shall not pass this way again.

Columbia Answers

Several weeks ago RADIO GUIDE

challenged the networks to join it in a search for better children's programs. From W. B. Lewis, Columbia's vice-president in charge of broadcasts, comes this interesting letter:

July 11, 1938

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

I am sorry to say that our present commitments on children's programs make it impossible for us to enter the contest you propose at this time.

In the first place, we now have scheduled in our children's hour, "Let's Pretend," "Music for Fun," and "The March of Games." In these three programs there is some action, but none of the kind you decry in your editorial. They contain no blood-and-thunder, and do boast a good deal of wholesome humor. They have been carefully designed—as part of a campaign CBS has been carrying on in this direction for more than two years—to entertain and amuse children without getting them into "mental stitches."

From every criterion—mail response, Crossley rating, votes of approval from mothers and teachers—they are just starting to succeed. It would be eminently unfair to them to announce now that they were to be succeeded by an unknown quantity, even though prompted by equally good motives.

Furthermore, should these present children's programs become sponsored, or for some reason or other leave the air, we are already committed to two excellent script-stories, based on children's classics, for tryout in the children's hour. One of them, incidentally, is humorous in character.

We pledge you we shall continue the policy we started three years ago of trying to popularize with the young audience only such programs as are free from harmful, nerve-wracking blood-and-thunder situations.

—W. B. Lewis.

We like a letter like that. No beating about the bush, no blustering. Instead, a statement and a pledge. We congratulate the Columbia Broadcasting System on its stand and on the high purpose behind their broadcasts for children.

VOICE OF THE LISTENER

"Dear Sir: My daughter, aged nine, has listened to only one children's program—Kellogg's Singing Lady—consistently, and that for only two years, when she was three and four. Since then we have not been able to listen, partly because our radio was not efficient and then because she was in school. She has heard no others because I felt none were suitable, so I have no actual experience to benefit by.

"If I could turn the radio on at a certain hour and know that she would hear the stories read or dramatized in the same serial form in which I have to read them to her I should be very happy. 'The Secret Garden,' 'Heidi,' 'The Little Lame Prince' (with the evil characters modified and not intensified as in movies), 'Adventures of a Brownie' (read to her at least ten times one year), 'Stories of Saints,' are some of the ones I have read that I in my inexperience see as possibilities of interesting radio material for children.

"I have read her a considerable amount of poetry and think that fine poems from 'Silver Pennies' and 'Ring Around' (ages 3-10) could be put on programs using music as well as they are on adult programs, and I would welcome such a series of broadcasts.

"I admit I do not know the popularity of such programs, their sale value, but I am positive of the real worth of them to all who would listen."
—Margaret Wakeley (Mrs. L. P.), Boise, Idaho.

"Gentlemen: May I heartily commend your restrictions in respect to the 'braying' of such cacophonists as Dorsey, Calloway, et al. At the same time, questioning the propriety of your mentioning their exhibitions as music (?), of which, presumably, swing and jazz performers have not the faintest conception.

"Indeed, 'swing' music should be 'swung by the neck until dead.'

"My thanks to Mr. Liebling for his efforts to instill into the American people some interest in, and appreciation for, music."—J. D. Williams, Ashland, Kentucky.

O'ER LAND AND SEA RADIO'S ROVING REPORTERS ROAM, SENDING TIDINGS INTO THE MAW OF THE GREAT GOD CALLED NEWS

THE slot-man, a straw-boss, of NBC's news division casually lit a cigarette, yawned with sheer boredom and nonchalantly and ungracefully draped his feet across the rim of the copy-desk—the rim of the world across which moved the tidings of all mankind, the tribulations and triumphs, the travails and trials.

It was a dull day, a wearisome business. From his window he could see New York knocking off from its day's chores, going home to families and dinner and books. But he couldn't go home, he must stay at the rim of the world and watch the tidings of mankind pass by and go into the maw of that great god called News, thence into history.

Expertly he ran his eye over a wide ribbon of paper, fresh from the teletypes—the ink still wet and sticky. The news had just been born and hadn't had time to dry. The teletypes brought the news—clattering teletypes that never hushed. There was an item from Rome: Mussolini was chest-thumping again. "Nuts," grunted the slot-man as he read it, "that ain't news, that's habit."

There was a strike in the Midwest. "That ain't news either," groaned the newsman, "that's an epidemic. There is no news. In all this world there's no hot yarn tonight. What a business! And they write novels about reporters, and movies, and the public thinks it is a glamorous business—bunk!"

The slot-man was worried and disgusted. A news broadcast must be on the air within an hour. His rewrite men were trying to pull stories out of thin air—"giving them the needle, hopping 'em up." The newscaster was waiting for his report. He need not worry about finding news. All he must do is spiel it. The public was waiting. It needn't worry about the news. All it must do is listen.

Tucked far down in the maze of trivia was one line—the dirigible Hindenburg was over Boston and was bearing down the windward coast for her nest at Lakehurst.

"Put that Hindenburg story to the fore," the slot-man said to a rewrite man. "She'll land just about broadcast time and it'll freshen up the report."

He could see the Hindenburg as she slid over Manhattan, the May sun shimmering on her silver sides. He watched her across the Hudson, then lit another cigarette and yawned and draped his feet over the rim of the world. A cloud banked to the south, a squall huffed up from south Jersey. The Hindenburg circled Lakehurst, called to her ground-crew that she was coming in, dipped her nose and eased off for her nest—

The slot-man answered his telephone in NBC's newsroom. He jerked his cigarette from his lips, parked it on the rim of the world and glued his ear to the instrument. "Great God! She's down in flames!"

HE SNATCHED another phone and shouted, "Get me the field engineers!" As he waited for connection, he barked to his rewrite men: "Hindenburg down. Explosion! Bat out ten words and get to a mike! Get clips! Get all background stuff. Need five hundred words build-up! Hello! Hello! Hey!" He got his connection with the field engineers. "Get to Lakehurst. Orders en route!"

A streamlined truck, painted silver, shot from a garage and four men piled aboard. Toward Holland Tunnel the truck roared, its siren screaming. An engineer plugged in on a short-wave radio, contacted the office and asked for instructions.

Above the screaming of the siren, the order was given: "Hindenburg down! The air is yours."

At Lakehurst, a golden glow lit the sky and on the ground lay the Hindenburg, writhing and twisting, her ribs melting. The flames roared. Only one thing could be heard above the roar—the wail of the doomed.

The silver truck skidded and stopped. The engineer plugged and adjusted gadgets, lifted a mike and told his office, "On the ground."

"Take over," said the office, and the world heard the story—"The Hindenburg exploded in midair. We don't know how many are dead—"

Back in the newsroom, the slot-man pinned his ears to a receiver, heard the broadcast and leaned back in his chair.

"The marines have landed," he said. "The situation is well in hand." Then he lit a cigarette, draped his feet over the rim of the world and yawned. "What are we going to do for a good story tomorrow?"

But the marines of radio, the roving reporters who take their stories where they find them, were not worrying about the next day's crop of tidings.

They had a night's work ahead of them. They stayed by the Hindenburg until her steel skeleton melted and ran away. They talked with survivors and relayed their stories to the world. Germany heard and wept. America heard and shuddered. Mussolini stopped chest-thumping and sent solace to Hitler. The marines of radio didn't chest-thump, they sent no solace—only facts.

Since man first learned to convey messages by wiggling his ears and bending his fingers, there have been reporters foreordained by that great god called News to spread gossip to appease the curiosity of their fellows. Homer was a fair-to-middling reporter, but he wasn't accurate. Pheidippides, who brought news of the victory of Marathon to Athens, was a top-hand reporter, a good legman and an accurate chronicler. It's too bad he died after his scoop. Too many good reporters die young. Paul Revere might have been a good reporter, but he didn't finish his assignment.

Dramatists and poets have gone into spasms over reporters, casting about their thick heads a halo of glamour and crowning their furrowed brows with a wreath of adventure. But the toughest, two-fisted, harum-scarum reporters of the clan have never been recognized by hero-makers. They are the marines of radio, whose job it is to "git thar fust'est with the most'es" words.

So this is the saga of the brethren who ride the high roads in a truck, picking their orders from the air, shooting trouble where they find it and telling tidings to the world. Trouble is their bread, disaster is their drink, death is their comrade. They don't have time to sit before a typewriter and put words together and offer their stories as a sacrifice to that great god called News. They must tell the news as it happens. They can't rehearse. You can't rehearse wars and famines, fires and floods.

Their end of the broadcasting business is hidden under the prosaic name of special-events department. It should be called the hell-on-wheels department. NBC, CBS and MBS maintain such departments and keep crews on hand the clock around.

Tersely, the job of radio's marines is to cover big news stories on the ground. A writing reporter has an advantage over them, for all a good writing man needs is a memory, a cast-iron stomach and a nickel to call the office collect. Sometimes he has a pencil, but the point generally is broken. He can beg, borrow or rent a typewriter. All he needs to cover the world is a tooth-brush and luck.

But a radio reporter must take his plant with him. The plants are called mobile units. That's a nice, trite name for a silver truck that races over the land at seventy miles an hour. Somehow, it seems rather funny to see a streak of white shooting down a highway and say, "There goes a mobile unit of radio."

