LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Patriot

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

I have read in the papers about people who are all for changing the Star-Spangled Banner. They have said it could not be sung, that the notes were too low or too high or too something-or-other. They say that it wasn't inspired.

Not inspired! Let's travel back through the pages of history for a moment. It's the year 1814; America is at war. Many battleships fill the harbor. Below deck on one of these ships is a young American lawyer. He is a prisoner. All night long he listens to the roar of the cannon, straining his eyes through a tiny porthole for the sight of his flag. Finally, the first thin streaks of light spread across the sky and he sees his flag. It is a sight he could never forget, and so the young man sat down and started to write. He was Francis Scott Key and the song he wrote was our own "Star-Spangled Banner." Not inspired, they say! Well, I wonder.

KATE SMITH, New York.

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

I have your letter asking my opinion about the radio and its liabilities and assets. I know very little about it. I do not turn the radio on more than twice a year, and then always to hear some specific thing. My general opinion of the radio is low and I am afraid that isn't the sort of an opinion you want. But also my opinion is absolutely worthless, because I do not use the radio and so I do not express my opinion.

WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE,
Emporia, Kans.

Re Kaltenborn

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

Sir, you are not speaking for a number in this section when you say that Kaltenborn is a good news commentator. He is a good propagandist, a builder of hatred in hearts of people. He does a wonderful job of shading the news. We can guess his alignment.

FRANK ROSSER, Glendale, Kans.

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

The recent broadcasts from Europe have convinced most of my friends of what I have known for years; namely, that H. V. Kaltenborn is a great news analyst and foreign expert. His two-week task of interpreting the news from Europe marks a new high in "educational broadcasting" in this country.

C. M. CHARLES, Madison, Wisc.

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

I want to let my hair down about the new up-swept hair-do. Thousands of girls and women are turning to Hollywood to see what the actresses are going to do about it. The other day I saw a newspaper article in which hair stylists criticized Greta Garbo for wearing a long bob on her return to this country. That happens to be a style that best becomes Miss Garbo, and she's smart enough to know it. I want to plead, through the medium of your publication, for the individuality of girls. Wear your hair any way you want. Show your friends that you have imagination enough to be original, instead of just one of the herd. My studio requested I change my hair style for my current picture, "St. Louis Blues," but I insisted that would change my personality, and finally the studio agreed.

DOROTHY LAMOUR, Hollywood.

Annoyed Listener

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

What good is a very fine program like the NBC Symphony Orchestra under Toscanini when our local station, KWK, cuts in after fifty-eight minutes of broadcast, without any explanation or word of any kind, for the benefit of local beer commercials and dance programs?

Realizing fully that a station needs commercials for successful operation, but do they realize that this indecent way of handling exceptional programs is not conducive to more listeners.

ERWIN R. BRANDON, St. Louis, Mo.

Advice

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

I've been reading and hearing a lot about swinging the classics lately, and from the way the boys are talking you'd really think it was important. Music, whether popular or symphonic, must live in the present. It's all right to dress up a classic in modern rhythms, but it's not of any particular value musically. Anybody can do it, and everybody has. I did it myself years ago, and my dance arrangement of Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Song of India" from his opera "Sadko" is still remembered by a lot of people. So what?

What really counts is developing new musical ideas and talent. That's the vital thing. People live in the present. They want something fresh and new and living. They don't want popular music waltzing around in dead men's clothes.

Fifteen years ago I gave my first New York jazz concert in Carnegie Hall. My aim was not merely to provide a pleasant evening's entertainment for several thousand people, but to help foster fresh American talent. George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" was one of the results of that concert.

My advice to bandleaders and composers is: Remember, there's no time like the present!

PAUL WHITEMAN, New York.

Grateful

Editor, RADIO GUIDE:

This fantastic outcry about the Orson Welles broadcast is both an unfavorable commentary on the mental attitude (I might say altitude) of the average radio listener, and a magnificent tribute to the realistic drama of the Mercury Theater. The Mercury Theater needs no defense from me.

I am one of many thousands who feel grateful to the Columbia Broadcasting System for relieving me of the necessity of listening to the Chase and Sanborn program as Sunday evening entertainment—excepting Bergen.

much about in the big city. "I got out at Grand Central Station," he says, "and asked a policeman the way to the nearest pitfall. You can imagine my disappointment when the officer told me that it was election day and the pitfalls were all closed up."

HIS advent into New York saw the real beginning of a career as one of America's most famous wits. His first job was that of associate editor on the New York Tribune's Sunday magazine. From newspaper editorial work, he went to Vanity Fair magazine as managing editor. But it wasn't until he became dramatic editor of Life that he hit his full stride as a humorist and made his name known to many with his pungent, pithy comments on shows and show people. In 1929 the New Yorker grabbed him and he has been that magazine's theatrical critic ever since.

As an author, Mr. Benchley has several books on humor to his credit, including "My Ten Years in a Quandary," "The Early Worm," "Pluck and Luck," and "The Treasurer's Report."

Typical excerpts from his writings show his ability as a pithy writer on everything from hiccoughs to maxims. "It is," he says, "often difficult to tell whether a maxim means something, or something means maxim."

As a cure for hiccoughs, of which everybody has at least one, he suggests:

"Bend the body backward until the head touches the floor, and whistle in reverse."

If that doesn't do the trick, "Place the head in a pail of water and inhale twelve times deeply."

In case the sufferer balks at that, "Try rolling down a long inclined lawn, snatching a mouthful of grass up each time the face is downward."

Speaking of a more modern affliction, he says: "There are some honeys among phobias that don't get publicity. There is, for example, phobiaphobia, which is the fear of having a phobia, even though you may not have one at the moment."

AS A comfort to those who fear germs and infection, he offers: "Not being much of a haemophile and being fairly immune against infection from anything smaller than B-B shot, I do not keep abreast of the antiseptic procession. Unless a germ starts trying to wrestle, I usually let him alone on me. I find that he goes away sooner or later."

Turning with ease to the subject of ichthyology (fish to most of us), he observes: "The carp is one of the least-promising of all fish. He has practically no forehead, and brings nothing at all to a conversation."

ON SUNDAY evening, November 20, a momentous radio test will be made. When the Old Gold Variety Show goes on the air, a new 1939 star of the airways may be born that will cause the whole galaxy of funmakers to grow a little pale by comparison. For that night Robert Benchley, already famous in five fields of humor, will make his first bow as a radio comedian when he headlines the Old Gold show.

The fact that it takes all kinds of people to make a world may explain the Benchley phenomenon. At any rate, he has earned the title "Jack of all trades and master of many." But whether he will add mastery of radio to his roster remains to be proved.

Those listeners-in to whom the name of Robert Benchley is not yet familiar may say when they have read this far: "What makes him so outstanding? What has he as a comedian to offer that our favorites Charlie McCarthy, Fred Allen, Lew Lehr, and Jack Benny, to name just a few, aren't already giving on their programs? Just why should he be considered a five-star threat as a laugh-provoker?

Well, consider the droll quality of his voice. The inimitable Benchley inflections are unique. And he has the gift of translating his most vagrant thoughts into word-pictures that are highly amusing.

Should you ask Mr. Benchley if he started out in life being funny he would probably tell you that he didn't; that his parents considered him a normal baby when he was born in 1889; that he went through public school without much trouble, and even managed to get an A. B. from Harvard in 1912 with no serious difficulties. He might add that he didn't exhibit any definite symptoms of developing "the case of Robert C. Benchley, humorist," until shortly after graduating from college.

Perhaps just getting out of Harvard gave his inclination toward seeing the funny side of everything—or nearly everything—a chance to assert itself for the first time.

Benchley arrived in New York City in 1916, looking for some of the pitfalls he had heard so

WILL F. D. R. BE THE FIRST RADIO CZAR?

AFTER 1940, WHAT? WILL FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT DROP THE REINS OF THE GOVERNMENT TO RULE OVER ALL RADIO?

IF FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT retires from politics in 1940 and if certain overtures now being made to him are successful, he will become the first czar of broadcasting!

Incredible as it sounds, that information comes to RADIO GUIDE through unimpeachable channels, is based on solid fact. Broadcasting today stands sorely in need of some form of control. The Federal Communications Commission, concerned as it is almost exclusively with technical matters, the allocation of wave-lengths, station licensing, doesn't offer the right kind of control, or enough of it. Radio has grown so big that it's attracting political attention—some of it the wrong kind of attention. In certain quarters there is a strong demand for censorship of radio. If radio is not to face discipline and control from the outside, it must provide self-discipline from the inside. For that, a strong man is needed, and Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the radio industry has decided, is that man!

The idea that the President of the United States should be called upon to dictate the policies of broadcasting is not so incredible as it sounds. Let's look at broadcasting as it is today, with the hue-and-cry raised over the recent Orson Welles "Men from Mars" program still at its height.

Radio stands at a cross-road. The choice is plain. Radio can continue along the path it is on now, free and untrammelled, taking the chance that some unfortunate broadcast in the future will bring down governmental wrath on its head, with stringent censorship inevitably following—or radio can, like the movies, like baseball, anticipate government control by the appointment of its own governing head, or "czar." The latter plan has been decided upon by the men who direct American broadcasting, and President Roosevelt will be offered the job!

This decision has been made, RADIO GUIDE learns, because of and in the face of certain definite dangers confronting broadcasting today.

First and foremost is the danger of political control. There is every reason for thinking that such control is imminent. On the morning after the recent Orson Welles broadcast had thrown the Eastern Seaboard into a terror-stricken panic, Senator Clyde Herring of Iowa announced that he would introduce in the next session of Congress a bill outlawing such broadcasts. At the last session of Congress, the Sellers-McAdoo bill was introduced, narrowly missed becoming law. This bill provided for the erection of a powerful short-wave station to broadcast propaganda programs to South America. No one denied that it could be used for propaganda purposes—not in South America, but in these United States, if it pleased the government to do so.

BROADCASTING is threatened from within its own ranks. As long as there is no control over programs before they are put on the air (the FCC takes action only after a program has aroused public complaint) there is the possibility that careless and irresponsible radio producers will broadcast material so offensive that the government will be forced to assume responsibility. The Orson Welles broadcast is a case in point. So is the now famous Mae West broadcast of just a year ago. Radio needs the benefit of a mature experience, backed by careful judgment, a thorough understanding of public taste, and plenty of authority. Radio listeners themselves constitute a threat to the American system of broadcasting. Too often one hears the remark, "Why doesn't the government in this country take over radio, levy a small tax on each set, and put on its own programs. That's the way it's done in England. Then we wouldn't have to listen to so many long-winded announcements!"

That's a splendid idea, providing the American listener wants the things that go with the English system: Dull programs because of a lack of competition, too high a percentage of what we would call "sustaining shows," frequent changes in program time, unexplained "dead" time on the air, and so forth. There are certain other things that go with government-controlled radio, too. A government-controlled press, for instance. England has, supposedly, a free press, but the most powerful of English newspapers are government-controlled. During the King Edward VIII-Wallis Simpson crisis, for instance, the English public knew nothing of what was going on until the affair was practically over, although American newspapers had been full of it for weeks.

Biggest headache facing organized

America's first family, the Roosevelts, are already radio wise. Son James is familiar to network listeners everywhere, having been on NBC, CBS and MBS many times. Above: With Collier's magazine writer, Walter Davenport

Son Elliott Roosevelt is well known in the radio field as president of Mutual's new unit, the Texas State Network. His vast experience as such would make him invaluable to his father, should F. D. R. turn radio czar broadcasting today is television. It has been announced that television will be ready for the public in one year, but insiders, well aware of the confusion, the doubt, the research yet undone, are openly skeptical, see nothing but confusion and ruinous competition ahead if individual networks, stations and manufacturing companies are allowed to proceed without a unified program.

