Steele turns writer on next disc

TITLES STILL SECRET

TOMMY STEELE has already recorded his next single for Decca, and the top side is a number he has written and arranged himself. "I can't disclose the titles yet," Tommy told DISC, "but I can tell you that the side I wrote is neither a novelty number like 'What A Mouth' nor a rock number, so you can draw your own conclusions!"

'DEMOBBED' AGAIN!

Elvis Presley was "demobbed" for a second time last week when he completed work on his film, "G.I. Blues." To celebrate the occasion he gave an impromptu session on the set in the Hollywood studios, using a slightly bigger instrument than his usual guitar!

Harry Leader— first record for ten years

BANDLEADER Harry Leader, currently resident at the Regent Ballroom, Brighton, is to have his first disc release after 10 years on July 15. It will be issued by Top Rank, and for it Leader has employed a modern style outfit called The Leaderbeats, in two beat tunes, sung by his own vocalist, Johnny Time.

The songs, written by Rodd Arden and Paddy Roberts, are "On Washington Square" and "Dance, Dance."

Harry Leader and his Orchestra last recorded, for the Columbia label, in 1950.

The new disc is due for release in about six weeks' time.

Tommy Steele's latest hit, "What A Mouth," is still moving up the charts. This week it is number six. "It was a great number for me," he said. "I enjoy recording novelty numbers. I get a kick out of doing them, and they suit my personality."

"It's perfectly true that this, and my last hit, 'Little White Bell,' were off-beat numbers, but this doesn't mean that all my discs in future are going to be in the same vein. I liked both songs, so I recorded them."

No set ideas

"If I hear a good beat number, I'll record that. I've no set ideas on what I should sing."

Last Saturday Tommy Steele opened for a 16-week season at the Opera House, Blackpool. He last played a season at this resort two years ago, and at that time, of course, he was single.

"I'm glad I've got Ann with me this time. I've never been so happy as I am now. Marriage is certainly agreeing with me."

On November 8, 1960, Tommy Steele will switch personalities and become Tony Lumpkin in Goldsmith's "See Stoops To Conquer" for a season at London's Old Vic.

"It's a comedy part and not really as different for me," he confided. "After all, I've played comedy parts in films before now."

Later on, when his Old Vic season is through, plans are in hand for yet another film. No title has been fixed yet, "but it's another musical."

TOMMY STEELE'S new number is "neither rock nor novelty."

Adam could have got his hat-trick if...

MANY singers' careers are being ruined because their records are being released too soon after one another. Cliff Richard and Adam Faith have recently released new records while the previous one is still in the hit parade.

This means that the new record must surely sell less and that the public will tire of a particular singer more quickly.

Therefore, it would be a good policy for pop singers to release fewer records in a year. By doing this, they would stand more chance of getting three consecutive discs to the top of the hit parade.—M. TITCOMBE, Meadow Croft, Bridge Road, Godalming, Surrey.

WRONG TYPE

CRAIG DOUGLAS said in DISC (25-6-60) that he wanted to get away from the type of number with which people tended to associate him. But I have been disappointed more than once by artists appearing and singing other people's songs.

For example, when I saw Pat Boone, the only song of his own he sang was "I'll Be Home." Among the others was "Way Down Yonder In New Orleans," which, although popular at the time, was not his type of song.

I would be very disappointed if Craig Douglas appeared in a show as a guest and started singing "Ain't Misbehavin'," or "My Old Man's A Dustman."—J. A. TULLETT, 93, Ashburnham Road, Northampton.

EXASPERATED

AS a traditional jazz fan, I find myself continually exasperated by Owen Bryce. This critic flounders every week in an attempt to pass comments on records that he obviously fails to understand.

Basic traditional jazz has not the same harmonic or technical conventions as we have—Negro music has more "dirty" notes.

If Mr. Bryce cannot appreciate the New Orleans music, then, instead of sneering at fans and the bands, he should either refrain from reviewing the records, or hand the job over to someone else.—K. GOUGH, Rendcomb, Nr. Cirencester, Glos.

ONE MISTAKE

WE were sorry to hear the story about the death of Gene Vincent's daughter being a hoax. It was a great blow to us. Gene has been dogged with bad luck throughout his life, and now he makes one small mistake and everyone turns against him.

Each week on LP is awarded to the writer of the Prize Letter... and once a month there is a bonus prize of a Ronson lighter/ashtray set. The address: Post Bag, DISC, Charles Buchan's Publications Ltd., 171, Fleet Street, EC4.

PRIZE LETTER

For us, he still remains the greatest of singers, and we sincerely hope that he doesn't give up his singing career, and will continue to delight his fans.—CHRIS & CAROL LAVENDER, 3, Ashwell Villas, Caeffion, Newport, Mon.

EASY TO SEE

IT is easy to see why Elvis has slipped a little. His record company are reissuing his old discs (they have done it again with Elvis' Golden Album No. 2) instead of issuing the new LP.

This is exploitation at its worst, and it comes back on Elvis himself. Even the covers of the LPs are old.—DON SMITH, 23, The Burroughs, Hendon, N.W.4.

KIDS' STUFF

WHY does David Jacobs have to use all schoolchild and teenage material on "Pick Of The Pops"?

I like the type of programme where the disc jockey is able to win the hearing of all members of the family, but the records used on "Pick Of The Pops" are not for the ears of anyone over 25. David Jacobs personally puts him above this type of programme, and it's a pity he can't be persuaded to put over a more carefully selected show.—LESLIE D. GAYLOR, 16, Pan Lane, Newport, Isle of Wight.

Do you want an audition?

WIN OUR NEW NATIONWIDE COMPETITION AND A RECORDING TEST IS WAITING FOR YOU... PLUS A WEEK-END IN VIENNA FOR TWO AND A 49 GN. STUZZI TAPE RECORDER. (The two runners-up will receive Mannequin recorders.)

DISC is looking for new talent, the stars of tomorrow, and if you can sing or play an instrument and think you could make a name for yourself on records this is your chance.

It doesn't matter whether you live in London or John O'Groats everyone gets a fair chance because EVERY entry for the contest must be on tape. You don't have to move one step towards London unless you're selected for the finals.

To enter the contest you have only to make a tape recording of yourself, with a maximum running time of fifteen minutes, and send it, together with the entry form printed alongside, to this address: "Talent Competition," DISC, 161-166, Fleet Street, London, EC4.

A panel of judges: Cliff Richard, his manager Tito Burns, an A and R manager, and the Editor of DISC will listen to the tapes and select the finalists.

Closing date for the competition is August 27, and the finals will be held as soon after this as possible.

If you are in London between August 16 and 27, entries can be taped at a special studio at the Boys' and Girls' Exhibition at Olympia and so that you can obtain the necessary entry forms, copies of DISC will be on sale at the exhibition.

Technical recording quality will NOT be taken into account when judging the tapes.

NO entries will be accepted unless accompanied with the official entry form on this page.

If competitors wish to have their tapes returned they must supply a suitable stamped and addressed envelope.

CONGRATULATIONS to R. C. H. Milne on his very true letter concerning the way critics mistreat Bill Haley (DISC 25-6-60). Let us hope that his new LP for Warner, "Bill Haley And His Comets," will not be ignored like the good but so unappreciated "Strictly Instrumental."

This new LP is great. I recently heard an American copy of it, and it makes several top American discs sound like "squares." It is true, unadulterated rock, and any single track, if released, would make the charts.—FRED JACKSON, 30, Lindale Gardens, South Shore, Blackpool.

HELP YOURSELF SHOPS

I CANNOT understand why many record shops still display their discs in neat racks behind the counter, giving no chance for the buyer to browse.

How different it would be in a shop where the records are there for the public to see and choose. In a case like this, even if the shop hasn't the required disc, when there are racks within each, it is more than possible that the customer will find something else.—C. R. MCKAY, 8, Elm Grove, Fowey, Nr. Truro, Cornwall.

KEN GRAHAM IS SO RIGHT

I AGREE entirely with Ken Graham on his remarks about Holly Vaughn. This outstanding musician deserves a place in our hit parade, and with such excellent discs as "Morgen," "La Paloma," and his greatest "Sail Along Silvery Moon," I cannot understand why he fails to reach the charts.

His LPs are also excellent, but whether or not Pat Boone's Musical Director reaches the top twenty, I will certainly continue to buy his wonderful discs.—ALEX WEIR, 17, Loudoun Road, Newmilns, Ayrshire.

We owe a lot to Jack

IT is increasingly fashionable to pan Jack Good. Jack has made many mistakes which have hurt no one and are soon forgiven; but those who enjoy modern pop music and entertainment owe a great debt to him. His efforts to further their interests have been untiring and unceasing.

Many of us believe that rock has infused into pop music a vitality that is badly needed—and one cannot disassociate rock, in this country, from Jack Good.

It would, as Jack says, be a tragedy if the television companies were to abandon programmes aimed at young viewers. It will be a greater tragedy, for my money, if show business ceases to thrive up personalities with the courage and all-around-the-bell enthusiasm of Jack Good.—MICHAEL RICHARDS, 83, Strathyre Avenue, London, SW.16.

...but he doesn't know what rock is!

JACK GOOD seems to think that rock is still with us. In DISC (25-6-60), he considers the previous week's top 7 to be rock discs.

I think it has been such a long time since a true rock record has been released that he has forgotten what rock really sounds like. Surely he does not consider any of these discs to be real rock.

If he does, I suggest that he borrows a record player and some rock records by such artists as Bill Haley, Little Richard, Jerry Lee Lewis and the old-style Presley.

After listening to these, he will soon be mourning the death of rock as many of us teenagers are doing at present.—JOHN LINDSAY, 16, Halley Square, Glasgow, W.3.

Singles have a big boom

UP go the single record sales again. What looked like being the worst year for single sales may become the best the record industry has ever known. Million record sales are again being recorded, with no summer doldrums ahead. Attempts at developing new sounds are being made by the companies whose single sales are going down. But many go-ahead companies, realising the impact of a single in building album popularity, are reversing the trend and expanding their avenues of sales.

Columbia Records and Verve are releasing jazz on singles. Already Gerry Mulligan is starting to move big with "Let's Go Fishin'" for the latter label. Capitol Records in the autumn will start releasing seven-inch 33 rpm in stereo and monaural simultaneously.

Larry Hall gave a terrific party at his Stanton, California, home to celebrate his entry in the charts with "I'll Stay Single," the party was, of course, "Bachelor." Billy Vaughn's recording of "Look For A Star" could easily become the instrumental hit on this much recorded number. Dean Martin was allowed to leave hospital this week providing he takes things easy for a while.

