The Ear Inspires the Pen

Ruth McLain, Chamber of Commerce, San Diego 1, Calif.

Sirs: Will you kindly let me know on what program we can hear Frank Munn? If he is not on the airways, will you inform me of his address?

As we stated in a previous "Ear Inspires the Pen" answer, Frank Munn has retired to his Connecticut estate. We have been informed that no address is available.

Madeleine McTaggart, 4417 Corliss Street, Los Angeles 41, Calif.

Sirs: There's one program I never miss . . . and that's "The Adventures of Sam Spade." Why? Because Howard Duff is in it . . . he has the best voice I've ever come across on the radio.

So how about writing up a Howard Duff story? I know you wrote up "Sam Spade" in the October 27 issue, but it was all about "Sam Spade," so how about one about Howard Duff? He's a fine actor. The best they can come. He did a wonderful job in "Brute Force," seemed as though he had been making pictures for years and years.

There are a lot of interesting things about this man Duff! He served in the Armed Forces Radio Service and took part in such bat-les as: Saipan, Guam and Iwo Jima. Uncle Sam had him from 1941 to 1945. And he's from Bremerton, Washington! So how about writing something up on him . . . with a lot of pictures!!

As you may have noted in previous "Ear Inspires" answers, a new Howard Duff-Sam Spade story was scheduled for September 21 issue. However, precedence of other previously-uncovered programs necessitated a switch, and you'll be seeing that promised story approximately October 19, with a full-page cover picture to match!

Ellen Brown, 1435 West 147th Street, Gardena, Calif.

Sirs: Would it be possible for you to print a story and some pictures of Jeff Connelly, who plays "Dr. Dana" on "The Private Practice of Dr. Dana"? Also, would very much enjoy an article on Bob Bailey and Frances Robinson, who play George Valentine and Claire Brooks on "Let George Do It!" Both are very fine entertainment over the weekend. Thanks a lot.

We'll chalk your request for a sketch on Jeff Connelly. "Let George Do It" has been featured in: a complete picture story November 23, two reviews in our news section, and a cover picture of Bob Bailey May 4. You musta been a Missdit.

Mrs. George N. McGuerny, 3378-C North 84th Street, Inglewood, Calif.

Sirs: This is my first letter of any kind to either radio or movie. However, the letter written by Evelyn Carstairs, Glendale, finally got my dander up.

Her statement that Tom Breneman never mentions Galen Drake on his programs is untrue. He mentions him quite often, and tells us what a fine program Galen Drake has, and would we please listen to it.

Also, regarding Tom's insulting remarks—have you ever heard some of the silly women that try to get a word on the mike? I know if I had to contend with some of the gabby females on the program I would not only be insulting, I'd probably throw them out. I think Tom does a fine job in handling the situations, and as for his singing well, isn't the program supposed to be funny?

K. McAnsey, 423 West School Street, Compton, Calif.

Sirs: I am "with" Edward Bell, Fairview Street, L. A., 100 per cent about the perfectly dreadful commercials. My two daughters have stopped trying to listen to the radio . . . say they have to go through too much. I am a nervous wreck just turning my radio off and on, to tune out the silly announcements. Fully half of a fifteen minute program is commercial. I would gladly join an association to boycott sponsors. Just a plain statement of what they are sponsoring would be more effective.

But, K. McAnsey, if you boycott all sponsors what happens to your radio selection? Shows, after all, are dependent on their listeners' backing. We sympathize with your protest of over-lengthy commercials, and do agree that you should pick bones with major offenders, but SOME advertising is small payment for your broadcast entertainment!

Oscar Doctorow, 347½ North Curson Avenue, Los Angeles 36, Calif.

Sirs: How about a write-up of the new radio station, KOWL, in Santa Monica, broadcasting on about 1580 kilocycles? I would also like to see their programs listed in your daily radio logs. This station broadcasts some very nice recordings.

Our Radio In Review section greeted KOWL August 10, and arrangements have been made to include the station listings in our regular logs. As you say, KOWL's programming policy includes some exceptionally fine music!

Carol Anders, 4760 Halbrent, Sherman Oaks, Calif.

Sirs: For the benefit of Mrs. Charles Romano (Ear Inspires the Pen, July 27) "Point Sublime" will be heard again beginning October 4 over KNX on Saturdays from 7:30 to 8:00 p.m. Ain't it sublime! The "wise sponsor" who is bringing it back is the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Don't we know it! (See special "cherce verse" in Love of Mike, August 3 news section.)

C. EveLynn Moran, 2435 Purdue Avenue, West Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: After reading several of the letters published in a recent Radio Life I thought that I too would write. There is a certain trio around town now that is causing a lot of excitement in both bobby sox and musical circles . . . the Page Cavanaugh Trio to be exact. They appear on the Jack Paar show on Sundays and also on a fifteen-minute show over KECA on Tuesdays. They are really hot. At present they are holding down at Ciro's, and in the near future they will return to the Santa Monica Ambassador's Circus Room.

The reason for all of the above is that we would love to see a picture and article on them in a near future issue. I know many besides myself are eagerly awaiting all news on the popular Page Cavanaugh Trio.

We note your request for a story on The Page Cavanaugh Trio. Watch our Men and Women of Music section.

Hugo Schmidt, 330 West Ocean, Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: Please tell me something about the girl who sings with such feeling, vim and sparkle at the opening of the "Jack Smith Show." I think she's wonderful!

Jack (whose program will be in Hollywood for five weeks beginning in August) has a different girl guest singer on each show. So you probably refer to the girl on the Oxydol commercials. Julie Conway, who often rates a popular-music solo, too, since listeners so enjoy her style. She records for Signature Records, and has made several platters in company with the Chickering Four.

Dick Chittick, 415 Gracelon, Monterey Park, Calif.

Sirs: I have listened to "The Count of Monte Cristo" for a long time. I have enjoyed it very much, and wish you would print a story of The Count and his loyal servant, Rene, and also of Marie. I also wish you could do a story about "The Voyage of the Scarlet Queen" with Elliott Lewis.

A feature on Rene (Victor Rodman) and the program producer, Jaime del Valle, was in our August 24 issue. However, our last cast story was in 1934, and perhaps in the near future we may do another. The "Scarlet Queen" story appears in this issue on page 6.

Maurice Silverman, Jr., 729 Joost Avenue, San Francisco 12, Calif.

Sirs: Do you know of a book on the autobiographies of radio stars, if so would you be so kind as to advise me where I may purchase it? I have been getting Radio Life for some time and find it with news of some of my favorite stars. Besides my reading it, friends of mine find it useful and like it also. I like the Mikeman series, as I hope to be one some day.

Congratulations on Radio Life's recent anniversary edition and good luck in years to come. Radio Life is the best magazine I ever saw, and I understand that it is the only one printed. Either part of the country can find it helpful, whether Los Angeles, San Francisco, New York, or Chicago.

We've already answered Mr. Silverman's letter personally, as we thought his request rather interesting and regretted that we had no information regarding the type of autobiography book to which he refers. Perhaps some of our readers can be more helpful?

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert, 2424 Whittier Boulevard, Los Angeles 23, Calif.

Sirs: We too would like to see you give recognition to "The Sunrise Salute" program, and each of its cast, for we think it is one of the best. No one can sing those "Spirituals" like Merle Travis, and make both Saint and Sinner love it. Come on with a story, please.

*Livens KFI's Graveyard Shift
With Patter, Platters, People*

By Eva Meyer

BELIEVE IT or not, KFI's Bob Phillips — known nationally as one of the most "hep" disc jockeys in the business—quit his first radio job after four days because he didn't know anything about popular music and couldn't stand playing records of that type all day long. More of that story later.

Bob, who is one of Hollywood's most eligible bachelors—the accompanying portrait explains one of the reasons why—was born thirty-two years ago in the Bronx, New York. All his schooling was obtained in New York, culminating with a pre-law course at Columbia University, where he also was a member of the Columbia Laboratory Players, a dramatic society. After his college years, he worked in his father's construction company, studying voice at the same time. In 1942 he came to California with aspirations toward becoming a concert singer. To quote Bob—"I came out here to be a concert singer, gave one concert and decided to go to radio school to study announcing." Either he is inordinately modest or it must have been pretty bad. We couldn't say for sure, as he stoutly refuses to warble even one little note for evidence. At any rate, it's radio's gain.

Bob's first radio job—the one that lasted four days—was with a small local station, which he left on amicable terms. From there he went to a station in Seattle, Washington, to do an announcing chore obtained via telephone audition. He claims he was fired from that job. The Blue Network in San Francisco was "home" after that. The chain must have been happy with Bob, because he left only because of an unavoidable circumstance, a strep throat which caused him to lose his voice for more than six months.

In view of Phillips' present status as an authority on popular recordings, it might be interesting to note that while he was working for Blue he was known around the station as "the square." This title he acquired in a rather unique manner. During a period when Gene Norman was absent from his hot disc stint, Phillips was assigned to take over. Bob says that during the short period of time he was on the program he managed to lose every single sponsor the show had—a doubtful accomplishment. At any rate it gave him his chance to experiment with pop records.

Graveyard Shift

In 1945, with his voice as good as new, Bob won an audition for staff

YEP! BOB CAUGHT 'em himself! Hey, what about the bigger ones that you know-what? Fishing is Phillips' second love.

STORYBOOK tradition has long played up the highly accomplished and talented child as a pale, polite youngster whose burning little mind is centered on his "art" alone.

