Black Radio To Black Community Development

By Pluria Marshall

Black Radio is the catalyst of the black community. It is known that an urban radio station which serves its community in the manner in which it should, is destined to be a leader in radio. There is an obligation for these stations to transmit our black culture, values and critical information to Black Americans.

The National Black Media Coalition (NBMC) is aware of the growing concern of the fate of black radio across the country, and also the need for vital community involvement of the many black formatted radio stations. As a result of that awareness the Black Radio Resource Center has been established. One of its roles will be to help solidify the importance of black radio and emphasize not only entertainment but community importance to radio.

Black radio has gone through a number of developmental changes during its growing stages. The first access blacks had to radio was black air personalities buying short blocks of time (brokering) from general radio station owners to program to black audiences. This was so effective that it led to the advent of black oriented radio, and white station owners began to devote large segments of air time to the black community. In some cases 100 percent of the programming was black oriented. It has obviously become a successful venture because at least one of the top five radio stations in most cities is black formatted.

Probably the most significant and most promising change has been in the number of black owned/operated and black formatted radio stations. NBMC provides minority owners technical as well as legal assistance to implement its commitment to increasing the number of black owned broadcast properties in America.

Black people listen to radio more than any other ethnic group. Therefore the use of radio as a tool to communicate to the community is a logical one. It has been witnessed on a number of occasions how black radio has affected the community and provided positive feedback and information to the community.

Evidence has shown in several U.S. cities that black formatted radio has pulled the community together as a whole in the wake of political affairs and crises. Recent mayoral races in Chicago and Philadelphia are a good example. Without the help of Marv Dyson, General Manager WGCI-FM and Kernie Anderson, General Manager WBMX-FM, Chicago's Mayor Harold Washington would not have been elected as the first black mayor of Chicago. Mary Mason, WHAT-AM, Rodney Jones WDAS-AM Philadelphia were responsible for committing countless hours of air-time to help elect Mayor Wilson Goode as the first black mayor of Philadelphia. Let's shift our attention to the other parts of the country, so as not to say that radio is more community minded in any certain area of the country. In Memphis, Tennessee WDIA-AM had an all out effort to save Mount Bayou, Mississippi, the only black city in the U.S. from bankruptcy. This effort was successful. In this brief bit of history it is quite evident that black radio has helped and can help in its commitment to their black communities. These are the types of efforts all black formatted radio stations across the country should be involved in.

Music is a part of black roots and culture. The argument that black youth do not want news and information to interfere with the music may be true in a general sense. But the greater truth is, blacks are being served poorly if a medium to which they give great attention refuses to provide them with some sense of their environment. Black radio has an obligation, not to misuse it, but include it in its programming strategy.

NBMC will monitor black radio and provide information assistance to black broadcasters to improve community relations. NBMC has earned respect, and gained considerable expertise as a watchdog in the communications industry. As the most successful civil rights organization in the country, we will continue to pool our efforts by networking with other groups and trades such as Cash Box, to make black radio more productive and significant.

Pluria Marshall is chairman of the National Black Media Coalition in Washington, D.C.

No Hits Cited For Soft Yule

By Stephen Padgett

LOS ANGELES — Lack of hit product was the culprit most often cited by retailers as contributing to a lackluster holiday selling season. In a poll of key retailers around the country, Cash Box learned that most retailers came out even or just slightly ahead of 1984. Other factors noted by retailers as adding to the poor Christmas were the continued lack of good CD fills, the shortened selling period (six days less than previous years) and inclement weather in certain parts of the country.

Common among most retailers polled were reports of record post-Christmas sales activity. In addition to this bright news, many retailers reported better-than-expected performance from video as a sales item. How does the flat Christmas bear on profits for 1986? Most retailers feel that hit records hold the key.

"Retailing generally, as we're finding out, was soft. I think every music retailer felt a softness in the Top 10," said Louis Kwiker, president of the 160-store Warehouse chain. Even so, Kwiker commented, "We have historically been running 30 to 35 percent increases in revenues and I don't think we're going to disappoint anybody with our December quarter."

"The best description I can give you," stated Ralph King, senior vice president marketing for The Record Bar, "is that it was somewhat disappointing. It was flat." King sees a brighter picture for 1986 and does not consider the flat Christmas as any sort of omen to new year profits. "I see '86 as being a better year in terms of superstar acts being out there. I think a lot of the artist development work that was done in '85 could come through in '86," he said. King was also among several other retailers who complained that CD demand could not be met by the CD inventory available.

"For the entire fourth quarter, we expected business to be soft. We saw no gains over last year," Randy Gerston, marketing director for L.A.-based Licorice Pizza said. Gerston cited the lack of hits, the shortened number of days between Thanksgiving and Christmas, lack of CD fill and a generally sluggish economy as the chief factors in Licorice Pizza's slow holiday. Will a flat Christmas translate into a weak 1986? "I don't see a trend that says people aren't going to be buying music. I say, if we have the music out there, and the industry is willing to spend the money to advertise it, we can sell it . . . One interesting thing, since Christmas day, our business has been real good," said Gerston.

Capitol To Distrib. MGM/UA Vid.

By Gregory Dobrin

LOS ANGELES — Capitol Records has made a bold move further into the home video arena with the signing of a recent national distribution agreement with MGM/UA Home Video, a major supplier of home videos.

Under the terms of the new agreement, Capitol Records Video Distribution division will distribute MGM/UA's extensive videocassette catalog, which includes some 3,000 titles. The record company will also purchase product, which will be shipped from Capitol's own distribution branches and then sold to record retail stores.

"It has always been our desire to have the record retailer focus on our full catalog of sales-oriented product," said Saul Melnick, MGM/UA Home Video vice president of sales and marketing, who emphasized the company's commitment to sell-through. "It is the sales thrust that we are primarily seeking here."

Capitol Records' video staff will work in conjunction with the label's currently existing sales and marketing organization, which consists of at least 120 field representatives in 45 cities nationwide.

"With Capitol Records' concentrated sales and marketing efforts, we will achieve (our sales goal) as well as being able to place specific product for individual segments of the consumer audience at retail," Melnick commented.

For Capitol, the record industry experience of several of MGM/UA Home Video's executives has made the deal that much sweeter. MGM/UA's president, Bill Galagher, as an example, is a well-known record industry figure, having spent two decades with Columbia Records, as well

Behind The Bullets

Soundtracks Continue To Score Big On The Charts

By Peter Berk
And Stephen Padgett

Two soundtracks, Atlantic's White Nights and Scotti Brothers' Rocky IV give further affirmation this week of just how invaluable film scores have become in today's musical arena. Both releases are rapidly ascending the pop LP charts, with White Nights now at 21, having climbed two notches from last week, and Rocky IV at 35, having leaped an impressive 18 notches from last week. In all likelihood, both soundtracks are destined to meet up in the top 10 some time in the near future.

Although Rocky IV has proven substantially more lucrative on film, it is the soundtrack from White Nights which, for the time being at least, has the edge on vinyl. This is primarily due to its earlier release and the seemingly immediate radio and retail attention garnered by two singles from the film; Lionel Richie's "Say You Say Me" (Motown), which is nestled securely at number one bullet this week; and Phil Collins and Marilyn Martin's "Separate Lives," which is now entrenched in the number eight slot. While both of these songs will, of course, eventually lose steam on the charts, they may well be in store for concurrent rebirths of sorts when the Oscars are announced in March, since they are just the kinds of ballads Academy voters generally gravitate toward. Rocky IV, however, has also sparked two ubiquitous singles which are generating widespread interest in the soundtrack. This week, Survivor's "Burning Heart" is

BUSINESS NOTES

Lorimar Acquires DIR Broadcasting

LOS ANGELES — Lorimar, Inc. has acquired DIR Broadcasting Corp. although specific terms of the transactions were not disclosed, Lorimar indicated that the consideration to be received potentially could exceed $10 million.

DIR Broadcasting Corp. is a leading producer and distributor of non-news related, nationally sponsored radio programs. The company distributes regularly scheduled programs, live concerts, interviews and holiday specials to 1,600 radio stations throughout the United States. DIR has also produced television specials for HBO and Cinemax, featuring such artists as Bette Midler, Whoopi Goldberg and Peter Townshend.

In making the announcement, Merv Adelson, chairman and chief executive officer of Lorimar said, "Radio is often overlooked by major entertainment software suppliers as an important outlet, however, it is anything but ignored by advertisers. According to the Radio Advertising Bureau 1985 radio advertising dollars were up 12 percent, totalling nearly $6.5 billion. DIR Broadcasting's talents, reputation and track record immediately puts Lorimar in a strong position. They are a perfect addition to our company, broadening our base while keeping us in a related field and providing an exciting new horizon with great growth potential."

Robert Meyrowitz, DIR president, commented, "As one of the leading producers of entertainment software, it is only natural that Lorimar would be at the forefront of radio's resurgence. Lorimar brings us the opportunity and resources, both financial and creative, to make the next quantum leap in radio programming and distribution."

Peter lauff, DIR executive vice president, noted that DIR's production department produces over 500 hours of programming each year. Its library contains more than 10,000 hours of original features ranging from early Rolling Stones through performances by Bruce Springsteen, the Oak Ridge Boys and Dire Straits.

Meyrowitz and lauff, who founded the company in 1973, will continue in their current positions.

Bootlegs Seized On Both Coasts

NEW YORK — Almost 2,000 alleged bootleg records were seized from record stores in San Francisco, California on Dec. 5, and in Erie County, New York, on Dec. 10.

Investigators from the Special Prosecution Unit of the San Francisco District Attorney's Office served a search warrant on Clifford Yamasaki at Let It Be Records, San Francisco, on December 5, and seized 1,154 alleged bootleg LP records. The search warrant was issued for violations of the California True Name and Address statute and also the California Anti-bootlegging statute. Recordings seized included performances by The Beatles, The Rolling Stones, Bruce Springsteen, David Bowie, and Bob Dylan. Also seized were business records including catalogs and shipping documents. No arrests were made at the time of the seizure pending further investigation. The San Francisco D.A.'s office was assisted by RIAA Anti-Piracy Personnel.

The search warrants in the Erie County actions were issued by Supreme Court Justice Theodore S. Kasler on three record stores in the Buffalo, New York, area. More than 800 alleged bootleg recordings were seized from The Record Exchange in Williamsville, Freebird Records in Tonawanda, and The Record Mine in Kenmore, New York. The product seized at these three locations has an estimated value of $8 - 10,000. The product offered for sale in the New York stores included recordings of performances by artists such as Bruce Springsteen, The Beatles, The Who, ZZ Top and The Cars. The investigation was handled by the Erie County District Attorney's Special Investigation Bureau with assistance from the RIAA. The owners of the record stores were not charged pending further investigation.

NBC To Air All-Star Salute To Martin Luther King

By Lee Jeske

NEW YORK — An All-Star Celebration Honoring Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. will air on NBC television January 20, the day the civil rights leader's birthday will be celebrated as a national holiday for the first time. The show, which is being produced by The Wonder Foundation, will bring together three all-star variety shows taking place earlier that evening: from Washington D.C.'s Kennedy Center, the Atlanta Civic Center, and New York's Radio City Music Hall. Stevie Wonder, who spearheaded the move to have King's birthday declared a national holiday (actually January 15 is the birth date, but the holiday will be celebrated on the first Monday afterwards), and Ewart Abner are serving as executive producers, with Marty Pasetta producing and directing. The NBC telecast will air from 9-11 pm, the shows will each begin at six on the east coast.

Although there was the possibility of other names being added before the broadcast date, at press time, the line-up for the concerts, which will benefit the Martin Luther King, Jr. Center for Non-violent Change, was as follows: Kennedy Center: Stevie Wonder, Bob Dylan, Amy Grant, Quincy Jones, Debbie Allen, Peter Paul & Mary, Eddie Murphy, the Pointer Sisters, Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Dreyfus, the Alvin Ailey Dance Theatre, and

Lauper.

The special is yet another example of the continued growth of popular music on the networks. With this week's 60th anniversary of the Grand Ole Opry and the upcoming American Music Awards broadcast (January 27.) ABC, CBS, and NBC seem to want the audience which wants its MTV.

The Beatles Catalogue Comes Together

By Paul Iorio

NEW YORK — The first nine American Beatle albums will be replaced by the original seven British LP versions this year, Carole Records announced. The standardization of the catalogue will introduce Americans to the song sequences and cover packaging as the Beatles originally intended. "We would like to have the albums in the original creative form that the Beatles meant them to be," says Capitol Records president Don Zimmermann.

