8 The Bitch Is Back

"My goal was not to make a commercial record, really, but to have a chance for it to be out there," says Shelby Lynne about her new batch of soulful southern pop, Love, Shelby. "The last record I made for myself. I didn't give a damn if 10 people bought it." Fortunately a hell of a lot more people bought 2000's I Am Shelby Lynne than that, and we're betting that the fiery singer-songwriter's new Glen Ballard-produced album will launch her already buzzing career into another category altogether.

THE COUP

Party Music (75 Ark)

Certainly a group so overtly socialist is deserved of a defiant moniker like The Coup, but this Oakland duo tackles the politics of dancing as effortlessly as it dances around politics, making the ultra-funky Party Music a coup for political rap itself. While 1998's acutely conscious Steal This Album was a masterstroke for the veteran crew, Party Music (as in both definitions) is denser than a neutron star, rich with socialist screed for both the soapbox and the dance floor. In a mere two verses of "Everythang," rapper Boots Riley blasts police corruption, wrestles with race relations, questions the judicial system and calls to overthrow economic stratification — all over a bliptastic Kraftwerk-via-Dre trample. Equally loaded is the sizzling electro-funk beneath the darkly humorous "5 Million Ways To Kill A C.E.O." and the slyly Sly "Wear Clean Draws," a feminism-tinged instruction book addressed to Riley's daughter. The apex of the party/party connection is "Ride The Fence," upon which Riley, line-by-line, dictates an individual political platform. Fortunately, it's built on a mix of Jurassic-5's static funk-hop revisionism and Funkadelic's soulful chants. With Party Music, The Coup attempts to free both your mind and your ass, in no particular order. — Christopher R. Weingarten

AVALANCHES

Since I Left You (London-Sire)

Though the revelry of the high-flyin' dot-com days is long gone, there's still a need for festive music to help us blow off a little steam from time to time. That's where albums such as Since I Left You, the debut from Australian hip-hop/dance outfit the Avalanches, come in. Constructed entirely of samples from party jams through the ages — most notably the first Madonna sample (from "Holiday") approved by the Queen of Pop herself — this album is the perfect soundtrack to your next anti-reality shindig. The opener/title track loops a pitched-up vocal that sounds straight outta Phil Spector's bag of girl-group tricks. From there it goes into the most buzzworthy of the 100-plus samples; we don't wanna spoil anything, but it's safe to say that as soon as "Another Season" kicks in, you'll know the bassline like the back of your hand. And speaking of low-end frequencies, the album's 17 tracks will have yours shaking whether you like it or not. Myriad gadgets and doohickeys were used to construct the record's merciless dance blueprint, but it's far from being a cold, avant-garde affair. Instead it harks back to a happier time, when party people didn't feel compelled to take themselves so dang seriously. — Courtney Reimer

GREEN VELVET

Whatever (Relief-Cajual)

A fearless, peerless house-and-the-kitchen-sink producer, Curtis A. Jones pilfers various elements to meet his alter-ego Green Velvet's funk demands. His second full-length in this guise melts a minimalist house vibe over lyrics that crackle with wit, then adds a dash of darting techno and a pinch of early British new wave. The surging "Stranj" conjures a synthesized, rudimentary melody that recalls Depeche Mode and Bronski Beat, albeit with Green Velvet's ominous refrain of "I'm so stranj/ How my life has changed." The BPM count jumps dramatically in the scary speed-techno romp "GAT (The Great American Tragedy)," which couples a relentless mechanical beat with fuzzed-out organ. On this and other tracks, Jones introduces hip-hop-style commentary to Green Velvet's arsenal; "Waitin' 4 The Day2end," for example, is a deadpan recitation of a day in an urban landscape populated by junkies, pushers and hapless cops. Velvet's trademark humor isn't completely absent: the pot paean "Dank" uses only handclaps and snaps as percussion and "La La Land" reimagines "Funkytown" as a trip to a rave where "little pills" yield "thrills"—"until they kill a million brain cells." More than just the man who's kept Chicago on the house map, Jones draws on an amusing honesty made all the more effective via his artful variation on house. — Richard A. Martin

LEONA NAESS

I Tried To Rock You But You Only Roll (MCA)

Don't be fooled by the singer/songwriter label: Leona Naess is not just another chick with a guitar. Bits of bawdy synth — just enough to induce flashbacks in anyone old enough to remember the early '80s — and various electronic elements ("Weak Strong Heart") bring added depth and fun to the subtle acoustics of guitars, piano and strings (sample the poignant arrangement on "Serenade") that largely characterize her style. Yet I Tried To Rock You But You Only Roll, Naess's sophomore effort, retains an unadorned, simplistic vibe, showcasing the determination of a confident songwriter unafraid of expanding her horizons. The earthy sounds of Naess's soft crystalline vocals are as well-suited to a pulsing drum machine as they are to an acoustic guitar; the change-up between more organic tracks like "Sunny Sunday" and the programmed sounds of "All The Stars" allows time for each track to breathe, rather than forcing the album to project a catch-all theme. Admittedly, the songs on I Tried don't stray too far from the topic of love (both lost and found), but no matter; profound social commentary is not what listeners should be looking for on this sweet — but not saccharine — album's solid pop base. Here, the intrigue lies in the wistful honesty of Naess's Alanis-sans-angst compositions. You'll be singing (if not rocking) along before you know it. — Lisa Hageman

PAUL OAKENFOLD SIGNS WITH MAVERICK

DJ Paul Oakenfold has signed with Maverick Recording Co., reportedly choosing Madonna's label for its hands-on approach and its understanding of his music.

Paul Oakenfold

"I knew Maverick understood where I was coming from and jived with the kind of audience I'm trying to reach," Oakenfold said of his new home.

"We didn't sign five DJs," Maverick co-partner and CEO Guy Oseary said in a statement, "just the biggest one — and that's Paul Oakenfold."

SYNDICATE LAUNCHES CMJ FROM THE HEART

The Music Syndicate raised more than $7,000 for "The Music Syndicate Fund For Heroes" from its music memorabilia auction, which kicked off the CMJ Music Marathon on Oct. 10. The fund was set up to benefit the families of six New York City firemen from Engine Co. #1, Ladder 24.