Beautiful seventeen-year-old Paulena Carter, CBS' "Ford Showroom" virtuoso, possesses a charming propensity for shattering this picture, usually with a quick grin over some joke about little geniuses, or an outspoken wish that she were out tempting twenty-pound trout with a new type of spinner.

We knew that practically since she could sit up straight, Miss Carter, who was born May 6, 1930, in San Francisco, has played the piano. She began formal lessons at the age of three, and gave her first concert at six. Her seventh year saw her debut with an orchestra, playing the difficult Mozart Concerto in D Minor. Shortly after that performance she was presented at the Sacramento Philharmonic, and by the time she was a doddering eight-year-old, she had appeared ten times with symphony orchestras.

The next year brought Miss Carter's engagements as a featured artist at both the San Francisco and New York World's Fairs. The New York appearance led to a series of auditions, one of which resulted in a scholarship with Olga Samaroff, teacher of Eugene List and other outstanding pianists.

This wasn't enough to do. Paulena meanwhile had gone quietly ahead toward graduation from high school at the age of thirteen with a 99.2 average. She'd capped that lucky thirteenth year by composing her "Cinderella Suite," which won first prize in a Los Angeles manuscript contest. More recently she has scored this suite for a full orchestra.

Faced with her alarming array of accomplishments and knowledge, we mustered what classical data we could recall to mind and hurried over to rehearsal of "Meredith Willson's Showroom" to talk to Paulena.

First glimpse caught Miss Carter at the piano, a small beautiful girl with perfect features, a skin to which even stage lights are kind, and long, curly brown hair. At the finish of her number she came bouncing down the stage steps and flung herself into a chair, just as might any less spectacular teen-ager. The smile that accompanied her greeting dispelled any doubts as to the difficulty of talking to her about her. Out of the bag on the adjoining seat came a marvelous bit of green knitting, start of a suit skirt Paulena is flying through during spare moments. Utilizing every second is probably one of the secrets behind her aptitudes. On went the conversation, our carefully rehearsed questions vanishing in the wake of real interest in this pretty miss.

Practice First

We learned that a typical day in the life of Miss Paulena Carter consists of arising as late as she can make it . . . "Mother usually gets me up as early as possible, though, for we stick by the rule of two hours of practice every day, and build the rest of our fun around that." Paulena's mother is a very fine pianist herself, and inspired her daughter's interest in music.

The two of them keep house, or shop for clothes, most of which Paulena chooses herself. Blue is her favorite color, and predominates in her wardrobe, with the exception of evening clothes for concert appearances. These are always white.

Mother and daughter may drop by a record shop in hope of augmenting an already huge collection. Paulena's favorites are understandably piano concertos, Rachmaninoff and Chopin, but she's not immune to good swing.

Any day that rehearsal doesn't call, Paulena hurries off to a local stable, where she picks her pony with an eye to its ability to "take it." No fancy costumes and little hats perched on the side of her curls for Paulena. She rides in jeans and shirt, and heads for open country where she can get a good fast ride out of her steed.

Each summer the three Carters head for the Rogue River in Oregon for swimming and the favored hobby, fishing. "Here," Paulena gleefully recalls, "I can let my nails grow." Being perfectly used to daily practice, long rehearsals and public appearance, her only idea of the price paid for fame is stubby fingernails kept short by pounding the keys. The nail problem is her only worry over her hands. Naturalness of movement, induced by simply forgetting the precious fingers, has probably been a factor in keeping them free from accident.

Willson Protege

Paulena loves California, and it has hailed her with equal fervor. Since moving to Southern California permanently in 1939, she has appeared with the Peter Meremblum Junior Symphony Orchestra and the Los Angeles Philharmonic, conducted by Alfred Wallenstein. Meredith Willson heard her perform with the Meremblum Symphony and hustled her off to his show as one of his "discoveries."

Meredith says, "It was natural I'd want her on the show at least once . . . she killed the audience and I persuaded her to stay on."

Paulena, in turn, loves appearing with Willson. Now in her second season with his show, the artist goes happily ahead playing her lovely music and dreaming more of the day when she will have her own pony and an Ecoupe than of the time she'll have her own show.

Five-foot-five-inch Paulena isn't likely to encounter problems of weight or health, for she really doesn't like ice cream or candy, but does "love spinach and steak."

Group Which Worked Together in AFRS Has Combined 300 Years' Air Know-How To Produce Radio Program, Make Discs

radio shows ("Scarlet Queen" is the first to hit the ether) and has used its radio know-how to produce a series of records, "Tales of Ancient Heroes", starring Lew Ayres. You've probably heard all or some of another series, done for Graphic Educational Productions, which includes, "What Makes Rain?", "Why Are Bees So Busy?", "Why Do I Have to Go to Sleep?", "Who Was Aesop?", "Where Do Boats Go?", and "What Are Stars?" "The boys" recently completed an MGM album, "The Bear That Wasn't", using Keenan Wynn as first star.

By Evelyn Bigsby

Sea Experiences

"Scarlet Queen" writers, Gil Dowd and Bob Tallman, are compelling personalities because the stuff they write is so fascinating. They've proved again that a radio show can provide a pack of thrills without a heap of corpses. In the few instances they've written a dagger or gun into the scripts, they've done it obliquely. Let's hope they keep it that way. Dowd could probably thrive on salt water for blood, for he shipped to sea as a teen-ager, hitting most of the same ports the mythical "Queen" is touching on her voyage. After his discharge from the Signal Corps, Gil went into the Merchant Marine and again covered the Pacific. When the

during the war that they banded together afterward.

"We felt," explained facetious Jim Burton, producer of "Scarlet Queen" and secretary-treasurer of CRP, "there never again could be so many radio brains working together in civilian life." Actually, the twenty-three men represent more than 300 years' radio experience. "We all had ideas as to what we'd do when we left AFRS," Jim continued, "and rather than each trying to peddle his own show, we decided to combine our efforts."

So far, the group has built seven

THE SCARLET QUEEN" set sail on radio's turbulent waters, unique in at least two respects from other kilocycle carriers. (1) Veering away from the glutted market of gore mysteries, "Scarlet Queen" places prime emphasis on sheer nerve-ringing adventure. (2) It is a Command Radio Production, created and executed by a group of twenty-three radio and Armed Forces Radio Service vets, who meshed their cumulative air experience so smoothly

▲ IN THE CONTROL ROOM. Both producer Jim Burton, giving cast the high sign, and engineer "Doc" Bennett were in AFRS. Entire group works together with astonishing smoothness.

"Scarlet Queen" comes on the air with its first mate yelling, "Stand by to make sail! With port sheet, make sail!", something rings true. It's no doubt Dowd.

His script-mate, Bob Tallman, is also a war veteran, having served with the Signal Corps at Fort Dix. Bob has earned a reputation for outstanding scripts on such shows as "Radio Reader's Digest", "Theater of Romance", "Intrigue", "Sea Has a Story", and "This Is My Best". He and Dowd now co-write "Sam Spade". Thus Gil with his sea and script experience and Bob with his extensive and versatile writing background complement each other tellingly.

Lead role of "Karney", skipper of the "Queen", is enacted by top thespian Elliott Lewis, vice-president of Command Productions. Elliott was one of the first to leave Radio Row for uniform. By 1943, he was transferred to AFRS, where he was in charge of de-commercializing forty hours of radio programs weekly. He was one of two enlisted men in AFRS to receive the Legion of Merit.

No need to go into detail on Elliott's capabilities to handle his role of "Karney", he is so well known to all sincere air fans, who have heard him consistently on ace shows and as star of "Knickerbocker Playhouse" and "Casebook of Gregory Hood." His spirit, mood versatility, and all-around mike-mastery fill the bill on "Scarlet Queen."

Ed Max, who plays "First Mate Gallagher", previously was a non-com with OSS and received the Bronze Star. Usually cast in comedy mug parts, he's thoroughly relishing his first regular dramatic role. "Gallagher" also recalls his venture to sea as a youngster, when he served as ship's waiter. His most laughable (to him, now) experience was getting sixteen orders mixed up. But as "Gallagher" he stays strictly ▼ ACE ACTOR BILL CONRAD, who's also making a name for himself in movies, is a regular cast member, playing heavies and sundry foreign but cunning rascals.

▼ THE WRITERS, Gil Dowd, standing, and Bob Tallman. Gil went to sea as a teen-ager, later covered some Pacific spots in Merchant Marine. He and Bob also co-write "Sam Spade."

The "Hart of Hollywood"

"Take That Six-to-Seven Morning Time and Have Fun With It" KFWB Told Maurice Hart. He Did — and Just Look What's Happened!

By Judy Maguire

BEFORE RADIO, Maurice had about thirty jobs . . . including printing, display advertising, selling soap and vacuum cleaners, manufacturing dresses, and working seven years in Wall Street. Broadcasting beats them all, he admits. He ought to know . . . he's been on the air since 1936! Maurice, incidentally, is the only disc-rider in radio who's ever been able to "sub" for Martin Block and make the listeners like it! (James J. Kriegsmann photo.)

GO "START the Day Right" over KFWB every morning, hustling little Maurice Hart:

- (1) Bounds out of bed at 5:00 a.m.;
- (2) squeezes himself some fast orange juice and streaks out the door at 5:20;
- (3) drives twelve miles in from Encino, picking up a dozen Mary Evelyn doughnuts on the way;
- (4) winds into and through the Warner lot past stage three, where Jolson made "The Jazz Singer";
- (5) trots into the broadcast studio "way in the back" at 5:45;
- (6) jabbers "hiya Charlotte," "hiya gang" while he flips papers and himself into place;
- (7) goes on the air at 6.

