Miss Warren, 7128-A Rugby, Huntington Park, Calif.

Sirs: Could you please tell me how I might be able to get tickets to the "Kraft Music Hall." We have just come from back east, and would like to see that show. Radio Life has come in very handy, not only for programs, but also for cooking hints. Also could you at sometime please put a story in your book about Art Baker. I never miss him. I'm sure you have others write in asking about him. So please put him in soon.

(At the present time "Kraft" is on the unavailable list of tickets. Watch for a story on Art Baker within the next few weeks.)

Len Green, 1704 Scott Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: May I suggest for the improvement of the service that you are rendering to the public that you devote one page or so to the short wave programs in U.S.A. and abroad. I am sure that this addition will improve considerably your circulation.

(At the present time we are working on plans to give short wave some attention.)

Mrs. N. Harman, 4935 Mansfield, San Diego, Calif.

I agree with you that "Duffy's Tavern" was better last year. They should have a dinky three-piece orchestra, and Miss Duffy can do the singing! The guests don't seem to fit in somehow. Ed Gardner and the gags are swell. I don't think we object to commercials on most programs. It's those "gimme a package of Beeman's chewing gum please" kind and the fog horn type.

Gracie resolves: "We'll only confuse each other." That's all right with the countless fans of CBS funsters Burns and Allen, for it presages another yearful of their wacky comedy. We'll count on you, Gracie, to keep your dizzy-lution inviolate during 1943.

Sirs: Why not print a complete list showing the time of news broadcasts such as that of last year under the title of "War News Broadcasts?"

(We are referring your request to our Log Editor.)

Mrs. Ernest H. Ludwig, 426-A Vine Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I do so much enjoy every issue of Radio Life, especially "The Ear Inspires the Pen." I've been amused over the bickering about Dinah Shore and Ginny Simms—both girls are grand. I've smiled over outraged expressions made about the attire of certain artist's photographs used on Radio Life's covers—we'll perhaps I don't approve—but why don't people mind their own business anyway? I've been rudely awakened to the insolence of J. Harry Fieldhouse against religious programs on the air, and I wonder if he could possibly know the peace and comfort one can truly derive from such programs as "The Country Church of Hollywood," (I never miss it) or "Haven of Rest." It's the Christianity in this country and our faith in God that's going to win this war Mister Fieldhouse—and don't you forget it!

husband and I, and even my six-year-old daughter enjoy your magazine. One week all the markets around here had sold out by the time I got there and I was really lost all week without Radio Life.

Since everyone seems to be expressing opinions, I'd like to express mine. Speaking of commercials. I suppose everyone gets a little tired of them, but since the sponsors want to sell their products, the thing they should do is advertise, and what better way is there than radio? Everything can't always be rosy. If you want to hear a good program you should be willing to give the man (or company) a chance to sell his product. Don't you agree?

Also about the lady that said how much better English programs were than ours. I've never heard anything but American programs, but I'm sure I wouldn't like to trade them for anything else. Maybe I'm a moron but I like jazz and nonsense, along with the more serious programs. I think we have a fine system of broadcasting. Eh what!

Since the arrival of his baby three years ago, Kenneth Roberts, announcer of "Joyce Jordan," has developed into an expert amateur photographer. His friends claim that by looking over his collection of pictures you can trace the baby's growth.

No matter whether you spell it J-A-I-L, or, G-A-O-L, it's still inside work. Of course, padding does improve the cells, shoulders, girdles . . . and ruins scripts! TODAY'S GRIDDLED RIDDLE: Ques: If Venus, Jupiter, Saturn, and Mars are very BIG stars, what's Kate Smith? Give up? up? Ans.: A complete horoscope! And, if you like your words by the tonnage, how's this for a quartette of verbal suet: Tom Hanlon, Don Wilson, Hal Peary, Harry Von Zell. Why not ration announcers? 2½ words per week per pound! But, enough of this astronomy and avoirdupois! Let's get down to that thin hair-line between sanity and insanity. (I part mine with a tweezers!)

ODDITORIAL

Radio "big shots" receive plenty of printed ballyhoo. But, how about the "buckshot"? The Lilliputians who make it possible for GULLIVER to travel? For instance, take Anne Brenton, head of the CBS music clearance department. On second look, I'll take her myself . . . any time . . . she has the gas! Here's a girl who works harder than a Trojan backfield. But beyond the studio doors, she's as publicly unappreciated as Vitamin Z . . . zero. However, remember that without her, and hundreds of other "small-fry," RADIO would be a dead herring. Somehow, I always did prefer sardines to whales . . . and caviar, the King's Row of appetizers, always reminds me of buckshot!

GIDDY GOSSIP

WE HEAR THAT due to shortage of woman-power, Vick (Dynamic) Knight, debonair producer, is confronted with casting problems. He moans: "A lot of former femme crooners have found today's wedding more profitable than yesterday's wedding. But, so what? They're still carrying the TORCH!"

WE HEAR THAT KFI-KECA's veteran announcer, Bob (Beau Brummel) Swan, has a bone to pick with his own family skeleton. He gripes: "I'd like to tangle with the guy who said 'what's in a name?'. There's plenty in a name! Ten million bucks difference between me and the floated plutocrat who manufactures SWAN SOAP!"

GRIPES OF WRATH

About time the big-name comedians quit teasing us with free samples. "Rochester" just starts to salvage Benny's uncomical opera when they fade him down to a light sun-tan! Same happens to many other so-called "supporting players." Supporting is the right word gone wrong! Ho-hum! But, after all, maybe it's smarter in the long run to be the splint instead of the fractured funnybone!

Can You Top These?

Here Are the Biggest Laugh Fetchers on NBC's Gag Show—
Can You Surpass the Experts?

By Evelyn Bigsby

TWO men, Joe and Moe, met one day. Joe was suffering from a toothache. Joe said: "Gosh, I wonder what I can do to relieve this pain?"

Moe: "Well, when I have a toothache, or a pain, my wife puts her arms around me and soothes me until I forget all about my ache."

Joe: "That's swell! Is she at home now?"

Do you think this was a funny story? Well, don't be concerned if you didn't—maybe you weren't in a jocular mood. But if you did derive a chuckle from it, you agreed with the large audience which almost cracked the "laughmeter" when the joke was related by Joe Laurie Jr. a few Saturday nights ago on NBC's "Can You Top This?" program. (6:30 p. m.)

Here's how this new joke-quiz program operates. Listeners are invited to send in their favorite jokes. The best are chosen and read over the air by actor Peter Donald. Then a board of three humorists—veteran story tellers, "Senator" Ed Ford, Joe Laurie Jr., and Harry Hershfield—try to top the joke sent in with one of their own stories in similar vein.

These three men are like the experts in "Information Please," except that they are human encyclopedias of humor rather than plain "walking encyclopedias." Theirs is a competition in the art of story telling.

Their radio program is the outgrowth of their meeting regularly at New York's famous Lambs Club, where the trio would spend hours swapping stories. Each man knows hundreds of jokes. None of the three story tellers sees in advance the jokes to be read by Donald. So it behooves each wit to ad lib his top-per and to give it a twist so that it is related to the joke sent in by the listener.

The "Laughmeter"

Gauging the audience's reaction to the stories told by the experts is an electrical device called a "laughmeter." It picks up the roars of the studio listeners and translates the "LAUGHMETER" measures the amount of studio hilarity for each joke. Gauging risibilities, too, are Peter Donald, story-reader (left), and Emcee Roger Bower.

"I DON'T GET IT" says the "Senator" as Hershfield (left) howls at one of Laurie's latest jokes. The three men started swapping gags years ago at the Lambs Club.

"AND PAT SAID TO MIKE"—that's the way conversation goes whenever Laurie (left), Hershfield (center), and the "Senator" congregate. A gag a minute!

volume into points ranging from 0 to 1000. A joke striking 550 or 600 has been good for hearty guffaws. One in the 900 bracket is a side-splitter. The prize money received by a person sending in a joke which is read is determined on a fluctuating scale, based on whether his joke is topped by one, two, or no experts.

Here's a sample of a topper as told by Ford:

By mistake, a notice of a gentleman's demise was inserted in the newspaper. Said man was very much alive. He called a friend of his and asked: "Hey, Al, did you see the notice of my death in today's paper?" The voice at the other end of the phone said warily, "Yeah! I did. By the way, where are you speaking from?"

This story registered 825 on a "laughmeter."

Laurie, by the way, grew up in true Broadway tradition. "They call me a pint size comedian," he confides, "and it's never been anything but a build-up in my work. I was a newsboy, a page boy (New York Stock Exchange) exercise boy, and boy! What not! I've played vaudeville, musical comedy, straight drama—was the youngest musical comedy star on Broadway 30 years ago. . . I made my debut as an entertainer at a fireman's benefit in Greenlaw, Long Island. Got the job by pull; I knew the fellow that sold the firemen their hose! My greatest thrill? When a midget looked up at me!"

However much he may enjoy depreciating himself, Laurie is able to tell the toppers on the show. Recently he scored 850 with this one:

Some men were sitting on the porch of a nut house, and it was a very hot midsummer afternoon. Finally, one of them couldn't stand the heat any longer. He went upstairs, took off his clothes, and filled the tub with water. Then he climbed up on the washbowl and dove off. He broke his nose. Once again he climbed up and dove off. This time he knocked out his teeth. The third and last time he cracked his head open.

