HANDSOME LES BROWN, leader of the "Band of Renown" which breaks one record after another at the famous Hollywood Palladium on Sunset Boulevard, smiles with good reason. And Les's pretty vocalist, Lucy Ann Polk, always featured with Les and the boys of the band, shares his enthusiasm over Palladium crowds. The duo are also seen on KNBH's Wednesday night telecast from the dining and dancing spot.

RADIO AND SCREEN actor Marvin Miller is congratulated by Colonel Mason Wright, head of the Armed Forces Radio Service here, on the completion of his 500th free broadcast for AFRS, which is beamed to servicemen in all parts of the world.

SISTER ELIZABETH KENNY, FOUNDER of the famous Sister Kenny Foundation for Polio, appeared recently as a guest on KECA-TV's Al Jarvis Show, where she was interviewed by a panel of Southern California TV editors and writers. For some forty years she fought traditional thinking in medical circles in the interests of polio victims. Now a victim herself of the dread Parkinson's Disease, a nervous disorder, she is soon to take up permanent residence at her former home, Australia. (ABC photo.)

SMILING AT THE CAMERAMAN ARE RONNIE AND GARRY LEWIS with mother Patty. Jerry is an ardent camera enthusiast. Patty and Jerry are a contrast in personalities, one counterbalancing the other. The Lewises love to entertain, utilizing their home to the fullest for family and friends.

Life With Dean and Jerry

The Distaff Side of the Famous Martin And Lewis Team Let Their Hair Down

(Mrs. Dean Martin is the former Jean Bieggers, Miss Miami of 1947. She is blonde, petite, and completely charming.)

I'M DELIGHTED to tell you about Dean off camera," said Jean. "Dean changes from straight man to comic when he's home. He loves to ham all over the place . . . on the golf course (incidentally, he's a top-notch golfer) . . . on the baseball field . . . and on parties. Dean is easy to get along with. He has an enviable penchant for relaxation. His favorite form of 'taking life easy' is television. He loves to watch Westerns . . . the older they are, the better. Comedy and variety shows are also high on his list of favorites. Dean isn't a gabber and he dislikes small talk. Although he's a casual guy, social amenities are important to him. The dropping-in of friends without forewarning just isn't for Dean. He extends and accepts invitations with 'casual' formality."

Diversions

"Our eight-month-old son, Dino is our pride and joy. Dean is planning to make him a golfer and is itching to teach him how to hold the clubs. Softball is another of Dean's diversions; he plays third-base position and clowns continually while Jerry takes the game seriously. The Martin and Lewis Aristocrats may not have a high batting average, but they are appropriately good for laughs.

"I met Dean in Miami, when he and Jerry were appearing at the Copacabana," continued Jean, who is pretty enough to be in the movies but would rather be "at home."

"Dean is a clothes horse—he even passes judgment on my wardrobe. He loves spicy Italian food, so, of course, I serve it several times a week."

(Mrs. Jerry Lewis is the former vocalist, Patty Palmer. She is brunette, vivacious and hospitable.)

"It's a pleasure to talk about Jerry," said Patty. "We love our 'beautiful daddy' . . . Yes, that's our pet name for Jerry. 'Our' denotes seven-year-old Garry and two-and-a-half-year-old Ronnie. Garry is a carbon copy of his dad and mimics him to perfection. Of course Ronnie is a bit young, but he's beginning to catch on. Whenever Garry watches Dean and Jerry on television (NBC 'Colgate Comedy Hour') he inches each time Dean slaps his daddy around. There's a strong one-sided feeling of resentment between Garry and Dean, even though I've explained, endlessly, that it's all done for laughs."

Methodical

"Jerry's retentive and methodical mind at times makes him as fussy as the proverbial old maid. Everything in the house must be kept in its proper place . . . the toys in the playroom . . . the closets and dresser drawers tidy . . . if a chair in the living room isn't at just the right angle, Jerry will automatically set it right."

Does all this make Jerry difficult to live with? "Not at all," said Jean. "Jerry is full of nervous energy and having things in apple-pie order is more restful for him."

Jerry relaxes by surrounding himself with people. Limitless hospitality prevails at the Lewises'. Jerry has formed the Garon Players, consisting of a group of his friends. They make sixteen-millimeter films . . . running the gamut of travesties . . . for their own amusement. Jerry has a complete film lab . . . projectors, splicers and library . . . in his rumpus room."

Serious

"Jerry is a serious first baseman," smiled Patty. "It may surprise some of you but, in contrast to his on-camera behavior, Jerry is quiet and thoughtful at home. At one time I needlessly worried about his shenanigans in public but I don't any more . . . he knows just how far he can go.

"I met Jerry when I was singing with Ted Fio Rito's orchestra. He was the intermission act. As you can imagine, our courtship was full of laughs. It didn't take me long to swap ditties for domesticity. Even though we have a superb cook, I still like to get in the kitchen and fix Jerry's dish . . . chicken cacciatore. After all, pleasing our 'beautiful daddy' is the dominant note of our household."

What's Wrong With You?

Do Hearts Flutter or Remain Unruffled When You Walk By?

By Donna Scott

WHEN it comes to beauty problems, there is scarcely a woman alive who isn't faced with some perplexities. Far be it from us to give you an inferiority complex, but is your weight showing lately?

Rita LaRoy, KTTV's "Glamour Session" queen, was informative and frankness itself when we asked her "What's Wrong With Most Women?" She outlined five common denominators that we femmes are partially or wholly guilty of.

Competency

Undoubtedly you have been aware, at one time or another, of these five beauty failings. Newspaper and magazine features, radio and TV commercials are constantly hammering "beauty," "grooming" or what have you. Perhaps we have been overly saturated by these reminders and have become immune to them. Procrastination will not give you the trim figure you've been dreaming about or that peaches-and-cream complexion you envy. "Wishing will not make it so; better get busy and start doing something for yourself," cautions Rita.

Following are the faults which, Rita claims, trap more women most of the time:

Overweight—is a problem that requires more will-power than anything else. Watching those calories is a challenge worth meeting . . . slimming down will do wonders for your health as well as your appearance.

Hair—is, as the old saying goes, "a woman's crowning glory," but some women are crowned by Zulu creations. Hair conditioning starts with cleanliness, then comes proper styling.

Skin—is a mirror which requires babying. Diet, cleanliness and suitable cosmetics are the basic ingredients.