Immediately the KFWB phones start ringing. While platters spin, Maurice snatches up the buzzing receivers on his broadcast table . . . clips cheerily "Good morning, I'm Hart, who are you?" . . . writes and talks industriously as requests come over the wires . . . gives his pretty "sexatary," Charlotte, high-signs on what records to locate.

Just for the heck of it once, the "Hart of Hollywood" tried to see how many calls he could answer during his hour-long program. He handled eighty-three in fifty-nine minutes. Betwixt, he also managed to read six sponsor advertisements, announce all song requests, gulp coffee and keep up his running gab. "As a rule," he confesses, "we just have to let a few of the calls slide."

Maurice has been busy at this setup ever since his move to California from New York, ahead of Martin Block. Hart, you see, is the only disc-man in radio who's ever been able to fill in for Block and make the listeners like it. He understudied Martin for six and a half years at WNEW, New York, while acting as station announcer on his own and special programs. Now on the coast, he again duos for the suave record-impresario whenever Block takes a breather from his five-a-week three-hour time.

No Sound-Alikes

Actually, the two are great friends.

Maurice has known Block for more than ten years. Their wives are quite companionable, and the two families live about six blocks apart in the Valley. But when listeners comment frequently on the similarity of their voices, both Maurice and Block fail to see it. "I just don't think we sound alike at all," says Maurice emphatically, "and neither does Martin."

Be that as it may, Maurice sounds like no one but Maurice on his own "Start the Day Right" time. His unhampered field day on the show is a present from the station. "Take that six-to-seven morning hour and have fun with it," KFWB relayed with delightful unconcern when Maurice arrived. And "The Hart of Hollywood" certainly has!

In addition to picking up one relative and a half-dozen old friends he "hadn't seen in twelve years," he's collected an absolutely staunch host of listeners ranging from undertakers to milkmen to business people. One of the program's best fans is a Long Beach policeman who dials in whenever routine calls get dull. Another old faithful is an M.D. at the Hollywood Hospital, and Maurice never fails to hear from his tremendous following of patients at Olive View Tuberculosis Sanitarium.

Folks with the same names are labeled "Bob 1," "Bob 2," etc. when Maurice announces their record choices. (By some still-incredible coincidence "Bob A-A" had called Hart to tell him Radio Life would be in to see him that morning!)

Powerful existence of this horde of Hart admirers is especially proven whenever the show holds a contest. Amos Carr Studios took a thirteen-week contract with Maurice to offer free photographs for platter identifications. They hastily canceled the

(Please Turn to Page 32)

IT'S A MAD HOUR that Maurice and his pretty "sexatary," Charlotte, run between six and seven every ayem, and listeners jubilantly count themselves in by telephone. Hart once tried to see exactly how many calls he could answer in one broadcast—record, eighty-three in fifty-nine minutes! Regularly helping out on all this activity (and coming on the air at random) are program engineers Bill Beal and Eddie Ruggles. (McElroy and Fisher photo.)

RADIO IN REVIEW

NEWS and COMMENT

For Love o' Mike (General Comment)

Typical Hollywood Story

We first met the couple several years ago when the boy was still in the army. He was a clever boy with an extensive musical training and a rather naive taste in classical music. His wife lived in the army town and had given up college to follow her husband. He had gotten a few opportunities in producing, arranging and composing music for army radio shows and he played several discs for us. He was very proud of them.

The boy got out of the army and didn't bother to go back to his small midwestern town. He came to Hollywood. His young wife scouted around and found a little apartment in Pasadena. The boy got a job arranging music and conducting on a small transcribed show. When that was over he did arrangements for name singers.

We didn't see him for a long time. The other day we met one of his ex-army buddies. We asked about the young couple.

The friend laughed. "The Hollywood Story," he sighed. "He's divorced his wife, changed his name to something like Lawrence Llewellyn, is under contract to a record company, lives on the Sunset Strip, has a radio show and is engaged to a movie star!"

Many people call this a success story—we call it tragedy.

Rumors Are Flying

The recently auditioned Donald O'Connor show has Van Wynn as featured singer, producer Mac Benoff doubling as scripter and Gwen (Mrs.) O'Connor sharing the comedy spots. . . . Ed Gardner would like to work the talented piano-playing singing comedienne, Martha Davis, into "Duffy's." . . . Look for Bob Hawk to move his quizzer to the coast. . . . Garry Moore is trying to interest Ransom Sherman in reviving their old Chicago program, "Club Matinee." (Get interested, Sherman!). . . . Meredith Willson has three prospective sponsors interested in his "Showroom" show which ends for Ford on the twenty-fourth. . . . Abe Burrows continues as writer of this fall's "Joan Davis Tearoom." . . . Ben Alexander and his five-year-old son, Nicky, have recorded an album of Christmas stories in which Ben tells the stories, and Nicky interrupts whenever he pleases. . . . Charm schooler Caroline Leonetti has cut an audition record for a prospective show. . . . Larry Stevens, former singer on the Benny show, now has his own band and will soon be touring in the Midwest. . . .

NEXT WEEK

What a line-up! Schnozzola Durantel Vincent Price! Hollace Shaw! "Pat Novak!" Mel Ruick! And enough radio people from Indiana to put on a colossal radio program all by themselves!

Honestly, did you realize (we didn't) that the famed Hoosier Hot Shots aren't the only notables from the Indiana country? Maybe, after reading next week's article, those from other states will be able to bob up with suggestions for formulating all-Texas, all-New York, or all-Iowa radio shows.

Jimmy Durante has had many fine partners—Umbrigo, Eddie Jackson, Garry Moore—now he starts a new radio series with a new partner, Arthur Treacher. Read about it in next week's Radio Life.

Suave Vincent Price is just as fascinating off the air as on—Joan Buchanan swears he's wonderful, and after you read her very human story, "Saint Vincent," you'll probably agree with her.

There's the second installment of "Voices We'd Like to Hear"—maybe our readers will have some suggestions for No. 3 of the Series.

Zany Jim Backus, now starring on his own show, mugged for the camera. Result: Next week's hilarious picture layout called "Famous Gems of History." Don't miss the one titled "Backus as Bacchus."

Mel Ruick, whom you formerly heard as a mickeman on Lux, and who now produces Paul Whiteman's disc show, gave Radio Life a special interview when the program halted briefly in Hollywood a few weeks ago. Ben "Novak" Morris, a quiet guy in real life, and Hollace Shaw, a minister's daughter from California, add the final touches to this issue. Hurry! Buy your Radio Life early!

Bob Burns is cutting a platter for a five-a-week series. . . . Screen star Martha Stewart to join the Jack Paar show as featured vocalist when it switches to ABC October 1. . . . Xavier Cugat is considering getting married on "Bride and Groom!" . . . Jack Kirkwood's new show, now auditioning, is family comedy with "Ukie" Sherin, Lurene Tuttle, Billy Gray, Harry Lang. . . . Sandra Gould (formerly "Miss Duffy") may be a Jack Carson show regular. . . . Old time radio funster Frank Watanabe is auditioning a new show with Dick Aurandt on the music. . . . Edgar Bergen and Co. are deserting the NBC studios for Pasadena—no like the audience response. . . . Package king John Guedel has waxed a Rudy Vallee starter titled "Show Business," described as a hard-hitting commentary on behind-the-scenes activities of the show world. . . . According to Jack Smith, Time magazine's misquoting of his statements in a recent issue has the singer puzzling. . . . The starting date is unannounced, but showman Earl Carroll will advertise cosmetics with a weekly commentary on beauty hints, tied in with a national beauty contest to be heard on either Mutual or ABC. . . . Radio's new "Sherlock Holmes" is John Stanley, who is currently supporting Basil Rathbone in "Scotland Yard." John starts "Sherlocking" September 28. . . . Phil Baker's new quizzer, "What Do You Know," has sponsors querying. . . . Randolph Scott and Claire Trevor are to be teamed in a transcribed series, "Frontier Town." Claire was heard as "Lorelei" on "Big Town" long ago. . . . Three different sponsors are angling for Abe Burrows' program of song satires, the show that wasn't supposed to be "commercial" enough.

"It's a Great Life"

Talented Steve Allen has come up with a show that should prove to be his entree to the big big-time. It's called "It's a Great Life" and it's heard on KNX, Saturday nights at 8:30.

We hope you're already far ahead of us and know all about this fun session, but in case your Saturday night listening is sketchy—here's an intriguing fact or two about the show.

Steve has taken the premise that many of life's most frustrating little experiences are rife with humor for those who can stay on the sidelines and observe their fellow citizen battling the same bedevilmings that they themselves have come up against. For instance, an impressionable man

By VIRGINIA WEST

We've been searching the dictionary . . . and so far have been unable to find just the words to do it justice . . . Wednesday nights on ABC-KECA, we mean . . . So we've decided just to tell you modestly that Wednesday nights this fall . . . Starting October 1st, in fact . . . will be nights when we predict you'll not want to wander far from that comfortable divan in front of your radio.

Wednesday nights there'll be such a lineup of talent as has rarely fallen upon our ears . . . Beginning at 6:30 on KECA, just count 'em . . . Vox Pop with that ace ad-lib pair, Parks Johnson and Warren Hull, pioneers of "man on the street" broadcasts, followed by the adventure favorite, "The Lone Ranger" at 7. At 7:30, but not until Oct. 8, will be the one and only Lionel Barrymore with his "Mayor of the Town". At 8, those comics of radio, stage and screen fame, Abbott and Costello, bow in on ABC's hookup, to be followed at 8:30 by another laugh session, ex-GI Jack Paar, who convulsed summer audiences as the replacement for Jack Benny.

