JAS. MATHUS AND HIS KNOCK-DOWN SOCIETY

...Play Songs For Rosetta

Mammoth, 101 B St., Carrboro, NC 27510 919.932.1882
andrew_paynter@mammoth.com

While G. Love re-fashions the blues according to his '90s sensibility, James Mathus (a.k.a. Jimbo Mathus of the Squirrel Nut Zippers) prefers to keep it real, playing down-home Delta blues that's as pure as it gets. Mathus's album is dedicated to both his childhood babysitter, Rosetta Patton ("She practically raised me," he writes in the liner notes), and her father, legendary bluesman Charlie Patton, who worked the juke joint circuit even before Robert Johnson. The gravity of Mathus's reverence for both Patton and the musical tradition he founded is what gives this album its unbelievably authentic character — it's as if Mathus is channeling the spirit of black folk art rather than interpreting it. Plays Songs sounds like it could have been recorded in the 1920s, from its creaky, vinyl-sounding production to the reverberation of the single-string washub bass to the plinking piano rolls to lyrics like "Who'll sop my gravy when I'm dead and gone?" "Diggin' My Potatoes" — a cover — is a straight-up jug 'n' kettle tune, buzzing with the ratchet of kazoo, accordion and washboard, while back-porch, Leadbelly-style stompers like "Mississippi Moan" and "Don't Make Me Wait" are just as rousing. "Goin' Down The Road" shows that Mathus is keenly aware of how the blues evolved into the kind of Ragtime music that the Zippers have brought back into vogue. Up in heaven, Patton's got to be grinning from ear to ear. JENNY ELISCU

PRINCESS SUPERSTAR CEO

A Big Rich Major Label, 151 First Ave., Ste. 239, New York, NY 10003 212.673.8418
Once merely a CMJ Futures pick and office favorite, NYC personage Princess Superstar (née Concetta Kirschner) has gotten rather comfortable with her regal stage name and all it implies over the few short years she's been dominating white hipster hip-hop from her East Village throne. Following up her last album, the similarly ambitious Strictly Platinum (she does have a way of stating her mission), the Princess delivers once again with CEO, a concept piece-turned-funkified party LP packed with the clever sampling and rump-shaking beats that we've come to love in late-20th century popular music. But without stopping there, she's also peppered the album with the kind of non-stop pop culture references rarely heard since the Beastie Boys' Paul's Boutique and a level of braggadocio to rival Big Daddy Kane's. Ms. Kirschner's saucy personality delivers on every track, administering her whip-smart, womanly rhymes with a kind of vicious "I can bring home the bacon, fry it up in a pan" sass that'll have women throwing their hands in the air and most men covering under the power of her gold-plated microphone. It seems wrong to ruin the hilarious fun of discovering Kirschner's searing lyrical wit by quoting her here, so we'll let you discover most of it in your own spins of CEO. Those familiar with the biz, though, will split a side at the completely ruthless sing-along, "I'm In Love With The Music Biz," and "Stuck In A 401K-Hole," where the Princess sets answering machine messages from A&R reps to circus-like band music. CHERYL BOTCHICK

ISOTOPE 217 The Unstable Molecule

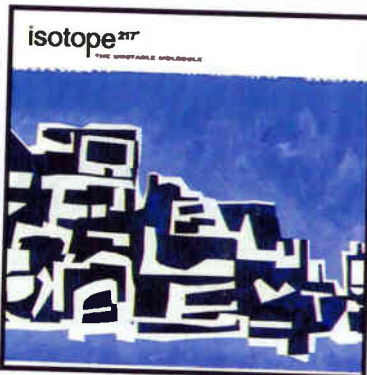

New Beyond, c/o Thrill Jockey, P.O. Box 476794, Chicago, IL 60647
312.455.0310 thrilljockey@thrilljockey.com

Far more than just your typical side project on a rock star's boutique label, the first release from Tortoise-men Dan Bitney and John Herndon's new New Beyond imprint is actually a complete reinvention of tired terminology and stale categories. The genre title "post-rock" has pretty much worn out its welcome, but a fresh and bold work like the Isotope 217 project reinvents the shop-worn concept and transcend all tags and labels. The music on The Unstable Molecule is rooted in the mesmerizing percussive currents of Tortoise's often-lengthy onstage jams, and the hypnotic tug of the Tortoise rhythm team is augmented here by the guitar work of Jeff Parker (who's also worked with that band) and the melancholy cornet and trombone playing of Rob Mazurek and Sara P. Smith (the Chicago Underground Orchestra), as well as Matt Lux's funk-oriented bass lines. (Listen carefully to how Lux locks into a groove and yet keeps subtly changing his bass lines — Bootsie Collins would no doubt approve.) Dense, hypnotic grooves clash with improvisation to create something methodical, yet thoroughly organic. Although much of it seems to arise from spontaneous composition, it's clear that someone has thought very long and hard about what this music is, how it moves and where it will move to. Great music to study to. JAMES LIEN

DANIELLE HOWLE AND THE TANTRUMS

Do A Two Sable

Daemon, P.O. Box 1207, Decatur, GA 30031 404.373.5733
jcbrand@mindspring.com

Whether she's performing a solo acoustic set or fronting her full electric band the Tantrums, Danielle Howle's greatest strength is her ability to express emotion through song, rendering personal experiences into universal themes. Her raspy, brassy vocals on "Host For The Notes" are similar to those of Amy Ray of the Indigo Girls (with whom she's toured), and the song has a Southern charm all of its own complete with a folksy, strummin' guitar, while she slides into a soulful gallop on the Patsy Cline-esque anthem, "If You Wanna Leave." On "Anything Can Get Into My Heart," her vocal range seems endless; it's as if she were standing on a cliff over a grand canyon, singing out across the hollow earth. Her fellow South Carolinians, the Tantrums, are all about good friends, good times and exceptional music. "You Came A Knockin'," for example, unites their guitars with warm, harmonic vocals, resulting in Southern rock, Howle-style, at its finest. Whether solo or with a band, Danielle Howle's idiosyncratically charming vocals and equally compelling songs are a wondrous place worth exploring. BRENDA LINGUITI

ON THE CHART

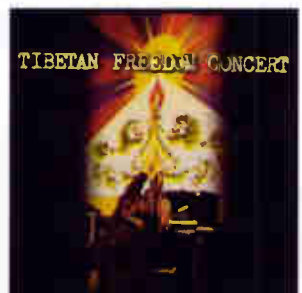

The top five spots on the Top 200 this week remain exactly the same, and little other movement is had in the top ten until the last two spots: SpinArt's Apples In Stereo arrive at 9 from 6, and Jade Tree's Promise Ring moves 14 to 10. Also barreling toward the top are Hollywood's Lounge-A-Palooza compilation (21-14), 4AD/Elektra-EEG's tried-and-true anxieties (43-16), Warp-Sire's Apex Twin EP (62-23), and also this week's Core Breakthrough) and Jetset's Mogwai (103-26). Also watch for Atlantic's Babybird (114-32), Columbia-CRG's Mike Watt (90-33), Re-Constriction-Cargo's TV Terror compilation (93-56), Mercury's refreshments (72-58), Thirsty Ear's John Fahey & Cul De Sac (102-70), Mammoth's mighty Manchu (108-71), Talkin' Loud-Mercury's much-talked about Roni Size/Reprazent (113-51), Revolution's new Letters To Cleo album (173-77), and the #1 Breakthrough, the college radio artist-packed Tibetan Freedom Concert three-disc compilation (#83 debut).

#1 BREAKTHROUGH

VARIOUS ARTISTS Tibetan Freedom Concert

Grand Royal-Capitol Chart Position: #83

The certainty of the massive future success of the three-disc Tibetan Freedom Concert compilation is assured this week, as it nabs a #83 Top 200 debut and the third most-added position. Stations must have grabbed the meaty CD of alternative hits (performed live at the Milarepa Fund's two benefit concerts) and ran straight to the studio, since it arrived at stations in barely enough time to chart. Thirty-one stations include it in their Top 30 this week, with four number one reports (KAMP, KAOR, KHSU and KWLC), and these additional top tens: KNSU, KTEC, WECB, WHUS, WMAR, WNRN, WPOB, WRCM and WVMW.

CORE BREAKTHROUGH

APHEX TWIN Come To Daddy (EP)
Warp-Sire Chart Position: #14

Everyone, from commercial press outlets like Rolling Stone to college radio DJs, are still talking about the giant dancing bears that flanked Richard D. James during his set at this year's opening night show at the CMJ Music Marathon. Those bears, wherever they are, are probably dancing even more furiously at the joy of the new Apex Twin EP and it's easy claim to being the Core Breakthrough in its first week out, earning a #14 debut (and a strong move from 62 to 23 on the Top 200). Both WESU and WRSU report the EP at #1 this week, with these stations adding their support by including it in their top ten: KUCI, WCDB, WCWM, WNYU, WSMU and WVUM.

DAVID HOLMES Let's Get Killed

Go! Beat/1500, c/o A&M, 1416 N. La Brea Ave., Hollywood, CA 90028 213.856.7139 highball@earthlink.net

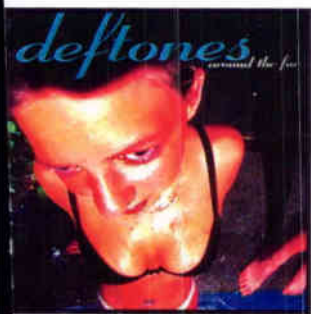

Let's Get Killed is one outsider's musical reaction to the characters, emotions and ideas that one encounters upon entering the metropolis of New York City. As crafted by Belfast, Ireland-born DJ artist David Holmes, this scenario manifests itself through the cut 'n' paste artistry of a sampler and a drum machine. While most of the sounds here are edited electronically, the record's brilliance comes from a rich, organic quality that supersedes its abundant nods to the precepts of hip-hop, film scores, jazz, Latin and dub. Holmes is merely interested in creating fresh sounds and rhythms from impressionistic textures, be it humorous epithet-laden snippets of a conversation with a drunken street-seer ("Listen") to the rattling, claustrophobic quality of an echo-enhanced drum loop clashing with a melancholic harmonium ("Slashers Revenge"). This is beat-centered music certainly, but a kind draped so much in the sound and pulse of everyday life that it works as a gallery of experiences and places, evoking by turns the city's cluttered mayhem, its alien, sublime beauty as well as its inherently dark humor. "Radio" opens with some curbside commentary on the genius of James Bond's machismo before progressing into a throbbing update of John Barry's Goldfinger theme; the spirited "Gritty Shaker" grooves along on a shuffling snare track and some funky Hammond organ work; the six-and-a-half minute "Don't Die Just Yet" moves through a twisting, psychedelic mindfield of symphonic noise and left-of-center rhythms that firmly places itself between stoner excess and envelope-busting textural hybridization that can't be done proper justice here in print. DEFTONES Around The Fur

Maverick, 8000 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90048

The Deftones' 1995 self-titled debut found them overly ponderous and displaying their influences (a little too) firmly on their sleeves, but it also contained ample amounts of raw energy and melodicism, the potential of which was yet to be developed fully. Three years later, that potential is fully realized in the mega-decible power-chord glory of Around The Fur. This hard-hitting noise-fest finds the band once again furthering the cause of riff-heavy, bludgeoning rock also championed by the likes of Soundgarden, Helmet and Kyuss. Those heavy sensibilities are paired with vocalist Chino Moreno's yearning whine, allowing the band to create own kind of sub-metal: heavy guitar blended with a fat bass and trebly, but unrelenting trapwork. Moreno's vocals vary between cries, spoken word and growling, often all within the same song. The title track's power riffage ignites a sprawling mass-heavy ruckus, transforming Moreno's sly, punchy vocal into a vicious roar that gathers more caustic intensity each time around. From production to execution to pure brain-smashing aggression, the tune has the makings of a classic. "MX" and "Drive" reveal both heavier, as well as more melodic threads to the band's sound, but all of the songs rip and tear like a ball-ping hammer to the bicuspid. With Around The Fur, the Deftones have carved out their own place in heavy music's hard beaten path toward the year 2000. GREG CORRAO

SILVER SCOOTER The Other Palm Springs

Peek-A-Boo, P.O. Box 49542, Austin, TX 78765 512.477.4636 travesty@mail.utexas.edu

As its name indicates, Silver Scooter is a fun, lightweight, easy-to-drive musical machine. This Austin-based trio has put together a bright, stimulating 14-song debut of tilted pop that includes a lot of round vowels. There is something refreshing about hearing an anti-diva and D.I.Y.-fueled vocal delivery, speaking of porches, swings, fences, grocery stores and hills. The band's delivery is particularly convincing in "10 PM On A Saturday Night," when Scott Garred's wire-rimmed tenor whispers, "You should know that the problem ain't you/You knew what a friend could do." The second track, "Regret Sets In," ends with the classic pop non-lyric "Ba buh ba bah bah." Silver Scooter employs Superchunk's anthemic playbook and emo-honesty, brightened by its own intonation and sincerity. In "Brain & Heart," a charged, buzzing instrumental jumps behind the simple realization that "it's 'cause your head's too stupid/the heart don't care about you." Later, Garred charges his paramour with "blaming everything on Dad." Silver Scooter gives the indie-pop wheel a good shine with a lyrically clean towel and an earnest polish. Step up to the above, plus the softer "Catching Fish," "Pumpkin Eyes" and "Solid Glass." DAVID DAY

ARCANA Arc Of The Testimony

Axiom, c/o Island, 825 Eighth Ave., 24th Fl., New York, NY 10019 212.603.7871 earbender@earthlink.com

The Arcana project is certainly a bittersweet moment for fans of jazz and experimental music: these recordings are the last sessions to feature venerated master drummer Tony

Williams before his sudden and untimely death. Arcana teams Williams with a motley (and sometimes thoroughly unexpected) cast including Wayne Shorter, Bill Laswell, Bernie Worrell, and even mutant guitar whiz kid Buckethead. For those who have the necessary spirit and the proper mindset, it's a liberating listen: check out how "Gone Tomorrow" starts out as a cheesy jazz romp, but slowly unravels, until by the time it ends, it's completely and utterly out there, a well-recorded free jazz cacophony. It's rather amazing that Williams, after all the revolutionary music that he'd been a part of with his group Lifetime, and all the different projects he'd been associated

TRACK STAR Communication Breaks

Die Young Stay Pretty, c/o Sub Pop, P.O. Box 20645, Seattle, WA 98102 206.441.8441 radio@subpop.com

Track Star's brand of lo-fi indie-rock may be familiar on the surface, but with this debut full-length (the trio only has a couple of well-received singles and a 10" EP otherwise) it manages to prove that administered with the right instruments at the right pace, the sonics of the style can grow within the genre, and with a little ingenuity, do even better by its usually forlorn, lovesick subject matter.

