MEL KARMAZIN

ON HIS DEPARTURE, HOWARD AND THE FUTURE

IT WAS CLASSIC MEL KARMAZIN; relaxed, yet combative.

The former Viacom president/COO made his first public appearance since his departure from Viacom earlier this year at the 12th annual National Assn. of Broadcasters' European Radio Show, held Nov. 7-9 in Lisbon, Portugal.

Here is Karmazin's Q&A session with Billboard Radio Monitor London bureau chief Emmanuel Legrand.

The U.S. radio landscape has dramatically changed in the past 10 years. You've been one of the architects of these changes. What are your views on the current U.S. radio market?

I am very bullish about the radio business. I think it is a great business. In 1996—when the [Federal Communications Commission] changed the ownership rules and allowed [you] to have up to eight radio stations in a single market and no limit on the total number of stations—there was a tremendous [amount] of merger and acquisition activity. Many companies took the opportunities to expand their portfolio.

Clear Channel owns 1,200 stations and as the biggest aggregator of the stations only owns 10%-12% of the total. So despite a great deal of consolidation, it is not Microsoft. The biggest broadcaster benefiting from consolidation does not have anywhere near the kind of market share that Microsoft has.

I think there is a need and an opportunity but I do not think the government will be cooperative about further consolidation. My viewpoint was that only one station in Los Angeles was a good business; and when rules changed to allow two, [then] two stations was a better business; and now owning eight stations in Los Angeles, that's an even more extraordinary business.

I think the industry has made a lot of mistakes along the way in how it treated consolidation, but for me, who started in the business when regulation only allowed seven AM and seven FM stations, consolidation has benefited the consumer and the shareholders in the companies that have participated in this business.

The perception in Europe is that consolidation in the United States has not made better products but made radio groups even more profitable. Do you think consolidation has had a good effect on the whole landscape?

I do. I believe there is much that has been written about the negatives of consolidation, but if you look at the facts, you will see that there are more formats available on radio, and more choices. If you look at the facts, you'll see that the consumers have more choice in programming than they had before. Take a market where you had three owners of stations and they were all competing in the same genre—country music, for example. After consolidation took place, you had more formats—jazz, rap, rock, etc.

The other aspect is that it was also a defensive move for the industry. We've seen advertisers all consolidate, and advertising agencies are consolidating. When I left Viacom this summer, there were four main agencies that accounted for 75% of CBS revenue. You don't want to be a small company negotiating up against these very big advertising agencies. Why would the buyer have all the power and against them you would just have a single radio station? In order to keep some quality in the negotiation between advertisers and media, the media needs to have the ability to consolidate to compete effectively.

Do you think there is still room for consolidation and that it would be good for the market?

I do. In a market the size of New York City that has a hundred free over-the-air radio stations, one company can only own eight stations. You can only own 8% of all radio stations in a market the size of New York! I don't see [a] reason why it should not be more.

So let's assume you believe that in any market there should be at least four or five competitors. Let's take New York, and let's say there should be up to five different companies who could operate stations—that means one company could operate up to 20 radio stations, not eight stations. And then, if there's an argument that says, "You may have 20 stations that represent the most revenue and you have too much revenue," well, in the U.S. there's the Justice Department, which looks at acquisitions involving Microsoft and other industries. So the Justice Department would be the one ruling on whether there is too much consolidation.

What would be the effects of further consolidation?

I think you need a very healthy radio industry. If free over-the-air broadcasting is not going to be very financially viable, radio groups will not be able to step up and pay for the programming that the consumers want to hear. We saw what happened in television when cable TV came along. They had two streams of revenue and terrestrial broadcasting only had one stream of revenue, so an awful lot of very desirable programming has moved from free TV to pay TV. The same thing could happen in radio.

If you are not going to get the kind of return from your radio stations because it is not a big enough business or it is not growing as much, then you will see capital allocated elsewhere. In my opinion, that would be very bad for the industry. There is a need for more consolidation, but there's no sympathy on both sides of the [political spectrum] right now for any change. Even with a Republican administration, there have not been many moves toward deregulation. It's a problem, and if you can't grow, investors will look somewhere else.

Does it make sense for Howard Stern to join a company that has only 600,000-700,000 subscribers? Were you surprised by Stern's move?

That was brilliant for Howard. The jury is out on whether or not it is good for anybody else!

To make it clear, I had no knowledge at all in advance that he was doing it. We e-mailed each other after it happened and I have not spoken with him since, so all the information I have is what has been filed with the FCC and what is generally available to the public.

It is an unbelievable deal . . . for Howard. He already makes a tremendous amount of money; [now] he will make even more money.

It is probably not good news for Viacom, because if they did not want him, they would have fired him, so the assumption is that they wanted him . . . If the question is "Is it good for Sirius?" who knows? One will have to see whether or not the subscriber growth [Sirius is] anticipating is achieved. If Sirius can get at least 1 million new subscribers at $12.99 a month, then they paid for it. If they don't, they made a bad investment.

'I AM NOT TOO GOOD AT BEING THE NO. 2 PERSON IN A COMPANY.'

Do you think Stern would have stayed with Viacom if you had been there?

No idea, but I would doubt it. As much as Howard and I had a good personal relationship, he did negotiate with me for a lot of money and Viacom paid a lot. Each time we renegotiated, he asked for more money. He always complained about how much money we made vs. how much money he made. This deal will pay him an unbelievable amount of money.

Would I have known in advance? Sure. Would I have had the ability to match a proposal? Sure. But, at the end of the day, do I think he would have gone anyway? Sure.

When it comes to Stern, the issue of free speech comes to mind. Has it been more difficult to exercise this free speech in the United States recently? Is that what you hold against the FCC?

No. I think that in the United States indecency is protected speech under the Constitution. This means that you are allowed to broadcast indecency. But what the Supreme Court has said is that, even though indecency is legal, it is necessary to protect children. So if you want to broadcast indecency, you can do it after 10 o'clock at night. Between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m., there's no problem in saying anything you want.

What has happened is that some broadcasters have adopted a talk format and many of the talk radio performers are not interested in appealing to an over-50 audience but to an 18- to 34-year-old demo. And it would be ridiculous having programming targeting 18- to 34-year-olds that is not going to include the topic of sex. The government has never said that you can't discuss sex on the radio. Life would be so much easier if the government said, "You cannot discuss sex on the radio." We would have taken it to court and the Supreme Court would have said they're right or whatever and we would have lived by the rules.

[Now] the FCC has moved into television recently, because of that Janet Jackson thing.

The half-time show at the Super Bowl, you mean?

I have watched that video more than anyone in America [or] in the world. I've seen it in every angle in slow motion. I've signed an affidavit to the FCC. It was on the screen for a fraction of a second, but a fraction of a second too long. It should have not happened. Nobody knew it was going to happen. Janet Jackson duped MTV and CBS, but you know, much to do about nothing.

I was in a box watching the Super Bowl. I was watching the field and I didn't know something had happened until I got a call. If you were in the stadium you would not have seen it, and if you were watching it on TV you didn't really see it, but if you [had read the] Drudge Report, you would have seen it blown away, repeated on and on.

So I think that indecency thing is politically motivated. I think it represents a small fraction of the content that is aired daily. We still don't have clear guidelines.