"Who's on first?" said Costello to partner Abbott and ABCman, Charles C. Barry. "You are," . . . said the ABC-VP . . . "October 1st, that is!"

Then . . . as if every fan didn't already have the date marked on their listening calendar . . . Bing's back! Yes sir, the date we've all been waiting for since June . . . October 1st is practically here . . . Bing Crosby and his half-hour of songs and fun comes back to ABC-KECA, Wednesday nights at 9! And as last season . . . Bing will be followed by that man whose brand of satirical humor is still unequalled . . . that's the Henry Morgan Show, KECA at 9:30.

. . . Wednesday Night's the Night . . . 790 . . .

AROUND THE DIAL: There's a new time this week for that skill and wit game, Darts for Dough. Orville Anderson and his merry crew move from their Sunday afternoon spot to Thursday nights at 6:30 . . . On Sunday nights at 7:45, beginning the 28th, a new quarter-hour expose of accepted facts, titled "Don't You Believe It", starts a 52-week run for 42 Oil Products . . . Have you often wondered just what fate has in store? . . . Well, you may not learn your personal future, but you will hear what fate decrees for the characters portrayed in a "whodunit" that's different . . . "Diary of Fate" . . . if you dial KECA on Saturday nights at 7 . . . Dashiell Hammett's "Fat Man" series moves from Saturday nights to Friday nights at 8 . . . KECA's Star Gazer, Frances Scully, leaves for a month's stay in New York on Oct. 3 . . . Scully's pinch-hitter on her popular half-hour of news and chatter about the film capital . . . fashions . . . shows . . . premieres, etc., will be "Cookie", announcer Lou Cook to you. After she reaches Gotham, Frances will write her fans a daily letter which "Cookie" will read, about the sights she's seeing, things she's doing in the big city.

Don't forget . . . Wednesday nights just set your dial on 790 . . . and leave it there! There's never been such an evening's entertainment in the history of radio! Remember . . .

- 6:30 p.m. VOX POP WITH PARKS JOHNSON AND WARREN HULL
- 7:30 p.m. THE LONE RANGER
- 7:30 p.m. LIONEL BARRYMORE'S "MAYOR OF THE TOWN"
(Starts Oct. 8)
- 8:00 p.m. ABBOTT AND COSTELLO
- 8:30 p.m. THE JACK PAAR SHOW
- 9:00 p.m. THE BING CROSBY SHOW
- 9:30 p.m. THE HENRY MORGAN SHOW

See what we mean . . . Wednesday nights . . . all evening . . . that dial spot is KECA's wavelength . . . 790 . . . Not another evening like it in radio!

swayed by a used car commercial that promises a fortune for an old car, tries to sell his 1938 model to the dealer, another man tries to borrow money from a temptingly advertised loan company, a busy housewife buys a television set, a couple give a party that includes a typical "life of the party" guest. You can see what excellent springboards all those incidents are for comedy skits that make the listener give a groan of sympathy in between laughs.

Steve writes as well as enacts a good deal of the show, and he's assisted by such sterling support as singer-actress Joan Barton, Wilbur Hatch and his orchestra, June Foray, Hy Averbach and announcer Jack McCoy. If you, too, have been exasperated, see our contests and offers list in this issue for details on how to submit your story to Steve Allen.

"The Pause That Refreshes on the Air"

How the same orchestra, under the same conductor, can sound so completely different on two even similar formats is a stumper. But it's the case with Percy Faith and Company.

In addition to his long-time "Contented Hour" series, Faith now batons Coca-Cola's Sunday "Pause That Refreshes on the Air," (KNX, 2:30 p.m.). And all the sweep and splendor which the "Contented" time once had and now seems to have lost (in favor of schmaltz) are back with this new program. Faith conducts a straight thirty minutes of majestic, moving melody, full of all the power which has distinguished his former work. Against this "big" background of music, the voice of Ginny Simms attains new richness and depth and becomes a more important soprano than it has ever seemed before.

Gabriel Heatter

It takes a few listens to Gabriel Heatter's stentorian delivery to become one of the legion of fans who nightly join KHJ at 6:00, Monday through Friday. Then you'll either swear allegiance or give it up entirely in favor of a milder man's comments.

Mr. Heatter tells the news, analyzes and applies the items, and drops a few suggestions or maybe a prognostication or two. Years of newscasting and analyzing have familiarized Mr. Heatter with trends and reactions, and these he passes on to the listeners. Some of his warnings are a little frightening, possibly because of the weighty Heatter delivery, but invariably before signing-off time the rosy side is brought out. Mr. Public, according to Gabriel Heatter, can play a large part in the shape of things to come. Current crusade in the nightly fifteen minutes is toward getting the listening layman interested in price curbs resulting from John Q. Public's buying strike.

If you listen to the news with definite ideas already in mind, you'll enjoy Mr. Heatter greatly. His comment will serve to feed the fires of controversy, or else you will agree so wholeheartedly that any middle-path comment on the air will come to sound almost incomplete. If you listen with no definite ideas in mind already, you'll soon enough pick up some. There aren't many newscasters who understand current events much better than the bombastic Gabriel Heatter.

"Toy Town Train"

In a recent column we printed an article sent out by the radio committee of the San Francisco Women's Club in which one of the suggested programs was one that would play the excellent children's records now available. And just about that same time, KFAC's "Toy Time Train" was chug-chugging up to the station. It's heard on Saturdays from 5:30 p.m. to 6:00 with Charles Foll at the throttle, and it's an assortment of stories and songs that are proven hits with the youngest generation.

If you've ever perused a music store for the purpose of selecting a record album for the small fry, you know the amount of amusing and educational recordings that are available for this program. "Tubby the Tuba," "Bozo at the Circus," "Alice in Wonderland," "Jack and the Beanstalk," "Jungle Book" and many, many other favorites all turn up sooner or later.

Playbacks (Critical Comment)

Fitch Pitch

"Richard Rogue," of KFI's Sunday night at 9:00 "Rogue's Gallery," has always been a pretty popular guy. He's survived, or thrived, as you please, on a series of different portrayals. Even the sensitive, to whom "Eugor's" piercing voice, as Rogue's alter-ego, is a trial, have stuck with Betty and Richard during their chases, and loved it.

Whether or not the faithful will be able to survive the blow dealt recently when the Fitch Company ran their commercial into the play, remains to be seen. In case you didn't get/have to hear what went on, we'll attempt to reconstruct the crime.

Richard and Betty were locked in a spooky old house with two thugs and a rich, ancient recluse. Tension was running high, listener spirits right along with it. One of the thugs merrily turned on the radio (an incident holding no pertinence to the plot), and in place of background music, police calls or some clue coming out into the silence that had fallen among the cast, out came a lengthy Fitch commercial, touting the coming Faye-Harris show, date of its arrival to the air, and the prizes connected therewith, on and on.

Presumably commercials are written with an aim toward seeing that people remember them. Few who heard this method of presentation will ever forget it.

"Ladies, Be Seated"

Old timers to KECA's 3:00 p.m. Monday-through-Friday party known as "Ladies, Be Seated," should be well satisfied with new emcee Tom Moore. Especially if he looks like he sounds to the mikesiders at home.

A veteran of show business, with a background of minstrel shows, medicine shows, vaudeville and even vocalizing with bands to lend ease of delivery, Mr. Moore manages to sound joyous and enthusiastic during the entire show. That can't be an easy trick on a dual sponsorship deal that leans toward trying out new games and gimmicks. The program holds a game of intuition, singing housewives' contests, guessing games, give-away antics and riddles, prizes for all, and fun even for listeners who aren't lucky enough to be present. Even in this era that may well be known one day as the year of fabulous prizes, "Ladies, Be Seated" will hold its own with a daily dishing-out of airplane trips, seventy-piece sets of silver, electric refrigerators and suits of clothing. Runner-uppers and even loser-outers are sent home with arms full of Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour, gifts of sponsor of the first fifteen minutes heard. Toni Home Permanents provide lavishly on the second half.

Warden's Crime Cases"

The "Warden's Crime Cases" show up on KHJ at 7:00 p.m. Tuesdays, warning, in the guise of dramatization of actual cases direct from the files of the late Lewis E. Lawes, (former warden of Sing-Sing) against crime.

That format holds all the possibilities of a good show. Smarter dialogue and a better pace could build this idea into one of today's oh-so-popular scarers. Possibly it's the fifteen-minute slot that is responsible for the lack of punch these capsules hold.

Recent sampling of this time brought us the story of a mild old crook, a three-time offender, whose next sentence would for sure get him "life." Yet when the old man found out via the grapevine that his daughter's tender affections were directed toward a very unsavory young character on the "outside," the father broke out of jail to halt the romance, thus assuring himself of that life sentence. The paradox of a crime warning, as opposed to picturing a three-time offender as a nice mild old guy, didn't do much to strengthen either cause.

On the credit side stands the real worth of the "Crime Cases" premise that crime doesn't pay. More cleverly contrived dialogue would help make this message more forcible. All to the good, however, is the manner in which brand new characters and situations march right along each Tuesday.

On Mike (About Studio Happenings)

Crime Limelight

Interesting new audition, cut last week on Radio Row, was "Crime Cure," starring Charles Bickford in narrative role. The plot, based on actual file cases of the juvenile courts, told the story of an exceptionally bright young boy (I.Q. 140) whose mother, through habitually inhibiting him, refusing to let him play with children his own age, and nagging him into getting top grades, gave the boy an inferiority complex. Finally he felt he simply had to make someone knuckle under to him, and resorted to crime to do so.