To every one of these dangers radio can provide an answer. Radio can forestall political attacks by removing the basis for political attacks. A mind adept in political thinking, a mind such as Franklin Roosevelt's, would be quick to detect in a program—before it went on the air—those elements which would make it vulnerable to political attack. It is only through such action that broadcasting freedom can be preserved.

THE answer to the problem of the careless producer, the man to whom temporary advantage is more important than the long-term welfare of the broadcasting industry, is discipline—stern, thorough-going discipline from within the ranks of radio itself. Unless this discipline is applied, and applied quickly, radio will suffer. One more broadcast in the bad taste that characterized the Mae West episode; one more broadcast causing such near-catastrophe as the Orson Welles program—and who knows what might happen? Only the appointment of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis to rule over baseball after the Black Sox scandal of 1919 saved the national game from destruction. If the movie industry had not gathered itself together after the Fatty Arbuckle scandal and appointed Will Hays guardian of a rigid code of ethics we might have government-controlled films today, as is the case in Germany, in Italy, in England. Because radio's influence is so widespread, because its absolute saturation of the country magnifies everything it touches, incidents of much less gravity than the Fatty Arbuckle or Black Sox scandal would suffice as an excuse to clap it under control. Radio must be on its guard!

What about the unthinking listener who would like to have government-sponsored programs? He must be educated. A dictatorship cannot arise without the consent of at least a large minority of the people. Those people do not actually want dictatorship, they want only its surface benefits. They don't reckon with the price they must pay in freedom lost. Similarly with censorship (and the censor is only an advance man for the dictator). Government-controlled radio in America might relieve listeners of the necessity of listening to a few programs in doubtful taste, a few programs of no real value, a few overlong commercial announcements. But it would also put the listener directly in line for a rigid governmental preselection of his news, his political, religious and economic views. If a government official can say, "We'll keep that off the air," it won't be long before he'll be saying, "We'll keep such-and-such out of the newspapers." When he says that, the deathknell of liberty is rung.

To cope with political attacks, to exercise a firm guidance over radio's program-makers, to bring the American people to a complete understanding of radio's purpose and its place in the scheme of things, no one in America is better qualified than President Roosevelt. He has the political acumen necessary to forestall and ward off the grasping bureaucrats; a top-ranking executive, with a lifetime of power and high authority behind him, he is capable of establishing and maintaining discipline within the ranks of radio; and there is no one alive who has a greater appeal for the American radio listener or who is fitted better to bring to that listener a complete understanding of radio's plans and problems.

President Roosevelt is already an expert in radio. He is known to be vitally interested in it, a keen student of its potentialities and its technique. During his stay in the White House, President Roosevelt has made more than 132 radio addresses, reaching a far vaster audience than any other President ever reached. But his interest in radio goes beyond its utilization as a medium of expression. Radiomen will tell you that he is thoroughly and minutely informed about every phase of broadcasting. They point to the speeches, the interviews and state papers in which he has referred to radio. Socially minded to the core, Roosevelt believes in radio as a force for the public good. A year ago he said: "The watchword of science must be progress. It is not within the province of reactionaries to put obstacles in the way of orderly development nor to mark boundaries beyond which radio may not go." If Franklin Roosevelt is named czar of radio he will enter office with the determination that radio shall have orderly progress and honest liberty under careful guidance. That is what radio needs.

There is, of course, the definite possibility that President Roosevelt will not be available to radio in 1940. Still unanswered is the question, "Will Roosevelt run again in 1940?" Save from the President himself, there can be no definitive reply to that question, and the President has not chosen to speak. Best opinion in official Washington is this: If Roosevelt can obtain the Democratic nomination, and if his advisors and his own shrewd political sense convince him that he has a fair chance of winning, he will definitely run. Otherwise, he will step out of the picture in 1940. The third-term tradition is a strong one; opposition to the New Deal is gradually strengthening; Roosevelt faces a schism in his own party, and, after eight years in the hardest, most exacting job in the world, he could hardly be blamed if he chose to turn his energies into a new channel.

IF THAT is the course that Franklin Roosevelt takes in 1940, America's loss will be radio's gain. Definitely, organized broadcasting needs him, wants him, is even now seeking an option on his services. What is good for radio is good for the radio listener, but the radio listener probably needs little convincing in this case. Suppose, for instance, that listeners could hear Franklin Roosevelt in a "fireside chat" every Saturday night, Roosevelt talking—not on politics but on "getting the most out of the radio!" It's a wonderful idea, and in the interests of radio listeners and radio itself, we hope it will come true.

"... Radio can ... anticipate governmental control by the appointment of its own governing head ... President Roosevelt will be offered that job!"

"In certain quarters there is a strong demand for censorship of radio."

"Broadcasting is threatened from within its own ranks ... radio needs the benefit of a mature experience, backed by careful judgment, a thorough understanding of public taste, and plenty of authority."

"Radio listeners themselves constitute a threat to the American system of broadcasting."

"... To bring the American people to a complete understanding of radio's purpose and its place in the scheme of things, no one is better qualified than President Roosevelt."

AMERICAN GO-BETWEEN —Sunday, NBC

Edward Tomlinson knows South America like Connie Mack knows baseball, like the Morgans know money, like Einstein knows what we don't know, and like we all know the taste of apple pie. And now that we are talking more forcefully than ever of the Monroe Doctrine, New World versus Old World, and pan-American alliances, Tomlinson becomes somewhat of a key figure, a sort of semi-official ambassador-at-large. Sunday he will present an outline preview of the Pan-American Congress to be held December 8, in Peru. The program is more auspicious for being the last scheduled in the commentator's present series. In the light of current international trends, however, it may be supposed that Tomlinson will be back on the air at a later date with more of his enlightening comment on the other Americas and perhaps a report on this Con-

Maybe so. At any rate, the Pine Mountain Settlement School of Harlan County celebrates its twenty-fifth anniversary this week. The school was founded by William Creech, Sr., pioneer and patriarch of the mountains, who deeded 136 acres of his best land for the school. Well, now they're getting so high-falutin' that they're celebrating on the radio. The program will feature Joan and Ruby Ayers and Lucille Christian, vocal trio, singing old hymns and folk-music of the region. Maybe this gesture is symbolical of the growth which may make Harlan County the last frontier of feudin'.

FOSTER, SON OF SONG —Tuesday, CBS

Of course you knew that Stephen Foster wrote "Old Folks at Home." But did you know that the same man wrote "Oh! Susanna" long before the time of Alf Landon? In fact, Stephen Collins Foster wrote many of his songs back in the era when Negroes sang by the sunlight in the cotton fields and by the moonlight in their cabin groups, and when Negro minstrels were the acme of entertainment. Being himself southern by descent and temperament, and realizing the commercial appeal of minstrel songs and spirituals, Foster composed such works with genuine insight and sympathy. In fact, all his songs, whether they be rollicking ditties, tender ballads or sentimental love-songs, have the same quality of simple sincerity, graceful charm and appropriateness of words and music that have made Foster's compositions enduring favorites. When on Tuesday the "American School of the Air" presents a Stephen Foster program, such favorites as "Old Folks at Home," "Jennie With the Light Brown Hair," "Beautiful Dreamer," and others will be presented.

"B. T." THANKS —Tuesday, CBS

"What Have We to Be Thankful For?" That question will be asked many times this week by ministers, by speakers, by writers, by our own inner voices. It will be asked by actors of "Big Town," Edward G. Robinson and Claire

Trevor, when they enact a drama built upon that question as its title. What have we to be thankful for? We voted for whomever we pleased two weeks ago, did we not? We speak our minds pretty freely and often, do we not? We give thanks to a God of our own choosing, do we not? We are men. We are women. We are free men and women. We have that to be thankful for, among many other important things. Maybe you don't doubt it, but we do often let its significance become commonplace or forgotten. A good drama—as "Big Town" is capable of presenting—might enjoyably emphasize this, one of the many justifications

GROWN-UP EDUCATION —Sunday, MBS

To a carpenter a "round table" may be just a piece of furniture. To others it may suggest only coffee and. To still others—many of them—it has taken on a new significance, as fostered by radio's educational phase. "Round table" now means a chance to hear live discussion of various subjects by real experts, and, in some cases, the chance to inject one's own personal views into such discussions. If one word had to be chosen to describe this type of radio program, it would probably be "vital," in spite of the extra burden that word often has to bear. We should not have to stretch the word to cover MBS' round-table discussion of "Adult Education," with its philosophy and objectives in relation to community life. Prominent figures who will sit in at the session are Dr. R. H. Morrison, New Jersey director of teacher training; Dr. R. D. Runnels, principal of Maplewood, N. J., high school; Dr. Frank Kingdon, president of the University of Newark; W. F. Little, member of the New Jersey Board of Education; Dr. E. M. Townsend, president of the State Teachers College of Newark, and Dr. H. C. Hunsaker, dean of the University of Newark.

THRILLS AND VRILLES —Sunday, NBC

"Contact!" The war aces ride again across the unmarked highways of the air to gamble with death among the clouds, as the engineers sit hunched over their drafting-boards fighting the same battles with pencils for weapons and their genius for wings. You would like to hear the true story of "Aircraft in the World War"—without being subjected to the stupendous risk of those circumstances? Then tune to "The World Is Yours" Sunday for these thrills of fact with the color of fiction. The war aircraft story is that of the child that is forced by emergency to grow adult in less than the normal time. It is the fascinating tale of the development of air flivver into mighty fighting-plane—the grim tale of scout-to-ace transition—

Four men were killed in Harlan County, Kentucky, on election day. The old Harlanites shake their heads. Somethin's wrong, by thunder. Only four casualties. Harlan's slippin'. ### MORE REMINISCING

—Tuesday, NBC

There have been many platonic partnerships, but few that so quickly and completely won the public approval as the Bob Hope-Shirley Ross combination. They did "Thanks For the Memory" so convincingly on the screen that we, the people, refused to let the set-up and the song pass into the memory stage. When Shirley appeared with Bob on his radio show a few weeks ago, their humorous skit and whimsical song rang the bell with the audience—and Shirley's hubby at home kept ringing the telephone bell to kibitz in the romantic double-dealing. Well, the listeners requested more of the same sort of stuff, and hubby probably got such a vicarious kick out of his participation that even he sanctioned another rendezvous. So, by popular request, Shirley Ross will appear again this week to help Bob Hope recall those old memories, for from their famous musical vehicle of reminiscent gratitude will be spun a musical cocoon out of which will crawl Bob's regular comedy sketch. Hilarious retrospections are "Shirley" lying there waiting to come forth—we Hope, we Hope, we Hope.

WHAT A WOMAN!

—Wednesday, CBS

There was a time when "Life begins at forty" shocked us or amused us or left us cold. And there still are many examples of the present economic futility of advancing age. On the other hand, evidences continually crop up to prove that, in this rough-and-tumble whirlmajig called the world, life can begin at almost any age. Take Mrs. Bruce Fahnestock, for instance, whose book "Stars to Windward" has just been published. Her boys started off on a cruise to the South Seas in a little schooner. While they were in Panama, mother Fahnestock (let's imagine) was pouring tea at home one day when suddenly the steam turned to salt-spray and the aroma became a South Sea wind and the ripples swelled to breakers. So she joined the other kids and "went down to the sea" "to the vagrant gypsy life." Sharks, snakes, deserted islands, jungles—then cannibals—and Mrs. Fahnestock decided to go home. So she pawned some South Sea pearls and went. Her experiences are now in book form, and they also take radio form this week on Edgar A. Guest's "It Can Be Done" program.

WELCOME HOME!

