Ether Tribute to Our Heroic M. D.'s.

Mrs. Garland Bressler, 10326 South Paloma Avenue, Los Angeles 2, Calif.

Sirs: Would you please send me information as to which radio broadcasts welcome children as guests? Our children are eight and under, and have expressed a desire to visit some of our programs.

Also, are there any tours through the radio stations at the present time?

Sorry, but none of the network broadcasts admit children under twelve, although CBS reports that youngsters slightly under that age are sometimes admitted when accompanied by their parents.

At present there are no tours being conducted through major network studios.

Tony Wood, 1503 West Sepulveda Blvd., Torrance, Calif.

Sirs: In your issue of June 17, you had an article on Bob Jellison. Is he on any radio programs at present?

Here are some more questions I'd like some help on: Is there any sign of Fred Allen coming back? Who was the man who advertised Sympathy Soothing Syrup on the Jack Benny show?

Here's what I think about radio: I think "The Great Gildersleeve" is more the average American family than any other radio program. Jack Benny is also a great favorite of mine. I like James Melton better than Lawrence Tibbett. I can't stand Lawrence Tibbett singing "Sentimental Journey." "Suspense" isn't quite as good as it used to be.

The shows on which Bob Jellison was heard are now vacationing. Fred Allen is due back on the airwaves over NBC this fall. It was Frank Nelson who did those comic "Sympathy Soothing Syrup" commercials on the Jack Benny show.

Doris Lhorine, 1653 Ninth Avenue, San Diego 1, Calif.

Sirs: I am writing you for some information on some of my favorite stars. Have you any news of Donald Novis? I would like to know it, and when he is returning to the air.

Some time soon please put some pictures in Radio Life of "Counter-spy" and Ellery Queen. I would appreciate this very much. Many thanks for your help. I enjoy Radio Life so very much.

All our inquiries bring no definite word of Donald Novis' current whereabouts, but the last time we heard he was doing night club dates and the like in the Northwest.

Four Little Sisters

By Delle Hunter

Sunday, 4:30 p. m.
Monday, 9:30 p. m.
Mutual-KLH

ASKED TO NAME each other's worst faults, the Lyttle sisters chimed in eagerly. "Dotty's always arguing," claimed Darlene. "Darlene is always making embarrassing remarks about us in front of people," put in Dotty.

"Sally has a bad temper," remarked Sue. "So has Darlene."
"Sue's lazy," countered Sally and Darlene.

"Sue's flighty and sloppy," added Dotty.

"I'm young," grinned Sue, defensively.

"Dotty is the laziest," agreed Sally, Sue and Darlene, "she loves to stay in bed." Looking at the studio clock which registered five p.m., they admonished, "It's a wonder she's up now!"

The sisters don't dress alike—"only when we have to!" Neither do they wear each other's clothes. "I wear Dorothy's," confessed Sue. "On her they look good!" grinned Dorothy.

Unanimously, they declared Darlene to be the "dressiest" sister, Sue to be the "sloppiest." "I'm also the biggest eater," Darlene admitted.

"Sally's the cook—she loves it," added Dotty.

"Who does the dishes?" was our next query.

"Sally's the cook," repeated the girls.

Sue immediately complained that it was she who was always asked to do things. "Because I'm the baby," she grimaced. Sue's likes are sports, and particularly swimming.

Have One Brother

Pet of the entire household is "Kitty," a blue Persian cat which runs out to the driveway to meet the girls whenever they come home. Their house is in North Hollywood, where they live with their mother who is also musical. They have one brother who isn't musical.

"Ask us what we want most in our home," the sisters chorused then, answering their own question: "a telephone!"

About three years ago, when Hal McIntyre's band acquired a new vocal quartet in the four Gourly girls, baton-wielder Hal took one look at the petite foursome—brunette Darlene and brown-haired Sally, both five feet one, Dotty with the reddish brown hair and Sue, a brunette, both just five feet, two—and promptly properly dubbed them "The Lyttle Sisters."

As such, this rhythm foursome has covered the country's service camps and hospitals on a Victory Entertainment tour, worked in the electrical department of a Brooklyn war plant, where they made gun parts for ships and did switchboard wiring;

One Out of Ten Men Is Shy and Each Week Three Out of Six Fail to Get The Girl, But It All Adds up to a Very Lively Time on Arlene Francis'

"Your Blind Date"

By Evelyn Bigsby

SCREEN ACTRESS JANE WITHERS, one of the dates for whom two contestants vied, is given gardenia corsage by her man, Seaman Wallace Jeffrey of Chester, Vt. Miss Francis here quizzes the winner.

Monday, 8:30 p. m.
ABC-KECA

I'M FIVE FEET FIVE and a half, have brown eyes and brown hair," laughed Arlene Francis, imitating the date-seeking servicemen on her "Your Blind Date" program. "I'm not knock-kneed, I'm medium well-done, and I LOVE THE FELLAS!"

"What about your ancestry," inquired Radio Life, expecting the answer to Miss Francis' raven beauty.

"My ancestry," she rippled mischievously, "LOVED THE FELLAS, TOO!"

Which probably explains as well as anything else, why Arlene is "queen of the blind date routine," the radio program on which six picked servicemen compete, via telephone, for dates with three lovelies on the other side of a partition. Miss Francis, who always dresses to the hilt to stress the glamorous intent of the show, stands at the dividing line of the wall—a pivot of the program—interviewing the men in that most difficult of all styles, ad lib, and generally seeing to it that boy meets girl, while several million people listen in.

Although Arlene is an established Broadway actress (she left the cast of the Broadway play, "The Overtons," to bring her show West for a Hollywood stay) she confesses that she's always quaking when the "Blind Date" curtain rises. After viewing the broadcast, one becomes convinced that the boys try as hard to put HER on the spot conversationally as they do to win their dates socially.

