Lionel Barrymore:

Why "Scrooge"
Will Never Die

JIMMY
DURANTE

▲ NO SHAPELIER SANTA ever squeezed down a chimney than pretty Lucille Knotch, who trades ad-libs and lends pulchritude to Red Skelton's NBC-TV show. And "Lucy" dressed up to welcome the Christmas spirit for 1952!

▲ FATHER GORDON MacRAE dons a Santa suit and beard, and with wife Sheila steals out to make ready for the three MacRae children's Christmas a.m. bound down the stairs! Gordon also did his regular Christmas Eve NBC show.

"And the Beard on His Chin . . .

Was as White as the Snow!" These Suits and Beards Were Brand-New, Put On in the Spirit of Christmas Fun . . .

▼ SURROUNDED BY CHRISTMAS goodies is pert singer Paula Kelly, girl member of the Modernaires vocal group, heard on CBS radio's "Club 15" series. Bob Crosby, of the same show, says Paula is the best looking Santa he ever saw!

Why "Scrooge" Never Grows Old

By Ted Hilgenstuhler

WHEN YOU think of Christmas, you think of Charles Dickens and "The Christmas Carol." Although the famed English author wrote his memorable tale over 109 years ago, the plot and the characters come to life again each year at Yuletide.

Poor Bob Cratchit. Little Tiny Tim.

▼ THIS YEAR, as he has been doing ever since 1936, Lionel Barrymore will once again portray his famous role of "Scrooge" from Charles Dickens's "A Christmas Carol" over CBS radio.

The ghost of Old Marley. And Mr. "Christmas, bah, humbug" Scrooge himself.

Equally synonymous, especially to millions of radio listeners throughout the world, are the names of "Scrooge" and Lionel Barrymore, truly one of the greatest and most respected actors this nation or any nation has ever produced.

People never seem to tire of the story, nor of Lionel's interpretation. Why does Scrooge never grow old?

Mr. Barrymore answered that question himself one Sunday afternoon at the CBS studio.

The Answer

"Young man," Lionel began, hesitating momentarily to find just the right words, "there are three main reasons why people will always listen to 'The Christmas Carol.'"

"The first reason is simply because the author, Mr. Charles Dickens, was a great artist. The works of a great artist like Leonardo da Vinci or Velasquez will never get old.

"Secondly, instead of listening to what I might have to say on the subject, you would do better to read Bret Harte's poem 'Dickens in Camp.' It will explain how I and many others are affected by Dickens's work."

(The setting of the poem takes place around a camp-fire in the Old West. During the night, amidst the men's "rude humor," a young man "read aloud the book wherein the Master had writ of 'Little Nell':

*"Perhaps 't was boyish fancy—for the reader
Was youngest of them all,
But, as he read, from clustering pine and cedar
A silence seemed to fall;*

The fir-trees, gathering closer in *the shadows,

Listened in every spray,
While the whole camp with 'Nell'
on English meadows
Wandered and lost their way.")*

This is precisely the same effect which happens each Christmas when we hear the Dickens tale—our minds wander and lose their way.

A Wonderful Part

"The third reason, and probably the most important one why Scrooge will never grow old," Mr. Barrymore continued, "is simply that Scrooge is a wonderful part to play. Some actor will always want to do it."

And that's exactly what Mr. Barrymore has done ever since 1934. That was the first year he enacted the role on radio. With but two exceptions, the current narrator on CBS's "Hallmark Playhouse" has starred as "Scrooge" every year.

On Christmas Eve, 1936, his wife suddenly passed away, and his brother, the late John Barrymore, took the part on the air. In 1938 Orson Welles was heard. Lionel resumed the role in 1939, and has portrayed it annually ever since.

Message for Lionel

Mr. Barrymore's explanation of "why Scrooge never grows old" was a simple, sincere and valid one. However, he did neglect to mention one very important point:

Although it is true that gifted artists and their works never die, it is also true that no man, no matter how gifted, ever achieved greatness alone. It takes fine actors to keep them and their works alive and immortal in the minds of men.

This, also, Mr. Barrymore has done. And for this, Mr. Dickens, if he were still alive, would have said, as we say now to our modern Mr. Scrooge: "Merry Christmas, Mr. Barrymore. Merry Christmas."

Look What I Got In My Stocking!

One of Show Business's Best-Loved Counts His Blessings, Material and Otherwise, and Tells How He Can Make Those Blessings Count!

By Jane Pelgram

THROUGH YEARS of publicity on it, and his own jokes, Jimmy Durante's nose is the first thing that probably occurs to millions of listeners and viewers when his name is mentioned. To people in the radio-TV or picture industry who know him, Jimmy's big heart and inspiring niceness are the first things they think of in connection with the little veteran of show business.

EACH CHRISTMAS Day, in an attractive gray house on a quiet street in Beverly Hills there gathers a crew of friends who have met to celebrate together for years. The host is Jimmy Durante, to whom Christmas just wouldn't be Christmas unless his "boys" were with him.

Old Friends

"That's da best thing I ever get for Christmas." Jimmy confided. "Knowin' the boys will be with me. And Maggie. And Miss Little." She is the young lady photographed with Jimmy on his infrequent nights out. Maggie is Jimmy's housekeeper of many years, the one who keeps his refrigerator stocked with milk and corn flakes.

"Knowin' ya got these friends is the greatest thing. If I go to New York, the boys go. If I go to Asia, the boys are there," he rasped fondly. "That's really my Christmas."

Knowing that Jimmy Durante has at one time or another had everything, including these friendships, and must be a pretty tough fellow to buy gifts for, we asked him point-blank, "But Jimmy, what did you find in your stocking this year?"

His reaction was typical. Before he cited a thing, he muttered bashfully . . . "Dey shouldn't a done it."

Eddie Jackson, long-time pal and one of the really spectacular triumvirate of Clayton, Jackson and Durante which was reduced to a twosome with the death of dancing Lou Clayton, brandished a cigar and gruffly interrupted, "He says that about everything. Tell 'em what you got, Jimmy."

Never Wins

Durante poured his whole countenance into thought. Then brightened. "Sa-a-y, I got a lifetime pass to Del Mar." Rather self-consciously he explained, "I don't do much gambling, you know. Just hop down there once in a while." Rather sadly, "What a beatin' I take!"

He glanced at a wafer of gold on his wrist and clucked something unintelligible over a beautiful watch. The same "Dey shouldn't a done it!" was some place in those mutterings. Jimmy will pore over a gold watch or a pair of hand-knit socks. The watches in many cases come from the head of a network, or top man of a big talent agency, but to Jimmy it is as though the gift represented scraped-together dollars and post-Christmas privation on the donor's part.

"And I got a cuckoo clock!" he beamed. "One of those Swiss clocks with the little birds and the long chains ya wind it with. Dey make 'em in Germany."

Again Eddie Jackson punctuated the conversation with his cigar. "Swiss."

