Universal 'unsettled' Mays signals as Messier resigns

PARIS — Universal Music is going through an "unsettling time" following the resignation of parent company Vivendi Universal's chairman and CEO Jean-Marie Messier on July

1 and his replacement by Jean-René Fourtou, vice-chairman of chemical group Aventis, on July 3. Those are the words used by Universal Music International chairman and CEO Jorgen Larsen in a message to his staff on July 2. "In this unsettling time, it is important to remember that the fundamental business of Universal Music International is strong, as are our resources and capabilities," he wrote.

Messier, who leaves the utilities group he transformed into the world's second largest media group, resigned amid intense pressure from the company's board, which felt the financial crisis the group faced made his position at the helm of the company untenable.

M&M understands that some of Universal Music Group's senior management were informed by Messier himself of his departure. In a note to Vivendi Universal (VU) employees seen by M&M (see page 17), Messier said he had decided to take the "heartbreaking decision" to step down "to restore peace and calm to Vivendi Universal."

VU's management and employees are now faced with the uncertain future of a conglomerate involved in fields as diverse as music (Universal Music), cinema (Universal Studios), TV (USA Networks and Canal Plus), publishing and video games (Vivendi Universal Publishing), telecoms (Cegetel), Internet services (VUNet and Vizzavi) and environmental services (Vivendi Environnement). Messier's departure is seen by many investors as a sign that the structure of the conglomerate, which includes utilities as well as media operations, could be broken up into different parts.

Messier transformed the 150-year-old utility and services company Generale des Eaux into the world's second-largest media group through acquisitions amounting to euros 100 billion. Messier said his strategy was fully justified, but he admitted that "I tried to do too much too quickly."

For the time being, VU's board has appointed 63-year-old Jean-René Fourtou, vice-chairman of chemical group Aventis, as the company's new chairman and CEO. Upon his nomination, Fourtou acknowledged the gravity of the situation, but was keen to add that VU had valuable assets. In a statement, he said: "The board of directors and all of the company employees remain fully prepared to do their utmost to ensure the continued strengths of our operations. Vivendi Universal has everything it needs to be optimistic about the future as we begin to restore confidence and health to our company.'

Nick Henry-Stolz, financial analyst for JPMorgan, comments: "With Messier leaving, VU is turning a page on an era and hopefully things will improve quickly with a more rational management. The new CEO Jean-René Fourtou's outstanding background in management consulting [he spent 23] years at Bossard Consulting] will be continued on page 17

Clear intent at Radio Festival

CAMBRIDGE — "Don't expect to find me camping on your doorstep, but radio groups from US media giant Clear Channel issued by its chairman and CEO Lowry Mays, delivering the Guardian Media Group Lecture at the Radio Academy's Radio Festival 2002 in Cambridge on July 1.

It was the first time since the May 7 publication of the UK government's draft Communications Bill—which proposes allowing non-EU companies to own UK broadcasters for the first time-that a US radio group has publicly stated that it would like to buy one of its UK counterparts.

"Nothing would give me more pleasure than to be able to bring one of the leading UK radio groups into the Clear Channel family," admitted Mays, whose company already has extensive UK interests in the outdoor advertising, radio sales and live entertainment businesses. "If the right opportunity came long, it makes sense because of our heavy investment in other things [in the UK]. We've already got the management here.

Putting the argument-as Clear Channel has done so often in the US-that greater consolidation of ownership equals more format choice, Mays said: "Give me 50% of the UK's radio spectrum-I'll even pay for itand I'll give you 14 different format categories, as Clear Channel does in continued on page 17

Uptront by Emmanuel Legrand, Music & Media editor-in-chief

In just a few days, the fate of Vivendi Universal chief executive Jean-Marie Messier has been sealed-and he was shown the door.

The suddenness of Messier's fall from grace matches both his rapid rise and the speed at which he transformed the old utilities company into a communication giant. Messier did have an ambitious global vision for his company (and for himself), but building Vivendi Universal through acquisitions the way he did had a price-and he is paying it now.

Ironically it was not, in the end, so much the financial situation of the group which provoked the boardroom coup, but rather a very French aspect of VU's activities. Water supply is a very sensitive business: it has national preservation status and supplies cities run by politicians. The moment Messier started to mess with this side of the business his fate was sealed—France's leaders could not let such a crucial activity be taken over by non-French interests.

VU is a conglomerate of so many different businesses that Messier's strategy had become blurred. Now that Citizen Messier is gone, the complex set-up of the group he has built will be put to test. At this stage there is no indication that the group will survive its architect's demise-rumours of predators circling over some parts of the empire are growing by the day.

VU owns the biggest and most profitable record company in the world. This is a very precious asset and nothing would be more inappropriate than another period of turbulence, with changes in ownership and in management. What this business needs is stability.

The emphasis now is not on whether the group should be broken up, but on which parts will go first and what will constitute VU's core business. The group's 320,000 employees, who are contemplating the situation with a mixture of disbelief and anxiety, could never have imagined they might be party to such a disaster.

What a waste.

• On more sombre note, after M&M went to press last week we learned the very sad news that our colleague Timothy White, editor of sister publication Billboard, had, at the age of 50, died of an apparent heart attack (see box page 18). Timothy, who was in London just a few weeks ago, was a gifted journalist with a consuming passion for music. In this difficult moment, our thoughts go out to his family and to our friends and colleagues at Billboard.

Tandan departs to launch label

by Johan Lindström

managing director of Warner Music Sweden to set up his own company (M&M July 6). The new label, S56 Recordings will be financed by Warner Music, but will be operated separately from its own office in Stockholm. S56 (the name is made up of Tandan's Christian name and year of birth) will focus on Swedish music, with the aim of finding talent to exploit internationally-a concept already employed succesfully by Stockholm Records, which is part-owned by Universal.