Among the items auctioned off were an autographed R.E.M. CD, an autographed AC/DC lithograph, a singing lesson from Mark Eitzel and an autographed Tori Amos lyric book. CMJ's own Bobby Haber gave the highest bid of the night for a Molson jacket autographed by Mike Myers.

The auction is still underway on eBay. To bid on items, log on to www.ebaystores.com/music-syndicatefundforheroes.

BEASTIES AND SYSTEM GIVE BACK

Though the Beastie Boys recently shuttered Grand Royal, the label they founded, due to financial difficulties, the group decided to organize a benefit concert called "New Yorkers Against Violence" at New York City's Hammerstein Ballroom on Oct. 28. All profits raised from the show — which held a $50 admission price — went to the New York Association For New Americans and the New York Women's Foundation.

Such nice boys!

On the bill were the Beasties, the Strokes, B-52s, Cibo Matto, Saul Williams, Rival Schools and Rahat Fateh Ali Khan.

System Of A Down also put its two cents (or more) into the pot by co-headlining the "Pledge Of Allegiance" concert at the Continental Airlines Arena in New Jersey on Oct. 31. All concert proceeds were donated to the American Red Cross Liberty Fund.

Beastie Boys

P. DIDDY NO LONGER A BAD BOY?

According to published reports, Arista Records is currently negotiating with Sean "P. Diddy" (or "Puffy" or "Puff Daddy") Combs to buy out his stake in Bad Boy Records, the label he founded. Bad Boy is currently operated as a joint venture with Arista.

Per the terms of the deal, Arista would pay Combs $20 million outright and additional sums to ultimately strip Mr. Diddy of his responsibilities at his label. Arista would then gain control of all Bad Boy's assets, copyrights, back catalog and artists.

When the Puffed One is pushed out, it's a bad day for hip-pop.

JUST A BITE...

Pressplay, Universal and Sony's soon-to-be launched subscription-based online music service recently entered into licensing deals with six independent labels: Madacy, Navarre, OWIE, Razor & Tie, Roadrunner and Rounder. The move makes music from the likes of Marshall Crenshaw, Alison Krauss, Graham Parker, Jonathan Richman, the Damned, Dead Kennedys, Misfits, Nickelback, Sepultura, Slipknot, Buckwheat Zydeco and 101 Strings available to Pressplay subscribers. • The Psychedelic Furs and Echo And The Bunnymen will kick off an 18-city U.S. tour on Nov. 15 in Atlanta. Both '80s stalwarts are touring in support of their new albums (Echo's Flowers and the Furs' first-ever live album, Beautiful Chaos). The tour will wrap Dec. 9 in Vegas. • Rhino Records will release a 21-track compilation entitled The Best Of Morrissey on Nov. 6. The album includes the ex-Smiths frontman's song "Lost," which has never been released commercially in the U.S.

THE BITCH IS BACK

The feisty Shelby Lynne returns with Love, Shelby, the follow-up to the album that won her a Grammy for Best New Artist in 2000. By Tad Hendrickson

A cold for most people is a cold: they get that sick, coughing, sneezing, runny nose, feverish feeling. With soulful country thrush Shelby Lynne, however, the ramifications of the sniffles are much deeper. “I can’t stand it,” a nasal-sounding Lynne says on the phone from her home in Palm Springs, California. “I can’t stand it because I can’t hear myself sing. I’ve been working pretty hard getting ready for the record to be out. You try and keep your shit together, but sometimes your body just says, ‘Hey, I’m tired, bitch. Sit down for a while.’”

Unfortunately, sitting down and getting some rest isn’t in the cards for Lynne at this point in her career. “I think my life is over until the end of the year,” she says with a chuckle. Three days after her conversation with CMJ, she was onstage at New York’s Radio City Music Hall for a John Lennon tribute, which had morphed into a benefit for the families of the rescue workers who died during the Sept. 11 tragedy. She spent the rest of October on tour in Europe and the rest of the year will be filled with tour dates in support of the Nov. 13 domestic release of her seventh album, Love, Shelby (Island-IDJMG).

Fans of Lynne’s critically praised last effort, I Am Shelby Lynne, will be happy to hear that the singer has continued to distance herself from her earlier Nashville roots, but Love, Shelby is hardly a repeat of last year’s effort. “I like moving on,” she points out. The proof is in the marked differences between her last few records, glimpsed in the swing and jazz influences on 1993’s Temptation and 1995’s Restless, and the classic blue-eyed soul and ’60s pop of I Am.

Now with super-producer Glen Ballard manning the board on Love, Shelby, Lynne’s music has a more contemporary pop sound, one that could easily share radio space with the likes of Natalie Merchant, Fiona Apple or Tori Amos.

“My goal was not to make a commercial record, really, but to have a chance for it to be out there,” Lynne says. “The last record I made for myself. I didn’t give a damn if 10 people bought it. I just loved it. I wanted to prove to myself that I could write songs. The production was great, but not as accessible to the general public. Glen is powerful, not only as a musician, but he knows how to get a record heard.” Plenty of people have heard Ballard’s production, most notably on Alanis Morissette’s Jagged Little Pill.

While the album promises something new from Lynne, she guarantees that she’ll keep her live shows up to her same exacting standards. While onstage, Lynne marshals her band through its paces, getting as much from them as she gives. “Hell, I don’t expect them to play everything just like the record,” Lynne admits. “I always say give me something as good or better. Other than that, they are left to their own judgment. They can do whatever they want as long as it’s right and it moves me.”

Lynne herself is up there belting out the songs, hitting all the notes like the professional she is, and it’s here that fans truly see the undiluted bitch on wheels. If she thinks the audience is up for it, she’ll jump off the stage and take it to the people, with only her microphone cable as her lifeline as she storms through the crowd. “I love doing [live shows],” she says. “Even back in the Nashville days; I’ve always been a live freak. I’ve always been crazy on stage. That’s because it feels good.”

It’s truly a sight to see this blonde fireball running through the crowd and working it into a lather, but the true showstopper of Lynne’s last New York performance was her cover of John Lennon’s “Mother.” Unlike the more even-keeled version on her new album, the live version is much closer to the original. A form of primal scream therapy for Lennon, “Mother” urges Lynne to dig to the bottom of her big voice, screaming like a banshee at the end of each line. “That one I love because it’s so in your fucking face,” she explains.