—Thursday, NBC

K. M. H. has a Homecoming this week and will play a game with You Listeners U. A well-known alumnus returns as a guest of the institution and a prodigal prof. comes back to ye olde campus. Once again the cloistered towers will resound to another sweet sound besides the bell-ringing of undergrad Carpenter—the raucous bazooka-blowing of Professor Burns. Of course, this is only an extra-curricular activity with Burns, supplementing his regular position in the chair of Hillbillyology and Applied Wind, to which he will be welcomed back by Prexy Crosby after a four-week leave of absence. A special attraction for the Homecoming activities will be the appearance of Chester "Merlin" Morris, who has often confounded faculty and students alike with his amateur feats of magic and his accompanying patter. If Burns should jealously blow Morris away from the mike, the latter can retaliate by transporting the former back to Van Buren. Both boys have promised to be on their good behavior, however, for the sake of old K. M. H.

PIGSKIN WAR

—Saturday, MBS, CBS, NBC

The Blue and the Gray fight it out again this week—not at Gettysburg this time, but at Philadelphia in the same state. Don't be alarmed, for it isn't war of the Old World variety, even if it is a clash of service institutions. Yes, sir,

"Bill," the Annapolis mascot, will be on parade Saturday in Philadelphia when the Army and Navy teams fight their annual pigskin battle there it's the annual Army-Navy football classic, and they may even bring the airforce into play to drop a few football bombs over the goal lines. The boys from West Point and Annapolis may not have the best teams in the country, but they have spirit, incentive and the power to rise to an occasion—especially this one. The game may develop no Grange, Four Horsemen or "dream" backfield, but when the time comes to lay the money on the line, the usual throng will be on hand at the field and at the radios, attracted by that something Americans love—color. Can the goat butt over the Army mule? Can the mule smear the Navy's "butter"?

Sunday, Edward Tomlinson presents a preview of Pan-American Congress to be held in Peru

Tradition and intense rivalry make the game unpredictable and attractive, with extra-game activities adding a highly picturesque note. Anchors aweigh, Middies! Forward, march, Cadets!

PLAGUE BUSTER

—Saturday, CBS

If you meet a pellagrin, you needn't run. It isn't a monster; it's a human—a human who has pellagra. But then pellagra isn't the dread plague that it was not so many years ago. It isn't contagious and it is quite easily cured. A long story, however, goes before that statement. In 1914 in Mississippi alone 1192 people died of pellagra. Thousands of others died throughout the South. No one knew what caused the red rash, the sore mouth, the mental derangement. So in 1914 a young doctor named Joseph Goldberger—who called himself a "bum doctor"—was sent to the South to investigate this insidious malady. There were precedent-breakers in that day, for Goldberger used no laboratory technique, but proceeded with a policy of simple investigation. How he applied his observations and logic to the case of wholesale death—more like Philo Vance than a doctor—makes a story as interesting as one of those fictitious detective adventures, and even involves experiments with convicts. The causes, the symptoms, the cure were brought to light, reaching a climax in 1923, when Goldberger made an important discovery.

How the unassuming young man reduced a plague to a minor disease will be dramatized under the title "Goldberger, the Soft-Spoken Desperado" in the "Men Against Death" series from the works of Paul de Kruif. This is a Federal Theatre Radio Division program. The story is tied to the present by the announcement a few weeks ago that nicotine is another cure for pellagra. Maybe we shouldn't tell the "Small Fry," lest they try to start a pellagra epidemic for the sake of a cigarette!

THE RADIO PLAYBILL: THIS WEEK — "HOWIE WING"

—Official Photograph, U. S. Army Air Corps

WHEN Young America tunes in on "Howie Wing" they are listening to an authentic saga of aviation. Fledgling pilots of the Army Air Corps flying in formation near Randolph Field, Texas (above), is just one of the thrilling scenes accurately described in the show. Author Captain Moore was so impressed by the training and personnel of the Cadet Corps when he landed there on one of his practise flights as a reserve officer that he at once visualized it as the perfect background for an air drama. And the radio serial, "Howie Wing," was born. For episodes in the test flight of a transatlantic clipper, the Boeing Aircraft Corporation of Seattle, Washington, provided the source material, based on the Boeing 314, built for Pan American Airways

THE story of "Howie Wing" reflects the pattern of every young aviator's life. He isn't always a hero; but he is human and understandable. Howie started his aviation training at Randolph Field, Texas, under the strict but inspiring tutelage of Captain Harvey. After Howie's course is finished, Captain Harvey is assigned to test-work on clipper planes for South American service. He asks that Howie be assigned the job of his assistant on the trial flights. Wing acquitted himself so well that Harvey takes him to Botwood, Newfoundland, to aid in similar test-work on a 40-ton, 4-motored clipper that's to be put into transatlantic service if Harvey's tests prove successful. The parent company, Transoceanic Airways, assigns Zero Smith the task of helping Harvey in piloting the craft. Smith proves himself a heel by kicking Howie out of his regular quarters. Then he breaks rules by lighting a cigarette on a test flight. A fire starts from this, comes perilously near the gas-tanks, and only quick thinking by Captain Harvey and Howie save the ship. The next suspicious incident occurs when a submerged tank comes to the surface of the bay just in time to collide with the clipper's test take-off. Harvey and Wing barely miss the tank, which lowers into the bay as they whiz by. High officials of the airline, who are aboard, believe that this is Harvey's work to cover a mistake. But it is now apparent to Howie that Smith is conniving with Burton York, a phony insurance representative aboard, to discredit Captain Harvey and get him discharged. Fake navigation figures given by Smith on a test flight over the Atlantic chalk up another black-mark against Harvey. Broadcast over CBS, "Howie Wing" is heard Monday through Friday at 6:15 p.m. EST; 5:15 p.m. CST. For the West: 6:15 p.m. MST; 5:15 p.m. PST.

NO ARMCHAIR adventurer is Captain Willfred G. (Bill) Moore, author of "Howie Wing." At 19 he was a fighting pilot, trading shots with German aces on the western front. His life experience parallels Capt. Harvey's in show

HOWIE WING is just twenty-one and his whole life is bound up in aviation. After a flying-course at Randolph Field, in Texas, under the instruction of Captain Harvey, he flew with Harvey in the service of a South American line. Howie hasn't a pilot's license, but is a junior pilot. William Janney plays the role of Howie

DONNA CAVENDISH (Mary Parker) isn't as yet Howie's full-grown heart-interest, but she has been taking moonlight flights with him, and it probably won't be long before she is. Donna wants to be a stewardess on a clipper ship, but can't, as she isn't a registered nurse. Her job is to please women passengers on the planes

CAPTAIN HARVEY is considered the best pilot in the business. A World War flyer, he got a job with commercial airlines in the days when aviation was risky business. Most of his pals were killed in crack-ups. When airmail started, Harvey went back into the army to fly the mail. Neill O'Malley plays the role of Captain Harvey

TYPHOON is nearing his half-century birthday, but he's still tops as a mechanic. He served under Harvey in the War, and has stuck closer than a brother ever since, even though the captain has tried to shake him off. He's a new character in "Howie Wing," and furnishes the comedy relief in the show. It's Robert Strauss' part

ZERO SMITH (played by John Griggs) has earned the reputation of being one of the best tough-weather pilots of all time. A disagreeable cuss, everybody hates him. Howie suspects Zero's trying to get data for a rival airline

BURTON YORK, the villain of the piece, goes on the test flight of the forty-ton clipper under pretense of being a representative of the company that has insured the ship. Howie thinks he is a phony. Raymond Bramley plays York

Enter Metropolitan Opera

NO MATTER what has happened musically in New York during each early autumn, there are those who feel that the real glamour of the season does not start until the evening in November which offers the annual premiere of the Metropolitan Opera.

The significance of the event, musically and socially has been established long ago, but now it takes on more importance than ever, because of radio and the infinitely larger audience it brings into contact with the performances at the Metropolitan. These days, its paying hearers have only visual advantage over the dialing listeners; and even so, what with the spoken descriptions, the absentees need exercise no unusual imagination to obtain an excellent mind-picture of the background at the Saturday matinees in the great house of song.

A repertoire as comprehensive as in past years promises high pleasures, although no absolutely new work is scheduled. To compensate, however, we are to have quasi-novelty in the form of several revivals of older examples, comprising Gluck's "Orpheus," Beethoven's "Fidelio," Verdi's "Falstaff," Moussorgsky's "Boris Godounoff," Massenet's "Thais" and Charpentier's "Louise." In that list is a far coverage of styles, from the pure classicism of "Orpheus" to the realistic "Louise," with its topical scenes and vivid Bohemian characters of the Paris of 1900.

Devotees of Richard Strauss—and every intelligent music-lover should be in that following—are glad to know that his graphic "Elektra" and "Salome," as well as his merry "Rosenkavalier," are retained this season. Companionship them will be the standard Italian and French operas, Mozart's "Don Giovanni" and of course the customary array of Wagner masterpieces (yes, featuring Flagstad, Lehmann and Melchior), including the complete "Ring" cycle.

Fourteen new singers enter the personnel, among them three young Americans—Rise Stevens, contralto; Leonard Warren, baritone; John Carter, tenor. The two men are winners of the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air last season. Newcomer Jussi Bjoerling's tenoring is familiar to radio auditors. Maria Caniglia, Italian soprano, is expected to shine exceptionally, and we can make up our minds about her when she introduces herself to us on radio.

Conductors presiding will be the veteran Bodanzky, the able Panizza, the youthful baton genius, Erich Leinsdorf (who succeeded sensationally in 1937-38), and Messrs. Pelletier, Papi, and Riedel. In prospect, too, is a widening of ballet activities under new direction, that of Boris Romanoff, Russian dance master and choreographer.

Congratulations to General Manager Edward Johnson for his stimulative prospectus; and best seasonal wishes from us legions of devoted dial-turners.

Speaking Up

Opera! Opera!

How should opera be broadcast? Full-length, tabloid, stream-lined or written especially for radio? This week, three different techniques are represented: full-length on Saturday from the Metropolitan; tabloid on Sunday from the Music Hall of the Air; and the Thursday premiere of

Rise Stevens, contralto and new singer, enters "Met" personnel

"Beauty and the Beast," radio opera composed by Vittorio Giannini (Columbia Composers Commission) and Robert A. Simon, music critic of the New Yorker. That work will last only 29 minutes and 30 seconds precisely, by order of the Commission. It's a good thing the Commission wasn't around when Wagner was alive.

Here's your chance of comparing three ways of giving opera on the air and deciding which you think will be used on the radio of the future.

Hi, Mr. Johnson

For years there's been a lot of talk about finding another Caruso. The Metropolitan directors have been hopefully importing tenors by the gross from Europe, and blandly ignoring Caruso's logical successor. Jan Peerce, of the Music Hall, has been singing year in, year out practically in the Metropolitan's back yard, and any lingering doubt on his ability should be dispelled by listening to the Sunday Music Hall tabloid opera series. Peerce's performances of the leading operatic tenor roles rank with the finest ever heard in this country.

Cheers for Barber

One of the best pieces of modern American music heard on the air for years was Samuel Barber's Adagio for Strings on the NBC Symphony program, November 5. Toscanini made no mistake in his choice of an American composition. The music is simple, well-knit and richly melodic. The twenty-four-year-old composer was in the studio to take a bow, and became so flustered at the applause that he spun around in circles, smiling at the orchestra, until Toscanini patted him on the back and with a gentle shove sent him in the right direction.

A Little Night Music

It's a pity one of the big networks can't give us at least a half-hour of good music every night. Smaller stations, such as WQXR in New York, have popularized the local evening hour of classical music with great success, and it's surprising how many people turn to it in relief from the eternal swing. European stations have always followed the practise. Now let our networks get busy.

HAVE YOU HEARD THAT: Lauritz Melchior smokes only large, black cigars; Lily Pons is planning a Christmas broadcast with the Dionne quintuplets; Toscanini hates autograph hounds, but even Mussolini couldn't make him part with an inscribed picture of Giuseppe Verdi, given to the conductor by the composer himself; the best hair for cello bows comes from wild Siberian horses; Erno Rapee sings sad Hungarian songs at the tail end of his parties; Victor Granados, son of the famous Spanish composer, is here on a mission for the Spanish government and will give a lecture series on Spanish music on NBC short-wave Saturday evenings. —V.V.