"S56 will, above all, be an artistfriendly company," says Tandan. "We will search for talent all over

Sweden. "At last I'm back to what I want to do most-A&R work and finding and developing artists. It's no secret that I've looked at opportunities, to work in London for example, but this is really what motivates me."

Tandan began his career in the music business in the late 70s when, along with friends, he bought a record store in Stockholm. The company developed into a label, SOS, which enjoyed a number of hits in the early 80's. His own label Tandan Records, whose roster included Finnish rock act Hanoi Rocks and Swedish hard rock band Easy Action, followed and was later merged into Alpha Records, which dominated the Swedish pop market in the late 80s.

In 1986 Tandan was brought to Warner Music as A&R director and was later made MD of the Metronome label. He left for London in 1992 to head British label Magnet /Eastwest. Six years ago he was named managing director of Warner Music Sweden.

The first acts to be signed to the label are Baxter, previously on Madonna's Maverick, and User, a band from Örebro.

Holland's The Box sharpens cutting edge

by Menno Visser

HILVERSUM — In the Netherlands music television channel The Box is looking to increase its profile as a cutting-edge broadcaster, following its April 19 acquisition by German company Viva Media.

As well as a new website and logo, from July 5 the non-stop cable channel will feature new programming specifically targetting three lifestyle groups-rock, urban and dance.

"Our strategy is to target the trendsetters," says the channel's Mischa Snijders, marketing and business development manager. "If you make those viewers happy, at the end of the day it will have a positive effect on the mainstream audience. We will show videos you won't normally see at the other channels." From 21.00 requested-only videos are featured in Urban Vibes on Mondays, on Wednesdays On the tracks and dance is showcased on Fridays as part of Rhythm Nation.

The Box revamp follows the recent repositioning of the MTVowned Dutch channel The Music Factory (TMF) into a more interactive service (M&M, May 4).

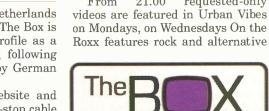

"When it comes to interactivity, we are better armed than TMF," claims Snijders. "At TMF you're only voting for a video, The Box can guarantee it will get played."

locally-designed system A enables the cable station to play all requests within an hour. To achieve this, big cable networks such as Amsterdam's will be split into several Box areas.

Linked to the profiled genres, priority videos tagged as 'Alerts' will be shown four times every day, and hourly during the theme nights. Initial selections include Slam Harder (Koch) by Onyx (Urban Alert), In Your World (Taste/PIAS) by Muse (Rock Alert), and The Truth' (EMI) by Cosmic Gate (Dance Alert).

Compilations tied in to the Alert concept will be released. Urban Vibes Volume One (BMG) is the first in the series.

Skyrock promotes Urban Peace

by Joanna Shore

PARIS — French urban station Skyrock is partnering the country's largest ever hip hop/R&B event, Urban Peace.

The show will take place at the Stade de France in Paris on September 21 and will feature 26 acts including Fonky Family, Matt (pictured above) and Saïan Supa Crew—representing all shades of urban culture in France.

"This is the biggest promotional project we've ever been involved in," says station managing director Laurent Bouneau (pictured right). He estimates the campaign, which includes advertising spots on the radio and on the Internet, will cost around euros 4.5 million. "This is the result of five years of working on French artists for Skyrock," says Bouneau. "It's an emblematic event for us."

In the lead-up to the concert, Skyrock will feature the participating acts on its Planet Rap show and will broadcast the concert itself live across its national network.

One of the most impressive aspects of the event is the fact that Urban Peace did not need to bring in any international acts for the show. "Today rap has achieved a maturity; we are able to present an all-French lineup, due to the success [of hip hop] in France," says Karim Aklil, director of concert organiser Unions Production.

Bucking the global trend, France registered an increase in its recorded music market for 2000-2001, largely due to the popularity of domestic repertoire, including hip hop.

Skyrock's Bouneau says: "France is the second country in the world for hip-hop. The US has more success in the rest of Europe compared with France, because they are confronted with an extremely powerful French scene."

Aklil says he hopes that this will be the first of many such concerts. "This is our first major event, that I hope will become the event of the year—a festival." He expects the event to attract a mixed audience of 70,000 people in the 12-25 age range.

NOORDZEE FORCED TO GO DUTCH

HILVERSUM — Dutch commercial station Noordzee FM has been forced by Holland's media regulator to play 50% Dutch product by December. In the original ruling the station was obliged to play 40% Dutch-language material by September, but the regulator changed this ruling on appeal. Originally Noordzee FM received an FM licence in order to promote local product, but it altered format over the years. As there is no mention of which dayparts are affected by the ruling, Noordzee FM is considering increasing the airplay domestic repertoire receives during the evening and at weekends.

STOCKHOLM BREAKFAST TEAM NAMED

STOCKHOLM — SBS network Radio City has recruited Big Brother presenter Adam Alsing (pictured) and Radio City presenter Charlotte Lauterbach for a new morning show on its Stockholm station. In January, Radio City terminated its local morning shows in Stockholm and Malmö, simulcasting its Gothenburg morning team on all three Radio City stations. Radio City in Malmö will continue to carry the Gothenburg morning show. Radio City programme director Joakim Ljungqvist will replace Charlotte Lauterbach in the late morning slot.

FLEMISH STATIONS THREATENED

BRUSSELS — The Flemish media authority has said it will appeal against a ruling by Belgian's highest appeal court for the first two Flanders-wide commercial stations, Q-Music and 4 FM, to hand over around one third of their frequencies. The ruling followed a complaint by state-owned public broadcaster RTBF, which contends the signals are interfering with the transmission of some stations in the French-speaking part of Belgium, Wallony. Insiders say, however, that Flemish media minister Dirk Van Mechelen may well get the political green light for a compromise deal before the end of summer.