Clever Miss Francis seldom encounters any trouble. "When the boys know the program can be heard by millions (if you'll pardon my Crossley) they try to keep their remarks clean," she told Radio Life. Sometimes, however, without meaning to, a contestant lets slip a line that carries double entendre and Miss Francis has to think fast to cover up . . . like the lad who was asked if he'd ever made a blind date before. "I've been called a blind date but never MADE one," he answered. Arlene, without batting either of her lusciously long black eyelashes said, "How long were you overseas?" and the show went on.

Is Part Armenian

To cope with emergency situations like this, a femcee must have a solid background, and that's where Miss Francis qualifies. Briefly, she's the daughter of an English mother whose father played Shakespeare, and an Armenian father, who is an extremely successful portrait photographer. Arlene's parents wanted her to become an artist rather than an actress, and to encourage the art and discourage the "ham," did everything from placing her in a convent to shipping her off to Europe when her acting urge became too persistent.

Still stage-struck when she returned to New York, Arlene was again diverted by a doting father who bought and gave her a gift shop at 73rd and Madison Avenue. Arlene still laughs about this interlude in her life, for it was a montage of cashing bad checks, ill-advised shelf-stocking, and letting her friends walk out of the store without paying for what they "bought." "Studio d'Arlene" closed up in eight months flat, but for years after, its ex-propietress was giving her friends wedding presents from left-over stock.

Convinced that nothing could keep his dark-haired daughter from the stage, Arlene's father, by real name

Aram Kazanjian, finally heaved a resigned sigh and let her go her way into stock at Provincetown. She had her fill of acting for the next several years—she played in several flops and became so discouraged that she started collecting trinkets for a "flop bracelet." Finally, the eighth try was a charm, for Arlene was a hit as the Russian sniper in "The Doughgirls."

On "What's My Name?"

Her radio career, which began about nine years ago, was much more acceptable to her father, who felt that this type of acting was more dignified. Arlene did strip (five times a week) shows and worked as a supporting actress on programs starring Bea Lillie, Benny, Helen Hayes, and Fred Allen. A few years ago, she became co-emcee of an ad lib show called "What's My Name?" and because of her experience in dealing with extemporaneous talk on this program, she rated the nod when "Your Blind Date" made its bow three years ago.

Arlene, obviously, loves her role as queen of the blind date routine. Possessed of a trim figure and a high style in clothes, she sparkles like a bright gem against the setting of eagerly boyish servicemen contestants and poised lovely ladies. She finds men who've been overseas more colorful to talk with than those who haven't been over

Authentic War Stories of Brave Doctors Are Brought to You Each Week under the Guiding Hand of Dynamic Producer, Dee Engelbach

▲ THE GUIDING HAND behind the guiding hand of producer Engelbach is that of secretary Maggi Fowler. Maggi has been with Dee several years and kiddingly dubbed him "Fat Boy."

WHEN YOUNG, boyish producer-director Dee Engelbach ("Fat boy" to his associates) throws the "on the air" cue to the "Doctor Fights" cast, he crosses his fingers and knocks on wood. If there happens to be no wood handy, he'll knock on anything and is once reported to have used his secretary's head. This is, of course, for luck. By now his good fortune is well established in radio circles, yet Engelbach, himself, is eternally grateful for it and regards himself as the original "good luck" boy.

He doesn't attribute his meteoric rise (which he'd rather not dwell upon) to his astute mind and love of hard work, but dismisses it with an airy, "oh, it was a lucky break." But radio is cognizant of the fact that it has something in Dee and his "lucky breaks." He is the man who successfully brought "Hall of Fame" to the air along with a great many soap operas and musical shows. One of his more subdued efforts which caused a big splash on the ether waves was a dignified program entitled "The Doctor Fights."

Sponsored by the makers of penicillin, the series first appeared last summer as a tribute to war doctors and to acquaint the public with the miracles of the wonder drug. Based on authentic war stories, the "Doctor Fights" starred Raymond Massey each week in the dramatization of an actual doctor's experience on a fighting front. Audience response was immediate and overwhelming.

On Again

This summer it is again on the air, emanating from Hollywood with a guest star policy. As an added highlight to each half-hour show, the doctor, himself, now appears for a brief chat. Portraying the heroic medics have been some of Hollywood's biggest names, Cary Grant, Robert Cummings, Robert Montgomery, Robert Young, and Ronald Colman.

Working with Engelbach, who possesses a shrewd sense of showmanship, is more than a worthwhile experience to the actors. It's a pleasure. He has unloosened the most reserved by his air of informality and soon has them rehearsing minus coats and ties. He never fits the star to the story, but the story to the star. His actors display no temperament while working with him because they know he won't stand for it.

Started As Page Boy

Seven years ago, Dee (who was christened Devere) was an aspiring page boy for New York's NBC. (He almost didn't get the job because he was too big for the uniform's collar.) In his spare time he studied music and art and planned bigger things. One day NBC found itself in a predicament. Its producer for the Metropolitan Opera program was unable to show up. "I can do it," announced Engelbach.

He did, of course, and this was only the beginning. Joining NBC's producer staff, he cut his "radio teeth" on soap operas, dramas, variety shows and long-haired and

Change Made

Last minute change affects KECA's musical treat, "Musical Bouquet" (as noted on page six) which has a new mistress-of-ceremonies who will handle the narration and announcing on the show, replacing Brett Morrison. She is Bess Johnson, one of the better known feminine emcees around New York town.

Replacing singer Lois Marlowe is new addition Jean Carlton, soprano of note. Paul Frenet, French-Canadian baritone, continues as male singer, and Earl Sheldon's orchestra still furnishes the music.

Overseas Communique

The latest bulletin from abroad brings us the news that NBC funsters, Bob Hope, Jack Benny and Ed "Archie" Gardner, are now working on three different fronts in what used to be the European war theater.

