INDUSTRY NEWS

What happens when an organization restricts millions of web-savvy music-lovers access to their favorite web sites for downloading MP3s? If it's the RIAA, it's forced to suffer the fate of having angry music fans hack into its web site, posting several fake news articles and MP3s for download. An unidentified, irony-loving group of hackers posted Linkin Park's new remix album, Reanimation, for download on www.riaa.org, as well as headlines and links including "RIAA Against Music Sharing? Not Anymore!" "Piracy Can Be Beneficial To The Music Industry" and "Where Can I Find Information On Giant Monkeys?" A link was also provided to file sharing program Kazaa Lite. While the fake site was taken down in less than an hour, a mirror site is available for viewing at <http://wintermute.student.umd.edu>. • Übertailer HMV has announced plans to become the first major music retail outlet with an online subscription service in the U.K. The company promises to offer the largest catalog of digital music — upwards of 100,000 tracks — ever available in the territory. The project partners HMV with digital distributor On Demand Distribution and is scheduled to go online in September, with content available from EMI, Warner Music, BMG and various independent labels. A monthly subscription fee of £4.99 (roughly $7.60) will allow users various options of downloading, streaming and burning tracks to CDs.

LABEL NEWS

Steve Leeds has recently been hired by Virgin Records as Senior VP/Promotion, Rock Formats. He had been serving as Senior VP/New Technologies for Universal Records. • Jon Lewis has been appointed Senior Director/Top 40 Promotion for the Elektra Entertainment Group. Previously, Lewis served as the label's National Director/Top 40 Promotion. • Def Jam and the Urban League have joined forces to create an educational program called the Urban Leaguer Def Jam Reader, whose goal is to inspire urban youth to take an interest in reading, community involvement and technology, using methods that involve hip-hop celebrities, song lyrics, speeches, scripts and more. The program will launch in February in five markets and is scheduled to spread to 20 areas within two years.

Badly Drawn Boy

MUSIC NEWS

Camping and building fires may long have gone hand in hand, but as far as the Carling Weekend Leeds Festival at Temple Newsam Park in the U.K. is concerned, the tradition isn't all that wholesome. This year's festival, which took place on Aug. 24-26, once again saw festivalgoers erupt into violence on the event's final day, setting portable toilets on fire and assaulting responding riot police. Festival organizers pointed out that a relatively small fraction of attendees were involved in the chaos, with the offending parties reportedly numbering around 500. Approximately 100 times that many people attended the event over its three-day run. However, the Leeds Festival, which is the recently developed sister event to the long-running Reading Festival, nearly didn't happen this year. Based on protests from the community, local authorities refused to grant a license to the organizers.

While the license did come through in the end, the future of the festival could now be in serious doubt, as this is the third year running that similar events have occurred. Meanwhile, according to police, the Reading Festival, which occurred on the same weekend, passed with little incident. • For someone who's been more than a bit of a recluse in recent years, Axl Rose has not only welcomed back the spotlight at Guns N' Roses' recent Asian and European gigs (which included a performance at the Leeds Festival), he's been downright forthcoming. During a Aug. 26 show in London, Rose dished out more details on Chinese Democracy, the GN'R album that's been in the works for so many years, many fans gave up hope it would ever arrive. According to his comments from the stage, the album will feature a staggering 18 tracks, and that's not all — the band also plans to include a bonus disc, with an additional 10 songs on it, with the release. On top of all that, Rose even spoke of a quick follow-up to Chinese Democracy, hinting that the GN'R drought could soon be giving way to a veritable flood. However, with no release date set for anything yet, fans will have to continue to take Rose's comments with a grain of salt for the time being. • British rock band Elbow has called off its previously announced U.S. tour, citing a "personal emergency," according to the band's publicist. The tour was originally scheduled to bring the band back to North America for its second round of dates this year, following its well-received stint as the opening act on the recent tour with fellow Mancunians, Doves. In addition, Elbow is currently at work on a new album, the follow-up to its debut LP, Asleep In The Back. The album is being produced by Ben Hillier, with early song titles including "Rib Cage" and "Fugitive Motel." • Tour news: Badly Drawn Boy will be heading to North America in October to support the release of his second album proper, Have You Fed The Fish? The disc is set for an Oct. 22 release, with BDB Damon Gough showing up in Washington, D.C. five days prior to kick off a 15-date major market tour that winds up in L.A. on Nov. 8; Ryan Adams will play a series of suitably stripped-down dates behind his new release of demo material, Demolition, due Sept. 24. Adams will perform acoustically at the shows, which kick off Sept. 28 in Dallas and roll on until Oct. 29 in Seattle; Built To Spill frontman Doug Martsch will be basking in the spotlight following the Sept. 17 release of his solo debut, Now You Know (see Reviews for our take on the new album). Martsch will tour throughout the month of October, playing 23 gigs, including three-night stands in NYC and Chicago. The first date is in Minneapolis on Oct. 5 and it all wraps up in Boulder, Colorado on Oct. 27; EL-P will be showing off the talent his Definitive Jux label has to boast by taking a number of his acts out to play with him, beginning with a Sept. 14 appearance at Skatefest in Worcester, MA. In addition to EL-P, the 24-date trek will feature Mr. Lif, RJD2, Sole Position and Cage And Copywrite and will take them throughout the U.S. and Canada, before bringing them back home for a final date in NYC on Oct. 19. • Irvine, California's This Ain't No Picnic festival is re-launching this year, with a lineup that amounts to an indie rock dream. Guided By Voices, the Mars Volta, the Donnas, Les Savy Fav, Pretty Girls Make Graves, Jimmy Eat World and Blonde Redhead are just a few of the acts on the bill for the event, which will take place on Oct. 5. Although it last appeared in 2000, promoters hope to stage the festival annually from now on.

Doug Martsch

Guided By Voices

CORRECTION

The record label for the band Lucky 7 is Omega, not Mega, as it was inadvertently listed in the Reviews of NMR Issue #779.

SAHARA HOTNIGHTS

Jennie Bomb (Jetset)

With killer pop hooks, enough attitude to floor a rhino and an unapologetic punk aesthetic, Sahara Hotnights come off as the rock monster one might get after throwing Elastica, the Donnas, Joan Jett and Kenickie into a giant vat and tossing in

The Warriors on video for good measure. Opening with the assault of "Alright Alright (Here's My Fist, Where's The Fight?)," the all female quartet immediately sets the tone for its U.S. debut, while raising the adrenaline-soaked bar for the rest of the disc. Wherein, proclamations such as "I'll never be a part of the deal/ Don't ever tell me how to feel" ("Fall Into Line") and "Get out of the system/ Into the streets" ("Out Of The System") are issued with so much undeniable cool that all you can do is acquiesce. "With Or Without Control," the album's knockout punch, comes complete with a brilliant key change that seals the deal and seats Sahara Hotnights where they rightly belong — on a throne as the new Queens of Rock 'N' Roll.