MOVING CHAIRS

LONDON — Former editorial consultant at now.com, William Luff has been appointed London-based press officer of EMI:Chrysalis, effective July 1.

NORWAY — Former music director of public national CHR/Alternative station NRK Petre Atle Bredal has been appointed manager of all music producers at NRK's Petre, CHR mPetre and AC station P1. Based in Trondheim, Bredal is currently overseeing the introduction of a new music scheduling system at P1. LONDON — Mike Bawden (pictured), programme director of Aire FM and Magic 828 in Leeds, is switching Emap Performance stations in the UK, moving to become managing director of Hull-based Viking FM and Magic 1161. Previous Viking MD Sue Timson becomes Emap Performance's group sales director (radio); Bawden has yet to be replaced at Aire.

HILVERSUM — The Dutch government is considering launching an official investigation into CD prices, after allegations by the country's consumer watchdog that prices increased under the guise-of the transition to the euro.

The consumer watchdog, Consumentenbond, has gone as far as to demand a freeze on CD prices for a year, after it presented its own figures showing CD prices have risen by almost 10% over the past year.

Theo van Sloten, director of Dutch retail association NVGD, is not impressed however.

Radar set to rock Portuguese airwaves

by Chris Graeme

LISBON — A new alternative/rock radio station was launched on June 25 in Lisbon.

On 97.8 FM, .Radio Radar has been created out of Radio Voz de Almada. Programme director Sofia Morais, who has worked in radio for 14 years and was involved in the Portuguese version of the Popstars TV show, says the station aims to attract listeners in the 18-35 age range.

"It was the team's idea at Radio Voz to start up an alternative rock radio station because there seemed to be a gap in the market," Morais tells M&M. "We put the idea to the radio's principal shareholders and they thought it was a great idea too."

The station plans to rotate bands such as Mercury Rev, Pete Yorn, Beck, Deus, Lamb, Tricky, R.E.M, Coldplay, and the Dave Matthews Band. "I really feel this station is our baby and we're all prepared to put body and soul into it to make it a roaring success," says Sofia Morais.

Radio Radar is financially controlled by majority shareholders Luis Montez programme director at RDP public radio Antena 3 and Alvaro Covoes, director of Portugal's largest concert promotion agency Musica No Coraçao.

AOL Time Warner recently bought from EMI Group an additional 15.3% shareholding in German music television channel Viva. That news co-incided with reports that Bertelsmann is to team up with its commercial broadcaster RTL Group to launch a new Europe-wide music TV channel.

In a double whammy, the two players are looking to go head-to-head with current market leader Viacom, operator of MTV and VH-1. In particular, the Warner/Viva deal also brings closer the day when the German channel may become a presence in the UK and USA.

AOL Time Warner paid euros 52 million for the package, which it will be adding to its own 15.3% shareholding. Julie Mason, AOL Time Warner's director of international strategic aims could not be achieved."

Music & Media reported in May that MTV was trying hard to win control of Viva, which has long been a thorn in its side, ever since it won market leadership in Germany shortly after its launch in 1993.

MTV has tried in the past to take the station over; this time it hoped that the poor economic situation of the three major companies who helped found the station—Warner, Universal and EMI-would make them ready to sell. But the three obviously felt that the reason they founded Viva still applied-they still want a counterweight to MTV's communications in New York told Music & Media that the transaction "is part of our European growth strategy. We've had a great relationship with Viva, so when we had the chance to increase our stake, we took it."

EMI Group senior vice president for corporate communications, Amanda Conroy, said the sale fitted in with EMI's policy of selling off non-core interests. EMI has made a profit of euros 43 million on their initial investment.

AOL Time Warner's Mason wouldn't comment on whether the company was talking to other shareholders about increasing its holding further. Nevertheless, it is believed to have made an initial approach to Vivendi Universal for its 15.3% block and to be talking to four investor consortia which between them own 18.2%.

MTV bows out

MTV has admitted defeat. MTV Networks Europe president and chief executive Brent Hansen said: "Our investment criteria and Julie Mason, potential monopoly in the music TV business. In addition, a takeover by MTV would have led to problems with the German licensing authorities. The arguments were obviously strong enough to convince EMI to take a lower price than the euros 70 million reported to have been offered by Viacom.

AOL Time Warner was the obvious initiator of the counter-strike, with a healthier financial situation than the other two, and with a clos-er relationship to Viva. It already owns 49% of Viva's second German music channel, Viva Plus. Although it only has 30.6% of the shares it already has 46.1% of the votes, because of a deal with three of the four investor consortia. But even if AOL does not win the majority, it will still be able to congratulate itself on having stopped Viacom's plans. It was widely expected that, if MTV won, one Viva channel might be closed, and Viva's expansion into local stations in other countries would be reversed.

Viva's chief executive and founder Dieter Gorny is believed to have worked hard to encourage AOL Time Warner to make the move. He had the support of German politicians: the minister for culture, Julian Nida-Rümelin, spoke of the loss of "part of Germany's musical culture" if Viva went to Viacom.

Gorny says he is "satisfied and proud" that his company could fight off Viacom's embrace.

Viva to grow

Viva recently acquired Dutch music TV channel The Box and, in a further consolidation of its position, it has just acquired an additional 52% holding in Swiss music TV station Viva Zwei. While the acquisition is still subject to approval, will mean the it German company will hold 96% of the channel's shares.

Insiders believe that, although the various Viva stations will remain based in the countries for which they broadcast, there will be at least a group office in London.

In a newspaper interview, Gorny admitted that it was no longer possible to do music television as a small business based in Cologne. "Music television was always an Anglo-American phenomenon," he said.

Viva spokesperson Katrin Mehler however described as "exaggerations" reports in the German press

BSkyB launches pay-per-view video channel

Record companies in the UK are set to benefit from a new BskyB channel where viewers can order exclusive video footage on a pay-per-view basis. The channel, MX Sky Box Office, will allow labels supplying material to have a share in the revenue generated from the service.

Set to launch this MUSICXCLUSIVE. autumn, the channel is the result of a collaboration between BSkyB and MusicXclusive, a consultancy company set up by former BBC head of music entertainment and Emap's MD of pop Trevor Dann (pictured). Dann says the idea came from watching record companies make expensive videos and not getting a return on their outlay.

"If the broadcasters only show a video a couple of times, or not at all, the investment is completely wasted," says Dann. "I was wondering whether there was a way in which the value of a video could be turned into money for the

Launched as a monthlong pilot scheme, each week viewers will be offered exclusive access to a new music video together with packages of unseen footage and interviews, running to around ten minutes in length. Once bought the package can be viewed as many times as desired for 24 hours. The channel will aim to create a promotional event around the launch of a video.

Dann says that "so far nothing but positive reaction" to the project. Although a specific price-plan for the service has yet to be set, Dann contends it will be "cheaper than most pay per view events. It will be more of an impulse buy."

The new channel will bring the line-up of pay-per-view channels available on Sky digital to 65 and the number of audio/video music channels-including MTV, Music Choice and Emap channels-to 56.

Remy Shand recalls Motown greats

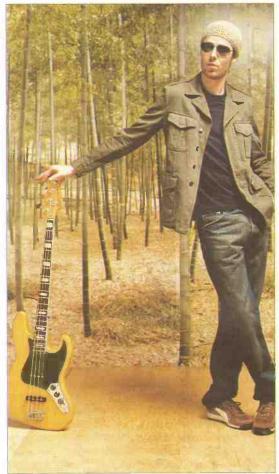

by Paul Sexton

Who needs another neo-soul boy who's listened to all the right Marvin Gaye records? In the case of Remy Shand, it's a trick question, because although he has plenty of old-school favourites in his record collection, he's his own soul man, as European radio and retail are finding out.

Shand, from Winnipeg in Canada, is the new R&B traditionalist on the block with a debut album, The Way I Feel, that's winning plaudits and playlists around much of Europe and beyond. Appropriately for an artist whose best work evokes the breathy romanticism of Gaye and Smokey Robinson among others, he's signed to Motown, who saw The Way I Feel debut at No.1 in Canada and inside the top 40 in the US.

Since then, Shand has been gaining fans in Europe, not least by committing the time to two visits to the region for promotion and gigs, with a third on the way after American summer dates supporting Universal stablemate Sheryl Crow. Other reviews have mentioned Shand in the same sentence as Curtis Mayfield and Al Green, and he is well used to (and only flattered by) comparisons with the soul greats. "I do get the Jamiroquai comparison quite a bit as well, which I've kind of dismissed," he smiles. Shand is also unbothered by the simultaneous emergence of another Canadian soulster, Epic's Glenn Lewis. "There's definitely room for both of us." he says.

definitely room for both of us," he says. "We're not hyping Remy, his live shows sell Remy better than we can," says Eric Leddel, London-based VP marketing, Universal Motown. Adds Universal Music International VP, promotions, Lee Ellen Newman: "A lot of people are putting their hands up for this one. When people meet him, he's just so natural." "Italy is our number one [European] market right now, we've sold 25,000 albums there," continues Leddel. "I've just come back from Milan [where Shand played MTV's Festa De La Musica with Crow] and you can see the connection, it's one of those records that just works for them."

Shand, who's half-Italian, has enjoyed his initial European visits. "Everybody talks about 'London first', but it's kind of good to go into Europe through the back door. The work can get pretty crazy, but now we've loaded up the promo gun in Europe."

In addition to a top 15 sales spot for The Way I Feel in Italy, the album has gone top 40 in Germany, and in the UK, Shand played a recent showcase and landed the album of the week spot at national AC outlet BBC Radio 2. "I heard Remy Shand all over the radio when I visited the States recently," says the station's executive producer (music) Colin Martin, who admits that the album had been in danger of getting lost in the shuffle. "I was surprised at the amount of exposure it was getting [there] and vet the album was gathering dust in my office," he recounts. "Perhaps there's just no place for a new Motown-inspired artist on most of today's tightly formatted radio stations-listen to Everlasting and you'd think it's the great Smokey Robinson himself. [But] it's just too good an album to bury. I was happy to rediscover it and make it an album of the week. Radio 2 will give it as much support as we can.'

by Chris Barrett

With the World Cup now over, a group of Icelandic footballers are readying themselves for competition of a different kind.

Reykjavik-based five piece, the Leaves, all play for Icelandic third division football team Bardastrandir, but are now looking to score highly with their music career. With two beautifully crafted singles having already provoked a frenzied reaction in the UK, their rock-edged epics have drawn inevitable comparisons to Coldplay and Radiohead. Something ever-modest former opera singing frontman Arnar Gudjonsson (aka Arnar G) seems slightly uncomfortable with. "People have only heard two songs, they should listen to the album before they make any judgement."

The album Breathe is not out until August 12 (released via Warner Europe and Music in DreamWorks/Universal for the rest of the world) but the single Race (released May 6) has already won considerable interest at radio: "They are a new band but we have given them good specialist support and daytime spot plays" says Sarita Jagpal, music manager at UK national CHR station, BBC Radio 1. "It's early days, but they are an act to watch," she adds. The band's follow-up single, Catch, is released on July 29.

