The Ear Inspires the Pen

Ernest Y. Strong, Box Q, Pacoima, Calif.

Sirs: I am a western song fan, and don't miss many of such programs, but there are some so-called western singers who couldn't carry a tune in a wheelbarrow. If they call that singing, and are getting paid for it, I'm going to buy me a guitar and learn to plunk it, as I can already beat some of them singing.

And that throaty "down-in-a-well" singing commercial on the Thrifty and Mad Man Muntz programs is about the last word in obnoxiousness.

One more comment, why do they let anyone else but Dorothy Shay record that "Feudin' and a-Fightin'" song? Nobody can sing it like she can!

Earl Rutledge, Sales Manager, Radio Station KGER, Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: I noticed in one of your Ear Inspires the Pen letters that one of your listeners has asked for band music. KGER has been broadcasting the Long Beach Municipal Band from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m. every day Tuesday through Sunday for twenty years.

Thanks for the memory-jog, and we're sorry we overlooked your band program in posting our reader-friend on some others!

When you buy sparkling new Super KENU, you get 2 full pounds—not just ounces—of unexcelled cleaner for your dishes, laundry, and household cleaning. KENU makes a silky-soft cleansing solution that emulsifies grease—floats away dirt—in a remarkable way. 27¢ at all grocers.

"Lightens Housework Through Chemistry"

Sandra Jacobs, 1231 Mullen, Los Angeles 6, Calif.

Sirs: Why not write a series of stories about the disc jockeys, with a story about Peter Potter and Gene Norman too. And how about pictures of them both?

Peter Potter

Gene Norman

Radio Life has already covered Peter Potter and Gene Norman with a more than average quota of stories. Last Gene Norman article was March 30, and last Peter Potter piece May 25 (both of this year). Hope you'll be pleased with these pictures of them anyway.

Miss Marion A. Short, 402-E Carolina Avenue, Crewe, Virginia.

Sirs: I do want to know if Arlene Francis is going to have a program this year. Can you tell me?

And I've lost track of Carl Frank (he was in California last year). Can you tell me anything about him... what he is doing or where he is?

Nothing booked for Arlene Francis yet this season. She's been doing considerable picture work lately instead, we hear. Carl Frank is in New York now, acting, announcing and narrating on call.

Mary Daniels, 410 South Ardmore, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Just wanted to say in connection with all those arguments about whether Tom Breneman mentions Galen Drake. Did any of Tom's staunch supporters note that he never began mentioning Galen till a few irate people wrote in to E.I.P.? I heartily agree with those who say Breneman's sense of humor and so-called manners could be mightily improved. By far the best master of ceremonies is Don McNeill. He's always ready with a smile and a cute remark—none of that "good old Irish humor" as one reader put it.

Also wanted to say I enjoy your magazine very much and would appreciate a picture of Arthur Godfrey. His droll voice intrigues me.

Here's the Godfrey photo, and did you read his answers to "Twenty Questions" in the November 2 Radio Life?

Mabel Padgett, 1271 1/2 West 37th Place, Los Angeles 7, Calif.

Sirs: I wish to thank you for the picture you published of Art Baker in your July 13 magazine. His is truly a grand show. I also wish to thank you for printing a picture of Bob Phillips. I always listen to as much of his show as I possibly can, and have been curious about the face behind the musical voice. He subbed for Al Poska on the "Midnight Flyer," you know. Sure wish you could nab Winky, though, as I am beginning to wonder if he really does exist, though I know Poska and Phillips couldn't both talk to the same mythical person if this were true. Mebby next time you'll be more successful, I hope. So do his many fans, I'm sure.

Rose Gracia, Sherman Oaks, Calif.

Sirs: What happened to that beautiful organ music played by Juan Rolando at CBS? Such wonderful music should never be snuffed out. Why not give us a picture of Juan Rolando in Radio Life? A great artist such as he should be known.

Juan Rolando is currently playing nightly at Tom Breneman's Hollywood Restaurant, but his agent advises us that two radio programs for him may be due to come up again in the near future. And we have also heard that CBS may resume his time after the football season. Your request letters directly to the KNX programming department will help immensely, of course. His picture was in October 5 issue.

Mary Nahra, 357 South Fremont, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Several weeks ago, I read in your magazine where Charlotte Zajac asked about "Bernard" in the program, "The Couple Next Door." I am also interested in "Bernard," alias Jack Edwards, Jr. I have looked in your radio logs and alphabetical program finder, but cannot find this program. I would appreciate it very much if you would print it for me and many other listeners also.

I read your very interesting story on Howard Duff and enjoyed it immensely. I think Mr. Duff is a very fine actor and deserves every break possible. But there is something troubling me. Mr. Duff says he thinks all the performers on the shows should receive credit besides just the star. Then why is it that on his own program, "The Adventures of Sam Spade," only Lurene Tuttle, who plays "Effie," and himself receive name mention? Many times when listening to his program I hear a few familiar voices, but do not know who they are. Incidentally, could you tell me what the initials A.F.R.A. stand for?

"Couple Next Door" left CBS temporarily, but is now back (since November 8) on Saturdays, KNX, 9:00 p.m. Radio Life features the Jack Edwards story December 14. Don't you think that Mr. Duff's own "no-name-credited" program stands as a chronic example of exactly what he's crusading against? As a matter of fact, for a long time even Howard and Lurene were not mentioned in cast credits! Initials A.F.R.A. stand for American Federation of Radio Artists.

Miss Margie Hutton, 2285 Termino Avenue, Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: Could you tell me if Ruth Russell, who plays Nancy on "Just Plain Bill", is on any other radio program? If she isn't she should be, as she has the most pleasing voice I've ever heard. Also when are you going to have an article on Woody Jordan of KGER? My friends and I have been waiting for it. Could we have a picture too? He's a clever guy.

Ruth Russell plays other dramatic roles on assignment in eastern radio, and was not so long ago heard regularly as James Meighan's co-star on the New York soap opera, "Second Husband." Woody Jordan is no longer a KGER performer. We've asked for his return in our upcoming "Voices We'd Like to Hear."

Paddy Snyder, 24 Las Encinas Lane, Santa Barbara, Calif.

Sirs: I'd love to see something about Dennis Day in your magazine. So many people hear him, but never see him. Can't you print a picture so they'll know he's good-looking as well as a singer (and a fine one, too), a mimic, and a comedian? I'm sure they'd like to read about him, too. I know I would.

Dennis Day

Radio Life has covered Dennis Day four times to date, with two stories, in fact, during his last year's season... a record for any performer. Here's that requested picture, however. Hope it suits your scrapbook.

