ED HARCOURT

Here Be Monsters (Capitol–Heavenly)

Singer/songwriter Ed Harcourt comes to us from the idyllic English countryside, but don't expect to find him arriving via the same boat that brought us pastoral rockers Coldplay and Starsailor. Truth is, it's not really clear how to label Harcourt based on the precocious, varied splendor of Here Be Monsters, a debut album that follows the tasty homemade four-track EP, Maplewood. There's a bit of Dr. Harcourt/Mr. Hyde at work here, as the album undergoes transformations in both tone and style. A batch of piano ballads haunting the album finds Ed channeling the spirits of Chet Baker, Tom Waits and Randy Newman, mixing melancholy, madness and wit into spare arrangements. But Harcourt is no rainy-weather mope; these hushed songs are still vibrant pop songs at the core. The more dynamic songs on the album flaunt Harcourt's melodic charms and restless creativity (he's said to have scratched out a few hundreds songs in the last few years). "Hanging With The Wrong Crowd" will draw those dazzled by Badly Drawn Boy's neo-classic pop, while "Beneath The Heart Of Darkness" writes its own history, packing dark orchestral maneuvers with feedback freakouts for one of the most ambitious and appetizing efforts of the album. — Steve Ciabattani

GOLDEN BOY WITH MISS KITTIN

Or (Emperor Norton)

If Ms. Pac-Man could regain her youth and indulge in that dirty streak we always knew she had in her, Or would be her pick for album of the year. French-Swiss duo Golden Boy and Miss Kittin saddle up squarely beside U.K. contemporaries Ladytron on their debut release, employing a similar mix of flashback futurism and lofty spoken-word vocals, all balanced on a base of old-school video-game boppin' beats, electro-synth grooves and new-wave pop aesthetics. Kittin is enjoying near ubiquity these days, as her recent collaborations with Felix Da Housecat and the Hacker have joined Or on the dancefloor all within the space of a few months. On the album's introduction, she invites the listener to "Relax, and enjoy with us this wonderful journey into the Swiss way of life." That mandate is tough to follow, though, as staying off your feet is unlikely from the moment that opener "Autopilot" hits you with its wave of '60s chic. The mandatory vocoder track appears later ("Campari Soda"), but not before the treat of "Rippin Kittin," the album's strongest, most song-driven track, opens with the ominous inquiry, "Mommy, can I go out and kill tonight?" Hell, Kittin, keep making music like this, and you can do whatever you want.

GOMEZ

In Our Gun (Virgin)

Gomez has always been something of a critics' teddy bear, long holding a non-conformist policy in regard to classification and lacing each release with an element of surprise. Thus, affixing a label is like setting a Hershey bar on a hot rod parked in hell. Just when the quintet appears to be a semi-comfy fit in the Brit-rock shoe, they go barefoot and bloozy, jazzy, jammy — even rave-y. That said, although the title is otherwise inspired (by the presidential election freakshow), Gomez's third album is loaded. In addition to the aforementioned fare, the aptly titled "Shot Shot" is a blast of Blur laced with a Morphine-ism, all honking sax juxtaposed with bumping bass. "Rex Kramer" is a pulse of cool, funk highlighted by Ottewill's rasp (a dead ringer for Widespread Panic's John Bell, especially here and on the lazy day ditty "Miles End"). Final cut "Ballad of Nice and Easy" is a fitting summation to the record and the Gomez ethos, casually asserting whatever works, works. Oh, yeah. — Randy Harward

D:FUSE

People (V2)

Austin beat maverick/producer D:Fuse (a.k.a. Dustin Fuselier) started his mainstay in the Texas musical dance landscape as the drummer for the industrial band Culture Industry in 1992. However, for the past six years he has been spinning his novel blend of progressive house and trance music and is finally on the brink of becoming the next luminary DJ. With fans that include Paul Oakenfold (who offered D:Fuse the opening slot on his last two Perfecto tours) and dance pioneer Steve Levy, 2002 is positioned to be the Year Of Fuse. In fact, reading through D:Fuse's album credits is much like reading a "Who's Who" of upcoming talent in the current international dance scene; he has worked with Ken Hankins (a.k.a. Joy), Mark Horwood, Ryan Maunder, Paul Van Dyk and Scanners. His sweeping double-CD, People, is a 25-track journey that carries the listener through an airy and percussive experience that starts out with the dark "Distorted Horizon," an eerie assembly of low murmurs, moans and plucked melodies over a throbbing house beat. Future plans for D:Fuse include picking up the drumsticks once more and hitting the road with a full band this summer. People is one trip you won't want to miss out on. — Louis Miller

NAPSTER UPDATE

Is Judge Marilyn Hall Patel going soft on Napster? Hardly, but in the copyright infringement case she's presiding over between the online file sharing service and the record labels, Patel has asked the latter to provide proof of ownership for the thousands of songs that were yanked from the peer-to-peer file-swapping service and can now be downloaded on the legal, label-approved (and backed) online subscription services pressplay and MusicNet. Patel is reacting to Napster's claims that the labels are using their copyrights to keep their stranglehold on digital distribution. "These ventures look bad, smell bad and sound bad," Patel remarked about the online subscription services. "If Napster is correct, these plaintiffs are attempting the near monopolization of the digital distribution market." So, what does this mean? Well, if Napster proves that the labels somehow worked together in an attempt to create a digital distribution monopoly (something the Justice Department also started looking into last October), their lengthy copyright infringement suit, brought on by the labels, could be thrown out. But if that happens, Napster still probably wouldn't be out of the legal woods, as the labels would most likely come at the beleaguered song-swap service from a different direction. Said Napster's General Counsel Jonathan Schwartz,

"We're pleased that the court granted Napster's request to examine two critical issues: the record companies' ownership of artists' copyrights and anti-competitive behavior that amounts to misuse of their copyrights." You'll recall that Napster was acquired by Bertelsmann's BMG last year in an attempt to redirect it into a legitimate online subscription service. By the way, if

BECOMING DMCA COMPLIANT

In addition to wondering how they'll be able to afford the newly proposed Copyright

Arbitration Royalty Panel's proposed royalty rates, commercial and non-commercial broadcasters streaming their signals over the Internet (see The Week March 18) will also have to report some 18 pieces of information about every song they play plus a listener log that identifies personal information about each person receiving the transmission. Not to worry, though (provided you'll be able to afford to pay the royalty rate and want to continue streaming), because Multicast Technologies has come up with a way to help make you achieve full compliance with the Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA) as soon as the new regulations take effect, which could happen as early as May 21 — when the U.S. Copyright Office is expected to accept, reject or modify the royalty rates proposal. "Because of our software, and our experience with the DMCA requirements, we can host DMCA webcasts immediately, and our bandwidth charges match anyone in the industry," said Multicast Technologies President Jim Junkala. SLIPPERY WHEN WET

CALL IT WHAT YOU WILL — JOCK-ROCK, SOCCER HOOLIGAN FIELD RECORDINGS OR A BRILLIANTLY UNABASHED ODE TO THE GUITAR — BUT ANDREW W.K.'S I GET WET IS ONE OF 2002'S MOST-HYPED NEW EFFORTS.