Communication Breaks, as the title suggests, is a 16-track tome of she-broke-my-heart/lost opportunity sentiment, but the instrumental line-up — only drums and two guitars without bass — serves it well: By keeping the melodies treble-heavy and the drums' recording focused on emphasizing the high-pitched shimmer of the ride cymbal, the band's music sounds just as fragile as the endlessly woeful protagonist of the songs. In fact, the quiet chords and gentle drumming on cuts like "On Hundred Degrees" or "Sooner It Dies" practically disintegrate before they even make it to your ears. But Track Star isn't without its chutzpah, either: On a number of these songs (the aforementioned "Sooner It Dies" included), the band can cut loose on a trance-like jam of jangly guitar chords, recalling the earlier, mangier days of genre forefathers like the Wedding Present. Try "Alien Idea," "Bleeding Gums," "Payback" and the meditative closing cut, "West Coast Weather." CHERYL BOTCHICK

LUKE SLATER Freak Funk

NovaMute, 140 W. 22nd St., 10th Fl., New York, NY 10011 212.255.7670 cradlo@mute.com

Luke Slater has been making music under a variety of monikers over the past 10 years, starting at an early age by dabbling with his father's hi-fi and going on to become a highly-lauded Brighton, England, dance club DJ. With Freak Funk, Slater presents a stripped-down version of techno culled from the earliest Detroit purveyors and sieves it through '90s technology and rhythmic trends. Slater's music is perfectly epitomized by the title of his debut: at all times, the music he creates is both freaky in its reach and funky in its depth. His clear-cut vision of what his music should sound like comes from every note — he wastes no time on sounds that could be irrelevant or unnecessary. The collection of songs here has both ambient elements — a lot of the songs contain the swooping symphonics of the best ambient music — and beats, which makes it a good record both for dancing and for zoning out at home. Freak out to: "Purely," "Are You There?" and "Engine One." MEGAN FRAMPTON

ALAN LICHT & LOREN MAZZACANE CONNORS Mercury

Road Cone, P.O. Box 8732, Portland, OR 97207 503.282.6822 roadcone@teleport.com

The latest collaboration between NYC avant-guitarists Licht and Connors follows in the wake of their highly regarded Two Nights recording, again proving their careful mastery of their instruments' emotional voices. Both players utilize dissonance and long chord sustains as their primary tonal tools, intertwining their delicate note-bending and angular planes of feedback with equal amounts of near-silence. The five pieces gathered here represent five different improvisational performances, each varying dramatically in its mood and action. Connors's foundation is the low, desolate sounds of the blues, while Licht tends to shade Connors's leads with subtle drones and harmonics, but on Mercury their playing is nearly indistinguishable, as they work together to achieve a stark, resonant sound. Each piece achieves a unique kind of abstract beauty, as the blurry outlines of their guitar sounds wander and dissipate around one another, near silent and elegiac one minute, harsh and inconsolable the next. A record of incredible and frightening power. COLIN HELMS

HALF JAPANESE Heaven Sent

Trance Syndicate, P.O. Box 49771, Austin, TX 78765 512.454.3265 tjrecords@aol.com

Over the last 20 years, Half Japanese has gone through many changes, but most recently leader Jad Fair has been flanked by the admirable talents of John Sluggert on guitar and Gilles V. Rieder on drums, keyboards and percussion. Together the three, with guest bassist Dallas Good and guitarist Steve Pettey, have created a magnum opus: a 62-minute piece called "Heaven Sent" that is wonder of stamina (both artistic and physical) and vision. The music is essentially a single riff pulled apart and twisted around to compliment Fair's endless riff narrative. It's hard to actually nail down what the heck he's getting at, but he seems adamant about living for today (over and over he winds the words "this is our time" into the piece). Much like the music, it seems as if the words are a litany of phrases that Fair tinkers with, taking things out and adding new ideas as he goes along. A 62-minute long doesn't easily translate into radio formats (outside of the most adventurous programs), but "Heaven Sent" is still a rewarding listen. Much like a long book to which one gets attached, you're sad when this song is finally over. Taped on the end are nine brief (about a minute each) songs that resist the urge for the quick fix and go for the title cut. TAD HENDRICKSON

WHEAT Medeiros

Sugar Free, P.O. Box 14166, Chicago, IL 60611-0166 773.489.5661

The four guys who comprise Wheat are interested in the edges of indie-rock, shaping its lo-fi formula in earnest. The soft-spoken, lead vocals talk of things like "train-track friends" and "tailgating" and "parking lots," all part of the band's thematic excursions in the suburban world. The group's musical vision is founded in basements and seen through closed eyes. The tracks fade in and then fade out, with a little bit of static, and much more emotion. In the well-written "Karmic Episodes," the phrase "my head is buzzing like a cheap pair of speakers," glides over one-note feedback, tape loops and squeezeboxes. Medeiros tells a tale of love and loss, as the four-track birds twitter and tweet behind the sweep-sweep of the drums and the plodding rhythm of the bass. "Summer" vividly completes the puzzle of an ended relationship, and the brevity of the season. "Leslie West" also speaks of a sour lover: "Sometimes it's nice when you don't talk/When you don't show," but, of course, the narrator ends up really missing her. Although droopy-eyed indie love songs are everywhere, Wheat has a way of building their imagery into a new form. Try the above, plus "Girl Singer," "Soft Polluted Blacks" and "Death Car." DAVID DAY

YOU AM I Hourly, Daily

Sire, 2034 Broadway, Santa Monica, CA 90404 212.343.5968

You Am I has experienced considerable success in its homeland of Sydney, Australia, as well as touring the world (including the European festival circuit). The band, however, has yet to get any kind of notice here in America. The band formed back in '89 and played its first gig in '90, emphasizing songcraft, lyrics and vocal harmonies. After eight years together, a number of EPs and Hourly, Daily as its third full-length, guitarist/singer Tim Rogers, bassist Andy Kent and drummer Russell Hopkinson have things pretty well mapped out at this point, using the '60s British invasion sound as its main touchstone. Released last year as an import, Hourly, Daily wanders from the stringed nuances of "Heavy Comfort" and "Who Takes Who Home," to the Who-ish "Flag Falls" and "Opportunities" without losing one iota of group identity. With thousands of miles under their collective touring belts, and a ear for baroque nuance, You Am I have a two-pronged approach that somehow avoids a Jekyll-and-Hyde paradox. Look to the lyrically potent pop of "Good Morning" and the rocking "Wally Ruffles" to hold up to repeated listenings. TAD HENDRICKSON

DAYSRING COLLECTIVE Spark

Fragrant, 7033 Hollywood Blvd., Suite #201, Los Angeles, CA 90028 213.460.4868

First, some clarification: Albuquerque, New Mexico techno-trance trio Dayspring Collective isn't a "group" in the traditional sense. They are, as their name states, a collective unit whose members have all written and produced tracks with one another, but in different combinations and under different monikers. No single cut featured on their nine-track Spark collection bears the mark of all three minds. The disc showcases the musical crossbreeding of J. Scott G., Jason Blum and Shawn Parker under the guises of Deepsky, Trinity Sight, Avatar Carriage and Desert Sol (do your own homework to see which members fall under which banner). But you'd never guess that this unit divides its studio time, based on the power and consistency of this offering. Each musician of this techno-colored trinity follows its sweeping synthesizers, pulsing acid lines, aggressive melodies and mesmerizing bass lines to the same high-energy ends. Having made their mark in the rapturous peaks and valleys of their 12" singles, Spark reveals these three songwriters and producers to be clear-cut leaders of the psychedelic trance underground. With each track clocking in at close to 140 BPM, lounging is not an option. BE/NON You're Playing With Children In The Land Of The Bugs

Turnbuckle, 163 Third Ave., Ste. 435, New York, NY 10003
212.598.9652 turnbuckle@worldnet.att.net

The midwestern oasis of Lawrence, Kansas, is quietly building a head of college radio steam. Larryville's latest offering comes from the trio Be/Non, whose debut record is a consensual tug-of-war between the cranky kerang of rusted-car garage metal and the rustic grump of screen-door whimsy. Like its hometown, Be/Non is small but artful, yet loud enough to get your attention; its lead vocals turn from the strained screams of "Blubber" to the calm, emotive explanation of "Brilliance Vee-Hold." On half the tracks, the guitars shear like chainsaws, on others, they shimmer like surgical scissors. The one track recorded in Kansas (the rest was recorded in Brooklyn, New York), "Toots," allows a subtle fiddle to underscore the story of a

"tooth-white cat," all over a delightfully restrained beat. Immediately after, however, the band screams like Mr. Hyde with "Microsurgical Vasectomy Reversal," a raucous, 150-second landslide. The stuttered strums of "Plain" show the trio's penchant for ephemeral reflection. From the Regrets to Butterglory, Lawrence, Kansas, makes a claim to real channeled musical talent, and Be/Non represents it well. Drink up "Landing," "Kitchen Worker" (in which you can make out someone yelling "86 chicken!") and "Danny's Alive." DAVID DAY

WINDSOR FOR THE DERBY Minnie Grundfeldt

Trance Syndicate, address above

Windsor For The Derby is not a horse, just a band hooked on the electronic, slow-core sub-genre that also includes Labradford and Stars Of The Lid. Informed by math rock acrobatics as well as Brian Eno's most ambient work, Minnie Grundfeldt, the band's second full-length, is a collection of audio abstract paintings bent on setting a mood rather than playing a tightly-arranged melody. When things do get more concrete, as they do on "Stasis" and "Useless Arm," the band explores the guitar and time signature equation well enough to prove themselves capable players. Conversely, both "Fat Angel, Skinny Ghost" and "Bass Trap" take the listener for ambient journeys where things ooze and pulse rather than kling and klang. As if cleansing the palette, there are periods of near silence that enable the next song to sneak up on the listener, nearly catching them unaware when the gentle sounds of "Bass Trap" flows seamlessly into "No Techno w/drums," or when "When I See Scissors" finally grows to a normal volume. Vocals are nearly non-existent throughout. Interestingly, "Skimming +" takes on several different audio themes in succession, making it almost like a soundtrack to a short film. Like audio Prozac, the music of Windsor For The Derby leaves the listener helpless to resist the pleasing, mood-altering material within. TAD HENDRICKSON

GANGER Fore

Domino, P.O. Box 4029, London SW13 2XT U.K. 44.181.875.1390

What's come to be known as "post rock" — instrumental bands following in the wake of Tortoise that incorporate improvisational jazz techniques and instruments into their rock-based format — has thus far largely come out of Chicago and, to a lesser extent, New York. Consequently, Glasgow, Scotland's Ganger stands out to Americans as one of the first of its kind from overseas.

The quintet has released a series of interesting, texturally advanced singles and EPs, three of which are collected on Fore, a dense, complex instrumental record that demands a fair amount of aural scrutiny. Although each of the five members is credited with a familiar rock instrument, each also pitches in other nifty noises, including lots of percussion, effects, clarinet and keyboards, in addition to contributions from a saxophonist on two tracks. Although all eight tracks here are compelling from the get-go, some take a while to reach their stride, as does the 12-plus-minute "Hollywood Loaf," which snakes around with fluid movement before locking into a groove. For a shorter dose, try the eerie, electronic sound of "Fore" (the only previously unreleased song on this collection) or the frenetic "Prisoner Of My Eyeball," with its squawking saxophones, but also check in with the longer "Anomovieshot." LYDIA ANDERSON

BRAND NEW UNIT Diddley Squat

Creative Man, 1875 Century Park E., #1165, Los Angeles, CA 90067 310.556.1325

Vancouver, BC, isn't really the first locale that comes to mind when you think of balls-to-the-wall punk rock, but Canadian quartet Brand New Unit certainly harnesses enough angst and testosterone to carry most of the Canadian scene and then some. Growing more popular and more musically appealing with each consecutive release, Diddley Squat shows this fearsome foursome at its artistic peak. Drawing divine inspiration from the likes of SNFU, Bad Brains and Minor Threat, BNU creates an aggressive, driving album of body-bashing punk rock that's both musically mature and instrumentally intriguing. Killer metal riffs and hyperspeed drum rhythms set the stage for the full-on vocal assault that often calls for some old-school, fist-in-the-air audience participation. But it's obvious that this unit finds its strength in the caliber of their musicianship. Each member holds its own as tempos, rhythms and levels of intensity fluctuate, remaining tighter than a new pair of Levis. This "Unit" has been marking its territory in British Columbia, and now it has its eyes set on U.S. soil. Be prepared for the punked-up onslaught of cuts like "R.E.S.P.E.C.T.," "Deep Freeze" and "Asshole, Stereo Control Freak." M. TYE COMER

SWEET DIESEL Wrongville

Gypsy, c/o Velvel, 740 Broadway, New York, NY 10003 212.353.8800

Sweet Diesel have been kicking up a hellish roar down in NYC's East Village since 1994. With a muscular live show that is duplicated on Wrongville, the quartet has appeased those with an appetite for loud, mean music by launching volley after volley of crunchy hooks.

Guitarist/vocalists Nat Murray and Ben Smith slash their way through the set playing with searing intensity. The acrobatic drumming of Nick Heller and sturdy bass work Zack Kurland anchor the rock, giving the songs umph and even a bit of swing (especially on "Puppet"). "Salvage The Chapters" opens the group's second full-length and rocks the listener back and forth with its fat mid-tempo hook. Picking up the pace, "Work So Hard" is a post-hardcore workout that manages to fit in a couple of guitar solos into its 1:39 time frame. With 15 songs that are mostly around the two-minute mark, the play options are many, but the great post-Stooges "I Know Who You Ain't" is a snotty ode to a friend that is a joy for DJs to spin. The album closes with its best song, "Wrongville," with a dynamic riff that will get all but the dead nodding along in accompaniment. TAD HENDRICKSON

UNIT PARK Trailer Park

Plastic City America, c/o UCMG, 622 Broadway, Ste. 3B, New York, NY 10012 212.777.2661

Dietrich Scheonemann and Taylor Dupree have slept in many beds within the house of electronica. Over time, the two have found inspiration in the pounding of house, the tweaking of 303 acid lines, and the lushness of ambient. But the world knows this pair best as two members of the influential and revered Prototype 909. Trailer Park, its first release as Unit Park, shows the duo straying not too far from its strong and stable kingdom of minimal techno. The tracks on this release find solace in subtlety as simple drum kicks and synthesized sounds weave to knit a warm, cozy blanket of sparse rhythm and sound. The repetition of beats and loops rarely congeal to form actual melodies. Instead, its cuts use a bare-bones production technique to build a raw electro-dialogue in the language of computerized funk. Some cuts do build up to peak moments which justify an interpretive dance or two, but this collection is aimed at the cranium, designed to take the mind on a distant journey while the body never rises from the couch. Sit back and follow the futuristic footsteps of "Slam," "Mosquito," "Igloo" and the outstanding title-track. M. TYE COMER

LOLLIPOP Sucked In, Blown Out

Amphetamine Reptile, 2645 First Ave. S., Minneapolis, MN 55408 612.874.7047 amrep@designstein.com

Lollipop's name is so inappropriate for what it does, it's practically absurd: There's nothing sweet, savory, meant for children, or all-day lasting about this band and its rip-roaring, wild guitar soloing garage rock of the damned. Sucked In, Blown Out does just that (with the emphasis on the blowing it out part) in several minutes under the half-hour mark, and by the end of these nine tracks you'll be feeling like the cartoon images of the band on the album's cover art look, if you're not already undergoing a twitching, convulsing science fiction-like transformation by the opening lick of the second cut. Where other garage rockers are sort of like the "bad" (often goofy) biker teens in Frankie Avalon/Annette Funicello flicks, Lollipop is the equivalent of the crazed drifters that were probably shooed off the beach before the day's filming began. But even though Lollipop never skimps on the destructo vibe, seasoned ears will recognize the band's debt to the Motor City rockers of yore; lead guitarist Curt owes much to Wayne Kramer when he rips into a song's middle with a blazing, soulful guitar solo laced with skronky bits of feedback. Crank up "Demolition Landfill," "Puritan Goes All The Way," "Mexican Overdrive," "Nine Ways Sideways" and "Stroker Ace." CHERYL BOTCHICK

INFORMATION SOCIETY Don't Be Afraid...