They need a better name.

The men who operate the mobile units are called field engineers. I don't like that name, either. The name doesn't fit the picture. When you see those fellows go into action, their trucks racing against time, the men sweating and swearing, it doesn't seem right to see cops clearing a path for them and telling the crowds: "Stand back, the mobile units have arrived. Make way for the field engineers."

NO, SIR! It seems more fitting that the cops should shout, "Gangway! The marines of radio are landing!"

NBC operates five mobile units and each unit costs $1,200. They are stationed in New York, San Francisco, Cleveland, Chicago and Denver. They call those the "key cities" of the United States, but I suggest they are leaving a whale of a lot of territory unprotected from El Paso to Miami. But maybe radio's marines reckon nothing ever happens in the South except hurricanes and floods.

Each truck is capable of seventy miles an hour, and each carries a studio, power-plant and four transmitters.

The main transmitter has a power of 150 watts and can operate on frequencies of from 6½ to 105 meters. It has a broadcasting range of one hundred miles when stationary and fifty miles when in motion.

A "pack" transmitter that fits on a man's back is among the equipment. If a story is breaking at a spot the truck can't reach, an engineer straps the transmitter on his back, runs to the scene and short-waves his story back to the truck. It is rebroadcast there and short-waved to the nearest big station, whence it is relayed to the world.

With a pack transmitter and the luck of the Irish, a radio marine can get news out from any spot, if he can crawl, swim, or climb.

ALL the equipment of a unit—transmitters, receivers and power-plant—is housed in the body of the truck. The studio is in the driver's section.

The seat is wide enough to hold four men. On the dashboard is a folding desk which holds a microphone and a typewriter. Under the desk are six connections where mikes and ear-phones may be plugged in. There is a 100-foot lead-wire on the mike, and the announcers can move about freely outside the car.

The Hindenburg disaster is perhaps the best example of how the marines work. When the huge, silver truck thundered onto Lakehurst's field and the funeral pyre of the Hindenburg, the cops recognized the radio men and cleared a path. One engineer was at a receiving-set. He was humped in the seat, his earphones clamped on, and orders were being droned to him. Another engineer had the main transmitter plugged in. Being within one hundred miles of New York, the unit could get the main office. A broadcaster strapped a pack transmitter on his shoulders and ran as near the wreck as he was allowed. Another announcer had the extension mike and was cruising about the crowd, seeking survivors.

If the marines' story is hot enough, any program may be interrupted for an "on the scene" broadcast. However, if a commercial is interrupted the network must reimburse the sponsor for time and talent.

The marines' work is divided between spontaneous stories and set stories. The first job ever covered by the marines was a "set" story. The Lady Next Door, a popular program, decided to take a group of her proteges on a sleigh-ride through New York's Central Park. Two marines—they call them brainstormers sometimes—decided to broadcast a story of the ride. They borrowed a truck from the transfer department, rigged up a sending-set and trailed the sleigh, describing the ride.

Max Jacobson and George Milne of NBC were the first to use a mobile unit. They designed and fitted their own portable equipment to fit the truck. But after each job they had to remove their equipment. And when they wanted to go back on a story they had to borrow the truck again. It got monotonous, so finally Max and George "borrowed" the truck and neglected to return it. From that humble beginning the mobile units grew.

Perhaps the greatest of all broadcasts, the abdication of Edward VIII, did more to focus attention on the brainstormers than any other event. That was a "set" story. The broadcasters knew it would occur, and they had time to rig up their equipment. The same was true of the eclipse, covered from Lima, Peru; the plea of Haile Selassie before the League of Nations; and the bloodless conquest of Austria.

The most elaborate plans ever made for brainstormers were at the national conventions in Cleveland and Phila-

PREVIEWS OF SOME OF THIS

City in Song

The world is ringing with sound, but little of it is song. The lilt of Vienna's waltzes is lost in the sobs of the persecuted. Broken bodies in the streets of Spain lure few serenaders out of doors at evening. Heidelberg is on short rations; Paris quakes in its bomb cellars; Naples is at its drills and the geisha girls are wrapping bandages. In such a world, when a hundred thousand people raise their voices together in song, we may listen well to their strange and wonderful sound. That supersinging will occur on Saturday night of this week at the ninth annual Chicagoland Music Festival, the extravaganza of American music. Eight thousand musicians, drawn from twenty-five states and Canada, will be in the cast. Climax of the program will be a forty-five-minute pageant in which the popular songs of the past half-century will be reviewed. The Chicago City Opera orchestra, under the baton of its conductor, Henry Weber, will provide background for the panorama, and the voices of the entire audience will blend with choruses and bands in "community sing" fashion. Another feature will be a concert under the direction of A. R. McAllister, president of the National School Band Association, which he formed in 1926. Final competitions will be held among bands, choruses, vocalists, violinists and cornetists drawn from contests conducted throughout the country. Other features, including "name" guests, have not yet been determined. Such is the biggest musical show of the year—this Saturday night at 9:30 EDT over MBS.

Living History

In 1810 De Witt Clinton was mayor of New York City and a state senator as well. Still, he had some leisure time, and became a member of a commission to see whether a canal from Lake Erie to the Hudson River would be worth the trouble. Enthused by the possibilities of the project, he and Gouverneur Morris tried to get money from Washington to help finance it—and failed (things were different in 1810!). War with England further forestalled their efforts, but in 1816 he revived the idea, and so stirred New Yorkers' imaginations that they elected him governor. Work on the great Erie Canal began next year. That story, expanded to include its most engrossing details, will be part of Wednesday night's "Living History" broadcast on CBS. Fully as interesting will be the other dramatization of the week—the story of the treaty wrested from the English by Richard Rush, American statesman. It (the Rush-Bagot agreement) determined the boundary between Canada and the United States. In more than a hundred years of international cooperation, that boundary has become the most friendly in the world. It makes news again, this week, when President Roosevelt joins Canadian officials in recognizing a symbol (see below). To have these two thrills of American history come to life in your ears, turn to CBS at 7:30 EDT Wednesday night.

Steel Symbol

Boundaries of European countries are marked in the steel of rifles, helmets, bayonets and "pillboxes." This week steel along the border between Canada and the United States makes broadcasts. That steel is in a $2,200,000 International Bridge running across the Thousand Islands in the St. Lawrence River from Collins Landing, New York, to Ivy Lea, Ontario. It symbolizes again the benefits of friendly relations between good neighbors. As such a symbol, it will be dedicated in addresses Thursday by President Roosevelt, Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor General of Canada, Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada and Governor Herbert Lehman of New York. The addresses will be broadcast by all three major networks at 2:45 p.m. EDT. That day President Roosevelt will already have been heard at 11 a.m. EDT on the occasion of the Queen's University convocation at Kingston, Ont., at which an honorary LL. D. degree will be conferred on him. On Monday of this week at 10:30 p.m. EDT the President is also scheduled to speak from his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., to a meeting at Washington of the Social Security Board.

Farm Voice

Eighty stations this week begin broadcasting transcribed "Voice of the Farm" programs—bringing these service shows back to the air two months earlier than originally planned. Everett Mitchell, master of ceremonies of "The National Farm and Home Hour," is narrator and interviewer. The programs remain much as they were last year, and somewhat similar to Mitchell's Coast-to-Coast sustainer. The first broadcast originates in Minneapolis and will emphasize the extensive dairying interests of Minnesota. Mr. F. B. Cleland, professor of farm management of the School of Agriculture of the University of Minnesota, will preside, supervising interviews with farmers. Other subjects in the series will include interviews with experts on stock-raising, soil conservation, design and construction of farm buildings, business aspects, dairying, electrification and other pertinent topics. At least two programs will be devoted to youth. The Firestone Quartet and musical novelties will complete the programs. See your local station listings for nearest outlets.

Friendly Phagocytes

Better publicized than most of the fellows on his social level is the amoeba—the single-celled bottom rung on the ladder of evolution. The manner in which the amoeba engulfs food particles as large as itself and digests them with no apparent difficulty and with no separate organs to do the job is one of the first wonders laid before high-school science classes. Not so well known is the fact that strangely similar cells in the human body save us all considerable grief by doing just about the same thing. These cells of our own are called phagocytes. They remove damaged cells and foreign matter from wounds and tissues. How all this came to be known through the work of Elias Metchnikoff, Russian scientist, will be dramatized on Thursday night's "Men Against Death" program. The story of the white blood cells which are always on the battlefields of our bodies is fascinating. "Metchnikoff and the Nice Phagocytes," part of the Paul de Kruif series, may be heard at 8 p.m.

EDT over a Columbia network.

Flatfeet

Now that "Flat Foot Floogie with a Floy Floy" has everyone's mind off the old "flatfoot" cognomen for cops, CBS comes along with a broadcast revealing the real lives of policemen. Perhaps no harm will come of it, at that, but it seems a desperate risk when so much was to be gained from a nonsensical popular song! This program is part of the "Americans at Work" series. As all the other programs in this series have for their subjects, this one will humanize and personalize factual information about the ordinary patrolman. Part of the program will come from a cruising police car in Los Angeles, with an announcer interviewing Patrolman Harry J. Johnson, of the Hollywood Division of that city's force. One thing it is to be hoped the broadcast will explain is how it feels to be in a business where things are dull if you're not in trouble! This revelation may develop Thursday night at 10:30 EDT.

