RADIO AT A RATINGS CROSSROADS

BY KATY BACHMAN AND PAUL HEINE

The radio industry may finally be ready to scrap the diary. A long-awaited study conducted by Forrester Research on the economic impact of a new ratings service based on Arbitron's Portable People Meter confirmed what advertisers and agencies have been urging for years and put a price tag on the stakes.

The $20 billion radio industry, which has relied on a diary-based ratings system for 40 years, stands to gain $414 million per year (a 3% increase in revenue) if it switches to a PPM-based rating system. But if it sticks with the diary, revenue is likely to decrease annually by $282 million, a 2% decrease.

"We're at a ratings crossroads," says David Pearlman, president of Pearlman Advisors, who managed the study, commissioned by the Radio Advertising Bureau's PPM Task Force last October. "We've talked with our customers, and they've given us a ratings road map."

Conducted in April, the study surveyed 484 local, regional and national agency and advertiser executives about how the PPM would change how they conduct business. Coupled with Clear Channel's request for proposals to speed electronic measurement, the study could be the catalyst that paves the way for the rollout of the PPM, beginning as early as April 2006 in Houston, where Arbitron is currently fielding its second market trial.

Nearly one in four respondents said they would increase radio spending if a PPM ratings service were adopted. Advertisers estimated they would increase budgets by 12%, while agencies said they would increase budgets by 9%.

"So many advertisers saying they'd spend more money is very encouraging for the radio business," Emmis Communications CEO Jeff Smulyan says. "My sense is that if 25% say they'll spend more, it will actually be more than that."

Veteran Citadel and Infinity senior VP Bill Figenshu, now president/CEO of FigMedia1, says the PPM improves radio's messenger but not its message. "When three out of four are saying PPM wouldn't cause them to spend more on radio, what does that tell you about radio's message?" Figenshu asks. "Do they think radio isn't effective? Radio has an image problem."

Advertisers and agencies were even more willing to increase their radio spending when presented with the increased audience reach for individual radio stations reported in prior PPM tests. Agencies said they would increase spending by 36%; advertisers, by 44%.

"What the people meter did for cable, the PPM will do for radio. It will put radio on the same audience-measurement platform with broadcast TV," says Brad Adgate, senior VP/director of research for Horizon Media.

Not only did respondents express frustration with the current diary system, 18% of agency respondents and 13% of advertiser respondents indicated they would concentrate more dollars in markets the PPM measured versus a market that the diary measured.

There would be some changes in how advertising dollars are allocated throughout the day. If previous PPM tests hold true, ratings for morning drive decrease on average about 10%, but listening to other dayparts, such as weekends and evenings, increases 10%-20%. Agencies and advertisers said they would decrease morning drive spending by 3% and 5%, respectively, to boost spending in other dayparts. "It would be a wash," Pearlman says.

"Every one of us is going to see displacement in ratings. Some of our stations are going to do better; some are going to do worse. It may shift programming," Smulyan says. "The key is we have to give our customers what they want."

Arbitron, which began meeting with radio groups this month to discuss scenarios and proposals for a rollout, was buoyed by the results.

"The industry now has one more bit of information they can use when evaluating our proposals," Arbitron president of PPM Pierre Bouvard says.

Radio broadcasters are likely looking at a 40%-65% hike in their ratings contract with the switch to a PPM-based service, a factor the study did not take into account. If Nielsen Media Research decides to exercise its joint venture option to commercialize the PPM for TV ratings, the increased cost will lean toward the low end of the range.

"We will make more money with the PPM than without it, even after the increased costs are factored in," says Jerry Lee, president of AC WBEB-FM Philadelphia. "Without electronic measurement, our business will grow at a slower rate. We can either grow or become a laggard."

How quickly broadcasters are ready to move and how extensive Arbitron's rollout of the PPM will be will determine how quickly the industry can reap the benefits. If Arbitron rolls out the PPM to 25 markets by 2010, Forrester's economic model estimated that industry revenue would increase by $305 million annually; 50 markets would net a $478 million annual gain. If Arbitron rolled out the PPM to the top 50 markets by 2008, that would result in a $554 million boost.

While most broadcasters are ready to move forward with what will be a dramatic transition, the industry still has its isolated hold-outs in Radio One and Cox Radio, two major groups that have refused to participate in the Houston trial.

Cox dismissed the study as "hypothetical," even as it agreed with the concept of electronic measurement. The study "appears to portray Arbitron's PPM as being a technology that has the ability to measure all radio listening, which, in our opinion, is not the case," says Cox Radio president/CEO Bob Neil, who has expressed concerns about listening with headphones.

Smulyan calls the Forrester study a "graphic illustration" of what advertisers have been telling him all along about diary-based ratings: "That we have to get beyond the diary. That doesn't mean we don't have to make Arbitron's People Meter—or somebody else's—as good as possible. But as people's lives become more complex, it's clear that the diary methodology doesn't comport with how they live their lives."

ELIOT SPITZER GOES BEHIND THE SPIN ZONE

BY PAUL HEINE, TONY SANDERS AND CHUCK TAYLOR

Tighter boundaries are being drawn between the radio and music industries following a $10 million settlement, announced July 25, between Sony BMG Music Entertainment and New York Attorney General Eliot Spitzer.

Following an 11-month payola investigation, the settlement is expected to lead to similar agreements with the other three major-label groups while redefining what constitutes acceptable promotional support for radio stations.

Spitzer's office released a raft of documents related to the investigation. The attorney general made a clear plea to the Federal Communications Commission to step up regulatory efforts, and the FCC appears to be paying close attention.

David Fiske, FCC director of media relations and a

Epic sent Universal and three friends to Miami, with the understanding that he would add Franz Ferdinand's "Take Me Out." An internal e-mail said the total cost of the trip exceeded $4,000.

- Clear Channel top 40 KHITS San Diego PD Diana Laird accepted a flat-screen TV from Epic in November 2002, under the guise that it was a contest prize for a station listener.

- Infinity Broadcasting is named in an Epic promotion in which the label provided trips to Las Vegas for station contest winners to see Celine Dion at Caesars Palace, in exchange for airplay of Dion's "Goodbye's (The Saddest Word)" by 13 of the radio group's "mainstream and adult" stations.

In one example of potential corruption, a document shows an Epic promotion employee writing to a programmer at Clear Channel top 40 WKSS Hartford, Conn.: "What do I have to do queries with a resounding "no comment."

"We are cooperating fully with Mr. Spitzer's office," a Clear Channel representative said in a statement, noting the company's strict internal anti-payola policy and severing of ties with independent promoters in early 2003. "The allegations made today will be fully investigated and any wrongdoing will be met by swift and appropriate disciplinary action," the statement continued.

Under the terms of the July 25 settlement mandate, Sony BMG cannot "give, offer, arrange for or provide anything of value" to radio, a radio staffer or a radio contest winner unless it is fully disclosed on the air as being paid for by Sony BMG. The label can provide contest prizes and giveaway items and can arrange for artist appearances as long as a designated Sony "compliance officer" has approved the transaction in advance.

spokesman for chairman Kevin Martin, says the commission intends to take "a close look at the material," while commissioner Jonathan Adelstein says Spitzer has given the FCC "an arsenal of smoking guns" to ramp up federal payola enforcement.

Adelstein says he has asked Spitzer for "everything he's got."

Fiske also says the commission is involved in "a number of forums" that will look at pay-for-play practices.

The documents released July 25 purport to show that numerous stations and programmers allegedly accepted label gifts, including electronics, vacations, airfare and tickets to sporting events and concerts.