DOUG MARTSCH

Now You Know

(Warner Bros.)

Chances are that if you are a regular reader of CMJ, you already know who Doug Martsch is. Most of the albums he has released with his band, Built To Spill, have had enormously successful runs on our charts and the group remains one of the most popular indie rock bands recording and touring today. With his first solo outing, titled Now You Know, Martsch tries something a bit different from what his fans may expect. The songs are a hypnotizing blend of country and blues that showcase Martsch's command of the slide guitar. Sure, he has played slide on Built To Spill records in the past, but that was nothing like this. Martsch uses open tunings to emulate the rugged style of blues that he has come to love (most notably that of Delta bluesman "Mississippi" Fred McDowell) and that influence shines through on the melancholy "Offer." And, while still bluesy, the spirit of Built To Spill can be heard in some of the more rock-oriented songs, like "Impossible." Overall, Martsch proves his talent by playing blues without sounding like he's ripping it off.

UNDERWORLD

A Hundred Days Off

When Darren Emerson left Underworld, many people questioned what would become of the world's greatest dance act. Without question, Emerson presented the founding Underworld members, Karl Hyde and Rick Smith, with a forward look into dance music without boundaries. However, with A Hundred Days Off, the duo has developed a newfound maturity, resulting in a multifaceted piece of work that, while taking steps forward, remains unmistakably Underworld. Hyde's trademark vocals are ever present on "Mo Move" and "Sola Sistim" and blend beautifully with the lush programming of "Twist" and the downtempo haze of "Ess Gee" and "Trim." Of course, no Underworld album would be complete without its share of dance floor stormers, and "Two Months Off," "Little Speaker" and "Dinosaur Adventure 3D" are sure to make the rounds during the peak hours of a DJ set. The new-look Underworld has stifled the skeptics by creating an album of timeless brilliance. Did we really ever doubt them?

FAULTLINE

Your Love Means Everything

(Elektra)

Following its deeply dark and critically lauded 1999 debut, Closer, Colder, Faultline (a.k.a. David Kosten) returns with 12 mystic tracks under the title of Your Love Means Everything. Straying from the stark and desperate sounds of his debut, Kosten's new material is warmer, boasting live instrumentation and guest vocals from Chris Martin (Coldplay), Wayne Coyne (Flaming Lips), Michael Stipe (R.E.M.), Nick McCabe (ex- The Verve) and newcomer Jacob Golden. This roster of talent creates an incredibly gripping soundtrack for an aching heart, complete with feelings of inflated hope, tragic letdowns and utter loneliness. On the stirring "Where Is My Boy," one can hear the longing in Martin's vocals as the instrumentation slowly builds in intensity to a rising climax. With "The Colossal Gray Sunshine," the entire Flaming Lips cast gets involved to make a poignant statement in sound. Through his use of sweeping string arrangements, innovative electronics and staggering production, Kosten's feelings — even on the instrumental tracks — are so apparent that one may as well be reading the lyric sheet in his heart. For Faultline, mood means everything.

CLIPSE

Lord Willin' (Star Trak-Arista)
Clipse is the Southern-fried embodiment of hip-hop's Scarface obsessions — pontificating about slinging powder and packing pistols in the present tense — with cocksure braggadocio battered in suave, down-to-earth Virginia cool. Its debut, Lord Willin', is a funky juxtaposition of gritty haze slangin' tales by brothers Malice and Pusha T and the now-ubiquitous pogo of Neptunes-produced tracks. No one within five miles of a car stereo spent this summer without the minimalist Schooly D-meets-Skinny Puppy trash-can thrash of "Grindin'" etched into their cerebellum, and other Lord Willin' bangers are equally as infectious. "Young Boy" and "Virginia" examine how the Thornton brothers sell more powder than Johnson and Johnson, over Neptunes tracks that joyfully bounce or menacingly recoil. Clipse get high on its own supply on "Gangsta Lean" (where Neptune Pharrell's faux-falsetto cruises through Mayfield fields) and "Ego" has the tricky implied beats of a funeral march second line. Sure, the Neptunes could make a napping kindergartener sound fly, but thankfully Clipse push rhymes like it pushes weight.

DIVISION OF LAURA LEE

Black City

(Burning Heart-Epitaph)
Secret meetings are being held behind closed doors in Sweden. One by one, a new band is being let loose like an opiate to the masses. Newcomers like the Hives and Sahara Hotnights have joined forces with the likes of Soundtrack Of Our Lives and the Hellcopters, among many others, to prepare for the Swedish Invasion. Fueling the craze, Division Of Laura Lee has joined the ranks with its debut album, Black City. Tracks like "We've Been Planning This For Years" and "Second Rule Is" evoke a spirited hardcore influence, while the album's opener, "Need To Get Some," sounds more like an angst-ridden version of the Strokes. Amidst all the apprehension, Division Of Laura Lee softens its texture with the dreamy "I Walk On Broken Glass" and the spacey guitar composition "Trapped In." Topping off the debut is the most illustrious "I Guess I'm Healed," a track that's seasoned with a spicy mix of bongos and organ. So, all aboard for the Swedish rock 'n' roll express — it's going to be an entertaining ride.

ROMAN CANDLE

Says Pop (Outlook)

Led by brothers Skip and Logan Matheny, Roman Candle comes from the town of Chapel Hill, North Carolina — a city with a rich and important musical history. The band's debut album, dubbed Says Pop, fits comfortably into that history, falling somewhere between the catchy guitar hooks of Superchunk and the confessional story telling of fellow Chapel Hill native Ryan Adams. Each song has the ability to transport the listener into the lives of the characters being portrayed in the lyrics. It's a credit to Roman Candle's songwriting that its songs are more like short films than journal entries. This makes it very easy for the listener to find a reflection of his or her self in the lyrics and form an emotional attachment with the songs. The radio-friendly, yet sprawling pop of "Baby's Got It In The Genes" is as playful and unpretentious as a serious song can be. "I Wish I Was In New York" is better drinking music than the stuff that gets played at most country and western bars. It's a good thing that music can be hip without trying to be.

