Ear, Eye INSPIRE THE PEN

Mrs. J. P., West Covina

I often wonder if many people are of the same opinion as we are. We never see anything funny about either Jack Benny or Bob Hope, especially as their so-called jokes are written for them.

We do enjoy Ray Bolger. He is amusing most of the time.

We got tired of "I Love Lucy" and we think that Sid Caesar overdoes everything and really spoils the show. Groucho Marx and George Fenneman are favorites of ours too.

Mrs. T. D., Inglewood

I watch the Margaret Whiting show every day. I like it very much.

Mrs. Paul H. Battson, San Bernardino

I like Godfrey! I can see why some don't. It is the difference of opinion that gives so many different performers jobs. . . . I think Godfrey has been through a bad time and has come through like a person of real character would do. True, perhaps on the spur of the moment he might have said something that would better have been said differently and at a different time. But is there anyone of us who has not done a similar thing sometime?

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. L., Glendale

It was indeed a great pleasure to be able to hear one hour on radio of the inspiring "Champagne Music" of Lawrence Welk last night. My husband and I enjoy it every time we hear it and above all the clever announcer, Mr. Ralph Portner. The airplanes could use more announcers like this—with such original introductions and a voice that seems to be constantly bubbling as does the "Champagne Music."

Mrs. Joseph Palermo, La Crescenta

For all those parents who try to live their lives over again in their children and are disappointed when the kids' talents "go in another direction," then I suggest they turn on "That's My Boy." Not only a funny program but also a pathetic one from Junior's angle.

N. D., Lawndale

One of my favorite TV programs is "Our Miss Brooks." But I would like to know why doesn't she wear nicer clothes? She looks like she is either in mourning or just came from a funeral. I hope something can and will be done about this.

Meet...

J. GWEN BAGNI

By Jon Bruce

▲ GWEN AND HER LATE HUSBAND, John, were television's most respected writing team. John died suddenly last February, just before he and Gwen won the Screen Writers Guild Award for the best teleplay of 1953.

ONE OF the most brilliant of all writing teams in Hollywood was the team of John and Gwen Bagni. They won the Screen Writers Guild Award this year for the best written teleplay of 1953—"The Last Voyage," starring Charles Boyer.

On February 13, 1954, this team as a physical reality came to an end with the tragic death of John Bagni. But the team as a working force is not over because J. Gwen Bagni is carrying on.

It's not hard to understand why Gwen chose J. Gwen Bagni as her new professional name. The J. naturally stands for John, whose presence and undeniable talent are still being felt in all of the many scripts Gwen is doing these days for "Four Star Playhouse" over CBS and for other shows. Her most recent contribution was "The Man in the Cellar" starring Charles Boyer.

"At first I felt I couldn't ever go into the study where John and I worked, let alone write again." Gwen remarked with real emotion. "Life, to me, was over—except for doing what I could for my two sons, Ricky and Bruce. Then, gradually, I began to get assignments. I was forced into a position where I had to write. And when the day came that I could go into the study and sit down at that typewriter I knew that somehow John was still with me, teaching me to grow in this new and lonely life.

"The first scripts were terribly hard. I was frantic and lonely and lost. And then—almost as though John had said, 'Look, Old Girl, here's what's wrong with your story'—I would steady inside. And go on and write, calling upon his mind, his philosophies, his virility. And gradually I didn't feel I was working alone, but that he was still writing with me. So the team hasn't really ended for me . . ."

John and Gwen had been married for fifteen years and theirs was one of those idyllic marriages you read about all too seldom. They suffered privation, poverty, discouragement for many years before they began to click, first on radio and then on TV.

Friendships

"When John died I found out how many friends we both had," Gwen went on. "David Niven, who suffered a similar tragedy in his own life, was quick to help and counsel me. Warren Lewis and Don Sharpe, of 'Four Star', gave me encouragement and friendship. And all the others—all the people back of the cameras—these were John's friends, and they let me know they were my friends too. It would take pages to describe their acts of kindness.

"I'll never forget the first time I walked on the set without John to watch one of my scripts being filmed. John had always handled the business end and the studio was his second home. He especially loved attending rehearsals, and he had a little running gag with Charles Boyer about John's being a frustrated actor and wanting to read all the parts in rehearsal. So when I attended the first reading of 'The Man in the Cellar,' Charles turned to me with a warm look of remembrance on his face and said, 'Well, Gwen, I guess now you'll have to read all the parts.' It was his wonderful way of letting me go on where John had left off.

Charles Boyer

"John and I wrote many scripts for Charles Boyer and became as fond of him as a person as we were admiring of his ability, but it was not until I turned in my first solo scripts to him that I learned the depth of his sensitivity. I was waiting anxiously for his reaction, but when he telephoned I happened to be out. Many people would merely have left the message to have me call back. But not Charles Boyer. He knew what his approval meant to me at that moment, so he told my son, Bruce, who answered the telephone, 'Tell your mother I am very happy with her script.'

"There are long days ahead for me—and I want to make full use of them. I owe a wonderful man, my husband, a debt—I must prove to him that the hours we worked together to carve some kind of life for ourselves were not wasted. I must be worthy of the confidence he had in me as a woman and as a writer."

J. Gwen Bagni, then, is simply a new team—but one based on the old.

The Bagni study may be a quiet place now as Gwen works alone on her new scripts, yet there is a wonderful warmth and peace there—a hope in the future brought about through a love that knew the full meaning of unselfishness.

Paul Coates continues to stir up storms with his off-beat TV shows. This is what he's trying to do . . . and some of the more sensational deals he's pulled.

Man of Controversy

By JACK HOLLAND

↑ PAUL COATES HAS DONE more daring things on TV than any other single personality. His "Confidential File" has become increasingly popular because he won't settle for the commonplace.

THERE'S one thing about Paul Coates—he doesn't scare easily.

No other single TV personality steps into more controversial and even dangerous subjects than does Paul. His KTTV "Confidential File" is loaded with topics that are packed with dynamite. The threat of libel must always be watched. And the people who appear on the show are sometimes not the most substantial with which to deal. It is, therefore, to Paul's everlasting credit that he refuses to compromise on any issue—that he insists on hitting a subject straight on.

Consider the people he's had on his show recently. There were a lady bouncer, a prostitute, a homosexual, a man who claimed to have been in a flying saucer. These are not exactly typical TV guests. You might assume from such a line-up that Paul is interested only in sensational expose, but such is not the case.

"We are not trying to be sensational," Paul, who also does "Flashbacks," commented. "But we are concerned with bringing certain conditions to public notice since few people unfortunately are willing to get their information by reading the newspapers."

The show dealing with the prostitutes stemmed from an incident at Malibu where several girls were allegedly entrapped by the deputy sheriffs. Paul took a stand against this and has had his hands full ever since. After the girls were arrested, Paul got a call from a waitress who worked in a shady restaurant in town. She said she hadn't been involved in the raid but that her friends had been—and they had a story for him. These girls appeared on "Confidential File" and told their story. It seems that after they were arrested under what were considered unorthodox police methods, the police then bought them steak dinners. After Paul's show appeared there was reportedly quite a shake-up in the vice squad department.

"Before I did this program I notified Sheriff Biscailuz of my plans," Paul remarked. "I have the greatest respect for Biscailuz and know him to be an honest man, so I didn't want to hurt him."

"While the girls were telling their story on the show, a couple of policemen came to the set at KTTV to try to contact them. It was a touchy moment for a while since I feel an obligation to protect those who come on the program. After all, much of my information comes from the underworld and I can't afford to betray any confidences."