Hope is in France, where at Marseilles about a week ago, he did his show for the biggest audience of G.I.s he has ever entertained. More than 30,000 men were in the natural amphitheater to see the ski-nosed comic and his troupe, before shoving off the next day for the Pacific.

Jack Benny and his USO gang are in Germany, and put on the first show for the American troops at Berchtesgaden, Hitler's bombed-out hideaway in the Bavarian Alps. "I used to think playing the Palace in New York was my biggest thrill," writes Jack, "but this beats it!"

Ed Gardner has set up the overseas version of his "Duffy's Tavern" in Italy. In addition to enthusiastic G.I. audiences, he and his overseas co-star, Jinx Falkenberg, recently had an audience with the Pope.

VSC Week

"Radio is playing an important role in acquainting the public in the Los Angeles area with the facilities available to returning veterans at the Veterans Service Center," according to John F. Whitehead, former Radio Life editor now serving as director of public relations for the VSC at 306 West Third St.

"Veterans Service Center Week from July 29-August 4," Whitehead told Radio Life, "has focused the spotlight on the ex-service men and women now being discharged from the armed forces in steadily increasing numbers, and the radio industry and its personalities have been very generous in helping to put the VSC message across."

John (formerly Joy) Storm, popular NBC announcer-commentator, was loaned to the VSC by Sidney N. Strotz, NBC vice-president, to be the official "Voice of the Veteran" during the special week. Storm, voicing the sentiments of returning veterans who have been provided with a practical "welcome home" through the many services given at the Veterans Service Center, is being heard from one end of the radio dial to the other during VSC Week. He has also narrated a film short subject which is being shown in Fox West Coast theaters.

Hundreds of radio shows, including Art Baker, Al Jarvis, Don Otis, are telling how the VSC's 14 agencies and organizations offer the returning veteran complete, authentic service and information under one roof at 306 West Third St., Los Angeles.

One of the most enlightening programs dealing with the Veterans Service Center is now being heard over KFI each Saturday at 9:45 p.m. It is the regular program, "This Is My Country," and for eight successive weeks Writer David Nowinson's dramas are being devoted to the readjustment of the homecoming veteran.

Where's Welles?

When geniuses get together, anything is liable to happen, but getting them together proved to be the crisis of last Tuesday's "Columbia Presents Corwin" broadcast when the Norman Corwin script, "New York—A Tapestry for Radio," was given a repeat airing with Orson Welles as its narrator.

Trouble reared its obnoxious head when Welles failed to arrive in Columbia Square's Studio One, where Corwin and his cast and crew were all set to do final rehearsals—Corwin, ill with the flu, bundled in an overcoat, a thermometer gripped in his mouth.

Finally, at 4:55 p.m., little more than an hour before airtime, Welles arrived, breathlessly indignant after having fervently tried for an hour to gain admittance to Columbia's Vine Street Theater where the Corwin shows have previously been staged!

Summertime

To most youngsters, the coming of the summer months means a respite from schoolbooks and study, and lazy, carefree days of play beneath the simmering sun. But to radio row's younger set, summer seldom brings a vacation away from scripts and microphones. That's why we found pretty Louise Erickson, youthful heroine of NBC's "A Date with Judy," so excited one day last week. She was all set to leave on her first real vacation in five years—a six-day excursion to Lake Gregory in the San Bernardino mountains.

Mrs. Mussolini Says

Clete Roberts, American Broadcasting Company correspondent in Italy, quoted Signora Mussolini in an amazingly frank and exclusive radio interview as saying that her husband "was one of the most intelligent men who ever lived."

Roberts, who secured the interview at an internment camp about sixty miles from Rome, said Signora Mussolini claimed that her husband had been treated unjustly.

Indicating that she would write the story of the late Il Duce, Signora Mussolini claimed that only she could write the book, that she alone knew and understood the man.

She further revealed to Roberts that Mussolini had told her to try to escape to Switzerland, but that if she had any trouble, to give herself up to the American Military authorities. She was, however, found by British authorities and taken to a British internment camp, where, Roberts added, she is not considered a very important enemy. She is being held in protective custody with her two children.

My Mike

Penny (Blondie) Singleton, revealed a superstition last week when she turned to the producer before airtime and said: "This isn't my microphone. For goodness sake find it quick before we go on the air!"

The producer and engineer located another mike and set it in front of Penny, for a close inspection by the actress. She nodded, "That's the one. I've used it for six years and it's always brought me good luck."

"But they all look alike," said the engineer. "How do you know it's the same one?"

"Easy," smiled Penny. "I was nervous on the first broadcast and absent-mindedly scratched my initials on the under side."

Laugh By Laughton

Radioactor David Ellis tells this story on himself:

Once, when he was appearing on an airshow with Charles Laughton, the distinguished thespian looked the towering young Mr. Ellis up and down in an idle moment during rehearsal and queried, "How tall are you, my boy?"

"Six feet, three," replied Ellis.

"Hmmm," mused Laughton, then asked, "Yes, and what size shoes do you wear?"

"Fourteen," grinned David, who has to order his shoes from Marshall Field's, Chicago, the only firm who has them large enough.

"You know," muttered Mr. Laughton, appraising Ellis' feet again, "sometimes you give the impression that you're lying down!"

Reunion

Janet Waldo, known to ether-dialers as CBS' "Corliss Archer," is eagerly anticipating the arrival of her sister, Elizabeth, who is expected in Hollywood this week for a short vacation. As famous in her own right as her younger sister, Elizabeth is a skilled violinist, broadcasts regularly on Mexico's station XEW, and bears the impressive title of United States Musical Ambassador to South America.

Another Journalist

Billie Burke, charming star of her own CBS and NBC airshows, is considering taking on still another assignment—that of newspaper columnist. Miss Burke is considering starting her own syndicated column on items of interest to every woman.