Cleopatra, 13428 Maxella Ave, Ste. 251, Marina Del Rey, CA 90292 310.577.1480

You'll remember Information Society as the techno-pop quartet of the late-'80s who skipped across your MTV with neo-punk hair dont's and sampled Star Trek geek chatter while singing refrains about "pure energy." Well, times have changed since the '80s dye job was "in" and Information Society has changed as well. First of all, IS is no longer a "band": it's a moniker for Kurt Harland, the group's original frontman and sonic overseer since day one. And Harland has finally laid his day-glow guitars and electro-pop melodies to rest (although he still sports the funny haircut). Don't Be Afraid..., the first release since 1992's long-forgotten Peace & Love, Inc., shows IS at the dawn of a new direction. Blurring the lines between pop, rock, techno, industrial and darkwave, IS lurks in the shadows with a more sinister musical edge. "Empty," the disc's opener, is marked by somber orchestration, a trudging backbeat, and a vocal/musical arrangement that sounds like the bastard child of Laibach and Depeche Mode. The trend continues with the driving guitar riffs of "Closing In," the menacing, ambient dreamscape of "The Ridge," and the cover of Gary Numan's "Are Friends Electric" (the undisputed highlight). Able to maintain the feel of the old with the skin of the new, Don't Be Afraid... puts Harland pack on the map as a producer and songwriter to watch. M. TYE COMER

PEASANTS Out On The Street

Blat, 1781 Commonwealth Ave., Brighton, MA 02135 800.978.4054 kneuman@it.berklee.edu

Formerly known as the Velcro Peasants, Boston's the Peasants write mostly rip-roaring garage rock a la the Humpers, though Out On The Street contains some slower, clenched-fist numbers, like the hammer dropping "Get A Life" and "What The Hell." Despite the occasional apse into sub-par country twang, the Peasants have real rock 'n' roll experience, drawing their sound and approach from the Replacements and Hüsker Dü, among others (a bouncing version of Dylan's "Don't Think Twice, It's All Right" is included here). Pete Cassani's songwriting is a plus — part Henry Rollins, part boozy-era Paul Westerberg — while his guitar playing is mad, frenetic and electrifying. On the fast, funny and brash opening track "Frat Boy," he thrashes through a list of the vices of the modern fraternity brother, not missing a beat. The final track, "Patriot Song," is an acoustic account of that same frat boy at 40 years of age. This is real rock attitude. Rock out more to "Drag," "The Wringer" and "What Was That." DAVID DAY □

Plush's Liam Hayes is not of this era, musically speaking at least. The Chicago native's answer to today's stereotypical end of the century issues (i.e., the lack of direction in music), is to turn his head and gaze back toward the days of rock's deep melody. Both songs on this second Plush single, "No Education" and "Soaring And Boaring," are sumptuous rock ballads that would be just as comfortable on '70s AM radio as they do in today's college format. The band's sound should not shock anyone whose been listening to the lush retro sounds of the High Llamas' recent release, or for those who've been inspired to rediscover the work of Brian Wilson. Hayes first slapped us with his brilliant songwriting style three years ago, with a single on the Drag City label. Three years of waiting brings only another single (albeit a well-worth-the-wait one). Hopefully Hayes will pursue his Plush career more consistently in the future and we won't have to wait so long for the full-length that will undoubtedly knock us off our feet. DAWN SUTTER

IRVING KLAW TRIO

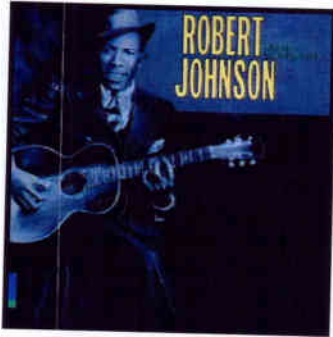

"Love Equals High" (7")

Mag Wheel, P.O. Box 115, Stn. R, Montreal, QUE H2S 3K6 Canada 514.285.2884

Irving Klaw Trio is a four-piece that hails from Olympia, Washington. Although the band takes its name from the photographer who first snapped sex kitten Betty Page in the '50s, the band's music has an arty tone that is more interested in thought-provoking pursuits rather than physical ones. Following up the intriguing full-length Utek Pahto Mogai, this two-and-a-half song 7" picks up where that album left off. IKT's music is filled with strange sounds and off-kilter rhythms that will appeal to Thinking Fellers fans. As the sole track with a vocal outing, the A-side's "Love Equals High" gets the nod here, yet the B-side "More Stuff" has a nice riff. The final track, "DJ Bonzo Meets The Shadow" sounds like a tape of the drummer warming up. TAD HENDRICKSON

ROBERT JOHNSON

King Of The Delta Blues

MEMPHIS MINNIE

Queen Of The Blues

MUDDY WATERS King Of The

Electric Blues

JOHNNY WINTER White Hot Blues
Columbia/Legacy, c/o CRG, 550 Madison Ave.,
New York, NY 10022-3211

It is for a very good reason that Robert Johnson has long been heralded as King Of The Delta Blues. There were certainly other great bluesmen who emerged out of the Delta blues boom of the '20s and '30s, each with their own unique powers — Charlie Patton was rawer, Son House was heavier, Skip James was scarier — but Robert Johnson was the guy who figured it all out, the one who took the blues in his own two hands and made it modern and timeless. Memphis Minnie was perhaps the strongest female figure in all of blues history. Muddy Waters, meanwhile, was another monster, equally deserving his title as king of the electric blues. This batch of songs from Waters's Columbia period in the 1970s teamed him with Johnny Winter, who both produced and played guitar. Even in his '50s, Muddy made some of the best and heaviest music of his career. Johnny Winter's set is absolutely clutch material from his best years, showcasing the gangly, impossibly skinny albino guitar player from Texas at his leanest and craziest.

MISSISSIPPI FRED MCDOWELL

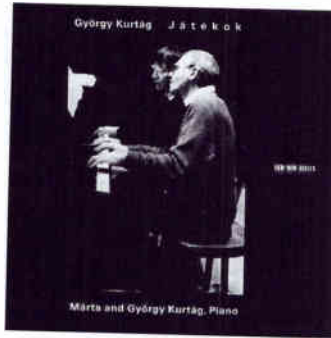

The First Recordings

Rounder, 1 Camp St., Cambridge, MA 02140
617.354.0700 info@rounder.com

Mississippi Fred McDowell was the man when it came to North Mississippi blues. He was the grandpappy of the style played today by R.L. Burnside, T-Model Ford and most of the North Mississippi artists currently enjoying popularity. Not only was he a titan of the blues, but his piercing slide and rolling rhythms were an influence upon people as far ranging as the Rolling Stones, Led Zeppelin and Soundgarden. These recordings were his first, made for Alan Lomax in 1959. Check out "Shake 'Em On Down," "61 Highway," "When The Train Comes Along" and "Keep Your Lamps Trimmed And Burning."

GYÖRGY KURTÁG

Játékok

ECM New Series, 1540 Broadway, New York,
NY 10036-4098 212.930.4996

The Hungarian composer György Kurtág is mostly known for intense and somber works. For the last 25 years, though, he's also been writing a series of Játékok — literally, "games" — for piano, and often piano for four hands: games that he and his wife, Márta, can play together, as they do here. Thirty of the tiny, solidly delicate Játékok, most between 15 seconds and two minutes long, appear here. Between them rest four rich, many-noted Bach transcriptions, offering a distinct contrast to Kurtág's stark miniatures. His pieces have a startling range of activity despite the bareness of the composition — the opening "Flowers We Are, Mere Flowers (...embracing sounds)" consists of seven notes played in 30 seconds. The Kurtágs treat the piano as a marvelous toy, crossing arms as they play, teasingly quarreling over a note or picking out a quiet melody with only their index fingers. It's the sort of play that a very serious child engages in, brow knit, demanding perfection, with relentless care and patience. The notes frame the sound, the instrument and the space around the couple.

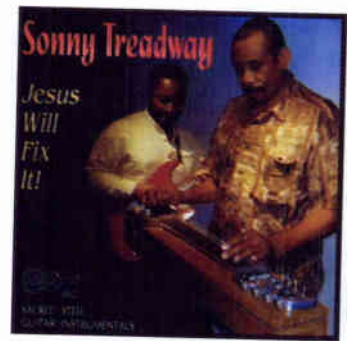

This is the final Further Out column in CMJ. For a year and a half, we too have been a couple playing together at the keyboard, and we hope that some of our joy has come through to you. We'd like to thank David Newgarden for originating this column a few years ago; the staff of the New Music Report for giving us an opportunity to explore the new sound-worlds that are continuously springing into existence; and the many labels and stations that have supported us, encouraged us, and, most delightfully, opened our ears to things we'd never imagined. And we hope to keep doing what we've been doing — look for something similar to pop up elsewhere soon with our names on it. If you've enjoyed Further Out, please drop us a line at the mail or email addresses below. We'd love to hear from you.

SONNY TREADWAY

Jesus Will Fix It

Arkoole, 10341 San Pablo Ave., El Cerrito, CA
94530 510.525.7471

The story of "sacred steel" is one of the most remarkable discoveries in recent years — a significant development in blues history that ranks alongside the 1960s rediscovery of blues legends like Son House and Bukka White (for more on the sacred steel genre, see the Last Word this issue). In the late '80s, it came to light that instead of using a Hammond organ or a tinny, trebly guitar to praise the Lord, several Pentecostal churches in Florida were using steel guitar. Sonny Treadway's Jesus Will Fix It is a joyous demonstration of this idiosyncratic practice. At times, you can really hear a country and western influence on the music, while at other times, as when Treadway slides up into the upper registers of his slide guitar, he produced a theremin-like wailing that simply can't be described. The ultimate goal is to achieve religious ecstasy, and in the hands of a skilled practitioner like Treadway, the steel guitar becomes the perfect instrument for making a joyful noise. Unbelievable.

NEW ORLEANS NIGHTCRAWLERS

Funknicity

Rounder, 1 Camp St., Cambridge MA 02140
617.354.0700 info@rounder.com

Led by writer/musician Tom McDermott, the New Orleans Nightcrawlers are a new breed of brass band, one where the charts, cover choices and arrangements are just as much an essential part of the party as the frontline players. The 'Crawlers are a brass band that isn't afraid to tackle some adventurous charts, or take traditional New Orleans music to some pretty wild places. Inspired by the Dirty Dozen and the Rebirth, the Nightcrawlers up the ante by including raps, new lyrics to traditional standards and even a funky brass band arrangement of Average White Band's "Pick Up The Pieces." One of the season's best releases out of New Orleans.

STUDEBAKER JOHN & THE HAWKS

Time Will Tell

Blind Pig, P.O. Box 2344, San Francisco, CA 94126 510.526.0373 blindplg@aol.com

Studebaker John has made a name for himself playing his brand of jump blues. For his second Blind Pig album, he cranks out a thoroughly enjoyable set of bar band blues featuring his primal, wailing rhythm guitar sound, as well as branching out and exploring some tender soul territory. You can just picture the tweed amps, gigantic microphones, the red velvet curtains, the club's dim lights and candles on the table as John and his crack band wail on into the night.

ANSON FUNDERBURGH & SAM MYERS

That's What They Want

Black Top, c/o Alligator, P.O. Box 60234, Chicago, IL 60660 312.973.7736

That's what they want, indeed! In celebration of their tenth anniversary of playing together, Anson Funderburgh and the mighty Sam Myers have dug down deep into the blues and made what in fact may well be the best album of their entire decade together. This rollicking, house-rocking party record is the kind of thing that you could blast over and over again on a Saturday night, and each time you'd find yourself nudging the volume a little higher. That's the secret behind Funderburgh and Myers's partnership — it's such a good thing when they get together that folks just want to hear more and more. Here's looking forward to the next ten years.

ROOSEVELT SYKES

Feel Like Blowing My Horn

Delmark, 4121 N. Rockwell, Chicago IL 60618 773.539.5001 bluesjazz@pg.net

Roosevelt Sykes was one of the greatest barrelhouse pianists of all time. Heading north to Chicago, he brought the sawmill, levee camp sound into the big city. He was also very influential in modernizing the blues into its postwar Chicago form. This classic album from the Delmark catalog teams Sykes with a band, including horns, which exemplifies the early, jazzy jump blues band style of the '30s and '40s. This sound was to become a vast influence and features four unreleased tracks, including a song called "Love The One You're With."

HARMONICA SLIM

Give Me My Shotgun!

Fedora, c/o HighNote, 106 W. 71 St., New York, NY 10023 212.873.2020

You've got to hand it to Harmonica Slim — the man is hanging tough after decades on the music scene. His voice is gruff, gravelly and with a certain charm, as he sings about women and trouble — man, life is complicated when you're a bluesman! This is one of those blues records that at first seems unremarkable, but seeps under your skin and captures you with its unique charm. You've got to love a song title like "Phone Head Baby." Also includes a great, sassy version of "Bright Lights, Big City."

VARIOUS ARTISTS

A Treasury Of Library Of Congress Field Recordings

Rounder, address above

Throughout most of this century, the Library Of Congress has recorded a treasure trove of sound recordings of indigenous music, stories and culture from all over America. As fate would have it, they were capturing a vanishing world at the very moment that it began to fade. These days, technology (television, internet, entertainment syndication, mass market advertising) is encroaching upon regionalism, blurring the distinctions between places and people. Now, if you were to walk into a rural juke joint down South, or an Appalachian general store, or a California cabin, you're more likely to hear a TV set playing Janet Jackson's new video than a real human being playing music or making art. Art and entertainment culture has become thoroughly infused with concepts of ownership and payment: you buy a CD, you pay for cable television, ticket handling fees, concert T-shirts. As leisure time has also become far more scarce than it was a half century ago, it's also become passive in nature — paying to watch or listen rather than doing it oneself. The people who played and sang this music and who made these recordings are all gone now, and most of what's here has died with them. Whatever part of it hasn't died has almost certainly been affected by changing times. These sounds are now merely ghost images caught on tape, phantom voices of a time where art was personal and culture and artistic expression were the domain of the many, not in the hands of a few corporate giants.

LOUD ROCK REVIEWS

Bruiser Pick

ENTOMBED DCLXVI: To Ride, Shoot Straight And Speak The Truth

Music For Nations, c/o Silvertone, 137-139 W. 25th St., New York, NY 10001 212.727.0016

As mere teens in the early '90s, Sweden's Entombed ferociously spit out infectious, sloppy death metal that wound up defining an entire genre of hard music. Pivotal releases like 1990's Left Hand Path and 1991's Clandestine led the way for 1993's Wolverine Blues, a classic that shocked old-school fans by venturing into more traditional heavy metal and blues territories. It was Entombed's unmatched conviction on that record that shot them to the forefront of the metal underground. Nearly four years and two record labels later, we are graced with the Swedes' fourth full-length, DCLXVI (666 in Latin?): To Ride, Shoot Straight And Speak the Truth. For those concerned that the band's lawless enthusiasm and maniacal rockin' would dwindle with the passing of its pubescent break-outs, we're happy to report the contrary: L.G. Petrov's voice is as guttural as ever with fewer death metal growls; Alex Hellid's axework remains a detuned, distorted punk-metal delight; while ex-Grave bassist Jorgen Sandstrom (replacing Lars Rosenberg, who left to join Therion) pummels away at the low-end. All of this adds up to the band's familiarly satirical outlook on, and obsession with, death, God and all things evil. Try "rockin' and rollin' in Hell" to the instantly appealing title track, the non-live track "Parasight" (with samples of a Japanese audience from a Cheap Trick album), "They" and the heavy blues of "Boats."

