J. S. Ambrose, 806 North Kingsley, Los Angeles 27, Calif.

Sirs: Please give us a few lines on domestic life of Lionel Barrymore—widower or bachelor?

Thanks for page on Jimmy Cash—"Sweet Singer").

Look for Lionel in the July 28th issue.

Miss Beverly Louise Jones, 440 West 82nd Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: The other day I was listening to "Meet the Missus." I heard a lady telling about getting a traffic ticket because her daughter liked comic books. That was fine! But, just about fifteen minutes before on "That's Life," I heard the same woman telling the same story, only phrasing it differently . . . I believe she even used a different name . . . Please let us try to find a way to keep these "air-hogs" away from the mike.

I sincerely believe these shows are put-up jobs. Most of these people are probably working for the show and are not people out for a good time.

Most of the local "air-hogs" are known to the emcees. They do their best to keep them off the air and usually succeed. Don't let a few "slick professional participants" make you doubt the authenticity of most air contestants. The poor emcee is being victimized even more than his listening audience—he has to give her a prize!

Joan Ellis, 9921 Virginia Avenue, South Gate, Calif.

Sirs: Would you please tell me who plays "Lenny" on "Corliss Archer," and who plays "Betty"?

Also, who plays the "Cisco Kid"?

Henry Bartell plays "Lenny," Bebe Young plays "Betty," Jack Mather plays "Cisco."

Mrs. Mildred Roney, 4184 Dixie Canyon, Sherman Oaks, Calif.

Sirs: "Is Rita La Roy on "Lady, Be Beautiful" the same person who was in pictures so many years, and what is she doing now? This is one of the most interesting service programs ever put on for women. How come radio officials—who after all, are mere men—have finally seen the light with a real women's show?

Yes, it's the same Rita La Roy who was a picture favorite not so long ago. She operates a highly successful school for models.

P. L. Evans, 3436 East 64th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I am very displeased with the writer who writes Red Skelton's script since I heard Red Skelton throw rocks through people's windows. Now, that really isn't funny because ever since he started that I can't keep window glass in my windows. Kids of fourteen or fifteen ride by here on bicycles and throw rocks through my big, expensive windows and shoot through them with BB guns and then laugh. I don't say anything to them because I know why they are doing it. They do the same to some of the other neighbors. Many people are unhappy about it.

They sound like the kind of boys who would do that if they had never heard of Red Skelton. Especially at fifteen! Have you tried calling the police?

Mrs. J. B. Stark, 720-A North Louise St., Glendale, Calif.

Sirs: Since the time change on "Light of the World" I have to miss it. Can't it be put back in the forenoon?

I wish "Ma Perkins," "Plain Bill" and "Wildder Brown" would attend to their own affairs for a while, and isn't it possible for "Portia" and "Walter" to get together in peace for a short time?

Why must the music between dialogue be so loud . . . and if you turn it down, you can't understand the dialogue.

We can only print your letter and hope that someone who can do something about them, sees your "gripes."

Vivien B. Griffith, 1511 Corona Drive, Glendale 5, Calif.

Sirs: I was especially looking forward to your June 2nd issue for your promised pictures and comments on the midnight to dawn programs—and hurrah! It was even better than I had hoped it would be—and our favorites—Al Poska and his engineer, Ernie Tavare, headed the list!

I certainly do like the spread you gave the "In the Still of the Night" gang and I'll be looking forward again to an early issue covering the 6:00 a.m. to 8:00 a.m. programs.

Won't you please write up an exclusive interview with Al Poska?

Request noted.

ANSWERING the question, "Where can a G.I. go to be heard?", KFI presents the "G.I. Theatre" every other Thursday night at 11:30, with alternate Thursdays devoted to auditions. The half-hour program, produced by Al Poska and Charlie Chaplin, show-cases G.I. talent in an effort to obtain radio work for these deserving people.

Each time a program is presented, KFI mails notices to all radio producers in Hollywood, inviting them to listen and giving the names of the actors and actresses to be heard and the roles they will play.

Typical Cast

Typical program of the series was the opening one, a moving drama built around an injured veteran. The cast included Hy Averbach (A.F.R.S., thirty-nine months); Harry Carr (Infantry, eleven months); Bob Cole (aviation, eight months); Mary Headley (Marines, two-and-a-half years); Hugh Mosher (Navy, three years); Charles Royal (Coast Guard, five-and-a-half years); Laurie Sheklow (Air Corps, four years); William Thompson (Coast Guard, four-and-a-half years).

Auditions are open to ex-servicemen and women with honorable discharge certificates. All auditionees

MODEL MARGARET RUTHERFORD shows up at "Lady Be Beautiful" and demonstrates what can happen on the program. The experts decide to take her on.

Lady Want to Be Beautiful?

Five Experts Show You How in "Before-After" Demonstration

Monday-Friday, 11:30 a.m.
MBS-KHJ-KGB

LADY—do you want to be beautiful?" And Mutual's "answer to that clamor for glamour" is its newest coast-to-coast hit audience show... "Lady Be Beautiful."

Panelled by five experts in the field of beauty, featuring all sorts of give-aways to the studio audience from roses, dress-lengths, and hats to the services of the experts themselves, the program is beautiful lady Helen Morgan's own answer to the need of American women for expert advice on fashion.

The program, which Miss Morgan originated, writes, and produces, operates like this:

Panel Named

A different expert presides each day, introduced by Emcee Ben Alexander. The expert picks from the studio audience women with problems in his particular field, analyzes the participants at the mike, suggests remedies. Expert Renie, RKO studio designer, presents two of her contestants with enough material to make a dress plus suggestions on how to style it; Expert Josephl, milliner to the Duchess of Windsor, gives away one of his fabulous hats. All of the experts offer their personal services to the women chosen to appear on the program; in addition, there's a five-minute forum each day for questions from the audience, and air listeners can have their own problems answered simply by writing a letter.

What makes a woman beautiful? Each of the experts has his own answer to that, and capsuled here are some of those answers:

Abe Shore, Max Factor's Dean of Make-Up—Monday's Expert

There is no more powerful asset than beauty, and a woman's greatest beauty asset is a good skin. The great art of any artist is to imitate nature so effectively that it looks natural. This is one of the most important points of make-up; women should remember it faithfully.

The human face has three contours—oval, round, and square. The oval shape is the desirable contour, and successful make-up should be so applied that it gives the illusion of an oval face. Proper arrangement of the hair can improve this illusion.

Rouge Important

Cheek rouge is one of the principal colors that can be used to create the illusion of a desirable looking contour. It can also create the illusion of youth and health.