Among the allegations:

- Dave Universal, former PD of Entercom mainstream top 40 WKSE Buffalo, N.Y.—which fired him Jan. 3—accepted airfare for two to New York in July 2001 in exchange for adding "I'm Real" by Jennifer Lopez. In August 2004, to get Audioslave on WKSS this week? Whatever you can dream up, I can make it happen."

In addition, Sony BMG labels allegedly established elaborate schemes to blanket radio stations with phone requests for specific songs by hired "listeners."

Though the names of the Sony BMG executives have been removed from the documents, the names of radio station employees and call letters were left in.

The release of these documents is expected to lead to termination of some station personnel by some of the major radio groups and reshuffling and departures at the major record labels. Already, Sony BMG radio promotion executive Joel Klaiman has exited his post.

Clear Channel, Cox Radio, Infinity, Emmis and Entercom were subpoenaed as part of the investigation. Apart from Clear Channel, most of the radio groups subpoenaed responded to press

As for "nominal consideration"—such as CDs, concert tickets, meals and travel and entertainment expenses—stations are limited to 20 trips each per year, coach-class airfare and lodging "to cover a period within 24 hours of the live performance or appearance by a Sony BMG artist." Travel and lodging must also pass muster with a designated compliance officer.

Another specific requirement for Sony BMG is that "an announcement that the item is being paid for by Sony BMG or one of its labels will be included in [a station's] broadcast of any on-air contest or giveaway."

Attorney John Wells King of Garvey Schubert Barer says Spitzer's investigation exposed "practices that cut across a broader swath than simply sponsor ID for paid matter."

King says the settlement likely will have implications on a national level, with some "congressional fallout" in the same way that the original state-level payola investigations in the 1950s led to congressional hearings.

FROM ABC TO XM...AND BACK AGAIN

THE MULTICULTURAL MANEUVERS OF STEVE HARRIS BY CHUCK TAYLOR

Steve Harris is that rare radio veteran who has delivered a triple play in the broadcast industry: He has programmed stand-alone stations in Chicago, Detroit and Houston; he has been a VP for national programming syndicator ABC Radio Networks; and he has eyed the skies as a VP of programming for XM Satellite Radio.

Most recently, Harris departed XM and returned to Dallas to again work for ABC Radio. He took on the newly created position of VP of multicultural programming, supervising the network's growing portfolio of R&B and Latin content.

Harris' first day on the job was Friday, July 15, and the following Monday he was talking with Billboard Radio Monitor, meaning that the height of his chair probably has not even been properly adjusted yet. Less than two days in, however, the exec is showing off the shine on his VP stripes with a firm vision for the new division.

Unfortunately, his personal life is not quite as orderly yet. "A bio? A photo? Those things are somewhere in a box on the way from Washington, D.C.," Harris says. "My car is coming, the furniture is en route, and I'm still living in temporary housing."

But there is no denying that Harris has returned home. He left Chicago in 1990, after a stint as MD for Clear Channel R&B WVVAZ (V-103), and began a seven-year gig at ABC's Dallas headquarters. There, he launched and managed Tom Joyner's and Doug Banks' morning shows and the 24/7 Rejoice gospel network.

In 2000, he was drafted by XM, where he managed external brand promotion for three years and all music channels in 2004-2005.

But when the call came from ABC executive VP/GM

Darryl Brown, Harris could not resist the challenge: "My goal is to make sure that we're maximizing the great level of talent that we have on both the urban and Hispanic sides," he says. "And not only from a programming standpoint, but working with affiliates and advertisers, too."

"Some people continue to have misconceptions about both the black and Latin populations in America, and our job is to continue to teach the multicultural pie. It's not so much on the programming side as it is advertising, where awareness is growing and needs to continue. There has been lots of hands-on explanation in the urban market; that same approach will help grow awareness of the Latin market."

A DEVELOPING HISPANIC MARKET

While ABC Radio's urban programming is well-established with such brands as Joyner, Banks and Michael Baisden, along with the Rejoice and adult R&B Touch formats that Harris will oversee, its experience in the Hispanic market is developing. In the fall, the Hispanic Advantage Network is set to launch. The network, a result of ABC's relationship with Spanish Broadcasting System, syndicates three top morning shows on SBS stations: Renan Almendarez Coello's "El Cucuy de la Mañana" on KLAX Los Angeles, "El Vacilon de la Mañana" with Luis Jimenez and Moonshadow on WSKQ New York and "El Vacilon de la Mañana" with Enrique Santos and Joe Ferrero on WXDJ Miami.

Harris stresses that combining R&B and Hispanic initiatives within one division in no way means that a single plan of action is intended to address both markets.

"It would be dangerous to try and link them," he says. "They have very different needs, sounds, styles, a different audience with diverse lifestyles. What I need to do is make sure all of those styles on both sides are respected and constantly moving forward."

Oscar Ramos holds the baton at ABC to drive Hispanic programming. Harris says, "He is infinitely qualified in that area. I'm not going to be telling him what he should be doing. It's my role to make sure he has everything he needs and a format that's growing."

R&B EVOLUTION

During his time in the R&B arena, Harris has seen enormous evolution in the format. His stand-alone programming posts at WJMO-AM-FM Cleveland, WCIN Cincinnati, WDRQ Detroit, KRLY Houston and WGCI Chicago were all held before 1996—the year the Telecommunications Act deregulated broadcasting and placed most stations under a very few, expansive group umbrellas.

"It's a different world now," Harris admits. "Things are a lot harder with the consolidated state that we're in."

On the network side, Harris believes that the industry is entering a fresh period of creativity. He points to Baisden's confessional, fast-moving show, "Love Lust & Lies," which launched in afternoon drive at WRKS New York in 2003, catapulting the station's ratings from No. 9 to No. 1 in the adult demo. Within a year, the actor, TV talk show host and best-selling author ("Men Cry in the Dark," "The Maintenance Man," "Never Satisfied: How and Why Men Cheat") was signed to a syndication deal; today, Baisden has 21 R&B affiliates.

"This is an excellent example of what I think the future can bring to urban radio," Harris says. "The show features Michael and his listeners involved in conversation; it is driven purely by the content between Michael and his fans—together, they craft the show every day. That is something new on urban radio."

MATURE MACHINE

The Touch format that Harris oversees is a mature machine, he says. "There are different variations in various markets, but the essence of that format is solid across the country. The Touch is designed for the urban female 25-49, the traditional model. Looking at TSL across the country, it is as solid as ever."

Rejoice, meanwhile, is experiencing appreciable growth, as it expands past its traditionally Southern base.

"You find some of the most loyal listeners tuning in to gospel radio," Harris says. "There's a core that listens all day, every day. Then there are those who need a lift, want to feel that inspiration, get their gospel groove on and then return to their urban AC. It's a friend and companion for all of them."

When Harris worked at ABC the first time, he helped launch the format, and he has seen it move from a full-time focus on music to include features and vignettes like "The Love Doctor," which addresses listeners' problems with a spiritual focus. There are also artist interviews and spotlights.

"This sets up appointment listening, where a listener knows that he or she can find something specific at a certain time," he says. "The music remains in the forefront, but it is more interactive now, creating a kinship with listeners."

The key to the continued health of nationally syndicated programming, Harris insists, is maintaining a hometown feel.

"We spend a lot of time and effort on localization," he says. "We make sure that the listener knows that he's listening to Michael Baisden on WHUR Washington [D.C.]. They always need to be aware of where they can find the shows."

SATELLITE: ROOM FOR ALL

Then there is Harris' opinion on how satellite radio affects terrestrial broadcasters and national syndicators. Having worked on both sides, he assures broadcasters that there is room for all.