"Yeh, Swiss," pondered Jimmy. "Or Germany."

Frustrated Fisherman

"An' I got a whole lot of tackle."

Anyone who has seen Durante's home knows that the frustrated fresh-water fisherman is loaded with every conceivable bit of tackle he could use in a lifetime. But the gift had delighted him.

"Now that I'm not doin' any radio, I can go up to Clear Lake and get some fishin' done." Jimmy has had a home at Clear Lake since the days he and his late wife lived there. He's always planning a trip back to fish and rest, and has kept the place as beautiful as it was originally. But demands have interfered, and the plans and tackle pile up.

He appealed to Eddie Jackson, from whom immediately poured a list of treasures from full sets of tables and chairs for Jimmy's new work room, through the clothes department, watches, gadgets and things for his home.

"And a record," prompted Durante. "Say, did you ever hear Marian Harris sing?" Here he warbled a bit of the song that made the late, old-time singer a headliner. "I Ain't Got Nobe-od-y . . ." She was da king of

Why I Believe in Santa Claus

By JOAN DAVIS

AS I LOOK back over my more than thirty years in show business, I can say, "Yes, I sure do believe in Santa Claus." When anyone reaches my age and can say, "I'm still doing what I've always wanted to do since I was seven and have made a go of it," you've got to believe in Santa Claus.

First Santa

Back in my home town of St. Paul, as a kid, naturally I was told all the stories of Santa and his reindeer. Like everyone else, I hung my stocking by the chimney Christmas Eve and gave faint inklings of what was to come by my pratfall down the stairs the next morning to find what Santa had brought.

As I grew older, and my woolen stockings changed to nylon, they hung next to the most important chimney any of us possess today . . . let's call it hope.

My folks, in a sense, were Santa Clauses to me all my life. Though neither of them had ever been in show business, they spent the greater part of my youth waiting patiently for me at the stage door with nary a word of complaint between them. (Even though I was slightly upset the time my mother made me stay home and attend high school rather than gallivanting with some vaudeville all over the country.) Since there was little vaudeville out here, few people had heard of me so I had trouble getting a job. However, Mr. Sennett took a liking to me, put me in what I think was the last picture he ever made—"Way Up Thar"—and from that I gained a successful picture career.

New Santa

In 1941, a chap named Dick Mack became Santa Claus in my life. At the time, he was producing the Rudy Vallee-John Barrymore radio show.

December 26, 1952

He'd seen me in films and vaudeville and felt that I would be good on radio.

But it took more than thought on his part to give me a role. Everyone else connected with the show thought that my comedy was too visual, that I would never go on radio. But Santa Claus Mack—and for no reason at all, for he had never even met me—kept fighting until finally they agreed to give me one guest shot. I guess I did OK. I remained on the show for some years after that.

All Santas

And now I'm in television. The American people are the Santa

Clauses here for their wonderful support of me through the years.

Oh, there's someone up there, too, who's been pretty great to me since birth, giving me the talent to get this far.

So, you see, I believe in Santa Claus. Maybe not one like the storybooks say, but many. They may not all wear white beards or come sliding down chimneys on Christmas Eve . . . they may crop up in the middle of any month and look just like any ordinary human being. But they've still got the spirit of Santa Claus inside them. Isn't that what counts?

Close-Ups on KNBH

↑ THE LATE RALPH BYRD, as "Dick Tracy," and Joe Devlin, as "Sam Catchem," perform experiments in an attempt to discover the source of poisonous alcohol in an exciting KNBH chapter of the "Tracy" series.

↑ "COUNTESS NALYA," played by Monica Keating, menaces Joe Devlin, whom she and "Captain Sharke" have kidnaped to prevent him from disclosing their scheme to defraud an insurance company.

↑ RALPH BYRD, who passed on last fall, had played the "Dick Tracy" role for movies for many years before TV adopted the characters of the popular comic strip and presented them on Channel 4. (NBC-Ball photo.)

You'll See More on Channel 4

↓ DOG DAYS AT KNBH. This particular dog is "Lady," the instructress seeing-eye dog who lives in Azusa, at training headquarters. Pretty Lois Collier, of the "Boston Blackie" series, needs no introduction.

↓ AS LEE HOGAN, hostess of KNBH's "It's a Good Idea," knows, her champagne-colored poodle is as sturdy as the Irish oak from which he takes the name Shillelagh, but his heart is creampuff-soft.

In & Out of Focus (General Comment)

Around TV Row

Walter Winchell

... ABC-TV's Walter Winchell, real winter-hater, has always hied himself Florida-ward when the snow comes to hometown Gotham. But there is not any TV cable leading out of Florida. So WW hies himself California-ward for four weeks, where a national hookup has been rigged for a couple of years. The tentative trip will be Walter's first in four years to our Coast.

... Alan Young started filming his TV shows last week. That simple sentence is the culmination of a many-months fight between Alan and CBS-TV over film, with Alan obviously winning. He hated doing a show live.

Alan Young

... President-elect Eisenhower has been busily staffing his Cabinet, and Pacific Palisades Honorary Mayor has been busily staffing his. He just appointed singer Jack Owens Honorary Fire Chief of that community. ... CBS-TV's "I Love Lucy" is still on top of the rating race, and Desi and Lucy have been approached to make a full-length movie about a police sergeant (Desi) who doesn't get along with a breezy rookie policewoman. That's Lucy, of course.

Warner Bros. won't let Gordon MacRae do television. But the railroad company wants the "Railroad Hour" done on TV. So right now handsome, talented Byron Palmer looks like the one who will benefit from Gordon's contractual inability to go before the video cameras. Rumor has Dorothy Wrenskjold in the other corner of the "Railroad" stage, waiting for all auditions to be completed and a leading man set.

Gordon MacRae

Remember our tabbing on Bill Page Eight

Stulla's fantastic amount of weekly mail? That was nothing. Last week KNBH was again flooded, with "Parlor Party" racking up a count of over 13,438. That put the Jack Douglas-produced "Party" up more than a thousand over the previous week's take!

... Did you notice who is sponsoring KNBH's "Uncle Archie"? "Uncle Archie" is, on behalf of U. A. records. So now, if anything goes wrong with the "Uncle Archie" record commercials, "Uncle Archie" has no one to blame but "Uncle Archie"!

The Big Switch

The night of Tuesday, December 30, is going to be a big one for KTTV, Channel 11.

That's the night that both "Chevron Theater" at 7:30 p.m. and "Death Valley Days" at 8:30 p.m. make their debut on the Times station.

Most of our readers are probably aware of the fact—and certainly the people in the TV industry are—but this is being hailed by KTTV as some sort of a victory. Both "Chevron" and "Death Valley" were previously seen on KTLA, Channel 5. The last "Death Valley" performance on KTLA was on December 12, and the final "Chevron" performance on Landsberg's outlet is scheduled for December 26.