UPTOWN SINCLAIR

Uptown Sinclair (D-text)

Uptown Sinclair is a band that screams extravagance. Flashy like a comic book and as explosive as a circus canon, this Cleveland, Ohio quartet is sure to jolt the Modern rock genre. Molded like rock star action figures, the band features four men with oh-so-charming appeal, namely Bill Watterson (bass/vocals), Rob Pfeiffer (drums) and former Sons Of Elvis members Tim Parnin (guitar) and Dave Hill (vocals/guitar). Snug at home on D-text Records, the group's debut opens like a choreographed belly flop into a pool ("Face Down") and continues with eight more tasty treats, each brimming with fierce melodies, sweet lyrics and a hyper attitude. "First Thing In The Morning" is a sure to make female fans swoon with its swagger and sweet boy vocals, while "Landslide" (no, not the Fleetwood Mac tune) bursts with undeniably catchy hooks. Pleasures like this don't always come around the bend, so give Uptown Sinclair a spin.

Coldplay

talk about the passion

Story by Steve Ciabattoni

A shirtless Chris Martin tidies his hotel room. “Christina Aguilera was just here,” he jokes, hastily kicking laundry to the corners and clearing a space on the bed to sit. He kids because he knows the press can often focus on everything but the music. It happens when you’re a star. And like it or not, at 25, this sleek, energetic frontman with the flashing blue eyes is a star and Coldplay (Martin, guitarist Jonny Buckland, bassist Guy Berryman and drummer Will Champion) has grown into one of the hottest tickets on the planet. It’s a role all four began embracing last summer on an American tour that culminated at Radio City Music Hall where Coldplay unveiled pivotal songs from their new CD, A Rush Of Blood To The Head. In doing so, they hinted at the fitter, happier, more productive band they would become.

“We were in Atlanta having a nightmare at this big radio festival,” Martin says, relating the sourest part of the long tour supporting their Grammy-winning debut Parachutes. “Fair enough, a lot of the audience wasn’t there to see us, and so we got a bit of a hard time. But, after that, we thought, well, we either keep going along on this apologetic tip or we say ‘Fuck it!’ Some people here really like us, so let’s play for them and let’s try and improve for them so that we validate their belief in us. So it was like a big Rocky-style challenge for us as a band,” he says making fists, invoking Philly’s favorite fictional son. “We’re not going to be scared of anyone anymore.”

At Radio City the band held nothing back. Martin sprinted about the stage and bounded up stairs to feed off the energy of the audience.

“That show was the first step,” he says. “A month later, we got offered to headline the Glastonbury Festival in England. That was like Radio City times 10, because that’s where we grew up. Someone showing that much confidence in us made us first of all think ‘Oh, we can’t do that’ and then we said ‘No, we can fucking do that!’”

Seizing such opportunities gave Coldplay a new kind of access, enabling them to meet, work with and be inspired by the likes of U2, Oasis and the Flaming Lips, who Martin calls the best live band on the planet. “I’m so into showing your belief in your band when you’re on stage and thinking ‘Fuck the people who don’t like it,’” he says. “There’ll always be people who’ll give you a shitty review, but I refuse to hold back any passion. I’m up for the challenge of trying to get passionate music into the mainstream. That’s why I’m so pleased to see U2 and Springsteen and even Dave Matthews out there. It’s cool because they’re all writing heartfelt stuff. And right now they’re the biggest acts in America...and Eminem before them. I mean Eminem is as good as Springsteen. They’re all doing passionate stuff and that’s brilliant. We just want to be part of that.”

Even if emotions are pure and passionate, some grumble that Coldplay has gotten too popular. Some even cried sell-out when snippets of the Parachutes mega-hit “Yellow” was used in ABC-TV promo spots in the States. “Being popular is nothing to be ashamed of,” Martin says. “I know that even our own fans will hate this new record. I’m sure you’ve read people on our web site about it, but I don’t think anyone’s complaining about the music though,” he argues. “It annoys me that people get annoyed that we’re getting popular. That’s fine if people thought we were writing different music just to get popular or doing a Gap commercial — fair enough the ABC thing — but that’s quite different than advertising for the Gap or us taking bit parts on Ally McBeal,” he qualifies. “We’re not doing that. I mean we slave for our music. In those 10 months of absolute blinkered focus of making a record, we’re not thinking about how many people are going to buy it or where we’re going to play, we’re thinking about ‘Is this good?’ We’re making it for individuals,” he says, just getting warmed up. “We’re not making it to be listened to in stadiums. We’re making it so you can listen to it and feel like it’s yours. We made this record for our fans as much as ourselves. I want some kid in Nebraska who liked our first record and took a lot of shit for it in the playground to walk around with this one and say ‘See I told you!’”

For those types of fans, there are plenty of songs to boast about on A Rush Of Blood To The Head. For example, the first single, “In My Place,” has the same, blissful pop uplift of “Yellow.” While that might lead one to believe the new album is not a huge departure from Parachutes, there is a major new element in the mix: the sound of a more confident, more expressive band. Songs like “God Put A Smile Upon Your Face” and “Politik” are Coldplay’s boldest musical statements yet, with stark, shimmering guitar work that recalls their idols U2 and Echo And The Bunnymen. “I don’t know the word for it here, but at the moment I’m absolutely cacking myself about how people are going to react,” Martin says of the new album. “It’s not the same as the last one, except that we wanted to maintain the emphasis on melody and emotion. Apart from that, we wanted to do whatever was coming naturally. And what came naturally to us was the product of the last two years of our lives as far as all the people and the travel and relationships.”

Perhaps the most significant relationships are those within the band. Rumors surfaced last year that the band was splitting or that A Rush... might be the last album. “All I said was maybe this’ll be our last record,” he says clarifying a spark of one of the rumors. “What I meant was, I don’t care about our next record or our fifth record. None of us do. We care about this one. It’s about now. Put everything into it now. My granddad always said ‘Do it now,’” he adds. “Don’t put things off and worry about what might happen.” When it’s suggested that friction between band members is not unlike like lovers arguing and that performing live is as rewarding as the make-up sex, Martin agrees. “Yeah. It is like being married,” he admits. “We don’t sleep together, but being on the tour bus is about as close as you can get.”

Rumors and backstage stories will continue to fly, but as Coldplay takes this new album to the world they appear tight and focused. At a recent performance, in the middle of the hit “Trouble,” Martin caught guitarist Buckland’s gaze just as he sang the telling line “I never meant to cause you trouble.” In that shared moment they both grinned. It could have meant absolutely nothing or it could have meant more than you’ll ever know. While they are only on their second album, it’s not overstatement to put the musical relationship between Martin and Buckland on par with that of Bono and the Edge, Michael Stipe and Peter Dinklage, Morrissey and Johnny Marr; duos that combine a charismatic, poetic singer with a guitarist whose brilliance often lies in his simplicity. Buckland doesn’t really solo or show off, but his chiming single-note melodies, like the one that leads “In My Place,” defines the song as much as anything. “When a good song comes, it just arrives quickly,” Martin says, sketching out the songwriting process. “I run and I get Jonny and if he picks up his guitar then you know you’re in business because he’ll put something on it that makes it 50 times better and then Guy and Will will do the same. By the time it’s finished, you think, ‘My God am I really a part of that?’ Even though you know that you’ve sat there for 10 hours doing it. Being inside Coldplay songs is the most exciting thing I’ve ever done,” he says, still not believing how lucky he is. “Someone said to me the other day ‘You guys are doing the hard work on stage.’ And I said ‘What do you mean?’ I’m with my best friends playing songs I can’t believe we’ve got and singing to all these people,” he says wide-eyed. “Isn’t it an amazing thing to be able to do that as your job?” NMR

“I want some kid in Nebraska who liked our first record and took a lot of shit for it in the playground to walk around with this one and say ‘See I told you!’”

ARTIST SPOTLIGHT BEFORE BRAILLE

With the vigor of Thursday and the sugary-sweet guitar hooks of its Mesa, Arizona neighbor Jimmy Eat World, Aezra Records recording artist Before Braille has created The Rumor, an energetic debut album that walks the fine line between epic rock and intensely catchy pop. CMJ spoke with the band's singer-guitarist, Dave Jensen, about the new record, moving to Switzerland and why people should let the "emo" tag drop.

I understand that you shudder when your music is described as emo. How would you describe Before Braille's material to someone who has never heard it?

I'm not really afraid of somebody calling me emo at all; I just don't think it's true. My only complaint is that our label has been pushing us as emo, because that happens to be what is selling right now, and I think it's irresponsible to do so. But, everybody has their own opinions of what it is, so maybe some people would say that we're emo. Music gradually changes over time, so it's more of a modern rock 'n' roll or a new alternative.

The band is from Mesa, Arizona — what's the music scene like out there?

It's very young. Actually, we just played a show right outside an ice cream shop. There were a ton of young kids and young bands out there playing. A writer from one of the local publications checked out the show and she's writing a little something about us. She's from Chicago and she couldn't believe it. She was like, "This isn't normal to have this. Nothing like this happens in Chicago." There are a lot of young kids who want to do something, and many of them want to avoid the bars and things like that, so we're constantly trying to find places to play shows. We played a show a couple of weeks ago at some laser tag place. It was pretty awesome. No matter what kind of success the band has, we'll always be interested in playing more intimate, fun shows like that. We've played skating rinks too, Buddy Holly style. It keeps things fresh to change locations and play in places that are more fun and open instead of some dingy old bar where people are drunk and wasted and trying to drink their lives away.

Would you say there is a theme to the album? Where did the inspiration come from for these songs?

I help initiate writing some of the songs, but it's more of a collective process. I don't know exactly what influences everyone else. It's usually just personal experiences. I know that lyrically, because I write all the lyrics, the songs deal with things that I've dealt with very poorly in life and I'm just trying to deal with them again. Lyrically, I'm trying to tell myself how I would've done things in hindsight, or how I would have reacted or expressed myself, or what choices I should have or could have made. I just put that to music. Sometimes, it's just relating bad experiences. I don't know if I'll always be so negative, but at the same time, I can listen to Björk records and feel better. There's something about loathing and wallowing in sorrow for four-to-five minute periods that makes me feel better. It gets out a lot of that grime and nastiness in my life. It has a lot to do with dealing with failure and being able to feel better about myself by expressing it through music.

Your press materials mention that Fugazi's D.I.Y. ethic has had a big impact on you. How so?

Fugazi has had a lot to do with a lot of things that go well around us. Musically, of course, we're all in love with the band. Their ideology and the way they go about things is really quite amazing. They're one of the most important bands in the world. They are just so influential. I started my record label and I think that had something to do — at least subconsciously — with the things I learned from their ethics, and the ethics of many other bands around that time in the early 1990s. My record label is almost like a constant mirror or a conscience about things. The whole rock star life is such a fairytale. Bands like Fugazi, and even Jimmy Eat World for that matter, are in a position where they could be big time rock star jerks, but they're not that way at all. They're just regular guys from Mesa. A band like Fugazi takes that whole rock star element out of the music and just makes it about the music. Those guys take it to extremes. They won't sell any t-shirts or anything like that. It keeps the true nature and creation of music intact.

Where do you see Before Braille five years from now?

If things go well, we will tour Europe constantly and live there. That's my ultimate goal. I'd love to live in Europe and bring the band out there with me. I want to live in Switzerland or Prague. We've actually spoken about moving over to Switzerland, but we can't afford it. As long as we have a practice space, continue writing songs and hopefully accumulate more recording equipment, we'll just keep making records and making music. We've got at least 50 new songs that we don't even know what to do with. We've got to put out records, according to our contract, once every year-and-a-half. We're wishing it was more like once every six months; we've got enough material. Writing songs is really natural for us. We've got a lot of different ideas.

*Be sure to catch Before Braille at this year's CMJ Music Marathon, held Oct. 30 through Nov. 2, in New York City.*

Among Thieves has released another set of demos to Loud Rock radio. Bassist and chief songwriter Alan Robert was a founding member of the long lost and sorely missed Life Of Agony. The NY foursome is heading into the studio in late September with studio vet Michael Barbiero, whose credits include Metallica, Clutch and Lost Prophets. So, by all means, please enjoy the disc that's on your desk and here's to hoping that the Thieves snag a deal ASAP. For more info, hit up Rich Ortega at McGathy Promotions. • The Bible says observe the Sabbath. We say observe it, only if it has something to do with Ozzy Osbourne. Look for Rhino Records to release a special 29-track double disc set that spans Black Sabbath's early output in October. Titled Symptom Of The Universe: The Original Black Sabbath 1970-1978, the set contains classics like "Iron Man," "War Pigs," "Sweet Leaf" and "Snow Blind" and was exec-produced by the Double O's wife, Sharon. She is the mistress of metal, followed only by yours truly. • We heard a lil' rumor that Suffocation is reforming. Could it be? Please, Satan! Make it happen. • Escape Artist has signed Theory Of Ruin and The Dream Is Dead. • The live forum has always been Clutch's forte, so it's not a surprise that the Maryland-West Virginia-based rock machine is prepping a live album for release later this year. • Okay, after we raved about Not Waving But Drowning, we found out that the drummer and guitarist have quit the band. The remaining members are looking to soldier on. • In Flames frontman Anders Friden has a little side project called Passenger, which sounds nothing like the melodic death work of In Flames. It's arty rock and we love it. • Sick Speed is the Georgia-based band that features ex-members of another Loud Rock favorite, Stuck Mojo. If you close your eyes and pay close attention to the riffery, you'd swear it was Mojo for 2002. The raps of Bonz have been replaced by clean singing. Georgia-core, all the way. • Remember Factory 81? Well, the band has split with Jive and is looking to secure a new label deal. • Androgynous rock act Coheed And Cambria has not broken up, despite rumors to the contrary. • Limp Bizkit has gone from one "R.R." producer to the next. The progenitors of rap-metal started out with Ross Robinson behind the boards and have gotten Rick Rubin on board for its next effort. The end is certainly nigh.