It’s also a spine-chilling example of just how powerful a set of pipes Lynne possesses, and proof of her willingness to push herself to emotional extremes for her audience. “These last two records I listened to a lot — I’m proud of them,” she says, revealing some of the abundant confidence that has helped her move down the dusty road of country music to the timeless pop of her recent work. “I’ll get a little drunk and say, ‘God, that’s great!’ [Laughs] Shit, that’s pretty damn good music. And my friends will say, ‘Yeah, that’s right,’ because they just want to kiss my ass.” After a brief pause, she adds, “No, not really.”

People may line up for the honor of kissing her ass, but it doesn’t take long to realize that Lynne is one who will never suffer fools, kissing or otherwise. What’s not to love, Shelby? NMR

BAD RONALD

Bad Ronald (Reprise)

Warning: when listening to this record, beer may actually ooze from your speakers. In the grand tradition of frat-friendly hip-hop, eternal bacchanalian Bad Ronald delivers the proverbial fat sack — as ribald tales of drinking, drugging and doing the nasty are a virtual call to arms on the New York City quartet's debut. The band packs each sonic bowl with enough funk-lite beats, bubbly guitars and house party chant-alongs to give Bad Ronald the distinct feel of Sugar Ray being bitch-slapped by Too Short. Granted, "Light the weed/ Tap the keg/ Shoot the shit/ Now let's begin" makes Afroman sound like a poet laureate, but Bad Ronald's taut, tricky grooves are akin to the sex-crazed little brothers of Fun Lovin' Criminals. Whether displaying the sexual subtlety of Luther Campbell ("I need huge boobs on the daily in my face," White Owl duly notes on the dubiously titled "I Need Love") or simply juvenile (the playground taunting in the I-fucked-your-mom saga "Popcorn Titties"), Bad Ronald is the ideal soundtrack for some collegiate hedonism, bro. — Christopher R. Weingarten

CALL AND RESPONSE

Call And Response

(Emperor Norton-Kindercore)

When Call And Response first issued its bubbly self-titled album earlier this year, the group may as well have included a disclaimer that read, "We'll be comin' back this way again, baby." The San Francisco quintet's optimistic harmonics owe a lot to the soothing lite-rock classics of Karen and David Carpenter, injecting its retro-pop bubble-bath with spoonfuls of springy "aaaah"s and silky afternoon delights. Now Call And Response is set to sail into the hearts of pop lovers, as its record has been repackaged with two new songs and four loving remixes by Air producer Mickey Petralia. Strap on your rollerskates and headphones; this is a trip through yesterday's suburban cul-de-sacs. "All Night Long" has the same euphoric strain as Madness's "Our House," and sure enough, the band gets props in the tune's sugary first verse. Jolly midtempo numbers like "Rollerskate" and "California Floating In Space" (both retouched by Petralia) soar with vintage harmonies and on-top-of-the-world choruses. By the time you get to the ABBA-esque "Lightbulb," you'll have a contact high from CAR's tireless songcraft. — Kristy Martin

COURT AND SPARK

Bless You

(Absolutely Kosher)

Bless You, Court And Spark's sophomore effort, blends the high lonesome road of country twang with the pop dreaminess of a San Francisco sunrise. As musically accomplished as young gun Ryan Adams or the revered Wilco, this Bay Area band adds fresh meaning to the over-inflated alt-country tag. Songs like "Rooster Mountain" and "Fade Out To Little Arrow" combine muted horns, feathery strains of lap steel and warm harmonies into pretty, slow-burning odes and crackling hymns too elegant to bounce along like a hayride. Over splinters of psychedelic guitar and piano, singer MC Taylor's seasoned drawl and Wendy Allen's sweetened vocals mesh as perfectly as bread and wine. Even The Byrds' Gene Parsons makes several guest appearances, spreading silky mandolin and acoustic B-string melodies. Sonically adventuresome, with hums of reverb and percussive blips pressed against its bleary-eyed Americana landscape, Bless You echoes the tipsy modern aesthetic of Taylor's words: "I'm on the road, and I'm not looking back, and I'm wasted."

GODFLESH

Hymns

(Music For Nations-Koch)

Listening to Godflesh's Hymns, it's pretty obvious that Justin Broadrick and co. want no truck with so-called nü-metal: Hymns continues Godflesh's relentless, industrial sludge-propelled march, making zero concessions to current metal conventions. Broadrick delivers crushing, plodding riffs of Melvinic proportions, supported by a raw industrial rhythm section devoid of cheesy acid sequences, rapping, face paint and gas masks. In fact, listening to Godflesh is like listening to what nü-metal could be like if it were good; see "Deaf, Dumb And Blind," which takes detuned discordant riffs back from Korn and mixes them with Fear Factory-style screaming and a pattern of real and canned beats. Hymns is a little easier to swallow than some Godflesh discs; the drums still smack you upside your head, but they're no longer trying to drill directly through it. It also contains a few melodic surprises — especially on the hidden track, which boasts clean guitars and a hummable vocal melody. Of course, in true Godflesh fashion, you have to go through a 70-minute beatdown to get to it. — Tom Mallon

DANIEL JOHNSTON

Rejected Unknown (Gammon)

It's no secret that Daniel Johnston's world spins on a slightly different axis. Since 1980, the Austin-based singer/songwriter has recorded nearly 20 albums of painfully honest guitar pop colored by stream-of-consciousness lyrics, stratospheric falsetto and severe manic depression. The resulting catalog is at times infuriating, often touching and progressively brilliant. Now, touting a newly medicated balance and a rejuvenated creative drive, Johnston returns with his most enjoyable album to date. Rejected Unknown, an alternately joyful and melancholy affair, is classic Johnston with an increased clarity. But while the winning folk-rock tones of "Impossible Love" kick things off to a centered, radio-friendly start, Johnston remains delightfully awkward throughout, his delicate voice wavering over gorgeous melodies, supported by a backing band that champions his every voice with style and grace. Whether he's dejectedly crooning through a late-night fog ("Dream Scream"), or rocking the stadium walls to the pre-recorded cheers of a billion fans ("Billions/Rock"), he'll suck you into his world, if only for an hour.