Brushwood Philosopher

Cottonseed Clark, wide-grinning, friendly host of CBS' "Hollywood Barn Dance," is beaming with justifiable pride these days over the popularity of his "Brushwood Poems," a book he sells by request to listeners.

It contains a wide assortment of poems and homespun philosophy, and a short story bearing the rib-tickling title, "You Can't Fool Me; I Know Which Shell the Pea is Under."

KECA mike memos

It's a shame this isn't television! That's what we thought when we slipped into a "Hollywood Mystery Time" show the other Sunday. There was Dennis O'Keefe, handsome young leading man of the screen, doing a swell job in the role of "Jim Lawton," movie producer and amateur sleuth, and Constance Moore, blonde beauty, who is equally at home before the microphone and the movie cameras. They turn in a bang-up performance in light fast moving mystery drama, every Sunday over AMERICAN and KECA at 6:20 p. m.

Pert and purdy is a good way to describe Beryl Vaughan, pictured here. She's leading lady in AMERICAN'S "Curtain Time," and a veteran actress at 24. Beryl says she could hardly have been anything but an actress, since one of her forebears was Ann Hathaway, better known as Mrs. William Shakespeare! So, at the age of 8, she made her first professional appearance, in a church play, for which she received the sum of 25 cents! Listen Wednesday night at 6 on KECA, when "Curtain Time" will bring you a gay comedy, "Doctor's Orders."

DID YOU KNOW . . . that Guy Lombardo and his troupe of musicians and soloists are wrapping up their sweet music and heading Californiaward? Their first Hollywood broadcast will be Tuesday, August 7, KECA at 6 p.m. . . . that William Gargan, two-fisted screen actor, is now appearing in the role of Inspector Burke on that popular "whodunit" series, "Murder Will Out," on Tuesday nights, KECA at 9:30 . . . that "America's Town Meeting" will be broadcast from California during August and September . . . George V. Denny, Jr., takes the helm again after his vacation (KECA at 8:30 p.m. Thursdays) . . . that the western dance fans like Spade Cooley and his gang so well that he's been signed in his present spot for another year. You can hear him on Friday nights at 9 over KECA . . . that on the Breakfast Club recently Don McNeill and the gang helped twenty-five war vets from overseas celebrate Christmas in July! Little unusual and thoughtful things like that are always happening on KECA every morning between 8 and 9 . . . if you don't have the Breakfast Club habit, you should get it!

In spite of a heavy movie schedule and her five-day-a-week broadcasts over AMERICAN, Constance Bennett finds time to keep a very unusual "baby book" for her daughter, Gyl. Instead of the first-tooth, first-words, kind of record, Miss Bennett is filling in a beautiful hand-tooled leather book (a gift from Rosalind Russell) with notices of world happenings since Gyl's birth—two days after Pearl Harbor! Constance Bennett is a weekday feature on KECA at 12:15 p. m.

SOMETHING NEW . . . KECA inaugurated something new in the field of program promotion this past week . . . "Sightseeing American with Aunt Sarie," Mondays and Wednesdays at 6:30 p. m., will be a series of program reviews by Aunt Sarie (who in real life is Sarah Wilson, long-time headliner on "Grand Ole Opry," and now a San Fernando Valley resident) . . . She simply loves American radio programs and sees them all . . . but her announcer, who does the interviewing, has a terrible time keeping her on the subject. Give it an ear—we believe you'll like Aunt Sarie's slant on the shows.

... A Best Bet All Day—KECA ...

AMERICAN is trying out the week-long serialized dramas. So far they have proved good listening. Two examples we'd like you to try are "Best Sellers" on KECA at 2:30, and the adventures of that wiley oriental gentleman, Charlie Chan, whose uncanny deductions will amaze you every week night at 10:15 on KECA. We predict, incidentally, that "Best Sellers" will boost book sales across the country, for we are continually checking titles and authors for members of our own staff who have had an opportunity to hear only one or two of a week's series, and were so interested they wanted to buy the book.

Gags of the Week

For the best Gags of the Week, heard over Radio and sent Radio Life, tickets will be sent winners for admission to radio broadcasts. Send your best gag selection to 1029 West Washington Boulevard, Los Angeles.

Miss Beverly Luff, 4123 Le Bourget Avenue, Culver City, Calif.

Heard on "Breakfast in Hollywood":

Tom Breneman: Have you any hobbies, Mrs. Ackerman?

Mrs. Ackerman (90 years old): Yes, I listen to the radio.

Tom: What else do you do?

Mrs. Ackerman: I sit on the bench and flirt with the bus drivers.

Mrs. Arthur J. Bergerson, 4918 Hub Street, Los Angeles 42, Calif.

Heard on "Meet the Missus":

Jack Bailey (examining contents of a lady's purse): My! What kind of paper do you have around that coffee pot lid you're carrying?

Lady: Aha! THAT'S KLEENEX!

Bud Bonner, 4220 Tivoli Avenue, Venice, Calif.

Heard on Breneman's "Breakfast in Hollywood":

Bobby: Do you know what the American soldier found inside of the captured Japanese pillbox?

Tom: No, what did he find?

Bobby: A bunch of pills.

Bob Goldberg, 1701 Kenneth Road, Glendale 1, Calif.

Heard on "It Pays to Be Ignorant":

George Shelton: Ya know, I heard Chicago was sick.

Tom Howard: Chicago was sick?

Shelton: Yeah, I read it on an envelope: Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Kenneth G. Phillips, 933 South Burlington Avenue, Los Angeles 6, Calif.

Heard on "Money On the Line":

Contestant: When I get out of the service, I want to get into radio as a sound effects man.

Jack Bailey: You wouldn't want to be an announcer or master of ceremonies?

Contestant: No. I want to eat.