"When satellite launched, people kept saying it was going to be a big boogeyman, stealing AM and FM listeners—that terrestrial radio would be crushed," he says. "That was never the intention for the folks at XM. It is a new platform, viewed from a cable [TV] standpoint, with a lot of compelling programming."

"AM/FM radio is not going away. The idea is to continue to make radio compelling—you will always have listeners if that remains the top priority."

Harris suggests that satellite may have served as a needed wake-up call for traditional broadcasters: "Radio can get stale after doing the same thing over and over, and you feel a station losing its passion. This business is about figuring out what will excite the listener on the other side of the speaker. Radio has to do that, whether it's terrestrial or satellite. Both sides have to remain true to their mission."

He adds, "I'm not going to spend a lot of time worrying about satellite radio. They provide a good product, and they're going to do well, but there is nothing that is going to replace good, vibrant product on AM/FM. We just need to take care of our house and make sure that we're developing the best product every day, and talking to and listening to the audience while providing them with exciting, talented people."

As he gets resettled in Dallas, Harris is optimistic for the future—both his and ABC's. "ABC has created some great, meaningful partnerships with broadcasters that have helped us create exceptional content," he says. "Now, it's about building relationships with listeners, stations and advertisers. It's a win situation for all, and everybody is happy."

FOR R&B DOMINANCE

IN ONE CORNER, weighing in at six stations, the defending champion, Clear Channel. In the other, the scrappy newcomer, sporting three stations, rambunctious Radio One.

While the battle between the two companies for R&B listeners in Philadelphia has been going on for eight years, Radio One has made significant strides in the past 12 months, launching adult R&B WRNB in late 2004. It has also tapped into the gospel market, launching WPPZ (Praise 103.9), and upgraded the signal of R&B/hip-hop WPHI (the Beat). Clear Channel has heritage on its side, with adult R&B WDAS having been in the market for 65 years, and R&B/hip-hop WUSL (Power 99) near the top of the ratings since it signed on more than 20 years ago.

The results so far? Clear Channel remains the champion, but like famed Philly pugilist Rocky Balboa, Radio One is not taking it lying down.

To appreciate the current R&B landscape in Philadelphia, it helps to know its history. Clear Channel's WDAS has been on the FM dial since 1959 and the AM since 1940. It has gone through a variety of formats, including progressive rock and disco, but generally has remained one of Philly's primary outlets for R&B. WDAS-AM is a gospel station.

WUSL went through incarnations as easy listening, AC and country before signing on as R&B in 1982. The station quickly beat WDAS in the ratings, and WDAS eventually decided to embrace its heritage and focus on the older end as an adult R&B. WDAS and WUSL went from competitors to cluster-mates in 2000, when Clear Channel bought AMFM, which owned WDAS.

Radio One entered Philadelphia in 1997, purchasing modern rock WDRE from Jarad Broadcasting. It flipped the call letters to WPHI and the format to R&B as "Philly 103.9," going after WUSL. Because of a signal deficiency, however, WPHI did not have any effect on Power 99's ratings. Five years later, WPHI became more of a rhythmic top 40 as "the Beat" before evolving back to R&B/hip-hop.

In 2001, Radio One purchased WPLY (Y100), a modern rock station staffed by many WDRE alumni. More recently, it acquired the dormant 107.9 frequency. In a November 2004 conference call, Radio One CEO Alfred Liggins hinted change would be coming to Philadelphia. "We only have one urban station in that market," he said. "Clear Channel has five there, so we need to have something more to give us that girth."

One month later, Radio One made its move at adult R&B, signing on WRNB to go up against WDAS. Then, in late February, the company changed the format of Y100, moving WPHI to the more powerful 100.3 signal and launching WPPZ at WPHI's old signal.

WRNB has quickly become a player in the Philly market. While WDAS remained comfortably in third place in the spring book, it dropped from a 5.1 to a 4.8. WRNB garnered a 3.9 in its second book, tying for eighth. WPPZ also received good news in its second book: Philly's only FM gospel station rose from a 1.0 to a 2.9, easily trumping WDAS-AM's 0.9. WUSL, in fifth place with a 4.5, still dominates WPHI, which is tied for 15th with a 2.5.

Many at Radio One previously worked at WUSL. Radio One

GM Chester Schofield was at the station when AMFM owned it, as was OM Helen Little. Schofield rehired Little in March.

"We had a great chemistry, he knew what I was capable of doing and I knew how he worked," Little says. "He was all about winning and excellence, so I said, 'Let's put the team back together again and make some great things happen.'" WPHI PD Colby Colb and MD Sarah O'Connor also worked at Power.

Little is not intimidated by the heritage of the Clear Channel stations she is up against. "If I didn't have the insight [of] having been in those environments, it might be a little more daunting, but I find it to my benefit to have been there, even though it's different people running it now," she says. "A lot of the things that we put into place are still in place there, so I have a good idea of structure. I've had the opportunity to have a different kind of insider view from the outside."

Clear Channel's R&B heritage in Philly is a double-edged sword, celebrated at WDAS but not really mentioned at younger-leaning WUSL. "WDAS is 54 years old, and it's part of the fabric of Philadelphia," director of R&B programming Thea Mitchem says. "It was the station that was here and participated in the civil rights movement. It was the station that brought the sound of Philadelphia to life. It has a rich heritage and history in Philadelphia, and we absolutely mention it. With Power, we're not as actively mentioning it. We definitely have a rich history and have served the community, but we try to build upon our history without necessarily bragging about it."

Little says Radio One and Clear Channel differ mainly in size and strategy. "Clear Channel has several different forms of media in the market, and Radio One is mostly radio-driven," she notes. "Our focus and concentration is specific to radio. We don't have a billboard company or a concert promotion supporting us. It's radio, and that's what we do."

MORNING SHUFFLE

One of the most important aspects of any station is its morning show. Before it launched, WRNB scored a coup by luring Tom Joyner away from WDAS. "When a new station comes into the market, they usually don't have the benefit of a heritage morning show from the start," Little says. "That was distinctly to the benefit of WRNB."

Joyner remains WRNB's only jock. "You can now see the power of Tom Joyner," Lyles Media Group president Harry Lyles says. "His leaving the radio station has broken the back of WDAS."

Ratings for "The Tom Joyner Morning Show" have dropped since it left WDAS, however, and WRNB's signal could be a factor. "The saying 'As goes your morning, so goes your radio station' applies, but that's only if people can hear it," Lyles says. "If Tom was on a class A, [WDAS] might have problems. Signal becomes a factor. With the deficiency of signal and a good morning show, it doesn't make any difference. Everything equals out if people can't hear it."

When searching for Joyner's replacement at WDAS, Clear Channel looked to the past and chose former WUSL morning hosts Carter & Sanborn. After a 12-year run on WUSL, they had not been on the air in Philadelphia in more than five years.

"It's essentially a brand-new morning show going against 'Joyner,' which is very established," Mitchem says. "We're really proud of this show. When Joyner left WDAS in December, he had a 9.9 share 25-54. He's down to a 5.4 share at WRNB [and] down from his debut there. Carter & Sanborn have a 4.5, and had a 4.3 in the winter book. This is a marathon, not a race. We're in it for the long term. It's our job to chip away at 'Joyner,' which is a great morning show. We believe we have the next great morning show, and we're going to do whatever it takes to make sure our morning show becomes No. 1."

Lyle says marketing for Carter & Sanborn has been relatively muted. "Based on conversations I've had, Clear Channel hasn't put a lot of money into their return," he says. "Radio is competitive, and sometimes when you don't make a big deal out of something, the listeners don't think it's a big deal. Of the hipper morning shows, you hear a lot more about Star & Buc Wild."