THE Venusberg music from the first act of "Tannhaeuser" always recalls the 1861 failure of the opera in Paris, brought about by the members of the Jockey Club, who resented a ballet so early when they were accustomed to its usual place in the second or third act, so that they could stroll in leisurely after a late dinner.

If you have been listening to Papa Damrosch's radio explanations, see if you can determine which brass instruments play the Valkyrie theme in the famous "ride."

Nothing more tender has come from Wagner's pen than the "Idyll," made up largely of music from "Siegfried."

"ORPHEUS AND EURYDICE"

by

Cristoph Willibald Gluck

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26

On NBC, 2 p.m. EST; 1 p.m. CST; 12 noon MST; 11 a.m. PST

THE CAST:

Orpheus . . . . .	Kerstin Thorborg
Eurydice . . . . .	Vina Bovy
Happy Shade . . . . .	Vina Bovy
Amor . . . . .	Marisa Morel

Conductor - - Artur Bodanzky

TWENTY-FIVE years have elapsed since the Metropolitan previously performed "Orpheus" (under Toscanini), in which the late Alma Gluck sang the role of the Happy Shade.

Now 176 years old, the masterpiece remains in our affections with its classically chaste libretto and the divine beauty of Gluck's melodies. In all music there are no more celestial measures than Orpheus' threnody "Che faro senza Eurydice" and no ballet numbers exceed in grace and loveliness those with which the noble dramatic passages are interspersed.

Gluck, following the habit of many other eighteenth-century composers, wrote his hero role for a contralto.

In the present production, new scenery is used, designed by Harry Horner; the costumes are by Frank Bevan.

ACT I

A grotto in ancient Greece.

The libretto, by Calzabigi, is based on the mythological tale of Virgil in his "Georgics."

After a brief and solemn prelude, the curtain rises on a grotto, with a tomb in the center. Orpheus, famous musician of Greek antiquity, son of Apollo (god of music) and Calliope (goddess of epic poetry), has lost his beautiful bride, Eurydice, and has come to mourn at her grave. Shepherds and shepherdesses join in his lament and bring flowers to lay on her tomb. Amor, god of love, moved by the sincerity of Orpheus' grief, tells him that Zeus, ruler of the gods, has granted permission to Orpheus to descend into Hades and find the shade of Eurydice. If he can win over the servants of Pluto, ruler of Hades, by the charm of his music, he can bring Eurydice back to earth. But one condition is attached. He must on no account look at Eurydice until they are safely past the River Styx, or she will die immediately and be lost to him forever.

ACT II

Entrance to Hades.

The Furies, servants of Pluto, dance grotesquely to keep Orpheus out. He pleads earnestly against their frightening shouts of "No!" Finally, through the sweetness of his music, he wins them over and they allow him to go into the Valley of the Blest, where the Good Spirits dwell. There Eurydice is led in, but Orpheus, remembering the warning, turns his head away.

ACT III

A forest.

Still bound by his promise, Orpheus is seen hurrying on ahead of Eurydice, she following and vainly pleading, vowing that she would rather die than lose his love. Finally overcome by her grief, Orpheus glances back at Eurydice and takes her in his arms. She dies.

Orpheus, stunned with despairing grief, sings the immortal aria "Che faro senza Eurydice" (What shall I do without Eurydice?). Amor, profoundly touched by Orpheus' lament, at last revives Eurydice and returns her to her husband's arms.

As RADIO GUIDE goes to press, word has been received from France that Left: Vina Bovy, coloratura soprano, Metropolitan Opera Company. Right: Kerstin Thorborg will be heard singing role of "Orpheus" Sat.

Mme. Vina Bovy was suddenly stricken with appendicitis and underwent an emergency operation. This, of course, delays her return to the United States, and in all probability will mean she cannot open in the opera as announced in this department. The Metropolitan Opera assures RADIO GUIDE that if Mme. Bovy cannot return to America and sing, as scheduled, that the opera scheduled will be broadcast as planned with Irene Jessner substituting.

HERE is the answer, supplied by radio, to the familiar plaint that most operas are too long. Messrs. Giannini and Simon were commissioned to fashion an opera lasting exactly 29 minutes and 30 seconds, and "Beauty and the Beast" is proof that it can be done.

Born in Philadelphia, 1903, Giannini has just premiered his longer opera, "The Scarlet Letter," in Hamburg, Germany; Simon is a seasoned librettist of fancy and wit. Their aim was to create a work of quick, uninterrupted action and directly expressed music, with no undue development or padding.

Giannini's composing is modern in technic but adheres to the good old belief that melody is the essential basis of all music. Therefore, in this short opera, look for lyrical tunefulness mingled with dramatic power.

WHAT subconscious or even occult influence is at work when within a week three conductors perform the same infrequently heard composition? Regard on this page the triple programming of Wagner's "Rienzi" overture, and wonder at the strange coincidence.

Toscanini contributes also his inspired interpretation of the nobly tragic music which solemnizes the bearing of the slain Siegfried to his sorrowing Bruennhilde.

SCRIPT HUNT

In the waste-paper warehouse under Brooklyn Bridge, script-writer Jack Johnstone (left) and Richard de Raimis face a prodigious task

Johnstone's script for the Philip Morris show, "Thrill of the Week," is somewhere among the 1,400 bags of waste, and it must be found

—Sydney Desfor

It's a needle-in-haystack job, but that doesn't feaze them. And—"Eureka"—here it is in the third bag! Located in exactly 45 minutes!

MR. ORSON WELLES probably doesn't feel too badly about his now famous broadcast of "War of the Worlds." It got him a sponsor, which is the ultimate goal of every sustaining artist and program. His commercial series of one-hour dramatizations starts on December 9 at a reported salary of $7,000 per broadcast, and only a few months ago he was being offered for $2,500 with no takers. So if Mr. Welles is laughing up his sleeve, we can hardly blame him.

Several of the ether comics took advantage of the situation caused by the Welles scare and inserted a few gag-lines in their scripts kidding it. Some were able to get away with it; some were not. Fred Allen comes under the latter classification, as NBC made him cut his out, believing it was not diplomatic to poke fun at a rival network. Because it is amusing, and for the benefit of the readers who may be interested in what was cut from the Allen script, the following is an exact transcript:

Allen: In view of recent happenings in radio, I think it might be better, before we start, if I made sort of an announcement.

Von Zell: It would be safer, Fred.

Allen: I think I will. We ought to take every precaution. Ladies and gentlemen, before this radio presentation starts, I would like to announce that this is a comedy program. Any dialogue or sound-effects heard during the next hour will be purely imaginary and will have no relation to any living sounds. And any audible laughter heard will be strictly coincidental. If you hear a phone ringing—like this—

do not rush to pick up your receiver. If you hear a knock—like this—

(door knock)

do not run to open your door. Ignore everything you hear on this program. Just sit back and relax. Nothing is going to happen. And to prove that the offing is positively crammed with nothing, we plunge instantly into the latest news of the week.

Despite the fact that its four stars are all busy people, with many other engagements, "The Monday Night Show" rehearsals manage to have a very informal, kidding atmosphere. Ted Husing, of course, is busy rushing around the country reporting football games. Connie Boswell and Henny Youngman both are doing a lot of guest appearances, and Connie has just finished a four-week engagement at the New York Paramount. Richard Himber plays nightly at the Essex House. Yet they all find time to kid during their Monday rehearsals. Himber and Husing, particularly, are always gagging together. Connie and Himber and the band are the first ones to show up at rehearsals; Husing and Henny always drop in a little late. Connie is accompanied by her husband, Harry Leedy, and her arranger, and is dressed, even at this time of year, in slacks and a bandana. She chews gum all during rehearsal, even when she sings. Dick Himber, Ted Husing and announcer Kenneth Roberts burst into an impromptu shag in the middle of a tune. Dick Himber sits on a stool while he runs the orchestra through the tunes. When it's time for one of Connie's numbers, Dick always gets up and moves over beside her chair, directing from there. Himber is always dieting to get thin, and he's always moaning about how hungry he is. About the middle of rehearsal he usually breaks down and sends a boy out for coffee and doughnuts, which he eats while he works. Husing always has his hat tipped back at the same crazy angle as he stands before the mike. Henny Youngman always seems to bring a couple of pals along with him to rehearsal, and stays in the pit talking to them until just before his part comes.

Henny is even funnier than he sounds in his lines, long and thin, with loose, baggy clothes. He never carries a violin with him, just borrows one from one of the musicians a few seconds before going on.

Next stop is at NBC to watch Eddy Duchin and his orchestra rehearse their program. I walk in the studio just as Eddy is experimenting on a new arrangement of "Swamp Fire." After it is over Duchin yells into the mike at Harry von Zell, producer of the program, who is sitting in the control-room. "Do you like the idea or do you think it smells?" After a few changes and playing it over and over about a dozen times, the idea was liked by all who heard it that night at the broadcast. Eddy is that way. He'll make his boys rehearse a number until he's positive it's perfect, that's why his music is so easy on the ears. It was funny to watch Duchin at the piano during the program with his back to the audience looking at Von Zell, who was still sitting in the control-room giving directions. After Duchin hit the piano keys, his right hand would accidentally on purpose come up in rhythm until the thumb would touch his nose and the other four fingers were spread out. Between rehearsals and the broadcast everyone has to have dinner and change into tuxedo or full dress. On the particular Monday night, very little time was left to do it in, so Von Zell didn't bother to change his socks. After the broadcast he lifted his trousers to show me what the well-dressed man doesn't wear—brown sox with a tuxedo.

A final word about Duchin, who manages to smile though his heart is heavy. His fifteen-month-old baby has been very sick since birth. For weeks two nurses were on hand to watch him twenty-four hours a day. Several times the baby has been placed in an oxygen tent. Eddy was sad because the baby was going to leave for Palm Springs, California, in a few days on doctor's orders, and he wouldn't see him for months. I am sure all of Duchin's many admirers join me in the wish that the child will come back to his father completely recovered and in the best of health.

From the Duchin program over to the CBS Playhouse to watch the Eddie Cantor repeat broadcast for West Coast listeners. There is a mob outside the theater asking the fortunate ticket-holders if they have an extra ticket. Went backstage to extend my personal welcome to Cantor, and it seems he gets younger-looking every time I see him. When I asked him how he does it, he seriously replied, "I don't worry about myself, I worry about others." Well, I suppose it's nice if you can do it. Nevertheless, I envy his vitality. All during the broadcast he jumps around the stage, falls down between gags while the audience is laughing and hops around just like a kid, which incidentally he claims he still is. The audience at a Cantor broadcast really has a grand time. The biggest laugh is when the "Mad Russian" comes out on the stage with his ears pinned back and then releases them so that they flap out like wings. While the Russian is on the stage, he receives plenty of punishment from Cantor, who either "pooshes" him in the face or kicks him where it makes for a funny "seituation."

Cantor ad-libbed a very funny remark when he looked at the "Mad Russian" and said, "Look at that face, willya; it's so homely it would even frighten Orson Welles!"

The guest of the evening, Giovanni Martinelli, star of the Metropolitan Opera, seemed to enjoy the broadcast more than anyone else. He was laughing so much he could hardly read his lines.