Whether or not "the big switch" will be beneficial to both the public and the sponsors, only time can tell.

Second Glances (Critical Comment)

We View With Alarm

... The carefree soul who broke into KECA-TV's moonlight movie "Theirs Is the Glory" to crack about the "good old days" as part of a carpet pitch. We appreciated seeing the picture at home, free, but being reminded of the good old days during a World War II scene, especially one which showed a cut-down parachute troop lying about dead left us with the impression—a strong one—that the carpet pusher wasn't watching what went on around his pitch. The intro got our attention, all right, if that's what he wanted.

We Point With Pride

... To the spoofing of Korla Pandit on Jimmy Durante's last Saturday "All-Star Revue," NBC-TV. Korla may be your idea of the greatest thing since the first dollar-bill copper plate was etched, but let's face it. He's not on TV. And he's not on because he isn't sponsored. A little more life and fun such as he exhibited in the company of Durante, and someone might crack out the bankroll to bring him back again. Korla's deadpan was pretty well played out. And Jimmy's own flirty-eyed, head-bedecked takeoff on India's answer to Jelly Roll Morton was a hilarious bit of nonsense that certainly hurt no one. (The show was performed on the 12th, to go East, so we knew before printing and Western viewing of the show, what you would see only last week end.)

... To the increasing wealth of imagination that goes into the production of NBC-TV's Saturday night "Your Hit Parade." Song number, in order of its popularity, is now integrated into the scene built around the song. And those scenes themselves continue to surpass anything we have seen on a TV musical for talent, novelty, performance and good taste. This was the show to which TV-Radio Life last year gave its Annual Distinguished Achievement Award, and every "Hit Parade" we have seen since makes us glad all over again that we did! Distinguished achievement describes the show.

... To the norm of situation which CBS-TV's "Suspense," seen on Channel 2 Tuesday nights, is hitting. Spooks and all kinds of stuff extrasensory make for suspenseful watching, without a doubt, but just plain people embroiled in suspenseful situations have the even scarier smack of reality.

... To the sportscasting of Jimmy Powers, who does those Friday night Gillette bouts we see, via NBC-TV, on KNBH at 7:00 p.m. We've always been impressed with Powers's refusal to try and tout every bout as the battle of the century, or to describe the slow match you're bound to come up with now and then as a red-hot battle of flying fists. Our own sports editor tipped us on Powers. Jimmy had never done any sports before he went into TV, so could approach things normally, with no bad habits to break. Habits such as developed by many of the radio casters, whose audience couldn't see what was going on.

On Lens (About Studio Happenings)

Better Than Ever?

We went to a movie the other night. It was a deliberate move to crack the TV shackles of living room captivity. The movie was highly recommended. One taken abroad. It was also terrible. The music track was deafening. Between features there was a ten-minute commercial all about tobacco land.

We'd put cash on the barrelhead for this treat.

We left the theater, paid the parking-lot man and went home—just in time to catch the "owl" movie. It was also terrible. The music track was deafening, so we turned it down. We talked a lot, ate and laughed loudly during the picture, having a real good time. The commercials, we noted, seemed so brief.

The shackles are back.

We Told You So!

Remember the story we had on Dude Martin and Sue Thompson and their prospective marriage? That was almost six months ago. Which gives us a scoop, you know.

A little over a week ago Dude and his pretty Sue went to Las Vegas, Nevada, and were married in a quiet ceremony. That's wrapping up Christmas, a New Year and a nice start, and a marriage (and subsequent anniversaries) all in one.

So to Dude and Sue three good, good wishes.

San Diego
DIAL DATA

By Maurine Skinner

SAN DIEGO (Special)—The new CBS switch-over to KFMB has happened! Lot of work involved in this switch-over, especially placing gummed labels on 5,000 pennies which informed people of the change in radio networks. These pennies were distributed to numerous cash registers in the San Diego area.

Have you seen the Christmas window at the corner of Fifth and Ash? Better stop by and look it over. Channel 8's Art Dept. is responsible. They always come through with flying colors. It ties in with the network switch and Christmas.

Jack Lueken and his Magic Shop on Channel 8 have proved so popular with small fry that some parents have a problem. For instance, one parent couldn't budge his youngster from the house after 3:00 each afternoon. The show, of course, doesn't come on until 5:30 p.m. Junior wanted to make sure he was available for the show. With the show on every day, Monday through Friday, the family's shopping sprees in the afternoon are limited. You just can't leave a six-year-old home alone.

Channel 8 viewers will have good viewing over the holidays. Starting with Christmas Eve—guess I should say Christmas morning, real early—midnight mass from the Cathedral here in San Diego will be televised. Then a little later at 8:00 a.m. the viewers can attend Christmas Day services which will come from Washington. Longines - Wittenauer will come through again with an hour-long Festival of Christmas Music from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m.

On New Years Day the sports fans will have a field day. After the Rose Bowl Parade at 8:00 a.m. to start the day off in proper fashion, you can then follow the Orange Bowl Game from Miami and also the Rose Bowl Game. There are also Pro Championship Games coming up on the 21st and the 28th. The East-West Shrine Football Game on the 27th, too. All this you can see on Channel 8.

The ever popular local religious show "Let There Be Light" is back at a new time each Sunday. You can now view it at 10:00 a.m.

The revolving figure 8 on top of the KFMB-TV building means this is the home of Channel 8!

TIME CHANGES

Tuesday, December 30—DEATH VALLEY DAYS, (11), 8:30 p.m. The exciting stories of historical events and true-life anecdotes which occurred in or near California's famed Death Valley become a KTTV feature at this new time starting this week.

Sunday, December 28—HALLS OF SCIENCE (4), 5:30 p.m. The Department of Chemistry at the University of Southern California, in connection with KNBH, brings the public-service programs to viewers at this new time.

WHAT'S NEW

Thursday, January 1—SCOOP THE WRITERS, (11), 10:30 p.m. A news identification program which features Rose Marie as femcee and a panel of experts including Sid Dorfman, Jack Douglas, Hal Kanter and Wendell Niles. Viewers play an important part. Send in newspaper clippings, plus a rhyming jingle and a musical clue for identification purposes. Contributors who stump the experts receive valuable prizes.

WHAT'S BACK

Thursday, January 1—MY LITTLE MARGIE, (2), 9:30 p.m. Charles Farrell and Gale Storm in the weekly comedy of a widower whose chief concern is his twenty-one-year-old daughter, Margie.

WHAT'S PLAYING

Sunday, December 28—PHILCO TV PLAYHOUSE, (4), 9:00 p.m. "Tempest of Tick Creek" with Crahan Denton and Harry Belver in the story of a returned heir; a chest full of gold; a $100,000 swindle in a bootleg whisky deal and a happy ending.

Sunday, December 28—HOLLYWOOD OPENING NIGHT, (4), 10:30 p.m. James Dunne, Jane Darwell and Anne Whitfield star in a domestic comedy, "Josie," story of a teen-ager more interested in debating than in dating.