DISMEMBER Death Metal

Nuclear Blast America, P.O. Box 34, Dallastown, PA 17313
717.244.0808 radio@nuclearblast-usa.com

Reverting back to its more aggressive roots, Dismember delivers its appropriately-titled fourth LP, chock-full of cultivated, yet somewhat formulaic death metal.

Counteracting the clearer, tamer sound of the band's more recent releases, the fervent pace, savage growls and muddier production of Death Metal are closer in style to the band's 1991 debut, Like An Everflowing

Stream, than 1995's comparatively harmonious and cleanly-produced Massive Killing Capacity. Death Metal maintains its grittiness throughout all 12 tracks, creating a primal vibe. Classic, bludgeoning melody lines and distorted low-end guitars carve out blunt, repetitive riffs (a sound first established by fellow Swedes Entombed), providing a twisted sonic landscape for the not-so-sane. While not as epic or creative as Dismember's debut,

Death Metal is still a raucous and rip-roaring excursion through the pits of hell. Try "Of Fire," "Misanthropic" and "Live For The Fear (Of Pain)."

DAMAGED Token Remedies Research

Rotten, P.O. Box 2157, Montclair, CA 91763-0657 909.624.2332

What happens when you mix the metallic spasms of Germany's Meshuggah with the psycho hardcore of New Mexico's Logical Nonsense? You get an Australian five-piece known as Damaged, Down Under's own blast of hard-hitting mayhem. The band's third and latest album, Token Remedies Research, rides a tenacious line between pure unbridled energy and utter collapse: just when you think a song will explode, the band manages to harness its passion into a potent, volatile structure that somehow holds together. The band's oppressive guitars discharge riffs in quick unpredictable stabs as they jump from one catchy melody to another, while the drums switch their fevered beats in the blink of an eye — at times we even had to check to make sure the disc wasn't skipping. Vocalist James sounds like a suffocating wrestler — jumping from muffled screams to blood curdling screeches to hardcore throat shredding — as he spouts politically and socially conscious lyrics that question integrity ("Corpse paint and leather don't make a heathen" goes one line). You'll grow more attached to Damaged's sinister rockin' with every spin of favorites like "Dust," "Soul Vaxation Accidental," "Token Remedies Research" and "Ingrained."

DEICIDE Serpents Of The Light

Roadrunner, 536 Broadway, 4th Fl., New York, NY 10012 212.274.7500

How can you overlook someone who has an upside cross burned into his forehead? Even if you're not convinced that he's the closest thing to Lucifer roaming the earth, there's no question that Glen Benton and his band Deicide have been an undeniable force in the underworld of extreme music ever since its unholy birth in the late '80s. Declaring war on God every chance it gets, the band and its music acts as Satanic warheads aimed at Christianity. Deicide has received countless death threats as a result of Benton's support of ritualistic killing, and it even experienced a bomb explosion before a concert in Sweden a few years ago. Deicide's fifth album, Serpents Of The Light, delivers the same impossibly fast, brutal sonic assault as its past efforts, with gruesomely familiar lyrics advocating the downfall of Christianity ("God is the reason we live in dismay"). Some cleaner production accents the band's piercing guitars and hollows out the sound of the percussion, adding an almost ethereal backdrop to Benton's up front, bloody vocals. If you dare, try "Blame It On God," "This Is Hell We're In," "Creature Of Habit" and the title track.

Loud Rock News

To counterbalance the abundance of gut-wrenching death metal in the Loud Rock reviews this week, Sacramento, CA's Far has dropped a luscious, four-song nugget on radio called Soon (Immortal-Epic, call Tom at 310.582.8300). Two songs on this EP are taken from the band's upcoming full-length due out early next year, along with an amazing Jawbox (you know, the loud indie D.C. band that went from Dischord to Atlantic to its own label, Desoto) cover Far recorded in a "few hours of fun" with its old friends the Deftones. Judging by the high level of guitar bashing on the Soon EP, the Maverick bad boys have made a strong impression on the band. Four hundred spins in my CD player later and I'm still singin' the infectious line from "Mother Mary": "Like Elvis, like everyone, we all die, we all live on." Get this or you're out of it...Some more crusty, psycho hardcore in the form of Pay Neuter has emerged from the Southwest on the same label that spawned Logical Nonsense. This Phoenix, AZ three piece's Dead Inside (TEE PEE Records, call Tony at 212.274.9552) is a bit more morbid than the recordings of its New Mexican forebearers, but promises just as enticing a trip. On vinyl only...There is no official add date for the "best-of" set from Testament, titled Signs Of Chaos (Mayhem-Fierce 212.226.7272) — in the reverberating words of Chainsaw "Add it and play it when you get it." The album features "Practice What You Preach," "The Legacy" and "Dog Faced Gods."...In other Mayhem/Fierce news, the label has now officially signed Crowbar, which recently parted ways with Pavement...A number of releases from multi-platinum artists are going for Loud Rock Adds this week: Ozzy's first single from his latest collection of greatest hits, The Ozzman Cometh, called "Back On Earth" (Epic, call Dustin or Eric at Concrete 212.6451360); AC/DC's Bonfire Sampler (Elektra 212.275.2860), a teaser to the band's forthcoming boxed set, with many rare and previously unreleased tracks; a radio-only, promotional two-disc set of Metallica hits and b-sides, entitled Mandatory Metallica (also Elektra). A sure-fire collector's item.

Adds for Acumen Nation's More Human Heart have been great! Keep it up out there. This is one incredible band and album. Check them out live on tour with the sweet N17 in Phoenix on Halloween at Boston's, then at The Whiskey in L.A. on November 3, and at Canes in San Diego on November 4. The tour just brought them through CBGB's here and the show was a monster fun blast. Big love as always to Brian "Q" and A.J. at WSOU. They rock. El Dopa has torn through the States all Summer/early Fall and had great shows out there. The guys send big respect to Mindset. The Lincoln and Cincinnati shows rocked. Give me a call if you still don't have Acumen nation's full-length and I'll get it to you. Other bands to love and tickle with your antennas: Powerman 5000 and Iron Lung Corp. They like it. Mr. Show is god.

Hello everyone — hope you are all feeling dandy and lovely this week. First off, thanks to Krucher, Bambino, Jason, Smitty, Meltzer, Ciancio and Tara for all their help with Misery Loves Co.. Most importantly, thanks to all the stations who added Misery Loves Co. and Iron Monkey. If you have not received these CDs yet, then you need to let me know. Playstation football league is gonna start soon, so talk to me, Meltzer or Dustin soon. I like to run through the fields naked dreaming of Dennis Blair screaming "Pellet! Pellet!" over and over in my head while Eddie Williamson and Will Knapp smoke a fat...um, well you know what I mean, right? Been having this strange dream lately where midgets are trying to seduce an elephant and get it to have sex with Alyssa Milano while listening to Iron Monkey over and over. The weird thing is, Alyssa Milano is into it. I don't know, maybe all the drugs I have done are starting to take effect all at once. I personally would pay to see an elephant fuck Alyssa Milano, but then again, I have some problems and freely admit that. Maybe I have a problem 'cause when I was little, I caught my mailman having sex with my neighbor's dog? Who knows? I do know I never touched my mail for like three years. Anyway, try and play the Misery Loves Co. and Iron Monkey, call everyone back, do good in school, love your parents and enjoy life cause it only gets worse! Next Dialogue we will explain why Rob Fiend has no hair! Could it have something to do with the motorcycle?

Guess what gang? I've got email! Any tracking info can be sent there, or if you're too busy to talk on the phone, just write me there. OK, the new full-length from Dismember, Death Metal, should've been added by now and should be pummeling your listeners along with Night In Gales's Towards The Twilight. The re-release of Dimmu Borgir's debut disc, For All Tid, is scheduled for late October. This disc is being re-released through Nuclear Blast and will feature new cover artwork. A new EP from the band will be released early next year and is tentatively titled Godless Savage Garden — the EP will feature a cover version of Accept's "Metal Heart." In other Dimmu Borgir news, the band will be featured on the upcoming Nuclear Blast compilation titled Gods Of Darkness. This compilation will also feature such bands as Emperor, Dissection, Immortal, Cradle Of Filth and many others, with some tracks being exclusive and unreleased material. The upcoming Meshuggah EP, The True Human Design, features a brand new song ("Sane") as well as two remixes of the song "Future Breed Machine," and some hidden CD-ROM tracks, which contain videos for the songs "Transfixion" and "Terminal Illusions." The CD-ROM tracks can be played on either MAC or IBM-based computers. Also adding soon: The Final Chapter by Hypocrisy, Creamatory's Awake and the Beauty In Darkness 2 compilation.

Metal warriors have spoken and Six Feet Under is still #1. The band will be touring the States in the new year (January to be exact), so keep up the support that you have been giving these guys. Crisis have also been tearing up the charts, and these guys (and gal) will definitely be touring. Thanks to all the folks that did interviews with the bands. The new Skrew CD should also be in your rotation, and for those of you that have industrial shows at your station, if you would like to get a copy of Angel Seed XXII for them, let me know. Black metal legions Hecate Enthroned are causing an uproar with their vicious style of metal mayhem. Those of you on the black metal list have some gems coming to you from us in the next few months. The next two releases from Metal Blade will be Sacred Reich Still Ignorant Live and Ancient Mad Grandiose Bloodfiends. If you liked the last Ancient record, you haven't heard anything yet. On a sweet note (Can you tell that I was hanging with Paula from F.A.D.?) for those of you that haven't gotten email from me or those that used to and haven't in a while, please drop me a line, 'cause I screwed up my address book and seem to have lost a lot of email addresses. That's all for now!

Jason Upright, Revelation/Crisis Records, Huntington Beach, CA 714.375.4262 radio@revhq.com
Their album, El Diablo, is top 10 at CMJ, top three at Hits, and the band is on tour now for eight weeks with the Deftones. Now we're talking! Who am I talking about? Wake up — it's Will Haven! The mighty British metal mag Kerrang! recently gave their new LP a five out of five review and had this to say: "Imagine, if you're hard enough, Sepultura, Korn, Neurosis and Clutch on a rollercoaster to hell, and you're still not even close to Will Haven. El Diablo is easily in the same league as the finest efforts of any of those bands." Spin any track and watch the phones go crazy and your fists clench. This record is the shit! Call me to go to any of the shows and to set up interviews. Up next is a limited mailing of a sampler CD called They're Back. Back from the depths of the Rev vaults, that is. This disc features two tracks each from all of the brand new reissue CDs by Sick Of It All, Youth Of Today, No For An Answer and Side By Side! Original recordings, remixed and mastered. Truly awesome. Just around the corner is the new Shai Hnlud full-length as well! I have just one word for you: Brutal!

Radio Station

Chip McCabe, WFCS, New Britain, CT 860.832.3750 Well, well, well. Another week of brutality has flown by and the most holiest of days doth approach. Remember to do one of three things on All Hallows Eve: 1) If you are a Satanist, revel in a day that was created just for you. Perhaps you could beat up the neighborhood children and steal their candy. Or, if you're like me, dress as your favorite black metal band and pretend you can play an instrument. (Keyboards all around!) 2) If you are Wiccan or any other white light religion in disguise, give praise to the four corners and thanks to the elements, because those are probably your only friends. 3) If you are Christian, stay in your house, because the roving hoarde of black metal kids will kick your ass! So did I piss everybody off yet? Good! That's what metal is all about! Please don't forget to go to the AIM Marketing web site and email Ozzy about next year's Ozz-Fest. Perhaps you could do as I did and pick your favorite hardcore band, your favorite death metal band, your favorite black metal band, and then a fourth band that just plain kicked your ass over the last few months or so. Well, time to venture into the woods for the sacrifice. Oh yeah, one last thing before I go: Marilyn Manson is not a Satanist. He is a fake and a lie to the true dark side of humanity. His becoming ordained in the Church Of Satan was a money-making ploy thought up by Anton LaVey, and just proves that sadly the Church is a hollow shell of what it once was. (Hey, weren't these things supposed to be about music!?! Oh well, next time.) Hugs and baphomets to all the industry that are deemed worthy. You know who you are.

Aaron Miller, KKSM, San Marcos, CA 619.744.1150 chateau.miller@worldnet.att.net
Hello in metal land. Sorry for being a dick in last week's issue of CMJ. I was not a fun fine week in metal land, but I would rather be honest than lie. I would like to say special thanks to the following for letting me talk to three awesome metal legends: Ciancio at AIM for Chris Barnes, Dustin and Dana for hooking me up with Ripper from Judas Priest and Overkill. Thanks a million on that one. So anyhow, there is hope for metal here in San Diego and it will take it by force. This is a busy weekend for Aaron Metal. Let's see now, Snicidal Tendencies Friday night; the metal show Saturday and Sunday. The Deftones are metal for the '90s — these guys get better and better every time I listen to the record. I was thinking about that comment I made about those bands I dissed in the last issue, not for the labels but for me. There is an audience for that kind of shit out there and I'll set aside time for that. What up to Jason at McGathy and Anya (you got me wrapped around your finger — I'll play anything you want).

Dave Squillante, Metal Director, WUSB, Stony Brook, NY 516.632.6500 djs@pb.net
First, I would like to thank Jackie Vendetti for welcoming me into the CMJ Loud Rock reporting family. It has been a while since WUSB has had a Metal Director, so now that you know I am here please contact me. I am waiting with an open mind and open ears for all your best metal releases. At 4,000 watts, WUSB has the potential to reach many here on Long Island. The best way to reach me is via email at djs@pb.net. Thanks in advance. For now, I will leave you with the immortal words of Dee Snider: "If it ain't metal...it's crap!"