The controversial syndicated duo arrived at WUSL to do mornings in September 2004. "They keep steadily moving up," Mitchem says. "Power is No. 1 18-34 in every daypart except for mornings, where we're behind [Howard] Stern. Their job is to take out Stern. [Star] just had one of the best books he has had since signing on. They're very compelling. Like them or hate them, you can't stop listening to them. They're those kinds of personalities."

Comparisons between WDAS and WRNB are inevitable. They both target the upper end, and both have Joyner. But Little says the two are distinctly different.

"We came with a different musical approach to the market," she says. "We are 'Philadelphia's R&B leader,' and WDAS sells the idea of R&B and classic soul. When you listen to the two stations, you hear a distinct difference between the two, and I think there's room enough in the market for both stations to do well and share listeners, but serve a different audience, too."

Though Joyner is the only jock on WRNB, Little says she "absolutely" plans to hire a full on-air staff. "I know some stations in the market that have flipped to different formats are not going to go with jocks on the air from what I'm hearing," she says, referring to Greater Media's classic adult hits WBEN. "But by all means, we will be a full-service radio station."

WPPZ is running jockless as well, and with two of Radio One's three Philadelphia stations mostly without personalities, Clear Channel appears to have the upper hand as far as air talent.

"When you have more competitors, your listeners have more choice, and you have to make sure you're compelling at all times," Mitchem says. "They don't have to listen to you, and if you're not providing good radio and playing their favorite songs, they can hit the button. We made sure that we had compelling content on all of our radio stations. We put [ABC Radio-syndicated] Michael Baisden on in middays in WDAS, and he's No. 1 in the spring book. That's an example of tightening up. Putting Wendy Williams on Power 99 is another example. She had done mornings previously, and people loved her in the city."

Little is filled with praise for Praise. "We have had a tremendous response so far from the listeners and from the revenue side as well," she says. "It has really taken off, and the uniqueness of the radio station and the ability to get contemporary inspirational music to the FM dial has been very well-embraced by the market and listeners. We're really excited by what we see coming with this station. We're already getting turnouts into the thousands for promotions we're doing in the community centered around gospel and inspirational music."

Perhaps calling Clear Channel and Radio One's competition for R&B dominance in Philadelphia a "battle" is misleading, especially since neither camp will admit to gunning for the other one.

"In the past few years, we've gotten competition, and I enjoy competition, because I believe it makes all radio stations better and stronger," Mitchem says. "With all our radio stations, we looked at what we were doing, made sure we kept promoting the things that were most popular, and tightened up the things we thought should be tightened up, which has made both stations better than they were three years ago."

Little has a similar view. "The first thing that we have to do is have the best possible product," she says. "It's not so much about going after them, but bettering ourselves, is how I look at it. I look internally first when I'm looking to improve a situation or product. The first question I ask is, 'Do we have the best product that we can have?' After you have your best possible product, you have to let people know who you are, where you are and what you are, so that's marketing. Then you have to really stick to and focus on what it is you do, and do it great. You should be aware of what your competition is doing but focus more on what you do to serve the audience in the market."

Then again, maybe it is a battle: Mitchem adds that he and longtime WDAS PD Joe "Butterball" Tamburro "look at it as 'Bring it on.' We're happy to compete. We're happy to put the best product out there and superserve our listeners."

The real winner in the war? Philadelphia R&B and gospel fans. ●●●

AFTERNOON DELIGHT

MIXING TALK AND MUSIC

BY TONY SANDERS

Barry Mayo

THERE IS A REAL FUTURE for talk on music-intensive radio, and it is not just in mornings or late at night. The new hot slot, for at least black talk, is afternoon drive.

"There is strong, hard evidence that talk is stronger than ever," says Barry Mayo, Emmis Communications GM in New York.

That is certainly the case for adult R&B talk in the afternoon.

Mayo, who runs R&B/hip-hop WQHT (Hot 97), adult R&B WRKS (Kiss FM) and smooth jazz WQCD (CD 101.9), cites two New York-based syndicated personalities who give a fresh flavor to afternoon drive: Michael Baisden and Wendy Williams.

Baisden hosts "Love, Lust & Lies" on WRKS. His show is syndicated by ABC Radio Networks.

Williams hosts "The Wendy Williams Experience" on Inner City adult R&B WBLS. Her show is syndicated by SuperRadio, a division of group owner Access.1 Communications.

The rival afternoon-drive shows each run a heavy dose of talk, mixing in anywhere from zero to six songs per hour. Mayo believes that the energy and appeal of morning-drive talk shows on music-intensive stations works as well in afternoons.

"When we put Michael on Kiss two years ago, at that time, Wendy was beating us two-to-one and we felt like we had little to lose," Mayo says.

The latest spring Arbitron survey shows Williams and Baisden as the top two shows in afternoon drive for adults 25-54, with WBLS showing a 6.8 share to Kiss' 6.6. "No. 1 and No. 2," Mayo says for emphasis. "Look, it's about compelling content. I think it has less to do with 'Is it talk?' than it has to do with 'How compelling is the talk?'"

Putting talk-based programming on music-intensive radio is often a tough call for programmers. "We in radio, if we're going to survive the onslaught of choices that people have, are going to have to get out of that mold of what 'works' and 'doesn't work.' We have to go for compelling programming, no matter what form it comes in," Mayo says.

That does not mean more talk is the answer. "It just means that, if you've got a personality, who does talk and is compelling, you need to consider the pros and cons of having that person on." That is also different, he says, from saying, "WBLS is doing it and Kiss is doing it, and it's working, so I'll do it."

Mayo is quick to champion Baisden. "The guy was on the air and within a year, year-and-a-half, he ended up getting syndicated and he's making an impact."

That impact, Mayo says, comes from "talking to everyday people in ways that they understand," and talking about things they're interested in.

Doug Banks

Michael Baisden

For Baisden, that subject matter includes "relationships, sex, and families . . . people gravitate to that very quickly. It becomes more important than just the records," Mayo says.

But he will not speculate as to whether there is room for more talent like Williams and Baisden to achieve success. Instead, he says the answer will come from a positive answer to the following two-part question: "Will there be enough people to fill that appetite credibly? I'm talking about people who are compelling and talented. Second, will black radio, or the owners and general managers in black radio, see the efficacy of programming it? Two separate questions, but for there to be more black talk, both those questions are going to have to be answered 'yes.'"

MADISON TIME

"The key to our success has to be the recognition by advertisers that there is more to the black community than shaking your booty and entertainment," says Joe Madison, morning host on Radio One talk WOL Washington, D.C., and on XM Satellite Radio's black talk channel the Power. (Many of the programs on the Power come from WOL.)

"Like the general population," Madison says, "the African-American population is getting older and baby boomers want to know what's going on in the world."

A longtime talk personality nicknamed "the Black Eagle," Madison started his career in Detroit in the mid-1970s on then-WXYZ (now Infinity sports WXYT).

More recently, Madison has been based in Washington, D.C., first at WRC (now Clear Channel sports WTEM) and, for the last five years, at WOL.

Madison sees the rise of shows like those hosted by Williams, Baisden and others as somewhat of a return to the past.

"I'm old enough to remember in the 1960s, when people like Rev. Martin Luther King would come to town, quite often the only outlet they had would be the black radio station. I remember when the disk jockeys would take time to interview personalities. That's not done now, and that's because the emphasis is predominately music. Not exclusively, but predominately.