Posture—is a physical and emotional combination. Sloppy walking habits are more frequently than not caused by too high a heel. Lack of confidence in one's self can be spotted by your gait. Your head and shoulders are meant to be held high and not burrowed down like the head of an ostrich.

Make-up—is to create an optical illusion, not disillusionment. Color and subtle shadings are all-important; heavy theatrical make-up should be confined to the stage.

Self-Improvement

Frankly, Rita LaRoy hasn't expounded anything new or unusual. But she is adamant in her insistence on self-improvement, and her definition of personality is one that is practical . . . "Personality is confidence in your appearance plus your thinking." Not Webster-ian, true, but beauty-wise it has a great deal of applicability.

Rita, a former actress, is a television pioneer . . . she's been in it since 1947. In addition to her twice-weekly KTTV show, she keeps busy with her accredited modeling school and agency. One of her favorite stories concerns a young housewife who enrolled for a modeling course because her marriage was on the rocks. She wanted to prepare herself for a career so she could be gainfully employed after her divorce. Mrs. Housewife quit after three months to take a second honeymoon with her reawakened, re-enamored husband.

She found out what was wrong with herself . . . should you?

Can 'Hoppy' Make It Again?

The Popular Cowboy Has to Face the Fact That TV Is No Longer a Novelty — Rogers and Autry Are!

By Jane Pelgram

ONE SWELTERING day last July a black-shirted, lean-looking cowboy hero rattled his spurs down a flight of steps and into the NBC photo lab. It was "Hopalong Cassidy," on hand to trade blazing sunlight for blazing lab lights during a three-hour session of publicity stills, color shots for magazine-cover use, and action pictures for story illustration.

"Hoppy's" popular picture-length features, boiled down to a commercial fifty-five minutes, had been running weekly on KNBH, and soon the silver-haired immortal's new half-hour epics were to start on the full NBC-TV network.

A teetering four-legged chair was the only prop used by Bill Boyd. A huge still and color camera, light tripods and a bank of bulbs filled most of the room. The "background" was the one plain wall of the cubicle. The other three were lined with Christmas trees, Easter cutouts, shelves of photographic equipment, charts, and blow-ups of favorite shots of the cameramen.

"Things sure have grown since the last time I was on this exact site," drawled the handsome actor. "It was thirty-two years ago to the month I visited Sunset and Vine, and came in an entrance at probably this same spot, to make a picture. It was the old Famous Players lot then," twirling his handsome ivory and white

.45's. "That was my first picture, 'Why Change Your Wife,' with Milton Sills playing the lead."

The shooting session became warm and tedious. But Boyd, with never a touch of temperament or temper, posed, rattled off anecdotes and answers, punctuating the conversation with his famous booming laugh.

"Someone asked me the other day why I'm making new pictures for TV. I guess I'm just tired of seeing the old ones myself!"

At a question about "Topper," Boyd showed the first defensiveness against the questioner who obviously felt the big white steed might have carried "Hoppy" safely through enough adventures to have earned rest.

"Why, I wouldn't make a picture without him! He's the same horse, just as pretty," mused "Hoppy" fondly. "Right now he's busy doing what I have been working at—taking off some weight!" Again the big "Hoppy" laugh.

As Boyd worked, a real phenomenon among the working people in a television station occurred. Stars are not by any means a rarity around NBC. Work never stops, words aren't hung upon, and heads don't turn. But with the cowboy to end all cowboys on hand, completely blase publicity men put down their newspapers and grinningly listened. Mail girls with arms full of envelopes, at least some of which must have been marked "Rush," drifted in and stayed. Other personnel stood by, goggling like regular sidewalk autograph hounds.

The enthusiasm extant seemed an answer to the question that must have been on every mind. Can "Hoppy" do it again? Can he be the top TV attraction he was two, three and four years ago?

"Cassidy" had been off the screens at home for a year or so, and during that time well-known contemporaries of his, Gene Autry and Roy Rogers, had each made a bow to King Moppet.

Finally, encouraged by Boyd's outspoken good humor, someone dished it out. Point-blank came the question of competition hurting "Hoppy." Without batting an eye or deviating from the pose he held for the camera, the veteran actor waxed as frank as the question directed to him.

"It hasn't hurt me now. There's no change in our merchandising, and that's a good indication. Things may have quieted down out there, but if I could take you with me for just one day around the country, I'd show you what I mean.

"I think the best explanation of 'Hoppy's' popularity is the fact that I don't have to count on solely the kid audience. They have fads, and always will. Good healthy sign. But I have two other generations who know me.

"There are the grandparents of today. They must have liked my first pictures, or the picture business wouldn't have made me a star. That's all based on cold cash that pictures bring in. You get the box office, or you don't get the star build-up.

"Then there are the parents of today's kids. These people are old enough to remember me, too. Now these parents and grandparents probably never heard of Roy Rogers before their kids started acting like him and wanting Rogers outfits.

"As far as 'making it again' goes—I don't think I've ever lost it," he grinned.

"And remember one more thing. My pictures will never be dated. The period they portray is sixty years old now. In twenty years the Early West is still going to be the Early West, an era that never loses its appeal. The clothes won't look ridiculous, they will merely reflect a time. And

ONE OF "HOPPY'S" MOST famous poses displays to good advantage the determination of the Western stalwart, the big barrel of his .45 and the black hat that took form all over American neighborhoods on the smaller heads of enthusiastic "Cassidy" fans.

BILL SAYS "TOPPER," his big white horse who has chased so many, many miles in so many, many entertaining "Hopalong Cassidy" films, is the same pretty horse. Bill wouldn't do a picture without "Topper"—and certainly "Topper" can't without "Hoppy"!

What Happened to Lanza?

By Jane Pelgram

Several years ago a round-faced young singer of Italian descent let fly with the voice that he himself likened to Enrico Caruso's. That point remained moot, but no doubt lingered about his popularity. Girls swooned and bought new eight-by-ten picture frames. The singer, Mario Lanza, made a movie in which he played Caruso. Box-office "take" shot up. Time Magazine interviewed the new rage, and likened his ego to his appetite. Both huge. But the Lanza-sung "Be My Love" sales continued, undeterred by rumors of the recording artist's fondness for spaghetti and rudeness to the press.

Mario Lanza

Radio Favorite

Finally an NBC radio show was built around singer Lanza, and a pretty solvent corporation by the name of Coca-Cola adopted the pay check each week.