Radio Roundup from KFI

One of the most important individuals in radio is one who seldom gets a hearing or a seeing and that's the producer. Among these publicly neglected persons is ANDY POTTER, staff producer at KFI. Andy's chief assignment these days is the "Everybody's Favorite" program, heard Saturdays at 8:00 and featuring songstress Vyola Vonn... a show, incidentally, that takes many waking hours to whip into shape because it's a major production featuring a full orchestra and a famous guest each week. But Andy is used to plenty of work as anyone from the O. W. I. will tell you. Before the Armed Forces Radio Service was organized, he was responsible for most of the programs shortwaved to our troops in the Pacific region. And what's more, he handled this assignment along with planning the bulk of the propaganda features to be transmitted to Japanese occupied territory! One year and a half ago Andy left this organization to join the KFI staff as producer of both commercial and public service programs. When you listen this Saturday to "Everybody's Favorite" and hear Vyola's guest, Steve Cochran, (the new Sam Goldwyn find, dubbed a second Clark Gable) just keep in mind that Andy is the behind-the-scene guy deserving one big round of applause!

And, by the way, we hope you are a regular listener on KFI Thursdays at 10:15 p. m. when the mayor of Los Angeles, Fletcher Bowron, delivers an informal address on the current problems and issues confronting your local government. During these past few weeks the Mayor has discussed some of the major post-war problems to face Los Angeles, and you can readily see how important this topic is to every resident. If you haven't heard Mayor Bowron in the past, don't miss his program this Thursday and the weeks following because this feature is definitely worth your while.

Fast-talking J. C. Flippen, heard on "Correction Please" Fridays at 8:30, made his debut on the air by producing and emceeding the first amateur hour in radio. Starting at the age of sixteen J. C. (he has only initials for a name) played a blackface boy in a minstrel show in his home town of Little Rock, Arkansas. Within a year he progressed to end man and had become an entertainer of such calibre that the famed vaudevillian Al Fields took him to New York to star in his shows.

MAXWELL, THE MINX!

Elsa Maxwell of Mutual's "Party Line," once sat in the front row at a symphony concert sucking on a lemon, because she had heard that such a sight drove horn players to distraction. And did it? It certainly did—the horn player broke up completely.

KGfJ STAFF ENLARGED

New additions to the KGfJ announcing staff include Ray Bohannon, formerly of KQW, San Francisco, and Roger Patrick from WGN, Chicago, according to Thelma Kirchner, manager. Margaret Molloy of Philadelphia is an addition to the musical department.

DESTINATION UNKNOWN

Edgar Bergen, after he completed his tour of army and navy hospitals, departed on a "mystery" vacation. He refused to say where he was going or when he would return, beyond the fact that he would be back for his fall show.

PLAY TIME
 Clifford Goldsmith, creator of the popular "Aldrich Family," heard Friday's over CBS, has written another play. It's a comedy called
 and it's due to reach Broadway in the fall.

INTERVIEWER
 Interviewing guest stars on Mutual's "What's Your Idea?" is not new to Jack Stanley. He's brought more than 500 celebrities to the microphone in his 18 years of radio work.

JAZZ CLASSICS ON KWKW

Fans of jazz music will want to hear KWKW's new show "Jazz Concert" which features seldom-heard-on-the-air jazz numbers. Many record collectors take their disks to the station to be played during the program, thus sharing these out-of-circulation favorites with other fans. The show is aired Saturday nights from 5:45 to 7:00.

CONGRATULATIONS

Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake, stars of the CBS "Blondie" series, recently chalked up their sixth consecutive year as Blondie and Dagwood.

LETTERS FROM HOME

Ted Malone, whose human-interest program is heard weekday mornings over the American Network, has made some interesting computations regarding overseas mail. He says that Americans at home and abroad have posted about four billion letters to be sent overseas, enough to reach fifteen and a half times around the world. P. S. The postscripts alone would reach half-way to the moon.

CANINE CONNOISSEUR

Gil Martyn, ABC newscaster whose show is sponsored by Gro-Pup Dog Food and who frequently relates canine tales on his popular morning news program, knows whereof he speaks when he does so. Martyn has written many articles on the care and feeding of dogs, and once owned the world's champion high-jumping dog. "Dogs," grins Gil, "are my hobby!"

GOOD WILL AMBASSADOR

Vance Graham, news supervisor at KMPC, has served as master-of-ceremonies for Pan-American night in the Hollywood Bowl, and also at the Pan-American ball held by the Los Angeles Latin-American Consular Association. In 1943, Graham was sent on an organizing mission by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce through several Latin-American countries.

LOVE IS BLIND?

The American Network's "Blind Date" airshow, fenced by Arlene Francis, doesn't stop with just a date. During the show's year and a half on the air, "Blind Date" has chalked up eighteen engagements and four marriages as a direct result of dates arranged between glamor girls and servicemen.

GREEKS LIKE PARKY

Greeks are the most avid fans of Parkyakarkus, whose Greek dialect pervades NBC's "Meet Me at Parky's." They like him because he has never ridiculed them, and many think he is a Greek himself.

TEAM WORK

The team of Newscaster Jim Doyle, Announcer Wally Ramsey and Writer Bud Rutherford who write and air the daily Standard of California newscasts over Mutual, has been working together for ten years on many of the network's top shows.

short-haired musical hours. When conductor Serge Koussevitzky of the Boston "Pops" (one of his earlier shows) once asked him what he did with the other six days of the week, Dee wondered how he would explain "Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street" to him.

With the launching of "Hall of Fame," Engelbach established himself as a definite personality. On this, his first trip to California with the "Doctor Fights" series, he is favorably impressed by the state but looks forward to returning to his home in the heart of Greenwich Village. He achieved another "luck break" by finding a home for his wife, dog, and himself within three weeks after his arrival here. He is seriously considering a fall New York stage play to round out his varied career.