Davis Cup Matches

Bill Stern, sports announcer whose football broadcasts are just about the best any autumn could ask for, moves into another field to broadcast summaries of each day's play in the Interzone Davis Cup matches at the Longwood Cricket Club, Brookline, Mass., on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. These matches determine which country may challenge the United States for the coveted Davis Cup, which it now holds as symbol of the tennis supremacy of the world. European contenders

OF THIS WEEK

WEEK'S BETTER PROGRAMS

are Germany and Jugoslavia, one of which will send a team to play one from Canada, Mexico or Brazil, and one from Japan, depending on the outcome of matches not yet held as this is written. The broadcasts will be heard at 6:15 p.m. EDT on NBC.

"Joe Swing"

The late Bix Beiderbecke, greatest "out of this world" trumpet-player hot music has developed, is the idol of current popular musicians. His improvisations were infinite and ethereal. He taught today's masters. Benny Goodman learned much from him. Bob Crosby's "Dixieland Style" musicians speak of him in tones of hushed awe. Beiderbecke lived as absorbed in the wonders of his trumpet as Gene Krupa is now in his drums. Most writers today delve into his life for the patterns of their stories on unconventional music-makers. This week the Columbia Workshop will broadcast a fantasy by Hilda Cole called "Joe Swing," for instance, and before hearing it it's a good-enough guess that Beiderbecke biography is its background. Joe is a trumpet player. In the dramatization, his voice is never heard; although he is the chief character, he appears only in the sound of his magic horn. Leith Stevens, of "Saturday Night Swing Club" renown, will conduct the play's special musical score. To sit in on this dramatic "Jam session," turn to CBS at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Religion Alive

Even clergymen do not hold the same views on the place of religion in life today, but certainly its need is on the grow as problems new and old plague humanity. This week American radio continues to schedule dozens of opportunities for listeners to benefit from the counsel and teachings of the country's most learned ministers. Here are some of them: Sunday: The subject of this week's "Highlights of the Bible" program at 10 a.m. EDT on NBC will be "Has God Got a Plan for My Life?" Rev. Albert C. Thomas, First Baptist Church, Fall River, Mass., is guest speaker on CBS' "Church of the Air" at 10 a.m. EDT. Rev. John F. Fitzgerald, C. S. P., Church of St. Paul (Catholic) in New York City, will be on the same program at 1 p.m. EDT. Dr. Paul Scherer will talk on the subject, "When God Breaks Through," on "Sunday Vespers" on NBC at 4 p.m. EDT. Monday: Dr. C. J. Turek will discourse on "Integrity" on the "Time for Thought" program on NBC at 12:30 p.m. EDT. Dr. Turek is director of Social Education of the Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church. He is speaker on this series for the month of August on the general subject, "The Challenge of the Church." Tuesday: On the same series, Dr. Francis C. Stifler, editorial secretary, American Bible Society, New York City, talks on "Getting the Bible Read." Friday: Another of the "Time for Thought" programs brings Dr. Elden H. Mills to the microphone to talk on "The Greatest Miracle" as part of his August series of discussions of "Fortifications for Life's Demands." He is pastor of the First Congregational Church of Christ, West Hartford, Conn. Saturday: Rabbi Julius Mark of Nashville, Tenn., discusses "Youth and Culture" on NBC's "Call to Youth" program at 12 noon EDT. Rabbi Samuel Levinson will be guest speaker on the "Message of Israel" series at 7 p.m. EDT on NBC. Many other inspirational and educational programs of similar nature brighten this week's radio schedules. Let some of them offer you the strength that is in faith.

Daring Young Men

Thirty-five miles an hour is a pretty mild speed in steel-sprunged, shock-absorbing automobiles. Riding six inches above the ground in a car only thirty inches high, with tiny wheels and no springs, that speed becomes something else again. Yet at the International Soap Box Derby to be held for the sixth year at Akron, Ohio, on Sunday of this week, that speed is almost sure to be common. One hundred and thirteen contestants between the ages of nine and fifteen will be entered in the thriller—representatives of as many communities and areas in the United States and even abroad. The race is run down a 1,200-foot course tilted at a ten-degree angle. The course is covered in less than thirty seconds by the fastest of the home-made, midget, motorless cars driven by the boys. These cars must be no more than thirty inches tall, forty-two inches wide and six feet long. They cannot cost more than $10 to build. Racing them is a real adventure, and the helmets worn by the young drivers are not just decorations for the benefit of the audience of over 100,000 which regularly turns out to see the race. The winner of the competition gets a four-year scholarship at the university of his own choice, worth $2,000, and with it a diamond-set gold medal. Runner-up and third-placer get automobiles and medals of silver and bronze. All three major networks will broadcast this spectacle of young daring. The Columbia Broadcasting System will begin its account of the race at 6 p.m. EDT, Sunday. ### Fever Plants

In northern Europe, rye is strictly a blessing: easily raised despite the climate, it is the principal cereal of Germany and Russia, the "black bread" countries. In America it has its uses, but it's not such an unadulterated boon. Literally millions of us know it best for another reason. It, more than any other plant, irritates hay-fever victims. And how they suffer! Hay fever brings headaches, violent sneezes, running eyes and noses and coughs that jar the back teeth! Of course rye is not the only way a person can get himself in that condition. No such luck! Many grasses and other plants discharge pollen to victimize helpless summer sufferers. The malady is thought to be hereditary in about one case out of three, and it affects more women than men. It gets in its best work on city dwellers and highly nervous types. And what can they do about it? Well, on Wednesday night Dr. Carroll Lane Fenton is going to talk about "Buds, Blossoms and Man." Out of this "Science on the March" program will doubtless come some word on the treatment of the Vacation Plague. His good news will be on NBC at 7:45 p.m. EDT.

Brightest Africa

You still hear about "Darkest Africa," but the place isn't the same these days. The savages are getting so used to having tourists around and answering silly questions about their country that you could mistake them for taxi-drivers. New roads cover old trails. If you don't let yourself get out of hand, you can "do Africa" as if it were Yellowstone Park. Africa, it seems, has brightened up! All this is not intended to impugn the adventures of explorers who do break trails through parts of the continent still as dark as ever. Their job is as hazardous as the old-timers'. Such explorers do still beat their way inland the hard way. A pair of them, Leila Roosevelt and her husband, Armand Denis, are going to tell youngsters who want to be explorers just what they're getting themselves in for on "So You Want to Be—" the CBS program at 5:45 p.m. EDT Friday.

War Poverty

No news to a nation which has had twenty years and plenty of reports to make it realize just who paid for the World War is the fact that the masses, whether combatants or not, suffer after every aggression. Still it is interesting to learn exactly how the foolhardiness of national leaders can and often does pitch a people into depression. On this Friday the executive secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, Harold E. Fay, will broadcast on CBS "The Economic Consequences of War as Shown in the Present Plight of Japan." It's an educational highlight, on the air at 4:45 p.m. EDT Friday.

ERNEST BLOCH, Swiss by birth but a naturalized American, has passionate love for this country, and composed a work for orchestra and chorus called "America," dealing with phases of our history. At present, Bloch lives in Europe, where he went in 1930 for a period of creative retirement.

The quintet, like all Bloch's music, is intensely felt, rich-hued and brilliantly made. Fluent and tuneful Russian and Czech pages constitute the rest of the offerings.

Every time I dial Jan Peerce, I wonder that he is not at the Metropolitan or on a leading commercial program. Comparing him with other young tenors for next season at the Metropolitan, there cannot be any doubt that he is their superior. Only last week a noted New York singing teacher said, "Peerce's is the finest tenor voice I've heard since that of Caruso."

A Weekly Preview Edited By Leonard Liebling

"... An ampler Ether, a diviner Air ..."—Wordsworth

Men Behind the Music

BALANCE and control of tone, vital factors in transmitting music by radio, are not entirely understood by dialers; most of them still think that they hear voices, orchestras and bands exactly in the same volume used for actual performance. Of course, that is not so, for the uncontrolled fortissimo tones of a powerful-voiced soprano like Flagstad, if funneled into a small room, would make a listener's ear buzz; and he would be almost deafened if the Philharmonic Orchestra were permitted to send along its mighty climaxes without reduction from the man in the control-room of the radio studio.

He regulates the music by manipulating a series of knobs and other gadgets which focus and blend tones and keep them from "blasting"—that being the technical name for a loud tone, or tones collectively, split up into noise as distinct from music. The men who control and moderate sound through the microphone are frequently as important as the performer, and often as well versed in musical knowledge, taste and judgment. Sometimes I think that program credits should announce also the names of the ear-muffled individuals who sit at the control-boards and make it possible for us to enjoy our music without blemishes or blasting.

Modest and Other Composers

"Who dares attempt anything after Beethoven?" asked Schubert humbly. "Why write an opera after 'Meistersinger'?" inquired Brahms—and he never did. Schubert, however, managed to create some great symphonies, songs and string quartets. Bach, Franck and Tchaikowsky were other modest composers, never dreaming that they would attain to immortality.