KITTIE

Oracle (Artemis)

A lot of people probably expected Kittie to be a one-trick pony. Girls 'n' guitars can be as gimmicky to some as Insane Clown Posse's makeup and Faygo shenanigans; it doesn't take a neurosurgeon to figure out that the image can often overshadow the music. Nevertheless, the cats sold over 500,000 records before they even hit their 18th birthdays. On Kittie's sophomore effort Oracle, Canada's most bitter teenagers flip their middle fingers to gimmickry (they've also said sayonara to guitarist Fallon Bowman and replaced her with a 28-year-old guitar tech) and instead concentrate on bringing the noise. While Kittie's debut, Spit, had some melodic touches, Oracle completely shuns cosmetic redemption in favor of all that is hideous. Morgan Lander has come into her own as a formidable frontwoman, flaring her nostrils and growling like a woman possessed; not since Linda Blair has a girl gone this effectively mad. Lander is backed by Oracle's pounding, simplistic and savage riffs, namely on "What I've Always Wanted," "Mouthful Of Poison" and "Pain." Oh, to be 18 again...

FEMI KUTI

Fight To Win (Barclay-MCA)

Femi Kuti can't waste any time worrying about living in the shadow of his late father Fela, the king of Afrobeat — this musical prince has some bigger concerns on his mind: namely, Africa. No-nonsense message songs like "Fight AIDS" dominate Fight To Win, addressing the problems in his native Nigeria (and modern Africa in general). As Femi and guest star Mos Def cry for strong leadership on "Do Your Best," Femi emerges as a leader of the new Afrobeat, weaving hip-hop fundamentals and philosophy amid the sax attack of the tune's slinky Afro-jazz base. New soul priestess Jaguar Wright helps keep the message going on the title track, one of the best mixes of Afrobeat and soul yet from Femi.

Hearing Femi's Afrobeat horn attack in the midst of these new forms shows he's able to spread both message and legend with a keen innovation. Common's appearance on "Missing Link" mixes the potent sounds of Africa and America for a compelling, er, uncommon groove.

BILLY MAHONIE

What Becomes Before (Southern)

Twenty-first century instrumental rock need not be post-anything — it can just be. So don't go reading into the fact that London's Billy Mahonie started out as a three-bass behemoth, playing funny time signatures.

All this quartet does is get fierce with the power-chords in the way the gods of yore once did, and when Ian Watson's trumpet joins the proceedings — on the thoughtful opening "Fishing With A Man For A Shark" and the thumping "Terylene" — it does so in a jazzy rock fashion unrelated to fusion. And therein lies the rub of What Becomes Before, the group's second full-length: they're just too great a rock band to be involved in the pop-bookworm discourse that most current instrumental ensembles partake in as they fall over themselves to cite obscure German rock bands. Scan over the album's song titles and, sure, their student leanings leap out. But it must say something that a song they called "Dusseldorf" is a great ol' rip-off of Zep's "Trampled Under Foot." — Piotr Orlov

MINUS THE BEAR

This Is What I Know About Being Gigantic (EP)
(Suicide Squeeze)

Whatever, uh, vitamins the guys in Minus The Bear are taking for inspiration, it's gotta be shared with the masses. An articulate ensemble comprised of members of Botch, Kill Sadie and Sharks Keep Moving, Minus The Bear's capillary-busting compositions are tireless, inspiring all those who may be soured on bands whose answer to creative slumps is hastily throwing in a ProTools 101 sequence. Singer/guitarist Jake Snider has a steady, reliable indie-rock voice, but he knows when to sharpen it into just-short-of-emo barbs, while the remainder of the five-piece work themselves into a lather, aiming to surprise the listener with engaging, unpredictable fret-work, drop-dead bridges and storms of blue-collar guitar fuzz. "Let's get the fuck out of here," Snider beckons on opener "Hey, Wanna Throw Up?" He's got that right; for the next 25 minutes, you'll be escorted heavenward up by a skittering, don't-fuck-with-us rhythm section and MTB's compressed computer blues. Gigantic and impressivissive.

STRATFORD 4

The Revolt Against Tired Noises (Jetset)

The Stratford 4 isn't from England or anywhere in the vicinity. In fact, the group's hometown couldn't fall much further from the nation across the pond. Born of the same musical union that bore its neighbors, Black Rebel Motorcycle Club. The Revolt Against Tired Noises marks the debut of the San Francisco quartet. Familiar yet unique, Stratford 4 wears its influences on its collective sleeve, but manages to weave them together into something entirely their own. My Bloody Valentine fans who've been lamenting Kevin Shields's descent into obscurity will sink their teeth into Jake Hosek's feedback-and-reverb heavy guitar, while Yo La Tengo devotees will appreciate the quirky symphonics that emit from the album's eight songs. Two tracks in ("Hydroplane"), you may find yourself double-checking the sleeve to see that this isn't a side project of long-defunct space-pop outfit Ride. Though it's in many ways a trip through familiar territory, The Revolt dares to dream of the future, rerouting what some call tired noises into sheer sonic delight.

TRIANGLE

* (File-13)

The quirky couple that makes up the St. Paul, Minnesota-based duo Triangle chose a very apropos bandname; you won't find a single smooth edge or rounded movement on *, the band's debut longplayer. Rather, Amanda Warner and Brian Tester traffic in kicky laptop-pop that sounds like the twisted spawn of Talking Heads and Mouse On Mars paired with touches of the boy-girl vocal interplay of pared-down bands like Quasi. You can't help but feel like you're trapped in the techno-rock freakout scene in Revenge Of The Nerds when listening to "Two Claps," but that can be a very comfortable place to inhabit if you're easily wooed by jerking bleeps and knocking bass thumps. The Triangle kids can get sexy when they want to, too, as noted on "Ways And Means," which smacks of a tripped-out slow-jam locked underwater.

The 10 tracks on * are hook-filled 'puter jams to get goofy by; illicit substances are optional, but whippets unavoidably come to mind.