This will mean, however, that the collections U.S. fans have become accustomed to will no longer be available once the standardization takes place. "We're selling off the existing catalogue," says Zimmermann. The albums being replaced are: "Meet The Beatles," "The Beatles Second Album," "Something New," "Beatles 65," "The Early Beatles," "Beatles VI," "Help!," "Rubber Soul" and "Revolver." The LPs will be replaced by: "Please Please Me," "With The Beatles," "A Hard Day's Night," "Beatles For Sale," "Help!," "Rubber Soul" and "Revolver."

"The response has been mixed, about 50-50," says Zimmermann. "We haven't had a tremendous amount of mail on the subject though." Zimmermann says further that Capitol plans no major marketing campaign for this album series. "There's not going to be any major push on these things in terms of hyping the marketplace," he says.

Zimmermann says that the standardization had been planned for the last "two or three" years, adding that it was partly initiated by a suggestion from The International Beatles Committee.

OUT OF THE BOX

HEART (Capitol B-5541)

These Dreams (3:46) (Little Mole adm. by Intersong-Zomba/ASCAP) (B. Taupin-M. Page) (Producer: Ron Nevison)

The comeback of the year in 1985 was staged by Heart. This third single from its smash Capitol debut is guaranteed to carry over that success into 1986. The Wilson sisters have decided to go with the light touch of this ballad, which will net them exposure at AC, CHR and AOR. The Bernie Taupin-penned "These Dreams" is a tender, forlorn song which features a rare lead vocal appearance by Nancy.

DIFFERENT LIGHT — Bangles — Columbia BFC 40039 — Producer: David Kahne — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Bangles seems destined for the top. The all-woman quartet has taken its ragged L.A. street image and polished it for what looks like a national campaign. Its American sound, replete with guitar-laden nascent psychedelia, makes this second Columbia LP from Bangles right in line with current musical taste.

OUT OF THE BOX

ELTON JOHN (Geffen 7-28880-A)

Nikita (4:54) (Intersong Music/ASCAP) (E. John-B. Taupin) (Producer: Gus Dudgeon)

East meets West in this gentle romantic ballad from the incomparable writing team of Elton John and Bernie Taupin. With a mesmerizing tempo, well textured production and John's inimitable vocal style, "Nikita" has the earmarks of a chart topper, particularly in this time of U.S.A./U.S.S.R. outreach for mutual understanding. John and Taupin's tune is as sensitive as the subject matter. Look for CHR adds for this one, certain to be another big seller for Elton John.

STEROTOMY — The Alan Parsons Project — Arista AL9-8384 — Producer: Alan Parsons — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

The last few Alan Parsons Project outings did not signal any new directions for the band. For this reason, "Sterotomy" comes as a welcome break from this trend. Parsons, known for studio innovativeness, has, this time, taken bold steps with the myriad technologies to produce a truly modern sounding record. Not "out there" enough to alienate his loyal following, but contemporary enough to stand up to the current crop of high-tech recordings.

FRAMPTON

BANGLES (Columbia 38-05757)

Manic Monday (3:03) (Controversy/ASCAP) (Christopher) (Producer: David Kahne)

The Bangles rose above the L.A. club scene to gain national exposure with last year's Columbia debut, "All Over The Place." This song, credited to 'Christopher,' is actually a Prince tune and bears his quirky, melodic stamp. The fizzy production will assure CHR acceptance.

LOVERBOY (Columbia 38-05765)

This Could Be The Night (4:14) (Frisco Kid-April-Duke Reno-Mel Dav/ASCAP-Blackwood-Dean Of Music/BMI) (P. Dean-J. Cain-M. Reno-B. Wray) (Producers: Tom Allom-Paul Dean)

The powerful, high-wire vocal of Mike Reno sets this ballad up to be another big hit for the Canadian quintet. Melodic, big-beat production features soaring guitars and string orchestration. Watch for a strong radio reception.

ANNE MURRAY (Capitol B-5547)

Now And Forever (You And Me) (4:07) (Air Bear Music admn. by Warner Tamerlane Pub. Corp.-Irving Music, Inc.-Calypso Toonz-California Phase Music/BMI/ASCAP/PROCAN) (Foster-Vallance-Goodrum) (Producer: David Foster)

Anne Murray's dynamic vocal range is in full force on this David Foster-produced single, which is rich with an uptempo, echo-effect refrain. Country rock with a romantic sway. AC all the way, with CHR potential.

INXS (Atlantic 7-89460)

What You Need (3:26) (MCA Music/ASCAP) (A. Farriss-M. Hutchence) (Producer: Chris Thomas)

Heavy brass is heard on this rock dancer from Atlantic's INXS, featuring a searing lead vocal and sizzling guitar work. Certain AOR fare with possible rock dance club appeal.

PETER FRAMPTON (Atlantic 7-89463)

Lying (3:59) (Nuages Music/ASCAP) (P. Frampton) (Producers: Pete Solley and Peter Frampton)

Peter Frampton rocks full throttle on this outstanding first single from his new Atlantic LP, "Premonition." Frampton's trademark soaring guitar sound beeps up this cut with a fiery edge. Sure to become and AOR favorite.

FINE YOUNG CANNIBALS — I.R.S. 5683 — Producers: Various — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Fine Young Cannibals is a band to watch. A distinctive vocalist and understated acoustic-oriented production are the hallmarks of its I.R.S. self-titled debut. Many of the tracks are produced by Sade's Robin Millar and have a jazz/blues sensibility, though unlike Sade's smooth style. A muted trumpet adds a sonic continuity to the soulful songs.

EASY PIECES — Lloyd Cole And The Commotions — Geffen 24093 — Producers: Clive Langer-Alan Winstanley — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded

Sporting a newer, more produced sound, Lloyd Cole And The Commotions open up 1986 with a fine follow up to its critically acclaimed '85 debut, "Rattlesnakes." Cole's evocative, reedy voice punctuates another collection of forlorn, classic songs.

RIGHT AT NIGHT — Nick Pyzow — AsFab Music AM1200 — Producer: Nick Pyzow — No Bar Code — List: 8.98

Acoustic guitars, harmonica and Pyzow's bold, folk music singing give "Right At Night" a grass-roots sound that harken back to the folk cafes of the early 60s.

LE MANS — Le Mans — Columbia BFC 40082 — Producer: Mike Varney — Bar Coded — No List

Slick heavy metal with a commercial edge, Le Mans offers the usual burning guitar riffs and high flung vocals. Possible AOR attention, but nothing individual and certainly nothing new is proved on this record.

SEVEN DEADLY FINS — The Sharks — Blotto SLP-12 — Producer: Broadway Blotto — No List

A tongue-in-cheek approach to horn-dominated east coast rock, ala Southside Johnny And The Asbury Jukes.

LET MY PEOPLE GO — The Winans — Qwest 9 25344-1 — Producer: Marvin Winans — List: 8.98 — Bar Coded Sophisticated B/C fare with spiritual overtones from the Winans which should find a widespread crossover audience. Tasteful songs and exceptional musical blends make this Winan's release notable.

POINTS WEST

David Adelson, Los Angeles

TRAGEDY — L.A. lost one of its brightest young stars with the tragic death of D. (Dennis) Boon. Boon was the driving force behind L.A.'s Minutemen who lifted the city out of its post punk doldrums in the early 80's. The Minutemen were fresh, exciting and raw and their 1984 "Double Nickels On a Dime" (SST) was one of the most highly acclaimed indie projects in a year of highly acclaimed indie projects. Those who knew him testify to his warmth and honesty and those who knew his music could sense a special talent. D. Boon's senseless death on an Arizona highway will be mourned for a long time to come.

AN L.A. EXPERIENCE — Mayor Tom Bradley proclaimed January 9 Total Experience Day in Los Angeles. Now Mayor Tom has been known to throw those days around pretty loosely but this one actually has some teeth to it. On the evening of January 9, the famous Total Experience Nightclub (where the idea for the label began) held a special evening called, "The Blues Experience." The musical celebration featured the dynamic Margie Evans as well as local guitar hero, Cash McCall. In addition, Total Experience president Lonnie Simmons received a special declaration from the Mayor in honor of the major contributions he's made to Los Angeles and the entire music community. Our congratulations go out to everyone at the label.

AND SPEAKING OF DE BLUES — Antones, the only place to go in Austin, Texas, for the widest variety of blues, will see James Cotton hit the stage Jan. 17. Also look for Roomful of Blues, January 23, 24, 25; The Robert Cray Band, January 30 and Marcia Ball and her band on January 31. If you're not in Austin on the 31 and happen to be passing through the City of Angels, be sure to stop by the Music Machine for the legendary Albert Collins and his Icebreakers.

KEEPING AN EYE OUT — For those who don't know The Residents from San Francisco, they have definitely proved to be an eyeful. Since the cover of their 1979 "Eskimo" album where the band wore huge eyeball masks, the Residents have made the "eyeball look" their "official" appearance. Well, it seems that after a recent Palace show in Hollywood, some sleaze bag slipped back stage and (according to the band) kidnapped and murdered one of the eyeballs. Well naturally the band immediately declared the missing eyeball "unclean" and placed a curse on it. They warn that any parties encountering the eyeball should avoid touching it, especially the interior. According to the band, "It is hard to believe such trash exists, and in Hollywood of all places." Do they have a lot to learn.

THE WOLVES ARE COW POKE — Waylon Jennings has just cut "Will The Wolf Survive" by Los Lobos' David Hidalgo and Louis Perez. The song will appear on the artist's forthcoming MCA debut. The tune is just one of the duo's compositions that seem natural for the country charts and it seems like yet another door has opened for the pride of L.A.

CONGRATULATIONS ARE IN ORDER — The Beat Farmers' Jerry Raney and his wife Mary Lee, are celebrating the birth of their son, Nathan. The band's major label debut (MCA) has just been completed with Craig Leon at the board. Also, congratulations to L.A. club fixture Jerry Sikorski on his marriage to Lezle Stein . . . And Peter Case, L.A.'s star-in-waiting has had his song "One Way Ticket", released in France by the Dogs (on CBS.) Case, a former member of the Plimsouls, penned the tune when he was a member of the Nerves.

THEY'RE DRINKING MILK — In its neverending quest to find out what's really happening, we here at the Box do a weekly survey of various bartenders in town. Well, there's a new phenomena called the "sobriety check points" happening in the city. That's when the local authorities arbitrarily choose a location and form a roadblock in order to weed out those driving "under the influence." What is this doing to the local music clubs whose bread and butter is the night's bar? Is a wave of paranoia sweeping through L.A.'s youth? "Nah," said one bartender. "It's business as usual. But maybe after a few of them get caught, things will change." Only time will tell.

L.A. MOURNS — D. Boon (r) and The Minutemen were an innovative, exciting band that will be sorely missed. Boon lost his life in a tragic car accident in Arizona.

NEW FACES TO WATCH

Blow Monkeys is not your average name for a band. One listen to "Forbidden Fruit," its recently released American debut, and you will be convinced that the Blow Monkeys is not your average band. Dr. Robert, lead singer and mastermind Monkey, assures us that there is no meaning, subversive or otherwise, to the group's name. But one has to admit, it does grab your attention.

But Dr. Robert and his three cohorts, Mick Anker, Antony Kiley and Neville Henry (bass, drums and sax, respectively) are not dependent on the provocative allure of their name. The music is much too intriguing in its own right to be ignored.

Dr. Robert had been in Australia for five years when he came back to London "with a few songs and an idea of a group that I wanted to start," he said. After a short while he met Neville Henry, "who was busking in the High Gate tube." Together, the two of them began checking out local jazz bands to find players with the sort of feel they required to capture Dr. Robert's crafty songs. "It took a long time," said Dr. Robert (aka Robert Howard) of their search for two young players. But eventually they found Anker and Kiley. "We just asked them along to rehearsal. We did a couple of gigs and were offered a record contract really quickly," he said. This was 1983.

"Go Public," "The Man From Russia" and "Atomic Lullaby" were the first three singles and they established the Blow Monkeys as both a critical and commercial success in the U.S. The debut LP, "Limping For A Generation" even managed to tame the usually ravinously critical New Musical Express. A couple of tours, one in support of Lloyd Cole and The Commotions, has matured the band into a cohesive foursome.

The U.S. introduction to the Blow Monkeys is a six-cut EP on RCA, "Forbidden Fruit." This will be followed by a full LP, "Animal Magic." According to Dr. Robert, the Blow Monkeys will be visiting the U.S. (if the visas are approved) in the last part of January or early February.