Putting to use every bit of knowledge gleaned during his staff days, he now isolates his musicians from the dramatic cast, which he, in turn, places close to his perch in the control room. This is an unusual procedure but provides a feeling of intimacy between the actors and producer.

Although Engelbach becomes nervous preceding air time, only the technicians in the control room are aware of it. He never fails to go through the ritual of knocking on wood and crossing his fingers. The closing signature on the show is a title credit acknowledging Dee as producer-director. When this is over he breathes a big sigh of relief and mutters "Nuts to Dee Engelbach."

NO DUMMY ABOUT VACATIONS

By Edgar Bergen

▲ "SCHOOL!" EXCLAIMS MASTER McC. You haven't got a chance. There's one principal, 68 teachers, and 23 substitute teachers, all out to flunk you. And when you do and you're tossed out, there's the truant officer waiting to toss you right back in again."

IR CHARLIE has his way, the vacation situation would resolve itself very simply. He'd just mark it off at 52 weeks a year, and let it go at that.

I've tried to tell him that there's something in life besides fun, but I think I've failed. Considerable thought goes into my private talks with Charlie. I work them out beforehand and study them carefully to be sure they make good sense — are constructive, encouraging and inspirational.

But every time he seems either to miss the point entirely, or squirm around the point in such a way that I always seem to end up against a blank wall. It can be very discouraging.

Truant at Heart

The truth of the matter is, Charlie hates school. He'd rather play truant and spend his time with Skinny Dugan. I remember having a long talk with him about school some months back.

"School!" he exclaimed by way of giving the matter a sweeping dismissal. "You haven't got a chance. There's one principal, 68 teachers and 23 substitute teachers, all out to flunk you. And when they do and you're tossed out, there's the truant officer waiting to toss you right back in again."

I tried round-about ways to get him interested. I don't say he'd out-wit me each time the subject would come up. It's just that I was always left with the feeling that I didn't quite get my point across in the way I'd planned it beforehand.

I remember one time expressing pleasure that he liked geography well enough to bring his book home with him evenings.

"I bring it home because I don't like it," he replied a trifle testily.

"Do you have lectures in school, too?" I inquired.

"Three a week," he replied, "not counting the one I get from the principal."

"Then you're having difficulty?" I asked, trying to be helpful. "What seems to be the main one?"

"Showing up for class is the main one," he replied, and finally admitted he'd got zero in a test that day. He dismissed this with the remark, "That's nothing."

"Nothing?" I suggested in mild astonishment.

"Yep," he retorted. "Zero's nothing. I learned that much in arithmetic."

All the Same

And he actually seemed proud of himself! His theory seems to be that it doesn't matter whether you're at the head of the class or the foot, as they teach the same thing at both ends.

I've tried other things too, by way of cultural and educational effort. One time when we had a few days off during spring vacation, I took Charlie to Grand Canyon. That too was a disappointment, not the Canyon, mind you, but Charlie's attitude.

"The biggest washout I've ever seen," he said and let it go at that. On the return journey back to Hollywood I remarked that we've seen a good many wonderful sights, which would leave a lasting impression.

He agreed.

"Now," I said, "can you name one?"

"Yes," he said quickly, looking alive again. "Helen."

"Charlie," I remonstrated, "is that all you got out of our wonderful trip?"

"Nope, I got her 'phone number, too," he replied.

"I'm afraid," I said sadly, "you've missed the real purpose of our trip."

"Well," he came back, "you told me to embrace every opportunity."

I asked him why then, he spent all his time with Helen.

"Bergen," he replied, "you don't know an opportunity when you see one."

Real Problem

So you can see what I'm up against. When we arrived back, hoping to stimulate some interest in his going back to school, so that I wouldn't be continually harassed by the visits from the truant officer, I remarked that of all the sights we'd seen none could be more pleasant than the little red school house.

His reaction wasn't quite what I expected, or perhaps it was what I feared. He said nothing. I repeated the remark.

"Personally, I'll take the Brown Derby," he replied.

Of course, I tell myself consolingly, there's one good point in his attitude, one ray of hope and light coming through it all. What he's for he's for with every fibre of his being. And he's for vacations!

A Dozen of Hollywood's Top Air Performers Have Formed the "Twelve Players" Cooperative Group To Present an Outstanding New Dramatic Series

▲ A NOVEL UNDERTAKING is that assumed by the group pictured above who have formed the "Twelve Players" organization to bring to the microphone weekly a cooperatively-produced radio program of outstanding merit. RADIO's supporting performers, long-unsung contributors of the cream of air entertainment, have finally been given the opportunity to bring to the airwaves the full worth of their incomparable talent and years of experience in the ether industry. An idea given birth by Ray Buffum, Jack Moyles and Edmund MacDonald has culminated in the formation of the "Twelve Players," an organization of a dozen of Hollywood radio's top supporting dramatists who bring to the microphone each week, on a CBS program (un-sponsored at this writing) scripts of their own selection with casts assembled from their own midst by ▼ JACK MOYLES is veteran of ten years in radio, mostly in San Francisco. Has been heard on "Man Named Jordan," "Pacific Story," "I Was There" and "The Whistler."

▼ EDMOND MacDONALD has been at the microphone for eight years in Hollywood, two in New York, has also done movie work. Dialers have heard him on "Murder Will Out," "Cavalcade of America," the Kate Smith show and "March of Time."

▼ MARY JANE CROFT has been on the airwaves eight years, has played "Ida" on the Eddie Cantor show, "Harriet Woodley" on "Blondie," a variety of parts on "Ozzie and Harriet," Jack Benny, and "Silver Theater," title role on "Sandra Martin."

▼ JAY NOVELLO has been in radio for a decade; appearing on "Lux Theater," "Cavalcade," "Screen Guild," "Suspense," "The Whistler," "Mayor of the Town," "Silver Theater," "Stars Over Hollywood."