SAUL WILLIAMS

Amethyst Rock Star
(American-IDJMG)

On Amethyst Rock Star, poet/actor/philosopher Saul Williams has carried spoken word out of its dark, smoky lounge cliché and placed it in a boxing ring. To use the word "songs" for the 11 tracks on this album is to trivialize them. Amethyst Rock Star houses a batch of "in-your-face" diatribes in which the highly gifted Williams lands ideological uppercuts intended to knock listeners on their asses. The performer has obviously grown up listening to hip-hop (he sprinkles his works with classic MC lyricisms), and shows great respect for an art form that has changed from the socio-political commentary of the early '80s to the Versace/Gucci brags of the late '90s. Williams fully intends to bring hip-hop back to what it once was. To quote the wordsmith himself: "Our music is our alchemy." Musically, he has chosen aggressive beats and heavy basslines to compliment his punched lyrical attack; such tracks are somewhat dark and very dense, opening space for a lyricist who knows and appreciates the power of words. — Lisa Hageman

CMJ MUSIC MARATHON 2001 RECAP

Lots went on at CMJ 2001 besides drinking, partying and staying out late. A quick recap: on Wednesday night, Align, Step Kings and Dog Fashion Disco did a whirl around the Continental. DFD frontman Todd Smith performed in clown makeup complete with a big rubber nose. Scary, like, for real. Clowns eat people in their sleep, don't you know this? The Syndicate hosted a party/show at Downtime all night, with the proceeds of a $5 donation going directly to the relief effort. Little T, Cropduster and Rustic Overtones provided the sonic entertainment, as did WSUW's Andy King. The Syn was raffling off signed music memorabilia. On Thursday, Now Or Never Records showcased its fine roster of acts, including The Postman Syndrome, All Else Failed, Diecast and Dillinger Escape Plan, which debuted its new singer. Replacing Dimitri Minakakis is none other than Baltimore's Greg Puciato, who is built like a brick shithouse, stacked like pancakes — his pecs could crush your skull like a peanut. But as for what really matters, he fits the DEP sound. I thought Dimitri had left to pursue other interests and to allow DEP to fit a more versatile singer into its incomprehensible metalcore, but Puciato sounds very similar. Hats off to DEP for the cover of Billy Idol's "Rebel Yell." Diecast stirred up the most massive of moshpits, performing the new song "One Word" for the first time and closing with its rendition of "Raining Blood." My bruises are still healing. Philly's own All Else Failed was frighteningly technical and Postman Syndrome took a chunk out of my ass with its razor-sharp metal teeth.

Earlier in the day, Munsey Ricci and Skateboard Marketing celebrated 10 years of independent metal radio promotion with a party at Don Hill's. The Munz had the metal crunch of Lollipop Lust Kill (the band wears suits) and Warrior Soul (Yes! Can you believe it?) providing entertainment over sandwiches and brew. I still can't believe Warrior Soul (cited by Roadrunner's Jen Meola and EMI/ex-Revelation A&R kingpin Jason Upright as one of their favorite bands ever) crawled out of the woodwork to drop the '80s metal sound and profound lyrical science. Upright, the only thing missing was you. Cheers to Munsey; here's to another decade of metal radio promo success.

Juliana Theory

On Friday, McGathy's college department threw a get-together/show at CBGB with Homesick For Space (if you like post-Until Your Heart Stops/Beyond Hypothermia Cave In, then you'll have a heart full of love for HFS), which fuses pianos with straightforward indie rock. Interested parties should check out the group's self-titled debut on Brooklyn-based Immigrant Sun Records. Grade also performed, with Kyle Bishop sporting a full on rockabilly greaser 'do, creepers and a Misfits "fiend club" belt.

Grade played some new songs along with "Seamless" and "Triumph And Tragedy" from its classic Under The Radar.

The annual metal listening party at Korova Milk Bar was a total drunken success, while Nora, Scar Culture and Canada's Headstrong boogied at Don Hill's. The emo-punk kids were in full effect at The World later that night. The audience was hooked on any and every thing poppy, punky and emotional, as evidenced by the bodies packing the room during sets by Showoff and Movielife. Thursday has apparently cornered the market, with children singing so loud you couldn't even hear frontman Geoff Rickley. Meanwhile, new Epic signees The Juliana Theory rock way harder live than on record.

Equal Vision packed CBGB to its smoke-tattered rafters on Saturday. From "The Saddest Day" through "Conduit," Converge performed as a four-piece (and will remain as such). Hope Conspiracy, American Nightmare and newbie band Liars Academy were also on the bill. Again, EVR shows us why it's such a respected hardcore label.

ARTIST NEWS

Wes Borland, often cited as the most talented member of Limp Bizkit, has left the band to pursue other musical interests. The guitarist is reportedly working on a new band with his brother, Scott Borland, and long-ago Limp producer Ross Robinson is on board to work with this new project, which isn't going to be a joke side project like Big Dumb Face. • WKDU/Philadelphia metal director Metal Steve recently forked over a copy of his band Trap's disc The Circle And The Light. It's definitely the kind of eclectic metalcore that Now Or Never Records or Relapse would put out. Metal Steve's versatile voice dominates The Circle And The Light, going from Bloodlet-like growls to some pretty, melodic singing and even "emo parts." It's almost like a less sludgy version of eyehategod. Definitely some thought going on behind songs like "Revere The Frost" and "Forsaken." There are five guys in the band and four are named "Matt." Funny! •

Godhead drummer James O'Connor has left the band.

INDUSTRY NEWS

Rockin' for J.C. is payin' off big time: P.O.D.'s Satellite (Atlantic) has been certified platinum. • On the WSOU format front, university administration has brought in consultants to help the station managers and students pick and develop a new, albeit non-metal, format based on local and on-campus surveys. The admin still insists that a new format must be in place by Jan. 2, 2002. I still say metal is being discriminated against in this case. Suppose the results of the outreach research indicate that campus-based students and surrounding area listeners want gangsta rap? Don't some of those lyrics preach hate against human beings, too? Just some food for thought.

CRUCIAL SPINS UPDATE

A couple of stations have not reported to me in a few weeks, so I have temporarily placed their Crucial Spins reporting status on hiatus. Don't fret — it can be restored once the Loud Rock director gets in touch with me. KRBR/Duluth, MN, KRVS/Lafayette, LA, and WVKR/Poughkeepsie, NY are lingering in CS purgatory. If you are one of the metal HNIC's of those stations and reading this, hit me at amys@cmj.com. In other CS news, I've heard that WMFS/Memphis, TN has flipped formats and that the "16 Songs" specialty show is no longer.