Paul got the police into the control booth and as soon as the girls finished the program they were whisked into a car and away before the "cops" could get to them.

On his July 25 show of this year, Paul was again scheduled to take up the same fight that was his initial telecast for "Confidential File"—the

B-girls. For TV-RADIO LIFE he gave us a rundown on how this program was being prepared.

"For a while, after our first show, the B-girl situation was cleaned up," Paul commented. "We decided to do it over again, though, when we learned that the problem had once more become acute. A girl came into The Mirror's offices and said she had applied for a job as a waitress. Once she was hired she learned she was actually to be a E-girl. She was told how to 'water' drinks, how to fake drinks, and how to spot a 'cop' from a customer. Then Jim Peck, our producer, and others from the staff went down to the joints that play up the B-girls and acted as customers. They bought a few beers, got the treatment, and reported back to me about how the deal is set up.

"Before putting the girls on 'Confidential File,' we naturally had to get their confidence and to really try to help them. It is very important, we feel, to expose this very prevalent racket."

Homosexual Problem

One of the trickiest shows Paul has done dealt with homosexuals.

"The man who appeared as a homosexual didn't want to be masked," Paul stated, "although I thought he should have been. At any rate, his appearance was quite a blow to his parents who hadn't known the truth about him—and he lost his job the next day, as he expected.

"The show did good, though, in that it enlightened the public about homosexuals. After the program the publisher of one of these physique magazines and a couple of photographers who had submitted pictures to the magazine were arrested.

"The PTA was against my doing this show at first but afterwards we got only compliments from the organization. In fact, I worked right along during the preparation for the program with PTA head Mrs. Ralph Lewis, and incorporated many of the points about homosexuals she wanted included."

Naturally, this type of show is not without its problems. Take the lady bouncer and the Italian immigrant who built a towering monument to the United States out of tin cans, bottles, and junk he collected.

"The day of the show on which the two were to appear," Paul went on, "I got a call saying the lady bouncer was indisposed and couldn't make it, so Jim Peck and I went to her hotel and talked her into coming on the program anyway. We were somewhat startled to see she had a real shiner—she said some man had hit her. Well, to ad a feminine touch, and she was feminine—I got her a corsage of tea roses.

"Then the immigrant, Sam Rodilla, was brought to the station. As he got to the gate he suddenly exclaimed, 'I got to go, I can't be on the show.' We tried to get him into the studio anyway but he ran away. We chased him for several blocks, asking him to remain for the show but he just said, 'My dear child, I have to go, I can't be on your program.' We had to explain to the audience that night that one of our guests had disappeared.

"Incidentally, the other guest on that evening's program was a hair stylist who goes to Camarillo to fix the lady patients' hair. It's a sort of therapeutic treatment.

Lie Detectors

"On 'Confidential File' we have used lie detectors twice—and both times the subjects were found to be lying. One was used on a spiritualist. We did extensive preparation for this show, even to having infrared film flown out from New York. We had cameras under and on the table we had selected ourselves for use. The darned thing actually moved. Then we asked the spiritualist to submit to a lie detector—and she agreed. After four hours of testing she was found to be practicing deception. Much the same thing happened with the man who claimed to have been in a flying saucer.

"I hope to continue to take viewers to places where they'd never be and to bring them face to face with interesting people and provocative problems. One thing sure—there's never a dull moment in this business, thank heaven!"

An Unusual Record Show Which Makes You Disbelieve Your Ears Is CBS's

"Hollywood Music Hall"

By Mildred Ross

▲ A TRIO OF MASTER CRAFTSMEN, engineer Bob Schradermeier, narrator Hugh Douglas and producer-director-writer Les Farber. These three have an uncanny way of producing a record show so that it sounds like a live one. They consider it a great compliment when professionals insist that there's an orchestra in the studio during "Hollywood Music Hall's" broadcasts. (CBS-Davis photo.)

DID YOU know that it takes forty hours to prepare "Hollywood Music Hall," a thirty-minute record show?

For those who haven't heard it, "Music Hall" consists of interesting anecdotes about personalities in the music world, songs associated with them, and musical excerpts from opera, musical comedy and the like.

The amount of research that goes into this program is fantastic. Les Farber, the show's triple threat man—he writes, produces and directs—spends endless hours probing for interesting stories about famous personalities.

Research

Farber, a very affable person, has devised several methods for digging up little known facts about well known people. First, he employs the direct approach by interviewing his subjects. He spends more time backstage at the Philharmonic, Hollywood Bowl, and Greek Theater than he does in the audience. Whenever his subject tells him "nothing unusual ever happened to me" Farber ignores the statement. He believes that something different or unusual has happened to everyone, especially people in entertainment circles.

"These people have stories to tell but they are too close to the situation and don't realize it," he explains. "For example, Wilbur Evans, the musical comedy star, couldn't think of anything to tell me at first but he finally realized that only because he flunked in math did he decide to become a singer."

When the individuals are not available for interviews, Les talks to their friends and associates. Invariably they come up with interesting stories. Sooner or later show people migrate to Hollywood and Les can always locate someone who appeared with a "name" in a hit show and dig up an interesting fact or two.

Relatives are also of invaluable assistance when Les is on a research kick. They never fail him. Mrs. Igor Gorin gave him some wonderful stories about her famous husband. It seems that Gorin was discovered quite accidentally while singing with a group of fellow medical school graduates in a Viennese beer garden. Victor Fuchs, one of Vienna's leading musical impresarios, overheard him. Fuchs begged Gorin to give up medicine and study music; he even offered to pay for his tuition. Fuchs was so insistent that Gorin was finally persuaded to try a musical career. Today, Gorin is one of the leading baritones of the Metropolitan.

The most tedious method of research is looking for autobiographical material. Les has worn the pages of Reader's Guide thin thumbing through them for information.

Musical Editing

Research and putting the anecdotes into narrative form for Hugh Douglas is only part of the job. Les must listen to entire record albums until he has a mental picture of the score. Fortunately he has had a musical education. Once Les has committed the score to memory he and his competent engineers, Bob Schradermeier, Jerry DeHaan and Vic Livoti, go to work. They can cut a song on a half-note and segue into another number so smoothly that professional musicians swear there's a background orchestra in the studio. It's a tough job to condense a musical score which normally runs one hour and twenty minutes into eight minutes. But Les and his staff do it so convincingly that they have people disbelieving their ears. Les considers it a great compliment when professionals insist that "Music Hall" is a live show and that it couldn't possibly be accomplished with records.

Despite the extensive research and preparation that go into "Hollywood Music Hall" the program has a comparatively low budget. Yet listeners get the feeling that the Alfred Drakes and the Celeste Holms are in the studio in person broadcasting when actually it's all done on records. Listeners may be fooled by the mechanics on "Music Hall" but a more pleasant and melodious way to be fooled would be difficult to find.

This Week in TV

In & Out of Focus (General Comment)

Around TV Row

"Chrysler TV Hour" bows next Fall with a Betty Grable-Harry James musical extravaganza. It'll be Grable's TV debut . . . "Masquerade Party," the CBS summer replacement switches to ABC's video lanes September 29 as a "regular."

Peter Lawford and Marsha Henderson bow in "Dear Phoebe" on NBC next fall. Lawford plays the role of an advice-to-the-love-lorn columnist and Miss Henderson a sports writer in the new situation comedy series.

Harry James

Helen Traubel has been signed to an exclusive CBS-TV contract. She will guest on the Red Skelton show August 2, and is currently appearing in Las Vegas. . . . Peggy Lee starts filming her "Meet Me At Peggy's" early this month.