"Oh!", he said. "Low tide!"

Scoring 50 points more than this story was the one Laurie related about a woman who went shopping with her little boy. As they were going up in the crowded elevator, a big blonde who was standing in front of the kid turned around and slapped the face of the man standing next to him. She got off on the next floor. So did the man.

"I wonder why she slapped that man?," said the mother.

"I dunno," replied the kid, "but she stepped on my foot and I pinched her."

Confucius Say

Then, one recent night, Laurie was reminded of a story about a woman who had a Chinese house-man who had a habit of entering the room without knocking. One day she admonished him: "Ling, you must always knock on the door before you enter, for some day I may be dressing."

"Oh, that's all right," said the Chinese cheerfully. "I no come in when you dressing. Me look through the keyhole first!"

The "laughmeter" hit 550 on that one.

Laurie has been a gag writer for Jolson and Cantor, has had a column in Variety for the last 10 years. He claims he succeeded in vaudeville as a monologist because he brought his parents out on the stage with him—he figured the audience would n't throw eggs at an old couple!

"Senator" Ford was the one who dreamed up the program. Harking back to his early days in vaudeville (circa 1905), the "Senator" remarks that he recently reached the highest place a vaudevillian could attempt—the Rainbow Room. He played there 13 weeks—and actually got paid.

That makes both him and Laurie graduates cum laude in the school of vaudeville.

This recent gag of Ford's drew an 850 response: A man ordered a house—one of those that come in sections—from a mail order concern. After two months he had it put together and invited a friend to come over and see it.

"Why," his friend exclaimed, "it's upside down!"

"Oh," said the amateur architect, "no wonder I kept falling off the porch!"

Harry Hershfield, third member of the topping trio, is a former cartoonist who now is Manhattan's best known after-dinner speaker. He of-

THREE ROMEOS, trio on the "Breakfast Club," got their start in radio when they took a dare to make an audition in a furniture store display window.

THE ESCORTS have one of the tiniest "girl friends" in radio. Betty Olson is only 4 feet, 11 inches tall and tips the scale at 89 pounds.

Top o' the Morning to you!

Presenting the Folks Who Make
The Morning Fun

By Suzanne Warner

ONE chilly morning away back in 1924, a smart group of Los Angeles equestrians decided that every Wednesday they would arise and face the bleak dawn and take a swift ride through Griffith Park.

You may wonder just how that affects you . . . but without that small beginning you would now be deprived of some of your most colorful morning radio listening.

But to go back for a moment.

This group of business men decided to take a breakfast along with them . . . ride awhile, eat, then ride on back. That was tried, but the ride back on a full tummy wasn't so good for the male equilibrium. So the Los Angeles Breakfast Club was formed . . . a club where good fellows got together for a brisk ride through the park and then a wonderful ham and egg breakfast.

One morning one of the wits of the club stood up and made a very clever speech . . . it was so popular that the club members decided that they would have to have a program every week. That was back in 1924. But the idea of a "breakfast club" caught on like wild fire. And now over the air we have several gay breakfast club groups.

One group of "breakfasters" that is universally popular is the Blue network's "Breakfast Club." The program is all ad-libbed . . . a free-for-all show in which emcee Don McNeill and his helpers let the quips fall where they may every morning,

THE VAGABONDS (left) have been singing together ever since they went to high school. They rehearsed their first radio show in the rear rooms of a mortuary.

Monday through Saturday, over KECA at 8:15 o'clock.

Moving along at a fast pace, despite the absence of director and script, the "Breakfast Club" gets on and off the air in a manner as perfectly timed as the most expertly directed show. The secret of the production's long-standing popularity is believed to be its informality. Like Topsy, the program "jest grows." From the moment the show is opened with the merry "Good morning everybody, good morning to you" right on through flipping back and forth at one another with gags—like Don McNeill cracking at Singer Jack Baker that every time he took a nickel out of his pocket the Indian head blinked at the light.

"We use gags sent in by listeners," says McNeill, "and, of course we make up our own gags . . . sometimes we just talk around without any gags at all. In short, we just say what comes into our minds and the result sometimes, is a lot of spontaneous wisecracking which sounds as though it might have been rehearsed, yet it never is."

The general idea behind the program is that somebody ought to do something to change the old American custom of eating breakfast with a grouch, and the show follows that idea with a cheerful disregard for routine broadcasting practices. A little bit of everything is offered on the show. Comedy, drama, interviews with studio guests, music that runs from symphony to swing, plenty of extemporaneous small chat, and poetry like "You never know when you go to sleep, what, through the walls, will creep."

Among the graduates from the "Breakfast Club" cast are Fibber McGee and Molly, the Merry Macs, and Gale Page. Its listening family is world-wide, and the fan mail comes in from odd spots like Quintana Roo or some coast port on the Indian ocean.

Following the old adage of "do what I say," the theme song of the "Breakfast Club" is "Oh how I hate to get up in the morning." And for a group of people who radiate more matutinal cheer than a gross of meadow larks, the cast of the show is as reluctant to get out of the hay in the morning as your Uncle Henry Switch . . . the one who was born lazy.

Significant items uncovered about the cast include the following:

1. Various members use everything from a bucket of water to a toy cannon to get themselves out of bed.
2. They admitted, 100 percent, "I'm absolutely no good in the morning until I get that first cuppa' coffee!"
3. Their idea of heaven is a place where you can wake up late, have breakfast in bed, and then turn over and go back to sleep again.

Emcee Don McNeill palpitates in a semi-coma until Mrs. McN. comes in and yanks the covers off. Floyd Holm, of the "Escorts and Betty," waits for the last clock in a trio of alarms to penetrate his consciousness, then wanders into the bathroom to drop his head in a basin of cold water.

Tenor Jack Baker, the "Louisiana lark," says that, though he rarely uses it, the only completely successful method he has discovered is, simply to stay up all night.

INTRIGUING Nancy Martin is the reason more men than ever are waking for breakfast these days. Nancy not only sings, but dances in the aisles with male studio customers.

HOST of the Blue network "Breakfast Club," Don McNeill (below) lists among the handicaps he has overcome by stern self-discipline: blushing, bashfulness, and a mustache.

A MAN'S MANN is Marion Mann (below), who is as beautiful as her voice. Besides having a lovely voice, Marion makes a hobby of exploring uncharted caves.

For a Happier Year

As we greet our Radio Life family members on the threshold of a new year, the magazine's staff pauses to take stock.

The months of 1942 have not been our happiest, but as we retrospect, an inner joy radiates—the joy of satisfaction for hard lessons mastered, of facing 1943's problems with fortified integrity, a toughened fiber which the war has necessitated.

Throughout the troublous months of the year just closing, your staff has been ever mindful of its readers' loyalty and tolerance. Your interest has been such to spur all of us on to renewed efforts, to make Radio Life your magazine in the fullest sense, to make it, as we have always strived, a clean, factual, original medium which would keep its readers fully informed on the world of radio.

That many of you have taken the time and interest to make suggestions for the betterment of the magazine is a source of gratification to the staff. We want you to feel, always, that Radio Life is your publication. In line with current trends, we shall endeavor during the coming months to provide features which are amusing. For we feel that more than ever do people need to laugh. Further, we shall endeavor to bring our readers a truthful picture of what radio is doing to win the war,—in service shows for its armed forces, in trips of stars to the camps, in relaying of vital information. Your suggestions for articles along these lines will be appreciated.

To our many friends who remembered the staff with holiday gifts and greetings may we extend sincere thanks, coupled with the heartfelt wish that when another year has rolled around we may be able to voice Happy New Year wishes with a newer, more genuine meaning. Meanwhile, yours for a Victorious '43.

Note These

Among radio programs beaming this week are two from KFI which should be placed on the fans' "must" list. One is KFI's annual round-up of news, which will be presented for the fourth time this year and will be heard on Saturday, Dec. 26, 10-11 p.m.

This broadcast will be a specially written summary of 1942's headline events, recapitulated by Pat Bishop and Ted Meyers. Portions of history-making speeches which have been taken from the air will be interpolated by transcription.

The other radio event which will mean more than ever to Southern Californians this year, due to the limited audience allowed in Pasadena, is the Rose Bowl game, which KFI will carry on Jan. 1, 1:45 p.m. to conclusion. Ace sports announcer Bill Stern will call the plays and Ken Carpenter, who worked with Stern on the recent Army-Navy game, will supply color background for the gala occasion.

Hughes Tags News

More than a year of eventful history-making news has been written since America became a nation at war. Last week John B. Hughes, Mutual-Don Lee news commentator heard over KHJ, made a summary of the ten news stories which he considers the most important (to date) for the year 1942.

1. The Price of a Free World Victory speech by Vice-President Henry Wallace, May 8—the speech of the year that marked the turning point in world thinking. Wallace's speech shows the beginning of more than a United Nations coalition for war—actually a ruthless determination for a successful peace.

2. The Battle of Stalingrad—the battle of the year that marked the beginning of Hitler's defeat.

3. The Battle of the Solomons—the United States' turn to the offensive in the war.

4. The United States and British renunciation of extra-territoriality in China—the offensive in political warfare taken by the United Nations.