RECORDS NOT BEING WORKED TO RADIO THAT YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT

Medium Terra Firma (STW): Aw yeah! Crank this bitch up if y'all dig race-car rock in the vein of Unida, Soil and Speeddealer. Medium isn't for the toothless beer-swilling types like some dirty rock can be, but Terra Firma sure as hell smolders like a flaming chunk of stoner rockismo whose sole goal is to let rock 'n' roll be the house music in bars across America. Terra Firma doesn't overdo it with too many low-end, rumbling solos, making the ones it does employ that much more effective. Medium's drummer is Derek Kerswill, who's also filling in on skins for the mighty Shadows Fall. Thumbs up to the title track and "Medulla Ob Lon Ga Ta." I haven't stopped banging my head to those tunes since I got this addictive little gem of rawk in my grubby little mitts. Those bastards!

The Locust Flight Of The Wounded Locust (Gold Standard Laboratories): The Locust grinds more than your grandmother gnashes her already brittle teeth in her sleep. If you miss Brutal Truth, then the Locust is a good, effective replacement and its Flight Of The Wounded Locust is too fast • too fast for love.

ENDICOTT The Cascade (self-released): I've heard these guys are the hottest thing in Albany, New York hardcore right now, according to my well-informed sources. For an independently issued album, the artwork is beautiful and the music doesn't suck! It's actually progressive metalcore that the Ferret, Euology or Uprising labels would salivate like Pavlovian dogs over. Spotlights include Poison The Well-style "sweet emo" parts, the harmonics of Snapcase and Glassjaw and Bane-like vocals and breakdowns; check out "Fair-weather Tirade," a special song indeed. ## OZZY OSBOURNE

Down To Earth (Epic)

Many a music critic abuses and misuses the term “legend,” often applying the word to a band that is working on its second record in its career, for chrissakes. But in the case of Ozzy Osbourne, that class act with the cockney accent, legend is the only befitting term. Ozzy is not the godfather of metal; he is the direct parent, the hands-on poppa whose Black Sabbath sired the genre, and the one who stuck around to foster, nurture and raise his children, those up-and-coming acts that appear on the Ozzfest — which, by the way, began because major summer tour planners wanted no part of Ozzy due to questions about his cool factor. Now look at the hugely successful tour. Lest we forget that Ozzy himself has a pretty awesome solo career, he and his No. 1 axe slinger, Zakk Wylde, reunite on Down To Earth. The first single “Gets Me Through” is a kicker, with Wylde’s lumberjack riffs and the Ozzman’s signature adenoidal pipes, and it finds Oz playing a lyrical joke, noting “I am not the anti-Christ / Or the Iron Man.” The rest of the album, including the ballad-y “Dreamer,” is classic, bite-the-head-off-the-dove Ozzy.

KITTIE

Oracle (Artemis)

Fred Durst pogos up and down and asks his followers to “Gimme something to break.” Kittie, meanwhile, doesn’t jump or throw shit. The group’s members instead prefer to clobber away at their instruments in order to achieve catharsis. The last two years have been a whirlwind for Kittie, which saw the release of Spit, a world tour, Spit going gold, a namecheck of Emperor, Mayhem and Nile on MTV, and the departure of guitarist Fallon Bowman — all before the age of 18. And while no one can accuse metal’s answer to Josie And The Pussycats of being too complex, you cannot deny that these girls are angrier than a split-hooved beast and louder than an atom bomb. On Oracle, the ladies have not gone to charm school since their debut; in fact, they’ve stepped the rage up a few thousand knots. Adhering to the same keep-it-simple-and-savage credo as Hatebreed, the sisters Lander don’t care about sounding pretty or reeling you in with memorable hooks. Oracle’s choppy, nihilistic riffs and Morgan Lander’s ability to go from barbaric death metal howls to pretty melodies has put her in the same league as the incomparable Karyn Crisis. Oracle wants to be ugly and bitter, and so will you with “Mouthful Of Poison,” “Severed,” and “What I Always Wanted.”

TESTAMENT

First Strike Still Deadly (Spitfire)

If ain’t thrash metal, it ain’t Testament. First Strike Still Deadly is classic Testament tunes re-recorded with a new millennium sound. Now relax, longhairs, because “dog-faced god” Chuck Billy and his cast of thrash-horts haven’t gone experimenting with the new metal sound, injecting grooves or hip-hop beats. Testament has souped up songs pulled from its arsenal and reinterpreted them using the group’s current members. Crisp production adds to the classic-but-current vibe of First Strike Still Deadly. If you loved Metallica when it was actually metal or just can’t get enough of the progressive-thrash hardcore of Shadows Fall, then First Strike Still Deadly’s versions of “Burnt Offerings,” “Trial By Fire” and “The Haunting” will be the bullets on your belt and the studs on your gauntlet.

SCISSORFIGHT

Mantrapping For Sport And Profit (Tortuga)

Get some Ben-Gay for your neck, because all your tendons and muscles will be sore from banging your head to the pure rock fury on Mantrapping For Sport And Profit. Last time I checked, Scissorfight was fast, coarse metal from New England rednecks with long, grubby beards that could rival those of ZZ Top. On Mantrapping, Scissorfight wants to be a ghetto version of Entombed or a gutterized take on Clutch with its ambush of fuzzed out, rawk ’n’ roll geetars and throaty, chewing-on-sandpaper vocals. Distorted, grainy production, wah-wahs and fancy-schmancy displays of riff-roarin’ prowess abound. Grab a flannel, an axe and, most importantly, an ice-cold Old Milwaukee to chug when spinning “Deliver The Yankee Coffin.”

DEATH

Live In L.A. (Death And Raw) (Nuclear Blast America)

Live albums are sometimes as torturous to listen to as they are to review; it just doesn’t feel right unless you’re actually flush up front, throwin’ horns and getting a bassist’s sweat all over you, feeling the instrument’s vibrations in the same room. Fortunately for the metallurgist, Death’s Live In L.A.

(Death And Raw) doesn’t fall prey to such concerns. Recorded at The Whisky A Go-Go, the thrash-and-death mixture found on “Spirit Crusher,” “Suicide Machine,” Scream Bloody Gore’s “Zombie Ritual” and “Zero Tolerance” come across clear as a bell, while Chuck Schuldiner’s bewitching vocals provide a staunch anchor. Schuldiner is currently battling (and thankfully surviving) inoperable brain cancer and strangely, none of the proceeds of this album are going to benefit his enormously expensive therapy. There will be another live Death album and DVD — both of which will directly benefit Schuldiner — later this year.