ON Steve Lawrence's new disc "Girls, Girls, Girls" he mentions nearly every girl's name known except the name Eydie. But if you listen closely you'll hear the name "Gittel," this is his pet name for his wife Eydie Gormé. His push is running smoothly for Jerry Wallace after his big smash "Primoise Lane." He now comes up with "Swinging Down The Lane" and this has the same winning ingredients as his other Challenge hit. Gogi Grant is the latest singer to take to the musical comedy stage. Gogi is to star with Andy Devine in a revival of "Showboat."

The Ventures, a new group on the Dolton label, are getting a lot of play with "Walk—Don't Talk" and are making a big impact wherever they make a personal appearance. Peter Duchin, son of the famous Eddy, is now serving in the U.S. Army. This, however, does not stop him playing piano, as he is in the entertainments section, and is picking up a lot of good experience. Peter plays a crisp, moody jazz sound which is just great. When he is demobbed next year he intends to concentrate on composing serious music.

Jackie Wilson, whose disc of "Night" is still way at the top of the charts, is out this week with a new big ballad "All My Love." Most people think of Jackie as a beat singer. He has had many rock 'n' roll hits but his new style is here to stay.

PAUL ANKA . . . he followed Darin into the Copacabana night spot and was an even bigger success.

SO big still are the sales on Julie London's album "Julie Is Her Name" that she has re-cut this in stereo. Since making this LP she has cut 10 others, all of which are steady sellers.

"Because They're Young," the film which stars America's top DJ, Dick Clark, had its premiere this week in New York. Apart from Dick, and guest stars James Darren and Donne Eddy, many of the big teenage artists attended the showing to help give the movie a big kick-off.

Paul Anka who followed Bobby Darin into the Copacabana in New York has had an even bigger success than Darin, and that's saying something. The management have had to add an extra show each evening. This 18-year-old now appeals to adults as well as teenagers.

Two revivals out this week on the second World War song—"The White Cliffs of Dover." One is by The Mystics on Laurie; it's done with the original lyrics and a big beat. The other, by newcomer Scots English on the Dot label is sung as a ballad with a new set of lyrics. It will be interesting to see which one gets away, as both are excellent.

Shelley Berman has a follow-up to his "Inside" and "Outside" hits with "The Edge On Shelley Berman" and the Everest label have made "Out Of Control With Murray Roman," the young up-and-coming comedian.

Reno Capra, new singer on the Columbia label, is billed as "The Romantic Debonaire." Reno, who works by day as a supervisor for an excavation company, makes his bow with "Just Say I Love Her" and "Fools Rush In."

Actor Richard Conte has cut two albums for Music Records called "An Evening With Oscar Wilde."

wired by Maurice Clark

Robinson lays the ghost of Lord Rock

HARRY ROBINSON has finally laid the ghost of "Lord Rockingham," that aristocratic gent from the "Oh Boy!" days of a year or so ago. Now Harry is content to act as arranger and conductor to people like Tommy Steele, Craig Douglas, Mike Preston and Harry Robinson. His current LP "Moody and Magnificent" is an example of his current trend in music.

It is a trend which took him with Tommy Steele to Australia and dropped him, on the way home, in America where Harry had a "busman's holiday" watching other musicians at work.

"I saw five sessions in the States," he told me, "and in all of them the rhythm sections were terrific, they really did impress me. But the drive they manage to achieve on their records is something we just can't imitate."

"Mind you, when it comes to strings we still have the best sound. In the States they get nothing like the tone we achieve. And don't let anyone tell you there's a difference in studio construction. Some of theirs are as old as some of ours and virtually the same equipment is used."

Quite ruthless

"I don't know why the result should be so different. But they're entirely ruthless out here. I saw one session where the guitarist was reading the part correctly but wasn't getting the right sound. So they got rid of him and brought in somebody else."

"That probably accounts for their great degree of freshness, but it's not an atmosphere I could work in myself."

"They seem to work much faster, too," Harry went on. "They'll do in two sessions what we'll do in three. One of the best sessions I saw was one with Janet Rodgers. He had four players with her. They played

HARRY ROBINSON . . . "The Americans are so ruthless."

(DISC Pic) through their parts a couple of times then went straight on and recorded the number."

Musically speaking Australia was quite a different kettle of fish for Harry, who, before he left Britain, told me how apprehensive he was about the material he had. Tommy had prepared, and the way it would be received by Australian audiences.

"It worked out all right," he said. "I think initially we were misguided in going to Brisbane, Adelaide and Newcastle. But the tour built up as we progressed."

"The standard of musicianship over there is good, but what they lack over there are music teachers and arrangers. None of the bands I heard could have touched ours. They need conductors, too, to pull them together and they suffer from being badly tuned."

"In about five years time, though, they'll be all right and there will be big opportunities out there."

"But while in Australia I did have one complaint, which I aired at a dice jockey's luncheon I attended. And that is, that they play far too many American recordings and not enough British material."

"The most popular British artist out there at present is Lonnie Donegan. We were lucky when we arrived, because Tommy 'The Toreador' had just opened and 'Little White Ball' was in the charts."

Harry did find that Australians were interested in how Frank Ifield was making out in Britain. "Unfortunately," he said, "we left before Frank had begun to make any impression here. I wished many times I could have given them news of him, but we just didn't know. But they were very interested in him."

In New York, Harry found that people were interested in Peter Sellers. "They really like him over there," he said. "His records have been going well and his picture 'I'm All Right, Jack,' was running while we were there."

And the future?

"I'm doing Tommy's material for his Blackpool show, using the best of the Australian material and anything else that fits the bill. I'm also scheduled to cut some records with Craig Douglas and Mike Preston and I want to make some more orchestral LPs similar to my new one on Top Rank."

Vince Eager, manager Larry Parnes and Billy Fury ... They've no reason not to smile.

Billy and the boys finished? Nonsense

LARRY PARNES, whose latest addition to his "stable" of singers is that "Ain't Misbehavin'" man, Tommy Bruce, is full of confidence and plans for his artists at a time when criticism against beat singers is heavy.

The television companies have dropped "package" beat shows and many recent American singers have not had the success with British audiences that they expected.

"But," said Larry, "rock and beat music is not fading. I don't know where this idea keeps coming from, but it's sheer nonsense. The television business for a start has been misunderstood by the majority of people."

"It doesn't mean that my boys are finished. What it does mean is that many of them are now being considered serious entertainers and that they won't all be in the one show."

"We like to move with the public and I'm all for this move, because whatever shows are presented the boys will still be in demand. Billy Fury, for instance, is to appear in the Jean Carroll/Dave King 'Saturday Spectacular' next week, and if you wanted to book any of my twenty boys now I couldn't give you anything at all until late August and even then it would be difficult."

"I'm extremely flattered that my boys will still be in demand and we shall continue to develop them as artists to appeal to as wide an audience as possible. Tommy Steele, whom I first managed with John Kennedy, is now an established entertainer. The same thing is happening to Marty Wilde."

IT'S THE AMERICANS THE KIDS DON'T WANT

"I have Peter Wynne at the moment, he's a boy who's proving tremendously popular with audiences. He can sing anything from ballads to rock. Then there's Joe Brown, who's a natural comedian. Vince Eager is a good all-rounder, as is Dickie Pride. I think Tommy Bruce has a big future, he's original and different and he'll have strenuous rehearsals before he goes into a show."

Did the failure of so many American singers this year to attract large audiences mean that fewer would be brought over under the Parnes banner?

"WE SHALL CONTINUE TO BRING OVER AMERICAN STARS AS AND WHEN THE PUBLIC DEMANDS THEM," SAID LARRY. "BUT AT THE MOMENT THE AMERICAN MARKET IS FLAT. APART FROM ELVIS PRESLEY I DON'T THINK THERE'S A SINGLE AMERICAN SINGER THE PUBLIC WANTS TO SEE. THE BRITISH MARKET IS THE IMPORTANT ONE NOW."

"You see, our boys have got experience behind them before they step out on to the stage. Stage presentation is what many American singers lack, that's why they fail with our audiences."

The Parnes stable is full of talent, and one which looks like developing.

PETER WYNNE ... new boy
who's proving tremendously popular

says manager
LARRY PARNES

along more than one successful line is that of Billy Fury, who composed all the numbers of his LP "The Sound Of Fury."

"I give my boys a big say in their material. After all, the singer is the one who puts a song over. With Billy songwriting is just natural; He's probably writing one right now."

"He has a collection of about 60 or 70 unpublished songs. When he was cutting 'The Sound Of Fury' there was one number we weren't sure about so Billy sat down there and then and wrote another which was put on the LP and also on his single. It's called 'You Never Know.'

Why Parnes has a new partner

Larry Parnes' new partner, who paid £100,000 for a half-share in the business, is a quiet young Scot named Huw McCowan who said: "I've always wanted to get into show business and I regard this as a good start. I'm fairly new to the business but I hope to handle the social side, in which I'm interested. As time goes on I shall help Mr. Parnes with the presentation of the artists."

"In the future," said Larry, "we shall do as we've always done and that is to move with the public taste. We cater a lot for teenage audiences and teenagers aren't fickle, not a bit. They want to be entertained like everyone else and they know what they want. We shall try to give it to them and to everyone else."

TWO NEW NAMES—AND THEY COULD BE STARS

MICHAEL HILL

A NEW SOUND

If Parlophone's guess is correct a £220 harpsichord which 24-year-old Michael Hill of West Hartlepool bought only recently may pay for itself many times over.

Michael, currently appearing for the season in Scarborough's underground amusement centre Galaland, where they call him "Mr. Music Man" the plays piano, vibraphone, clavilene and bass, has just received a contract for his first ever disc, "Joey's Song" with his own composition "Jake's Jingle" on the flipside.

It's a new sound. "Joey's Song," which both Bill Haley and Bob Miller have already recorded without much success, is one which will appeal to all ages, with Michael on harpsichord, and the Johnny Spence group backing with drums, bass, two guitars and rasp.

Michael's own number, "Jake's Jingle," is a romping teenage rocker, a real jive hot money spinner with two tenors and bongos helping the big beat along.

Curly-haired, bespectacled Michael has been playing piano since he was three. His mother was a piano teacher, his father a violin teacher.

"I started composing about eight years ago," he says, "but I couldn't push my ballad, 'Time Will Tell' anywhere. I wrote 'Jake's Jingle' in 20 minutes when I was working with the Ralph Reader show at Coventry Hippodrome in March this year. I thought it might be one way of interesting the Mums and Dads in rock 'n' roll if I played it in a different way so I bought a harpsichord. I'm not claiming to be a great composer or musician. It's the instrument that makes the new sound... just a gimmick, that's all." What does he think of this new-found success? Quietly and almost shyly he says: "I have been dogging for ten years now fairly well with the odd broadcast and television appearance. But in the last three months I've got further than in 21 years of piano playing. I have two more new numbers on the stocks just in case..."