5. The advent of Henry J. Kaiser's production plan into the battle on the home front. The biggest "running story" on news at home.

6. The Battle of North Africa—the tightening of the ring around Hitler—the turn to the drive for liberation.

7. Wendell Willkie's world trip, and the speech he made at its conclusion, a demonstration of American unity even if the "Old Guard" wouldn't believe it.

8. Appointment of Herbert Lehman as director of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation—the beginning point of the economic offensive.

9. Evacuation of Japanese from the United States West Coast war zone—our first forceful move in self defense.

10. President Roosevelt's feigned surprise at finding the polls open on November 3—democracy continues to function.

New Show to See

Radio Life readers who enjoy witnessing broadcasts will now have the opportunity of seeing "Over Here", the biggest government entertainment now airing under quadruple auspices of the U. S. War, Navy, and Treasury Departments and the Office of War Information.

Moving from New York to Hollywood last week, the main portion of the broadcast with Ronald Colman as emcee now originates over the Blue network from Hollywood's Radio City on Saturdays at 5:30 p.m. This is the Eastern release of the one hour program presenting top ranking luminaries. Tickets are obtainable by contacting the Blue network. For the stay-at-homer, "Over Here" is released by transcription on the West Coast at 9 p.m. the same evening.

Please, Info!

News that Lucky Strike will drop its "Information Please" program next month has been met with keen disappointment which was mitigated when word seeped through that another sponsor will likely "take on" the experts.

Lucky Strike has decided to substitute a musical program comprising hit tunes of yesteryear in place of the "Information Please" broadcast. This move is difficult to understand, as Lucky Strike already has two musical shows, Kay Kyser's "College of Musical Knowledge" on NBC and "Your Hit Parade" on CBS. Thus, "Information Please" complemented the musicals. It is understood, however, that George Washington Hill, head of the sponsoring cigaret company, is an ardent tuner, so three musical shows simply reflect his own personal tastes.
KECA, KFSD, 8:30 p.m. Tues.

Traffic Problem

The "Elgin Show," heard on KNX Christmas day, was one whose smoothness belied a "traffic" problem. The large number of starring attractions, some with several performers each and bulky musical instruments, demanded that the traffic problem be simplified to keep the necessarily limited space in the wings and stage of the theater from becoming hopelessly jammed.

This is the way they did it. Two artists' "green rooms" were used. In one room all performers waited until time for their entrance onto the show. Following their appearances, they went to another "green room" to hear the rest of the program. Among the cast of the super two-hour presentation which was such a success were Don Ameche, Bob Hope, Bette Davis, Judy Garland, Abbott and Costello, Gracie Fields and Cass Daley.

"ANCHORS AWEIGH" marks first year on air with special broadcast and anchor-trimmed cake. Songstress Jane Winterly wields the knife while looking on are comedian Phil Silvers, Mutual producer Dave Titus, orchestra conductor Leon Leonardi, and Chief Photographer Charles Page.

Thrill

Success story of the week we found to be centered around Trudy Erwin. For several years she was cloaked in obscurity as one of the anonymous singers in the "Music Maids" on the Bing Crosby programs. Then Kay Kyser came along and put the spotlight on her by signing her as a regular soloist on "College of Musical Knowledge."

Last week (December 17) Trudy returned to the Bing Crosby program as a guest star. She did a duet with Bing, said: "It was the biggest thrill of my life!"

KFI, 6 p.m.
Thurs.

Spiking Inactivity

Radio Life's nomination for the busiest radio star in Hollywood last week is one "Spike" Jones, the lantern-jawed, beetle-browed young man who has glorified the bronx cheer by giving out with it right in "Der Fuehrer's Face" via the airplanes and phonograph recordings. If you want to tire yourself out, just have looksee at the routine the nation's No. 1 City Slicker indulged in last week.

Monday—Rehearsal beginning at 10 a.m. for Gilmore Oil's "Furlough Fun" at NBC Radio City. Actual broadcast over KFI and Coast network at 7:30 p.m. Honor guest at an after-broadcast birthday party tossed for him in the studio by his sponsors, who invited 500 Joneses from all over town to join in the fun. Orchestra rehearsal with Billy Mills' crew in Studio C for Tuesday's Fibber McGee & Molly show until 10 p.m. (Although he and his City Slickers have more offers and work than they are physically capable of handling these days, Spike continues to play the drums in the Mills band.) Over to the Hollywood Canteen to play a couple of hours of music for the men-in-uniform as well as to cut his birthday cake for the servicemen.

Tuesday—Four hours of work on new arrangements for his City Slickers with Del Porter, his clarinetist and novelty singer who is one of the cleverest arrangers in the radio business. More music rehearsals with Billy Mills. Actual broadcast at 6:30 p.m. with Fibber McGee and Molly. To dinner and then back at 9 p.m. to audition a new comedy show with Bill Thompson, the Wallace Wimple creator, and Bill Goodwin, Burns and Allen's emcee, for a cigarette concern.

Wednesday—All-day rehearsals for Bob Burns' Arkansas Traveler airshow on CBS. Broadcast at 6 p.m. (With his spare time on this day, Spike helped his pretty wife, Patricia, address Christmas cards.)

Thursday—Three hour rehearsal of new tunes with his City Slickers. Conference at his agent's (Mel Shauer) office on several film offers. Meeting with his business manager on income tax matters, and then to General Amusement's band booking office to discuss a series of one-night dance engagements with Larry Kent, the former orchestra leader who is now an agent as well as a proud new father, and Ralph Wonders.

Friday—Three interviews with fan magazine writers who have apparently read Radio Life's scoop feature of a few issues back ("Der Fuehrer's Face Was His Fortune") and want to climb on the Spike Jones bandwagon. Out to Vega Aircraft plant to stage a special Christmas program for the employees.

Saturday—Ah, at last! A day of rest!

Cinderella Tale

Last December 2 we announced that Lily Pons would be heard on the Metropolitan broadcast. Listeners tuned in and heard and liked a newcomer's voice.

Behind that simple statement lies a story that is seldom rivaled in fact or fiction. It is the story of a young Kansas housewife who went on to New York a few weeks ago, determined to give her ambitions one last chance before returning to husband and hearth.

Just one year ago Marie Wilkins went to Kansas City from nearby Lawrence to sing for Wilfred Pelletier, Metropolitan Opera conductor, who was making a tour of the country seeking talented young singers for the annual "Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air." Subsequently, she entered, and lost out in the semi-finals.

And so, when the new series began this season, Marie Wilkins decided to make her one last drive for fame. She told Maestro Pelletier she would make her bid with the "Bell Song" from the opera, "Lakme."

Then fate stepped in. Lily Pons, scheduled to sing the opera Wednesday night, December 2, at the Met, became ill two days before the performance. Pelletier, who was to conduct, frantically sought a last minute substitute.

He asked Mrs. Wilkins if she thought she could fill Miss Pons' shoes. That she did so, very prettily and competently, was signified by the acclaim heaped upon her by the New York critics. KECA, 3:30 p.m. Sub.

For a Merrier Xmas

Last week was divulged the story behind the December 7 broadcast of CBS's "Vox Pop" program. Parks Johnson and Warren Hull, with their director, Bob Ballin, were all set to broadcast the entire show from Pearl Harbor on the anniversary of the Japs' sneak attack on that famous harbor.

At the last minute they learned that their trip on the plane would displace some 1,000 pounds of Christmas mail for servicemen in the islands—so they cancelled the flight and remained on the mainland where, with shortwave cut-ins, they interviewed Pearl Harbor veterans. KNX, 9:30 p.m. Mon.

His Heart's Humming

Although NBC's program, "Everything Goes," is not released locally, our readers might like to hear a little story concerning a recent show.

Given its air premiere was a tune, "It Isn't My Eyes That Cry, It's My Heart." The song was written by Joe Trapani, 27-year-old metal painter, who is a paralysis victim.

Joe can't read or write, but he has been lying in his hospital bed and humming up his own tunes. Finally he persuaded a student nurse to write to David Sarnoff, president of NBC, and ask for someone to visit him and put his melodies on paper. NBC sent one of its staff arrangers to investigate; then had the director of its music division in New York call Joe on the phone and take down the tune as the paralytic hummed it.

The result was heard on "Everything Goes," with Irving Mills' staff orchestra supporting the soloist, while an ebullient Trapani listened from his high, narrow, hospital bed.

Joy Unconfined

Dick Joy, KNX-CBS announcer and newscaster, has taken over two more newscasts. One is the 1:15 o'clock news sponsored by Thrifty Drug Stores Monday through Friday. The other is the 8:55 p. m. spot sponsored by McKesson & Robbins on Sunday, Monday and Wednesday, by Smith Brothers on Thursday, and by California Prune and Apricot Growers on Saturday.

Stars to Go Abroad?

Definite plans are under way for the top radio stars to entertain troops overseas for stretches of four weeks at a time. The only difficulty to be ironed out is the finding of guests to "pinch hit" while the head liners are absent.