AIRIALTO LOWDOWN

BY MARTIN LEWIS

HOLLYWOOD.—One announced upheaval and another threatening the composure of Glamour-town-produced broadcast programs have led to all sorts of second guesses, the most common being that Hollywood is rapidly washing up as an air talent center. The rapid deduction is slightly cock-eyed. The casualty, of course, is "Hollywood Hotel," pioneer West Coast variety hour, which will give way December 9 to the Mercury Theater starring Orson Welles. But what the public doesn't know is that "Hollywood Hotel" has been ailing since last Spring. A switch in producers from Fred Ibbett, whose popular formula did attract the customers, to Brewster Morgan failed to blow new life into the body nor attract the masses, as the sponsor had hoped, to its class productions. Producer Morgan, as summer came, suggested that Orson Welles be considered as a substitute. The sponsor demurred on the grounds that Welles was not a big enough name.

The recent Martian drama episode, however, evidently reappraised the value of Mr. Welles sufficiently to clinch the soup-selling job. Now, all Mr. Welles need worry about is how he can possibly attract the can-opening public to a dramatic series which must remain highbrow.

Rumors of dissension between Texaco and its program producer, Bill Bacher, are also breezing about, but if anything, the dissatisfaction of the oil-gas angel is over the too-slow growth in popularity of the excellent star-studded program. In the East it must compete for listeners with Fred Allen and Kay Kyser; in the West, where competition from the latter two is reduced by Allen's later Pacific Coast rebroadcast, the Texaco Star Theater is doing very well: the cast was signed to a 13-week series. That includes Kenny Baker, Jane Froman, Jimmy Wallington, three comics, and Broekman.

Add-a-line: As a present for her twenty-second birthday on November 20, Lucille Ball taught Virginia Verrill how to make "everlasting" imitation flowers. Miss Ball owns a "sideline" shop selling the decorations . . . He hopes it brings him better luck—for Haley writer Hal Fimberg is dwelling in the late Jean Harlow's house on Maple Drive in Beverly Hills.

The Hmmm, Hmmm Dept.: NBC network censors deleted cracks pertaining to the men from Mars in all scripts following the recent Sunday scare, but CBS, over whose wires the thriller went, has permitted its comics to kid and capitalize on the event . . . Gracie Allen's surrealistic paintings are being exhibited in various cities at a charge of two-bits per look, and if the money wasn't being turned over to the Chinese war orphans and refugees, your keyholder would begin to ask who really did paint "Gracie's" futuristic daubs . . . William Powell won't worry about finances when he winds up and off the air after December 2, for M-G-M has just signed the actor to a new long-term contract paying him $200,000 a picture for three pictures a year, the first to be "The Return of the Thin Man" . . . Those who are rooting for television might note that Jack Haley, who tried a scriptless five-minute spot on his first two shows of this fall's series, discarded the stunt with his third broadcast because it took too much time for his cast to memorize only five minutes of the show! Which gives an inkling of but one problem to lick before television can sail majestically around that corner . . . On the other hand, Otto Kruger, about to sail to England for his seventh picture, looks forward to being televised there again as he was on previous visits, when the "lookies" were trained on movie sets where he was engaged . . . Cross off that rumored Jean Sablon-Hedy LaMarr romance, for Jean has only been squiring the sexy Hedy about with Reggie Gardiner's express permission while he was hospitalized with a broken arm. And can you believe it that the lovely LaMarr receives but $200 a week salary for those sigh-provoking eyes and lips? . . . Hollywood's Sprigg Duck Club, boasting as members Clark Gable, Carole Lombard, Phil Harris, Lum and Abner, Andy Devine, Fred MacMurray and Mischa Auer, is equally boastful of its secret location—but you'll stumble onto it about 40 miles northeast of Bakersfield, Calif. . . . Florence George, pretty Chicago Civic Opera canary who graduated last year to pictures and the Packard hour, has been sued by her teacher, Mario Rubini, for $810 for lessons and funds advanced . . . Ted Fio-Rito threw up the dance-band sponge on November 16 and henceforth will devote himself to radio and his unfinished symphony. Muzzy Marcelino will head his own band . . . Don't give Mickey Rooney too much credit for that tune "of his" he aired recently on the Cantor Caravan, for young movie actor Sidney Miller really wrote both words and music . . . In NBC's new studios is a seven-foot thunder drum, the skin of which has been reserved for the autographs of big-name stars, but last week the network requested Don Wilson to pen his monicker thereon, so now the Jell-O - Post - Toasties mikeman feels that at last he has arrived!

Wayne King celebrated Wayne Junior's first haircut on November 4 by taking his toddling heir to the Lakeside Country Club in order to have the operation done in the club barber shop while Papa King, announcer Phil Stewart and Dick Arlen whipped out a close three-some on the golf course in commemoration of the event. Net result of the day at Lakeside Country Club: Wayne Senior lost the match and Wayne Junior lost his curls.

Gene Krupa opened at the Palomar last week and knocked visiting celebrities, jitterbugs and your observer for a double loop with his band's weird tom-tom drum number known as "Blue Rhythm Fantasy." Everyone stood or sat silently at attention while the rhythm of the drums held sway for nine long minutes, building up to a savage, soul-pounding climax that half-mesmerized the audience, which finally broke into wild cheers when it was finished. One hard-bitten sports-writer and band addict fled from the hall, unable to take the jungle music. Krupa achieves the effect by the use of tom-toms attached to the music stand of each member of the orchestra. Altogether there are nine drums in use besides the five surrounding Krupa. When the fantasy is at its height, all fourteen drums are being pounded at once in a frenzied, feverish rhythm. The number was composed by Krupa and Chappie Willet, using as a base the tribal tom-tom music of African natives, but has never been scored. Krupa's musicians "feel" their way, and the beating may run anywhere from seven to twenty-five minutes, depending upon their moods. Krupa hopes to broadcast it soon over CBS, if the mikes can handle it, so you'd better watch out or you'll be bewitched into a jitterbug!

Backstage Stuff: November 6 at Silver Theater: Rita Johnson, playing the lead in "Hollywood Legend," was supposedly a tap-dancer, but the radio-movie star couldn't tap. Instead, the tapping toes of Diana Lewis, dancer, were broadcast . . . At the Pepsodent preview show Sunday, November 6, Bob Hope explained to the audience, "You have now

Puttin' on my Tails

CHICAGO.—Your Tattler donned his tux to attend Ozzie Nelson's and Harriet Hilliard's formal opening at the Drake. Ozzie was all aglow as his alma mater, Rutgers, had defeated Princeton for the first time since the two teams played the first football game in this country sixty-nine years ago. Don't be surprised to see Ozzie heading a new commercial out of Hollywood, with the frau doubling in the show and in a new movie. Wayne Morris, the rising movie favorite and a buddy of Ozzie's, trained in from Ohio to wish the young maestro luck in his Chi engagement. In hilarious mood, Morris donned a waiter's jacket and kibitzed around with Ozzie, much to the amazement of some of the formally attired socialites present.

Quite a few Windy City stars were on hand to greet Mr. and Mrs. Nelson. Dolores Gillen, who takes the part of the little boy, Davey, in "The Story of Mary Marlin," was escorted by Bill Thompson, whom you all know as Nick de Popolos and the Old Timer in the Fibber McGee show. The star of "Mary Marlin," Anne Seymour, was there with handsome David Gothard. Dave takes the part of Peter Dillon in "Backstage Wife," and you've no doubt also heard him as Bryant Chandler in "Woman in White." Anne's quite a clever gal. In addition to her top-notch acting work she's composing lyrics for some popular songs. Her brother, Bill, a Chicago announcer for Columbia, is writing the music.

'Tis true that your Tattler will undoubtedly incur the wrath of the mothers all over the country for saying this, but one of the cutest youngsters I've ever seen is the Nelson-Hilliard offspring, little David Ozzie Nelson. Big brown eyes, curly, blond, flaxen hair, ruddy complexion, the youngster is as near a perfect baby I've ever seen. He celebrated his second birthday recently and the boys in Ozzie's band gave him a birthday cake that was bigger than he was. The current road trip of Ozzie's was the first time the youngster had gone "on tour."

Scriptural Notes

The "Bachelor's Children" cast can't keep away from each other—even away from the mike. Marjorie Hannan and Patricia Dunlap, the twins in the show, have each moved into the penthouse just across the street from Hugh Studebaker's. Hugh is the star of the program . . . Don Gordon, "Curtain Time" announcer, observed a double anniversary November 15. It was his birthday and fourth wedding anniversary as well . . . Virginia Payne, "Ma Perkins" to you, has turned script-writer and sold her show to a Chicago station . . . Forrest Lewis, one of the busiest actors in town, keeps all his appointments without the aid of an engagement-book . . . Harold Peary, Tom Brayden in "Madame Courageous," as well as taking other character roles, is sprouting one of those handlebar mustaches.

Another Cantor find?

A Mrs. Sandquist at 4411 N. Spaulding Avenue, Chicago, called your Tattler one day, spoke about a singing daughter of hers and wanted to know how to get in touch with Eddie Cantor. After I gave her the necessary information, a record of the girl's voice was shipped westward. Eddie heard the record and liked her singing very much. When he arrived in Chicago en route to New York he said he wanted to hear her in person. Originally he had planned to hear her at the Sherman, but time didn't permit, so he heard her on the train before it left for New York, using the special little piano that accompanied the Cantor entourage across the country. Though the famous comic heard the young Sandquist girl do only one number before "All Aboard" was shouted, he seemed pleased with her work and there is a possibility that she may shortly appear on the air with him.

Chicago's top radio comedian, Jim Jordan (Fibber McGee), was on hand to greet his fellow air-jester when Cantor arrived at the station. The gags flew thick and fast as the two comedians exchanged quips. Changing momentarily, however, from comedy to business (Cantor would probably say comedy is business), you probably didn't know that Eddie is president of the actors' union in this country. And there he is (see picture), buying a ticket to the Chicago actors' ball. The little actress there between Eddie and Fibber must certainly be the best ducat salesman among Chicago radio folk. That's the same girl that was mentioned in this column a few weeks ago as selling your Tattler two tickets to the same ball—after we had received two complimentary ones.

Seen Around Town

All actors and actresses were scurrying about town selling tickets and making final preparations for the big event of the year—the aforementioned ball. Tell you all about it in next week's column . . .

Tommy Bartlett, popular red-headed "Laugh Liner" announcer, squiring Hildgarde, Chicago night-club entertainer . . . Lenore Kingston, in the "Affairs of Anthony" and "Don Winslow" shows, and Herbert Nelson of "Dan Harding's Wife," make a twosome that is being seen quite frequently around town these days.

Visiting the Winklers

Blair Walliser, WGN producer, and your Tattler spent an enjoyable evening at the Winklers'. Betty, the star of "Girl Alone," lives with her mother at a cozy little near North Side apartment. The charming star of "Girl Alone" is interested in starting a radio guild here in Chicago, in which the actors here might work together in some better-class radio dramas. It's a good idea and perhaps the Windy City mike Thespians could work out something on this scale. But back to the Winklers. Talk during the evening drifted westward, towards Betty's best friend, Gale Page. It was Betty who threw a party for Gale when the now-rising movie star returned to Chicago for a visit last summer. Betty's mother is quite a charming person and is a favorite with the Chicago mike crowd. Betty doesn't call her "mother," the usual maternal term, but instead uses her mother's first name, "Bertha."

Visiting the Chez

To Jimmy Durante's opening at the nationally famous Chez Paree. Songs that "Schnozzola" made nationally famous on his show a few seasons ago when he was on with David Rubinoff were demanded by the patrons as encores. "Nothing definite on radio," said Jimmy. He'll go to New York shortly to star with Ethel Merman in a new musical, "Swing to the Left." The Chez Paree may prove the stepping-stone for Lou Breese's orchestra, whose music is now being heard nationally on the night-time NBC broadcasts from the Chez. It was Henry Busse's broadcasts from there that put the ex-Whiteman trumpeter into the upper brackets.

The Tattler's Tidbits!

Hollywood-bound again is Henry Hunter. Seems the frau and offspring preferred California's sunny skies to the Windy City's wintry blasts . . . Sponsored cooperatively by furriers all over the country, a new half-hour Sunday show originating in Hollywood and featuring Bette Davis and other Warner Bros. stars, is scheduled to hit the airplanes shortly.