What do you think of digital radio?

It is important that radio makes the change to digital. Any other media is digital. Radio should not continue to be analog. In the U.S. the benefits of digital radio are very good but not nearly as extreme as they are in Europe. In many countries the switch to digital will represent so many more choices, and that's going [to be] so good for the consumer.

I am very bullish about the radio business in the U.S., and even more bullish about the radio business outside the United States.

You lost your job at Viacom a few month ago. Did you see it coming?

Give me the opportunity to straighten that one out. This is the first time I'm hearing this was anything other than voluntary.

[When CBS and Viacom merged] I was very happy to take my money and go away, but it was not permitted. The requirement of the merger was that I would stay for three years and [run] the company as chief operating officer. When my contract came up, I was ready to leave. The board asked me to stay for three more years. I agreed to stay, but nine months into that deal I decided it was better for me to leave. I am not too good at being the No. 2 person in a company. So in a very amicable way, I resigned. There was nothing to see coming.

What's next for you?

Let me tell you what it would be. It will be [one of] three things.

I will be the chief executive officer of a publicly traded company headquartered in New York City that is a growth company, meaning that if the GDP is going to go up 4% a year, the revenues of the company I want to be with are going to be growing at least high single-digit or double digits. So being part of those large companies like Wal-Mart or GE or Microsoft or Citibank that are not growing at that level is not something I would do.

Possibility No. 2 is I will buy something, using my money or a combination of my money and the private equity money that's around—and there's a lot around. If I bought something it would be substantial, as I am not used to being in small businesses.

And then the third alternative if [options] one or two do not happen—I'll do nothing, and that'll be fine with me. ●●●

MEL KARMAZIN:

THE HOUSE THAT MEL BUILT

FROM INFINITY TO VIACOM

BY TONY SANDERS

Infinity Broadcasting has about 100 radio stations outside of the top 20 Arbitron markets. A Billboard Radio Monitor conservative estimate values those stations at more than $3.5 billion. And the way Viacom's top executives have been talking recently, many of those stations might—repeat, might—be for sale.

The chances are good that those stations are worth a lot more than $3.5 billion—but how much more depends on the delicate balancing of cash-flow margins with station-trading multiples to arrive at a “fair” price for a station or a group of stations.

But we're getting ahead of our story.

This is the story of “The House That Mel Built.”

Earlier this month, Viacom chairman/CEO Sumner N. Redstone told an audience of Wall Street analysts and investors that Viacom plans to “focus on the top 20 markets only.” That statement, made Nov. 8, was a reiteration of what CBS chairman Les Moonves said during the company's quarterly conference call in October.

Redstone told his listeners to expect to see Viacom “disposing of” stations and “doing partnerships” with groups, such as the recent deal with Spanish Broadcasting System.

While there have been expressions of intent to sell in the past, this time around Redstone seemed to send a real sell signal when he said, “I'm not too concerned about the markets outside the top 20.”

FIRST THERE WERE THREE

The radio group that Redstone now owns and that Moonves runs for him was built primarily by three men: Mel Karmazin at Infinity, Dan Mason at Westinghouse's Group W and Steve Dodge at American Radio Systems.

Mason certainly had his hand in building and operating a significant part of the Infinity radio group. And Dodge figures into the story because of his own efforts at buying and consolidating radio groups during the early 1990s.

But it's Karmazin who appears to be waiting in the wings, ready to buy or run a major group of radio stations. And the tale of this consolidated radio group is best told by following it from Infinity's and Karmazin's position.

To put things in perspective, Mason got his start in radio in the mid-1970s, as did Karmazin. Mason joined Westinghouse in 1993 as president of its Group W Radio division.

In November 1995, Westinghouse acquired all of CBS for $5.4 billion. Mason was named president of the radio division that same year.

In 1997, Westinghouse/CBS bought American Radio Systems for $2.6 billion. And one year later, in 1998, Westinghouse/CBS bought Infinity Broadcasting for $4.9 billion.

Then Redstone made his move: In 1999, Viacom and CBS announced the $34.5 billion merger of CBS into Viacom. As originally crafted, the deal gave Viacom 65% of Infinity Broadcasting.

In 2000, Viacom acquired the remaining part of Infinity. The final price tag, according to Viacom, was $39.8 billion.

Mason continued to run this dramatically expanded radio group, renamed Infinity Broadcasting, and incorporating the American Radio Systems, Group W, CBS and Infinity radio stations. But it didn't take long for Mason to be edged aside.

BEHIND THE SCENES

In March 2002, John Sykes was named chairman/CEO of Infinity Radio. That meant Mason was to report to him. And it didn't take more than a few months for things to change again. By August, Clear Channel's John Fullam had replaced Mason as Infinity Radio president/COO. Mason, it was then reported by Billboard, would "remain a consultant."

By then Karmazin had already earned his own Viacom COO stripes.

VIACOM AND AMERICAN RADIO SYSTEMS

Dodge's roots are in cable TV, where he founded American Cablesystems in 1978. He ran that company until it was bought by Continental Cablevision 10 years later. Dodge then formed Atlantic Radio in 1988 and transformed it into American Radio Systems in 1993.

Dodge's American Radio Systems went on its own consolidation binge during the next few years, buying up many old-line radio broadcasters. Most notable among them was the $655 million purchase of EZ Communications in 1997 from Art Kellar and Alan Box.

American Radio Systems was bought by Westinghouse/CBS in the late '90s for $2.6 billion. Dodge left to form American Tower and ran that company until retiring earlier this year.

WESTWOOD ONE

Ten years ago, Infinity bought a stake in Westwood One and helped the company embark on its own series of acquisitions. At the time that Infinity bought into Westwood One, the radio network announced its $100 million acquisition of Unistar Radio Networks.

In 1996, Westwood One bought the major-market operations of Shadow Traffic (New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Philadelphia). By 1998, Westwood One had bought the remaining Shadow Traffic markets. And in 1999, Westwood One embarked on the acquisition of Metro Networks, Shadow Traffic's former competitor.

VIACOM'S BROADCASTING ROOTS

Viacom was founded in 1970 and bought its first broadcast property in 1977: channel 30 in Hartford-New Britain, Conn. In 1979, the group bought eight radio stations and one TV station from Sonderling Broadcasting, for $32 million. One of those radio stations, New York's black-oriented WWRL-AM, was donated to the United Negro College Fund and subsequently sold to the National Black Network for $1.5 million.

From 1982 to the end of that decade, Viacom built its radio division with purchases in Chicago, Seattle, Detroit, Denver, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

And as fate would have it, much of what was originally Viacom Radio was sold in 1997 to a merged Evergreen Media and Chancellor Media. Those stations, and that group, ultimately became part of Clear Channel.

Yet Viacom's 20-year history as a radio broadcaster ended only briefly. It was just two years later that the group would make its play for the newly consolidated CBS-Infinity.

THE ROOTS OF INFINITY

Karmazin founded Infinity in 1972 with two radio partners. In general, the history of Infinity is the history of a radio group that never sold anything it bought, and was always willing to pay what seemed to be a record-breaking price to get what it wanted.

As proof of this, it took only 21 years for Infinity to become the largest group owner of radio stations. That was in 1993, three years before the floodgates were opened and Jacor became the lead station aggregator, thanks to the Telecommunications Act of 1996.