The Tink, WVUD & VidDREAM, Newark, DE 302.798.0144 Why, hello there! Or maybe the Kreature coulda made the arrangements for da show. Yeah, that's it. It was Steve, yeah. OK, that being said, the Interscope X-Man, Dennis Blaireffen and Team TVT sent The Tink out into the world for interviews and to go to shows for a look-see this past week. Is this all the best that the English language has to offer from me? Listen happy howdy hop lip, that's what you get from a novelist like myself. Shesh! You believe I got the balls to put shit like that down? Like I was sayin' anyways, got to go to a huge show again (is this taking anyone by surprise?). It was the traveling Primms/Powerman 5000/Back-O-Nine event. What a chrysanthemum display of style. If you don't like the flower reference in the last paragraph, you are free to confer with the author at anytime. That being said, it was good! This next bit-o-business concerns a piece of product that is forthcoming. It is #62119 and I certainly could use it to round out the WVUD treasure list. I must separate myself from this chair now, the termites are beginning to weaken the last standing leg on my Large Leather Daddy chair. One must metal musingly on moments of misconcern! ☐

VARIOUS ARTISTS Infinite Beat Vol. 1 DGC, 9130 Sunset Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90069 310.285.7953 college-radio@geffen.com

Despite the exponential increase in domestic licensing of U.K. drum 'n' bass, there are still some blindspots and absences that go unnoticed. Geffen's expertly assembled Infinite Beat compilation stands as a corrective to those oversights at a time when the interest in drum 'n' bass is accelerating and the genre is expanding to encompass new sounds and textures. This collection, like few others, testifies to the increasing heterogeneity of the field called drum 'n' bass. "Fire Like This" by the Hardknox opens the collection, one of the many exceptional singles to have emerged from the Brighton-based Skint label. The Skint sound might be described as impolite, percussion-heavy, and intended to arouse anxiety and cause heavy drinking in even the most even-tempered listeners. "Fire Like This" is the Chemical Brothers with a chainsaw or two thrown into the mix. In a similar vein to the Hardknox track are Nico/Fierce's "Input," culled from the stellar No U-Turn label (home to Ed Rush and his band of drum machine renegades), and "The Reckoning" by Snuggles + Slak. The latter track emerges from Chicago (from the same camp as the recent 3D & Snuggles project) and demonstrates that the tech-step sound inaugurated by the No U-Turners has not fallen on deaf ears this side of the Atlantic. Tom Jenkinson (a.k.a. Squarepusher) contributes the angular, difficult "Problem Child," lathered with breakbeats that are snapped short by some of the most maniacal transformer work since the first DJ Jazzy Jeff & The Fresh Prince album — truly a track not to relax by. The cavernous bass line of Decoder's "Circuit Breaker" feels like a rumbling in the pit of your stomach from an explosion miles away. With additional contributions by Mickey Finn, Aphrodite, Friends, Lovers & Family and Naked Funk, this is an irresistible collection of future music.

ALPHA Come From Heaven

Melankolic, c/o Caroline, 104 W. 29th St., 4th Fl., New York, NY 10001 212.886.7570 crystal@caroline.com

How could a week go by in which another gorgeous platter from the city of Bristol does not materialize on a label somewhere in North America? I'm referring to the angelic full-length record by Alpha, the first release on Massive Attack's Melankolic imprint, pressed up and distributed by Caroline in the U.S. Having worked with such Bristol luminaries as

Table with columns: TW, LW, PK, WKS, ARTIST, TITLE, LABEL. Statik Sound System, this pair of producers come from the depths of the Bristol sound revolution, but their musical sensibilities run more in the direction of melancholic vocal lounge music than most of their breakbeat-inspired peers. What informs their music is an affinity for Jacques Brel, but they also tend to create music that sounds like it was recorded in an airport bar in the early '70s. "Rain" moves like a late Sunday afternoon when the nightfall never seems to arrive. "Hazeldub," perhaps the album's most sublime moment, has a deep reggae bass pulse, trickling high hats, whispering guitar work and some beautifully recorded echo and reverb effects, demonstrating once again that the Bristol folks have roots dub flowing through their veins, no matter what sort of music they choose to make. The appropriately titled "Nyquil" has the spectral effect of a drug you use even after the symptoms have disappeared. "Apples And Oranges" is like a more jaded, cosmopolitan Portishead (that comparison being difficult to jettison), with bits of vocal samples floating through the ether and wobbly Moog sounds rushing to the front of the mix. This is a gorgeous album.

BUGS VS. UP, BUSTLE & OUT

"About You"/"The Oracle" (12")

Ubiquity, P.O. Box 192104, San Francisco, CA 94119 415.864.8448 mail@ubiquityrecords.com

This alliance/battle is just the sort of collaboration that was bound to result in some downtown pyrotechnics. Bristol's highly celebrated Up, Bustle & Out has taken "About You" by the dynamic duo Bugs (who have an album due out shortly), and added a neatly trimmed, but bass-soaked, old school hip-hop drum loop, with the occasional snare rudely interrupting the hypnotic mix. Towards the break, Up, Bustle & Out introduce two-by-four synth planks which sound like something that fell from a distance off the first Nitzer Ebb album by way of Tackhead. A unimpeded masterpiece of a mix.

VARIOUS ARTISTS

There Are Too Many Fools Following Too Many Rules

Irdial, c/o John Bourke P.R., 620 E. 9th St., New York, NY 10009 212.460.9299

The earliest tracks on this compilation from the influential but sadly neglected British label Irdial date from 1988, providing another wake-up call to those who think that "electronica" started the year before last. Virtually all of these tracks are out-of-print and the early work of Aqua Regia, In Sync, Neropolitique, Ray Tracing and Morganistic (a.k.a. Luke Slater) were instrumental in shaping the future of British electronic music. At a time before strict boundaries had been established between "ambient house," "techno" and "trance," the Irdial roster was exploring in the dark, making records that were collected and treasured by a few hundred devotees. Along with such seminal labels as GPR, Irdial remains a highly respected label, and this double-CD collection culls tracks from the label's noteworthy batch of releases. As a historical document of techno's complex trajectories, this is an essential collection, as well as a stone-cold shocker and a party people rocker.

PATTI SMITH Peace And Noise

Arista, 6 W. 57th St., New York, NY 10019 212.830.2274

In the early '70s, Patti Smith moved to New York City and began setting her poems to music created by guitarist Lenny Kaye, a collaboration that is active and fruitful to this day. By the end of that decade, the Ramones, the New York Dolls and others had garnered a significant fanbase and established punk as a viable form of rock, but it was Smith, with her performances at CBGB, who started it all. Besides being a rocker, Smith is a writer (she co-wrote Cowboy Mouth with Sam Shepard), and is known for her beat style poetry, which she often reads over improvised music. Her fervent, freewheeling beat ethos and social indignation is still with her, reflected on Peace And Noise, her seventh Arista album since 1975, and her second since the death of her husband, ex-MC5 guitarist Fred "Sonic" Smith. The album's moody and plodding opening track, "Waiting Underground," is a wishful vision of a future social awakening. "Whirl Away" laments a society that has become increasingly fragmented rather than united. "1959" is not only the catchiest song on Peace And Noise, but one of the more interesting, as it focuses on a critical year in which the civil rights movement gained momentum in the U.S., while China crushed Tibet on the other side of the world. Also hear "Don't Say Nothing," "Dead City" and "Last Call" (featuring backing vocals by Michael Stipe).

Short Shots

Before he reached his teen years, FRED EAGLESMITH and his siblings toiled to keep their family farm viable while their father worked in town in order to make ends meet. It's no wonder that Eaglesmith soon left and bummed his way across his native Canada, supporting himself with odd jobs. It was only after seeing John Prine on television that Eaglesmith realized that he too was a "sarcastic son of a bitch," picked up a guitar and starting writing songs about the financial devastation hitting southern Ontario farms in the '80s. On Lipstick, Lies, And Gasoline (Razor & Tie, 214 Sullivan St., Ste. 4A, New York, NY 10012 212.473.9173 razrntie@aol.com), Eaglesmith expands his cache of song themes while revealing the influence of Tom Waits, Joe Ely and Guy Clark on his straight-ahead rocking country style, which is thankfully unencumbered by overtly slick production or cheesy effects. "Seven Shells," with its "I've got seven shells in my six gun" chorus, was inspired by Eaglesmith's odd experience with a drunken man on a flight to Las Vegas who kept muttering, "I've got seven shells in my gun. I'm going to win big time." Also be sure to spin "Pontiac," "Thinking" and "Bell"...Earlier this year, Rounder Records announced that it will be releasing 100 CDs over a period of several months that will comprise the complete Alan Lomax Collection. Lomax traveled the globe from the 1930s to the '60s, often with his father, researching and recording hundreds of ethnic groups' musical traditions, many of which have since gone extinct. Lomax's recordings, which up until this time had only been available in your local library on scratchy LPs, are unarguably the most important body of work in the field of ethnomusicology, providing students of ethnic music with a global perspective. The two latest CD releases of this collection are of particular interest to anyone wanting to hear some of the music that directly influenced the rise of rock and other current popular music. Southern Journey Vol. 7: Ozark Frontier and Vol. 8: Velvet Voices (Rounder, 1 Camp St., Cambridge, MA 02140 617.354.0700 info@rounder.com) provide an excellent glimpse of the Anglo- and African-American folk traditions that eventually blended with a beat to create early rock music. Recorded mostly in Virginia in 1960, Velvet Voices is an aural patch-quilt of black music with deep roots. With impressive high energy religious performances by the Silver Leaf Quartet, Bright Light Quartet, Peerless Four and others, the lines between gospel, doo-wop, and R&B become more than a little blurred. "How Could I Live" is particularly telling, but also hear "I'm Tired." Recorded in Arkansas in 1959, Ozark Frontier illustrates how people like Neil Morris effected, at least indirectly, the popularization of folk music and the rebellious attitude of rock. And if you're wondering where someone like Loretta Lynn may have acquired her singing style, check out Almeda Riddle's "Alan Bain."

Like that of so many record stores, Jazz Record Mart's story is inextricably linked to the devoted music fan who founded it, Bob Koester. Early on, Koester cut his retail teeth selling 78 rpm discs at the Blue Note Record Shop in St. Louis, where he also recorded bluesman Sleepy John Estes. In 1959, Koester moved to Chicago and purchased a longtime Chicago record store, Seymour's Jazz Record Mart, eventually shortening the name to Jazz Record Mart. It was here that he also founded Delmark Records, which in the last 40 years has gone on to become one of the largest and most well-respected independent jazz and blues record labels in the world (Bruce Iglauer, the current president of Alligator Records, was once an employee of the Record Mart!). Today, the store houses over 8,000 square feet crammed with CDs and records (even in this CD era, Koester maintains a fierce loyalty to vinyl). The store also has a strong presence in the mail-order field, and even a web page with an ever-expanding catalog. The Mart publishes its own newsletter, Rhythm & News, with articles and reviews written largely by the store's knowledgeable staff. Its bulletin board is considered the place for blues artists to advertise gigs, and because of its central location and evening hours, the store has become known as something of a meeting place for blues fans before going out for the night — "Okay, I'll meet you at the Record Mart in an hour."

KENNY BARRON Things Unseen

Verve, 825 8th Ave., New York, NY 10019 212.333.8449

KENNY BARRON Soft Spoken Here

32 Jazz, 250 W. 57th St., New York, NY 10107 718.522.7171

The quintet isn't Barron's preferred format, nor is it necessarily that of his followers. Barron buffs are as likely to hear this New York area piano virtuoso play solo as they are to hear him in a duo (as on last year's duet with percussionist Mino Cinelu, Swamp Sally, also on Verve) or, more likely, in a trio. But I vote for the quintet, for several reasons. First, he has maintained this group of top-flight personnel for many years: John Stubblefield, tenor; Eddie Henderson, trumpet; David Williams, bass, and Victor Lewis, drums. And, second, because the pianist has such faith in, and attraction to, his bandmates, he gets so much back that he can't help but stretch to new vistas. Such is the case on Things Unseen, for which the leader employs the fivesome as his point of departure. The 54-year-old Barron's Philly roots attest to his soulfulness. His stints with Dizzy Gillespie (1962-66) and tenorman Stan Getz (late '80s-'92), both now deceased, confirm his adeptness, respectively, with modern jazz/Afro-Cuban jazz and mainstream lyricism. Barron is virtually everybody's first-call pianist. Like a pitcher using his heater to set up a slow curve, Barron is as likely to enter a montuno/vamp groove as he is to start with a Latin lilt, then dash off elsewhere, as inspiration strikes. Neobop is the ethos here, and all eight tunes are Barron originals. The tune lengths (most over eight minutes) don't lend themselves to carefree airplay, but the quintet tunes "Tongue In Cheek" (5:39) and the title track (8:40), both with added percussion from Cinelu, come highly recommended. Elsewhere, guitarist John Scofield (three tracks) and Japanese female violinist Naoko Terai (four cuts, among them an eight-minute duet with Barron on "Rose Noire") make their presence felt. From 32 Jazz, a new independent label run by producer Joel Dorn and musician/lawyer Robert Miller, comes the budget-priced twofer CD Soft Spoken Here, a reissue of Barron's Muse LPs Sunset To Dawn (1973) and Golden Lotus (1982). Sunset To Dawn is a hornless, heavily percussive quintet side, with five of the six numbers coming the pianist's pen; Golden Lotus is another quintet affair, with saxman Stubblefield heading a piano-led trio supplemented by the vibes of Steve Nelson. The latter, with Barron concentrating on piano (he plays some electric piano on Sunset To Dawn), is the stronger bop date in large part because of the sax/vibes hookup.

B SHARP QUARTET Tha Go 'Round

MAMA, 12358 Ventura Blvd., Ste. 364, Studio City, CA 91604
 818.985.6565

MAMA Records hits the trifecta with the new (fourth) straight-ahead album from the California-based B Sharp Quartet. Previous titles by the label—guitarist Anthony Wilson's self-titled debut and "word musician" Kamau Da'ood's Leimert Park—earned favorable notices in this space. This sax-plus-three-rhythm group brings abundant energy and an almost carnivorous desire to bear on this mostly original program. Led by drummer and composer Herb Graham, Jr., who penned eight of the selections here, the B Sharp Quartet almost rigidly observes the classic straight-ahead acoustic instrumentation, but brings bebop up to date, and personal, by throwing in such rhythmic elements as hip-hop and go-go. That they do so, while observing the verities of bop, speaks well for the success of Tha Go 'Round (No. 5 in CMJ last week) and the future of the group. These guys (Randall Willis, tenor/soprano; Rodney Lee, piano; Osama Affifi, bass) have something to prove—and they do. A dark undercurrent runs through much of this music, a trance-like quality, often in a minor key, reminiscent of Wayne Shorter's best work on Blue Note in the '60s. This isn't a retro band or a noir band, this is a happenin' band. This is, at once, postbop and antebop. Because Graham writes splendidly (sometimes with Lee), the quartet doesn't need to clamber aboard bop warhorses. When they assay a bop classic, they don't so much cover it as smother it, as here on Charlie Parker's "Confirmation" or Thelonious Monk's "Brilliant Corners." They don't tiptoe through them, they charge—with unusual tempos, dynamics and arrangements. This quartet has the proper sights (a larger audience for jazz) but the right perspective: They ain't willin' to whore to do it. I'm reminded of the last thing a dying Charles Mingus told his bandmate, tenorist George Adams: "Don't you become one of those whores!" Adams, unfortunately now deceased, went to his reward like a warrior with his head held high. The B Sharp Quartet stands tall as well.

DAVE DOUGLAS Stargazer

Arabesque, 32 W. 39th St., 11th Fl., New York, NY 10018
 212.730.5000

Downtown Gotham's most ballyhooed trumpeter makes beautiful, insightful sense out of the magnificently elliptical compositions of saxist Wayne Shorter. The tunes penned by Shorter ("On The Milky Way Express," "Pug Nose" and the eerily evocative "Diana") are bracketed by six Douglas numbers inspired by Shorter. This is postbop at its best, comparable to the brassman's 1994 In Our Lifetime, an homage to fellow trumpeter Booker Little. Douglas, crafting rich three-horn arrangements (for Chris Speed's tenor/clarinet and Joshua Roseman's trombone), captures, in his own way, the sort of free-floating-through-space (while serenely protected) feeling Shorter can induce at his best. Uri Caine's piano, James Genus's bass and Joey Baron's drums are three propulsive engines that keep this streamlined vessel moving with purpose. Shorter's three tunes are, thankfully, all under five minutes and eminently playable. Solid, too, are the trumpeter's engaging "Spring Ahead" (4:24) and the pensive title track (6:39). Outstanding.