Michigan native Andrew W.K. began his musical journey at the tender age of four, when he took flight off the launch pad that was his parents' recommendation — or suggestion, rather — to pursue piano lessons. As an adult, the disheveled frontman hasn't looked back since moving to the Big Apple and playing commando live shows armed only with a mic, a keyboard, and the occasional tape machine to provide a not-so-subtle karaoke effect. Today, Andrew can be found riding high above the rest of the world, eagerly anticipating the stateside release of his debut album, I Get Wet (Mercury-IDJMG). He called CMJ twice during a recent trek through Germany, where he was busy touring and promoting his new record.

Born Andrew W.K. (W.K. is an abbreviated version of his mother's and father's last names) the rocker's songwriting career was piqued by his early classical plunking. "I was playing mostly other composers' works, but of course playing and creating my own songs was what I liked the most," he remembers. "I never had any older brothers, older friends, music video television, anything, to find out about music. Most of my involvement in music and continued interest in music is based on the fact that I liked to play piano and make music."

It wasn't until his teenage years that Andrew started getting into bands and became fascinated with the "Older, scarier, crazier, punk kids in town." After high school, music was going really strong for Andrew, so he decided to move shop to big ol' New York City. "I just wanted to be in a bigger place where things were more threatening, where I didn't know anybody," he explains. "I was in this mindset that once I got to the city I would do whatever it took, play any and every show, always. When I first got there, I really wanted a band badly but couldn't find one. That didn't mean I wasn't going to play shows, though. I would just play shows with a keyboard and me, or I would just make a tape of me playing different parts of the song earlier in the day. Then at show time I would play along with the tape so the music would have more elements to it."

Out of what was primarily a lack of patience to learn chords, Andrew taught himself to play guitar, bass and drums. "Of course I can only play them a certain way, at a certain level, especially when it comes to guitar. I can only play certain special tunings, and then I take off some of the strings so it's easier."

During this time, Andrew had a million different jobs that he would lose, quit or get fired from. "It was never a plan to be playing music and making a living, it was like I was going to be alive and always playing music no matter what," he says. "I would play anywhere, I would go up and down the East Coast, I went to California, and I even went to Belgium."

After four years of performing, writing and recording a record, Andrew's next goal was to find a band, so he could replace his tape-machine routine. Through the help of a friend, Andrew was able to track down one of his favorite drummers, Donald Tardy. "I wrote him a letter and sent him some early songs that I was working on," Andrew recalls. "I asked him to listen and if maybe he would wanna play on the record or even live. I didn't even expect an answer." As it turned out, Donald wrote back and gave the idea a thumbs-up, a move that stunned Andrew.

IT WAS NEVER A PLAN TO BE PLAYING MUSIC AND MAKING A LIVING, IT WAS LIKE I WAS GOING TO BE ALIVE AND ALWAYS PLAYING MUSIC NO MATTER WHAT.

With Don on board, a charged-up Andrew tracked down another friend of a friend, Jimmy Coup, who became the fledgling group's guitarist. "Jimmy turned out to be one of the most exciting and important people I have met in my life," Andrew notes. "I am so thankful to finally have a band." Tardy then pulled in three other guys, and without so much as a meeting or audition, Andrew accepted his word on blind faith; recently, they have added a keyboardist.

The earliest song on the record was written when Andrew was 17, but the basic ideas on it have been in the works for even longer than that. The record was recorded over many months in countless places throughout the U.S. "I wanted to make [the record] sound as fluid as possible... everything I did in terms of size, sound, scope and volume was only to translate how exciting I find life to be. Life is short and I wanna make explosive, exciting music."

Andrew takes the same approach to his live shows. "Last night we played in Paris, and it was just insane," he says. "Young kids, older people, on stage, on my shoulders and stage-diving, totally nuts for one hour. That is what we do; we give everything we have for an hour as though it is the last time we will do it."

"Each day our one true responsibility, all we have to do, is play this for an hour. How much can we possibly give so that by the last second of the last song there is no way we can continue? I don't wanna get better at feeling less tired during a show. I wanna have more endurance so I can give more, and always end up being just as tired, otherwise I feel like I haven't given enough."

That continual striving to improve his music and his performances has proven to be an inspiration to the frontman's fans. "The other night I was talking to this kid, whose name is Arthur — he's probably 12," Andrew notes. "He's in a band and was saying that my music really means a lot to him. He was so excited, but serious, and he was saying his favorite song was "I Get Wet." He couldn't even describe how excited it made him. That is the greatest feeling in the world, to know that that person feels that same beyond-describable feeling that I do when I play that song, and I made it (the track). Y'know?"

And don't for a minute think all of this early adulation has gone to Andrew's head. "I am just so privileged and lucky, so thankful for all this. This is just the beginning of the beginning... somehow the music seems to trust me. I feel like I owe it a lot and am working for it. It's all a big dream." NMR

2 EP (Albertine)

Sometimes, it takes two to make a vision become reality; New York-based singer/songwriters Joe Condiracci and David Leatherwood met through a mutual friend, Eric Schenkman from the Spin Doctors, and have been trading melodies and crafting pretty pop ever since.

Their self-titled debut EP is a lesson in classic harmonies and locked-in guitars, and contains six songs bursting with catchy '80s hooks and gently washed atmospheric. "Like A Train" uses a swirling Brit-pop backbone of synth and moody guitar to mesh with Condiracci and Leatherwood's silky harmonies (it's easy to hear why they name the Posies as an influence), while the peppy "You Mean To Me" dabbles in the hummable ground broken by Modern English's "I'll Melt With You." Three other members, bassist Tom Rickell, drummer Kevin McAdams and keyboardist John Fazio, help boost the dynamic duo's ethos of ethereal tunes, which also include the somewhat heavy but pretty ballad "Angel" and jolly, Barenaked Ladies-ish "Touch."

Still Blazin' (VP)

Capleton is not one to shy away from controversial, pointed lyrics — he was banned from radio airplay at one point — and with Still Blazin', he hits just as hard as before, yet this album is more than his usual diatribes (with the possible exception of "Guerilla Warfare"); it is a nice example of Capleton's musical evolution and broadened horizons. In the style of old-school reggae à la Peter Tosh, Capleton leans more towards the roots reggae/rock steady style than full-on dancehall, while "Search Fi A Find," "Behold," "Hail King Selassie" and "In Your Eyes" find Capleton attempting singjay. "Pure Woman" borrows from Marley's "So Much Trouble"... could this be an attempt at irony? With lots of guest production (and guests like Morgan Heritage, Luciano and Glen Washington), Capleton finds himself experimenting and evolving his sound to complement both organic and synth-ethic elements. It will be exciting to see what this talent will do in the next 10 years of his career, as Still Blazin' makes it obvious he just gets better over time.