Joel Grey, ABC contractee without a property, made his dramatic bow on "Kraft" last week. . . . Fred Coe, producer of "Philco Playhouse" serves in an advisory capacity on the upcoming hour-long "Lux Video Theatre." Jack Gould, long time TV-radio editor of The New York Times resigns to join CBS in a public relations capacity.

KTHE, Channel 28 and Los Angeles' only educational station, cuts its telecasting schedule to two hours daily, five-days-a-week. Weekend programs have been completely eliminated. . . . KTTV has logged the new Frankie Laine telefilm series. . . . "Topper" starts reshooting next week. Producer John Loveton is toying with the idea of adding a "ghostling" (baby ghost) to help stars, Ann Jeffreys and Robert Sterling with their haunting.

Frank Leahy, the ex-Notre Dame coach, goes before the cameras next week for his new series. Leahy interviews Dr. Ralph Bunche. . . . Walter Kiernan hosts NBC's "Greatest Moments in Sports," covering interviews and showing film clips of memorable sports events.

Vance Colvig becomes a regular on Bill Stulla's show, but not as his "Nutsy, the Clown" characterization. . . . Mark Stevens finishes the current shooting on "Big Town" and then hops to Alaskan location for "Ketchikan." . . . Sheriff John celebrates his third year on KTTV.

Clete Roberts moves to KABC-TV, effective immediately, in the 10:30 p.m. time slot.

Crooner Merve Griffin is a former amateur boxer; his arranger an ex-wrestler and weight-lifter; his accompanist a mountain climber. . . . Robert

Q. Lewis is popular with the college set. He's been made an honorary member of sixteen fraternities and twenty-eight sororities. The latter, of course, in absentia.—M.R.

TV Divorce

Everyone knows marriage has its problems and so does NBC's "The Marriage" series. Stanza bowed as a summer replacement and caught on like the proverbial prairie fire. But despite sponsor interest the show is slated to go when "Lux Video" takes over August 26 in its Thursday time slot. According to NBC, they are completely sold out of evening time, so if "Marriage" wants to stay on next fall it will have to do so at a less convenient time. Why can't the net axe some of their inferior shows in favor of this fine property?

MARKET, Sterling and Highland Streets, in San Bernardino, to screen young talent for his regular KCOP telecast, "TALENT PARADE."

Jingle Pays Off

Peggy King, Jack McElroy's new vocalist on his KNBH ailer got her big break by singing radio commercials. Pretty Peggy is the original "cook and cook" singer of Hunt's Tomato Sauce's jingle. Mitch Miller heard her singing the jingle on radio, found out who she was and signed her to a five-year contract with Columbia Records.

Jack McElroy

Jack McElroy too knows a promising vocalist when he hears one and he lost no time in signing Peggy for his program.

Second Glances (Critical Comment)

We Point With Pride

. . . To the sensitive, inspiring, and dramatic performance of Dorothy McGuire in the "U. S. Steel Hour's" production of "A Garden in the Sea." Literary lovers of Henry James who might claim that TV could never do justice to his moving story of "The Aspern Papers," would have to retract their statement after seeing this one-hour performance.

Off Lens (Personalities)

Pinpoint Profiles

(Mary Castle and Jim Davis portray the roles of "Frankie Adams" and "Matt Clark" respectively in KTTV's "Stories of the Century.")

Lovely Mary Castle was born on a ranch near Pampa, Texas. At four, she was a trick rider. She studied art and was a photographer's model. At first, her strong resemblance to Rita Hayworth served as a handicap. Mary speaks Spanish fluently and is studying French and Swedish. She's an excellent swimmer, plays badminton and likes sailing. Prior to her "Frankie Adams" role she appeared in several films.

Rugged, six-foot three Jim Davis was born in Edgerton, Missouri. He wanted to be a fireman, but became a railroad worker, then salesman instead. A talent scout spotted Jim, tested him opposite Esther Williams for his first picture "White Cargo." Jim had more than twenty-five screen credits before he signed for the role of "Matt Clark." Jim's hobbies are all in the sports world—wrestling, tennis, golf, riding and boxing.

Selznick In TV

David O. Selznick, the movie mogul, makes his entrance into the television industry as producer of a two-hour program commemorating the seventy-fifth anniversary of Edison's electric light invention. The special "Light's Diamond Jubilee Television Show" is set for October 24 as a four-network deal. "Jubilee" promises to be the biggest television program ever put together. Details of the program will be announced shortly.

TV-RADIO Lifelines

BY EVELYN BIGSBY

EXPECTANT FATHERS WHO DIDN'T RATE full credits in the Welk-Father's Day issue of TV-Radio Life were pretty disappointed. I gathered as much the other evening when I went down to the Aragon to see the Champagne Music bubbling at its source in front of KTLA's cameras.

ONE BABY WHO SHOULD HAVE BEEN included was Julie Kathryn Pilot, who bounced into the world at seven pounds, three ounces, between the time the article was wrapped up and on the stands. Our apologies to bass fiddler Bob Pilot and his missus, especially since Julie is their very first.

THEN, RIGHT AFTER OUR STORY appeared, so did Robin Gay Floren, who makes three gals for Myron and his wife, Berdyne. She weighed seven pounds ten and a half ounces.

COUNTING JULIE AND ROBIN, the Welk family has now soared to eighty-six. But it won't stop there, because three more babies are expected. Fathers-in-waiting are George Aubrey, Dick Dale and Peter Lofthouse. The Aubreys want a girl to pair up with their small son, Andy. "She" is expected in August. Peter and Jeanne Lofthouse already have two girls, so their order for October delivery is for a boy who'd be tagged Peter Lofthouse VI.

DICK AND MARGUERITE DALE, who've been waiting five years for parenthood, will take what they get and be happy. Dick, who started saving small change for the big event in August, has already stashed away $170.

Hope to show you all these little cuties in a future TV-Radio Life story.

VIRGINIA MAYO WAS LENDING HER fragile beauty to the Green Room at Warner Bros. last Friday when I was lunching there after enjoying my own sneak preview of three reels of the up-coming feature-length "Dragonet"—(absolutely a smash!). Miss Mayo beamed when told I was seeing hubby Mike O'Shea's TV pilot film within the hour. It is indeed a good show and O'Shea and his co-star, rangy Bill Bishop, appear to be off to a fast start. There's enormous potential in the situation of two war-time buddies barging in on Hollywood. As far as can be learned, the series is still tagged "It's A Great Life," but I am still hoping a more distinctive name will be found for it. Already sponsored, it starts on NBC-TV in early September.

WILLARD WATERMAN MAKES A HANDSOME "Gildersleeve" in the pilot film for the proposed teleseries flipping this old-time radio favorite over to television. And Mary Costa is a luscious vaudeville trouper. But I think the faithful writers, John Elliott and Andy White, have some more hurdles to take before the televersion rings true. The radio show made its name on situation-type family comedy, which gets the once-over-lightly on the TV pilot in favor of more contrived doings. And "Leroy" in TV seemed too sharp for his own good. All these wrinkles are not beyond ironing out and with such clever scripters as Andy and John, together with producer Frank Tashlin, "Gildy" will no doubt emerge as smooth as satin.

AT SAME SCREENING SAW "HEY, MULLIGAN!" a second time and laughed just as hard as first time. It's Mickey Rooney at his best and you'll be seeing it on NBC-TV in just a few weeks.

ATTENTION ERSTWHILE KORLA PANDIT FANS! Snader Telescriptions

is going to film a series of your heart-throb! Korla, who has been thumping up San Francisco Way, has probably left some pretty warm memories which need only a gust of a show to fan that old flicker of devotion into a full flame. I'll be the first to admit that local TV hasn't been the same since Korla flipped his stops and faded off our screens.