Rouge will cut down the length of a long face if it is applied in a horizontal direction on the cheek bones, blended up toward the lower eyelid, and out toward the temple. Conversely, it can give length to a wide face by applying it vertically.

Women with prominent noses should not apply rouge too close to the base of the nose. This makes the nose appear even larger. Women with small noses can blend the make-up carefully toward the base of the nose.

Renie, RKO Designer—Tuesday's Expert

Never buy anything until you have seen yourself in a full-length mirror from all angles. Sit down in your dress, stand up in it, and walk around in it. Don't just look in one position.

When buying a hat decide what it is to go with before buying and coordinate the two. Have a coiffure for each hat.

Before leaving the house, take a good look at yourself and then remove one more thing, whether it be jewelry, flowers, etc. People usually over-dress and don't under-dress.

It's better to buy one good thing and spend what you might consider a great amount than to buy two, three, or four items that end up costing the same amount of money.

If you are short and stout, don't cut yourself in two with a two-colored dress—for instance, a red blouse and a black skirt. Use one color tone, for example, shades of blue.

Hemlines Individual Matter

There is no rule or regulation on how long a dress should be. It should be long enough to be becoming. It is particularly important for tall people to have hemlines far enough below the knee to be pretty.

Most redheads can wear pink and red if they stay away from orange tones.

Just because you wear glasses you don't necessarily have to wear brimmed hats, but you do have to be careful in choosing them. Wear glasses when buying a hat. Don't take them off to see how the hat looks.

Most women with figure problems can wear suits (middle aged women with "middle aged spread" often wonder if they can wear a suit). Be careful of design and cut. Most short women can wear bolero suits providing jacket and skirt actually meet to create a long line.

Clothes should be fitted properly. A twenty-five dollar dress that is fitted properly can look wonderful, while a dress costing one hundred and fifty dollars that does not fit looks terrible.

Josephi, Milliner to the Duchess of Windsor—Wednesday's Expert

Women should be extremely careful in their selection of a hat, to make sure it suits the lines of their face, their size, and their coloring. It's most essential to be sure that the hat is broad enough—that its width corresponds with the width of the jaw line so that the hat has that on-the-head look. Crowns are larger and more important nowadays; a hat should not look as if it is sitting on top of the head but rather as if it were a part of it.

Today's stress is on the smaller hat with a very important trim, yet with a light look. Opened crowned hats with flowers and hats with feather swirls create this look.

Hat Rules

Tall women may wear large brimmed hats; short women may not because it cuts their height. Correspondingly, a tall woman should wear a large-crowned hat that really fits her head. Suit hats may be smaller, but the trim must be important.

BEN THINKS MARGARET LOOKS a lot better, but there's still something wrong.

There is a great tendency this year to continue the off-the-face hat. All women can wear this type of hat if their coiffure and make-up is correct. The open-crown effect so popular this summer will continue into fall and winter. With a small, forward hat women should wear their hair up. For off-the-face hats, it may be worn down in a very simple, clean chignon. In any event hair should always be neatly groomed for the best effect.

Women's worst fault in buying hats is lack of courage to wear the dramatic.

Hazel Rogers, RKO Hairstylist—Thursday's Expert

There are seven basic faces from which all hairdressing is styled: the round face should have a part

Fibber's Closet

And Thousands of Other Effects Originate in This Behind-Scenes But Always on the Job Department

ment has just acquired one of the new RCA experimental wire-recorders on which it plans to snatch any wanted sound innovations.

Twenty sound effects experts service the noise needs of Radio City's scores of shows. Of several girls who became interested in this work when majority of the department's men went into service, blond Dorothy Waknitz (former secretary in NBC's publicity department) is the lone survivor. Dorothy, who had to undergo stringent training and work six months on studio shows before being allowed to handle a commercial program, now supplies sound for some of NBC's most important programs (Rudy Vallee, "Date With Judy"). Conforming to radio's irregular hours, sound effects engineers put in a hodge-podge working week of forty hours.

Preparation Needed

Assembling of effects for a big time program is handled with the same care as script or music. Several days before broadcast time, the sound man obtains a copy of the script and studies it to learn what is expected by way of sound. Some of the effects, like opening doors or ringing telephones, will be manual. Others, like barking dogs or screams

AN OCEAN without a roar?

A radio show without sound effects?
In radio's salad days, most of the effects were achieved by hand. In recent years, recordings have supplanted manual effects and a Sound Effects Department like Radio City's now has more than 3,000 records imprinted with sounds. These run the gamut from the whimper of a newborn baby to the streaking wham of a jet-propelled plane. The depart-of persons will be recorded and to select the precise effect wanted, the sound man will consult a fat catalogue which tabulates and describes all available effects. As deadline for rehearsal time approaches, the sound man will recheck the script, load the truck with his miscellany of items, and shove down the hall, ready to put the sound into a Skelton or Kyser script.

Typical lead for a recent Bob Hope show included effects for: car door, house door, elevator door, guns and ammunition, slide whistle, glass crates, feather duster, glove, glass crash, platform, wood crash.

Often the department is called upon to figure out an effect for which there is no recording or manual procedure. Recently, Ed Ludas of NBC's Sound Department rigged up a motor and built the effect of a model T. Controlling the contraption by hand, Ed can supply the effect of a tin lizzie starting, chugging up a hill, sailing along a stretch, and of killing the engine. By manipulation, the invention also is made to sound like an elevator or a motor boat.

Snakes Rattle

The department is bursting its buttons over two newly-acquired slot machines. For the past few years it has been using a tree-like stand of tin into which small coins were dropped by hand. Another new gimmick is the rattle of a snake, achieved by vibrating a real rattler's rattle by means of a tiny motor. One which vibrates intensely has been labeled "vicious rattler".

Fibber's fabulous closet is still a point of interest, for the articles, ranged precariously on a tier of steps, are as varied as ever (old shoes, dumb-bells, tin pie pans). Now that the war is over, no one feels too badly about the dishes which have to be broken to accentuate a script. NBC buys dishes out of the mold, before glazing, and all are "rejects". Red Skelton's script often calls for breaking of dishes, and when it does, six plates, six cups and saucers, and six soup plates are the victims.

An average of twenty sets of dinnerware a month is purposefully smashed to put a bang into routines of NBCComics.

▼ SOUND TRUCK READY TO WHEEL down the corridor to a studio. While Soundman Ray Erwin starts pushing and Department Head, Donald DeWolf, holds the door open, truck carries all equipment for a Kay Kyser program.