ERNŐ KIRÁLY

Phoenix: The Music of Ernő Király

ReR, c/o Cuneiform, P.O. Box 8427, Silver Springs, MD 20907 301.589.8894

With the resurgence of interest in the work of Harry Partch and other American composer/artists, it seems only fitting to have other work of similarly unusual character see the light of day. Hungarian composer Király is one of those unique personages in modern music. He was an upholsterer who played guitar in the union band, a craftsman musician whose early experiences were to radically influence not only what he wrote, but how he played it and on what instruments. He was a collector of both instruments and folk songs, and finally, a craftsman who built his own instruments to make the music he heard in his mind but could not play. The recordings found on Phoenix are thrilling. Their use of unusual tonalities and shapes and their defiant charm and aggressive beauty are a world apart from some of Király's Eastern European and American contemporaries from the 1940's to the '60s. His tools consist of tape loops and analog electronics, zithers with whirring wheels and tables of small objects that can be manipulated by multiple players, rooted in traditional instruments like the cymbalom, but geared for more adventurous music. The CD consists of both solo and ensemble pieces that range from gentle ambience to metaphorical chaos.

THOMAS MAPFUMO AND THE BLACKS UNLIMITED

Chimurenga: African Spirit Music

WOMAD/RealWorld, c/o Caroline, 104 W. 29th St., 4th Fl., New York, NY 10001 212.886.7570
crystal@caroline.com

If you have not yet experienced Thomas Mapfumo live, then you really don't understand the extent of his power over an audience. While certainly not "the real thing," these tracks, recorded live to two tracks at RealWorld's studios in Box, England, will at least give you a glimpse into the awe-inspiring persona of Mapfumo. The swirling melodies of three mbiras, the raw quality of the guitars and the bottom heavy groove of his rhythm section are all captured on these eight tracks. Mapfumo is truly a presence, and that can hardly be conveyed without seeing the swoop of his body as he graces the stage and the dance floor, but you can get a feel for his interplay with the band here in a natural exchange that rarely comes through on his studio performances. There's no synthesizers or keyboards on these tracks, leaving most of the sound to come from the mbiras and guitars as they disappear into one another, blending their melodies into one endless loop of sound. It's not the real thing, but it is, as they say, "a reasonable facsimile," and it swings, sways and jumps.

"If you can't stand by me, well don't stand in my way," goes an indicative line in the opening track of Coal Mining Women (Rounder, 1 Camp St., Cambridge, MA 02140 617.354.0700 info@rounder.com). In her inimitable style, Hazel Dickens manages to bring together old time music, hard work and a feminist political viewpoint in this opening song about good work for good pay. It sets the theme for a fine collection of modern songs about an old occupation. The bulk of the songs here come from Guy and Candy Carawan productions now out of print, They'll Never Keep Us Down and Come All You Coal Miners, with some more recent recordings added to fill out this new collection. Also joining Dickens is the Reel World String Band, Sarah Gunning, Phyllis Boyens and Florence Reece (who's version of "Which Side Are You On?" is still the definitive one).

The Alan Lomax reissues keep rolling down the track, and possibly some of the most potent of his work is contained on the two-disc set, Prison Songs: Historical Recordings From Parchman Farm 1947-48 (Rounder, address above). Parchman was a complex of 15 labor camps covering a large area in Mississippi, a closed society of black men who were offered as "contract" labor to farms, railroads and industries of many sorts; passed around to labor for the financial benefit of both the contractor and the state who sold them. Alan and John Lomax saw in this system of hard labor and limited contact a possible source for a musical heritage unaffected by outside popular tastes, something closer to the music of Africa as it had existed in the Americas through slavery and into the 20th century. The stories and songs captured on these two discs are chilling in their ability to capture pain, anger and even joy that manages to survive in what are the absurd conditions that prisons maintain, then and now.

Also just reissued, Harry Oster's Angola, Louisiana documentary, Prison Worksongs (Arhoolie, 10341 San Pablo Ave., El Cerrito, CA 94530 510.525.7471), recorded in 1959. The new version includes more songs which were not included on the original LP release.

There's no explaining the mystique of RAMBLIN' JACK ELLIOT. His nasal drone was Dylan's model, his western American style acquired both through real living and vicariously through his association with names like Carawan, Guthrie and Kerouac. Like many American folk heroes, he went through a period where he was more legendary in Europe than America, and in 1980 he recorded Kerouac's Last Dream (Appleseed, P.O. Box 2593, West Chester, PA 19380 folkradic@aol.com) in Germany. It was a collection of brilliant American gems like Roy Acuff's "Blues Eyes Crying In The Rain," Ernest Tubbs' "Soldier's Last Letter" and Woody Guthrie's "1913 Massacre," along with a string of what over here would have been referred to generously as "chestnuts" of American folk tradition, like "Buffalo Skinners," "The Cuckoo" and "Freight Train Blues." Was he influential? Just listen to him tear into Dylan's "I Threw It All Away." Chicken or egg?

Peace always.

EPMD Back In Business

Def Jam/RAI, c/o Polygram, 825 Eighth Ave., New York, NY 10019 Beat Box contact: Marlo Martin 800.274.7957 x7922

EPMD (that's Erick and Parrish Making Dollars, for old schoolers) is one group whose long overdue return just can't be overlooked. One glance at the crew's discography and you'll realize just how far back this duo's presence can be felt. Erick Sermon and Parrish Smith's impact on the dozens of rappers that followed in their wake is still very apparent today, from East Coast rappers like Redman to West Coasters like Dr. Dre. This influence can be traced both in rap styles and in the way that hip-hop tracks are constructed. At its best (which was most times), EPMD used simplicity to create a new rap language that emphasized a laid-back, everyday speaking style through which uncluttered thoughts flowed without pure anger or tongue trickery. As such, its music and lyrics were universal, and it would be hard to find anyone from South Central to the South Pacific who wasn't moved by such landmark albums as Strictly Business (Fresh, 1988), Unfinished Business (Fresh, 1989), Business As Usual (Def Jam, 1990) or Business Never Personal (Def Jam, 1992). Both members have been very visible since the group's five-year recording lapse, with Parrish taking on the PMD moniker and Erick lending his fully-matured production finesse to more hit-making artists than you can count on your fingers and toes, as well as releasing two solo albums. So it is with great joy that I can announce that the duo is indeed back in business, and with quite a bang. CMJ reporters know the dopeness of the two singles, "Never Seen Before" (from the How To Be A Player soundtrack) and the current "Da Joint," which exemplify the album's two different aspects. "Never Seen Before" is in the old-school EPMD bag, trading double-dope lyrics in the group's classic rhyme style over a Public Enemy-inspired track (itself taken from the Meters' "Just Kissed My Baby"). It's a tribute both to the old-school that the two came out of in the late '80s, as well as the lyrical bravado that made them legends in the first place. "Da Joint" shows Erick and Parrish in a much more '90s mode, taking their time with phrasing over a somewhat mellow beat, produced by the green-eyed bandit himself. Both rappers, to their credit, are equally at ease with either style, something that not many rappers can claim. And for those wondering how the rest of the LP rolls, there's not a mediocre track in the bunch. Aside from the party-rocking "Richter Scale," the "Funkin' For Jamaica"- inspired "Do It Again," the mildly strange posse cut "K.I.M." (with Redman and Keith Murray) and the dark mid-tempo thump of "Dungeon Master," the two most interesting cuts on the album are probably "Jane 5" and "You Gots To Chill '97." "Jane 5," one of a couple of Parrish Smith productions on the album, is deep and funky, with a musical mixture of an obscure "Get Out Of My Life Woman" drum kick and piano run and swaths of Rick James's classic ode to wacky weed, "Mary Jane," backing a great storytelling session — a fairly new approach for the group, which is also used in "Put On." "You Gots To Chill '97" may just take the place of its predecessor (heard on EPMD's 1988 debut), with identical music but all new raps. The lyrics don't have the "kick your ass" edge of old, but are just as fresh as the braggin' rights that the two first laid down. This will have some stiff competition for "return of the year" when Rakim's upcoming The 18th Letter is released, but EPMD is definitely throwing the gauntlet down.

BEAT BOX REVIEWS

FUNKDOOBIEST "Oyé Papi" (12")

Buzztone, c/o RCA, 1540 Broadway New York, NY 10036
Beat Box contact: T. Stokes 800.414.2057 x133

L.A.'s Funkdoobiest has always been last in line when it's been time to pay attention to Cypress Hill's group of cohorts. It's understandable, given all the attention paid to the Hill and the big-selling House Of Pain, but this trio has always possessed the skills and lyrical finesse to hold its own in such esteemed company. Now that Cypress is on hiatus and House of Pain has faded from the public eye, it's time for the Doobies to get some notice. Their new single, "Oyé Papi" (off the upcoming LP The Troubleshooters), is a sure sign that they are ready for action. The A-side is produced by the group's DJ Ralph M., who lent a very big helping hand to DJ Muggs on the group's two previous albums. Adhering to the Cypress aesthetic, a sliding bass riff and a straight-ahead drum kick set the stage for some random, but nonetheless captivating, thoughts, which get time to breathe as the demented, Latin-flavored chorus takes a turn. Great stuff. The B-side is good as well, this time handing over the controls to hit-making producer Ski, who brings along up-and-coming rappers Krumb Snatcha. The track is pretty mellow, but Doobie-member Son Doobie and the Snatcha crew represent well, and the lyrical skew — when they make their first million, they'll have some "natural fun" — is refreshing. Look for more of the same when the album hits.

NATURAL ELEMENTS

"Bust Mine"/"Paper Chase" (12")

Dolo, 95 Morton St., 7th Flr., New York, NY 10014
212.627.0022 email: info@dolo-records.com

Natural Elements are a New York crew that join a growing line of impressive talent on the Dolo Records roster. Previously featured on Stretch Armstrong's Lesson compilation from a couple months ago, the group's new single further distances them from the rest of the competition. Natural Elements are rappers Mr. Voodoo (a great solo artist in his own right), L-Swift and A-Butta; and they seem to have Charlemagne enlisted as staff producer, as he works magic on both sides here. "Bust Mine" is quite an opening shot, with a rising bass figure buttressed by a crisp drum track making for a sound that is both solid and dreamy. Although the music is dope, the excellent lyrics and strong vocal interplay between this trio is what steals the show. Throwing lines back and forth with Olympic precision, the three rappers are all over the track and their confused, hopeful and even visionary words make a strong impression, while the use of several repeated phrases on the chorus keeps things centered. "Paper Chase" doesn't quite live up to the top billing of the front side, with hazier music and the somewhat overused "gettin' money" scenario that other lesser rappers have run into the ground. It's still good stuff, but they prove on the flip that they can, and will obviously continue to, do much better. □

Record Company

Brian Courville, National Manager College Promotion, Mercury Records, New York, NY 800.324.1410 104435.1647@compuserve.com Here goes the first Dialogue from the new guy at Mercury. I have officially taken over for the ambassador of college radio, Chuck Newingham. He has since graduated to the cesspool of commercial radio (not that that's a bad thing). A bit about myself: I have just relocated to NYC from LA (I've never owned an umbrella in my life), I don't believe in astrology (so don't ask me my sign), and I used to live around the corner from where O.J. allegedly filleted Nicole and Ron. One of my pet peeves is the concept behind the Wonder Twins (you know, from the Super Friends — ask me later). Also, if anyone knows of a decent Mexican food restaurant in NY, please, I beg of you, let me know. Now for the music. How cool are the Refreshments? Listen to the record, you'll know. The Welsh group Gorky's Zygotic Mynci (pronounced monkey) have a song called "Young Girls & Happy Endings" — you figure it out. And Roni Size/Reprazent, the drum and bass collective from Bristol, England, is getting huge response here in the States. Don't miss out. On the world music tip, we have the Irish siren, Emer Kenny. And our friends at Scratchie Records have put out an outstanding record on the hip-hop vibe by Mike Ladd. Brand spankin' new records, you ask? Well, we've got a live record of Conan O'Brien's musical guests including: Cake, Soul Coughing, Ani DiFranco and many more. And a new one from God Street Wine (hey, put away that plastic bag). Please direct any complaints to the Internal Revenue Service, because I don't want to hear it. However, if you're a closet sycophant, give me a buzz. Oh yeah, have a nice day.

Jacobson & Colfin, P.C., Attorneys At Law, New York, NY 212.691.5630 jejesq@aol.com The Rufus Thomas ("Walking The Dog" and "Funky Chicken") ASCAP presentation will be held in Memphis on November 5. Yes, that's India that you hear on the triple platinum Puff Daddy & The Family album, which has spent 10 weeks in the top 10. India's new Salsa LP has hit #1 Billboard Tropi-Salsa charts. "All That I Am," the title track to the smash album from R&B star Joe was written by Larry Loftin and Mattias Gustafsson, both of whom are recent co-publishing deal recipients. Crystal Method, featuring the vocals of Trixy Reiss, hit #1 Retail, #1 RPM, #11 Top 200 and #13 Core on the CMJ Charts. The Royalty Records We Will Fall: A Tribute To Iggy Pop has gotten raves in the USA Today, Washington Post, Guitar, Boston Globe and CMJ. In addition to MTV exposure, Joey Ramone (with special guest Bowie) is slated to preview the album on Much Music. ROIR Records has released Sacred System: Chapter Two from Bill Laswell, who recently worked on remixes of Bob Marley and Miles Davis albums. Reggae great Freddie McGregor just jammed out a jam-packed Tramps (just around the corner from us) for his CD release party. The Zen Tricksters and Dave Nelson (of the New Riders Of The Purple Sage) did a show together on Long Island, and alumnus Merl Saunders was gigging in Manhattan.

Josh Kirby, Tim/Kerr Records, Portland, OR 503.236.0013 ext. 103 tkrec@teleport.com

It's monsoon season. We in Cascadia can expect our annual six months of grey and rain beginning now. The big news right now at camp Tim/Kerr is still Swoon 23. I know it is my joy, but I cannot say enough wonderful things about their new record. The Legendary Ether Pony is one absolutely pristine piece of art if you ask me. I love hearing a recording in which it's glaringly apparent that a band was able to put down on tape exactly what they had in their minds. For those of you on the left coast, look for a Swoon 23 tour in November. Call me, as always, for guest list spots and interviews. You know what a lot of MDs have told me? They have taken Michael Stirling's new record and mixed it with beats and drum and bass tracks for some amazing results. Go back to the world music shelf and try for yourself. Lastly, with the changing seasons also comes a slight change in direction for T/K, with all of our fancy jazz releases coming out at the same time. Those of you who know your music already have the new ones from Pigpen (featuring the one and only Wayne Horowitz) and Hughscore (featuring Hugh Hopper, produced by Wayne Horowitz) and Elliot Sharp's free-jazz mind fuck known as Boodlers. If you don't have these, and you think your new jazz/experimental library needs some attention, call me and I'll determine if you deserve them, beeyatch.

