Leora Scherquist, 457 Clifton Street, Los Angeles 31, Calif.

Sirs: What has happened to Galen Drake? I hope he is only on vacation. In addition to this, I would also like to know something about the "Inner Sanctum" and Raymond.

Galen Drake is now in New York representing Fletcher Willey Productions and broadcasting on Blue station KJZ. He cannot be heard locally at present. As to Raymond, on "The Inner Sanctum" mystery, his full name is Raymond E. Johnson. He's a veteran when it comes to thrillers, used to be on the Arch Oboler "Lights Out" series, and also many daytime shows.

Mrs. W. C. Birchfield, 1326 Belle Street, San Bernardino, Calif.

Sirs: It was a pleasant surprise to me when I happened to pick up a copy of Radio Life and find that it was a magazine devoted to Western listeners. I recently moved here from the East and most of the stations in this area were strangers to me. But thanks to Radio Life I soon became acquainted and now enjoy all my favorite programs as before.

The articles and pictures you publish are always interesting and I find them especially fine scrap book material. I make many scrap books for shut-ins and wonder if your readers would help me by sending me any of their old issues of Radio Life or any other interesting magazine articles, cartoons, or postcard views. I would appreciate any material sent and the many shut-ins to whom the books go, would thank you all very much.

Could you give us some information on the theme songs used by the popular daytime shows?

Scrapbooks for shut-ins sound like the most worthy end that could come to a discarded issue of Radio Life. Those readers who aren't doing a little cutting up on their own might forward their back issues Mrs. Birchfield's way. We're sure they'll be appreciated.

We hope you'll look up our feature on "Radio's Theme Songs" in the August 6th issue. It contains information about the opening and closing music on popular airshows heard both night and day.

Lila Lee Mansfield, 1679 Monte Vista, Pasadena 4, Calif.

Sirs: Reading the Radio Life of August 20, I find someone else who doesn't like the present "Jack Packard" in "I Love a Mystery." My family and I think the program was ruined when they separated the old "Jack" and "Doc." We never used to miss the program, but now we seldom listen to it. Can't Mr. Morse get the first "Jack" back?

On page 10 of the same magazine I see where a dog named "Mac" prefers Crosby to Sinatra. So do I. I say that is a smart dog.

A Reader, 2235 Fifth Street, LaVerne, Calif.

Sirs: I certainly agree with those other readers and wonder why the people on the "Mary Marlin" program live so much in the past. It's a shame the program can't be brought up to date and a little "umph" inserted, for "Mary" is a fine actress.

We have an apology due our readers. Agnes Moorehead is NOT still playing the part of "Mrs. Dithers" on the "Blondie" program, as we stated in reply to one of last week's letters. She does portray Mrs. Freddie Martin on the Jack Carson show and still plays "Marilly" Lionel Barrymore's housekeeper on "Mayor of the Town," however, Elvia Allman is heard in the part of "Mrs. Dithers."

Mrs. Edith Derickson, 337 W. 88th Place, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I really can't say enough about Radio Life, it is such a fine magazine. I read each week's issue from cover to cover. In these war times the radio is more than ever a source of entertainment, which makes the news of our favorites we read in Radio Life doubly welcome.

I enjoy some of the daytime serials, but the one I miss most is "Myrt and Marge." I can't understand why some company doesn't bring Miss Myrtle Vail back to the air, either in a continuation of that famous story or in a new one. Why don't we fans of hers write to KNX or the Columbia Broadcasting System expressing our desire for the return of this play? I know there are a lot of us.

Nothing is stronger than our popult. they say.

Stanley Schultz and Don Coffin, 3960 Olive Avenue, Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: By the authority vested in us as president and vice-president of the "Arm-Chair Detective Society of Long Beach" (membership two) we wish you to know that in our estimation your magazine is tops. For the best radio news and everything else that concerns radio from the listeners' point of view, your magazine just can't be beat.

We get great enjoyment listening to such radio programs as "Ellery Queen" and "Crime Doctor" by trying to work out the solution to the crime portrayed before "the jig is up." We are sure that many radio listeners follow the same procedure as we, for being able to solve a mystery that practically foiled the "invincible Queen" brings great satisfaction to Mr. John Q. Public.

In our estimation, the three best shows on the air besides Ellery Queen are: "The Cresta Blanca Carnival," "The Bullock's Show" and "Suspense."

Sirs: We have heard about the program "Glamor Manor" that was supposed to start July 3, according to Cliff Arquette who was interviewed by Art Linkletter of "What's Doing Ladies."

We are very anxious to know what has happened to both "Glamor Manor" and Cliff Arquette.

"Glamor Manor" with Cliff Arquette as its star is broadcast over the Blue Network five mornings a week, but was not heard locally until July 24. From then on it has been on KECA at 9 a.m., Monday through Friday.

Mrs. W. Pelican, 11614 Hamlin Street, North Hollywood, Calif.

Sirs: I have been waiting for some time for a writeup of the cast of "I Love A Mystery"—particularly about the character "Michael." The part is played by Forrest Lewis. I'm sure I speak for many when I say here's a great character actor.

We hope you enjoyed our story on Mercedes McCambridge, "Murder Is Her Business," which appeared in the August 20th issue. Mercedes is a regular member of the "I Love A Mystery" cast. If enough readers express a desire to hear more about Mr. Lewis we'll try to oblige as soon as our schedule permits.

Mrs. Peckham, Route 1, Box 172, Fullerton, Calif.

Sirs: Do the authors of "Mary Marlin" seriously consider themselves writers? I have given up listening to the program because it never comes to a climax, wanders all over the globe, and for what reason?

I would like to know when I could hear organ music on the radio, also which organs are wood and which are electric. It also might be interesting to have an issue with some of the leading organists written up. Yes I'm an organist, but the same thing might be applied to the piano.

Maybe public opinion will move the writers of the "Mary Marlin" program to a different course of action. We'll try to print the information you request on organists in an early issue.