"We've just finished the LP and it's a lot simpler, really," commented Dr. Robert. "I think my songwriting's gotten a lot better," and he added, "the stuff that will come out after 'Forbidden Fruit' has got a harder sound."

It is difficult to place the Blow Monkeys within some 'camp.' They've never really sat down and worked out what their image was going to be, according to Dr. Robert. "But me personally, as a singer and songwriter, even though people don't like to think this, I think I'm traditional. I'm a great fan of powerful music," he said, adding, "I do suspect music which hasn't got any hint of subversive elements in it. And I'm not for just pure entertainment, but on the other hand, ultimately, that is what I'm after."

Part of the reason the music is hard to categorize is that the Blow Monkeys haven't patterned themselves after anybody. "We've always had this problem in England," said Dr. Robert, "we don't really align ourselves with any other groups. Not because I don't want to, but there's nobody else around who it seems has got the same goals."

Karin Berg: Risk And Backbone On A&R's Brave New Frontier

By Paul Iorio

This is the fourth of a six part series spotlighting top A&R professionals.

NEW YORK — Karin Berg's A&R career is the story of unerring instinct, unswerving conviction, unflinching risk and undeniable success. It is the story of commitment and belief, and of standing by one's beliefs against all odds. Berg has championed some of the greatest artists of her generation and has shown industry cynics that the general public is indeed receptive to groundbreaking experimentation, if only they are exposed to it. Berg has established herself as an industry heavyweight by making long-shots like Television, Laurie Anderson, the B52's, the Cars, and others into commercial sure shots.

Berg stands by risky decisions that have, time and again, been proven correct. For example, after bringing the Cars to Elektra in 1978, she was talking with a number of A&R people backstage at a concert. "We were all standing around talking and one A&R person said, 'there's one band I passed on called The Cars — they're no good. You passed on them didn't you?' And I said, 'No I didn't; I think they're great,'" she says.

She recalls an instance when the opposite happened as well, when she passed on a band that other labels were interested in. "I told the band, 'I really like you but I don't think you're ready.' And they said, 'well other labels think we are.' And I said, 'well sorry.' I hated to pass on that band but I thought they were just doing it too soon. It's very hard when you see that five labels are after a band and you're not after them. You can get nauseous thinking you've made this terrible error." As it turned out, the band was signed to a major label but was dropped soon after.

Berg says she won't go near a band that

Arcadia

Duran Spin-Off Makes The Charts Safe For Abstract Pop

By Paul Iorio

NEW YORK — It would have been safe for Duran Duran to continue releasing hit record after hit record without varying their winning formula. Instead, the members of Duran are content only with being as adventurous musically as Simon LeBon has been nautically. First came Power Station's long day's journey into deep rhythm. Now comes Arcadia's "So Red The Rose" (Capitol) — Simon LeBon, Nick Rhodes, and Roger Taylor's ambitious attempt to make the top of the charts safe for abstract pop.

"It was time to do something a little bit different," Rhodes told Cash Box. "Simon (LeBon) and I thought we'd do something a little more relaxed. We had written together for years and there were lots of ideas that we wanted to get out. So we wrote a couple of songs together and it developed into the Arcadia album," he says. Rhodes may describe "So Red The Rose" as if it were merely a casual outing, but the vital statistics say otherwise: the LP is a major international hit backed by a Top 10 single and powerhouse video.

Though Rhodes concedes that "there are a few songs on the album which are nice good pop songs" (he cites "Keep Me

In The Dark," "Goodbye Is Forever," and "Election Day"), the central thrust of the LP moves toward more abstract pop. "Five of the nine songs move in a more atmospheric direction," says Rhodes. "Much of it is a real departure, particularly with the song 'Lady Ice' which I think is the finest song we've written to date."

Arcadia can be seen as the battlefield on which Rhodes and company fought their ongoing conflict between pop songcraft and open-ended experimentalism. "I still have an urge to communicate with people. But I also think it's important to move music onto something else," says Rhodes. "I like things to be very modern. I've been listening to a lot of experimental music lately that's broken down an awful lot of musical barriers. Some of it's obscure just for the hell of it and some of it's very interesting and original." Arcadia's objective, according to Rhodes, was to "do something that develops in sound but is still a damned good song."

Arcadia achieved their atmospheric sound by enlisting several musicians with avant-garde leanings, among them Talking Heads percussionist Rafael de Jesus and Roxy Music saxophonist Andy McKay. Songwriting duties, however, were split between LeBon and Rhodes, with Taylor writing all the rhythm parts. Collaboration on this project, Rhodes says, consisted of "arguing something out until we'd agree on it," adding that he likes "having final control over everything I do. I can't bear the thought of someone messing with something I've done."

Though Arcadia's future plans do not include a tour ("there just isn't enough time"), the members will regroup in the spring for a Duran Duran tour that will feature performances of Arcadia and Power Station material. A follow-up Arcadia single, "Goodbye Is Forever," will soon be released in America. "I'd sort of like to release 'The Promise' after that," he says. Will there be a follow-up LP as well? "I really don't like to think too far ahead," he says. In the interim, Rhodes plans to work on "one or two" studio projects. "I'm a restless sort of person who can't bear to be doing the same thing for too long."

EAST COASTINGS

Paul Iorio, New York

PING IN THE NEW YEAR — I started the new year getting hit on the head with ping pong balls. Fifteen, maybe twenty of them. Hard ones too. At midnight they rained from the ceiling at MTV's Fifth Annual Rock 'N Roll Ball. Trouble started when the crowd started throwing the balls at Starship, the band performing at the time, temporarily forcing them offstage. People were getting into it, mercilessly pelting Slick & Co. as they slogged through unrecognizable versions of "Somebody To Love" and "White Rabbit" ("One ping makes you larger . . ."). Then the MC tried in vain to restore order. "The next person (PING) who throws the next ping pong ball (PING) is going to get their neck (PING) broken. Not one more ball (PING)," he shouted while the crowd pinged him into an onstage fury. Unfortunately, the balls didn't do anything near the damage to Starship that Starship was doing to rock 'n roll.

EMOTIONS NOT YET EXPRESSED ON A MAJOR LABEL

— New York's two most fun ways to lose your hearing are The Del Lords and The Smithereens. East Coastings recently heard advance versions of both of their new albums, scheduled for spring release. The Del Lords LP, produced by Benatar-nik Neil Geraldo for EMI, is a mad grab for the rock 'n throne. The Smithereens debut album, produced by Don

THE DEL LORDS — The Del Lords will release their new Neil Geraldo-produced LP Feb. 14.

Dixon for Enigma, is a mad grab for the position soon-to-be-vacated by The Del Lords in their grab for the aforementioned throne. Geraldo has given the Lords a thicker, more arena-like sound than "Frontier Days" had, and the LP includes their long-time concert fave "Heaven" with its dizzying swirl and rousing chorus of "I believe there's a heaven before I die." Also included will be an a cappella rendition of Springsteen's "Johnny 99" which this reviewer heard them perform at Maxwells' last fall and described then as "dangerously quiet." This as-yet untitled LP will probably chart well, with "Heaven" an AOR radio sure shot.

EULB NI NGISED — The Smithereens, on the other hand, have never really garnered the critical or commercial success the Del Lords have had, but their debut LP, tentatively titled "Groovy Tuesday," should change all that. East Coastings caught the Smithereens and Dixon in the studio at the end of the fifth consecutive twelve hour-plus session. Dixon, a studio perfectionist who operates as coach, techno-wiz, class clown, and workaholic, is moving the band toward a more pop-oriented, Crenshaw-style sound. Because Dixon is so efficient with his time (he mixes as he records), he can afford to experiment. On the title track, for example, he injected humor into the song's fade-out by recording vocalist Pat DiNizio saying something mockingly enigmatic — "design in blue." While the band broke into laughter, Dixon excitedly recorded it backwards ("Eulb ni ngised"). Dixon says that he once even taught Dump Truck to play certain parts of their songs backwards so as to replicate their studio sound in live shows. Best bets: the title track (co-written by Mark Johnson) and "Behind The Wall Of Sleep." Club managers take note: The Smithereens and the Del Lords would make a great double bill. Only thing is, if these two LPs really take off, no New York club except the Palladium will be able to fit the audiences they will draw by spring.

EAST CLUBBINGS — The Fleshtones, usually incredible in concert, were incredible at the Lone Star Jan. 2, but only for fifty minutes. That didn't even give them enough time to clear up the sax-heavy mix that marred the first few songs. By the time they got to "Hexbreaker," late in the set, they had hit their stride but, alas, the set was over . . . The Mosquitos, who are now headlining nearly every club they play, performed at the Pyramid Jan. 2 and showed that their sound has toughened up. Here's hoping they'll record a new album that represents this harder-edged onstage sound . . . Coati Mundi of Kid Creole and the Coconuts has a 1983 Virgin LP called "The Former 12 Year Old Genius" which is attracting attention domestically . . . The Ramones Greatest Hits LP has been shelved but their new

YET! KNX lost ground and is on the skid with 3.0 from 3.2; Cox's FM outlet KOST, is southbound from 3.8 to 3.4; KRLA going the way the crumbling L.A. Raiders went is 2.4 to 2.0; If you have lost your children, check KROQ as they gain ground from 3.1 to 3.9; The Hamilton Headhunters, gather more fresh new meat to carve as they maneuver K-EARTH up the score card from 2.5 to 3.3; KSKQ translates its numbers from 1.5 down to 1.3; KTNQ is behaving itself at 2.0 while it awaits the Hefel takeover; KUTE on the other hand is in a transition mode from Inner City to Golden West and drops 1.9 to 1.2; KWKW is facing the wrong side of the "BURRO" as it tail tugs its way down to a 1.3 from 1.7; and KZLA, mule kicks itself up to a 2.6 from a 2.1. Now understand that's not the whole picture in a market of 83 signals, I haven't even touched

However as a footnote to all the market activity lies this thought: Is it true, that there is wedding plans for consultant Pollack and KNAC's Freddie Sands? Does it feature organist Tommy Hedges healing hands? Will current pseudo-skipper Jimmy Christopher finally sail into the sunset? Is Norm McBride, that struggling Long Beach morning talent who dreams of the BIG TIME, rehearsing his famous impersonation of a "Window Mannequin" in pursuit of a career change? Only time will answer and unveil these and many other amusing adventures for 1986.

1 - 2 - 3, "Rock On" Mr. Nite

By Jimi Fox

LOS ANGELES — As an air-talent, music director, program manager, or consultant at large, I have always prided myself in knowing my music. Why you ask? Well, besides the real obvious, which was to be able to relate to my audience, I was always impressed with my broadcast heroes — Alan Freed, Dick Clark, Happy Hair, Murray the K, or Wolfman Jack. As the personality, they had some input as to the song they were playing or background of the artist performing the hit tune.

Therefore, getting my hands on all the written material available was essential. Catching every TV program that featured a contemporary artist, including becoming completely mesmerized with "American Bandstand" was a dedicated necessity. DXing up and down the dial to tune into the individual informative "RAPS" of the endless on-air talents was absolutely critical. Collecting weekly music survey charts from coast to coast, or the top 100, 300 or 500 all time hit music charts became a regular ritual. Even today I have retained notebooks, files and dresser drawers layered with such collectable material. The information I derived from all of these endless inputs never diminished but became of greater value in better understanding the countless markets of which it became my responsibility to program.

As I have always indicated, successful music programming lies in the basic philosophy that, "The magic is in the music and the secret of its success in building an audience lies in the rotations!" This is meticulously important on the foundation of any great music station in respect to its oldies, not to mention the obvious currents. The oldies today are of extreme discriminative importance, since they make up for better than 60 percent of the ever popular growing baby boom adult contemporary hit radio format — (B.B. A/C Hit Radio). Reading a computer output or tracking past national top 100 charts, (including Cash Box's own), will not be enough. Some tunes that made those charts may have never been a hit in a particular market or as big a hit as indicated by those charts. More importantly, tunes that never showed, placed or won on national charts may have very well been incredible monsters in some markets. Therefore today's programmers of the new mass audience format must be better prepared to dissect localization data of individual market musical foundations.