Frank Ritchie, Shanachie Entertainment, New York, NY 212.334.0284 ext. 29

shanach@ldt.net Hello, hello, hello. I hope you ska DJs out there didn't forget that I sent out Skandalous: I've Gotcha Covered Vol. 2 in early September. You should look around your station if you haven't seen it. Within the next week or so you will be receiving more ska with Freedom Sounds: A Tribute To The Skatalites (featuring the Scofflaws, Mephiskapheles, the Aquabats, the Slackers, Otis Reem and more) and the Coyabalites. For you world music people, the important releases out of all those great records you've already received from us are Jimi Mbaye and the New Orleans Klezmer All-Stars. You all will love Earthlan: The Beautiful Collision Of Nations. This release is way cool and different, you'll have to hear it because I can't describe how cool this is. For all you folkies out there we have a new Bitchin' Babes release out this week, and Richard Shindell's tour with Dar Williams has been going real well. All you reggae DJs will be getting Sister Carol's new release along with King Tubby Meets Lee Perry and a compilation called In The Red Zone. Give me a call if you need anything or have any questions. ☐

The riveting new thriller. Featuring Mark Eitzel.

Jimmy, Promotions, Bakery Records, Hoboken, NJ 201.795.2445

jimmy@bakery-records.com Hello again people. We, the small and meek in Bakeryville, would like to be the first to announce the release of Tadpoles' new EP Know Your Ghosts. And it's yours free for the asking (radio stations only, please). Just call us up or email and you tell 'em Jimmy sentcha. By the time you read this, Tadpoles will be way out west on a tour with Cul De Sac, oblivious to all of the hub-bub I am stirring up here back home. Check our web site: www.bakery-records.com for all of the details. See ya next year.

Jpsy, Retail & College Promotion, Pandisc/StreetBeat Records, Miami, FL 305.557.1914

Ext. 23 bocrane@gate.net Wow, it's nice to be back again. I hope you all are enjoying the season. Halloween is everything to me. I used to love the fall but down here in Miami, all I enjoy is the poolside. Blah! I love Halloween! I love it so much that I want to give you all some gifts. I have some acid for all of you: Acid X-mas (G. Acosta, Noel W. Sanger and Voodoo) is not mom's old tunes. It's all the favorite renditions set for the new millennium. Perfect for gift giving and receiving. It's a must! I want to take this time to say to those DJs out there that have not reached out and given me feedback, why not? It's one minute. That's all it takes. Acid X-mas should make you feel better. Gimme a call. Ciao!

Asym Marketing + Insane Artists Management, Los Angeles, CA

213.954.7626 OK, so at this point y'all are down with Homogenic, the new Björk CD. The office is split over our fave songs, but all of us are in excruciating pain over the beauty of "Yoga" and "Bachelorette." That's track four for those of you who cannot read. (You saw it here first.) No -ica on these electronic bands, thank you very much — painfully cool and groovy stuff: Supersonic (China-Sire) is a U.K. duo who'll be releasing their debut, Wall To Wall Mustache before you read this. "We Rock," the first single, does so. Death In Vegas (Concrete-Time Bomb), also some nice, down home boys, are touring with the Chemical Brothers this fall (um, be there or what?). It sounds way kitschy, but A3 (Geffen, and formerly called Alabama 3) combines rootsy honky-tonk with electronic grooves on their debut, Exile On Coldharbour Lane — just believe us when we say you'll like it, you'll really like it. We're gleefully continuing to work Crystal Method (Outpost-Geffen) and Howie B (on Island, please say you are loving this stellar CD!) so you know we aren't going to steer you wrong on good stuff, right? Right. Summertime and Love Spit Love (both Maverick) are out on tour now through the end of the year, so that gives you enough time to check them out live. What we lick fuzzy, little critters for: The Verve, Olive, Dubstar and The End Of Violence soundtrack.

Elias Chios, RCA, New York, NY 800.627.4926

800.627.4926 The Mysteries Of Life: U.F.O.s, crop circles, Milton Berle, Kramer and the band! Anonymous Tip the EP should be in your possession. Five new Mysteries tunes and a cover of the Jam's "But I'm Different Now." Hum is coming. Hum is coming! Hum '97, baby! There is a band called Fly that you will be hearing about very shortly. It's Jane's Addiction-meets-Iggy-meets-T. Rex. Get ready to Fly! (Not the song, people.) Be on the lookout for hip-hop masters Funkdoobiest. The "Papi Chulo" 12" is on the way, as is the new full-length called The Troubleshooters! This is the shit for all you West Coast hip-hop lovers! If you need servicing please call me (no not that kind, filthy people).

Matt Sonzala, Label Manager, Jarrett Records, Austin, TX 512.458.3011

pushermat1@aol.com Boy I do feel sorry for those of you not fortunate enough to live in Austin. It's been a hot, sometimes scorching, painful summer, but those cooler days are a comin', and if everything goes correctly with that El Nino sucka, we're gonna be in for a fine winter. We're already two steps ahead of the game here at Jarrett Records. All you DJs, PDs and MDs should have the new Anything Box disc, Elektrodelica in your player as you read this. I know, I know, I know, it's a tough one to take out. But you're gonna have to do it and share a bit with yer listeners. The first single, "Conscious," is a bit of a nod towards the Beatles, and should grasp fans from all over the musical spectrum. It's just beautiful, strikingly beautiful. Need either one of these lil' gems? Call, write, email, whatever. You need this. Two new singles from the Bristol, England trio Mesh have been unleashed on the world, with Stateside re-mixes of the underground classic "Fragile" filling up the one, and a special sneak preview from their upcoming In This Place Forever LP filling up the other. Are you hearing me? What? What you need, fool? Don't lemme get started on Seven Red Seven now. Give a call. Begin understanding what I'm trying to tell you.

Tim Folsset, Deep Elm Records, New York, NY 212.532.3337

eatworld@aol.com Hello, you beautiful babies! Tim the rookie here, off the bench to spread the Deep Elm news. Triple Fast Action's Cattlemen Don't is out now, and if it's not already glued into your CD player, it's probably on your desk in a flat envelope. So wake up! This record is so good that it helped me beat my addiction to Lucky Charms. Thanks so much to those of you who are already spinning this amazing collection of rock tunes. Get your snow boots on, it's time to climb those charts. If you have no idea what I'm talking about, call or email me and fall in love with this band like the rest of us. It only hurts if you want it to! Also, Camber is now on tour, playing shows with Pave The Rocket. The beginning of this killer tour goes a little something like this: Pittsburgh, PA (11/7); Columbus, OH (11/8); Springfield, IL (11/9); Champaign, IL (11/10); Green Bay, WI (11/11); two shows in one night in Minneapolis and St. Paul, MN (11/12); Sioux Falls, SD (11/13); Omaha, NE (11/14); Kansas City, MO (11/15). Call for more info. And that, my friends, is the full monty. Thanks to all who have made my transition from college MD to Deep Elm radio dork so easy. You are the best, Jerry, the best.

Alan Abbott, Turnbuckle Records, New York, NY 212.598.9652

turnbuckle@worldnet.att.net By now, most of you should have copies of our new releases by Be/Non and Oneida. Let me tell you, Be/Non's You're Playing With Children In The Land Of The Bugs is pure insanity. Barbed-wire guitars and thunderous percussion going every which way, these Kansans create mayhem. Keep "Microsurgical Vasectomy Reversal," "Blubber" and "Skin Pearl" in mind as ultimate moments of Be/Non. Also, look for Oneida's A Place Called El Shaddai's. Oneida is a Brooklyn-based collective of multi-instrumentalists prone to re-interpreting 1960s psyche and drone from the safety of their basement studio. Check out "Salad Days" or "The Ballad of Vaurice" to get a feel for their broad spectrum. Both Be/Non and Oneida are on tour as we speak. Coming (kind of) soon, Bailter Space's Photon EP.

David Weigel, Rust Records, Portland, OR rust@inJune.com

rust@inJune.com I remember watching that Bob Dylan tribute concert a few years back — you remember, the one when Sinead was booed throughout her performance. I remember it struck me as odd that the crowd, full of present-day yuppies, were once part of the Dylan movement. People who believed in expressing their views through social activism were now giving Sinead the business for her views? What's up wit dat? Well I'd like to take this opportunity to dish out kudos to the entire college music scene for knowing what it means to remain dedicated to and supportive of the views associated with independent/non-corporate music. It's an entire group that embraces disestablishmentarianism. This is why we at Rust Records (a k a In June) are so pleased with your (college radio's) open-mindedness. For example, Ian at WUNH. Special thanks to this fella who called the new record from In June "brilliant." And more thanks to all those stations playing the CD! We love you. And we promise that in 20 or 30 years, we won't drive our BMW or Mercedes to some Wallflowers tribute concert, get out in torn Levi's and black (too tight) concert T-shirts and heckle the flavor of the day's angst-riddled youth for his or her views, because we'll remember that we were a part of the movement known as college radio. Bye!

Jason Turner, Friendly (?) Guy, Rotten Records, Montclair, CA 909.624.2332

rotten@rottenrecords.com By now you should have our new music in (or you should be getting it any day — I know how slow the U.S. postal service can be at times). Toy Dolls is for all punk stations, while all Loud Rock reporters should have the new Damaged. Fans of any type of punk rock will get off on the Toy Dolls, and anyone who is even slightly interested in extreme metal will love Damaged. The Virus boys are helping with the Toy Dolls so you know you have to play it. Make sure the CDs go to the right people and then make sure you all play them all the way through and log each song separately so they chart at number one. Actually, you just need to play them a lot and you will be happy. So will I. I had a fun weekend. I went into Silverlake to see my friend's band. Maybe you heard of them, Possum Dixon? Anyway, their new material is great and I hope they can release a new record soon. Then on Saturday, I went to an indoor swap meet because I had free passes. Lo and behold, they had Mexican wrestling going on, so of course I had to watch. I am sure many of you are familiar with normal wrestling, but this was unbelievable. The audience really gets involved, whether they want to or not. Other records you should be spinning: Today Is The Day, Human Waste Project and No Use For a Name.

DJ Markie Gee, RPM Director, WESU, Wesleyan University, Middletown, CT 860.685.3668 markieg@mail.snet.net It is rolodex time, folks. The new MDs are Ellie Erickson and Sara Jaffe, and they love to hear from labels on Wednesdays and Thursdays between 4 and 6 p.m. at 860.685.3668. Give them a call because WESU rocks! Markie Gee, ex-WWUH PD/MD, is the RPM Director, and he takes calls from Tuesday through Thursday at 860.344.9449 from noon until 7 p.m. He can be faxed at 860.632.5530, and his email address is markieg@mail.snet.net for all you cyber-literates. Markie respectfully requests vinyl service for WESU in addition to the CDs, because he is training jocks for mix shows which, of course, are done on turntables! As an added bonus for your support of WESU, Markie also writes for MixMag and Dance Music Authority, covering underground house and electronica. Special shout-outs to those who really supported WESU over the summer: Moonshine, Triage, Futurista, Logic, Strictly Rhythm, Mute, Red Ant, Mammoth, Oxygen Music Works, 550 Music, V2, Stress, Bold!, Pro-Motion, Grand Royal, Mutiny, RCA, Roadrunner and World Domination. Support vinyl and progressive dance music! And please remember to properly address all WESU product.

Chad Vivar, Music Director/Chief Cronie, WVFI, Notre Dame, IN 219.631.6888 wvfi@nd.edu All right everyone, WVFI is finally back on the air so check out our Top 30 and send us more music (we especially like vinyl). Anyway, this semester has been quite busy and stressful so far, but I just dropped my history class so that I'll have more time to spend with y'all. I'm truly very sorry if I haven't returned your phone call yet, but I still have a stack of unreturned message slips as big as my phat head, and I only have so much love to give. So please be patient and try to catch my broke-ass self during my office hours: Monday 11:30-1:30 p.m. and Friday 3-5 p.m. — and that's in the Indiana Corn Farmer Time Zone (we don't change our watches when all you normal folks do). Lemme give my long-distance shout-outs to Siri at Capitol for all the cool gear — got nothin' but love for ya, Kenny at Grand Royal, Ted at Gern Blandsten, Ben at Merge — thanks for servicing us, Meg at Touch & Go, Ben at Columbia, Sherwood at AAM, Ryan at Caroline and Tommy at Virgin — give me a call sometime soon. Oh yeah, check out the debut Sweep The Leg Johnny album when it comes out on Divot in November — it rocks the donkey's ass. Peace out.

Yoiji Peterson, Co-Music Director, KCSF, San Francisco, CA 415.239.3444 yoiji@activa.net Hello, hello, hello. This year is my first as MD with Danny Wright at KCSF. Despite minor tragedies (major CD theft from the DJ booth and our board blowing up), things are starting to really pick up at KCSF. I have adjusted my palate towards listening to new music and have discovered a newfound addiction to mail, any mail. I even look forward to bills now! Our format encompasses all genres, focusing on (but not limited to) music made outside of the U.S. It kinda makes me dizzy thinking about it but it does work. Everyone I've talked to (with a few exceptions) has been super-cool, so if you are super-cool and want to know more, call me on Monday, Wednesday or Friday after 12 noon, or talk to Danny, who is all things good with a great phone voice on Tuesday and Thursday after 11 a.m. I also respond to my email promptly, as all Yoijis should. Cheers!

Paul "God Boy" Briggs, Music Director, WCRD, Muncie, IN 317.285.1467 Greetings and salutations from the corn and lame local bands of Muncie, Indiana. We here at WCRD are currently undergoing some major changes, such as continuing our move across the street (now in its third month) and updating our equipment (or so they say). God bless red tape. Anyway, there are some changes to the line-up this season for the undefeated B91ers — here we go. I, Paul, am the music director, Steve Sheldon is handling Loud Rock calls now that Tim Arnold has graduated, Chezik Walker is in charge of Beat Box, and we are currently in need of an RPM director, so if you know anyone let us know. Also, please, for my sake, send us some giveaway product on some of these bands so that the uncultured students at Ball U. get some culture. Oh, and I am always looking for an excuse to bake, so send me some recipes.