Infinity's first purchase was KOME-FM San Jose, Calif., for $460,000. It wasn't until 1979 that the group bought its next station, WBCN-FM Boston for $3.6 million.

A series of record-breaking station purchases followed in quick succession. In 1981, Infinity bought three stations—WZRC-AM and WKTU-FM (now WXRK) New York and WYSP-FM Philadelphia. The price for WKTU was estimated by Jim Duncan of Duncan's American Radio at a then-record $16 million, with the AM going for $6 million. Duncan put the price paid for WYSP at $8 million.

Next came purchases in Houston (KXYZ-AM) in 1983, then the purchase of a combo in Chicago (WJJD/WJMK) in 1984. In 1986, Infinity bought KROQ-FM Los Angeles for about $40 million, WJFK-FM Washington, D.C., for $13 million and WQYK-FM Tampa, Fla., for $27 million.

The next record-breaking price tag was for KVIL-AM-FM Dallas-Fort Worth, for which Infinity paid $82 million in 1987.

The group bought WOMC-FM Detroit in 1988 and Baltimore's WLIF-AM-FM in 1989.

GAINING LEVERAGE

In 1988 Infinity went through a leveraged buyout. The company emerged as a publicly traded stock again in 1992 and almost immediately started buying more stations. Only this time, the Federal Communications Commission was allowing duopoly purchases, which made it all the more worthwhile to buy major stations in major markets. Infinity's big deal in 1992 was New York's WFAN-AM from Emmis for the heart-pounding price of $70 million. Infinity also bought stations in other markets to form duopolies: notably, WUSN-FM Chicago and

WZLX-FM Boston.

And then came the day the earth shook. In 1993, Karmazin and Infinity stunned the industry with the $116 million purchase of KRTH-FM Los Angeles. That FM gave Infinity a duopoly in the most valuable West Coast market.

More stations were purchased in 1994, such as WXYT-FM Detroit and WPGC-AM-FM Washington, D.C.

By this time, consolidation was starting to pervade the industry and other group operators were busy acquiring stations. That meant the real action was in buying other radio groups. Infinity bought Alliance for $275 million in 1995. The next year, Karmazin bought Granum for $410 million.

Westinghouse acquired all of CBS in 1995, and then bought American Radio Systems in 1997.

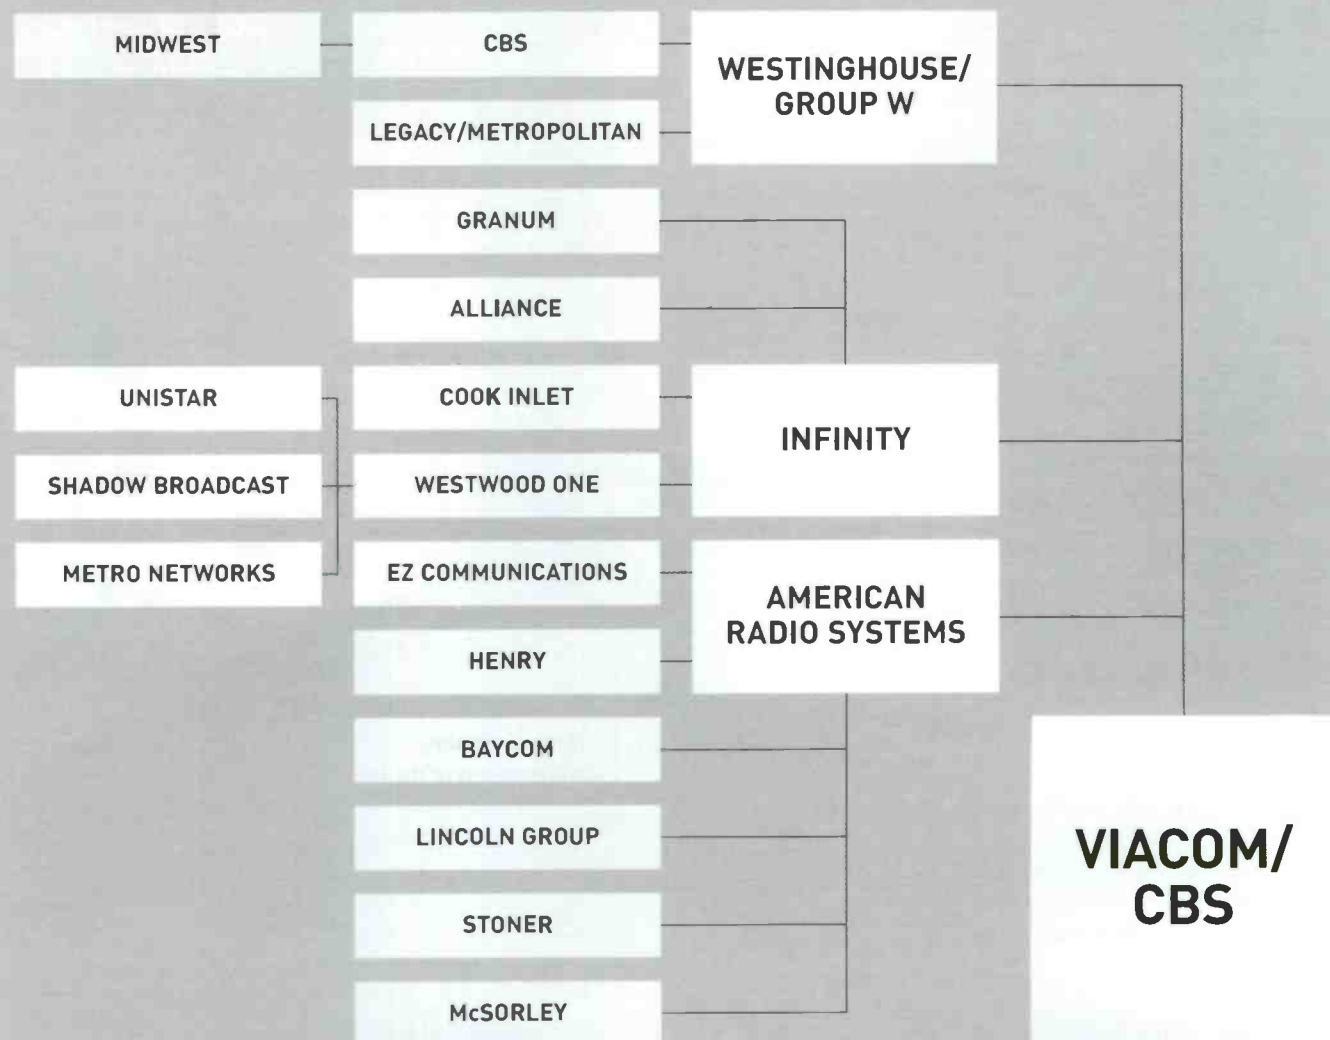

DEALS IN THE NEW CENTURY

The most significant deal made recently was in 2000, when Infinity—as part of Viacom—closed on its $1.4 billion purchase of 18 stations from Clear Channel. The stations are in San Diego; Phoenix; Denver; Cleveland; Cincinnati; Orlando, Fla.; and Greensboro/Winston-Salem, N.C.