MICHAEL HILL... rock played on a harpsichord.

A bigsy wigsy hit for Paul Hanford

PAUL HANFORD has waited more than a year to make his disc debut... but now it looks as if the long wait is going to be worth while. The cute novelty number "Itsy Bitsy Teenie Weenie Yellow Polka Dot Bikini" which Paul has covered for his first disc with Parlophone, is one of those numbers which is almost certain to catch on.

It's a cover job of Brian Hyland's American version (see Deco), but stands as good a chance as the original of being the hit version.

"I've got one advantage," says Paul. "I am at the country to plug and publicise my version. Brian Hyland won't be able to do this, so I reckon that will just about even us up."

"I don't mind at all doing a cover job for my first record. I think it's better to start this way with a good number which somebody else has done, rather than wait for a new one to come along which nobody wants to record anyway."

Chance meeting

But Paul is used to waiting. It was more than a year ago that he had an audition with EMI. He passed it, but then spent the next eight months out of the country... entertaining the American forces in Germany.

It was a chance meeting between Paul's manager, David Stones, and Ron Richards of the Parlophone recording staff, that first led to the audition. Stones was acting as an agent for a car firm and Richards hired a car from them. A chance remark and David Stones, Ron Richards and Paul were heading to London for the test.

After the test many numbers were offered to Paul for recording, but he could not do them because of that German booking.

But then came the RUSH. When recording manager George Martin first heard the "Bikini" number he immediately rang Paul. This was just a week ago last Friday. They met on the same night, went across to Ken Jones' place for the arrangements, which were scored by Saturday and the record was cut the day after. It was released just five days later, on July 1.

But though Paul came on record in a rush, he's been building up steady for this for the last six years.

"Like a lot of people, I started singing during the skiffle craze. Everybody who bought a guitar found show business appealed to them. Most of them gave up too easily, but I decided

...who debuts with that Bikini song

that I wanted to keep on singing."

While Paul was developing his style he carried on work as a paint sprayer in Hemel Hempstead, his home, but after teaming up with David Stones he had so much show business work that he only sprayed paint about one day a week. So he quit.

He went to work as an extra in films. He doubled for a time for Cliff Richard in "Expresso Bongo" and had small parts in "Too Young To Love" and "Please Turn Over." "But I didn't have any lines to say, so that didn't pay me much."

Now he's moved on to singing his lines... and at better pay than speaking them.

JACK GOOD TV producer DJ and A and R man, says...

It's still NO to marriage

"Polka Dot Bikini." Reasons is that they had "Seven Little Girls" snatched from under their noses by The Avons, and once bitten, twice shy.

But to mix metaphors, they are closing the stable door after the horse has bolted. "Itsy Bitsy" is simply a poor relation of "Seven Little Girls."

I WAS interested to see the results of the DISC contest in which readers expressed their views whether or not pop stars should get married. On the whole, the verdict was "Yes, they should if they want to."

In the light of this, you might be interested to know that no less than three famous rock stars have all been seriously thinking of marriage in the last month and have finally, and reluctantly, decided against it because they fear (in spite of what you all say) that marriage might damage their popularity with the fans.

I am giving no names away; I think it might break some hearts if I did.

Coasters' disc is a complete gas

QUITE a good pile of new releases this week. It is always a red-letter day for me when a new Coasters' disc comes out—and this new one is a complete gas!

Strangely enough both sides have an affinity with Lonnie Donegan. "Wake Me, Shake Me" is the plea of a somnolent garage collector, a colleague of "My Old Man." The other side is a new—and terrific, version of "Stewball"—a folk song which has already been given the Donegan treatment. You pays your money and you takes your choice.

Donegan is more frantic and delivers really hard. The Coasters have more humour, have a richer textured sound and, for my money, swing more.

"Keep Ella—give me Delta." Maybe that is putting it too strongly. I like both very much, but Della Reese has the edge for me. Her voice has more guts and her approach is more attacking.

Her new release, "Everyday," is well up to standard.

ONCE BITTEN...

DECCA seem to make an extraordinary fuss over a London release, "Itsy Bitsy Teenie Weenie

DELLA REESE... a better version than Ella's.

Arrivederci

I'M just off to Italy now for a good look at their television and if I can fit it in, a quick dip on the beach. I'd drop you a large postcard (with my column on it).

Before leaving I put in some overtime recording Lyn Cornell, Alan Fielding, Jess Conrad and Billy Fury. But nothing in the world would persuade me to tell you what the results are like.

NEWS FROM THE STREET OF MUSIC

Flipside can still be a winner

IN music publishing the next best thing after having a hit record on one of your songs is to have the song on the other side of a hit record.

Pan Music is in this pleasant position at the moment, enjoying a profitable ride with "Don't Want To Know," the flipside of Michael Cox's triumphant Triumph disc of "Angela Jones."

The composer of "Don't Want To Know" is Len Praverman, and Pan Music's Gerald Benson regards Len as one of the brightest assets in British songwriting. Len has been associated with Pan from the beginning four years ago, and his "Our Old Pianos" was their first hit. Since then Len has composed a considerable amount of material, including film music.

Among the latter has been the theme from "The Man Inside," and the Anthony Newley hit "Idle On Parade" from the film of that name.

In addition to the Michael Cox song already mentioned, there are two other Praverman numbers currently available on record. One is called "In All The World," and has been recorded by Allan Bruce for Fontana and in Italian by the Quartetto Italiano for Columbia. The other is "Whadys Gamma Do?" recorded by Toni Eden for Columbia.

A subsidiary company of Pan is Globe Music, which specializes in material from the Continent. Globe's present plug is "La Lu, La Lu," which has been recorded by Martina and the Music for Columbia.

Toni Eden has recorded a number by pop writer Len Praverman.

Gerald Benson is looking forward to St. Swithin's Day, July 15 next week. This is the date when Cyril Stapleton's Decca record of "Havana Merry Go Round," the theme from the "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" TV series, is released. The disc will also be issued in the States on Decca's London label.

Frank Weir's latest recording for the Oriole label is a calypso-type opus entitled "Caribbean Honeymoon." There are no prizes for guessing which recent event and its sequence inspired this number.

"Caribbean Honeymoon" is published by Latin American Music, which is getting some good results with its Italian rock-cha-cha "Tintarella Di Luna." One version of this number is on the flipside of Bob Azam's Decca disc of "Mustapha," and Millicent Martin has also recorded it for EMI.

Now Top Rank have issued the Dorothy Collins rendition, backed by the much recorded "Banjo Boy."

Different

ONCE in a while music publishers get the opportunity of working on a song which does not fall into the usual well-worn and somewhat monotonous pop category.

Mark Pasquin of Bourne Music in the KPM group received such an opportunity when Top Rank decided to release "O'erward Christian Soldiers," recorded by the excellent American choir, the Harry Simeone Chorale, who first registered in this country with "The Little Drummer Boy."

At one time it seemed that Top Rank would not release the tasteful Stanisone version of this stirring old hymn and Mark expressed his disappointment to me then. Now his wishes have been granted, and already the disc has met with favourable reactions, especially from colleague Don Nicholl, who pronounced it a "sleeper."

The flipside is "Won't You Marry Me," and it is a complete contrast, being an arrangement of the old folk song "Soldier, Soldier, Won't You Marry Me?"

STRAIGHT TALKING

Norrie Paramor

Band leader and
A and R Manager
with Columbia

Songwriters must take more trouble

ITHINK it would be a good idea for more of our songwriters to learn how to treat their own numbers. In the past two years—despite the number of American songs that have come over here—British songwriters have proved their worth. We have many good—in fact, excellent—composers of popular music. But they would be doing themselves a favour—and us—if they were to take that extra bit of trouble.

The position is this: We get a piece of music from a writer and if we like it, naturally, we want to put it on the market. But then comes an important question. A question to which the man who wrote it should know the answer.

It is: "What treatment shall we give the number? What sort of presentation?"

It takes hours of work—searching for ideas—to get the right treatment. And more often than not it is the treatment that will help sell the record.

Better system

Now in America they have a much better system. The man who writes the number comes up with the presentation ideas.

It is his song. He knows most about it than anyone. So obviously he's the best man for the job.

Some of our song writers have caught on to this idea of working out some sort of effect for presentation. I wish a lot more would.

into the good books of the club followers.

At St. Albans a small anti-Humph brigade started a demonstration before the band played. By the end of the evening I hope they felt sorry for themselves, for Humph can still show some of the "true jazz" brigade a thing or two.

The best thing that can happen to trad jazz is for bands of the calibre of Humph, Bruce Turner, Sandy Brown and Kenny Ball to regain some of the lost ground.

Anyway I suspect a change of heart all round soon. What with Chris Barber using a guitar on three tracks of an EP; Acker Bilk adding a "mainstream" pianist, Stan Grog; Bob Wallis featuring the Madison; and other leaders frantically searching around for pianists, it looks pretty hopeful.

Boat shuffle

THE Croydon Jazz Club, in conjunction this time with Cheam and Hampton Court Clubs, run their sixth Riverboat Shuffle this coming Sunday. The "Royal Princess" leaves Westminster pier at 9.30 with Terry Lightfoot and Ken Colyer.

At Hampton Court, Thames Hotel, they will be met by the Kenny Ball Jazzmen playing the numbers off the boat. Then will follow a lunchtime

My job today as A and R manager with Columbia is to help make records that sell.

It means that I don't get so much time with my own orchestra, but the work is rewarding and fascinating.

I've noticed that today people buy personality voices rather than strong voices. They want something vastly different from what has gone before.

I don't mind this because, although I have great admiration for a good voice, my tastes are broad and I do like to hear something that is original. Today an original voice is a voice that stands a good chance of becoming commercial.

But I'm not willing to believe these people who say singers like Ronnie Hilton, Dickie Valentine and Ruby Murray will never have another hit.

I once did Chislehurst Caves and have also done several all-nighters in Soho. Any band that does both on the same day deserves my heartfelt sympathy and also my very best wishes. I'll be thinking of them at 4.30 Sunday morning.

Regular date

THE Dave Nelson Jazz Band, an up-and-coming semi-pro band, now play a regular Monday date at the Cafe des Artistes in Chelsea. An increasing number of patrons are coming into the club to hear this deservedly popular band.

The band can also be heard at C. Lawrie's this Saturday and on July 13, and at the Riverside Jazz Club, Windsor, on July 10 and 11.

Jazz course

PENDLEY MANOR, Tring, holds another jazz week-end course this Saturday and Sunday. The speakers will include Graham Boatfield, journalist, Bill Colyer, Ken's brother and chief spokesman for the New Orleans school, and Ken Lindsay, club promoter and record expert. Pat Hawes, pianist with Humph, the Crane River Jazz Band and others, will also speak.

FINALISTS CHOSEN IN DJ CONTEST

THE following have been named as finalists in our recent DJ competition which was held in conjunction with Triumph Records and for which the first prize is £100, a tape recorder and the chance to run a DJ programme on Radio Luxembourg.

Rodney Kirk (19), 20, Foulton Street, Fleetwood, Lancs.

Dave Hamilton (19), 5, Mousat Court, Gap Road, Wimbledon, SW.19.

Jess Tender (16), Flat 1, 12, Carlton Terrace, Finsbury, N.1.

Peter Garton (22), 69, Orpington Road, Holloway, N.7.

Tony Kent (17), 55, South Close, Dunsfold, Merton, Surrey.

Melvyn Mellor (15), 44, Chain Road, Blackley, Manchester.

The six finalists will be brought to London in the near future for the final judging.

JANET OSBORNE, nine-year-old daughter of musical director Tony Osborne (above), has cut her first record. She accompanies Donald Peers on "Papa, He Loves Mama." Songwriters BILL CROMPTON and MORGAN JONES (above, right) have written a new number for CRAIG DOUGLAS (centre) called "Walk With Me" as well as the film "Treasure Island W.C.2." (DISC Pics)

Vince Eager film all but settled

AT the time of going to press, contracts were all but signed for the forthcoming 40-minute musical film, "Treasure Island W.C.2," starring Vince Eager, Lionel Bart, David Jacobs and Russ Conway. It is being produced by the Boulding Brothers.

The script for the film, shooting of which is due to start next month, was written by Ben Noblett, general manager of Feldman Music, and the direction will be by Gerry Bryant, who made "The Tommy Steele Story."

"Treasure Island, W.C.2," is the story of a song, which is to be called

"Treasure Island." Shots will include a visit to the Top Rank studio, where Vince Eager will record the song for release to coincide with the distribution of the film.

Bill Crompton and "Thunderclap" Jones will take part in the film as two songwriters. (See pic above.)

More changes in 'Juke Box' set-up

CAROLE CARR is to introduce a series of four 30-minute programmes on the BBC Light Programme entitled "Records At Six." These will begin on July 26.

Two days earlier folk singer Wally Whyton will guest in "Easy Beat" on the Light, and on July 21 "Jazz Club" will introduce the Ronnie Krene Octet and the Michael Garrick Quartet in a programme introduced by Alan Dell.

Julie Dawn will guest in "Midday Music Hall" on July 22, and on July 20, Network 3 will present "Jazz Session," its monthly programme introduced by Ken Sykora.

Rolf and the wobble board

COLUMBIA have released an amusing disc from Australia featuring Rolf Harris (pictured above), his Wobble Board and the Rhythm Spinners. Top side is "Tie Me Kangaroo Down Sport," currently No. 1 in the Australian hit parade.

Rolf is a multi-talented character who writes, draws cartoons, plays the piano and composes songs. His Wobble Board is made from hardwood, and is shaken up and down to produce the unique sound heard on the disc.

"JUKE BOX JURY," BBC Television's marathon pop music panel programme, is to have yet another change of producer. From July 16, for three weeks, "Jury" will be produced by Bill Cotton Jar, who was responsible for the British edition of the Perry Como Show earlier this year.

Suzuki here for holiday

JAPANESE-AMERICAN star Pat Suzuki is due in London this Friday for a week's holiday. She will continue her vacation in Paris from July 18 onwards.

Pat, who started her singing career in Seattle, where she was heard and encouraged by Bing Crosby, won the lead role in the Broadway production of "Flower Drum Song."

LANCE DATES

IN addition to his visit to Saturday Club on July 16, Lance Fortune will join The Fleecakers in personal appearances next week.

The Fleecakers have resident spots at the Majestic Ballroom, Finchley Park (Monday), State Ballroom (Kilburn), Tuesday, Orchid Ballroom, Purley (Wednesday) and the Putney Ballroom every Saturday.

Memphis on 'Jazz Club'

A MERICAN blues singer and pianist Memphis Slim broadcasts in the BBC's "Jazz Club" tonight (Thursday). In addition to Jazzways Club dates already announced he will appear at the Nottingham Jazz Club on July 13.

CLIFF RICHARD RECEIVES HIS FOURTH SILVER DISC

Silver Disc number four—for "Fall In Love With You"—was presented to CLIFF RICHARD last week at the Palladium, where Cliff is appearing. Making the presentation on behalf of DISC was Russ Conway, who is also appearing at the Palladium.

Jimmy Jones was unable to come to Britain to receive his Silver Disc for "Handy Man," so it was accepted on his behalf by Mr. Arnold Marin, President of MGM Records in America, who was over here last week on a business trip. The presentation was made by Mr. L. G. Woods of EMI.

BURGLARS STEAL RUSS CONWAY'S TV SET!

RUSS CONWAY, top piano star now appearing in "Stars In Your Eyes" at the London Palladium, had his Maida Vale apartment robbed last Friday.

Among the goods stolen were a 21in. television set, six lounge seats, two dinner suits, 20 shirts, several pairs of shoes, a typewriter and about 30 LPs.

ATV will screen a 35-minute excerpt from "The Most Happy Fella" from the Coliseum Theatre on July 31.

Avalon waxes new album

FRANKIE AVALON, young American rocker who has just entered the U.S. charts with "Where Are You," has recorded a new LP for Chancellor entitled "Summer Scene." The album consists of several standards, and it is likely to be released here in the autumn.

Jones-Cassidy series

A SERIES of six weekly programmes entitled "A Date With Shirley Jones and Jack Cassidy," filmed while the couple were over here earlier this year, are to be presented by ATV, starting on August 11.

Disc Jockeys in Decca cricket side

PETE MURRAY, Jack Jackson and Jimmy Savile will join the Umbala Cricket Team, which is led by Decca executive S. A. Beecher Stevens, when they play a charity match against the Worcester Ramblers tomorrow (Friday), at Preston Park, Brighton.

The Umbala Cricket Club, which is a show business organisation participating in one cricket match a year only, was founded by Mr. Beecher Stevens, and among its team tomorrow, in addition to the disc jockeys already mentioned, will be Radio Luxembourg's Geoffrey Everett and various county cricket club members.

The Umbala Trophy will be presented to the winning team by Vera Lynn, and proceeds will go to a spastics organisation.

The match will commence at 2.30 p.m.

King boys to open with Frankie?

THE KING BROTHERS may be able to open with Frankie Vaughan when he returns to Las Vegas for his second season at the Dunes Hotel this autumn.

Under the contract signed last year, Frankie has a six-week season with options for three years at the Dunes. The King Brothers recently signed a contract assuring them at least three weeks in the year at the same hotel.

Frankie is due to return to the States immediately after the end of his Brighton season, which finishes on September 10, but negotiations are in hand for his return to be delayed by a week, thus putting back his opening night to September 23.

If arrangements can be made, The King Brothers will go with him and open on the same bill. This will be their first American trip.

The only additional date, Frankie Vaughan has at present is a Sunday Concert at the Winter Gardens, Margate, on July 31. Arrangements are still being made for recordings while he is in Britain, and there has been some talk of a possible LP from "Let's Be Happy," his Brighton show.

Arrangements are still being made for recordings while he is in Britain, and there has been some talk of a possible LP from "Let's Be Happy," his Brighton show.

Already released in the U.S., this date is currently at number five in their best sellers.

Johnny Preston LP out

In addition to a new single, "Feel So Fine," Mercury Records in America have released their first LP by Johnny Preston.

Title of the album is "Running Bear," and Johnny includes several standards on the disc.

Eric Sykes and Peter Higgin will be among the visiting personalities on "Juke Box Jury" on July 16.

New 'star' from Parrish

MICHAEL PARRISH, composer of "Standfast," has penned the lyrics for "Evening Star," a new ballad which Jose Valles will sing over the credits in the forthcoming Warner Picture film, "Hercules Unchained."

Miss Valles has already recorded this number for the American market, and it is expected that the disc will soon be released in Britain.

Israeli singer rebooked

ISRAELI singer Riki Zarai, who first came to Britain in May to appear on Granada's "Variety Show," has been booked for a return appearance on the same programme.

She will be arriving in Britain later this month, to tape an appearance for the show on July 28. Transmission date is August 3.

Singing 20s

LIBERTY RECORDS in America and London Records in Britain, have just completed negotiations for the latter to distribute a tape and the LP entitled, "Roar Along With The Singing 20s," featuring Johnny Mann. It is expected that this album will be released here during the summer.

Bikini song will catch on

BRIAN HYLAND
I'm Busy Tearing Wearing Yellow
Polka-dot Bikini; Don't Dilly Dally
(London HLR9161)

D N T
Now here is a novelty cha-cha that is liable to stick around for a long time in the fashion of "Her Bathing Suit Never Got Wet." Teenager sings this cute number about a bikini girl who wore the bikini he was too modest to be seen.

The lyric is slick and amusing. Hyland sings it ably with a girl group working smartly in company with him. I can see this one becoming very powerful.

Another novelty for the turnover, with another of those kind of titles. Hyland and the girls make it crisp to complete a natural hiccuping.

RONNIE SATTIN
I'll Fly Away; Any More Than I
(Warner Bros. WB15)

D N T
Ronnie has been heard here before under the Capitol label, but without hitting the heights. Now he is returning for Warner Brothers, and I feel he will climb the ladder this time.

Lorraine has got a voice as smooth as his surname and he knows how to drive a number with full effect. He sings "I'll Fly Away" to a big chorus and orchestral backing and he should have customers flying to the counters to pick it up. Not a side which may strike as an immediate seller, but one which ought to be up there in the Ten.

High rocking strings for the slow beat ballad "Any More Than I." Sattin starts off just above a whisper and maintains this, leaving it to chorus and orchestra to provide the side with size.

THE EVERLY BROTHERS
When Will I Be Loved; Be-Bop-a-Lula
(London HLA 9157)

D N T
This release, you'll note, is on London, not Warner Brothers. Reason is that the tracks were part of a long player made by the Everlys when they were still under contract to the Cadence company in the States.

"When Will I Be Loved" is a mid-tempo beat item which they sing in their typical dueling fashion. A side which is catchy enough to climb in a hurry.

"Be-Bop-a-Lula" has had a good time here in the past and the Everly's version is slick enough to satisfy all those who like the number.

* Strong and clear treatment from SHIRLEY BASSEY of Lionel Bart romantic ballad.

ANTHONY NEWLEY
If She Should Come To You;
Lifetime Of Happiness
(Decca F11254)

D N T
A BRITISH lyric for the A Spanish melody "La Montana" turns it into the ballad "If She Should Come To You." First shot at recording this vocal version goes to Tony Newley and it marks a warm departure from the heavy brightness of his recent successes. But I don't think it will mark a departure from his best-selling run of success.

Newley, with his voice—that's-not-a-voice manages to get the poignant romance of the number and the melody so good to begin with I cannot see it missing. May take more time to rise, but rise it should.

"Lifetime Of Happiness" is also on the slow side, but with slightly more of a beat in it. Another very good ballad and another commercial performance from Newley.

The accompaniments, directed by Ian Fraser, couldn't be better.

THE COASTERS
Wake Me, Shake Me; Stewball
(London HK9151)*

EASY-BEATING novelty from The Coasters group which they put over with typical polish. The boys may not have such an impact with this one as they have had with previous hits, but it is a very likeable half.

This group deserves its high ratings on both sides of the water—and you will enjoy their work on the neat Stewball. Racing gimmick for the lyric like a kind of modern Canapton.

BILL BLACK'S COMBO
Josephine; Dry Bones
(London HLU9156)*

JOSÉPHINE is one of those tunes whose title has a habit of eluding you (at least, it has a habit of eluding me). Written by Guy Kahn back in 1937, it comes up fresh and entertaining here with a rock-a-booga wraping.

The Bill Black Combo takes it fairly slowly with some gentle saxophone and organ work holding most of the attention.

DISC DATE

BRIAN HYLAND tells the tale of that polka-dot bikini.

Dry Bones is also rocked slowly and comfortably by the musicians without the acting usually performed on this number. No vocal of course—which makes a change. Guitar and piano featured attractively here, with the sax blowing in late on the side.

THE CLOVERS
Easy Lovin'; I'm Confessin' That I Love You
(London HLT9154)

THE male vocal group rocks with a steady beat through Easy Lovin'. Nothing particularly new in the approach, but the boys make a good noise with rhythm and clinking piano behind them. One voice leads all the way, while the others underline him well.

Slight beat for the revival of I'm Confessin' That I Love You. Here, the boys drift engagingly in a way which is reminiscent of the heydays of the Ink Spots and allied teams.

SHIRLEY BASSEY
As Long As He Needs Me; So
In Love
(Columbia DB4490)*

LIONEL BART has written a lush, slow romantic ballad for Shirley Bassey in As Long As He Needs Me. And Shirley sings it strong and clear to a rich orchestral and chorus accompaniment directed by Geoff Love.

A rather stately melody which may take its time about selling, but a song which suits the Bassey very much.

The treatment of Cole Porter's standard So In Love is first-class stuff, with the Geoff Love backing really stirring up a dramatic mood.

THE GEORGETTES
Down By The River; A Fair Of Eyes
(Pye-International N25058)

NOT to be confused with Down By The Riverside is the trotalong Down By The River, which this American girl group sings so delightfully. The Georgettes have a clear sound and they work very well indeed in front of a strumming accompaniment. Time is so easy to hold, it is almost ridiculous. Watch this.

Tango flip with the kind of dramatics you may recall from "Hernando's Hideaway." All about a handsome caballero who made the señorita wail. Good performance again from The Georgettes.

TED HEATH
Oliver; Reviewing The Situation
(Decca F11252)*

THE big Heath band noisy starts through the title tune of the musical show Oliver with plenty of exuberance. Simple tune taken in march time with the drums reminiscent of some of the American displays in our seashore tattooos.

Reviewing The Situation has a Middle Eastern flavour about it as Ted puts the band through its paces on this number, which also comes from "Oliver." Quick-moving item which will please regular followers of the band.

DELLA REESE
Everyday; There's No Two Ways
About It
(RCA 1192)*

SLOW ballad with a beat for the power-voiced Della Reese as she belts Everyday. Where is the girl going to sit the paradise on this side of the Atlantic? This time?

I thought she would do it last time out, and I can only hope that the previous disc has whetted appetites. The singer is terrific and distinctive. Here, I grew a little tired of Glenn Oster's strings for the backing, but the side should still sell a pile.

There's No Two Ways About It is another slow, deliberate song which Della feather-tangs intriguingly.

Bobby Darin
Hear Them Bells; The Greatest Builder
(Brunswick OS831)

A DARIN single which has slipped out under the shade of "Bill Bailey."

Bobby sings the light-hearted ballad Hear Them Bells proficiently to a Jack Pyle accompaniment. Happy music which would go well in a show setting, though it hardly strikes me as something with the kind of original excitement of a Dixie special.

The Greatest Builder is a slow religious ballad with chorus singing solemnly behind Bobby.

LES HOWARD
Sweet Tooth; Auf Wiedersehen My
Dear
(Columbia DB4476)

MICHAEL SAMMES batons the bright and jaunty backing for Les Howard as he sings the ballad Sweet Tooth. Girl group with the boys, whose warm voice takes the melody for a very useful trip. One that could snare up on us.

The reversal of the goodby ballad out the flip has been worth doing. Alas, a good tune and lyric, it sounds mellow and romantic still, and Howard's vocal is firm and understanding. Not—incidentally—to be confused with the Vera Lynn song hit of a few years back.

THE LAURIE SISTERS
Don't Forget; I Surrender Dear
(MGM 1083)

ONE of the Louries opens softly by herself before the team strikes steadily into the title. Good idea behind the lyric and a crisp performance by the girls. Ray Elliot's accompaniment is just right for current tastes.

ROSEMARY LANE
Down By The River; My First Love
Letter

(Philips PB1041) ***

A BRITISH cover job of the American ballad Down By The River and Rosemary Lane was a good choice by the label. She has got the right kind of voice for the number, over Raymond's direction of the backing is right, too... strumming and chorus bang-bang-bang voices.

My First Love Letter is a British composition which opens with the chorus, who stick around behind Miss
Lane. Slow ballad of teenage romance,

THE PETITES
Get Your Daddy's Car Tonight;
Sun Showers

(Philips PB1035) ***

SEEM to be a lot of girl groups around the releases this week.
Here we get a team called The Petites, who sing like teenage Teresa Brewer as they are accompanied by a Frank De Vol orchestra for the beat novelty Get Your Daddy's Car Tonight.

Honking gimmicks for the backing sound.

Sun Showers shuffles quickly along and the girls produce a fairly commercial noise. Tameful item, this, with a whistling middle.

FRANK DE VOL
La Montana; The Key Theme
(Philips PB1038) ***

EITHER as an instrumental or as a song (under the title of "If
She Should Come To You"), La Montana seems destined to become very big.

On this treatment, we get Frank De Vol directing what he calls his "Rain-bowl Strings." And a very sweeping string sound it is, too. The melody rolls along slowly and with a lush grandeur, while rhythm section keeps a modern beat going on beneath.

The Key Theme from an American television series has a graciously romantic feeling about it. The strings borrow a trick or two from Mantovani's book in the performance.

ANNE SHELTON
Papa Loves Mama; Come Back Again
(Philips PB1042) ***

PADDY ROBERTS has a big interest in this coupling, because he wrote the English lyrics for the French tune Papa Loves Mama and he is co-writer of the other number Come Back Again... the other writer being Johnny Franz.

Anne sings the sweet tale of Papa and Mama with a delicate touch and benefits from the Wally Stott orchestra and vocal group accompaniment.

Come Back Again is a swinging little march of the kind Anne could do with her tonsils tied behind her back. The ballad drives excellently and the tune is easy to catch. I like the Stott big band accompaniment as well as the Shelton singing here.

MAX BYGRAVES
Consider Yourself; Tra-La-La I'm In Love

(Decca F11251) ***

CONSIDER YOURSELF is one of those "familiar" tunes with old music hall connotations... at least it was Lionel Bart's "Finger." This one comes from Bart's new show "Oliver"— and it should provide Max Bygraves with another heavy seller. Max punches it out happily and it can see him into the hit parade... but I think it could have been even better than it is.

The backing, directed by Eric Rogers, seems to be at odds with the singer so far as tempo is concerned

LITTLE WILLIE JOHN
Heartbreak; Do You Love Me?
(Parlophone R4674)

ONE of the early rocking shouters,
Little Willie John goes squawking his way through the quick-stepping number Heartbreak. Gets a good big band backing, too, as he whips the plaintive lyric across.

His own composition, Do You Love Me? is a mad little racer and it's hard to tell whether the band or Little Willie wins!

Dramatic noise skilfully played by

And it certainly does. Brisk big band

A very soft-voiced of the Tony Hatch composition
Look For A Star, Gary Miles gives it a quiet, tender lift which is extremely effective.

the bushy girl group noise keeps the mood of this production going smoothly. A side which I think you'll enjoy a lot—and one which might sleep to considerable sales.

A gentle second side, too. Afraid Of Love is a quiet romantic ballad which Miles handles nicely.

ED TOWNSEND
Don't Get Around Much Anymore;
Do Nuthin' Till You Hear From Me
(Capitol CL1514) ****

TWO of the great Duke Ellington standards arranged for singer Townsend by Nelson Riddle who also conducts the orchestral backing.

The easy swinging approach to Don't Get Around Much Anymore is taken off midway through the side when Townsend breaks into some of his familiar voice and phrase stretching tactics.

Do Nuthin' Till You Hear From Me has a group of girls in the background while Townsend sings the ballad along a modern beat.

The man can certainly do things lyric...and those Riddle backings are splendid...but naturally.

THE LINDYS
The Train Of Love; You Know How Things Get Around
(Decca F1125) ***

NEW vocal twosome The Lindys are a couple of British girls who make a very satisfactory debut for Decca. They have got a good number for their first side—the Anka composition The Train Of Love—and they handle it smartly to a Bob Sharpe backing.

I do not think it is up to the mark of the Alma Cogan job on this song, but it should collect comfortable gales.

On the turnover, there is a more relaxed romancer, which the girls sing in softer voice.

LES BAXTER
Boonmada; Ooch-I-Baba
(Capitol CL15140) ***

LES BAXTER has always had something of a leaning towards drum discs and he keeps coming back to them in between his sweater orchestral recordings.

Here he uses the percussion brilliantly to produce the rocking instrumental Boonmada, which he wrote himself. A smoky jazz with guitar twanging darkly, too.

Saxophonist Plus Johnson collaborated with Baxter on the writing of Ooch-I-Baba, another rock number. Tonpo is a little swifter here.

JOHNNY CARSON
The Train Of Love; First Proposal
(Fontana H1259) ***

ANOTHER version of the Paul Anka rocker Train Of Love—and it's another British version, too. Young Johnny Carson has revealed promise before now and he shows again that he's a singer worth watching. This disc will do him a lot of good.

Carson sings the number with a little less emphasis on the rock than the other sides.

First Proposal is a nice, warm, romantic ballad—again with a good performance from Carson.

Good debut from The LINDYS on the Paul Anka number, "The Train Of Love."

THE VIDEOS
Mister Lonely; I'll Forget You
(London HLJ915) ***

A UP-tempo ballad from this new male vocal group. Mister Lonely tells its story with the title, as did "Mr. Blue." The boys sing of the boy who cannot get a romance going.

One voice leads all the way and occasionally some feminine voices fly behind the group for extra colour. Quite pleasing in the modern bitter vein. The side has already reached the American charts and should sell well over here, too.

I'll Forget You goes along at a steady clip. Not such a potent number, perhaps, but a very competent performance and production.

BOB CORT
Male Skinner Blues; The Ballad Of
Walter Williams
(Decca F11256) ***

BOB CORT says he spent much of his young life listening to the records of the late Jimmie Rodgers. So such an admirer ought to be able to make a fine disc of Rodgers' Male Skinner Blues. And Cort does make a great side. Without the yodeling, Cort whoops and growls his way through the number to a slick guitar backing.

Scare drums and chorus chant the marcher about the last soldier of the Civil War. The Ballad Of Walter Williams.

MIKE PRESTON
I'd Do Anything; Where Is Love?
(Decca F11255) ***

BOTH of Mike Preston's new disc ballads are taken from the Bart musical show, "Oliver." I'd Do Anything is the better of the two—a light and likeable song which trips easily along.

A very pleasant half, on which Harry Robinson's orchestral accompaniment has the spring-like noise which is needed.

Where Is Love? is a slow love song without so much commercial appeal as the one upstairs.

STEVE LAWRENCE
Why, Why, Why; You're Everything
Wonderful
(HMV POP765) ***

ONLY a few weeks since "Why" was high, now we get three of them in Why, Why, Why, a slow, easy ballad with a nice lift in it. Steve Lawrence has a strong follow-up to his "Footsteps" with this one.

Sings it in chorale company while big pack of Don Costa's strings play for the background.

You're Everything Wonderful is a more adult swinger. Lawrence can handle material like this without any trouble whatsoever.

(HMV ZEP1075) ****

MISS ROSEMARY SQUIRES, one of the finest female vocal talents to be heard in Britain today and well worthy of a powerful rating outside our shores, too, lends her talents to four first-class offerings.

She is supplied with some excellent accompaniments by the Ken Thorne Orchestra.

This I thoroughly enjoyed, and if you can appreciate really fine vocal stylings at all then you'll love this EP. It has everything you need in the way of entertainment.

finger twinkling at his honky-tonk piano keyboard. He has also chosen songs perfectly suited to the style, and the album should therefore prove tremendously successful with fans of such music.

My feet were a-tapping from start to finish, and I enjoyed the bright and breezy atmosphere immensely.

This will liven up any family gathering, and if your "local" boasts a record player, but no piano, then you will be a very welcome customer if you take a copy of this album along some evening.

JACK TRAIN

With Michael Sammes' Band And Singers

Poly Perkins Of Paddington Green; It's A Bit Of A Rule That Crosses Knocked About A Bit; The Gallipoli Major; Turned Up

(Columbia SEG8914) ****

"COLONEL CHINSTRAP" is in fine form with these four popular songs from the past, despite the fact that he is "demoted" to major on one track.

Yes, Jack Train, that ever-popular radio favourite, is really in his element with this EP, and he should delight the old record buyers among you.

As usual there is excellent work from Michael Sammes and his orchestra and singers.

BROOK BENTON

In The Mood For Love; The Neurotic Of You; I Can't Begin To Tell You; Tell Me Your Dreams; To Tell You; In The Mood For Love

(Mercury ZEP1076) ***

I STILL rate Brook Benton as one of the finest ballad vocalists to emerge in recent times as long as he sings songs of this nature.

His smoothly caressing voice seems to improve with each hearing.

Mind you, I don't rate Mr. Benton in the class of Nat Cole, but he should attain those heights in time, and he is certainly going the right way about it.

Very nice listening, indeed.

Four first-class numbers from the very talented ROSEMARY SQUIRES (DISC Pic).

RONNIE HAWKINS

Mr. Dynamo

Dinner: Hey Bob! Lou! Someone Like You; Dreams Do Come True; Hay Ride; Hand! Don't! Lonely Hours; Sing And Dance Like Me Like You Can; You Charged You Lied; Baby Love; Southern Love.

(Columbia 33SX1258) ****

THE exciting performances of Ronnie Hawkins excellently baked in the idiom of the day by The Hawks have won approval all round from teenage record buyers.

This album can do nothing but enhance his already powerful reputation with the fans. It is as fresh as today, as virile as any new and popular trend, and as entertaining as you could wish for. Ronnie Hawkins gives you what you want with every note.

(MGM-C524) ***

IT'S quite a while now since Tommy Edwards crashed our hit parade, but he has had several LPs and EPs to his credit which have proved fairly strong sellers.

This one should keep up the good work, but I found it lacking in the above the majority of records I receive for review each week.

There is nothing gimmicky about the session whatever. The orchestra plays straightforward arrangements, and Miss Page gives a smooth vocal demonstration.

Music by

JERRY ALLEN AND HIS TRIO
Lunch Boxer; Ken's Tune; Hammered; Rhythm Of The Raindrops; War Of The Air; Always; Jesters Creepers; All The Things You Are; Frigid Midget; Quirky; Bridges; Careful.

(Top Rank BUY/050) ****

A FINE performance of standard and original material by TV's Jerry Allen and his Trio. These boys have become a very lively part of television since the commercial networks started up, and they have won a lot of friends through their work. I believe this is their first album, and as such it sets a high standard.

The versatile fourmen who form the group are all spotlighted, and their programme is nicely varied for a balanced hour of entertainment. You will enjoy it.

TED HEATH
My Very Good Friends
The Bandleaders

Sing, Sing, Sing; When It's Sleepy Time Down South; Santa Cruz (You're Driving Me Crazy); One O'Clock Jump; I've Got My Love To Keep Me Warm; Cherokee; Intermission; Rio; Tuxedo Junction; Apple Honey; Take The "A" Train; Draggin'; Night Train.

THE very fine Ted Heath band pay tribute to some of the leader's sparkle which took this artist to the top. None of the tracks stood out strongly from the others. They all were simply good performances, but somewhat lacking in "guts," if you know what I mean.

I find a lot of sameness about Mr. Edwards' discs which isn't really good from the listener's point of view.

PATTI PAGE

Three Little Words

Heart; Why Don't You Do Right; To Know You Is To Love You; I Still Get A Thrill Thinking Of You; My Prayer; When You Still Be Mine; Whatever Lola Wants; Four We Three (My Echo, My Shadow And Me); You Just Walk About Harry; Three Little Words; I Get A Kick Out Of You.

(Mercury MMCL4036) ***

THE beautiful Miss Patti Page once again graces our reviews with her ever-welcome presence. And again she has come up with a fine album (does she ever miss?) which should be eagerly received by her many fans in Britain.

Miss Page has the knack, common with all top vocal stylists, of getting right to the heart of a song and giving it just the right interpretation.

While this is not by any means her greatest album it still ranks high best friends in the band business with this entertaining album. The only one Ted does not know personally is Duke Ellington, but he included him because, as he says, "his tunes make him a good friend to all the world's bandleaders."

Basically, the arrangements are the same as the famous ones familiar to your ears, but the Heath band have added their own special touches through the pens of their own arrangers.

A very enjoyable album, this, and one which no big band devotee should be without.

THE WORLD'S TEN GREATEST POPULAR PIANO CONCERTOS

Sweet Scene; Lauda; Slaughter On Tenth Avenue; The Terry Theme; Rhapsody In Blue; Swedish Rhapsody; Intermezzo; Czech Rhapsody; Polonaise; Warsaw Concerto.

(Warner Brothers WSB0002) ***

PIANIST is George Greeley and he is accompanied by the Warner Brothers Orchestra conducted by Ted Dale. The concertos you all know, and although many of you will enjoy the album, it would probably have more appeal to you as a present for your parents or something along that line.

These items have sometimes been called "the poor man's classical music," but despite this sneer, they are, in fact, among the best examples of contemporary music.

All have been wonderfully popular right from their first launching and that is proof enough for me of their quality.

HYMNS BY JOHNNY CASH

It Was Jesus; I Saw A Man At All The Children; The Old Accused; Lead Me Gentle Host; Swing Low, Sweet Charley; Stand In His Holiness; Father, I Call Him; These Things Shall Pass; Hell Be A Friend; God Will.

(Philips BBL7373) ***

HERE'S a top pop and C and W exponent Johnny Cash in a new light performing hymns. He does an excellent job of it, too, his deep rich voice being ideally suited to this material.

Johnny has selected a group of popular American hymns and added a few of his own composing for good measure. The new offerings blend admirably with the old-established items and few will be able to distinguish them.

The hymns seem to have a C and W touch about them which does not seem out of place.

ERNESTINE ANDERSON

The Fascinating Ernestine

Just A Little; And A Rockin'; A New Town; It's A Blue Town; Stompin' At The Savoy; Nature's Boy; Fascinating Rhythm; My Heart Belongs To Daddy; I Wish I Was Back In My Baby's Arms; Hardin' Nocturne; Beale Street Blues; Nobody's Heart; I Got Rhythm.

(Mercury MMC14037) ***

"FASCINATING" Ernestine—indeed! This girl is really creating a lot of interest these days with her excellent recordings. Towards the end of last year I awarded her first Mercury session the "LP Of The Month" tag, and this is of equal standard.

I have knocked a star off the total only because I feel that this set has a slightly more restricted appeal, at the present time, than Ernestine's first superb effort.

This album heralds the approaching visit of the artist to our shores for night club and TV appearances, and I for one eagerly await her arrival.

This is a first-class album of first-class songs.

JOHANN STRAUSS

Wiener Blau; Wine, Women And Song; Tales From The Vienna Woods; The Emperor.

Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra conducted by Antal Dorati. (Mercury Olympian Series MMA1086) *****

COME with me to Old Vienna, the city of gaiety and charm, of sparkle and champagne—of Wine, Women and Song, for you have it all here on this record.

From a novel, enchanting ritter solo in the Tales to the pulsating rhythm of the Emperor, you have everything. Perhaps the strings do screech a little in places and Dorati does vary the speed a little—but he really lives the music and what is more, so does the orchestra.

I should think a lot of Strauss research went into the making of this disc and it is good to hear a true performance for once instead of the garbled versions we are always being given.

PROKOFIEV

Classical Symphony

Philharmonia Orchestra conducted by Efrem Kurtz.

(HMV TER175) ***

THIS miniature symphony, written by a modern composer in the style of the old masters, is a great favourite among music lovers of all types, and happily this is a better recording than most.

True, I was a little disappointed with the playing of the first movement. It seemed to lack pace and Mr. Kurtz doesn't appear happy until he gets to the third movement, the Gavotte, where he generally lets rip.

But the finale is extremely well played and caps a very capable performance.

STRAVINSKY

The Firebird Ballet

Antal Dorati conducting the London Symphony Orchestra (Mercury MMA1089) ***

THIS is a finely judged performance by the London Symphony Orchestra under Dorati. The intricate Stravinsky score is completely mastered and it would be difficult to find a better recording in the catalogues.

The individual soloists are in great form and give of their best.

On the whole, I don't like the works of Stravinsky and am inclined to agree with the mighty Pavlova, who said the music from the Firebird was "Nonsense." Maybe, but I add one reservation—it is "enjoyable nonsense."

TRAD JAZZ

By Owen Bryce

MUGGSY SPANIER AND HIS DIXIELAND BAND

Alabama Jubilee Society: Blue Room; Lazy Piano Man.

(Mercury ZEP10077)

THE one amazing thing about Muggsy is that after all these years he still plays the same notes. And even more amazing is that the fans still like it. For in this age, improvisation has almost become the "be-all-and-end-all" of jazz. But Muggsy gave up improvising many years ago. In his early days, he worked out three jazz phrases and they have served him pretty good ever since.

And that is probably why the first chorus of Alabama Jubilee sounds just like "There'll Be Some Changes Made," dating back to the late twenties. It is also why the muted Spanier chorus on the same number has already been waxed dozens of times. Why, the middle two bars on the last chorus of South occur at least twice in the fabulous ragtime HMV disc, now just on twenty years old.

BENNY GOODMAN, seen here with singer Anita O'Day, never produces anything different but always seems to sound fresh and new.

Not great, but I'll still cherish this one

BENNY GOODMAN

The World Is Waiting For The Sunrise: More Than You Know About Memories Of You; (Hawthorne)

(Philips BBE12358)

THE World Is Waiting For The Sunrise is taken at the same breakneck tempo as the original version with Mel Powell, probably eighteen years old by now. I forget really, Goodman goes on for ever, never producing anything very different, and yet always managing to sound fresh and new. Drummer Roy Barnes and pianist Roland Hanna, Goodman's discovery and protege, play very much in the style of Krupa (that is the Krupa of the quartet) and Wilcox and Mel Powell.

More Than You Know is a fine tune, seldom played today, but a favourite of mine since the day I heard Mildred Bailey's version. Can it really be all that time ago? Benny constantly turns out highly musical performances of these ballads. At the same time, I feel the jazz content gets lost among the pretty phrases.

Memories Of You, taken at much the same tempo, starts off just like another version dating back to 1941. There really is not much point to this sort of thing. If the intention is to present new people, there can be no reason for not using more suitable material. Other people, notably Duke Ellington, repeat previous records. They at least make them sound quite different, as witness Duke's "Historically Speaking."

Hallelujah turns out to be yet another version of a previously recorded item. Young Roland Hanna gets plenty of chance to shine on this one and for once the audience applause seemed justified. How I hate this clapping on disc.

MOSE ALLISON TRIO

If I Didn't Care; If You Live; Creek
Bank; Male; Toodbird Suite; Moon And Cypress; Dinner To The Ground;
Prelude To A Kiss.

(Esquire 32-094)
One Room Country Shack

Burberry Hill; I Thought About You;
One Room Country Shack; In Salute.

(Esquire EP224)

MOSE ALLISON is delightful. But quite a little goes a long, long way. And so his fourth LP finds me practically unmoved. So, unmoved that, apart from the titles already well-known to me, I find an astonishing difficulty in distinguishing one from the other. This unrewarding feel is not helped by Esquire's current habit of listing the tracks on sleeve notes in what appears to be haphazard fashion.

I repeat, however, that Mose is delightful. There are few performers that appeal to vastly differing jazz tastes. In Mose, one can find bits of all the best jazz styles. His singing has enough of the blues to remind you of his background—Tippo, Mississippi—but sophisticated and humorous enough to appeal to all tastes. There is something of Hoagy Carmichael's whimsical accents in Seventh Son.

My favourite, strangely enough, is If I Didn't Care, one of the few titles not composed by the performer.

RIVERTOWN DIXIELAND JAZZ BAND

Charleston; Creek Street Blues; South; Wolverine Blues; South.

(International Jazz Club MJE/73)

THE Rivertown Jazz Band hail from Holland, home of the far superior Dutch Swing College. There is a superficial connection between the two bands. Both play a virile, lively, Dixieland jazz. Unfortunately, the Rivertown have very little jazz sense in their phrasing, the trumpet player being particularly bad in this respect. Some of his notes are poorly attacked and all his phrasing has the peculiar sound that classical, and sometimes even dance, musicians produce when indulging in a little bit of jazz.

It would be hard to write more than a few lines about such a group. They are ordinary. There must by now be more than a thousand bands in Europe playing jazz just as badly. While I do not begrudge them the desire to do so, or even the happiness that comes of playing to a living crowd of enthusiasts, I fail absolutely to see the reasons for making bad records. The time for producing a record is not until a band has something to say, and is proficient at saying it.

EDMOND HALL

Lover; African Fu-Fu.

(Top Rank TR501)

THIS is a well-nigh perfect coupling. Two of the best tracks from the recent 12-inch Edmond Hall, Lover is not at first obvious. Friends have argued that it has little merit. I will admit that it starts with a whole chorus of straight clarinet trio melody, but this is essential to Hall's manner of playing. It provides the contrast required to spotlight the spangled playing of the soloist.

There is a short piano spot from Dick Cary, thrown in as a fill-up before the last chorus, but nevertheless exceptionally pleasant. Cary is a fine arranger in the Dixieland vein in addition to playing first-class horn.

The reverse features Cary even more, this time against a High Life beat provided by Jimmy Crawford, Lancashire's ex-drummer, Al Hall on bass and James Raney on guitar.

There is an unforgivable fade-out on this side not apparent on the original. Believe me, this is all that prevents me giving it the full five star treatment.

JAZZ BOOKS

The light approach makes a fine book

THIS IS JAZZ

by Ken Williamson

(George Newnes, 30s.)

I DO not believe this to be the best book dealing with jazz in a light-hearted manner, but I am convinced that it is the best.

Do not misunderstand me. This is not a funny. Not by a long chalk. People like Ian Lang, Stanley Dance, Leonard Feather do not write funnies...ever. But the subject is approached from an angle a little less serious than the generally accepted one found in jazz books.

The shortness of most of the articles for Ken Williamson is really at editor, as far as this work is concerned, and the approach both make for pleasant reading.

I particularly liked Benny Green, Humph, and Ian Lang. Andy Hodeir's quaint bit on improvisation, with its very odd, so-called standard 12-bar blues, eluded me altogether. And I did not see the point of Wilfrid Thomas's article on popular songs. But, maybe it was decided that Wilfrid should appear in print at some time in a jazz book...and this was it. I found it quite out of place.

Pat Lynn's amusing sketches on the instruments were too serious in parts to be hilariously funny, yet too short to be informative. The critics' answers to a standard questionnaire only went to prove that these things should not be done. Critics must continue to be considered inviolable.

You got to have wheels

TREAT IT GENTLE

by Sidney Bechet

(Cassell, 25s.)

WHAT Sidney Bechet would have been had he not been one of the world's GREAT jazzmen is not known, but I am sure he could have got by comfortably writing books. I am not surprised at this, for I remember his being engaged in America to tell children's stories on radio, and I have no doubt many of them he made up himself.

Reading, particularly, the early chapters of his book, I do not doubt he had the capability. His long account of the love affair and subsequent death of his grandfather Omar, is so well written that one could quite forget that it all happened even before Sidney's own father was born.

This chapter, and in fact the whole book, is beautifully written, so beautifully that one can forgive the many cutting references to other jazzmen, agents, promoters, critics and officials, whom Bechet brushed against time and time again.

The book does not set out to be factual. Yet it tells a lot more about jazz than many a documented history. Bechet believed in the roots of jazz, but not in going back—"I'm not a person who's saying we ought to have horses and a buggy today. You can have anything...a car or an aeroplane. But whatever it is, you've always got the wheels. It's the wheels you start from; it's the foundation. Once you've got the wheels under you, you can turn this way, and you can turn that way, or you can take off and fly. But you got to have the wheels."

The book is full of such illustrations. Bechet was one of those rare individuals. A jazzman, a poet, an artist and a sensitive thinker.

Miles—at his greatest

MILES DAVIS MODERN JAZZ GIANTS

Bags' Groove (Take one); Bags' Groove (Take two); Airegin; Oleo; But Not For Me (Take one).

(12in. Esquire 32-000) ****

PERSONNEL: tracks 1, 2 Miles Davis (trumpet); Milt Jackson (vibes); Thelonious Monk (piano); Frey Heath (drums); Kenny Clarke (drums); (7-7) Davis; Sonny Rollins (tenor); Horace Silver (piano); Heath; Clarke.

THERE are some 23 available 12-inch LPs by Miles. Each deserves a place in any serious collector's record rack. This classic re-issue is one of the best. It covers the legendary Christmas Eve 1954 date where Miles and Monk are supposed to have had a big battle—and an enjoyable, swinging session six months earlier with Rollins and Horace, whose chordings are much more appropriate for Miles than Monk's.

Bags' Groove is, indeed, a modern jazz classic. Miles is just beautiful here. As for the second date, it is noteworthy that all three Rollins originals (the minor Airegin, the rhythmic Oleo, and the funky, 16-bar Doxy) have since been incorporated into the books of modern jazz groups all over the world.

The second side is far from perfect. But I still say that the record is a "must"!

SONNY ROLLINS-TEDDY EDWARDS

Sonny Rollins At Music Inn; Teddy Edwards At Falcon's Lair With Joe Castro

Doxy; Limehouse Blues; I'll Follow My Secret Heart; You Are Too Beautiful; Billie's Bounce; A Foggy Day.

(12in. MGM CS101) ***

PERSONNEL: (tracks 1-4) Sonny Rollins (tenor); John Lewis (reco 1, 2, 4 only); Frey Heath (drums); Connie Kay (drums); (5, 6) Teddy Edwards (tenor); Joe Castro (piano); Leroy Vinnegar (bass); Billy Higgins (drums).

If you heard the MJQ's 1957 "Music Inn" album on London, you'll remember what a weird frame of mind Sonny Rollins appeared to be in that day. These new releases come from the same rather badly recorded, eleventh hour session.