Sirs: The announcer over KECA follows Ted Malone's London broadcast at 7:15 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays with "Tune in at this same time tomorrow for George Hicks" — that is, he gives this on Mondays and Wednesdays —and Bob Nichols has at various times told us that George Hicks will be on KECA on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7:15 p.m. But since Hick's broadcast from a destroyer on D-day I have been unable to find him anywhere at any time. As he is the most thrilling and astonishing broadcaster on the air I am disappointed to be missing him. Can you explain what is wrong?

George Hicks isn't actually on the air on his Tuesday and Thursday evening broadcasts until 7:20—that's probably why you've missed him. In addition to these programs he will present a weekly review of frontline news from Europe where he is with our invasion troops, starting September 17, Sunday, at 10:15 a. m.

MURDER ON "The Man Called X"

1. A STUDIO TRAGEDY confronts the Blue Network's new Saturday night thrill drama, "The Man Called X," as pageboy, closing studios at midnight, finds body of producer Jack Johnstone stretched inside door with Blue microphone across body. Pageboy phones for Herbert Marshall, who as "The Man Called X," an international detective, is the program's star.

MYSTERY FANS find delight in each new episode of the thrilling dramatic series entitled "The Man Called X", which is now being heard over the Blue Network, every Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The show stars Herbert Marshall, suave film actor who has come to radio in the role of an international detective operating in the interest of allied nations. Marshall's leading lady is Ge Ge Pearson, who

He makes note of pipe on floor and bends over to extract partially burned match from Johnstone's fingers. He decides to reconvene the cast at once for questioning.

3. NANCY (played by Ge Ge Pearson), flip-cracking fiancée of Marshall in "The Man Called X," and the other cast members listen attentively as he relates gruesome details. Johnstone had stayed behind after rehearsal to make some script corrections, Marshall tells them, adding: "It could have been a heart attack. But I'm not too sure that it was."

4. KNOWING THAT NO LOVE was lost between Johnstone and the lovable but often sinister Egon (played by Hans Conried), Marshall draws the latter aside. Egon protests his innocence, expressing horror at the thought that anyone could have wanted to harm Johnstone. "He was such a nice fellow—why, I almost loved him like a brother," Egon expostulates.

5. EGON'S LAST REMARK registers sharply in Marshall's brain. He remembers two incidents of the rehearsal early in the evening. The first was when Johnstone, standing, came to that part of the script which called for Egon to be killed, and thus eliminated from future episodes. He remembers Egon's expression of anger when Johnstone refused to change scene.

Seventy-Six Cars and One "A" Book!

By Richard Baker

James Melton's Success Has Given Him Chance to Achieve Childhood Ambition to Be a Flivver Fancier

Sunday, 6:30 p.m.
CBS—KNX

JAMES MELTON, who made a welcome return to the airwaves this summer, showed up at Hollywood's CBS studios one Sunday afternoon, late for the rehearsal of his weekly "Texaco Star Theater" broadcast. Reason was, his Stanley Steamer had refused to steam!

Owner of the world's largest collection of antique motor cars, Melton has seventy-six of the old-time flivvers, and among them, two picturesque Stanley Steamers which he brought with him when he came to the West Coast for the making of the new MGM technicolor extravaganza, "Ziegfeld Follies". While here, he drove the Stanley Steamer models to and from the radio and movie studios, saving gasoline, since the ancient jalopies run on mere kerosene and water. In fact, although he owns seventy-six automobiles, Melton has just one A-Book!

All of the singer's cars are in perfect running condition. "I work on them myself," Melton told us, adding that he also employs a crew of mechanics.

The day his 1921 Stanley Steamer balked, making him late for his broadcast rehearsal, he spied a sailor in the audience who had been a member of his maintenance crew before going into service. During the show's "warm up", Jimmy shouted to him, "I wish you'd hurry up and get out of the Navy, so you could keep an eye on my steamer prima donnas!"

But Melton's cars as well as his mechanics are currently working for Uncle Sam! The ancient auto originally owned by Atwater Kent has been reconditioned and is now at Ream Hospital, Florida, taking convalescing war heroes for rides in the Palm Beach sunshine. Other vehicles of the Melton collection have raced in the east, with proceeds going to war charities.

His Prize Conveyance

Melton names as the prize conveyance of his collection, a horseless stage coach that a millionaire had built to go to the races on Long Island in 1893. It is powered by two steam engines and equipped with eight tool boxes, four on each side. He also has a De Dion Motorette, 1898 model, which was the first car registered in Connecticut, and the 1908 Fiat, with plum-colored upholstery and sterling silver fittings, that was once owned by the fabulous Diamond Jim Brady.

On his lapel, we noted, Melton wears a miniature diamond and platinum replica of Brady's 1906 Locomobile that won the Vanderbilt Cup Race.

Jimmy's interest in automobiles dates back to the days of his childhood, when, as a small boy, he was fascinated by his uncle's "White" automobile. He determined then that he would some day own one.

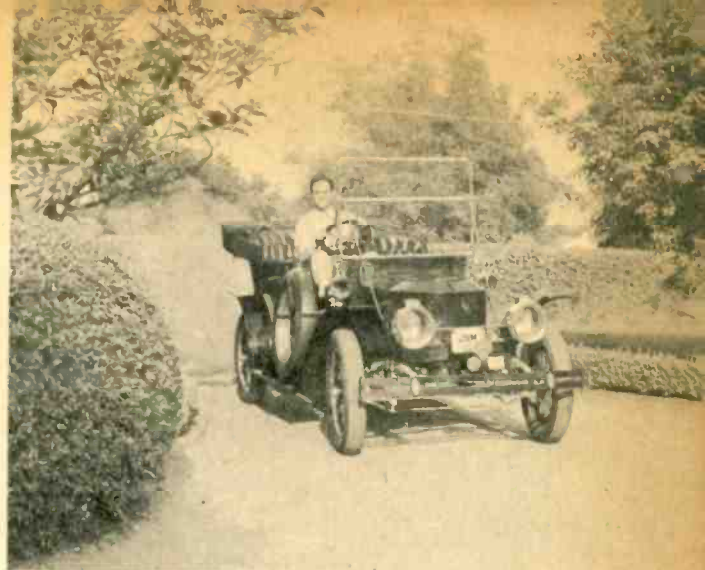

Born in Moultrie, Georgia, Melton spent his youth in a small Florida lumbering community and made his singing debut in a Citra, Florida, church.