Karmazin said not too many years ago, during one of the annual National Assn. of Broadcasters conferences, that part of his career ambition had always been to own the CBS Radio group.

An alternate title to "The House That Mel Built" might be "Sumner House," but that story won't be written for a while. At least, not until it's clear how much of the radio division Redstone really plans to retain, and how much he plans to spin off.

MERGER-MANIA: VIACOM'S BUILDING BLOCKS

COUNTRY RIDING HIGH IN MOTOWN

DRIVING TO SUCCESS IN DETROIT BY KEN TUCKER PHOTOGRAPHS BY DAVE KRIEGER / RETNA LTD.

Country WYCD Detroit GM Steve Schram credits the quality of current country music with kick-starting his station in the summer Arbitron ratings. "I really see the energy of the format propelling the success of the radio station," he says.

The Infinity station jumped 3.8-4.6 12-plus for a No. 5 finish and 3.6-5.1 25-54 to take fourth place in that demo. The market's sole country outlet even reached No. 3 in one daypart: Middays rose 3.3-5.6 25-44.

Schram says, "25-44 is a wonderful cell to perform well in. It speaks to how well the format is performing overall."

The good news doesn't stop there. The station's cume reached a nine-book high in the summer, according to Schram.

Although he admits that his country experience is limited—

he has been GM at WYCD for slightly more than a year—Schram says he can tell that the format is healthy. "The strength of the country music format right now musically is as vibrant as I can ever remember it," he says. "While my personal history . . . doesn't have a long legacy of country to it, I have always been aware of the format from either a competitive standpoint or having been involved in it in one way or another."

Schram saw the beginnings of a country resurgence at this year's Hoedown, a long-running country music festival in downtown Detroit. "We could just sense the energy around the format, the music and the artist lineup that we had," he says.

Former PD Mac Daniels, who left in August for Clear Channel/Austin, agrees. "We were really able to put together a spectacular Hoedown this year," he says, "and it really started the groundswell."

Performers at the Hoedown included Tracy Byrd, the Charlie Daniels Band, Andy Griggs, SheDaisy and LeAnn Rimes, plus new acts Emerson Drive, Buddy Jewell, Josh Turner and Trent Willmon.

Also in the lineup were members of the now-famous Muzik Mafia—Gretchen Wilson and Big & Rich. "We were all over the Muzik Mafia thing before the whole world was turned on to it," Daniels says.

It was during Big & Rich's performance that the fireworks began, according to Schram. "At the end of their set—when they're doing 'Save a Horse (Ride a Cowboy)—out walks Kid Rock to help them with the rest of the song,” Schram recalls. “To have those types of performers come in and excite and energize the audience that came down [was a huge benefit].”

The afterglow from the annual festival, which WYCD has been sponsoring for seven years, lasted long past the final song. “I think that what I’ve called the ‘Hoedown halo’ is part of our story for the summer book,” Schram says. “There’s no question that in the first phase of the book that was evident.”

AN ATYPICAL FEST

How could one music festival influence a station’s ratings so strongly? Well, this is no ordinary music festival.

“Over a three-day period, the Hoedown attracts about 800,000 people,” Schram explains. “It’s a free, outdoor, country music festival. I call it ‘country Woodstock on concrete.’ People come down for three days to enjoy great country music and mill around. It’s a people festival as well as a music festival.”

Daniels doesn’t discount the power of the music, but he has his own take on why WYCD scored in the summer book. “I really attribute it to consistency,” he says, “the continued dedication that we had to blood-and-guts programming and promotions.

“It’s not just something we hit upon,” he adds. “It’s something we have been doing since I’ve been there. The consistency of doing the same things over the years finally caught on.”

Daniels also cites the staff’s hard work. “Any time that we needed something executed, they executed it to its fullest,” he says. “Everyone takes ownership of that radio station.”

Schram cites several other reasons for the station’s success, including that it’s “a well-programmed, adult radio station that happens to play country music.”

He also mentions successful summer promotions with local-boy-done-good Josh Gracin and an event for truck enthusiasts, the Pick Up Parade, as testimony to the format’s strength and the fans’ loyalty—to both the music and WYCD.

A strong summer concert schedule that included Kenny Chesney with Uncle Kracker and Rascal Flatts, Tim McGraw with the Warren Brothers and Alan Jackson and Martina McBride also benefited the station, according to Daniels and Schram. “There was a lot of overall awareness in the market of the format,” Daniels says.

In fact, according to Billboard Boxscore, those three shows pulled in some of the highest grosses of the season in Detroit. Chesney grossed almost $912,000 in August, the Jackson/McBride ticket scored $680,000 in September and McGraw took in nearly $590,000 in July.

Schram says Daniels excelled at taking advantage of Detroit-area concerts. “Mac certainly set the bar with the labels and the artists and the promoters to make sure [the station received] the maximum benefit of being affiliated with an artist’s performance in the marketplace,” he says.

Of course, the top draw in Detroit is local artist Kid Rock. The station embraces him and Uncle Kracker, believing that they fit the profile for WYCD and its listeners.

“Detroit loves its country with a little bit of a rock edge to it,” Schram says. “These guys, in particular, have done a good job of diversifying their appeal. What they have done for us is bring in listeners from other formats who still like their music, and perhaps like hearing them in a different setting.”

Daniels agrees. “Detroit being a rock town the way it is, [the people] are passionate about their music,” he says. “Anything that really appeals to them, such as Montgomery Gentry, Gretchen Wilson or Big & Rich, when you attach yourself to artists like that, you can do nothing but help yourself.”

Schram doesn’t see country’s strong spring and summer as just blips on the radar. “What has carried us forth and put our momentum into fall,” he says, “is the fact that the resurgence of the music is real. It wasn’t just a temporary glow that occurred.” ●●●

CHIPPING AWAY AT SUCCESS

INCOMING COUNTRY WYCD DETROIT PD CHIP MILLER has his work cut out for him, following stellar summer Arbitron ratings that saw the station vault from 11th to a three-way tie for fifth in the market 12-plus. Miller is replacing Mac Daniels, who took an OM/PD position with Clear Channel/Austin in August.

Rather than resting on the station’s recent success, Miller—who arrives from country WGKX (Kix 106) Memphis—says there’s work to be done.

“The first job is to get some consistent numbers,” he says. “The summer book was a great book for the radio station, but it consistently hasn’t been in that spot where it needs to be. I think there are more shares in the market for ‘YCD.’”

It’s that kind of aggressive thinking that got Miller the job, according to WYCD GM Steve Schram. He says one thing resonated during Miller’s interview process and in others’ feedback about him: “He had a passion for what would make the radio station go to the next level,” Schram says. “He had an idea and a crystallized concept of what would take it there.

“He was very genuinely knowledgeable about this particular situation,” Schram continues. “He has kept an eye and an ear on WYCD for the last couple of years. He knew the background [of WYCD]. He knew the history of our talent and the players and where our position in the marketplace was.”

A one-year programming stint at nearby country WFBE Flint, Mich., provided Miller with a glimpse of the Detroit market in general and WYCD in particular. “That whole experience gave me an opportunity to see what was going on when Mac first got there,” Miller says, “and to see what he did in the evolution of the radio station.”