Thus enter stage right . . . Mr. "Rock On," Norm N. Nite. In 1974 Norm N. Nite's book, "Rock On," hit the book stands. Of course you know that I had a copy of the Crowell publication instantly in my hands. It did not have all the answers to all the questions that were constantly swimming around my head. That would have made life much too easy. However a good 90 percent of the information that was essential to my success was indeed neatly alphabetically, biographically and discographically in place. The wealth of information provided by Mr. Nite was, to me, religiously inspirational. "Rock On, The Illustrated Encyclopedia of Rock 'n' Roll," immediately became my broadcasting bible — never out of reach to inform and teach. As I progressed, programming in more and more metropolises and finally the megalopolis of Los Angeles at "Ten Q," I became concerned as to whether there would be another volume to pick-up and complement where the first volume left off. Bingo! Sure enough in 1978, at my finger tips appeared volume II, which also included an additional index of song titles. Today in my hands I'm holding volume III. What a relief that the master, Mr. Nite, is still hard at his task providing rock 'n' roll fanatics like myself, the broadcasting industry, as well as the general consumer, with this most crucial comprehensive piece of work.

What about the man I have affectionately labeled "Mr. Rock ON" and who's listening audience knows him as "Mr. Music"? Well he's a native of Cleveland, graduated from Ohio University, served as a first lieutenant and was a radio and television adviser for non-other than the Pentagon, not to mention the Armed Forces television system. Impressed? Oh, I'm not through yet. He was a booth announcer for WSPD-TV, Toledo, on air talent at WLRO, Loraine, Ohio, WHK and WGAR Cleveland, (where his listeners originally tagged him, "Mr. Music"). Hold it I'm just warming up . . . from Cleveland it was on to the "Big Apple," New York

ATLANTA'S PICK 6 — Black/urban radio listeners in the Atlanta area now have-count them-SIX radio stations from which to receive their daily diet of black/urban music. Market veterans WAOK, WIGO, and WVEE are being challenged for their share of listeners by The Bus (WBUS) and WEKS AM/FM, formerly WYYA. There are several intriguing questions about the situation in Atlanta. WBUS, located 30 miles from Atlanta and not boasting the best signal, showed up in Arbitron with a .8, having not signed on the air until four weeks after the rating period had started. Will owner Henry lobby for additional power for his veteran but young program director Mike Roberts, WEKS (KISS), most recent to change formats: Will management rely on the program expertise of WZAK's program director Lynn Tolliver out of Cleveland? WAOK's program director, Larry Tinsley, showed some gains in the latest Arbitron book. How will the additional FM'ers affect this veteran AM station? WIGO, another long-timer in the market, programmed by Byron Pitts and owned by a real industry competitor, Dorothy Brunson, showed some losses in the latest Arbitron. How will WIGO respond to the new challengers? Black urban market leader WVEE, programmed by market veteran Scotty Andrews, also showed some ratings deterioration; was this caused by the arrival of The

PRIVATE I
MUSIC GROUP

JUST TURNED ONE — Private I Music recently celebrated its first anniversary with a total of 25 songs making the BC charts. No wonder company president Jay Warner is looking forward to '86.

Bus? Are there enough Black/urban listeners and advertising dollars to support SIX of the same formatted radio stations in Atlanta? Stay tuned to Cash Box for an update on Atlanta's Pick 6, as the listeners will decide. PRIVATE I IS ON THE CASE — For being only one year old, the Private I Music Publishing Group has posted some impressive numbers on the BC charts. Music Group president Jay Warner recently told The Beat that artists such as Rick James, Rebbie Jackson, Eddie Murphy, Legacy, Val Young, Bonnie Pointer and Juicy have helped give Private I a total of 25 BC charting records this year. Warner also noted that things are looking up for '86 with early releases from Lakeside, Rick James, Peabo Bryson, Latoya Jackson and Michael Henderson among others. Warner feels especially proud of Private I's accomplishments considering it is not one of the established giants. For a company that only recently completed its first full year in existence, Private I has plenty of reason to celebrate.

REFRIGERATOR WILLIAM PERRY — Beverly Glen Music has rushed to release a very good danceable salute to William "Refrigerator" Perry of the Chicago Bears, entitled "Frigerator-Man" by the Tight Ends. Augie Johnson and Larry Strawther may be on the verge of a massive Touch Down considering the enormous amount of media exposure that the Refrigerator has received.

THE BUZZ FROM CHICAGO — Lee Michaels ex-P.D. of WBMX moved to crosstown rival WGCI in the same capacity. Lee did not move empty handed, with him will be Doug Banks, (ex-WBMX) one of Chicago top rated announcers. But wait, the word is that two or three more BMX'ers will change to the same dial position. Banks hits the air on WGCI on January 13, 1986. Look for major promotions from the Gannett owned property. They promote in a bi-i-i-g way!

LLOYD AND LLOYD ATTORNEYS AT LAW — Lloyd and Lloyd who represent Ready For The World and The Electrifying MoJo, just announced the signing of Davina, to CBS Records with a new release due in February 1986. Pictured (l-r): is Eddie Kendricks, Davina, and David Ruffin, after their performances at the Premiere Center in Detroit.

IVORY GROWS — Panoramic recording artist Black Ivory based out of Hackensack, N.J. continues to generate interest from several major labels with their latest chart climbing success, "GOT MY EYE ON YOU." Could be that a deal is on the horizon for this multi-talented group. MAGIC CHANGES — Streets are hot with rumor at KMGG, Los Angeles changing call letters (POWER 106) as well as formats (URBAN). Industry veteran J.B. Stone's (as G.M.) name has been mentioned in the same conversation along with Brother Bill (Mornings). If this rumor becomes reality look for a very interesting battle to heat up for the black/urban listeners. 106FM certainly has the signal advantage but one L.A. Programmer said he would welcome the challenge and it would be good for black radio. The heat could get hotter in L.A. Stay tuned to Cash Box on your dial, I mean your magazine.

Tommy Marshall

Talks About The Future Of The YBPC

The willingness to accept responsibility and the persistence to strive for nothing but the best are the cornerstones of the continuing success story of Tommy Marshall.

Detroit, Michigan, proudly claims the roots of this young gentleman, graduating from Southeastern High School. Nineteen seventy two marked the year he kicked off his radio career in Kansas City, Missouri, at KPRS. Two years later he moved to Jackson, Mississippi and WKXI, and has to date consistently maintained top ratings amongst fierce competition. In 1983, Marshall pulled a 15.5 share in the Arbitrons.

Being active and constantly involved are traits not uncommon to Marshall, who while maintaining a broadcasting directive position, is also a graduate of Jackson State University with a Bachelor of Science in communications and has only a few hours left on his Masters of Business Administration, along with his college accomplishments at Jackson State.

Awards that have been bestowed upon Marshall are Program Director of the Year four times, once by BRE and three times by the YBPC (Young Black Programmers Coalition). He also received the Announcer of the Year Award from Jack the Rapper and the Jackson Music Association. The following is a conversation between Cash Box's Bob Long and Marshall, the newly elected president of the YBPC.

Cash Box: Tommy, congratulations on your election as president of the YBPC.

Marshall: Thank you, it's an honor to be selected and elected president of the YBPC, an organization that I love dearly and have been a member of since 1978.

Cash Box: As president, what are your most immediate plans for the YBPC?

Marshall: We have laid a solid foundation and we will stay the course with our efforts from an educational standpoint by continuing our scholarship drive which has been in effect for the last five years. I would like to see us do this on a much larger scale by becoming involved with the United Negro College Fund in conjunction with Lou Rawl's Parade of Stars. Connecting with the UNCF would add more credibility as well as exposure for the YBPC, but more importantly, we would lend much needed financial support to black colleges and institutions around the country.

Cash Box: What are your plans in regard to expanding the organization chapterwise to different areas of the country?

Marshall: As a matter of fact, we have just issued charters for the Carolinas and Virginia that are operational. We have received a number of calls from individuals around the country who are interested in having chapters of the YBPC.

Cash Box: The organization has been in existence for a few years. From what segment of the industry are you obtaining memberships?

Marshall: Our membership includes radio announcers from all parts of the country. Presidents, vice presidents, and national directors of record companies, as well as people from trade publications are also joining. The membership is growing and will continue to grow with the support of the industry.

Cash Box: Tommy, I am impressed with the overall efforts of the YBPC, but the thing that impressed me the most at the convention was the tremendous turnout for the seminars. What is the secret?

Marshall: Having attended many conventions over the years and seeing the poor seminar attendance, we put forth a concentrated effort to get panelists that are known, well respected and not feared.

Cash Box: What do you mean, "not

Marshall: We have found that the audience participation in the past had been limited because people were afraid to ask questions of certain individuals. Therefore we looked for knowledgeable panelists that everyone would feel comfortable asking questions of.

Cash Box: I didn't see the large gatherings in the lobby areas just before the seminars. Instead, they were headed for or already in the room. How do you explain this?

Marshall: We deliberately scheduled functions around the seminars that would not conflict with, or cut down on, the attendance. Additionally, we had hall monitors who patrolled, reminding people that the seminars were about to start. It was done in such a manner to remind them that we were there to exchange thought processes which are educational to all of us. Each year that we have done this, it has been very successful. People have come to realize that when the YBPC has a panel discussion or meeting, we are serious about the job that lies before all of us in the industry. People have been very responsive.

Cash Box: Something that has concerned me for a number of years is the lack of communication in general, but more specifically job related information. What is the YBPC doing to address this problem?

Marshall: The YBPC is setting up a job bank so if we know an individual in our industry is out of work, we can pick up the phone and start the ball rolling for that individual job-wise. Additionally, we are working to establish an emergency fund where an individual can receive financial assistance while they seek employment. We are committed and we must help each other.

Cash Box: Tommy, our organization is called "Young Black Programmers." Does that denote an age limitation?

Marshall: The YBPC welcomes members of all ages and tenure in the business because we can and must use the vast resources of knowledge available to us. We have members ranging from the legendary Dave Clark to those just starting in the business. By relying on the vast amount of talent from radio, records, retail, and the trades, we hopefully can avoid the pitfalls that have caused the demise of other organizations.

Cash Box: We at Cash Box are committed to working with you and the YBPC in any way we can in order to assist you in the continued growth of the YBPC.

Marshall: Thanks Bob to you and Cash Box for your commitment to the YBPC because our voice is just one in the wilderness crying out. Through the efforts of Cash Box and other industry supporters, our message will be heard. Only through that kind of support will people know what the YBPC is doing and what services we have to offer. It is this type of unified support that lends more credibility to all of us.

Cash Box: Tommy, on behalf of Cash Box, I thank you for taking time out of your busy schedule to speak with me. Again you have our full support.

Marshall: We (YBPC) appreciate your commitment and let me submit to you that Robert Rosenthal, who handles publicity for the YBPC, will work closely with you and everyone interested. I thank you for the opportunity to discuss the goals and directions for the YBPC while congratulating our new board members and thanking everyone that has entrusted me with the office of president. I am committed to doing my best not to let them down.

12" REVIEWS

THE FAT BOYS (Sutra SUD040)
Chillin' With The Refrigerator (5:23) (D. Wimbley, D. Robinson, M. Morales, D. Ogrin, B. Hagans) (Amber Pass Music/ASCAP, Fools Prayer Music/BMI) (Producers: Dave Ogrin, Bill Hagans)
The Fat Boys pay homage to their god of great poundage through this driving rap cut. Seductive female vocals and the Bears shot at the Super Bowl should make this another winner for the boys.

THE CHICAGO BEARS SHUFFLIN' CREW (Red Label V-70060)
The Super Bowl Shuffle (5:50) (B. Daniels, L. Barry, R. Meyer, M. Owens) (Red Label Music/BMI) (Producers: Richard Tufo, Bobby Daniels)
Yes, they really are members of the Chicago Bears and yes they're really rapping to a dance beat. With such noted recording artists as William Perry, Walter Payton and Jim McMahon (among others), how could this be anything but a hit.

ABC (Mercury 884 382-1)
How To Be A Zillionaire (5:22) (Martin Fry, Mark White) (Neutron Music, 10 Music/BMI) (Producers: Mark White, Martin Fry)
This "Nickel And Dime Mix" is an elaborate synth/vocal mesh that should get strong club adds. ABC's glitter dance sound could be the shot in the arm DJs are waiting for.

ISLEY, JASPER, ISLEY (CBS Associated 429-05329)
Insatiable Woman (6:10) (E. Isley, C. Jasper, M. Isley) (Producers: M. Isley, C. Jasper, E. Isley)
This special version of the their latest single off the "Caravan Of Love" smash is a moving ballad that spotlights the trio's harmonies at their best.