He attended the University of Florida, the University of Georgia and Vanderbilt University, and became a dance-band saxophonist and vocal soloist to help pay for operatic studies with Gaetano De Luca. When he finished college, he solicited help from Nashville business men to finance a year of musical study in New York. His first break there was with S. L. Rothafel's (Roxy's) Gang in 1927.

Later, came a series of radio

His Characteristics

Six feet, three inches tall, with dark brown hair and smiling brown eyes, Melton is boyish, friendly, informal and likeable. He finds enjoyment in hunting, cooking, collecting pewter and antique glass—and taking children for long drives in his fabulous jalopies.

While the Meltons were in Hollywood this summer, they occupied ZaSu Pitts' home. In exchange, Miss Pitts was given the use of one of the Melton fliivvers in New York. The Pitts house is located in Brentwood, next door to Shirley Temple's, so the famed young film actress was one of Jimmy's frequent jalopy passengers while they were neighbors.

Melton is married to writer Marjorie McClure. Their home is a lovely old Connecticut farmhouse, and it is there that he keeps most of his cars, housed in stables on the grounds.

He has only one sad confession to make concerning his beloved fliivvers. Last year, he entered his pride and joy, a 1900 Hansom, in a charity race against a horse and buggy.

"Yes," admitted Jimmy sadly, "the horse won!"

▼ THE SINGER IS MARRIED to writer, Marjorie McClure, and the family pet is "Randy," the police dog shown with them below. Their home is a lovely old farmhouse in Connecticut, where most of his ancient cars are kept.

▼ HIS UNIQUE HOBBY of collecting rare jalopies is the fulfillment of a childhood ambition. As a small boy, he was fascinated by his uncle's "White" automobile, and determined some day to own one. Here, he is smiling over his collection of rare original plates bearing symbols of automobile clubs. The license plates for his cars are especially made, and usually bear his initials, or his name in part.

theatrical productions, including Pasadena Playhouse dramas, he entered the broadcasting field with the hope of furthering his acting ambitions.

Started at KMTR

He worked at KMTR, first as a mail handler and switchboard operator, then eventually advanced to the position of the station's chief announcer. His early experience on the airplanes was wide and varied, but listeners will best remember him as the friendly emcee of KNX'S "Crock-er Family" and "Hollywood Barn Dance" programs.

"The people I worked with on those shows were simply wonderful," Glenn told us with enthusiasm, as he reminisced about his early air career. "I've always had a great liking and respect for radio's so-called 'hillbillies.' They're real folks and fine artists."

In time, during his daily stints on radio row, Glenn had occasion to do some news broadcasting. As an actor, he found it a thrilling assignment. He was attracted to the drama in the news and the tense thrill of radio reporting. In 1934, when Alka-Seltzer began its series of sponsored newscasts, Glenn Hardy was selected as the mikeman to deliver them. He has been newscasting for the same sponsor ever since!

His Delivery

Hardy endeavors to be not overly dramatic in his news delivery, but at the same time, to avoid any monotony of tone. "I try to put just the right amount of feeling into the words," he explained.

He reads over his material preparatory to bringing it to his listeners, and explains that every dispatch coming over the wire is re-written by the news editor of the Alka-Seltzer newscast shows, Bud

Newscaster Glenn Hardy Is Not Always As Serious As He Sounds; Off the Air He Does Card Tricks and Practical Jokes

TWICE DAILY, news-hungry radio-dialers receive crisp, concise reports of the day's world events by tuning in to Mutual's Alka Seltzer newscaster, Glenn Hardy. He has been bringing airplane audiences the news for over ten years. Listening to him, one visualizes the reporter as a serious-minded, somber-faced person of quiet dignity.

"Not always!" smiled Mrs. Glenn Hardy, when we asked her for some intimate lowdown on her husband. "He's full of the devil, too!

"He likes to play practical jokes," she went on. "He had a tiny replica of a black beetle around the house for a while, and was always scaring me with it. He'd leave it lying around on the bed sheet or tablecloth, and sometimes, I sat on it."

She told us that Glenn likes to tour Hollywood's joke shops in search of new novelties. He is an amateur prestidigitator and has a repertoire of coin and card tricks.

"He's not nearly as serious as he may seem to be," Mrs. Hardy said again. "In fact, he's pretty much the life of the party!"

Before he became a radio reporter, Hardy was an aspiring young actor. After playing roles in amateur

Murphy for Bing

Last week, Kraft Music Hall was scheduled to rate a new headman in George Murphy, who will continue on a week-to-week basis until Bing returns from his overseas entertainment tour. Radio Life considers this good news, for it has always liked Murphy during his frequent guest appearances on the Kraft show. If Murphy does as well being host as guest, the program should show vast improvement over the Sonny Tufts regime, which fell far short of good radio, in our opinion.

Niles vs. Miles

Wendell Niles, recently profiled in a Radio Life story, is continuing his career climb, according to word we received at press time. As you remember, Wendell has been identified with the Bob Hope show now for some time, but recently decided that with his new Johnny Mercer chores (ten a week) in Hollywood he would have to give up travelling with Hope, who is constantly on the road entertaining for men and women in uniform.

Well, last week Wendell was a mighty happy chap, because Bob Hope, returned from his Pacific entertainment tour, pleaded to have Niles with him on his NBC comedy half-hour. Client Pepsodent was of the same mind, and the upshot of the whole thing was the decision to have Wendell do the commercials as a cut-in from Hollywood, regardless of where Hope's troupe will be broadcasting. The client, we were told, will foot the bill, which will run into big money ($1,000-1,500) when the origination of the program is in the east. The first show, we understand, will emanate from Toronto.