For two years Lanza sang a night a week, and radios everywhere tuned the local NBC outlet, which co-starred a Canadian girl vocalist.

More rumors started. This time they concerned the temperamental Latin's bombastic ill-temper at radio rehearsals. But his public's applause continued, at a far more even keel than the star's weight, which seemed to vary like the thermometer of a night-cooling desert. Up and down, up and down.

Word got out that a big studio was slimming Lanza down for a new picture, "The Student Prince," destined to top even his Caruso role. The picture went into production, but Lanza didn't. He simply failed to show up for work. Trouble more than brewed. It boiled away at a great rate.

Finally, in an unprecedented move, studio executives called off the top-budget production and threatened to sue the star whose continued absence from the set had put them in the red more than $700,000.

An apparently penitent Lanza effected a "reconciliation" and the studio doors were thrown open to the young artist for "talks." But Mario didn't show up again! Trade-paper reports had him angrily moving from the home of his parents; speeding unconcernedly down Sunset Boulevard in a bright car; battling over a Chinese dinner; and finally squabbling with the old friend who was sheltering him during the whole huge storm.

But Mario went on with his radio show. This he apparently liked. And certainly listeners liked him.

Until one night when millions of radios turned to the right spot on the dial and the announcement floated out that this was the Coca-Cola Show featuring Miss Gisele MacKenzie.

The pretty dark-haired Gisele had been sharing the show with the starch-loving star for two seasons. With great dignity the sponsors offered no explanation. They still haven't. An eager press, knowing full well that by this time the movie company was seriously considering abandoning "The Student Prince" and had ordered its attorneys to proceed with a suit against the star for money already sunk in production, were wild to get to the feed box and get the dope.

Too Busy

The agency which does publicity for Coca-Cola straightfacedly released this information: "Lanza is in the midst of negotiations with MGM regarding the resumption of the filming of 'The Student Prince' and is contractually unable to appear on his radio show until the problems which interrupted the production of the picture are straightened out."

The problems are straightened out. MGM did abandon the picture. It did order its attorneys to proceed against the star with a suit for the cash involved. The studio felt five million odd dollars a fair amount.

Almost concurrent with the suit against the singer, Coca-Cola gave up its radio show. September 26 saw Gisele warbling her last note, alone, for the soft-drink company. And Ray Sinatra, a composer-pianist of some distinction, raising the baton for the last time. At least this year.

Meanwhile, rumors about the self-styled Caruso continue to float. But they will scarcely answer the idle wonderings of the millions who find a new show wafted to them during the old time . . . such idle wonderings as "Whatever do you suppose happened to Lanza?"

This Week in TV

Second Glances (Critical Comment)

New Look

It's for sure a "Second Glance" at Art Baker. (When we "viewed him with alarm" last week we must have gotten out of bed on the wrong side that morning.)

Art Baker

So Art used the same words several times on his telecast. Words, s c h m o r d s ! That hardly stacks up against the millions of words on which he built his "Notebook" into Bunyonesque proportions. His fans haven't forgotten Art's heartwarming emceeing on numerous programs and his turning of many a TV commercial into a showmanly bit of interest. In fact, the more we think about Art Baker the more we realize we should point to him with pride and are almost tempted (if you'll pardon the expression) to call him colossal.

Off Lens (Personalities)

Nothing to Fear . . .

Some people never get over being scared on the stage. Some have never felt any fear. One of the latter kind is Elsie Baker, an old friend the magazine has mentioned before.

Elsie wasn't even afraid when she appeared with Martin and Lewis on a recent NBC-TV "Colgate Comedy Hour." Of course Elsie, now a pretty fifty, has been working in every turn of stage lore since she was ten months old. That helps. She was ready for almost any emergency that arose during the TV show or a rehearsal with the crazy duo whose insane antics have put them on top of the comedy heap.

But Elsie's long-learned philosophy is the thing that saved her — and helped a friend.

During the week of rehearsals, Elsie noticed that a fellow actor was literally sick with fright. Shaking, cold hands more than once fell on Elsie's plump arm as the fellow player admitted his trepidation.

One day Elsie drew the speaker aside to a dressing room. Here she heard a tale of complete misery and fear, of a hatred of TV of a terror at not being able to keep up with the mad last-moment funniness of Martin and Lewis.

She interrupted. "Honey, listen. You know your lines, your entrances, your business on the stage. Those you won't forget. But more important to remember is this, when you go out there. It isn't any place that God hasn't been before you. No place is."

The startled co-worker straightened like a shot. "Say that again."

Elsie Baker repeated the philosophy, received from her father, that has guided her through a happy life of show business, home-building, and family-raising. "There is no place you can go that God hasn't been," she said sincerely. "There's nothing left to be afraid of."

After the Martin and Lewis show was finished, the grateful, happier co-worker tried to thank the jolly woman who had breezed through her own difficult bit as Dean's mother-in-law.

"I can never thank you for what you gave me. The only payment I can make is to try and help someone else who is at some time as scared as I was."

And Elsie thinks that is just fine. She would rather play that way than spend her time backstage at gin rummy!

TV Daddy Talks About Baby

Allen B. DuMont, the father of television, didn't stay in Los Angeles very long last week, but he certainly had plenty to say at a special press conference at the new Statler Hotel.

Dr. DuMont, who admits he has been mistaken on numerous occasions for Dwight Eisenhower, answered questions freely and directly on almost every phase of TV during the hour-long session. Very briefly, here were some of the highlights:

1. The average TV screens used in homes will get larger than the twenty-inch screens now so popular.

2. The number of lines on our screens (about 525 lines) will remain the same.

3. Because of cost factors, eighty per cent of TV manufacturers do not equip sets with the maximum set of lines. DuMont utilizes approximately 400 lines, while others vary from 250 to 300.

4. East of Omaha, Dr. DuMont says, the DuMont network is the third largest, right behind CBS-TV and NBC-TV.

5. Most independent TV stations, like independent radio stations, will have a tough time of it financially, and sooner or later will have to affiliate with larger networks.