▼ RED SKELTON TURNS INTO a wicked little junior when exposed to a giant crash sound set-up in his NBC studio. Red's eyes gleam in anticipation of the rattle-de-bang this stack of stuff will make. This is supposed to be the biggest crash ever heard over the air.

Fall Turnabout

As in previous years, you may have to do a goodly bit of dial-twisting and log-reading to find your favorites when the autumn listening schedule is set. Just for instance, according to present plans, Eddie Cantor will switch from Wednesday night to a 6:30 Thursday night niche on NBC, while Ed Gardner and his "Duffy's Tavern" will move into Cantor's former Wednesday evening spot, and Don Ameche will be where Phil Spitalny's "Hour of Charm" was previously found. Joan Davis doesn't know where she's going, and neither does Dinah Shore—but it's most likely that neither of them, nor many others, will be where you heard them last.

So—hang on to your Radio Lives! We'll do our best to find out who's where when!

Lovely Ginny Simms graces the cover of our forthcoming issue—and a charming cover-miss she is! Inside, you'll find featured a handful of your other favorites. There's radio's "Queen of Caricature" and Radio Life Award-winner, Verna Felton, intimately photographed in her attractive Valley home. Haven MacQuarrie, your "Noah Webster Says" man, asks, "Can you read the dictionary?", and tells you more about his popular word-quizz show. That acting twosome, Gale and Virginia Gordon, are entertainingly profiled. Stu Erwin, star of "Phone Again, Finnegan," is discovered to be just the kind of a guy you want him to be. An NBC page-girl looks at music-man David Forester, and likes what she sees. All these personalities are spotlighted for you, plus another of our announcer series, this time the staff of KLAC; a report on one of your favorite musical programs, "Rhapsody in Wax;" and an informative accounting on another of your pet ether shows, "Romance of the Ranchos." man hosted and Rudy Vallee emceed Souvenair's first anthology of radio entertainment last Tuesday evening at Breneman's Restaurant on Vine Street.

The event was staged to introduce the new album of recorded Highlights from Breneman's "Breakfast in Hollywood" broadcasts. The album was played for those present. It contains hearty samples of Breneman's banter with his uninhibited breakfast guests who are apt to—and do!—say most anything.

Also spun for the assembled audience of press and radio folk were transcribed excerpts from outstanding radio fare of the past three decades—including Enrico Caruso's first radio broadcast in 1910; Edward of England's abdication speech for the "woman I love"; Jean Harlow singing "Reckless"; Herb Morrison's heart-wrenching eyewitness account of the Hindenburg disaster; Will Rogers inter-fewing Irvin S. Cobb; those three men who wanted to control the world—Herr Hitler, Superman and Mad Man Muntz; George Hicks' on-the-spot report of the English Channel crossing; Orson Welles' alarming "Mars" broadcast; the one and only Bing singing "Just One More Chance" in the twenties; Rudy Vallee introducing Alice "Cuddly" Faye on her network radio debut; and Franklin D. Roosevelt's declaration of war against Japan.

The evening's entertainment was entertainingly concluded when Vallee crooned a nostalgic rendition of "The Whiffenpoof Song" and a rib-tickling version of "Mad Dogs and Englishmen", and Breneman crowed an ear-scraping chorus of "When I Grow Too Old to Dream".

Daytime Radio

According to a six-year study by Cooperative Analysis of Broadcasting, "soap opera" radio fare is now taking up far less time on the air than in 1940—and at the same time, this type of show has become more popular.

In 1940, serial drama occupied 77.5% of daylight radio time, last year the percentage was only 44.5. But it still used four times as much time as the second biggest consumer of daytime commercial hours—news, commentators and talks, occupying 11.6% of the time.

Serial drama also moved into a first-place tie with "other drama", where it had formerly ranked third in popularity.

Biggest daytime gain in share of total air time was made by audience participation programs which climbed from 0.4 to 9.7%.

The number of rated network daytime programs on the air increased from eighty-one in the fall-winter of 1940 to 122 in the same period of 1945.

The Winner

Nobody was more surprised by the national and local hoop-erating of the recent Louis-Conn Fight than KECA, the station which carried the broadcast. A 70.1 (local rating) and 67.2 (national rating) were tabulated for the event. This meant that in the Los Angeles area alone, ninety-seven percent of the radios in use were tuned in on the fight!

To stimulate interest in the sports event, KECA offered prizes to five winners who could guess the correct hoop-erating prior to its happening. Those eligible for entry were members of the local press. The gentleman who walked off with first prize was Mr. Jimmy Fitz with a guess of 69.6.

With KLAC

Paul Stone of KLAC called to inform us that announcers Marx Hartman and Ed Stoddard are not with Station KGFJ, as stated in last week's Radio Life, but can be heard on the Top-of-the Dial Station, KLAC.

All in a Name

A deep rosy blush graced the face of Don Ross, publicity agent for Mutual's "Queen for a Day" show, when he boarded the plane as escort to "Queen" Emma K. Lemley, winner of a royal trip to San Francisco.

Ninety-one-year-old Miss Lemley and in-his-early-thirties Ross had been booked as "Mr. and Mrs.!"

New Record

Bill Henry, the man whom Time Magazine called "a journalistic institution", established a record for his specialized type of news reporting when he made his 700th broadcast over the Columbia Network on June twenty-first.

Henry's preparation of the five-minute script is a long day's task.

When it comes to exciting mystery drama... you can't beat the Monday night lineup on ABC-KECA. Completing an hour and a half of adventurous listening... on your dial between Dashiell Hammett's "Fat Man," and the doings of that robinhood-of-crime, "Boston Blackie"... you'll hear (starting July 8th) popular screen and radio actor William Gargan in "I Deal in Crime."

The new Monday addition (KECA at 9 p.m.) concerns the adventures in crime detection of Gargan, as Ross Dolan, recently returned to his private practice after serving in army intelligence. Written by Ted Hediger, "I Deal in Crime" is produced by Leonard Reeg, who also produces ABC's popular "Dark Venture" series.

William Gargan

First program in the hour and a half thrill-spot is that ace mystery fiction writer Dashiell Hammett's "Fat Man," with Jack Smart, well known radio and movie actor, in the title role. Incidentally, Smart, himself, weighs 270 pounds, 40 pounds more than the "Fat Man" of his air role... And at 9:30, the adventures of "Boston Blackie," which follows "I Deal in Crime," stars Richard Kollmar in the role of the devil-may-care Blackie. Always on the side of the underdog, Blackie often finds himself under suspicion for the very crimes he is trying to solve.