CHARLES WEBSTER

Born On The 24th Of July (Stratra)

A note to those who've looked toward music for a sense of grounding, clarity and warmth in the wake of recent world events: do not sleep on Charles Webster's Born On The 24th Of July. Webster, an Englishman best known as the producer behind the lush house-minded Presence and Furry Phreaks, has sewn together a beautifully ambient soul quilt here, with vocals by male and female collaborators (including sometime Massive Attack singer Sara Jay). Webster's lyrics do not necessarily touch upon politics or societal matters, but the resulting stately mix of acoustic instruments and synthetic textures clearly expresses the trials and tribulations of the times. Only as part of the jazzy Herbert-esque vibe of "Fox Soup" and behind the grand piano chords of "I Understand You" do the house beats perk up, but even there the mood is less celebratory, more melancholy and cerebral. If you're looking to shake the irreverent "it" in order to forget the crises, look elsewhere. But if ambient reflections of the now are what you seek, there are few albums out there as hopeful and soothing as 24th Of July.

SANDRA COLLINS

Cream (Cream-Kinetic)

The queen of the American trance massive returns with yet another mega-beats brand name behind her. Having gone from leading West Coast light to superstar DJ status on the strength of her Tranceport Vol. 3 mix, Sandra Collins now spills the Cream for the U.K. nightlife stylists of the same name, those masterminds of the Creamfields festivals and of huge parties on just about every continent. When dealing with in such a blockbuster context, there is rarely need for understatement. Thus, Collins keeps the BPMs charged and loud, and the tracks that veer off the beaten path into drum-happy tribalism (Markus Schulz's mix of Carissa Mondavi's folk vocal "Solid Ground") and jazz samples (the Main Union mix of Maurice And Nobles' "Faith Delivers" featuring Jane Hadley) are the ones that move the fiercest.

LALI PUNA

Scary World Theory (Morr Music)

Berlin's Morr Music has spent the last couple of years directing transmissions between the planet IDM and the pop star, with uniformly magnificent results. Lali Puna, which features vocalist Valerie Trebeljahr and sometime Notwist-er Markus Acher, is Morr's in-house pop band, and its sophomore turn Scary World Theory is the kind of perfect electronic pop album that falls magically into your hands and makes sense in pretty much every context it could possibly appeal to. Chill-out rooms, mixed tapes, mix beats shows, even geeky dance floors — all could use some of this analog-meets-laptop joy. A reminder that musical magic still happens.

Even though CMJ rescheduled largely all of its Music Marathon events from scratch after the terrorist war forced the event's postponement, the Latin alternative presence at Marathon 2001 still managed to be impressive. With the entire music industry in flux and its Latin music arm still feeling the aftershocks of the cancellation of the second Latin Grammy awards, many of us were prepared for a low-key experience, especially given the more pressing matters upon us.

Ñ Alternative enjoyed its peak moment when Zurdok performed an electrifying 10-song set from Hombre Sintetizador and Maquillaje during a day of panels and performances aimed at college radio programmers (who at times seemed open to the idea of considering deviating from its standard college rock fare). Local tropi-pop band Grupo Fiesta, heavy metal outfit M-16 and Los Amigos Invisibles also appeared at various venues around town. With an excellent group of panelists for the Latin alt roundtable, and programmers such as WRAS's Betty Arbolea and WBAI's Aron Alvarez, we had a better showing than last year. Also in from out of town were Universal Latino's Elena Rodrigo, who brought Zurdok, D. Baron Media's Vicky Cabildo, who graciously filled in as a panelist after two others dropped out, and Cookman International's Chelina Vargas. Big thanks as well to locals Brian Long from MCA, Jose Bonilla from Virgin and Josh Norek of JN Media.

A major setback, though, was the cancellation of the SGAE-sponsored Enrique Bunbury/Jumbo concert the same day of the scheduled performance. The promoter hadn't provided the proper production equipment for the show, revealing this only hours before the scheduled event.

LUCYBELL

Amanece (WEA Latina) Originally released in Latin America last year at about the same time that Kid A was unleashed in North America, Amanece is Lucybell's come-down from the spacey, post-rock adventures of its 1998 Red Album. On this already year-old record, the Chilean trio — drummer/programmer Francisco Gonzalez, singer/guitarist Claudio Valenzuela and bassist Eduardo Caces — finds a compromise between its electronic freakout tendencies and its big, arena rock sound. Naming itself after Cocteau Twins singer Liz Frasier's daughter, Lucybell started out more than a decade ago with futuristic, British-styled rock. On Amanece, "Mi Corazon," Valenzuela's mock-operatic vocals (think of a deeper voiced Freddie Mercury) and dreamy, bell-like guitar-strumming recalls the group's primary influence. Gonzalez's fascination with the 303 meshed with live drum work often enter the pulsating, dark atmospherics of trip-hop ("Siglos"). After back-to-back experimental albums by Radiohead, the minimalist electronic meditation in the hidden track seems tame in comparison, but in the context of when it was made, perhaps Lucybell will find more acceptance for its own experimentation and continue to push the envelope for accessible Spanish-language rock.

T.O.K.

My Crew, My Dawgs (VP)

Jamaica's T.O.K. has already had some success on urban radio, and it's easy to understand why; more than anyone before, the group has fused dancehall with hip-hop and R&B. There's certainly nothing wrong with that, especially when the results include "Man Ah Bad Man," the party-style "Money 2 Burn" and, above all, the excellent "Chi-Chi Man," which has been burning up T.O.K.'s homeland all summer with its Christmas carol-like melody and neo-operatic arrangement. The band shows its Boyz II Men roots on a ragged snippet of "The Way U Do The Things You Do," and Prince's influence is all over "Eagles Cry," which sounds inspired by the Purple One's "When Doves Cry." These boys have got it going on, and on the basis of this, they should be voted Most Likely To Succeed.

MABULU

Soul Marrabenta

(Riverboat-World Music Network)

Over the last year, there's been quite a bit of new and old Mozambican music finding release, but nothing excited the people like Mabulu's debut, Karimbo. Now Mabulu is back with a sophomore effort, and it's obvious the group has gelled into a powerful unit. The two grand old men of marrabenta (a Mozambique rhythm) provide the traditional base, to which a bunch of younger musicians bring influences ranging from South African jive to hip-hop and R&B. Mixing the mélange of African and American approaches works perfectly well, whether on the bubbly "Bula Bula" or the slow-building closer "AIDS (But Hope)." There's soul to spare here, some strong voices and a real sense of connecting the dots between past and future, done with purpose and without compromise.