JANAH

World That Surrounds You (Rattlesby)

Janah, a six-piece from Atlanta, has tapped into a musical well that's overflowing with enough New World ingredients to make the most stringent neo-hippie listener perk up — while setting aside the Putamayo box set for a moment — and take notice.

Rusted Root fans still whistling the melody to "Send Me On My Way" or Afro-Celt Sound System enthusiasts who have a fetish for the bamboo flute will similarly feel at home here. Janah's sound, stemming from lead vocalist/guitarist Keith Johnston's worldly travels (where he was transfixed by the music and culture of exotic locations like Israel, Egypt and Greece), boasts an array of instrumentation and inspiration that falls outside of the conventional rock band; sitars, mizmars, frame drums, tabla, and yes, bamboo flutes flourish on World That Surrounds You. The result is a pleasing mix of musical worlds smacking together in mellifluous union. It's hard to pull off a sound like this without purists yelling "David Byrne," but Janah manages to forge many of its own aural paths. This debut is as refreshing as it is mildly derivative, but is nonetheless worthy of attention. — Kevin Boyce

JIMMY EAT WORLD

Live At La Scala (DreamWorks)

Despite causing many disgruntled fans to grumble under their breath due to Bleed American (or Jimmy Eat World, as it came to be known post-Sept. 11) having a decidedly more pop sound and TRL appeal, Arizona boys Jimmy Eat World show that they still know what it takes to put on a high-quality rock 'n' roll show. A veritable "best of" disc, Live At La Scala showcases the band's finest work from its full-lengths Clarity and Bleed American, as well as tracks from the Jebediah/Jimmy Eat World split EP and 1998's Jimmy Eat World EP. The band also proves that it can pull off live what producer (and Drive Like Jehu drummer) Mark Trombino has created in the studio. A hushed acoustic rendition of "The Middle" starts off the disc, giving way to Jimmy's endearing interpretation of Guided By Voices' "Game Of Pricks." "No Sensitivity" and a smoking version of closing track "Sweetness" show that the band still has plenty of emotion left to give.

KARNEY

Karney (Tangent)

San Francisco native Karney channels the spirits of female singer/songwriters past and present on her self-titled debut, including Aimee Mann, Edie Brickell, Concrete Blonde's Johnette Napolitano and Pat Benatar. Dark, airy vocals and oozing horn arrangements pepper the singer's funky style; "Pretty Boy" is acoustic yet soulful, with a tinge of sarcasm, while the single "Shell-Shock Girl" — which has since been remixed for radio — is a plea for world peace (hence the title) highlighted by emotive vocalizing, a bit of friendly singalong that works as a call to arms, all backed by a dancehall interlude courtesy of rapper/producer Stand Out Selector and spunky, boozy guitar riffs. Sax 'n' roll flavors "Slap" and "Skippin' Class," a cooing anthem about a homeless bohemian woman who takes Ecstasy and goes barefoot. But Karney takes time for life in the slow lane, too: "Mercy" is a slow, loopy ballad à la Edie Brickell's "What I Am." Those ladies about to rock, Karney salutes you. — Kristy Martin

Latin Groove (Putumayo)

A good compilation album is hard to find, especially when it's titled something as hard to define as "Latin groove." After the permeation of Buena Vista, Ricky Martin, Shakira et al, the essence of the genre could be difficult to put a finger on, and nearly impossible to fit on a single CD, but the folks at Putumayo have managed to do just that and more. Simultaneously celebrating the past and the future, the label assembled artists like Los Aterciopelados (whose "El Estuche" stirs up the desire to dance thisclose to someone who has spent all day in the sun), Si*Se, Ozomatli, world-music producer Ronald Rubinel's Barrio Cubano and Cuban musician collective Sin Palabras, all of whom fuse Latin musical elements like Cuban son, guajira, salsa and African percussion with hip-hop, electronica and drum 'n' bass. The album succeeds in highlighting the warmth and passion prevalent in all so-called "Latin" music, while simultaneously presenting listeners with its depth and breadth — from Cuba to Europe and beyond. — Lisa Hageman

LOCAL H

Here Comes The Zoo (Palm Pictures)

You must remember the catch phrase "You just don't get it/ Keep it copacetic" from Local H's monster hit "Bound For The Floor." That tune ruled the airwaves back in the mid-'90s, and we really haven't heard much more than a peep from the band since then — but lest one make the safe assumption that the band has firmly secured a place for itself in the annals of rock's one-hit-wonderdom, along comes Here Comes The Zoo to re-ignite the Local H fire. Things have changed: band co-founder/drummer Joe Daniels quit the band and has been replaced by Brian St. Clair, and while the band remains a duo, big and burly songs like "Rock And Roll Professionals," "Keep Your Girlfriend" and "Hands On The Bible" are beefy, regular-guy rockers with just the right balance of testosterone, energy and brains. Queens Of The Stone Age guitar god Josh Homme and the Misfits' Jerry Only contribute their talents to Here Comes The Zoo, which will grab you by the nape of neck and shake you till the sweat pours out of every orifice in your puny little body. — Amy Sciarretto

SCOOTERS

I Can See Your House From Here (Aeronaut)

If the Stone Roses were "the resurrection" of vital British guitar pop, the Scooters prove on their second LP that they're at least worthy of incarnate status. This is not to directly compare the Scooters to the Roses — sonically, they have little in common, save a penchant for insanely catchy hooks — but to say that upon hearing I Can See Your House From Here, anglophiles brimming with mid-'90s nostalgia will feel at home and satiated. The Welsh five-piece's brand of jangle pop is consistently plaintive and understated right, down to the barely detectable accents — until the album's penultimate track. "You Want It All" is full of dramatic pauses, soaring horns and goeey sentimentality. It is a gigantic anthem-ballad that would dwarf even Journey. Smartly, instead of drowning in its own schmaltz, the song transcends it and becomes the most compelling moment on the album. A feat like this is worth the price of admission, to say nothing of the Scooters' satisfying assertion that Brit-pop is indeed still alive. — Richard M. Juzwiak

SONGS: OHIA

Didn't It Rain

(Secretly Canadian)

When it's time for Songs: Ohio to hit the studio, Jason Molinas seeks out a new band. He's previously worked with Edith Frost and Arab Strap, and on Didn't It Rain, half of quirky bluegrass quartet Jim And Jennie And The Pinetops, Jennie Benford and

Jim Krewson, lend their voices to the project as well — Benford's distinctively raw, fractured vocals possess a timid cadence much like Kristin Hersh's. For the live recording sessions, the musicians gathered in one room, close enough to share microphones. You'd think the presence of two bluegrass kooks would have lifted Molinas' spirits, but instead, he drags them right down into the depths of despair with him. Krewson's plaintive voice breaks where it would otherwise twang, and the characteristically chirpy Benford coos like a mourning dove. The songs are as rich and sorrowful as the Mahalia Jackson spiritual from which the album got its name, but the subject matter is as modern as indie rock itself — Molinas even nods to the underground's legendary über-producer on the droning and haunting "Steve Albini's Blues."