PUBLISHING NEWS — Carl Fischer, the 113 year old music publishing giant, has successfully integrated the latest in computer technology with the most traditional of music formats — print. After months of software development, they have launched "Computerized Rack Jobbing." This unique program has overcome the age-old resistance to print within the record, tape and video market. In addition, Fischer's Rack is receiving major acceptance from the traditional sheet music retailer. This new concept features fully guaranteed stock, a regularly scheduled recall system for updating titles, ten program sizes ranging from 48 to 576 titles and the patented Carl Fischer Modular Music Rack. A number of major national chains are already enrolled, according to Carl Fischer, and are reporting an eight to ten times turn on publications supplied with a gross profit of $100 per linear foot. Details of the system, are available from Aida Gurwicz, vice president — marketing, Carl Fischer Music Distributors, 54 Cooper Square, New York, NY 10003 — (212) 777-2550.

HOW SCENTIMENTAL — Don Spector has done it again. He invented "The Aroma Disc," a small electric player that diffuses a fragrance from records and recently, "Scentron," a car lighter that is also a fragrancer specially designed to freshen-up practically anyone's car. Parfums America's latest offering is "The Stereo-Scent Pak," a package consisting of Scentron cartridges and a corresponding cassette that will appeal to the auditory as well as the olfactory senses. The Pak includes a cassette entitled "Sunny Sounds" featuring the music of Anne Murray, with the Scentron aroma of "Fresh Citrus" or "Vanilla," or a tape of the "Surf Sounds" of The Beach Boys with the Scentron scent of "Sea Breeze" or "Floral Bouquet," or the "Romantic Sounds" of Lionel Richie with the Scentron fragrance of "Rose Garden" or "Saturday Night Passion." Scentron, which replaces your own car lighter, is pushed in, and when it pops out, emits a pleasant waft of fragrance into the car. Manufactured by the same company that makes auto lighters for Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp., American Motors Corp., and several Japanese automobiles, it comes in two models that will fit 80-85 percent of all American cars, approximately 100 million vehicles. This Bloomingdale's exclusive has been met with a tremendous response, according to marketing sources, and is one of the hottest items during this high-buying season. The scentron unit retails for $12.50 with two fragrance cartridges, each lasting 100 doses. Refills are available for $2 each, three for $5, and as a "Stereo-Scent Pak" for $10. For more info call Morton Dennis Wax & Associates, Inc. at (212) 302-5360.

CLEAN KEYS — Hohner's new PK 250 offers musicians an expanded 61 note keyboard, a total of 32 poly and solo voices, Arranger Accompaniment and MIDI interface connections.

VESTRON GOES HOLLYWOOD — Vestron Inc., the company that brings you Vestron Video, performed an unveiling at New York's Tavern On The Green on a chilly morning recently that spells original theatrical product for the Stamford, Conn.-based home video indie. It seems Vestron, one of the biggest names in home video, has decided to go into the business of producing and distributing its own, low-budget movies, under the banner of Vestron Pictures. When we say low-budget, we mean under $5 million each, which is a corner stone of the new company's money-making strategy. "Working with low budgets will allow us a better opportunity for success than the larger budgets with which the major studios operate," said Vestron Inc. president and CEO Jon Peisinger. "The creative philosophy of Vestron Pictures will be to produce and distribute films based on good, entertaining stories." Ten to 12 films are planned for the first year, according to the announcement, the first being Rebel, starring Matt Dillon and Debbie Byrne. Several prominent filmmakers are said to be in league with the new company, including Gene Kirkwood (Rocky), Steve Tisch (Risky Business) and Larry Turman (Short Circuit). Vestron Pictures will stress a strong theatrical premiere with its distribution, and will observe the traditional windows for release in all other media.

CHER VIDEO — Mask, one of the most critically acclaimed films of 1985, is now available on videocassette from MCA Home Video. The film stars Cher and Sam Elliott (pictured).

Said Peisinger: "Our approach to theatrical distribution will be similar to the way Vestron Video relates to the video store." Appointments include William J. Quigley as senior vice president, Mitchell Cannold as vice president of production and Ruth Vitale as senior vice president of film programming for Vestron Video.

NO DRUGS FOR NAN — First Lady Nancy Reagan makes her music video debut this month in MCA's Stop The Madness, a tune written by Michael Stokes with Sharon Barnes, Lathan Armour and Tim Reid (of Simon and Simon fame). It's an anti-drug message, and features, aside from the First Lady, actress Claudia Wells of Back To The Future and Michael Chambers of Breakin'. Cameos by numerous other notables from entertainment and sports are also featured. The video was produced by the Entertainment Industries Council for a Drug-Free Society, of which Reid is a member of the board of directors. John Langley directed. The video premieres on NBC's Friday Night Videos January 17.

KARL-LORIMAR HELPS TROUNCE APARTHEID — The home videocassette of Little Steven Van Zandt's anti-apartheid project, Sun City, is now available from Karl-Lorimar Home Video for the suggested retail price of $19.95. The tape features performances by Little Steven and pals Bruce Springsteen, Bob Dylan and a host of other luminaries from the worlds of rock, pop and jazz. It's 45-minutes long, and includes footage of the "Sun City" recording sessions in London, Boston, New York and Los Angeles, plus the making of the Sun City video. Royalties from the sale of the videocassette will go to the Solidarity Foundation, which aids political prisoners of South Africa, exiles of that country, plus anti-apartheid organizations in the U.S. Karl-Lorimar is doing its bit for the cause by designating "a significant amount" of the company's earnings from the tape toward the marketing and advertising of it.

HBO WOOS ANOTHER DIVA — Barbra Streisand's unprecedented HBO special will have a rival (in the minds of some) when Liza Minnelli tapes her own special for the channel in March. It's her second for HBO, and will be taped during her London Palladium gig.

The Release Beat

Big news in January for home video comes from MCA Home Video with the January 9 release of Mask, the critically acclaimed feature film starring Cher, Eric Stoltz and Sam Elliott and directed by Peter Bogdanovich. Cher makes her leading role debut with this film, and if the critics have any say in the matter she'll win an Oscar for it. The film recounts the true story of Rocky Dennis (Stoltz) a teenager with a face so disfigured it resembles a bizarre mask. Cher plays Rocky's mother, Sam Elliott plays her boyfriend. Critics generally loved this film (Cher got raves), which is more than just your average tear-jerker: it's got fortifying messages for all of us. MCA's price is $79.95 in Beta HiFi Mono and VHS HiFi Dolby B Mono, closed captioned in both formats. Other titles from MCA Home Video this month include: Paradise Alley, starring Sylvester Stallone ($59.95); The Big Fix, starring Richard Dreyfuss ($59.95); plus The Other Side Of The Mountain, Parts I and II ($59.95 each) . . . A title on Monterey Home Video's January release schedule has taken on new significance with the recent passing of Christopher Isherwood. I Am A Camera, released theatrically in 1955 starring Julie Harris, Laurence Harvey and Shelley Winters, is now available for the suggested retail price of $59.95. The film is drawn from Isherwood's well-known Berlin Stories (from which Cabaret was also culled), and is based on the John Van Ruten play of the same name.

U68 EXPANDS PROGRAMMING HOURS — U68 stereo music video television has announced the expansion of its programming hours. U68 currently broadcasts Monday through Sunday from noon to midnight. Its new programming hours will be Monday through Thursday from noon to 1 a.m., and Friday and Saturday from noon to 2 a.m. Sunday's noon to midnight programming hours will remain the same. According to Steve Leeds, director of programming, "The programming expansion is a continuation of providing the best alternative music video programming to the tri-state area." Leeds continued, "Our viewers have requested that we expand our programming hours, and U68 is happy to comply."

PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENTS — The Turner Broadcasting System and Lynch Biller Productions have obtained the exclusive national rights to air 30-second public service announcements against drunk driving on the weekly video show, NIGHT TRACKS, announced the show's producers Tom Lynch and Gary Biller, and Epic's director of video promotion, Harry Leeds. The spots, to begin airing immediately, will feature Epic recording artists, including Adam Ant, Ozzy Osborne, Luther Vandross, Charlie Daniels, Pia Zadora, 'Til Tuesday, Survivor, John Cafferty and the Beaver Brown Band, "Weird Al" Yankovic, Miami Sound Machine, and Cheap Trick. This is believed to be the first time a PSA has been designed for a music video program. In making the announcement, Lynch stated, "This effort reflects the artists' need to demonstrate a responsiveness to this important issue. Music videos can educate as well as entertain, and this is a wonderful opportunity to present some vital information on a national level." "Music video on television is a powerful medium," added Leeds, "If we can influence viewers by using some of their favorite recording artists and save one life, it will have served its purpose. I think you will find other record labels and recording artists joining this worthwhile campaign."

FEATURE PICKS

URBAN EARTH — Harvie Swartz — Gramavision 18-8503-1 — Producers: Harvie Swartz, David Baker — List: 9.98 — Bar Coded

Bassist Harvie Swartz has mined mainly the fusion fields for this fine LP and come up with David Sanborn, Bob Mintzer, Mike Stern, Victor Lewis, Manolo Badrena and Ben Aronov. Everybody plays at his most expressively here, and Swartz displays a gentle, deft compositional hand. The LP that should finally get Swartz out of the shadows of sidemanland.

CLAUDIO! — Claudio Roditi — Uptown UP27.27 — Producers: Robert Sunenblick, Mark Feldman — List: 8.98

Claudio Roditi is best known for his work with Paquito D'Rivera, but the Brazilian trumpeter has been playing with many jazz and latin bands during his past 10 years in New York. This LP showcases his tasty bebop chops on a half dozen standards and jazz compositions. Nice work, also, from Slide Hampton, Mulgrew Miller, Rufus Reid, Howard Kimbo and Akira Tana.

THE SIXTH SENSE — Don Pullen — Black Saint SR 0088 (dist. by PolyGram Special Imports) — List: 9.98

Pullen, co-leader of one of the finest small bands in jazz — the Don Pullen/George Adams Quartet — here works with a quintet that captures some of the high energy and jaunty spirit of the quartet. Olu Dara, Donald Harrison, Fred Hopkins, and Bobby Battle are the well-chosen band members and they fit beautifully with Pullen's open compositions and gritty/pretty pianistics.

SECOND IMPRESSION — Paul Nash — Soul Note SN 1107 (dist. by PolyGram Special Imports) — List: 9.98

The first impression of Paul Nash is that he's an interesting, eclectic composer who manages to blur the line between improvised jazz and plotted contemporary classical music. The emphasis here is on the writing — although Nash does play guitar and flute. A good jazz composer is hard to find; Nash, who has the good sense to employ a talented crop of musicians, sounds like he's on the right track.

ON JAZZ

Lee Jeske, New York

STAR EYES — Poppa may have, and momma may have, and now, thanks to the efforts of Leonard Feather and Ron Berinstein, Billie Holiday will have her own star on the Hollywood Boulevard Walk of Fame. The $3,000 for the plaque — which will be unveiled in April — will be raised January 26 at a concert at Berinstein's Vine St. Bar and Grill, located right on the Walk of Fame. Carmen McRae, Marlena Shaw, Maxine Weldon, Maxene Andrews, Ella Mae Morse, Benny Carter, Johnnie Ray, Nellie Lutcher, "Sweets" Edison, Jimmy Witherspoon, and others will participate.

PASSING ON — Bennie Morton, the great swing trombone stylist, died December 28 in New York at the age of 78. Morton, who played with Fletcher Henderson, Count Basie, Chick Webb, Teddy Wilson, and many others, until he retired seven of eight years ago, had a warm, rich, elegant sound on trombone, a sound that was all his own. A sound that will be missed.

TOOT VA BIEN — There's no real need here to trumpet the wonders of New York City as the undisputed jazz capital of the world, but over three days last week — January 5-7, to be precise — one could sample the following jazz trumpeters within a few blocks of each other: Dizzy Gillespie (Fat Tuesday's), Freddie Hubbard (Blue Note), Woody Shaw (Village Vanguard), Wynton Marsalis (Joyce Theatre), Doc Cheatham

(Sweet Basil), Ted Curson (Blue Note), and Terence Blanchard (Sweet Basil). As if that wasn't enough for admirers of the valved bugle, WKCR-FM will devote 30 minutes short of 50 consecutive hours, January 29-31, to the music of Roy Eldridge, one of the stylistic fathers of all jazz trumpet players. The great Little Jazz, who hung up the horn a couple of years back, will turn 75 on the 30th and anybody who wants a dose of genuine trumpet fire will tune into 89.9 in the New York area during the closing days of this month.