Miller doesn’t feel that programming country in such a decidedly urban market will involve as many obstacles as one might think. “There’s the urban makeup, which is always a challenge,” he says, “but working in Memphis and Flint, I’m kind of used to that.

“I guess I’m kind of becoming a high-density-black-market country specialist,” he adds with a laugh.

“My experience in Flint is going to help a lot,” he continues. “Flint is just a small Detroit.”

Because country consumers make up a small portion of the Detroit market, according to Miller, he hopes to find ways to broaden the format and expand its mass appeal.

As a keen observer of WYCD, Miller is well aware of Daniels’ contributions. “Mac definitely raised the level of awareness for the radio station in the market,” he says. “Mac gave it some consistency and some identity, which it was lacking for some time.”

Miller, however, is eager to make his own mark. “When I’m hired for a station,” he says, “I want to make the station my own and do what I think is right in that marketplace.”

His goal, he says, is to invigorate WYCD. “I’ve re-energized the last four radio stations I’ve worked at and have seen shares grow exponentially. I’m a firm believer in getting away from the passiveness that I’ve seen stations programmed with.”

Asked what re-energizing WYCD might entail, Miller is quick to respond. “A more aggressive street presence, a more aggressive stationality and more aggressive and unique imaging,” he says. “It’s creating an entertainment brand and less of just a music spot on the dial.”

POLITICALLY CHARGED!

CENSORED AND STYMIED by the medium that gave rise to their careers, Howard Stern and Opie & Anthony have sought refuge in the less restricted environment of satellite radio.

Industry observers predict other envelope-pushing air talent will eventually join them, attracted by the wider freedom of expression that satellite offers.

But will the Federal Communications Commission follow them, too? Could the FCC enforce the indecency statute—which Stern claims drove him away from terrestrial—at satellite radio?

That's exactly what Saul Levine is hoping it will do. The president of Mt. Wilson FM Broadcasters filed a Petition for Rulemaking Oct. 29 to amend Part 25 of the FCC's still-unfinalized satellite radio rules to include an indecency provision.

While legal experts say subscription radio enjoys deeper First Amendment protections than free radio, Levine's petition argues that the FCC is, in fact, empowered to enforce indecency rules at satellite and asks the commission to "level [the] playing field."

"It's totally unfair and totally wrong to penalize one segment of the radio industry in favor of the other," Levine tells Billboard Radio Monitor. Levine says Howard Stern's satellite radio announcement at the National Assn. of Broadcasters convention last month triggered his filing. "Howard and satellite radio timed it so exquisitely so that it could do the maximum damage to demoralize and injure the radio industry," Levine adds. "It was vicious, it was malicious."

The FCC's authority, Levine's petition states, is based on the fact that it has already subjected satellite radio to equal employment opportunity and political broadcasting rules and policies. What's more, the petition says, the type of radio service (e.g., broadcast, common carrier, etc.) "is not a relevant consideration" in the imposition of programming/public interest rules, nor is whether satellite radio operates as a broadcast or subscription service. In fact, the commission put satcasters on notice in 1997 that it "may adopt additional public interest requirements at a later date."

The Mt. Wilson case in a nutshell: Since the FCC has applied some programming rules to satellite radio, it has the authority to implement others, including an indecency provision.

Levine, who owns KMZT-FM Los Angeles, KUSR-AM Beverly Hills, Calif., and KTIM-AM Piedmont, Calif., also makes the point that satellite radio is not cable; it is a radio service and is therefore subject to Title 18 of the U.S. Code, Section 1464, which prohibits broadcasting indecent material between 6:00 a.m. and 10:00 p.m.

Bolstering Levine's case is that some of the spectrum used by satellite operators was granted without an auction, placing it in the province of the public airwaves. Since that slice of spectrum was loaned, not bought, it belongs to the people and, the argument goes, the FCC can attach indecency regulations to it.

FCC HAS THE AUTHORITY

"Oh, yes, the FCC has the authority," says Andrew Schwartzman of the Media Access Project. "But to do it, they would have to change their own current rules, and I'm not so sure they would do it on their own, without pressure from Congress."

"The Communications Act defines subscription service broadcasting differently than broadcasting," Schwartzman adds. "The FCC has the power to change that." But, he says, whether that would hold up in court "is another matter."

John Crigler, a communications attorney with Garvey Schubert Barer, tells Monitor that Mt. Wilson's argument "won't be enough to persuade the FCC that it nevertheless should exercise that authority." The commission, Crigler notes, has all kinds of latent authority. For example, it has had jurisdiction to regulate indecency and profanity since passage of the Communications Act of 1934, but didn't act on indecency until the 1970s and didn't declare any broadcast profane until this year's controversial Golden Globe Awards decision.

The issue is not if the commission has this authority, but "whether or not there is enough political impetus at this point to exercise that authority," Crigler says.

Were the commission to, at the behest of Congress, extend indecency enforcement to satellite, that might be inconsistent with the Constitution.

"It's the First Amendment that is the more severe limitation on what the FCC can do," Crigler adds. The petition "starts the conversation, but doesn't address the constitutional issue."

WE, THE PEOPLE

A legal argument that squares indecency restrictions on subscription radio with the First Amendment could be difficult to make. When the Supreme Court upheld the FCC's power to regulate indecency in the landmark Pacifica case of the 1970s, it cited the "pervasive" nature of free, over-the-air broadcasting to justify its ruling.

But that "pervasiveness" argument breaks down when talking about satellite radio, a Senate staffer who requested anonymity tells Monitor.

"Satellite radio is a paid service," the staffer says. "You elect to have it, you elect to buy it and you elect to turn it on. It is something that you choose."

Ron Rodrigues, senior director of public relations for Sirius, says the company's subscription-based service has "a built-in safeguard against people who would otherwise be accidentally tuning [in to] indecent programming." On older Sirius radios, subscribers can enroll in the "family pack," which blocks more risqué channels, including Raw Dog and some hip-hop channels. Enrolling involves making a phone call to the customer service center. On newer Sirius radios, password-enabled subscribers can block individual channels.

Rodrigues notes that listeners need a credit card to subscribe and that the majority of credit card holders are over the age of 18.

TENSION BETWEEN SATELLITE AND BROADCAST

Speaking at the National Assn. of Broadcasters Radio Show last month, FCC Commissioner Kevin Martin said there is "increasing tension" over the different decency standards for broadcasters and paid subscription services transmitted via cable and satellite. The Republican commissioner said it is a subject the FCC "will have to face—whether or not there should be changes made to level the playing field."

In an earlier interview with Monitor, Democratic Commissioner Jonathan Adelstein said, "The courts have held that there is a different standard for subscription services, so it's difficult for us to argue that we would have the authority to go after subscription services. I know that this might not seem fair from the perspective of over-the-air broadcasters or from the perspective of people who don't necessarily distinguish between the two. But we have to be careful not to overstep the bounds of our authority, or we risk having what limited authority we have slapped down by the courts and forever limiting our ability to enforce the law."

The Senate staffer doesn't envision smooth sailing should the FCC attach indecency rules to a paid service. "It would be very difficult to get the FCC to promulgate a regulation that would be upheld in court," the staffer says. "If Congress decides to do it, that's a mandate, but that, too, would be hard to uphold in court—but a little easier than if an agency did that . . . And if you were to hit satellite radio with indecency, you would also have to hit cable. And my personal opinion is that is a difficult legal argument."

First Amendment attorney and former FCC counsel Bob Corn-Revere, who wrote the recent Viacom reply brief in the indecency forfeiture case over the Janet Jackson incident, agrees. "How does an agency have the authority to do something unconstitutional?" Corn-Revere asks. "The FCC doesn't have the authority to write unconstitutional rules."

AFTER REINING IN RADIO, CAN THE FCC MUZZLE SATELLITE?

BY PAUL HEINE ILLUSTRATION BY ROY SCOTT

Corn-Revere says federal lawmakers could push for a change in the upcoming 109th Congress. "That's another matter," he says. But he doesn't believe legislation will come from a groundswell of conservative Republicans. He points to Sen. John B. Breaux, D-La., who introduced an amendment to an indecency bill in March that would make satellite and cable subject to the same FCC fines as broadcast stations. That amendment was defeated 12-11 in committee.

The issue, Corn-Revere says, "is very bipartisan. Even at the commission, who has been pushing hard for bigger fines? The Democrats."

TAKING CUE FROM CONGRESS

Crigler says the debate is likely to "languish unless a political impetus gathers around it ... This is the kind of thing that sometimes people pile on to, and if it gains that kind of impetus, the commission would probably take it more seriously. My hunch is that it will take some push, not just from the broadcast industry or individual licensees, but a push from Congress."

Erwin Krasnow was general counsel for the NAB during the Pacifica case. "The court said that the FCC could enforce indecency rules because of the special, unique nature of broadcasting," Krasnow, now with Garvey Schubert Barer, tells Monitor. "Broadcasting is sort of a guest in the home. In that regard, it's not like a movie theater or a book that takes an affirmative act. As a result, broadcasting is entitled to a lesser degree of First Amendment protection."

Krasnow doubts Levine's petition will get any serious consideration at the commission. "This is an issue that's more appropriate for Congress," he says.

Just because Republicans control Congress and the White House, don't assume the government is clamoring to walk into this First Amendment minefield. It is not even clear whether Congress will be able to agree on a compromise indecency bill during the current lame duck session, even though both chambers have already adopted separate bills to increase fines and potentially impose liability on performers as well as broadcasters.

"It is not whether they feel strongly about it, it's whether there is time enough in this legislative session to act on it," Crigler says of new indecency legislation. "Both the House and the Senate feel strongly that the FCC should be given more authority in how it exercises its discretion. It's likely that in the coming year, Congress will give the FCC more authority to fine broadcasters. It's hard to know whether they will also come back to this question [of extending indecency rules to satellite and cable services] that was discussed by the House and Senate subcommittees last summer. My sense is that the commission will probably take its cue from Congress." ●●●

MOVIES VS. MUSIC DOWNLOADS: IS IT JUST NERDS IN THE BASEMENT SHARING FLICKS?

COMMENTARY
FLEISCHER
bigchampagne.com

When the Motion Picture Assn. of America announced Nov. 4 that the film business would follow the lead of Big Music and file "John Doe" lawsuits against those who file-share movies, it is safe to say there weren't millions of Internet users quaking in their boots. That's because movie downloading, though a growing segment on peer-to-peer networks, just isn't all that popular.

A quick look at the chart below shows that the top 10 movies on P2P networks are shared at less than one-tenth the volume of the top songs. There are a host of reasons why, but let's start with ease of use. When comparing the experience of downloading MP3s with downloading movies, BigChampagne CEO Eric Garland is fond of saying, "It's easy to grab an armful of free toasters, but if someone gave you a free 747, you would still have to figure out a way to get it home."

Simply put, movie files are so large that even the best-of-breed broadband connection will likely take several hours to download one. That's assuming the movie you want is available and encoded properly and is not the product of some low-rent camcorder pirate with his thumb over the lens.

Moreover, the consumer proposition between the movie business and regular folks like us is a pretty darn good one. Unlike the longstanding music business strategy of marketing a single to consumers, then expecting them to buy a 12-pack of songs they know nothing about, the film business offers consumers a series of syndication or release windows with descending price points.

That means if you just can't wait to see "Team America: World Police," you plunk down your nine bucks for a ticket, buy some $5 popcorn and it's a party. However, if you think maybe "Gigli" is a dish best served cold, then you enjoy it for "free" when it comes to TBS or USA or even a major network. Of course, you're paying for it by viewing advertisements (unless you're one of those copyright thieves who owns a TiVo), but the fact is, you can see any movie you want for the price you want to pay (or not) if you are willing to wait for that particular syndication window. And that is a huge reason why movie fans don't have quite the mistrust and dislike for Hollywood that music fans seem to have for the record business.

So, combine a small inventory of available movies with unwieldy file size and a workable and rewarding syndication revenue model, and it is highly unlikely that movies will be "Napsterized" like the music business any time soon.

Whether we choose to admit it, the strategy of selling only albums (until recently) to consumers who clearly wanted unbundled songs has resulted in a breakdown of public trust. That is no small hurdle for the industry and may be the reason America seems to have tuned out its lawsuits, legislation and "education" and continues to use file-sharing programs in record numbers. Not so incidentally, the biggest spikes BigChampagne has seen in movie downloading seem linked to the public service announcements the industry showed to paying customers in multiplexes across the country. These attempts at educating the audience actually taught thousands of compliant movie fans that it's possible to download movies on the Internet for free.

Before then, they never knew. Funny how this education is really just marketing without the bitchin' voice-over.

I'm guessing, from the much smaller number of movies available on any given P2P network, that the movie downloader likely belongs to one of two politically motivated groups: hardcore, for-profit piracy rings (which need to be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law) and stay-at-home computer nerds residing in their parents' garage conversion who have downloaded every Halle Berry movie (I'd bet on these guys having purchased everything related to the beautiful Academy Award winner as well). I would argue that this latter group needs fresh air and exercise more than it needs a common enemy.

➔ Ashlee Simpson P2P update since the "Saturday Night Live" fiasco: New searches have gone through the roof. Meanwhile, the critical tracks-per-fan ratio is holding steady at more than three. Don't break out the Milli Vanilli jokes just yet.

➔ Nelly and Usher join the rarified ranks of Eminem, as their respective market shares nudge 40% (meaning nearly one in two downloaders has a song by Nelly, Usher or Eminem). By comparison, of the rock bands in the BigChampagne TopSwaps Top 10 at press time, Maroon5 leads Green Day 21% to 18.5%.

➔ Fourth-quarter TopSwaps Country market-share leaders are Tim McGraw (16%), Kenny Chesney (14.5%), Brad Paisley (9.5%), Big & Rich (8.25%) and Gretchen Wilson (7.75%). ●●●

PATRIOT GAMES

BRANDING YOUR STATION WITH SPORTS

BY BRAM TEITELMAN

THEY HAVE PASSIONATE FOLLOWINGS, lean predominantly male and involve gatherings at stadiums. Rock'n'roll or sports? Both, actually. Whether it's football scores, NASCAR coverage or hearing a skateboarding icon spin his favorite music, sports have found a place on rock radio and are being used to brand stations.

The primary goal of a radio station is to attract listeners in the demographic and make them become loyal fans of the station. Since many rock stations' key demos are populated by avid sports fans, using sports to help brand stations is a no-brainer.

Modern WBCN Boston is the flagship station for the Patriots Rock Radio Network, which covers most of New England and encompasses 33 stations. "Thinking in terms of a 30-year-old guy, what is he interested in?" PD Dave Wellington asks. "Rock music, women, football and sports. So for us, having the two-time Super Bowl champions tied into our radio station is a huge benefit. They bring a tremendous amount of cume to the radio station each week. We have, I think, one of the best broadcast teams in the industry." Indeed, Patriots hall of famer Gino Cappelletti and radio veteran Gil Santos have been working together for more than 20 years, and Santos has been the voice of the Patriots for more than 28 years.

Sirius Satellite Radio's Faction channel was already unique with its mix of hip-hop, hard rock and punk music. However, it has reinforced its billing as a channel for extreme-sports fans by lining up such athletes as skateboarders Tony Hawk and Bam Margera and Tour de France winner Lance Armstrong to host their own shows.

"It just seemed natural to be able to reach out to some of the icons in the action-sports world, like Tony Hawk, Kelly Slater and Bam Margera, and try to make them part of the overall package that we offer to our subscribers with Faction," Sirius VP of music programming Steve Blatter says. "They all have not only a passion for their sports and what they do, but music is such an important part of their world . . . There's almost immediate [interest] from the athletes themselves, because they really believe in what we're doing, and it's not anything that anyone else is doing."

NASCAR IS ROCK'N'ROLL

Roanoke, Va., is in NASCAR country, and even though mainstream rock WROV doesn't actually run the races, the local station says it makes sense to get involved.

"Around here, it's NASCAR, college football, hunting and fishing," PD Aaron Roberts says, summing up his listeners' most popular extracurricular interests. "This part of the country is where racing is bred. Martinsville is right here in our backyard, so we do big promotions for the two races there, one in the spring and one in the fall.

"NASCAR is becoming more and more rock'n'roll, so it's actually coming to us," Roberts continues. "They've widened their appeal, and have a whole division in Los Angeles called NASCAR Entertainment responsible for breaking NASCAR into pop culture. They've brought in bands like 3 Doors Down, Kid Rock and Trapt. Lenny Kravitz has come down. Their demographics are very much our demographics. A lot of bands are getting involved with prerace concerts or singing the national anthem, or if the race is on Sunday, they'll do a big concert on Saturday. In Charlotte [N.C.], the weekend of the race they'll do a three- or four-day block party, where Miller or Budweiser will have stages and bring bands down."

Stations also create a desirability by giving listeners a chance to win tickets to sold-out events.

"When we give away tickets during the week for the [Patriots] home games, they're like gold," Wellington says. "Every game for the 2004 season is sold out, and there's a waiting list of about 50,000 for season tickets. In essence, they can fill up another stadium, so when you're giving away these tickets, it's a must-have item."

The tactic works for WROV as well. "We have a really close relationship with the sponsors of both [Martinsville] races, and with the track itself," Roberts says. "These races are predominantly sold-out, so ticket giveaways are huge leading up to the races."

As further proof of the ties between rock and racing, former active rock WXTB (98 Rock) Tampa, Fla., morning jock Bubba the Love Sponge Clem has just signed a one-year deal to race throughout the Midwest.

A LEGITIMATE BRAND

Faction's athlete-hosted shows serve to legitimize the channel's brand and court new subscribers. And it "certainly makes for more engaging programming," Blatter says. "When you have high-profile individuals like Tony Hawk hosting their own show on a channel, that helps achieve our overall goal at Sirius of giving subscribers content they can't get anywhere else for free."

Blatter gives the jocks free rein to play what they want on their shows, regardless of Faction's format limitations. "These shows are a platform for the athletes to be themselves," he says. "Played within the context of Tony Hawk's 'Demolition Radio,' Tony can push out those boundaries much further than we would normally do in the regular format of the channel."

The opportunity to cross-promote is one of the most obvious benefits of partnering with sports. WBCN discusses the Patriots extensively during the week. The station interviews players, airs a "play of the week" from the previous week's game and checks in with pregame show host Gary Tanguay.

On the flip side, the station is heavily promoted during the games. "Any major promotion we have coming up, our music position as 'the rock of Boston,' what exactly 'the rock of Boston' means, Howard Stern and whatever else we'll promote during the games," Wellington says. "It's a great cross-promotional vehicle."

Roberts says WROV listeners know the NASCAR lifestyle. "The drivers all live in the general area, so it's not that big of a deal to go to Greensboro [N.C.] for a concert and be standing next to Kyle Petty. At the top of the hour, we have artist IDs, and during the spring and fall, 30 or 45 days prior to a race, you'll hear ones like 'This is Geddy Lee of Rush,' 'This is Billy Joe from Green Day,' 'This is Rusty Wallace, driver of the No. 2 Miller Lite Ford [car].' We play with it a lot, because you have to realize that people are coming from all over the country and spending the night in Roanoke for the race."

During the races, WROV gets an RV from a local sponsor, which the station uses to broadcast live. It also puts up a hospitality tent at the race to host listeners and clients, and the station provides food and giveaways.

Ultimately, using sports to brand a station is a win-win situation. "If you're a guy, we've got you," Wellington says. "You get sucked into the whole experience. The way we look at it is that we've got half a million cume, and chances are those guys want to [hear] all about the Patriots. It's a great partnership that brings a lot of high marquee value to the radio station, and it helps the Patriots too." ●●●

COUNTRY CHART SWITCHES TO AUDIENCE RANKING

Billboard Radio Monitor and sister publication Billboard will change the ranking method for the Country Airplay and Hot Country Singles & Tracks charts early next year. Under the new system, the chart will take into account how many people hear each song on a given station at a given time, rather than how many spins it received.

The charts will switch from Nielsen Broadcast Data Systems-provided detections to Arbitron-driven audience data (also provided by Nielsen BDS), effective with the Jan. 7, 2005, Monitor and the Jan. 15 Billboard (tracking week of Dec. 27-Jan. 2).

The new rankings will be tabulated using Arbitron-supplied metro 12-plus AQH audience data, cross-referenced with exact times of detections at each monitored station used for chart tabulation.

The change comes after months of meetings and discussions with readers on the radio and label sides regarding chart ranking methods, as well as analysis of the current charts.

Our charts department is still evaluating the methods the magazines will employ under the new system to remove recurrent titles from the chart, and the formula utilized to award bullets. Those policies will be announced prior to the year-end holidays.

In other news, Monitor will not be published during the last two weeks of 2004. The Dec. 24 (tracking week of Dec. 13-19) and Dec. 31 issues (tracking week of Dec. 20-26) will be skipped. The Dec. 17 issue (tracking week of Dec. 6-12), will include year-end charts but not current-week charts. The first issue of 2005 will be dated Jan. 7.

The Hotline Fax containing the current charts will still be distributed Dec. 13 and Dec. 20 but not on Dec. 27.

But the Monitor charts never sleep. Charts for all weeks, including those during which an issue of the magazine will not be published, will be available at billboardradiomonitor.com, billboard.com, billboard.biz and the Billboard Information Network.

LEGEND TO CHARTS

Charts are ranked by detections except for Latin and Christian charts which are based on audience impressions, computed by cross-referencing exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data.

● Songs showing an increase in detections (audience for Latin and Christian) over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections (audience for Latin and Christian) does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. Exempting the Country chart, a song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections (audience for Latin and Christian).

◎ AIRPOWER: awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Airpower awards do not appear on the Latin and Christian charts.

↑ GREATEST GAINER: awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections (audience for Latin and Christian).

+ MOST AIRPLAY ADDS: awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week.

TIES: A song with a gain in detections (audience for Latin and Christian) over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections (audience for Latin and Christian) or each losing detections (audience for Latin and Christian), the song being played on more stations is placed first.

RECURRENT RULE: Songs below the top 20 (top 15 for adult top 40, AC, modern AC, adult R&B, heritage rock and dance) become recurrences and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks. Country titles move to recurrent after 20 weeks if they rank below No. 15 and are losing detections.

Ⓝ Nielsen BDS certification for airplay of 100,000 detections on all monitored stations, including satellite and national networks, across the U.S. and Canada. Numeral following symbol indicates multiple level of 100,000 detections.

★ Indicates title earned Hit Predictor status in research data provided by Promoguard.

Playlists are listed in order of TSA weekly come, beginning with the highest-cuming station. Comes are updated twice yearly following the release of the spring and fall Arbitron surveys.

A+ AIRPLAY ADDS denotes songs with six or more detections at station for first time this week.

IMPACT! Songs at Airpower level and below with a gain in detections or with a percentage loss in detections equal to or better than the monitored downtime in the format.

★ INITIAL IMPACT: Indicates song's first appearance on the Impact! page

'SOLDIER' MARCHES DESTINY'S CHILD TO CHART MARK

With the debut of "Soldier" (Columbia) at No. 24 on the R&B/hip-hop chart, Destiny's Child ties SWV for most charted singles by a female R&B group with 12. It is the fourth time this year that a title has bowed above No. 25 on the list and the second time the trio has done so, most recently entering at No. 23 with "Lose My Breath" in the Sept. 24 issue.

Forty-one weeks after its debut on the adult top 40 chart, Anthony Hamilton's "Charlene" climbs into the top 10 with a 13-10 jump. After initially spending 26 weeks on the list, "Charlene" moved to recurrent status in August for 11 weeks, only to return last month with a renewed vigor. With 30 weeks on the chart, the track's jaunt is the longest trip to the top 10 at the format, surpassing Smokie Norful's 27-week trek with "I Need You Now" in October 2003.

Mainstream Top 40 Digs Deeper On 'Encore'

With his Interscope album "Encore" dropping in stores Nov. 12, Eminem garners airplay for 14 of the set's tracks at mainstream top 40, more than any other format. At rhythmic top 40 five album cuts were played, with three songs—"Ass Like That," "Get Back" and "Like Toy Soldiers"—receiving more than 100 spins.

Lead single "Just Lose It" moves 6-5 at mainstream top 40, becoming his sixth top five single at the format. Follow-up "Encore" climbs 23-16 at rhythmic and is chart bound at mainstream with a 288-spin gain.

'HOT' STREAK CONTINUES FOR SNOOP

After grabbing his first No. 1 as a lead artist on the R&B/hip-hop and rap charts a few weeks back, Snoop Dogg does the same on the rhythmic top 40 list with "Drop It Like It's Hot" (Interscope). The track is also making strides at mainstream top 40 as it vaults 35-21 in its second week on the chart.

Green Day Still Riding On 'Boulevard'

Green Day's "Boulevard of Broken Dreams" (Reprise) moves 4-3 at modern rock and earns the Greatest Gainer award for a fifth week in a row. It is the first title this decade to claim Gainer honors for five straight weeks.

Meanwhile, Chevelle's "Vitamin R (Leading Us Along)" (Epic) moves 2-1 at active rock to become the group's second No. 1 at the format following "Send the Pain Below," which spent eight weeks at No. 1 from June to August 2003.

LONESTAR PASSES LONE WEEK

Lonestar's "Mr. Mom" (BNA) spends a second week at the top of the country chart, marking the group's first title in more than three years to hold at No. 1 for more than a week. The band's last single to garner multiple weeks was "I'm Already There," which spent six weeks at No. 1 starting in the June 15, 2001, issue.

CROWNING ACHIEVEMENT

With 4.4 million impressions and the biggest gains on both charts, Casting Crowns' "Voice of Truth" (PLG) dominates the Christian radio charts, stepping 2-1 on each list.

Casting Crowns is the second act following MercyMe to top Christian Singles & Tracks more than once this year. The group spent six weeks at No. 1 on the chart with "Who Am I" starting in the May 28 issue.

Another Year Down

This issue marks the last week of the 2004 chart year. The top artists, songs and labels of the year will be honored in our special year-end issue dated Dec. 17.

POP CORN-ER

I WANT TO BE A POP STAR

SECOND SINGLE, TAKE TWO
Following her well-publicized lip-synching snafu on "Saturday Night Live," Geffen has abruptly switched songs for Ashlee Simpson's second single release. "Autobiography"—the song that no one ever heard on "SNL"—has been scrapped in favor of the teasing, nuendo-laden "LaLa." In its first two weeks, the track has 38 adds at mainstream top 40. (Photo: Kevin Mazur/WireImage.com)

GOODY, GOODIES
Ciara is riding high after the success of her No. 1 debut single, "Goodies." Here, the artist offers her personal thanks to a few of those who count. From left are Zomba Label Group's Jeff Rizzo and John Strazza, Ciara, WEZB New Orleans PD Mike Kaplan and KQCH Omaha, Neb., PD Erik Johnson. (Photo: Zomba)

Songs are blind tested online by PromoSquad using multiple listens and a nationwide sample of carefully profiled music consumers. Songs are rated on a 1-5 scale; final results are based on weighted positives. Songs with a score of 65 or more are judged to have Hit Potential, although that benchmark number can fluctuate per format based on the strength of available music. AT LAST MONTH'S NATIONAL Assn. of Broadcasters Radio Show, Arbitron presented findings from its Portable People Meter study in Philadelphia. The findings revealed something that programming veterans have known for years: Unfamiliar music is a tune-out. Case in point: On mainstream top 40 WIOQ (Q102) Philadelphia, OutKast's "Hey Ya!" in its first few weeks of exposure blew off 26% of Q102's cume. Should Q102 have stopped playing the song? Of course not; "Hey Ya!" became the biggest hit of the year. What the PPM findings bring to light is the importance of the following programming guidelines:

1. Do not play a lot of unfamiliar music per hour.
2. Place new songs in a fast rotation so they become familiar. This will give you a quick read on what the hits are.

3. Use pretesting on new music and use online research to identify the hits (callout is too slow) so you don't waste time on stiffs.

Clients of Zapoleon Media Strategies are familiar with the spoke system. Spokes are songs that have great appeal to core and cume and are strategically placed at least every other song throughout the hour.

A majority of songs per hour should be spokes to create appeal for the station. The remaining songs should be good testers with strong appeal to core and cume. This is not possible with unfamiliar music. As the case above shows, such songs are big tune-outs for the cume. Ninety percent of a station's music should be very close to 90% familiar.