Mister X

"The Man Called X," which we have noted as switching to the Blue on the broadcast of September 9, was not heard that evening as scheduled, due to the speech of Governor Bricker, the Republican vice-presidential nominee. Mister X will be with you this Saturday, September 16, however, and every week hereafter, via the Blue.

Home, Sweet Home

When Bob Hope and his troupe planed in at the Lockheed Air Terminal last week, ending their 30,000-mile tour of Pacific war areas, the comedian's young son, Tony, watched the plane circling the field with eager eyes.

"Goodbye, daddy," he piped.

"That's all he knows," explained Hope's pretty Missus, "because Bob always seems to be going away."

As soon as the NBC comic got his feet firmly planted back on good old U. S. soil, he grinned, "All I wanta do is hit the hay!"

White Christmas

We noticed Mel Blanc, that man with a million voices, wearing a proud grin from ear to ear the other day. Queried, Mel answered, "My son starts to school today! He's six years old."

Blanc also told us that a friend had just recently pointed out to him the fact that his son's name, Noel Blanc, in French, means "White Christmas!"

Drinking the Ink

NEXT WEEK

If you are one who delights in the fabrications of one, Frank Morgan, you'll enjoy next week's issue, for there's a story on the fabulous pervaricator, but it has a twist. Anyhow, look for "Miracle of Morgan's Ranch." . . . "Stardust" devotees of Hoagy Carmichael will want to read about him and his new show in an article on pages 6-7. . . . That amazing young lady, Patrice Munsel, who is only nineteen but sings like a veteran, is profiled in another story. . . . Then, we give you art and anecdotes on two new programs, "Meet the Missus" and "Darts for Dough," both of them audience participation shows and thus, inevitably, lively material for your consideration. Perhaps the biggest and most important section of next week's Radio Life will be found on pages 29, 30 and 31, where we present, in as nearly complete form as possible, a round-up pattern for the major fall shows. . . . Don't miss this valuable time-table for future information and listening help!

about the actor who wasn't satisfied with the size of his part in a play, and went to the extreme to remedy the situation. Obscured in an insignificant corner of the stage while his fellow players had the spotlight, the resourceful actor shifted the audience's undivided attention to himself by picking up an ink bottle and drinking its contents. The story is the origination of the phrase, "drinking the ink," meaning going to any lengths to steal the scene.

The other evening, during the broadcast of CBS' "Dr. Christian," Rosemary, who plays "Judy" on the show, became the innocent butt of her own favorite joke.

In the course of the "Dr. Christian" story of the evening, other members of the cast were emoting at the mike while Rosemary sat at the side of the stage, awaiting her next cue. When the time came, she arose from her chair to take her place at the microphone in time to speak her lines. But then it happened!

When she had gotten about three feet away from her chair, she was suddenly brought to an abrupt halt, and almost yanked completely off her feet. The sash of her dress had become caught in the folding chair behind her. Rosemary balked like a frightened deer, then strained frantically at her leash. The audience burst into peels of laughter. The cast members at the mike were bewildered.

Finally, actress Jacquelyn DeWitt resourcefully ripped the sash loose from its moorings, allowing Rosemary to bolt for the microphone just in the nick of time.

"Whew!" she breathed in relief when we talked with her after the show. "I've never lived through a more frantic moment; I turned hot and cold, then was wet with perspiration. All I could think of was to pick up the chair and take it to the mike with me!"

"Hmmm," frowned her fellow actors in fun. "Drinking the ink again!"

Man With the Hoe

If you are a Victory gardener, or a would-be one, the spot on the radio dial for you is KMPC's "710," where, from 12:05 to 12:15 p.m., Monday through Friday, Gordon Baker Lloyd, Southern California's well-known garden consultant, brings you vital knowledge and helpful tips on his Garden Hints Magazine of the Air. Monday is the garden technique day when some job is discussed; Tuesday is the vegetable page; Wednesday, the question box; Thursday, the flower garden; and Friday, the editorial page.

On Wednesday, a studio audience gathers to ask questions in person, and everyone attending the broadcast receives some valuable garden product to take home. In addition, free outlines covering some forty garden subjects are sent out to any one asking for answers to specific problems. Address your inquiries to KMPC, and enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Diggin' Discs

With JACK LAWSON

A WELL-KNOWN platter spinner phoned us the other day and read us a piece he had written which, he said, he planned to read over the air. The general idea of it was that he didn't like the contest we're currently conducting to find the most popular disc jockey. From his standpoint, he said, it was "unfair." We were taken aback and somewhat chagrined (for his sake) since we had always regarded him as a big guy. This seemed to be a rather "small-potatoes" attitude for a big guy—or can it be he fancies himself so big he's taken on a dictator complex, like Adolf?

ANYWAY, OF ALL contests ever conducted in Los Angeles, this is one of the fairest. WE HAVE NO FAVORITES. We have a staff of three, carefully sifting the piles of cards and letters that come in. "Padded" votes will not count. Handwritings are compared, and if we're convinced there are duplicates, they're heaved into the wastebasket. Only legitimate votes count. We can spot phonies a mile off.

AND DON'T THINK that some enthusiastic fans—and maybe employes—haven't tried to slip some fast ones over on us. On one jockey we received hundreds of votes in the same handwriting. Another had cards mimeographed and sent out to fans. This is okay, providing the signatures are legitimate. Then there are some funsters who have sent in votes signed "Joe Blow, Des Moines, Idaho"; "The Andrews Sisters, Hollywood"; "Tillie, the Washroom Girl, Aragon Ballroom," and the like. These have found repose in the gaboon.

WE HAVE RECEIVED hundreds of letters and cards with genuine (and oftentimes flattering) comments on our column and contest, together with votes for favorite jockeys. Our friend ought to get a load of some of these to see how HE rates with some fans!