"We've always wanted to be informed, or wanted to have information and to be empowered. There are large populations that the Power reaches that connect, as we like to say, the brother from Harlem with the sister from Los Angeles, the cousin from Detroit with the cousin from New Orleans. We fill a void that exists for these listeners and it allows that black perspective to be heard. We are just thoroughly having a good time with it."

RUSS AND BEV

American Urban Radio Networks syndicates "The Russ Parr Morning Show" and "The Bev Smith Show."

Parr's morning drive show is heard in more than 50 markets and includes Radio One R&B/hip-hop WKYS Washington, D.C., among its top affiliates. Parr's show plays anywhere from four to seven songs per hour.

"The Bev Smith Show" is three hours of nightly talk on key issues and includes interviews with major personalities and newsmakers, as well as contributions from AURN's White House correspondent April Ryan.

In New York, Bev Smith airs from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. on AM talk WWRL, which identifies itself as "New York's urban talk." The station is owned by Access.1. Other top-level talkers on WWRL include Alan Colmes (10 p.m.-midnight) and "Drivetime Dialogue," with Sam Greenfield and Armstrong Williams (3 p.m.-6 p.m.).

"I think the fact that [Wendy Williams and Michael Baisden] worked here in New York, originally people didn't understand the impact," Armstrong Williams says. "When they started Michael's show and Wendy's show, nobody knew that it would really work, but they knew that these people were good personalities on the radio and that if anybody could do it, these guys had a better shot at making it work."

What their success says, according to Williams, is that "people wanted to hear something other than just oldies music. This gives them a chance to have some oldies, but, frankly, to be able to discuss some issues that nobody had brought to the table. These shows are entertaining, informative, right of the moment and it provides people with a new listening experience. It's refreshing."

Williams does not expect to see a big crop of new afternoon shows cut from the same mold. In some cases, he says, the need for that sense of community and dialogue has been satisfied by programs on AM stations in various markets.

"African-Americans have always gravitated toward radio because it was the only place they could hear stuff about them. And that's why urban radio is so important to the black community. It provides the only voice. Not cable, not syndicated shows. You don't see anybody else having this constant dialogue with the African-American community and providing a place for that dialogue. It has always been black radio. And that's why black radio is and will remain relevant."

One growth area Williams sees is in programs aimed at younger black listeners. He says AURN has moved into that space aggressively by creating "The Hip-Hop Wire," a daily entertainment news update that runs about three minutes, hosted by journalist Anji Corley. "At some point in time, given the dynamics of that demo, 'Hip-Hop Wire' has a real opportunity to grow," he says.

WEEK ENDING JULY 17, 2005

CHART COMMENTARY BY JOE FLEISCHER

ONE OF THE MOST COMMON MISCONCEPTIONS about downloading is that the R&B and hip-hop communities are underrepresented. In fact, in terms of audience share, there is really nothing bigger than the songs at R&B/hip-hop and rhythmic top 40, as witnessed by this week's chart-topper, Mariah Carey, whose "We Belong Together" boasts more than 5 million downloads. Compared to what many in the industry incorrectly presume to be the dominant downloading format, Modern Rock, the top record there clocks in at slightly more than 2 million: Weezer's smash "Beverly Hills." In fact, you do not even need 1 million downloads to crack the top 10 at Modern Rock. But you will definitely need more than a million downloads to crack the top 25 at R&B/hip-hop. If you add the Ying Yang Twins' "Wait (The Whisper Song)" and "Badd," the total is well over 5 million, and with both tracks gaining chart position again this week, the action at the format remains simply massive. Will Fat Joe's "Get It Poppin'" produce similarly enormous numbers, already chugging along at 2.4 million? Stay tuned.

CHUY GOMEZ IS BRINGING A LATINO EDGE TO HIP-HOP

Clear Channel R&B/hip-hop KMEI. San Francisco morning man Chuy (pronounced “chewy”) Gomez is at once busy, popular, unassuming and accessible. Nevermind that he hosts a successful morning show and has been at the station for a dozen years. Or that he has had a daily video show, “The Beat Lounge,” on the California Music Channel for almost as long as he has been at KMEI. (“the people’s station”). Or that he operates a successful DJ business, Gomez Brothers Entertainment, with his brother Hugo. On top of all that, Gomez makes dozens of appearances all around the market.

Clear Channel/San Francisco senior VP of programming Michael Martin believes that Gomez “must have three clones, because you see him everywhere.”

Gomez says he lives the hip-hop lifestyle, which means he is out clubbing until the wee hours of the morning and averages four hours of sleep a night.

The San Jose Mercury News once described him as sporting “a rocker’s edge . . . complete with skull tattoos and big silver skull rings.” Sounds intimidating. But what comes across when you speak to him is that Gomez is one of the most down-to-earth, low-key morning men you will ever meet.

The 35-year-old Gomez was born in Tepatitlan, Mexico, but grew up in the San Francisco area. He has the distinction of being one of only a few Hispanics—including the Baka Boys, whom he replaced at KMEI—with a popular R&B/hip-hop morning show.

In the winter 2005 Arbitron survey, “Chuy in the Morning” ranked No. 4 in the market 12-plus with a 3.1 share and No. 4 18-34 with a 6.2 share. Last fall, Gomez scored a 7.1 share 18-34 to rank No. 2 in the market. Overall, KMEI has been a solid No. 5 12-plus through the last year, with a share hovering around 4.0.

While Gomez acknowledges the rarity of his situation, he says being Hispanic and playing hip-hop has never been a big deal. “Sometimes people from other parts of the country don’t understand about the diversity the market represents,” he says. “Here in the Bay Area, it was never an issue.”

When Gomez first got into radio at then-R&B/hip-hop KSOL, Marcos Gutierrez and Dave Padilla, both Hispanic, were on the morning show. An Asian-American named Doug Lee was also on staff.

While his on-air gig revolves around R&B/hip-hop, Gomez’s musical knowledge runs deep. “I listen to everything, because I’m a DJ,” he says. “I’ve worked at the roller rink in San Mateo [Calif.], and I’ve done weddings forever and a day, and I used to DJ high-school dances.” It probably helps that Gomez’s first choice in music is R&B, albeit of the older variety. “I like old-school funk like the Ohio Players, Confunktion, the S.O.S. Band, stuff like that,” he says.

Because of his longevity in the market, Gomez is something of a San Francisco icon with artists, so race has not mattered in that arena either. “They’ve never said, ‘Damn, I’ve got to deal with him? What does he know?’” Gomez says. “I’ve seen so many of them come through when they were starting out, like Special Ed or Public Enemy. It’s funny to see Ice Cube or P. Diddy say, ‘Damn, you’re still here?’”

The fact that he has worked in only one market—the No. 4 market, no less—and essentially has been at two stations his whole career has been noted by his peers, he says. “I’ve seen everybody that has come through here, from the Baka Boys to Dave Morales to Mark Gunn,” Gomez says.

He recalls being told, “You know, motherfucker, you’ve been here and you started here—you don’t understand the little cities I had to work in.”

Gomez says they were right. “I know I wouldn’t understand it. I just wanted to work at my local radio station. I didn’t understand what markets were. I just wanted to work at the radio station I grew up listening to, which was KSOL. When I got the chance to do that, I thought that I was the man.”

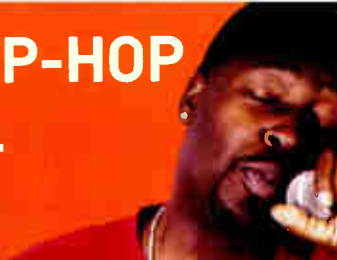

Gomez started at KSOL doing whatever work he could get, including driving the station van and taking weekend shifts and fill-in work.

The station eventually became KYLD (Wild 107), and Gomez joined then-morning man Mancow Muller’s team as the “man on the street.”