Korla

NBC-TV's DAYTIME JUGGERNAUT, "Today," rolls out this way September 27. Dave Garroway is tentatively scheduled to do the first TV telecast from Hollywood. Ann Sothern has said "yes" to Max Liebman and will do his second color special, "Lady in the Dark."

IF THE READER-RESPONSE TO Lifeline's comments on the TV sewing series is indicative (and it should be), Gordon Zahler should find no unsponsored time dribbling away. The ladies do seem to crave television guidance in the needle and thread art.

AND SPEAKING OF DO-IT-YOUR-SELF, did you hear the remark Lawrence Welk made when he plugged the Do-It-Yourself Show? Certainly unintentional, but oh! censorable.

A "POINT WITH PRIDE" TO KNBH's "Teen Age Trials" for its anti-knife campaign. I think the point might have been better made had teen agers had fuller say in the discussion.

NOW THERE'S A NEW "ILL" TO ADD to those already brought on by TV. So far we've been warned against "TV stoop," "TV chins" (brought on by cupping hands over chins while viewing), "TV eyes," and "TV allergies" (due to lolling around in overstuffed furniture). The latest: "TV squat," to which children who sit cross-legged on the floor while watching TV are susceptible.

MR. DAVID O. SELZNICK, WHO felt slighted when Ed Sullivan's MGM salute with Mr. Dore Schary left him out in the cold, will no doubt come into his own when he produces a million-dollar teletitan for the electrical industry's seventy-fifth anniversary.

BUMPED INTO WALTER TETLEY, who has played the radio "Leroy" for years. He's auditioning a panel show "to end all panel shows." Panelists include Maxie Rosenbloom, Pat ("Ercil Twing") Patrick, Joe Frisco and Walter. Asked if the panelists would answer questions, Walter zipped back, "Sure, we'll give 'em answers, but not the ones they expect!"

I have not needed you but a couple of times. But knew you would respond quickly when needed and your work was always satisfactory. And your helper who calls on me is a very courteous person, and knows his TV work. Thanking you for the past favors rendered me. May you have a prosperous year for 1954.

Gene Norman Says

If your TV picture tube would burn out it would cost you plenty of money to install another one. A few months ago, I had to have that big tube replaced in my set. I wish I had known beforehand about Television Industries. For only $10 a year, this company will guarantee your present TV picture tube, if it is working now. It makes no difference how old your tube might be, and any size up to and including 21 inches. You can have it guaranteed for one full year for $10 if it is working now. Just phone PROspect 0301 now, to make an appointment for a technician to visit your home, to test your picture tube.

You can't spend more than $10 for a year's peace of mind . . . There is no extra charge for installation. The man who comes to your home to inspect your picture tube and writes the warranty makes no charge for the call. It costs nothing if he has to return to install a replacement tube, if the one he guaranteed, fails.

The company also has a complete Parts Warranty, protecting picture tube and all other parts in your TV set, for $15 per year. That warranty covers all parts and the picture tube up to and including a 21-inch screen, on a two-year basis.

This company is straight forward and reliable. No gimmicks. They don't sell parts, they don't sell sets. They don't sell picture tubes—they just guarantee the one you have, if it is working now. They are basically a service organization, servicing greater Los Angeles since 1949.

Simply call PR. 0301, or mail the coupon below to Television Industries Inc., 4031 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles 5, Calif.

PICK of the PIX

by Aubrey Dahl

Just a thought, and I don't know if it matters, but has anyone observed that the Thoro-Fed dog food people are sponsoring "Marco," which is also the name of a cat food?

I understand Bill Stewart mentioned my name on his KMPC disc jokey show the other night and I don't want anyone to think I'm unappreciative, therefore I'd like to mention Bill Stewart.

"Secret Command." (5) Aug. 6 10:00. A spy potboiler, this one has Pat O'Brien, a government agent (he's not really a government agent... just in the picture) going to work in a shipyard during the war in order to uncover a gang of saboteurs.

His brother, Chester Morris (not really his brother... just in the picture), is the foreman, thinks Pat is a no-good and doesn't help him much, but with the help of fellow agent Carole Landis and ex-wife Ruth Warrick (not really his ex-wife... just in the picture), the job is done and the war is won.

The chief spy is a nice guy on the job but clicks his heels in private, if that's any clue. Only he's not really a spy... just etc., etc.

"Sword of the Avenger." (13) Aug. 2, 7:00. This is all about the Philippinnes' fight for independence against Spain during the early nineteenth century, and, in particular, the struggles of one man against the injustices and excesses of the home government.

Ramon Delgado is the avenger and Sigrid Gurie is his sweetie. This is not a very good picture and I shall say no more for fear of being accused of injustices and excesses.

"Walk In The Sun." (4) Aug. 4, 11:20. Here is a war film, and a good one, about an infantry platoon and its mission to knock out a Nazi entrenched farmhouse during the Italian Campaign, an objective accomplished with a minimum of the usual impossible heroics. Dana Andrews is the star, with Richard Conte, John Ireland and Lloyd Bridges obeying the orders. Even if you get tired of the shooting, you might enjoy watching Tom Frandsen make his Butternut coffee... he performs it just like a religious rite... ahhh... inspiring.

"Hannah Lee." (5) Aug. 1, 7:30. This is a first on television and a very recent picture, indeed, released just last year, I believe. It's a western, made by the John Ireland-Joanne Dru company, and starring John Ireland, Joanne Dru, and MacDonald Carey, who is a pretty good actor, sometimes.

"Paul Temple's Triumph." (2) Aug. 5, 11:30. Only a cad, sir, would talk about it.

"I Was A Convict." (11) Aug. 4, 2:00. For the F.B.I.?

HOLLAND'S TUNNEL

DUG BY JACK HOLLAND

On the "There's No Business Like Show Business" set at 20th Century-Fox recently, Ethel Merman, who has made quite a dent in TV too, carried out the old adage of "The show must go on." She was suffering severe pains in her side and yet went through a rigorous dance with Johnnie Ray and Donald O'Connor. Not long after she collapsed with an appendicitis attack. Johnnie Ray, a newcomer to the movie business, was amazed at Ethel's determination not to let anyone in the cast down or to hold up production. Incidentally, this looked like a TV company at work. In addition to Ethel, Donald, and Johnnie, Mitzl Gaynor, who has appeared on several TV shows, is in the cast—as is Hugh O'Brian, who is now playing in some of the episodes in "The Loretta Young Show."

But after looking at the company work and after seeing the mammoth sets for this picture and for another one going here, "Desiree," the more convinced you become that productions like these could never be duplicated for TV—just as some things that are right for TV could never be given the same intimate impact in the movies. The two mediums offer their own special brands of entertainment. "Spectaculars" on TV cannot compete with "Show Business" or films like "The Egyptian," but the point is simply that if both mediums will use competition to better their products instead of trying to cut each other's throats, the public will really benefit. The "spectaculars" are a natural outcome of improved motion pictures. TV had to go into a bigger arena. It couldn't stay in a complacent rut. So the whole picture is a healthy one. Incidentally, "Broken Lance" is a film heartily recommended to all. It proves that no matter whether a show is presented on a twenty-one inch screen, on CinemaScope, or VistaVision, or what-have-you, the only thing that really counts is a solid story and a hefty bit of entertainment on that screen. The entertainment field is seeing some changes—both in movies and in TV. And it's about time!