So... if you like your drama of the adventurous "whodunit" variety, you'll find no better spot on your dial than KECA-ABC from 8:30 until 10 on Monday nights!

... You'll Come Back to 790 ...

By the way, the "Hour of Mystery" play scheduled for Sunday, July 7th, (KECA at 6) is Dashiell Hammett's famous story, "The Glass Key"... Have you heard KECA's new 5-a-week series of sports commentaries by Sid Ziff? Ziff, whose name is synonymous with sports throughout Southern California, analyzes the sports news of the day, forecasts events to come, and gives you inside information on sports figures and happenings, every Monday thru Friday night at 10... Any day now the ABC "Bride and Groom" show will have their own airplane, a "Honeymoon Special" which is being presented by the Taylorcraft Aviation Corporation.

... You'll Come Back to 790 ...

HERE AND THERE: Bill Slater's Sunday afternoon ABC program, "Right Down Your Alley" (heard on KECA at 12:30) has become one of Manhattan's favorite gathering spots for Broadway and Hollywood personalities. Col. Stoopnagle, Ted Malone, Francis Lederer, and others have dropped in to try their skill at bowling... Norwood Smith, whose quarter-hour of song is a bright spot on KECA's Tuesday and Thursday afternoon dial (3:30) has just had his first recording session. He waxed four sides for Enterprise Records, "Old Man River" and "Desert Song," and "Wanting You" and "The Song Is You"... Eddie Marr, emcee of that Saturday night special on ABC-KECA at 7:30, made his professional debut at the age of six months in a "meller" drama called "The Golden Giant Mine." Eddie was paid off in milk!... That Sunday afternoon melody spot, "Hires' Sunday Party," moves into the 2 o'clock spot vacated by P.W. and crew on July 7th... Starting July 13th and continuing through Aug. 10th, the world famous Berkshire Festival Concerts will be broadcast by ABC, released on KECA from 5:30 until 6:30 on Saturday evenings... Paul Neighbors, who shares the singing spotlight with Penny Piper on ABC's "Helene Curtis Presents" show, Sundays at 8 p.m. will soon be seen in the MGM picture "The Secret Heart."

This nightly five-minute news capsule has been an established feature of CBS since December 1939, when it was first handled by Elmer Davis. Henry took over in September of 1943.

From eight o'clock in the morning until he goes on the air that evening, he selects and edits the news for those few topical items he delivers in slightly less than four minutes of broadcast time (about 600 words).

His morning hours are spent at one of Washington's press conferences or at Congressional hearings. His luncheons are planned to include government officials, congressmen, or international figures visiting Washington. Throughout the day he jots terse notes. At 3:30, he is ready to write his script. In one hour he makes his final selection, places the items in proper sequence, has someone read the script to him, and then "Bill Henry and The News" goes on the air.

More for Mitchel

Radio producer Les Mitchel has another iron in the fire. He's directing a new farce, "Cupid Thumbs His Nose", which will open soon in Santa Barbara and will tour the Coast before debuting in New York this fall. A name star is being chosen for lead.

A Home on Wheels

Do you remember contestant Vernon Keene of NBC's "Truth Or Consequences"? Mr. Keene was offered a Kit Kamper trailer if he would return to the sixth grade for one day—and could pass the necessary tests required of a sixth grader. Mr. Keene did—return, that is—but confessed he didn't pass those old demon tests. Consequently, he had to sit in a Washington Boulevard School room and allow himself to be decorated with a dunce cap. Emcee Ralph Edwards awarded Keene an "A" for effort and gave him the trailer. Now it seems that Mr. Keene and his family have been evicted from their Van Nuys home and are gratefully using their four-wheeled prize as a place to hang their hats.

Back on Air

Sally Sweetland is at the Mutual microphone again, taking listeners for melodic trips on "Melody Tours", having returned from her own recent jaunt to the Good Samaritan Hospital for an appointment with the stork.

Sally reported that little Laurence already shows signs of following in his mother's and father's footsteps (father is Lee Sweetland, heard recently on NBC's Westinghouse show during John Charles Thomas' illness).

"The baby has good lungs," smiled Sally—yawning sleepily!

All in One

In last week's Radio Life, when we day-dreamed about the voices we'd like to hear, little did we dream that

Radio Roundup from KFI

TWO PEOPLE, HEARD, MONDAY THROUGH FRIDAY OVER KFI DURING THE DAY, WHOSE FAN MAIL INDICATES THEIR GREAT POPULARITY, ARE TOM OWENS AND JOAN SCHAFER.

Tom Owens

TOM OWENS is heard each week-day morning at 6:30 with friendly and philosophical remarks, good sound advice, interspersed with recorded music. At 9:30 each day, he returns with his "Local Page" of news for all Southern California.

Joan Schafer

JOAN SCHAFER is the gal who acts as mediator for the people who send their grievances to her via letter. Joan reads the letters, both pro and con, over the air and invites comments from her listeners. Entitled "What Do You Say?" her program is heard Monday through Friday at 3:45 p. m.

For both shows, dial KFI—640 Advertisement.

PERILS OF PAUL

The most exciting thing that's happened to radio actor Paul Marion in his years in Hollywood had nothing to do with his screen or radio career. It was, Paul recalls, the time the fire department had to be summoned to get him down from a cliff in the Hollywood hills!

EXPERT ADVICE

John Vosburg, of ABC's "Successful Gardening", warns those who smoke: "Tobacco mosaic will stop production on tomato plants and cause their death. So, don't throw cigarette butts, pipe ashes or cigar stubs in the garden, and wash your hands with soap and water before handling tomato plants."

DOG STORY

Comedienne Billie Burke has a particular spot in her heart for stray animals. Rushing into Columbia Square a half-hour late for rehearsal the other day, she breathlessly explained, "I've been trying to help a poor police dog wandering along Sunset Boulevard. I phoned the Tailwaggers and others but couldn't get anyone. We finally got him into an enclosure and notified the police".

SKY AD MAN

Jackie Coogan, star of Columbia's "Forever Ernest", is going in for sky advertising. Coogan owns an airplane business on the side and plans to pilot one of the ships which will pull ad banners around Southern California.

Lady, Want to Be Beautiful?

directly in the center of hair which cuts the face in half, making it appear longer. Dress the hair close to the sides of the head. High bangs are good. To balance the jaw line, build the hair up on top of the head.

For the oval face, use a center or side part according to other facial advantages. Hair is equally attractive worn low or high.

With a diamond-shaped face, wide at the eyes and narrow at forehead and chin, balance the face by dressing the hair wide at both top and lower portion of the face. Bangs and chignon are good.