In case you have reached this point in the story and swear you have heard Gomez’s name before, think back to 1993. Muller made national headlines for stopping rush-hour traffic on the Bay Bridge while Gomez got a haircut. The stunt was a parody of President Clinton’s notorious haircut aboard Air Force One on a runway at Los Angeles International Airport.

Though it took only a few minutes, Gomez’s haircut tied up traffic for 10 hours, according to reports at the time. The station was sued and ended up paying out more than $1 million.

“We’re forever linked in San Francisco history,” Muller says of Gomez. “They did a San Francisco Bay Area version of Trivial Pursuit, and we’re in it.”

In addition to Muller's show, Gomez did weekend air work at KYLD, hosting the Saturday-night party and an oldies show on Sunday morning.

Eventually, he moved to nights at KMEL, a dream come true. "I loved [longtime KMEL morning man] Rick Chase and what KMEL sounded like, but I already had my job," Gomez says. "You can only hope to one day make it to the big station, and when that ends up happening, you're like, 'Oh, wow.'"

After doing nights for a few years—first with a co-host named Rosary, then solo—Gomez moved to afternoons. Four years later, he was offered the morning-show gig.

"I don't like all the bells and whistles," Gomez recalls telling station management when he was offered the job.

What he did not want, Gomez adds, was "the sidekick that screams and the guy who giggles for no apparent reason."

"I want to play a lot of music," he told them. "I want to bring my afternoon show to the morning, and I want to have a mix."

Though skeptical, management agreed. Eric Recinos, better-known as Mind Motion, is Gomez's mixer.

Now entering his fourth year in mornings, Gomez describes the show as "heavy music and whatever falls into place."

In fact, he may be the poster child for simplicity when it comes to his on-air team. There is no newsman, no traffic reports—unless there has been an accident of significant proportions—and no horoscope lady. It is Gomez and Recinos, music and topical talk.

"Chuy connects with the audience on a one-to-one level," Martin says. "With the other morning shows in town being what exposure on Monday. New music is highlighted on Tuesday, while "West Side Wednesday" features West Coast R&B from acts like Ice Cube, En Vogue, Tony! Toni! Toné! and Mack 10.

"Throwback Thursday" spotlights music and events of a specific year and might even include music from outside R&B/hip-hop, like Siouxsie & the Banshees.

The show's "Funky Friday" elicits the biggest audience response, according to Gomez. "We take it back," he says, citing Culture Club, Michael Jackson, Special Ed, Public Enemy and Mantronix as acts played during the feature.

"If you're monitoring the station and looking at it from the outside," Gomez points out, "you're saying, 'Whoa, what's wrong with these guys? What the fuck's going on here? I can't believe these guys are playing 'Freeze Frame' by the J. Geils Band.'"

"It's the music, it's the lifestyle, it's helping people reminisce," Gomez explains. "Anybody who was a break dancer remembers Planet Patrol, remembers Mantronix, but at the same time, when we were growing up we were listening to Hall & Oates and Michael Jackson."

On the last Friday of the month, old-school music takes over all four hours of the show.

The week's spectrum of features "covers a whole lot of music and a whole lot of things that go down," Gomez says.

While he has not pursued syndication, Gomez says that does not mean he is not interested in it: "I've always been a big fan of syndication. I wouldn't necessarily want to do it across the country, but I'd love to do a West Coast syndication where you'd hear "shaking hands and kissing babies."

"Sometimes I think I've got to kind of live the lifestyle," he says. "Our audience sees me at the clubs. I'm there."

"He grew up here, he went to school here. Everyone knows Chuy," Bryant says. "I knew him when he competed against me."

While Gomez has a blog on his Web site, he admits, "I haven't really done much with it." Still, he knows radio is competing against other forms of entertainment and he tries to please his listeners. He is thinking about how he can make morning-show mixes available as podcasts, which he says are "one thing that we can offer that these other [forms of entertainment] can't."

Some fear listeners will not tune in if they can get the show's content elsewhere, but Gomez disagrees.

"There are ways of feeding them stuff that they're not getting from you," he explains, "but not giving them too much so that they're going to tune out and not listen to you. That's why I choose not to put my interviews online—I want you to make sure you wake up to catch whatever's happening."

As for the mixes, Gomez says, "We'll give them maybe two a month. You're still going to want to check us out in the morning."

"We bring a local angle," he continues, "whether it's the music or the stuff we're talking about. That's what keeps us close to our listeners."

"Chuy is the real deal," Muller says. "We pulled this kid off the street and out of the ghetto. Straight-up ghetto."

Gomez laughs when told of Muller's comment. "Mancow is nuts," he says. "I didn't grow up in the ghetto; I'm no ghetto kid."

'CHUY IS SUCCESSFUL BECAUSE HE KNOWS AND LOVES HIS AUDIENCE. HE NOT ONLY ENTERTAINS THEM EVERY MORNING BUT HE IS THEIR FRIEND.' —KIM BRYANT

they are, the strategy with Chuy was to not go on and do a 'breakfast flakes' kind of show. Chuy was to go on the air, play great music, talk about the Bay and be himself. Simplicity works."

It is about music and lifestyle, Gomez points out repeatedly. "We talk to the artists as it relates to the music or to the lifestyle," he says. "If we get the chance [we will] talk to P. Diddy about his new clothing line or Russell Simmons about 'Def Poetry Jam.'"

One recent guest was local lawyer John Burris, who spoke about the Lil' Kim perjury trial. "News is just whatever's relevant," Gomez says. "If the murders are just crazy, we try to talk to the police chief to find out what's going on. If gas prices are ridiculous, we try to find a way with promotions to go to a local gas station and give away free gas."

"It has to be about what's going on in the Bay Area, what's going on with our listeners, what concerns them," he adds.

An entertainment report by KMEL midday host Sana G. runs twice each morning. The lone outside contributor to the show is Mr. Moviefone, who calls in every Friday.

Each weekday brings a different perspective on music, Gomez says. Mixes, which normally take up an hour each day, get more me in Los Angeles, San Diego, San Jose, Modesto, Fresno. I think a show like mine could really take off on the West Coast.

"Would it work in the rest of the country?" he asks. "It might, but I'd like to do a time check where it actually related to [the listeners'] time check."

Gomez believes his show is successful because listeners feel like they know him. "I think that people think of me as their next-door neighbor or their little brother," he says. "I'm on TV everyday, Monday through Friday. I'm out at all the relevant events, whether it's the Black Expo, AIDS Walk or Gay Pride. And you can still find me at the little kids' graduation."

"I think the thing that's kept me around is that people know me, I'm accessible and I relate," he adds.

Clear Channel regional VP/market manager Kim Bryant agrees. "Chuy is successful because he knows and loves his audience," she says. "He not only entertains them every morning but he is their friend."

During a recent week, Gomez was out at clubs from Wednesday through Saturday, sometimes two a night, and sandwiched in a Saturday-morning station appearance where he was

He just likes to tell people that because I was his man on the street, but you can leave it in the story if you want to."

Muller has more things to say about Gomez: "He just had natural innate charm and timing that you can't learn. It's a gift from God. He has just got great timing. He's a lovable, roly-poly man, and the audience relates to him."

"We pulled him out of oblivion," Mancow continues, "so to see him become such a big radio star in the Bay Area is really wonderful. I'm very proud of him."

Laughing again, Gomez says he was already working at the station when he joined Muller's show, but he appreciates the compliments.

Clear Channel's Bryant says, "Chuy has lasted so long because he has changed with the audience and the station. What was cool five years ago is not what is hip and cool today. He keeps his show fresh and in the now. Very few people can do that."