6. Color TV will not be available on large scale for five to ten years yet.

7. If the FCC approves of it, pay-as-you-go TV has great possibilities.

8. Theater TV will not greatly affect home TV.

9. Even with UHF, there won't be more than 800 TV stations throughout the nation.

10. International TV (except for links between Canada and Mexico and the U.S.) is still a long way off.

Directly active in television ever since 1928, "Daddy" DuMont gave the over-all impression that he has not only been vitally interested in his brainchild during the formative years,

PICK of the PIX

by Aubrey Dahl

In answer to one or two requests, a picture of me as a young man accompanies the verbiage in this week's shaft. It was taken when I was an actor trying out for the part of Wat the Tinker in a little-theatre production of "Robin Hood." I didn't get the part, but I didn't give a damn for Tinker, anyway. You can see from the picture that at the time I was suffering from megalomania, and to this day I can't stand heights. For that matter, some nights I can barely stand at all.

"The Chase." Robert Cummings goes to work as a chauffeur for a gangster, Steve Cochran, as mean a fellow as ever I see, whose wife, Michele Morgan, enlists Cummings's aid in running away. Cochran, abetted by Peter Lorre, an equally asocial fellow, chases after them. The film has a violent ending.

"Sundown." Gene Tierney, Bruce Cabot and George Sanders in an African setting. Natives and soldiers have at each other to the tune of a tom-tom, making for a high old action-packed time of it for everyone.

"Knight Without Armour." This picture, from a book by James Hilton, limns the Russian revolution in terms of a love affair between an Englishman, Robert Donat, and an aristocrat, Marlene Dietrich. Donat helps Dietrich escape, in spite of such setbacks as Marlene's being arrested when she is discovered to have no calluses on her hands. I venture to surmise that the timeless Miss Dietrich hasn't any anywhere else, either.

"Dreaming Lips." A famous violinist is drawn into an affair with the wife of an old friend, with the usual unhappy results for all concerned. With Raymond Massey and Elisabeth Bergner.

"My Son, My Son." An engrossing picture made from Howard Spring's novel about the doting love of father for son and its disastrous effects. With Brian Aherne, Louis Hayward, Madeleine Carroll and Laraine Day.

"The Greed of William Hart." An old-time mellerdrummer on film, complete with sneering villain, pure heroine, and wretched victim with racking cough. With Todd Slaughter.

"East Meets West." With George Arliss. This picture has nothing whatever to do with the New Year's Day Shrine game in San Francisco.

"KNIGHT WITHOUT ARMOUR," Marlene Dietrich, Robert Donat, (5), 10:00 p.m.
 "SHAMROCK HILL," Ray McDonald, Peggy Ryan, (2), 11:00 p.m.
 "SHOOT TO KILL," Russell Wade, (13), 11:05 p.m.
 "FALL GUY," Robert Armstrong, Clifford Penn, (4), 11:15 p.m.

San Diego DIAL DATA

By Maurine Skinner

SAN DIEGO—(Special)—Come December 12, CBS Radio Network will have a new home in San Diego, sharing the building at corner of Fifth and Ash along with Channel 8—CBS-TV. Occupying the entire fifth floor, the radio studios will have the familiar call letters of KFMB—the CBS Radio Network. Such famous personalities as Jack Benny, Arthur Godfrey, Lowell Thomas, Robert Trout and a host of others will be heard at 550 on the dial. Hobby Myers has taken over as manager of the radio end.

Marj Hume's "What's Cookin'?" show is viewed by all women within range of Channel 8 every morning at 11:00 o'clock, and requests for her recipe sheets flood the studios. Now she has added a new achievement to her long list of same by having her recipes go all the way to Germany.

News being a highly important commodity, KFMB-TV has added another newsreel at 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday to its already heavy news schedule. Four San Diego State College students have been added to the news staff as general reporters—they also earn academic credits in serving this internship.

TV-RADIO

Lifelines

BY EVELYN BIGSBY

SENATOR NIXON'S TV (AND RADIO) speech has been pretty well chewed over by now. But before the furor dies down completely, let's reiterate the obvious: that more than ever lookers realized the potency of the TV medium. I wished I might have turned from TV and tuned the radio for a few minutes to determine how much the audio suffered by comparison with the video, but those radio listeners with whom I later checked apparently used their imaginations to complete their own pictures, for they were, they admitted, frankly moved.

I AGREE WITH THOSE WHO THOUGHT the cameras were trained too often on Mrs. Nixon. Once would have been enough to show her tense form and fixed face. I agree that Nixon may have overdone it a bit with the dog incident. But I disagree with those who picked other flaws with the presentation, because inherently this was not a "production," but the plea of a man with his career at stake. He was not talking just to TV and radio critics. He was talking to his countrymen, and the proof of his effectiveness did not lie in the grace with which his stance and gestures struck his viewers but in the fact that people professedly not of his political thinking admitted that they got lumps in their throats.

"WELL, THAT'S THE WAY SHE GOES," said "Mr. Peepers," as usual, when he signed off his summer stint for Ford last week. Whereupon, this reporter felt rebellious. For I have enjoyed the whimsy and gentle satire of Wally Cox (I call him a male milque-toast "Miss Brooks"). I think that if "My Little Margie" is good enough to nab a sponsor for winter TVing, so is "Peepers." Last week, his bit of business with the mailman about the rainy weather was delicious. It cap-suled the cliché-sagging comments that everyone makes when it's dripping. And "Peepers'" halting goodbye to the school nurse and the English teacher's poem-reading production at the induction center were priceless. It's a crying shame to see a chuckly show like this go down the drain, and I hope the protesting letters pour into NBC, New York, not only to keep "Peepers" but to sell him. "Well, that's the way she goes" definitely should not apply to this teleseries.

"DEATH VALLEY DAYS" AS a TV show was previewed the other afternoon and left a nice impression. Clever Rosemary DeCamp acquitted herself smoothly and attractively on the commercials for Pacific Coast Borax.

People are gabbing about:

THE "NEW" BERLE SHOW. Some like it, others don't. I can't say because I don't like Martha Raye and this feeling would color any reaction.

THE BIG PRESS JUNKETS OF TV radio editors from coast to coast to help kick off Joan Davis's new tele-show (but also to gander the new NBC and CBS TV plants).

THE DISAPPOINTING MARTIN AND Lewis seasonal start for Colgate.

HOW GLAD THEY ARE TO HAVE Lucy and Desi back, even though the weekly plots are pretty pat and the bag of tricks always the same.

"LUIGI'S" TV PREMIERE, generally received with favor, but thought by some to be too slow in pace right after the rollicking "Lucy."

Hidden Treasures and "Wild Bill Hickok"

Mutual-Don Lee's "Wild Bill Hickok" program has inaugurated a dilly of a promotion stunt. With shoot-'em-up, knock-'em-down TV fare stealing small-fry audiences just before dinner time, the competition was becoming mighty keen until "Wild Bill" set his sights on buried treasures.

