The Ear Inspires the Pen

Ronny (with a Y) Mansfield, Station KWIK, Burbank Calif.

Sirs: Hello! Just read in the November 23rd issue that my whereabouts are unknown. I gladly surrender!

I had been out of radio for over a year, until a few weeks ago when I became music director of KWIK, the new Burbank station in the San Fernando Valley. I am doing two song shows daily, Monday through Friday, at 2:15 and 5:45 p.m.

Please convey my sincere thanks to E. A. Rich of San Bernardino for his (or her) very nice letter. Best wishes to radio's best magazine.

Henry Miller, 962 Neola Street, Los Angeles 41, Calif.

Sirs: Re an item from E. A. Rich, San Bernardino, in Ear Inspires the Pen of November 23. Ronny Mansfield has two programs daily on KWIK, Burbank (250 watts, 1490 kilocycles) at 2:15 p.m. and 5:45 p.m.

Thanks for the follow-up, Mr. Miller. Your letter and the foregoing one from Ronny himself were appreciated help in answering E.A. Rich's inquiry. Hope you noticed, too, our inclusion of Ronny in the KWIK picture-article, issue of November 30.

Marilyn Hicks, 301 East 10th, Holdenville, Oklahoma.

Sirs: When I was in Hollywood this summer, I bought a copy of your magazine, and I have enjoyed all the issues that I've read. I went to quite a few radio programs in Hollywood, and your magazine was very informative.

Del Sharbutt

Please publish pictures and articles about Martin

Block, Del Sharbutt, and Tobe Reed. They are my favorite radio announcers.

Stories and several miscellaneous feature articles have been done on all three, Messrs. Block, Sharbutt and Reed, but here are those pictures.

"The Smithereens," Jack Smith Fan Club, c/o Delores Feeney, 1827 South Bronson Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: In your issue of Radio Life, October 26, you printed a letter from Mrs. Edward Suchman. She mentioned the fact that the idea of swing music is strictly for teenagers and should not be played over the radio. Now really does that woman have to believe such a thing as that? We don't think that she realizes the fact that the modern music of today is the part of this generation that their songs and poems were when she was our age. From her letter, the "Smithereens" got the idea that Mrs. Suchman does not want time to move on, but to stay as she had it in her teenage days. Of course we teenagers all know that swing and jazz will not be famous all our lives, but really, don't we want a little variety in our lives? It would be a pretty dull world if there wasn't.

Thank you very much for the copy of Radio Life with the story of Jackson in it. How about having a nice story on "Teen and Twenty Time"? The kids in Southern California would be very happy with that.

Mauri Cliffer and his "Teen-Twenty Time" got a full treatment in our April 7, 1946 issue, but we'll cogitate possibility of a more recent article when schedules allow. Hokay!

Mrs. L. S. Overall, 5908 Hazelbrook, Bellflower, Calif.

Sirs: There is one question that puzzles me that I think you can answer. What in the world happened to that wonderful character, "Johnny Modero, Pier 23," that was on the air Wednesdays at 8:30 p.m.? I so thoroughly enjoyed the program that I would give up other engagements just to hear it. Yes, I know there is another program about the same, "Pat Novak for Hire," but it still doesn't come up to "Johnny Modero," in my opinion. Please see what you can do for all of us who enjoyed him so much, about getting him back on the air.

"Johnny," as we've explained to other inquirers, left MBS largely because of failure to latch onto a sponsor. However, you're probably mainly interested in the possessor of that wonderful voice, star Jack Webb. Listen to him on "Murder and Mr. Malone" and "Escape," where he appears frequently, and watch for a bigger role for him in the near future. He was the original "Pat Novak," you know.

Howard Duffies, c/o Nancy and Myrna Hale, 6504 Selma Avenue, Hollywood 28, Calif.

Sirs: Maybe the Ear usually Inspires the Pen, but with us it was the Eye. We're writing to thank you for the swell story on Howard Duff in the October 19 issue of Radio Life. The pictures were swell too. A special bouquet to Jane Pelgram for writing such a super story on our favorite radio and picture star, Mr. Duff.

Mr. Gil Bogner, 5919 East Florence, Bell Gardens, Calif.

Sirs: I think all Radio Life readers should know KXLA's wonderful news broadcast daily at 11:15 a.m. No advertising, no commercials—nothing but news. Also they feature good western music on KXLA's "Bar Nothing Ranch" time at 9:15 a.m. daily—though I wish they would play more Ernest Tubb records.

Mrs. Helen Talbott, 14850 Spinning Avenue, Gardena, Calif.

Sirs: I like the "Fitch Bandwagon" show, and in appreciation I'd like to say I could honestly listen to it much longer than the half-hour. I would especially like to hear Alice and Phil sing a duet. Thanks for your fine group of writers and photographers. I always wait patiently for each new "Radio Life" to show up.

"Lightens Housework Through Chemistry"

Jack Wirth, 1168 Glendale Boulevard, Los Angeles 26, Calif.

Sirs: Two popular national quiz shows have been getting my entries for years, and are no doubt bored to death by this time. The questions and answers I submit are not copied, but thought out and created from much research. Eight years I've been at it, and I've pestered these particular two shows for about six. Why not have a show with prizes for those who have never won a prize?

If we knew to which specific two shows you refer, Mr. Wirth, perhaps we could obtain a more definite reply for you. But we do know that the mail received by all of radio's give-away and quiz programs verges on the fabulous every week, and that it's just a matter of trying again and again. Also, there is no show in radio, to our knowledge, which does not use an unbiased and fair method of selection, so you may be sure your entries are considered as thoroughly as the next fellow's. That's quite an idea, though, a program for folks who have never won a prize. Who knows... maybe some roving agency eye will sense its possibilities!

Lorraine L. Anslow, Past President Nat'l. Contesters Ass'n., 112 South Manhattan Place, Los Angeles 4, Calif.

Sirs: I have been a contest hobbyist for the past eight years, and having had some experience both as a prize winner and as a judge of contests, I feel qualified to advise Mrs. C.O., whose letter was printed as "The Letter of the Week" on October 19th.

Unwittingly, Mrs. C.O. answers her own problem by stating: "One's lucky number ought to come up some time." In contesting, it is pluck, not luck, that puts one's name on the winning list. The "magic formula" this lady appeals for can be answered in two words: hard work. Folks who enter prize contests often fail to realize that the number of entries received makes the odds on their entry winning anywhere from 400 to 1 up to 5000 to 1. In other words, your entry must be of sufficient merit to be best out of any 400 or 5000, contingent upon the contest. Obeying the rules is not enough—your entry must say something.

As a judge, I can agree with much of what the CBS correspondent said. In addition to illegible and highly decorated entries, many disregard rules and many, many more don't say a thing—merely a jumble of words. However, along with hundreds of other hobbyists, I deplore the shortsightedness displayed by skimping on the budgets allowed departments handling contest material. Surely a department so vital to public relations deserves a liberal allotment to insure proper handling. My sympathy goes out to that lone steno pouring over the mail. An industry that can pay a disc jockey (!) $50,000 a year CAN afford to hire an experienced staff to assure prompt, efficient handling of contest entries.

Irene C. Nelson, 1150 South Lake Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: In a recent issue, you state the summer season on the radio was pretty disappointing, giving credit only to Jack Paar as a newcomer. How about Tex and Jinx on Wednesday nights? I found them delightful and their guests well worth meeting. I should like to see them continued.

Thanks for rapping the Arrid commercial. Some commercials on the air, while not revolting, are like some symphonies—have a difficult time ending.

We agree that Tex and Jinx were good this summer, but they were not newcomers to the air, except transcontinentally. They've had a New York show for some time.

Backstage With the City Slickers

Where Paid Propmen Bow Out on Their Jobs and Cue-Books Are "Sissy Stuff"

HERE'S A GLAMOUR VIEW OF THE SLICKERS as they look when the curtain goes up. But you ought to see that stage after a few demolishing renditions of "Cocktails for Two," "Popcorn Sack," or "The Sheik of Araby!"

▶ A MAJOR SOLO PERFORMER on both the CBS and stage revues is happy chappy Doodles Weaver, whose "nonce and stuff sense" was a sure draw at night clubs throughout the country before he joined the Jones Boys.

EXCEPT THAT ALL the maniacs are wearing costumes, backstage at a Spike Jones show is like the inside of any other booby hatch.

Several harrowing minutes of skipping about before the onrush of tubas, bass violins and xylophones, and the first concern of the casual visitor becomes snatching a spot out of the way "fast!" And from the isolated observation point of a wardrobe trunk or a stack of boxes, the performance behind-curtain is dizzier than the one slated for footlight time.