HOWARD McNEAR records eight years, two of them in the Bay City; made debut on the stage when very young. Was "Professor" on "Bill Lance," and with "Mayor of the Town," "Orson Welles' Almanac," Billie Burke show, Bob Burns.

JOHN LAKE, in radio for the past twelve years, has been heard on "Lux Radio Theater," "Screen Guild Players," Burns and Allen, "We, the People," and "Mayor of the Town." "One Man's Family" dialers know him as "Tony."

HERBERT RAWLINSON, veteran of thirty years on the stage, screen and radio, appears on "Everything for the Boys," the Ginny Simms show, "Hollywood Preview," "Screen Guild Players," "Silver Theater" and the Bullock's program.

LURENE TUTTLE has taken an active part in major Hollywood radio productions for the past eight years. Dialers are familiar with her work on "Blondie," "Suspense," "This Is My Story," "The Great Gildersleeve" and "The Whistler."

the means of cooperative auditions.

The "Twelve Players" are a gifted group of actors and actresses whose names may be unfamiliar to you, but whose voices (each of them possesses several) emanate from your loud-speaker every day. They are: Lurene Tuttle, Bea Benaderet, Mary Jane Croft, Cathy Lewis, Jack Moyles, David Ellis, John Lake, Charley Lung, Edmund MacDonald, Howard McNear, Jay Novello and Herbert Rawlinson.

The program is produced by Ray Buffum, announced by Jimmy Matthews, with music by Wilbur Hatch.

Scripts Played

The group accepts free-lance scripts for their perusal, although to date just two writers have contributed all but one script. The dramatizations presented by the "Twelve Players" have included such exceptional stories as "The Lady and the Letters" by Roy Buffum, a tale of blackmail; "Concerto for Hatred" by John Michael Hayes, the story of a talented pianist who intends to kill his wife; "Who Sent for You?" by Hayes, a comedy satire on aristocrats in Tzarist Russia; "The Island" by Dennis Murray, a psychological suspense thriller; and "The Brush 'Off" by Hayes, a farce comedy about a wallpaper painter.

The "Twelve Players" make no claim to being the best actors in radio, but each of them has many years' of microphone experience to his credit, and together, they form a congenial, cooperative team of real troupers.

Get Name Credit

Upon occasion, one or more of the players is called upon to take two roles on the same broadcast. They are given the privilege of juggling their dual roles among themselves to their best advantage. A player may be excused from the broadcast if he has a favorable commercial assignment at a conflicting time. All twelve of the performers are scheduled to speak their names at the opening of the program; if one player is absent, one of his co-workers

CATHY LEWIS, with three years of intensive radio activity, is known to ether audiences for her performances on "Star Playhouse," "I Love a Mystery," "Stars Over Hollywood," the Norman Corwin program, Eddie Bracken show, "Michael Shayne."

CHARLIE LUNG has been in radio nineteen years, in Chicago and Hollywood, made appearances on "Cavalcade," "Lux Theater," "Red Ryder," "Michael Shayne," "Suspense," "Uncle Walter's Doghouse," in addition to many movie roles.

BEA BENADERET has spent sixteen years at the microphone. Listeners know her latterly as "Eve Goodwin" on "The Great Gildersleeve," "Gloria, the Maid" on "Ozzie and Harriet," "Mrs. Carstairs" on "Fibber McGee and Molly."

DAVID ELLIS has been in radio for three years, in Chicago and Hollywood, doing roles in "One Man's Family," "Guiding Light," and in "First Nighter," "Star Playhouse," "This Is My Best," "Doctor Christian" and "Author's Playhouse."

I DON'T WANT to be rude," Parkyakarkus declared solemnly as soon as our initial "how-do-you-dos" had been spoken, "but before we do another thing—let's eat!"

Eating seemed to be an apropos thing to be doing as we sat at a table in Lyman's and talked with the popular NBC funnyman about his new comedy show called "Meet Me At Parky's," which has a restaurant as its setting.

"Parky" (his name is really Harry Einstein) told us that this new series was very similar to his first airshow in Boston in 1932, when he initially introduced the character of "Parkyakarkus" to ether audiences.

Looking more like a worried businessman than successful comedian, Mr. Einstein admitted that he found it a difficult thing to relax. "A comedian never has any such thing as spare time," he pointed out. "I went to the ball game last night and I don't think I can remember a single play. My mind was on next week's script."

PARKY'S REAL NAME is Harry Einstein. Before radio, he was a successful advertising writer. His new airshow, "Meet Me at Parky's," brings him back to the microphone after an absence of four years. A Comedian Can't Have Fun

By Richard Baker

"Parkyakarkus" Looks More Like a Worried Businessman Than a Successful Comic; Says a Funnyman Has No Such Thing as Spare Time

"PASS THE BUTTER, PARKY," plead Parkyakarkus' steady customers, Opie Cates, Betty Rhodes and Dave Street, as they make themselves at home in Parky's mythical restaurant. Off-mike, the comedian is happily married and has two young sons who like to listen to his radio show.

siders his program the kind that needs good laughs in rapid succession in contrast to the slower-moving type of comedy of some shows.

In addition to its star, "Meet Me At Parky's" features the songs of Betty Rhodes and David Street, and the music of Opie Cates. The program brings "Parkyakarkus" back to the microphone after an absence of four years.

Born in Boston on May 6, 1904, Harry Einstein started out to be an advertising writer. "There's an old joke about that, you know," he laughed. "I was an old newspaper man—until I found out there was no money in old newspapers."

In actuality, he had become one of the top men in the advertising field, winning a medal from Harvard University for "the best ad of the year" the same year that he made his radio debut as "Parky."