The "Hickok" show has fired the imaginations of the younger set by offering them illustrated maps and guides containing the approximate locations of more than 300 reported buried-treasure sites throughout the country. The large map of the United States is worthy of framing. Its colors are beautiful and the wonderful illustrations of pirates, Conquistadores, Indians and prospectors are intriguing. An intriguing invitation to audiences, both young and the not-so-young, to listen to the adventures of "Wild Bill Hickok" over the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting System (KHJ, 5:30 p.m., Monday, Wednesday, Friday).

If your youngster asks for the garden spade and starts digging you will know that he's hunting for a cache of gold. Kids, here's a tip for those of you living near Yuba County, California. A $30,000 cache of gold is reported hidden in your vicinity by a pioneer miner named Billy Snyder. Have fun and happy listening!

Frederick H. Speare

Radio-ites were sorrowed by the passing of Frederick H. Speare, founder and director of the radio-television school bearing his name. For the past eight years, students of the school have been showcased on "Career Theatre" broadcasts via local airwaves. The program is currently heard on KECA. Authorities have indicated that the school will continue airing "Career Theatre," carrying on the policy of their beloved founder.

Dean Martin-Jerry Lewis

NBC-KFI, KFSD Tuesday, 9:00 p.m.

Comedy's royal pair, Martin and Lewis, are slambanging across the airplanes in their usual hilarious manner. Dean has the responsibility of keeping some semblance of order amidst Jerry's mirth and madness. He handles his emcee chores and vocal renditions in a smooth, relaxing manner. Contrastingly, Jerry gambols through the half hour chasing shadows from solemn-faced listeners.

First half of the stanza is devoted to the pair and the last portion to that week's guest star. On a recent airing, Jeff Chandler engaged in a Western drama with Dean and Jerry. They did a takeoff on the James Brothers, and the laughs rolled along fast and furious. Jerry's Western drawl was intermingled with shades of the Deep South.

Dick Stabile handles the musical background smoothly. George Fenneman announces the show in his usual suave manner; however, the commercial copy was absurd and misleading. When will these cigarette companies give the audiences credit for having some intelligence?

A Big Vote ...

It insures that a decision will be made by all the people. A small vote favors tight machine rule. The machine always votes. Voter indifference discourages able men from running for office. It does not discourage mediocre men and political hacks. When the voter loses interest in his government, he opens the door to corruption and waste.

Let's all work for The Big Vote—

On Mike (About Studio Happenings)

Apt Pupil, Talent Teacher

NBC's "Railroad Hour," long noted for its professional interludes, became unwittingly but pleasantly involved in non-professional music. A former student of Jerry Lawrence's summer class in lyric writing at Banff's Institute of Fine Arts wrote some beautiful lyrics. Jerry was so impressed that he brought the lyrics to Hollywood and showed them to the "Railroad Hour's" choir director, Norman Luboff, who composed a lilting melody to match the student's delightful lyrics. "It's Some Spring" was given the full treatment for its debut. Gordon MacRae, Carmen Dragon's orchestra, and the Norman Luboff Choir presented the song on the "Railroad Hour's" coast-to-coast broadcast.

Britain's Transcription King

Many of our listeners are aware of transcribed radio series such as Frederic W. Ziv's "I Was a Communist for the F.B.I.," starring Dana Andrews, and "Bold Venture," which starred Humphrey Bogart. These are samples of domestic radio productions.

Representing the English counterpart of Ziv and other American transcription firms is Towers of London, Ltd. Harry Alan Towers, at thirty-one, produces and distributes more transcribed radio shows than anyone else in international commercial broadcasting. Since 1946, the fair-skinned, dark-haired Englishman has built his business until he now produces and sells forty programs of his own and distributes sixty others. His shows are heard from Hong Kong to Trinidad.

Currently NBC, CBS and MBS are airing Towers platters. Mutual carries the Gracie Fields Show and "Black Museum" starring Orson Welles. NBC features "The Adventures of the Scarlet Pimpernel," starring Marius Goring, and CBS has logged adaptations of C. S. Forester's novel "Captain Horatio Hornblower."

Ordinarily radio producers, with only one continent to cover, have trouble gauging public reaction to a show. Towers has to worry about the world. He sees to it that his shows "are suited for the whole English-speaking world." Towers tapes every kind of show, and somehow most of them have an international flavor. At the moment, Towers is leery of crime shows. He detects a world-wide "revulsion" against them.

Ear, Eye Inspire the Pen

Mary Lou Wilkerson, 1830 N. Cahuenga, Hollywood, Calif.

I think Ina Ray Hutton has the best all-girl show on TV, and whoever thinks she doesn't is just jealous of her because she is just the cutest and sweetest person there is.

Alice Lee Johnson, Los Angeles, Calif.

What does Stu Wilson look like? If he is as nice looking as he sounds he should be on television. I certainly enjoy his programs on KBIG radio.

Dotty, 7424 Claire Ave., Reseda, Calif.

Am I burned up? I should say I am. What the cameramen (and I use the word lightly) are doing to Korla Pandit on Channel 11 is murder. I don't think they do him justice.

Robert N. Birch, 6233 Klump Ave., North Hollywood, Calif.

I would like to pass my very humble opinion on the coverage by Channel 4 of the Florence Chadwick swim. All I can say about Channel 4's "exclusive," especially after sitting up all night, is that it was strictly the poorest attempt at something that I have seen in the four years that we have had a television. This coverage was strictly "Stink-O-Vision."

As our readers are well aware by now, it is not a general policy of "Ear, Eye Inspire" to comment on the letters we print. These are YOUR columns, and YOUR opinions. However, in this particular case, we do not want to change our correspondent's viewpoint, but we would like to say a few words of explanation. Being with the Channel 4 crew both before, during, and after the entire Chadwick event, we know that no one in the world was more disappointed than the KNBH crew themselves that they couldn't get a picture of the dramatic ending to Flo's heroic swim. The entire personnel of KNBH did everything that human beings could possibly do to bring this historic event to the TV public. But they are human, and when the relay station conked out on them at a crucial moment, there was nothing they could do about it immediately. We think they did a magnificent job. Also remember that if it wasn't for KNBH we wouldn't have seen as much of this dramatic event as we did see.