More Lips

The triangle face has the upper half narrower than the lower, so try to make the upper portion seem wider to balance the jaw line. A low side part slanting away from the center is helpful. Keep the hair flat on top and build out at the sides above the ears. Dress high back of the part line and square off even with the jaw line.

The inverted triangle or heart-shaped face is the reverse of the above. To increase the appearance of width in the lower part of the face, use a wide chignon or soft fluffy hair by the jaw line. A center part is good.

To square up a long face, part a low diagonal part on either side; keep the hair flat on top and built out at the sides to form a rounding contour.

A square face needs a slanting part from the center front diagonally back to break up the wide top of the head. Dress the hair high on the head to balance the square jaw line, leaving the sides soft. The most becoming style is a halo cut with high front bangs.

When the hair is dressed right, the face has an oval appearance.

The posture of the average American woman is almost invariably bad—stooped shoulders, sway backs, thick middles, and an awkward walk. Timidity and self-consciousness contribute to a lack of poise.

In remaking yourself, work first on your posture. Shoulders back and down, tummy up and in. "derriere" tucked under. Ear, shoulder, wrist, knee and ankle should be kept in a straight line.

Keep this proper posture while walking, with the thigh the first part of the body to be moved forward, and the weight carried evenly, not dropped from one hip to the other. Carry yourself erect; walk proudly, without bounce or waddle. point your toes straight ahead; give each foot a separate track about an inch apart.

Avoid Self-Centeredness

After posture, build a more interesting personality. Eliminate self-consciousness. Most people are rather shocked to discover that it is a mild form of selfishness and a sign of mental adolescence. If the self-conscious woman begins to think about the other fellow, and tries to make conversation easier for him, she finds she hasn't time to worry about herself and the impression she is making. When this practice is followed for a few months, it gets to be a habit and the whole personality changes.

Finally, achieve poise. Part of poise they'd be ringing in our ears the next day, emanating from the elastic throat of voice-matcher Walter Craig.

Walter dropped by to let us know he's in the cast of that new Ray Wencil comedy show which auditioned at ABC last Friday, but before he went on his busy way again, he satisfied our listening wants with some quickie voice impressions of some of those personalities we said we wanted to hear on the air.

solists will be Agnes Davis and Walter Cassel.

★ WHO'S GUESTING

Variety

Friday, July 12—"Teen and Twenty Time," KMPC, 5:05 p.m. (40 min.) Kay Starr, vocalist, will be the guest of Mauri Cliffer.

CONVINCING PROFESSOR

A group of boys on an LST off Portland, Ore., were debating whether or not to go to college. Amidst the discussion, they caught the Columbia Pacific Network's weekly program "What I Would Say". The speaker, Dr. Frank C. Baxter, Professor of English language and literature at the University of Southern California, discussed the importance of books in planning a full life. The talk clinched the argument for the boys. They wrote Dr. Baxter that they all had decided to go to college.

★ FIRE HAZARD

The reason that KFWB's "Three Men on a Mike". Alan Mann, Dave Ormont and Joe Yocam, stopped trading souvenirs from their listeners, is because the studio fireman warned them that they were creating a fire hazard. So much stuff piled up that they no longer had room to keep it.

★ HAIL TO BUTCH

Butch, pet dog of F. Hugh Herbert, author of CBS' "Meet Corliss Archer", has returned from the wars. He served with honor in the K-9 Corps for three years. He is part collie and part husky. Diana and Pamela, daughters of the writer, were afraid that Butch would change from his experiences. But he came back his old self and none the worse for wear.

★ MISS AMERICA

So impressed were members of Fellowship House in Philadelphia when CBS star Kate Smith spoke before them on the need of tolerance—international, racial and religious—that they bestowed on Kate the title of Miss America. Asserting that the singer exemplifies the principles inherent in that title, the organization said further that there would be only one Miss America to them for all time—Kate Smith.

★ POSITIONS REVERSED!

When Radio Actress Sandra Gould joined Columbia's "Sad Sack Show" as Lucy Twitchell, Sack's girl friend, she found herself playing opposite Herb Vigran. "Now," Sandra laughed, "Herb and I are merely engaged, but back in the late thirties in New York, we played the parts of honeymooners for a whole year in "Having Wonderful Time".

Never Give 'Em Enough

Is Jack Smith's Creed and He Tries to Keep His Airshow a "Short" 15 Minutes

By Shirley Gordon

JHOPE it never stops being fun!" So spoke Jack Smith on the subject of his airshow, heard five times weekly over CBS. Save for several weeks this spring when Jack was on the West coast briefly, the program emanates from New York in a Columbia studio on 39th Street. "It just seems like a group of us go up there and enjoy ourselves," Jack related. "We don't have an audience," he informed us, and added with questioning seriousness, "Who would come?"

Personable young Mr. Smith is actually surprised at his popularity, and sincere in his appreciation of the interest shown in him. "You know, I was never sure anyone even heard my show until I came out here," he told Radio Life, as we lunched with him at Billingsley's one afternoon during his stay in California. "In Hollywood, you meet people on the street and they say, 'By the way, I heard your show last night.' In New York, you know," Smith smiled, "people don't even speak to each other. Why, nobody there ever tells me they listen to my show—except my wife."

Smith's mail, however, has been some indication. "What pleases me," he related earnestly, "is that I've been getting letters from people of all ages, from eight to eighty and over!"

Compliment

Smith is heard weekly on CBS' "Family Hour", in addition to his own nightly fifteen minutes. "Somebody told me once that it's a short fifteen minutes," he related. "I think that's the best comment we could ever hope for."

JACK WISHES HE COULD ACT like his brother, Walter, who wishes he could sing like Jack. Brother Walter (center, above) uses the name Reed on the screen, thinks now he should have stuck to Smith! That's pretty Janet Blair at the piano; she was Jack's guest during his show's stay in Hollywood.

He added that that was one reason he favored not having an audience. "I don't like the idea of applause between musical numbers, and I'm afraid an audience would make our fifteen minutes seem too long."

Smith endorses the formula of a good vaudeville act — "never give them quite enough so they'll want to come back for more." With that in mind, he limits his Spanish songs, for which his listeners constantly clamor, to only one a week. Recently he was contacted to make some Spanish records. "I didn't think I should," Jack demurred modestly. "I told them that Miguelito Valdes was doing all right in that department." But on the day before his departure for Hollywood, he was approached on the idea again and consented. Arrangements for the songs were made that night, and Jack recorded them the following day before planning out of town.