Mrs. Bela Barnes, 1095 West 22nd Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Thank you so much for the nice write-up of "Hal's Memory Room" in your September 14 issue. Am sure it will gain many new listeners for the program, who will enjoy it as much as my husband and I do.

Have been waiting for this particular write-up so I could complete my radio album, which by the way, contains many many articles taken from your fine magazine.

STRIKE up the band! Roll the drums! Clang the cymbals! Presenting . . . "The Singing Commercial," by this time one of the biggest productions in radio!

Notwithstanding their dubious profession, the youngsters who melodically regale you with Super Suds, Campbell Soups, Rath's Luncheon Meat, Prell Shampoo, Colgate Tooth Powder, sing hard for a living. On the whole, they're a grand bunch of kids.

So, with the first in a series of layouts, Radio Life hereby rolls up the curtain on the people who "keep 'em buying" . . . with their harmony, their verve, and their well-sniatched scores from the works of Chopin, Tschaiakowsky and Beethoven.

◀ "IT'S A HONEY, honey, honey or a candy bar. Why don't you . . . try . . . one?" Glamour-girl Elaine Howard is the "Bit-O-Honey" singer who beats it out weekly for ABC's "David Harding, Counter-spy." And, to prove that commercials do lead somewhere, Elaine's predecessor, Dorothy Claire, left her job to appear as a featured Broadway star in "Finian's Rainbow." (Bruno photo.)

◀ "THERE'S SOMETHING special about an Old Gold," murmurs gorgeous Evvie Scott into the KNX microphone each Wednesday evening, at commercial intermission of the Frank Morgan-Frances Langford-Don Ameche show. Actress Evvie is also a well-known feminine lead on many dramatic shows, plays hysterical Evelyn on "The Woman in White."

▲ "THAT NEW, NEW, NEEEEEOOOO OXYDOL SPARKLE!" zings spunky Julie Conway nightly over the CBS "Jack Smith Show." Julie, who sang for nine months with Kay Kyser's Kollege, finds more fun (and profit) in commercial melodizing, appears also as the Quaker Girl on "Armstrong's Theatre of Today," and as product-enthusier on "Ma Perkins" and "Evelyn Winters." She's married to announcer Bob Sherry, and has a two-year-old baby girl.

▲ "D-U-Z DOES EY-REE-THING!" vocalizes pretty seventeen-year-old Helen Rogers daily on Columbia's "Guiding Light." Helen is a senior at the Hollywood Professional School, has been singing the "G.L." commercial (with Dean Foster [herewith] at the organ and a soundman at the washboard) for the past eight months. Helen also does the "Duz" harmony on "Truth or Consequences" in company with Del Porter, Bob Wacker and organist Joe Eenis. (KNX photo.)

▼ "TO MARKET, TO MARKET, TO GET SOME PARKAY. Home again, home again, try it today. You'll like it, you'll love it, like millions who say . . . Their favorite margarine . . . is . . . Parkay!" Thus melodically enthuse: announcer John Wald, Pat Hyatt, Dorothy McCarty and Ken Cameron, on NBC's "Great Gildy" show.

▼ "DON'T BE HALF-SAFE—Be Arrid-safe," cautions lovely AFRAite Louise Arthur in sultry tones, each Sunday night via the Jimmy Fidler ABC-MBS broadcasts. Louise has done the Arrid commercials for more than two years now; in addition, plays "Sally" on "The Story of Holly Sloane" and characters ranging from "neurotic" to "comedy" on various programs about the dial.

ELABORATE STUNT called for a young honeymooning couple to plane into the wilderness of Oregon and live for three weeks in a covered wagon, à la pioneer days. Couple cooked over an open fire, returned to program to complete a frustrated treasure hunt—only to find the money right in the studio in the lap of Susan Hayward. (NBC-Earl Zeigler photo.)

ART WITH EDDIE PEABODY at the Dallas Centennial, 1936. One of funniest stories in Art's book describes the spectacular plan for the fair's opening ceremonies: a message, "Texas Welcomes the World," was to be flashed from inside the grounds, circle the world, and arrive outside in thirty seconds to activate a mechanism cutting the ribbon at the entrance. Something went awry and the words never did come through. Art thinks some wireless operator in remote Siberia is still puzzling over the message.

CLAIMING THAT the American people are wary, but will fall eagerly into most obvious traps when the set-up is good, "People Are Funny" rigged up a car with a false gasoline tank (the real one was hidden) supposedly able to run on water into which "atom pills" were dropped. Car was ballyhooed to run 1,000 miles for a quarter, with one "pill" doing the job of 100 gallons of gas. "Pills," actually aspirin tablets, were sold like hot cakes by show contestant. When hoax was revealed and a money refund offer made, gullible customers slunk sheepishly away. (Fred Bonnard photo.)

TRYING TO give away money. "People Are Funny" sent a contestant into Los Angeles' tenderloin district, where proffered ten-dollar bills were suspiciously shunned. Another contestant, working Vine Street, tried to get rid of twenty-five silver dollars, succeeded in palming off only three in a half-hour. (Fred Bonnard photo.)

SENSATIONAL STUNT involved dropping of twelve plastic balls containing code word "Raven" into Pacific Ocean. Balls to be redeemable for $1,000. A year and a half after balls had been set afloat and all hope for their recovery had passed, Klenre, shown here with Linkletter, picked one up in the Marshalls, the ball having traveled 4900 miles. Finder was flown to Hollywood to appear on show and receive money. (NBC-Herb Ball photo.)

▲ HIGHLIGHT OF ONE OF THE "People Are Funny" stunts selected for description in Art's book. Here a contestant is throwing away $200 in dimes. Stunt was part of a phoney legacy routine demanding "heir" dispense certain sums. Chap seemingly wound up $400 in the red, but show came to rescue with real $1,000 bill. (Fred Bonnard photo.)

▲ MANY PERSONS DON'T BELIEVE that radio and movie stars actually appear on "Link's" NBC show. One night Eddie Cantor was scheduled to accompany a lady contestant into the neighborhood to collect used fats. Eddie showed up at NBC and asked where he waited while his stand-in went out on the stunt. Informed he himself was to go, Cantor graciously obliged, but his lady accomplice thought Cantor was Cantor's stand-in until the close of the broadcast.

S LATIN-speached Art Linkletter, who has gone through the radio mill via eecceing of audience programs, recently completed a tome in which some of his funniest microphone experiences were recalled and divulged. We found the book chuckly reading because we remembered many of the episodes to which Art refers—in fact, we pawed through our Radio Life photo files and found we had pictures substantiating "Link's" stories. Maybe you'll enjoy the accompanying "candid's" as much as we did.