YES. With reservations. "Applause should not be denied artists, but there should be a time limit," says George Santini, chef on Broadway

LISTENING TO LEARN

... A Ceaseless Search, an Unquenched Thirst for Knowledge ...

Cleveland's Radio Workshop

First and Only ...

WBOE, Cleveland, Ohio, was the first school-owned radio station granted a license by the Federal Communications Commission to broadcast in the special ultra-high-frequency band created for "non-commercial educational radio stations." More than this, it was the first and still is also the only station operating under such a permit.

This system did not come into being overnight, but was the result of many years' work and experimentation plus a money grant from Rockefeller's philanthropic General Education Board. As the move toward radio-education becomes more pronounced, many of the findings of pioneer Cleveland educators deserve national attention.

Why? ...

"Why have a school-operated radio station when commercial radio time is already available?"—is an often-asked question. H. M. Buckley, assistant superintendent of Cleveland schools, a man who was largely responsible for the new station, suggests the answer in the following comments:

- (1) The radio lesson often requires a silent interval that the commercial station may regret, and from their viewpoint justifiably so.
- (2) The time most desired for a particular lesson may not be available.
- (3) The radio schedule may be suddenly changed, either because of some special event or because of commercial obligations.
- (4) The exact timing required by the commercial schedule is hard to justify in teaching procedure.
- (5) The lesson material, by its very nature, holds little interest for the general public.
- (6) There is a basic distinction between educational and commercial broadcasting.

Subjects ...

Spelling, history, art, music, science, arithmetic, safety and geography are sent into elementary grade classrooms as radio lessons. With every "master lesson" that is presented there go pupil work-sheets and suggestions for the classroom teachers. Often the broadcast material is synchronized with films or slides to avoid mere passive listening.

Repeat Lessons ...

In classroom teaching there is frequent necessity to repeat lessons to facilitate clearer understanding by the pupils; this also applies to the broadcast lesson. To serve this need, recording apparatus has proved to be very serviceable equipment at WBOE. By recording each lesson broadcast, repeats are made very easily.

Significant ...

Ten years of radio teaching in Cleveland, according to Mr. Buckley, has proved, among other things, that we should make clear the distinction between educational and commercial broadcasting, thereby eliminating the conflict due to the use of a common measuring-stick for educational and commercial programs.

WBOE sends "master lessons" to 115 Cleveland schools. J. D. Woodworth, technical director of public-owned station, is shown at controls

Just for Education

HOPE ran high in most educational circles during the early twenties that the new device called radio would be a boon to education. Discouragement was immediate, however, due to the difficulties of using this new medium. There ensued long years of bitter squabbling among educators, the government and broadcasters regarding the place of radio education. Commercial broadcasters frequently were targets at which accusations and challenges were hurled. But because there was so much dissension, disagreement and misunderstanding within the ranks of those who were fighting for education's place in broadcasting, the retaliating arguments and suggestions of commercial broadcasters were more convincing and practical than those presented by the radio-for-education factions. Thus this groping in the darkness of inexperience and ignorance became increasingly unproductive until the dawn of a new order on May 15, 1935.

On this date, at a conference in Washington, the Federal Radio Education Committee was created by the Federal Communications Commission in cooperation with other governmental departments. Dr. John Ward Studebaker, U. S. Commissioner of Education, accepted the chairmanship of this committee, and on June 15, 1936, presented a statement outlining the need for the establishment of a class of broadcast stations to be devoted to the advancement of education in connection with the country's school system.

As a result of this, the Federal Communications Commission announced in January, 1938, the establishment of a class of broadcast stations to be known as "non-commercial educational broadcast stations." These broadcasting units would be licensed to organized non-profit educational agencies for the purpose of transmitting educational programs directed to specific schools in the system for use in connection with regular courses as well as for routine and administrative material pertaining to the school system. Twenty-five channels in the ultra-high-frequency band between 41,000 and 42,000 kilocycles were allocated for assignment, sufficient to provide facilities and service to every city and town.

Since the announcement of this special broadcast band for educating agencies, only two have been granted permits to operate, and only one is actually in operation at present. WBOE in Cleveland was the first station to meet FCC specifications and begin operation; WCNY in New York was the second to get official sanction, promises to begin operation this fall. There are six other applications pending before the Commission: Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, Illinois; Minnesota Economic Foundation, Minneapolis, Minnesota; University of Tampa, Florida; University of Illinois, Urbana; Florida Southern College, Lakeland; San Mateo Junior College District, San Mateo, California.

So the die is laid, and it remains to be proved what radio can do as an agency of education. The next ten years should reveal some very interesting, hitherto unknown, facts. For these we have but to wait, to watch, to listen.

Radio Guide's Educational Program Classifier will appear in the issue for the Week Ending December 17

Notes

Books ...

Books by two of Columbia network's "foreign situation specialists" were put on the market recently: H. V. Kaltenborn's "I Covered the Crisis," published by Random House; Maurice Hindu's autobiography, "Green Worlds," issued by Doubleday-Doran. Kaltenborn's opus is a 359-page day-by-day record of the interpretive broadcasts which he made over CBS during the recent European crisis. It gives the American radio listener the first complete record of events in which they themselves shared. Commenting on his radio audience's role in the September crisis, Kaltenborn states: "Through radio, particularly in America, the people were able to carry back to responsible statesmen a demand for peace so compelling that it could not be resisted."

Denny Re: Moderating ...

In A Handbook for Discussion Leaders, recently published by the Town Hall Advisory Service, George V. Denny, Jr., president of Town Hall, Inc., and moderator of NBC's "America's Town Meeting of the Air," maintains: A moderator must have an inherent sense of fair play, good humor and some knowledge of the subject under discussion. The handbook is part of the advisory service that has been established by Town Hall to aid the hundreds of discussion groups, forums and town meetings all over the country that follow "America's Town Meeting of the Air."

A. V. A. Convention ...

St. Louis will be host to the American Vocational Association's convention, being held this year November 30 to December 3.

NEA? ...

The November issue of the National Education Association's Journal warns NEA members not to be misled by the use of the initials "NEA" by the National Educational Alliance, Inc. Seems that a number of inquiries have been received by officers and members of the National Education Association, and they wish to make clear the fact the original NEA has no connection whatsoever with the National Educational Alliance, Inc., or with the publication of a magazine termed the Popular Educator.

P.-T. A. Attacks Family Problems ...

"We are an organization of over 2,000,000 members who are mutually concerned with the problems of modern education as they arise in the school and the community," stated Mrs. J. K. Pettengill, president, National Congress and Teachers, in announcing the P.-T. A. Office of Education new radio series, "Wings for the Martins." "We believe that these programs will stimulate the interests of parent-teacher groups in the study of their local problems as they relate to the newer approach to American education. We hope that this interest will result in community-wide programs for the improvement of education and the betterment of conditions surrounding children and youth." In this series the problems of an average American family are presented in dramatic sequence, together with the attack on those problems recommended by modern educators.

WE GIVE THANKS

ROBERT (Believe-It-or-Not) RIPLEY, fact-collector extraordinary on this week's cover of RADIO GUIDE, picked the most fascinating job on

The bird which has been consumed in such huge quantities ever since Thanksgiving became a feast was misnamed by the English, who thought it came from Turkey because Turkish merchants first brought it into England. The Turks themselves called it the "American bird." The Germans call it "The Indianer," and the French "Poule d' Inde" (Indian hen). The turkey is native Americana, and, believe it or not, it formed the theme for the first publicity story ever sent out from the New World. In 1520, Brother Agapida, who was the publicity agent for Cortez, the Conqueror, sent this story to Spain in advance of the first shipment of turkeys from Mexico. Turkeys, like press-agents, have also been known to ballyhoo "finds" that led to fortunes. In Canada a little over four years ago, they had a gold rush started by a turkey. Two gold nuggets were found in a gizzard, and the rush was on.

earth for his life work. Born on Christmas Day, forty-five years ago, he has carved an unusual niche in the Hall of Fame by his tireless search for odd and little-known facts about the world and its people, which he relates on the radio, in movie shorts and newspapers. Now in Asia to collect more Believe-It-or-Nots for "airing" in January, Mr. Ripley has, to date, traveled in 181 countries, and receives more than 1,000,000 letters yearly from people the world over. And, believe it or not, he tells us we are really indebted to the Irish for turning the great American holiday, Thanksgiving, from a day of fasting to one of feasting. It was a fast day for twenty-four years. In 1631, the governor of Charleston changed it. He had designated February 5 as Thanksgiving, and intended that it should be observed in the usual way. But on the eve of the day, a ship laden with provisions arrived from Ireland. The colonists were so overjoyed that they made the governor change it to a feast day, and that custom has endured ever since. The first Thanksgiving was August 9, 1607, the day when the Popham colonists landed at Mohegan Point, near Kennebec, Maine. Grateful to God "for their saffe aryval" in America, they declared that day a day of fasting to give thanks.

MOST Americans have used or heard the phrase "talk turkey," but Mr. Ripley tells us that an Indian started the expression. Two hunters, an Indian and a white man, shot one turkey and one crow during the day. When it came time to divide the spoils, the white man turned to the Indian and said, "Either you take the crow and I take the turkey, or I take the crow and you take the turkey." To which the red man answered, "Say why you no talk turkey to me." "And," adds Mr. Ripley, "for once the Indian didn't get the worst of the bargain." The wild turkey of Colonial times is almost extinct now, and domesticated birds, introduced from Cuba, will form the piece de resistance on American dinner-tables Thursday.

MR. FAIRFAX REPLIES

No personal replies to questions unless accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mr. Sidney Hyden, Boulder, Colo.:—Orson Welles, brilliant 23-year-old director-actor of "The Mercury Theater," was born in Kenosha, Wisconsin. At the age of 16 he ran away from home and went to Ireland, with plans to become an artist. When he arrived in the land of shamrocks, the urge for the theater dominated his artistic ambitions and he bluffed his way into a star role at the Gate Theater in Dublin, describing himself as a New York Theater Guild actor. Later he acted at the famous Peacock and Abbey Theaters before returning to Manhattan. Back in New York, his fame spread rapidly and he appeared in such successes as "Romeo and Juliet," "Panic," and his own streamlined version of "Julius Caesar." He also attracted much recognition for his excellent portrayal of "The Shadow," a radio series which he concluded several months ago. At present he is writing, producing and acting in the now well-known "Mercury Theater" series.

Mr. Fred Reeves, Burlington, Iowa.:—Yes, Elmo Tanner is still with Ted Weems' orchestra, broadcasting from the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco.

Miss Betty Webb, Choteau, Montana:—Boake Carter ceased broadcasting because the contract for his series expired and was not renewed. At this writing we have nothing definite regarding his return to the air.

Mr. John Pine, Gallipolis, Ohio:—Wayne King's orchestra was replaced on the cosmetic series by Guy Lombardo's orchestra. King is now playing and broadcasting from the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Fred Hendrichson, Gary, Indiana:—Eddy Duchin was born in Boston, Mass., on April 1, 1909. His father, a pharmacist, owned a chain of drug stores, and wanted Eddy to follow in his footsteps. He sent his young son to pharmacy school, but the boy's interest in music came to the fore and he was soon playing with a three-piece orchestra after school hours. One year before graduating from college, young Eddy quit to play with Leo Reisman's orchestra. He returned to college later, graduating with honors as president of his class. He entered into his career as a pharmacist with much gusto, but his musical inclinations were too strong to resist. After giving the matter much thought, he decided to return to Reisman's band, the move that led to his present success in the musical world. On September 5, 1935, he was married to Marjorie Oelrichs of the social register. The saddest event of his life came two years later when his wife died while giving birth to a son. Eddy's hands are insured for $100,000. He is five feet eleven inches tall, has black hair and brown eyes.