Crowding every hour of every day with activity comes naturally for this singing Smith. Until recently, besides his ether assignments, he held a full-time job as an instructor at the New York School of Aircraft Instruments. "I was working from nine a.m. to eleven p.m.," he recalled. "Eventually, I found I had to give it up."

Pleasure Vacation

At the time of our talk, Jack was anticipating a real summer vacation. "I'm going to South America," he grinned, "over my manager's dead body. Strictly for pleasure. No singing." But of course, he admitted, he has hopes of finding some swell new Spanish songs while he is down there.

On the subject of his Hollywood
(Please Turn to Page 35)

THE SMITHS (Jack's missus is the former Victoria Schertzinger, niece of Victor) were greeted on their arrival in L. A. by Jack's mother. Singer Smith, a resident of New York City for the past four years, still thinks of Hollywood and California as his home.

Those Strange Tales of "The Whistler" Are Built Around Plausible Happenings Which Might Denote YOUR Future

Monday 9 p.m.
KNX

THE WHISTLER," that man of mystery "who knows many things," brings his strange tales to you through the courtesy of Producer George Allen, Writing Supervisor Bud Swanton, Engineer Robert Anderson, Musical Conductor Wilbur Hatch, and Soundman Berne Surrey.

Radio Life obtained this data when we dropped in on a recent Monday afternoon rehearsal of the KNX ailer to learn what goes on behind-scenes of the Pacific Coast's leading mystery show. We met genial producer Allen and watched Anderson, Surrey and a capable cast of radio veterans put the show through its first paces. The Whistler was present, but we're sworn to secrecy, and his identity must remain an anonymity.

"What goes into making a good mystery ailer?"

When we put the question to Allen he thoughtfully answered, "An interesting, well-adapted story, a competent cast, the right sound effects, effective mood music and perfect timing." Mr. Allen enacts the role of chef in properly mixing these ingredients and the Monday night dish which emerges is tasty enough to please the palates of all the rabid

CONDUCTOR WILBUR HATCH IS THE MAN Allen credits for the startlingly eerie musical background of the show. Most of Hatch's music is original.

VETERAN RADIO PERFORMERS, such as Elliot Lewis at the microphone and soundman Berne Surrey on the steps, add to realism of CBS' leading Coast Network show. "They're tops," complimented the producer.

↑ HATCH PUTS HIS CREW through a thorough rehearsal several hours prior to the actual evening broadcast.

mystery fans. In fact, "The Whistler's" really cookin'!

Meticulous Producer

George Allen will celebrate his second year as the program's producer this July. According to associates, the show's steadily rising Hooperating is due to Allen's consistently skilful production. He is a perfectionist and not even a minute detail escapes his attention.

Rehearsal is no last minute affair. The cast assembles with Allen for a round-table reading at 4:30 p.m. and with the exception of a few breaks, continues until the 9:00 o'clock airing. The orchestra joins the cast at 7:15 p. m.

The sardonic narration of "The Whistler" is well-known to listeners. Yet each week's story is varied and complete within itself. Allen and Writing Supervisor Swanton look for realistic, logical stories which never trap the audience into believing the solution.

Having decided upon a script (they are submitted by free-lance writers) for a future show, Allen turns it over to Swanton who gives it that "Whistler" slant. Then musical conductor Wilbur Hatch goes to work on it. He creates original mood music, such an integral factor in building suspense.

Allen uses cream-of-the-crop radio actors and actresses to make the stories come to life. "We have no tricks of any kind up our sleeve," smiled the producer. "We're here merely to entertain you. We make use of every opportunity to present a logical story. It could happen to you!"

↓ WE'RE NOT SURE WHETHER writer Bud Swanton is kidding or not with the profound volume of "The Murder Manual" in hand. Swanton gives free-lance scripts that "Whistler" touch.

↓ WORKING IN CLOSE UNISON with the cast are soundman Surrey and his assistant. Surrey won special recognition in Radio Life's Annual Achievement Awards for his fine work in "Suspense's", "Sorry, Wrong Number".

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN FIVE YEARS composer Sigmund Romberg returned to California. Bad weather left his gaiety and the anticipation of his radio show undimmed. He also looks forward to an extensive concert tour after his thirteen-week radio series is over and he hands his radio time back to "the soldier boy", his fond epithet for Red Skelton.

Tuesday, 6:30 p.m.
NBC-KFI, KFSD

AFTER one false start, we met Sigmund Romberg. The false start came about when we walked into a beautiful house in Beverly Hills and found ourselves shaking hands with a very nice man who politely echoed our "How-do-you-do?", but not unreasonably pointed out that he was not Mr. Romberg. We would find Mr. Romberg next door, he assured us.

And we did. We were ushered into what surely must be the jolliest sick-room in the world and met the merriest invalid imaginable. Sigmund Romberg, everybody's favorite com-of the songs—"The Student Prince" of the operettas."

Mr. Romberg explains his music in unusual terms. "The symphony conductors do not play my music—they say it is too low-brow," he wrinkled his forehead in the manner of a man dismissing a Romberg selection. "The jazz-men, they say it is too high-brow. Do you know what I call my music, then? I call it middle-brow music. On my concert tours I play the things that symphony conductors don't play—waltzes, marches, Lehar, Gershwin, Kern . . ."

"No Romberg?" we cried.

"Well, I think I used to be too modest about that. Now I devote the last twenty minutes of the concerts to my music. I know that when I go to hear Fritz Kreisler, I don't care if he plays the Mendelssohn Violin Concerto in G. But if he doesn't play his own things, 'Caprice Viennois', 'Liebestraum', 'Tamborin Chinois', 'Marche Viennois', I am so disappointed! I think maybe people might feel the same way about me."

According to Romberg, no composers since Victor Herbert and John Philip Sousa have gone on concert tour with their own orchestras. The rigors of one-night stands could dim the enthusiasm of anyone less energetic than Romberg. He loves it! "I also love radio," he said, "but I get a kick from a live audience." For over four years he has spent six months of the year on the road and has played before as many as 15,000 people at one concert. For his participation in civic celebrations and soldier entertainment he has been awarded citations by the Red Cross and the Treasury Department, has been made an honorary citizen of Dallas, Newark, Hartford and Kansas City (they presented him with a K. C. steak, too!) and a Louisiana Colonel. Romberg is very proud of all these scrolls of proclamation and calls them his "citizenships."

Is Humorist

"Do you know a joke I play on my audience?" Romberg suddenly chuckled. "I have a big sign on the stage—next number is the most popular march in the world. Can you guess what it is?"