TRAM

A Kind Of Closure (Jetset)

Trying to get your head around the fact that Tram founders Paul Anderson and Nick Avery got their start in a U.K. punk band is no easy task. This is simply because there's nothing even remotely punk about this music. It's soothing, airy, wistful and serene — and often cinematic. Piano, strings, acoustic guitar and horns are all recurring elements on A Kind Of Closure, the London-based band's third album, and while the group cites the obvious influences of Low and Nick Drake, at times the music is more reminiscent of a quieter, less guitar-driven Turin Brakes, or more rarely, as on "Only Then," Harvest-era Neil Young. The album's strongest tracks come at the beginning, starting with the piano/falsetto swell of "Three Years" and moving on to the delicate harmonies of "Forlorn Labour" before reaching the title track, a startlingly slow lament that explodes in a cacophony of brass nearly four minutes in. There are moments when the instrumentals echo the orchestral arrangements of an epic stage musical, and there are moments when the gentle lilt of a slide guitar recalls a Midwestern sunset. This, then, is the literal meaning of post-punk.

After more than a decade together, Fear Factory has disbanded. Apparently, there are many explanations for the sudden breakup, including vocalist Burton Bell's unhappiness with the band's musical direction. According to the Factory's publicist and MTV.com, Bell allegedly "is tired of playing angry, aggressive music and wants to form a band that's more indie-rock-oriented." Yet, while Bell's displeasure with the Factory's output appears to be the leading cause of the band's demise, numerous online reports stated that strained personal relationships among the band's members after the lackluster sales of its last Roadrunner full-length, 2001's Digimortal, were also a factor in the decision. "This past Saturday (March 2), vocalist Burton Bell sat the band down in their rehearsal studio to announce his intentions of leaving the band," a statement read on Roadrunner.com. "For whatever reasons, Burton no longer has the want to carry on in Fear Factory. And the rest of the band — guitarist Dino Cazares, bassist Christian Olde Wolbers, drummer Raymond Herrera — do not have the want to carry on with Fear Factory without Burton. After 12 years, Fear Factory call it quits." Before members formally packed their bags and went their separate ways, the band honored a commitment to record two new songs for the upcoming Terminator game, due in stores this August. The final (sigh) Fear Factory songs were recorded on March 12 in Hollywood with producer Rick Will. "As a consolation to the most diehard fans, we've got a few interesting things in the vaults that we will be releasing in the future," stated Roadrunner's head of A&R, Monte Conner, who signed Fear Factory. "I want to thank Dino, Burton, Christian and Raymond for making some incredible records for Roadrunner and helping put this label on the map. I will forever be proud of these records and thrilled that I was a part of them." One of the "interesting things in the vaults" Conner spoke of includes a previously unreleased 16-track album by the band, entitled Concrete, which was produced by Ross Robinson (KoRn, Machine Head) in 1991 and was kept from release due to contractual disputes between him and the group. • While watching the 44th Annual Grammy Awards (held in Los Angeles on Feb. 27) was as enjoyable as getting our teeth shattered with a nine-iron, we need to throw some metal in the air for TOOL, who won a trophy in the category of Best Metal Performance for its song "Schism." Meanwhile, across the big fishpond known as the Atlantic Ocean, Dimmu Borgir beat out fellow nominees Borknagar and Emperor to win a Norwegian Grammy (called a "Spellemannprisen") in the Metal category for its album, Puritanical Euphoric Misanthropy. Uh, we dig America and all, but after Train's "Drops Of Jupiter" won a Grammy Award for Best ROCK Song, moving the CMJ offices to Norway is just looking better and better. • Good news and bad news for Systematic fans. The good news is that former Slayer/Testament/Forbidden drummer Paul Bostaph has formally joined the band, but on the downside, bassist Nick St. Dennis has left the group. Bostaph, who replaced former System skinsman Shaun Bannon after he injured his arm during the making of the "Deep Colors Bleed" video, initially played with the band's guitarist, Adam Ruppel, on a project in 1996 before rejoining Slayer. "Old family member Paul Bostaph, who was with us in the beginning, is now back and putting an end to our search for a drummer," Ruppel wrote on the band's website. "Paul is a great guy and an amazing drummer,

Fear Factory

so Systematic fans have a lot to look forward to." • The Crown's first North American tour is set to begin on April 5 at the New Jersey Metalfest in Asbury Park, New Jersey. The band, touring with Darkest Hour, will take to the road in support of its forthcoming Metal Blade album, Crowned In Terror, which is due in stores April 9 and features new vocalist Tomas Linberg, formerly with At The Gates. The group's tour itinerary is as follows: Asbury Park, NJ (4/5); Indianapolis (4/6); Loraine, OH (4/7); Chicago (4/8); St. Louis (4/9); San Francisco (4/11); Anaheim (4/12); Fayetteville, AR (4/20); Tallahassee, FL (4/22); Ft. Lauderdale (4/23); Tampa (4/24); Jacksonville, FL (4/25); Toronto (4/30); Montreal (5/1); Worcester, MA (5/2); Brooklyn (5/3). • Godflesh will tour the United States this spring in support of its latest full-length, Hymns. The tour begins April 22 and will also feature High On Fire and Australia's post-industrial noisecore outfit Halo. • 40 Below Summer has been added to the Jägermeister Music Tour. The drunken jaunt also features those "sinners" Drowning Pool, Coal Chamber and Ill Nino. • Speaking of Coal Chamber, the goth/metal marauders recently filmed a video in Los Angeles for "Fiend," the debut single off its new album, Dark Days. Look for the new long-player to hit retail on May 7 through Roadrunner. • The forthcoming KoRn album, Untouchables, has a new release date of June 11. The first single from the album, "Here To Stay," impacts on April 9. • In Flames are working with producer Daniel Bergstrand (Meshuggah, Stuck Mojo) on material for their latest album, due out this summer through Nuclear Blast. • God Dethroned is currently working on material for its new album, tentatively titled The Universal Slavedriver. • Vader has christened its new full-length Revelations. The album should be out by May. • Echobrain, the band that features former Metallica bassist Jason Newsted, has announced that it will perform five shows in California, beginning on March 20 in Petaluma. The brief tour will conclude in L.A. on April 12. • The Japanese version of 36 Crazyfists' debut, Bitterness The Star, will feature a b-side called "Crutch." Meanwhile, the U.S. version of the album will hit stores on April 2. • Speaking of the Far East, as soon as its brief tour of Japan concludes at the end of March, Slipknot reportedly will begin rehearsing new material for the follow-up to Iowa. "We've got a bunch of different riffs together," bassist Paul Gray/#2 told VH1.com. "Some are really heavy and some are more technical. We want to get tighter with the songwriting. Everybody has their own version of what should happen, so when we get in the studio we're gonna take everybody's different ideas and try to make them blend smoothly." • Amen has completed work on its third studio album but the band has split with its parent label, Virgin Records. However, the U.K. group is still signed to Ross Robinson's I Am Records imprint and will likely find a new major label to call home quickly enough. • The new Dio album, titled Killing The Dragon, is due out May 21 through Spitfire Records. It will be the first album from Ronnie James with new guitarist Doug Aldrich, who replaced the recently departed Craig Goldy. • Guitarist Colin Comstock is no longer in All Else Failed. Apparently some shit went down at a New Orleans gig and he was subsequently fired from the band. He will not be replaced and the band will continue as a four-piece. • CMJ would like to extend our deepest sympathies to former Life Of Agony frontman Keith Caputo, whose father passed away on March 2.