Causes for the boy's crime, situation in his home, and what happened to him after authorities stepped in to straighten him out were carefully set forth. Our only feeling was that they were stressed almost to the point of preaching, but this is not a serious and unalterable defect. Scenes of the crime episodes were entirely eliminated—a commendable thing, especially in this type of program.

Judge Samuel Blake served as adviser on the show, which has complete sanction and cooperation of the National Probation Association. Writer-producer Phil Alexander used two adults and two teen-agers from the audience to express their opinions on pertinent reasons for the boy's delinquency. Alexander has had previous experience with a similar program, doing one on juvenile delinquency

We hope, if the record sells, that Bickford will be able to do more acting on the show. Talent like his shouldn't be confined to thread-like narration.

Off Mike (Personalities)

"Mr. President" to Washington

Edward Arnold, radio's "Mr. President," left last Thursday for Washington, D. C., where he is scheduled to speak at the coming convention of the motion picture theater owners association.

Taking a page from his ABC air portrayal, Arnold will attend a conference at the White House at which President Truman and other officials will be present to discuss the matter of American overseas aid.

As vice president of the Motion Pictures Permanent Charities Committee, the busy Arnold is responsible for all charitable collections within the movie industry, which he represents in this conference.

While in the East, Arnold will air his "Mr. President" series from New York, returning to Hollywood around September 30.

A Call in Time

A telephone call last week to CBS' "Free for All" started producers Ed Jacobs and John Wiley on a frantic search for a rare and expensive drug.

The call was from Mrs. Pollock, of Los Angeles, who explained that her son was hospitalized with an advanced case of tuberculosis. His only hope was treatment with streptomycin.

In Mrs. Pollock's emergency call to "Free for All" she explained that knowing the program had done so many nice things she thought it might help her son. She was unable to buy the drug, it cost seven dollars a bottle.

Results were immediate. Through the efforts of the show and the generosity of Thrifty Drug Stores, three bottles a day for six weeks (the supply of streptomycin needed to check the disease) go to the sick boy.

Right Number—But . . .!

"Is this Gladstone 1660?" queried a voice when Jack Meakin, composer and musical director of NBC's "Great Gildersleeve," answered the phone for the first time in his new Hollywood office.

"Yes, it is," said Meakin.

"Is it 1346 Cole Place?" the voice continued. Meakin, understandably puzzled, agreed that it was.

"Then who the heck am I talking to?" demanded the caller.

And that's how Meakin learned that

Slaughterhouse Gang

Sometimes there must seem to be compensations in being just plain Joe or Sadie Glotz.

Take the session singing star Helen Forrest had with her fans outside NBC's studios recently. Main casualty, one $400 dress. Helen's lace sleeve was ripped from waist to shoulder and one flailing autograph hunter splattered ink all over her expensive bodice.

Or Barry Sullivan's bout with bobby-soxers at a sneak Pomona preview of "The Gangster." At his last "Rogue's Gallery" broadcast, Barry was still nursing his badly twisted right wrist.

Must require high heroics to smile cheerfully through such strenuous adoration. Yes, we're even taking into consideration that celebrities wouldn't be celebrities without it.

Heard on the Al Pearce show:

Al Pearce: Can you keep a secret?

Ray Wentzel: I'll tell the world.

Mrs. Isabelle Noble, 4366 Westlawn Avenue, Venice, Calif.

Heard on Bill Goodwin show:

Bill (to druggist): Hello, have you Prince Albert in a can?

Druggist: Yes.

Bill: Well, for heavens' sake, let him out or he'll smother.

Ann Lasala, 631 East Orange Grove Avenue, Burbank, Calif.

Heard on the Phil Silvers show:

Cab Driver: Yesterday while I was driving down Main Street a truck came and cut me off, and I landed in Macy's Department Store in the women's wear. Boy was I embarrassed.

Phil: Why?

C. D.: Why! Because I was the only driver in town that had a girdle on my cab.

RECORD

NOTES TO YOU

By ANDY MANSFIELD

- 1 note—fair
- 2 notes—pleasing
- 3 notes—very good
- Chord in G—tops

KWKW, 12.45 p.m. Daily

BENNY GOODMAN ORCH

It's a nice batch of Clarinet a la King that Benny serves in the eight-sided "Benny Rides Again" . . . Album is novel in that it features sides by the duo, trio, quartet, quintet, sextet, septet, full orchestra. . . AND a Goodman vocal . . . but it is the BG clarinet and showmanship on every side that rates the Chord In G! (Capitol).

RILEY SHEPARD

With Shorty Long & His Santa Fe Rangers, Riley Shepard has a group of 6 "Old Fashioned Square Dances" that'll make you realize why the hoedown, the hornpipe and the schottische used to be more exerting than pitching hay, but HEY! put on your Levis and try 'em out and see if they aren't worth a rural two notes (Signature).

ERSKINE HAWKINS ORCH

Here's everything that made the 20th Century Gabriel tops in the jazz field . . . "Tuxedo Junction" . . . "After Hours" . . . "Cherry" . . . "Sweet Georgia Brown" . . . and others . . . vocals are nicely done by Laura Washington and Jimmy Michelle, but when Mansfield heard "Tuxedo" and "After Hours", he blew three loud notes on his own horn. (RCA-Victor).

HARRY SUKMAN

Displaying excellent taste in his interpretations of four "Favorite Hits from Favorite Pictures", Mr. Sukman's artistry at the piano keyboard is again well demonstrated . . . While the concert pianist's technique is unquestioned, it was his ivory caressing of "Laura" and "Stella by Starlight" which rated a Chord in G! (Artist).

KEENAN WYNN

Whether Frank Tashlin's "The Bear That Wasn't" is a child's story or adult satire doesn't matter, for as a book transplanted to records, it's very delightful listening . . . Keenan Wynn turns in a swell performance as the narrator and the Bear, with music by Walter Schumann, and directed by Robert Welch . . . Very well produced, and (for children from nine to ninety) it's easily worth a Chord in G! (MGM).

GAGS OF THE WEEK

Mrs. Grace Loch, 10112 Dorothy Avenue, South Gate, Calif.
 Heard on the Arthur Godfrey show:
 Arthur: The only difference between a business woman and a housewife is that one sits home and mends socks, while the other goes to her office and takes care of briefs.

F. McKim, 952 South Bonnie Brae Street, Los Angeles 6, Calif.
 Heard on "Arthur's Place":
 Arthur: My girl friend had long golden hair halfway down her back. Too bad it didn't grow on her head.
Mrs. T. S. White, 6500 Yucca Street, Hollywood, Calif.
 Heard on "Noah Webster Says":
 MacQuarrie (to priest contestant): You have correctly defined four words, and have won $10. Would it be proper for me to ask "Father, will you take a chance on the $50 word?"

 Father S.: Yes, if you'll give me the fifty!
Minnie Hale, 1729 18th Street, Santa Monica, Calif.
 Heard on "It Pays to Be Ignorant":
 McNaughton: I bought my girl some garters once, and paid $1.10 for them. She gave them to her mother, and now that's the last I'll see of them.

JUST PURR-FECT

Pets can have their "Heart's Desires" too, MBS emcee, Ben Alexander, is now prepared to attest. Ben recently received a letter from "Sachemo," pet cat of a Portland, Oregon housewife, complaining about the "cutting edge" on tuna cans. The Hollywood studio audience laughingly approved sending "Sachemo" a brand new cat dish, making her the first animal ever officially to have a "Heart's Desire" granted.

HITCHING POST

Announcements are out that two of our favorite young radioites, writer Lee Roddy and Actress Cicily Price, will be married October 17 at Chapman Park Hotel. Lee's already taken over his new job as account executive and scripter at Modesto's KTRB and Cicily will probably join the station staff as music librarian and feminine commentator.

HOPEFUL MELODY

Jack Hope, who writes the lyrics for brother Bob's Pepsodent show tributes, is cashing in on his tune, "Shut My Mouth With Kisses." Les Brown will feature it on a coming program, and this week Mercury Records waxes the song for both public and disc jockeys.

TWANG TUNE

Gordon Jenkins, Dick Haymes show maestro, has written a new ballad especially for his wife, Beverly, the "Miss" in the show's "Four Hits and a Miss." It's a parody on western music, and Beverly does the vocal with a clothes pin on her nose.

SYMPHONIC NOTE

Frank DeVol, conductor-arranger for the Jack Carson-Eve Arden Village Store (NBC), has composed an original American folk music "story in song" called the "Paul Bunyan Suite," which will be introduced by the Los Angeles Philharmonic in December.

TRAVELING IN STYLE

Notice Edgar Bergen, whose hobby is collecting old-time cars, has acquired another model—a 1908 White. Edgar created quite a stir last week by driving his sponsor in the "new" buggy up to the swank Beverly Hills Hotel for a cocktail party.

GARNISH

Although the playing musicians in Percy Faith's new CBS (Ginny Simms) show number forty-five, there are actually fifty-one members in the group. The other six are vocal artists who don't sing in the accepted sense of words and melody, but blend their voices to gain additional musical effects not attained by the orchestra.

HOUSE GUEST

Playing host this month to the Maharaja of Cooch Behar, ruling prince of an Indian state of 700,000 subjects, is Columbia's Tony Martin. Tony and the Maharaja met in India during the war. While in the U. S. the Prince will purchase large quantities of agricultural equipment for his country.

STATISTICIANS

Earle Ross, who plays "Judge Hooker" on "The Great Gildersleeve," had a party for fifty veteran actors at his North Hollywood home this week. Just for fun, the fellows totaled together their seasons of dramatic experience. Combined as a statistic, they've all been acting for over 2000 years!