"Stars and Stripes Forever?" we ventured.

"No," he said delightedly—"go on, guess some more!"

Our knowledge of marches being less than academic, we finally gave up.

"The Wedding March!" he shouted triumphantly. "And no one ever plays more than the first eight bars. I play it all!"

In addition to his yearly concertizing, Sigmund Romberg records for Victor, has his weekly radio series, "An Evening with Romberg," and will supervise the filming of his operettas, "Sunny River" and "Up in Central Park" while he is in Holly-

An Afternoon With Romberg

In Which We Make the Discovery That the Composer Is as Enchanting as His Operettas!

ROMBERG GAIETY ISN'T CONFINED to operetta choruses. He's a witty conversationalist, a charming joker whose slight accent lends piquancy to his humor. Conversely, his favorite composer is the melancholy Tchaikowsky.

poser (you probably started humming "One Alone" as you picked up this article), was propped up on pillows on a chaise longue, happily smoking cigarettes. He cheerfully admitted that he was suffering from sciatica.

"How would you like some tea?" he smiled before we could launch into our interrogations. After a little fashionable coaxing we admitted that we would. Mr. Romberg leaned back on his pillows and carolled at the top of his voice (in the key of F sharp, we think), "Ooily-ooily-ooily-ooily!" The nurse looked in the door to assure him that tea was on the way. "You can tell he's a musician," she laughed. "Whenever he wants anything, he yodels."

His Favorites

We were a little perturbed at talking music to a man who has over two thousand published compositions and seventy-seven operettas to his credit. "My own favorites?" he echoed in answer to our query. "'When I Grow Too Old to Dream' is my favorite

A RECENT GLAMOUR PORTRAIT of Bea shows her as the attractive Missus she is. "I guess I'm just a jack of all trades, master of none," she modestly sums up her bustling career.

Nice Work... If You Can Get It

And Bea Benedaret Did!
This Is How It Works—

By
Tod Fredricks

HEAVENS NO!" exclaimed Bea Benedaret, "I'm not leading that break-neck pace I was the last time we chatted. I had to give it up—or was it the other way around?"

But don't get her wrong. Attractive Bea doesn't lead a lady-of-leisure life, either. "In fact," she smiled, "It's nice just the way it is. I lead a pleasant existence of wife, mother and actress—and I'm even in the midst of redecorating my house."

The latter feat has assumed the guise of a miracle in the actress' eyes. "If you had a house that needed doing over as badly as mine, you'd know what I mean," she said. "I can't believe it's happening. 'Course home isn't much to come home to these days because there is nothing but rolls of paper and stacks of material where there used to be chairs and tables."

When she isn't decorating, she's acting Eve Goodwin on the NBC "Gildersleeve" show or Gloria, Ozzie and Harriet's maid on the Sunday CBS airer or Mrs. Carstairs on the NBC's Fibber McGee and Molly program or any one of numerous character parts on KNX' "The Whistler," "Screen Guild," and the "Lux Radio Theatre."

That's still a pretty active schedule, isn't it, we questioned.

"Do you mean, am I the 'Busy Bea' you dubbed me?" she laughed, referring to Radio Life's last article. "I guess not, because I've even had time to work on a movie."

Bea's recounting of her busy day before the RKO cameras for Alfred Hitchcock's "Notorious" had us holding our sides. It seems that she was chosen from 200 girls to portray the role of a government worker. She was to have three wardrobe changes and went through the tedious chore of fittings. When the big day of shooting arrived, Bea reported at the crack of dawn and sat on the set until 5:30 p.m. Her brief scene was shot in half an hour—and later cut out of the picture. All that remained was a fleeting glimpse of her thumb.

"I'll bet it is the highest paid thumb in pictures," she laughed. "From now on, I think I'll let my husband take care of the movies."

Husband's Career

Bea is Mrs. Jim Bannon, whose handsome spouse doubles as a radio announcer (for ABC's Walter Winchell at this writing) and an actor for Columbia Pictures. "Jim is crazy about Westerns," confided Mrs. B. "Tuesday is his favorite day, because he can deposit me for my Fibber rehearsal and then catch the latest showing at the Hitching Post."

"Since I don't share his enthusiasm for outdoor dramas, I don't attend many movies. Seems I haven't caught many of the legitimate offerings, either. Radio seems to present my main medium of entertainment. Unless you would call raising a six-year-old son entertainment. We do have a lot of fun, though."

Bea describes son Jack as looking just like his father. "He's quite tall for his age and so far exhibits no flair for the theatre. He's just an average little boy."

A show of her own would be nice, Bea admitted, but she thinks she's satisfied with her present schedule. "I forgot to tell you about my 'big movie scene.' I became confused and muffed my line. Mr. Hitchcock (who is a perfectly delightful gentleman) looked me straight in the eye and asked 'You want to go back to radio?'"

"I said yes—and meant it."

Men of Music ... No. 1 of a Series

Henry Russell

HENRY RUSSELL OLSON and his vivacious wife, Cuquita, who gave up a promising singing career when she married. The Russells live in the Valley.

WHEN a person is invited to the home of an orchestra leader, naturally he whets his appetite in anticipation of some soul-satisfying music. What a surprise it was, on arriving at Henry Russell's place in the Valley, to find Henry preparing a breakfast which included his original creation, Eggs a la Russell (music followed breakfast inevitably, but we're sure it sounded more intriguing on smug tummies).

Henry concocts an epicurean delight with the same feeling and precision with which he puts together a musical arrangement. He's a stickler for accuracy and likes to tuck in subtle little ingredients that make the difference (be it food or music) between an ordinary dish and a sense-tickling serving.

Isn't it odd how the "have's" invariably display talent in more than one field, while the "have-nots" dub along, completely minus? Take Russell. As orchestra leader for Cass' "Bandwagon", his musical ability was acknowledged, but he's an expert chef, too. He talks medicine like an old sawbones, His machine shop has his neighbors green-eyed, while his flowers, vegetables, and eggs would constitute a career alone. After you've chatted awhile with Henry Russell, you leave with the feeling that he could have made a name for himself in any one of half a dozen fields, besides music.