Monday, December 29—ROBERT MONTGOMERY PRESENTS, (4), 9:30 p.m. Sidney Blackmer plays the leading role in Adrian Spies' adaptation of Joseph Conrad's classic thriller, "Victory."

Wednesday, December 31—THE BIG PICTURE, (9), 7:30 p.m. Army Transportation Corps; following supplies from the factory to the depot in the US to the port on the front line is tonight's film.

Friday, January 2—SCHLITZ PLAYHOUSE OF STARS, (2), 8:00 p.m. Guest star-hostess Fay Bainter cuts loose from the kitchen and becomes a personality instead of just plain Mom in "Jenny."

WHO'S GUESTING

Saturday, December 27—ALL-STAR REVUE, (4), 9:30 p.m. The fabulous Tallulah headlines, with guest stars Jack Carson, Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, Patsy Kelly and night-club comic Phil Foster.

TV-RADIO LIFE

SHOW, (2), 4:30 p.m. On Benny's fourth show of the season Jimmy Stewart and wife, as well as Sara Berner, help entertain.

Sunday, December 28—HALLMARK HALL OF FAME, (4), 5:00 p.m. Kate Smith guests to re-create the famous Christmas story, "The Small One," which she has done on radio for sixteen Christmases.

WHAT'S SPECIAL

Thursday, January 1 — SUGAR BOWL FOOTBALL CLASSIC, (7), 8:00 a.m. Two undefeated teams, Georgia Tech and the University of Mississippi, in a game that starts at 11:00 a.m. their time in the Sugar Bowl Stadium in New Orleans, La., seen via microwave.

Handy Hints

By Dorothy Gardiner and Ken Graue, stars of KTLA's "Handy Hints," Monday through Friday, 6:45 p.m.

Here is this week's winner: Mary Lamb, 1804 Warwick Rd., San Marino, Calif.

This is the hint:

Here's how you can make a baby walker out of an old-fashioned cane-bottomed chair. Cut the cane seat out and cut off the top and back. Cover the rim of the seat which is left with quilted plastic material, tacking it on the under side. Next, cut a paddle-shaped seat out of one-inch-thick wood and cover the round part with plastic material. Nail this paddle-like seat in place, the round part nailed to the back rung and the handle part to the front rungs. This makes a seat for the baby to straddle. Put ball-bearing casters on the legs. And you have a baby walker.

PICK of the PIX

by Aubrey Dahl

I have just been informed that, because of the holidays, my deadline has been moved up and we are going to press in eight minutes. And so, reluctant as I am to disappoint my plagiarists, I'll finish this in seven, and who's to know? Ready, set, go, man, go!

"Mr. Perrin and Mr. Trail." (7) Dec. 28, 10:15. This engrossing British picture tells of the conflict between two teachers in a boys' prep school. Mr. Perrin, played by Marius Goring of "Red Shoes" fame, is a veteran pedagogue whose position is threatened by the arrival of a new teacher, Mr. Trail, played by David Farrar. Essentially the story of Mr. Perrin's inability to cope with the reality which invades his cloistered life, and his resultant failure as a teacher and as a man, the film is best when dealing with the problems and activities of the school, and weakest when investigating a rather puerile love affair between Farrar and the school nurse, Greta Gynt, who seems, in any case, a worthwhile diversion.

"March of the Wooden Soldiers." (5) Dec. 28, 7:30. I thought I had seen every Laurel and Hardy film ever made, but the substance of this one eludes me. Howsoever, I recommend it without qualification, because I think L & H are the cat's peejays.

"Man in the Iron Mask." (11) Dec. 28, 7:30. "Son of Monte Cristo." (11) Dec. 30, 9:30. Louis Hayward and Joan Bennett are the stars of these two epics, the plots of which I have made no effort to remember. However, the former should settle an issue between Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Greene of South Gate, who have a wager as to who played the part of d'Artagnan. I'll hazard the guess that it's Hayward. If I'm right, I expect a cut from the winner. If I'm not, I don't. (I'll just keep the stamped envelope, Mrs. Greene. Times are tough.)

"It Takes Two to Tingle." (32) Mar. 68, 0430. Based on a scheme by Siegfried Zidle, from a notion by Joe Wozzeck, this extravaganza (I haven't even one vaganza, much less an extra one) outlines the difficulties of a man who had had a lot of money, but the money he had had had had no meaning for him, so he gave it away to a bunch of passing nomads (one of them made twelve in a row) (and she still said no) and took up airplanes. He took up only one, however, because one day, while employed as a skywriter, he ran out of gas trying to spell Ennds, and that was his finish. This great film won the Grand Prix de Pigalle for being filmed, and is hereby recommended to all angry nomads, everywhere, and that, of course, is where they're likely to be.

Lifelines

BY EVELYN BIGSBY

MY OWN POINT WITH PRIDES: To "The Eternal Light's" dramatization of "The Diary of Anne Frank," absorbing story of a girl whose persecuted family sought refuge in Holland during the war. She was killed, but her father lived to give her diary to the world. Anne Whitfield played the girl and Jeff Chandler the father, both capably. As usual, Andy Love's direction was sympathetically delicate and the ending abruptly provocative.

MORE POINTS: TO PETER POTTER'S "Juke Box Jury" for a compact and entertaining show and to Peter for not yakking it up all the time. He shows extremely good sense in saying just enough to appear hospitable and in the know without detracting from the fine names guesting with him. Some of the camera shots of guests off-guard add interest and the guests themselves are exceptionally good, even if they don't all claim to be platter experts.

STILL MORE: TO KNBH's "HALLS OF SCIENCE" a prideful point for the excellent talk of Dr. Wayne Simmonds on antibiotics. This is just the kind of information TV can disseminate superbly, yet where are the do-gooders to applaud this series? . . . A potential point to a show called "Carson's Cellar" on KNXT. (Maybe you saw the clever "Hour of Incision," prompted by the televising of a birth which recently made the headlines.) The show is done with an off-hand air which might be more effective if production were not on the skimpy side. But lots of possibilities here.

"MR. PEEPERS" SEEMS TO BE GETTING into the groove, so I guess all of us who stuck out our necks and hollered to get him back on the air can relax. Cutting down of side-kick loudmouth's part gets this looker's approval, as well as building up of the English teacher's role. She's choice and a wonderful foil for little milque-toasty "Peep."

"RED BUTTONS" IS ANOTHER PROGRAM which might bear watching. And the more of these bright new comedians TV brings to the fore, the better, as it looks now as if some of the established funnymen are not going to be able to sustain the pace of weekly telecasts and will probably subside into the rotation plan.

DID YOU ENJOY, AS MUCH AS I, the glimpses of celebrity guests in Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" audience the other night? More shows should do this, as fans want to see the famous off-stage as well as on.