LEWISES ON COLUMBIA

Cathy and Elliott Lewis have joined with Ray Noble's orchestra to record an eight-side album for Columbia, entitled "Let's Dream." Elliott has written the original script for Cathy and himself, with Noble composing the score.

HOW ABOUT IT, POP?

Norris "Abner" Goff, sidekick of "Lum," says he really feels like the "old fellow" he enacts on the air, when he scans his fourteen-year-old son, Gary. "I don't mind him growing up," adds Tuffy, "it's just that I hate to have to look up to him when he asks me for his allowance."

STICK TO THE SHIP

When radio editors recently published a jesting letter to Jay Jostyn, "Mr. District Attorney," assuring him a vote for president in 1948, a concerned program fan took the news quite seriously. She addressed an immediate letter to Jay, pleading with him to discard his presidential aspirations. He is needed more as district attorney, she maintained.

FOREVER BLOWING BUBBLES

Lina Romay has just received a whole crate of bubble gum from Andre Paris, the Latin bubble-gum king. Paris first met the Romay family when Lina's father, a Mexican consul, was stationed in Washington, D. C.

PRODUCER'S NIGHTMARE

Control booth spectators bite their nails nervously when Joe Julian takes the NBC mike weekly as Commissioner Bill Grant on "Call The Police." Julian not only tosses his scripts away and works from memory on the mike, but smokes steadily while he's on the air. So far, he's never muffed a performance!

DISNEY SIGNS CARSON

NBC's singing star Ken Carson has been signed by Walt Disney for the "Wise Old Owl" voice on the forthcoming feature length production, "How Dear to My Heart."

"The Voyage of the Scarlet Queen"

on the beam, wise in the ways of waves and women.

Another regular cast member is modest Bill Conrad, remembered well by all old "Hermit's Cave" addicts. Bill was in service for five years, first as a fighter pilot, then with AFRS as censor. He's always beautifully cast when he plays toughies (as he did in the film "The Killers") or in various dialect parts, a constant ingredient of an adventure show showing weekly from port to port.

Smooth Cue-Man

Producer Burton, who entered the service in 1943, was affiliated with Mutual for six years previously, serving as production manager for four years and as agency producer on "Spotlight Bands". At AFRS, he threw cues on such memorable programs as "G. I. Journal", "Mail Call", "Melody Round-Up", "Command Performance", and the V-E Day show. He's eminently qualified for "Scarlet Queen" production—an obvious conclusion—and here's an inside note: Jim is one of those phenomena in radio—a courteously placid producer who gets what he wants from his cast without being intolerantly disagreeable. Everyone likes to work with him and even the guys call him "sweet".

Charlie Arlington, the announcer, former KHJ (and now, again) "Brother" Arlington, was stationed at AFRS in San Francisco during the war, and because of his sports knowledge became just about the best-known miker in the Pacific. Dick Aurandt, who makes his five-piece "Scarlet Queen" orchestra sound like double the number, feels right at home shaking his baton under Burton's cues, for Dick worked at the Canteen musicking "G. I. Journal"—the only civilian conductor to fill the AFRS podium. Engineer on the show, Al Bennett, is a former AFRS man, and Sue Clark, who handles show publicity, had charge of all overseas promotion at AFRS, serving from 1942 until 1947 (January) and receiving the only known civilian Presidential Citation. Even the "Queen's" agents, *Polan and Rosenberg, were former AFRS men, heading up talent for the unit.

Perhaps such detail is boring, but to us it holds extreme interest. It's one of the few examples, we think, of people who worked together during the war coordinating their minds successfully during peace. It backs "The Voyage of the Scarlet Queen" with more than an ordinary log of experience.

Nothing much has been said directly about the program itself. Suffice it to mention that the "Scarlet Queen" weighed anchor in San Francisco after some mysteriously dark dealings, and is bound for somewhere in the South Pacific, where a $10,000,000 treasure is hidden. Chief complication arises from the fact that a rival outfit is grappling for information as to the treasure's whereabouts, and if it is fortunate enough to outwit "Karney" and crew, will give the "Queen" a mad chase.

Aurandt has written a musical score which lives and breathes the sea. It's tangy and salty in the exciting portions of the show, billows majestically or subsides as script demands. With trumpet predominating in the theme, a listener captured by the "Scarlet Queen's" mood automatically draws in a deep breath and plants his feet as if to ride a swell.

"We feel," remarked Burton, "that every man wants to be a sailor—wants to feel the swell under the decks. You don't have to slit throats on mike to get excitement. There's just as much excitement in a coral reef."

announcer at KFI. Accepting the graveyard shift with no complaints, he set about reorganizing the 1:00 to 5:00 a.m. programming. Such was his success that his "Music for Dreaming," "Surprise Platter Party," "Record Album Review" and "Swing Session" draw fan mail from all over the world, and he can boast of presenting in-person interviews with more entertainment "greats" than there is room to mention.

Though the line-up of girls who would like to be number one in his little black book is extensive, Bob's first love is his "Ercoupe," a fast and sharp-looking little airplane in which he makes frequent trips down to Mexico and into the states bordering California. In spite of the fact that Bob has been flying only since June of this year, he is already quite skilled as a pilot. On a recent trip to Mexico he discovered, while trying to land on a very dark night, that the landing lights on his plane had not been connected. As a result of buzzing the dark town, a local radio station broadcast an appeal to residents, who responded with alacrity, driving out to light up the landing strip with the headlights of their cars. Said Bob, "That's real Southern hospitality."

order after three weeks, swamped by over 6000 winners. At another time, Maurice played a Del Casino record, asked his public to name the artist, got a barking reply at once from the telephone company, complaining that he'd overloaded the lines.

Marriage Offers

Every once in awhile his banter appeals to a feminine listener and Maurice gets a proposal of marriage (three so far). One woman sat in the lobby two hours waiting for him. "I didn't come in that day," he recalls.

Hart's own fifteenth wedding anniversary was this last August 9. He and Luba (sometimes he calls her Lillian) celebrated the occasion with a quiet evening together in their small Valley place, the "Harts and Flowers Rancherito." "It's not palatial, just nice . . . just a nice little home," Maurice says, describing their house. "Two bedrooms, a den, a two-car garage and a workshop. And a garden out in back which breaks my achin' back."

Maurice and Luba are a completely devoted couple and both of them are enthusiastic home-makers. Maurice is always knocking away at something, and has recently been pushing out walls, adding rooms, putting in more closets wherever possible in an all-out remodeling effort. The Harts collect antiques, "but most of the ones we have are usable, except for a few little cups and saucers she has in the cabinet." Their furniture is English and American 18th Century, with a few harmonizing pieces in the Chinese influence.

Maurice's little girl, Michael Bena (5½) is, naturally, most important facet of the household. Pictures disclose her to be a wide-brown-eyed little character with pig-tails and a grin like her daddy's. "She's the most brilliant child in the world, of course," Maurice admits.

A Fisherman

Other interests in Maurice's life are varied. He likes painting in oils, photography, coin collecting and fishing — no preference as to deep-sea or stream. "If a guy likes to fish, he's even happy with a bent pin and a string."

He feels the same about music. "I like good music, whether it's Tommy Dorsey or Arturo Toscanini . . . I just don't like to get stodgy." His only possible aversion is to sopranos, with kind exception to Rise Stevens, Lily Pons and Jeanette MacDonald. He has two libraries—one at KFWB including only the type of music to be used on the air, and his home collection, mostly classics. Luba is an accomplished pianist. Her brother, Lennie Hayton, is a musical director at MGM and an outstanding composer. And Maurice's musical masteries include drums, saxophone, and even a vocal solo at times.

Maurice also puts in, whenever possible, a word for program "sexatary" Charlotte, who was station music librarian before she got "into the act" as foil for Hart's jollities. "Without Charlotte," he says dramatically, "I would be as a ship without its rudder. She's the ideal 'sexatary.' She's young, she's beautiful, she's efficient. Even my wife likes Charlotte."

Pretty Charlotte (who obviously regards her kind little boss with great respect and affection) interrupts this dialogue. "His wife," she says firmly, "is glad someone else has to cope with his gags even part of the time!"

I Defend Radio "Crime" Shows

By Bill Gargan

Saturday, 7:30 p.m.
ABC—KECA-KPRO-KFMB

GHERE'S A BIG difference, and I wish it would be noticed!

Yes, this is Bill Gargan, who goes over the ABC Network as "Ross Dolan" in a "crime" program. In fact, we call the show "I Deal in Crime". Could anything be plainer than that?

But there's something I want to get off my chest where any radio "crime" show is concerned, and the pages of "Radio Life" are ideal for such a job. That's why I'm telling you about this difference that ought to be noticed.

The difference exists between (a) the general impression people have after having read various pulp magazines, and (b) radio "crime" shows.

Let's consider these people known as the "public". They are you and you and I and everybody else. When we were in our teens, we read a lot of pulp magazines. Most of us did, anyway. Of course some people keep on reading pulps right through life. There's nothing wrong about that, necessarily. Let people read what they want to read, I always say. This is a free country.

But let's talk about the people who gradually STOP reading pulps.

Such people usually find themselves with less and less spare time for reading; or they find their literary tastes have changed. They're growing up, finding jobs, falling in love, getting married, raising children.

Before they know it, quite a few years have gone by since they (the parents) have last read a pulp magazine. I know the way that time goes by during that stretch of life, because I've got a couple of boys, too. Fine lads, if I do say so myself. One of them is at the University of San Francisco, and the other is attending Bellemine Prep, rooming with Bing's boy, Gary.