Ellen Goldberg, Music Director, WOWL, Boca Raton, FL 561.367.3759 ego19901@fau.edu It took three months, but WOWL is finally back and reporting to CMJ again. I'd like to thank everyone out there for putting up with me and my excuses in the meantime. Things are going really good at the station right now and if you want to hear it for yourselves, check out our web site <http://www.fau.edu/wowl>. We are broadcasting on the 'Net! And we did it ourselves. It may be a little late, but I'd like to say hey to all the people I talk to every week who I didn't meet at CMJ. Maybe next year, right? I'd also like to brag a little about all the Florida bands that played at CMJ. Jack Off Jill (Ft. Lauderdale), Shai Hulud (Pompano Beach), the Amanda Green Band (Miami), Pee Shy (Tampa), and I know there were a few other bands from here who played, but I can't remember who. Of course, we can't forget keynote speaker Marilyn Manson, who forged his nasty little band on the mean streets of suburban Miami. This may not seem like a lot of bands to some people, but if you lived down here, you'd understand why this is a big deal. Until next time. ☐

PLUS ALSO, TOO

To celebrate the completion of its forthcoming album Re-Load (set for a November 18 release), hard rock monolith Metallica decided it wanted to do a free concert for its fans. The problem is that the event, tentatively scheduled for Veteran's Day (November 11) is, at press time, still without a venue or a city. Despite the band's best efforts, local radio stations and promoters, several major cities, including Chicago and Boston, have rejected the concert for unconfirmed reasons. In turn, the band has asked its fans for help. Metallica has set up a phone line (800.804.1400) and an email address (metallica@elektra.com) for fans to offer suggestions as to where the band should play. The only stipulation is that the venue must be open-air (no clubs or arenas) to ensure that the space is large enough to accommodate anyone who wishes to attend...In other Metallica news, the band recently performed an acoustic set as part of the Bridge School Benefit Concert at the Shoreline Amphitheater in Mountain View, CA. The band was part of an eclectic line-up that featured acoustic performances by Smashing Pumpkins (joined by guests Marilyn Manson and Twiggy Ramirez), Alanis Morissette, Lou Reed, Dave Matthews, newcomer Kacy Crowley and Neil Young & Crazy Horse. Young acts as the organizer and informal headliner of the annual concert event, which this year raised more than $1 million for the Bridge School. Both of Young's sons, Ben and Zeke, have cerebral palsy and attend the school, which offers education for extremely disabled children. Over the past two decades, the concert event has seen acoustic performances by such musical powerhouses as David Bowie, Pearl Jam, Ministry, Simon & Garfunkel, Patti Smith and Bob Dylan...Guitarist Bruce Kulick (ex-Kiss) and vocalist John Corabi (ex-Mötley Crüe) have begun pre-production on a debut album set for release on Mayhem Records in early 1998. The band, which is still without a name, will record the album at Rumbo Studios in October with mixing scheduled to start in early November...Ex-Sex Pistol/P.i.L. frontman John Lydon will soon have the chance to battle out his differences with drummer Robert Williams in front of a television audience when the two appear on an upcoming episode of the L.A.-based court TV program, Judge Judy, which taped last week. The two have been fighting since July, when Williams was confronted about his alleged attitude problem during rehearsals in preparation for Lydon's solo summer tour. During a dinner meeting, Williams became agitated, threatened to quit the tour, bumped his head on Lydon's chin as he removed himself from the table and left the premises on his own accord. Lydon sought to replace Williams and was forced to cancel the tour's first date, costing $6,000 in lost revenue. In the weeks following the dinner incident, Williams filed a criminal battery charge against Lydon, which was determined unfounded by the state. He also filed suit in small claims court claiming damages of $5,000 in lost wages and "civil battery." The Judge Judy episode featuring the face-to-face confrontation of Lydon and Williams airs in November.

THE BIZ

On October 15, performing rights organization BMI announced the creation of "MusicBot," a web robot designed to gather market information and music trends while monitoring the use of music in cyberspace. The robot, which will work 24 hours a day, seven days a week, provides BMI with the equivalent of a full-time staff of nearly 24 web surfers at a fraction of the cost. The "MusicBot" is part of a series of new technologies introduced by BMI to address the concerns of the more than 200,000 copyright holders the company represents, as well as to meet the demands of web developers for high quality musical content on their sites.

OOPS!

In the Jackpot section of CMJ New Music Report #542, we mistakenly ran the wrong cover artwork for 1.8.7.'s When Worlds Collide. The Jungle Sky artist is in no way connected to the 187 film or soundtrack. Also in issue #542, an outdated photo of the Promise Ring was used in the Tour Focus section, which neglects to recognize Tim Burton as the band's new bassist. CMJ regrets these errors and apologizes for any confusion they may have caused.

LIVE WIRE LUCINDA WILLIAMS Mercury Lounge, New York City, September 15

Fans of roots-based singer/songwriter Lucinda Williams have had little to sustain themselves over the past five years. In 1988 and 1992, Williams released records on two different labels, both of which folded, and has since spent several years recording her first album for American Recordings, which itself is negotiating a new distribution arrangement. All of this has led to much speculation over the forthcoming Car Wheels On A Gravel Road, which she previewed on this evening with several new songs.

Williams's music could be loosely called country-pop, but it's truly a richer amalgam than that, taking in strains of folk, Cajun, bluegrass, Mexican folk, and (especially) blues as suits the tone and shape of each song. For her two nights at Mercury Lounge, Williams appeared playing acoustic guitar, backed by a bassist and two electric guitarists. She mingled her older songs with new material, pleasing her boisterous fans on both counts. Of her familiar material, songs such as the rockin' blues number "Changed The Locks" (covered by Tom Petty on the She's The One soundtrack), the bouncy "Passionate Kisses" (covered and rendered a hit by Mary Chapin Carpenter) and the sultry "Something About What Happens When We Talk" reasserted her songwriting prowess and attention to detail both in her lyrics and delivery. Her new material included the somber "Car Wheels On A Gravel Road," driven by twangy guitars and a soaring chorus, the sweetly sad "Drunken Angel," and the roiling blues number "Joy," which Williams called "a sort of ode to self-empowerment," telling the story of a woman whose joy has been snatched away and who repudiates its former purveyor. "You took my joy and I want it back," she caterwauled, with an electric blues guitar line mirroring her note for note. She was joined during her encore of "Wild Thing," by its writer, Chip Taylor, who opened up the show. But even a stout standard such as that could not overshadow the moving presence of Williams's songs and her earthy, fiery delivery, which captivated this small crowd of converts. LYDIA ANDERSON

WEBSITE OF THE WEEK

HOLLYWOOD ONLINE'S MOVIE TUNES
<http://www.movietunes.com>

Finding useful information with practical purposes on the Internet isn't always easy. Sure, there are places to go if you'd like to sock Bill Gates in the face or explore the beautiful world of antler art, but when it comes to content that is compelling for more than its camp factor, then there are fewer alternatives. Movie fans will find many sites to explore: from bells- and whistles-loaded official movie sites to comprehensive movie archives. Movie Tunes brings the world of celluloid to your desktop better than any other site we've seen to date. Contrary to its misleading URL, Movie Tunes is more than just a place to listen to an exhaustive amount of movie soundtrack music — it also includes useful tools such as a handy theater search that will tell you at which theaters a selected movie is playing in your area (map included). If you get the urge to hear songs composed by Danny Elfman, Ennio Morricone or this week's featured composer, Marco Beltrami, you can search the archives by composer, as well as by genre (foreign films included). We particularly enjoyed the easy-to-read television movie guide, which lists movies currently showing on the tube (we were searching for The Joe Torre Story: Curveballs Along The Way on Showtime). The site is also spruced with features, interviews, trivia games and a wide variety of movie news to keep you coming back for your movie fix. GLEN SANSONE

This new format has had a positive response from the community and has broadened KRUI's listenership. On weekends, the station airs a variety of popular specialty programs (so popular, in fact, that people walk around campus wearing show promo T-shirts, and the phone lines are jammed during many of the broadcasts), such as music from the 1980s, a funk show, a punk show (hosted by Tiffany), an RPM show (hosted by Vince), a women's show, a disco show and a world music show. Every semester the station conducts live remote broadcasts from local businesses and promotes the station through on-air and on-site giveaways. Last semester, one of the giveaway prizes included a free tattoo and body piercing, while this semester the grand prize is a new snowboard. BRENDA LINGUITI

ARTIST SPOTLIGHT

DEREK TRUCKS

Derek Trucks, the nephew of the Allman Brothers' Butch Trucks, has his own band, and his self-titled debut album is due out soon on Atlanta-based Landslide Records. Although he's barely 18 years old, many people are already hailing him as the best white blues slide guitarist since Duane Allman. We talked to Trucks recently during a stopover in "Hot"-lanta in the midst of his whirlwind tour of the deep South.

When we first heard of you, you were being described as a blues guitarist, and yet your album has a lot of jazz, Southern rock and even Middle Eastern touches to it.

Yeah, a lot of people get run off by that! But we're really into it, you know, we're about the music. We just play, and then [the audience] hears it, and then they can decide if they like it or not. So far, a lot of people do seem to get it.

What blues artists most influenced you?

Growing up, the first two albums I remember we always had at home were Live At The Fillmore East by the Allman Brothers, and Elmore James. Then later I got into B.B. King, Bobby Bland, King Curtis and stuff. Now I'm likely to listen to Bukka White, Howlin' Wolf, Son House. That's the kind of stuff we spend all our time listening to in the van.

What other things do you listen to?

There's a lot out there to hear, man! I might listen to a lot of Howlin' Wolf, Coltrane, Sun Ra, you name it.

You just said the magic word — "Coltrane." I must admit to being surprised to see you, being related to the Allmans and all, doing Southern-rock covers of the Coltrane songs, "Mr. P.C." and "Naima" on your album. Oh, man, you know I could spend a week listening to his box sets, going through all that! There's so much there!

There were a few people back in Duane Allman's day who heard his solos, and realized, hey, he was definitely listening to Coltrane for inspiration.

Yes! That's it! The way he would just leap right into a solo, or take a simple idea and build from there...

Did you grow up in an environment that encouraged you to play music?

Well, my uncle is in the Allman Brothers, but my dad, he played a little guitar. There was always a lot of listening to music, and really enjoying it, you know, records and such around the house.

How did you form your band? Did you put the individual players together with the specific idea of playing this kind of adventurous, jazzy, bluesy Southern rock thing?

No, the band just happened. I'd been playing with lots of different guys for three or four years, [but these guys] are the ones that stuck around! JAMES LIEN

Bluesville, U.S.A.

A CMJ guide to some cool stuff happening in blues and roots music

all over this big ol' land.

CALIFORNIA

The town of El Cerrito, California is the home of Down Home Music, possibly one of the greatest little record stores ever. Ostensibly it's the retail outlet for Chris Strachwitz's revered roots music label Arhoolie Records (see Roots 'N' Blues label profiles elsewhere in this issue), offering one-stop shopping for fans seeking any of Arhoolie's hundreds of CDs, LPs and cassettes. It's a groovy little record store, but in our eyes, it's really something much much more – a shrine, a mecca, a sacred place. Strachwitz started out collecting 78s and taping unrecorded blues singers in the late '50s, and remarkably, he's never lost his thirst – he's still an avid music collector to this day, frequently hosting swap meets and record shows right in the Down Home parking lot. People we know who've been to these meets tell us that they secretly suspect Strachwitz of hosting his own record shows simply because it means he'll get the first crack at everybody's stuff, trading 78s and rare LPs with fellow collectors at the crack of dawn.

TEXAS

In the sleepy little petroleum town of Elmo, Texas, Henry Qualls plays his idiosyncratic style of Texas slide-guitar blues. Largely through the efforts of Chuck Nevitt of the Dallas Blues Society, Qualls released his first record in 1995. Nevitt's favorite story about Qualls involves him missing a flight to a big, high-profile gig at a blues festival in Europe. Henry missed the plane because he was stopped at the airport metal detector for carrying bullets he'd forgotten were in his jacket pockets. Since then, producer Ron Levy has recently recorded a second album of Qualls's idiosyncratic guitar stylings for release on his label.

ILLINOIS

"A lotta little clubs, a lotta pawnshops," said one person we asked about the Chicago blues scene. Another added, "As unbelievable as it might seem, you still find people hocking these amazing guitars in crummy neighborhoods." The city's fabled South Side is home to a lot of untrod den clubs that still feature real, unadulterated, non-touristy Chicago blues music. While most of the town's original artists have gone on to that great gig in the sky, many of the men who backed up or opened for the legends are still going strong. To compile a list of the best clubs for this article, we interviewed several hardened local blues fans from the scene; each time, we pretended to turn the tape recorder off, announced the interview was over, and proceeded to ask them what their real favorite club was, or where they were headed that night. The myriad of different clubs they picked proved that the blues is still alive and well in Chicago. Our friends may never offer us such hospitality again, but most often mentioned were the Checkerboard Lounge, Lee's and Blues Etc., while every single respondent mentioned the venerable Kingston Mines.

ARKANSAS

Each fall, Helena, Arkansas hosts the King Biscuit Blues Festival. The festival is named in honor of the fabled King Biscuit Time radio program on KFFA radio (on which Sonny Boy Williamson, James "Peck" Curtis and Houston Stackhouse would sing songs and ad lib about the virtues of King Biscuit Flour, a local brand). In the past, it's featured the cream of the blues crop, including R.L. Burnside, Johnny Jenkins, Charles Brown, Bobby Parker, Lucky Peterson, John Weston, Sonny Rhodes, Big Jack Johnson and Anson Funderburgh & Sam Myers. This year's festival in October was the biggest yet. It even sponsors an amateur arm wrestling contest!

NEW YORK

The Bauer brothers, guitarist Judah and drummer Donovan, have been raising a ruckus all over Manhattan for some time now, including recent gigs playing with T-Model Ford and Luther Dickinson's North Mississippi All-Stars. Judah, of course, is known for his guitar stylings in the Jon Spencer Blues Explosion, but his side project 20 Miles allows him to delve even deeper into the Hound Dog Taylor style of sloppy-drunk blues. "R.L., he's like the man," Judah enthuses about Burnside. "I learn so much just from hanging around those guys." Significantly, Judah was also influenced by blues artists from the '20s, who sonically don't have much to do with the explosive sounds of his main group. When we recently ran into him on the street, he had a vinyl copy of a compilation of Mississippi blueswomen of the '20s and '30s tucked under his arm. "Geechie Wiley is so amazing," he says, pointing a bony index finger at the track listing on the back cover. "I just love her stuff, it's so full of incredibly beautiful images."

TENNESSEE

Little known fact: Of the first four years' worth of inductees to the Rock 'N' Roll Hall Of Fame, more were born within 100 miles of Memphis than in all the other rock 'n' roll meccas put together.

FLORIDA

They call it "sacred steel" – a string of House Of God Holiness churches in the Florida area in which they praise the Lord with steel guitars. These combos are bassless trios (shades of Mississippi and Hound Dog Taylor) featuring walling bluesy guitar solos giving jubilant praise to God. A Florida folklorist named Robert Stone stumbled onto this previously-undocumented musical genre when a local music store owner told him about a steady stream of African-American customers coming in looking for steel guitar supplies. Arhoolie has released four volumes of material showcasing this phenomenal religious music, some of the most provocative and wonderful sounds we've ever heard.

MISSISSIPPI

Everybody knows that the blues came up from Mississippi to Chicago to be electrified by Muddy Waters and Howlin' Wolf. But believe it or not, a phenomenal number of the great bluesmen all came up from the Delta leaving from the same train station in Clarksdale, Mississippi, which was the main stop for the Delta region on the primary passenger line to Chicago. Now that cars are king, the train station is boarded up and dormant, but recently a group of investors in the Clarksdale area bought the old brick building and began converting it into a club. When it opens, hopefully in about a year, it will be a showcase for blues from all over the Delta. But for now, when you're in Clarksdale, visit the Delta Blues Museum and you can see such sights as Z.Z. Top's "Muddywood" guitar, made from a plank taken from Muddy Waters's boyhood home. Also check out local legend Early Wright, who is, to our knowledge, the oldest continuously operating blues DJ in the world. When he first began broadcasting, he was playing 78 rpm discs by blues artists such as Muddy Waters and Little Walter. He can still be heard on station WROX, 1450 AM in Clarksdale, Monday through Friday, from 6 to 10 p.m. Down in Greenville, T-Model Ford (featured on this week's cover) and his drummer Spam have been kicking up a ruckus with their Fat Possum Records debut.