HERE'S AN EXAMPLE of the type of vote we consider genuine and legitimate: "Dear Jack: It doesn't seem like I'm writing to a stranger at all. I read your column, Diggin' Discs, every issue of Radio Life. You're doing a bang-up job, Jack. My vote for the 'disc jockey' king goes to Bill Kelso. You can always look for variety on his show. Sincerely, Joyce Arnheim, 1229 Normandie, Hollywood."

We have hundreds more like that one.

Radio Roundup
from KFI

Those two lovable black-face comedians, "Amos 'n' Andy" are coming back on the air to present the second stanza of their new NBC half-hour show which was launched last year.

Again this year, their program will be heard via KFI each Friday night at 7 starting September 22.

AMOS

Although their 15-minute, 5-times-a-week series was a great success, their new half-hour show is an even greater success. The guest stars who appear on their many programs are all big names in the entertainment world and their talents are woven into the Harlem atmosphere Amos and Andy have made famous for more than a decade.

Here's something just a little different in an old story plot—the triangle situation—with the principals trying to solve their problems while in a South American jungle.

Pretty and lovely June Duprez is costarred with Michael St. Angel in this unusual story titled "Adventure in Guiana" and written by Hector Chevigny especially for the "Skippy Hollywood Theater" presentation on KFI Sunday night at 9:30 (Sept. 17).

'n' ANDY

An experienced newsman with many, many years in the field of news gathering and reporting behind him, is Graeme Fletcher who is being added to the ranks of NBC commentators.

Starting on September 18, Fletcher will be heard on the Pacific coast via KFI, each Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning at 7.

He has been a radio news editor for the past six years with many years before that having been spent in traveling and reporting all over the world.

With the September 17 edition of the "World News Parade" comes a new vocal soloist to replace Curt Massey. The new addition is John Riatt who appeared with the Chicago company of the great musical comedy hit, "Oklahoma."

Commentator Upton Close and Dr. Roy Shield and his orchestra will continue to be heard. (KFI, Sunday at high noon.)

LUMBERJACK

Julie Stevens, who portrays the Hollywood designer on CBS "Romance of Helen Trent," turns lumberjack on weekends and helps her Navy husband, Charles Underhill, clear trees and underbrush from a plot of Connecticut land where they plan to build a home after the war.

FAMOUS FAMILY

Jeanne Cagney plays the role of "Alice" on Mutual's "You Cant Take It With You." Her brother is the movies' famous Jimmy.

AWARD WINNER

Frank Bull, KMPC sports commentator, has received word that he has been selected for the Harvard University English Department's award for promotion of better speech. Award was made because of Bull's "distinct enunciation and ready choice of words."

BRIGHT BOY

Mercedes McCambridge, of CBS' "I Love a Mystery" cast, has taught three-year-old Jon Lawrence, her son, to sing the "Marseillaise" in French.

SUCCESSOR

Steven Gray is successor to Army-bound Hans Conried's place on the Blue's "The Man Called X." Gray will appear in the role of "Egon's smarter brother."

VERSATILE

Tommy Cook, "Alexander" of CBS' "Blondie," has presented his father with a transcription of a radio play written, produced, directed and acted by himself.

VETERAN

Ge Ge Pearson, who plays Herbert Marshall's flip-cracking fiance on the Blue's "The Man Called X," made her professional debut at the age of three, singing in her father's tent show.

MONDAY, SEPT. 18

Radio to Her Rescue

"I love it!" she enthuses over the latter.

Sleeps on Pillows

She has traveled around the world three times, across the continent on innumerable trips, but loves living in California. She is "mad" about frilly, feminine clothes but wears blue-jeans around the house, and she sleeps ensconced in four pillows with her feet sticking out of the bed clothes. She admits to a "crush" on radio's writing-producing genius, Norman Corwin, and does some sort of role on almost every one of Arch Oboler's productions.

When we got together with Gloria for this story, she dashed in the door, screaming, "Quick! Turn the radio on! They're playing fifteen minutes of nothing but Bing Crosby records!"

Asked if she has any aspirations toward returning to the screen, she reiterated that radio was her forte and she is obviously pleased to stay in this field.

"The movies aren't for me," she said. "Every time movie goes get a glimpse of me, they start whispering loudly in wonderment, 'Who is she? She looks just like Joan Blondell!'" wise-cracking with announcer Ray Lewis — about this and that and anything I could be in on. Monty sort of took me under her wing and then Director Ben Harkins and Producer Don Thompson begin giving me instructions — casually, as though I were really one of them. And the first thing I knew, I felt like I really 'belonged.' I'd forgotten all about being an amateur."

Seemed Professional

As a matter of fact, watching and listening to Miss Andrews' performance, we, too, forgot she was an amateur. Whether she wins the Hollywood trip or not, we predict this dark-eyed San Franciscan will soon leave her present job as junior statistician for the Federal Public Housing Service and devote most of her time at the mike.

As for Director Ben Harkins, who has been auditioning and directing radio and picture talent up and down the Pacific Coast for years, his opinion is this: "We won't have an amateur of Athene Andrews' caliber each week—but the average standard will be that high. There's a gold mine of available talent."

Unlike many of the other would-be actors who now throng Radio City's corridors, Miss Andrews has been preparing for an acting career most of her life ("since I was five and I'm now 22"). Curiosity obviously motivates some to audition. Others seek an outlet for a pent-up urge previously kept a personal secret.

Both hopeful and discouraging was the fact that, out of the twenty-five persons who participated in "Opportunity Theater's" initial try-outs, only two were judged hopeless. Most frequently noted on the applications of the others was: "good voice; needs coaching." In other words, from the producers' standpoint, the talent outlook is splendid. But from the amateurs' position, competition is terrific and the oft-repeated "Not this week" of Director Harkins might very probably discourage the less determined.