Wagner, on the other hand, constantly declared that he was a genius, his works masterpieces, and that the world owed him a living. (And who would contradict that now?) Mozart had full sense of the worth of his compositions, but never did any public boasting. The glamorous successes of Handel, Haydn, Beethoven, Mendelssohn and Liszt gave them a clue to their own greatness. Richard Strauss, frankly unmodest, has become rich by setting high prices for publishers' and performing rights. Rachmaninoff, telling me that he composes for his pleasure and that of others, added, "If my music survives me, I shall be truly astonished."

contemporary of Bach), whose music is not often heard nowadays. In his own period he wrote abundantly and functioned also as an organist and conductor. His works won wide vogue and held sway for a while until Bach's greater depth, dignity and finer craftsmanship swept them into oblivion. Telemann will appeal to you through his simple flowing style and ingratiating airs.

Barrere, born in France (1876), where he achieved fame in his earlier years as a solo flutist, came to America in 1905, and since then is our premiere artist on the most popular of all wind instruments. Formerly connected with New York orchestras, he now gives lessons and makes short tours as the conductor of the Little Symphony and member of the Barrere-Britt-Salzedo Trio.

At his Little Symphony concerts, Barrere is wont to furnish his own spoken comments, and blessed with a sense of humor, often he has his audience in gales of laughter. I remember when he led "The Flight of the Bumble Bee," and said, "If it were real, I would do the flying."

"Everybody's Music"

Howard Barlow, conductor

Overture to "The Magic Flute"

Italian Symphony (Mendelssohn)
Two Dances for Radio (Porter)

TODAY comes another of the commissioned American scores, but the composer is no stranger to the radio audience, for the air has previously carried his orchestral suite and third string quartet, broadcast respectively by CBS and MBS.

At forty-one, Quincy Porter already has made a notable place for himself after winning two composition prizes at Yale and studying later with d'Indy in Paris and with Bloch in Cleveland, Ohio. His orchestral and chamber works found performance at many of the best concerts here and abroad. At present, Porter is professor of music at Vassar and leads the orchestra there.

In the two dances, the composer keeps in mind the medium he is exploiting and you will hear unusual treatment of some of the instruments, with episodes to be delivered close to the microphone, and other special effects.

Despite the efforts of some modern evaluators to decry the music of Mendelssohn (and the attempt of the Nazis to eradicate it altogether) that ingratiating master is having revived sway, and our younger music-lovers find keen pleasure in his amiable melodies and polished style in embroidering them.

THE STADIUM CONCERTS

The New York Philharmonic
Orchestra

Massimo Freccia, conductor

Overture "Euryanthe" (Weber)
Death and Transfiguration (Strauss)
Symphony No. 7 (Beethoven)

THE Berlin-Rome axis in music, with an Italian conductor confining himself to German music! However, there is no diplomatic purpose in the Freccia set-up, for one could well conceive that probably nothing interests Hitler and Mussolini less just now than a concert at the Stadium, even though both men are real music-lovers.

If they do know about this program they could draw from it the lessons that Weber, Beethoven and Strauss will reign longer than any king or other ruler; that they stimulate only the noblest human emotions; and that the cultivation of art insures to any nation more happiness than the construction of cannon.

The combined ages of the three compositions totals 290 years, with Strauss' work the baby at forty-nine. The seventh symphony is the patriarch, 126 years old, sturdily grand and enduringly beautiful.

Strauss' tone-poem remains unquenchable in my affections, and the finale always gets my throat lumpy, with those soaring strains easing the soul's flight of the sick man released from pain and finding the sweet solace of death. In that concluding epilog the composer touches the heights.

OPERATIC overtures, while in themselves complete as music, are enjoyed the more when the hearer knows the librettos from which they derive. Stories of all the important operas are available in a number of books, my most frequently consulted reference being "The Complete Opera Book," by Gustave Kobbe, published by G. P. Putman's Sons, 2 West 45th Street, New York. However, containing about 900 pages, the volume is expensive, selling for six dollars.

"The Bartered Bride" is a rollicking village comedy, and "The Force of Destiny" a sanguinary drama, with four deaths before the final curtain. No wonder the soprano sings an aria called "Peace, Peace," but nevertheless she ends as one of the slain.

Lighter moments precede the Verdi music, with the gentle and ineffably lovely violin and orchestra inspiration of Mozart.

Though a violinist whom critics in this country and abroad rank with artists of the musical stature of Elman, Spalding and Milstein, Mischakoff has been best known in America as an outstanding concertmeister. He's appeared with many great European orchestras.

America's Music Festivals In Large Annual Increase

MUSIC FESTIVALS in America, formerly exclusively spring functions, follow European example and have become one of the main attractions of our summer. Throughout the land there are orchestral, choral and other special celebrations in tone, and every week brings news of some new sectional groups joining in the melodious movement. There are justifiable hopes that in another few years we may be able to keep our music pilgrims at home by rivaling the renowned festivals in England and Italy, and those of Bayreuth, Salzburg and Munich.

This month, continuing the parade, offers the ninth Chicagoland Music Festival (sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.), to be aired August 20 by MBS, 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. EDT, from Soldier Field in Chicago.

The event, one of radio's original audience-participation programs, is expected to attract more than 100,000 persons, who will not only be listeners but also are allowed to take part in many of the songs. Eight thousand musicians are in the cast, drawn from twenty-five states and the Dominion of Canada.

Features include the Joliet (Ill.) Township High School Band, directed by A. R. McAllister, president of the National School Band Association, playing Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," and a forty-five minute pageant of music in which popular songs of the last half-century will be played. With the Chicago City Opera Orchestra, under the direction of Henry Weber, providing accompaniment, the songs will be voiced by the mass of spectators in true community-sing fashion.

Other parts of the Festival devote themselves to final competitions between bands, choruses (men, women and mixed), and solo vocalists and instrumentalists.

Chicago, with its home opera, symphony orchestra, Chicagoland Festival, and eminent schools of music, sets a high standard for other inland cities.

Art of Musical Russia in Concertized Operas

Wednesday, August 17, at 2:30 p.m. EDT on CBS

ART of Musical Russia, the operatic organization formed during the depression (by the Musicians' Emergency Aid of New York), starts an arresting CBS series on August 17 of four weekly opera performances given in concert form. The first will be conducted by Julius Ehrlich, with Fritz Lechner, Germaine Bruyere, Fritz Jochl, Henry Baird and Meta Cordy in the principal roles of Gluck's "Der Betrogene Kadi" (The Deceived Cadi).

The fact that none of those names are Russian seems peculiar, but then the troupe has long outgrown its original purpose, which was to present music of that country and performed by some of its natives who found themselves in need on our shores. Of the quartet of operas remaining to be done by the A. M. R., only one is Russian, Moussorgsky's "The Fair at Sorochinsky," the others being Adam's "The Doll of Nuremberg," and Cimarosa's "The Secret Marriage." All the hearings bring only the chief solo and orchestral numbers, the recitatives being omitted. There is nothing new in that procedure and it cannot be considered inartistic, for it was the mighty Wagner who first sponsored the practise when he conducted his operatic music at concerts and dispensed with scenery, costumes and action. Now all the major symphony orchestras frequently follow the custom with Wagner's and other stage works.

Although in comical mood when he fashioned his vaudevilles, the mature Gluck really was the inventor of modern serious opera. One year after "Cadi," he penned his immortal "Orfeo," and five years after that, his no less monumental "Alceste." He was the first to strive for the ancient Greek formula of unifying all the arts (particularly poetry and music) in single stage productions, and Wagner admitted that he too followed the Gluck ideal. The latter added to the orchestra and chorus as dramatic means and Mozart finally established them in that character.

THE RADIO PLAYBILL: THIS WEEK — "HELEN TRENT"

HELLEN TRENT, desperate after her divorce, has become great as a dress-designer, recently was designer for Sentinal Pictures In Hollywood. Accused of intentional faults in designs, she was dismissed. Helen is straightforward, honest, clear-headed, likes people around her at all times. The role of "Helen Trent" is played by beautiful Virginia Clark.

AGATHA ANTHONY, elderly and affectionate (called "Aunt Agatha"), has lent Helen cheerful companionship throughout her struggle. Victim of a paralytic stroke, she is dependent on Helen for support. Marie Nelson plays the part.

DREW SINCLAIR, head of Sentinal Pictures and Hollywood's youngest and brightest mogul, dismissed Helen for deliberate error and accepting bribes from competitors, later learned he had been unjust. Reese Taylor plays Sinclair.

SANDRA SINCLAIR is Drew's jealous, petty and unscrupulous wife. She neglects their son Peter, threatens to divorce Drew, but does not because of the money and social position her marriage gives her. The role is Janet Logan's.

JOSEPH STEINBLOCH, head of Consolidated Films, gave Helen her Hollywood start, is her sincere friend. Since Drew fired her he has been trying to get her to return to his studios as designer. Kurt Kupfer portrays kindly Mr. Steinbloch.

GORDON DECKER, set-designer at Consolidated studios, loves Helen madly, proved her innocence of treachery. He is sincere in his intentions and at present seems about to win her. Bill Bouchey plays the earnest young suitor.

GEORGE LAWLER, young English actor, starred in the picture on which Helen worked. Gay, frivolous and very young, he loves her, but she considers him too young to know his own mind. Herbert Nelson takes the Englishman's part.