COMEDIANS, BEWARE!

In his brief essay entitled "A Vanishing Art"—that of putting little ships in bottles—he warns: "Think twice before you go in for putting little ships in bottles. That is, unless you are planning to spend a lot of time in jail, where time hangs heavy."

With the rare ability of putting the driest subjects on earth into reverse, Mr. Benchley has written and recorded some utterly ridiculous monologs. Two of his best-known are "The Life of a Polyp" and "The Treasurer's Report." Even Mr. Benchley admits that "The Treasurer's Report," given in the Third Music Box Revue in 1923 and 1924, changed the whole course of his life.

In telling why, he says: "I did it every night—and two matinees a week for nine months in the Revue. Following that, I did it for ten weeks in vaudeville around the country. I did it for banquets, teas, at friends' houses, and at my own house, and finally went out to Hollywood and made a talking picture of it. In fact, I have inflicted it on the public in every conceivable way except over the radio and dropping it from airplanes."

Those movie-goers who saw Benchley in his first feature picture, "China Seas," with Clark Gable and Jean Harlow, will recall the hit he made as the constant drunk. Others will remember how they laughed at his series of shorts, "How to Sleep" (which won the Academy Award for novelty shorts in 1935), "How to Train a Dog," "How to Be a Detective," "How to Watch Football," and "How to Raise a Baby."

In addition to being an author, actor, columnist, and critic on humorous subjects, Benchley shows, too, no mean ability as a commentator. His latest views on the "41-yard line as a menace to the 1938 football season" is typical. To quote in part: "Sixty games every Saturday!" exclaims Benchley. "Do they all have to be fought out on the forty-one-yard line? Last week I counted twenty-nine forward passes blocked on the forty-one-yard line, ten end runs stopped on the forty-one-yard line, thirty-one fullbacks nailed on the forty-one-yard line. Can't some football pioneer pull a play that winds up on the thirty-nine-yard line?—or I'll compromise on forty-two. Listen to your favorite game next Saturday and then send in your check as a charter member of the Benchley Anti-Forty-One-Yard-Line Society."

Whether Mr. Benchley talks on football, the love-life of an oyster, or the rejuvenation of a cockroach, when he goes on the air Sunday you may judge for yourself whether the wit that has made him famous in other fields of humor will also make him a radio star.

Robert Benchley may be heard Sunday night on "Melody and Madness" over CBS at:

EST 10:00 p.m. — CST 9:00 p.m.
MST 8:00 p.m. — PST 7:00 p.m.

NOW PLAYING

For the Playgoer

RADIO, always rich in dramatic offerings, is especially generous this week. Scheduled to be broadcast over the national networks are no fewer than five plays, ranging from the great classics, seasoned by generations, centuries even, of approval and applause, to brand-new dramas newly written especially for broadcasting, the first performance of which, so voracious is radio's appetite, will probably be the last. First-flight stars and established veterans will read lines old and new this week, seeking your attention, your amusement and approval.

Julius Caesar

First on the list, as it must be first on any list, is the name of William Shakespeare. His "Julius Caesar" will be presented by the National Broadcasting Company on Sunday, November 20, at 1 p.m. EST (12 noon CST; 11 a.m. MST; 10 a.m. PST), as the sixth in the current series of Great Plays being aired by NBC this season. "Julius Caesar" is, more than anything else, a character study, masterfully, perfectly done. Into it the greatest dramatist who ever lived has poured all that he knew of the human mind and spirit, all that he knew of passion, pride, love and hate thrown into conflict to produce bitter conflict and inevitable tragedy. The play is divided into two easily recognizable parts: the death of Caesar and the revenge taken for that death. Caesar was to Shakespeare a figure of appalling stature, as he must be to any student of history. But Shakespeare saw in him a man whose strength and greatness was so awful that his assassins' own ultimate destruction began even as their victim lay dying. It is to the effect of their horrible deed upon Brutus and Cassius, leaders of the conspirators against Caesar, that Shakespeare devotes most of his attention. Over the bier of the fallen leader, Anthony delivers his oration, shrewdly devised to arouse the Roman masses to revenge. Cassius and Brutus, whatever gain they sought from Caesar's death out of hope now, are forced to flee from Rome. They quarrel bitterly, each blaming the other inwardly for the haunting fear that dogs him, and from that point forward until they die, each by his own hand, their characters manifest more and more the inevitable disintegration that began when the broad-bladed daggers bit into the body of Gaius Julius Caesar.

Peer Gynt

Also of classic ranking, though younger by several hundreds of years, is Henrik Ibsen's "Peer Gynt," to be tist's insight and wide range of emotional capabilities. A compelling tale, it deals with the life of a wanderer over the face of the globe who is brought ultimately to the realization that, willy-nilly, he must return to his homeland. Musical accompaniment for "Peer Gynt" will be from the original score written for the play by Edward Grieg, a close friend of Ibsen's.

To Be Thankful

Hard-boiled Edward G. Robinson, the crusading newspaperman of the organization, and prepares to face the worst. But instead of disloyalty and corruption he finds that everything is in apple-pie order, and that an apology from him is directly in order. At a huge dinner which he forthwith orders planned for his staff and workers, Robinson—or Steve Wilson, to give him his radio name—speaks long and pointedly about democracy in general and Americanism in particular. Here is the heart and substance of the play. Titled "What Have We to Be Thankful For?" the play was written by John Wexley.

Death Takes a Holiday

"Death Takes a Holiday," a modern-day play the popularity of which seems to assure its almost constant performance somewhere, will be the Hollywood Hotel vehicle this week, with William Powell in the lead, Gale Page and C. Aubrey Smith playing supporting roles. This should be a performance distinguished by a high degree of excellence. Since "Death Takes a Holiday" is a known quantity, universally recognized as a drama of great merit, the emphasis should rightly be placed on the cast. Much can legitimately be expected from them. The program will be on the air at 9 p.m. EST (8 p.m. CST; 7 p.m. MST; 6 p.m. PST) on Friday, November 25, over Columbia.

First Nighter Anniversary

The spectacular one-performance shows and the brilliant, flashy serials get a large share, more than their share perhaps, of attention from the radio audience. But there are those who will argue, and tellingly, that the quieter, steadier programs on the air are the backbone of radio drama. This week, broadcasting will pause to pay tribute to just such a program—"First Nighter," on the air now without interruption for nine solid years! The anniversary program is scheduled for 8 p.m. EST (7 p.m. CST; 6 p.m. MST; for the West, 10 p.m. MST; 9 p.m. PST) on Friday, November 25. Les Tremayne and Barbara Luddy are co-stars on program at present time.

Orson Welles brings Henrik Ibsen's "Peer Gynt" to the Mercury Theater drama series Sun.

"Death Takes a Holiday," outstanding stage and screen hit, features William Powell Friday put on the air on Sunday, November 20, as one in the series of dramatizations by Orson Welles' Mercury Theater of the Air. This program will be heard at 8 p.m. EST over the Columbia Broadcasting System (7 p.m. CST; 6 p.m. MST; 5 p.m. PST). As is his usual custom, Welles will take the leading role, and will also serve as narrator, filling the gaps that must result when so long a play as "Peer Gynt" is adapted for radio. The story is one of Ibsen's best, thoroughly reflects the great Scandinavian drama-

"Big Town" program, will reveal a slightly softer side of his chrome-polished personality in the radio drama scheduled for presentation on Tuesday at 8 p.m. EST over Columbia's facilities (7 p.m. CST; for the West, 9:30 p.m. MST; 8:30 p.m. PST). The story will open with Robinson's announced suspicions to the effect that he believes he has discovered disloyalty in his own newspaper plant. As hot on the trail of corruption close at home as he is anywhere else, Robinson goes to work, tears the lid off of his own or-

Barbara Luddy and Les Tremayne are co-stars on the "First Nighter," which celebrates its ninth anniversary on Friday. This show brought Don Ameche fame

Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" will be the sixth in the current "Great Plays" series to be aired by NBC on Sunday

"I won't drag this paper through the mud as you have," cracks Lorelei (Claire Trevor) to Boss Steve Wilson (Edward G. Robinson) on "Big Town," Tues.

RECORDS OF THE WEEK

A department reviewing the recordings of your radio favorites

Classical:

LONDON AGAIN is a suite by the Britisher Eric Coates, starting off with "Oxford Place," a march that sounds as though it should have been in Chu Chin Chow; thence to a sentimental movement, "Langham Place," and thence to a bright waltz, "Mayfair." The composer conducts the symphony orchestra in Columbia album X-102 ($3.25)—pleasant but light-weight.

Children of Men brings more of the great singing of John Charles Thomas—strong, although not as fine as the magnificent Requiem du Coeur of last month. (Victor album 1940. $1.50.)

Mozart: Violin Concerto in G Major, from the foreign release of the Victor company, gives us more fine fiddling by Yehudi Menuhin—a brilliant first movement and an over-schmaltzy second. Enesco and the Paris orchestra accompany. And you can't go wrong on Mozart. (Victor album 485. $6.50.)

Popular:

Henry King's suave band gives forth with ten of rumbadom's most familiar rumbas in Decca's latest 10-inch popular album—Siboney, Peanut Vendor, Mama Inez, Ombo and all the rest. It is hard to believe that these rhythms were unknown to the U. S. ten years ago. King's interpretations, like on all the Decca albums, are obvious and Americanized. (Decca album 16. $2.25.)

Livery Stable Blues, a fine old traditional, comes to us by the band that is stepping forth as the most swingworthy of late, Bunny Berigan, replete with trumpet and vigor. Bunny has issued four sides of late, but the above is the standout. (Victor 26068.)

J'Ai Ta Main is one of the plaintive love-songs Jean Sablon, of "Hollywood Hotel," sings best. On the other side you'll find Stardust (Victor). The effective Mr. S. also is represented on the Columbia list with two more in French, which he recorded in Europe. . . . Plus Rien N'Existe and Pour Vous J'Avais Fait Cette Chanson—all with that Rue de la Paix savoir-faire.

—Joe Thompson.

Am I Blue? All guitar-violin combinations will eternally be compared with the historic Venuti-Lang duo and, although the memory of those two will always be sacred, others should be commended for trying. Such are Blue Stone and Bob Sherwood on Decca 2063.

Come to the Fair. Sprightly singing by Ella Logan, Perry Botkin's accompaniment and Andy Secrest's volatile trumpet all combine to make this worthy of your best turntable. (Brunswick.)

Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen. Hoarse Louis Armstrong does another vocal-without-trumpet spiritual. Not as strong as the very strong Shadrack of a few months back. (Decca.)

Chant of the Jungle. Swung neatly by Larry Clinton. (Victor.)

Carolina Moon. This is another of Victor's sly "how do you like it, sweet or hot" platters, with Tommy Dorsey's ride treatment on one side of the record, and "Swing (a misnomer) and Sway" with Sammy Kaye giving it the business on the reverse. Ah well, it's all a matter of personal choice. (Victor.)

I Have Eyes and You're A Sweet Little Headache are the next two tunes in line for Bing Crosby to popularize, since they are from his forthcoming flicker, Paris Honeymoon, Bing, however, has been scooped on records by both Benny Goodman on Victor and Red Norvo on Brunswick. They are ingratiating melodies and handled adequately by both bands.

Nightmare, Artie Shaw's theme, is the only pop disk we ever heard that stays on one single chord from top to bottom. Shaw already has released it on Brunswick and Vocalion, but his newest is a refreshed version on Bluebird. Non-Stop Flight on the other side is well worth having, too, with the tenor sax and Shaw's clarinet the standouts.