Mrs. D. Jancke, Fullerton, Calif.

Isn't it too bad we cannot see a ball game on TV without having cigarettes and beer ads thrown at us every few minutes? We do not tune in the game any more because we do not want our children to think life without beer and cigarettes is just not worth living.

Ear and Eye Inspire—(Continued)

Dale E. Bunch, P.O. Box 19125, La Tijera Sta., Los Angeles, Calif.

In the form of an observation, I want to state that we like KTLA, but there are a few stinking little tricks they pull from time to time that make us on the watching side wonder about them. This is what I mean. Florence Chadwick did a magnificent job of swimming the channel and broke all previous records. That should be news, and really noteworthy news. KTLA didn't think so. Not one word was even mentioned about it. We stayed up for the 11:00 final news coverage from KTLA—still, not one word about Florence.

Yes, we know they were scooped on this TV cast by Channel 4, but that should not deprive their viewing public of getting important news. Of course, this is not the first time something like this has happened. We still remember the New Year's Day coverage by KTLA. Does money mean everything to KTLA? Or what is it that makes them do these things? I'll bet if any one of their staff swam even halfway across MacArthur Lake, it would be an item of constant repetition on their program.

Ethel Smith, 306 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, Calif.

KLAC-TV's "Hollywood on Television" is not half as good as it was since Mary Sampley left. She was so natural, matter-of-fact about everything and made one feel at home.

Mrs. Pearl Tinsman, 16213 S. Illinois, Paramount, Calif.

Why someone doesn't put Mary Sampley on a show all her own, I can't understand. I hope to see Mary back on TV real soon.

Ruth and Jim Simpson, 400 W. 65th St., Los Angeles, Calif.

We the housewives think that KLAC-TV, "Hollywood on Television," has let us down. On September 5 the station took Mary Sampley off the program and gave us movies for four hours and twenty minutes, and old ones at that. We, the housewives, have stuck with the program for three years and have bought all the sponsors' products that we could. And we could do our housework or our knitting, and enjoy Betty and Mary's sense of humor and get a lot of laughs too. But how are we going to do this and watch movies all afternoon? When they broke up that combination, they just broke up the show. So it looks like they won't have many viewers if they don't put that combination back together again.

Marcia Davis, 1305 Tremaine, Los Angeles, Calif.

I have had the pleasure of meeting Ken Mayer ("Major Robertson" of "Space Patrol") and now he is beyond any doubt my favorite TV actor.

Ruby Cox, 340 N. San Antonio, Pomona, Calif.

Is Phil Gray on the Spade Cooley Show "Lotta Chatter"? No, he is not. Wally Ruth, the saxophone player, is "Lotta Chatter."

Mrs. M. Pafundi, 324 S. Pueblo, Ojai, Calif.

I think the Foreman Phillips program was the best Western program there was.

Buddy Preston, Los Angeles, Calif.

I hope KTLA doesn't take into consideration what some of your readers said about not showing the "Eastside Kids" and "Flash Gordon." We all like them.

Name withheld by request, 220 W. 67th St., Los Angeles, Calif.

I visited on the set one day recently after KLAC-TV threw Betty White the curve with the new show. She was a whipped girl. Fans are funny—they can love you and they can be cruel. Betty's best friends were calling and writing abusive letters blaming her for the changes, the discontinuing of Mary and the Aunt and Uncle and most for the double movies. She's a sensitive girl. I've never seen her so brought down. Contrary to what many think, there's no feud between her and Mary. Mary was in that day and she and Betty were planning dinner and another spot for Mary. Their friendship is a real thing, and I think Betty's real hurt is the viewers' attitude about them. Now, the reason for this long-winded letter for a girl I love from a grandmother is—if you get a chance for a nice word about her, print it, but think twice before you add to her hurt.

Sharon, Phyllis, Jackie and Carol, 407 N. Ontario St., Burbank, Calif.

We agree with the reader who wrote and said that "Space Patrol" should have more romance.

Pat Grogan, 2616 W. 80th St., Inglewood, Cal.

I think it's wonderful the way Roberta Linn does her TV and radio shows and still has time to entertain the boys in the service. With me, she is tops.

Mrs. M. J. Anderson, 3544 E. 55th St., Maywood, Calif.

I am very sorry to see how "Frosty Frolics" is being ruined by the different plays they are having. The skaters have no chance to show their wonderful talent when they go through such as they did last week. I think they are doing Manny Strand and his fine orchestra a great injustice by not featuring them and I also think Roberta Linn should be featured with the Skaters Finale. She at least deserves that much for her fine singing.

Mrs. S. A. Case, 19037 Bassett St., Reseda, Calif.

Chet Fisher's voice is certainly one of the most beautiful and well trained that we have heard, and while we prefer his "classical" selections, we still think he is great even when singing ballads.

Raymond Boen, 248 S. Bennett St., Compton, Calif.

This is in regards to the man who wrote in about how he wished KTLA would stop running "Flash Gordon" and the "Eastside Kids." I have this to say. I recently bought my TV set, and I have not seen any of the above film features. My boys love "Flash Gordon" and they always have me buy Gordon's bread. Does this gentleman who wrote in realize that many thousands of TV sets are sold monthly and these new set owners might like to see "The Eastside Kids" and "Flash Gordon"?

What, No Romance?

"Fabulous" Flo

Originally, this is the way I had intended to start this week's column:

"Man has usually been able to express his emotions via the printed word. Yet, there are times when certain events are packed with so much drama and conflict that a writer, no matter how hard he tries, feels that somehow he has failed. This is exactly how I feel. After meeting Flo Chadwick some two months ago, and after following her across the Catalina Channel all through the night right up to her landing—all words seem inadequate."

For the rest of the article, I was going to try and explain why this woman and her accomplishment seemed to dwarf any writer's attempt at explanation or description.

Since Flo's record-breaking channel swim, however, I have read and heard many unsavory criticisms about her and KNBH, which covered the event. Here and now, if I may, I would like to make a few criticisms of a few criticisms:

Some people say: "Flo Chadwick stopped the first time (July 3) to cash in on her second attempt."

—I say these people are liars.

Some so-called "sports" writers have reported: "Too much publicity has been given these channel 'stunts,' particularly Miss Chadwick's. Let's have no more of them."

—I say they all, and particularly Flo's, are magnificent stories, just as thrilling and surely deserving of as much space as everyday baseball or football games.