DOUGLAS STANWOOD, brilliant Consolidated director, is clever and a complete sophisticate—sees through others' ruses easily. Spencer Bentley plays the part of Gloria's husband and domesticator.

ONE of the most inspirational of the serialized dramas on the daytime air is "The Romance of Helen Trent." It is also one of the oldest "script shows" on the air—broadcast continuously since the fall of 1933. It centers on the personal courage of Helen Trent, who refused to let tragedy ruin her life. Married for thirteen years to Martin Trent, she was divorced when he fell in love with a younger woman. Faded and worn from the strain of that ordeal, Helen was faced with becoming companion to an elderly dowager or rebuilding her own life. The manner in which she has succeeded in the latter makes a story listeners can believe to the profit of their own characters. That success has come to her in designing dresses, a trade to which she turned at the time of her decision to face life the hard way. As the story stands now, she is the most famous in the country. Romance and happiness have been regained as well. New friends surround her and new trials face her. The people and plots involved in these are detailed individually in the character descriptions at left. The actors who create the roles appear below in a re-enactment of a reception in a recent script. In it Helen Trent received friends and acquaintances in the elegant home her Hollywood dress-designing has brought her. After reading this review of the story, follow its action on CBS, Mondays through Fridays, at 12:30 p.m. EDT.

Young Wizard of Drama Introduces New Method

Monday, CBS, 9-10 p.m.

Youth strikes the keynote of the current set of radio dramas under the general title of "First Person Singular," for, with characteristic enterprise in smashing down barriers of convention and custom, a young man and a young organization combine to impress innovation upon radio drama.

Orson Welles is the young man. The Mercury Theater is the young organization. Both are nothing short of phenomenal in the measure in which they have already attained popular and critical success. Much has already been printed about Welles, who, at the age of twenty-three, when most aspiring actors are mere tyros, has established a firm reputation as one of the ablest of this generation's actors, to say nothing of noteworthy accomplishment as director, author and producer. The Mercury Theater, one of the most significant of New York's theater groups because of its youthful virility, furnishes the appropriate vehicle for the young expert's experimental presentations.

Welles has been given a free hand by CBS in producing a series of plays which in construction and technique embody his theories for adapting drama to radio's peculiar medium. The "first person singular" idea is the essential core of the Welles belief that a personal narrative commands closer attention from the audience in a field where only the hearing records the action, and that identities of characters and locales are established with more facility by this method.

This series presents notable stories of classic and contemporary literature, adapted by Welles to the first-person-narrative treatment, with himself as the central character about which the plot revolves and with Mercury Theater actors as the supporting players.

Rabbi Mark Tells Youth of Culture

Saturday, NBC, 12-12:15 p.m.

American youth can be thankful for the fact that they live in a country where "culture" still refers to a state of refinement and is something that can be gained by individual effort regardless of race or creed. They should note that there are countries where the application of this word has so digressed from its original meaning that it is only available, in the eyes of the country's tyrants, to those who are born of a selected parentage. Speaking on "Youth and Culture," Rabbi Julius Mark of Nashville, Tenn., will be heard Saturday on the "Call to Youth" program.

PEOPLE ARE THE CWAZIEST MONKEYS—

THEY'LL DO THE STRANGEST THINGS AND COLLECT THE ODDEST ARTICLES AS A HOBBY

Dave Elman's "Hobby Lobby," heard Sundays, NBC, 7 p.m. EDT (7:30 p.m. PST), presents strange hobbyists. George Plitt, of Newton, Pa., for instance, recently told how he had trained this pet rooster to use two-inch skates!

Among the specimens in the collection of William J. Connelly, Cleveland tropical-fish fancier, are these "Walking Fish of China." The fish use their pectoral fins and tails to move from dry rice fields to near-by flooded ones

Arthur Detmers, of Washington, D. C., guest this Sunday night, makes miniatures—some so small a magnifying glass is needed to see them!

Sunday night Ethel Blume, New York radio actress, will tell how she mentioned on air she liked little yellow dogs—and got 1,500 of them!

Dave Elman breaks a plate of "breakaway glass" on unperturbed John Chalmers' head. Chalmers will explain Sunday how he makes fake glass

Elis Stenman, of Pigeon Cove, Mass., petrifies newspapers by a secret process. He's pictured above with his wife in a house built of and furnished with the products of his hobby. Furnishings include piano, chairs, fireplace!

Everyone sees them from time to time; Lockwood Barr of New York will tell how he collects the copy-writers' foibles. Mr. Barr has thousands of examples of unintentionally humorous ads—most of them from "classified" ads

STAR OF STARS

Despite fact she's off the air, Jessica Dragonette's fans remain loyal, voted her 1938's Star of Stars. Above: Martin Lewis presents medal

OZZIE NELSON is reported holding the rail position to win the musical directorship of the Bob Hope show, with Connie Boswell running well ahead in the race for the vocal spot . . . The oil company that once sponsored Eddie Cantor and Ed Wynn has just about made up its mind to present a program with Adolphe Menjou as m.c., Alice Faye as vocalist and a name band . . . Al Pearce will take over the old Burns & Allen airtime on NBC October 10. The latter team will get $12,000 a broadcast when they take over the cigarette show which has been presenting Andre Kostelanetz . . . Joe Penner will be on the air this fall for the same sponsor who presents Boake Carter, who fades August 28 . . . Everett Sloan of the Goldbergs is sending his wife to California for a vacation . . . Ben Bernie returns to the air next month, via transcriptions, on three hundred stations . . . Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel of Iowa will again be in Joe DuMond's "Josh Higgins of Finchville" show August 26, when Iowa celebrates Josh Higgins Day as an official state holiday . . . Cliff Soubier has lost fifteen pounds by plenty of walking . . . Joy Hodges and Robert Wilcox are marriage-bound . . . Edward Everett Horton will have his own show this winter . . . Announcer-Commentator Paul Douglas and wife are at odds . . . The Charlie Corrells (Andy of "Amos 'n' Andy") expect their baby around Christmas . . . George Jessel, now absent from the air, will produce three Broadway plays next season, first of which will be "Thirty Days Hath September."

Now comes Vincent Lopez to write tunes with crazy titles. His are "Swinging at the Graveyard," "Swinging with the Goons," "Parade of the Pink Elephants," "Two Nights in a Turkish Bath," and "Ham on Rye" . . . Richard Maxwell, CBS' hymn-singing star, took the opportunity to mention on his broadcasts that he had written a book which sells for a dollar. Five thousand people sent in $5,000. Who was it that pitied the sustaining artist? . . . Phil Cohan, producer of Paul Whiteman's CBS show and one of the fathers of the CBS Swing Session, was married over the week-end . . . Mother and son work together on "Your Family and Mine." The mother is Irene Hubbard, the narrator. The son is Sam Monroe, NBC sound-effects engineer . . . No wonder Glen Gray got a court order to drop his real name of Knoblauch. In German it means garlic . . . I was informed by an eminent New York musician that certain people in the music profession professed to know three months in advance that John Carter would win the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air . . . A last-minute check with WCAU in Philadelphia, where Boake Carter originates, indicates that Carter will remain on the air this winter. Several sponsors are talking business. But if none come through, CBS will continue him on a sustaining basis.

On a recent "Interesting Neighbors" program from Father Flanagan's Boys' Town in Nebraska, Jerry Belcher casually mentioned that the colony was supported by gifts from friends. Enough listeners to that program were stirred to contribute dimes and dollars for a total of $5,000, which is, we believe, a real demonstration of listener loyalty. Now comes word that "Interesting Neighbors" will fade from the air after September 18.

Secret Service men are afraid plotters against the U. S. Treasury will gain too much valuable information if the proposed Federal Theatre Radio Division dramatizations of actual Secret Service cases become a reality. Government biggies have huddled over the advisability of telling about the work done in foiling the nefarious plots to beat Uncle Sam at making currency, and have frowned out loud. At this date, two weeks after the dramas were to be presented, the idea seems dead.

With temperature at ninety and humidity at sixty-two, Judy Starr and Jack Shirra, vocalist and bass-player respectively of the Hal Kemp crew, took time out from their August 2 rehearsals to step before a minister in Manhattan's Astor Hotel (where the band is playing) to say "I do." It was the second marriage for both. Judy, mother of five-year-old Patty, was divorced from a Clarksburg, W. Va., businessman three years ago. Jack divorced his dancer-wife over one year ago.

Two young radio singers were Ben Cutler's guests on his NBC broadcast August 3. They were Paula Durand and Ralph Blane, both recent additions to the NBC artist ranks.

The story behind these two singers and their appearance on Cutler's show makes one of those rare radio success stories. Two months ago Blane, a tenor of Broken Arrow, Oklahoma (Pop. 150), came to NBC "cold," auditioned, and was started on a build-up immediately with four network broadcasts a week. He was in radio only two weeks when George Olsen had him sing with his band several times.

At the time Blane was signed by NBC, he casually mentioned that he knew a girl in Broken Arrow who sang extremely well and who was coming to Manhattan on a visit. Would NBC hear her? he asked. NBC did, and signed her. She is Paula Durand, and she's now on NBC thrice weekly.

When one considers that NBC auditions over three thousand singers a year, and that Ralph Blane and Paula Durand are Broken Arrow's only two singers, the result is certainly an amazing combination of chance and ability.