Martin jokes that Gomez has stayed at KMEL for so long because "I have compromising pictures."

"On top of that," he adds, "hopefully it's because he likes it here and is in an environment that lets him do what he does." ●●●

KICKIN' ASS AND TAKIN' NAMES

SOUTHERN COUNTRY WITH A TWIST IN TAMPA...GUN RACK OPTIONAL

BY PHYLLIS STARK PHOTOGRAPHS BY JAY CARLSON / RETNA LTD.

IT IS ALL ABOUT ATTITUDE AT INFINITY'S country WYUU Tampa, Fla.

Positioned as "Outlaw 92.5: Kick Ass Country," the station's programmers look for songs that match the moniker and the station's fast pace. They even mix in a handful of rock records that fit the bill. That's right, rock.

While the station is mainstream enough in its country picks to be a Billboard Radio Monitor country airplay chart reporter, a glance at the Nielsen Broadcast Data Systems tracking for Outlaw reveals regular spins for such titles as ZZ Top's "Sharp Dressed Man" and "Gimme All Your Lovin'"; Lynyrd Skynyrd's "Gimme Three Steps," "Sweet Home Alabama" and "What's Your Name"; Huey Lewis & the News' "Working for a Livin'"; Creedence Clearwater Revival's "Travelin' Band"; and the Georgia Satellites' "Keep Your Hands to Yourself." Tom Petty & the Heartbreakers, Bad Company and John Mellencamp are also regulars.

The station mixes in such rock records about once per hour.

MD Jay Roberts says it is usually "Southern rock and '70s and '80s classic rock that fits the bill, but the definition of what qualifies for spins at Outlaw is extended to 'whatever sounds good to us.'"

As for the country music, it is not all mainstream either. Roberts and OM Mike Culotta note that they have been known to play album cuts, obscure independent records and even the occasional song from an act with no label at all.

"If it sounds good, I'll play it," Roberts says.

Among the indie acts and songs they've championed are Moraine Music's Keni Thomas, Rhett Akins' new "Kiss My Country Ass" and a new, unsigned band, Seven. That group, which includes former Broken Bow Records artist J. Michael Harter, is getting spins at Outlaw with a song titled "Drunk Chicks," whose chorus is "Yea, I love drunk chicks/Because drunk chicks love me."

Outlaw indeed.

that the music played on the speakers before the start of a Kenny Chesney concert includes such hard rock warhorses as Def Leppard's "Pour Some Sugar on Me" and AC/DC's "You Shook Me All Night Long." Chesney's audience knows every word.

"We're naive sometimes in country to think our listeners haven't been exposed to that," Culotta says.

Roberts points to the "CMT Crossroads" series, which pairs a country artist with a rock singer, as further proof of genre compatibility.

But it is not necessarily a winning ratings combination for the station. In the winter Arbitron book, Outlaw was tied for 16th place in the market 12-plus with a 2.1 share.

And it is likely to start feeling some heat in the fall book from new Clear Channel competitor WFUS, particularly after that station's new morning man, Skip Mahaffey, signs on after sitting out a six month non-compete.

But Outlaw, which targets a younger, male demo, has served as an effective flanker for mainstream country sister WQYK-FM (Mahaffey's former home), which is a consistent ratings powerhouse.

ROCKIN' THE COUNTRY

The country/rock hybrid is a musical mixture that makes perfect sense to Culotta. He notes

Mike Culotta

WQYK—which Culotta and Roberts also program—was No. 2 12-plus in the winter book with a 7.1 share.

SAME HOUSE, DIFFERENT ROOMS

Roberts says the idea is for WQYK and WYUU to have “completely separate identities,” despite being housed down the hall from each other.

Musically, Culotta says Outlaw will “jump a little sooner” on records than WQYK. For Outlaw, he sometimes adds records out of the box and “take chances on stuff Jay and I love.”

“I think so many other stations are so researched and consulted and watered-down,” Roberts says. He describes Outlaw as “a mainstream country station with an edge, a little twist.”

While Roberts and Culotta generally dip back only to the mid-'90s for country gold, they will play a few older titles from such acts as Alabama and Hank Williams Jr.

Outlaw's music mix is about 80% current and recurrent and just 20% gold. WQYK, on the other hand, is 60% current and recurrent and 40% gold.

So how do they decide what makes the cut?

Roberts says the songs Outlaw plays are almost all “attitude songs you'd hear at sporting events.” But he says they will play an occasional ballad if it is a big hit, like Keith Urban's “Making Memories of Us.”

While he watches the charts to see what is happening nationally, Roberts says tempo and attitude take priority over chart position.

But they do try to help out labels when they can. Culotta says if a record has moved into the top five on the chart and is unlikely to get to No. 1 without spins from Outlaw, they might play it for a short time. Not surprisingly, Culotta says labels “love us when they're getting 100 spins a week, but they hate us” when their record is not getting played there at all.

MOOVING ALONG

The station's imaging includes such slogans as “Drink responsibly . . . Don't spill it” and “Fight crime, shoot back.”

But nowhere is Outlaw's attitude more prevalent than in its “Cowhead & Brent” morning show, which recently hosted the first of what will become an annual “Bootie Cruise.”

It is not a warm and fuzzy show. The station's Web site lists a cast of characters and regular callers with names like Screw You Guy, Donkey Porn Guy, Damn Girl, Jay the New York Freak and Shorty the Bug Man.

Culotta describes the morning show as “humor-based” and “lifestyle-based,” as well as “redneck radio done by a guy from the Bronx [N.Y.] . . . [Cowhead] is to radio what ‘Fear Factor’ is to TV,” he says.

Roberts claims the show appeals even to listeners who do not like country music.

Jay Roberts

'IF IT SOUNDS GOOD, I'LL PLAY IT!' —JAY ROBERTS

The rest of the station's lineup features people with more typical names: Barbara Anne is in middays, Kevin Summers does afternoons, Joey Steele is at night, and Brenda Blass does overnights.

The staff is active on the streets, taking out a pair of station Jeeps nicknamed “Waylon” and “Willie” to events. Ironically, the Jeeps are the station's only nod to those icons, since Outlaw, the station, does not play Nelson or Jennings, the original outlaws of the genre.

THE RACE IS ON

NASCAR is a huge part of the station's programming. It airs races every weekend as well as the syndicated “Racing Country” show. As a nod to NASCAR, Outlaw also airs what it calls “fast-track weekends.”

Culotta and Roberts also choose a “prime cut” each week and play it at the top of every hour. On a recent day monitored by Nielsen BDS, it was Pat Green's “Baby Doll.” Two weeks ago the prime cut was “Hicktown” by Jason Aldean, who Roberts describes as a “perfect example of [the kind of] new artist with an edge” that Outlaw seeks to champion.

The prime cut is intended to “grow future stars,” Culotta says. Roberts notes those records get about 120 spins per week.

Culotta also says the station has been among the first in the country to play such eventual stars as Gretchen Wilson and Big & Rich, and he says that often gives labels a “story” to start the record with elsewhere in the country.

Roberts says they were simultaneously playing about five cuts from Big & Rich's debut album before it was even released last year.

While he says their track record of picking future hits is “pretty good,” Culotta admits, “there's a few dogs” on the list too. But at Outlaw, he says, “we really believe it's still about the music and about your gut, and we go by that a lot.”

THE CHARTS

THIS WEEK IN DATA. For complete charts, there's always more at www.BillboardRadioMonitor.com

LEGEND TO CHARTS

Charts are ranked by detections except for Latin, Christian, Gospel and Country charts which are based on audience impressions, conducted by cross-referencing exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data.

