Madonna Gets It Together With Time Warner

by Robert Tilli & Miranda Watson

Synergy. It's not as titillating as Erotica, the title of Madonna's latest album, but that's what Time Warner and the artist hope will happen with their involvement in several media projects. The Time Warner union in 1989 was hailed as the creation of a multi-national, multi-media conglomerate to financially capitalize on the potential synergies that could be realized by an artist's involvement in records, films and books.

Three years later, Madonna is the first Time Warner artist to put the synergy idea to the test, with three projects produced under the Time Warner umbrella and with the imprint of her own multi-media company Maverick. Her seventh album, Erotica, is out on Sire, plus the controversial picture book Sex, published in Europe by Reed Books-owned Secker & Warburg and in the US by Time Warner; a film Body Of Evidence is scheduled for January 1993. (Strictly speaking, then, the synergy idea applies only in the US). Madonna's current film, A League Of Their Own, is out on Columbia Pictures.

W. Europe Music Sales Outpace Global Market

by Steve Wonsiewicz

Record companies in western Europe escaped the worst of the 1991 recession which affected the music industry worldwide. Total unit sales of recorded music in western Europe slipped 3.2% last year to 825 million records worth a total of US$10.4 billion at retail, an 11.3% gain in revenues, according to the latest figures from the International Federation of the Phonographic Industry (IFPI). That's compared to a 9.7% drop worldwide to 2.6 billion units worth US$25.4 billion, a 5.5% increase in revenue. In the US, unit sales fell 7.2% to 795 million worth US$7.8 billion, an increase of 3.9%.

Total album sales in western Europe dipped 1.2% to 701.1 million units, while global sales fell 10.3% to 2.3 billion units; US sales dropped 7.2% to 698.2 million units. It's the first time that western European album sales have been higher than the US.

Singles sales continued to decline, with unit shipments down 13.4% to 123.9 million. Globally, singles fell 5.5% to 322.2 million units, while in the US they slumped 16.7% to 96.7 million.

Comments IFPI. "Although singles will continue to play a major role as a promotional tool for the record companies, their commercial viability is limited to (continues on page 25)

Gaylord Starts European Country Music Cable Channel

by Steve Wonsiewicz

US country music powerhouse Gaylord Entertainment Company (GEC) is set to launch CMT Europe, a new cable network on October 19, carrying country programming specifically tailored for Europe.

CMT Europe will debut its 24-hour service at the European Cable Communications '92 convention in London on October 19-21. GEC says the expected total investment in the service over a five-year period will be no more than US$20 million.

GEC owns both TNN (The Nashville Network) (56.8 US million cable households) and 67% of CMT (Country Music Television) (16 million households), as well as country music publisher Acuff-Rose, the Opryland theme park and several broadcast and cable TV properties.

Overseeing day-to-day management will be CMT president David Hall and Group W. Satellite Communications senior vice president, sales and marketing, Lloyd Werner. GEC is also in the final stages of teaming up with UK cable/satellite pro- (continues on page 25)

AIRC, PPL Tribunal Adjourned

The final volleys have been fired in the lengthy bitter dispute over broadcast royalties between the UK record companies and commercial radio. Both sides presented their final submissions to the copyright tribunals in London October 8-12.

The tribunal, which has heard more than five weeks of evidence and cross-examination since June 29, adjourned proceedings until November 2, when it will discuss procedural matters with the council. However, those discussions will not have a direct impact on the tribunal's decision, which is expected some time before Christmas. That's according to Sydney Kentridge, QC for the PPL collecting society representing the record companies.

In his closing remarks, he commented that the AIRC's (representing the radio stations) claim that broadcast royalties are nothing but a windfall profit, (continues on page 25)

The story of YELLO is a truly great story. Someone ought to make a film out of it. It's a story of heroes and thieves, machines and madness, dollars and divas, laughter and absurdity. It has resonance, warmth and originality. It has a triumph-against-the-odds angle. It has an existential undercurrent. It's one of the best stories in popular music.

The stars of this living narrative Dieter Meier and Boris Blank, have in the last fourteen years, performed with a consistent inventive flare and obsessive integrity that sets them apart from pop's fleeting trash parade. Taking themselves lightly, they have become heavyweights. Shunning fashion, they have sprinted ahead of musical style. This controlled extravagance, this focussed insanity, this roaming insularity that has been their dance from the beginning, has cast crazy shadows over the rest of the pop landscape.

The story of YELLO, however, is not just the story of Dieter and Boris. The supporting cast is formidable. There are real life cameos from Shirley Bassey, Billy Mackenzie, The Residents, Thierry Mugler, Afrikaa Bambaata, John Hughes and Jean Paul Goude. The fantasy sequences have to be dreamed to be believed. Within the YELLO story there are glimpses of a thousand sub-plots where double-dealing vamps, possessed gamblers, crazed race track drivers, macho adventures, bar room philosophers, exotic belly dancers, uptown hookers and crestfallen crooners are caught in the freeze-frame of Dieter's fevered imagination, tussling with fear and desire. It's a riproaring, romping tale this YELLO yarn.

It's a tale which jump-cuts from authentic locations in Switzerland, England, Cuba, Poland and The United States, to imagined encounters in far flung corners of the globe, from Katmandu to the Amazon jungle. It's an adventure story. A story of two musical explorers, neither of whom had the musical training to sit in with a string quartet or jam with a jazz trio, who turned their limitations into something new and splendid. Glamour sits next to childlike naivety in this story. Art gets into a conversation with golf. And it's a story that can afford to be told and re-told, if for no other reason than the fact that the soundtrack, YELLO's soundtrack for their own zig-zagging progress, is a score that refuses to fade. There are some damn fine car chases too.

The opening scenes go like this. In 1979 Dieter Meier is a resident of Zurich. The son of a banker, Dieter has at one time or another been a green haired performance artist, a law student moonlighting as a professional gambler, an experimental film maker, an essayist, a member of the Swiss National Golf Team and a dadaistic vocal noise-maker with a couple of singles to his name, released through the small label, Periphery Perfume. At the same time Boris Blank, a truck driver and former TV repair man, whose obsession with experimental sound recording has come to the attention of Periphery Perfume, is lurking in the back streets of Zurich, filling a trunk with one chaos-tech sound-sculpture tape per day. A meeting between this strange pair is suggested.

By Roger Morton

«GOLDRUSH»

One Saturday afternoon in the fall, Dieter walks into Boris's tiny flat, stands amongst the rubble of two cassette recorders, primitive synthesisers and broken and rusty instruments, and convinces a skeptical Boris to collaborate on a musical piece. It is thirty minutes long and called "Dead Cat" because the fictional New York character that Dieter invents for the piece finds an existential epiphany in the sight of a dead cat in the street. This is the first of a long line of bizarre characters who will later stroll or drive or tango through YELLO's work.

Ten days later Dieter and Boris perform the piece at the Forum cinema in Zurich, with Dieter standing in front of the screen, and Boris and his chaos of noise apparatus hiding in the orchestra pit. "People were shocked and surprised," recalls Dieter. "But everyone felt there was something different and original happening. It was not like people carried us out on their shoulders, but it was a very good mood. And we both knew that we had given birth to something that was important. We celebrated, and I have never been more drunk, and Boris too, than this very evening."

This is the start of YELLO's story, a splash of originality on the canvas of boredom. A decade later and some million units down the line, this curious pair from the back woods of pop culture would be sitting in front of international journalists responding to earnest questions about how YELLO feel to have influenced the development of rap music, electronic pop, acid house, new beat, ambient music and techno. A decade later they would be invited to part with thousands of dollars to purchase an American made CD collection of the latest sound textures, a large part of which had been sampled from YELLO records. A decade later television channels around the world would flicker with images shaped and styled by YELLO's groundbreaking pop video productions. The ripples from YELLO's fourteen years of making a splash, spread out like this...

A first release "I.T.Splash" had been and gone. Carlos Peron, a fellow found sound enthusiast, who Boris had met packing a microphone at a car-crushing plant, was in on the plot. Boris flies to San Francisco and clinches a deal with Ralph Records, a front for the much respected eyeball rockers The Residents. Based on the principle that if YELLO can come up with a tape with more music and less hiss than Boris's demo, then Ralph would release it, the first YELLO album is issued in 1980. Titled "Solid Pleasure", the album is a shadowplay of dance polyrhythms, anxious synthesiser pulses, and spoken, sung and atmospherically implied snapshots of life in the global urban jungle. It bristles with drama, grandeur, tension and weirdness, whisking you from a spy thriller setting to a carnival backdrop and on to outer space like a hallucinatory limousine ride through Universal Studios with the windows down and a Latin American driver tapping out bongo rhythms on the wheel. It is a new thing this YELLO thing. Critically acclaimed for its innovation, "Solid Pleasure" begins the process of defining and re-defining an exotic disco world that is still being expanded by YELLO today.

At first sight, the next twist in the plot looks like a strange one. The phone goes in Dieter's Zurich home. A friend tells him that a single from the album, "Bostich", is getting heavy rotation airplay on New York's black dance station WBLS. "Bostich" has become a club hit in New York and London, and rap pioneer Afrikaa Bambaata is using it as a basis for his early rap scratch mixes. Suddenly YELLO are a name to drop in the funkiest of circles. It looked strange at the time, but in retrospect YELLO's satellite influence on the forefront of dance music, based in Boris's prescient drum machine creativity and Dieter's phonetic looseness, makes perfect sense. Later, "Bostich" is used in influential video director Jean Paul Goude's Lee Cooper jeans advert, establishing a link with commercial sales campaigns which has kept YELLO on TV screens up to today. Sometimes advertisers don't even think to ask permission first.

"When I hear one of Boris's pieces I'm immediately inspired very visually," says Dieter. "For me it's like when you're looking for a hero for a story you're writing, and as soon as you put on his music the hero comes through the door." Perhaps this is why Dieter's videos for YELLO songs are such a success. Perhaps it's why his early video for "Pinball Cha Cha", shot as all of them have been on 16mm with Dieter and Boris acting most of the time their parts in front of a backscreen projection, is chosen as one of the few to be featured in the Museum Of Modern Art's Music Video Exhibition in 1985. This early seal of approval from the art curators is the first of a long list of critical plaudits handed out to Dieter for his video work, which from "The Evening's Young" (1981) through "Bostich" (1984), "Desire" (Midem Music Video Award, Cannes 1986) up to "The Race" (Diamond Award for Special Effects, Brussels 1988 and World Music Award, Monte Carlo 1990) has influenced countless directors and helped to define the possibilities of the form. While their videos are opening eyes in the pop promo world, YELLO release a second album, "Claro Que Si" an elegant but unpredictable set of syncopated, cosmopolitan novelettes in sound (including "Pinball Cha Cha"). And YELLO dip a warm toe into the icy waters of the beau-monde, providing the soundtracks for Thierry Mugler ("She's Got A Gun") and Azzedine Alaïa fashion shows in Paris and New York.

As synth pop duos with short life teen appeal sprout in the now technologically fertile soil of Europe, YELLO continue on their scenically superior path of enforced deviancy. They follow nobody's noses but their own. "Because we were living in the musical colonies of continental Europe, and within that in the very provincial situation of Switzerland, we had absolutely nothing to lose," explains Dieter. "Had we been in England, maybe we would have tried to become part of a fashion, but in Switzerland we could just make fools of ourselves and nobody would care anyhow." If YELLO are pop fools, it's by now becoming increasingly clear that they are fools of the idiot savant variety.

With his first full length movie "Jetzt Und Alles" completed and delivered up to the international film festival circuit, Dieter relocates to New York, jetting back to Zurich whenever possible to bring a gust of anarchy to Boris's precision studio work. From the "cable salad" of their gradually updated studio, a third YELLO album emerges in 1983, titled "You Gotta Say Yes To Another Excess". A collection of awesome dreamscape and mischevious dance beats set in YELLO's mysterious, perfumed, other-time, other-place (The Fifties? The movies? The asylum?) "You Gotta Say Yes To Another Excess" spawns two singles. The first "I Love You", complete with Dieter's video of a terrified Boris in the passenger seat of a speeding Alfa Spider sports car, breaks into the British charts. The second, "Lost Again", has the same impact in Germany.

By now it is impossible to dismiss YELLO as mere eccentrics. They make a rare live appearance at The Roxy in front of three thousand mostly black and Hispanic New Yorkers who add their raving approval to the polite applause of theorising critics. A "Live At The Roxy" EP is issued and YELLO are confirmed at that almost unique phenomenon, a pop group who justify intellectual cross-referencing with Dennis Hopper, Raymond Chandler of El Greco, and who also make you want to dance.

In 1985 YELLO issue their most vivid album so far. Around the flesh metronome percussion, Boris bulds exquisitely haunted melodies and Dieter wraps over-ripe vocal evocations. The three singles from "Stella" establish YELLO as international hit makers. "Vicious Games" features a guest vocal from Rush Winters. "Desire" is accompanied by a video which Dieter shoots in Havana, Cuba. Somehow the song drifts west and turns up as part of the soundtrack to an edition of designer cop TV show "Miami Vice". The luxuriant "Oh Yeah" proves itself to be uniquely adaptable, climbing the U.S. charts, accompanying American Football on TV, slotting into the soundtrack of two Hollywood movies, John Hughes' "Ferris Bueller's Day Off", and the Michael J. Fox feature "The Secret Of My Success" and underscoring major commercials for chocolate and motorcars.

Commercial success and success with commercials would have knocked less committed voyagers off course. Dieter, however, is already well acquainted with the ritzier hotel bathrooms of the world's perfume capitals, and Boris is content to remain in his studio inventing names for the thousands of new sounds he's patented. Their fourth YELLO album proper "One Second" follows hard on the heels of a deluxe re-mix compilation "1980-85: The New Mix In One Go". Under the polished pleasuredome of "One Second's" aural architectura, the silvery tones of ex-Associates singer Billy Mackenzie are perfectly matched to Boris' shimmering soundtracks, while in a different corner Dieter lobs absurdist spammers and travalogue spice into the works. He pays tribute to Charlie Chaplin in the single "Goldrush", he lays out "Santiago" in Afro Cuban dialect. He calls one song "Si Senor The Hairy Grill". Delicious madness all round. One of the album's finest moment, however, comes with Shirley Bassey's succulent performance on "The Rhythm Divine", a track specially composed for her by Dieter and Boris, which she records in their Zurich studio in under forty minutes. Arriving an hour late for the session, Dieter misses the entire thing.

As the acid house explosion takes place in Britain, and London DJs dig out mid-Eighties YELLO tracks to play alongside current dance from Chicago, Boris and Dieter find themselves accidentally ahead of the game once more. In a typically bizarre YELLO-esque chain of events an unregarded studio piece is offered by Dieter to a pair of magician friends to use in their performance at the Magicians World Championship in New York. The conjuring team of Tempest and Cottet win at the Waldorf Astoria, and the music proves so popular that in the summer of '88 YELLO re-work it into a single. Titled "The Race" it accelerates into the top five internationally, and Boris and Dieter are simultaneously presented with their biggest hit to date and saddled with the misconception that they are nouveau dancefloor converts. "We were acid house ten years ago!" Dieter screams at a radio interviewer.

The momentum of "The Race" propels YELLO into the new decade in a blurr of activity. 1988's album of global image collisions "Flag" clocks up a million sales, unleashing "Tied Up" and "Of Course I'm Lying" as singles along the way. Dieter repairs to Poland to wrestle with his unruly pet gorilla - the filming of his major movie project "Snowball", "a neo-expressionist baroque opera kind of thing" still taking shape from around four hundred thousand feet of celluloid. Boris meanwhile turns up the heat in his Swiss sound kitchen to tenderise the carnival moods and stirring vistas that are eventually dished up as YELLO's most recent album, "Baby".

As the YELLO story wheelspins into the future, the heroes are still living out a larger than life script. Their 1991 single "Rubberbandman" saw Dieter filling the accompanying video with the products of his wife's silk factory. 1992's "Jungle Bill" has been tossed into the crocodile jaws of the UK's foremost dance remixer, Andrew Weatherall, running the risk of a mass out-break of YELLO popularity at la discotheque all over again. Boris has been working on Hollywood soundtracks as he already did on "Ford Fairlane" and "Nuns on the Run". Dieter has just completed his first Hollywood feature film production, "M.M.", a story of a young man's obsession with the death of Marilyn Monroe. And of course, there's a new album, "Trouble" on the way.

The beauty of this unfinished story of YELLO is that there are so many strands and twists, ripples, red herrings and Rosebuds, that everyone who hears it comes away with a different version. YELLO are "a gorgeous repository of useless mischief and absolutely irrelevant anarchy", if you like. Or they are "like inhabiting the collective consciousness of the Old World aristocracy, all its fetishes and facades and arbitrary codes". Or maybe they're "a vast, beautiful isolation chamber", or "Europe's most influential makers of soundtracks for nonexistent films". Then again if you believe the principle actor in the drama, Dieter, they are "Music for the jungle of the 20th Century."

What is certain, is that from discos to movie theatres, from Italy to the Ivory Coast, from The Art of Noise to The Pet Shop Boys, echoes of YELLO can be heard loud and clearly. As a whole new generation discovers today's YELLO and their backcatalogue consequently becomes more and more in demand the "Essential Yello" album gathers together most of the highlights of the YELLO story including previously deleted singles and new single versions of "Jungle Bill" and "The Rhythm Divine" and displays them in one vinyl cassette or CD gallery for the first time. Accompanied by a collection of the best of their videos the full effect of YELLO can now be felt more powerfully than ever.

"People ask me how do you feel that you've influenced so many other bands or musical directions," says Dieter. "People say that we have ideas stolen from us and commercialised. And I always say that it's a very good sign when people steal from you. I think it's a very bad sign when nobody steals from you!" "Maybe if a certain musical trend becomes common knowledge, then people listen to the original too. It's learning about YELLO's past through today's fashion, and this is also the reason why we released the "Essential Yello" album. Because it's not just a compilation from someone who had a few hits, it's more like an exhibition of fourteen years of our work, and I hope that a lot of people realise that these boys have initiated something, and are not the epigones of something. And this is a bit our pride."

Without the story of YELLO, the story of pop would have been another story entirely.

Negre Unveils New Barclay, Island Structure

by Emmanuel Legrand

FRANCE Now that the first shock waves are over, the effects of the recent reunion of PolyGram's Barclay label with Island, announced on August 24, are beginning to show. Barclay MD Pascal Negre, now also president of Island France since the dismissal of former president Jean-Pierre Weiller, has unveiled the new structure of the combined companies, which will have turnover of over Ffr300 million (app. US$58 million) and a market share close to 8%. Negre also hopes to achieve an average of eight to 10 positions in the singles and album charts.

Negre says he has decided to keep the artistic and marketing departments of both labels separate, but both labels will use the same promotion team.

The internal structure of the two labels has also been redesigned. "I decided to tear down the walls between A&R and marketing staffers," he says. At Barclay and Island, there will be project managers who work with artists at the early stage of the projects, from the demo tape to the final delivery, the marketing plan, etc. They will be assisted by a marketing and an A&R manager."

Marketing at Barclay will be handled by Paul Bassi, also in charge of promotion, while Marc Thonon from Virgin Music Publishing is the new A&R director. Four project managers will report to them. Former RCA label manager Eric Vandeparter is international manager. Meanwhile, Olivier Caillart, former international manager at Barclay, switched to Island as marketing manager; Negre says he will take over the A&R direction of Island. Some feared that Island's local roster (six acts to date) would suffer from the new set-up, but, says Negre, "Island artists will stay with Island."

Island operations have been relocated to an office next door to Barclay's. Five people out of the 11 Island staffers will remain, including Olivier Bas (press and promotion) and Pascal Bussy (marketing). Apart from Weiller, other members of the staff that will not be part of the new structure are Jean Michel Canitrot and his assistant Jérôme Favjer in charge of FM promotion and Bruno Philippart (AM radio, TV promotion).

Negre prefers to call the move a "union," refusing to use the term merger as the two companies will remain legally separate. Says Negre, "Barclay is a division of PolyGram France. Island is an independent company whose only shareholder is PolyGram. And that is how it will remain."

Island's decision to move under the Barclay umbrella is logical, he says. "Both labels have a long history and a strong image. Island has a very consistent international catalogue, while Barclay has developed a solid local roster. Both labels have an artistic policy based on risk-taking, a will to build up catalogue and give time to the artists to develop. Our idea was that the union could benefit both of them and give us greater power on the market."

Island had 1991 turnover of Ffr133 million (against Ffr44 million in 1989 and Ffr94 million in 1990) and an operational profit of Ffr16 million. It also has one of the highest earnings per capita of all the PolyGram labels in France.

SNEP Re-enters Chart Deal With Top No. 1

by Miranda Watson

FRANCE Eight months after French record industry organization SNEP ceased its deal with French broadcaster Europe 1 subsidiary Top No. 1, which operates the French single and album charts, SNEP has announced this week that a new deal has been struck.

SNEP's move follows the implementation of a series of changes by Top No. 1 to the much-criticized chart system in France, which was thought to be too slow, inaccurate and open to bias. Funded by Europe 1 and pay-TV network Canal-Plus, a scanning system in retail stores was introduced in May to allow a quick and accurate analysis of record sales, with some 100 stores now included on the panel. Data can now be processed and analyzed almost instantly. Polling company IPSOS is in charge of collecting data from the smaller stores while Nielsen handles the super.

SNEP GM Bertrand Delcros says, "SNEP approached Top No. 1 a long time ago, saying that it was unhappy with the chart system and when Top No. 1 failed to make any improvements we withdrew our support. Top No. 1 came up with propositions that we liked in May. Now the scanning system has been implemented in retail stores I can say we are very pleased with it.

Virgin Int'l MD Webster Retires; Says Company Set-Up Under Review

by Mike McGeever

UK Jon Webster, who recently announced his resignation as Virgin International MD, says the company is looking at its international framework with the possibility of making changes, which could come in the near future.

Jon Webster

"We are looking at the whole structure at the moment," he says. "In the changing world, we are looking at the entire way we do international. We are looking at it. We are not saying it is wrong." Webster did not elaborate on what those changes might be if they occur. It is not known if a replacement will be appointed by the time Webster leaves at the end of the year.

His decision to leave Virgin was based on him wanting to spend more time with his five-month-old son and partner Deborah Clancey, an international label manager at Virgin. "I've had enough," he says. "I want to work when I want to, not when I'm told to work." Although he is leaving Virgin, Webster plans to maintain a high profile in the industry working as a freelance consultant with Clancey. "I have a few irons in the fire, some of which I think will involve Virgin," he says.

Webster started at Virgin Retail in 1975, and moved to Virgin records in 1981, where he was named as sales and marketing manager the following year. In 1983, he was promoted to general manager, and named as a director of the company. In 1985 he became head of international, and MD of Virgin International in 1991, prior to Virgin's sale to EMI in March 1992.

ITALY: Audiradio's Hedging Leaves Radio Guessing

Uncertainty about plans by Italy's official ratings company Audiradio to conduct its annual radio survey has left station sales reps, media buyers and label promotion execs to ponder the question: How do I count the number of listeners? One step was taken by Italian local radio group AER, whose secretary Carlo Di Giacomo visited French ratings company Mediametrie about working in the country.

FRANCE: Lion To Rock No More

The Centre D'Information du Rock (CIR), an organization created six years ago to help the music industry, and which also has a vast publishing activity, is going through some changes. CIR co-founder Bruno Lion, assistant of Minister of Culture Jack Lang on popular music matters, will not to seek another term as president. Replacing him is Jean Davoust, president of Warner-Chappell France, effective January 1. Lion says his move was motivated by a will to be "more business oriented." Lion says the CIR was looking for a manager that had not lost track with the artistic community and that wasn't from a record company.

IRELAND: National Licence Applications By January?

A call-up of interested applicants for the national radio franchise in Ireland could take place in January, says Michael O'Keefe, chief executive of broadcast regulatory agency the IRTC. The IRTC is first awaiting the details of a new Broadcasting Bill. That Bill is expected to pass by year-end, allowing the call-up of applicants in January. The new franchise will replace Century Radio, which held the licence for only a short time before going bankrupt.

PORTUGAL: Radio Energy Sponsors Concert First

EHR Radio Energy/Lisbon scored another concert coup a couple of weeks ago as the official radio station for Portuguese rock group GNR had a sold-out performance at the 40,000-seat Alvalade Stadium in the capital. The band, not to be confused with Guns N' Roses, was the first homegrown band to sell out the venue, which was the site of performances this year by, among others, Michael Jackson, Genesis and Elton John.

Warner Music Leads Radio Campaign Pack In Belgium

by Marc Maes

BENELUX Year-end advertising campaigns are heating up, especially when it comes to promoting new releases or hit-compilation albums, and Warner Music is adding three new outlets to promote product. Marketing manager Francois De Kock has campaigns for album releases by Madonna, R.E.M., Chris Rea and the Beverly Hills 90210 soundtrack which he is promoting via Radio Donna, Radio Contact and RTL UKW in Luxembourg.

Comments De Kock, "I must admit that today, more than in the past, the French-language stations of the Radio Contact network have excellent ratings and are really covering the target audience we need," adding that he also opted for RTL UKW because the station offers good results on the Luxembourg territory, broadcasting in Letzebourgish. "And Radio Donna, the youngest BRTN channel, has become the ideal complement to Studio Brussel," he says.

About two years ago, the company decided to concentrate on radio advertising with the country's French and Flemish-language pubcasters Radio 21 and Studio Brussel.

Says De Kock, "If we talk advertising, we have never been convinced of the impact of print on sales figures. TV has become far too expensive for companies like ours concentrating on fast-selling product like CDs. That leaves radio as the ideal medium to sell audio at a reasonable cost."

At Bfr4.6 million (app. US$148,000) at presstime, Warner Music had spent more than three times than its nearest competitor, PolyGram (Bfr.2.9 million), on radio. In third place was AMC at Bfr2.7 million, followed by EMI, at Bfr1.4 million. A spokesperson at RMB (Régie Média Belge—the advertising company for the French language RTBF's radio channels) says only four companies are spending substantial amounts on commercial radio advertising: Warner Music, PolyGram, AMC and EMI. This has been confirmed by VAR (Vlaamse Audiovisuele Regie), the advertising company for the BRTN radio). Besides this various stations have set up collaboration deals with the record industry, such as Radio Donna's Motown backcatalogue campaign (M&M, October 10). Meanwhile, Radio 2's "Hitriders" show has volume 5 and 6 of the "Hitriders' Compilation" with Ariola Express, and Radio 21 has just released the "21 Flower Power" with Sony Music on similar conditions.

Digicable Plans To Extend Its Digital Audio Service

BENELUX One year after a first experiment with radio digital audio service (DAS) via cable in Hoogvliet (near Rotterdam), Holland, Digicable Holding is preparing to extend the pay audio service to a broader Benelux audience.

Digicable Holding introduced DAS to some 400 households on an experimental basis in November last year. The operation was set up in close collaboration with cable operator Caseman, local cable company NKM and the Dutch PTT.

Says Digicable Holding founder MD Ad Ossendrijver, "Initially, we offered 10 different music formats to the subscribers of the service. We asked them to fill out inquiry forms on a monthly basis which now serves as a valuable base of information on listening habits, etc."

Ossendrijver says Digicable holding is supplying an "audio-entertainment service" for which cable subscribers are charged extra—around Dfl20 (app. US$12 per month) for the programme and a digital tuner.

"We will be offering a 30-channel, commercial-free programme with such different formats as jazz (two channels), country (two channels), classical (three), rock (five), latin and blues. The programme will also be strictly formatted," says Ossendrijver. Programmes are broadcast in CD quality on a no-speech basis.

Digicable is using digital audio technology developed by US-based International Cablecasting Technologies (ICT) and manufactured by hardware company Scientific Atlanta. Digicable is also collaborating with ICT on the programming side of the project.

Following the introduction on other cable networks in Holland, Ossendrijver plans to expand to Belgium possibly before the end of the year, after which he foresees a wide-scale introduction on the whole Benelux territory.

The fact that some of the 30 channels can be used for local product is welcomed by Antwerp-based Integan Cablenetwork's Eddy Beyltsjens. Integan has always played a pioneering role in introducing new assets to the cable network (they introduced Belgium's first regional interactive teletext service over a year ago) and according to Beyltsjens, they are "very interested, and eagerly waiting to run tests and adapt technology to introduce DAS here." MM

BMG Starts Latin Marketing Dept.

by Anna Marie De La Fuente

SPAIN BMG/Ariola has created a new Latin American marketing department as part of an internal shake-up which also involved the separation of local A&R into two sections. Former RCA director Lydia Fernandez will be taking over as marketing director of the new department.

"I decided I wanted a move," comments Fernandez, "and BMG President Ramon Segura offered me this new post, which I see as an exciting new challenge. I will be responsible for marketing all BMG product in Latin America."

MD Jose Maria Camara has also split the local A&R department into separate RCA and Ariola local offices. The former is still vacant, while Manuel Cubedo takes over the Ariola arm. Meanwhile, Alvaro de Torres takes over from Fernandez as RCA director. De Torres previously ran the combined local A&R offices.

Alberto Aza is the new RCA Spain label manager, while Jose Mateos remains Ariola label manager.

BMG's biggest Spanish act is Mecano, the country's most successful pop group over the past decade.

Radio Authority Cuts 1993 Licence Fees

by Mike McGeever

UK The Radio Authority is cutting back radio licence fees. The decision, effective immediately, comes as a result of the increase in the number of new independent radio stations coupled with new licences scheduled to be allocated over the next few years. The radio industry is set to save about £900,000 (app. US$450,000), according to Gregory Watson, the Authority's deputy head of finances.

The Authority's CE Peter Baldwin explains, "We can make these reductions because we have met our initial development targets and have maintained tight financial control." As the Authority is a non-profit concern it only operates to cover its costs. The licence fees for 1994 will be reviewed about this time next year. The greatest savings will be realized by the national franchises and larger metro area stations such as Capital Radio in London, while small local broadcasters will be unaffected.

Classic FM's licence fee for 1993 will be slashed 40% to £600,000. Virgin/TV-am's classic rock national franchise scheduled to go on air next Spring will pay £400,000 rather than the current £650,000. Capital Radio's tariff reduction of 16% translates into £43,000 savings for its two London services.

The fee reduction is welcome news for stations hard hit by the recession, and for applicants for large franchises such as the five "regional" services in the process of being advertised.

Meanwhile, the Authority has reduced the application fee 75% to £250 for satellite services, while existing services will pay £1,320—a 12% reduction for 1993.

Norwegian Private Radio Shapes Up For The Future

by Kai Roger Ottesen

NORWAY The tenth anniversary of Norwegian private radio tops the agenda at the Local Radio Association, (LRA) now headed by MD Lars Bruusgaard, who has been appointed to serve private stations' interests. There are several topics under discussion for the future: the introduction of 50% syndicated programming, more comprehensive frequencies, removal of the 5% radio ad. tax, stronger signals and more favourable agreements with music royalty organizations.

which runs the risk of losing listeners."

Radio 1/Oslo (EHR), the largest private commercial station in Norway, also celebrates its 10-year anniversary this year. The station, which employs 25 staff, is financially healthy, says PD Leslie Goldsack. "We have continuously worked on improving our product, and we haven't spent more money than we have earned."

Lars Bruusgaard

The station also closely uses music tests and panel research.

Record company executives agree that stations have improved since the launch in 1982. Says Mega Records MD Nina Th. Lauritzen, "Stations have dropped many of the cheaper ideas. On the other hand, there are too many stations in this country and too many of them sound alike. Stations must find their own profile, because there is neither enough advertising nor listeners." Adds Sonet Grammofon promotion manager/ assistant label manager Chris Kirkemyr, "I think it is starting to change. Stations have begun to air more rock music, not only the commercial chart-toppers. They have also started to do more interviews."

PolyGram Records head of radio promotion Kristin Gulbrandsen comments, "I spend more time with radio on artist interviews, and if we don't have any time available for radio, we produce an interview CD or cassette. [When private radio was launched] stations usually played what the DJs liked, but now they try to aim at special audiences. It's not so easy to influence them any more. However, I take that as a challenge."

Radio Oslo presenter Harald

"Bang Bang" thinks private radio has become more professional. "A sedate organization like [publisher] NRK had to do something because of the competition we give them. A deceptive number of stations are playing soft music, to offend as few listeners as possible. Radio Oslo can play Nirvana at 12:30, while others have to wait until 00:30."

AC-station Radio VLR/Vestnes head of music Roar Lynum cites feed-back to record companies as a reason for receiving a good amount of product from labels. Many Norwegian stations can't afford to buy records and are therefore dependent on free copies from record companies. Adds Lynum, "People have realized that one has to work hard to achieve success."

SPANISH SUCCESS FOR TUBULAR BELLS 2 — Spanish EHR station Cadena 100 PD Rafael Revert (l) handed Mike Oldfield a platinum award recently for sales of "Tubular Bells 2," which has been topping the sales charts for the past four weeks in Spain. Units sales had reached 150,000 units at presstime. Cadena 100 secured the exclusive line broadcasting rights in Spain for Tubular Bells 2 official presentation/world premiere in Edinburgh on September 1.

BMG Reshuffles Promo Team

by Mark Maes

BELGIUM BMG Ariola Belgium head of promotions Inge Brinkman has made some changes to her promotions team following the departure of promotions manager Wim Vandebroek to become national radio promo manager with Sony Music Belgium.

"We wanted to change it for some time," comments Brinkman. "Until now, we had our promotion staff split up according to the labels we were dealing with. I'm convinced it will work out even better if we have just one person handling all the levels for one specific medium."

Apart from the GRP label, which continues to be handled by label manager Ronny Dashedot, the new line-up is as follows:

■ Liane Steyaert - French,

Flemish radio stations.

■ Véronique Soetaert - Flemish printed media.

■ Brigitte Verbruggen - Flemish TV.

■ Valérie Dumont - French printed media and TV.

■ Véronique Doods - promo assistant (temporarily replaced by Kathelijne van den Broeck).

■ Inge Brinkman - head of promo.

Radio Italia SMI Comes Out Top In Datamedia Survey

by David Stansfield

ITALY National music-only station Radio Italia Solo Musica Italiana is the undisputed leader in Italy's private radio sector, according to the latest Datamedia survey, confirming the successful results revealed in the annual Audiradio listeners survey earlier this year, when the station, with an average 1.69 million daily listeners, toppled long-time ratings leader EHR network Rete 105.

MD Fillippo Broglia plays down the victory, however. "We're pleased to be the lead station of course," he comments. "But it's not all about winning. Sometimes you gain listeners and sometimes you lose them. Whatever the results, we still continue to start early in the morning and work like crazy. I believe, however, that listeners have understood the spirit in which we work, and that's very satisfying."

A total of 20 local and national stations subscribe to Datamedia and company president Luigi Drespi is keen to stress the difference between his firm and Audiradio, whose annual statistics are considered official by stations and the music industry. Audiradio, backed by advertising associations, provides stations with audience figures to present to potential advertising clients, he says. "Datamedia does not want to be considered the official research body for this purpose. We are a commercial organization and stations are free to choose whether or not to subscribe to our surveys. Our research is designed principally to help stations with programming."

duced new methodology—the first of its kind on the domestic market. As well as providing stations with 15 minutes every hour of listeners figures and audience socio-demographics, it now offers statistics on audience taste/ pleasure, profile (how well the station is known), how long listeners stay tuned to a station and average audience figures for each minute.

Radio Italia SMI scored 7.03 out of 10 on the audience pleasure scale and 8.15 for station profile. Its daily audience of 3.452 million stays with the station for an average 28 minutes and 67,000 listeners tune in each minute. In second place private EHR network Rete 105 scored 5.98, with an audience of 3,039 million staying tuned for an average 23 minutes with 49,000 listeners a minute.

Manchester market leader Piccadilly Radio (PR), with EHR Key 103 FM and Piccadilly Gold AM, is currently enjoying its highest listenership for more than a decade. The combined services have a 27% share of the market (FM 12%, AM 15%), according to the last major survey JICRAR 2 1992. The two stations are neck and neck for second position ranking behind BBC Radio 1, and both reach 1.2 million listeners over a four-week period.

PR's deputy programme director Keith Pringle was faced with declining audience figures when he took the job in August 1990. He explains that the problems arose when the station split frequencies in 1988. "It was past the PR heyday. When Key 103 was relaunched on FM there was a massive switch-off. Piccadilly Radio is well-known in the area, but Key 103 is not nearly so well-known. There was a nasty taste in the mouth of some people who tried Key 103 in the past and haven't retried it since the changes were made."

Pringle says the gold service audience rose through word of mouth. Key 103 had to be shouted from the roof tops. The FM service adopted a general positioning statement of "the most music" through Filmhouse in Nashville and used TV advertising to drive the point home. PR also co-promoted with companies, something its main competitor, Radio 1, was not allowed to do. A way to bring people back to PR was to convince people the two stations were not local stations with music, but rather music stations that are local. "Before I came there was still a lot of feature items throughout the day. It sounded old-fashioned and was difficult to listen to," Pringle explains, adding, "It was stop-start radio."

Pringle and programme director Mark Story initiated a policy of "forward progression" sometimes referred to in the US as the A format. "The idea is to keep the music rolling. You don't talk over the back of a record. You talk over the intro of the next record."

Meanwhile, Pringle thinks it is important to have a strong relationship with the record companies. "It is a two-way street. You can't expect to ask them for a trip abroad to see an act if for the last six months you refused to take pluggers' calls or didn't even allow them through the front door. From a record company's point of view, I don't think they will justify good plugging to get a record on the playlist. I think both sides are realistic. They could do much more for radio in other ways, so it is useful having the pluggers around."

Pringle began his career in 1981 as a technical operator at Metro Radio/Newcastle. In 1983 he moved to Capital Radio/London as senior producer, responsible for the "Chris Tarrant Breakfast Show." In 1989, as head of music, Pringle helped set up Ireland's first independent station, Century Radio. He was lured to Piccadilly in 1990 by programme director Mark Story.

NRJ, Skyrock Attack Changes To Radio Law

by Emmanuel Legrand

After six months of discussions and negotiations over the new communications law led by Jean-Noel Jeanneney, secretary of state for communication, a text is now ready to go before the government. The document has been approved by radio operators representing 85% of the total audience.

The main changes to the law are:

■ The modification of ownership regulations. The new ceiling is 100 million potential listeners for all the stations owned by a single group. The current system only allows an operator to have a first network reaching no more than 30 million potential listeners and a second limited to 15 million.

■ A licence will be granted for seven years rather than five.

■ Local advertising will be for local stations which "devote at least 20% of their total broadcasting time between 6.30-22.00 to programmes of local interest produced in-house, and which don't involve any direct or indirect participation of a service operating one or more national networks." Stations franchised by national networks will also be banned from running local advertising.

■ If a single company operates more than one network, only one of these will be allowed to be "mixed" and have both passive transmitters and local subscribers. The other networks will be obliged to use only passive transmitters.

The project offers media groups the possibility to develop different networks with fewer restrictions than before, while the local advertising market will be less open to national operators. The balance between these two measures is seen as a way to protect local operators, who are seeing more and more national networks competing on their markets.

This text has been backed in a joint statement by five of the major radio organisations: the SRN, (national FM networks group), the SRGP (generalist stations), the CNRA (local non-commercial stations), the SNRP (national private stations) and SIRT (independent local commercial stations).

The text has, however, been attacked by two of France's main FM operators—NRJ and Skyrock, who issued a joint statement in which they claim that

"this law has been made by losers, who prefer the protection of the State rather than the free choice of the listeners. Our proposals to enhance and stimulate the radio field are ready."

NRJ claims that this measure could mean a cost of Ffr175 million (app. US$34 million) to buy all the franchised stations, and close the local affiliates. In addition, there is a healthy and competitive market, there is more investment."

President of Skyrock Pierre Bellanger points out that the stations' gross advertising revenues reached Ffr200 million in 1991, of which Ffr130 million would come from local advertising. Suppressing local advertising would, he says, "seriously endanger the future of the company." Says Bellanger, "No network can live without local operators. The idea that local advertising is for local operators and national advertising doesn't correspond to any economic reality."

Benoit Sillard, president of SRN and Fun, counters that "the majority of the radio organisations regrouping 85% of the audience and the industry's revenues backed the project." He warns, "We are not going to let stations representing 15% of the industry dictate what the remaining 85% do. It is the first time these organisations have unanimously approved a text which harmonizes and regulates this field." He calls the law "the basis for radio groups to develop free of constraints, be strong, and think European," and at the same time

"protect a true and healthy local system."

Jean-Pierre Ozannat, GM of Europe 1 Communications, comments, "We don't think a local station can produce local programming of good quality around the clock. This text is needed to increase the revenues of local stations. To reach this goal, two things are necessary: fewer players on the field and a law limiting local advertising to local broadcasters."

Rémi Sautter, VP/GM of CLT-owned leading AM radio station in France RTL, and president of the SRGP, the organisation for the three national commercial radio stations known in France as "generalists" (RTL, Europe 1 and RMC), says, "The SRGP has pleaded for a measure which would allow any group to own up to 100% of two national networks and an unlimited number of majority partnerships. The government has chosen the system of a global ceiling of 100 million inhabitants [maximal number of people reached by all the stations owned by a single group]. Although our proposal has not been chosen, we think that this measure goes along the lines of what we expected."

SINGLES

BOBBY BROWN

Good Enough - MCA EHR/AC
 PRODUCER: L.A.Reid/Babyface/Daryl Simmons
 Bobby slows down a bit after all the humpin' around for a soft soulful ballad in the same vein as Luther Vandross and George Benson.

FISCHER Z

Will You Be There? - Harvest EHR'
 PRODUCER: John Watts/Richard Evans
 Some artists get no recognition at home, so they try to find it elsewhere. This one-time new wave band, fronted by high-pitched vocalist John Watts, comes back through the German back door with a tune that will cause "community singing." The single has already been powerplay on Radio Salü/Saarbrücken. Says programme director Adam Hahne, "We only add a small number of new songs each month. Those are tunes we really believe in, and we play them for at least four weeks in order to give them a real chance. A very successful concert of Fischer Z in our region the other day made us pick out this single."

HELEN HOFFNER

Summer Of Love - Magnet EHR/AC
 PRODUCER: Hugh Padgham/Bob Marlette
 Is this the unknown twin sister of Belinda Carlisle "secretly" tackling the same kind of bubble gum pop repertoire? Now that the secret is out, we advise you to put it on air immediately.

ALANNAH MYLES

Song Instead Of A Kiss - Atlantic AC/EHR
 PRODUCER: David Tyson
 The whisper tames the lion. This orchestrated ballad shows the big mouthed rock singer from her more vulnerable side. A new milestone in her career.

GERRY RAFFERTY

Don't Give Up On Me - Polydor AC/EHR
 PRODUCER: Gerry Rafferty/Hugh Murphy
 With Undercover having a pan-European hit with his song Baker Street, a new record by the Scottish minstrel couldn't be timed better. The question is, which dance act will be next to transform his folk pop?

THE REMBRANDTS

Johnny Have You Seen Her? - Atco EHR/AC
 PRODUCER: The Rembrandts
 The American cousins of Squeeze have also read the Lennon/McCartney songbook from A to Z. In other words, you can't get purer pop than this.

SANDRA

Johnny Wanna Live - Virgin EHR/D
 PRODUCER: Michael Cretu
 Taken from this year's album Close To Seven, this is the best advertisement for the new CD compilation 18 Greatest Hits, a perfect perspective on her career. On this song her husband/producer uses the same beats as on his Enigma project, where Sandra took part of the vocals.

SOPHIA

Stay - Alabianca D/EHR
 PRODUCER: Team 3
 Despite the title of this follow-up to the Dutch hit single Running So Hard, Sophia doesn't stand still. High-velocity dance beats support an instantly hummable pop song. Hit Radio/Bussum music director Unico Glorie was the first to report the single. "It has all the elements of a sure hit. It will be bigger than the last single."

BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN

Leap Of Faith - Columbia D/EHR
 PRODUCER: Bruce Springsteen/Jon Landau/Chuck Plotkin/Roy Bittan
 How's life in Lucky Town meanwhile? The rock radio demographic will instantly take the car and drive with no particular place to go after hearing this vintage Springsteen rocker with gospel-framed backup vocals.

SUZANNE VEGA

99.9F° - A&M A/EHR/AC
 PRODUCER: Mitchell Froom
 When it comes to finding the right energy level, the fragile songstress from New York is second to none. The title track of her current album gets no hotter than body temperature. It's "green" pop.

NEW TALENT

America - Stockholm Records (LP) (Sweden)
 PRODUCER: Martin Hennel/Magnus Börjesson/Christer Follin
 The first album release on the newly founded Stockholm label, hoped to be a constant source of new Scandinavian talent. Christer Follin is the kind of tunesmith who should go to songwriter's Mecca, Nashville. Convince yourself with So Many Nights. Contact Eric Hasselqvist at tel: (46) 8.627 3803; fax: 8.627 0864.

MAD COW DISEASE

Jesus Wants Me For A Vegetable - Catalina (UK)
 PRODUCER: Mad Cow Disease/Martin Johnston
 Combine early Jesus & Mary Chain vacuum cleaner-like fuzz guitars and some samples with frightening vocals and you'll get this so called "techno-grunge." Contact Clare Nurney at tel: (+44) 703. 236 333; fax: 703. 331 555.

RESPONSE

Response - Manic (LP) (US)
 PRODUCER: Chris Lannon/Response
 A set of melodic rock with prominent keyboards, enhanced by an occasional harmonica will give your listeners a shot of adrenaline to do their daily work. Ride Up is our choice. Contact Andrea Kramer at fax (+1) 617.436 8311.

ALBUMS

PETER GABRIEL

Us - Real World/Virgin EHR/AC/A
 PRODUCER: Daniel Lanois/Peter Gabriel
 So what does the master of "accessible difficult" music give us this time? His musical view remains globally determined. According to the declaration of intent of his Real World label, musical styles flow into each other naturally. Don't expect anything new from the "Arcangel" Gabriel, it's more or less more of the same. But who could refuse Steam, a sort of "Sledgehammer Part 2"? Kate Bush may have "given up", but she's adequately replaced by Sinéad O'Connor on the ethereal duet Blood Of Eden. Meanwhile the single Digging In The Dirt is in the higher regions of the EHR Top 40.

PRINCE & THE NEW POWER GENERATION

The Love Symbol - Paisley Park D/AC/EHR
 PRODUCER: Prince & The New Power Generation
 Prince is probably the only artist around who has the gift of getting himself broadcast on all possible formats. With his new record he spans the whole spectrum between the two extremes, dance radio and soft AC. The Sacrifice Of Victory and The Continental are tailor-made for those who like to groove, while Damn U and And God Created Woman are romantic ballads for the after hours. 3 Chains Of Gold is Prince's most complex work to date, and interesting stuff for the album rock format. It's a kind of mini rock opera, something like John Miles' Music. Well, EHR programmers get the rest of the cake with the already widely known first two singles.

THE SPURS

Soldier - Outback (UK)
 PRODUCER: Des Horsefall
 Springsteen from a pub rock angle. The flip side Hey Hey Baby, a duet between Yorkshire cowboy Des Horsefall and Cheryl Barrot, situates the E-Street somewhere in Hebden Bridge. Contact Mr. Horsefall at tel/fax: (+44) 422.884 225.

THROW THAT BEAT IN THE GARBAGE CAN!

Cool - Artloss (UK)
 PRODUCER: Andi Jezussek
 Okay, we know this weird German pop outfit is signed to Electrola in its home territory. For the UK, however, these idiots of David Byrne calibre are completely new. Contact Sonya Dunsdon at Rhythm King, tel: (+44) 71.372 7299; fax: 71.372 4634.

WILKI

Wilki - MJM (LP) (Poland)
 PRODUCER: Andrzej Pawel Wojciechowski
 Somewhere in the no man's land between Bon Jovi and U2 you can find the most popular Polish band of the moment. The song Son Of The Blue Sky—remixed at the famous Abbey Road studios—reveals the talent of this band and in particular, of singer Robert Gawlinski. Contact A. Wojciechowski, tel/fax: (+48) 22.247 334.

Made featured album of the week on Radio 102/Haugesund, HOM Egil Houeland finds it typical Prince, "In general it's very danceable. Personally, I don't find this shocking anymore. My favourite track is The Morning Papers."

PARIS RED

Promises - Sony Dancepool EHR/D
 PRODUCER: Paris Red
 Her latest single Promises starts the ball rolling with a strong enough hook to make a Janet Jackson-like crossover to dance radio. Previous releases Good Friend and Ain't No Mountain High Enough—not to be confused with the Motown classic—appear alongside Party, revealing a solid talent for writing club tunes. Meanwhile, working with Michael Bolton may have given Paris the inclination to compose potential hit ballads like After The Love Has Lost Its Shine. With a honey smooth voice comfortably changing styles, Paris Red has got the ingredients and knows "Auntie Mabel's EHR cookbook" backwards.

R.E.M.

Automatic - Warner Brothers EHR/R/AC
 PRODUCER: Scott Litt/R.E.M.

Although these former alternative heroes are now everybody's faves, last year's success didn't make a failure out of them. This album is a more than worthy successor of Out Of Time. The balance tips over to an even more acoustic approach and the songwriting is top rate as always. Each track is an automatic for the album rock format, but special attention please for lead single Drive, the guitar-driven pop song The Sidewinder Sleeps Tonight and the ultramelancholic ballad Everybody Hurts. The latter track with string arrangements by ex-Led Zeppelin bass player John Paul Jones is the Bridge Over Troubled Water for the '90s with Michael Stipe as Simon & Garfunkel rolled into one.

THE TRAGICALLY HIP

Fully Completely - MCA R/A/EHR
 PRODUCER: Chris Tsangaridis
 Exit Don Smith as regular producer, and the entry of Tsangaridis (Black Sabbath and Concrete Blonde) as the new man at the helm, and that's the striking difference with the previous two albums. Away is the organic, swampy feel in favour of a more radio friendly rock sound. With such a passionate frontman as Gordon Downie an R.E.M.-like future looks very likely for Canada's best. Courage and The Hundredth Meridian stand the best chances on EHR.

Singles and albums featured in New Releases are listed alphabetically. Each record is recommended for format or programme suitability. Abbreviations used include: EHR, AC, R (Rock), D (Dance), C (Country), J (Jazz), EZ (Easy Listening), NAC (New Adult Contemporary), A (Alternative) and M (Metal). Records mentioned in New Talent are by acts signed to independent labels for which license and/or publishing rights are available, except as noted. Please send your samples to Robbert Tilli/Machgiel Bakker, PO Box 9027, 1006 AA Amsterdam, Holland.

ROGER DAVIES MANAGEMENT

WEA Boosts Betty Boo

Betty Boo has transformed herself from a '60s comic strip heroine into a sleek leopard-skin-clad seductress in her new album "Grrr! It's Betty Boo," her WEA label debut. Boo shows herself to have really matured since the poppy tongue-in-cheek days of her 1990 debut "Boomania"—which was out on Rhythm King.

by Miranda Watson & Robbert Tilli

Betty Boo new style means stronger, punchier lyrics and a more self-assured, naturally flowing rapping style, as best evidenced off the first single Let Me Take You There, "a big pan-European airplay hit, and exactly what we aimed for initially," according to WEA international marketing manager Mark Crossingham.

Gone are the spangly leotards and cute bob, Boo is back with a long sleek haircut, a svelte figure and a sexy wardrobe. She gives us a real mix of musical styles in this album from love songs to hard rap to pure dance, all executed in a very polished and slick fashion. The steel guitar country intro of Hangover and the big rocking guitar on Curly & Girly are surprising instruments on a dance album.

Apart from the current single I'm On My Way, with that lovely quote out of the Beatles Lady Madonna, there are a number of obvious single tracks including by far the strongest track on the album Thing Goin' On. It's a funky dance track with a strong bass line, smooth rap and splendid vocals from Ms Boo. The stereophonic

Boo's vocals come to the forefront much more in her second album, such as in another potential single Can't Believe It's Over a love rap song, the disco-feel Catch Me and the breathless ballad Close The Door.

The original Betty Boo is still there though—listen to the harsher rapping of Gave You The Boo where we see there's absolutely no messing with her. This track is very reminiscent of Hey DJ I Can't Dance To The Music You're Playing. Then there's the ska-beat-influenced Skin Tight with a girly chorus and manic keyboard backing that gives the Selecter a run for its money.

What makes this album even more impressive is the fact that Boo has co-written and produced all ten tracks—a woman who knows exactly what she's doing, and who needs no management this side of the Atlantic (In the US she is represented by L.A.-based Platinum management).

All this earned her a big marketing campaign to push the album. Says Crossingham, "The first album was released in Germany, Spain and the Benelux only, so for the rest of Europe she's relatively unknown. We have to break her on those markets now. Germany is leading the way on the continent."

Grrr! has been made album of the month October at retail chain WOM. A national fly posting campaign is set up in the German republic. In the UK WEA opted for a national billboard campaign, highlighted by a huge illuminated copy on Cromwell Road in central London. Lifesize cut outs are proof of the major in store support for the album across Europe.

SHORT TAKES

■ On December 7 Tina Turner starts filming the story of her life. The script is based on the biography I Tina of which Walt Disney bought the rights, and the film will most likely be premiered next summer accompanied by a soundtrack album with old and brandnew material.

■ Italian label Ala Bianca has signed US Stax soul legend Solomon Burke for an exclusive one-off album deal. Burke—best known for the classic Everybody Needs Somebody To Love—will kick off with the Bing Crosby evergreen single White Christmas.

■ The grand ol' man of the blues John Lee Hooker's upcoming album Boom Boom will be released worldwide on the blues-related Pointblank label within the Virgin group. His previous two albums were out on Silvertone in the UK and continental Europe.

■ Mari Wilson who enjoyed pan-European hit successes with Motown soul pastiches Baby It's True and Just What I Always Wanted a decade ago is now trying her luck on the currently popular torch songs genre. After four live performances in London and Birmingham—two in each city—the Dino recording artist is thinking of making a torch album. Although the plans are not concrete yet, watch out k.d. Lang and Sinéad O'Connor!

■ The Heavenly "Fred" EP is the title of an AIDS charity single made by three Heavenly acts covering Right Said Fred hits. St. Etienne tackles I'm Too Sexy, the Rockingbirds call Deeply Dippy and Flowered Up go Don't Talk Just Kiss. The video-medley features the almighty R.S.F. himself...

One-More-Time Fuels The ABBA Revival

SWEDEN ABBA is the magic word again. The name of the legendary Swedish pop band is on everybody's lips now. Even the snobs who didn't like them at the time are suddenly their biggest fans. The whole world seems to cover ABBA songs, from synth pop duo Erasme to progressive rock act U2 and parodists Björn Again.

Everybody jumping on the band wagon praises the great songwritership, inventive arrangements, fine vocals and the kitsch, but hardly anybody has been inspired enough to write a good "ABBA-esque" song. It took the son of ABBA's Benny Andersson, Peter Grönvall, to compose a song which lives up to the ABBA legacy. One More Time's single Highland received instant recognition in Holland—way before media attention at home in Sweden—where it was powerplay on pub-caster Veronica. Says CNR Holland label manager Hans De Boer, "It's quite logical that they're breaking through here first. In our country, 'son-of-a-famous-father' Grönvall doesn't have to prove himself as much as in Sweden. It's the song itself that does the work. Also, One More Time's act [with two female vocalists, Nanne Nordqvist and Therèse Löf] just looks good. That's why we've already secured eight TV appearances in the Benelux. Now we're trying to get as many as possible in the UK and Germany as well."

- Signed to CNR Sweden.
- Publisher: EMI Music.
- Management: CNR Sweden/Solna.
- New album: Highland to be released on October 23.
- New single: Highland released on September 24; currently a new entry at number 38 in Holland.
- Recorded at Rommarö/Sweden.
- Producer: Peter Grönvall.
- Marketing: Mobiles, stickers and posters for in store use.
- European releases: Album and single will be out in Scandinavia, the Benelux (both on CNR), the UK PWL, the G/S/A territories. (Edel) and France Scorpio.

Ace Of Base Draws the Reggae Card

SWEDEN A cross section of the international charts shows that there is a reggae trend going on (see M&M October 10), which includes the late great Bob Marley, old masters Inner Circle and relatively young ambassadors of reggae-inspired styles, like Shabba Ranks who stands for raggamuffin and Maxi Priest representing the more poppy variant. The current number 1 hit single in Denmark, Ace Of Base's All That She Wants, is another great example of a band which has successfully drawn the pop reggae card.

At the end of September the Swedish band—signed to the Danish Mega label—even occupied the two top slots with the aforementioned single, chased by its Oriental-tinged predecessor Wheel Of Fortune. It's a real family act, featuring the sisters Jenny and Malin Berggren—who sings lead on both singles—as well as brother Jonas, while Ulf Ekberg completes the line-up.

Mega A&R manager Maurice Hawkesworth is convinced about the band's international potential, "They have got what it takes, and if they get the right exposure on radio they can make it everywhere, even in the US. A good pop song knows no boundaries."

A strong argument for international releases of the two singles is that both these tracks off the upcoming Happy Nation album reached the gold status in Denmark, which means 10,000 copies sold. Another thing is that All That She Wants is co-produced by Denniz Pop, the man at the helm for Dr. Alban records. Talking of crossover potential...

- Signed to Mega Records.
- Publisher: Megasongs.
- New album: Happy Nation to be released in mid-November.
- New single: All That She Wants released on August 31; currently, it is at number 1 in Denmark (number 71 in the Eurochart Hot 100 Singles), while its predecessor Wheel Of Fortune is still holding at number 4.
- Recorded at SweMix Studio/Stockholm.
- Producer: Ace Of Base/Denniz Pop.

Marketing The Music: Artists featured have achieved Top 15 chart status in their country of origin.

TECHNOLOGY ROUND-UP

DART Shows Broadcasters The Digital Way

We have mentioned ASC's DART system before on this page, but the flood of orders from around the world indicate that it is becoming the leading floppy disc-based unit available.

Employing standard floppy discs—widely available and costing less than standard NAB carts, DART provides instant access to digital audio for broadcasters, production companies and theatres. Jingle, promos, adverts sound effects and music tracks can all be recorded in full stereo at a choice of sampling rates. Orders have been forthcoming from Scottish Television, Yorkshire Television, London Weekend Television, Channel 4, new UK national broadcaster Classic FM, BBC World Service, Auto- graph Sound Recording, Turkish-language broadcaster Radio Number One and a spread of BBC Local Radio stations.

DART utilizes APT's APT-X digital compression system to offer superb audio performance. The proven reliability of 3.5-inch floppy discs adds to the operational ease. A 2Mb HD disc will provide up to one minute of audio, while a 10Mb HD disc will give the user over five minutes.

Three large buttons on the DMP100 player unit (priced at UK£1.620) perform the familiar Cue, Play and Pause functions and its size is also fairly standard at one-third rack width by 3u high, in common with many other available cart machines. The DRM100 Record Module (priced at UK£1.400) is the same size and interfaces with a replay module by a single cable. The user can record cuts in mono or stereo at a choice of standard sampling rates, with inputs either analogue balanced mono or IEC-958 type II digital audio.

DART allows the operator to audition prior to non-destructive editing and adjustment of start and end points. Additionally, cuts can be looped an un-looped at will. Each disc can hold a maximum of 16 cues with the freedom to mix sampling rates on the same disc. At the end of an editing session the cues can be titled using DART's own keyboard and, with the addition of a printer, the system can provide cart labels or comprehensive lists of time, date and duration details.

As well as analogue and digital audio outputs, DART also has the ability to remotely trigger machine starts and be remote operated via its RS232/422 and parallel ports. For transfer of DART material from one machine to another, the system is equipped with a special DART bus connector.

DART is now available from HHB Communications as well as ASC. Contact HHB Communications at (+44) 81.960.2144.

A Guide To M&M's Radio Station Reporting Rankings

M&M's EHR, ACE and EDR charts are based 100% on airplay reported each week by M&M's reporter team. Participating stations are selected as reporters and "weighted" as "Platinum," "Gold," "Silver" or "Bronze" stations based on the following criteria: market population, location, weekly reach and/or average share of the available audience, policy of programming current music, retail sales influence and ability to report in a timely, consistent and accurate manner. More detailed definitions follow below. It should be noted that points awarded for airplay may vary slightly from one station to another within one of these four groups. For example, some Platinum stations are weighted slightly more or less than other Platinum stations. However, all Platinum reporters will be weighted more than Gold, Silver, or Bronze stations. Individual station classifications are subject to regular review as ratings and station policies change. Broadcasters interested in joining M&M's Reporter Roster should call or fax M&M Station Reports Manager Pieter Kops; tel: (+31) 20.669 1961; fax: 669.1951 or 1941.

Platinum (P): Leading stations/networks/dominant programmes in major markets. Most of these stations have an estimated average weekly reach of at least 1 million listeners and are regarded as having moderate to heavy level of retail influence. Gold (G): Leading stations/networks/dominant programmes in medium markets or secondary broadcasters in major markets. Most of these stations have an estimated average weekly reach of 200,000 to 1 million listeners. Stations from smaller markets usually have an above-average level of retail influence. Silver (S): Leading stations in smaller markets or secondary broadcasters in medium markets. Most of these stations have an estimated average weekly reach of 50,000 to 200,000 listeners. Stations from smaller markets usually have an above-average level of retail influence. Bronze (B): Smaller broadcast operations, individual programmes at larger stations, certain cable-only stations, and/or dayparted blocks of programming on small market stations. Most of these stations/programmes reach between 15,000 and 50,000 listeners weekly. Small market stations have at least a moderate level of retail influence; larger stations in this group may have a low level of retail influence.

OFF THE RECORD

JUST A RUMOUR?: Don't believe it, says SweMix label manager Rene Hedemyr. Those rumours now circulating the industry that Dr. Alban is boycotting German concerts because of mounting racism in the country are untrue. "Dr. Alban might feel really sick about what's going on in Germany, but he'd never let his fans down and cancel his tour." The artist has just completed a two week tour of Germany and has now moved on to the Far East.