Jimmy and Tommy Dorsey quit tooting horns in other men's bands, formed their own and went far. But trouble developed and the boys split. First Jimmy got a commercial—the Bing Crosby hour. Then Tommy got a cigarette account. Now Jimmy is without a sponsor while Tommy's program appears good for many weeks to come. This month the two brothers become competitors for the first time. Both will be playing in Chicago—Jimmy at the Bon Air Country Club and Tommy at the Drake Hotel.

Swing music may be burning up the airlines in America, but your average Frenchman would rather take a nice quiet walk through the park. That's the opinion of Meredith Willson, now vacationing in Paris. "The tried-and-true waltz is the reigning favorite over here," he writes, "with a modernized version of the polka a runner-up. Swing definitely is not a factor to any degree—in fact, it really seems to have missed the boat."

Any important news event is worth a song. Thus Douglas Corrigan's flight to Ireland inspired two songs. The first, "Gone Again Corrigan," has already been introduced to the air. The second, "The Corrigan Hop," has been "waxed."

There are thirty-eight pianos in the NBC Radio City studios. Four are concert grands, one a baby grand, thirty are parlor grands, three are uprights. A tuner is on the job each night from 1 a.m. to 7:30 a.m.

Many of your favorite radio stars can be seen bicycling around Central Park on Sunday mornings . . . While you're in the park, if you happen to see a man on horseback wearing a large cowboy hat, a scarf around his neck, black pants and chaps, and using a Western saddle, it's Paul Whiteman, who must still think he's riding on the Texas plains.

PURELY PERSONAL: Al Jolson, Jack Benny and Louella Parsons have deserted Hollywood for a few weeks to watch the horses go by at Saratoga . . . Phil Baker is touring Massachusetts playing his first dramatic role in the show "Idiot's Delight" . . . Radio Row was sorry to learn of the death of Cedley Brown, who produced the "Husbands and Wives" program, heard on the air up until a few months ago . . . Kenny Sargent of the Casa Loma crew deserted the band for a few days and flew to Memphis to look at his nine-pound son . . . The Allens are doing okay. Announcer Mel has his gal from way down south in Alabam' visiting him in New York. Bob Allen of the Hal Kemp crew has a million-dollar baby that-a-way about him, but he repeatedly says, "No, no, a thousand times nay."

FACING THE MUSIC

Kay Kyser is irrepresible. Appearing at Chicago's Blackhawk Restaurant last year he devised a game in which he asked patrons names of songs played, musical history, etc., called it "Kay Kyser's Kollege of Musical Knowledge"

Shortly the game got on his late dance programs, then became a commercial MBS program. In March it went Coast to Coast on NBC. is now heard Wednesday nights. Above, left: Selecting contestants. Above: Winners

"Professor" Kyser's program is now called "Klass and Dance," broadcast from New York. He wears a cap and gown, as do helpers. Orchestra members wear sweaters. Above: Contestant identifies herself before broadcast

Few audiences are as enthusiastic as Kyser's; he joshes them before the broadcast and crowd roars as show goes on the air. During program he makes faces, mimics hard-thinking contestants, keeps program sprightly

Basil Ruysdael handles commercial announcements on the hour-long program. An actress reads a housewife's lines in a "dramatized commercial"

Demand for tickets to Kyser's shows is greatest of all New York programs. Schoolroom decorations in studio include globes, maps, blackboards

Frightened contestants appreciate Kyser's steady hand when they first face the microphone. He kids them, laughs at their slips, eases tension

Contestants are divided into teams. Winner is paid $35, runner-up, $20, and the four others get $5. Cigarettes are given to the audience

This contestant finally won after thinking as hard as he would at a real examination. There is a time limit on deliberation over answers

—Photographs by Gene Lester

Kyser helps contestants more than most "quiz" conductors, endears himself to them and to an audience that likes everyone to "get a break"

WITH the blowing-up, at its sign-off this summer, of "Hollywood Hotel," conjecture has been rife as to what show will be built around Frances Langford to sell soup and beans for the sponsor who has lost the services of Louella Parsons, Raymond Paige, Anne Jamison, Frank Parker and Jerry Cooper. Now, it seems, the substitute show is forming. A contract is in the hands of William Powell to act as master of ceremonies. A band suited to Miss Langford's style will be engaged, comedians are being discussed and it looks now as if the show will become another variety hour with paid guest stars. However, William Powell is a sick man. It is said that he has an ailment which in all likelihood will require another operation in September. Film-making, too grueling for him to continue in his present condition, will give away to radio, to which he hopes to dedicate the remainder of his career. Powell should be an excellent radio master of ceremonies. He has the "personality," resonant, warm voice; the suave, polished manner that the microphone requires.

Another "light" screen detective who has amused millions may crash the airlines. Edmund Lowe has been auditioned by NBC to prospective sponsors in a Philo Vance dramatic series. There is also talk of Lowe as emcee for the resuming Packard Hour.

Chase & Sanborn Hour is having an epidemic of appendicitis. Dorothy Lamour, whose emergency appendectomy was performed on the eve of the July 31 broadcast, is convalescing without complications, and Don Ameche, who let Dutch surgeons do his body-tailoring, is up, about and on his way home from Europe. Balance of the coffee-hour cast is investing in ice-bags and hospital insurance, although the Strouds and Bergen have already had their incisions. Dramatically, when Miss Lamour was rushed to the hospital a scant sixteen hours before the program, Margaret McCrae, songstress of Sealtest and Show Boat fame, was reached at home in bed at 2:30 in the morning, rushed to the studios and rehearsed "till the dawn's early light" so as to pinch-hit.

This week's elopers: Radactress Margaret Brayton and Radio Producer James Fonda, July 29, to Santa Ana; honeymoon in San Francisco . . . Ex-Columbia Workshop Impresario Irving Reis and Meta Arenson, July 30, to Tijuana.

Through Irene Rich, her loyal, long-standing friend, Writer Marcella Burke, is about to scoop a dozen high-pressure Hollywood agents in their endeavor to sew up "Backward" Doug Corrigan. Miss Burke phoned Corrigan and set screen-story rights with him upon his landing in Ireland. Then she asked her literary agent to finance a trip to New York to meet the flier upon his return. The agent refused—unless Miss Burke grabbed off Corrigan himself as a client of the agent. Miss Burke saw other top-flight Hollywood agents, but all seemingly stalled and were cold to the idea. Come to find out, all were conniving their best to make contracts with the young daredevil. Irene Rich heard of the writer's dilemma; bought her plane tickets and financed the trip . . . Irene's doing all right for herself, too. Now working in a Deanna Durbin picture, she has an M-G-M offer, and Sol Lesser also wants her to play Mrs. Peck in a proposed three-a-year series of "Peck's Bad Boy" films.

Bob Benchley auditioned for Texaco on the assurance the oil company was on the CBS dotted line. It wasn't, and Benchley, who always sees the funny things in life, had no laugh over his free audition. Result: CBS paid Mr. Benchley $22,500 for its "mistake."

Minetta (Mother Barbour) Ellen's latest afghan has gone to the Women's Athletic Club of San Francisco. It will be raffled off by the club to buy a Seeing Eye dog for some poor blind person. Already each of Minetta's married "children" in "One Man's Family" has received one of her elaborate crocheted masterpieces which take her months, between rehearsals and broadcasts, to complete. Her next, Mother Barbour promises, will go to Winifred (Teddy) Wolfe when that young lady is old enough to worry about a hope chest.

A "blackmail" note from "Amy Foster," played by ten-year-old Priscilla Lyon in "Those We Love," to her older real-life brother Harry has fallen into my hands. It reads: "Harry: Is it worth 25c for us to keep quiet about what we know, etc.—(signed) Priscilla and Gomo." Gomo is the Lyon family dog.

While Paramount retitled the picture "The Unholy Beebes," it seems that Bing Crosby won out in his battle for the original title to his new film, "Sing You Sinners," for the latter was the title when the production was previewed last week-end by the press, who were "gravy-trained" to the Delmar (Crosby) Track for a day at the races and the screen unveiling. Nevertheless, Paramount will lose nothing by being nice to Bing. On the day of the preview, August 5, the picture company scored two NBC broadcasts, one of indirect and the later of direct plugging benefit . . . And think of all the plugs Bing has wangled into his dear old K. M. H.

Alice Faye had to be excused from movie work several days last week because of a cold, but it's the heat that's bothering her band, one-nighting hubby, Tony Martin. He reports that the thermometers everywhere played to date have read between 100 and 110 degrees. "They can't say," he notes, "my band isn't hot."

HOLLYWOOD SHOWDOWN

BY EVANS PLUMMER

Reviews of new pictures boasting radio names: "Letter of Introduction": A Universal picture with Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, supported by Dummy Elmer, who is known as Mortimer; Adolphe Menjou, Andrea Leeds and George Murphy. Bergen is swell and Charlie and "Mortimer," Charlie's country cousin, are mirthquaking in this emotional story, which brings a lump to your throat as the final reel unrolls. Don't miss it. By the way, Bergen and dummies will personally appear in Chicago late in August, and possibly Detroit, too, but their Sunday airings will continue regardless . . . "Gateway": A 20th Century-Fox romance starring Don Ameche and Arleen Whelan with Binnie Barnes, Gregory Ratoff, etc. Don really has this picture all to himself, but is ably supported, especially by Miss Barnes. Many critics will say that Miss Whelan's acting was stiff. Perhaps so, but this youngster has starry-eyed youth, vitality and figure—and, with time, will act with the best of them.