▼ ONE LADY CONTESTANT WAS ASSIGNED THE JOB of covering a Hollywood premiere—at a hot dog stand opening about six blocks from Grauman's Chinese. It was plenty exciting, however, for stars Judy Canova, Red Skelton, Bob Burns, and Roy Rogers were among those attending the elaborate affair.

▼ COMPLICATIONS ALMOST AROSE on night Sonny Tufts was guest on "People Are Funny" and young married couple were contestants. The wife and Sonny were sent into a nearby rehearsal room, where she was to "audition" for a romantic part. Hidden mike brought conversation to audience AND husband. This posed picture carries out idea of the stunt.

▼ ONE OF LINKLETTER'S MOST ENJOYABLE air stints is his interview with children on "House Party," where he treats youngsters not as youngsters but as small adults. Children, claims Art, don't know what they don't know, hence tell all and consequently make excellent interview material. (Gene Lester photo.)

Over One-Quarter Million Pieces of Music Have Been Created for CBS by Busy Gluskin, But He's Actually Recorded Only One Song!

By Judy Maguire

THERE ARE one-half million pieces of music in the arrangers' library at Columbia Square, Hollywood. Nearly one-quarter million of them are the original work of CBS' Western Division director, Lud Gluskin.

But from that great creative collection Lud has recorded only one song, his familiar theme, "On the Air," released under the old Brunswick (now Columbia) label.

"Why?" he reiterates. "Because radio's arrangers work like that. You score background spontaneously for a program sequence, and may never have a place for just that melody again. The funny part about background music," he adds, "is that if it's good you're not conscious it's there."

"Musical scene-setting," continues Lud, "demonstrates as much change in style through the years as our American fashions. You can see that for yourself by studying the music tracks for our first sound movies. The backgrounds they used then for the greatest dramatic moments, we use now for comedy effects."

Lud would also venture to opine that the music in Hollywood's radio is superior to that of anywhere else in the country (making due exception of the work of Alex Semler and other such fine East Coast directors). "Hollywood is a meeting ground for those with originality. I especially like the recognition that's given to our musicians out here."

Lud is qualified to make comparisons. He joined Columbia in New York in 1934 as staff conductor, and moved to California early in 1937 to join the new West Coast network. Before, his background had been a delightful collection of continental wanderings.

When the Armistice was signed, Lud traveled about the world, went into business for himself in Japan, worked as a watch salesman upon his return to the United States... until 1919, when Paul Whiteman asked him to pack up his drums and come with the orchestra on a European tour.

In England, Lud left the Whiteman assemblage to form his own band. "Promise not to laugh? We called ourselves 'Lud Gluskin and His Versatile Juniors,' until we changed it later to 'Lud Gluskin and His Continental Orchestra'."

From 1929 then, until his return to the United States, Lud filled an important position as musical director for Paramount Studios' headquarters in Paris. Command performances for King Carol and Queen Marie of Rumania, Alfonso of Spain and King Gustav of Sweden were on the agenda. Lud conducted at all of the

NEWS and COMMENT

For Love o' Mike (General Comment)

Santa in Town

Opening of Santa Claus Lane was a great night and a great sight for radio fans. NBC and its stars and satellites did their stuff . . . they always do.

On a float capped by a miniature of our Capitol, Eddie Cantor was still "running for President" (we missed the chanting chorus, "we want Cantor, we want Cantor"). Dennis Day, surrounded by glamorgirls, rode a replica sleigh; all of "One Man's Family" beamed at the crowds (and what a lovable, truly American "family"!)

Cheered by the jam-packed throngs, which often stood ten-deep, were Alice Faye, Phil Harris and "the girls"; "Smilin' Ed McConnell", augmented by "Froggy" and other cast members; Kay Kyser, in his professorial robes; Jack Carson and Eve Arden (who had set up their "Village Store"); Bill Bendix, the ineffable "Riley", and cast; mink-swathed Jo Stafford, queen of "Chesterfield Supper Club", atop an impressive throne.

Hardest working of all was Jimmy Durante, who, all along the route, banged the piano as only the Schnozz can do and sang in his sharp, gravelly voice; Red Skelton and cast were grouped about "Clem Kadiddleopper's" shack and Red clowned and worked his "bad wittle boy" routine to the infinite delight of onlookers. At one point he behaved so badly he jumped from the float, pursued by "grandma" (Verna Felton) brandishing an oversize hairbrush. Fibber and Molly were roundly cheered and the ineluctable water commissioner of Summerfield, "Great Gildy," waved greetings from a float carrying a maze of water pipes. Judy Canova, in a flower-twined swing, was backed by "Pedro" and "Geranium", Art Linkletter, from behind bars, proved that people really ARE funny ("monkeys" roamed at will on the front of the float). Miss Hush's (got her figured yet?) chair was empty on the Ralph Edwards float, so no one was tipped to new clues as to her still-secret identity. Garry Moore (it had been announced he would ride an elephant as Sabu did) wisely withdrew to a bicycle-wheeled sulky drawn by an elephant. No one could possibly miss Roy Rogers, Gene Autry, Bill "Hop-along" Boyd and "Wild Bill" Elliott. The kids recognized them instantly.

Last float of all carried the immortal patron saint of the season, Santa, himself, flanked by Jack Benny.

It was such a pageant as only Hollywood can stage and it was received as only Californians can respond. Across the space from the crowded curbs to the floats, themselves, one could actually feel the waves of good will, cheer, warm appreciation and friendship.

Rumors Are Flying

The first "Dr. Christian" broadcast (November 5, 1937) is set for a re-airing on the program. Seems that it still sounds swell . . . Something to watch for is the promised show date between Fred Allen and Henry Morgan, due in January . . . Al Jolson, they tell us, owns 85 turtle-neck sweaters . . . What'll Fred Beck make of this? Newscaster Bob Garred may play Lauritz Melchior as a young man in a forthcoming movie . . . Winchell signed for another year with Jergen's lotion in spite of his last week's beef . . . Peggy Lee, absent because of illness, will return to the Durante show on December 3 . . . Doris Day leaving "The Hit Parade" over a controversy about her songs . . . KFAC will go completely long-hair if it dispenses with Ira Cook's "Lucky Lager Dance Time," pre-disc-jockey-craze disc show . . . Art Baker's movie career booming—good notices in "Daisy Kenyon" and more roles in "State of the Union" and "Homecoming," both big productions . . . Dunno why, but Bing will use last year's Christmas record for this year's Christmas broadcast . . . to beat the Petrillo ban, he's already waxed shows through January . . . "Lum and Abner" to go on a tour of mid-western states after the first of the year . . . Sam Moore, former writer of "The Great Gildersleeve," may join the Jack Carson writing staff.