Stars who have been attending the meetings to promulgate plans are Jean Hersholt, Charles Correll and Freeman Gosden ("Amos 'n Andy"), Edgar Bergen, Bob Burns, George Burns, Eddie Cantor, Nelson Eddy, Jack Benny, Jim Jordan ("Fibber McGee"), Frank Morgan, Hal Peary ("Gildersleeve"), Red Skelton, and Chet Lauck and Norris Goff (Lum and Abner).

Jinx

When producers of "Radio Reader's Digest" included the story "Sabotage" in the script of Sunday, December 6, they had no idea that the central role, that of William Siebold, would turn out to be a jinx part, but that's the way it worked out.

Joseph Calleia, screen actor who played the role on the air, collapsed three times in rehearsal before he decided to adjourn for medical treatment. Santos Ortega, network player who rehearsed as a standby, escaped injury in rehearsal, when, moving about the small stage, he backed off and fell. His spill, however, was broken by a sound screen, and he was not hurt. KNX, 6 p.m. Sub.

Complicated

If it had been told before, it might have increased your listening pleasure, but now it is disclosed that it took eleven microphones to broadcast one selection on "The Hour of Charm" on December 13. This great battery of mikes had to be turned on and off as the various instruments came in and faded out in the special arrangement of the "Meditation" from

NEXT WEEK

We are happy to present several original features in next week's issue of Radio Life. First is a double spread of exclusive pictures and a story on the Red Skelton show. Title, which may give some idea as to the theme of the feature, is "A Script is Made, Not Born." . . . Another special article is entitled "My First Broadcast," in which the stars detail the catastrophes of their first appearances before a microphone. Writers for radio come in for humorous, but kindly analysis in a story called "The Man Behind the Man Behind the Mike." And of course there will be our usual commentator and other special write-ups. Certainly not an issue to miss!

"Thais" made by Concertmistress Evelyn of Phil Spitalny's all-girl orchestra, heard Sundays over NBC.

She played the violin solo into two different microphones, starting on one and finishing on another as the harp took up the final accompaniment.

KFI, 7 p.m. Sun.

Scores Again

Sam Hayes, veteran news reporter and sports expert heard over both NBC and CBS, finished out in front of all Southern California football pickers for the season of 1942.

Hayes wound up the season with a record of 279 wins and 109 losses, for an average of .719. His nearest competitor had an average of .662. Hayes makes a habit of doing just that . . . leading the pickers year after year.

New Conductor

Replacing Leith Stevens, who resigned recently from his batoning job on "Mayor of the Town," is Gordon Jenkins, who has taken over as musical conductor for the Lionel Barrymore show on CBS.

Jenkins is a well known radio director, now leading the orchestra for two government sponsored shows and for Dinah Shore's "In Person," Blue network program.

Stevens will be sent to Australia to work on radio set-ups under the command of General MacArthur. He plans to be gone for the duration.

No Indians

First it was sugar, then coffee, then gasoline—and now it's Indians that head the "rationed" list! CBS producer Ken Hodge, casting a radio play that called for authentic redskins in dialogue spots, discovered that every Indian formerly enrolled with Hollywood talent agencies is now either working in a war plant or serving with the armed forces. So the CBS sound effects department had to "double" for the patriotic "first Americans."

"FUZZY WUZZY"

By Art Baker

RADIO CITY—(BR)—I've just talked to one of our lads who spent over a hundred days at sea aboard an aircraft carrier. Maybe somebody you know is on one of our warships right now. Thought you might like to know what he may be doing.

I'm told it isn't all go, go, go and fight, fight, fight, even when a carrier is in daily action. Every evening, unless an actual battle is on, the pilot officers gather together in the wardroom and stage a little impromptu entertainment.

They sing songs, make up funny poems about each other and the battles they've been in that day, and in general relax after the strain of facing death so long.

The pilots in a certain squadron (let's call it Scouting Squadron Five, one of the greatest), had a fellow from Tennessee who usually acted as the Master of Ceremonies. He read the foolish bulletins and the burlesque poems addressed to the rest of the crew. Name was "Red."

For week after week, big Red, a brawny he-man if there ever was one, ribbed all the other fellows. Finally, they ganged up on him. "Muscles," as they called him, received a letter when the month's mail arrived.

As his buddy described it to me, it was addressed to the Lieutenant in an "oooh so feminine" handwriting and liberally drenched with an "oooh so feminine" perfume.

By a strange quirk of fate, this mysterious letter happened to find its way to the wardroom get-together before being delivered to the man to whom it was addressed.

First it was passed around so the boys could smell it. Big Red blushed and turned a patriotic red, white, and blue while his mates sniffed the dime store fragrance of "Chanel Squadron Number Five" as the boys called it.

Big Red blushed even rosier when the letter was torn open and read aloud to his shipmates. It was couched in language which looks good to a lover on paper, but sounds comical when read aloud to unfeeling souls.

When the narrator of the letter reached the point where Red's supposed sweetheart called him her "itsy bitsy fuzzy wuzzy woozums," the wardroom was in hysterics, and Red was fit to be tied.

Of course the letter was ultimately confessed a fake, but it was a long time before the blue smoke was cleared away and Red's blushes disappeared.

Not long afterwards, the Lieutenant took off from the deck of the carrier and sent his divebomber hurtling toward ships of the Jap fleet. He flew into the jaws of death and out again a thousand times.

You've heard his name over the radio, read it in your newspaper. He's one of the greatest heroes of the war. But, with all his gallantry, courage, and skill, he hasn't yet been able to live down that embarrassing letter from the fake sweetheart who used dime store perfume and fifty-dollar love words.

Red is a hero to all of us, but to Squadron Number Five I'm told he'll always be an . . . ITSY BITSY FUZZY WUZZY WOOZUMS!

"AGONY COLUMN"

TO UPTON CLOSE: Glad to have NBC's famous authority on Far Eastern Affairs back in Hollywood and broadcasting his weighty opinions from Radio City each Sat. & Sun. But we see where your new book is on the market. Everybody will want to read it, but newsmen are notoriously poor, so where's that long-promised autographed copy . . . and a bottle of sake to wash it down. Hope the book sells as fast as the last bottle of sake went.

TO BILL HENRY: Hear there are big things brewing for you on the network. Incidentally, it shouldn't surprise you to hear that radio newsmen from coast to coast . . . the boys who write what some of your colleagues read . . . listen to your news. Which is quite a compliment.

TO FLEETWOOD LAWTON: That was a base canard you wrote about yourself in RADIO LIFE. Why, you don't sound like a lawyer at all. And it's a cinch NBC doesn't have to subpoena listeners to bear witness at your broadcasts.

TO SERGEANT JOHN WHITEHEAD: Where are those Spike Jones recordings? Somebody wants to start the New Year right . . . in Der Fuehrer's Face.

GEMS, GUM and GOO. . .

Surely there are some sentimental souls who will cherish the new Rudy Vallee "Heigh Ho Everybody" album (Victor P-111) which preserves eight of the Connecticut Yankee's best known records.

Rudy is strictly a radio product. Radio gave him his first start and brought him into the "name" category. All of the songs contained in the album are those which nudged him along his path to glory.

Included are "My Time Is Your Time," "Just a Vagabond Lover," "Deep Night," "Stein Song," "Vieni, Vieni," "Whiffenpoof Song," "Life Is Just a Bowl of Cherries" and "Kitty From Kansas City."

"Favorite Songs from Favorite Musicals" (Victor Album P-133) brings the voices of Dorothy Kirsten and Felix Knight in a collection of eight never-to-be-forgotten light classics, including "Sweet Mystery of Life," "One Alone," "Sweethearts," "My Hero" and the "Student Prince" "Serenade." The singers receive excellent support from the Victor First Nighter Orchestra and a chorus of mixed voices.

"There's another disc by Leopold Stokowski and his youthful All-American orchestra this month. Selections are DeFalla's Ritual Fire Dance (Shep Fields' theme song) from "El Amor Brajo" and "Perpetual Motion" by Novacek (Columbia 11879-D)."

This announcement reached my desk and leaves me, as it departs for the waste basket, with mixed emotions.

I don't know whether to laugh or cry. Since when did DeFalla need Shep Fields' name to identify his music?

"Warsaw Concerto," theme song from the picture, "Suicide Squadron," is given attention on two Decca discs—Alec Templeton's piano solo (18484) and Victor Young's concert orchestra (18417). Both are highly recommended for those who are taken by this "surprise" composition.

Cradle of Famous Talent

WHEN Sunday night rolls around to 7:30 o'clock, thousands of fans attune their radio receivers to the Inglewood Park Concert, heard on KNX. Walter Winchell may be giving flash news on another network, but in spite of his vaunted popularity, there are still many, many people who prefer the appeal of Inglewood Park's Concert—more people, in fact, than the number listening to Standard Symphony or Nelson Eddy.

One of the chief reasons for Inglewood Park's concert success is the caliber of conductors and artists it books. Added to the name of Earl Towner, present maestro, are those of such outstanding directors as Raymond Paige, Frederick Starke, Gino Severi, Leon Leonardi, and Claude Sweeten.

Three of the concert's former soloists, Nadine Conner, Mona Polee, and Emery Darcy, are now members of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Some of the artists, writers, announcers, producers, and technicians who have been closely associated with the Inglewood Park Concerts during Second reason for the program's success is its basic pattern, which is substantially the same now as when the concert was first introduced on the air 14 years ago. The program features "melodies America loves" with concert orchestra, the well known male quartet composed of Jan Williams, Tudor Williams, Marshall Sohl, and Allan Watson, and outstanding guest soloists.