One of the Leaves' first converts was Mark Lewis, managing director at b-unique who signed them, before licensing the act to Warner and DreamWorks. "I heard a whisper about a great tape from Iceland, so got hold of the manager's number and called him," says Lewis. "By some bizarre chance he was around the corner from our office in Chelsea. He literally handed me a tape through the gate. That was a Friday. I loved it, and played it to my partner over the weekend. On Monday morning we were already booking our trip to Iceland to see the band!" With the growing with the growing excitement surrounding the Leaves seemingly contagious, the mood at Warner Music is equally positive. "We are at a very early stage, but have already had a great response. They are amazing live, and apart from their astonishing music they look fantastic. The potential for them is huge," enthuses Warner Music UK director of international, Hassan Choudhury.

Having already co-headlined in Reykjavik with The Strokes and supported the likes of The Coral and Doves in the UK, Leaves are set to continue to tour extensively throughout the summer, taking in a number of European festivals. Inevitably the band have been missing out on their soccer training—"I haven't played for months, too much beer you know," says Gudjonsson.

DANCE GROOVES

by Gary Smith

LYING MODE

On Lie To Me by Earphones (No Colours/Italy), the '80s thing is to the fore again. The sound is reminiscent of early Depeche Mode but with a genteel house element. The chorus is truly excellent thanks to overlapping voices and a wistful, meandering synth riff underpinning the vocal action. A sparse, disciplined production by Roberto Terranova and Luca Lento-who were also involved in the DJ Pied Piper track Do You Really Like It? -adds to the '80s feeling with a classic Moog sound providing a refreshing analogue vibe. There are no remixes as yet but instrumental track Mooging is also worth a listen for its playful melodies and all-round riffiness.

SPREADING THE WORD

Currently celebrating its first birthday, E-zine Skrufff has rapidly established itself as both an essential weekly read and, more importantly, as a publication that tells it how it is. "Skrufff is dedicated to spreading the word about alternative, cutting-edge dance music and the positive values associated with the scene—whether that's freedom of artistic expression, living alternative lifestyles or the old rave cliché PLUR; peace, love, unity and respect," Skrufff cofounder and editor Jonty Adderley says. "We're globally orientated and firmly angled at developing and expanding via the web, aggregating niche markets that cross national boundaries." Word of mouth and the Internet grapevine have helped readership figures reach 5,000 with a growing syndication side that keeps Skrufff solvent and independent.

WALTZING DUO

The buzz surrounding the album Waltz For Koop, signed for the UK Stimulus Records from by German label Compost, continues to grow. Following a June 17 UK release, alongside a clutch of sizzling live performances and radio support from Gilles Peterson and Steve Lamacq at BBC Radio 1 plus Patrick Forge at London dance station Kiss 100 and Ross Allen at regional AOR station BBC London, 2002 looks set to be a big year for this Swedish duo. A Kruder & Dorfmeister remix of debut single Summer Sun is out now with second single and title track Waltz For Koop, remixed by Brazilian drum 'n' bass DJ Patife, due out soon. "A re-cut version of the album with bonus tracks and new artwork will be put out for a second round of promotion off the back of the Waltz For Koop release," says label manager Martin Morales.

The pick of the week's new singles by Maggie Ramsay and Miriam Hubner

MAD'HOUSE LIKE A PRAYER (Bio Records)

Release date: August 5 Mad'House have recycled Madonna's hit Like A Prayer and given current levels of airplay—it's spent six consecutive weeks at the top of M&M's European Dance Traxx and garnered dance-floor popularity in Austria, Belgium, Holland and Germany and more recently Sweden-the track looks like the song maybe returning to the sales charts.

Daniel Akerman, head of music at CHR station NRJ-Energy in Sweden, says: "It just started here, and it's looking very good so far." He believes it has staying power because of the group's innovative interpretation. "It is a classic. There is no real strong dance song out there right now and that's why it's working," adds Akerman.

Mad'House's version of the song bears many of the original's characteristics, but adds a modern, funky dance beat. The group are fronted by 20-year-old Dutch singer Buse, who emulates Madonna's voice flawlessly. MR

Currently playing at: Radio Framboise/Switzerland, Radio Vysocina/ Czech Republic, 104.6 RTL Berlin/Germany, Anatenne Bayern/ Germany Cadena 40 Principales/ Spain, Contact FM/France, Europe 2 Network/ France, Galaxy 102/ UK, Athens Radio DeeJay 95.2/ Greece, Danubius Radio/Hungary, Los Cuarenta/Italy, Radio DeeJay Network/Italy, Radio M-1/Lithuania, NPS Isabelle/Holland, NRJ-Energy/Swede

MORCHEEBA OTHERWISE (Fast West)

Release date: June 17 This is the first cut off Morcheeba's fourth studio album Charango, which hit the streets July 1. Morcheeba are brothers

Ross and Paul Godfrey and singer Skye Edwards. Ross plays the guitar and various other instruments while Paul writes the songs and programmes the beats. Co-producer of the album is long-time collaborater Pete Norris. Otherwise has the classic mellow, chilled-out Morcheeba sound and is Ross and Paul's favourite track off their new album. Frank Menzel, head of music at alternative station ORB Fritz in Potsdam, Germany likes the single a lot: "It's a good mix of soul and trip-hop," he says. "It's an energetic ballad that makes you want to listen to the album. They have developed musically in that they didn't lose their credibility. Morcheeba still produce high quality pop music." Christine Goor, head of music at Radio 21 (alternative) in Brussels, Belgium is less positive. She says: "We are not very enthusiastic about the track. It sounds like a typical Morcheeba song, no surprise, good or bad. Nevertheless, this song has been programmed 34 times since the 14th of June." MH

Currently playling at: Radio 21/Belgium, ORB Fritz/Germany, Danmarks Radio P3/ Denmark, Cadena 100/Spain, Cadena 80/Spain, YLE 2/Radiomafia/Finland, France Inter/France, Radio Maximum/Russia, Downtown Radio/UK, BBC Radio 2/UK, Radio Salmacia/Croatia, 96 FM/Ireland, 101 Network/Italy

The weekly dance chart comment by Harald Roth

Moony's Dove (I'll Be Loving You) (Airplane!) is holding tight at number one for the second week running on the European Dance Traxx chart, while Mad'House and Shakedown also stay put at last week's second and third spot.

Mooney's popularity is steadily increasing, a fact which may lock the track in at number one for a bit longer.

Meanwhile, two tracks enter the top ten for the very first time, and they both originate from France. The first at eight (from 22) is David Guetta's Love, Don't Let me Go (Virgin). Number three on the mover's chart, it debuted in dance charts in Britain and Sweden this week.

Also new to the top ten is Cassius feat. Jocelyn Brown's I'm A Woman (HBF/Virgin). The tune debuted in Belgium and Norway, helping it climb from 17 to number ten on the chart this week.

Jocelyn Brown is, of course, no stranger to the dance music scene, and is best known for her hit Somebody Else's Guy back in the heady disco/soul days of the 80s. She had her biggest European Dance Traxx hit as a solo artist with a cover of the classic Ain't No Mountain High Enough on INCredible-Sony in August 1998. The track peaked at 24.

Elvis Vs JXL's A Little Less Conversation (RCA) climbs from 20 to 14 in its second week in the charts. The track's big advantage is that it's not too upfront for radio and not to commercial for clubs—a perfect combination.

Right behind at 15 is Perpetuous Dreamer's dust.wav (United Recordings). The brainchild of Dutch producer Armin van Buuren, the track is encountering success in Benelux and Germany.

Another act operating with many aliases is Britain's Dave Lee. While he may be best known as Joey Negro, Lee scores the chart's highest of eleven debuts at 28 (from 107) this week with Fascinated (Rulin) under the moniker Raven Maize.

There are also six re-entries in the top 100 this issue, led by DJ Tiesto's 643 (Love's On Fire) on Magik Muzik/Nebula. Originally released as Flight 643, the track re-enters at 63 (from 559) thanks to new mixes. Britain, Eire and Belgium are responding favourably toward the tune.

This week again, Kylie Minogue's famous bottom is still perched firmly on the European Radio Top 50 throne with Love At First Sight (Parlophone). One of Kylie's biggest rivals, however, the British pop artist Sophie Ellis-Bextor, leaps from number 36 to 25 with the upbeat dance number Get Over You (Polydor). Ellis-Bextor's previous single Murder On The Dancefloor is also still on the chart, with a residency to date of some 29 weeks.

US songstress Michelle Branch is the highest new entry this week at number 27 with her Wanted single All You second (Maverick/Warner Bros). One of the most promising female artists to have emerged this year, Branch has already enjoyed chart success with her debut single Everywhere, taken from her album The Spirit Room. Holger Lachmann, head of music at Hot AC station 104.6 RTL in Berlin, says: "I was already blown away by her first single, which, unfortunately, didn't have the sales success it deserved, despite massive airplay. I think that the people from Warner were surprised by the airplay success, but then didn't put enough emphasis on TV appearances and so forth.'

Adds Lachmann: "All You Wanted definitely has all the qualities of a hit single. It has the hook, the sound, and a very nice and likable artist. I hope that this single will have the commercial success that it deserves.'

Also new in European the Radio Top 50 this week, at number 40, are UK group Liberty X (pictured)—famous for being some of the artists rejected by the Popstars TV show-with their track Just A Little (V2). It's an infectious dancefloor-filler, and one of the few Popstar-spawned acts so far that has managed to cross national boundaries.

The third-highest new entry comes from Canadian act Celine Dion. I'm Alive (Epic), is also the second-Most Added track this week, with eight of M&M's panel of stations playlisting the track for the first time this wek. Lachmann comments: "I'm Alive is a sure-fire hit. It is a classic Dion number with a modern production. People in the music department are already placing bets on when the track will go on highest rotation."

Lachmann says the local music scene is fairly quiet in Germany at the moment. "Overall, there is not much happening-the charts are dominated by covers of '80s hits, such as Opus' Live Is Life by the Hermens House Band feat. DJ Otzi [Polydor]. We had taken '80s music out of our library, so these covers allow us to air some of those songs again."

Ex-Fugee member Wyclef Jean feat. Claudette with their mellow number Two Wrongs' (Columbia), just makes it into the European Radio Top 50 this week, coming in at number 45. As for the coming weeks, one potential hit is a collaboration between Viva presenter Milka and German pop act Band Ohne Namen. Girl 4 A Day will be released by XL Records on August 19.

The European Radio Top 50 chart is based on a weighted-scoring system.

Songs score points by achieving airplay on all of M&M's reporting stations with contemporary music fulltime or during specific dayparts. Stations are weighted by market size and by the number of hours per week. TW = This Week, LW = Last Week, NE = New Entry, TS = Total Stations

Mays signals intent | Universal 'unsettled' as Messier resigns

the USA."

Mays described the draft Communications Bill as being "very progressive." He said that the US. which does not allow foreign companies majority ownership of its broadcasters, had a "banana-republic" type of philosophy on this matter, which he admitted was unlikely to change in the foreseeable future. Meanwhile.

in a briefing session to journalists at the festival, Radio Authority chief executive Tony Stoller and chairman Richard Hooper talked about their disappointment that, following the publication of the draft Communications Bill, commercial radio trade body the CRCA has decided to depart from its previously-agreed line with the Authority on radio ownership.

In their submissions to government before the draft Communications Bill was published, the Radio Authority and CRCA hammered out a joint position on radio ownership, in which the two bodies recommended the abolition of national restrictions on the number of local stations owned by a single radio company, to be replaced by a formula whereby each local radio market must have a minimum of three different radio station owners plus the BBC. This "three-plus-one" formula was adopted by the government in its draft bill.

However, the CRCA now says it favours a "two-plus one" formula for local radio ownership, in light of the draft bill's proposals for other media, which the CRCA felt were more deregulatory than the bill's radio proposals.

"We were surprised [by the CRCA's change [of position]," said Hooper. "We felt that to go down, as we would do in some local markets. from a minimum of seven owners to three was a huge liberalisation. alreadv more liberal than the US."

"It was entirely appropriate for the CRCA to change its but

position, we don't agree," said Stoller, who is cynical about the CRCA's explanation that it has changed its stance because the draft Communications Bill permits there to be just one owner of local commercial ITV television services in the UK. "Everyone knew that was coming," he said.

helpful."

Vivendi Universal was created in June 2000 when Messier merged Vivendi with Bronfman-owned Seagram, creating one of the world's largest media groups and operator of the leading record company. Messier said that he hoped that the group he had built over the past six years would not be sold piece by piece; but in an interview with French daily Le Figaro he said he could already hear the "predators howling".

"VU is going through a severe crisis," says a London-based analyst, "but there is still value in the assets. It'll be interesting to see what will happen to these assets. My guess is that the US operations will be under serious review."

One scenario favoured by analysts is that ownership of Vivendi Universal's US assets, including Universal Music, could shift back to North America. There is speculation that the Bronfman family, which owns 5.5% of Vivendi, and which took the lead in last week's board room mutiny asking for the removal of Messier, could try to gain control over VU's American businesses and hand them to VU's current head of US operations Barry Diller.

"Maybe the US assets will be spun off and this would not be bad," surmises an analyst. "We might see possibly a 'Universal Entertainment' stock in the near future "

One of Fourtou's priorities will be to restore confidence with financial institutions. Fourtou promised a "financial and strategic diagnosis" in under three months and promised that "in the next two weeks, all possible measures will be taken to improve the situation, particularly in terms of the short-term cash position."

Two of the main credit rating agencies-Moody's and Standard and Poor's-have downgraded VU's senior debt, because of "growing doubts' about previous expectations for debt reduction and VU's ability to refinance short-term debt. The downgrade also threatens VU's access to the bond market, making refinancing more difficult. "The fact is, Vivendi needs to find euros 6 billion by the end of the year to repay the debt," says an analyst. "Because VU is French, the French government will never let it go bust and banks will keep the company afloat-when any other banks would just walk away."

Analyst Henry-Stolz comments: "Asset disposals are becoming even more imperative. The problem is, VU can't wait around to get the best prices. Moreover, although some of these assets are outstanding in their particular fields, they are quite illiquid. In other words, they can't be sold very easily-for instance few candidates could afford euro 8 billion for Universal Music. Still, VU is unlikely to face a liquidity crisis in the short term."

Another analyst is less forgiving. "No one would have believed that Vivendi would have ended in this mess. And most of it comes down to Jean-Marie Messier."

Messier—"Mistakes have been made"

On July 2, outgoing Vivendi Universal chairman and CEO Jean-Marie Messier sent a memo to Vivendi Universal employees around the world. Enclosed is the full text of this memo.

"To restore peace and calm to Vivendi Universal, I have decided to step down. For me, it is a heartbreaking decision. I wanted to create this company. I built it because I believed in it. And I still do.

"I am leaving so that Vivendi Universal can continue.

"I leave with a heavy heart in the hope of easing the tensions between the members of our board of directors, and ending the constant suspicions of the market.

"Vivendi Universal must go on. Partial disposals are necessary but the core must be preserved: a major media and communications company, the only truly global and multicultural company. A company that has the most remarkable capacity to identify, publish and distribute talent, all forms of talent.

"Building a strategy is founded on three bases: vision, resources and time.

"Vivendi Universal's vision, first and foremost, is to be the world leader in content, whether in music, film and television, literature, education or games, while using our local distribution strengths and our ability to access the consumer directly. Vivendi Universal's primary strength is content creation and its outstanding relationship with artists, whether in music, film, publishing or games. This relationship, based on trust and respect, is our greatest asset, and everything must be done to preserve it.

"Human and financial resources: Vivendi Universal has the best operating teams in all of its businesses in both Europe and the United States. I'm not just saying this to flatter you. I'm saying it because I have seen the teams at work every day. Working with such talented people has brought me joy and pride, and no one can take that away from me.

"As for financial resources, Vivendi Universal started 2002 with heavy debt from five sources: Canal+ (euros 5 billion); the acquisition of Houghton Mifflin (euros 2.5 bn); telecoms outside France (euros 3.5 bn); the strengthening of our TV and film activities in the United States (EchoStar and USA Networks: euros 3.5 bn); and our stock buybacks (euros 3 bn).

'This level of debt is not the result of questionable transactions or hidden risks. It is the result of our decisions to develop Vivendi Universal's businesses, to develop your businesses. Maybe we went too quickly and too far. But we have already started to get back on track by accelerating our debt reduction plan.

"Building a strategy is also based on time. And time is an element which the widespread instability of media and communications stocks has deprived us of. At any rate, time is something I was not given. "My strongest wish is that my successor be given a little time and calm, and I sincerely hope that once the company is free of the pressure of its short-term debt, free of the differences between board members and free of the unrelenting media attacks on its chairman, the share price will return to the level it deserves.

"All my thoughts are with you, Vivendi Universal's employees. You know the quality of the work that is done every day in our businesses. It is for you that I wanted to fight right to the end.