"Metropolitan Opera"

For the umpteenth consecutive year, the Metropolitan Opera Company is broadcasting from New York to its widespread audience of opera-philes. The Saturday broadcasts start at 11:00 a.m. on KECA and last until approximately 2:00 p.m. "Tea and Crumpets," a delightful musical program of the lighter classics and the more serious popular songs takes care of the fill-in time necessary because of the uncertain length of the opera from week to week.

Fans of the Metropolitan broadcasts don't need to be told of the excellent pick-up from stage and orchestra pit to microphones. Considering the range to be covered, the vivacious action of most opera plots and the necessity of bringing the whole production to the air audience as clearly as if the players were scientifically grouped in

Well known lecturer and world traveler, Dorothy Fuldheim, has joined ABC's interesting lineup of women on the air. Heard on KECA at 4:45 each Saturday afternoon, Miss Fuldheim is sponsored by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. She joins a list which includes, among others, movie commentator Louella Parsons, writer-columnist Dorothy Kilgallen, the Betty Crocker Magazine of the Air, edited by Susan Adams, widely known home economist, and KECA's own gal-about-Hollywood, Star Gazer Frances Scully.

Miss Fuldheim has spent at least three months of each year for the past 18 years traveling abroad. She interviewed Hitler before his rise to power in Germany, has traveled extensively in both Russia and Italy, and served as a war correspondent during the Spanish revolution. She covered the San Francisco Conference for station WJW, Cleveland affiliate of ABC, where she has been a news analyst and commentator for the past three years.

Those famous comedians, Abbott and Costello, inaugurate a brand new kid show on ABC early in December. It will be a half-hour of fun and inspiration, highlighting guest appearances of young motion picture stars and sports personalities who are the natural heroes of young people. Each week some boy or girl will be selected as the outstanding youngster of the week for some good deed performed. The Lou Costello Junior Youth Foundation will give this boy or girl a thousand-dollar savings bond, a radio school scholarship, a wrist watch and playground equipment, among other prizes . . . The name of the winning youngster will be announced on the Abbott and Costello show on Wednesday-Bingsday night, then the story of his or her good deed will be told during the Saturday kid show . . . There'll be other features, like a boy announcer and a girl singer and an amusing "bubble or nothing" contest in which the contestants must demonstrate skill with bubble gum! The Abbott and Costello Kid Show will be aired by KECA each Saturday morning.

a broadcasting studio, we've always considered this wholesale pick-up one of the major miracles of broadcasting.

Speaking of miracles of radio, the old master of the program notes, Milton J. Cross, is still on hand to brief listeners on the opera plot, fill in the stage waits and supply audiences with the necessary background.

The wait between acts is made almost as pleasurable and informative as the opera itself (sometimes more so, depending upon your taste in operas) with the "Opera Quiz" and "Opera News." The former is almost a musical "Information, Please," the intelligent gentlemen participating possessing a sense of humor that matches their musical erudition. Olin Downes, dean of the New York music critics, conducts the quiz.

"The Opera News," conducted by Boris Godovsky, presents the immediate information on happenings in the world of musical artists. The usual practice is to present two opera guests weekly, a singer under contract to the Metropolitan and a staff member of the famed opera house. Both reveal facets in the careers of the artists and in the huge production and maintenance problems that are not ordinarily realized by the theater-going public.

Mr. and Mrs. Listening Audience are able, because of the excellent production, to get just as much from the broadcasts as do the well-photographed members of the Diamond Horseshoe. In fact, judging from the news pictures of this opera season's opening night, they get a great deal more.

"First Nighter"

Olan Soulé and Barbara Luddy have moved those choice seats for the mink and ermine clientele west, and now from Hollywood, the long-popular "Little Theater off Times Square" brings a weekly comedy, drama, or even mystery at 5:00 p.m. Saturday over KNX through "First Nighter."

Regardless of where the "Theater" emanates, these two favorite stars and the play that debuts each week make up one of the fastest half-hours on the air (we think!).

"Mr. First Nighter" continues his introduction and color commentary on the lobby noises, the street sounds outside the theater, and those first and second curtain signals that keep up the spirit, via radio, of stepping off 42nd Street itself for a little entertainment.

As with all theatrics, the plots sometimes get a little threadbare, as in the recent "Dangerous Lady." Barbara Luddy played the part of a nightclub entertainer whose brother was held by modern desperados. Her phone call to columnist Ben Winters, played by Olan Soulé, was designed to bring Ben to the hideout. Ensuing suspicion, a natural gravitation of "Dangerous Lady" Luddy and Mr. Soulé toward one another, and a dramatic-romantic denouement occurred in such approved style and order that it's doubtful if listeners much cared that it all grew yawningly tired.

Barbara's husky voice, and the time-tried tenderness the principals manage to inject with the minimum of overtness, are still appealing. Even the sponsor is the same . . . Campana's Italian Balm. The show sounds just like the old days . . . and just as pleasant as coming home to a warm dinner on a chilly night.

Playbacks (Critical Comment)

"Madhouse Musicale"

KECA at 4:00 p.m. on Saturdays has the regrettably brief period of bargain basement concert hall music conducted a la Milton J. Cross. Robert Swan is the commentator who spins the records and talk while the masters spin 'round in their graves.

The time is introduced by silliness of one sort or another, e.g., "The house lights go down while the cost of living goes up," and a pseudo-classical account of overtures by "Dr. Harry James" and "Professor Colonna" accompanies the respective tootings and whoopings of a transcribed parade.

A few spot announcements break the "enchantment" momentarily, a couple more records roll, and Mr. Swan, with what he calls "considerable difficulty," moves the opus aside. For lovers of slapstick, this is a show among shows. Bob Swan, or the continuity writers responsible, could easily turn this fifteen minutes into a really desirable half-hour were they to choose records with the same tongue-in-cheek craft that goes into the commentary. Libraries are stuffed with records new and old, oddities and something just a little off the beaten turntable, that could add immeasurably. But the standard big-band records, for all their lack of inspiration, certainly don't keep this comical little show from being a hilarious surprise.

"Beulah"

The third sentimental, big-hearted "Beulah," in the person of Hattie McDaniel, returned to two networks last week. CBS carries the show to the rest of the country, Mutual-Don Lee serves coast listeners.