MINI LABEL PROFILE

Onedaysavior Recordings is operated by Christopher Tzompanakis, singer for Skycamefalling (by the way, two brand spanking new SCF songs, "Thera" and "The Elephant Graveyard," have landed in our grubby little paws and we love them. While raw, the tunes are super dynamic and prove that SCF is not just "another" hardcore band). Onedaysavior has released a slew of records that we feel compelled to mention. Boys Night Out has made a perky, punk-hardcore album, titled Broken Bones And Bloody Kisses and The Killing Tree has given us a chafing metalcore behemoth in The Romance Of Helen Trent. The latter will be worked to metal radio this fall, so keep an eye out for this ripe, tasty slab of fresh underground meat. The label also provided the lift off to Remembering Never and Celebrity.

INDUSTRY NEWS

Prosthetic Records, home to Lamb Of God (recording right now) and Spite, has moved. The label is now headquartered at: 11664 National Blvd., #413, Los Angeles, CA 90064. Also, Hopeless/Sub City Records (the label that licensed the to-be-worshipped Avenged Sevenfold record, Sounding The Seventh Trumpet) has also relocated to: 16140 Leadwell Street, Van Nuys, CA 91406. The phone number remains 818.997.0444. Update yer files, people. • Hydrahead Records, considered a cornerstone of Northeastern metalcore, is moving its Boston digs to the West Coast. Once the guys (Aaron and Mark) get us a new address, we'll get it to you. Best of luck on the Left Coast to one of the underground's most uncompromising labels! • Joe Roach, host of KICT/Wichita, Kansas's Roachpit, recently discovered that one of his good friends has been diagnosed with Lupus. His dear friend, Tommy Phaw of Newton, Kansas, is a lifelong fan of Loud Rock, so Roach is organizing a softball tournament, followed by a charity auction on Oct. 12, to help his ailing buddy. Roach is donating all of the autographed memorabilia he has accumulated over the years to the auction and he is looking for donations. Reach him at: 316.436.1095, after 7 p.m., CST. Please assist in this good cause! • WRKC/Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania has a new Loud Rock director. Michelle Rakshys has taken over the reigns from Bob Decker, who held the position for nearly seven years. Decker will continue doing a show at the station, but Rakshys will now handle the charts. Shoot her an email at: xknuckles@hotmail.com. She's a rocker. • Pat Egan, who was handling sales and overseeing radio at Koch Records, is no longer with the label. A replacement has yet to be named, but Chuck Oliner is picking up the slack in the meantime and can be reached at: chuck.oliner@kochint.com.

NILE

In Their Darkened Shrines (Relapse)
When Nile lost Chief Spires — a founding member, bassist, vocalist and essentially a cornerstone of Nile's Egyptian-tinged death metal — the metal community released a collective gasp and a sigh of disbelief. Spires departed Nile because he wanted to play a different style of music and his South Carolina bandmates were left with a gaping wound — one that would be tough to heal. Enter Dark Moon's stocky Jon Vesano, who has arms big enough to crush your cranium like a peanut shell. The album was written pre-Vesano, who came in and contributed his growls. In Their Darkened Shrines retains Nile specifics, such as lyrics steeped in Egyptology (the study of ancient writings and symbols), which still fascinates drummer Tony Laureano to this day (Iron Maiden's Powerslave also looked closely at Egyptology, by the way). It's still Nile; an uncompromising, steamy chunk of death metal. Nile rips through 12 black-blooded, bile-encrusted anthems that could charm even the most venomous and cranky metal snake. The twelve-minute "Unas, Slayer Of The Gods" is nothing short of epic and "I Whisper In The Ear Of The Dead" isn't too shabby either.

R.I.Y.L.: Morbid Angel, Iron Maiden's Powerslave (after those, Nile is peerless.)

PROJECT 86

An Introduction To Truthless Heroes Sampler (Atlantic)

Project 86's new album, titled Truthless Heroes, is a concept album constructed like a television drama about the rise-and-fall of one particular truthless hero, complete with commercials. Before Atlantic and P86 jump into the regular scheduled programming of the full Truthless Heroes album, the band and label are giving you this sampler as a gift. Three songs, including an interlude, make up this primer. P86 is somewhat serious, but never pretentious in its hard rock. "Another Boredom Movement," "SMC" and "Hollow Again" are artsy and captivating cuts. Someone needs to start calling Tooth And Nail Records "college" because all of the label's bands eventually graduate to the other side — major labeldom — but always manage to keep their integrity in tact.

DRAGPIPE

Music For The Last Day Of Your Life (Interscope)

The state of New Jersey (a factoid: South Jersey has produced every CMJ Loud Rock Editor since the early 1990s; that would be Amy Sciarretto, Jackie Vendetti, Jenni Glenn and Kevin Boyce) is oft maligned as the armpit of New York City. It's often conveniently forgotten that Staten Island — one of the five boroughs — is the one with the dump. The smell, the traffic and the angry drivers all define the rest of the country's disdain for dirty Jersey. But NJ has one thing you can't fuck with: the loudest, meanest hard rock. The Garden State has given us Bon Jovi, Dillinger Escape Plan, Thursday, God Forbid, E-Town Concrete, and now, Dragpipe. The 'Pipe is fronted by the charismatic, riddle-wrapped-in-a-mystery frontman Jai Diablo and Music For The Last Day Of Your Life blisters through and through with "Simple Minded," the snarling "Puller" and the don't-fuck-with-me "Diablo Handshake." You'll hope that this isn't really music for the last day of your life because the addictive hard rock hooks will make you want to get up tomorrow and listen again. And again.