Contestants should keep in mind, however, that the "this" in Harkins' dismissal contains more hope than they might think. At each try-out he is searching for one or two specific voices for as many parts in Rutherford. "I like to think of our program as a three-legged stool," Glenn said. "If it lost one of its legs, it would be unable to fulfill its purpose." The three "legs" to which he referred are the program's news editor, Rutherford; its announcer, Fred Shields; and its reporter, Hardy.

Glenn admits to abiding by two idiosyncracies during his appearances at the microphone, but he gives good reasons for them both. He always wears his hat while broadcasting, because it shades his eyes and acts as a "sounding board" for his voice. He always sits with his back to the control booth, in his desire to forget that he is in a radio studio. He likes the feeling of telling the news to his listeners in their own living rooms.

He confesses to experiencing frequent, extreme nervousness at the microphone, particularly when aware of the presence of a stranger in the studio. "I become panic-stricken," Hardy admitted to us, "if somebody I don't know walks in to watch me broadcast."

Most Embarrassing Moment

His most awkward moment at the mike was the time he absent-mindedly started reading his sign-off news story after Fred Shields had delivered a commercial. Actually, the program was only half over!

Glenn has made his job his hobby, and spends the greatest portion of his free time on activities directly pertaining to his work. He receives a large number of letters weekly, and answers all of his mail personally. He enjoys reading, and names "Berlin Diary" and "Argentine Diary" among the best and most important books of this war. He is an avid student of voice, delivery, pronunciation, world events and people.

When he is in the mood for relaxation, however, he is most likely to be found, dressed in old coveralls, painting the back fence.

Both he and his wife name fishing as their favorite sport, and Glenn confesses to a passion for playing poker. "I'm no gambler, however," he added.

Pride and joy of the Hardy household is twenty-months-old Jimmy, whose smile and personality indicate that he will be as much the life of the party as his father.

Glenn's "missus" tells us that her handsome dark-haired husband is a handy man around the house, qualifying as an expert "Mr. Fixit".

"What's more," Mrs. Hardy concluded, "he can cook better than I can! I've always told him that, if he weren't a newscaster, he could be a chef."

Saturday 11 a.m.
NBC—KFI

ENDLESS LINES of amateurs, starry-eyed and shaky-limbed, have been circling in and out of broadcasting studios for years—since that day back in radio's moppet stage when somebody dreamed up audience participation shows.

But until the recent advent of "Opportunity Theater" there was little place in those lines for would-be actors. Whistlers, yodelers and animal imitators, yes; actors (which probably half of your friends want to be), no.

"Opportunity Theater," heard Saturdays over KFI and the Pacific Coast NBC network, has licked the production problems involved in presenting amateur thespians to a radio audience. What's more, actors who make good are given a three-month membership in the American Federation of Radio Artists and a professional engagement, complete with union salary.

Un-professional actors of both San Francisco and Los Angeles are "in" on the chance—are competitive, in fact, though San Francisco has the outset advantage of numbers. One San Franciscan takes part in each of the three Saturday shows originating at KPO, while Southern Californians get a crack at the one show a month broadcast in Hollywood. Out of the four monthly participants, the board of judges names one Northern Californian to receive an expense-free trip to Hollywood and a professional appearance on the program in which will also be cast the Los Angeles winner. If the latter is the following month's grand winner, he gets a professional engagement, plus a $50 war bond in lieu of a trip.

Have Rehearsal

Unlike Haven McQuarrie's late "Do You Want To Be an Actor?", this program does not put its amateurs on the air "cold." Winners of twice-weekly tryouts take home scripts for over-night study and are given two thorough rehearsals before program time. And, of course, they are cast opposite top NBC artists, headed by "Opportunity The-

◀ "YOU'RE BITTER, SEE. You took a prison rap and you're sore at the world," says Director Ben Harkins, explaining to Shipyard Worker Lee Stone the character he is to portray. In years of programming and writing for NBC, Mutual, CBS and for Warner Bros., Harkins has auditioned and worked with thousands of amateurs. And he loves it because "they're giving all they've got every minute."

And how do these professional showmen treat the quaking ama-teur? Listen to what Athene An-drews, "Opportunity Theater's" first winner, told us:

"I had studied my script practi-cally all night and when I walked in for the first rehearsal I was all business — very serious about the whole thing and particularly ser-ious about myself. I saw Mr. Pres-by, Monty Margetts and the others and suddenly an awful thought made me go all weak and shaky: 'They're all professionals and I'm just an amateur'.

"Then somebody said: 'Hello, there. Congratulations!' and started to introduce me. Archie broke out with his famous giggle and began

What's Cooking on the Stoves of Radio Stars

IF RADIO LIFE was a bit dubious when husky Truman Bradley, CBS' 5:45 p. m. newscaster, invited us to witness his skill as a chef, it was only because Bradley, who is also familiar to radio-dialers as the pleasant-voiced announcer of "Screen Guild Players" and "Suspense," appears too much an out-of-doors he-man to be at home at the range.

But raised on a farm, he well knows the value of kitchen cooking, and proved his prowess in the fine art when he teamed with his attractive wife, actress Phyllis Ruth, to whip up a delicious souffle, as shown in the accompanying pictures. Both the mikeman and his pretty spouse name cooking as one of their favorite hobbies.

Cheese Souffle

- |                |                     |
|----------------|---------------------|
| 2 tbs. butter  | ¼ tsp. paprika      |
| 3 tbs. flour   | 1 cup milk          |
| 1 tsp. salt    | 1 cup grated cheese |
| ¼ tsp. mustard | 3 eggs              |

Melt butter over low heat, add flour and stir to smooth paste. Add seasonings and milk, cook—stirring—until sauce is thick and smooth. Add cheese, stir until melted and cool. Beat egg yolks, until thick and light colored, and fold into cheese sauce. Fold in stiff-beaten egg whites. Pour into ungreased casserole, set in pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven (325) about 45 minutes or until top is firm to the touch and nicely browned. Serve at once. (Mrs. Bradley adds sauted mushrooms to souffle when she can get them, as special favor to Truman.)