Format surrounding this third appearance of the character originated by the late Marlin Hurt doesn't differ greatly. "Beulah" still shuffles her gay, worrying way about in a situation comedy centered around her pursuit of "Bill," played by Ernie Whitman, and her concern over the Henderson family life. "Mr. Harry Henderson" is played by Hugh Studebaker, "Mrs. Henderson" by Mary Jane Croft, and ten-year-old son "Donnie" by Henry Blair. That's casting right up to the hilt, and once Hattie McDaniel adjusts her very capable self to the new identity, "Beulah" should be just as entertaining as were her predecessors. She'll always have the benefit of visual recognition. Hattie, as you remember, was one of the Academy Award Winners for her performance in "Gone With the Wind," back in 1943.

Head writers on the show are Artie Philips and Hal Kanter, with Tom McKnight directing. Considering that the sponsor, "Dreft," has its commercial planted deliberately in the middle of the show, these three can't be blamed for the resultant chopped effect.

The fact that each time Mrs. Marlin Hurt, widow of the first creator of "Beulah," hears the show, it is with the comfort of knowing that the royalties therefrom still continue to come her way, sets up a nice receptiveness for Mr. Hurt's emulators, in both her mind and the minds of the listeners.

On Mike (About Studio Happenings)

We Point With Pride

Yes, we point with pride to child actor Johnny McGovern, who proved last week that age doesn't determine the ability of a real trouper.

Little Johnny was appearing in the leading child's role on CBS's "Doorway to Life," the series which dramatizes the psychological backgrounds of childhood problems. The climax of the plot came when little Johnny, on the road to recovery after a psychiatric disturbance, was supposed to sing the ballad, "O Sole Mio," in Italian. The young actor sang one line—and forgot the words! Without a pause, he ad libbed, "Mother, I've forgotten the words to that song—may I sing another?", and went into a rendition of "Silent Night."

Adult actors gaped at the cool, quick-thinking child, and producer Bill Robson, who has directed the biggest stars in the business, was amazed. The producer claims that he has never heard anyone rescue a situation so smoothly. People at the broadcast who were not following scripts were unaware that the little boy wasn't reading every word from his part.

Incidental Intelligence

The things you can find on the radio if you try! Last Sunday we arose at 6:15 a.m. and summoned up sufficient strength to punch the KNX button on our radio in order to hear E. Power Biggs and Roger Voisin play an organ and trumpet duet.

On the surface this may sound a little mad, but if you are as pre-occupied with history as we, you'll envy us our opportunity of hearing Dunstable's Agincourt Hymn, written in the year 1415 in celebration of Henry the Fifth's victory on the field of battle at Agincourt.

It took great moral courage on our part to brave the cold early ayem and,

Radio in Review

In truth, a mighty pipe organ and trumpet blast isn't the most soothing sound at 6:15 in the morning—but it was living history, folks, straight from King Henry's court to our 1947 living room. An ancient and a modern miracle—music and radio—made it come true for one history lover.

While Rosemary's Away

Marian Carr, film starlet, was signed over the weekend to replace Rosemary DeCamp as "Judy Price" on Columbia's "Dr. Christian" show while Rosemary is on "maternal leave." Rosemary's third child is expected momentarily.

Serious Flirtation

For the first time in many months, "Oogie Pringle," perennial puppy-love of teen-ager "Judy" on NBC's "Date With Judy" show, has a serious rival for his girl friend's affections in the person of "David," who entered the script last week. The new heart interest is played by young AFRAite Ed Doring. "Judy," of course, is Louise Erickson, and "Oogie" is Dick Crenna.

Hopping With Hetherington

If you're a Keith Hetherington record program fan, you'll be interested in following Keith's now daily record schedule—that is, you will if you're inordinately facile with a radio dial.

Keith, who as you probably know, has been heard on KMPC every Saturday for the past two years, can now be heard at 2:30 p.m. Mondays on KRKD, Tuesdays at 12:15 p.m. on KIEV, Wednesdays at 3:00 p.m. on both KFOX and KGER, Thursdays at 1:30 p.m. on KFVD, Fridays at 2:30 p.m. on KXLA and Saturdays at 11:00 a.m. on KMPC.

The disc jockey, who is also staff announcer on Paramount's television station KTLA, carries his schedule around with him so he's sure to show up at the right station on the right day.

Off Mike (Personalities)

More "Hush" Talk

To date, two listeners have failed to hear opportunity knock on Ralph Edwards' "Truth or Consequences" search for a "Miss Hush" contest winner. On one occasion, there was no answer when Edwards telephoned, and on another the line was "busy."

Remember, folks, that Ralph makes only one attempt to reach prize-winning letter writers. Listeners in this Pacific Time Zone have been asked to be at their phones during the entire broadcast of "Truth or Consequences" 5:30 to 6:00 p.m. And to keep their lines free for incoming phone calls.

Page Twelve

Incidentally, a new racket involving the contest has popped up and found a few gullibles. Hawkers in various parts of the country are offering to sell, for one dollar, information leading to the identity of "Miss Hush." With the expenditure, the purchaser receives the incorrect suggestion that Evangeline Booth is the mystery lady. Ralph Edwards warns the public against falling for anything similar, with additional reminder that $1 will pay for ten entries to the contest as well as ten contributions to the March of Dimes.

Last three program guesses have also established that "Miss Hush" is not Mary Pickford, Mary Halloran or Charlotte Greenwood. Nor is she Elsa Maxwell, Tallulah Bankhead, Maude Adams, Sister Kenny, or Spring Byington.

"Get a job around a station—any job, any station—and wait for the right opportunity," has long been the only important advice we've been able to impart to radio hopefuls. It very often works, and to cite another instance, take the case of NBC page Bob Anderson.

For the past seven months, Bob has been one of the uniformed boys you see dashing around the studios with mail or holding the ticket lines at bay during the broadcasts. Last week he left the page staff to play in the dramatized commercials on the Dennis Day show, portray roles in "Hollywood Star Preview" and head a newly-formed radio advertising company, Spots from Hollywood. The agency will specialize in writing and transcribing musical spot announcements for stations throughout the nation.

While a page at NBC, Bob produced two sustaining shows for the network on a fill-in basis, and when the opportunities came his way he was ready, willing and able.

Teamwork

Those well-known dilemma horns looked pretty fierce a couple of years ago when Conrad Binyon, "Hank" of "One Man's Family," wanted to stay on the show and yet join the B football team at Hollywood High. Writer Carlton E. Morse cooperated by excusing Conrad from Friday afternoon radio rehearsals so he could take his place on the squad as right tackle. The team has brought home its second championship this year. Good teamwork all the way around, we'd say.

"THE LETTER OF THE WEEK"

Mrs. John L. Miller, 11554 Kittridge Street, North Hollywood, Calif.