MYRKSOG

Superior Massacre (Candlelight)

We strongly recommend that you don't listen to Myrkskog's Superior Massacre when you're home alone, if you're spooked easily, or if you like anything trendy about your metal. Superior Massacre kicks off with howling winds that will have you looking over your shoulder, under your bed and making sure you locked all the doors with the deadbolts. Superior Massacre is anchored by the battering ram, double bass beats of drummer Sethdaimon (of Zyklon fame) and the virile riffs of vocalist Destructhor (also of Zyklon, which if you're not in-the-know, is Samoth of Emperor's other band). "Trapped In Torment" and "Indisposable Deaths" are so fast and complicated and 100 percent trend free. In fact, Superior Massacre is such a pure death metal record, it would make Philip Anselmo turn his burly, metal-worshippin' head.

BLANK THEORY

Beyond The Calm Of The Corridor (Scratchie-New Line)

Imagine Linkin Park without the rapping. Imagine a younger version of TRUSTcompany and you've got yourself a Blank Theory. The commercially viable, crisp Beyond The Calm Of The Corridor is groove-centered (hit up "Addicted" or "Father's Eyes" for a pair of teeth-rattling, monster-truck sized hooks) and often melodic, ripping a page right outta the Deftones' book. Former Smashing Pumpkins guitarist James Iha produced Beyond The Calm Of The Corridor and contributes guitar tracks to a handful of songs. Producer Jay Baumgardner (Papa Roach, Godsmack) manned the boards, giving Blank Theory just the right "oomph" and "punch" in its corner.

2. KCRW CD, out Sept. 24

Station philosophy/audience perception: KCRW's programming reflects the diversity of the community it serves. The station has become a destination to hear "what's happening" — trend-setting artists, new bands, and the latest in news, politics and culture.

Slogans or position statements: "Your Radio Home for Handpicked Music and NPR News." "NPR's Southern California Flagship Station."

How station is different from others in the market: KCRW attracts the youngest audience for National Public Radio's newsmagazines in any major market in the country. KCRW is the number one public radio station in Southern California.

Off-campus station activities: KCRW airs the Santa Monica City Council meetings on Tuesday nights, when in session. KCRW also presents a variety of live events — including benefit concerts.

Promoting the station on and off campus:

Trade advertisements in magazines, ads at local art house theaters, on the front of city buses, in magazines, plus commercials on the public TV station and other public radio stations with a different format.

Station marketing/Fund raising: More than half of KCRW's cash revenue comes from the station's 55,000 members. The remainder comes from foundations, companies and government agencies.

Remote broadcasts: Since 1998, Nic Harcourt has taken Morning Becomes Eclectic on the road with live broadcasts at the CMJ Music Marathon in New York. Harcourt has also broadcast live from the Latin Alternative Music Conference and South by Southwest (SXSW) in Austin, TX. In addition, every couple of months, KCRW's local news program, Which Way, L.A.? goes on the road to broadcast live in an open forum.

Current/Recent promotion: On Sept. 24, KCRW will release Sounds Eclectic Too

(Palm), a compilation of live recordings originally performed on Morning Becomes Eclectic. All profits from the sale of the CD will benefit KCRW and be directed toward the support of music programming on the station.

Ties to local retail: Fringe Benefits™ Program: More than 200 Southland merchants and organizations participate in this program to reward KCRW supporters. Organizations offer incentives to Fringe Benefits™ cardholders — usually discounts of 10 to 20 percent — but sometimes 2-for-1 offers or other inducements.

Other interesting station benchmarks: KCRW has one of the largest music libraries of any public radio station with over 50,000 CDs and albums from every genre. Music Director Nic Harcourt reviews over 200 CDs a week with the purpose of choosing the handful that get placed in KCRW's music library.

COPE WITH IT

For those who may have missed it, this column is a continuation of last week's "Cope With It," which focused on the heritage of Vanguard Records and the early days of the Welk Music Group. The 21st century WMG is a much different company, faced with different problems and issues never imagined by their 20th century predecessors. WMG's survival tactics have shifted as they attempt to adapt to the ever-changing landscape of today's music business.

One important strategic maneuver came when WMG's distributor, DNA, went out of business. VP of Sales Dan Sell knew it was time for the company to take greater control over its own destiny. At the time of DNA's demise, WMG had already been selling direct to some of the larger accounts, so it seemed a natural next step for them to sell direct to all qualified retailers and one stops. With very little addition to their existing staff, WMG went solo, setting up its own distribution network and selling direct to accounts without missing a beat (or a sale). One might ask what the big deal is (since lots of labels try to sell direct), but the big deal here is that we're talking about major artists on multiple (WMG) labels moving big numbers and all under the constant pressure to produce, ship and collect without losing momentum. Not an easy job—ask any music distributor.

WMG is changing the way retail and radio look at their collective labels. While the original Vanguard catalog titles remain as important as ever, there is a new, vital Vanguard with a roster of current artists including John Hiatt, Sinéad O'Connor (initial projected October shipping: 125,000), Julia Fordham, Robert Bradley, Peter Stuart, Peter Case and Patty Larkin (whose new album is slated for March 2003). Recent successes include comps like the Songcatcher soundtrack (90k scanned), the Cajun music tribute Evangeline Made (18.5k scanned) and Mississippi John Hurt tribute Avalon Blues (33k scanned).

WMG's Sugar Hill label successes include Dolly Parton's new Halos And Horns (which has shipped nearly 200k and scanned more than 75k) and Nickel Creek's This Side (375k shipped, 82k scanned its first two weeks). Sugar Hill's roster includes Guy Clark, Jerry Douglas, James McMurtry and the recently signed Gibson Brothers. WMG is looking to do more distribution deals in the future as well; in fact, an exclusive deal was cut last May for Ray Charles albums released on his own Crossover Records.

This label has gone through major changes and continues to flourish. The music business has always been about adapting—survival of the fittest. WMG has taken a different route than most, but it seems to be working just fine. On a personal note, I can say this label cares about the music it releases, the quality of its artists and in doing everything possible to take their records as far as they can. Perhaps there are "geniuses" out there that can learn from WMG's philosophy of dedication and hard work. Next week is Charlie Christian week, so stay tuned.

Peace, Cope. R.I.P. Lionel Hampton.

SPEAK OUT

Eric Levin
Criminal Records
Atlanta, GA

Part I of II: After reading Mark Cope's editorial two weeks ago, I thought, "Why would anyone want to join an alliance with other indie record stores?" Y'know, the old thing about not wanting to join a club that would have me as a member, blah, blah, blah.