ABC HAS A GOOD SOLID SHOW in its new series called "Heritage." The other night the program dramatized the accomplishments of Leonardo da Vinci, who, in addition to his artistic achievements, was a whiz of an inventor and cooked up ideas for a submarine, a double-hull ship, a machine gun and countless other world-shaking items. Sherman Dryer was producer-director, Charles Irving was narrator and Paul Melton scripted this ailer, done in cooperation with Life magazine's Picture History of Western Man.

HOPE YOU'RE NOT TOO BUSY wrapping gifts or eating turkey to catch some of the excellent air fare, both radio and TV, being offered for the Christmas season. The "Amos 'n' Andy" Christmas night program on KNXT will present for the first time on video the Lord's Prayer interpretation made famous on radio by Gosden and Correll. This year the trend seems to be generally toward a more thoughtful approach on the airplanes, even to "Dragnet's" very serious "22 Rifle."

I may be wrong on this, too, but it has seemed that the stations didn't start spinning the Christmas platters so soon this year—a welcome change which actually makes the season more enjoyable.

THIS WEEK, AT TV-RADIO LIFE, we received the nicest Christmas present imaginable—way over 100,000 net paid circulation! Inasmuch as our recent survey showed we had 3.6 readers per copy, this makes our "family" the largest ever, 360,000. To all of you, heartiest greetings of the season!

Fan Fax

(FAN FAX is an exclusive TV-Radio Life column for the many TV and radio fan clubs. It will appear periodically on our pages. If you are a Fan Club official or member and wish to have information printed in this column, send it to FAN FAX, TV-RADIO LIFE, 6361 SELMA AVE., HOLLYWOOD 28, CALIF. We will try to print as much material as possible.)

Shirley Shewmaker, 3235 Flower St., Lynwood, Calif., has three different fan clubs going for Del Moore, Betty White and Tennessee Ernie.

D. J. writes: "I have noticed that you put the address of Betty White's fan clubs in your column all the time. Are you related to her in some way?" The answer: "Unfortunately, no."

Betty White

Here's a wonderful club: It's called "The Queen's Club" and consists of all former queens on Jack Bailey's "Queen for a Day" program. For info write to Loverne Irwin.

More than 200 people attended the first birthday of the Jack Rourke fan club at Griffith Park. Special guests included Joan and Johnna Rourke, Bill Green, Marjorie Lawson, and Chet Fisher. The main prize, a watch, was won by Mrs. Bertha Worthington of Culver City.

OLD-FASHIONED MEAT LOAF

This, to me, is about as good a meat loaf as can be made.

- 2 cups soft bread crumbs
- 2 eggs
- 2 pounds ground beef (chuck or round)
- 3/4 cup minced onion
- 1/4 cup minced green pepper
- 2 tablespoons prepared horseradish
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1/2 cup undiluted evaporated milk or milk
- 1/4 cup catsup
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 cup catsup

Prepare crumbs from fresh bread, removing crusts if desired. Break eggs into large bowl and beat slightly. Add meat. Toss lightly. Do not overmix . . . the meat loaf will be tough. Add all of the remaining ingredients, except the 1/2 cup catsup. Mix lightly. Place in a small meat loaf pan. Spread top with catsup. Bake in a 400° F. oven for 45 minutes, or until done. Delicious served hot or cold. Yield: 6 servings.

9:00 p.m. John Lund stars in "Melody in Dreams."

Tuesday, December 30—DORIS DAY, KNX, 9:05 p.m. Danny Thomas.

Radio in Review

For Love o' Mike (General Comment)

Radio Ramblings

Final tabulations revealed that 31,130 pints of blood were collected during ABC commentator Virgil Pinkley's "Christmas Crusade." . . . Arthur Godfrey, as narrator, teamed up with Andre Kostelanetz and his orchestra for a new record version of "Peter and the Wolf." Godfrey tells the children's story in his typically friendly style so familiar to radio listeners. . . . Dimitri Mitropoulos has been re-engaged as Musical Director of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony and will conduct the major part of the CBS broadcasts next season. . . . The twelfth annual Dr. Christian Award, which pays $250 to $2,000 for scripts, opens January 7. . . . Westward ho! ABC's "Breakfast Club" prepares for a two-week Western trip during the month of January. Don McNeill and gang will be in our fair city on January 25-26. . . . Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis are set to play the Copa in Miami. . . . Irene Tedrow ("Meet Corliss Archer") has been cast as a Louisiana sharecropper in the Cagney production "A Lion in the Streets." . . . Milton Cross celebrates his thirtieth year in radio.

How Young Can They Start?

The expected happened. When we ran a story on Peter Potter, Jr., and stated that he was the youngest disc jockey we kept our fingers crossed, hoping that the statement would not be challenged. Sure enough it was.

Stevie Wagner

Jack Wagner, the "Rise and Shine" record spinner heard on KHJ across the board at the crack of dawn (6:00 a.m.), called our attention to his son Stevie, age twenty-seven months. It seems as though junior entered the professional ranks when four months old. Daddy Wagner tape-recorded his gurgles and interspersed them with his platter spinings.

The listeners showed their approval by swamping Stevie with mail. Not being one to overlook a good thing, Jack has continued taping Stevie's childish chatter. "It's the highlight of my daily show," he says.

We stand corrected, Jack. At twenty-seven months your son, Stevie, is the youngest d. j., having made his debut while still in diapers.

Yuletide Listening

Radio is bound to be at its best during this Christmas week. The familiar carols and Christmas stories are scheduled to be sung and retold many times. However, if last year's reactions can be used as a gauge, more of the same will again prove to be refreshing and inspiring.

The festive air will be accentuated by Tschaiakowsky's

What you can do... You can help reduce motor vehicle accidents by driving as if your life depends on it... by supporting organized safety movements in this community... by teaching your youngsters to drive safely. That's what you can do for safety's sake. Published as a public service in cooperation with The Advertising Council. Page Twenty-Five

"Nutcracker Suite," Handel's "Messiah," Dickens's classic "A Christmas Carol," "Hansel and Gretel," "A Visit From St. Nicholas" and all the traditional carols everyone loves to hear.

Delayed Success Story

"My Little Margie," the show with the ups and downs, has finally shown some signs of stability. Sir sponsor

Gale Storm and Charles Farrell

This short announcement cloaks one of radio and television's Cinderella stories of the year. "My Little Margie" faced all the obstacles when it made its debut on TV this past summer. It was the summer replacement for the highly rated "I Love Lucy" series. When "Lucy" returned in the fall, "Margie" was left out in the cold. After being battered about the TV channels the show moved over to the more friendly radio medium. It caught the fancy of radio audiences more quickly than it caught the eye of televiewers.

Here the old adage, nothing succeeds like success, proved itself once more. After the first of the year, "My Little Margie" will return to the video airplanes and continue on both media, via CBS, for a happy 1953.