Sirs: Why is it, at the majority of radio broadcasts, the ticket-holders go into the studio to find all the choice seats roped off? I can understand why a few reserved seats are necessary, but the pay-off comes when just before air-time in flock the no-ticket holders, mostly consisting of people just chancing by (who couldn't even tell you the name of the broadcast). They occupy these very choice seats.

I do enjoy the radio broadcasts and consider it a privilege to see them, not to be taken lightly, but I do feel a little more consideration could be used in seating the person who has gone to the trouble of writing in for tickets. Don't you agree?

Barr Sheets, Head Usher at Columbia Square, Hollywood 28, Calif.

Sirs: First of all, thanks to Mrs. Miller for her interest in radio's broadcasts and for raising a question that I am glad to be able to clarify.

Mrs. Miller is inaccurate, I must point out, in assuming that "the majority of radio broadcasts" have roped-off sections of special seats in the theatre. Actually, only four of the sixty-five audience shows aired weekly from Columbia Square have such special sections. Since some 150,000 people attend our audience shows each month, and the total number of seats roped off in that same length of time is less than 2,000, you can readily see that this is a very small percentage indeed.

The reasons for reserving seats vary, but they all hinge upon the actual business administration of the program in question. Sponsors, for instance, may request that seats be reserved for dealers who sell their product, since these dealers have a specific interest in the sponsorship of the show and the distribution of the advertising dollar. Some of the seats are used by members of the press, assigned by their publications to review specific broadcasts. Other times, the seats are reserved for visiting representatives of the sponsor (who cannot be accommodated in the limited space for the sponsor's booth), for attaches of the advertising agency, for network officials and the like.

Naturally, we cannot guarantee that these people will arrive at the broadcast on schedule. Since it is highly important to the audience reaction within the studio to have the front rows of seats completely filled, there are times when non-ticket-holders may be admitted to them at the last moment in order to insure a capacity audience. This is done only in case of emergency.

I hope that this explanation answers your question, Mrs. Miller, and that you understand that it is our constant wish to offer the best hospitality here at Columbia Square to those of you who visit our broadcasts. We maintain a complete staff for your service.

RECORD NOTES TO YOU

KWKW, 12.45 p.m. Daily

ALBUM OF THE WEEK

Very lovely indeed are the six sides comprising "Beyond The Stars," featuring the symphonic arrangements and orchestra of Buddy Baker . . . For those who like "Stardust," "Stairway to the Stars," "Stars Fell on Alabama," and other twinklers with a dash of that sparkling something which is the fine Baker touch, here is a group with repeat qualities—an album that rates nothing less than a sparkling Chord in G. (Exclusive.)

RECORD OF THE WEEK

Jimmy Dorsey & Co. have a pair of top-notchers in the rhythmic "I Still Get Jealous" with individual vocals by Bill Lawrence and Dee Parker and a very slick sax passage by one JD, coupled with the out-of-this-world theme from "Green Dolphin Street." . . . Tunes are good, but it's the band's top-notch blowing that makes it a three-note platter. (MGM.)

ANDY RUSSELL

Two standard Christmas favorites are given the Español treatment by the boy who can do it . . . If such is possible, Andy's warm Spanish lyrics add much to "Silent Night" and "The First Noel," excellently backed by Paul Weston's Orchestra and male choir to give these Yuletide carols an easy three notes. (Capitol.)

BUDDY CLARK-RAY NOBLE ORCH.

Complete with tap-dancing and dialogue lead-in, here's a distinctly different treatment of the popular "I'll Dance at Your Wedding" while the reverse "Those Things Money Can't Buy" again spotlights the fine voice of Buddy Clark and the danceable rhythm of Ray Noble . . . a pleasing two notes, but they're big ones. (Columbia.)

HOAGY CARMICHAEL

Backed by the Rhythmairs and Billy May's Orchestra, Hoagy does a swell job on "A Tune for Humming" . . . whistles, too . . . On the reverse it's his newest ditty, "Put Yourself in My Place, Baby," rhythmically but good—and Carmichael fans will especially like this second helping . . . We are—and we did—three notes' worth. (Decca.)

TOO BAD
 Arthur Vinton, frequently heard as a menace on Columbia's "Mr. and Mrs. North" adventures, operates a turkey farm which sells some 11,000 birds a year. This fact recently prompted the show's writer to do a pre-Thanksgiving story with a turkey farm as background. But Vinton was not in the cast. "We just didn't have a role for him," apologizes producer John Loveton. "Vinton doesn't sound like the turkey farmer type."

PARIS, TAKE NOTE
 Studio audiences at NBC's "Aldrich Family" broadcasts have been puzzled for the past several weeks by the long skirt and bustle in which Katharine Raht ("Mrs. Aldrich") appears at the microphone. No, it's not the New Look. Katharine is playing on Broadway in "The Heiress," a period drama of the 1850's, and she has to rush off immediately after each program to catch the play's opening curtain.

GAGS OF THE WEEK

Mrs. C. D. McClenathen, 1217 South Highland Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

Heard on "Breakfast in Hollywood":

Bobby: Do you know why the hot dog is man's best friend?

Tom: No, why?

Bobby: Because it feeds the hand that bites it.

Among the many shows he conducts regularly for Columbia, Lud spots "Suspense" as his favorite. "So much leeway for experiment," he explains. "And of course producer Bill Spier is a fine musician himself. He used to be a critic for the 'Musical Courier.'" "Sam Spade" and "My Friend Irma" are on Lud's preferred list too, while the show he'd most like to see back on the air is "The World Dances," the popular melting pot of globe rhythms which Lud has conducted for CBS off-and-on for many years.

"So few realize," he muses, "how much of our American popular music is actually of European origin."

Maurie Webster

Ex-Mikeman

By Robbie Cole

Neat, Easy-Talking Maurie Hasn't Let Building an Executive Job Interfere At All With Building a Home Life Too

↑ FORMER MIKEMAN Maurie Webster recently stepped down from his office to take part in the "My Friend Irma" warm-up . . . a few days later stepped in to substitute for a sick announcer. Like old times for him. (KNX photo.)

THE traditional "young executive" picture has taken a hammering at the hands of chipper, thirty-one-year-old Maurie Webster, who has his finger in all the production pies of the big Columbia Broadcasting System's Western Division.

Maurie, as Executive Assistant, Program Department, Western Division of CBS, who is the first to hear about any production imperfection on the net's shows, started just a skip below that proverbial bottom rung.

Back in 1932, when a Tacoma, Washington, high school science group toured that city's radio station KVI, one sixteen-year-old boy decided then and there that radio was for him, and this was the time to start a career.