So let me set a scene: The other day, I'm walking around, enjoying a very pleasant day at my store. Three brand-new punk kids are sitting on the floor near the magazine rack, flipping through

Maximumrocknroll back issues. One of my team members is talking to a local promoter and booking her band for a show while another is having a philosophical discussion with a customer about the merits of Shaolin Soccer. I disagree on my way past them, telling the shopper to get the (superior) God Of Cookery DVD. I haven't even reached the toy section before I hear "ooohs" and "aaahs" (and "d'ohs") over the new Simpsons action figure shipment. There's a couple standing at one of the listening posts trying to share one pair of headphones. I want to point out an unoccupied listening station so they won't break my damn phones, but I don't think that's really the point. Besides, it's kinda cute. In back, the guy who writes Robin is picking up some extra copies of his newest issue—he just missed the guy who draws Spider-Man. I wonder if they've met (the artist and writer, not the superheroes).

In the time it took to get from the front to the back of the store, I got to hear a Clash song, a bit of the M-Theory sampler and a couple tracks from a new Rolling Stones reissue.

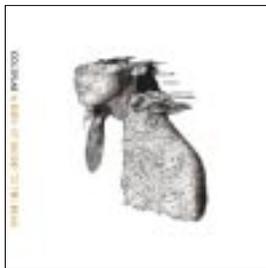

I've got a pretty great job.

That day my mind wandered (as it often does) to the new soulless death box breaking ground about a block down the street. I picture myself inside, toppling refrigerators and shouting, "Kick out the jams, motherfuckers!" In my imaginary revolt, I'm busting TVs to the tune of some old punk song (Hüsker Dü, I think).

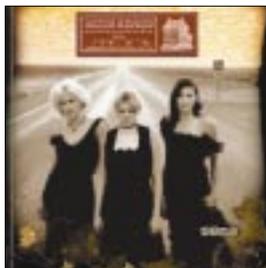

For some reason, I'm dressed like Ziggy Stardust. I have very strange and vivid daydreams.

I hate those fuckers for taking my art, my love, my life and...

UNDER THE RADAR Column by Gerry Hart • ghart@cmj.com

This week in Under the Radar we want to draw special attention to those albums that are either making important moves on CMJ Retail charts or are just about to. We'll also throw in a few reasons on the what, why and how things are beginning to pop.

Fans who sign up get free audio and photos from their show. Idea is to build online fan base born from genuinely enthusiastic fans. Best site: burning-brides.com	"Circular Parade" exclusively featured on MP3.com 7/17. Downloads jumped quickly from 400 to 1200 per day and are now averaging 600 unique DL daily. BM have over 200k downloads logged at MP3.com. Themilitiagroup.com featuring EPK 3 weeks before release (9/24).
Notes	Guitar World : "[It's] an event parallel in significance to the release of Robert Johnson: The Complete Recordings ." Miles Davis called him the "original instigator of the bebop movement." Charlie Christian—one of the most innovative and influential guitarists of all time. His legacy truly deserves retail support.	This album was produced by Nate Albert (formerly MMBosstones). LCA is a hard working touring band that came knocking at Nitro's door with a simple note: "We want to be on your label." Nitro gave the record a listen and the deal was done quickly. This band will hit you that way. WBCN and WFNX giving unheard of early support for such a new artist.	V2 truly taking a developing artist approach - not trying to jam the band down everyone's throats by running them up the commercial radio and video flagpoles before album's even released. Not just throwing this one against the wall to see if it sticks—they're in this for the artist development long-haul. Definitely in-store play "Arctic Snow" (find it on latest volume of CMJ's Certain Damage).	With a new deal with RED and nearly 30,000 units shipped on their band Rufio, the Militia Group are ready to break Beautiful Mistake beyond So. Cal. Light is produced by Ed Rose (Get Up Kids, Coalesce). For questions contact James Cho (yes, James from Vagrant's recent heydays): james@themilitiagroup.com or 714.596.9947.

the music shack

65 Central Ave. Albany, NY 12206
p. 518-436-4581 • f. 518-432-3293
e. morngrise@aol.com

Music fiends in the Capitol City couldn't rock or rap as hard as they do now without the help of this week's retailer. The Music Shack has been in business since 1970 and currently has two locations, one in Albany and another across the Hudson in Troy, NY. Though Music Shack has always carried music from the mainstream, they've also specialized in music both from the underground and from outside your typical mall store. Music Shack, Albany not only has the largest selection of 12" singles in the area, but you'd be challenged to find a 12" anywhere else in town. What makes the store even more unique to its area is that computer listening stations allow DJs and other customers to sample all the 12" singles before purchase.

Music Shack stands out as much more knowledgeable about music than the local big box mall accounts that make up the competition. At MS, no matter what customer questions arise, someone on staff can address them. MS has in-house buyers who stay on top of new bands as well as special orders, and who help make sure there's always a deep back catalogue for music of all types (including local). In Albany, local hardcore and metal bands have been able to do pretty well and Music Shack has played a role in their successes.

Music Shack manager,
Kevin Maloney

Music Shack has had a wide variety of in-store performances over the year ranging from Zakk Wylde to Mobb Deep, Jahiem, Life Of Agony, Pro-Pain, and Capone-N-Noreaga.

Current MS programs include: listening stations and monthly print ads that feature artist minis and price and positioning.

Q&A with Kevin Maloney

Current favorite?

It's hard to pick so here's a few: Vintersorg's Visions From The Spiral Generator, Agalloch's The Mantle and Dark Tranquillity's Damage Done.

All time favorite album?

Anathema's Eternity, Mercyful Fate's Don't Break The Oath and Death Angel's Act III. I could go on and on!

All time favorite B-side?

Iron Maiden's "Total Eclipse".

First record bought? Where? When?

First record I remember getting was Def Leppard's Pyromania. I got it for Christmas around 1985 when I was in fifth grade.

Favorite weekend party disc?

Well, I don't party at all, so depending on what I am doing the music may change. If it's a mellow weekend, maybe Camel's Moonmadness or The Snowgoose, Zakk Wylde's Book Of Shadows or something from Al Di Meola, John McLaughlin and Paco De Lucia. If I need a little more energy, anything by Opeth.

Favorite Sunday morning disc?

I don't put music on right away on Sunday since I'm busy watching Hometime.

First concert attended? Where? When?

Iron Maiden's Somewhere In Time tour at the RPI Fieldhouse, 1987. Yngwie Malmsteen opened.

Best concert attended? Where? When?

So many great shows, but one of the best times I ever had was at the Milwaukee Metal Fest 2000, where I saw Opeth for their first ever USA show. I roadied for Anathema by helping with the bass sound-check. I also saw some other great bands like Children Of Bodom and Katatonia.

What artist (past or present) would you like to see live?

Alice In Chains.

Currently reading?

J.R.R. Tolkien's The Hobbit.