On July 28 on the Red Skelton Show you'll see an act that is completely unlike anything you've ever seen before. Los Chavales De Espana (The Kids From Spain) are now playing a long engagement at the Coconut Grove and they are really different. Eleven men from Spain perform instrumental, choral, and vocal selections with amazing effects. They've been so busy since arriving in this country a couple of years ago that they haven't had the time to do TV—so Red gets a scoop. Each member of the group has memorized over 400 intricate musical arrangements and almost all play at least two instruments, some even four. Three of the men will also appear on Mike Roy's program on the 26th, and will cook up a Spanish dinner. The group is also to do an Ed Sullivan "Toast of the Town" in the fall.

Well, it's been rumored around for a long time—and now it's a fact. George Putnam has accepted an NBC offer and will move from his KTTV location to do the 6:45 and 11 p.m. news over KNBH. This is quite an advance for a man who has proved that newscasting needn't be a dull and uninteresting business. He has built a large following at KTTV and this move will make him about the most popular TV newscaster in these parts. Success like this must be deserved.

Talked to Celeste Holm, who is now doing nicely at the Terrace Room at the Statler, after one of her delightful shows. "On October 10," she remarked, "my TV show, 'Honestly Celeste,' will go on the CBS network. It'll be a comedy situation type of program. Our pilot film was shown to Bristol-Meyers on a Thursday and sold on Monday. It will be done 'live' from New York since I still think 'live' TV is more exciting. Of course, maybe I feel this way because I haven't done enough of it to be afraid of it. I was ready to go on TV before. In fact, we had a show that was sold four times over but we couldn't get any time on NBC, so we forgot the whole deal. The new CBS program is the result of our newer efforts." Celeste, incidentally, replaced Arthur Godfrey for two weeks some time back and found she loved television, but she refuses to give any pat statement about the medium beyond that. As she said, "I don't feel anybody knows anything about TV until he's done it—and I'm just starting to get my feet wet." Anyway, she will probably do some of the things in "Honestly Celeste" that she does in her act at the Statler.

Fame isn't everything. Bill Bendix, whose success story is one of struggle and trials, has had the book thrown at his family. First his daughter, Lorraine, underwent a serious operation. Then he went to the hospital for an ulcer condition, and now his wife, Tess, is in the hospital for a complete rest. She is suffering from a nervous condition. Everyone hopes that things get back to normal again for the likable Bill and his popular family.

Parting Shots: Still can't understand why TV hasn't yet captured Paul Gilbert's very real talent.

Almost all of the disc jockeys in town were on hand recently at the Beverly Hills Hotel to help celebrate the launching of Recordland, a new magazine devoted entirely to records. Ronnie Kemper, Hawthorne, Andy and Virginia Mansfield, Al Jarvis, Larry Finley, Ira Cook, and Harry Koplan were among those offering this new publishing venture best wishes. The magazine is set to appear in September.

By ANDY MANSFIELD

(KFI, Monday thru Friday, 8:45 a.m.)
(Saturday, 10:00 p.m.)

Tops in long playing records this week starts with "Harry James at the Hollywood Palladium"—ten selections interspersed with applause and crowd atmosphere that'll take you right on the floor of this popular West Coast dine-and-dancery. The James boys never sounded better, and with Buddy Rich sparking the tempos of "Sugar Foot Stomp" and "Flash," this could become a top record item for Columbia.

"Arabian Nights" (Decca) features the original cast of this musical extravaganza featured at the Jones Beach, Long Island, Summer Theatre. Its original music is delightful, with just enough Far East flavor to be exotic, yet modern in its context. Lauritz Melchior, Helena Scott, Hope Holiday, and others of the cast are excellent in their roles of the legendary characters.

Claire Austin (Good Time Jazz) is featured singing eight blues numbers with Kid Ory's band that'll take you back to the days of Bessie Smith. Her singing is effortless, her pitch is true, her tone is full and thrilling, her blues style is magnificent. Listen to Claire sing "Careless Love" and "Down-Hearted Blues" and you'll agree she's the greatest in this field today.

More vault originals are appearing on "X" label's jazz classics of yesterday now available on long playing records. Eddie Condon's Hot Shots and other groups with which he recorded in 1929 feature sidemen Jack Teagarden, Glenn Miller, Coleman Hawkins, Pee Wee Russell and Red MacKenzie.

Jelly Roll Morton's Red Hot Peppers with Ory, Simeon, Bigard, Howard and Mitchell add a humorous touch to 1926 recordings of "Sidewalk Blues," "Dead Man Blues" "Steamboat Stomp" and other early classics. There's also a collection of blues and boogie by Chicago's pioneer of this school, Jimmy Yancey, whose unequalled rolling bass is heard in 1939 and 1940 discs.

Even the early "jug bands" are represented on another LP edition of 1926-27-28 recordings by The Dixieland Jug Blowers and the Memphis Jug Band. These long-playing records on "X" should find a welcome reception from collectors and students of this early background of jazz which has been unavailable to the public for many years.

Radio Row Ramblings

Tom Hanlon, KNX-CBS sportscaster, will be honored at the Agua Caliente when track officials proclaim August 1 "Tom Hanlon Day." . . . Frank Goss and his wife are on an extended vacation through Central America. . . . KABC's special events department presents "Carly Chessman, A Social Document" on July 29, the eve of the convict's execution.

The Salt Lake Tabernacle Choir starts its twenty-sixth year of broadcasting on CBS. . . . Mutual-Don Lee carries the twenty-first Annual All-Star Football Game on August 13. . . . KABC's "Hollywood Bowl Salute," which previews music to be heard each week at the Bowl and interviews with guest conductors is one of the best local shows to bow in a long time.

Merle Oberon re-creates her original role when she stars in "Wuthering Heights" for "Lux Radio Theatre" on September 14. . . . Radio station KUAM, has been cited by the Guam Legislature for its news coverage. . . . In addition to his video show, Paul Gilbert is taping "Alexander, The Greatest" for NBC. Paul plays the role of a Walter Mitty-type encyclopedia salesman.

KFWB's Larry Finley has a new son in the family. Born 11:30 a.m. July 23, at Cedars Lebanon hospital, tipping the scales at eight pounds, two ounces. It's Larry's third boy. His wife, Venise, is doing fine.

Many people are echoing Jane Russell's exclamation on "Juke Box Jury" of Tony Travis' voice. Says Jane: "He has a sexy sort of quality that really registers."—M.R.

. . . to Milt Hoffman's scripting on the Tennessee Ernie show. Those funny lines—"Reno is the biggest dairy town in the nation. The cream of the country goes there to get separated"—delivered by Ernie and written by Hoffman certainly spark the daily show.

. . . to Al Poska's playing of the Capitol long-playing record "Hark, the Years" on his regular KFI nightly show. Fredric March does the narrating on this magnificent, nostalgic recording.

Helen O'Connell

The pretty vocalist who shares quips and songs with Tennessee Ernie Ford on CBS-KNX is none other than lovely, blonde Helen O'Connell.

Helen decided she wanted to be in show business at an early age. For a brief period she studied dancing but her sister convinced her to try singing for a living and leave the dancing for pleasure. This was the start of a sister act that played the night-club circuit for two years.

Helen continued as a single after sister Alice bowed out of the business. After singing with Jimmy Dorsey and other name bands, Helen retired temporarily to devote her time to marriage and raising a family. She has three daughters, Jacqueline, Joanna and Jennie.

The petite, smiling vocalist came out of retirement four years ago and won the audition as Tennessee's singing partner hands down. Helen makes for pleasant listening whether it's song or chatter and her fans are glad she's back on a five-a-week ainer.