FIVE QUESTIONS WITH...EARSHOT'S WIL MARTIN!

Currently on the 2002 SnoCore Rock tour with Alien Ant Farm, Adema and Glassjaw, Earshot is a new band from Los Angeles that will release its debut album, titled Letting Go, in May on Warner Bros. The group's sound is a mixture of the emotive, vocal components of TOOL's Maynard James Keenan fused with the tuned-down, seven-string riff-o-rama of those delightful KoRn fellas. Studio vet David Kahne, whose credits include Sugar Ray, produced its album. Yet, despite working with the guy that we can blame for "Every Morning" and "Fly," we are happy to report that we could not find any teenage girl-friendly acoustic pop on Earshot's debut. Nope, nothing here except good old-fashioned rock 'n' fuckin' roll! The band's vocalist, Wil Martin, was nice enough to give us a call recently and reveal that he thought CMJ's Loud Rock column was worthy of a Pulitzer...okay, he really didn't say that. And, despite trying to provoke him to beat up the guys in Alien Ant Farm, he didn't even hang up on us! That's a first!

So, being a new band, why don't you tell our readers what Earshot is all about.

We're from all different parts of the world. Scott Kohler [guitar] is from France and Dieter Hartmann [drums] is from Austria. Mike Callahan [guitar] is from Ohio and I'm from Kansas. We all live in Los Angeles now and we're a group of guys that got together and decided to form a rock band and, despite being from different places in the world, everyone in this band is on the same page, stylistically.

What the hell is an "Earshot" anyway?

I was sitting in my apartment with an electronic thesaurus trying to come up with some sort of inspiration for a band name. I typed in "sound" and that's when "earshot" came up.

Your vocals really stick out on this record — I hear some Maynard in there — and I was curious to hear whom you would cite as your influences, vocally.

I feel like an old-timer saying this, but my dad is also a musician and I was brought up on the old stuff like Crosby, Stills and Nash, Neil Young, Zeppelin, Sabbath and the Stones. That's where a large part of my influences come from and that's why I lean so heavily on melody in my vocals, more so than other bands do right now. That what was engrained in me: melody, melody, melody.

Earshot is currently on the 2002 SnoCore Rock tour. How's that going?

The tour is going really great and we've been having a lot of fun. We've been very fortunate, as the opening band, to walk up on stage and have a full house. The reaction has been great and we're really excited.

If I slip you guys a couple of hundred bucks, can you go beat up the guys in Alien Ant Farm for the Loud Rock kids? I could tell you I did, but didn't. I'm not really a fighter; I just sit back here and mind my own business.

Okay...how about $1,000? That's as high as I can go.

ARCH ENEMY

Wages Of Sin (Century Media)
There are countless things in life that should be cherished. Among them are porn, free booze, the fact that Billy Joel isn't recording albums anymore and skillful extreme metal. The latter of those treasured items is precisely what listeners will uncover on Wages Of Sin, the new album from Sweden's

Arch Enemy. Fans of the band who were freaked out when its original vocalist, Johan Liiva, split from the group last year are going to be stunned over how goddamn good Arch Enemy's new vocalist, 26-year-old German singer Angela Gossow, is. She's got pipes that would tear the bark off redwood and, when combined with the talents of guitarist Michael Ammot (Carcass), bassist Sharlee D'Angelo (Merciful Fate), guitarist Christopher Ammot (Armageddon) and drummer Daniel Erlandsson (In Flames), the band has reached its pinnacle, creating what could arguably be the album of its career. There are scores of exhaustively brutal moments on Wages Of Sin. "The First Deadly Sin" is absolutely crushing, and the riff that starts at three minutes and 15 seconds into the song is enough to make listeners feel like they could battle the entire world by themselves. "Enemy Within," "Heart Of Darkness," "Ravenous" and "Savage Messiah" round out our favorites.

VARIOUS ARTISTS

Resident Evil: Music From And Inspired By The Original Motion Picture (Roadrunner)

You know, movies that are produced with a video game as its creative source have traditionally been box-office catastrophes (Final Fantasy, Super Mario Bros.). But, considering that the Resident Evil games — especially the second one in the Playstation series — have continuously ranked highly on the "bad ass" meter, this flick's got a shot at being a decent action-packed experience. Plus, have we mentioned our stalker-like infatuation with the film's star, Milla Jovovich? We probably shouldn't, as it would violate the restraining order, so we'll stick to discussing Resident Evil's accompanying soundtrack. There's lots of new stuff on this album for Loud Rock to claim, including some noteworthy remixes (Slipknot's reworking of Marilyn Manson's "Fight Song" and new versions of Ill Nino's "What Comes Around" and Mudvayne's "Dig" are airplay contenders) and previously unreleased tracks. Static-X's contribution ("Anything But This") comes at you like an avalanche of bricks, and the Coal Chamber tune, "Something Told Me," should please fans until its new album, Dark Days, hits in April. Don't miss out.

IMMORTAL

Sons Of Northern Darkness (Nuclear Blast)

It's hard not to look at the cover of this album and wonder just what the fuck is going on in Norway. That's not to say anything derogatory about the Norwegian three-piece known as Immortal — the band has been around since 1991 for a reason — but you can't help speculating exactly where these guys are planning to go (let alone what the hell they're going to do when they get there) with primitive armaments like Kerry King wrist bands and their undeniably spooky face paint (these guys would make Mudvayne run for the hills). Regardless, Immortal's Nuclear Blast debut, Sons Of Northern Darkness, has ascended the Loud Rock charts in the past three weeks faster than Dio could slay a dragon. Why? Because it's a damn good metal album, fool! "One By One," "Demonium," "Within The Dark Mind" and the title track are all worthy of your attention.