Believe me, you'd hardly know by looking at my boys that their father is engaged in that child-ruining, character-killing enterprise known as a radio "crime" show.

But let's go back to some of these people who used to read pulps before they started raising a family.

Crime Comes On

They live happily in a serene parlor in a peaceful home. Then one night Junior drops an atom bomb right down on the floor of that happy little domicile. With a nonchalant air, he trots over to the radio —and clicks on a CRIME program!

Of course, if he's a young man of good taste, he has instinctively selected "I Deal in Crime" over ABC. But that doesn't really matter. The point is that he has turned on a CRIME show!

At this point, mother faints and Daddy takes a flying tackle across the imitation Chippendale stuff to snatch Junior away from a fate worse than death.

WHY ???

Well, this is "Ross Dolan" talking — a guy who is supposed to be fair shakes at detecting — and I think I detect the reason why.

Mama and Papa still have an impression obtained during a few years of reading pulp magazines. Pop especially can remember some horror tales where a beautiful damsel has her heart torn out "warm, pulsating, and dripping crimson gore." I think those are the usual words. I'm not sure, but they'll do.

Mama and Papa have an idea that this crime-fiction stuff is loaded with bigger and better crime monstrosities. Actually, Mama and Papa didn't have to read those pulps. The pictures on the covers would be enough to impress the mind of a statue. Those covers are wonderful examples of what impressionable young people should NOT look at.

The Difference

Well, the impression remains. Mama and Papa picked it up years ago — long before they were married; long before there was a Junior. But the impression is still with them, and they've got it confused with ALL crime fiction of ANY type.

Like, for instance, radio crime shows.

Radio is well edited. There are situations, events, and descriptions permitted in print that would never be allowed on any broadcast. Detailed accounts of gory murders, suicides, and descriptions of horrifying crimes and unnatural actions can be found in dozens of pulp magazines on sale at any street corner — but NEVER on a radio program. Profanity in its lowest form can be read from the pages of pulps, some slick magazines, and even some of the books on the shelves of public libraries — but NEVER will you hear a word of profanity over the air.

Now all I ask of parents is this: There IS a difference between (a) the general impression people have after reading various pulp crime magazines, and (b) radio "crime" shows. The impressions obtained from pulp publications read long ago must NOT be confused with impressions that might be obtained from radio programs. Be fair about it. Radio is operated along different channels. Give it its due credit. Don't confuse two vastly different fields.

There IS a big difference, and I wish it would be noticed!

◆ PRIME SOURCE OF NEWS is the battery of press association teletypewriters. Four machines of the United Press and the Associated Press pour 240 words per minute into the KNX-CBS news bureau. Day Editor Ed Conklin looks over the news as it comes over the wires.

MR. LISTENER can flick on his radio and hear Hollywood CBS' ninety-seven news shows a week pour out, as easily as he can draw water from a faucet. At the end of a day, his loudspeaker has paraded the single and combined efforts of twenty-three people working shifts that fill the twenty-four hours.

If this Mr. Listener were to visit the Columbia Broadcasting System News Bureau up on the fifth floor of Columbia Square, he'd find it is run on the "desk" system employed by newspapers, yet in this radio newsroom the organization is so perfect that only one or two hours a day show evidence of really hurried action.

A news story originates with one man, somewhere. It may be with the guy on the other end of the teletype in Washington, New York or San Francisco. It may be the local CBS "leg" man calling in from the police station, marriage bureau or phone booth just outside a City Council meeting. Perhaps with an employee of a wire service, who is standing watching a fire and talking into a hand mike that relays his narrative to the man at the teletype.

The late news is shot, by the magic of today's communication facilities, to the "desk," where a day or night editor makes up the master layout. The checking, sorting, deletion and assembling of this news means hours of work.

Background and reference material in the library and files are dug into. Just sampling the library, a person turns up bound volumes that contain every issue of "Fortune," more than seventy-five percent of all "New Yorkers" ever published; issues of "Time" from 1928 on; "The National Geographic" from the '20's; several years each of the "New York Times," "Congressional Record," and "London Times." And that's just a cursory sampling!

The big file drawers are tabbed "People," "Countries," "Texts," "General," and "Sports," and these in turn are broken down, first into "Economic," "Social," and "Political" sections, then neatly alphabetized so the dipping hand won't have to do any fumbling when time is short.

Then there's a seeming maze of teletypes, short wave receivers, standard radio sets, electric recording equipment, clocks and typewriters, but these mechanical factors alone would not make Mr. Listener pursue CBS newscasts. Human gray matter has to employ machine products to add the human touch.

As Jack Beck explains (and he's the chap who bears the ultimate responsibility for performance of this largest of radio news operations outside of New York City), "We don't fool around too much with crime and its embellishments. The public is interested primarily in basic facts, and as many of them as we can get across. These basic facts fall into several types of listener interest. There's personal interest, community-wide interest, and the national scope to consider."

It would be impossible to follow all the channels, from origin to mike, that are embodied in the ninety-seven newscasts and such specialized features as the farm news, sports news and "Los Angeles Story," but the accompanying pictures on "The Life of a News Report" will probably lend significance to that flick of the switch that always brings you Columbia Broadcasting System's latest coverage.

▼ IN A SMALL ROOM off the News Bureau, surrounded by the Congressional Record and a host of reference books, sit the news analysts. Harry W. Flannery, left, prepares his fifteen-minute afternoon report of news significance while Bill Henry mulls over a point while writing his nationwide broadcast. At other times Chet Huntley, Dr. Wallace Sterling and Stuart Novins prepare their reports here in the News Bureau's "Nook of Knowledge".

▼ STOPWATCH IN HAND, newscaster Bob Garred takes the finished script and reads it over. Besides checking the exact length of time it takes him to read the newscast, Garred watches for unfamiliar names and words, checks their pronunciation in the News Bureau's reference library. A newsmen himself, of years' experience, Garred quickly picks up the sense of the news and delivers it with the proper emphasis.

▼ A CAREFUL EYE on the overall news picture is kept by Jack Beck, Director of News Broadcasts for KNX and the Columbia Pacific Network. Beck keeps the News Bureau's reporters on top of the news and by checking all incoming copy and newscasts, guides the news staff in producing a clear, complete, and comprehensive treatment of the day's events. Beck efficiently unrolls his special copy of the news reports into a basket as he reads.

Munday-Friday, 10 p.m.
KECA

MOST BOYS go through a stage of wanting to be a fireman, a locomotive engineer, a postman, or even a doctor . . . but when he was a youngster, Ted Bentley wanted to be a major-league baseball player. In school he played baseball, football, swam, and even boxed a little. Then his eyes failed him, and so ended his hopes of getting into bigtime professional sports.

Born right here in Los Angeles, in 1916, of a family which came to California in covered wagon days, young Ted's interest never faded, even though he knew sport was out for him as a career. He played golf, tennis, studied judo . . . and did it all pretty well, too. And along with this active interest in sports, Ted has always been a scribbler . . . most of his writings, of course, having been on his favorite subject . . . sports.

Is Ted Bentley, Whose Eyes Kept Him From Bigtime Sports, but Whose Drive and Insight Have Brought Him Reward as Headman of Airshow, "Sports Page"

By Virginia West

So it was natural that when, in June of this year, Thrifty Drug Stores of Los Angeles, through their agency, the Milton Weinberg Advertising Company, were looking around for a new headman for their five-nights-a-week "Sports Page of the Air" on KECA, their spies should locate Bentley. At the moment, he was pinch-hitting as summer replacement for one of the station's vacationing announcers. The deal was made, the contracts signed, and sports commentator Bentley was on first base.

Ted broke into commercial radio as an announcer ten years ago, and during that time he's covered every type of show imaginable. He did sports interviews in San Diego when he was on staff of a station in that city, and last summer he covered the sports picture from Los Angeles city playgrounds for KECA. During that series of programs presented in the public interest by the station for the Los Angeles Playground and Recreation Department, Ted interviewed many outstanding alumni of the department's athletic facilities. He brought to the microphones such stars as Esther Williams, swim queen, and Willis Anderson, many times National Public Parks Tennis Champion.

Co-Writers

At the end of the summer season, Bentley resigned his staff announcing job to devote full time to collaboration with his lovely blonde wife,

Katherine, in writing a novel. During ensuing months the pair wrote several magazine stories, and have two uncompleted and unpublished novels tucked away in their files awaiting attention during a lull in the busy Bentleys' schedule.

Ted delights in bringing to the microphone for his "Sports Page" not only outstanding athletes but also people who are not usually associated with sports in the public's mind but are nevertheless enthusiastic participants or observers. For instance, on a recent night he interviewed that dancing screen star, Fred Astaire, on a subject very near and dear to the heart of the famous terpsichorean, his horse Triplicate . . . and that little-known side of his career, the story of Fred Astaire, race horse owner.

Other famous "names" to answer Ted's queries on KECA's air include Joe E. Brown, sometimes rated the nation's No. 1 sports enthusiast; Esther Williams, national swimming champion and film star; Bob Hope; Walter Winchell; and Frank Sinatra, who appeared in the unusual role of a fight promoter. Incidentally, Bentley had the distinction of presenting both Winchell and Sinatra as his guests on one evening's broadcast.

