TOP 40 TOPICS

by Dave Elliott

As radio programmers and record executives, we live in an age of information. Broadcast Data Systems, SoundScan, Arbitron, and each station's own weekly and yearly research projects now provide our industry with its own unique information culture. These numbers not only allow us to better evaluate the current reality of any competitive situation, they also help us communicate much more efficiently with each other. It is quick and easy to quote a BDS or Arbitron statistic, and it can paint a much more accurate picture of reality than you could with your own words (your own perceptions and descriptions).

Research numbers allow us to separate the forest from the trees—that's why we use research. However, if you focus entirely on numbers without factoring in your own creative instincts, you may produce the exact opposite result. In this information age, it is easy to allow yourself to become a "prisoner of intellect." This occurs when you respond mechanically to decisions, relying on yesterday's responses in today's marketplace. You are a prisoner any time you override your own common sense or take action based entirely on research. In our industry, creative instincts must be a part of the decision-making process. Dr. Porsche (yes, the guy who invented the car) said it best: "We did no market research, we had no sales forecasts, no return-on-investment calculations. I very simply built my dream car and figured that there would be other people who share my dream." As a programmer, if you take the same attitude, you might succeed beyond your wildest measurement of any spreadsheet!

Records showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A record below the top 20 which has been on either chart for more than 20 weeks will not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to those records which attain 1500 detections (mainstream) or 500 detections (rhythm) for the first time. If two records are tied in number of plays, the record being played on more stations is placed first. Records below the top 20 are removed from the charts after 26 weeks.