What do you collect?

CDs and guitars.

NEWSWORTHY

Capitol Records' Latest Release

Congratulations to our long-time friend and Capitol Records VP of Global Marketing, Robert ("you can will follow in his father's footsteps, as he is currently on the A&R hunt for the first all-baby boy band. Congrats to the Gordon family... and Melissa deserves a medal.

Capitol releases the latest from Rob Gordon: Joshua Matthew call me Rob") Gordon and his wife Melissa on the birth of their new baby boy, Joshua Matthew Gordon. Josh weighed in at a whopping 8 pounds and 12 ounces. Apparently Joshua

Militia Group Inks RED Deal

With only a year-and-a-half under their belts, indie label Militia Group has inked a deal with the mighty RED Distribution. While many militia groups suffer through relative obscurity fighting for their constitutional rights somewhere in the Midwest, these Cali mercenaries are blowing up - mainly thanks to the success of Rancho Cucamonga emo-punkers Rufio. The Rufio CD Perhaps, I Suppose... was Militia's inaugural release and has since gone on to sell over 20,000 copies (and shipped 30,000) without the slightest bit of help from major chains - but a ton of support from indies, online accounts and Hot Topic locations.

Militia Group has been making a name for itself through Internet marketing, with Rufio garnering almost 600,000 downloads at mp3.com. Other Militia Group acts have gathered over 200,000 downloads—including Cali's churning Noise Ratchet and their newest emo upstarts Beautiful Mistake. Rufio also had the third best-selling title in the history of Hot Topic stores and the best-selling CD ever sold through interpunk.com.

according to DITV's Scott Farrell. The usually raucous band stripped down to an acoustic set, burning through five songs and an impromptu cover of Poison's "Every Rose Has Its Thorn." Fun fact: The average age of a Sunset Black member is 20, which would make them six years old when Poison's Open Up And Say... Ahh! was released in 1988. That means they are probably too young to remember that Poison sucked even back then.

★: Signifies upward movement

After conquering the Internet, Militia Group hopes to penetrate major chains thanks to RED's help. Ex-Vagrant-now-Militia-Group sales wiz, James Cho helped garner the RED deal when he arrived at TMG last spring. Cho launched his career as a sales assistant at RED back when it was IRD. The first Militia release through RED will be by ever-downloaded emo band Beautiful Mistake, due September 24.

Sunset In The Valley

Minneapolis emo-metal troupe Sunset Black celebrated the August 27 release of their debut album Common Ground with a performance at Golden Valley, Minneapolis record hut Down In The Valley. The Common Ground pre-order CD came with a flossy black T-shirt that advertised the Tuesday performance, a gig that wrangled about 110 fans into the Valley,

Music Box Winds Down

After 46 years of business, family-owned Hamden, Connecticut record shop Music Box is closing its doors. In an interview in the New Haven Register, owners Rick and Pam Cohn lamented that the days of retail record stores will soon be over - thanks to the proliferation of Internet downloading and below-cost sales by general-merch giants - and are getting out while they can.

Until it was another downloading casualty, the Music Box was a beloved Hamden staple and a family affair ever since Rick's father Joe Cohn opened the store in 1956. Rick, now 50, has worked at Music Box since he was 12, co-owns the business with his wife Pam, and works there with his two sons Jamie and Jeff. The closing of Music Box, which specialized in hard-to-find orders, is marked by a five-week sale.

Alan Stivell Beyond Words

"Alan Stivell introduced Celtic Music to the world."

John DiIiberto Echoes

50 years ago, Alan Stivell brought the long forgotten Celtic Harp back into use, beginning a career that would rise world-wide interest in Celtic Music.

In celebration of the 50th Anniversary of modern Celtic Music, Stivell has released a mesmerizing new instrumental album, "Beyond Words." With its ancient melodies, Celtic modes, and serene soundscapes, "Beyond Words" is a masterwork of a world music legend.

SUNSET BLACK

Emotionally gut wrenching stories enveloped by raw aggression. Like Sunny Day Real Estate meets the Deftones... an exposed nerve, and a serial killers focus.

"Americas best kept secret, emotional rock from Minneapolis with a garage attitude."

ROBB RIVERA drummer • Nonpoint

Sunset Black's debut album "Common Ground" in stores now! Go to www.sunsetblack.com for more info!

LEGENDS OF RODEO

If you like Ryan Adams, Dashboard Confessional and The Strokes... You need to check this out!

"With Punk Rock and Classic Rock influences, LOR has taken the garage band out of the garage and into the great wide open."

- ALTERNATIVE PRESS

"LOR allows its country-influenced rock to get rowdy, reminiscent and downright sad. It sounds like Tom Petty kicking Paul Westerburg's ass, and Paul liking it."

- MIAMI HERALD

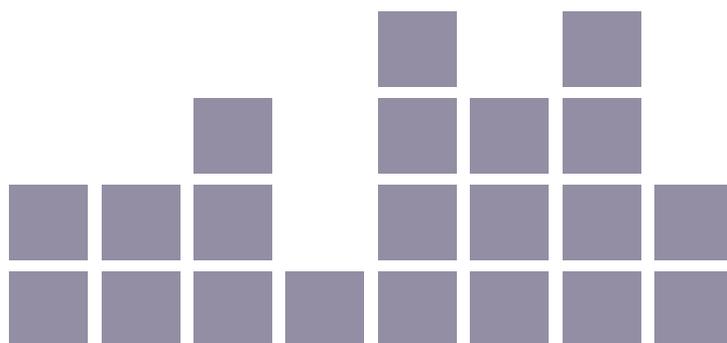

Legends of Rodeo's debut album "A Thousand Friday Nights" in stores now! Go to www.lormusic.com for more info!

the warm guns blown away

Attention!
CMJ 200 & AAA DJs/MDs:
"Blown Away" is on your desks, now!

"What clever bastards! It reminds you just how great popular music can be."

-- Greg Penny, Producer (k.d. lang, Elton John, Cher, Poperetta, Jonathan McEuen)

"The creative spirit of the '60s comes thru, yet the record sounds fresh and of the present."

-- Robben Ford, Guitarist/Solo Artist (The Blue Line, George Harrison, Joni Mitchell, Yellowjackets)

"An album of two halves. Fortunately for us, one is Sgt. Pepper while the other's Hunky Dory."

-- Irfan Shah, Crud Magazine (U.K.)

"... the songs on the Guns' new album, Blown Away, will stick in your head and the smart lyrics will make you think... a band that won't let you forget that pop music can have meaning, substance and intelligence."

-- Brad Filicky, CMJ New Music Report