People have said and written to us: "KNBH let us down."

—I say KNBH deserves nothing but accolades for the wonderful job it did for the TV public. And I know that no one was more heart-broken than the KNBH staff themselves when they learned all their hard work had been in vain when the equipment failed at the end of the swim.

Others say: "Flo did it just for the money."

—I know that she has received very little money for her efforts. Also, does anyone dare to think that Joe DiMaggio, for example, trained for years to sign a contract with the New York Yankees to play for nothing except press clippings? Of course not.

I hope Flo Chadwick makes 50,000,-000,000 dollars. She's earned every single cent she ever gets.

Finally, there are many other standards to judge life by, besides fame or Page Thirty-four

Wrestling

Is My Business

by Jules StrongBow

The woods are full of wrestling brothers. Sooner or later, they turn up for some tag-team combat. Some of these teams are excellent combinations, such as Mike and Ben Sharpe, who claim the world tag-team championship; Chris and Babe Zaharias and Emil and Ernie Dusek, the roughhouse champions.

But if a popularity poll were taken of all the brother tag teams in the nation, the boys on the cover of TV-Radio Life would be a lead-pipe cinch to win. In fact, they would probably get more votes than all the other teams put together.

George and Bobby Becker are one of the phenomena in wrestling. Year in and year out, in all parts of the country, they stay at the top of the heap, not only as a tag team but individually.

I have tried many times to analyze just what it is these two personable boys from Brooklyn have. They are good wrestlers but there are dozens of good wrestlers. It has to be something else.

One of their outstanding characteristics is their clean-cut good looks and quiet, unassuming manners. They are typical all-American boys.

Perhaps the trait which has endeared them to fans all over the nation is their love and respect for each other. The Becker brotherly love is almost a tangible thing and is sensed by everyone who sees them.

The confusion as to whether George and Bobby are really brothers started when Bobby joined the professional ranks. George, the elder, was a YMCA amateur who graduated into pro wrestling and zoomed into the limelight. He was always Bobby's idol, and when Bobby decided to follow in his brother's footsteps he took the name of Ray Swartz until he could prove himself worthy of the Becker name.

Most brother tag teams don't stick together long. After a bit, they separate and work in different parts of the nation. The principal reason for this is the green-eyed monster. The majority of men do not care to share the spotlight—even with their kin.

With the Beckers, neither will go into a territory unless there is room for both of them. Their solid little mu-money, I, and I believe I can speak for the hundreds of persons who accompanied her by boat and for the thousands who followed her pumping arms and churning feet on their TV screens, will always be indebted to Florence Chadwick. For fourteen hours she gave us a magnificent experience which we shall always remember.

tual-admiration society has no room for jealousy—and no cause for it either, as both men are top-notchers. George won the claim to the world's heavyweight championship and a year later lost it to Enrique Torres at the Olympic Auditorium.

In private life, they are average All-American family men. In the cool of the afternoon you will find them sitting in one or the other's back yard spinning yarns about all the work they have to do around the house—which never gets done. Their wives have the same troubles as other wives trying to get them to paint the kitchen or fix the faucet.

George and his wife, Oreen, have three children: Beverly, nine, Barbara, five, and Georgie, Jr., three. Bobby and his wife, Helen, have two boys, Douglas, seven, and little Bobby, four.

For hobbies, they play handball. When the sun goes down, they like nothing better than to harmonize a few numbers—as you see on the cover. They are practicing up another song for the dressing-room interviews over KTLA soon.

'Hoppy'

the dialogue isn't full of vernacular that will be dated."

Just about this time a plaid-shirted newsboy poked his head and wares into the photo lab. His eyes lit on "Hoppy" and widened. But his only comment was "Huh." The prop chair creaked as Boyd shouted with laughter. Realizing he'd pulled a boner of some sort, the small news salesman rallied.

"Who are you?"

"I'm 'Hopalong Cassidy.' Do you mean you've never seen me on TV?"

"Nope."

"Where you been living, kid . . . in a gopher hole?" roared "Hoppy."

Then businessman Boyd, who built himself and his films from the "former movie actor" status into TV's top attraction of several years, pounced back to his place before the camera. He chuckled, "Come on, fellows. Let's get a real flock of pictures around. Looks like I've got a whole new generation to win!"

▶ WHENEVER AND WHEREVER baseball is played the fans will always remember "the greatest of them all," "The Sultan of Swat," "The Bambino"—George Herman "Babe" Ruth. This picture was taken at the twilight of his career with the New York Yankees.

ON THE NIGHT OF JULY 3, 1952, Florence Chadwick plunged into the briny for a Catalina-to-San Pedro swim. KNBH hoisted its remote truck aboard an ocean barge and telecast the swim until noon on the 4th, with a full coast-to-coast pick-up part of this first telecast from the high seas.

The "Remote"

MOST Southern California TV lookers were but dimly aware of what a "remote" in telecasting meant until two and one-half years ago when a little golden-haired girl plunged to her death in a deserted San Marino well. At that time, KTLA and KTTV rose to the tense situation and, by dint of tremendous labor, ingenuity and endurance brought the TV lookers of Southern California an intimate glimpse of the Kathy Fiscus rescue efforts.

Not All Tragedy

Since this sad but memorable incident televiewers of Southern California have grown accustomed to all kinds of "remotes." In fact, they invariably expect that any disaster, manhunt, troop return, visit of a celebrity and other interesting events will be brought directly into their living rooms by remote telecasting.

Lookers have had loge seats for such telecasts as the A-bomb blast, General Eisenhower's visit, Marine KTLA'S CAMERA CREW TRAIN THEIR LENS on the mock invasion of the United States Marines during "Operation Lex-Barker One," which occurred last February. The landing started early one morning, and Channel 5 kept on men, helicopters, guns and boats until nearly dusk. A telecast from a battleship off shore the night before started the big maneuver coverage.

maneuvers, MacArthur's homecoming, the Tehachapi earthquake, Warner Brothers' fire, and Florence Chadwick's Catalina Channel swim.

The Cost

In receiving such telecasts in the comfort of their living rooms, very few viewers realize the amount of stamina and effort involved on the part of the remote crew. Relay stations must often be erected and put into operation. Rugged terrain must be conquered, thousands of dollars worth of equipment must be safely transported and often life and limb placed in jeopardy. Take, for example, the case of KNBH in televising the Catalina swim: About twenty people and a forty-foot remote-control unit were required to telecast that thrilling event. When KTLA covered the Tehachapi earthquake recently, not only were the usual twenty people and two remote-control trucks needed, but enough food to last two days and one night. For insurance reasons, none of the markets or restaurants could touch their supplies.