Charlie (Andy) Correll won a cigar from the boss plasterer working on the new Correll home in Beverly Hills. Andy bet he could plaster a whole ceiling himself—and did. The comic hadn't forgotten the tricks he learned as a youth when he was a plasterer and bricklayer for his contractor father.

That "new trend" so loudly proclaimed by music authorities as introduced by "I Married an Angel" must really have started five years ago! The song was written in 1933 for the M-G-M picture studios, who never used it. Release was bought back by its writers finally, so not long ago you heard—the new trend.

Bob Hope, because of his role in "Give Me a Sailor," is expecting any minute to be named "Admiral of Toluca Lake" here. The lake, in an exclusive suburb near here, is a glorified duck pond.

Charlie Irwin, the English comic and m.c. of the CBS Hollywood Showcase, while born in Ireland, is an American, but his wife, who was born in America, is a subject of the English Crown. The odd mix-up is explained thus: Charlie married before becoming a naturalized American citizen. Thus she became a British subject.

Those rumors about Paul Martin, batoneer, "holding so-and-so's hand" which break out frequently, are all true. In fact, he's such a clever amateur palmist

The United States Army Band is a direct descendant of the A. E. F. Band formed by Gen. Pershing at Chaumont, France, during the War. Reorganized in 1922, it is recognized as the greatest military band of all time. Directed by Captain Thomas F. Darcy, Jr., it stands ready for service at all times, heads parades at inaugurations of presidents, receptions of foreign notables, celebrations of national anniversaries, also broadcasts and has regular concerts

—Photographs by Gene Lester

The band has 80 instruments, plays as a concert band, marching band or dance orchestra, as occasion demands. Men rehearse up to two hours a day, drill twice a week. Radio dictates seating arrangement of orchestra, since so many concerts are broadcast. Few men leave until they retire

Capt. Darcy has been an army band leader since he was 22. His administrative superior is Maj. Robb S. Mackie, who arranges programs; Karl Hubner is assistant leader

The gruff discipline associated by the public with Army life since recruits joined the A. E. F. in 1917 and since West Point became good story material is absent at the Band barracks—though all regulations are strictly observed

The Army Band has its own instrument repair shop, where damaged horns can be worked over. Experiments have shown that an ordinary dentist's drill is the most efficient tool for work on the delicate instruments provided Band

Over 10,000 different manuscripts are filed and indexed in the Band's own library. Four men stay busy keeping the files ready for calls. They contain arrangements for both marching and concert bands and dance orchestra

Headquarters for Band is on the grounds of War College in Washington. "Jeff," mascot, has the freedom of those grounds for his running!

THE MARINES OF RADIO

delphia. Two different systems were used to pick up balloting from the floor. At the Democratic convention, mikes were suspended from the ceiling of the convention hall, and ten lapel microphones, manned by pages, were carried around the hall during the voting.

At the Republican convention, sixty-eight mikes were used and were hooked to seven and one-half miles of lines. A walking-stick transmitter with an antenna in the announcer's cane also was used. That same cane is used to cover the Easter parades in New York.

The excitement comes, however, on spontaneous stories. Getting the news to the public by radio is quite like getting it out by extra. The editor must know his field, his men and his equipment. He must have the communication and transportation facilities of the location at his finger-tips.

PAUL WHITE, head man of CBS' brainstorm department, has pulled wires and pulled his hair on many stories. The public never hears the story behind the story. The radio listener, sitting by his set in the calm of his home, never knows the weary hours that are spent, the tough breaks, the lucky breaks, the skinned noses, the slaps, the rebuffs, the triumphs, the kicks and the "fun" that the reporters have in getting the news out first.

(The movies call it fun.)

White was at his desk one day, at the rim of the world, when a teletype, connected directly with the Press Radio Bureau, flashed that a hurricane was sweeping Florida. There is nothing mysterious about a "flash." It simply means attention! Wake up! Newsmen's ears are trained to hear flashes on the teletypes. First there is a clatter of bells, ding-ding-ding—

The slot-man counts them automatically. If there are ten, he jumps. Ten bells means a flash. A flash means something hot. The paper is ripped from the machine and rushed to the slot-man. The dispatch might read: "Flash! Hurricane sweeping Miami."

That's all the editor has to go on.

When a flash came through that Miami was being buffeted, White snatched a telephone from its cradle, called the telephone company and asked what lines were available to Miami.

"None," said the phone man.

"CALL me soon as one is open—want a line through to our Station WQAM."

But the news wouldn't wait. The opposition was working. NBC was striving frantically to get through. News waits for no telephone line. White knew he would have a line soon, but Station WQAM wouldn't be ready for a special broadcast. The station needed facts, men. The telephone company called frequently. The line was being repaired—it would be through soon. White hit on an idea. He cabled London. London cabled Johannesburg, South Africa, Johannesburg relayed it to Rio de Janeiro; Rio shot it to Havana and Havana sent it by short-wave to Miami.

The message simply told WQAM to be ready with all news the minute a wire was open. The program moved without a hitch.

Opportunities come to brainstormers that other reporters don't get. Back in my newspaper days, I recall how we had our ears beaten down by a brainstormer. President-elect Roosevelt was in Miami. An announcer was droning descriptive matter when suddenly a pistol-shot sounded. The late Mayor Cermak of Chicago was wounded mortally. The President, of course, wasn't hurt. But the announcer had the story by the ears. Reporters had to dash for phones. The wires were jammed. But the brainstormer kept right on talking and the world got an eye-witness story of an event that might have changed history. The great god called News should have been pleased with that story.

The brainstorm department has the right to enlist services of any announcer or technician in the network if the story is big enough. When the S. S. Morro Castle screamed early one morning that she was burning, and the wireless took up the cry, White heard it. He sent his men to New Jersey in droves.

"I sent so many announcers to the scene that at 7:30 a.m., when we were to open the station, I didn't have a man to do the job, and had to do it myself."

Sure, the marines take chances. That god called News is hard to please. He just grins at trouble. Paul Douglas was sleeping soundly the night the Akron rolled into a storm off Jersey, buckled and fell to the sea, a twisted hulk of wreckage.

THE CBS newsroom called Douglas at 5 a.m.

"North Beach airport," the message said.

Henry Grossman, chief of CBS' field-engineering department, piled equipment into a taxi and raced to the airport to meet Douglas. The only plane available was a single-motored land job. It was a mean day. The god of News was laughing up his sleeve. The pilot shook his head. Only fools and reporters and pilots would go over the sea in a job like that on a day like that.

They went. At Atlantic City they left a short-wave receiving-set and an engineer set it up. Back up, the plane was directly over a blimp that folded and crashed. Two lives were lost. Douglas cut in on a program and gave news of the blimp. Then out to sea, over the Akron—the story was told!

Below, the Atlantic was seething. Vicious! Mutinous! Below was the Akron. Below were more than eighty men. Douglas told his story as his plane coughed and spluttered and bucked above the sea. The world cringed.

The Akron, pride of the Navy's air armada—a wild night off Jersey—a squall, a bolt, a clap of thunder—the twisting of girders, the twisting of bodies and the Akron dived under the sea and most of her crew and officers dived with her. The god called News and those old hags called Fates had a holiday and a picnic.

Douglas told it all. Then his plane headed for home.

"Gee," said the pilot when he set his plane down, "I just remembered—this was my day off."

"Day off?" asked Douglas, the radio marine. "What's that?"

1940 Olympic Games to Finland

JAPAN, up to her neck in a couple of wars, will not be host to the 1940 Olympic Games. This fact was decided recently by the International Olympic Committee, which chose as alternate host the ideally peaceful little country, Finland. The Finns were to be host to the 1944 games, but, due to the present distressing conditions in Japan, their bid was accepted for 1940 instead. War and sports, both competitions, do not make very congenial bedfellows, nor does the latter leave the competitors in first-class physical condition.

In a special broadcast from Helsingfors, Finland, on Sunday, CBS will bring American listeners a preview of the 1940 Olympics. Great interest in this event is being shown in Finland, and Columbia expects to present, along with the Mayor of Helsingfors, Finland's outstanding athletic idol—Paavo Nurmi. Nurmi, now in his early thirties, is one of the greatest distance runners in sports history, several of his records still standing. Bedecked with honors from two previous Olympic competitions, he will rest on his laurels in '40 and be represented at the games in a non-running capacity only.

The modern version of the Olympic games began back in 1896, when the first meet was held in Athens on the original site of the historic games. Since then, with the exception of the World War period, the games have been held every four years.

This broadcast will be a feature of "Europe Calling," Sunday, over CBS at: EDT 1:30 p.m. — EST 12:30 p.m. CDT 12:30 p.m. — CST 11:30 a.m. MST 10:30 a.m. — PST 9:30 a.m.

that he is in constant demand for readings into the future.