The Slickers derive a big delight out of setting up their own cacophony. Which is fortunate. Experienced stage-hands at most of the theaters and radio studios featuring the show on its current USA du-tour have been dismayed to helplessness by the proper placement of washboards, flit guns, car horns, pop bottles and doorbells.

This involved process of assembly is as blinding as it is deafening. Spike has had special Hoffman woolen suits (ranging from exhilarating plaids to electric fuchsias, greens and oranges), made up for the members of his band. He himself, arriving in a quiet well-cut gray, is soon a changed man emerging from his dressing room in one of the five festive ensembles which he switches during the show.

While a spontaneous operatic scale floats breezily over the crowd, assorted wild-looking souls amuse themselves in various ways: hammering busily away at the bandstand, stepping up behind one another and firing off pistols and seltzer bottles; wandering abstractedly about carrying pigeon cages and moonshine jugs; or just standing in corners making burbling noises. Borrowing the trite but accurate words of another observer: "Don't have to be nuts, but it helps."

But while there's certainly no room for inhibitions in the cast, Spike

▲ FANCY CRATING THIS SET-UP from radio studio to theater stage . . . from theater stage to radio studio? That's right . . . regular prop technicians have so far bowed quietly out of the picture, while Spike's inimitable madmen have moved, installed and shifted their own clanking equipment. (CBS photo.)

Jones and his performers are (penetratedly speaking) a collection of quite sharp and remarkable mentalities. Since September 7, 1942, (when, as the press releases say, "Der Fuehrer's Face" became der band's fortune) the Slickers have hooted, burped, shrieked, gargled, leap-frogged and "Chloe'd" their way from semi-obscurity to mad, mad prosperity.

To Top

And with this fall season, after five busy years of varied night club, radio and recording contracts, they've really made a clean sweep of it . . . signing up for two shows at once, the Coca-Cola "Spotlight" time (CBS Fridays, 7:30 p.m.) and their own stage production, "The Musical Depreciation Revue," now touring the country's theatrical and network circuits simultaneously.

With Spike on the radio show is Dorothy Shay, the "Park Avenue hillbilly," and Columbia Records' "Feudin', Fussin' and Fightin'" gal. Sharing frequent billing on both the stage and air performances are such specialists of the "giddy goin's-on" as Doodles Weaver, Sir Frederick Gas, midget Frank Little and Dr. Horatio Q. Birdbath.

Crowds following this coast-to-coast hilarity have been of the most gratifying and diversified type. "Look!" we heard someone exclaim outside the Philharmonic Theatre, where the "Revue" made its Los Angeles stand, "There goes Edward G. Robinson. He wants to see what the guy who imitates him looks like."

At intermission, probably downing a half-gallon of coffee and "a stack so high" of sandwiches, one finds out, too, what Spike Jones, the energetic organizer, brainster and promoter of it all "looks like." He's been working hard this year, and Spike is generally tired between the acts. But getting both shows off to a start and gradually shifting part of the work to responsible cooperators has been a long and wearing process, only now beginning to lessen its demands on his time.

Apparent also is the reason Spike's recent recording of the Tchaikowsky "Nutcracker Suite" (including parts: "The Little Girl's Dream," "The Land of the Sugar Plum Fairy," "The Fairy Ball," "The Mysterious Room," and "Back to the Fairy Ball") is so much in contrast to his other highly shel-lacked and "nothing sacred" renditions. # “Miss Hush” Contest from Kick-off to Pay-off

*The Factual Story of Radio's
Most Stupendous Prize Package*

By Evelyn Bigsby

Saturday, 8:30 p.m.
NBC-KFI-KFSD

WHEN the “Miss Hush” contest started October 18, 1947, only four persons knew who “Miss Hush” was: Ralph Edwards, the “debbil” of NBC’s “Truth or Consequences”; his production head, Al Paschall; Engineer Harry Krelk of NBC, New York; and Martha Graham. There were, choose to doubt if you wish, people who didn’t want to know her identity, for instance NBC top man Niles Trammell, who personally chose Krelk as the trustworthy engineer cutting in the voice of “Miss Hush” when weekly she recited: “Second for Santa, first for me . . .”

As soon as Krelk was selected (he had just come out of service) he called Paschall in code and was informed that in all future dealings with one another, they would refer to “Miss Hush” as “Mrs. Wilson.” Subsequently Paschall sent a letter to Krelk, telling him “Mrs. Wilson” lived at such-and-such address and would like to see him. Krelk immediately called at Miss Graham’s tiny Greenwich Village apartment and installed a private line which was connected directly to master control of NBC, New York. Thereafter, each Saturday afternoon, the engineer masqueraded as an author who was collaborating on a book with Miss Graham.

Although intricate arrangements were not completed for the “Miss Hush” contest until just a week before it opened, the project actually started last year as the “Mrs. Hush” scramble concluded, for at that time Edwards and his staff decided to carry on this year with “Miss H.” By the end of August, 1947, when “Truth or Consequences” resumed after its summer hiatus, the show’s idea men were submitting likely prospects for the mystery lady. None of these seemed to hit the mark with Edwards, who was still groping as time drew closer for the opening gun. Then, a name he had heard at a party while he was touring for disabled vets simmered to the surface of his thoughts and finally came to a boil: Who else but Martha Graham? . . . she’s a dancer and that’ll be an excellent tie-in for the polio drive . . . she’s a foremost dancer . . . has won many top awards . . . distinguished in her field . . .

Not a Radio Fan

Miss Graham was most gracious in accepting the responsibility. She had never heard “Truth or Consequences” on the air, because her whole life has been the dance. She didn’t want to accept any money for what she was to do, but said, “I am most interested in crippled children because a dancer is so aware of legs, arms, and the body. Yes, I will be your ‘Miss Hush.’” Then one small,

(Please Turn to Page 32)

2. ON OCTOBER 14, DANCER MARTHA GRAHAM indicated her willingness to be "Miss Hush," was briefed on her duties, one of which was affiliation with the American Federation of Radio Artists (AFRA). Here she signs application card for membership. Her small scale check for each week's "performance" was donated to the March of Dimes.

3. "TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES" PRODUCTION chief Al Paschall immediately hopped on the telephone to line up the dazzling array of prizes, which finally ceilinged to $21,500 in value. Foundation for the awards was laid two years ago with the "Mrs. Hush" contest and Al still gives preference to those manufacturers who were willing to go along with the idea then. All "Miss Hush" prizes were donated except the Buick and the $2000, which came out of Ralph Edwards' pocket.

4. EDWARDS PUTS THROUGH THE FIRST CALL asking a listener to identify "Miss Hush." Guesses hazarded included Elsa Maxwell, Spring Byington, Sister Kenny, Tallulah Bankhead, Mary Pickford, Maude Adams, Mary Garden, WAC Colonel Mary Halloran, Marjorie Lawrence, and Charlotte Greenwood.

5. INDISPENSABLE LINK in the contest set-up was NBC's chief operator in Hollywood, Billie Clevenger, who moved heaven and earth to put through Edwards' summonses to participants. The three names to be called each week were delivered to her by the contest judges, the Reuben H. Donnelley Company of Los Angeles. On the final Saturday, as a precaution against tapped wires, names of those to be called were carried in person to Miss Clevenger by Mrs. Ralph Edwards. It was feared someone learning the identity of those to be called might give guessers "Miss Hush" tips in exchange for a share of the loot.

6. AT HER END of the line in New York, Martha Graham recited her verse and as the contest wore on, dropped more and more pointed clues as to her identity. Her one fear was that the public might feel she was trying to cash in publicity-wise for a revue which she has been rehearsing for the past several months. "She was marvelously cooperative!" states Edwards. That's engineer Krelk, of course, standing by. Hmm . . . he does look like an author! (George Karger, N.Y. photo.)

6

7. TWO NBC SECRETARIES, Ginny Simms and Jane Hawkins, weekly stood by to take down conversations between Edwards and guessers. Preliminary conversation between Miss Clevenger and person being called was also of detailed nature to assure that party giving guess (or any member of his family) was not connected with sponsor Procter and Gamble, Compton Advertising Agency, "T. or C." or NBC.

8. MONEY FOR THE MARCH OF DIMES starts pouring in. Here Edwards shuffles dollar bills sent in by listeners, who also contributed crutches and braces. On day contest closed (December 6) 717,000 letters had yielded $350,000. Mrs. Subbie, of Fort Worth, Texas, winner of the contest, submitted thirty-six entries. Four days after contest closed, mail was still being opened, has reached 900,000 with contributions topping last year's half million dollars.

9. GIRLS AT REUBEN H. DONNELLEY COMPANY open contest letters and sort mail while Edwards looks on anxiously. Following their usual procedure, Donnelley Company opened every letter, screened entries four times to select weekly winners. Girls became so skillful in noting entries that they could tell when one person was submitting many from different parts of the country (listeners were entitled to submit as many slogans as they wished, provided each was accompanied by polio donation).

10. EDWARDS HAS A WINNER! On stage at Norman, Oklahoma, he joyfully shouts that it is Mrs. Ruth Annette Subbie, forty-five-year-old housewife of 1712 Frederic Place, Fort Worth, Texas. Afraid lest he be unable to lure listeners away from their telephones to attend the show in Norman, Edwards provided that any person called, if in his audience, could answer from a phone in the auditorium. Contest ended at eighth week of fun.

11. THE WINNING LADY AND HER LOOT. Here, Mrs. Subbie stands on the stage of Studio E in Hollywood's Radio City, one week after she guessed "Miss Hush." Hysterical the night she won, Mrs. Subbie had regained her composure by the time she planed into Hollywood, accompanied by her husband. She plans to keep most of the prizes, although she must pay tax at wholesale value on all but the first $5000. Mother of two grown daughters and a son, she wanted to accept three $500 fur coats instead of the $1500 beaver; took the Buick, as the family had no car; wanted venetian blinds for all twenty-six of her windows; thought the machine shop was the only prize she would sell. "Truth or Consequences," whose rating before the contest opened had been about 17, proudly chalked up 26.7 on night "Miss Hush" was guessed. Finis.

That's No Joke, Son

A dim view of Christmas was taken by a couple of holiday jokers this season past, it's unpleasant to relate. People were in a receptive mood and proved much easier prey than they might have ordinarily.

Favorite stunt seemed to be to choose a name at random from the telephone book, dial and ask "Are you listening to such and such a program?" Of course the parties called weren't, because shows were a hoax as well as the ensuing horseplay. Mrs. Housewife was usually pressed to identify a song, suggest a number . . . or was informed point-blank that she'd won anything from a chest of silver to a new car. But whatever the gimmick, it was done in a breathless, excitable way that was infectious and arousing, and threw the unlucky soul who stood by into a state where he or she was willing to follow any instructions.

Once in a while the phoners sent a cab. This made an even better game of it. Supposed "winners" piled in and rode miles in search of the bogus addresses at which they'd been told they'd find their mythical prizes. They found, instead, that they owed taxi-drivers preposterous sums for even more preposterous goose-chases.

Doesn't it all sound like a human, friendly game? It would probably have become extra pleasant for the originators had they been actually able to see what disappointment they achieved in anticipating hearts.

At risk of crimping any more of this gay, mad telephone nonsense, may we remind you that any legitimate telephone call from a radio station is going to have the name of that station, the program and the sponsor clearly repeated as often as necessary? Give-aways are for advertising purposes, and keeping names a secret isn't exactly promotive.

May we further suggest that before you spend any "earned" cash riding around in a cab, you find who sent it to your door, and whether or not the trip is "paid"? If neither fact is cheerfully available, don't get in. You'll probably be "taken for a ride."

Stop, Look and Listen

One of last week's most important broadcasts had nothing to do with big production, stars or expensive radio time. It dealt with a much more important subject—safety. "Policing L. A.," on KHJ, Saturdays at 9:15 a.m., presented traffic court Judge Wallace W. Sully in a holiday broadcast listing the dangers of holiday traffic. Because the holiday spirits will still be soaring as this reaches you, we're reprising some of the statements made on that broadcast.

The ordinary driver can do a great deal to prevent automobile accidents, according to Judge Sully. Every accident is a result of a law violated. Speeding is the greatest cause of traffic injury and death. Second most common cause is plain lack of courtesy—the Dr. Jekylls who become Mr. Hyde behind the wheel. Courtesy for others should be exercised particularly in the vicinity of schools and children's playgrounds.

Pedestrians as well as drivers must obey the rules of traffic. If you have been having holiday drinks—stay off the streets whether you are pedestrian or driver. Last year the greatest number of holiday accidents took place between the hours of midnight and 1:00 a.m. This year, with the bar closing time extended, the most dangerous hours are those between 2:00 a.m. and 3:00 a.m. Statistics prove that the most dangerous daylight hours are those between 3:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. Evening hours to watch are those between 6:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. The latter are the times when most pedestrian accidents occur.

These statistics aren't limited to

The return of the "Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air" over the American Broadcasting Company's nationwide network again opens the "Met's" doors to ambitious young American artists, and gives all of us the opportunity of hearing another half-hour of fine music each Sunday afternoon. The auditions, which between 1936 and 1945 added 42 young artists to the roster of singers of the world famous opera association, begin a talent search on Jan. 4 (KECA at 1:30 p.m.) under sponsorship of Farnsworth Television and Radio Corporation.

The U. S. Army's famous "Sound Off" program, now heard on KECA-ABC each Sunday, moves to a new and permanent berth . . . 1 o'clock. With Mark Warnow's orchestra, the "Sound Off" chorus and soloists, and famous guests, the programs are an important addition to your Sunday listening lineup. . . . On Jan. 4, ABC Commentator Drew Pearson winds up his three-week stay in Europe with a broadcast from Rome (KECA at 8 p.m.). Pearson, as you know, visited the Continent in connection with the arrival of the food-laden "Friendship Ships" in France and Italy. . . . January 4 also marks an important milestone for another of ABC's important shows. . . . On that day the "Theatre Guild on the Air" celebrates its 100th broadcast (KECA at 6:30 p.m.).

... Always a Best Listening Bet . . . 790 . . .

That man of the zany morning melodies, Zeke Manners (KECA, 7:45, Monday thru Friday) starts the New Year with a brand new five-a-week sponsor . . . the Whitehall Pharmacal Company . . . A sure cure for your morning blues is Zeke . . . and his "boys." . . . Lend an ear and see if you don't agree! . . . Of course, ABC is heavy on the good cheer side in the mornings . . . There's that long-time favorite, the Breakfast Club with Don McNeill at 8, "Welcome Travelers" at 9, and the ladies' man of your morning dial . . . Tom Breneman and "Breakfast in Hollywood" at 9:30 . . . Sterling Drugs, Inc., has just renewed ABC's "Bride and Groom" show for another fifty-two weeks . . . This is the second renewal of the "I Do" program for the same sponsor . . . Airtime, KECA at 2:30 p.m., Monday thru Friday.

... Always a Best Listening Bet . . . 790 . . .

KECA's juvenile adventure programs . . . Terry and the Pirates, Sky King and Jack Armstrong (5:15 to 6:00 p.m. Mondays thru Fridays) will offer young listeners an opportunity to send for a packet of 200 stamps from 25 foreign countries . . . The offer starts on Jan. 5 and runs for three weeks . . . Here's a good chance to start your youngster on a worthwhile hobby . . . Charles Dant, musical director of "Point Sublime" (KECA, Monday nights at 8) is writing lyrics for the "Sublime" theme music . . . The tune should be on the music racks in about a month . . . ABC's in the "let's take a bow department" again! This time the network garnered seven leading places in a radio public service poll conducted by The American Schools and Colleges Association . . . The programs honored with top recognition are "Theatre Guild on the Air," "David Harding—Counter-seasonal traffic dangers—they apply all year round, unfortunately. So, in addition to a safe New Year's Day, we're wishing you a safe 1948!

Harmon's All-Americans

During his regular sportscast on NBC's Jimmy Durante show, Tom Harmon, famed Los Angeles Rams football star who gained football immortality while a member of the Michigan Wolverines, picked his own All-American gridiron eleven. Harmon's selections are:

Your Cue ( Shows You May Like )

"This Woman's Secret"

If you're inclined to follow the daytime dial, "This Woman's Secret," heard Monday through Friday at 4:00 p.m. over KFI, will hit a new high with you.

Each day's narration holds a brand new story, one that will hit a responsive note in some woman, somewhere, as she likens "This Woman's Secret" to some experience of her own.

Narrators range in age and type, and appear as women from varying walks of life in all locales. One day "Mrs. John Taylor" brought to the mike an ingenue with her story about the mistreatment she had accorded her new stepfather, and her resultant shame when she discovered his penny-pinching was done to afford her a college education.

Another typical "secret" concerned two neighbor children, a boy and a girl, who grew up together, each hiding his love for fear the other felt only a platonic affection. They almost let romance slip through their fingers in holding off with their respective declarations.

Stories differ daily, but performance stays on the same level . . . excellent.

"Johnny Murray Talks It Over"

Ever find yourself standing in front of a newsstand with a single coin, debating a choice of popular magazines? Time and the newsstand proprietor may not allow browsing through a copy of each of your favorites to sample the contents, but you can get an idea of the fare in some of your favorite publications if you listen to the radio, mornings at 8:00.

Johnny Murray appears Monday through Friday at this time, over KNX, to "talk it over" in fifteen minutes of chatty, boiled-down stories from the magazines already on, or just about to appear on, the stands.

Now in his ninth year under Smart and Final sponsorship, Johnny Murray has miraculously avoided repeats, other than the standard seasonal Christmas or Easter tales. The "dehydrated stories of the day," as Mr. Murray himself calls them, are chosen with an eye for listener interest and information, and Johnny's easy way and casual, bright chatter compensate for any loss of the magazine author's fine literary hand.

You can keep up on your news every hour on the hour. With Johnny Murray you can now keep up on what to expect in your periodical reading.

Playbacks ( Critical Comment )

"We Point With Pride"

Looking back over the many traditional dramas heard during the holidays (and commending all of them highly) Radio Life would like to salute one program and script in particular, for magnificent Bethlehem spirit.

That is "Grand Central Station," which for the second year gave us "A Miracle for Christmas" (Saturday, December 20).

As "Dr. Mason," the interne who arrives for Christmas Eve service in a harassed poor-district hospital in spite of his reported death only a few hours before, Ralph Clinton delivered the Christ message with powerful and beautiful eloquence. Mason Adams again was "Mac," the hate-filled driver who regards his ambulance as a "miserable hack" and his screeching rides through the city streets as "just another job."

In the cast were Walter Garza, Gilbert Mack and Madeline Pearce. All of them ceased to be dramatists and became the living panorama of suffering and anxious humanity unto which the Saviour stretched his healing hands.

At the final words, "Forgive me, for I did not know who You were," something moving and real had come through the speaker and into the hearts of thousands of listeners . . . many of whom must have felt as we: "Forgive us, for we had forgotten what Christmas was."

La Cossett Gets Lyrical

Henry LaCossett, newscaster on Mutual's 8:30 a.m. daily spot, has never struck us as being particularly whimsical. He is the possessor of a resonant speaking voice and his style has often seemed bombastic, overly serious and, forgive us Henry, stuffy. But, we discovered, we had never really heard the LaCossett voice in its proper setting until last Friday's broadcast. Balladeer Burl Ives visited the news show on that date, as the subject of Henry's weekly interview. Henry requested his favorite Ives song. Burl countered with an offer to sing the tenor part if Henry would carry the melody. Henry did.

Well, we'll never again pin the words "bombastic," "serious" or "stuffy" on the melodic Mr. L. Unveiling a rich, rollicking bass voice that sustained three choruses of an Ives ballad, Henry is much more deserving of the title, "Nightingale of the News Room."

Charles Terry Ross, whose sound effects on ABC's "The Greatest Story Ever Told" have ranged from a leper's bell to a caravan of camels, is just completing what will probably be his most realistic creation—the sound of racing chariots.

Chariots have appeared on radio shows before, but Ross, a stickler for accuracy, has now assembled a contraption which uses actual wheels. Using old Biblical illustrations as a guide, Ross selected two four-foot iron-bound wagon wheels, such as are commonly used on farmers' wagons.

These wheels he then mounted on hubs at the end of a short axle, beneath which a motor-driven turntable revolves, surfaced with rocks, gravel and simulated ruts.

When running, the device creates such a din that it has to be placed thirty feet from the nearest microphone and operated by remote control.

RECORD NOTES TO YOU

By ANDY MANSFIELD

- 1 note—fair
  - 2 notes—pleasing
  - 3 notes—very good
- Chord in G—tops

KWKW, 12.45 p.m. Daily

If you've already reserved a table at your favorite night spot (and with it a mortgage on the old homestead) just skip these "notes to you"—but for one of the best New Year celebrations, take a tip from Mansfield and stay home this year. All you need are the following record albums, four congenial couples, refreshments to suit your taste, AND lenient neighbors, and I'll bet what's left of my Esquire 1947 calendar you'll be a New Year homebody from now on.

One of the best ways to start festivities with games, and Ralph ("Ain't We Devils?") Edwards has just the Mercury album for getting into the swing . . . it's called "LET'S HAVE A PARTY" and includes directions for fourteen stunts . . . if these don't get things started, you'd better retire to the sewing room, brother, and take up your knitting. For the young in body and heart there's square dancing AND DON'T LAUGH! In fact, many a would-be fuddy-duddy has turned out to be the life of the party after several glasses and squares—so include the MGM "SQUARE DANCES" album by Carson Robison's hoe-downers, complete with instructions for shaking a nifty boot, and with calls on the records. Of course, if Uncle Fred is present and has a way of calling dances that improves as the hands approach midnight, get the Capitol "SQUARE DANCES" album by Cliffie Stone—or Signature's "OLD FASHIONED DANCES" with Riley Shepard's gang. Maybe an hour or so of jigging is exerting, but who cares? You can sleep all day tomorrow, chums, so don't give up yet.

Just before little goose-pimpled and be-diapered 1948 arrives, start exercising the vocal cords. Statistics prove that some of the loudest barbershop quartets on record have sprung into being at 11:45 p.m., December 31—so be prepared with either the Mills Brothers Decca album, "BARBERSHOP BALLADS," or the close harmonies of the Maple City Four on Mercury's "GAS LIGHT BALLADS" . . . and the recording artists won't mind a bit if your New Year's Eve tenors and baritones drown them out. Then, of course, there are any number of albums by the top dance bands to round out your evening—and after you've played "Auld Lang Syne" so loud that it attracted a brace of patrol cars, your guests will start homeward, tired but joyful, after promising to see you next year at the same old place . . . and so will Mansfield . . . HAPPY NEW YEAR!

F. M. and Television Tips

KMPC's FM operators aren't letting any dust settle on their megacycles! Concurrent with their operation of December 1, the station signed its first advertiser—Hoffman Radio Corporation of Los Angeles, yet! Hoffman is presenting a diversified musical schedule, as follows: "Music of Romance," 12:00 noon to 12:30 p.m.; "Symphony Matinee," 2:00 to 3:30 p.m.; "Andre Kostelanetz," 6:30 to 7:00 p.m.; "Man With a Band," 8:30 to 9:00 p.m.

A stride or so, construction-wise, has been made in the television field. Construction will begin on NBC's television transmitter for KNBH, Hollywood, within a matter of days (or as soon as no gray days are in sight for any length of time). Excavating will then start on the site atop Mt. Wilson, 6000 feet in altitude. The two-story stucco and stone structure will house complete video transmitting facilities, living accommodations for caretaker and technical personnel, a viewing room, and garage space for five cars. NBC hopes to have KNBH on the air by mid-1948, with a frequency of 66-72 megacycles, operating on Channel 4.

Hot diggety! The "mild-and-mellow" man, Gene Norman, may now be seen each Friday night on KTLA from 7:30 to 8:00 p.m., conducting the "Gene Norman Music Room," featuring guest stars and musical favorites. (We just got the word the show has been bought for dual sponsorship by William Maddux, receiver dealer. Latter shares cost with Gough Industries, Inc., Philco distributor.)

At risk of becoming tiresome about the Rose Parade . . . We just gotta tell you about a jolly development. Opportunity will literally knock twice for Southern Californians on New Year's Day when the television cameras of KTLA and W6XAO, in cooperation with the Union Oil Company, bring to them the parade. If the televiewer, witnessing this greatest of outdoor spectacles, views a b-e-a-u-t-i-f-u-l float on Channel 5, through the cameras of KTLA on Orange Avenue, and wants to take a second look, he can, with a flip of the switch on his set, move to Channel 2, where the image orthicons of W6XAO, from a vantage point on the balcony of the Elks Club, pick up the same float as it rounds the corner onto Colorado Boulevard.

By the way, do you know who's going to be describing the parade over Don Lee's W6XAO? Ben Alexander, of "Heart's Desire"! Incidentally, "Heart's Desire" is just about to go before the video cameras to make up regular fare for televiewers. That'll be fun.

A lively show, too, if it goes, will be the American Tobacco Company-sponsored video series starring Phil Silvers. This particular show is in the form of a trade report right now. Reality will prove about as much as anything the strides that have taken place in television—because the series will go at $9,000 a program!

The Ear Inspires the Pen

E. Spencer, 1627 East 89th Street, Los Angeles 2, Calif.

Sirs: Where is Jack Webb? First we lost him when he quit the "Pat Novak" broadcast. Then we heard him again on "Johnny Modero," and what a grand job he did. But now we only hear him once in awhile. Why is it that a voice like Jack Webb's can't be heard at least once a week in a thirty-minute show of his own? So very many of my friends ask the same question.

H. P. Sorensen, 100900 South Broadway, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Can anybody in your office tell me on what program and at what time I can hear Jack Webb? What's the matter with radio anyway? They get a voice like Webb's that everyone raves about, and then what happens? . . . He isn't heard any more. My wife is huffy about not hearing him any more, and you can be sure I am.

Marjorie Randolph, 149 North Gramercy, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I'm writing you to ask if you can tell me if "Johnny Modero" will be back on the air. Soon, I hope, so I can hear Jack Webb. Everybody I know, just like me, wants him back with a program of his own. Can't you please help? There just isn't another voice like Jack Webb's.

There is a more-than-average chance that Jack will land a good picture part soon. Also, there are rumors on return of "Johnny Modero" and inauguration of another new series featuring Webb as lead. Watch us for more details. Jack, of course, may still be heard frequently on many network shows, particularly "Murder and Mr. Malone" over ABC.

Mrs. Floyd Brubaker, 546½ East Verdugo Avenue, Burbank, Calif.

Sirs: Today, while attempting to find an interesting program for my five-year-old son, who is convalescing from a recent illness, I stumbled onto Charles S. Warren, station KOWL, and was pleased to hear the announcement that Santa Claus would be interviewed.

During the interview, Mr. Warren told Santa how disappointed he had been as a child, when he received a Bible instead of the sled he had asked for. In my opinion, this remark was in extremely bad taste and certainly does not speak well of either Mr. Warren or his sponsor.

Congratulations on your fine magazine. I never miss it.

Mrs. Jane Bolen, 623 North Madison Avenue, Pasadena 4, Calif.

Sirs: Radio Life is a must for me each week, and I have never been a "Missdit." Only one request to make.

You have had stories on many of the disc jockeys, but I have yet to see one or a picture of my choice for Number One — namely, Alex Cooper on KXLA. I am up late a lot, and his choice and history of music, plus his smooth pleasant voice and good ad-libbing are a real comfort in the late hours. Let us have a story of the best disc jockey of them all!

Alex Cooper will be pictured soon in a KXLA layout.

Mrs. Aileen Tyler, 1061 Atlantic Avenue, Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: I like your magazine and never miss a copy, but only once have I ever seen anything about Long Beach's own Betty Allen. Her "Lucky Lady" program is the finest women's show on the air. How about some pictures and a story?

A request for a Betty Allen story is in KFOX's hands now, so keep watching us for the article.

G. H. Sturdivan, 334 Gracewood Avenue, Temple City, Calif.

Sirs: First, let me congratulate you on your splendid magazine. I enjoy every issue thoroughly. But tell me why the public is never given any information when an artist is taken off a program and another given his place? I am referring to the Beulah show. What happened to the chap that was on this summer? He was so very clever. Now the program has no kick.

Even our trusty crystal ball sometimes fails to tell us why talent may do a fade-out. Factors concerned may be: sponsor decision, program conflicts, similarity of other voices in the cast, etc. The "Beulah" change, of course, was entirely up to the sponsor, which picked Hattie McDaniel for the role when the show returned to a new network (MBS) on a five-a-week basis. Bob Corley, who played the second male "Beulah" over ABC (first was beloved Marlin Hurl), is now in Atlanta, Georgia.

J. B. F., 710 Wilshire Boulevard, Santa Monica, Calif.

Sirs: Could you possibly tell me what happened to Virginia Rae, who used to sing with Frank Munn on "Album of Familiar Music" several years ago? I did like the team very much, and now that both have seemingly disappeared, there seems to be an empty spot on Sunday evening.

As we've explained to many inquirers, Frank Munn has retired to his Connecticut estate since leaving radio. But we are unable to find out even this much about Virginia Rae, so we'll pose it to some readers who might know of her present activities. How about it, folks?

Nell E. Burke, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Radio Life is a grand little magazine. It gives your readers a chance to express their appreciation for certain radio personalities via the Ear Inspires the Pen.

I'd especially like to comment on Joan Schafer. I listen to her each morning as she reads over the air letters she receives from her listeners. Her program is unique. As she reads these letters on the air, we, the listeners, get a chance to hear both sides of many momentous questions.

And Art Baker with his Notebook. What a friendly person he is! His talks are always an inspiration. He has the gift for being a personal friend, entering one's home for an interesting and informative chat.

Each morning I listen to "Sunrise Salute" with Burrirt Wheeler and Jack McCoy. This program is a real waker-upper, for who could remain sleepy-eyed when these two start the day with their lively comments and music? At frequent intervals Jack gives us the time. That is greatly appreciated. Burrirt's afternoon talks are good too.

I'd like to see Chuck Collins get a half-hour program. He addresses us each morning Monday through Friday over KFI at 9:45, but he is limited to only fifteen minutes on the air. He has a wonderful radio personality, and sponsors would do well to get in touch with him, for he is a grand person.

Mrs. Al Eggen, 1101 Rodger Young Village, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I stopped listening to "Queen for a Day" for a long time because I did not like Jack Bailey's choice of ladies, and the reasons for which Queens were chosen. Now I listen to and enjoy the program very much, because it suddenly seems so much more sensible. Thank you, Jack Bailey, and I might add that I now am again buying the sponsor's product.

E. A. Rich, San Bernardino, Calif.

Sirs: Why did you discontinue the Metropolitan Opera Precasts which you printed the first two performances? Don't you realize that some of your readers are cultured and enjoy fine music, which you so badly neglect in your magazine? Even your "Men of Music" are leaders of popular stuff. Why do you overlook Alfred Wallenstein, who has been on "Standard Hour" many times?

On the contrary, Radio Life considers ALL of its readers to be interesting and educated people, enthusiastic about many varied types of music and entertainment. Our "Men of Music" are NOT exclusively popular-band leaders, as you will see by checking again over past issues. As for Alfred Wallenstein, Radio Life has given him stories when he has been on the air as a regular entertainer. His status on "Standard Hour" is on a fluctuating basis, of late, and while he has been filling outside concert engagements, the program has been guest-conducted by many other noted masters. The Precast question on Metropolitan Opera is frequently asked. Our answer is this: notices of programs come to us from New York, through the ABC network. If they arrive ten days in advance, in time to meet our press deadline, they are immediately included. Sometimes, in spite of checking, artists have not been contacted or operas definitely arranged. The Precast billing is therefore not available.

Lola Booth, 1146 Alma Street, Glendale, Calif.

Sirs: Why doesn't someone do something about Ethel Shutta? She used to be in radio and was tops in showmanship in everything. She has a great personality and is a fine singer and entertainer. Talent such as hers should not be wasted.

Being a close friend, I saw her recently, and she looks just the same . . . still in her forties and her voice seems better than ever. Should you care to mention her name to anyone, her home address is: 2111 Norfolk Street, Houston, Texas.

Miss Jean McAdams, 1625 Armacost Avenue, West Los Angeles 25, Calif.

Sirs: I have been reading your fine magazine since the beginning of last summer, and I enjoy it very much. However, I would enjoy it much more if you could print a series of articles, like your "Mikemen," about radio actors that aren't well known, such as Jeff Chandler from Hollywood, Vinton Hayworth and others from New York, and Everett Clark from Chicago.

A "Supporting Player" series which Radio Life did some time ago covered many of the actors and actresses you would probably like to see in your requested line-up. In order to give these folks adequate credit, however, our editorial policy since has been to feature a personality sketch of one person per issue, answering requests from our readers as cooperatively as possible. Jeff Chandler, Vinton Hayworth and Everett Clark will be slated (with perhaps some delay on the latter two, as those long-distance stories are more perfunctory and impersonal than we usually care to feature.)

J. S. Ambrose, 1068 East Providencia, Burbank, Calif.

Sirs: A few lines on Harry W. Flannery and Charles Collingwood would be interesting. Past, present and future.

Harry W. Flannery has retired from radio newscasting in order to finish a book. Charles Collingwood was interviewed recently for a story, which appears in Radio Life, issue of January 18, 1948.

V. Dinsmore, 8427 East Cole Street, Downey, Calif.

Sirs: I've been wondering who plays "The Sheriff." And one program in particular is "The Greatest Story Ever Told." Who plays "Christ" in it, and "Peter" and "Andrew"? Wish you would print an article about the program.

Bob Roberts is "The Sheriff." Sorry, but on "The Greatest Story Ever Told" there is a strict rule against identifying members of the cast in either word or pictures.

Madeleine McTaggart, 4417 Corliss Street, Los Angeles 41, Calif.

Sirs: There happen to be two very darn good script writers in Hollywood who write that favorite of all favorites, "Sam Spade," and the popular "Scarlet Queen" adventures. Their names are Bob Tallman and Gil Dowd.

Like Howard "Sam Spade" Duff says, everyone in radio business should get the same rates as the star of the show. So, how about writing a new series about the men and women who pound on typewriters to give their loyal listeners what they want to hear, and calling it "Men and Women Behind the Typewriters"? And start off with Bob Tallman and Gil Dowd. They aren't so hard on the eyes . . . I can assure it.

An idea we like very much, Miss McTaggart, and one which we'll give some constructive thought. These two writers you mention were included in a recent "Scarlet Queen" write-up.

Mrs. Laura M. Rule, 2874 Francis Avenue, Los Angeles 5, Calif.

Sirs: We are radio fans—and have been for years—and enjoy all good radio programs, especially in the winter months when all the supposedly good programs return to the air.

What in the world has taken hold of radio? Jack Benny's first program was super, the second one was terrible. Phil Harris is so disgusting, talking about his wife and children all the time, well we shut him off.

"Fibber McGee and Molly": our "must" program, has gone to the dogs. Imagine grown people with intelligent minds listening to "Dr. Gamble" and "McGee" looking for a cat under the porch, disgusting, and they have always been so good before.

"Point Sublime", another ace-high program, the first night was wonderful. The next, terrible, with "Hattie Hirsh" yelling like a lunatic. Bob Hope's jokes run in the ground, and Georgie Jessel's always talking about his mother (who cares?), Eddie Cantor's always talking about Ida and his family. We all know those things, and we want something besides. The radio public wants to be entertained sensibly.

What do you ever hear Bing Crosby say about his family? Once in a blue moon he jokes about his kids, but it isn't disgustingly carried too far. Al Jolson has a wonderful program, you have to admire that man for his comeback. No wonder people appreciate the "Album of Familiar Music", "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round", etc. Fred Allen is good and so are Charlie and Edgar, but what rotten writers some people must have. Well, we have a night of good records one in awhile anyway, that's about all you can do. There are other good programs such as "Twenty Questions", "Noah Webster Says", and "Information Please". These are enlightening, and get my vote every time, and many others feel the same. In fact, I was asked to write this letter to you by several people. Let's cut this crazy foolish stuff out, and get down to business!

Coming!

"Miss Hush" Contest From Kick-Off To Pay-Off

earnest plea, "Please send me somebody who knows something about radio, because I don't know anything!" The "somebody" was Krelk.

Paschall informed Miss Graham that there was a private line in the "Truth or Consequences" office—a line which no one except Edwards or himself answered—and that she was free to call whenever anything troubled her. About the fourth week of the contest, Miss Graham did call to tell Edwards she had received a letter from a lady who had guessed her identity as "Miss Hush." Paschall frequently telephoned the dancer, especially when certain top comedians used the "Miss Hush" project as basis for gags.

"Did you hear Bob Hope?" Paschall would ask.

"No, I didn't."

"That was a great gag on the Benny show."

"I didn't hear it," Miss Graham would consistently reply, until she weakened one day. "I have a confession to make, I don't have a radio."

While final arrangements were being completed with Martha Graham, meticulous details were being carried out for the reversal switch to New York for her cut-in on the program. In order to maintain a leak-proof lid on the origination point of "Miss Hush's" voice, switchboards at all five master points in NBC's trans-continental hook-up (Hollywood, San Francisco, Chicago, Washington, New York) were specially set up. In each of the five points, four buttons were labeled "Truth or Consequences." Three of the four, however, indicated dummy lines. When orders came to throw the switch, it was impossible to tell which one of the four lines was live.

In order to eliminate any tracing of his connection, Krelk cut his line to New York's master control the second Miss Graham finished speaking.

On her own phone, which she had had long before she ever dreamed of being "Miss Hush," Miss Graham was pestered as the contest reached the breaking point. This she can't understand, as she has an unlisted number. Probably some unscrupulous persons obtained and peddled the number to make a few easy dollars.

"At the end of the fifth week of the contest," Paschall explained, "it looked as if 'Miss Hush' would be guessed soon, so Ralph Edwards decided it was time to take our press agent and a photographer into our confidence, as we had to prepare pictures of Miss Graham. But no one else was included in the top secret. Miss Graham was marvelous in co-operating. She experienced real difficulty in hiding her identity from her two close friends, Agnes de Mille and Katherine Cornell, who even discussed the contest intimately with Miss Graham. Miss de Mille apparently didn't realize that her friend was 'Miss Hush' until Mrs. Subbie made her big guess, but the night before the contest concluded, Miss Cornell got wise and called Miss Graham to exclaim 'So you're the million-dollar baby!'"

Edwards and his aide never spoke Miss Graham's name, even when conferring secretly. In public, they constantly guarded both their tongues and facial expressions as they were bombarded with the persistent query: "Who is 'Miss Hush'?" People tried every means to worm it out of them, but Edwards was equipped with a set of stock replies: "If you think it's Martha Graham, get in the contest." . . . "Miss Hush is . . . Miss Hush!" Edwards' best answer invariably was: "She's Joel Kupperman's granddaughter."

discredit or insult to classical history, the album is being acclaimed by many parents and child-worker groups as one of the best and most delightful available for youthful appreciation of music.

The explanation? It's immediately available in a pencil caricature of Spike (done by an artist friend in San Francisco) propped on his dressing table, and carefully framed as a gift. The signature (meant for a happy seven-year-old): "To Linda Lee, from her very affectionate daddy."

Contests and Offers

"EIGHT O'CLOCK NEWS," KHJ, 8:00 a.m. Monday through Friday—Peter Paul sponsors are conducting a jingle-writing contest, with a $1000 first prize and other prizes including 1000 boxes of Peter Paul Charcoal Gum. Contestants must provide an appropriate and original line to rhyme with "Charcoal Gum is good to chew." Address program care of station and sponsor.

"HOAGY CARMICHAEL TIME," KNX, 10:15 p.m. Saturday—Hoagy now invites his radio audience to drop him postcards listing their most favored pieces of popular music, and will play those highest on the list during his coming broadcasts.

JEANNE GRAY, "THE WOMAN'S VOICE," KMPC, 4:15 p.m., Monday, Wednesday, Friday—Program is currently engaged in a campaign to pick the Outstanding National Woman of 1947. Listeners are asked to suggest candidates. Names will then be read over the air and listeners will send in votes on the woman they've finally chosen from the list. The winner will be awarded a plaque, with her voters' names on a parchment scroll.

"BOB ELSON," KNX, 10:15 p.m. Monday through Friday—To receive a belt with a non-tarnishable derlo buckle, send a box-top from a jar of Krank's Lather or Brushless Shaving Cream, plus fifty cents, your belt size and your initial, to: Krank's, Box 831, Chicago, Illinois.

"THE LETTER OF THE WEEK"

Mrs. Laura Stafford, 121 South Brighton St., Burbank, Calif.

Sirs: Will you tell me something, please? Why do emcees such as Ralph Edwards go into the audience to find their contestants, when the majority (or at least a few) of the folks are picked before the broadcasts.

And I don't like it when a family is "in" on a consequence. The person picked from the audience doesn't know it, I admit, but why pretend to pick contestants before the broadcast when obviously the emcee knows which ones he's to pick before he interviews anyone?

The night we were there, Ralph Edwards talked to several, laughed with them, got them into a good humor; but slid by each when it came to final picking because he knew which ones he wanted.

Ralph Edwards, emcee of "Truth or Consequences," NBC Hollywood.

Sirs: The one all-important point Mrs. Stafford has overlooked is the fact that the contestant who is being "framed" must be chosen from the audience so he will not suspect he is to be the victim of the gag. This involves elaborate pre-show manipulation by confederates who are members of his family, or by friends who invite them to the show.

In this off-hand way he does not suspect that we have laid a trap for him. Were he ordered to appear on the show he naturally would realize or strongly suspect that some trick was afoot.

Spontaneity is the keynote of our type of humor, and we will go to no end of preparation to keep the contestant unaware of his consequence.

Thank you for your inquiry, Mrs. Stafford, and hope this answers it satisfactorily.

The Tonsil Trickery of "Tyrone Touchbottom"

A Candid Close-Up of Candy Candido,
"Mighty Low" Man on the Durante Show

Wednesday, 7:30 p.m.
NBC-KFI-KFSD

"People always ask me how I got this way."

I tell them that MY FATHER
Was born on mother's day."

By Judy Maguire

home, you!" Candy achieved a mighty leap from the bandstand and giddyapped for the back alley, where his father nailed him and hauled him home, berating and swatting him most of the way.

"Pop didn't like show business," Candy explains.

Three Tries

But shortly, Russ Columbo played Memphis. Candy was gone for two years that time, before his father again found him and brought him home. The elder Candidos were determined to have their troublesome young son at least finish high school. A few days after Candy had finally graduated, his family sighed, shrugged and turned to other things. For the third and final time, Candy was on his way, taking his new bride (and school sweetheart) Anita with him. From '33 to '34, Candy was third man in a combo with Gene Austin and Coco the guitarist. They traveled around the country in Austin cars, working 281 one-night stands successively. In 1935, Candy joined Ted Fio Rito, an association which lasted seven years.

His parents had long since resigned themselves. They had spotted him in Fred Astaire's orchestra during the movie "Roberta," and, overcome with pride at the sequence where Candy and Astaire shared a comedy-dance sequence, Mr. Candido had again bounded up in the audience—this time to shout "Hey, that's a my boy, everybody, that's a my boy!"

Today, after solo spots at the Florentine Gardens and numerous night places around the country, Candy and his tonsil-trickery are an important part of every Durante show. "The Schnozz," hosting a party of friends at Charlie Foy's Supper Club in the San Fernando Valley (where Candy still performs during the week), was intrigued by Candy's act and asked him to do a bit of script on the Durante-Moore show the next week. Candy's line, "I'm feelin' mighty low," caused a complete uproar. For almost an hour after broadcasting time people were calling, demanding identity of "the voice." This year marks Candy's second featured season as "Tyrone Touchbottom."

He's also been acting considerably in pictures. For his last one, "Smart Politics," makeup technicians shaved Candy's hair, mustache and eyebrows off completely, to fit him for the part of a screwball teen-ager with an equally erratic voice. Candy, incidentally, was his usual shampoo-advertising self within a week after leaving the studio barber shop.

But with all these appearances and performances to keep him busy, Candy reveals one as-yet-ungratified professional ambition. "Some day," he confesses earnestly, "I'd sure like to be a cowboy actor!"

He qualifies this startling statement by adding that he's "crazy about kids." Candy and Anita, who celebrated their fifteenth anniversary recently, have two boys—Nino, four and a half, who can do his dad's whole act perfectly; and Candy Jr., fourteen, who's going to be a lawyer.

"Then," an interviewer is led to interpose eagerly, "with all that happy home life, you don't really 'feel mighty low,' do you?"

Candy leans forward confidentially. "Me?" he answers, "I got a beautiful wife, two great kids, a fine family life, and a lot of wonderful friends. I'm the happiest guy in the world."

OUR PRINTER can't change his type like Candy Candido can change his voice. But you'll recognize the source of the poetry... "Tyrone Touchbottom," the "feelin' mighty low" man on the Jimmy Durante show.

At a rehearsal recently, the gang tried to figure how far down on the piano keys they could go, keeping tuned with Candy (alias "Tyrone") and his lowering basso. They were using one of those medium-sized pianos and "It wasn't long enough."

Candy, actually spelled with an "i" instead of a "y," is Candy's real name. In Italian it means "fair" or "sweet," having its derivative from the word "candid." While it might be stretching it to call him sweet, Candy is certainly overwhelmingly pleasant. He admits that he discovered his "mighty low" voice by copying a sick man's "burp," and his "mighty high" pitch while eluding the resultant threatening hand of his father.

Candy stayed at home (in New Orleans) until he was fourteen, when he took his bull fiddle and ran away with Billy Dawson. The band went to Tallahassee, where, halfway through the performance, a man in the audience stood up and shouted "Hey... there's a my boy. Come on

No. 33 of a Series

John "Bud" Hiestand

Being Sidetracked From a Radio Career Merely Meant, for "Bud," Aiding One of the Most Gigantic Operations of Wartime Radio

JOHN HIESTAND is probably best known to listeners and studio audiences as the "Dean" of the Kay Kyser show. There, in a bright red robe and blue mortar-board hat, he works at the mike with the "Prof" throughout the "Comedy of Errors," and herds the contestants on stage as they compete for their prizes. John's held down this post for eight years, on and off.

Around radio circles Mr. Hiestand is known as "Bud." The childhood nickname sticks with the now six-foot-one-and-a-half-inch announcer as a result of his having entered radio at an age when "Bud" was a very suitable moniker. Now it's as much part of the big blond man as is his 185 pounds.

Since 1933, John has been heard as both actor and announcer on a string of shows as long as your arm, ranging from the old Joe Penner and Robert Benchley programs, Al Pearce, Olsen and Johnson, and more recently, Burns and Allen, Frank Morgan's show, "Screen Guild," "Cavalcade," "Let George Do It," and many more.

"My radio beginning didn't carry even the dignity of those clear channel stations that were such crucibles of radio men. I began by digging a ditch," Bud quips.

The ditch he laughs about ran from a Burlingame, California, high school room to the football field, and therein Bud and his classmates laid the cable that first piped the Hiestand tones audienceward as he announced the home games. In the ensuing twenty-three years, the cables have graduated magnificently in size and range.

By Robbie Cole

After a time break that took care of graduation from Stanford University, Hiestand's background of advancement continued in the Pasadena Playhouse, early network stints, and lending a voice to films in the role of announcer or commentator, traveling with the Theater League, Inc., and even taking a small band around the world on the famous Dollar Line.

The travel line in the Hiestand hand must be a strong one, for even after firm establishment in the usually confining radio world, John wound up trekking some 40,000 miles with Kay Kyser before John, himself, made his one departure from radio row.

The leave-taking occurred in 1943. Withdrawing from the West Coast announcing line-up in April of that year, John kissed his wife and four-year-old daughter goodbye, and hied himself off to Sydney, Australia, where he joined the rapidly growing OWI staff. For a while, the work consisted of promoting cultural relations between the U. S. and Australia by means of documentary films, educational radio programs, still pictures, press backgrounds . . . anything showing American aims and ways of thought. It was during this time Hiestand originated "Last Week in the U. S. A.," then stayed on the air as its commentator for a year.

Opportunity Opens

At this stage, the New Guinea campaign opened up the way for OWI's actual propaganda function of psychological warfare, directly under the supervision of General MacArthur.

Listening to John Hiestand talk about the days when he was writer-producer-announcer of the Philippine Hour is like reading a background to the stirring book, "A Guerilla in the Philippines." He'll reminisce volubly and fascinatingly about the "hitch-hike" rides in planes loaded with cases of shells, about magically digging up buried press and type to print propaganda leaflets distributed by ships flying low over Corregidor or cruisers stealing into the bay after dark.

When it was all over, Hiestand turned over his desk as Acting Chief of the OWI from the theater to his hard-working roommate, and headed for home, family and the Kyser show.

"Working the Kyser show is like no other, as far as I'm concerned. It becomes a family thing after so many years. We've all had the same laughs, the same trips, and all of us admire the way Kay goes on year after year pulling the crowds in wherever he plays. Kyser's a real showman," sums up the man who has had plenty of opportunity to look over showmen.

Hiestand is married to Jeane Wood, daughter of Sam Wood, and sister of K. T. Stevens. He and Mrs. Hiestand met in a little theater production.

"Jeane gave up actual participation in little theater or radio when we were married, and almost gave up attending shortly thereafter. She

Club Meeting At Uncle Whoa Bill's

By Joan Buchanan

Monday through Friday, 5:30 p.m.
KFAC

MONDAY through Thursday the Good Whoa-Billers are at their radios listening to the birthday greetings, the stories and songs of their favorite, Uncle Whoa Bill. But on Friday, the club members are really in their glory. Tickets to the Whoa Bill program, secured by Mommy from Bullock's Party Shop, entitle the members to go down to KFAC, take part in the program and meet Uncle Whoa Bill—Nick Nelson—in person.

The audience in the big broadcast room is divided into two sections—children in the front and mothers and fathers in the back. Half an hour before the program goes on the air, Nelson talks to the children and rehearses them in the little songs they will sing later, when they're on the air. He sits on a raised platform at a desk before a mike, but he wears another mike strapped to his chest so he can get up and walk down among his fond audience.

The program opens (as all good Whoa Bill fans already know) with "Good evening, Whoa Billers." A shout goes up as the members return the greeting. The pianist plays the famous theme song when the show goes on the air, and at the broadcast we attended, several Whoa Billers got so excited they began to sing it there and then.

"This is Friday night," Nelson reminded his air audience, "when we have the meeting of the Whoa Bill Club down here at the station . . ."

"And nobody will be here tomorrow!" piped up a little blonde four-year-old.

"That's right," said Nelson, interrupting himself, "nobody will, because it's Saturday."

Then comes a very exciting part.

"I wonder where the little pig with the magic eyes and Tommy Monkey are hiding tonight?" muses Nelson. At this, excited suggestions are shouted from the audience and many members raise their hands—"I think they're in the piano!" . . . "No, they're behind the curtains!" . . . "Behind the desk!"

Great Appearance

Uncle Whoa Bill tells the children to look in these places and see if the two animals are hiding there. Another great shout goes up from the audience as the little pig with the magic eyes and Tommy Monkey are discovered in their hiding place and brought to Uncle Whoa Bill's desk. Tommy's big white hands flap wildly and the little pig with the magic eyes looks very grand in a little red jacket with sparkles sewed on it.

In 1916, however, movies were of a different stamp as Edward Arnold did this scene in "Primitive Man," a three-reeler made at the old Essanay Studios in Chicago. Arnold's leading lady here is Nell Craig, who is now seen in the "Dr. Kildare" series as the chief nurse!

NO, COMEDIAN "PARKYAKARKUS" ISN'T CONFUSED—he's just friendly and hospitalized. During his recent stay as a patient at Cedars of Lebanon, he formed a warm association with Senator Glen H. Taylor of Idaho, whose wife was also a patient.

THERE'S NO NEED for worry in radio circles about a new comedy trend," spoke comedian "Parkyakarkus" in answer to Radio Life's query concerning this topical subject, "because there is no new comedy trend!"

"Parkyakarkus" ought to know. An air veteran of seventeen years, he recently began his fourth year as proprietor of the famed mythical radio restaurant bearing his name. Prior to "Meet Me at Parky's," radio fans heard Parkyakarkus as a regular member of the Eddie Cantor and Al Jolson shows.

Radio Life recently visited the comedian at the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, where he was recovering from a spinal operation, and momentarily interrupted the industrious "Parky," who was working on scripts for his weekly show, to ask why he felt there was no new trend in radio comedy.

Harry "Parkyakarkus" Einstein knows a great deal about comedy. As an ex-advertising executive, he used to deal with the problems involving technicians behind the talent. Because he once had an idea for a comedy show but couldn't find the funny man to fill the star spot, Mr. Einstein was literally forced into accepting the role. The ensuing success of the character, "Parkyakarkus," made Mr. Einstein stick to comedy for a living.

Simple Basis

He has definite ideas on what constitutes comedy. The funniest things, he says, are the simple things which happen to us all. Little everyday incidents can be built into extremely humorous situations with no need for complicated tag lines. This is the kind of laughter Parky likes to hand out.

He hastened to add that there are several phases of comedy, including slapstick, situation, gag, satire, etc. But these do not necessarily indicate trends, for each has been popular through the ages.

"If a comedian amuses listeners by 'letting the sponsor have it,' then alarmists immediately cry that radio comedy will follow this startling new trend," continued "Parky." "This is no new trend. Others have done it and will do it again. If a newcomer presents a sophisticated brand of humor, again the alarmists cry that slapstick is dying.

"There's room for all," the comedian declared, "whatever his humor may be. If there were changing trends with each season, how could we explain the consistent popularity retained by top air favorites?"

"Parkyakarkus" observed that a comedian's brand of humor usually develops over a period of time. Through trial and error of public opinion, the gagster finds his best medium. He insures himself against losing audience interest by keeping his comedy alive and alert.

"Comedy," concluded "Parky," "must come from the heart. There should be as much thought behind producing laughter as is given to drama. And if it makes you laugh, you can only hope it will make others laugh too."

Club Meeting at Uncle Whoa Bill's

And what do you know—he really does have magic eyes! Every time Uncle Whoa Bill asks him a question about birthdays, his eyes flash bright red.

"Where's Aloysius, the giraffe?" is the question that goes up from the audience. Aloysius, it seems, is the third member of Uncle Whoa Bill's daily program, and Whoa Billers don't want to miss anything.

"He doesn't want to come. I think he's shy, don't you?" is the reply. Another great shout of "Yes!" comes from the members.

Many of the children attending the show are either having, going to have or just have had birthdays, and they mount the platform one by one to tell Uncle Whoa Bill their names, if they have been Good Whoa Billers (they always have or else they couldn't come) and something about their birthday party. Then they get to ask the little pig with the magic eyes where they should look for a present. In a very serious voice they say, "Little pig, where should I look?" The little pig's magic eyes flash in an excited manner and Uncle Whoa Bill interprets the wonderful message.

Most Whoa Billers are in the four- and five-year-old age group and they make a very interesting audience. They are very serious and pay very good attention to the program. We saw one little boy slowly slip from his chair until he was lying flat on the floor, still watching Nelson at the mike. A little girl sitting in the first row stood up and yelled at her mother in the back, "Mommy, I have to go to the bathroom!", but she was one of the smallest Whoa Billers of all.

After the birthdays are read, the members get to sing their special songs into the microphone. "Pretty Little Butterfly," "Jingle Bells," "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town," and "I Have a Dear Little Dolly" are some of the favorites.

Informal Party

When the program is over, Uncle Whoa Bill comes down into the audience with a big dish of candy for the children. Many of the Whoa Billers and their parents crowd around him to say hello and shake hands and talk about the club.

We joined this group, and after

Haynes often gets Haymes' phone calls, bills, and some of his fan mail, but says he won't change his name because he's older than Haymes, hence has some kind of priority.

everyone else had gone we asked him about his club and himself.

It turns out that Nelson is as fond of the Whoa Bill members as they are of him. He has some interesting observations to make about children after his eight years with the program. "Children love repetition," he laughed. "They would like to hear the same story told night after night. If one of them sings 'Jingle Bells' on the program, all the others who follow want to sing 'Jingle Bells,' regardless of what they've rehearsed. I could have a whole program of nothing but 'Jingle Bells'."

Children of the Whoa Bill age (three to five) are very uninhibited and are likely to say anything. Nelson cited the case of a four-year-old boy who had rehearsed "Mary Had a Little Lamb" and when he got before the mike told the audience that he intended to sing "Dwinkin' Beeh in a Cabaway."

"The children may get excited, but they never get out of control," he continued. "They really behave very well, and of course, being Whoa Billers, they're on their best behavior. I think it's ridiculous that radio shows won't let children under twelve come to the programs. If you tell children to be quiet, they behave. To tell you the truth, on this program the mothers make more noise than the children do."

Nick Nelson has been Uncle Whoa Bill for the past eight years, but the program has been on the air for seventeen years. Whoa Billers are now in their second generation—he receives mail from children whose parents were Whoa Billers. Before his appearance on this program, Nelson had never done any radio work—he was a puppet master. He still does the puppet shows for the children at Bullock's.

He realizes the great responsibility he has toward his young fans and he tries never to disappoint them. Recently, while at a friend's house, he was introduced to a little boy in the family as the famous Uncle Whoa Bill. The little boy disappeared for a few minutes and came back with all the kids in the neighborhood. "They all lined up and stared at me. I felt that something was expected of me, but I didn't know what. I should learn to wiggle my ears, or something."

The incident that pleases Nelson most was one related to him by a KFAC announcer who had been visiting at one of the radio networks. On being introduced to a producer as an announcer from KFAC, the producer exclaimed, "Oh, the Uncle Whoa Bill station. I listen to him all the time."

"You mean your children listen," corrected the announcer.

"No," was the reply, "I don't have any children, but I like to listen to Uncle Whoa Bill."

Mikemen: John "Bud" Hiestand

had come to a show I was doing, the old Jello program. I was reading the commercial, giving it everything I had, and just as I came to the flavor list, beginning with 'strawberry,' I looked down into the audience, right into Jeane's eyes. Then, very clearly and loudly, I started to proclaim the six wonderful flavors, beginning with 'strawb-e-l-l-y!' It was months before Jeane would attend a broadcast . . . if I was on it."

When John isn't spiling or the Hiestands aren't househunting, John divides his energies between being an ardent hobbyist at color photography, and his new offices, home of "John Hiestand and Associates," a radio properties and production organization. That makes "the Dean" officially an announcer, actor, packager of shows, producer and agent.