Nt hasn't been a good week for fans of world music.

First of all, the publishers of Songlines announced they're pulling the plug on the ailing British magazine. The current issue, which appeared this month, will reportedly be the last. Perhaps more ominously, CNN has permanently cut the show World Beat from its schedule. In connection with Time magazine's special "Music Goes Global" issue, World Beat had been planning a series of shows, including one titled "Arabic Music: The Next Big Thing." According to the show's senior producer, Neil Curry, it's been dropped so the news network can devote "its resources to the most important story of the day." The four-person World Beat production team has left CNN and is looking for another network to take the show... The 12th International Bluegrass Music Awards, held last month in Louisville, brought more honors for the platinum soundtrack to O Brother, Where Art Thou? when it was named Album Of The Year. Singer/mandolin player Rhonda Vincent walked away with three awards, while the seminal Carter Family was inducted into the Bluegrass Hall of Honor • Malian songbird Oumou Sangaré has been given the 2001 International Music Council/UNESCO Music prize. The award will be presented Nov. 18 in Aachen, Germany... Legendary Malagasy flute player Rakoto Frah, whose portrait still appears on the country's bank notes, died on Sept. 28 at age 80. He had been scheduled to appear in Paris in early November at a big Malagasy music festival.

Jazz At Lincoln Center has announced that its Jazz From Lincoln Center radio show's 10th season will be a "Super Season." In this case, "super" means "best of" programming, with the huge jazz organization and its syndicated show rebroadcasting several of the best J@LC concerts over the last decade. Highlights include tributes to Louis Armstrong, Jelly Roll Morton and King Oliver, a rare Joe Henderson Big Band performance, and programs featuring the music of Wayne Shorter, Betty Carter, Billy Higgins, and a magical set of Thelonious Monk songs from Steve Lacy and Mal Waldron. Broadcast on NPR affiliates, the season began in October with the Henderson Big Band and runs through January 2002, closing with the Lacy and Waldron performance • Watch for the new jack organ trio Soulive to do a two-week tour in the Northeast this month. HENRY THREADGILL

Everybody's Mouth's A Book (Pi)

HENRY THREADGILL'S ZOOID
Upped Popped The Two Lips (Pi)

It's an auspicious occasion when saxophonist/flutist Henry Threadgill puts out a record, and this double-dip gives much reason to celebrate. Threadgill came up through the AACM in the late '60s, then recorded as part of legendary democratic trio Air in the '70s before subsequently leading Sextett and Very Very Circus, and now, Make A Move and Zooid. Everybody's Mouth's A Book (spotlighting Make A Move) features electric bass and guitar, vibraphone, drums and the leader. Electric this band may be, but while chewing on Threadgill's typically slippery compositions, with their odd twists and awkward melodies, the sound is timeless. Threadgill's alto playing is almost coy at times, implying almost as much by what he leaves out as by what he adds in with his horn, which has a wide vibrato and hard tone. His flute work is more haunting and pretty, with a linear trajectory that supports some downright accessible melodies. On Upped Popped The Two Lips, Threadgill's Zooid — making its recording debut — trades electric instruments for acoustic guitar, tuba, oud and cello (Zooid drummer Dafnis Prieto appears on both Threadgill efforts). Not your typical avant-garde jazz lineup, the sound has an almost traditional marching band or even carnival feel once the tuba and flute enter the mix. The new band does extremely well on these tangled compositions, with Liberty Ellman shining on acoustic guitar. Providing two very different looks from a great jazz player, these two releases won't leave you disappointed; the newly launched Pi is definitely a label worth watching.

How many watts is your station? How many people do you reach?

We run at 1,000 watts with about a 20-mile radius. I like to think that we reach a ton of listeners, 'cause we're the best thing in the area!

What's the station motto/your personal programming philosophy?

Why not Try The Underground? (Get it? WTTU!)

How long have you been MD?

I started this position in November of 2000 and I'll keep doing it for however long they let me. I try to get the DJs involved in what we program for shows and stuff. I tell them to let me know if they find something new out there that we should have and I'll do my best to get it into the station.

What do you do to build your station's audience?

We have a "Welcome Back Students" concert in the fall, so we can get all the young 'uns while they're still fresh and have no idea what is going on in the "real" world. We also do CD giveaways when we have extras.

What was your most successful fundraiser? How much money do you raise on average?

We're still working on a killer fundraiser. I'd say that the most we've earned lately is about $20.20! Can't you just feel our power?

Who are you most proud of bringing by the station?

Personally, I was thrilled to have Mark Olson, Victoria Williams and the rest of the Original Harmony Ridge Creek Dippers up to do an interview for my show — what a talented bunch. Although we've had some great people stop by... I'm always open to bands coming up when they're in the area.

Are you on the air? What kind of show do you do?

I have two shows. One airs Wednesday nights. It's called "Harvest Hoedown" and I've been doing it for three years now. I play Americana, alt-country, bluegrass and whatnot. My other show is "Dead Air" and it's — what else — the Grateful Dead. It's on Thursdays during our campus "Dead Hour" from 11 a.m. to noon.

What's the best promo item you've ever received? The worst?

So far, it's just been a shirt — useful because I can wear it. And the worst, a shirt, because I've got tons of them. If there are any promoters out there looking to really wow someone with something, I'm your gal.

Does your station still play vinyl?

Yes, now if only our DJs could learn how to work the record players.

Why did you go into college radio?

I enjoy music. I grew up with parents who had a vinyl collection that was out of this world and included just about every type of genre that you could think of. However, the free CDs don't hurt.

What's your major?

Art education with an emphasis in clay and fibers; basically a B.F.A. with certification to teach K-12.

If you could see anyone live (dead or living), who would it be and why?

Frank Zappa and Patsy Cline. Both were so original and great at what they do, it would have been amazing to see them.

Are you interested in going into the music industry? Doing what?

Yes... besides being a rock star, I'd like to perhaps work at a label that supports Americana/alt-country music. I really feel that this is a genre that needs to have a closer look, because it's going to take off when people realize how great it is.

Any shoutouts?

Just let everyone out there in label land know that I appreciate how hard they work to give us, the little folks, such quality music!