Active sports figures who have appeared on the show include Frankie Albert, two-time all-American quarterback at Stanford, and now a pro star; Johnny Longden, one of the country's top jockeys; Jersey Joe Walcott, No. 1 heavyweight challenger; Jack Kearns, famous fight manager and former manager of Dempsey; Ed "Strangler" Lewis; Jack Kramer, world's tennis champ, fresh from Wimbledon; Glenn Davis

Movies VS. Radio

LOOKS AS IF the movies lost a good bet in Theodor von Eltz. But Ted doesn't care for formal shots such as this one. (CBS-KNX photos.)

By Jane Pelgram

HE'D RATHER be caught by the camera looking natural . . . like this. Here Ted and Victor Moore make for radio realism.

Narrator Theodor von Eltz Doesn't Mind Sharing the Mike with Actor Theodor von Eltz on Myriads of Ether Dramas

WHEN HANDSOME Theodor von Eltz chose to step off the screen and onto the airways, his gamble on a mike (that subsequently proved so fruitful) must have caused many a shudder among radio actors who would give their eye teeth for a chance at the flickers.

Reasons behind his leaving the legendary glamour, big pay and a chance at larger-than-life fame are simple. Mr. von Eltz is completely an actor, and he explains his preference for radio with that in mind. "As far as I'm concerned, I find greater latitude for expression through the variety of parts in radio.

"An actor is allowed only one 'take' on the air . . . he's got to grasp an idea or a characterization quickly and perform correctly. That aspect alone is extremely stimulating.

"Another thing, in radio you have the feeling of playing to a real audience, not a row of kleig lights."

Conversely, the cultured, well-modulated style which has made actor-narrator-dialectician von Eltz so popular since his radio introduction in 1935, when he appeared as a lead to Mary Pickford and Ruth Chatterton, was developed during a career of some twenty-five years in the picture world.

In at Start

In 1920, when times were pretty tough for aspiring actors, Ted's stock company training got him work with the then-embryonic Los Angeles movie industry. He landed a lead opposite May Allison in an old timer, "Extravagance," and from then on was "set."

Not everyone can think back to "Speed Girl" with Bebe Daniels, or any of the old Lasky, Selznick or Marshall Neilan pictures, but "The Sea Wolf" and subsequent thrillers on up through the 30's were apt to have the handsomely chiseled von Eltz profile in the lead role or outstanding supporting parts. In 1942 he made the big break for the air lanes.

Now in his fifth year with a featured part on more shows than you could count on both hands ("Suspense," "Sam Spade," "Rogue's Gallery," "Whistler," "Richard Davis," "Hawk Larrabee," "Screen Guild" and "Corliss Archer" among them), Ted elects "Tapestries of Life" as one of his favorites.

If he likes variety, no wonder. Imagine, if you can, the Tuesday night gathering of the cast 'round the mike from which this show is wafted.

The script scene might call for anything from a city editor's office to a composer's drawing room. Mr. von Eltz would be acting as narrator, and very possibly would go right ahead and deliver the lines of the composer addressing his butler. It's not even inconceivable that, should the butler's words be brief, he'd do his own answering, dropping immediately and easily from the role of an artistic and soft-voiced composer to that of a servile soul whose dialogue carried a full load of Cockney. It's a neat trick if you can do it, and Ted can. Hearers rarely sense the switch.

The young-looking veteran of show business makes a point of never being too busy with radio work to enjoy living. The beach is a favorite haunt, and he still keeps his hand in the game that won him the championship of a motion picture tournament . . . tennis.

Ted von Eltz takes a deep interest in his home and his family. Mr. and Mrs. von Eltz recently worked together at the renovation of the lovely big old house they bought just below the Hollywood-Los Angeles line. Getting carried away with the aspects of housekeeping, Ted lingered too long in the kitchen area, and now finds to his surprise he can cook. He likes it, too, and speaks with great pride of his roasts and pancakes.

A moviegoer in spite of having participated in so many pictures, Ted's recently discovered the old-time movie house on Fairfax Avenue. There's no doubt that the polished and handsome figure of today will get a turn if he sees some of his older pictures. The heavy makeup that marked the pictures before the forties probably hid rather than enhanced some of his best features . . . the humorous eyes, the touch of gray at the temples, and the neat moustache.

Remembering his similarity of appearance to another thespian, we asked if he were often approached by people thinking he was actor Edmund Lowe, and whether or not Mr. Lowe experienced the same mistaken identity. Von Eltz laughed and explained how the two, who are good friends, amuse themselves by further confusing onlookers.

"We have been asked for each other's autographs so much that it's grown into a gag. Now when Eddie and I are at the same party or pass one another at a studio, we are careful to address each other in loud clear tones as Ed and Ted."

The switch being, of course, that Edmund Lowe always calls out "Hi, Eddie" to Mr. von Eltz, and Theodor von Eltz shouts "Hi, Ted" to Edmund Lowe!

and Doc Blanchard, Army's immortal stars; and many of baseball's outstanding names, such as Tony Lupien, Pinky Woods, Cece Garriott, and Leo Durocher.

Sticks to Fact

Ted delights in tackling controversial subjects . . . getting the facts is virtually a religion with the man. He'd much rather ferret out the drab truth than broadcast some doubtful story that might be much more sensational.

Being a "one-man sports page" on the air really keeps one busy, says Bentley. He estimates that he does the work of about five men on a newspaper, where usually a man covers each sport. That's where his wife, Katherine, again comes into the picture . . . for this shy, quiet girl is Ted's true helpmate. She assists in the details of arranging his interviews, handles all the "secretarial" part of the "Sports Page" deftly and efficiently, as well as pitching into the writing when necessary.

As she says . . . "It's a long way from a Montana farm to a residence in Hollywood . . . and a long way from canning, cooking and hoeing a garden (which won her the title of National 4-H Club achievement winner in 1938) to interviewing Tony Lupien in the dugout."

Katherine admits her sole connection with sports B.B. (before Bentley) was the fact that she graduated from the University of Minnesota in '42 . . . the year that saw the famous Minnesota football team — Bruce Smith, Dick Wildung, Bill Daley, and Bob Sweiger — in action.

Ted's and Kay's was a real radio romance. She taught music for two years after graduation, then decided Hollywood and radio had something more to offer than a ruler and a textbook. And again in her own words . . . "Well, it did — and his name is Bentley." Since that November day in '44, the piano keys have been gathering dust, and the typewriter keys have taken over.

The view of the wife-collaborator on the headman of the KECA "Sports Page" is interesting. She says, "Ted and I work together on whatever the project is at the moment. It's been comparatively easy to switch from fiction to sports news writing, but if Ted decides to take up flying, I'll have a tougher time learning to be navigator!"

"Ted always has more to say than he has time for on his show. So the other night when announcing hurriedly that race fan Fred Astaire would be his guest, he said . . . 'Be with us next Friday night when we'll have as our guest, Fred Astaire and his famous horse Triplicate!' As you might guess, Triplicate didn't show up!"

"Ted will spare nothing in getting what he thinks are sportsworthy interviews — from a 5 a.m. date with a trainer out at a race track to taking a wire recorder out to Esther Williams' swimming pool."

Works for Causes

Bentley is at heart a crusader. Take the campaign he started to see U.S.C.'s famous track coach, Dean ▲ LEADING ROLE on "Big Sister" is enacted by Grace Mathews, who entered the cast last spring.

▲ "DR. JOHN WAYNE" on CBS' "Big Sister" is portrayed by Paul McGrath, veteran stage and radio thespian.

Cromwell, named head Olympic coach. That campaign snowballed, and has been endorsed by local sports groups as well as civic organizations. Los Angeles' Mayor Fletcher Bowron appeared with Dean Cromwell on the "Sports Page" to give official sanction to the project. Men like Frank Wyckoff and Mel Patton, co-holders of the world's sprint record, and Louis Zamperini, famous miler and war hero, all Cromwell stars, appeared to tell what Dean had done for them.

Bentley frequently tries to engage some of his guests in their particular sport in order to give fans an idea of what it's like for a layman to compete with a champ. He recently played tennis with champion Jack Kramer, but refused to wrestle with "Strangler" Lewis when the latter wanted to apply a headlock. He also shied away from sparring with Joe Louis or tackling Doc Blanchard.

He hopes to interview Bing Crosby on golf and Gene Autry on rodeos in the near future. Also in the promised guest lineup appear such names as Babe Ruth and Frank Leahy, coach of Notre Dame.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW...

about the LAW?

Our courts have seen much unnecessary litigation because people fail to recognize legal problems presented by apparently simple questions. For instance, what legal aspects are involved in subleasing a home or apartment? Drawing up and recording a deed? Entering into a business partnership? Presenting adjustment claims? Threatening to sue or filing a law suit? The layman can be saved needless worry and expense by informing himself of his rights under the laws. It is the purpose of the Los Angeles Bar Association to present the answers to the above questions—as well as many others—to radio listeners on KGFJ. While no specific advice can be given to individual cases, the layman will gain valuable general information from these programs.

To know your rights under the law, listen to the interesting and informative program of the Los Angeles Bar Association:

about MEDICINE?

All of us are aware of the appalling ignorance of earlier generations of what is today considered common medical knowledge. Such simple measures as brushing the teeth and daily bathing were either unknown or regarded as unhealthy superstitions. We can only guess how many of history's great men and women owed their untimely deaths to diseases which began their insidious attack behind the sheltering walls of ignorance. Today, Modern Medicine, through research and study has proven over and over again that such leaders could—in many instances—have been saved for added years of usefulness. Schubert, Mozart, Poe, Foster, Washington, Lincoln, Bolivar and Wagner are but a few who need not have died prematurely in the light of modern medical knowledge.

Hear about these and other world-famous characters, and how their lives might have been spared. Listen to the intensely interesting program of the Los Angeles County Medical Association:
