GO-GOS

GO-GO MAZE
Go-Gos to Bill, Joe, Denny and Colin, members of the Maze. The Maze play on the "Top 40" and "Easy Listening" programs every Thursday and Sunday afternoon. I and a million others recommend you to Go-Go and see them, they're great!

Bubblin, Willington.

GO-GO NUDE

Millions and millions of Go-Gos to the best lead guitarist in the world, Don Madle of the Group, and lots and lots of No-Gos to the kids who don't vote for Don in the Go-Set ideal group.

A Faithful Don Fan. (Mar).

GO-GO MURKER

Millions of Go-Gos to lovable Mike Purk. I think he's a great talent. Not only does he have a terrific voice but he has the most big beautiful brown eyes ever. I love the after shave lotion you wear Mike. I hope you read this.

All of my love.

June of Tassie.

STAN ROFE'S TONIC

...it's disk carrier!

There is never really any reason for groups of artists to be used by not writing their records as they are based only on personal choice anyway and any overall analysis should be treated with the just caveat of so many deliveries. Sweet! Funny Ad.

The only true awards to be on public voice and as there have been one taken now in quite some months, naturally the next best thing to do is go on figure it all have out, each little particulars when it comes to assessing what an endeavor to be the best and latest way of the points to each Australian record released to the one's issue in this column will be a little different from those issued elsewhere but for what it's worth and on a party, here it goes.

The year's top Aussie music was Mennie the Moose's own personal choice for the year's top Aussie disc was Group's "Woman, You're Breaking Me". On figures, the top Australian record for the year was the Masters Apprentices' "Undiscovered". My own personal choice for number 2 was the Vibrants' "Prayer".

Young You Baby

Q: How long can the Beatles keep on being original?

A: As long as they remain interested.

Q: Is the Indian influence in pop music just a gimmick?

A: It hasn't yet progressed to anything deeper than a gimmick.

Q: How did you predict your future five years ago?

A: I predicted for the top 10 the other records, and when they landed on the point basis, follow in this order - keep in mind some records stayed over for 1967 from 1966.

1. HELLO GOODYBYE I AM A WALRUS, 1 Beatles

2. SNOOPY'S CHRISTMAS, Royal Guardsmen

3. THE TWO OF US, Jackie Trent and Tony Hatch

4. CATHY COME HOME, THE WAY THEY PLAY, The Twilight

5. THE LAST WALTZ, Engelbert Humperdinck

6. GIMME LITTLE SIGN, Brenton Woods

7. MASSACHUSETTS, Bee Gees

8. JUDY, Elvis Presley

30 KEY QUESTIONS

By LILY BRETT

A: I had no idea at all of what I wanted to do.

Q: Have you been to any of all night parties?

A: No. I rarely go to any kind of parties.

Q: What does psychedelic mean to you?

A: Something that has little or nothing to do with the pop scene.

Q: What do you do in your spare time?

A: Listen to records and go swimming.

Q: How do you feel when you hear your records?

A: Embarrassed.

Q: List four hates.

A: Bad pop music, people with no manners or taste, cold nights, and loneliness.

Q: Do you think "good" girls are just silly?

A: Depends on what you consider "good" and "bad". Discrimination and respectability are the most important things.

Q: Do you have an opinion on the Hendrix versus Cream battle?

A: To me, The Cream sound gutless, but Hendrix knows where it's at.

Q: Are hippies finished?

A: Commercially they will die a natural unfashionable death, but they existed long before the word hippy was even thought of.

THE SCENE

• If you still believe in Father Christmas, don't read this!

• This version of Father Christmas is very unusual — he takes off his clothes in public!

• We've never heard of a sexy Father Christmas before! Have you?

• That bottom looks familiar... yes, it's Robert James Father Christmas Taylor at Opus!

• That man in the checked coat is really Father Christmas, having a coffee at Lily's coffee lounge.

• The Procession working hard at the world's most beautiful discotheque — Victoria and Albert.

• The Yarra Yarra New Orleans Jazz Band at The Catcher, and everyone yelled and shrieked and screamed for more.

• Tony Healey and Max Ross having one of many New Year drinks. It's nice to see someone dressed so well, just for a few drinks with the boys.

• It's lots of fun at Pinnocchio's with the Uptight gang, here's David and Esther having a bit of a sing.

• The Dream, fabulous new group made up of The Final Four and The Changing Times, let out with their brilliant vocals at Tom Foolery.

• Stewie Spear's best friend Max Merritt just told him about... mum at The Thumpin' Turn.

• Yvonne Barrett and Edgell James, lead singers of The Trap, at Winston Charles.

• Stan Rofe giving Peter Doyle some New Year advice at Go-Set's Lily Brett's Coffee Lounge.

• If Father Christmas can do it, so can one of Dr. Farrows People at Claxton.

IT ALL HAPPENED AT THE HAPPENING AT MELBOURNE'S VELODROME

GO-SET's super-swift photographer, Jim, caught the action at the velodrome, at the 3XY Happening.

Russell Morris, lead singer of Somebody's Image, attacked!

"I want him!" "You can't have him, I want him!" Russell says. "It's nice to be wanted."

A few of the happy summery revellers, at the spectacular happening.

Ronnie Burns makes very close friends! He's the GO-SET pop poll winner. We didn't get his friend's name!

• Yuk, from Max Merritt and the Meteors. He's not about to scalp someone from the audience, he always looks like that.

• Paul Konik, lovely DJ, talking to Rob Taylor, alias Father Christmas, from the James Taylor Move.

• Jeff St. John singing in the sun at the happening. He really had a reason to wear sunglasses that day!

• Laurie Allen begging for rain. Needless to say, it didn't!

• The Chelsea Set did a few monoculars before they settled down to play some groovy-type pop music.

• Can anyone think of a better way of spending a sunny Sunday afternoon? This group of swingers had a sun bake while it all happened.

• Max Merritt and the Meteors stole the show in their hand-painted psychedelic limousine.

• The Group were at the happening along with 4,000 others, freaking out on a sunny Sunday.

• Beautiful Keith Barber, and the inimitable Lobby Lloyd of the Wild Cherries. They nearly blew the Velodrome apart.

• Lynn Randell, of course. She's an old hand at this happening business, and Lynn had as good a time as everyone else!

THE CONFIDENCE TRICK

BY BRETT

- You're invited to a party where you don't know a single soul. Do you . . .
  - Put on a show of being relaxed, paid and unembarrassed.
  - Walk up to someone who looks fun to talk to and say "Hello, I'm me, who are you?"
  - Twitche uncontrollably and sit down on somebody's potato crisps.
- A loutish looking boy asks you for a dance. Even though you don't like slicked back hair and jeans, do you . . .
  - Turn purple, blot your face and knock your drink down in front of your dress.
  - Refuse, muttering vaguely about a cramp in your foot, which will possibly clear up later on.
  - Accept and hope fervently that he's got some nice friends.
- Sitting in a train, your handbag falls open and your personal belongings spill every where. Do you . . .
  - Retain your poise. Pick the contents up calmly, thanking anyone who helps you.
  - Ask the nice young man next to you whether he would mind picking your things up.
  - Pull the emergency cord and pretend that any embarrassing contents belong to the gentleman sitting opposite you.
- An interesting looking stranger at a party launches into a spirited account of himself. Do you . . .
  - Casually make yourself out to be a little more interesting than him.
  - Tell him that he's boring you to death, and begin relating the story of your life.
- Listen interestedly, and ask obvious questions about himself whenever he stops for breath.
- He's invited you to a romantic restaurant dinner for two. Suddenly you're faced with a complicated foreign looking menu you can't understand. Do you . . .
  - Smile radiantly and subtly point out "Please order for me. I love to be surprised."
  - Exclaim that you've just remembered another engagement. With knees knocking and tears in your eyes, go running out of the restaurant.
  - Desperately try to remember your first form French and order chicken because it's the only word you recognise.
- You're being interviewed for that all important job. The boss asks you why you think you should get the job. Do you . . .
  - Smile shyly at the boss and say "Because I'd really like it!"
  - Smile radiantly and subtly point out your enthusiasm, competence, qualifications and pleasant nature.
  - Rat your eyelashes seductively and murmur "I can think of several reasons".
- You've just bought twenty dollars worth of goods at a big department store. You discover that you've only got nineteen dollars in your purse. Do you . . .
  - Leave the money and goods, and run for the door calling out for your mother.
  - Smile apologetically and return one dollar's worth of your purchases.
  - In a fluster attempt to offer your watch as security for the extra dollar.

- You're running late for work, when you fall off the tram in the middle of the city. Do you . . .
  - Sweat caucously at the tram conductor and tell him you're going to sue the tramways board for every penny they're out.
  - Burst into tears and be helplessly on the road, causing a traffic jam.
  - Pick yourself up. Try to regain your poise and femininity by smiling through the pain, and make your way to work.
- The hostess brings out the food at a swinging party. You have a tomato sauce covered savoy, and drop it down the front of your dress. Do you . . .
  - Laugh. Call yourself a clumsy, squeal and tetter to the bathroom to try and repair the damage.
  - Fumble on the floor for the savoy. Pick it up and eat it. Scrub at your dress with a handkerchief and pretend that nothing has happened.
  - Rub the mess with your hand. Blush furiously and leave for home.
- A nice looking boy takes you home from a dance. Suddenly he parks the car, turns off the headlights and launches into a full-scale necking session. Do you . . .
  - Shriek "Ooh, we're just outside my uncle's place, and he's a policeman!"
  - Abide by your morals. Wrench your self away from him. Ask him if he'd like to come home and meet your brother who is a judo champion. Subtly hint that your brother has given you several valuable judo tips.
  - Beat him at his own game.

IF YOU SCORED BETWEEN TEN AND TWENTY-THREE . . .

You're really got to pull up your socks. Confidence isn't just making yourself believe you're as clever and capable as everyone else. It's realising that they are just like you. Accept this and you'll be the most confident person there is.

IF YOU SCORED BETWEEN TWENTY-FOUR AND THIRTY-SEVEN . . .

You're pretty normal. When you slip occasionally, remember that the man, or woman, girls for that matter, is just as worried about the impression he makes on you. The other people at the party are as anxious about how people will react to them, and even the waiter in the restaurant is a bit worried in case you'll spot the faults in the restaurant.

IF YOU SCORED BETWEEN THIRTY-SEVEN AND FIFTY . . .

You're made kid! You braved yourself by answering Go-Set's confidence questionnaire. You shouldn't need reassurance.

TRENDS FOR 1968

This week, our fashion editress, HELEN HOOPER, and beauty expert MOLLY, get together and predict some new, groovy trends; and the death of some old ones!

- WILL WE STILL BE WEARING MINI'S?
- WHAT IS THE NEW SHAPE OF HAIRSTYLES?
- WILL EYE MAKE-UP CHANGE?
- WILL ALL THE GROOVY GUYS WEAR WHISKERS?

• The curly look, just catching on with the wider members of the GO-SET, will really be the rage in '68! Boys and girls who have grown out their lack of lane locks, are the lucky ones now. Zappy hair styles, ala Hendrix and Clapton (who both, by the way, have their hair done by Sassoon) will be IN everyone. Here's groovy trendsetting Keith Barber, drummer of the Wild Cherries, wearing his fabulous, zappy hair, as big and curly as you can get!

• Whiskers, moustaches and mutton-chop sideboards won't last as a trend much longer! This pop-world is one for the young, and we think the clean shaven look will be the image presented in 1968. Sideboards will still be worn, but not as extremely as the mutton-chop variety.

• Hippies will be out in 1968!

• The really with-it GO-SET birds will wear red lip-stick on a baby-doll shaped mouth!

• The dance "the skate", now just catching on in Australia from England and America, will be the new trend this year!

• It will be IN for guys to smoke cigars!

• Girls will wear ties, probably more often than a lot of the fellas!

• Brogue shoes will be IN, in '68 — that is, black and white, or navy and white, heavy gothic looking shoes!

• "The Gangster Look" will come from England! Huge lapels on striped suits, worn with dark shirts and huge, wide decorated ties, or bow-ties!

• The brightest GO-SET girls will be wearing brightly coloured eyeshadow! The black hungry-eyed look will become softer and more shadowy with the addition of colour to the lids!

• All you GO-SET birds will be wearing mini's for a long time yet! The frilly Edwardian look will be more predominant than ever — and watch out, that the fellas don't start wearing frilly, lacy, high-collared shirts!

• The trend in England at the moment for black and white will be the rage for disco and dance wear. A plain black dress with detachable white collar and cuffs, made from lace, organdie or pique, will make a very versatile addition to the swingers wardrobe!

• As well as the dark, fabulously feminine look, a plain line will come to the fore — like a long singlet with sleeves! This will be a boon to the budgeting GO-SET bird, because these dresses can be easily made (no darts), and dressed up with the simple addition of frills, a scarf or a belt, or worn casually with slacks, or matching stockings and clunky little shoes!