SCARS OF TOMORROW

All Things Change (Thorp)

Upper Darby, Pennsylvania's Thorp Records has now amassed a decent stable of bands and Orange County's Scars Of Tomorrow is certainly one of them. On its label debut, dubbed All Things Change, the band plows through numerous musical territories for a sound that's sure to satisfy both hardcore and death metal fans. Ultimately, Scars Of Tomorrow hasn't completely found its collective voice yet, but when it does (and it will)... look the fuck out. This is undoubtedly a band to watch and you should make it a point to check SOT out. "You Were Different In My Dreams," "Last Dance," "Consume" and "Extinction" show lots of promise.

INDUSTRY NEWS

Congratulations to WNEW/New York's Eddie Trunk, who got married on March 10. Best wishes, Eddie! In related news, Trunk's new nationally syndicated show, called Rock The Nation With Eddie Trunk, will launch on March 23 through Excelsior Radio Networks (www.xradionet.com). • While it sounds like he will be okay (thankfully), KEYJ's Frank Pain was hospitalized recently due to some heart problems. "Cancer I beat no prob, but apparently I can't beat a dilated aortic valve," he lamented in an email sent on March 6. Get better, bro! • Here's one from the "steal this idea" department: WSOU/South Orange, NJ has set up an AOL Instant Message name specifically to take requests and promotes it on their website, www.wsou.net. Very cool...

What a slow week! I'm dying over here. Most still be a tad fried from last week's revelries, of which there were plenty. I'd say I'd like to settle in for a long winter's nap but it's like 60 freakin' degrees outside! • Someone brought to my attention a recent article in Entertainment Weekly article that noted how late night TV shows like Leno and Letterman have been booking more hip-hop acts to attract a younger audience — and that since the Arsenio Hall Show was taken off the air in 1994 (think about all the great hip-hop acts folks have missed out on since then!), hip-hop acts have had a hard time finding late-night shows that would book them. However, when Leno booked Outkast for a recent show, executives saw the show's ratings jump 44 percent from the night before, according to EW. Are the morons at the major networks living under a rock? • Third Earth will be releasing Jean Grae's upcoming album, entitled Whatever Becky, in a few months. The label says it will most likely send something to radio by the end of March. Linkin Park's Hybrid Theory is currently getting a hip-hop remodeling. Warner plans to release a hip-hop remix version of the band's hit record this June. • Blackalicious has recruited Zach De La Rocha, Ben Harper, Rakaa and Babu from Dilated and Jaguar Wright (among others) to appear on the duo's MCA debut. The album, entitled Blazing Arrow, is scheduled for release April 30. • Quincy Jones' son (and well-known producer in his own right) QD3 recently completed a documentary on the late 2Pac, entitled Thug Angel, which includes never-before-seen footage of the rapper (as young as 17), interviews and studio sessions. The film is scheduled for release sometime in April. • DJ Premier is gearing up for an upcoming solo release set to drop sometime late this year or in early 2003. Word has it that he has already lined up the likes of Scarface, M.O.P., Gladys Knight and Jill Scott (for a duet), AC/DC and perhaps a posthumous track with Notorious B.I.G., 2Pac and Big Pun. With his reputation, look for plenty of big names lining up to work with him. • Styles Of Beyond has officially called it quits. MC Ryu and DJ Cheapshot plan to pursue solo careers while rhymer Takbir plans to take his show on the road with a live band. • Producer Swiss Beatz has called in a little help from his friends (and past co-workers) for his debut album as an artist. DMX, Ja Rule, Eve, Jadakiss, LL Cool J, Busta Nas, Lil' Kim, Fat Joe, N.O.R.E. and even Metallica (to name a few) will all contribute to the forthcoming G.H.E.T.T.O. Stories, due June 11 on DreamWorks. • The joint venture between Tommy Boy and Warner Music Group has been officially terminated (no surprise to anyone who reads this column). Warner is now the owner of the hip-hop label's catalog and publishing. As reported before, De La Soul has moved on to Elektra, as has Prince Paul and Handsome Boy Modeling School. Everlast and Coo Coo Cal will be signing with Warner Bros. Tommy Boy still remains open, however. Founder Tom Silverman has said he intends to carry the imprint on as a predominantly dance-oriented label, keeping such artists as Amber, Thunderpuss and Masters At Work on its roster. In related news, Silverman has been hard-pressed to find a television home (network or cable) for his film The Making and Meaning of We Are Family, which is based on the Spike Lee-helmed re-recording of the Sister Sledge hit with NYPD and FDNY after the attacks of Sept. 11. The film was produced by Tommy Boy Films. • Philadelphia 76er Derrick Coleman recently launched his new label, Onpoint Entertainment. The first release on the imprint is Seth Marcel's "Hardcore." Starting up the label must be the reason the 270-pound power forward missed all those games. Or, as I believed from the minute he returned to Philly, is it the weight that's keeping his ass on the bench? Don't even get me started on Mutombo's game this season...

REDMAN AND GORILLAZ

"Gorillaz On My Mind"
from Blade II The Soundtrack
(Immortal-Virgin)

Redman always seems to have something on his mind and more often than not, it's flora, not fauna and yet over "ooh-ooh-aahh-aahh" gorilla noises and a catchy, sing-songy, hypnotic, beeping hook that echos, Redman's syncopated first line sucks listeners in like free porn on cable. This track, though, is all about the production. With scratching by Kid Koala, production by Dan The Automator (who is one of the few that can make computer geekitude sound so damn funky) and a bass line so deep and dirty it sounds like a suction cup being lifted off a wet surface, this track combines the organic and the synthetic, the real and the surreal, the earthly and the otherworldly. Eventually the one-dimensional hook becomes symphonic, growing bigger and bigger, as samples, vocals and reverb close in behind it... only to get back down to the nitty-gritty... only to head back up in your head with various psychedelic electronica and vocals fading in and out, shimmering like a musical mirage. Ever wondered what it would be like to swim in Jell-O? Now you know.

MASTERMINDS

Stone Soup (Third Earth)

On their sophomore album and the first on the group's own imprint, the super-smart Masterminds continue to blend different musical styles (elements of jazz, electronica, soul, reggae, psychedelica, rock) with pointed, socially conscious lyrics ("September In New York" needs no explanation, yet the track doesn't dwell on the tragedy, but rather celebrates life in a much-needed and refreshing message). MCs Oracle and Kimani modify their always casual yet pointed, syncopated delivery to blend with the music behind them. This is hip-hop by musicians, folks. Production on this album is just right — not too over the top, but just enough to make it interesting, rendering the album a perfect blend of intelligent words and equally-as-stimulating beats and samples. The rolling repetition of "Morning Star" is a perfect example. Lyrically, the guys are on point, combining humor, irony and insight: "It's open mic night so pick your penance/ Bid that nerd-rap Fred Durst crap good riddance," Kimani intones on "Raiders Of The Lost Art," a tome on the present state of hip-hop (the chorus of which sounds just like Missy). Finally, an album from the underground, where interesting sounds aren't forsaken for intellectual ideas.