● Songs showing an increase in detections

Charts are ranked by detections except for Latin, Christian, Gospel and Country charts which are based on audience impressions, conducted by cross-referencing exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data.

AUDIENCE TOTALS on the charts are derived, in part, using certain Arbitron loc. only-rated Persons 12+ audience estimates, under license.

⊙ AIRPOWER: awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Airpower awards do not appear on the Latin and Christian, gospel charts.

↑ GREATEST GAINER: awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections/audience for Latin, Christian, Gospel and Country.

⊕ MOST AIRPLAY ADDS: awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week.

TIES A song with a gain in detections/audience for Latin, Christian, Gospel and Country over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are only gaining detections/audience for Latin, Christian, Gospel and Country, the song being played on more stations is placed first.

RECURRENT RULE: Songs below the top 20 (top 15 for adult top 40, AC, modern AC, adult R&B, heritage rock, blues, Christian and gospel) become recurrent and are removed from the chart after 20 weeks. Descending country titles move to recurrent after 20 weeks if they rank below No. 35 in either audience or detections.

⊙ Nielsen BDS certification for copies of 100,000 shipments on all monitored stations, including satellite and national networks, across the U.S. and Canada. National following symbol indicates multi-pre level of 100,000 shipments.

★ Indicates title earned #1 Predictable award of research data provided by Promosquad.

Playlists are listed in order of TGA weekly count, beginning with the highest counting station. Counts are updated twice yearly following the release of the spring and fall Arbitron surveys.

A+ AIRPLAY ADDS denotes surge with 6 or more stations at station for first time this week.

IMPACT! Songs at Airpower level and below with a gain in detections or with a percent loss in detections equal to or better than the monitored decrease in the format.

★ INITIAL IMPACT: Indicates songs first appearance on the Impact page.

THE SPIN

McGRAW ADDS 'FRIES' TO HIS TOP 10 TOTAL

Up 3.2 million audience impressions, Tim McGraw's "Do You Want Fries With That" (Curb) takes the Country chart's fattest gain and rises 12-8, scoring his 35th top 10 single.

In the 15-year-old Nielsen Broadcast Data Systems era, McGraw is in fourth place for most top 10 songs behind George Strait (46), Alan Jackson (45) and Brooks & Dunn (36). McGraw does, however, break a tie with Toby Keith for the most top 10 singles during the current decade, as "Fries" is his 17th during this frame.

Concurrently, Elton John makes his first Country chart appearance, as the duet partner on Catherine Britt's "Where We Both Say Goodbye" (RCA), which starts at No. 49. The entry is a career high for Britt; she previously debuted at No. 57 with "The Upside of Being Down," which peaked at No. 36 in November 2004.

Although he is quick to admit a deep appreciation for country music, John has not previously scored Country chart ink. In particular, the British-born star is a fan of the late Jim Reeves, and recorded duets with Tammy Wynette and LeAnn Rimes. His 1971 album "Tumbleweed Connection" included "Country Comfort," which received some play at country radio.

HOOTIE RETURNS TO MAKE IT AN EVEN DOZEN

Hootie & the Blowfish debut at Adult Top 40 at No. 35 with "One Love" (Vanguard), their 12th charting single at the format. That places the act in a tie with Dave Matthews Band, Matchbox Twenty and Backstreet Boys for the most charted singles at the format by a group. The four acts trail Sheryl Crow (15), Madonna (14) and Alanis Morissette (13) for the lead among all artists.

Backstreet Boys have done a bit better at Mainstream Top 40 as their title count on that list improves to 16 with the debut of "Just Want You to Know" (Zomba) at No. 38. They hold the lead for most chart appearances by a group at that format and are now in a three-way tie for fourth overall with Nelly and Britney Spears. Only Madonna (24), Mariah Carey (23) and Janet Jackson (21) have had more Mainstream Top 40 hits.

"Know" is the Boys' ninth chart appearance this decade, which ties them with Destiny's Child as the group with the most charted singles in the 2000s.

Stones' 'Rough' Is More Than Ready

The Rolling Stones earn their third top 10 Heritage Rock debut as "Rough Justice" (Virgin) enters the list at No. 10, picking up all of its 188 spins during the last three days of the chart period.

The track joins the group's two Heritage Rock chart-toppers, 1997's "Anybody Seen My Baby?" and 2002's "Don't Stop," as top 10 entries and makes the Stones the first act in the chart's eight-year history to land three top 10 debuts. "Justice" also opens at No. 1 on the Heritage Audience chart. It is the seventh title to do so and the first since U2's "Vertigo" in October 2004.

Elsewhere, 311's "Don't Tread on Me" (Volcano/Zomba) debuts on the Modern Rock chart at No. 35. It is the group's 17th chart appearance since it first hit the list in April 1993. Since then, 311 has charted with at least one track each year except 1994.

ABSENCE MAKES THE CHART GROW FONDER AT ADULT R&B

After similar absences from the Adult R&B chart, a pair of female artists return to the list. With "Every Woman Dreams" (IME), the lead track from her upcoming album of the same name, Shanice bows with the chart's top debut at No. 33. It is the singer's first appearance since "Yesterday" peaked at No. 11 in 1999.

Also returning to the chart at No. 40 is Melissa Morgan, who teams with Freddie Jackson on a remake of the 1980 Roberta Flack & Donnie Hathaway classic "Back Together Again" (Orpheus). Morgan last charted in 2000 as a featured artist on JT Taylor's "How."

CROWNS CAST QUITE A SHADOW WITH TOP DEBUT

Casting Crowns tie their previous high debut at No. 18 on Christian Adult Contemporary with "Lifesong" (Beach Street/Reunion). The group opened at No. 18 with "Voice of Truth" in October 2004 and eventually spent 13 weeks at No. 1 on that chart. Casting Crowns are the only act since the chart's launch in summer 2003 to score two top 20 debuts.

Songs are blind tested online by PromoSquad using multiple listens and a nationwide sample of carefully profiled music consumers. Songs are rated on a 1-5 scale; final results are based on weighted positives. Songs with a score of 65 or more are judged to have Hit Potential, although that benchmark number can fluctuate per format based on the strength of available music. For a complete and updated list of current songs with Hit Potential, commentary, polls and more, please visit www.hitpredictor.com. © 2005. HitPREDICTOR column with their latest single, "Shake." This is the duo's first non-collaborative entry on the chart, though they have been here before in support of other artists.

Bow Wow also scores at rhythmic top 40 with new song "Like You." It was previously a HitPredictor pick at R&B/hip-hop. The song is following the same path as Bow Wow's recent hit "Let Me Hold You." That song went top five in both formats after appearing on the HitPredictor chart. Damian Marley is also a recent R&B/hip-hop pick with "Welcome to Jamrock." That song debuts at rhythmic top 40 this issue as well.

Twins 'Shake' On It

Duo Debuts At Rhythmic Top 40 With First Non-Collaborative Track

Howie Day adds his latest single, "She Says," to the adult top 40 chart this issue. Last single "Collide" was a hit, and a HitPredictor pick, in three formats: mainstream top 40, adult top 40 and AC. Bon Jovi also scores at adult top 40 with "Have a Nice Day."

The modern rock list sees two new entries. Chevelle returns with "Panic Prone." This is the band's first appearance on the HitPredictor charts since last year's "Closure," which eventually peaked at No. 11 on the Billboard Radio Monitor Modern Rock chart. Meanwhile, Nine Inch Nails debut on the HitPredictor chart with new single "Only." This is the follow-up to the band's former No. 1 Modern Rock hit "The Hand That Feeds."