MOONLIGHT SERIES — The new year dawns, and a new year of jazz series is upon us. The New Orleans Jazz & Heritage Foundation will present Dizzy Gillespie, the Dirty Dozen Brass Band/the Preservation Hall Jazz Band (1/15), The Count Basie Orchestra/George Wein and the Newport All Stars (2/27), and McCoy Tyner and Freddie Hubbard/the New Orleans Saxophone Quartet/the Jazz Couriers (3/13). All the concerts are at the Crescent City's Orpheum Theatre, and artists from each concert will also be doing clinics at various New Orleans schools. A call to (800) 535-5151 gets details.

Jazztrack, the fine series of Greenwich Village concerts impresarioed by Kwame Shaw will offer Ronald Shannon Jackson's Decoding Society (1/18), Arthur Blythe (2/15), Michele Rosewoman's "New Yor-Uba" (3/15), Bernice Johnson Reagon's "Blue Spirits"/jazz films (4/19), the String Trio of New York (5/17), and Lester Bowie's Brass Fantasy (6/14). All concerts take place at Greenwich House, and (212) 431-3009 is the number for the new lowdown.

Heavenly Jazz, which brings the swing sounds to New York's Church of the Heavenly Rest on Sunday afternoons, brings in Kenny Davern and Warren Vache (1/19), Al Cohn & friends (3/9), and Scott Hamilton and Ruby Braff (4/6). Dial (212) 369-8040 for the details there.

And Jack Kleinsinger's Highlights in Jazz, which has kept Greenwich Village's toes tapping for a remarkable 13 years, brings the following events to NYU's Loeb Student Center: a 13th anniversary concert featuring Don Sebesky's Orchestra/Jay Leonhart/Mike Renzi/Mark Morganelli and the Jazz Forum All-Stars, and others (2/20); The Basieites — Joe Newman, Frank Wess, Benny Powell, Butch Miles — Meet the Ellingtonians — Britt Woodman, Norris Turney, Victor Gaskin, Eddie Barefield (3/20); Kenny Burrell/Roger Kellaway/Eddie Daniels/Nancy Harrow/Jack Wilkins (4/16); and a Salute to Buddy Tate with Tate, Ray Bryant, Al Grey, David "Fathead" Newman, and others (5/15). (212) 598-2022 is the number for the whole scam.

BOPPING AROUND — "Jazz Explosion" will bring Roy Ayers, Ramsey Lewis, Phyllis Hyman, Stanley Turrentine, and Noel Pointer to New York's Beacon Theatre, January 25, for two shows of fusion sounds . . . Canyon Consort, a video of the making of Paul Winter's "Canyon" LP is now available; enquiries should be addressed to Open Circle Films, Pier 5, San Francisco, CA 94111 . . . "Current Events" is the name of a fine new cassette from the Melford-Brandis Duo, the musical melding of flutist Marion Brandis and pianist Myra Melford; the tape is on the Nisus label, and enquiries about that should be sent to Nisus at 172 W. 109th St., New York, NY 10025 . . . N.Y.'s The Kitchen, at its new home at 512 W. 19th St., gets jazzy towards the month's end with Malcolm Goldstein and Archie Shepp's tribute to Martin Luther King (1/24), Olu Dara and the Okra Orchestra/Metropolitan Blues All-Stars (1/25), and Leroy Jenkins and Sting!/Zeitgeist (1/26).

Peter Berk, Los Angeles

REEL VIEWS '85 — Without question, there was a plethora of pop music to be heard in movie theatres during 1985. As usual, we were offered great music; terrible music; music which made good films better, bad films worse, bad films better and good films worse; music which soared to the highest plateaus of fame; and music which plummeted to the lowest depths of obscurity. Overall, though, it was a very impressive year for film music, a year which gave us such memorable tunes as "Power Of Love," "Crazy For You," "Don't You (Forget About Me)," "Man In Motion," and "Separate Lives" (the latter being just the sort of ballad the Academy looks highly upon). Sure, there were the all too familiar, usually disastrous, attempts to cram youth-oriented songs into adult-oriented films, and moreover, there were some out and out bad songs contributed to movies in '85. Consider, on the other hand, the music for such films as Back To The Future, St. Elmo's Fire and The Breakfast Club, and it's difficult to deny the lofty calibre of much of the material involved. In any case, here are some comments about three current theatrical releases.

White Nights, for all its virtues, has an undeniable artificiality which can't easily be dismissed. Part of this is due to director Taylor Hackford's relentless use of pop music as the 'universal language' through which Mikhail Baryshnikov and Gregory Hines' characters symbolically communicate. Set in the midst of a dubious east-west scenario, and performed by two decidedly non-pop oriented dancers, contemporary songs seem frequently intrusive and jarringly out of place. There are, admittedly, some quality songs in the film, a couple of which serve to bring White Night's disparate elements together briefly because their rhythmic intensity echoes the tension inherent in the storyline. Unfortunately, many other dance songs, while remarkably performed, sound coldly calculated to appeal to young audiences who wouldn't exactly flock to theatres to see tap and ballet. The question then becomes whether or not it's worth being slightly manipulated in order to see these two incredible performers together in one film. When all is said and done, I believe the answer has to be yes, and White Nights has to be somewhat admired, though more for its stars than for its content.

Rocky IV, beyond its overly familiar plot and predictable outcome, seems to suffer most from an overriding slickness which detracts from the basic ingenuousness of its plot. Rocky III began this regrettable trend, but that film's emotional substance survived the 80's gloss. In this latest sequel to the fabulous 1976 original, however, depth and warmth seem to have been to some extent abandoned to make room for numerous music-video-like segments which are basically repetitious and annoyingly loud. Rocky IV, in fact, perfectly illustrates the danger of placing too many songs, even good ones, into a film which doesn't really call for that much music. Sylvester Stallone, as the film's director, appears to have felt songs could pick up the slack whenever the dramatic flow was faltering, and that technique can never truly work. Conversely, Rocky IV, like its three predecessors, is an exciting movie with lead characters who are just as appealing now as they were ten years ago and so, Rocky IV, while a victim of high-tech filmmaking, is nevertheless a superior contender in a world full of so many mediocre pictures.

Finally, there's Sting's latest feature. Alright, there had been a fierce wind the night before which had blown away a letter on the movie marquee. For that reason, there may have been one or two people thinking BING On The Night was an old Crosby film. Everyone else, however, was there to see BRING On The Night, an extremely well-made documentary on the formation of Sting's new jazz/rock band, and the preparations which preceded a premiere concert by the group in France earlier this past year. Quite simply, there's no reason to go see this full length feature unless you want to spend two hours with Sting, his band and his music. I did . . . not necessarily to watch an intimate close-up of his son being born, but more to observe just how his unusually literate songs on "The Dream Of The Blue Turtles" album evolved from the time they were conceived to the time they were first performed before a live audience. Whether to gain an insight into this deliberately mysterious performer, or to just sit back and take in his hypnotically ethereal and emotionally penetrating music, there's no question Bring On The Night is a definite must.

OSCAR TIME — Lionel Newman, who only recently resigned from his four-decades old position as the guiding force of 20th Century's Fox's music department, has been appointed as the music director for the 58th Academy Awards show, set for March 24 at L.A.'s Dorothy Chandler Pavilion. Newman served in that capacity in 1958, and won his own Oscar in 1969 for his work on Hello, Dolly.

BRING ON STING — Singer/composer/actor Sting is pictured here with bass player Darryl Jones in a scene from the recently released feature, Bring On The Night. The movie documents the formation of Sting's new band, and features the songs from "The Dream Of The Blue Turtles" LP (A&M Records), which was already topping the charts at the time.

NEW FRONTIER — Carole King, one of the music world's most productive and respected performers, has written her first complete score, for Columbia Pictures' current release, Murphy's Romance, starring Sally Field and James Garner.

Carole King Composes Her First Film Score

By Peter Berk

LOS ANGELES — You won't find it on any map, but there exists within the music industry a special place reserved for only a handful of unique artists. It's a bastion of stability in the eye of a storm, an elusive haven meant only for those few performers whose lofty musical niche is forever secure. Once there, these artists can finally rest assured that no matter what new musical trends and tastes may swirl around them, their work will always garner respect and their audience will always remain fervently loyal. Few would question that Carole King has earned her way into this elite inner circle. From her early hits such as "Will You Still Love Me Tomorrow" and "Locomotion," which so perfectly captured the mood of the Kennedy era, to her classic 1970 album, "Tapestry," King has proven her durability and consistency in an ever-changing, uncertain artistic arena.

Now, the writer of such timeless songs as "It's Too Late" and "You've Got A Friend" has found a new medium for musical expression, a medium many other pop stars have also recently embraced, namely, film. While King has contributed songs to motion pictures in the past, her score for the Sally Field-James Garner feature Murphy's Romance, is actually her first. In a rare interview, King told Cash Box last week how she became involved with the project and just how creatively fulfilling this latest phase in her career has turned out to be.

Despite the constant demand for contemporary music in film currently, "this was the first time I was actually approached to do an entire score," King first recalled. "I guess it was felt I was the appropriate musical voice for Murphy's Romance, and when I read the script I agreed." The film, a gentle comedy drama set in a small town, was directed by Martin Ritt, who, along with producer Laura Ziskin and Field, felt King's music was ideally suited to the concept and tone of the premise. "Of course, for me," King added, "the opportunity of working with a legendary director like Martin Ritt was wonderful. He knows what he wants but still leaves room for other people's creative input."

Although the assignment meant tackling a new art form and mastering complex mathematical timings, King felt she could turn out a solid, stylistically apropos score. "I really wasn't nervous," she remarked. "I had every confidence I would be able to do it because it's basically what I've been doing all along. Primarily, although I'm known as a recording artist, I'm a composer. To me, this project was simply an extension of that craft. It was mostly a matter of learning new technology, and that was fairly easily done." Working closely with Ritt, Field and Ziskin, as well as her longtime producer Lou Adler and Columbia Pictures' vice president of music, Gary Le Mel, King felt she had a "safety net any time I experienced insecurities about venturing into new territory."

Although many pop artists have of course successfully made the transition from vinyl to film, many others haven't, usually because they've failed to understand that music comes second to what's on the screen. In composing her score to Murphy's Romance, King immediately understood music's subservient role, and had no difficulty knowing the 'spotlight' wouldn't, for the most part, be on her work. At first, she mentioned, Ritt was unsure though how to best handle her, fearing perhaps she might prove resistant to criticism or advice. "When Marty first seriously discussed the score with me," she said, "he very delicately and considerately asked, 'If you write something that isn't quite right, how shall we proceed?' I told him exactly how I felt, that my job was to get it right, to accomplish his vision of the movie."

With Ritt at the helm suggesting where he wanted music, King went about composing a complete orchestral score and five songs. Eventually, three of the songs were either trimmed or turned into solely orchestral works, but the opening and end credit songs remained intact. While everyone involved could easily have capitalized on a score replete with Carole King songs, it was decided to avoid that blatantly commercialized approach. "Marty is leery of having a lyric overstate what's

NASHVILLE FORUM

Tom McEntee, Nashville

(The following letter was received in the Cash Box office very recently. Perhaps it is merely representative of one small voice crying in the wilderness. Perhaps it speaks for a lot more. At any rate, we felt that many of the comments were worth reprinting in this week's Forum.) To Whom It May Concern:

I recently read of the contest to find a song for the city of Nashville. "What an exciting challenge," I thought to myself. But then, lo, what do I discover? In order to even enter the competition, I have to have written a top-ten song!!

Besides my disappointment at not having a chance to show my stuff, I confess to a feeling of irritation bordering on anger. While I can understand from one point of view that some limit has to be put on a contest like this (to avoid, obviously, getting hundreds of thousands of submissions from God knows where), the idea of limiting it only to top-ten writers smacks of snobbery to the max . . .

. . . I bear no grudge toward any of the writers who number in that select group. In fact, I can truly say that I am personally acquainted with many of them, know their work and respect it, as I believe they know and respect mine. But the way this competition is set up seems to say "You can be a part of our big happy family, assuming, of course, that you have paid your dues." Once again, we are showing the country and the world that creativity takes a back seat to countdown, and out of hundreds of gifted, ambitious people, only the first ten count.

Well, I have written for movies, I have had songs recorded by major artists, I have won awards for commercial writing, and I have even, lately, written a song which later this year will be used as a theme song for one of our neighboring states. But I have not yet achieved "hit" status, so my ideas and contributions will not be accepted, nor those of many of my peers who have similar accomplishments. I think that speaks ill of us as a writing "community."

At any rate, I am grateful for the chance to speak my mind on this issue, I am grateful for the chance to work in a business with so many special, talented friends, and most of all, I am grateful that there was no top-ten chart around when Frances Scott Key got inspired.