"Suspense" Provides Ending for Unfinished Dickens Classic

A famous and controversial mystery story left unfinished by the death of the great Charles Dickens will be completed by a group of modern mystery writing experts on CBS's "Suspense."

Elliott Lewis, producer-director of the series, explains: "Ever since Dickens's death, in 1870, writers have speculated on how to end 'The Mystery of Edwin Drood.' No one, of course, will ever know—but I thought it would be interesting to try to develop a logical ending, in key with the rest of the story, and present it on 'Suspense.'"

This experiment is scheduled to be aired in two installments, January 5 and 12. Guest stars are vying with one another to appear on what can well be one of "Suspense's" most unusual dramas.

Ear, Eye Inspire the Pen

Al Owens, 8713 Grape Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Until very recently, my reading was limited to Braille books and magazines but now I have a friend who reads TV-Radio Life to me and I derive a great deal of pleasure and information from it. Your selection of articles, the choice of telling words, and the explaining phrases, give your magazine a special and interesting appeal to me.

I certainly would like very much to find out something about my favorite singer, Terrea Lea, who specializes in folk songs. Her nine o'clock Saturday night program, on KFI, is tops on my list of Thanksgiving blessings. Folk songs, as Terrea Lea interprets them, help to keep my mind at peace with things and give me a deep sense of serenity that comes from reasoning rather than impulse. I go a lot by voices and I get the distinct impression that Terrea Lea is not burdened by the weight of vanity. When she sings her songs, she "infects others with her own feelings," and that was Tolstoy's requirement of a true artist.

Terrea Lea

I wonder if your magazine published Terrea Lea's story before I had someone to read it to me. If so, is it possible for me to buy that particular issue? If it has not yet been published, do you suppose it will appear at any time in the near future? I know very little about editing, but it stands to reason that the only way an editor can know what the readers want to read, is for them to write in. Sooner or later, I'm sure, we have to separate things that serve us from things that do not. I find that music supplies a constant need in my daily life. Every time I throw another day on the pile of memories, if I have managed to hear at least one good musical program, I feel I have had a good day, indeed.

Terrea Lea's folk songs have a high inspirational value; they echo the best in our nation's past, from which we can draw a sense of spiritual certainty so much needed at this time. It seems to me that the message of her songs about the early pioneers is simple but important. It is that freedom is like love, because it can be multiplied only by being divided. Terrea Lea faithfully expresses the feelings that went into the creation of those songs comprising a history of our emotions. I guess I have been unnecessarily wordy in this letter, but gratitude is my favorite form of prayer. I know from experience that it is not easy to be happy but the enjoyment of good music can do a lot to give us peaceful minds which is even more important. Only children want to get old, the rest of us want to achieve maturity and a peaceful mind can be ever so helpful in that achievement. I started out to compliment your fine magazine and to ask about the story of Terrea Lea but obviously I have gone a bit afield. If her story is available in a past issue of your magazine, please do let me know by letter or by phone. I'll deeply appreciate it. I know she is on the Tex Williams Show every Sunday but I wonder if she has any other radio program than the one I mentioned. Do you know where she studied singing and guitar playing? Is she a California girl? There are no Braille magazines to tell about the entertainment world.

As yet we have not done a feature story on Terrea Lea, but if our schedule permits, we certainly shall do so. After reading this wonderful letter, however (and our readers can understand why we printed so much of it), we doubt if we could do a more sincere or magnificent job than Mr. Owens has already done.

Mrs. Don Thomas, 1133 Stanford St., Santa Monica, Calif.
Why don't they dig up some of Jean Harlow's pictures for TV?

TV stations first have to get permission from the various movie studios.

Joe McKenzie, 142 N. Mills Ave., Claremont, Calif.

I think "Cecil" of the "Time for Beany" show should do more singing, and I also think "Cuttlebones" should get more of a part than the "Little Goose."

Guy Madison

Mike Morgan, P.O. Box 3070, Hollywood, Calif.

Guy Madison's portrayal of "Wild Bill Hickok" is the best.

Marie Ferrell, 2101 Harriman Lane, Redondo Beach, Calif.

I've heard comment both pro and con about Ina Ray Hutton, but after watching the elephant act on her show, who but an old trouper could have gotten out of that one? More power to you, Ina Ray, regardless how old people think you are.

Rumor has it that Ina Ray Hutton lost a sponsor because of this incident.

Thelma L. Osborn, 2828 J St., Sacramento, Calif.

I am enclosing my check for another year's subscription to your grand little magazine—don't know how I'd get along without it. . . . Sacramento is still without a TV station so I hope you will continue to give us all the information you can about radio entertainers and programs.

Maureen Murphy, 5736 Eighth Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

I was very surprised to find two letters recently in your column criticizing the Lawrence Welk show. We have a large family and his show is the only one about which our whole family agrees.

Burton Aldrich, Anaheim, Calif.

We have not been able to get the wrestling matches on TV that are advertised at the Olympic Auditorium.

Although the announcement of televising the Olympic bouts was made over a month ago, the official starting date will be January 7.

Millie Martin, Route 1, Box 343, Santa Claus, Calif.

I sure like Jackson Wheeler's Theatre.

E. M. Goergen, 354 Eureka St., San Bernardino, Calif.

Did I spot an engagement ring on Sue Thompson's finger? If so, whom is she engaged to?

Sue Thompson and Duke Martin were recently married in Las Vegas.

Mrs. Carmen V. Correia, 934 1/2 N. Benton Way, Los Angeles, Calif.

Why don't they give the time of day or night when they have a break for a commercial or station identification on TV? Many times I don't dare tune in a program for fear that I will miss an appointment or forget to start dinner at the correct time—amongst other reasons. I am sure I am not alone when I say I get so carried away I forget time when I am enjoying a TV program or programs.

Bill Sloane, 1443 Valencia St., Los Angeles, Calif.

In answer to a recent letter concerning amateur songs, there is a club organizing now, by and for amateur writers. Its purpose is to showcase via TV the material presented by the amateur song writer and will be on the air soon. Those interested call RI 7-7543 or write.

Jack Lemmon and Cynthia Stone, CBS-TV, New York, N. Y.

Many thanks for your nice personal mentions for Jack and me. I'm sure that you know how much it means to us.

Lynda Ann Young, 7553 Cuyamaca, Lemon Grove, Calif.

I sure do like Roberta Linn on Lawrence Welk's show. I think she is the prettiest girl on television. I missed seeing her dog on the show a couple of weeks ago, so I wish they would have it back on again.

Jack Lemmon and Cynthia Stone

"It" is a "she."

Chiquita, Roberta's pet Chihuahua—believe it or not—has also appeared on many radio programs, and has performed at the Ben Bard Theater here in Los Angeles, in a play in which Venice Finley, Larry Finley's wife, was starred. They are planning to have Chiquita on the Welk show again, but as yet an definite time has been announced.

Mrs. Emilie Stephens, 213 N. Elizabeth Ave., Monterey Park, Calif.