"Parkyakarkus" was originally born when young Harry spent his boyhood days around his father's importing warehouse and learned to speak with a Greek accent. By the time he was in grammar school, he was known as "the little Greek philosopher" and was doing his imitations at school entertainments.

This extemporaneous linguistic activity notwithstanding, Harry was graduated from high school with honors in English.

"Parkyakarkus" joined the Eddie Cantor show in 1932, came to Hollywood with the cast, appeared in many movies, and married singer Thelma Leeds in February of 1937.

The Einsteins have two children—2½-year-old Bobby and 6½-year-old Clifford. The comedian proudly displayed their pictures in a gold locket on his watch chain. It also contained photos of his wife and mother, which left one other partition in it empty. Grinned "Parky": "We can have one more child."

Collects Coins

The radio star and his family live in an 11-room Georgian Colonial house in Beverly Hills which contains prominent evidence of "Parky's" prime off-mike interest—his collection of old coins and early American silver.

Away from the microphone, the comic seldom listens to the radio; doesn't want to be influenced by the material of other entertainers.

Asked if his sons listened to his show, he answered, "Yes, they do—they're too young to be critical."

Four Little Sisters

returned to the musical stage on a USO tour of service hospitals; answered musical arranger Harry Zimmerman's call to come to Hollywood for a feature spot on a top Mutual airshow.

Currently, MBS dialers hear the Lyttle Sisters twice weekly—Sundays on "Music with the Accent on Romance" and Mondays on "The Feeling Is Mutual."

Imitate Andrews Sisters

While attending College View High in Lincoln, Nebraska, their birthplace, Darlene, Dotty and Sally Gourly used to wow their school chums with imitations of the Andrews sisters. They used to sing at the Country Club, at charity shows, and walked away with prizes at Lincoln's amateur theater contests.

In October of 1941, the trio joined Orrin Tucker's orchestra and sang arrangements whipped up by the aforementioned Harry Zimmerman, who was Tucker's arranger at the time. A few months later, when the Tucker aggregation was disintegrated by the Army draft, the sisters signed to a feature billing with the orchestra of Bob Allen.

About this time, one afternoon when the girls were rehearsing in a studio at the Leed's Music Corporation in New York, they blended their voices in one of their old imitations of the Andrews Sisters. The familiar three-part harmony wafted out into the hall and struck a responsive note in the ear of a girl who happened to be strolling down the corridor. The girl was Maxene, one of the Andrews Sisters, and it was she who then, introduced the new rhythm group to Hal McIntyre, he who christened them the Lyttle Sisters.

By then, sister Sue, "baby" of the family (she's now eighteen with the others ranging in age just a year or so apart), had been initiated into the group, making it a quartet and switching the girls' singing aspirations from the three-part harmony of the Andrews Sisters trio to the four-part blending of the King Sisters quartet.

"Darlene has a voice like Alyce King," smiled Darlene's sisters, when Radio Life met the friendly foursome during one of their recent rehearsal sessions.

"Dotty," put in Darlene, "has a nose like Jean Harlow."

Enthusiastic movie-goers (except for Darlene who, more often, would rather stay home), the girls immediately launched into a discussion of whom they would like to be: Darlene chose Maureen O'Hara Dotty, Katherine Hepburn; Sally, Susan Hayward; and Sue, Linda Darnell ("or Salome," she winked). All unmarried, the quartet named their screen idols as Lew Ayres, Gregory Peck; Tyrone Power, Cornel Wilde ("or John Garfield," added Sue, who couldn't make up her mind which of the latter two she'd like to marry).

Besides movies, the Lyttle girls like to dance, go to nightclubs, listen to records. "Mostly our own," they assured us with a merry wink.

"Your Blind Date"

and she's made it a point to know every ribbon and bit of insignia a serviceman might wear.

About one boy in ten is shy, but she's found that with a little understanding, they come along wonderfully well. It's no secret, she says, that the men are hand-picked a week ahead of the program, owner of the program, Tom Wallace, and an aide scouring service centers for refined chaps who'll make acceptable program material. Arlene still shudders about the time when they played the Capitol as a stage unit and she had to interview men off the streets—one of whom hadn't imbibed too judicially.

Apparently it's no secret, too, that those cute remarks the fellows make are not their own cleverly thought-up ad libs. They're all written down for them beforehand and when one sees how fussed the boys are, one realizes that without some conversational landmarks to guide the going, the show would be a fizzle as commercial radio entertainment.

As to the lovely ladies for whose company the gentlemen vie, they're hand-picked too, from the ranks of stage and radio actresses, models, and other professions. All of them are beautiful, refined, and receive fifty dollars for "working the show." In New York, the lucky lad gets to take his date to the Stork Club, with Miss Francis and another equally glamorous star chaperoning the group. While in Los Angeles, the dates are entertained at the Biltmore Bowl. The first night the show was in Hollywood, the three losers were given fifteen dollars apiece, tickets for Ken Murray's "Blackouts," tickets to a movie, and a tour of a motion picture studio.

Permanent Dates

Although the blind date girls are always chaperoned home, several of the show's meetings have resulted in lively correspondences and so far, there have been six marriages.

Perhaps the most touching episode concerns one young fellow who fell in love with his blind date before he went overseas. He was fatally wounded at the front, but before he died, he called for his buddy and asked him to see to it that his blind date girl received his identification bracelet.

speaks his name for him, "giving him the advantage of our most dulcet speaking tones," the actors smilingly maintain.

Whether or not a player has a part in the current script, if he has no other conflicting assignment, he shows up for the broadcast to help with the presentation behind-the-scenes, in whatever capacity he can.

One Saturday when Bea Benaderet had to be at the microphone for a "Twelve Players" production, she couldn't find anyone to take care of her little boy, so she brought him to the studio with her. In the true cooperative spirit of the organization, Lurene Tuttle played nursemaid backstage while Bea emoted at the mike.