How many watts is your station?

200 watts. You can hear it almost until you get to the Detroit airport, which is about 30 minutes away.

What's the station motto?

WCBN will destroy your feeble formats.

How long have you been and will you be MD?

I've been the MD for about six months. I plan to continue for several more years. One of our old MDs was here for about six years, so I'm trying to beat his record.

What do you do to build your station's audience?

We have a team of publicity monkeys that cover the town with WCBN propaganda.

What was your most successful fundraiser? How much money do you raise on average?

We just had a weeklong fundraiser that made about $23,000. During "Crush Collision," our electronic music mix show, I went with one of the hosts to the dance club down the street and solicited donations from all the rich local clubgoers.

Who are you most proud of bringing to the station to perform and why?

I'm really excited to have Doug Flieshut from Language Removal Services come down. They take bits of spoken dialogue and remove the words with computers, so that all you can hear are the grunts and "um"s. It turns out really well. He's doing an installation at the Ann Arbor Film Festival and will be making a special guest appearance on my show.

Are you on the air? What kind of show do you do?

I do two free-form shows and I co-host a show called "Sound Environments" with a fellow named Zach, which features field recordings and site-specific sound. We record a lot of sounds around town like refrigerators and stuff. I also sometimes help out on "Electric Kingdom", our live electronic music show. Last semester, I was a rotating host on the blues show and the francophone music show.

What's the best use for a CD other than for storing music?

I've been using the CDs that we don't keep for the library for a new musical project with my friend Randall; we scratch them, write on them or microwave them and then play them. It sounds really good.

Does your station still play vinyl?

Yeah. We've got a huge library of vinyl and three turntables in the studio. I don't think we could ever replace our blues or folk vinyl. Plus, records are better for playing backwards or at the wrong speed. If you play the 45 of "Lucky Star" by Madonna at 33 rpm, it sounds a lot like Depeche Mode.

Why did you go into college radio?

It seemed like that was what all the cool kids were doing and I thought it would make me more popular.

Are you interested in going into the music industry? Doing what?

I'm already running the very successful We're Twins Records with the two other music directors and our friend Kelly. I hope to do that when I grow up.

If you could see anyone live (dead or living), who would it be and why?

Captain Beefheart or Sun Ra. The reasons should be obvious enough.

What's your favorite Behind The Music episode?

The Journey episode is painful to watch, yet oddly compelling, but my favorite is the Poison episode in which Bret Michaels reveals to his fans the deep dark secret that he is diabetic.

COPE WITH IT

As I sit here in San Francisco at this year's NARM Convention, I realize I'm witnessing a changing of the guard. This year's convention is light in attendance for starters, but the fact is there are also fewer accounts now than ever before. I'm also not seeing a presence of the long-time stalwarts in this business: Valley Media (gone), National Record Mart (gone), Northeast One Stop (gone), Music People, (gone). All these disappeared between last year's and this year's convention. Yes, we still have many accounts represented here, but I can't find many that are optimistic about the future of the business. We are very much an industry in flux and that's what's being represented here in San Francisco.

I've been fortunate enough to go to NARM & AFIM since 1979. I say "fortunate" because both conventions (now rolled into one) have offered me the opportunity to connect with others who have dedicated their careers to this industry. My relationships, business deals, friendships, and continued education have all been facilitated by these conventions in the past. But things have changed. The exhibit hall is no longer jammed with companies trying to sell their wares. Label product presentations are long gone and have been replaced with one-on-one meetings and very occasional artist showcases. For an old fart like myself, I see fewer and fewer of the characters and personalities that have helped mold and shape this business. Many have retired, some have left the planet, and many more are just plain out of the business. Wherever they've gone, their absence casts a very long shadow on this year's convention and the music business in general. We are an industry divided. Our main topic of discussion is survival.

Look, I know it's a business for survival of the fittest — you have to compete and you have to adapt to change in order to survive. But can we cut through the crap for a second? The unfairness of some business practices, the "favored nation" treatment some accounts get over others, is about to strangle this business. We all remember the scams of the past that promoted records up the charts. Truth is, it's really no different today. Instead of giving out cleans, labels buy real estate at the major accounts and give them exclusive product — and they call it marketing.

My hope is that with the changing of this guard will come an understanding that there's a need for creativity, not just from the artists, but from the labels and retailers as well. We're all in this together. For all of their struggles and shortcomings, I want to thank NARM for existing, for allowing us to get together a short time each year.

Speaking of creativity let me congratulate Arista on going gold with Adema This is just the beginning for that record, and it shows what a label can do when they believe in an artist.

Peace, Cope.

 e. BookMusicNet@cs.com

Welcome to the launch of the BookMusicNetwork. As one of the co-founders of the Café Music Network, I learned what it takes to create a successful lifestyle-marketing network. Along with music and book industry executives George Gerrity and Stephen Bond Garvan, we have created a network dedicated to opening up new sales and marketing opportunities in independent bookstores around the country. It became apparent with the successes of both Barnes and Noble and Borders that there was an untapped marketplace. Sound Board (BMN's parent company) has secured a relationship with American Booksellers Association and is creating an alliance with Baker and Taylor, who will be the conduit in the development of marketing and selling music products into bookstores. Their involvement is crucial as Steve Harkins, Jennifer Wink and Connie Young are experienced in both the book and music industries and share our vision of creating and developing these new sales opportunities. The Book MusicNetwork is distributing materials to the panel of Booksense stores — a coalition of 1250 independent bookstores or small chain stores, many of which already sell music. Phase 1 will create our BookMusicNetwork Presents compilation that will be used not only for in-store play, but also as an educational tool to alert bookstores about upcoming and current releases. All this in an effort to aid stores seeking new revenue streams. The BookMusicNetwork Presents compilation (and associated materials) will be distributed monthly into these locations through the American Booksellers Association, who runs the Booksense coalition. Phase 2 will encompass marketing and sales opportunities with these accounts: Our research has found that in December 2001, bookstore music sales were up approximately 20% over the previous year. Additionally,

TRIK TURNER

Trik Turner
RCA
Catalog No. 68105

Trik Turner broke big last week out of AZ and continue to move up the charts. The move from 78 – 76 this week—not the biggest leap on the chart, but worth noting that this local AZ group maintained their upward climb. Keep your eyes on this one. This week Top 10s again at Zia, Hoodlums and Record & Tape Traders. Also spreading sales around the country through Tower and at Manifest, the Record Exchange (TREX), Dimple Records, Angelo's, Last Unicorn.