AIRIALTO LOWDOWN

Seen at the Benny Goodman rehearsal: Benny, with a large scarf wrapped around his neck, giving instructions to the band in a whisper. Benny had a sore throat, and practically no voice left. There was absolute quiet during his directions, too, so everybody could catch his whispers. Martha Tilton, the band's vocalist, drinking a bottle of milk offstage. Martha says that she's developed a milk habit from the milk bar they have up at the Waldorf, where the Goodman band is playing each night.

Kilocycle Chatter: Raymond Paige with a "100 Men and a Girl" (the girl is Hildegard) held a public audition for a sponsor, which went over in a big way with the invited guests. . . . Artie Shaw's swing orchestra, with Dick Todds, baritone, will be heard on the new Bob Benchley show. . . . I understand the Pick and Pat show will have a few changes. Report is that Ray Block's orchestra, with the Eton Boys, replaces Benny Kreuger and Ed Roecker, who should be grabbed immediately. . . . Dave Elman of "Hobby Lobby" is putting the finishing touches to a book on hobbies. He is also discussing a syndicated newspaper column on the subject. . . . Lew Lehr has already been signed by Waltan Features Syndicate to write a daily newspaper column. . . . H. V. Kaltenborn's new book, "I Broadcast the Crisis," makes swell reading. . . . Ed East is delivering his manuscript, "How to Get on Radio," to his publisher, and it will be out in book form in a few weeks. . . . Chick Adams, arranger for the Abe Lyman orchestra and associated with the "Waltz Time" and "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round" programs, has written a full-length book titled "Song Success." The book deals with the problems confronting the unknown composers. . . . The new tune, "Shades of Gray," that you will be hearing quite often was written by CBS publicist Hal Davis. . . . Peter Van Steeden actually laughed so hard during a Fred Allen rehearsal last week that he fell off the stand, fell on the bull fiddle and broke his thumb. Thumb fun, eh, Peter?

heard a gag-testing preview performance. When you listen in Tuesday, the whole show will be changed. I don't know why, but it will be. You'll see." Bob was right. The test performance and the actual broadcast were practically two different shows. Which reminds that at the previous week's show, after Jack Smart's line, "Roll me two watermelons," the sound-effects was to be the noise of ten tennis balls being struck by a bowling ball. A professional bowler was hired and an alley improvised—but when the time for his "strike" arrived, he unleashed the ball—and dropped but one pin! . . . At "Good News" rehearsal November 3, conductor Meredith Willson sat enraptured while an eighteen-year-old girl exhibited her skill at the piano. She was Kato Mendelssohn Szekeley, the great-great-granddaughter of Felix Mendelssohn.

Tag Lines: Dorothy Lamour missed her November 13 coffee hour just to spend ten days with hubby Herbie Kay in New York . . . Ken Murray, so very attentive these days to Rochelle Hudson, returns to New York to be master of ceremonies at the New York Paramount for the week beginning December 7, when Shirley Ross makes her personal appearance . . . Joy Hodges (ex-Ozzie Nelson and Jimmy Grier warbler) and Robert Wilcox have finally called off their wedding plans, and now Joy has bought a sensitive radio receiver so she can hear her brother Max, organist at WHO, Des Moines, play his nightly recitals. Ginger Rogers promises to divulge a new dance step when she emotes November 27 as Silver Theater guest.

The writings of Charles Dickens (1812-1870), subject for this week, are closely bound up with his own life and the life of Victorian England. His father and mother are immortalized in the characters of Micawber and Mrs. Nickleby. The passionate exposure of contemporary evils in his works made him a great public figure as well as a popular novelist.

DISCARD YOUR OLD AERIAL

It is Most Likely Corroded and Has Poor or Loose Noisy Connections
NO MORE BUZZES, CLICKS and shorts from summer rains and winter snow and sleet when using an F & H Capacity Aerial Eliminator. Anyone can connect it in a moment's time to the radio set—occupies only 1 1/2 inch by 4 inch space behind the set. yet enables your radio to operate without an aerial and tune in stations over the entire broadcast band frequencies and short wave channels.

ELIMINATE THE AERIAL FOR GOOD

Attach this unit to your radio—make your set complete in itself—forget aerial wires and troubles—move your set anywhere—no more roof climbing, unsightly lead-in or aerial wires.

NOT NEW—VALUE ALREADY PROVED

On the market five years. 100,000 customers in U.S. and foreign countries.
In use from the Arctic Region of Norway to the Tropics of Africa. Each factory tested on actual long distance reception. Cannot harm set—easily connected to any radio, including radios having no ground or radius for doublet aerial. Note: It will not operate on battery or automobile radios.

5 DAYS TRIAL Mail coupon at once. Pay postman $1.00 plus a few pennies postage on delivery. If not entirely satisfied, return within five days and your dollar will be refunded without question.

—JUST MAIL THIS COUPON—

F & H Radio Laboratories, Dept. 116, Fargo, N. Dak.
I send F & H Capacity Aerial. Will pay postman $1 plus few cents postage. If not pleased will return within 5 days for $1 refund. Check

WHAT USERS SAY
Lafayette, Tex.: After using the Capacity Aerial Eliminator over a year on my 1935 small 7 tube set can say it brings in reception with fine volume and clarity, pulling in stations from Japan, Europe, South America, and broadcast stations from all over the U. S. Efficiency proven, I took down my old outside aerial.
Signed:
Davenport, Ia. Received your Radio Aerial Eliminator and it sure works fine. Also works swell on Short Wave band. Wish I had found it long ago. Signed:

Schedule Changes for Nov. 20 to Nov. 26

This department announces programs which change their networks or hour of broadcast. Consult the program listings for your local station.

NEW PROGRAMS

Melody and Madness (Old Gold Cigarettes) premieres a new series of programs Sunday, November 20, at 9 p.m. CST. The star of the program is Robert Benchley, author, playwright, actor, columnist, critic and commentator, who will add another activity to his versatile career, that of a comedian. The Benchley humor, supported by Dick Todd, baritone, and Artie Shaw's orchestra, can be heard Coast to Coast over the CBS network.

Metropolitan Opera begins its eighth consecutive season Saturday, November 26, at 1 p.m. CST. This series of broadcasts, which was started in 1931, is a presentation of NBC. The Saturday matinees are now offered to millions of music-lovers and available to all "tuner-iners" from Coast to Coast. In the weeks to come, many famous singers and operas will be heard.

PROGRAM CHANGES

Bob Burns (Kraft Cheese), the bazooka-blower and comedian, returns to the Music Hall Thursday, November 24, at 9 p.m. CST.

Jimmie Fidler (Drene Shampoo), Hollywood reporter, switched to the CBS network for his Tuesday night broadcast. The new time for the program is 9:30 p.m. CST.

Uncle Ezra (Alka-Seltzer), heard week-days on Tuesdays and Fridays, broadcasts from his make-believe radio station, EZRA, at 9:30 p.m. CST.

Short-wave programs of American stations are shown along with the regular listings beginning on page 20. These are indicated, for example, by (sw-11.87) in parentheses following a program listing. This means that on 11.87 megacycles the same program may also be heard over an American short wave station. Please note that foreign stations do not always adhere precisely to their announced program schedules.

On Short Waves

Edited by Chas. A. Morrison

President, International DX'ers Alliance

Times given are EST. For CST subtract 1 hour; MST, 2 hours; PST, 3 hours

ITALY'S new imperial short-wave center at Prato-Smeraldo, near Rome, was officially inaugurated on October 31. Four new transmitters, two with a power of 100,000 watts each and two with a power of 50,000 watts each, are in operation. The 100,000-watt transmitters will probably utilize the following frequencies: 15.19, 15.3, 17.82 and 21.56 megs, while the 50,000-watt transmitters will operate on 11.81, 11.67, 9.67 and 9.635 megs. A vast network of twenty-two separate directional antennae spreads over the Center's grounds. As many as five of these beams can function simultaneously on any frequency. Programs in Arabian, Bulgarian, Danish, English, Esperanto, French, German, Greek, Hungarian, Yugoslavian, Rumanian, Russian, Spanish, Turkish and Italian are being broadcast at regular intervals throughout the day, from 4:40 a.m. to 9 p.m. EST. The American Hour is still being heard daily from 7:30 to 9 p.m. EST, but on a revised frequency of 9.635 megs. This period is also broadcast on 9.83 and 11.67 megs.

E. F. McDonald, president of the Zenith Radio Corporation, is not convinced that television is as yet ready for home reception. However, a Zenith television station is nearing completion in Chicago, and experimental television receivers will then be placed in the hands of a few engineers and experimenters for preliminary reception tests.

The new Norwegian short-wave station (Norsk Rikskringkasting), was inaugurated on October 30. Special programs for Norwegians living abroad are being broadcast nightly from 8 to 9 and from 10 to 11 p.m. EST, on a frequency of 9.526 megs. These broadcasts consist of songs, music, talks and news commentaries, in Norwegian. It is improbable that these programs will be received in North America with W2XAF of Schenectady, N. Y., operating only four kilocycles away on 9.53 megs. The Norwegian station should shift to a clear channel. . . A 60,000-watt short-wave station will be put into operation in Lithuania at the beginning of next year.

According to Herman Orlaw of Vancouver, B. C., Canada, the new Khabarovsk, U. S. S. R. stations, RV69 (6.045), and RFN (6.83), are being heard daily from 2:30 to 10 a.m. EST. A new Moscow station is also being heard with loud signals on 9.52 megs, from 4 to 9 p.m. EST. After 6 p.m. EST the station works in parallel with RAN (9.6).

SHORT-WAVE SHORTS: W1XD, a fifteen-watt Submarine Signal at Boston, Mass., has been licensed to operate on 1.614, 2.398, 3.492 and 4.797 megs. . . The Australian DX Club reports that PK6XX, base-camp station of the Archbold Expedition at Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea, contacts the advance party daily at 2:30 a.m. EST, on a frequency of 6.52 megs. The advance party uses portable five-watt transmitters. . . Robert Walsh of New York City writes that the new 2,000-watt transmitter at Moydrum, near Athlone, Ireland, is completed, and will radiate initial tests as soon as official frequencies for the station have been fixed by the International Broadcasting Union. . . W3XL is the new call for the NBC station operating on the frequency of 6.1 megs. . . The Director of All-India Radio at Delhi, India, writes that it is indebted for valuable data regarding its station's performance furnished by RADIO GUIDE readers, but suggests that reports should be more detailed, since with the meager information sometimes furnished by listeners it is quite difficult to forward a verification.

Eric Butcher of San Juan, Puerto Rico, writes that a new station located at Pointe a Pitre, Guadeloupe, French West Indies, is being heard nightly near 6 p.m. EST, on a frequency of 7.2 megs. All announcements are made in French. . . Japan's overseas broadcasts for North America are now being radiated only over JZJ (11.8), daily as follows: From 12:30 to 1:30, 7 to 7:30 a.m. and 8 to 8:30 p.m. EST.

Listeners to the German short-wave stations DJB and DJD will hear a dramatization of the history of Cochem Castle on the Mosel (above), Monday at 5 p.m. EST, 4 p.m. CST, 3 p.m. MST, 2 p.m. PST

Practically TWO RADIOS IN ONE

NEW SCOTT PHANTOM

The ideal receiver for the lover of fine music who demands finest possible tone quality, as well as the DX enthusiast who wants noise-free, globe-circling reception. A separate control provides two degrees of selectivity . . . one broad for high fidelity reproduction; the other razor-sharp for distant reception. Variable sensitivity is so great even finest laboratory testing equipment can hardly measure the extremely weak signals tuned in and amplified with this amazing new receiver.

"WORLD'S FINEST RADIO"

We believe there is no other receiver in the world today other than the 30 tube Scott Philharmonic that even remotely approaches the Scott Phantom for distance getting properties; its ability to separate stations, its remarkable freedom from electrical interference and static, and its magnificent tonal perfection. Scott Radio Receivers are custom-built by hand, in laboratories, with fine watch precision for performance impossible with production type radios.