I am one of your radio fans. I think "Gypsy" is a darling.

Marie Emerick, and many others, 4143 W. Pico Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif.

We the members of the "All Stars Gay 90's Revue" have enjoyed what we think the most entertaining of all TV shows: "You're Never Too Old." and have just been informed this program could not go on for lack of a sponsor. Surely in this great city of Los Angeles there is someone who will back these lovely people and let the show go on. This program of "youngsters" over 60 years of age represents the grandest sweetest people in all the world.

On the Ball

With Ted Hilgenstuhler

Two Magic Words

Be original! Don't be dull! Say the same thing, but say it differently! That's what folks keep telling me.

So, I've been sitting here for several hours on my big fat chair in front of this noiseless, motionless typewriter trying to think of some unique way of writing what I have in mind.

No use. There just ain't no other way, and no better way of saying:

Merry Christmas, everybody.

TV All-Americans

For the past two weeks, TV-Radio Life has asked its football-minded readers and the sportscasters around town to send in their selections for the first TV All-American team ever selected by a publication.

I think it compares favorably with any of the thousand-and-one All-American squads picked during the past month.

Several readers and announcers inquired why we didn't pick both offensive and defensive units. The reasons for this were simply that we wanted to make it easier for our readers and we wanted to go back to the "old" system of selecting just "one" All-American squad.

Since all of these players have been seen on our screens right here in L.A., it also proves that the TV industry, despite the NCAA restrictions, still did a pretty fair job of covering the collegiate football scene. The players selected come from every section of the country.

I would particularly like to thank Sam Balter, Tom Harmon, and Mark Scott for their help in this matter.

- THE FIRST TV-ALL-AMERICAN TEAM
- End.....Frank McPhee, Princeton
 - Tackle.....Hal Miller, Georgia Tech
 - Guard.....Elmer Willhoite, So. Calif. Center.....Donn Moomaw, UCLA
 - Guard.....John Michels, Tennessee
 - Tackle.....Dick Modzelewski, Maryland
 - End.....Bernie Flowers, Purdue

Wrestling

Is My Business

by Jules StrongBow

There was a time when wrestlers were regarded as obese oafs who had strong backs and weak minds and who were just so many bulls in china closets as far as the rest of civilization was concerned.

Then when the universities and colleges became interested in wrestling and had wrestling teams and classes, the picture changed somewhat. Well conditioned and well educated athletes graduated from the amateur collegiate ranks into the professional circles—but still kept mostly to themselves. The Olympic wrestling teams also stimulated interest but they, as people, were regarded somewhat in awe.

Then television came along and changed the entire complexion of wrestlers. People who had never before heard of wrestlers became interested and the demand to know more about the men who came into their living rooms regularly increased.

Service clubs, ladies' aid societies, churches, employees' meetings and schools put in their bids to have the wrestlers attend their meetings and speak to them. The fellows who were able to fulfill these engagements were so popular that more and more requests were made.

Among the most sought-after matmen in the country as after-dinner speakers is Sammy Menacker, currently a promoter in El Paso, Texas. Sammy is not only a top-notch wrestler and prosperous promoter, but a member of the national magicians' association. He is recognized as the greatest sleight-of-hand card handler in the profession. This talent, combined with his smooth, polished manner and colorful background as a wrestler, has made him a sensation in the club-meeting circles.

Another man in great demand is Dr. Lee Grable, the amazing hypnotist, psychoanalyst and fine sportsman. The young doctor of philosophy from Arizona has endeared himself to fans with his clean, fair wrestling style as well as for his keen, intelligent mind. Wherever he appears people flock to see and hear him.

These are just two of the college men, the amateurs who loved wrestling so much that they forsook their other training to pursue their fortune in the professional ranks—there are many others.

The one glaring example of an old timer—the exception which proves the rule—is Wild Red Jerry—a man who admittedly never finished the seventh grade. And yet Red is the most desirable after-dinner speaker in the nation.

He figured that he had thrown everybody who was anybody in the ring, so why not tackle the English language? He wrestled the dictionary, and succeeded in putting a headlock on Webster. In fact, Wild Red, the Kansas sunflower who went to work in the coal mines when he was twelve years old, has poor old Webster hanging on the ropes.

Wild Red, with his thinning red hair, faded old wrinkled ring robes and blood-and-thunder type of wrestling, has parlayed his vocabulary into an income bracket which means he keeps twenty cents out of every dollar. He will be here the 29th to welcome in the new year at the Hollywood Legion Stadium.

Merry Christmas to all of you very kind people.

her day!" he Duranted. "Great, great."

"But I guess what made this Christmas a real special treat was havin' some time." Jimmy's scheduled appearances on NBC-TV's "All-Star Revue" fall each fourth week. Even with rehearsals he has two or three weeks a month to himself.

The train of thought continued. "Maybe I kin go up to Sun Valley. I've always wanted to go to Sun Valley. And Hot Springs, I been dyin' to go to Hot Springs. And say, was ya ever in New Orleans? That's the place I want to go." Jimmy enthused, building plans that would eat a hole in three months' time, let alone three weeks. "I'd like to do a show from New Orleans." He confided proudly, "They have a big Italian population there, you know."

Maybe Jimmy Durante thinks he could possibly be more popular among people of his own lineage. He probably still doesn't know you can't be more popular than Jimmy Durante, any place.

GRIZZLED OLD COWHAND Gabby Hayes, the "teller of tall tales" on NBC-TV, isn't leaving Santa's arrival to chance. Here he sets out with a pack full of gifts for his young friends. Even doubters who stopped him to test his beard didn't discourage this "St. Nick."

"It all started three days before Christmas when Bob Hope called me to go with him to Alaska. My first thought was one of dread, and perhaps a little fear of flying over frozen wastes in the dead of winter . . . to say nothing of leaving my family at Christmas time. However, I went. Christmas Eve found us at Kodiak with the Navy, and Christmas Day we went to Fairbanks (42 below zero), where Bob, Mrs. Hope, and I ate four Christmas dinners. 'White Christmas' was the favorite song; I sang it countless times. I shall never forget Christmas of 1945."

"I can't single out one Christmas as my most memorable. However, I can cite two that I'll never forget. One was when my twin boys were born, one on December 23, the other on December 24. The other was Christmas in Paris, during World War II, when we landed just in time to walk into the last desperate bombing of the Luftwaffe.

"I'll never forget the Christmas we gave my mother a parrot. Mom had always talked about the dream of her life—to own a real live honest-to-goodness parrot. We bought Rusty (not McCollum) at a pet store, and they kept him until Dad picked him up Christmas Eve.

"Did you ever try to hide a live parrot around the house for three hours, without the woman of the house finding out? We finally wound up putting him in my bathtub and covering the cage with a tablecloth.