Poole's Fresno Venture

KBIG's John Poole has suspended operations of his Fresno TV station KBID-TV, Channel 53, until the market expands sufficiently to support a local independent television station. (There are two other Fresno stations which enjoy multiple network affiliations.) However, radio in Fresno is thriving and Poole is expanding his AM station, KBIF, which only goes to prove that outside of the TV capitals, radio is still supreme.

I am very sorry to hear that "The Dennis Day Show" will not be returning to the air this Fall. I'm sure that most people who are really being honest with themselves will agree that Dennis's show contained more talent and entertainment value than its opposition, "I Love Lucy." I feel certain that had not Dennis been so unfortunate as to have had his wonderful show placed in that dreadful position opposite "Lucy," he would surely have made the list of the top ten TV shows. Dennis is by far the greatest entertainer in the business, and he deserves to be much more popular than he is.

My father, my girlfriend, and I were among those fortunate enough to be able to see his act at the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas. It is a truly great experience to see this great performer who has enough talent to put on such a tremendous show as he did without being forced to rely on dirty jokes and risqué stories. His beautiful songs and magnificent impersonations with a sprinkling of jokes provided a wealth of good clean entertainment, and I'm sure that if more people could actually see him perform in person, they would realize what a great amount of talent he really possesses.

According to NBC, there are no definite TV plans for Dennis Day for this Fall, but he will be heard on radio.

Valerie Davison, Vancouver, Canada

I want to thank Mrs. R. L. Pope of Anaheim and Mrs. Zelda Cleveland of Alhambra for returning to print, the name and films of filmdoms greatest singer, Nelson Eddy. Like these ladies, I have been a great admirer of the baritone's for many years, and I doubt if anyone will ever again give me such a wealth of pleasurable entertainment.

When MGM recently remade Rose Marie, I for one just couldn't see it, as it held too many memories of that memorable Jeanette MacDonald Nelson Eddy epic of a few years ago. My hope was that MGM would reissue all of these wonderful films they made, if not in theaters, then on the next best medium, television. There are millions of people who would love to see these musicals again, and a new generation who has yet to be charmed, so if my plea can be added, let's hope the powers that be . . . MGM . . . take these letters to heart. More Nelson Eddy please!

Ernest H. Szajowitz, Los Angeles

I never wrote a letter to any magazine before but I couldn't refrain from writing to you hoping that in your "Ear and Eye Inspire the Pen" section I would have some people agreeing with me.

I'm referring to the way NBC belittled or cheapened itself, however you want to look at it, by refusing a time slot to the "Voice of Firestone" after twenty-five years or more on their network. As far as I know the program was the only one with some beautiful music to listen to each week, music that is the favorite of millions the world over. There isn't any program that has the variety and kind of music as Voice of Firestone has. I'm glad to see that some network isn't afraid of competition for such a program.

I'm sure that a lot of people will agree with me and that NBC will some day regret its unreasonable decision.

Thank you for the opportunity of expressing my opinion in your magazine.

Larry Levin, Mayers Co. Inc., Los Angeles

The special broadcast featuring "St. Louis Blues" over KFI on Saturday evening, presented by Andy Mansfield, was a fine example of creative thinking in radio programming. It offered forty-three different recordings of this American folk classic with excellent commentary in a two-and-a-half-hour show. Featured was an interesting interview with the composer, W. C. Handy. This program took planning, research and work, but it was so good it rates consideration when Radio Achievement Awards are being selected.

There is a big audience of radio listeners who would welcome something different in music programs from the endless all-day playing of the ten top tunes. Every DJ must have one or more daring ideas he has hoped to do. Come on, boys, live audaciously.

This is an answer to Ruth Bussey Jackson's letter. I am against gambling as much as she is. I know what hardships it can cause a family; but if she had taken time to look up the meaning of the word GAMBLE which is, according to Daniel Webster: "Gamble—to practice gaming; play for money; risk money on an event or contingency; to squander in gaming." In "Play Marco" no one is risking any money, but some lucky person has a chance to get something for nothing.

I watched "Play Marco" last Saturday night and I intend to watch it every week as I and my family find this program very entertaining. My advice to Ruth B. Jackson is, this is still a free country and no one is forcing you to look at it so all you have to do is with a twist of the wrist turn your dial to another channel and don't ruin the fun for others.

TV-Radio Life magazine is the best little magazine I've read yet. You could do much worse than read it. I hope they'll keep up the good work and give us the good reading they've been giving us for such a long time. Our democracy gives us the freedom of the press and freedom of choice of entertainment. So let's all enjoy it to the fullest.

"The Open Road" (KTTV) has been one of our favorite programs.

Recently we missed Bill Burrud and, upon calling the studio, were amazed to learn he is no longer with the show.

It seems to us Bill Burrud has been a vital part of "The Open Road" from its inception. Certainly his inimitable descriptions made those trips live for us and we have lost a lot of interest in this show since he left it.

Mr. Burrud is now an independent producer with his own company "Bill Burrud Productions." He is working on several new shows to be seen shortly on TV.

Mrs. V. J. Smith, Harbor City

In this neighborhood we are tremendously interested in the sewing classes of the Zahler Company as mentioned in TV-RADIO LIFE's "Lifelines." Sure hope this is shown soon so we may learn to sew and improve our techniques for school sewing.

The response to having a sewing class on TV has been most gratifying. We also hope a worthy program such as this will soon be on television.

Charlotte Moore, L. A.

We enjoy the magazine very much with all the comments, questions, and answers.

Here are some I would like to ask: Are Cliffie Stone and "Herman the Hermit" related? Also Roy Rogers and Spade Cooley? Have heard from others that they are but would like the information from you.

"Herman the Hermit" and Cliffie Stone are father and son; no relation between Roy Rogers and Spade Cooley. Although many have thought they are brothers, they are just good friends.

A couple of months ago, Hollywood Fans were quite happy to hear that Dale Long, Hollywood's great first baseman, and the Coast League's most valuable player, was rejoining the team. The Fans were not happy because Big Dale didn't stick in the Major Leagues, but at the same time, they knew his appearance in the Stars' lineup would once again put the Twinks back on the winning road.

This reporter happened to be in Oakland during the Stars' first road trip to the Bay area this season. The Oaks were knocking the stuffin's out of the Stars and this reporter took quite a ribbing from the Bay area sports writers about the "deflated Stars." And I will admit at the time, that things didn't look rosy... but I still had faith in Bobby Bragan and Bob Cobb. I knew the Stars would be tough.

As I walked into the dressing room after the Twinks had taken another pasting from Chuck Dressen's boys, I ran right into Dale Long. Not having seen the Big Guy since the previous season we started to chat. At the time, a tiny little guy, who looked more like the Bat boy than a player walked by. Carlos Bernier grabbed the little guy's arm and introduced him to me.

In Spanish, Carlos told the little fellow that I broadcast the Stars' games on TV while the team was at home. And when I heard the name, I had to admit that here was another "Rookie" who was being tossed to the Wolves. The name of Lino Dinoso didn't mean much to me. I had never heard of Lino before. And that same evening... Dinoso had been tossed out of his first game after getting into a row with Chuck Dressen and some of the Oakland fans. But at our first meeting, I thought to myself, "This guy is a cool cookie for having just pitched in his first coast league game and almost starting a riot."

How right I was in that first snap evaluation. For in the past month or so when the Stars pitching staff began to falter, it was this same little battler, the "Feep Jeep" as the boys call him, who almost single handed picked up the team and carried it on his shoulders.