THERE'S A JAP pillbox on an island somewhere in the Pacific that bears a sign reading, "Gloria Blondell's Pacific Paradise". The enemy pillbox has been playfully dubbed with that name by the gallant Seabees who captured it. Gloria Blondell is their favorite pin-up girl.

Younger sister of the movies' Joan, Gloria has gained prominence via Broadway and radio—appearing on the former in "She Loves Me Not", "Three Men On A Horse", "Dead End" and "Ifon Man", and currently on the latter as "Dovie" of "Lady of the Press", "Adhesive Plaster" of "Mayor of the Town", and as the feminine lead of the new CBS series entitled "Hollywood Mystery Time". Several years ago, she attempted a film career, but emerged on the screen looking too much like sister Joan. Radio has given her the chance to make a name on her own, and to prove the distinctive dramatic ability that is her inheritance as the youngest thespian of a family that has been born and bred in the theater.

"My ambition," smiled Gloria, "is to be a really successful radio actress." She expressed a particular desire to do character roles.

About those boys somewhere in the Pacific, Gloria told us that they have sent her numerous souvenirs—Jap battle trophies that are stained with the blood of our enemy. "All of the stuff is still piled in the back of my car," she shuddered. "I won't touch any of it."

Overseas Correspondent

More warmly appreciated are the letters which the young actress receives regularly from the boys overseas. "I've a list that long of the names of the boys I write to," she gestured with her arms spread far apart. Lonely, weary soldiers write her long, grateful letters filled with the things that crowd their minds. They tell her their troubles, and she gives them the advice they ask for. "I even have to scold them sometimes," she smiled.

She follows the same policy when she entertains servicemen in person. She jokes with them, laughs at them, gives them little things they want. "I don't ever thank them for what they're doing," she told us. "They know what they're doing, and that it has to be done. There aren't any words to tell them about it."

So Gloria goes out on the stage at camp shows and plays dumb. She does a deadpan monologue, then sings parodies of popular tunes, usually selecting the shyest rookie in the camp to be foil for her raucous comedy. For one number she employs the use of artificial legs, twisting them into nervous, grotesque positions while delivering a teasing song parody. The boys love it. They've demanded she remain on the stage for as long as forty-five minutes at a time!

Planning Tour

Now she and her sister Joan are making plans for a camp tour together. Gloria gave us a tempting sample of the riotous acts they have concocted to do for the men. G. I. Joe will be rolling in the aisles.

Both Blondell girls have been trouper ever since early childhood. Their mother and father spent their lives in the theater, and Gloria pointed out that the Blondell family of entertainers dates back to the days of Richard, The Lionhearted, when David Blondell strolled the streets of the old world as a minstrel singer.

Besides acting, Gloria has one other predominant interest in the realm of creative arts. She paints in oils, and earnestly pursues the study under the tutelage of artist Paul Clemens.

Currently, she is at work on a portrait of her father, the late Edward Blondell. The completed painting will be a gift for Joan.

Gloria's own most prized possession is her cat, which she calls "Bags" because he has big circles beneath his eyes. "He takes bubble baths with me," she laughed. "He dives from my head into the tub."

Gloria lives in an apartment in Beverly Hills. She is married, and has been for four years, to Alberto Romelo Broccoli, of the famous Italian family which began the broccoli industry in the United States. He is in the special service division of the Navy.

"He's taught me how to cook spaghetti," Gloria enthused. "It's the specialty of our house. Our guests always say they won't come unless we serve 'em spaghetti. Consequently, between company, I diet!"

The actress informed us that she once had a cooking program of her own on the air. "I read recipes," she explained, "but I was always getting distracted at the mike and saying the wrong thing. For fool-proof baking powder, I'd say foul-proof. I didn't last long."

Gloria names impatience as her worst fault, says she reads each book-of-the-month as it comes out, plus Time, Life and the New Yorker.

"Bang Up" Bugler

derby hat in hand, and spit-curl coiling down on his forehead. The curl wouldn't stay put with grease, for it was summertime down south and the grease ran. In disgust he whacked the lock off short and straight across, with the results you see today.

Barbers always demanded lengthy explanations as to why he wanted his hair cut in front after the back had been neatly trimmed and the job, to all appearances finished. Ish has encountered such strenuous objections from the men behind the clippers that he now bobs his own bangs.

Has Trouble

"They'd always insist that my hair would stick up straight if they did as I told them—and refused to mind my orders. Even after I explained why I wanted it that way they wouldn't believe," he told us, as reason why he's his own barber.

Kay Kyser plays straight man to Ish's antics—giving Ish the highest paid straight man in the business. "Here's a riddle. Give Up?" asks Ish. "But you haven't TOLD me the riddle yet," groans Kyser, in a typical routine.

Comedy isn't the only thing Ish takes seriously. His hobbies—the little time he has for them these days—he pursues with an eye to the future. He has a record of the war highlights on wax that may prove a gold mine to some historian of the future. Major speeches of Churchill, Roosevelt, and other world figures, plus newscasters' and commentators' broadcasts on Pearl Harbor day, D-day, and other important events are all preserved for posterity in his home recorded disc collection.

Several years ago his three youngsters became interested in making model ships. Ish offered to lend them a hand, became so interested in models that he started his own miniature collection of jeeps, landing craft and other wartime mechanized equipment. Now he has dozens of such delicately perfect dupicates of the originals that he won't let the kids touch them—and it was their idea in the first place!

Home Movies

Home movies are another of the hobbies Ish Kabibble has very little time for these days. In between radio appearances and camp shows he still manages to sandwich an occasional production on 16 millimeter film. His specialty is comedy—he makes up his own plots, drafts family, friends and neighbors for his cast, then cuts and edits the film. "Split-second timing is the secret of comedy," he told us: "I try to cut the film so that the timing of gags and funny sequences is just right."