I wish the members of the fraternity well, and look forward to joining them one day soon. In the meantime, I'll just work on "I Left My Heart In Boise."

Sincerely,
Scott Edward Phelps

Feedback

In reference to the Nashville Forum extremely interesting from the standpoint dated 12/7/85, this from Nashville public that I truly wonder how many of us relations exec Betty Hofer: ". . . I have also understand that a commitment is some- always found the word "commit" to be thing you give . . . not GET."

Roger Miller And Waylon Jennings Recognized At Awards Show

NASHVILLE — Singer/songwriter Roger Miller was honored for his contributions to the Broadway hit "Big River: The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," during the 6th Annual National Songwriter Awards show held here recently.

Success was evident in Miller's Broadway debut of "Big River" as the show earned seven Tony Awards in 1985, including Best Musical and Best Score.

Miller was chosen by Broadway producer Rocco Landesman to write the music for "Big River," a project that took him a year and half to finish. After completion, he returned to Nashville, with the cast of the production, to record Nashville's first ever Broadway show cast LP.

The awards program also debuted the President's Award this year with the recipient being Waylon Jennings, recognized for his service to songwriters.

Jennings has helped aspiring songwriters in numerous ways over the past several years, including donating proceeds from a recent concert to the Sue Brewer Fund of the Songwriters Guild Foundation. The fund is set up to provide studio time and facilities to songwriters who have not had a hit on the country music charts in the past five years.

Songs produced under the auspices of the fund are critiqued by music professionals and the 12 best songs will be performed in Nashville before record execs, publishers and other writers this March.

SEMINAR 1985 — At last year's country radio seminar, broadcasters from across the country sat in on panel discussions during the three-day event. This year's CRS is scheduled for March 6-8.

CRS Registration Info Sent

NASHVILLE — A newly redesigned registration and information booklet has been mailed to more than 10,000 radio execs across the country in preparation for the 17th annual Country Radio Seminar set for March 6-8 here.

The new booklet is easier to read and includes a synopsis of the upcoming seminar along with airline and hotel discount information. Those not receiving registration information by mid-January, you should contact the seminar office in Nashville at (615) 327 4488.

Questionnaires have also been sent to more than 2,500 country radio stations across the country for listing in the 1986 program book. Radio stations are also being asked to send airchecks or station highlights, plus a 60 second produced promo or a two minute aircheck with a 30 second promo. These need to be sent to Barry Mardit, WWWW FM, 2930 East Jefferson Ave., Detroit, MI 48207, who will be compiling aircheck cassettes.

Half-inch video tapes, labeled with station call letters for advertising spots should be sent by February 21, to Erica Farber, INTEREP, 154 E. 46th St., New York, NY 10017.

Printed material such as t-shirts, belt buckles, bumper stickers, etc. ready for display should be sent to Frank Mull, Mull-Ti-Hit Promotions, 50 Music Square West, Nashville TN 37203. Mull says that these items are "necessary for your station to be seen and heard at the 1986 Country Radio Seminar."

Screen Gems-EMI And Black Sheep Music Pact

NASHVILLE — Screen Gems/Colgems-EMI Music has acquired half interest in Paul Craft's Black Sheep Music publishing company, according to Charlie Feldman, vice president of Screen Gems. Craft has also been signed as an exclusive writer for the company.

Black Sheep Music currently has songs on LPs by George Strait, Tanya Tucker and Joe Stampley. Craft is known for penning such tunes as "Drop Kick Me Jesus," "Keep Me From Blowing Away" and "It's Me Again Margaret."

NEW FACES TO WATCH

He's addressed as "His T-ness" when roving around the Capitol Records Nashville office these days. But his music is serious and his current single, "I Tell It Like It Used To Be," is taking a strong hold on the charts and the radio airwaves. For the record, he's known as T. Graham Brown.

Raised on a farm in Athens GA., Tony didn't start singing until he hit college, when he put himself through school by performing at frat parties and in local lounges.

He came to Nashville in 1982 and began doing demos, which helped him attain a CBS songwriting contract. Through his efforts there, he met Terry Choate who later was hired at Capitol and brought T. on board the artist roster.

T.'s first single, "Drowning In Memories", started the ball rolling for him. It synthesized many of his early influences likem George Jones, Jerry Lee Lewis, and Percy Sledge.

It's not only a singing career that he wants, however. He also hopes to try acting, talk shows and maybe even comedy. "I just wanna be on!" T. wails, "I wanna try it all."

T. Graham Brown

The success of his new record may just give this 31-year-old, kid-at-heart the impetus to accomplish these dreams. But above all what does T. Graham Brown want most?

"I wanna a doll made of me for the 'Masters Of The Universe' collection," he replied. The name? "Well," he pauses, " 'His T-ness' would do just fine!"

SINGLE RELEASES

OUT OF THE BOX

LARRY GATLIN & THE GATLIN BROTHERS (Columbia 38-05764)

Nothing But Your Love Matters (2:58) (Larry Gatlin—BMI) (L. Gatlin) (Producer: Chips Moman)

Even though the previous Gatlin single didn't fare too well on the charts (but received national acclaim), Larry, Steve and Rudy have released a cut that should find it easier climbing the charts this time around. "Nothing But Your Love Matters" is a catchy tune in the traditional Gatlin-style. As always, the vocal harmonies are strong and blend well. South-of-the-border flavoring spices up this particular song.

RAY STEVENS (MCA 52771)

The Ballad Of The Blue Cyclone (4:59) (Flagship-BMI) (G. Sutton, L. Cheshier) (Producer: Ray Stevens)

Ladies and gentlemen, in this corner... "The Ballad Of The Blue Cyclone," Ray Steven's ringside view of the latest surge in the wrestling craze. Ray delivers the ballad with just the right amount of punch! Although 5 minutes long, the song was a programming favorite as a former "Hot Cut" from the LP "I Have Returned," so the single should have no problem taking two out of three falls.

MAC DAVIS (MCA—52765)

Sexy Young Girl (3:21) (Songpainter-BMI/Cross Keys-ASCAP) (M. Davis, B. Wyrick) (Producer: Jimmy Bowen)

"Sexy Young Girl" is really another tribute by Mac to older women (age 25 and up?). Davis sings about his girl, who thinks every new gray hair is a tragedy, though he feels she hasn't changed at all. An easy-flowing, soft tune that will probably light up request lines.

Reunion Records Unveils '86 Plans

NASHVILLE — Reunion Records' execs Dan Harrell and Mike Blanton, unveiled plans for the label's 1986 product line during a recent sales conference of their distributor, Word, Inc.

Heading the list of new releases is the introduction of a new artist on the label, Rich Mullins. Mullins is the writer of such gospel recordings "Sing Your Praise To The Lord" (Amy Grant) and "O Come All Ye Faithful," (Debby Boone). Supporting this month's release, Mullins will be opening for Grant in her upcoming spring "Unguarded Tour."

Veteran Reunion artists, Kathy Troccoli, will debut her first video this month. The

Elwyn Raymer's Gospel News And Views

Love Songs Across The Ocean

(Sheila Walsh is an International Artist with the Sparrow Records Label and currently resides in Esher, Surrey England)

By Sheila Walsh

When someone asked me recently to describe the gospel music scene in Britain, I remarked that I felt it was probably similar to a sunbathing in Alaska in March . . . Sparse! In reality, there is no gospel music scene here that would be comparable to the United States. Surveys and polls have indicated that church going figures in America are as high as 60 percent whereas in England no one dares to offer a figure higher than 2 percent! I often feel that the generic title "gospel music" is a confusing one. To the secular world it would suggest melodies such as "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," but to the fully initiated it covers musical styles as diverse as heavy metal, pop, rock, classical, jazz and so much more.

Having spent the last five years traveling extensively, it's been fascinating to note the strengths and weaknesses of the U.K. and U.S. Christian music worlds. Growing up as a teenager in Scotland I was so aware of the gulf between the church and the "kid on the street;" I could see that to them 20th century Christianity appeared, at best, irrelevant. Having discovered the reality of God when I was only ten years old, this became an ever increasing frustration. I felt that if only they could see for themselves who Jesus is, then they would think again. I now know that this scene was played out in many hearts across the United Kingdom. The music that exists there today is almost entirely made up of groups and individuals from varying religious denominations who want to be a positive voice speaking to their generation. There is no elaborate "touring machine," so most of them play in schools, prisons and bars across the country. The challenge then is to insure that lyrically everyone can understand and relate to what we are saying, and that the confusing "language of Zion" stays within the church! Every now and then a band will sign directly with a secular label, so groups such as U2, the Alarm, Kaja Goo Goo and others attempt to live their faith out in front of a pop generation. Their lyrics are not overtly evangelistic but the purpose is to be "salt" in a decaying society, to be an influence for good. One of the greatest problems that exist in the U.K. Christian rock world is the depressing lack of finance. Most bands are forced to take other regular jobs and only take bookings at weekends and during vacations. Generally speaking, they never make a penny from it, but they keep on singing.

I've seen such radical changes in America in the last four years. When I first began touring here, Christian rock was an issue too hot to handle. Now bands such as Stryper, Rez Band, Steve Taylor and many others have a vast and faithful following. I've asked myself for a long time, however, why is it that mainly we play to our own troops. That the "sacred" world is kept so separate from the "secular." That the ordinary un-churched kids have never heard of most of us? Having just completed another U.S. tour, I've come to the conclusion that many of us are needed right where we are. We're needed as an encouragement, a challenge and hopefully an example to the kids across the nation. There will be those amongst us, however, who will march to a different tune; who's vision will be to raid the future for God, moving out of the comfort of the Gospel world.

The sceptics are many who will say that the world has no interest. I will never believe this. I believe that what the world is tired of is insincere religious jargon, the trite "come to Jesus" and life will be a blast! The challenge of the 80s for me is that wherever we find ourselves, in the churches of the south, or the rock platforms of our day, to radiate the beauty and reality of God. Love songs are infectious!

Ellis Steps Down At MCA, U.K.

By Chrissy Iley

LONDON — In a severe shake-up at MCA Records U.K. managing director Don Ellis has departed. The move followed a month of uncertainty.

Lou Cook, MCA Records International president is in London to seek a successor to Ellis and has taken charge of the U.K. operation in the meantime. This move is to assure the remaining London staff that MCA is committed to continued growth within the U.K. record industry. Cook says that Ellis' departure was, "a personal matter relating to differences in operating philosophy."

MCA is continuing to develop its roster and is putting out product from two new signings. An EP from Cactus World News is the first release of 1986. CWN is a Dublin band which has already gained swift recognition from a single it had out on Bono's Mother label. They also played on the recent successful Cult tour. The EP contains three tracks — "Years Later," "Hurry Back," and "Third One Alive."

Later this month 17-year-old Charlie Sexton releases his first single, "Beat's So Lonely." The San Antonian has already proven himself quite a wonder boy — he undertook his first major tour as lead guitarist for Joe Ely at the age of 13. He has also recorded with Bob Dylan, Dan Hartman and The Rolling Stones.

QUEEN IN SWEDEN — When Swedish TV asked Sonet's platinum selling artist Hasse Andersson to present his own series of TV specials he took the opportunity to invite his friends and fellow Sonet artists Augie Meyers and Queen Ida from the U.S. to perform as his guests. (L-r): Augie Meyers, Hasse Andersson and Queen Ida together with her brother Willie.

U.K. Anti-Counterfeit Efforts Continue

By Chrissy Iley

LONDON — The BPI are continuing their bootleg clampdown. Last year it smashed five pirate cassette factories — capable of putting 40,000 worth of tapes onto the market in any one week. It is gearing up to new challenges from imported unlicensed product in 1986. The organization's legal advisor, Patrick Isherwood, is delighted with the support given by the police to the anti-piracy activities last year. He recognizes however that Spain and Portugal's entry into the EEC (European Economic Community) this month is now going to make illicit overpressings more readily available in the U.K.

In terms of piracy, the BPI had an exceptional year in 1985: 24 copying machines and 50,000 finished cassettes were seized, almost twice as much as 1984. Isherwood commented, "This year we have built up relationships with a number of police forces who now recognize what sort of people are getting involved with piracy and they now see it as a more serious offense, although it used to be a low priority for them."

"What we want to do now is take a closer look at bootlegging which is something we have not done very much about in the last few years," Isherwood continued. He uses the term bootlegging to mean overpressings.

United Kingdom

LONDON — The Christmas market was 19% down from last year, only the huge success from compilation albums has pulled it from the doldrums.