Dinoso, for his size, was a living baseball phenom. He took his regular turn on the mound and was always there and ready when Manager Bragan needed a "stopper" in relief. Looking at Lino, one wondered how long this could go on, for in truth, he looked like a good wind would take him right off the streets. But size and weight had nothing to do with Dinoso's heart. All he wanted to do was "peetch," as he would say. And how he did pitch.

Seems a strange coincidence that last week at Oakland—the same place he pitched his first coast league game—Lino Dinoso was hit with a final attack of appendicitis and was operated on. The Docs say that he will be out three or four weeks. And in that three or four weeks, the Stars are going to have to pick up the slack the Little Guy carried for the first part of the season if they are going to make it "One More in '54." And that, my friends, is a big job.

"Leapin' Lino" has been the Stars' secret weapon. Without him, it could mean losing the pennant. But don't count Dinoso out yet. Knowing him, I'd be willing to bet that he'll fool the Docs and everyone else sooner than expected. For with Lino Dinoso, baseball is his life's blood—and what a surprise package he turned out to be!!!!

Grunt 'n' Groan

I'm getting tired of people accusing me of putting gadgets in my mask so that I can butt my opponents and knock them out. A lot of people swear I put a silver dollar, or a disc in there. Guy wrote me a letter the other day and told me he knew positively I put an ice cube in there. How goofy can you get?

I'm so fed up with all these stories that I am offering $500 for anyone who can prove that I put anything at all in my mask outside of my head. Five hundred dollars is a lot of money, so take your best shot. If that doesn't put an end to this business, I'll think of something better. Maybe $1000.

I don't put anything in my mask. All I do when I put my hands up there around my head is to straighten the mask so I can see through the eye holes.

I have been asked why I wear a mask. When I lost to Lou Thesz and had to take it off, most people thought I would wrestle without it. Here is why I put it back on again.

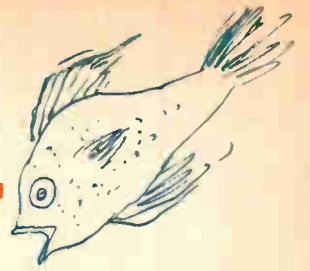

My face and ears aren't marked up like the other wrestlers. I want to keep myself looking that way. By wearing a mask I protect my face and when I retire from wrestling I won't look as if I'd been through a meat grinder.

That is the only reason I wear a mask.

Where Do They Get Those CRAZY Ideas?

The Writers for "I Love Lucy" Love Their Job, But Not Everyone Would Consider This Chore the Dreamiest Way To Make a Living. After All, It's No Cinch to Think of So Many Ways to Get Lucy and Ricky in and Out of Trouble.

WHEREVER Jess Oppenheimer, Madelyn Pugh, and Bob Carroll go, they're asked the same question: "Where do you get all the ideas for the scripts you do on 'I Love Lucy'?" To this, the trio just shrug their shoulders, toss forth a smile, and say, "Everywhere—and nowhere."

"We keep thinking that when plot day arrives—the day we work out the story line for the next script—that we'll run out of ideas," Bob Carroll commented, "but somehow we get them. I guess we just pick everybody's brains. Like the way we borrow experiences from people we know."

"Once, for example," Madelyn Pugh commented, "we heard a friend complaining about the types of presents her husband bought her. She said they hardly ever fit, they weren't the right size, and then she added, 'But what do you do about it?' We'd heard this typical wifely complaint from several other people so it wound up as a story for 'I Love Lucy.'"

"But the funniest thing is that we have friends who are always insisting we got an idea from them—when we really didn't."

Whatever strikes the fancy of any of the three writers is put down in an idea book for a possible script. Then occasional magazine articles will bring forth a plot—such as a quiz called "Do You Know Your Wife?" which ran in a newspaper magazine section. And, recently, when Desi got all fired up about golf, a story was done on "Ricky" and his game.

"We get ideas at odd times, too," Madelyn said. "Sometimes I have a hard time sleeping and I'll start thinking of a plot line. Or I'll wake up suddenly with a gag in mind."

"I try to encourage her to eat rich foods before she goes to sleep," Bob remarked with a laugh, "so she'll stay up and get more ideas."

Bob and Madelyn, after the plot session with Jess, do a first draft of the script and then Jess makes final revisions. Lucy and Desi never see the script, as a rule, until the day before rehearsals begin. The two stars hardly ever suggest any changes. In fact, they can't say enough in praise about this talented trio.

Criticisms

Recently, critics have complained about there being too much slapstick in the "Lucy" shows. Others have ranted about too many happy endings. To such comments, Bob remarked, "We're using less slapstick now than we did in the first shows. And there are many who tell us our endings are too unhappy. Some people said we had too much of the baby in the shows, others said we didn't have enough. So we know it's impossible to please everyone.

We just try to keep happy ourselves—and still let Lucy and Desi have something funny to say."

The biggest change in recent scripts has been the introduction of characters who appear in more than one show, such as "Mrs. Trumbull," so ably played by Elizabeth Patterson, and the clubwoman played by Doris Singleton. Tennessee Ernie will undoubtedly be in more scripts and there is talk of introducing a woman who will be "Ricky's" mother.

Bob and Madelyn, who incidentally are not married, began their writing careers at CBS as staff writers. They did every kind of show and even wrote station breaks. But they didn't begin writing together until they went to Harry Ackerman, CBS executive, and asked him to let them try a script for the then projected radio show, "My Favorite Husband," starring Lucille Ball. They did one script, sold it, and were assigned to do all the rest. It was a natural move, then, for them to join Lucy and Desi on "I Love Lucy."

If you were to ask Jess, Madelyn, and Bob how they feel about having done so many scripts for this long-time favorite CBS-TV show, they'd simply say, "Well, we still laugh at our own gags, so we're certainly never bored."

The Big Switch

FOR ALMOST A QUARTER OF A CENTURY Harlow Wilcox has been one of the biggest names in the radio world. But now he has joined the TV ranks on KNBH's "World Digest."

FOR NEARLY a quarter of a century Harlow Wilcox became renowned in the magic land of radio. As an announcer for such famed shows as "Fibber McGee and Molly," "Amos 'n Andy," "Suspense," "Blondie," and many others, the name and voice of Harlow Wilcox became familiar to millions of Americans.

One afternoon, just a few months ago, Wilcox made a phone call which climaxed that career and started a new one. He called his friend, Tom McCray, general manager of KNBH, Channel 4.

Up to that moment, it was strictly radio that made Wilcox a personality. With the exception of one very brief appearance on a local station, he had never appeared before a camera.

Sense and Cents

"I've got kind of a crazy idea," Wilcox began. "I've waited a long, long time to do this, but I think the time has come.

July 30, 1954

"I've been kicking around the idea of going into TV news. I've never done any newscasting before, but I think I could handle it. Does it make any sense to you?"

It did make sense to McCray. As a matter of fact, he told Wilcox he had been planning to renew a show on KNBH called "World Digest." It was a half-hour program summarizing the week's news with the aid of the NBC news department and film service.

"Would you be interested in handling such a show?" McCray asked.

"Yes, I think I would. I really believe I would."

That ended the phone conversation and that began a new TV career for the fifty-four-year-old announcer. (Naturally, Wilcox is still continuing his radio announcing, but he is not confining himself to that field as he has done in the past.)

A TV Milestone

Getting Wilcox into the TV fold was a significant event in many ways. He was one of the last of radio's "great" announcers to enter TV. He was one of the last of the "old radio guard." TV could now claim almost a complete roster with its older sister.

Why did Wilcox make the big switch?