TEARS FOR ISLAND: The closure of the Island office is being mourned by local French independent radio stations with whom the label had created strong links. Public news/talk station France Inter music programmer Dominique Farran, says he "regretted" the fate of Island. Remi Bouton, editor in chief of trade publication Le Bulletin de Rotations, wrote in a recent edition, "Néver have we received so many phone calls from programmers. Some were disenchanted, others were furious, and each of them had the feeling that they had created special links with this label."

UAEP TO BUY INTO CMT EUROPE?: Look for United Artists Entertainment Programming (UAEP), the UK cable/satellite programme operator, working like the devil to make a success of Gaylord Entertainment Company's new country cable channel CMT Europe. Word is that UAEP, which is the channel's European marketing rep, could eventually buy into the European venture. Right now they are not a cash investor.

SNAPPY SIGNING: Snap's former lead rapper, Turbo B., who left his contract with Master Studios due to creative differences, has inked a worldwide artist's contract with Polydor Hamburg. The deal was reached on the strength of his new single I'm Not Dead, which was released in mid-August and is scheduled for a pan-European release soon. Logic Records still owns the rights to the project name Snap.

gramme operator United Artists Entertainment Programming (UAEP), which will be CMT Europe's European marketing representative.

Programming will be produced at CMT's Nashville studios, and will be transmitted via Intelsat 332.5. GET will first launch the service to the UK's 250,000 broadband cable subscribers. After that, the goal is to move into Scandinavia by early 1993 and the Benelux soon after.

CMT Europe will feature more pop-oriented country acts, as well as more traditional veteran artists. "We are going to programme the service for Europe," says Hall. "It will be a totally separate service, and is being programmed more toward 'cutting edge' country. We've already had discussions with some of the European labels about some of the country acts they are trying to develop."

Hall says GEC has made two trips to meet with the heads of European record companies. "We also brought some of our own programming people over to talk about exactly what was their vision of country and what was available in the store," he says. "We don't want to alienate customers. We're going to be working very closely with the European labels to be sure we are pushing the acts which are available in the stores."

Hall doesn't think Europeans will be turned off by the American sound. "We did some research in the UK," he says. "We went in there with the feeling that we would be missionaries without anybody wanting us there. After we were through with the research and actually demonstrated the new-style country music to these people, they were far more positive than we ever thought possible, to the point that they said they would love to have this in their homes. So I think the issue is to expose them to the new country music and overcome the stereotype."

Despite minimal sales of country artists in Europe, Hall says interest in the genre is growing. "We're a large company in country music. We own Acuff-Rose, which is one of the larger country music catalogues, and we've seen publishing revenues growing in the Scandinavia and Benelux countries. So, we think there's a good market there, too. As soon as we get over this hump, that's the next step."

Work on CMT Europe began in earnest about nine months ago. "The thing that really got our interest was that UK cable operators were contacting us and wanting the programming," he says. "If the cable operators were that interested, we thought we should spend some time looking into it. So we accelerated our time schedule a bit."

Hall says the company has received interest from other European cable operators, but not "nearly as much as the UK, because that's where we focused all of our energy."

Adds UAEP CEO Joyce Taylor, "I think it feels a real niche here in the UK. I think the other thing is that the country music they will offer has a very wide appeal."

An interview accompanied by risqué pictures ran in the September issue of American glossy magazine Vanity Fair, and in mid-October the marketing machinery came into gear when she embarked on a major European promo tour, visiting Milan, Hamburg, Paris and London.

Warner Music Europe marketing manager Ian Grenfell says Madonna's physical presence has been instrumental in the campaign so far. "We couldn't have wished for a better start than the promo trip. The book is another great appetizer for the record. The Sunday Observer bought the pre-publication rights of some of the photos, and at the street date [October 11] it was impossible to buy that newspaper by midday, the best indicator of how much anticipation surrounds everything Madonna does."

Warner Music Europe has orchestrated a massive campaign on all fronts, consisting of street posters, TV, radio and press ads and heavy in-store point-of-sales displays in most regions. At the same time it has to look after two other blockbuster releases, the new R.E.M. album Automatic For The People and Prince's The Love Symbol-christened album. During her career Madonna has so far sold over 150 million records.

Madonna's visit to France was treated as a once-in-a-lifetime event. Says Warner Music France international marketing manager Michel Wijnen, "Madonna was here from Thursday October 8 until Monday 11. We organised a press conference for foreign journalists, and two round tables for French press. Also, she did one independent interview for monthly magazine Elle. We have secured front cover stories in other big magazines like VSD and Paris Match, plus daily paper La Libération. The highlight of her French days was her appearance on TF1's TV show '7/7,' hosted by Anne Sinclair, which is normally reserved for top politicians."

Even unforeseen events didn't disturb the peace. Madonna received extra free publicity from a misplaced accusation of tax evasion on her book "Sex" by a French police officer.

Marketing manager at Warner Music Germany, Bernd Dopp, says Erotica was shipped gold (250,000 copies), and that her Immaculate Collection sold 500,000 units in Germany (platinum). Adds Dopp, "All Madonna's studio albums except the first have gone to number one in Germany, so we have high expectations for her latest release." Dopp does, however, point to very strong competition this autumn, including Prince.

The marketing campaign is the biggest Warner Music Germany has ever mounted, alongside the Westernhagen campaign earlier this year. For the first time in 10 years Madonna made a promotional visit to Hamburg, performing a series of selected interviews on public TV channels ARD and ZDF and appearing at the launch party for the album release. A 45-minute special on Madonna will be aired on ARD on November 14, and a three-day radio campaign will run from November 4-6. An oversized street poster campaign will follow from November 6-30.

Erotica is a slight departure from the Madonna's well-known pop style. It is less melodic and more dance-oriented than before. The first single, the title track Erotica, was this week's highest new entry in M&M's EHR Top 40 at number 8; a record breaking debut in 1992. Most of the tracks are co-produced and co-written by Shep Pettibone, while Andre Betts is credited for the rest along with Madonna.

is ludicrous. "The costs and risks of the record companies are high in comparison to the costs and risks of the radio stations arising from their use of PPL repertoire. Radio stations conduct their industry by playing PPL records." Kentridge adds, "They are not merely music-driven stations, they are PPL-driven stations, and why should they not pay a reasonable additional remuneration," he said, referring to the lifting of the nine-hour needle time restriction in 1988. Christopher Clarke, QC for the AIRC, argued that the PPL skirted the issue of the value of airplay during the hearing. "Individual record companies compete avidly to secure airplay for their records, that is to say to ensure their records and not those of some other record company receive airplay. They do that because of their need to promote the sale of their records." Clarke continued, "The record industry's desire for a national rock station to promote the sale of albums is another reflection of that need."

Erotica Explodes

Bullets are ruling in the upper section of this week's EHR Top 40. The first 12 records on the list are all gaining chart points. Some titles have gone down a couple of positions, while maintaining their bullet, simply because others are moving faster.

Bob Marley & The Wailers' Iron Lion Zion still manages to broaden its support on the top with 10 new adds, thus firmly continuing its reign. Last week's fastest mover, R.E.M.'s Drive, however, is now catching up and might take over the number one spot soon. It makes a big jump this week from 9 to 2, thanks to 15 new adds, a remarkably high number for a song already so high up in the chart.

Another strong contender for the top spot is this week's highest new entry, Madonna's new single Erotica. It makes a really explosive entrance, shooting straight into the top 10, with this year's highest amount of additions, collected by one song during one week: Erotica's 41 first-time-reporters push the number of 38, collected by the same artist for This Used To Be My Playground in July (issue 30), into second position.

Madonna also breaks another record: until today Bruce Springsteen had this year's highest new entry on his hands—his Human Touch entered at 9 in issue 13—but now Madonna has beaten that achievement at number 8. EHR Penetration is strongest in Holland, the UK and Italy. Germany is lagging a bit behind.

This week's fastest mover is Sade's No Ordinary Love. It jumps into the top 10 with a quickly increasing roster (21% additions) and a favourable conversion factor—9% of the stations reporting it are placing it in heavier rotation than last week.

Second highest new entry, and the second most added song at the same time, is Bon Jovi's Keep The Faith. It skips Chartbound and enters at 27 with a roster of predominantly platinum and gold stations (44% platinum stations alone!). Support is scattered around Europe, but EHR in France has yet to start picking up on the song.

Good bets for chart entries next week are Go West's Faithful, topping this week's "A" Rotation Performance section with the figure of 86%, and Bobby Brown's new song, Good Enough. Pieter Kops

The EHR "chartbound" chart lists the total number of EHR reporting stations playing newer songs that do not yet have enough airplay points to rank among the EHR Top 40. The second number represents how many stations reported it to M&M for the first time. Songs which have received no new airplay for two consecutive weeks will be deleted from this chart, but may reappear with new airplay. In the case of a tie, songs are listed by new adds. Asterisks indicate new entries in Chartbound.