▲ THE FIRST MICROWAVE telecast of atom tests was made by KTLA's able staff. The cameras were fastened to the top of the remote truck with ropes to withstand the powerful shock of the blast.

▲ RUGGED TERRAIN held no barrier for KTLA's equally rugged crew, who with the pooled assistance of the other six local television stations effected transmission of atom-bomb tests made at Las Vegas.

Tall, Tan, Terrific Texan

Gene Autry's Success Formula . . . No Variation From the Tried and Proven

By Bob Bowen

CBS'S Gene Autry, a product of Tioga, Texas, parlayed a natural talent, a twelve-"bit" guitar, advice from the late Will Rogers, and a capacity for hard work into one of the most phenomenal success stories in show business.

Rogers's Advice

When Gene was a telegraph operator, he spent his spare time between messages singing and playing his $1.50 guitar. One night a man came to the telegraph office to wire the syndicated column he was writing. As he stood at the window, he heard Autry going through his repertoire. After the message was sent, the man told Gene that he should go to New York and try the big time. Autry took Will Rogers's advice and went to the big city, but didn't exactly make the grade then.

Gene went to Oklahoma and was working at a local station when Art Satherly, of Columbia Records, who had seen Autry in New York, came to visit Gene. He was impressed enough to have the cowboy make his first recording, "That Silver Haired Daddy of Mine." It has since become one of the twenty top sellers of all time (over 5,000,000 copies) and Gene has become one of the top recording personalities of all time. He's one of the few to have ten songs sell over a million copies.

Many Activities

But records and his weekly CBS Gene Autry Show are only two of his many successful ventures. He's actively engaged in movies, where he's remained as a top star for over sixteen years. He has his own television productions, owns five ranches, oil-well interests, two music publishing companies, radio stations and a Western store in Arizona.

Any one of these enterprises would tax the average man's energy, but Autry is not an average man. He believes nothing succeeds like success and has proven it. In addition to all these time-consuming activities, he also makes six rodeo performances a year and fulfills many personal-appearance engagements. His energy at the end of a day, week or year is as boundless as a school-boy's, because he has learned the art of relaxation. Characteristically, Gene insists that there's no secret to his record. "I have always tried to make the most of what I had. I never depend on luck, but I sure take advantage of it when it comes along. What success I've had has come mostly from hard work and concentration, day after day, year after year. That's the basis for a long life in show business. Don't let the public forget you."

➡ GENE AUTRY TAKES TIME OUT TO WRITE a letter in the cabin on his private plane, which he pilots to and from his personal-appearance tours. The CBS star credits his success to hard work and stick-to-it-iveness.

➡ HELPING GENE BEHIND THE SCENES and a great contributing factor to his success is his lovely wife Ina Mae Spivey. The Autrys celebrated their twenty-first wedding anniversary last April.

▲ NOW LET'S ALL SING TOGETHER, says Cliff to Mary Sampley, Wally Imes and Betty White. Cliff sings high praises for KLAC-TV's producer "Tiny" Renier, who smoothly integrates the five-a-week kaleidoscopic teleshow.

Cliff Whitcomb: Mr. Musicmaker

CLIFF WHITCOMB, amiable musicmaker on KLAC-TV's Eddie Albert - Betty White show, has been tickling the ivories since he was eight.

Music means everything to Cliff. He met his wife, Toodie, while working as accompanist for an amateur contest in which she was competing. Cliff fails to tell how she fared in the contest, but evidently everything worked out all right, as they were married in 1939 and now have four children. Judy, the eldest, twelve, shows promise of following in her dad's footsteps.

"She has participated in the intermission quiz of the 'Symphony for Youth' broadcasts," he said proudly, "and what's more she knows the right answers." Judy studies piano and some day hopes to become a concert pianist.

One portion of his show, in particular, rewards Cliff with a deep feeling of gratification. That is the segment devoted to filling requests submitted by shut-ins. "It is more than satisfying to be able to bring a little joy to shut-ins," he says. "It makes me feel that my music, aside from its entertainment value, is serving a worthwhile purpose. After all, it doesn't require too much stretch of the imagination to think that perhaps my music has some psychotherapeutic value."

Like most musicians, Cliff traveled a great deal. He played the usual circuits, and was a member of the orchestra aboard the S.S. Bremer. This engagement came to an abrupt end when the German ship was taken into custody in 1939. One of Cliff's favorite stories concerns the time he doubled in brass at a small hotel.

His booking covered piano renditions supplemented by waiting on tables. Cliff was great on the ivories, but got into a lot of trouble as an intermission waiter. He just couldn't remember the patrons' orders and was finally fired for not being sharp. Cliff is quite certain he's the only musician in history ever to be fired because he was not sharp.

Frank Bingman

ON A CLEAR, bright night, you can see the "man in the moon." Each weekday night at 10:30 over KECA, you can hear "Music from the Moon."

Because his name is never mentioned on the program, few people realize, however, that the suave, mellow voice behind "Music from the Moon" belongs to Frank Bingman.

Frank is no stranger to radio fans. He's been out here in California since 1937, and has handled dozens of announcing chores, Abbott and Costello, the Ginny Simms Show, "Great Gildersleeve," Jack Benny Show, Joan Davis Show, "Maxwell House" and "Hollywood Players" among them.

Born, reared, and educated in Washington Court House (it's a town, not a building), Ohio, Bingman hitchhiked to New York at the age of seventeen. Combining a scholarship with a busboy's job, he attended the Feagin School of Dramatics for a year.

Back in Ohio, he worked in a grocery store until another scholarship came along, this time at the Schuster-Martin School in Cincinnati. Here, he became a free-lance actor in radio and met and married his wife, Valyanya.

In Frank's own words, "She's the brains in the family," and operates a dancing studio. They live in their own home in Outpost section of Hollywood, and have one child, Bruce Michael, eight.

During World War II, Frank worked on radar, and saw combat duty in several Pacific invasions, set up a radio station in Korea, and was honorably discharged with several decorations.

Returning to Hollywood, he worked at KFAC and Mutual, and has been with ABC since October, 1951.

Five nights a week, this "man from the moon" comes "down to earth" and broadcasts the ten o'clock news over KECA.