Current Top 100 chart position: 76*

THURSDAY

Full Collapse
Victory Records
Catalog No. VR145

There is something about this record—well, mostly it's a great record—but it keeps making jumps up the chart every time it falls 89 – 86. It's spent 8 weeks on the charts and was helped by top 10s from Vintage Vinyl (Fords, NJ), Boogie, Go Boy, Bionics (Huntington Beach), Rhino Records Claremont and Ear X-tacy to name a few. This record will keep moving—up.

Current Top 100 chart position: 86*

Bold numbers signify upward movement.

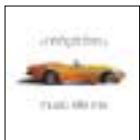

DEFAULT

The Fallout
TVT

Catalog No. 2310
Default makes a huge jump this week from 93 – 69

which, after 9 weeks on the charts, gives them a new peak position. Fallout helped this week by sales around the country from Last Unicorn to Exile On Main St, Bull Moose, Plan 9, Side 1, Looney Tunes, Gallery Of Sound, Homers, Choice. Not quite out on the West Coast in full force though yet.

RINOCEROSE

Music Kills Me
V2 Records
Catalog No. 27118

Rinoceros debuts this week at No. 85. They are amazing live if you can catch them. Strong showing this week throughout Virgin Megastores as well as at Let It Be (Minneapolis), Mod Lang (Berkeley), Amoeba (SF), Hoodlums (Tempe), Sonic Boom (Seattle), Benway (Venice), and even down to Uncle Sam's (Miami Beach). Watch this climb next week.

Current Top 100 chart position: 85*

BEN KWELLER

Sha Sha
ATO Records
Catalog No. 68114

107* this week, but it's worth mentioning because it surfaced at so many different places around the country from Waterloo, Cactus, and Good Records in Texas to Face The Music, Music Millennium and Sonic Boom in the Northwest to Reckless in Chicago and on up to Newbury Comics. Top 10s at Hoodlums and Good Records.

Current Top 100 chart position: 107*

The old saying goes, “those who can’t, teach.” The Epsteins, though, have given that phrase a new twist at Twist and Shout. T&S was founded in 1988 by former high school English teachers Paul and Jill Epstein, who spent the next eight years selling obscure music to a small but dedicated clientele from an over-cluttered building on a quiet Denver side street. In 1995, however, they decided it was time to expand and moved Twist and Shout to its current 7500 sq. ft. abandoned grocery store location. In 1999 Twist and Shout Underground, a vinyl-only store, opened across the street from the mother ship. Twist and Shout has been nominated as NARM’s Retailer Of The Year five times now, including a nom. for 2001 and a big win in 2000. They’re a destination for music collectors worldwide.

Three things have always guided T&S’s decisions over the years: selection, service and ambiance (which should be the mantra for any music retailer; though if you venture into as many stores as I do, you know it’s not often the case). They stock 80,000 new and 15,000 used CDs and have an insanely deep selection of jazz, dance, rock, avant-garde and about every other kind of music. As an independent, Twist and Shout has always been dedicated to carrying boutique labels and imports along with their major label stock. They have a fast and efficient special order service as well. As far as the staff goes, T&S has the Rock Mountain region’s greatest assortment of true music aficionados — incredibly capable and willing to recommend and/or procure music for any taste. Finally, T&S has collected an amazing array of Rock ‘n’ Roll memorabilia, with an emphasis on vintage psychedelic posters. Nearly every inch of T&S’s 25 ft. walls are devoted to art work not for sale (for vibe, not commerce).

Paul and Jill Epstein

Twist & Shout is very indie-label friendly and has a Why Do You Think They Call It Dope program in the Onion (America’s best and screwiest alternative weekly) built exclusively for indies. T&S is very willing to work with smaller labels who want exposure for titles they don’t have lots of money to work at retail, for example: most of their window space is dedicated to indies; they often do listening posts in exchange for cleans; they review upcoming releases for their weekly T&S email newsletter; they put up almost every poster they get and are open to any creative promotions. They have listening posts dedicated for indie releases as well as for upcoming shows at two local venues. T&S has a great relationship with college radio giving them a great opportunity to cross-promote. Twist & Shout Underground is open to promoting any title on vinyl.

NEWSWORTHY

INDEPENDENT JOINS THE MUSIC MONITOR NETWORK

It's official: on Saturday March 9, Independent Records (Colorado Springs) was formally voted by members into the Music Monitor Network. Of course Independent had to formally let themselves be voted in as well, which they did after years of talking to the Network. When CMJ Retail asked co-owner Judy why she and partner Orville Lambert finally decided to take the plunge, she said, "In this day and age what makes the most sense is the exchange of information between retailers — the more heads you have thinking about any particular challenge, the greater your advantage for survival, success and even prosperity. Given today's retail environment, and given the strength of the Network and what we feel we can bring to it, joining finally felt like the right thing to do."

Independent Records brings with it 25 years of history in the retail biz along with its chain of eight stores. Congratulations and best of luck to both Music Monitor Network and Independent Records — this is a big move.

NARM ANNOUNCES WINNERS FOR 2002

NARM has announced the winners for its 2002 Merchandiser and Supplier Of The Year Awards "recognizing outstanding industry achievement among retailers, distributors, wholesalers, entertainment software suppliers, and suppliers of related products and services." (CMJ Translation once again: Best Places To Get Stuff Awards). Winners were announced at this year's convention (which just wrapped up). So here they are: Wholesalers Of The Year (Small, Medium and Large divisions) included Electric Fetus (Minneapolis, MN), Music Network (Norcross, GA), and Handleman Company (Troy, MI); Distributors of the Year (Small, Medium and Large divisions) included big Daddy Music Distribution (Kenilworth, NJ), Ryko Distribution (New York, NY) and UMVD (Universal City, CA); Entertainment Software Supplier Of The Year (Small, Medium and Large divisions) honors went to Six Degrees Records (San Francisco, CA), J Records (New York, NY), Rhino (Los Angeles, CA).

retailer Nabil Ayers of Sonic Boom Records just got his band, Alien Crime Syndicate, signed to V2 Records. ACS absolutely rocks live and after releasing records for years on indies and on his own labels (Collective Fruit and Control Group), ACS knows a good deal when they see one. V2 will release ACS's From Coast To Coast this summer. The album was produced by singer Joe Reineke and ACS, and was released on Nabil's Control Group earlier this year. Nabil knows retail and knew how to get the album off the ground: the album was made available through NAIL Distribution and got a lot of indie store support up and down the West Coast from Music Millennium, Amoeba SF and Amoeba Hollywood, The Record Exchange (Boise), Easy Street and other Seattle area stores. All these retailers came through with key support with counter slots, in-store play, email blasts, etc. Check out this record now, you'll be hearing a lot more about it soon. Best of luck Nabil, ACS and V2.

books and music have a synergy and share many like-consumers. Many of these consumers aren't as concerned about price as many music consumers seem to be. Initial response to our program has been overwhelming. Helping the artists and labels reach as many consumers as possible to get their music heard is a difficult but satisfying opportunity. We look forward to working with you to open doors into a new music marketplace.