"The reasons are very simple," Harlow explained. "As long as radio was paying me a good living, I saw no purpose in going into television. I stayed exclusively in radio just as long as I felt I could. I knew that TV was much harder work. I've always felt that every dollar I made on radio I figuratively stole.

"But TV has gotten too big these days for anyone to ignore completely. I didn't particularly want to make the switch but I needed the money and it was inevitable."

TV Tough

Beginning early in June, viewers had a chance actually to see what the famed Harlow Wilcox looked like on "World Digest."

The stocky, gray-haired announcer likes his new assignment but finds it tough, much tougher than radio.

"Many times for a radio show, I wouldn't see the script until a few minutes before air time. Now, for this half-hour program, I spend all day at the KNBH studios going over the copy, watching the films, and going through endless details until we have a compact half-hour of news and films," he explained.

One difficulty he had to overcome was to get the habit of looking up from his copy, which he half reads and half memorizes. "I don't like to use a teleprompter, where you have to keep staring at the same spot all the time. To me, it looks artificial."

After twenty-five years of radio experience, how did veteran Wilcox feel when he did his very first TV show?

"Absolutely petrified!"

DUNCAN IS BOTH FATHER and mother to his three wonderful children, Jeremy, Stephanie, and Richard. And three better trained youngsters you'll never see!

'The Cisco Kid's' Other Life

Without any fanfare, Duncan Renaldo is waging a one-man fight for better lives for children. He raises some potent questions with his comments on the "lost generation" we're creating.

I AM GRATEFUL to my TV show, 'The Cisco Kid,' for many reasons but mainly because it has given me a chance I would not have had otherwise to fight for the better life for today's youngsters."

Duncan Renaldo spoke earnestly and with deep conviction. For several years now, Duncan, who portrays "The Cisco Kid" on KABC-TV, has gone quietly ahead helping orphans, teaching safety to thousands of children, giving valuable help to boys and girls lying in hospitals, and working conscientiously to help stem the tide of juvenile delinquency. He has been given awards by the dozens by civic leaders and by organizations working to help today's children. He is doing a job the importance of which cannot be measured by mere words.

"When I was a boy I used to pasture sheep for a living," Duncan began. "I had to take care of as many as six hundred sheep. Somehow, the underdog and I always worked together. And always I had to come face to face with a practical way of living. I've tried, with my three children—Stephanie, Jeremy, and Richard—to see that they face the same practical values. They work for their weekly allowance so they will learn how to hang on to money without squandering it. But, even more important, they are learning what is important in life. They are learning a sense of responsibility and recognizing an obligation to each other.

"It seems to me that too many children are allowed to skip conveniently through life. They are not being given a good grounding. And yet all authorities agree that the span from four and a half to sixteen years old is the most important time of any child's life. Without good training during those formative years they are lost souls. They never catch up. Much of today's delinquency can be attributed to indifferent training in early life. Too many parents, it seems to me, have the idea that they can take care of their children's problems after they've taken care of their own—but somehow their own problems never seem to be settled.

"I have talked to many delinquent children in my visits to cities in this country. I have talked to sheriffs and police and have found that delinquency is directly traceable to the early years in a child's life. Mother and daddy had to work and the boy or girl had to do the best possible under the circumstances. Schools are now—and have been for some time—overcrowded, so teachers had to rely on the parents to help the children. As a result, the boys and girls grew up without any real family background and without any basic education. This lack of training isn't representative of the poorer class of families. Much of it came from rich homes where the parents, socially speaking, left their children at home with the maids.

"The prevalent attitude is that tomorrow will take care of itself. That just doesn't work. One of the main causes of delinquency is the lack of any religious training. We have lost the sense of divinity, of order, of constructive thinking. Taking children to church every Sunday has become an inconvenience to many parents and so consequently there is no church. There is, therefore, much damage done to the children. How can they have respect for their parents if they don't believe in God? Without faith there can be no bulwark. Without faith children will turn to any false thing for excitement, an outlet.

"As for education, it seems terrible to me that teachers are so poorly paid. I drive along highways and notice all kinds of improvements in roads and decorations added to beautify the scenery, but I can't help thinking how much good all the money spent in this way could do if it were given to pay teachers a decent salary. I had a letter from the chief of police in Washington, D. C., decrying this same condition.

"When I do a show in any city—and Leo Carrillo and I have often played to as many as 30,000 boys and girls in one place—I always stop in the middle to make a little talk to the children. I may point up the danger of playing with daddy's guns, I talk a great deal about kindness and courtesy since they are the most elemental things to learn, I talk about tolerance, about respect for parents. And I only pray that whatever is said helps in some way to give children a better way of life."

Duncan also donates regularly to children's hospitals and to orphanages. Not long ago he gave sixty lambs to the Boys Harbor Association for the boys to raise—thus giving them a sense of responsibility. To another organization he gave calves.

But Duncan gives more than cash and gifts—he gives of himself. His life is dedicated to children.

Isn't it about time that all of us give as much to our own children?

MARGEE PHILLIPS:
KBIG's
Wonder
Woman

*Versatile Fem News Writer Invades
A Man's World With Much Success.*

▲ VERSATILE MARGEE PHILLIPS can write society news or the agricultural history of mushrooms with equal know-how. Incidentally, she comes by the farm angle naturally. She grew up on a Colorado ranch and earned her money for college by showing registered Holstein cattle in Western show rings.

and glamorized it for listeners. The history of an artichoke or rhubarb sounds pretty dull until you listen to one of her scripts read by a dulcet-toned announcer.

On occasion, Margee will arise at two a.m. to visit the wholesale produce market in downtown Los Angeles with the produce buyer for Von's Market, her sponsor. She says she's completely fascinated by the gibberish she overhears at the market. "It sounds like the highly publicized tobacco auctioneer and before I can interpret a single word a transaction has taken place. Usually fifteen carloads of lettuce have been bought for $15,000 in nothing flat," she explains.

But not all of Margee's sacrifices in the line of duty require such early risings. Recently she visited Soquel, California, near Santa Cruz, to see mushrooms "flush." That's right—flush. Soquel raises choice mushrooms in caves and Margee had to descend into the depths of the dark cave wearing a carbide light on her hat in order to see the mushrooms popping up.

Margee is not only well informed about the lowly fruit or vegetable but she is also well fed on her job. Growers send her delicacies by the case to tempt her epicurean tastes.

Fishing Copy

On the "Maritime Edition of the News" Margee compiles latest news of ocean fishing catches. She talks to about fifteen skippers of sports-fishing boats from Ensenada to Santa Barbara. Although she translates the jargon like a veteran, she hasn't been fishing in fifteen years and plans to keep it that way. The skippers don't seem to mind, though, for they point out that the best writers on fishing never go near the water.

Writing a public service show for the Los Angeles Police Department is another one of her duties. Margee added spice to routine police bulletins by having Friday on mike—Policewoman Lorraine H. Friday, that is.

Her creative work won recognition when she was cited by the Women's Advertising Club of St. Louis. There's no denying it—Margee Phillips is a versatile news writer and KBIG can truly call her their woman wonder.

IT WOULD appear as though vivacious Margee Phillips is out to prove that anything a man can do she can do better.

Margee is KBIG's assistant news editor and staff writer. She has a tremendous capacity for work and seems to thrive on meeting her almost hourly deadlines.

Margee handles the off-beat news items for the station. Following KBIG's policy of presenting capsule news, she can condense more information in a five minute newscast than anyone else in the industry save veteran reporter Bill Henry.

In the "Homemaker's Edition of the News," she has taken a prosaic subject like fruits and vegetables