The first half of Doxy, all of Too Beautiful, and much of the pianoless Heart are good. But on the rest of Doxy and the whole of Limehouse, Sonny appears to be in another world.

Call it irreverence, boredom, contempt, arrogance, humour, impudence . . . or what you will; it's certainly weird. And yet, on repeated hearings, it can become quite fascinating!

The other two tracks feature the fine, earthy, underrated tenorist, Teddy Edwards.

Teddy plays with unerring, surging swing, long lines and lots of feeling. I don't go too much for Castro, but Higgins and Higgins support well. Higgins' most recently has worked with Ornette Coleman.

The Rollins tracks need a lot of listening to,

SONNY ROLLINS—in another world, but it can be fascinating!

Another Monday Night At Birdland

It's You Or No One; Jump; Notval; Wer.

(12in. Columbia 33SX118) ***

PERSONNEL: Hank Mobley, Billy Root (trombone); Ray Bryant (piano); Tom Bryant (bass); Specs Wright (drums).

If you bought or heard the first

Monday Night At Birdland LP (33SX116), you'll know exactly what to expect on this sister set, recorded on the same evening. It's a typical club-type blowing session with (generally) union theme statements to open and close each track, with long solos sandwiched in between.

The level of performance is good, but seldom really outstanding.

Mobley has improved considerably since these 1958 recordings. The tenors are more than adequate, but Mobley certainly can play better.

The rhythm section isn't up to the highest New York traditions, unfortunately—bass and drums could be stronger. Nor is it too well recorded.

Vital, virile, swinging—and it's brand new!

TELL me something. If I were to ask you whom you would name as being synonymous with "West Coast Jazz," who would you put forward? I'll bet you 100-to-1, you would tell me Shorty Rogers, Shelly Manne, Gerry Mulligan, Bud Shank, Barney Kessel and that team. Right? I thought so!

Well, I have news for you. There is a new kind of modern jazz emanating from the California coast. And it is much more vital and virile, swinging and swinging than its universally-recognised predecessor. Almost without exception, the new West Coast wailers are coloured musicians. The men most prominent in the new revolutionary movement! I would choose tenor-saxist Harold Land and old-timer Teddy Edwards and pianist Elmo Hope (in an arranger-composer capacity).

More earthy

And just as the earlier Californian style-setters were non-natives of the State (Shorty, Shelly and Mulligan originated in New York), so it is with the new school. Land came from Texas and Hope from the Bronx, NYC. Edwards, born in Missouri, west West from Detroit many years ago.

The new W.C.J. is much more earthy than of yore. It swings hard, it has soul! But it is more melodic, less arrogant and aggressive than the New York type of jazz.

The label most active in recording the new California conception are probably World Pacific and (to a plete unknown on the HI FI record, Dupree Boswell, apart from the men I have mentioned. The musical future promises well. I just hope that the record-buying public will be appreciative.

Rumours . . .

RUMOURS are ripe about which American bands will be heard here in the autumn and winter. I heard tell of a package featuring Anita O'Day, George Shearing's Quintet and Art Blakey's "Jazz Messengers." My New York informant tells me Blakey is now definitely due in November. But that his colleagues will be the great Horace Silver's Quintet and Capitol-recording singer Dakota Staton.

They are saying, too, that Miles Davis may finally make it to Britain in September. I will believe this only when it happens! Anyway, we will keep you posted in DISC.

That superb singer, Carmen Macrae, is set for two weeks here in October, with bandleader Vic Lewis presiding. The Macrae tour will apparently be with (what are probably) the best three bands in Britain just now—the Teddy Hayes Quartet, the Ron Scott-Jimmy Deuchar Quintet and the Vic Ash-Harry Klein "Jazz Five." This should be most enjoyable.

If all the bands I have mentioned do appear here as planned, let us hope that wisdom will prevail when it comes to choosing the British groups to go to America under the Anglo-U.S. exchange. No names, no pack drill. But we all know who really deserves to go, don't we?

'Pete's Party' celebrates its 100th airing on Sunday

... and I've never followed trends

I'VE played over 1,700 records since starting "Pete's Party" on August 17, 1958. This Sunday I chalk up the hundredth show. A hundred shows! A hundred Sunday nights and a hundred headaches wondering what to play from the piles of records that are sent to me every week.

Let me start by telling you straightaway that I have never followed a trend in choosing the discs for my show. My policy has been to play only good performance records. These days, a "trend" seems to be something that is reflected by the top ten charts and I've never considered the top ten a true reflection of the general public's taste. A lot of people seem to forget that the teenage market is not the only market in popular music today.

Ask people in the street if they know what "Cathy's Clown" is all about and I bet lots of them would not know.

There is a much wider public to reach, people who appreciate good pop music, and this is the type of audience I have tried to attract.

I know I get a great teenage following who come into my show, but I have not gone out of my way to cater specifically for them.

IT IS AN INTERESTING POINT TO NOTE THAT VERY RARELY DO I GET LETTERS REQUESTING CLIFF RICHARD, TOMMY STEELE, AND OTHER ROCK STARS' RECORDS.

And I have also refrained from playing records by the "pretty boys." This is not sour grapes. Not at all. It is just that some of their records are diabolically bad.

But it seems a fact today that if a guy looks good he will get into the teenagers' top ten.

Personality

That is not the case with Tommy Steele. Tommy has a great personality. He does not have to sing. Just put him in a room of people and he will stand out every time. He is a great artist. In fact, he would have been a star had he been around fifty years ago.

I know a large number of recording stars who are not blessed with good looks who never seem to get the breaks they deserve.

Take Clyde McPhatter, for instance. He has done some great stuff.

And let me remind you of the case of Bill Haley. He was riding a pink cloud before he came on a tour of Britain. What happened when he got here? The kids got a closer look at him and didn't like his looks. You know what happened.

After the tour, Bill Haley died a death!

CLYDE MCPHATTER (below) . . . a first-class singer but not blessed with the necessary good looks.

Says PETE MURRAY, looking back over 100 headaches, 100 shows and 1,700 records

Just what is today's current trend?

Frankly, I do not think there is one. All we seem to get is one long procession of gimmicks. And the gimmick today is the pretty sound, the one we hear from John Barry backing Adam Faith's records.

Everybody is doing it.

But I am sure that this is just a passing phase that will rapidly disappear as quickly as the one which Guy Mitchell and Mitch Miller worked on a few years ago.

I LIKE JOHN BARRY, BUT THE SOUND HE IS EXPLOITING TODAY, THIS PLINK, PLANK, PLUNK NOISE, IS NOT NEW. LISTEN TO BUDDY HOLLY'S "IT DOESN'T MATTER ANY MORE".

But John has got some wonderful new and original ideas that will make him a very big name.

Six months ago, I heard him playing a number called "Chrysanthemum," which was great. It was new and original. And you only have to listen to his recent film scores for "Beat Girl" and "Never Let Go" to see what I mean.

John is cultivating this beatnik sound which I like to call polite modern jazz and this kind of music is going to be very big. We have already had the success of Bernstein's "Staccato" theme music.

Another singer I like very much is Kenny Lynch, who recorded "High On A Mountain Of Love." This coloured boy has a wonderful voice and should be a future star.

I write my own scripts and I try to appear friendly at the mike by making it sound as though I were only talking to one person.

A hundred shows. I've enjoyed doing every one. Now it's back to the hundred and first . . .

former in this country is Wee Willie Harris. He has got such a wonderful sense of humour and vitality. I cannot understand why he has not hit the jackpot.

Who are the most requested artists on my show? Well, without a doubt, Johnny Mathis, Sinatra and Ella Fitzgerald are most frequently asked for, but very seldom do I get requests for numbers in the top twenty.

Not Richard

One of the most popular requested beat singers, I find, is Fats Domino. The teenagers who listen to seem to ask for more of Tony Newley than Richard, Steele and Faith.

I like to include progressive jazz records whenever I can but I don't like the very modern stuff. I used to idolise the early Stan Kenton recordings but now Stan has gone too way out.

I have always had complete freedom in the choice of records I've wanted to play. There has never been any objection from the BBC.

I write my own scripts and I try to appear friendly at the mike by making it sound as though I were only talking to one person.

A hundred shows. I've enjoyed doing every one. Now it's back to the hundred and first . . .

STAR OF TV, DISCS AND RADIO WRITES FOR YOU

Jerry's scalping party

A full length arrow arrived in the post the other morning with a message attached to the shaft. It stated that there was to be a "Big Apache raid . . . with scalping."

No need for alarm though. I read on to discover the message came from the publicity man launching composer Jerry London's first instrumental disc, "Apache." Wanting to find out more about the disc (previously Jerry had stuck to writing ballads like "Mr. Blue" and "Who Could Be Bluer") I spoke to him on the phone from Blackpool.

"I was travelling on a coach with the Shadows, who back Cliff Richard," said Jerry. "I sang it to them as a try out and . . . voila! They took it to Norrie Paramor. He liked it as well so the boys cut it for Columbia."

Warming to the subject of the Shadows, Jerry went on: "They are great—in Europe there isn't a group comparable with Johnny and the Hurricanes, or Duane Eddy . . . except for the Shadows. I think that they can easily make the sellers with this disc. I have never been so sure of anything."

How did Jerry get the idea for the disc?

"From 'Wagon Train,' I got the idea watching a chum's set. The commercials were on—and in three minutes of detergent, orange juice and shoe polish, I managed to work out the rough outline."

"But don't get the idea that is all there was to it. While the Hollywood cowboys were tucked up in their Beverly Hills beds, I threw the idea around. I think it has come out okay," he told me.

I phoned the London Palladium where the Shadows are backing Cliff.

Jet Harris was the spokesman. He thought it was a great number—and he wrote Cliff's 300,000 best seller "Driftin'". Bruce Welch agreed—he penned "Please Don't Tease" for Cliff.

Hank Marvin and Tony Meehan added their agreement. That makes the vote unanimous.

WINNIE ATWELL flies out to this luncheon (Thursday) to Trinidad. She has been accorded the honour of being invited to stay with the Governor General and Lady Hailes at the Official residence. I gather that Lord Hailes is throwing a reception for Winnie and has indicated that he wants to attend her concert at the Queen's Hall, Trinidad.

"During my three weeks in the Caribbean I hope to visit every spot humanly possible—" she told me yesterday.

Winnie was excited at the thought of visiting her home country again. But little startled to find that the visit was making a new wardrobe necessary.

"I've lost 4 stone in weight by dieting—and that has meant a complete new set of gowns," she told Pearl.

The cost? THREE THOUSAND POUNDS.

Mathematically-minded Pearl computes that this has meant 247 per lb. Who says it is cheap to be slim?