For the 812th consecutive broadcast on Sunday, Dec. 27, artists will be Wynne Davis, soprano, and Frank Holiday, tenor.

Programs are presented under the supervision of Paul Winans, with Cliff Howell, announcer-producer; Harry Harris, technician; and Art Richards, writer.

Thursday, December 31—"The First Line," KNX, 7 p.m. (30 min.). This is the first anniversary of the program, "The First Line," which made its debut January 1, 1942, less than a month after Pearl Harbor, and has dramatized great naval deeds, interviewed many Navy heroes and explained the tradition and functions of the Navy. The program is one of the most elaborate network dramatic broadcasts. "First Line" microphones have been set up wherever the Navy is at work. Large casts are needed for realistic enactment of Navy action, and the complicated sound requirements tax the ingenuity of sound effects experts.

Radio Life Lines

By EVELYN BIGSBY

AS PROMISED: Hollywood's first horse meat party on which we promised last week to report, was a galloping success. More than 200 big-time but curious radio personalities swarmed through Norman Edwards' spacious home, where Vivian and Rosetta Duncan had provided delicious turkey, roast beef, and ham. Hal Styles swears he had some horse meat, but we didn't glimpse any. Entertainment was super, which makes even better the news that Shirley Dinsdale, young ventriloquist, and her Judy Splinters stopped the show and even ad libbed glib-tongued "Topsy" to a halt. Bing was among those absent, but then we can understand why he wouldn't want to attend a horse meat party!

IT WILL OUT: Comes word that Private Bernard Smith, ex-columnist for Radio Life now in the Army, produced a variety show last week over KMED and moreover wrote the theme song for the program. Also hear that Bernie is producing a camp play once a week and is managing the camp band and orchestra. Being in radio is like acting. One whiff of grease paint or nod of a mike, whichever the case may be, and a thousand horses can't hold 'em.

ANOTHER ONE: Is Private Hank McCune, who penned us his enthusiasm over putting on an Air Transport Command radio show over KFOX. "We do have the talent down here," Hank writes. "Ed Helwick, who wrote the Kraft show, is the writer, Nathan Scott was just transferred today and will arrange for the band. Bill Andrews, formerly of NBC, is here, and we've got the best place to broadcast from of any camp." That boy Hank will bear watching by radio fans!

WHATNOT DEPT.: Linda Johnson ("Gateway to Hollywood" winner) who was Radio Life's Valentine cover girl last year, has been given a part in a Western, "Lone Rider" . . . Cliff Arquette ("Point Sublime's Ben Willet) and his new mustache are joys to behold . . . Timid little woman in corner, last row, at Skelton show was Red's mother.

CHANGES TO COME?: Bill Thompson, fixture on the Fibber McGee and Molly show auditioned last week for a show of his own to be called "Bill Thompson Time." Making the audition record with him were Bill Goodwin and Spike Jones and his City Slickers. Bill, whose characterizations of Horatio K. Boomer, Wallace Wimple, Nick de Populus, and the Old Timer have been comic highlights of the McGee stanza, would leave an empty spot on Fibber's program if he went out on his own. But like another McGee character, "Gildersleeve," he might find unusual success, too.

TAKING IT SERIOUSLY: Next to KFI on Vermont Avenue is a nine-seat eatery called "Bill's Beanery." There is also a program on KFI, a "day club for night workers," called "Bill's Beanery." The other day four nice-appearing people showed up at the eatery, believing that it and the broadcast were the same and that the program should be taken literally. "Beanery" was closed on account of shortages, so station officials smoothed things over by inviting the quartet inside to see the show. Somebody might pull a keen promotion stunt by acquiring the "Beanery" and hooking it up with the radio program. They say that the "Duffy's Tavern" in New York (no connection whatever with Ed Gardner's radio show) is prospering on account of its ether prototype.

BEST NEWS LAST: Lifelines is thrilled to inform its readers that Radio Life's Editor-in-Service, Sgt. John Whitehead, and Miss Lorraine ("Randy") Owens, visited us as we were ready to go to press with the news that they planned to be married on Christmas Eve in Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in Covina. Lorraine, blond and petite, is a former Southern Methodist co-ed and is a non-professional. Johnny—well—he's just plain tops. We could wish no more happiness to any couple than we wish for Sgt. and Mrs. J. F. W.!

PRECASTS and PREVIEWES

What's New?

Drama

Monday, December 28—"Snow Village," KFI, 3:45 p. m. (15 min.). "Snow Village," a new serialized version of the original "Snow Village Sketches" by William Ford Manley, which for more than a year appeared as part of the Kate Smith hour, will replace "Against the Storm." "Snow Village" is a series of stories about the people of a small New England town, stories of their everyday lives, their neighborliness, and their wit. It differs from the usual daytime serial in that there is no feminine lead, although of course there will be feminine parts.

Garden

Monday, December 28—"Nutri Mone," KHJ, 10:15 a. m. (15 min.). A garden program dedicated to Southern California gardeners which will be heard Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

Commentation

Monday, December 28—"European News," KHJ, 3:30 p. m. (15 min.). The new lineup of news commentators from overseas will now be heard at this time. Stanley Quinn, speaking from Australia, Owen Cunningham from Honolulu, Arthur Mann from Algeria, Leslie Nichols from Cairo, and Seymour Korman and John Steel from London.

Who's Guesting?

Variety

Tuesday, December 29—"Burns and Allen," KNX, 6 p. m. (30 min.). Guesting on the show will be Rita Hayworth.

Friday, January 1—Rudy Vallee, KFI, 9 p. m. (30 min.). Guesting on the fun fest will be Elsie Janis. All the regulars will be on hand, Joan Davis, Gil Lamb, and Shirley Mitchell.

Drama

Monday, December 28—"Screen

Guild," KNX, 7 p. m. (30 min.). This week Lady Esther will present "Suspicion" with the original leading lady, Joan Fontaine. Playing with her will be Brian Aherne and Nigel Bruce.

Music

Sunday, December 27—"Fitch Bandwagon," KFI, 4:30 p. m. (30 min.). Do you like your dance music sweet and swiny, or do you like a rumba or conga? Whatever your taste is, that's a composite picture of the musical treat in store for listeners when Griff Williams and his orchestra step aboard the "Fitch Bandwagon." Griff will have his music makers in full complement for the bandwagon broadcast, and that includes the mellow carollings of Freddie Terry as well as vocals by Walter King and Bob Kirk.

What's Playing?

Music

Saturday, December 26—"Metropolitan Opera," KECA, 11 a. m. (3 hours) Mozart's "The Magic Flute" will be the opera to be presented under the baton of Bruno Walter. One of the United Nations will be honored during one of the intermissions with leading dignitaries of that country and diplomats representing the United States, speaking during the "Opera Victory Rally." The regular "Opera Forum Quiz" will feature Robert Lawrence, Olin Downes, and Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, three leading musical authorities.

Saturday, December 26—"Campana Serenade," KFI, 7:15 p. m. (15 min.). Dick Powell will sing "When the Lights Go on Again," and Matty Malneck will play for his feature number "Brazil."

Sunday, December 27—"NBC Symphony," KFI, 2 p. m. (1 hour). Arturo Toscanini will lead the NBC Symphony orchestra in the second of the all-Brahms cycle. The piano team of Pierre Luboshutz and Genis Nambnoff will be presented.

Sunday, December 27—"Chicago Theater of the Air," KHJ, 10:00 p. m. (1 hour). "America Loves A Melody," the prize-winning operetta in Mutual's $10,500 great American operetta quest of 1941, will be presented on the "Chicago Theater of the Air," with Marion Claire and Thomas L. Thomas in the leading roles. Miss Claire will sing the role of Lorna Carroll in the presentation, and Thomas will be cast as Philip Hayes.

Sunday, December 27—"Standard Symphony," KFI, 9 p. m. (45 min.). This week, with Henry Svedrofsky conducting, the "Standard Symphony" will present "Fugue and Lament," "Rumanian Rhapsody," and "A Million Waltzes with You."

Monday, December 28—"Carnation Contended," KFI, 7 p. m. (30 min.). Percy Faith and the Carnation orchestra will present the top ten tunes of 1942, among which will be "This is the Army Mr. Jones," and "Sleepy Lagoon."

Saturday, January 2—"The Lamplighter," KHJ, 10:15 a. m. (15 min.). The Lamplighter will interview Alvin Rey and the three King sisters. On this broadcast the names of the sisters, with the introduction of the one who is Mrs. Rey, will be clarified for all those who have wondered "who is which King sister."

Drama

Sunday, December 27—"Unlimited Horizons," KFI, 11:15 p. m. (30 min.). How tens of thousands of rats have contributed to man's knowledge of man will be told on this program. The dramatic script, entitled "Magic Messengers," will tell the story of hormones—the mysterious forces which make men pigmies or giants, which influence personality, which determine whether a person is lazy or energetic.

Tuesday, December 29—"Lights Out," KNX, 8:30 p. m. (30 min.). This week Arch Oboler will present "Valse Triste," the genesis of which was taken from Saint Saens' famous composition "Valse Triste." Mr. Oboler brings out the fact that all the world is chance, and this play tells of a twist of fate which happened to two young girls on a vacation.