Jason Bernie, son of the Ol' Maestro and now employed at 20th Century-Fox as an assistant director, was at home at the La Wanda Arms the other afternoon when he and his roommate, Dave Saxon, vocalist at the Biltmore Bowl, heard immediately below them the strains of a male quartet warming up. "Those voices sound familiar," said Jason. "Let's check," responded Saxon. They did—and found the barber-shoppers to be the Playboys, foursome now heard over Mutual broadcasting stations several nights weekly from the Town House—and Jason was right. They were former members of Ben Bernie's orchestra!

If "Kathy Marshall" (Nan Grey) sounded all wet in a recent performance of "Those We Love," blame it on her trip the day before to a friend's swimming-pool. The youthful actress began studying her script, her feet dangling in the water. Suddenly she lost her balance, fell in, and for the next ten minutes was busy rescuing the floating pages from the water.

Nice sense of humor has "Lights Out" Thrill Scribe Arch Oboler. Hunting ghosts in Europe, he reports his search of the Grottes de Han caverns yielded no specters, but that a number of bats got tangled in his hair. The report came on a postcard he kindly sent, on the reverse side of which was the reproduction of a famous painting by Musee Antoine Wiertz, entitled "A Severed Head" . . . Ugh!

Glen Gray and all his Casa Lomans are trying hard to break Tommy Dorsey's gate receipts now that they've taken over the Palomar . . . Paul Taylor off for a deer hunt in northern California . . . and look out, any moment, for a big explosion over the advertised use of Academy winners' names as instructors (which they aren't) at that new school of the stage, radio and cinema located in Hollywood. The famous-name head of the enterprise should be more careful.

Hilda Cole's "Joe Swing," a fantasy about a swing musician, will be dramatized. A special musical score will be conducted by Leith Stevens. The chief character, Joe Swing, is heard only by the sound of his trumpet, his voice never appearing in the drama.
For more detail turn to page 5.

Short-wave programs of American stations are shown along with the regular listings beginning on page 25. These are indicated, for example, by (sw-11.87) in parentheses following a program listing. This means that on 11.87 megacycles the same program may also be heard over an American short-wave station. Please note that foreign stations do not always adhere precisely to their announced program schedules.

WILLIAM MATHERS of Detroit, Mich., writes that elaborate preparations for broadcasting running commentaries on the next Olympic Games, to be held in Finland in 1940, are already under way. The National Broadcasting Corporation of Finland, O. Y. Suomen Yleisradio A. B., has already inaugurated two experimental transmitters, one at Lahti, operating on 9.5 and 11.78 megs, with a power of 1,000 watts; the other at Helsinki, operating on 6.12 megs, with a power of 200 watts. A third station, soon to be completed, will broadcast on 15.19 and 17.8 megs, with a power of 1,000 watts. The power of each of these stations will be increased to 10,000 watts by the end of this year. A directive antenna for transmissions beamed on North America is also under construction.

Regular transmissions from the Finland short-wave stations are carried out daily as follows: Over OFE (11.78), 6 to 7:20 a.m. and from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and over OFD (9.5), also in Lahti, from 1 to 7 p.m. EDT. All programs are also transmitted by the Helsinki station, on 6.12 megs. Announcements are made in Finnish and Swedish.

A special transmission for Swedish residents of the United States is now being broadcast on Wednesdays and Saturdays at 9 p.m. EDT, over SBP (11.705) of Motala, Sweden. The Swedish short-wave stations operate regularly as follows: Over SM5SX (15.155) of Stockholm, week-days 12 noon to 6 p.m. EDT, and on Sundays 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. EDT; over CBP (11.705) of Motala, week-days 2:20 to 3 a.m., and 11 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. EDT, and on Sundays 3 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. EDT, and over SBO (6.065) of Motala, daily from 5:15 to 6 p.m. EDT.

TGWB (6.04), a new 1,000-watt transmitter to relay TGWA of Guatemala City, Guatemala, will be inaugurated soon. It will operate week-days from 8:40 to 9:40 a.m. EDT, 1:45 to 4:30 p.m. EDT, and 8 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. EDT, and on Sundays from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. EDT, and from 8 p.m. to 1:15 a.m. EDT.

HVJ, "Radio Vaticano," Vatican City, Italy, is operating on new frequencies and a revised schedule as follows: On 15.12 megs, week-days from 11:30 to 11:45 a.m. EDT; on 6.03 megs, week-days from 3 to 3:15 p.m. EDT, and on 9.55 megs, Sundays only from 6 to 6:30 a.m. EDT.

Senor Cespedes Marin, owner of Short-Wave Station TI4NRH (9.695), Heredia, Costa Rica, which operates on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 10 to 11 p.m. EDT, recently was heard to state that listeners sending in twenty-five cents would receive the large, elaborately lithographed verification of reception, and a certificate of membership in the "Fraternal Order of TI4NRH" as well. Mr. Marin made it plain, however, that any listener who did not have the money and would write him to that effect would get the diploma anyway.

In "Background to Central Europe," a new series of weekly talks from Daventry, a picture will be given of the historical and geographical background of some of the smaller European countries that are much in the news today. The first talk, to be heard on Friday, August 19, at 7:20 p.m. EDT over GSG and GSP, will be on Hungary, given by Lady Muir, daughter of the late Bulgarian minister in London.

PK6XX (14.02), base-camp station of the Archbold Expedition of the American Museum of Natural History at Hollandia, New Guinea, is being heard many mornings between 6 and 9 a.m. EDT. PK6XX contacts Amateur Station W6NRR on Saturday mornings at 3 a.m. EDT. The advance party of explorers now carrying out scientific research in the interior carry on communications with the base-camp station by means of their aircraft transmitter, which operates on 6.21 and 11.325 megs.

Animal and bird noises are recorded at the Zoo for "Animal Snap," a guessing game, soon to be broadcast to all Daventry listeners

SUMMER CONTESTS

BECAUSE the prize contests announced on the air constitute a considerable proportion of America's prize-money and because listeners have demonstrated their interest in these announcements with millions of contest entries, RADIO GUIDE is publishing this list of national contests each week in this space. The list includes outstanding contest opportunities not announced on the air as well as all the prominent competitions broadcast over Coast-to-Coast networks.

This department is published in this form during the summer months when contest activity ebbs. During the fall and winter seasons, RADIO GUIDE publishes weekly the most authoritative contest news available to the general public. This is a department called "So You Like Contests?"

That department will appear again within a month or so. In the meantime, "Summer Contests" gives you interesting details on the many current contests, with closing dates for each contest, addresses of the various sponsors, and all the necessary requirements needed to win the attractive prizes listed. Be sure to follow this department in RADIO GUIDE each week for added income and a grand hobby that can't be beat! Act now, enter a contest today and be a prize winner.

SIDE-SPLITTERS SPLIT

TIME was—within the memory of the youngest listeners to radio stuff—when Colonel Stoopnagle and Budd made (and unmade) history together, Stoop with his peachy inventions, Budd with his also-peachy imitations. Those were the days when Stoopnocracy flourished and Stooptopia prospered. But never let it be said that the still-peachy pair do not keep abreast of the times. With dictators splitting the map, politicians splitting hairs and parties, and scientists splitting atoms, not to be outdone, Colonel and Budd merely split.

Now Stoopnagle is "going to town" at the head of the "Town Hall Summer Show," and Budd has budded out as a full-blown master of ceremonies of his own variety and comedy show, currently titled "Boredom with Budd," and is also presented by Johnny in "What's My Name?"

"Together-or-apart,-let's-stick-with-Stoopnagle-and-Budd-if-it-kills-us,-Ltd." That might be the firm name of one of their many business enterprises, or it might be the slogan of dyed-in-the-wool Stoopfans who split their loyalty fifty-fifty when the couple split. So now it can be told—again—for the sake of the split records of the Budd-booster and Stoop-stickers—that widely divergent backgrounds tossed these two together into the radio pot to produce a new flavor of stewed comedy.

They crashed in just about the time of that other memorable crash, and since then they have been up and down the ladder (chiefly up), with and without sponsors (chiefly with), together and apart (chiefly together).

Just as a jotting in the record books, these are some of the highlights in the lives of Budd "What's My Name?" Hulick and Col. Townuel Q. Hallnagle. Stoopnagle Taylor began his public career at the age of twelve when he deposited his first egg in the form of a messed-up song, but he went over; born in Buffalo, he attended the University of Rochester and served in the U. S. Naval Reserve Corps; his background includes lumber business, brokerage, art and humor editing. Hulick, native of Asbury Park, New Jersey, also gave early evidence of his vocation when his imitations created a stir with the Ladies' Auxiliary. After attendance at Georgetown University, Budd organized his own band, bell-hopped, farmed, jerked sodas, and then came into radio.

Well, now you see it, now you don't—they were together, now they're apart. Don't look now, but, together OR apart, they rise above the ranks!

Colonel Stoopnagle may be heard Wednesday nights on "Town Hall Summer Show," 9 p.m. EDT (8 p.m. PST for the West Coast). Budd is heard on his own show Sundays at 7:30 p.m. EDT, and Fridays at 8 p.m. EDT on "What's My Name?"

S. Efficiency proven, I took down my old outside aerial.

Davenport, Ia. Received your Radio Aerial Eliminator and it sure works fine. Also works well on Short Wave band. Wish I had found it long ago. Signed:
