I have a pet peeve and wonder if there is anyone who agrees with me? I'm from the East and used to hearing all my favorite programs between 8:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Since living in Los Angeles, I have never heard Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, "Fibber McGee and Molly," and many others due to the hour they are on. I really feel I'm missing the good entertainment. Isn't it possible for any of these shows to have a repeat like Jack Benny at an hour when people can relax and listen instead of at supper-time when the housewife is busy?

We'd like to add Groucho Marx, "Suspense," and "Baby Snooks" to your list of shows that come on too early to be enjoyed. The only thing, perhaps, that would change the hours would be Day-light Saving Time.

Mrs. William Rath, 1312 Westminster Avenue, Alhambra, Calif.

I "view with alarm" the practice of the comedians who, when they don't use up all the material for the show, say, "Well, we're a little late, so good night, folks" . . . and never vary a word. Terribly amateurish and spoils an otherwise good show.

Mrs. William Fahrner, 211 West Ninety-first Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

I have been listening to one of the most interesting and novel programs on the air, "Love's Notebook," on KWKW. So I was greatly pleased to see pictures of Sandie Stevens and Patrick Welles in your magazine. This is a program that is so different and new compared to regular daytime fare that I think it deserves telling about. Could you give us a story? I enjoy your articles on some of my favorites and would certainly appreciate one on this.

A feature on Sandie and Patrick will appear in Radio-Television Life the first of the year.

Bill Rutter, 11802½ Hamlin Street, North Hollywood, Calif.

Television producers would do themselves right by putting on more shows like "Lights, Camera, Action," which gives unknown talent an opportunity. New faces and talent is what is in need now. The movies depend too much on personal contact for talent. Television could get the right start it needs by showing talent based on its merits. We need more like John Lorenz, Bob Graham and Dick Todd.

Charles Baker, 1233 North Sweetzer Street, Hollywood 28, Calif.

The radio networks should have their heads examined. The sponsors are sure throwing their money away and in quantities. Yes, the situation regarding mystery-detective radio shows is worse than bad. It's pitiful. On the West Coast there are approximately twenty-one mystery dramas. They are so bad it's hard to say which one is worse. Maybe five have some claim to merit and are credible.

How corny can these great sleuths get? Is it possible the people who pay the bills feel they are entertainment? Are the shows written for morons or for folks twelve years of age? Mystery shows are sinking lower and lower. The poor construction on threadworn formats, the asinine chatter between the great detective and the dumb policeman . . . another miracle is the great sleuth who always has a nickel and the phone lines are never busy. At the conclusion of the show Sherlock explains how he knew the answer all the time . . . the great brain insults all his listeners' intelligence with a poor explanation of a poorly constructed dull script.

These great super-detectives who run through gunfire, earthquakes, falling buildings and great danger with their "gal Friday" who refuses to leave his side—the nitwit "Friday" constantly questions the brain's judgment—the badgering and bantering between them—the blood dripping down three floors to be discovered by "Friday," who prays it does not belong to her BF, the sleuth.

And now a great woman detective! It's amazing, but it's happened. "Candy Matson," who drags her boy friend around with her while she unravels the murders . . . this great show is a real dilly!

About Your Letters

Mrs. J. M. Mint, 832 Garfield Avenue, South Pasadena, Calif.

Being a semi-shut-in, I perhaps use my radio more than most, therefore, I offer praise and criticism for favorite programs. On October 20 on "Queen for a Day" a German GI bride won the title. Her wish was to further her studies for citizenship papers, and she graciously asked the privilege of thanking the audience. Every time a successful contestant wins and does this, I, too, thank those who made her array of gifts possible. Why don't more reflect on this and do likewise? Expressions of gratitude are so simple and so appreciated.

For some time I have listened to Norma Young and enjoyed her program very much. I wonder if she realizes how much time she gives to commercials when she has a guest? The listener is very conscious of the rushed period given to the guest and it seems at the close she almost shoos them out. Last week it was unusually noticeable as we listened to four commercials and breathless recipes, perhaps one or two in between. Where are the past days when Norma Young gave us such a diversified program of fine interesting recipes?

In reading your analysis of "What's New" in radio you led me to the "Frank and Ernest" program which I think, after hearing them, is worthy of comment. I really think they have something and hope they will continue indefinitely. I've never heard any fifteen minute broadcast tell so much.

For readers' information, the program is a discussion on religion heard Sunday, KECA, 11:15 a.m.

This time it's the eye that inspires the pen. Because in your last few issues we didn't see the column that keeps us up to date on the latest recordings . . . Andy Mansfield's sharp "Record Notes to You."

Our columnists have been trading off precious space in order to include the TV logs all the time, but we try to get Andy's "Notes" in every week.

Why should television doom radio? We still need radio, and how. For example, I can do dishes, iron, bake, dust, mend, read, listen and even write a letter all with radio. I am sure I could not do these things with television unless I had eyes behind my ears and in back of my head. If I watched television all day I wouldn't have a dish left, my clothes would be burned, heaven only knows what I would put into my pies and cakes. There just wouldn't be any dusting or mending done because I am sure I would stick my fingers with the needle . . . we still need radio. Television is fine for certain times and some people, such as shut-ins. But for the average housewife like me I do not see where we would get a chance to look until after dinner.

Can you read or write while "Suspense" or "Dragnet" is on the radio?

Have listeners any rights respected by sponsors? If we bought a novel and found the last chapters missing, what would happen? We were encouraged to listen to "Against the Storm," and though I have said "never again" after the abrupt closing of "Bob and Victoria," I did listen to "Against the Storm" and enjoyed it immensely . . . the voices, the characterization, the drama. I looked forward to it and as I am a shut-in it meant a lot of pleasure to me. I was hoping it would be on television and then, with almost no notice, it was taken off the air. No explanation either, so we can only presume the sponsors failed to renew the contract. Well, it was like having the last chapters torn from the book we had just purchased, and we listeners are apt to wonder what happened to the characters.

Why did "Baby Snooks" go away so long? I missed her and I am glad she is back. Where is the Eddie Cantor show? Me and mommy miss it. We hear lots of shows and I listen to Jack Benny every Sunday. I like to hear good shows. Mother reads Radio-Television Life to me all the time.

"Baby Snooks" is back again. Tuesday, KFI, 5:30 p.m. Eddie Cantor is now emceeing "Take It or Leave It." Sunday, KFI, 7:00 p.m. . . . You've got a smart mother.

In your issue of November 6 a letter was written by F. Alden regarding the expressions of Galen Drake. I fully concur. I have started to call him "Wailing Drake" which is about all he does . . . let his sponsors listen to him and I'm sure they'll agree that if their staff is like him it sure is a soggy mess.

Harold C. Pinkerman, 1498 Peck Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif.

There is a great big void in my life and I wish your publication would fill it. I have a television set and every night I scan the logs to see what's of interest on television. I do not get a whole lot out of the daily press. Then I try Radio-TV Life and that isn't a whole lot better. You carry a list of programs but not enough information. Particularly is this true concerning so-called "feature films." Why can't you get a line on what kind of picture is to be shown, who the stars are and whether it is a fairly recent production or one twenty years old? I am sure there are many like me who feel that TV deserves better program information . . . I find the Precasts very helpful, but think a still better job can be done.

Radio-TV Life does its best to give readers the most complete information possible. In line with this, we recently enlarged the magazine, added four pages, segregated radio and video news, added a TV program finder. Will do our best for you about films.

Can you tell me what happened to "The First Hundred Years"? It is without a doubt the funniest and best-cast family show I've ever heard. The script writer and the delivery by the performers made it a program interesting to everyone. If "Blondie" took its place, what a mistake!

"First Hundred Years" was written by Jean Holloway. There is no rumor as to its returning . . . possibly next season.

In the Daytime It's RADIO

Says Garry Moore, Who Is Finding Old Fans And Making New Friends on His CBS Ayemer

By Joan Buchanan

Monday-Friday, 1:45 p.m.
CBS-RNX, KCBQ

W HEN Garry Moore auditions his present CBS show for sponsors, he'd like them to take up a dust rag and clean the office while listening. He knows that his afternoon show is probably being heard by house-cleaning ladies and he feels that the comedy mood must be a leisurely one.

Much of radio comedy, Garry feels, has lost the intimate note that made it welcome in the first place. "Night-time radio won't be killed by television," he claims, "it'll die a suicide. Gradually a shrill note has crept in—now if a joke dies, it's a tragedy. Everybody's out-punching everybody else and most of the shows have a frantic feeling." In daytime radio, Garry feels that he can try anything. "Don't do anything interesting on your program during the five minutes I listen to the news on another station," a lady recently wrote to Moore. So the whole Moore show obliged by telling jokes without punch lines, humming snatches of tunes and doodling on the piano for the required five minutes. Everyone, including cast, audience and listeners, had a fine time helping the lady who didn't want to miss anything.

Daytimers Are Friends

Nighttime listeners. Moore feels, don't have the friendly feeling for performers that the daytime crowd has—or the memories. "I get at least five letters a day from old 'Club Matinee' fans who want me to repeat routines that I did ten years ago. They remember them much better than I do." His favorite comment on his present program was made by a reviewer who said, "The Garry Moore show reminds me of old-time radio—it sounds like fun." His show creed seems summed up by his wish "to come into a lonely room and make happy sounds." He also believes that, regardless of ratings, a sponsor will sell more product with a daytime audience.

A visit to the broadcast is enough to convince one that the show is as happy as it sounds. Garry looks about ten years younger than he is—and it's not just because of his famous crew cut. His cast, announcer Howard Petrie, singers Ken Carson and Ilene Woods and pianists Irving Miller and Billy Wardell, are as relaxed and informal as their boss. He's known Ken Carson since the days when Ken was one of the Ranch Boys trio on one of Moore's Chicago shows. Garry sort of feels that he's Howard Petrie's discoverer. Howard had been a staff man for thirteen years when Moore asked for a tall announcer to stooge against on his New York series, "Everything Goes." Petrie turned out to be such an able farceur that he was named "most versatile announcer of the year"—after thirteen years. Music man Irving Miller was also heard on that program. Girl Friday Hattie Colbert, who sits next to Garry at the mike during the time the program is on the air, is also a graduate of another Moore show, "Take It or Leave It."

Fun With Daytimers

Garry calls himself "a writer who learned to talk" and he still scripts most of the program. He finds he can ad-lib better on the daytime series because the hour-long program gives him the room to do it. Twice a week, the cast answers questions from the audience. Half of them are gag, half serious. They range from "Can I have a date with Ken Carson?" to "Why is Hollywood so full of phonies?" Garry's answer to the latter was "They send us busloads from New York every day."

Moore has good reason to believe in the power of daytime radio. He once got a steam roller from listeners who sent in bits of pieces of the machinery that go to make one up. It took only a year. As a matter of fact, he got his name the same way. Originally tagged Garrison Morfit, he was tagged Garry Moore by a lady in Pittsburgh who submitted that monicker in his naming contest. He would love to find her and bring her out to Hollywood for a salute on his present show.

The ingratiating charm of soft-spoken Moore is ably demonstrated by his tour de force in the ladies' room at I. Magnin's in San Francisco. He had asked some lady tourists on the program to name the most beautiful sights they had seen. They agreed that Magnin's ladies' powder room was indeed one of them. Garry mooned that he, alas, would never be able to see it. So the store gave him a cocktail party in their famous powder room, and attended by Grover Magnin, Garry shaved in one of the basins—"Before the store opened, of course," he adds. So if you're ever in San Francisco, ladies, visit Magnin's powder room and across the mirror you will find, written in lipstick and lacquered over for posterity, "Garry Moore was here!"

GARRY NEEDS A BOX in order to tower over Petrie. The two originally got together because the slight Moore needed a big announcer-stooge. (CBS-Grant photo.)

Muscle-Voiced Maestro

Is What Fans Call Handsome Vaughn Monroe, Whose Lungs Match the Strength of Hercules

By Gaye Howe

Saturday, 8:00 p.m.
CBS-KNX, KCBQ

IF THE society ladies hadn't gone for Vaughn Monroe's handsome face and physique back in the days when he was trumpet-playing in the late Jack Marschard's orchestra, perhaps today he would still be blowing that horn. However, maestro Jack took in the lingering glances Monroe-wise and made Vaughn lay aside that bugle to cuddle up vocally to the mike.

With that touch of psychology, the boy who won trumpet contests in high school forgot about the brass section and became a singer.

For a guy who never went big-time with name combos, Vaughn has moved, since 1940 with the speed of a jet. He's aired a CBS Show since 1946, has waxed RCA-Victor records, with several like "Ballerina" and "Ghost Riders" splitting the million mark, and last summer he decided to try the movies for size.

Western Hero

As the two-gunned desperado in Republic's "Singing Guns" the "lock-jaw lark" is portraying a role he's yenned for years. The flicker is not cowboyish. It's blood-and-thunder Old West, the best from Max Brand's pen and, as Vaughn describes, "There's not a cow in the whole film."

◀ HANDSOME BAND LEADER'S combo was named "All-Around Favorite Band" in the Eleventh Annual College Poll this season. Check the corded summer suit. Ah! Those suave Easterners!

Instead of studio props, he wears his own black boots (bought in 1933), twirls his own gun (vintage 1882), and would probably have used his own saddle, but it wasn't the right kind for the movie. Only difficulty Monroe had during the take was to get used to pulling the gun out right-handed, since he's a southpaw. Also in the opus Vaughn introduces "Mule Train," written by Johnny Lang, the tune which has caused some rivalry among pop singers these past months.

Several years back Vaughn was in two other pictures, but he wasn't noticed much except by Monroe fans (including two very dear young ladies aged seventy-six and seventy-nine, in California). Perhaps the most enthusiastic of the brawny baritone's following are his wife, Marian, and tiny daughters, Candice and Christina, for whom Vaughn named his two airplanes, Cantina II and III, (combination of the girls' names).

While Vaughn was here, wife Marian accompanied him to "make a home away from home" while the little girls stayed in the newly built Boston menage because school was in session. Unpretentious youngsters, they are prouder of the exclusive records Vaughn made especially for them—lullabies and father-to-daughter chats to be played when he's away—than any of their popular dad's best-sellers.

Rather See Horse

Perhaps the best example of both tow-headed tykes' simplicity is their enthusiasm about the forthcoming "Singing Guns" and the chance to Nightly 8:00 p.m.

HERE is no evidence that the weather in Southern California is changing." So stated Floyd D. Young, familiar to listeners as the Fruit Frost Warning purveyor.

Mr. Young knows his weather. He has been relaying information to the public since 1917, saving an estimated crop loss of $200,000,000. Since 1924 he has used radio to disseminate this information, which the public considers so important that last year, when KFI toyed with the idea of eliminating the nightly 8 o'clock warnings (from November 15 to March 1) the idea was em-

What Kind of Weather Will We Have This Winter? Fruit Frost Warning Expert Floyd D. Young Has a Few Interesting Observations to Make

phatically buried under a landslide of protesting letters.

Last January 9, Radio-TV Life came out with a story about Mr. Young, whom we had interviewed in mid-October. At the time of our talk he had sketched the cold cycles (1913, 1922, 1937) and had said definitely, "We are due for another freeze." The magazine containing this statement hit the stands on Tuesday, January 4. That day Los Angeles racked up the bleak low of 27.9! Yes, Mr. Young knows his weather.

Realizing how interested you readers were in learning more about the functioning of the Fruit Frost Warnings (your letters last season after the article appeared amazed us) we decided to repeat with another mid-October interview. This time we talked to Mr. Young in his office on the seventeenth floor of the Post Office Building in downtown Los Angeles, to which he drives every day from Pomona to head up the operations as Director of Weather Bureau for California, Utah, Arizona and Nevada.

Comparison

Naturally, our first questions reverted to last winter's record-breaking cold. Among the comments Mr. Young made about this was a comparison between the effects in 1937 and 1949. Apparently in 1937, economic conditions among growers were so much more promising that they were willing to tackle a job of heroic proportions to save their crops. "This past winter, however, there had already been a number of cold nights when the big freeze came on . . . prices were not good, heating oil was three times what it was in 1937 . . . labor also had gone up and growers were discouraged," the weather expert stated. "A lot of them just quit when the freeze arrived. Most of them were the small growers. Loss was about forty per cent in oranges and 50 per cent in lemons" (lemons freeze at about 30 degrees, while oranges can take 27 degrees sometimes all night. "However, these losses were not due to any failure of the Fruit Frost Warning . . . they happened among people who didn't or couldn't observe the warnings."

According to Young, growers are jittery over this year, for rumors have been swirling that temperatures will be eight degrees lower this winter than last. Blasting this idea, Young says, "Based on past records, we have not had two consecutive years with a severe freeze." He adds, however, that this doesn't mean that we won't have frost.

Forty-eight hours before temperatures in this district started to nose-dive last January, Young saw the cold coming. He immediately mentioned the impending dip on the radio. That night and the next morning his department called groups like the California Fruit Growers Exchange to give added information. Young's men also contacted the various packing houses personally.

"Actually," Young explained, "we had two freezes . . . there was the first one and another came about ten days later. The coming freeze showed up first in northwest Canada and Alaska. To get a freeze like the one we experienced, you have to have a combination of circumstances that will bring cold air down here and bring it down fast." Pilot balloon stations sending up balloons two miles above the ground showed that the cold wave was fifty degrees below zero when it started and that the wind velocity from the north was 100 miles an hour.

Assisting Young in preparing the weather forecasts are twelve men. Most of them are scattered at posts from Chico, in the upper Sacramento Valley, to El Centro. Each works out a forecast in his own locality and telephones Young in Pomona nightly between 6 and 7 o'clock. Men at the Fruit Frost station in Pomona daily (4 p.m.) make up a map of the entire North American continent from the Mississippi west to Hawaii. Using forecasts from the various sections and this map, Young compiles his 8 o'clock broadcast. There is no such thing, apparently, as a general forecast, for conditions are usually so spotty that there may be as much as fifteen degrees difference within a couple of miles.

Kept Hopping

Last winter's freeze kept Young and his assistants busy around the clock, for people were calling up constantly to present their special problems. "I can't keep all my heaters burning. What would you advise me to do?" . . . "There is two inches of snow and the temperature is so-and-so. Shall we try to melt the snow off the trees?" (The answer to that one was to go ahead just the same as if there was no snow . . . however, if wet snow were standing on the trees for a long time, growers would be told to get rid of it, as it might spot the fruit.)

As a general rule, when we have a wet winter, we do not have a big freeze, although 1937 was both wet AND cold. It is more or less established that freezes come in cycles and that wet seasons also rotate, about every eleven to fifteen years producing a switch. But cycles themselves are not pure; even when going through a dry cycle, there may be one or two wet years and vice versa. Right now we are down at the bottom of a dry cycle. Normal rainfall in Los Angeles is 15.23. Last winter we had 7.99. Our heaviest rainfall on record was the winter of 1883-84, 38.18, and our last wet season was 1940-41, when we got a drenching of 32.76. "Judging from past winters," states Young, "we should definitely have more rainfall this winter than last."

And for those of you who shiver in your boots at thoughts of last season's 27.9 . . . Floyd D. Young complacently points out that this equalled the record cold of 1937 and 1913, but did not pass it.

see "Banner," the horse on which their pop gallops about.

As far as slim and soft-spoken Marian Monroe goes, she stays in the background, still the same girl who's been proud of Vaughn since he was fourteen and she attended Carnegie Tech with him. Through the years she has remained Vaughn's discerning critic, letting others tell him good, while she picks out the bad points.

Rarely is Mrs. Monroe at any of Vaughn's performances, but when she does enter the room, the musicians know it, for the maestro signals to play "You Were Meant for Me." It's the Monroes' song—for sentimental reasons.

Although the sophisticated band leader may be a Very Important Person in the eyes of the music world, those two little girls back in Boston know him for what he is—just a guy who worries his heart out if he doesn't get a letter printed in pencil and signed, "We love you, daddy . . . Candy and Chris."

When will you have an alphabetical program finder for television? Why can't the networks arrange their mystery programs so they don't conflict? Also, why can't "Luigi" become an example for others to learn to speak better English? Maybe if "Luigi" would give a hint that he is trying to learn to speak English better so people could understand him, it would be better.

I am not much to criticize but why did they take Garry Moore off "Take It or Leave It"? I have to say, and many of my friends and neighbors have said the same, Eddie Cantor is terrible.

One of my favorite programs for comedy is "My Friend Irma."

Sponsor wanted a new emcee . . . you can still hear Garry with his own show Monday through Friday, KNX, 1:45 p.m.

Mrs. L. N. Reed, address withheld, Van Nuys, Calif.

Can't you do something about participants on quiz shows, especially "Geer for a Day," who talk so low? They can hardly be heard and it takes all the pleasure out of listening for that reason.

Many contestants are facing the mike for the first time and because they feel scared their voices barely make it. However, most emcees try to make them speak up by getting closer to the mike.

"America's Town Meeting" will remain on ABC as half-hour program. . . . Eddie Cantor tops the NBC Hooper according to last check. . . . Rumors that George Jessel would be emcee of "Hollywood Calling" and the show cut to half hour didn't come true. Emcee Jack McCoy's been signed for a run-of-the-show contract. . . . June Hutton has quit the Pied Pipers; her place is taken by Virginia Maxey. Hope June repeats the success of the original Piper gal, Jo Stafford. . . . Dinah Shore will again be "Alice" on "NBC Theater's" "Wonderland." The date is December 25. . . . Bob Hope is receiving a live swan from the children of Italy for his work on behalf of CARE. . . . And Fanny "Snooks" Brice has a glamorous house guest during the run of "Inside U.S.A."—Bea Lillie. . . . The Benny Goodman band again broken up. Maestro will solo with concert groups and in radio. . . . "Flashgun Casey," in the person of Staats Cotsworth of the CBS show "Crime Photographer," is playing a major role in support of Maurice Evans in the Broadway revival of "She Stoops to Conquer." . . . ABC's "Quick as a Flash" loses its sponsor to NBC's "Richard Diamond." . . . And "It's Fun to Be Young" gains a sponsor. . . . Frances Robinson no longer playing "Brooksie" on "Let George Do It." . . . Jack Bailey in "Comedy of Errors" starts on Mutual on December 26. . . . For the seventieth time, NBC has renewed "Cne Man's Family." . . . "Theater Guild" now out-Hoopering "Stop the Music."

Your Cue (Shows You May Like)

"International Disc Jockey"

KNX's new platter show, "International Disc Jockey," 4:15 p.m. Saturday, is a good record idea and lots of listening fun. Paul Masterson is the "I.D.J." and his stacks of records are those reputed to be the most played tunes in various exotic capitals across the world.

Conveniently enough, most of the foreign spots claim American tunes as favorites, so the discs are not so flavorsome as the title of the show would lead you to expect. The lone holdout is Paris, where, as usual, an Yves Montand record is tops. "Don't Cry, Joe" is the hit of Honolulu and "You're Breaking My Heart" is a big thing in London. U.S. cut-ins had Les Paul from Boston and Frankie Lane doing the inevitable "Mule Train" from Las Vegas.

Biggest fault of the opening program was the overabundance of atmosphere behind the foreign announcements—Hawailians beating on guitars and drums, Chinese twanging on sampans (or whatever it is that they twang on), Big Ben ringing from London.

The show will undoubtedly make a hit with disc fans—our special request is more exotic records and less exotic atmosphere.

"Frank Race"

Here's another private-eye type show, "Frank Race," KFI, 9:30 p.m. Friday, with all the ingredients that seem to make these things so popular. "Frank" is an insurance investigator who is surrounded by the usual helper, the usual girl and the usual villains.

Strange characters, all with odd speaking voices or odd accents, creep in and out of the plot. Tough guys hand out pistol-whippings (a type of beating that has become popular through the graphic drawings on movie ads) to "Race," but he survives all.

We're not being snide about "Frank."

There's a lot of good acting in the series, especially by Tony Dubov as "Race." The plots, to judge from the ones we've heard, are unusual—re-

NEXT WEEK

You'll find an old familiar face under Santa's whiskers on our cover of December 23, festive wrap for our gala Christmas edition. Charlie Ruggles smilingly plays St. Nick for Radio-Television Life readers.

There is undoubtedly truth in our Yuletide message of this year, which will come from Ralph Edwards, and as for any consequences coming from it, you'll have to decide for yourself.

You'll be much interested in the two-page photo treat on Yule decorations for the home which we worked out with the ingenious Mirandy, for it demonstrates how you can make your house festive with trimmings found in your very own back yard.

Then again, of course, we have our long-time popular Christmas feature in which your radio-TV favorites relate the intimate, telling accounts of their most memorable Christmases.

Christmas music has received many a verbal going-over, but probably never with a more thorough nor expert point of view than comes from our favorite radio maestro-composer-turned-author, Mr. Meredith Willson. You'll enjoy reading what he has to say.

"Eat and Be Merry" is the happy thought expressed in still another Yuletide feature, a Christmas menu story that will tantalize your tongues and tumblers.

Or—if your thoughts of the holiday season run instead to the incessant theme of "What to wear?" we've still another story offering just for you, in which radio's lovely gals preview their Christmas Eve gowns for your inspection.

And—lots and lots of "Merry Christmas"-type pictures that dress up our special Yuletide edition in the spirit to which it is gaily dedicated.

By VIRGINIA WEST

A man with an unusual background for a commentator is Henry J. Taylor whose analysis of the news is now aired at a new time on Monday nights . . . 8:30 to 8:45 p.m. Taylor, whose views on both domestic and foreign news you hear on ABC-KECA, was a successful businessman and economist before radio claimed his talents. . . . He built up a corn products company, and later, founded and owned a paper and pulp company. At the same time, his post-graduate studies and writings in economics had established him as an author and lecturer of note. When war came, Taylor became an ace war correspondent, and since V.J. Day has made many trips of observation to Europe and the Far East.

New on KECA and five ABC stations in California this month is a half-hour broadcast on Saturday afternoons at 4, "Flying Feet," in which Dr. John Martin Hiss, M.D., and other medics on his staff conduct interviews with patients. . . . There's a new time, as you may have discovered, for Buddy Rogers and his "Pick-A-Date" show on KECA . . . 3 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Don McNeill

We've heard of some mighty loyal fans . . . but Don McNeill and his Breakfast Club gang have some examples of loyalty which defy comparison. For instance the visitor who really gave McNeill a thrill was the little old lady who walked up 19 floors to attend the show. The fan, a visitor from out of town, explained that riding in elevators made her ill . . . so she walked up! Here's the genial emcee of ABC's longtime favorite waker-upper . . . the Breakfast Club, which airs on KECA from 8 to 9 every Monday thru Friday.

AROUND RADIO: Louella O. Parsons, Sunday night commentator on things Hollywood over ABC, doesn't have to worry about getting "down to the office." . . . Her office, complete with space for her newspaper, magazine, and radio staffs, is the second floor of her Beverly Hills home. . . . In his senior year at Pomona College, Dr. Chas. E. Fuller, speaker on ABC's "Old Fashioned Revival Hour," was captain of the school's football team. They won the Southern California championship that year, 1910. . . . John Wald, the voice of ABC's "Richfield Reporter," played in stock companies after graduating from Minnesota U., where he majored in drama. . . . He left the stage to try his luck in radio.

cently "Race" was involved with a live-canned-worm tycoon whose business was being sabotaged by canned-worm killers! Now, if that isn't original—what is?

There are people who don't like radio detectives, and those folks won't cotton to "Race." He'll find plenty of fans in the stalwart group of listeners who can't leave 'em alone.

Larry Thor's Record Show

Sunday nights, a little past midnight, a CBS announcer-actor, Larry Thor, spins records in the KNX time occupied by Steve Allen on the other six nights. Usually he plays show tunes from "South Pacific," "Kiss Me Kate" and the like, but two recent programs of ancient hit records have pointed the way we'd like to hear the show go.

Thor is visited by two friends, "Dr. Vincent Arbogast" and "Titus McFatriddle," who drag along a large collection of very old recordings. Creaky with age though the platters may be, the surface noise is hardly noticeable and the spirit displayed by the early orchestras and singers hasn't been touched in the last two decades. Somewhere along the line the moderns just got tired out.

The most recent program of oldies included such gems as the late Frank Crumit's recordings of "Swonderful" and "Abdul Abul-bul Amir," the Peerless Quartet singing "Swanee," Alma Gluck's recording of "Nightingale," "Just a Baby's Prayer at Twilight" by Henry Burr and Bing Crosby's early vocal of "Old Man River" with the Whiteman band. And if there's anything that can keep us listening till one ayem, it's the Peerless Quartet. Well, some people smoke marijuana.

In between recordings, the two "collectors," prodded by announcer Thor, explain in awed, hesitant tones (reminiscent of Ransome Sherman), the background of the artists and records. Their dialogue is whimsical and just right for the program. And they don't make apologies for the records, thank goodness.

Early birds may think we're mad, but night owls could do us a favor by rallying around their dials every other Sunday at midnight. Maybe mass recognition could bring the trio and their orthophonic gems on a little earlier.

Playbacks (Critical Comment)

We Point With Pride

. . . To a most unusual interview—that with Mrs. Luther Burbank, widow of the great horticulturist and humanitarian, on ABC's "American Farmer" program on Saturday. The occasion was the one hundredth anniversary of Burbank's birth, and Mrs. Burbank spoke on the establishment of the Luther Burbank Youth Foundation.

. . . To the performance of Elliott Reid as "Fritz," the garrulous private eye from Chicago, on "Sam Spade." The title of the chapter was "The Flopsy, Mopsy and Cottontail Caper," and Reid ran the gamut of personalities and dialects in his role of "Spade's" self-appointed partner.

We were interested in finding out more about Reid and wondered why we hadn't heard him before. Turned out that he's an eastern actor now planning to work in Hollywood. He's just finished a run in the Broadway hit "Two Blind Mice," with Melvyn Douglas, and has been heard on "Theater Guild on the Air" from New York as well as other shows. He's been in radio since the age of fourteen, came to Hollywood to appear on the screen in "Sierra." And he'll be heard on the "Spade" show in several future broadcasts.

. . . To an interesting program that has escaped us till now, "Science Editor" on KFI, 9:30 p.m. Sunday. Hale Sparks is "S.E.," the same fellow who is "University Explorer" for another station. He gives a further explanation of whatever scientific developments and discoveries have made the newspapers in the preceding week, atomic research, "miracle" drugs and even new gadgets.

. . . To the increasingly excellent comedy delivery of the excellent cast of NBC's "Father Knows Best"—and of course, to scription Ed James and director Ken Burton.

Sour Grapes for "Sugar-Throat"

George Burns's "boo-boo-boo-ing," likened (by Gracie) to Bing's, was scheduled to receive its proper (according to the sponsor) treatment on the CBS Burns and Allen program of December 7, when Bing's own favorites, the Andrews Sisters, were to appear as "background" voices to "Sugar-Throat's" baritoneing.

George decided upon "April Showers" as the composition of a quality to show off his golden tonsils. Patty, Maxene and LaVerne, after going through their very funny "I'm LaVerne" routine (as rib-tickling as Abbott and Costello's famous "Who's on first?"), were fully cued to provide background trills—only.

George commenced, got as far as "When Ap— . . ." From then on, it was the Andrews all the way while George reacted with hilarious results. We'd call it one of the week's best guest shots.

We View With Alarm

. . . The short-changing given the scripts on the usually entertaining "Chicago Theater." At present, dramatic portions of the musical comedies and operettas are completely forsaken in favor of rhymed narration spoken by Marion Claire. Granted that "Countess Maritza" isn't a miracle of sparkling dialogue, still the exclusion of the plot lines diminishes its still considerable charm. Also,

Racing's Dollars Go to College

Dollars that Santa Anita and other California racetracks pay in taxes should be well educated. Millions of them have gone to college—and to a great many other places. Racing's dollars, accrued in the form of direct taxes paid the State, help support the University of California Agricultural School at Davis, the California Polytechnic College at San Luis Obispo, the latter's citrus branch at San Dimas, and other State colleges.

Racing's dollars also support State, District and County agricultural fairs which have played a large part in making California the first agricultural State of the nation, citrus fruit fairs, wildlife restoration, the Poultry Improvement Commission, State Employees' Retirement System, State Relief Administration and the State General Fund.

A report for the fiscal year of 1948-49 shows that 37.22% of Santa Anita's dollars was paid in taxes to the State of California. Another 10.6% went for city, county and Federal taxes. Thus 47.82% of the total revenue realized by Santa Anita was absorbed in taxes.

The expense of operating one of the world's great racetracks accounted for another 41.64%. Charity benefited from 3.07% of racing's dollars. 2.61% of racing revenue was retained for the expansion of Santa Anita's plant and facilities. Another 5.40% was paid in cash dividends to stockholders, who are more than 90% residents of California.

A very large percentage of every racing dollar is returned to California citizens for the support of such worthy causes as their fairs, their educational institutions, their relief system and their conservation programs.

COLLECTS PENCILS
 KNX-CBS newstuffers were overjoyed recently when Chet Huntley walked into the newsroom toting a box filled with 1,000 pencils. Seems that the abundance of pencils resulted from Huntley's habit of acquiring several new ones each day before airtime, then taking them home and forgetting about them completely... a situation which occurred daily for ten years. They finally cluttered up his closet, so Huntley carted them all back to the office.

FIRST TIME
 CBStar Arthur Godfrey first used his "kidding commercial" technique when he was handed copy describing filmy lingerie...!

WOODS IN FILM
 Donald Woods, "Richard Rhineland" on CBS's "My Friend Irma," joined the cast of "Mr. Music," Bing Crosby opus.

FIRST MOVIE
 Jean Hersholt, CBS's "Dr. Christian," appeared in Denmark's first motion picture, made in 1906.

DEVOL TOURS
 Macstro Frank DeVol and his orchestra plan to make a coast-to-coast vaudeville and concert tour next summer.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 19

"BUENOS DIAS"

In & Out of Focus (General Comment)

Stop, Listen, Look (Shows You May Like)

Looks Like

CBS is testing two quarter-hour versions of "Lum & Abner," a duo who have had all it takes for radio for a long period of years, and who should prove doubly entertaining on video. . . The Ed Wynn TV show which sponsor Speidel dropped when CBS-TV refused to go for an hour-long, bi-weekly stanza, was snapped up by Camel cigarettes, and will be moved from Thursday to Saturday nights beginning December 24. The production crew remains intact, as does the show's format. . . Jimmy Fidler, it is reported, has dreamed up a television show formatted around interpreting news for the moppets. . . ABC has contracted for all Wendy Barrie's radio and television appearances. . . U. S. Tobacco has renewed "Martin Kane" on NBC-TV for another thirteen weeks. Seen here via KNBH. . . KTLA has already sold its three-hour Sunday afternoon entertainment spread. . . John Howard's role in the movie "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea" was as a result of his televised "Hollywood in Three Dimensions" appearance. . . Tom Harmon has been selected to announce all UCLA home basketball games over KTTV. Hoffman and Dodge pick up this sports tab, too. . . Speidel, the watch-band outfit which soon drops the Ed Wynn show, may sponsor another revue, TV, with Gertrude Niesen starring. . . KTLA is to add a weekly woman's page, to be edited by designer Edith Head, to its "Magazine of the Week." . . "Sleepy Joe" will be upped to a half-hour stanza by KECA-TV. And they couldn't have picked a more entertaining show to expand.

Rita La Roy Show

Enjoyable any time, but particularly so just now before Christmas, is the Wednesday night (7:30) parade of feminine fashion and pulchritude seen on KECA-TV's Channel 7 as "The Rita LaRoy show."

Rita, who can easily give any of her lovely models a run for their money as to charm, appearance and poise, but who stands alone as an interesting femcee personality with a terrific gift of easy gab, serves as commentator during the period which weekly chooses a different theme, fashionwise, for the women who wish to know but who can't brave the crowds and traffic entailed in casing the fashion centers.

Show setting is patterned after a fashion salon, on which KECA-TV has spared no expense or effort. The models and their lovely wares of the evening come into view down a curved staircase, and in their manner and manners alone lie some good lessons. As they approach and parade, Rita's commentary points out for the viewing madam (or sir) what is what. . .

The show is more than a period of seeing pretty trinkets and clothes. It's full of good, sensible advice. Furs are currently one of fashion's best, and the most popular of wardrobe features. As Rita pointed out, the value of a single mink, worn as a small choker, over the value of a string of synthetic mink, worn as a wrap, is tremendous.

She not only quotes prices and shows the real economy of good taste but suggests, in most cases, where things can be purchased.

Her knowledge arises out of many years of emphasizing appearance, charm and fashionable, economical dressing for herself and for the group of lovely, successful models in her agency.

A week or so ago, the correct jewelry for both daytime and evening wear was displayed in the fashion telecast. Among the articles was shown the fabulous lapel piece, the Temple of Kashmir, made of solid gold, ivory and precious stones. On this date, Haimoff, one of Beverly Hills' oldest established jewelers, joined Lowell E. Bradford, furriers, in sponsoring Miss LaRoy's fifteen-minute show. Sponsorship usually goes to houses of this sort.

But Rita also pointed out how attractive jewelry in the under-four-and-five-dollar price range can be utilized. For street wear and before five, of course, only plain gold and silver,

Rumors Are Flying

"The Clock," Lever Brothers' NBC-TV mystery, may move to this coast for filming. . . MGM may take the lead in movie outfits moving into television, when the time is right. . . Steve Allen's wrestling-matches guest shot on KECA-TV elicited such response the comedian may be retained as a regular.

whether synthetic or real, is acceptable to the well dressed. No glitter of diamonds or rhinestones for office and strolling.

Masculine viewers will find attractions other than the models. Loot for them, in all price brackets, is demonstrated almost weekly. The lighters, watches, bands and cigarette cases are currently being shown as Christmas-present-solving suggestions to the Mrs.

"Studio One"

There are a number of shows now on television which bear repeated recommendation. One of these is CBS-TV's "Studio One," seen locally on KTTV, Channel 11, each Monday night at 10:00.

Production of W. Somerset Maugham's "Of Human Bondage" on December 5 brings about this urging of viewers not to miss the hour-long series. While the adaptations of outstanding novels are consistently good, "Bondage" is so well known in both book and picture form that its measuring up to established criteria via television sets a standard.

The story, written originally in 1915, and later filmed with Leslie Howard and Bette Davis as the principals, deals with a sensitive artist-medical student in literal bondage to a cockney waitress. The message is as good today as it ever was, and the fine shading given the portrayals on television retained the flavor of the story.

Charlton Heston and Felicia Montealegre, both familiar names to constant viewers of "Studio One," played "Phillip" and waitress "Mildred" respectively. The balance of the casting was equally well done.

Sets were more than adequate, and the boiling down of the big book into an hour's dialogue was beautifully handled by Worthington Miner, who also produces.

This dramatic series provides an excellent answer to the die-hards who stoutly maintain they don't care for television... because they would rather let their imagination color their reading. So you've read "Of Human Bondage" or any dozen of the other "Studio One" adaptations, but it is highly improbable that your mental image of any of the principals was too badly violated by the sensitive yet ascetic portrayal of Maugham's hero as done by Heston. As "Mildred" helped to establish Bette Davis, so did Bette Davis help to plant an indelible impression of the becircled-eyed, blonde-headed "Mildred" in moviegoers' minds. If we could presume to offer any criticism of the story above mentioned as done on TV, it would be in Felicia Montealegre's appearance alone. Her brunette hair came as a surprise.

That minor point was the only possible adverse criticism we could scratch up, but our applause for this fine presentation on every other count is unlimited.

Philco Television

Another show, on another network, whose premise for entertainment is adapting outstanding novels into hour-long presentations is NBC-TV's "Philco Television Playhouse," seen on KNBH, Channel 4, each Sunday night at 9:00.

Each week a novel of a different type is adapted. A couple of weeks ago, Mildred Cram's "The Promise" was a warm-hearted fantasy around a young business couple headed for divorce because of their conflicting careers. The faith inspired in them by a mythical character who revived them from a motor-car crash turned the trick, and all ended happily... or did it? Viewers were never quite sure whether they had seen a play about two live people or a play about a post-death fantasy. And it made good entertainment.

The following Sunday found Mildred Walker's "Medical Meeting" cast for video presentation. This story centered around the problem of a pair of sincere medical researchers being forced finally to choose between further work in genteel poverty and under comparative anonymity or the opportunity to head up a sanitarium at a higher salary with an all-expenses-paid deal. Naturally they chose going on with research... there would be no story otherwise.

From this bit of grim realism and good-deeding Philco passed on this week to "The Wonderful Mrs. Ingram," a tale centered around exposing the supposedly "wonderful little woman" as the scheming shrew she was.

Good plays and good players can't go on forever in television, and repetition of plot or casting is as inevitable as it has been on radio. Philco makes no attempt to spot a comedy every other week (comedy is another field on another night, they wisely realize), and in every Sunday chapter the direction and casting have maintained the same high level. If you like drama, "Philco" is just one more place to get it—in the right form with good players dishing up your histrionics.

Second Glances (Critical Comment)

"Old-Tyme Comedies"

Each Thursday afternoon at 4:45, KFI-TV's Channel 9 carries a fifteen-minute early talkie or silent-movie comedy feature. In the face of current popularity of old pictures, books around the lives and incidents therein of early movie personalities, and articles paralleling early movie making and video processes, the idea is great. The presentation falls short.

It is hard to know whether or not KFI-TV was able to get a cast list with these films, but were they able to do so, naming the old stars and comedians as they appear on the screen, with a brief anecdote or run-down on their career (information certainly available somewhere today) would add immeasurably to viewer enjoyment.

Instead of these sidelights, a commentary follows the film, a sort of "Now the lovely heroine is in the clutches of the villain" thing that further burlesques the film. These older films aren't too easy to find, and their appearance on television is a pleasant surprise in any event. Tongue-in-cheek "Gaslighting" treatment is funny, but the comedies are really worth better treatment.

Again arises the possibility the station hasn't access to information for real fans of the older screen fare... in which case we applaud their merely showing them.

"Cavalcade of Stars"

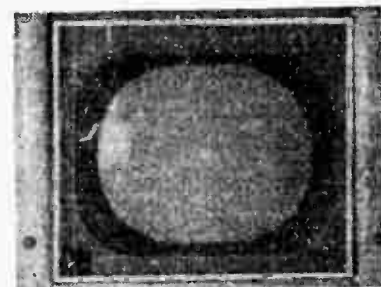

Each Monday night (KTSL's Channel 2, 7:30 p.m.), Thrifty Drug Company assembles a lot of high-priced talent and presents these entertaining groups under the title "Cavalcade of Stars."

Dancers, singers, acrobats, actors and actresses—cream of the New York stages—pass over the Channel 2 screen each week, led on and off stage and through their routines by a young man whose name is almost lost in his similarity to Milton Berle. Jackie Carter is an emcee deluxe—and so is Berle. Carter is a very funny fellow—and so is Berle. Carter hypotes the audience into laughs and applause as no one else can—except Berle. The two are so identical in whistle, laugh and dialogue that if viewers were to close their eyes it would be a little tough to tell just who was appearing.

The show is a kinnie from the East, and one of the clearest, best-quality television recordings we have seen. Pace of the show is rapid, the talent roster has included headliners from so many walks of entertainment that in this case "pleasing all the people some of the time" must have come to pass, and the commercials are well done and inoffensively inserted. Our only "but" lies in that close resemblance between the emcee of this show and the emcee of the Texaco show.

A fellow viewer's question as to "who is imitating whom" prompted that speculation on our part. We hadn't thought of it, because we don't care. If you enjoy Berle enough to take him twice a week, you have a reason outside of the lavish talent parade for not missing "Cavalcade of Stars."

Toast of the Town

The December 4 telecast of "Toast of the Town" (KTTV, Channel 11, Sunday, 8:00 p.m.) was its 75th presentation, making it, according to the knowledge of its emceeing host Ed Sullivan, "the longest-running live TV show." This, we would think, would also indicate a program's growing maturity and perfection. Unfortunately, to our eyes and ears, "Toast of the Town" does not seem to have improved any with age.

We find its presentation both sloppy and dull. Most of the entertainment presented doesn't rise above a "so-so" reception, possibly because of the way in which the program in its entirety is handled (mishandled).

Now if you think we're dishing out a criticism so generalized in nature that we'd have nothing to say if cornered, here it comes. The whole show could be sparked by just the addition of one simple, vital (simply vital!) ingredient—some display of personality from its stolid-faced, monotone-voiced emcee, Ed Sullivan.

Blind Date

The name Arlene Francis alone would be enough to propel our dialing finger in the direction of KECA-TV's Channel 7 on Sunday nights at 8:30. We've been on the impressive list of Arlene admirers from way back and always go out of our way to see and hear her. She is enchantingly feminine, quick-minded and witty-tongued. Even if a female emcee is one of your pet aversions, you're likely to wind up considering Arlene an exception, because she certainly is just as adept as almost any radio-TV male at keeping a show clipping along at a lively pace.

However (wouldn't you know, after that burst of unlimited enthusiasm, there'd be a "however"??), in our estimation, her videoed "Blind Date" program (viewed by us December 4) fell short of providing any kind of entertainment. In fact, our brow remained furrowed the whole half hour, trying to figure out just what it was intended to offer in the way of pleasant eye-ear diversion.

True, there were three pretty girls on hand, "Ice Follies" chorines, wearing three diversified outfits from their "Follies" numbers, but they didn't skate or do anything else to entertain. The male contestants, in vying for a date with these pretties, stated their names and activities to Miss Francis, then donned some fragments of masquerade costumes and engaged the chorines in a few moments of dishearteningly unintelligent, unfunny, uninteresting conversation. At the conclusion of these verbal exchanges, each girl made her choice of an escort (on what basis, we wouldn't know) and the happy group prepared to depart for their "hard-won" evening on the town (we can only hope the success of the evening did not depend on their conversational adeptness).

We wish our Arlene were devoting her glib femceeing talents to a program of more entertaining format, or that this program, which we remember as being better in its earlier radio days, would somehow add the element of real entertainment to its Cupid's-arrow maneuvers.

On Lens (About Studio Happenings)

Busy Balter

Sam Balter, director of sports for KLAC-TV and KLAC, finds life not of even tenor these days. Since the day KLAC-TV started its daytime programming (about four weeks ago), the busy Balter has done more than thirty sportscasts each day. The approximate time allowed for dashing from one studio to another for his sports spiel is thirty seconds. Balter needs a scooter.

Radio Mother, Video Daughter

Have any of you noticed something familiar about one of the pretty teenagers who helps sugar-coat the Kaye-Halbert commercials on KTLA's "Meet Me in Hollywood" show? The manufacturers hit upon a new slant to make their video-receiver-set spiels more pleasing to the public through using two comely, modernly clad girls as "Sight" and "Sound." The sixteen-year-old who lends her pretty face and peppy dialogue to "Sight's" role is Barbara Ruick, daughter of the radio-famous Lurene Tuttle. Lurene, too, is active in video, teaching for the medium at USC.

Off Lens (Personalities)

Rita LaRoy Honored By TV Academy

Rita LaRoy, star of her own KECA-TV show, was signally honored at the meeting of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences in Hollywood last week, when she became the only woman ever to be nominated for the office of president of the organization.

Miss LaRoy, even though she was not present at the meeting and was unaware of the step to be taken, was one of six candidates nominated for the Academy's highest office for the 1950 term. This was the first time in the organization's existence that a woman's name has been placed in nomination for the presidency.

Remember Me?

Those of you who have answered your phone only to have some strange voice pipe... "Remember me?"... will understand what KNBH star Tex Harrison went through when a totally unrecognizable voice called him recently after an evening telecast.

Tex, after five minutes of vague conversation, discovered the voice to be that of well-known rodeo performer Eddie Miller, whom Tex had last seen in Arizona fourteen years ago. At that time, the two were contestants in a Brahma-bull-riding contest. Eddie had borrowed a pair of Tex's chaps... and won. Feeling they were good luck, Miller didn't return them at the time and hadn't seen Tex until the night of the call, when he had seen Tex's television show.

The next day, Tex received the chaps carefully wrapped in a large box with a red ribbon around it... for good luck and Merry Christmas.

Billy Rose Into TV

Billy Rose, veteran showman, producer, columnist, restaurateur, champion typist (with no failures at any venture), is planning to enter the television field. Through arrangement with Mark Goodson and Bill Todman, packagers of giveaways, Billy Rose will produce a series of hour-long television shows titled, of course, "By Billy Rose."

Each telecast will utilize four short stories in dramatic form... along the lines of the popular "Quartet," J. Arthur Rank movie which presents four tales by Somerset Maugham.

Nationwide News for KTTV

KTTV, despite the excellence of its "KTTV Newsreel" (mentioned in these pages last week) apparently wishes that the national coverage in that nightly series (Monday through Friday, 7:30 p.m., repeats Tuesday through Friday, 10:00 p.m., and Monday, 11:00 p.m., Channel 11) could consist of matching film portions rather than the use of stills.

To expedite this addition, KTTV has been attempting to negotiate with a video news pool in New York to send film here on a "payment per footage used" basis. Eastern outlet wanted a flat rate. The station now is making arrangements with amateur newsreel photographers countrywide for coverage on big stories breaking throughout the nation. KTTV plans to have the amateurs airmail their on-the-spot news shots, payment for which follows their actual use.

It Paid to Tell a Story

Marvin Miller's First Radio Role Came Through as Result of Stretching Truth About a One-Man Show He Suddenly Made Up as Result of Flopping Mike Chores

By Joy Hall

Monday through Friday, 4:30 p.m.
MBS-KHJ, KFXM, KGB, KYOE

OF ALL the stories versatile Marvin Miller has recounted in his career, perhaps the toughest he has tackled so far was a recent "Behind the Story" of composer Thomas Moore.

As the tale is told, Moore was wed to a British girl known throughout the isles for her fragile beauty. She contracted a dread disease and hid from her husband, terrified that if he once glimpsed her smallpox-scarred face, his love for her would be lost.

All effort on Moore's part to prove his devotion was in vain until he composed the lyrics and melody of a new song and, standing in the doorway of his wife's darkened room, sang of words so sincere that she lit the candle after hearing "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

Now Marvin, who does a crack job on all characterizations in the series, wanted to project the poignant meaning of the scene to listeners, and to do so he decided to sing the melody. But composer Moore was an Irish tenor, while Marvin is baritone . . . way down low. Ingeniously, he tried a tonal transition and raised his voice up sweet and high.

It was not only unusual, it was good.

Several days afterward a friend asked, "How many characters do you use on the show?" Replied Miller, "Oh, sometimes a few, sometimes up to eleven." Thought the friend, "Aha, perhaps a role for me." Much to his disappointment as far as the job went, but more to his amazement, he learned that Marvin does all the roles himself. This the friend could hardly believe after hearing the storyteller turn tenor.

Started with Stories

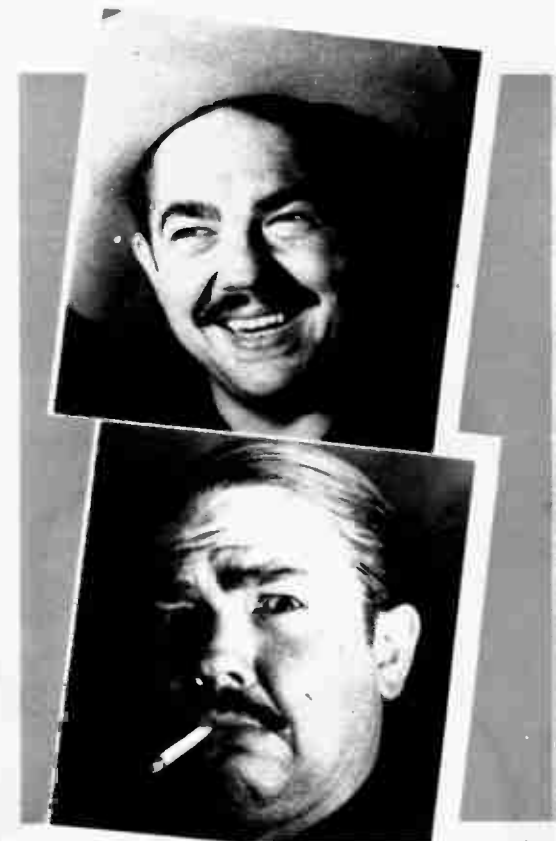

All of which points out that the able Mr. Miller can do anything once he sets his mind to it. When he first auditioned for radio (announcing) Miller rated a big nothing. Not one to take "no" for an answer, Marvin mentioned he could also do a one-man show. Okayed by the station manager, that's how Miller became a storyteller . . . five times a week for a buck. By the time the series was finished, he had worked forty-two characters into the scripts.

Many listeners remember Marvin for his former "Coronet Storyteller," as well as recent narration of "Tell It Again." Well known for his announcing of "The Whistler," "Railroad Hour," "Beulah," and Louella building of completely equipped shops for the building and designing of sets—they are also in possession of eight truckloads of scenery from the Selznick lot. These windows, flags, balustrades, stairs and doors of all periods, shapes and sizes came from the sets of such pictures as "Duel in the Sun," "Portrait of Jenny" and "Gone With the Wind."

WITH FORTE OF MOLDING HIMSELF TO THE CHARACTER versatile Miller is captured in moods of carefree Mexican peon; a stuffy Britisher; a sinister Canadian woodsman (three pictures by wife Elizabeth Dawson). The latter are of his motion-picture roles in which Marvin portrayed a sly Indian potentate; a scheming Japanese officer in "Blood on the Sun"; and a jolly Grecian page.

All Factors Important

One day recently we went wandering behind the scenes at Television Center to find out just what goes into the building of a set, and met the net's art director, Dorcy Howard.

Mr. Howard, formerly set dresser and art director for David O. Selznick, Sol Lesser and more recently RKO, steered us through the shavings and huge machines in the set-

Scenic Construction

Lights, Cameras, Actors, Singers and Dancers All Do a Lot Toward Making Up a Television Show. But Behind Them Is a Crew Who Are Never Seen, Yet Who Add Just as Greatly to the Entertainment Values

By Jane Pelgram

TWO DECADES of motion-picture attendance and the watching of repertoire opera and ballet have conditioned viewers of any entertainment medium to expect full background. The sets behind a group of actors must be just as tastefully done as are the portrayals that go on before them.

KECA-TV is in a good position to fulfill this requisite. Out on their twenty-three-acre ABC Television Center lot is not only a separate building department, explaining that this particular operation was as important to a finished production as were the thespians.

"A show can be plotted, and we can have all the ideas in the world about how a set should look, but then what happens if we can't get it built in a hurry? Each phase is important. Without any one of them you just don't have a good show."

He waved a hand to indicate a huge, unpainted elliptical wooden frame, lying behind a formidable array of drills, presses, sawing machines and precision cutters . . . the usual accouterment where artistic carpentry is required.

"On next week's 'Let There Be Stars' show (an excellent variety bill doomed, unfortunately, at this writing to go the way of all unsponsored shows—off the channel) we are doing 'The Moth and the Flame.' That frame is to be the candle base.

"Our carpenters are drawn from the union that handles studio carpenters. They are used to achieving all kinds of effects, so when I explained that the candlestick base should be an ellipse to photograph correctly, they were able to build one to my exact specifications. Should we have had to order this done outside TV Center, both the cost and possibility of error would have rendered it unfeasible.

"Another advantage of having our own carpentry shop lies in similarity of sets from show to show of a series. Should a set be needed after it has been destroyed or torn apart to use elsewhere, the same crew who built it could duplicate from the joint effort of all our memories. And believe me, viewers could spot deviations quickly."

"Biggest and Best"

KECA-TV viewers last fall could nightly see the favorite set of nearly everyone at TV Center. The former "Sleepy Joe" homestead is the largest single video set in existence. More hands than just those of the carpenters who erected "Joe's" little brown house lingered lovingly about for the building of a great cement tree with real-tree-type branches attached thereto, for the planning of the cabbage patch and the setting up of a small fence and orchard. While "Joe" currently appears only once a week on the scene, this particular set remains for other television characters to enjoy.

Nor is there a single carpenter at Television Center who wouldn't do some tall grumbling were the little brown house to be supplanted by a backdrop or Teletransparency.

THE REGULAR SET OF KECA-TV'S SUNDAY NIGHT "The Ruggles" must remain the same, week in and week out. Should any part be destroyed or removed, skilled carpentry must reproduce it exactly, and quickly.

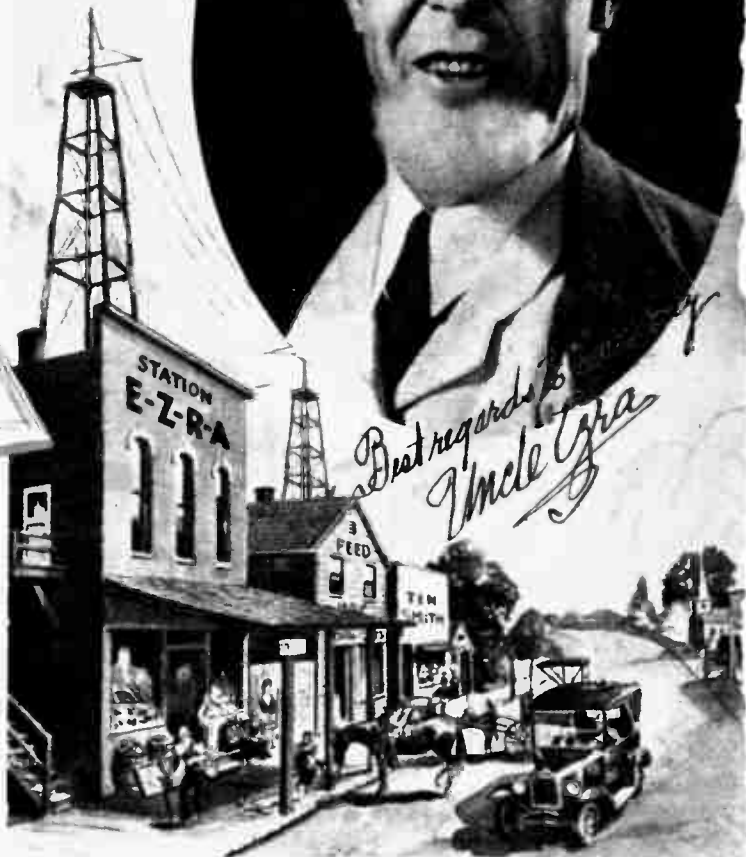

"THE MOTH AND THE FLAME" IS DANCED upon the candlestick, now finished, that existed on the opposite page only in skeleton form. Projects of this sort are saved for possible use at a later date on other shows.

Daily Schedule Is Announced for Radio Broadcast

Oct 9 - 1921

FOR the information of those who already have receiving sets or those who may install them during the week, following is the time schedule of the numbers on the daily broadcasting schedule:

1:45 P. M.—World Series, play by play.

8:06 P. M.—Baseball comment and an analysis of the World Series game.

8:15 P. M.—Summary of the day's important news dispatches.

8:20 P. M.—Concert program of musical and vocal selections.

On Friday night at 7 o'clock fairy stories told by The Man in the Moon and three musical numbers especially selected for children.

The sending of the World Series reports, of course, is governed by weather conditions. In the event that rain may prevent the game taking place, announcement of that fact will be made at several intervals during the afternoon.

↑ THIS, BELIEVE IT OR NOT, was the first radio log. The date was October 9, 1921, and the announcement was careful to state that the whole plan was subject to weather conditions.

↓ BACK IN 1936, Alexander Gray was a singing favorite on radio and screen. He's best remembered as Marilyn Miller's leading man in the movie "Sally."

Jack Wormser (on Hope's right), Hal Kanter, and Byron Palmer (second from right) hosted the visitors for three laugh-filled days. Back Where He Started

Fourteen Years and Thousands of Miles Lie Between Jack Wormser's First and Present Jobs at the Same Old Stand

↑ FROM RADIO TOKYO, Captain Wormser directed his all-Japanese cast in the first of a series of radio programs beamed to the Japanese people in an effort to give them a true history of the war. Broadcasts were called "Now It Can Be Told."

AFTER fourteen working years, Jack Wormser is right back where he started—geographically, at least. The personable young producer-writer started his career in radio at the old National Broadcasting Company building on Melrose Avenue in Hollywood. But 5515 Melrose is no longer NBC. The broadcasting studios are now leased by television station KTTV, and every Monday for thirty-five weeks last summer and fall Jack was on hand to write and produce the Ben Gage show. In spite of its being Jack's and Ben's initial television effort, the show was in a few weeks recognized as one of the best local variety programs on the West Coast. A far cry from his Melrose Avenue beginning.

Many successful radio men got their start as page boys. Jack preferred fresh air and sunshine. At eighteen he was properly outfitted and stationed at the gate to care for the parking lot and the cars of NBC luminaries. He had plenty of time between cars, and, particularly intrigued with the activities in the sound-effects department, made himself useful whenever possible. The regular sound man whose duty it was to lower the phonograph needle on a fanfare record announcing a news broadcast each night was more than happy to let Jack pinch-hit. He filled in whenever a second sound man was needed, and dropped Alka-Seltzer tablets into glasses of water with such finesse that his mother, ear glued to the radio, would exclaim with great pride to all within hearing distance, "That's Jack!"

Make Up Your Mind

The maintenance men complained that Jack's parking-lot duties were neglected in favor of the sound department, and issued an "inside or outside" ultimatum. Jack became an official member of the sound-effects department when a decision of "inside" was handed down by the front office. He was responsible for a lot of noise during the next few years. On the old "Gilmore Circus," he stopped the show each week for two full minutes of sound as "Aunt Addie," played by Cliff Arquette, teetered on a high wire and then fell a thousand feet into a wet sponge.

At nineteen, Jack was in charge of sound on the top comedy and dramatic shows at NBC. He became such an expert that Tyrone Power, Rudy Vallee and Charles Boyer wouldn't go through a door unless Jack opened it for them. He is credited with the development of "Fiber McGee's" world-famous closet which was a smash in more ways than one.

Soap Operas to Guam

In 1941 the network sent him to New York, where Jack produced "soap operas," but in one year Jack had to leave "John's Other Wife" to join the Army. He was put in the Signal Corps and sent to Officer's Candidate School. In Astoria, Long Island, he wrote and directed training films and in Hollywood he wrote, directed and produced programs for the newly organized Armed Forces Radio Service.

Jack started his two-year overseas duty as officer in charge of a team that followed the invasion forces into newly occupied territories to set up the Armed Forces Radio stations that brought entertainment and information to the troops. The thousands of soldiers and sailors who were in the harbor of Eniwetok waiting for the invasion of Saipan heard the top programs from the States via Jack's station WXLE. And they chuckled at an Army sergeant named Hal Kanter broadcasting his nightly Sack Rat Serenade. After the invasion of Guam, Hal, later to become one of Hollywood's top comedy radio writers, and Jack were sent to Guam to establish another Armed Forces Radio station. Shortly after they settled there, Jack was promoted to captain and placed in charge of the entire Pacific Ocean Network.

After V-J Day, Jack was sent to Radio Tokyo and made program director for the eighty-six stations of the Japanese network. He had the distinction of directing a dramatic program for the purpose of giving the Japanese people their first true picture about Pearl Harbor and the part their country played in World War II. The program was written in English, translated into Japanese and produced with an all-Japanese cast and orchestra. This series received a special commendation from the commanding general as an important contribution to the successful operation of the occupation forces. Radio Tokyo, in those days, was like old home week. "Tokyo Mose," as he was known to the troops, was known to his friends as Hy Averback—Bob Hope's talented announcer. Another familiar face was that of Eob Lemond, announcer on the Ben Gage show and currently seen on the Ed Wynn television program. Producer Myron Dutton and many other radio personalities were there. And, of course, Hans Conried, who had the reputation of being the only soldier in the United States Army who wore argyle socks.

A short time after Jack's return to civilian life, he became one of the busiest producers in Hollywood, with twelve audience-participation shows per week to his credit. He still found time, however, to produce fourteen of the top benefit radio programs for the American Cancer Society, Red Cross and March of Dimes, Parsons' commentary stint, Miller's voice is just as familiar emoting on drama heavies like "The Saint" and "NBC Theater." Within the first month his "Story" was aired on Mutual-Don Lee outlets, the actor had scored 120 roles plus narrations of each chapter.

Fast Pace

One Sunday Miller raced to five shows on four networks, doing a particularly outstanding job on "NBC Theater's" adaptation of Theodore Dreiser's "Sister Carrie" (also marking his initial guesting on the program).

When does the actor-announcer gather time from this typical pace to sleep? He doesn't. Both he and artist-photographer wife Elizabeth Dawson share a strange phobia regarding shut-eye and get as little of it as possible.

They do their relaxing on Saturdays when, with son Tony, they head for San Pedro Bay and their boat. With sails to the sun, the Millers spend a day weekly on the water—Mrs. Miller dozing restfully, young Tony pretending he's an old salt, and Marvin hoping fervently he won't spill overboard . . . at least not until he learns to swim.

with such stars as Bob Hope, Frank Sinatra, Danny Kaye, Jimmy Stewart, Dinah Shore, Ralph Edwards and Jimmy Durante.

For the past year and a half, Jack has been employed by the American Broadcasting Company as producer-writer. In December of 1948, Jack was asked by Bob Hope to accompany his Christmas Caravan to the Berlin airlift. "This," says Jack, "is my most satisfying and gratifying experience."