Sales of "Now 6," "The Christmas Album," and "Hits 3" accounted for 18.4% of total album sales; the usual weekly average for compilations is 10%. All three albums are double LPs with a high profit margin, so the dealers will not suffer too much despite the downward trend.

Gallup chart manager Godfrey Rust says the shrinking market can be accounted for by the lack of major product. "This time last year there was Wham!, Frankie and Sade, as well as a whole set of name acts. This year there has been nothing." He went on to say that TV-advertised albums accounted for 15 of the top 20.

Tony Hirsch, marketing director of HMV, agreed the lack of major name product was the root of the disappointing sales. "We have no replacements for artists like Paul Young, Wham! and Alyson Moyet."

The good news lies in the CD area, where sales have continued to gain ground rapidly. A spokesman for Windows claims, "Sales of CDs have been quite unbelievable. We ordered supplies back in September and were confident that we would have enough for Christmas, but in fact we have had to reorder and reorder — sales have just gone through the roof."

The BPI have announced the nominations for their annual awards. The ceremony is due to be the largest ever internationally-televised music awards event and is set to take place on February 10th at London's Grosvenor House Hotel.

The affair will be strictly black tie and will feature major artists performing live. It will be aired live via BBC in the U.K. and by satellite on a tape delayed basis in the U.S., and the rest of the world. The international audience will be over one hundred million, while the several hundred in the Grosvenor House will have paid £75 a ticket.

Proceeds from ticket sales and advertising space in the program will go to the Nordoff Robbins Music Therapy Charity. Last year's event raised £34,000.

Now It's Westwood One Canada

LOS ANGELES — The Westwood One Radio Networks and Selkirk Broadcasting Ltd. have announced the formation of Westwood One/Canada — a Toronto-based adjunct of Westwood One International which will market and distribute the entire catalogue of Westwood One programs to radio stations, national advertisers and their advertising agencies throughout Canada.

Also included in this agreement will be the syndicated programs and specials carried by Westwood One's recent acquisition, the Mutual Broadcasting System.

Longtime Canadian broadcast executive A. John Rourke will serve as vice president/general manager of Westwood One/Canada. Rourke will work closely with Suzanne Olson-Kahane, managing director of Westwood One International, in the marketing of the company's broad range of programs, concerts and specials in addition to initiating Canadian-produced programs and features.

Distribution of Westwood One/Canada's programming will be through the satellite facilities of the EN Group.

Commenting on this new association, Westwood One chairman and CEO Norman Pattiz stated, "The establishment of Westwood One/Canada represents a significant commitment toward having our programs and specials reach the greatest number of people throughout Canada. The reputation and professionalism of Selkirk Broadcasting is second to none and we look forward to a long, mutually rewarding partnership."

According to Ken A. Baker, president of Selkirk Broadcasting Ltd., "We are delighted with our new association with Westwood One — the largest and fastest-growing producer and distributor of radio programs and specials in the United States. We expect Westwood One/Canada to follow this dramatic trend and become Canada's most dynamic distributor of first-class radio programs and specials."

Phil Collins, Elton John, Sting, Midge Ure, and Paul Young were nominated for best male artist. Female nominations were Kate Bush, Annie Lennox, Alyson Moyet, Sade and Bonnie Tyler. Best British group nominations were Dire Straits, Eurythmics, Simple Minds, Tears For Fears, and

U2. International artists were Madonna, Lionel Richie, Bruce Springsteen, Tina Turner and Stevie Wonder. Finally the best international groups were The Cars, Huey Lewis, Kool and The Gang, Talking Heads and ZZ Top.

as serving in executive posts at WEA and Gulf & Western's Music Division.

Capitol's executive vice president of records and video group services, Dennis White, said the record industry experience of the MGM/UA team "insures the harmony and understanding that is essential in this kind of working relationship." White called MGM/UA's marketing sensibility "among the best in the business."

It is the sell-through of product that is a prime motivator with both parties, however. "Video store owners have a primarily rental mindset whereas record stores are entirely sales driven," remarked Melnick. "We recognize and appreciate the rental base of the home video business, but we are also aware that as programming diversifies, our field will become increasingly sell-through."

Bob Say, of the five-store Moby Disc chain, reports a good Christmas, up 10 percent. The shortened season didn't seem to be a factor in Moby Disc's business. "We were up all month," claimed Say. "What I've noticed more than anything is that we've had a lot better business after Christmas," he said.

ers, we didn't have any big, big huge records, they just weren't there," Garrett said. "We did well in some items that we didn't have a year ago. Compact disc, music video and movies were very strong for us," he added.

Most of the retailers contacted agreed that 1986 will be a strong year. The optimism is based on the fact that many superstar acts dormant in 1985 will be active in 1986. Michael Jackson, Madonna and Prince will be out in the first half of the year. There was unanimous disappointment among retailers that the long-awaited Lionel Richie LP did not make it in time for Christmas. This record is cited by many as one of the bright signs for a healthy 1986.

looking unbeatable at nine bullet, while James Brown's surprise hit, "Living In America" is coming on strong at 28 bullet.

Beyond these four singles, both the White Nights and Rocky IV soundtracks will almost certainly benefit from further singles, and more importantly, from the success of the films themselves. The power of a popular movie to promote music is incomparable, and grateful film producers and record executives are taking advantage of that fact more than ever before.

This week, top 10 reports on White Nights were received from a wide range of retail outlets, including Record Bar in North Carolina; Spec's in Florida; Sound Warehouse in Kansas City; Camelot in Ohio; Tower in San Diego; Tower in San Francisco; CML in St. Louis; and Cavages in Buffalo.

Top 30 reports on the soundtrack were filed by Great American Music in Minneapolis; Karma in Indianapolis; Record Theatre in Cincinnati; Lieberman in Dallas; Tower in L.A.; Benson in L.A.; Tower in Sacramento; Turtles in Atlanta; Gary's in Richmond; Scott's in Indianapolis; and Mainstream in Milwaukee. White Nights is also breaking out solidly at Licorice Pizza in L.A. and Round Up in Seattle.

Meanwhile, Rocky IV is also faring very well, with top 10 reports this week coming from Homer's in Omaha; Sound Warehouse in Kansas City; Camelot in Detroit; Turtles in Atlanta; CML in St. Louis; and Cavages in Buffalo. Top 30 reports arrived from N.R.M. in Pittsburgh; Warehouse in Gardena; Tower in Sacramento; Gary's in Richmond; and Scott's in Milwaukee.

doesn't believe in themselves. "There was a band that played Hurrahs (in the late '70s) that everybody was after. They had pretty good songs except every time you saw them, their style had changed. Which really bothered me. Say if you were to sit down and criticize them, they would change for you. And I don't trust that. It shows a lack of conviction about what you're doing. And I'm not saying that from a strictly aesthetic point of view but from a practical view as well. If you don't have enough conviction about what you're doing, you're really not going to be able to handle what's going to be thrown at you later on," she says.

The Cars were one band that Berg believed had that self-conviction. She once caught them backstage after one of their early shows and remembers thinking that, though she liked them, they sounded too much like Roxy Music. After congratulating Ric Ocasek on his great performance she paused, and Ocasek said to her: "We sound a bit too much like Roxy Music sometimes don't you think?" "I broke out laughing and said 'yes I do,'" says Berg. "The fact that they knew what their faults were was indicative of an inner conviction about what they were doing and also a knowledge of what they were doing."

Originality is the common denominator of the bands Berg has signed. "If the person isn't original, I don't care. I really don't," she says. Television is the band she is most proud of bringing to Elektra, having been referred to them by Danny Fields. "I saw them at a CBGBs showcase and I couldn't believe they were an unsigned band," she recalls. "They had everything. They were totally fresh and original. They weren't like anyone else."

on the screen," King commented, "There's one scene, for example, for which I wrote a mildly sensuous song with lyrics titled "Poetry," but in the end, the words were taken out and it became an instrumental, featuring David Sanborn on sax. If we do put out a soundtrack (no deal has as yet been finalized), we'll include the songs with lyrics, though."

Regarding a possible deal with a record label for release of the Murphy's Romance soundtrack, King said, "We want to be very selective about which company we go with. We're looking for one with an innate understanding of the warmth of this movie, one which can promote the soundtrack in that matter. I tend sometimes to be overly selective, but I'd rather do that, even if it means missing the chance to put out a soundtrack, than be hasty and get involved with the wrong record company."

Regardless of how Murphy's Romance fares theatrically, or whether a soundtrack is released, King has conquered new terrain, and applied her usual flair to a challenging and difficult aspect of composition. Like the other pop writers who've had positive results in the realm of film music, she's thoroughly hooked, and that means, fortunately, we should be hearing many more Carole King scores in the not too distant future.

Norm Nite

and tenures at both WCBS-FM and WNBC. Include on this multi-talented music man's score sheet, critic for the NBC radio network program "N.I.S.," production and narration of an album titled "Rock 'N' Roll — Evolution or Revolution" and another album for Columbia Records, (Strike that . . . A Double Album) strangely titled, "Rock On," and trust me the credits don't stop there. I have this very suspicious feeling that the man has not yet reached the peak of his career. In a final analysis, I can only echo the words of Dick Clark when he wrote about our hero, Norm N. Nite: "I envy your phenomenal devotion to a subject I love. Thank you for putting it all together for all of us who love Rock 'N' Roll!"

Norm, that goes double for me! To everyone else, "Rock On" Volume III should never be out of reach.

AROUND THE ROUTE

By Camille Compasio

Happy New Year everybody!

The wheels are in motion for the first AMOA National Darts Tournament, which is scheduled for May 2-4, 1986 at the Ramada Hotel-O'Hare in Chicago. A committee, headed by Dick Hawkins of D & R Novelty, is currently interviewing candidates for the league's tournament director. AMOA anticipates that this landmark event will be the focal point for a separate future national darts association sponsored by the national trade organization. Further information may be obtained by contacting AMOA headquarters at 111 E. Wacker Drive, Suite 600, Chicago, Illinois 60601.

Moving ahead. With the new money resulting from Si Redd's investment in Digital Controls late last year, the company is "stronger than ever," according to sales chief Tom Siemieniec. Just before the first of the year they began production on their new counter game "Pacer Poker," which is a very challenging skill game where reels keep revolving and the player has to stop them at precisely the right point to get a winning hand. Tom said the response has been terrific. He also passed along some glowing earnings reports on "Ghosts 'N Goblins," particularly from an Atlanta location where it's been a consistently high earner for a 20-week period (in the $250.00 per week bracket)! Firm's lookin' for a really great '86.

For your V/MEC. January video selections for Rowe's video jukebox include "Glory Days" and "I'm On Fire" by Bruce Springsteen, the most recent addition to the program. Another "first" this month are comedy clips such as Joe Piscopo's "Andy Rooney Rap" and George Carlin's Thoughts On "The Refrigerator," which are the result of a recent licensing agreement with Home Box Office for excerpts from original HBO programming.

We wish a speedy recovery to Exidy topper Pete Kauffman, who underwent surgery just before the holidays. Hope you'll be back in action real soon, Pete — even before this column makes print.

From the latest Lucky Dist. newsletter . . . "We have just taken on a new line of products which are manufactured by Digital Controls. Their 'Ghosts 'N Goblins' has been on test and the earnings are fantastic." Lucky Dist. Co., headed up by Steve Shacklett, is based in Nashville, Tennessee.

Cash Box Visits Atlas Distributing

AT THE ATLAS GALA — More than 350 tradesters, including a lot of area operators and a full turnout of factory representatives who braved the frigid Chicago temperature to fly in, were on hand for the big Christmas party hosted by Atlas Distributing at the Zum Deutsche Eck restaurant (12/16). It was indeed a major event and a fine tribute to Jerry Marcus and Ed Pellegrini, Atlas' executive team, who purchased the distributorship in June of 1985 and marked their first holiday season with the company at this party. A delicious dinner was served; there was an open bar throughout the evening; a sizeable equipment display in the adjacent rooms and, to top it all off, a drawing for some terrific prizes donated by various factories. While the weather was cold, the mood was warm and festive — no one was anxious to leave and a good time was had by all. The accompanying photos captured some of the festivities. (photos by Joe Gino).

Rock-Ola's Bette Lockhart and Frank Schulz with Jerry Marcus.

Cinematronics' Ken Anderson, his wife Angela and the firm's hot new "World Series" game.

Nintendo's Frank Ballouz (standing), Mike Minor, the firm's new midwest regional branch manager, and Jim LaRoux of Atlas's new Grand Rapids branch.