Like father, like son, the saying goes. It looks as if Ish's eldest is destined to be a comic, too. When young Peter started to school Mr. and Mrs. Bogue joined the Parent-Teachers' Association. At the first meeting of the P-TA they met Peter's teacher, and were rather taken aback when she asked if they wouldn't plaster Peter's hair down so that he couldn't comb it forward into bangs. "He tells little poems with his hair combed down over his eyes and the class won't do their lessons," she explained distractedly, admitting her inability to compete with such hilarious antics. It seems that Peter, unbeknown to both his parents, had been listening to the "College of Musical Knowledge" every Wednesday night and memorizing all Ish's poems.

The two youngest children's hair just naturally grows in bangs—which leads one to believe maybe Ish's barbershop quartet may be a dream come true one of these days. The words, if not the music part of it, anyway. The four of them—Ish and the three kids—look alike, and so far, two of them do little poems in a dead-pan way.

Ish is prepared to take one more step in the direction of the barber shop. What with the war and all, there's a shear shortage, he understands. So if he's ever caught with his hair long and without scissors he'll just pop his silken black tresses in the ice box, freeze them, then break off his bangs at raised-eyebrow level.

Who Wants to Be An Actor?

plays already purchased for use. In Miss Andrews' case, for instance, she was stopped almost before she began to read the try-out scene. So short was she stopped, she confessed, that she was sure she was through. But by the few lines she read, Harkins recognized hers as "the" voice—not for the part she was reading but for another he had in mind.

Sample Applicants

A very small percentage of auditionees have had professional experience. In this group was Tony Pawley who, along with amateur Lee Stone, was given a part in "Opportunity Theater's" second opus. Instantly recognizing Pawley's work as professional, Director Harkins welcomed the opportunity to use him. Pawley is the brother of screen "heavy" William and radio actor Ed and is a screen, stage and radio actor in his own right.

In contrast, Stone, a former salesman, is now an instructor in burning in Mr. Kaiser's Richmond shipyards. (If you heard the broadcast you know Stone seemed as familiar in his dramatic role as in his burner's outfit.)

And so, if you want to take a whirl at becoming a professional actor, you may have more ability than you think—as the following anecdote illustrates. After she had auditioned, one woman confessed she hadn't had the slightest intention of trying out. She had come to the studio for the Radio Institute. But, handed an application and script, what else could she do?

What she probably still doesn't know is this: On her application, carefully filed away, is this comment: "Very unusual voice; good reading; future use."

HE'S A frustrated barber, you might say. Way back in 1933, Merwin Bogue bought a book of old barber shop quartet favorites, vintage 1890, which he wished to sing before the public. But being a trumpeter and there not being three fellow musicians in Kay Kyser's band who wished to form a barber shop quartet, when he did get his big chance to sing it was alone and not in a song of his own choice, "Put Away the Moustache Cup For Father Is An Angel," but a song then popularly known as "Love, Nuts and Noodles." He shook with fright, the audience went into convulsions, and a clown was born.

Thus began the comic career of Ish Kabibble, star pupil (when he isn't warming his seat in the dunce's corner) on Kay Kyser's "College of Musical Knowledge."

Merwin Bogue, alias Ish Kabibble, evokes more laughter by doing less than any other comedian in the business. He just stands quietly, his black bangs neatly combed over his forehead, giving him a slightly flat-headed appearance, and soberly recites little poems. Example:

There was a young man from Perth

Who was born on the day of his birth

He was married they say

On his wife's wedding day

And he died on his last day on earth.

How Name Started

Merwin Bogue was dubbed Ish Kabibble when his rendition of an old barber shop favorite of the same name became so popular with Kyser band fans that he was requested to sing nothing but "Ish Kabibble" for five years. So Ish he became to the general public and Ish he has been ever since.

He looks and acts like an animated tin-type, but not too animated to shatter the illusion. He got the idea for the type of character he portrays from grim-faced, stiff-stanced portraits of his ancestors in an old family album.

Ish takes his comedy-making very seriously, claims it doesn't "just come" to him, and that he has "to sit down and figure it out." His ability to stay in character at all times is a result of long study and practice. But when he stands on the bandstand and produces hysterics in the audience without moving a muscle, the practice pays off. Or when he launches into a little ditty such as the following:

I sneezed a sneeze into the air

It fell to earth I knew not where

But you should have seen the looks of those

In whose vicinity I snozed.

With Kay Kyser's band Ish Kabibble has toured over 500 army camps, done over 1900 performances for servicemen since February, 1941, and has helped sell $400,000,000 worth of bonds—in cash, not promises. To G.I.s he is known as "the man with the G.I. haircut—in reverse."

His Characteristics

Ish is six feet tall, slim, has black hair which is ordinarily combed back just like anybody else's, and brown eyes. He looks more like a serious-minded young engineer or scientist than a comedian. He's 36, is married to his boyhood sweetheart, and they have three children—Peter, who is 8, Pamela, 5 years old, and Janet, the baby, who is 3.

Merwin Alton Bogue was born in a little town called North East, Pennsylvania, but he isn't very nostalgic about the place since his folks moved to Erie when he was three and he grew up in the city by the lake. Erie neighbors of the Bogue family do not recall being thrown into fits of laughter by the antics of little Merwin. If they recall him at all it is rather as a thoughtful youngster with a fondness for carrying live frogs around in his pockets. He had trouble keeping his hair out of his eyes in his early days and tried soap, library paste, and the whites of eggs, with various results—these were but little incidents in a normal childhood.

He learned to play the trumpet when in high school, and when those years were finished, left for the University of West Virginia with his horn under his arm. He became a member of the campus orchestra and worked out a comedy routine with three other boys to form a quartet. Kay Kyser heard of the outstanding young trumpeter at the U. of W. Va. and persuaded Ish-to-be to skip his last year of college and finish his education at the "College of Musical Knowledge." Ish did—he's been post-graduating ever since.

His Hair-Cut

Ish Kabibble's famous haircut is a result of evolution. He used to do a tin-type pose, legs crossed stiffly,