"I also wish most fervently that the company's exceptional character can be maintained: its dual American-European dimension. I know all too well how difficult this is. But I also know that this is where our strength lies. The future of our world does not depend on technology but on culture in its widest sense. The fact that Vivendi Universal is the only truly multicultural company is, at the same time, a challenge and a source of greatness. Creating major productions with universal appeal, as well as local works or select works for targeted markets-no other content company can do that better than Vivendi Universal

"Mistakes have been made, but they can all be corrected; and that's what I had started to do. However, in my mind, the only mistake that could never be corrected, one from which there could be no return, would be to break up the company's core business.

"I am leaving Vivendi Universal with immense sadness. I am leav-ing Vivendi Universal so that Vivendi Universal can continue.

"Because Vivendi Universal is greater than any of us; because Vivendi Universal's vision deserves to succeed and it can succeed if everyone wants it to.

"To all those with whom I have had the great honour and pleasure of working, to those whom I have not met but whose passion and commitment to their daily work I know, I say thank you, I say continue, I say good luck.

"My very sincere wishes to each of vou.

Billboard editor Timothy White dies

MUSIC

by Melinda Newman

NEW YORK — Timothy White, editor in chief of Music & Media's sister publication Billboard, died suddenly of a heart attack June 27, just as Billboard was going to press. He was 50.

Timothy collapsed in an elevator in the Billboard offices in New York and was rushed to St Vincent's Hospital, where he passed away.

During his 11-year tenure at Billboard, Timothy showed a boundless passion for music and its creators. Adamant that the magazine should not simply cover the most famous artists, Timothy afforded room to new acts, often giving them equal footing with industry giants. He was a fearless advocate of artists' rights and often tackled controversial music business issues.

Born on January 25, 1952, in Paterson, New Jersey, Timothy was also the author of several books, including Catch A Fire-an award-winning biography of Bob Marley-and acclaimed biographies on the Beach Boys and James Taylor, as well as a collection of his Billboard essays, entitled Music to My Ears.

Among the many artists who expressed messages of sympathy, David Bowie, who learned about the news as he was touring in Europe, said: "All of us who knew Tim will remember him for his encyclopedic knowledge, his charm in a loutish age, and his honesty as a writer."

Billboard publisher Howard Lander says: "Besides possessing an inquisitive mind, a deep passion for music, and unmatched writing skills, Timothy led his life with the firm belief that a person had to be willing to stand up and be counted. I will forever be grateful for his companionship, courage, and friendship."

Timothy is survived by his wife Judy Garlan and his 10-year-old twin boys, Christopher and Alexander

Edited by Gareth Thomas & Emmanuel Legrand

Ousted Vivendi Universal chairman Jean-Marie Messier was nowhere to be seen at the July 3 board meeting which saw his resignation "accepted" by the board. Some reports suggest that he was flying to the US at the time. Messier is expected to hand back the keys to the $17 million apartment VU bought for him on Park Avenue, New York. He is also believed to be negotiating an exit package worth euros 18 million. Not bad for someone who has in the post slammed compensation payments for sacked bosses...

Def Jam Germany has closed down barely two years after its much-trumpetted launch in Berlin. According to internal sources at Universal, the closure of the label coincided with the parent company moving to the German capital on July 1. It is understood that most of the domestic roster will be dropped, while international signings will be transferred to the former Universal Records label, which has been renamed Urban/Def Jam.

UK labels' body BPI failed to elect a new chairman at last week's AGM, following the decision by long-standing chairman Rob Dickins not to seek a new mandate. Director general Andrew Yates has been appointed interim chairman of the body.

Jurgen Otterstein, the former MD of East West Germany, tells Hotline that he has decided to discontinue the worldwide management of Sarah Brightman, who he had managed for the past five years, in order to "fully concentrate on the future development of my label Tru Note". Tru Note, which is distributed by Edel, has just signed Chris Rea to a worldwide deal.

The RTL Group is continuing to make its mark on the German radio map. The group is currently in negotiations to take over shareholdings in a number of radio stations owned by German company AVE. The electronic media subsidiary of the Holtzbrinck group, AVE currently owns shares in 13 German stations in five states.

Wolf Urban, UM3 senior VP, has decided to resign from Universal Music International in order to pursue another career opportunity. UM3 is responsible for marketing the Universal Music Group's (UMI) music catalogue in the world outside North America. He will be succeeded by Bert Cloeckaert (pictured), who will assume the title of senior VP, commercial affairs and strategic marketing, at UMI.

After Capital and GWR, Chrysalis Radio is set to be the latest UK radio group to restructure-more details next week ...

And, still in the UK, TV station Channel 5 is to replace its weekly chart show countdown the Pepsi Chart Show (dropped last week because of poor ratings) with a new 30-minute weekly show titled Pop. The show, which will bow in August, will be broadcast from London's legendary Marquee Club, which is re-opening later this year.

SHOLA AMA

The essential album - Supersonic #1 Hip List (Blues & Soul)

"Roll out the red carpet the queen of sophistication is back with a very mature, well produced collection which is bang on!" Schooly - Capital Radio

"Good to see her back with one of the biggest, most anticipated tunes of the summer, watch this one fly." Ronnie Herel - Radio 1 Extra

"Shola is back with a set that is so good, you can do nothing but give her a standing ovation for making a comeback." Bigger, Blues & Soul/Hip Hop connection.

"The new Shola is lyrically incredible and musically amazing." Hanif, MTV The Lick/Programmer for Trevor Nelson MBE Rhythm Nation Radio 1.

"Shola's vocal performance and the lyrical content of this album takes it from the sublime to the ridiculously good. Without doubt one of the albums of the year and one of the most sort after albums around." Blues & Soul