The day following that momentous tour, Maurie Webster returned to KVI and informed the station manager of his decision, offering magnanimously to "begin with any sort of work . . . including sweeping out nights."

"I didn't get that first job I'd asked for," Maurie says when he tells about the days before CBS. "The manager refused to believe I was anyone's gift to radio. So I persuaded our minister in Tacoma that rather than introduce himself on the air each Sunday, it would be more dignified to have someone announce . . . 'and here is Reverend . . .'"

"I worked around the station as much as I could, plugging myself right and left. I was going to school at the time, a nice little liberal arts college most people never heard of, called the College of Puget Sound, taking dramatics and appearing in all the plays I could."

It wasn't long before Maurie's efforts got him a berth as part of the regular announcing staff of KVI. Then came the fortunate but frightening day when an unexpected promotion plunged Maurie, cold with inexperience, into the job of program manager, adding a good hunk of experience to his radio lore. Maurie was then in his last year of school.

Christmas vacation ended Maurie's Tacoma career and attendance in the local college, for he obtained a leave of absence from the station to drive to Hollywood.

Grabbed Chance

"The time seemed just right to scout around. What is now CBS was then an independent, just about to be taken under the wing of the Columbia System. Everyone here I talked to about a job the following summer advised me to take what I could 'now.' 'Now' meant right that minute, so I had the edge taken off that holiday season by having to explain over the telephone to the Tacoma station manager and the college student body that I would no longer be able to be their employee and president, respectively. They were swell about it," Maurie reminisces fondly.

Maurie resumed his studies at U.C.L.A., working as announcer-producer at CBS. His first show in Hollywood was the old "Marco Juvenile Revue" that graduated the trumpet-playing conductor, Leonard Sues, who was later affiliated with the Eddie Cantor show. Subsequent varied programs gave Maurie an excellent background for the roving interview assignment on CBS's popular "Surprise Party." It still stands out in his mind as one of the most entertaining shows he worked. He likes people, and his glib, facile turn of speech is well suited for audience participation work.

Just before he went into the Navy in 1940 for a four-and-a-half-year period of cable censorship and instructing in the Navy's communications course, Webster, a camera enthusiast himself, was conducting "Columbia's Camera Club."

"I used to have strange stories of the camera world set up in dramatic form, and a couple of camera bug

The Roster at KMPC Reads Like a "Who's Who" in Sports Commentators. Meet Some of the Experts

By Jane Pelgram

WHEN KMPC took the lead in the West Coast field by first inaugurating a regular sports department, the appointment of young Bob Kelley as sports editor was a natural.

Bob's background in sports dates back to his teens. In the year 1935, when a team from Elkhart, Indiana, (Bob's home town) was competing with a neighboring football squad, Bob made his initial air appearance by broadcasting the game. He says he'll never forget it.

"Most of the fellows on each team had almost unpronounceable Polish names. I was nervous enough from doing a 'first' on the air, and stumbling through those names didn't help any. That was the regular old baptism by fire treatment for me."

Since that day Bob has made a name for himself as a columnist, a play-by-play sports broadcaster of everything from football to golf, a coach, and a sports film narrator.

The high school game led Bob to station WTRC, at Elkhart, where he worked for six years. His break into the big time came when R. Morris Pierce, vice president of all the G. A. Richards stations, heard Bob broadcasting a game, and persuaded him to join WGAR, Cleveland, a sister station to KMPC here in Hollywood. Two years later Bob became sports director of WGAR. During all the years of his career, Bob's broadcasts of sports activities have gathered up sponsors right and left.

Into Service

In 1945, a sports career was interrupted with Bob's induction into the Armed Forces, to serve as a quartermaster aboard the USS Portland.

POPULAR RACE RE-CREATOR Joe Hernandez scrambled down from his perch high atop Santa Anita's finish line long enough for a camera man to catch the Hernandez squint.

He received his release in April, 1946.

If you're a football fan, the name Kelley is already synonymous with the fall airing of the Los Angeles Rams' pigskin skirmishes. Bob has called the plays for the Los Angeles Rams' organization for eleven years, since 'way back when they were the Cleveland team. During the course of following the Rams, Bob has traveled 200,000 miles, the equivalent of eight times around the world, and is still going. Although his activities in radio range from digging up spotters for the Rams' opponents through the sports field to broadcasting golf tournaments, football is Bob's meat.

Bob admits: "You can't be as closely allied with a team as I have been with the Rams and not feel a distinct loyalty," but adds tactfully, "Any game with any players is a pleasure."

The rest of the KMPC sports department personnel includes people

FROM THE TOP DOWN: Tom Hanlon, the color announcer, calls the time and tells about goings-on out on the field; Matt Patanelli, (former end of the University of Michigan) is the Rams' "spotter"; Bob Kelley gives the game play-by-play; and John Saunders, Occidental quarterback, is "spotter" for the Rams' opponents.

Bob met long before they all joined forces at the station to waft their knowledge and prognostications listener-ward.

Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame conducts "Leahy of Notre Dame," in conjunction with Harry Wismer. The two broadcast Thursday evening at 9:15 p.m., and Saturday at 8:30 a.m. and 4:15 p.m., with predictions and resumes of current sports events.

Mr. Leahy is nationally known for his activities as coach of the spectacular "Fighting Irish." Mr. Wismer, ABC sports director, also holds the position of assistant to Mr. Richards, president of KMPC, WJR and WGAR, the latter the Detroit and Cleveland stations, respectively.

Bob first met Harry in Detroit, where Mr. Wismer for many years was the sports editor and announcer-commentator-columnist for that station.

The name Hal Berger in the KMPC log means the dialer will hear one of the best baseball re-creations on the air. In fact, in 1941, Hal received the St. Louis Sporting News award as the "best baseball re-creator in radio."

Hal has conducted this program for the past twenty years, and except for his time in the service, has been heard seasonally on the air, re-creating the exciting major league games in the Middle West and West Coast. In between baseball seasons, Hal conducts a musical-sports program on KMPC from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Golf and turf addicts, too, find 710 a choice spot on their dial. Joe Hernandez conceived the idea for his race re-creations some fourteen years ago, and has been broadcasting on local Southern California stations since that time. Joe's broadcasts originate from the Santa Anita, Bay Meadows, Hollywood Park, Del Mar and Pacific Turf tracks during their respective racing seasons.

By the simple device of transcribing the calling of the races as they are run, and playing them back to an early evening audience, all the color, thrills and excitement of the races are right there in the recap. Mr. Hernandez' familiar voice speaks over KMPC with his runnings and RADIO HISTORY is a difficult thing to preserve. Old radio shows, unlike old movies, aren't preserved and played a generation or so later. Publicity pictures, old scripts and your own memory of the programs you used to love are about the only traces left of some of the shows that made radio history. Here are a few more pictures from an old photo file—we hope they bring back happy memories of happy listening!

He Brought Back Vaudeville

Dud Williamson Brought "What's the Name of That Song?" Back Into the Vaudeville Houses He'd Played Before in His Song and Dance Days

▲ DUD WILLIAMSON LENDS an attentive ear and a helping hand to contestant during Mutual-Don Lee's nostalgic "What's the Name of That Song?" program.

Wednesday, 8 p.m.
MBS-KHJ-KGB-KFXM-KVOE

AFTER a solid year of broadcasts from West Coast theaters, Dud Williamson, the popular emcee of Mutual-Don Lee's "What's the Name of That Song?" is convinced that the program is equally at home on the air and in the theater.

Ever since Dud played two SRO weeks at San Francisco's Golden Gate Theater last December, the weekly West Coast broadcast has come from theaters in the Southland. Engagements have included San Bernardino, Long Beach, Santa Ana, Hollywood and Los Angeles, with requests each time for a return engagement.

Dud prefers theaters principally because larger houses make the show run smoother and sound better. The average radio studio's 300 audience members sound pretty small compared with the more than 3000 people who jam theaters to see and hear one of radio's pleasantest half hours.

As an emcee, Dud is characterized by his friendly matter-of-fact manner, never putting his contestants at a disadvantage by sharp-edged wisecracks or barbed words calculated for a laugh at the contestant, not with him. Dud's facility at making a contestant feel at home before a "hot" mike goes back to his six-a-day routine in the now lost days of vaudeville.

Born in the Klondike, Williamson was very soon familiar with what constitutes money, handling his own sluice box and pans at the ripe old age of five. When Dud's family moved from Alaska to Seattle, he moved into show business by the roundabout method of hating apple picking. When he needed some pocket money, he joined neighboring kids picking apples, but forty cents' worth of that and Dud was convinced there were easier ways to earn his money. By dint of some fast talking, he persuaded a theater manager to let him sing, and this started his first show booking.

Finally Clicked

After several stops and starts, including a time in San Francisco when he worked at a gas station to earn his meals, Dud finally caught on and made the complete Coast circuit for Fanchon and Marco in a song-and-dance act.

Back in San Francisco, he started his radio career, as an announcer, had a fling at the advertising agency business and returned to Seattle to manage a station there. It was in Seattle that he came up with the idea for "What's the Name of That Song?", now known around the studio as "Song" as a word economy measure.

Within a year after its network debut, "Song" became one of Mutual's strongest entries in the "Hooper derby," and as the mail-swamped clerks at KHJ can testify, the program has one of the strongest mail pulls in radio.

As reserved by nature as he is when emceeing, Dud now lives in a trailer park near the beach, for "Where else," he says, "can a man walk out of his living room into the surf to do some fishing?" Dud and his wife, Rita, are both ardent fishermen and their rivalry with hook and line leaves no holds barred. His pet hate is still loud clothes, born in the trouping days when his act generally followed a brassy comedian whose raucous voice was matched by his clothes.

▼ DUD BREAKS THE ICE WITH HIS CONTESTANTS, telling them there's nothing to be s-s-s-scared of when they face that mike. It seems to work, for Williamson has never had a contestant who got a bad case of mike fright.

Present ambition for Dud is to tour "Song" throughout the East this winter and to fulfill his vaudeville-born ambition to be held over at New York's Paramount Theater, the mecca of stage shows in these days.

And Dud's second wish is that he never again tries to make a question too easy. The last time he tried that he selected three carols for a Christmas broadcast and the jackpot contestant not only didn't recognize "Adeste Fideles," but said he'd never heard of it.

mutuels, Monday through Saturday, from 6:30 to 7:00 p.m.

From January 2nd to 5th, when the widely-followed Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament, from Riviera Country Club's lush course, takes to the air for listeners, KMPC will be on hand to channel it along its new 50,000 watts, with Bob Kelley handling the mike.

Golf is the game Bob chooses for relaxation's sake, but wryly states that his score bears no mention. It can't be too bad a game Mr. Kelley shoots, for the constant threesome of golfers is Bob Kelley, Tommy Harmon and Bob Waterfield. The latter two crack pro-footballers toss the pigskin for the Los Angeles Rams team... naturally.

interviewees on the show. My announcer kept telling me about a girl who was both a photographer and a model, suggesting she would be good to interview. That way we could have the behind-and-in-front-of-the-camera reaction.

"So a few weeks later he brought this girl, Judy Russell, to the show. Miss Russell was certainly just as interesting as my announcer had said she would be. Four or five weeks after that day she and I were married." Invariably after divulging that bit of news Maurie Webster beams proudly and "just happens to have a picture" of the stunning Judy Russell Webster and the two charming little dark-eyed Websters, Scott, aged six, and Susan, aged four.

Scott and Susan serve as models for the Webster seniors' photographic endeavors.

"Judy's the real expert. I just dabble in it between building more rooms on the house."

True, Judy does have a neat little enterprise built up from taking pictures of children, the unposed, natural-looking shots so hard to duplicate. Maurie's dabbling, as he modestly calls it, consists of writing articles that appear in camera magazines, setting up a complete darkroom and developing set in the Webster home, and working with a high-speed camera on complex action shots.

Busy at Home

When the Websters added the darkroom to their Valley home, it seemed a good time to add the workshop that Maurie had so long wanted. As long as a workshop was going up, why not an extra den-bedroom, and, of course, an adjoining bath? That necessitated a large closet. All the latest family shots Mrs. Webster has taken have caught Maurie on hands and knees, squinting along a level, pouring cement, or fitting tile. Maurie, himself, termed it "swell fun" and joined with a good will into decorating the additions.

The whole Webster family enjoys "anything outdoors," and Maurie's big hope these days is that he can get to work at hacking down his golfing score.

Graduation to an "exec" job came last year. Since then he's stepped back in front of a mike twice. One day he participated on the "My Friend Irma" warm-up, another time he replaced a sick announcer. One of the reasons the young executive is so popular around the big station over at Gower and Sunset is that he knows practically everyone at CBS, from having worked "on mike" with people he today surveys from the room marked "Control" at the side of the stage. Completely unstuffy, Maurie exchanges banter and gulps coffee during those popular "time outs" with the elevator girls, the actors, or just anyone who happens by.

Somehow, the talk never deliberately turns to "how to run a radio show or a program department." Maurie does have three favorite subjects—Judy, Susan and Scott.

Talk radio to Maurie Webster, and he likes it well enough. Talk family to him, and he loves it!