Centipedes Started It

Could it be there's internal strife in the House of Riggs? The other day at rehearsal Tommy Riggs had a violent fit of coughing. Deeply concerned, Mel Blanc (Uncle Petie on the show) asked, "What's the matter, Betty Lou?"

In a very disgusted voice, the young lady replied, "It's not me, it's the dope I work for!"

Jackie Kelk, who is Homer on "The Aldrich Family," quips that wallflowers are girls whose romances have been nipped in the bud!

Dinah Shore, swingstress of Eddie Cantor's show, volunteered to give a song recital for the men in training for the Army Air Corps, and said she almost had a fainting spell when she caught sight of the huge stack of butter in the mess hall. "It was quite a shock," says Dinah, "because I hadn't cast eyes on butter for a month."

Did you know that the Cuban folk dance, "La Conga," was named after an insect? Says Billy Mills, radio maestro: "The common name for a centipede in the West Indies is 'con-garee.' When the Cubans introduced their many-legged dance, the name 'La Conga' was an obvious choice."

 Jack Benny went for his first canter on his new horse, Leona, and when he dismounted he groaned, "I never knew anything filled with hay could be so hard."

● Wisdom of the Week: "The trouble with Mussolini is that he hasn't got any aces and the Duce is wild."—Fibber McGee. . . "We have to buy war bonds and keep buyin' and buyin' if our soldiers and sailors are goin' to have an even break at winning this war. Lend, don't spend."—Ben Willet.

● Home Front Patriotism: The James Jordan family of Encino, Calif. (the Mister is Fibber McGee and the Missus is Molly of the airwaves) is a fine example of how much typical Hollywood radio families are contributing to the war effort these days. In addition to their Wistful Vista NBC Comedy airings each Tuesday, which can certainly be classified as important contributions to the morale campaign on the home front, Jim and Marian Jordan are regular "workers" at the H'wood Canteen, have erected a huge Christmas tree at Lemoore Field (Fresno) for the air force cadets at that Army basic training field and will pay the boys a visit for a few days around Christmas to distribute presents to their "adopted sons." When the Jordans make the holiday trek to Lemoore Field the event will have a special significance to World War I Veteran James Jordan as James Jordan, Jr., only son of the Jordans, has been accepted in the Army Air Force Reserve as a cadet. Young Jim, a quiet, likeable, handsome fellow of 19 summers is currently an undergrad at U. S. C. The Lemoore Field cadets will also be afforded an extra thrill when the Jordans go north to stage their special Christmas show as "tagging along" will be the Jordans' lovely 21-year-old daughter, Kathryn Jordan. Marian (Molly) Jordan, one of the most sincere women it has ever been my pleasure to know during 12 years of radio row-ing, just can't do enough for the men in uniform these days. Don Wilson told me the other day that "Molly" is reading flocks of small town American newspapers every week in order to tell servicemen what is happening in their home town via a shortwave transcribed series she is doing for the Office of War Information, and which is being distributed to American battle stations all over the world. This column likes to nominate the James Jordans of Encino as today's "home front family of the week." The Jordans are all-out in their personal contributions to the Victory drive. Even daughter Kathryn is working in a war plant and buying bonds with her salary each week. Let us all check ourselves now. Are we—Is our family—all-out for Victory? Are you doing not just your share, but more than your share? It's going to take more than the minimum to win this war. In fact, it's going to take the maximum effort of each American family if we are to achieve a real Victory and effect a lasting peace.

● Breezy Briefs: Dinah Shore tops all other stars in the number of times she has been invited to appear on "Command Performance," the half-hour radio show transcribed and beamed overseas strictly for servicemen. She makes her 12th appearance on the show Christmas Day . . . When Ork Leader Sammy Kaye mailed a $1,000 check to the Navy Relief the other day it marked the fourth time the Swing-'n'-Sway batoneer had donated a $1,000 royalty check to Navy Relief from his returns on "Remember Pearl Harbor," the song he wrote and introduced soon after America's entry into the war.

● George E. Phair Tells One: Cass Daley, whose sensational guestturns on the Bing Crosby show have marked her as a potential radio star of 1943, has learned a lot via radio, including geography, nomenclature and poesy. Here is a sample of her rhyming . . .

An announcer named Kezak Znfylidtz
Who was born in the town of Bgnymitz
Has had a promotion,
Is crossing the ocean
To broadcast the fighting at Fgnyditz.

● Uniform Corner: Cliff Carling, popular Hollywood agent who with Mel Shauer has been mainly responsible for the recognition given this past year to one Spike (City Slicker) Jones, was in town briefly last week. A veteran of the first war, Carling is now a first lieutenant stationed at Fort Douglas, Utah. He has just been appointed Public Relations Officer of the 9th Army Headquarters. Lieut. Carling's Christmas gift from Spike was a handsome officer's uniform . . .

ficlates in that capacity at about 400 dinners a year.

He thinks one of his best after-dinner stories is about the German humorist, now in a concentration camp because he put into wide circulation the gag about "98 per cent of the German people are for Hitler, but wherever I go I meet the other two per cent."

California Ribbed

Recently, California came in for a ribbing at Hershfield's expense. Here's a story that was sent in by a Forest Hills, N. Y. man: A guy found himself attacked by moths every time he opened a closet. He raced down to the drugstore for something that kills moths. The clerk sold him a box of moth balls, guaranteeing certain death. In about 20 minutes the chap was back at the store asking for another box of the same. The clerk was surprised, but being a good salesman, said nothing.

However, when the customer came back for five more boxes, the salesman couldn't restrain his curiosity.

"What on earth do you want all those moth balls for?," he asked.

"Oh!," replied the dope. "I threw every moth ball I had at 'em, but never hit a moth!"

This joke hit the 750 mark on the "laughmeter." But Hershfield topped it with this one, which hit 950: A very poor old woman was dying in New York. The neighbors scraped some money together for a telegram to her only son in California, informing him of this tragedy. The boy was also very poor, but he had a bicycle. So he pumped up the tires and rode it all the way to New York, right up the steps of the tenement house and into his mother's room.

Throwing his bike on the floor, he told his mother to keep her spirits up while he went for the doctor. When he and the doctor returned, they were astounded. The old lady was sitting up in bed with rosy cheeks and a robust, healthful appearance!

Her cure was simple: When the son threw his bicycle down, one of the tires hit a tack on the floor and was punctured.

The marvelous California air that escaped had brought about the mother's speedy recovery!

Propos of the current rationing, this Hershfield yarn clicked heartily for a recent 400 points: A man in a restaurant called the waiter over and said disgustedly: "What's this, coffee or tea?—It tastes like kerosene!"

"Well," said the waiter. "If it tastes like kerosene, it must be the coffee, because the tea tastes like turpentine!"

By Jim Jordan

(Fibber McGee)

OUR show, Fibber McGee and Molly, went to the top of the radio survey for the first time a year ago in May. My wife, Marian, (Molly) and I were walking on air. Shortly after, just as we were leaving for the NBC studios for a rehearsal, a special delivery letter came for me. It was addressed in my brother's handwriting, but the envelope was suspiciously thin. I opened it and out dropped a ten dollar bill. Nothing else—just ten dollars.

I thought at first it was a gag—a shallow one to be sure—but nevertheless some sort of joke. And then I remembered.

Seventeen years ago Marian and I had two youngsters, aged five and one, an unquenchable thirst for show business, and debts a mile high. We had tested our mettle as singers in vaudeville with questionable success—sometimes making as much as $50 one week and sometimes borrowing $25 the next. In desperation I had tried such jobs as selling washing machines, vacuum cleaners, and insurance, and peddling Uncle Sam's mail.

It was then, in 1926, we found out about radio. I was visiting my brother in Chicago and together we were listening to a program over station WIBO. I was feeling low and vindictive. "Pshaw," I said. "Marian and I could do a better job than anyone on that program."

My brother, usually a mild individual who would listen to my problems with only a sympathetic comment, put his hand in his pocket and withdrew a greenback.

"Ten dollars says you can't," he said.

It was the first time he had shown lack of confidence in me. Maybe I had been doing too much talking and not enough trying. Why not approach a new field? Why not try radio?

That very night Marian and I drove to the radio station. The manager was there, harrassed and unhappy with a lack of talent. We sang a song for him, Marian accompanying on the piano. We walked out of the station with a contract. The next day we were sponsored as the "O'Henry Twins."

Marian and I stayed in radio from then on, progressing slowly until 1931 when we met Don Quinn, the writer who has been with us ever since. Then we reached the goal of all radio performers—top of the Crossley rating.

And it took that and seventeen years to convince my brother!

Mel Blanc

LIKE Heinz, Mel Blanc has 57 varieties. Only his wares are not pickles, but voices.

Mel, who is the voice of Porky Pig, Bugs Bunny, Daffy Duck, and of various other animals on the Leon Schlesinger cartoons, is also an artist with a radio career.

His weekly schedule runs something like this: Monday he plays on the "Major Hoople" show as Tiffany Twiggs, the star boarder; Tuesday, on the Burns and Allen program, he is the absent-minded Dr. Lewis and/or the Happy Postman; when Point Sublime airs on Wednesday, Mel does one of his favorite characterizations—that of August Moon; Thursday finds him portraying Botsford Twink and Juan on the Abbott and Costello broadcast; Friday, he is Uncle Petie and Rover (the dog) with Tommy Riggs and Betty Lou; and on Sunday he is Floyd, the barber, on the "Great Gildersleeve."

How that man Blanc gets around!

As a high school boy, Mel started in radio at KGW, Portland.

When he was 22, he became musical director of the Orpheum there.

In 1933 (of all times!) he launched his own radio program, writing it, producing it, and doing all the voices. It was a one-man show, with Mrs. Blanc assisting. This experiment really started Mel on his extensive research into voices and dialect.

When he came to Southern California in 1935, it was tough going for awhile.

Then Mel did a take-off on a news reel at KFWB, and soon landed a spot with Joe Penner. From then until now, it has been a steady climb to renown.

His interpretation of animal voices followed after he had established himself as an air dialectician and actor. His first animal part on the air was that of Benny's bear, Carmichael. One of his recent animal parts was that of the turkey on Burns and Allen.

Mel is always trying to figure out new voices and dialects, and finds himself talking to himself as he drives the car. Out of his mutterings a new character is usually born.

He is now so adept at doing his 57 varieties that his wife, and even his own mother sometimes can't believe that Mel has taken such-and-such part on a radio program. Mel is probably as much surprised at himself as they.

Back Stage At the Metropolitan

A HUSH comes over the audience. The stately dowagers in their sparkling jewels, and the men in their tail coats look with anticipation as the curtain goes up.

It's opera season once again.

But serenity does not exist backstage. No, there is the hustle and bustle of seeing that all goes well. Shhhh! Here comes lovely Grace Moore, looking so feminine in the role of Mimi from "La Boheme."

You at home, who by merely flipping your dial to the Blue Network hear the opera brought to you as realistically as though you were actually seeing the performance probably realize the work that goes into the stage version. But what you may not comprehend is the hours and hours of work it takes to bring you these programs via the airwaves.

Painstaking preparation to meet broadcasting requirements goes into making of a perfect performance. Circuit wires, amplifiers, and tubes are checked for proper action. The engineers' task, problem, and responsibility are to see that the listeners get the truest tones possible. This is no small job, and in order to do so he must place his microphones very carefully. There can be no ordinary microphone as the average opera star standing close to it would "blast it out." Nine microphones are placed about the auditorium and stage, some hanging 35 feet above the orchestra to pick up the music, and microphones are hidden among the footlights to pick up the voices from the stage.

But that is the mere beginning of

AN INVITATION from the New York Public Library to come in and hear the broadcast from the Metropolitan Opera House attracts hundreds. The idea was conceived when the librarian noticed people loitering about radio stores to hear the music.

PRODUCTION DIRECTOR (above) follows the score and signals engineer. Herbert E. Liversidge forms a C with his left hand to indicate that the opera chorus will be heard next, giving the engineer the cue for cutting out the various microphones in the opera house.

NOTE BY NOTE, (below) the opera fans follow the musical score. Many of these who gather in the library have never seen an operatic production. Others follow the story of the opera in volumes supplied by the library. The room in which the attentive listening group gathers is decorated with photographs of stars, scenes from productions.

HIDDEN AMONG THE FOOTLIGHTS are microphones that pick up the voices from the stage.

the job to bring to arm-chair listeners the beautiful arias.

During the broadcast, three engineers are stationed in the master control room, one in a studio, and two at the scene of the performance. In a soundproof booth in the rear of the Metropolitan sit three men—the engineer, the production director, and the announcer.

The task assigned to the production man is a very interesting one. He follows the score almost as closely as the director of the orchestra. He then signals the engineer as to what is coming next, giving the cue for cutting in, or cutting out the various microphones in the opera house. He also checks with the stage manager on the timing of each act, and reports to the announcer in his broadcasting booth on one side of the Grand Tier.

Not only are the operas heard in this country, but also in South America. Another sound proof booth in the rear of the Met houses another announcer and engineer who handle the broadcast for approximately 4,000,000 of our southern friends.

OPERA'S WELL IN HAND as the production manager gives the cues to the engineer. Starting top left and going clockwise, the signals say: trio, soft; duet, very soft; quartette, soft; male voice.

CUT IN THE CHORUS, signals production man Herbert F. Liversidge to the engineer. Milton Cross, opera announcer par excellence, is in the background.

LILY PONS, popular coloratura soprano, stands ready to go on the air as a special commentator.

"CURTAIN GOING UP" signals De Vere Engleback (below), page who works backstage and telephones Cross when the stage curtain is about to rise.

Tuesday Night:

We Hit The Jackpot

Recognized as Comedy Night,
Tuesday Offers Other Fare
As Our Article Discloses

SERVICE MEN ARE GUEST STARS on NBC's "Johnny Presents Ginny Simms." Pictured is a shower given on show for baby of Lieut. Tom Moore (with Ginny).

PACKED WITH INTRIGUE is the Blue's program, "Hop Harrigan." Here, two of the leads, Chester Stratton and Jackson Beck, take off on a secret mission.

JOLSON AND PARKYAKARKUS. Famous singer of mammy songs and his redoubtable Greek dialect comedian (Harry Einstein) polish off script for their CBS show.

A SMALL boy who had spent the afternoon at the circus, came out of the big top weeping bitterly.

Questioned as to the cause of his grief, he replied that he hadn't been able to see everything that was going on all at once in all three rings.

Tuesday night radio listeners probably understand how the lad felt. There's so much going on over the air on Tuesdays that it involves planned listening not to miss one's favorites.

This night is primarily one of comedy. The boisterous promenade starts at 6 o'clock with Burns and Allen and scarcely lets up until "Duffy's Tavern" signs off at 9:30.

In case you have not familiarized yourself with this rib-tickling schedule, may we submit a tentative time table in the lighter vein:

6 p. m., KNX, Burns and Allen.

6:30 p. m., KFI, Fibber McGee and Molly.

7 p. m., KFI, Bob Hope.

7:30 p. m., KFI, Red Skelton.

9 p. m., KNX, Al Jolson; KECA, "Duffy's Tavern."

The interval between 8 o'clock and 9 may be filled in with the KHJ "Pay Day Quiz," good for several laughs among the questions (heard 8-8:30) and with "Johnny Presents Ginny Simms" (KFI, 8:30-9). This makes a solid evening of super entertainment.

For those of you who might not feel in the mood for Hope's quick quips and merry tunes as done by such experts as the "King's Men" and Harriet Hilliard, may we suggest a schedule like this:

5:30 p. m., KFI, Horace Heidt's "Treasure Chest" (music and quiz on the informal side).

6 p. m., KFI, "Battle of the Sexes" (Walter O'Keefe aligns vying males and females to compete mentally in lively manner).

6:30 p. m., KNX, "Suspense" (series of thriller mystery stories).

7 p. m., KPAS, "Listener's Digest"

(comprehensive comment on current doings by Howard Bell and Carl Bailey).

7:30 p. m., KNX, "Time Out for Melody" (smooth musicians and semi-popular selections).

8 p. m., KECA, "Watch the World Go By" (up to the minute comment by Earl Godwin, dean of White House correspondents).

8:15 p. m., KNX, Harry James' orchestra.

9 p. m., KFI, "Thin Man" (adventures of Detective Nick Charles and his wife, Nora).

9:30 p. m., KNX, "Hollywood Showcase" (Mary Astor emcees a program which displays talents of young professionals).

10 p. m., KMTR, "Viennese Ensemble" (stringed orchestra in lilt-ing melodies).

Not to be overlooked, too, are such interesting programs as "Hop Harrigan" (KECA, 6 p. m.) which is a series woven around intrigue; "Lights Out" (KNX, 8:30 p. m.) which is another blood-chiller, concocted by Arch Oboler; "The Shadow," KHJ's mystery show at 8:30 p. m.; "Theater of Fame" (KFWB, 9 p. m.) which dramatizes historical happenings and makes them very human events; Erskine Johnson (KECA, 9:30 p. m.) the Hollywood reporter; "This Nation at War" (KECA, 10 p. m.) a stirring narrative-interview presentation of this country's all-out prosecution of the conflict; and "Information Please," which, to many, is the outstanding quiz program on the air and with such wits as Oscar Levant and Clifton Fadiman, bids fair to punch in each week with a cash register full of laughs.

Also recommended are two programs which fall rather early on the listening schedule (at 4:30 p. m.), but provide a late-afternoon respite from the usual fare. The "American Melody Hour" on KNX affords melodic entertainment, while "Art Baker's Notebook" observes people and analyses situations.

Speaking of the serious side, Tuesday is an excellent time to weigh what the commentators have to say. KNX offers Harry W. Flannery at 5:30 p. m., Cecil Brown at 5:55, Frazier Hunt at 7:45; NBC-KFI airs Kallenborn at 5 p. m.; Mutual is proud to present Fulton Lewis at 4 and 9:45 p. m., Gabriel Heatter at 6, and John B. Hughes at 7; Raymond Gram Swing airs over the Blue-KECA at 7; and Earl Godwin airs on the same hookup at 8.

CLAUDIA MORGAN (right), daughter of Frank, has been acquitting herself commendably as Nora in NBC's "Thin Man." Many listeners think she sounds like Myrna Loy.

WRITER-PRODUCER of KFWB's "Theater of Fame" (far right) is Celeste Rush, who presents semi-historical dramas packed with human interest.

IS "PAYMASTER WILSON" paying off? Emcee of more than a half dozen KHJ quiz shows, Stu puts the money on line for Tuesday night's "Pay Day Quiz."

PROFESSIONALS WHO WANT CHANCE besiege Mary Astor for placement on her "Hollywood Showcase." In past 18 months, 400 have displayed their talents.

WISE CRACKER DE LUXE and competent emcee of "Battle of the Sexes" is Walter O'Keefe. He made his first splash in radio pinch-hitting for Fred Allen.

CASTING QUIZZICAL GLANCES at Hollywood is the well known film and radio capital reporter, Erskine Johnson, who airs "Hollywood Spotlight" on Tuesday.

"I Hate Soap Operas"

So What? You Don't Have to Listen.
Try These Lists of Suggested Shows

WHAT do the networks think we are . . . 10 year olds? My goodness! Some of the material they feed us on the morning soap operas is downright disgusting!"

That is the opinion of one of our readers who wrote in to ask if there wasn't something else on the radio she could listen to that would be of a "little higher mental level."

It is interesting to note that listeners are not the only ones who complain about the soap operas. Last week your Radio Life reporter saw a rather amusing incident transpire just before the broadcast of one of the major morning serials. All the men in the engineer's sound-proof booth lowered their heads together and came up just as it was time to go on the air, with clothes pins on their noses.

Many people like soap operas, and we do not mean to condemn them, but merely to present the opinion of one reader and try to help her solve her problem of what else to listen to on the radio.

Knowing that different people's tastes vary, we are presenting for you two different types of fare—one to appeal to the more religious nature, and one just a general all-around listening schedule.

In a break-down of the major networks, one finds that KHJ goes practically through the day without a soap opera. KFI has a dead spot, as far as those who do not like the soap operas are concerned, between 12:15 and 4 p. m. KECA's setup, however, is different in that its plays start at 5 p. m., run through 6:30, and are slanted for the children.

As far as varied listening on KNX goes during the day . . . if you like soap operas, it's fine, but if you don't, there's not much else. So here's some suggested listening. Happy exploring!

Top This?

only story which hit the 1000 mark. Here it is: A woman hired a man to act as butler at an affair which would put her into top society. "Now Joseph," she admonished, "I want you to announce all the people who arrive."

In the interval before the guests began to appear, Joseph proceeded to test the punch and a little while later began to feel very, very wavy. He managed to scramble through announcements and then when Mr. and Mrs. Nichols arrived with their three children, Joseph proceeded to announce them: "Mr. and Mrs. Nichols and fifteen cents!"

A few Saturday nights ago, the three wits of the show settled themselves on the podium ready to take up the program's challenge. About two minutes before air time, a sudden flurry of excitement rose up around the control room. Announcer Bower rushed across the stage, and jittery with suppressed suspense, told the audience: "An important announcement is about to go on the air. Because of this, we shall delay our program for about five minutes."

The audience was startled. But soon the show continued and on-lookers settled back while "Can You Top This?" roared on. What it did not know, it did not miss. It did not know that the long desired Second Front was on!

And what the wits did not know, as they pumelled the "laughmeter" about, was that they were cut off the air for 10 minutes during their actual broadcast—to make way for the President's message.

For once—"Can You Top This?" was topped!

Dead End, we nominate Fred (Ban-jovoice) Allen. Aged in the wood-shed, his program maintains a consistent 100 proof laugh voltage. Best ad libber in the business. But he's still a better humorist than a comedian. Can write his own gags (and did) before prosperity infection set in. His snipings at Benny are classical satires. Present half-hour an improvement on the one hour dirge.
Allen's one complaint is that his chattering teeth keep him awake on cold nights. Then why leave 'em on the window sill?

CURDLED CLOSINGS

Producers complain that too many talent scouts work themselves up into a "lather" over phoney new "discoveries" . . . instead of shaving more often! But as the Chinese chef said:
"KUMQUAT may, there's only one way to put your pfutttt in Der Fueh-rer's Face, and that's to STAMP on it!"

Tricks of the Trade

There's a trick to being a "quack"
. . . and Clarence Nash, who portrays Herman the Duck on CBS' Burns and Allen show, demonstrated it the other day to curious cast members who wondered how his voice "got that way." Nash keeps his teeth clenched and talks out of the side of his mouth. The vibrations of his tongue against his "uppers" produce the humorous duck quacks.

"Were you frightened in the blitz?" is the question most frequently asked of American-born Lady Leslie Doverdale, who appeared on a recent CBS broadcast from New York. "During a blitz," she explains,
"one acquires a psychological frame of mind, expressed in the saying, 'If a bomb has your name on it, you'll get it.'" One day a man said to Lady Doverdale, "That's all very well, but my name happens to be Smith!"

"Know Your Commentator"

Harry W. Flannery

He Was There

WHEN you hear the voice of Harry W.
Flannery, news commentator on CBS-KNX, describing a bomb attack somewhere in Europe, don't be surprised at the ring of authority in his tone. For Flannery has been there when the bombs were going boom!

Flannery was Columbia Broadcasting System's Berlin correspondent when things were toughest in the Nazi capital. Spied upon by the gestapo at all times, he still managed to supply America with verbal accounts of the history-making events during pre-Pearl Harbor days. Many were the bombs that fell on Berlin while Flannery was there—destructive eggs dropped by the RAF, and some of them missing Harry by mere yards. Yet he never stopped silently cheering on the British in their efforts.

Flannery is no booted, swaggering war correspondent. He is a quiet person, husky withal, who believes that a thorough knowledge of the subject under consideration is of more value than all the bluffing ability in the world. Yet he knows how to bluff when a bluff is necessary to get a story through—as was shown in many experiences with the Nazi Foreign Office and its censorship bureau.

In preparation for his daily airings, Flannery sometimes reads and makes notes for ten straight hours. He doesn't skip a paragraph in the huge teletyped news report that rolls into the CBS newsroom in Hollywood every day. In addition, he reads the local papers, the leading newspapers of New York, Chicago and London, the news magazines and all books on current events. His encyclopedia is as well worn as a bride's handbook on baking biscuits. He has one of the largest biographical files in the country. In his spare time he listens to the broadcast analyses of other radio commentators.

His chief hobby is photography — sometimes an embarrassing one during his stay in Germany, but he did manage to bring back some highly interesting movies of wrecked German planes in Crete and demolished tanks in the Balkans.

There is one mystery in his life. He insists that the "W" be always included in his name—but he won't tell what the "W" stands for. He says it is just lucky!

Chef Milani's Page on Foods

PREPARED FOR RADIO LIFE'S
CONSUMERS' CLUB BY CHEF MILANI

Happy New Year, friends! May this year bring to you the fruits of happiness, and to all of us the joys of victory and peace! This is our New Year's wish!

And now in the face of rationing and shortages, we're going to talk about food—the food of “ye gude olde days.” But don't worry, “ye gude olde day” goes clear back almost 600 years so there won't be any tempting references to those times of the twentieth century when you could eat a stack of steak swimming in butter sauce—oops, we weren't going to talk about that.

Well, as we were saying, in the “gude olde days” in England (where New Year's was a necessary part of the year's holidays as far back as any landlord of a manor could remember) feasting was considered the best way to celebrate this day.

So when it came around each year, ye olde landlord and his family and bosom buddies got together and drank wassail. In case any of you should wonder what that means (ever notice how it keeps turning up in greeting cards and carols) we can give you the explanation.

Wassail means “Wass hael.” Get it? No? Well, maybe we should go into this a little deeper. That was just the way they said “Health to you” or “Here's mud in your eye” in those days. Everybody drank everybody else's wassail. That was the custom.

Incidentally, what they drank was a special ale or sherry that had been boiled “till a fine froth was obtained.” Then twelve apples were tossed in, and if that wasn't enough, they also threw in an orange stuck with cloves.

A goose was the mainstay of the dinner of the day, which, by the way, usually started a couple of days before and lasted until several days after. But make no mistake, goose was not the only course. Boar's head with an apple in its mouth, roasted swan, puddings made of a kind of gruel—oh there were all sorts of good things to eat!

If you came to the feast as a “first foot,” you were doubly welcome. “First foot” means you were the first to enter your neighbor's house after midnight, and because of that you were the one person who would bring the family good luck throughout the following year.

Of course, it was also the custom for “First Foot” to insure his welcome by bringing gifts of bread, cheese, and cakes.

And you know, that might not be a bad idea for this New Year's. How about having the neighbors in? Let them try for the post of First Foot. You can tip them off to the ancient and honored custom of bringing along some food just to make sure of the welcome. That ought to have the makings of a swell pot-luck feast. What do you think?

And why not have a wassail bowl? You can serve hot punch, hot spiced cider, or mulled wine. That orange stuck with cloves will add to the delicious flavors of your wassail bowl. It's guaranteed by six centuries of tradition.

We hope you have fun! And now before we finish off, we want to again wish you a Happy New Year!