My Most Memorable

By Harry Babbitt of KNX's "Second Cup of Coffee"

"I was stationed with the Navy in New York City in 1945, and was given a Christmas leave to visit my wife and two boys in Los Angeles. I sat in the waiting room at LaGuardia Field for three days waiting for a blinding snow storm to subside. Finally got off the ground and after two breakdowns, arrived in L. A. at 11:00 p. m. on Christmas Eve in time (barely) to wish my family a Happy and Merry Christmas. I'm sure I lost five years of my life during that experience."

Make a composite of these . . . the pride of a father in his sons, and the terror that one might not live through an ordeal to see another Christmas . . . and call it my most unforgettable Christmases."

"Being a native Angeleno, my first white Christmas was a tremendous thrill. I was just out of the AAF, and went to Portland, Oregon, to take up a radio career. Our house was isolated on a beautiful tree-covered mountain, so it was almost like having a mountain cabin. Two days before Christmas the temperature dropped to 32, but the sky was clear and blue. Christmas morning there it was. A fairyland of white outside the window, icicles from the eaves, the dark tracks of the paperboy a series of dots over the hill.

Any other time Rusty would be quiet as a mouse, but along about dinner time he proceeded to whistle and sing at the top of his lungs—and believe me, Rusty is a powerful little noisemaker!

"I answered with the standard greeting I used on the program, "It's a beautiful day!" She grinned, said, "Why, you really are Art Baker," and from that minute on we were friends. After several other similar calls, I ended my informal visits with a Banning family which had seven children. I joined them in their festivities and enjoyed Christmas to the limit. I've had many wonderful Christmases, but the one I spent with the people who'd been so kind to me through their letters, and in person too, stands out as the most unforgettable Christmas of them all."

home, alone in New York City, I was sitting in my apartment trying not to feel too sorry for myself when the door bell rang. There stood two Jewish friends, Arnold Rothschild and Sam Arronsen. Arnold was holding a tall gangling Christmas tree. Sam had package upon package of ornaments, tinsel, lights and presents. At my wondering expression they said, 'Merry Christmas, Pat. Let's celebrate.'

"This happened in Caracas, Venezuela, a long way from my home in Los Angeles. It was Christmas of 1950 and for the first time in fifteen years my wife, Nena (Carmen), and I missed spending the holidays with our children . . . Nina, Lillya and Butch (Tito, Jr.).

"We went to the beautiful cathedral of Santa Maria to say a simple prayer and to ask for a blessing in our loneliness. On other Christmases our children would always serenade us with 'Alo Rorro Nino,' a beautiful, tender song like your 'Silent Night, Holy Night.' We were a sad couple that evening as we walked down the street to the church. When all of a sudden a miracle occurred.

"Three small children resembling our own stepped out of the shadows and started serenading us with 'Alo Rorro Nino.' We cried with joy. We telephoned our children to tell them about the wonderful coincidence. Before I could say anything, my oldest daughter Nina said, 'Daddy, this is wonderful. At dinner just a few minutes ago, Lillya and Butch and I sang 'Alo Rorro Nino' for you and mama just as we always do when you are home with us. This mis amigos, I think was wonderful, No?'" families long years ago in the seclusion and warmth of our homes. My fondest memory of Christmas is the one I spent just one year ago, December 24, 1951, ON TELEVISION!

"That morning we bundled the family and their props into the car and headed for the studio: four-year-old Janice's musical rocker; father's footstool, and the argyle socks thirteen-year-old Linda was hurrying to finish for dad. I was happy to share our Christmas with my friends in the television audience.

"The hundreds of Christmas cards and notes I received from viewers; the genuine thrill of adding five times as many names as before to my Christmas list; the incorporation of viewers' ideas for holiday parties and decorations in my own home—for all these reasons Christmas 1951 is my most memorable."

"I think my most memorable Christmas was when I met up with a boy named Mike.

He was a strongly built, good-looking young boy who belonged to the Salvation Army Red Shield Boys Club. Mike had recently suffered from a polio attack which had brought his family to the threshold of poverty.

"The one prescription his mother could not afford to have filled was for a bicycle which the doctor said would strengthen Mike's legs.

"And me with a bike on my hands! Why, that bike and that thirteen-year-old made Christmas Christmas for me.

Should Bowl Games Be Outlawed?

THESE FOUR SPORTSCASTERS (left to right), Tom Harmon, Russ Hodges, Bill Henry and Mel Allen, brought you the play-by-play of the tremendously successful "Game of the Week" over NBC-TV during the past grid season. Below, Tom Harmon expresses his viewpoint on the subject: "Should Bowl Games Be Outlawed?" (NBC photos.)

NEW YEAR'S DAY in America is not only a time for festivities and resolutions. It is also the time for the big Bowl games throughout the nation.

This year, as always, the wolves are out again, howling that the bowl games should be outlawed. Their theme song contains the same repetitious refrains: "Strictly commercial. Too much emphasis on football. Big Bowl games mean big money to the big schools at the expense of the players and the public."

In order to get some first-hand information on the subject TV-Radio Life recently interviewed Tom Harmon. Now, Tom, as everyone knows, is not only an all-time grid-iron great, but ever since his college days (with the exception of his war-time activities) his announcing chores have established him as one of the most capable and critical authorities in the sporting world.

A familiar voice and figure on the Pacific Coast, Tom also added to his national reputation recently with his fine coverage of the NCAA telecasts over NBC-TV.

Now Hear Harmon

This is what the former All-American from Michigan has to say about

post-season games in particular and about the collegiate football picture in general:

"Abolish post-season games? Absolutely not. Too many people are honking their horns about de-emphasizing football. Speaking not only from personal experience, but also from an objective viewpoint, I firmly believe we should put more and not less emphasis on collegiate football.

"Because of various pressure groups, college football is not being handled as efficiently as it should be. However, there is no problem today that couldn't be solved by an honest approach on the part of the colleges.

"For one thing, I believe college football players should be subsidized, but not the way they are doing it today. Too many schools are devoted to the big god 'Win.'

"Every college, no matter how big or small, should provide books, tuition, fees, room and board for their players. But no more. There should be no outside dough or handouts or gifts of any kind, and the entire program should be under the supervision of the various college presidents.

"This system would eradicate many of the unethical and unfair practices that we read and hear so much about. Any kid who is accepting extra money from outside sources should be barred from the game."

Players Favor Games

"Some people claim that the bowl games cut down on the Christmas vacations of the players themselves. There is not a fellow on any squad who would not want to spend his Christmas vacation playing in a post-season game.

"The present arrangement between the Pacific Coast Conference and the Big Ten has done a great deal for the Rose Bowl and for the respective schools. Both conferences are equal in scholarship and caliber of football, and I see no reason for it not continuing for many years to come.

"The biggest cranks and critics of collegiate football are people who know very little about the game. Offhand, I cannot recall any one person, either player or coach, who has ever spoken out against post-season games.

"Anyone who is closely associated with football does everything in his power to help the game."