His Background

High spots in his musical career:

Started clarinet at nine, piano at fifteen, toured for a year with Ted Flo Rito, then returned to finish high school in Fargo, North Dakota; with brother, Morris, went to Chicago to break into music — had exactly twenty-five cents of their savings left the day Ted Weems hired them; sang, as well as arranged for George Olsen; first published tune, "The Madame Swings It"; met the singer, Cuquita, at Pierre's in New York (she gave up an engagement in the Rainbow Room to become Mrs. Henry Russell Olson (yes, Henry is of Norwegianian stock); appeared on the Novachord's first commercial presentation (with Horace Heidt); sang with Heidt's band and recorded for Columbia; played to more than 2,000,000 G. I.'s during the war; doubled as machinist at Lockheed and director of band on "Falstaff" show, the choir on Andy Devine's show, and conductor on Dick Powell's show. He was signed for Cass' program in September, 1945.

HENRY'S SPECIALTY (recipe accompanies our story) takes about an hour to make. He thought it up one morning when thrown on his own breakfast resources, practically emptied the refrigerator making it.

MUSICIAN, CHEF, GARDENER, FLOWER-FANCIER, Russell also takes delight in his well-equipped machine shop which adjoins the new sound-proofed studio being built on his property.

Big, blonde, smooth-shaven Russell is a quiet chap, his bulk and gentleness accentuated by his wife's petite, brunette vivaciousness. She's given up her career, but don't think for a minute she's not right there, pitching for Henry Hubby all the time (one of her gay passing remarks prompted Russell's new song, "Pin Marin").

The Russells are parents to Cuquita's eleven-year-old Eddie, son by a former marriage. The grief of losing their own little daughter last summer will, we hope, begin to fade as they expect a baby's musical crying to blend with Papa Russell's piano playing come fall.

Oh, yes. Here's the recipe you've been waiting for:

Eggs a la Russell

Ingredients: 3 large onions, 1 small can pimientos, 20 pitted green olives, 8 slices bacon, 10 eggs, olive oil, salt, pepper, Worcestershire, 1 large can tomatoes. Serves 6.

Dice onions and fry on slow fire in small quantity of butter or olive oil until almost brown. Add pimientos, chopped olives and tomatoes with juice, let simmer for several minutes, adding salt and pepper to taste, 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce and ¼ tsp. powdered mustard. (Chili powder may be added if desired). Beat 10 eggs with 6 tbs. cream, pour over rest of mix, letting simmer and stirring until eggs are thoroughly cooked. Serve on lettuce bed, garnished with parsley and shredded bacon.

wood. He is also working on a new production for Broadway, as yet untitled—"the title is the very last thing," he confided. How does a composer compose? Romberg does from forty to sixty songs and chooses from those the ones to be used in production. "And if I think of a melody in the middle of the night, I do not jump up and write it down—I go back to sleep and if I remember it in the morning, all right—if not..." he shrugged philosophically.

"And I do my best work under pressure." "The Student Prince" took him six months to compose—"Blossom Time," his quickest job, only three weeks. "I was still teaching them the songs from 'Blossom Time' on the train going to the Atlantic City opening!" he recalled.

"What instrument do you play?" we wanted to know. That brought on the question game again.

"What do you think I play?" he asked.

"Piano?"

"And all the string instruments. In my orchestra I have fifty-two pieces, forty of them strings."

All composers, even those who write jazz, should study the classical composers, Romberg informed us. And then suddenly added, "Who are the Three B's?"

"Bach, Beethoven, Brahms," we replied proudly. Mr. Romberg beamed at us as fondly as if we'd sung a soprano aria, and assured us that we were very clever indeed.

For nearly four decades Hungarian-born Sigmund Romberg has been creating a wealth of operetta melody. His first success was "Midnight Girl" in 1913, and his latest, "Up in Central Park," after running for fifteen months in New York, is at present in Chicago. "Big hit," he informed us.

In between these two operettas, he has created such romantic favorites as "Maytime," "Blossom Time," "The Student Prince," "Desert Song," "My Maryland," and "New Moon," among many others.

Victor Herbert, George Gershwin and Jerome Kern were all Romberg intimates. Of Herbert, Romberg recalled fondly, "His heart shone out of his eyes." Kern, at his death, left the remainder of his manuscripts to be added to Romberg's huge musical library.

Regretfully, we realized that we'd drunk all our tea and eaten all the cookies and come to the end of our interview. We shook hands with the yodeling invalid who had given us his permission to go down and look at his library of musical scores and manuscripts before we left.

"By the way," we asked in parting, "Do you happen to know the man who lives next door?"

"Of course," smiled Romberg. "He is my friend, Ira Gershwin."

Well, it was awfully nice meeting you Mr. Romberg—and you too, Mr. Gershwin!

Never Give 'Em Enough...

stay, Smith beamed happily. "I've lived in New York four years now. It took me that long to get used to it. I hated it at first, and I sure miss California still. Anyone who has lived here and knows what real living is, couldn't be happy with the hole-in-the-wall existence in New York. I'd prefer living in the East just part of the year. I still call Hollywood and L. A. my home."

As so often happens to a Californian who boasts to dyed-in-the-wool Easterners about the sunshine state, when the time came for Jack to show it off to his program cohorts, the mist and fog hung heavy and steadily over the California landscape. "The swimming pools are too cold, the tennis courts are too wet," he lamented. "We better have some sun soon. I can't go back without a tan."

(Later, when we emerged from the restaurant to find the sun shining brightly, Smith shouted, "Sunshine! Cancel my show! I want to stay out and soak it up!")

His Hobby

Renowned as an antique connoisseur, Smith talked with delight on the subject. "Before I left California, I hated the stuff," he confessed. "But back East, the bug bit me, and once that happens, you really go overboard. My wife and I love to motor out into the country and discover rare pieces. Sometimes they're coated with cheap paint. We scrape it all off and find wonderful fine wood underneath. Every piece in our house means so much to us. Each one represents a lot of work and a lot of fun."

While in California, the Smiths stayed with relatives, and Jack especially enjoyed the reunion with his brother, an actor known on the screen as Walter Reed.

"I almost make a movie once," Jack recalled, "and it sure made me wish I were a good actor like my brother. He's great."

Jack looked to us like a good bet for films. He can back up his singing voice with charming sincerity, clean-cut good looks, a thick thatch of wavy hair and a wide engaging smile that puts dimples in his cheeks!

"Would you like to be in pictures?" we questioned.

"Well," considered Mr. Smith, weighing the idea with honest consideration, "I'd like to if I thought it would help my radio show. I think being in movies might help get my airshow known more."

is mental balance—achieve it through recommended reading, an increased vocabulary, a broadening interest in the world around you, an improvement in conversational ability, and an intensified training in "clothes sense."

The average woman need not envy the glamour of the top-flight model. If the model has glamour, believe me, she has worked hard to achieve it. Any of us can do it, if we want to enough. Whatever you are and wherever you are, you can be beautiful!
